Three Youths Face Charges Of Burglary

City police officers arrested three local youths last weekend in connection with the burglary of two homes here in late March in which an estimated $8,000 in property damage and losses was reported.

Arrested were Gary Goheen, 17, Dennis Goheen, 16 and Thomas Myers, 14.

Police officers reported that under questioning early this week, one of the Goheen boys admitted to 10 other burglaries and acts of vandalism here over the past three months, and implicated eight other youths in connection with them. No charges were filed as of Wednesday in connection with the 10 other burglaries.

Officers arrested the boys Saturday after Myers attempted to change a $50 bill at a local food store. Store employes, who had been asked to lookout for persons trying to change large bills, called the police.

Officers questioned Myers, who implicated the two Goheen youths and told officers where they might find the money taken in the burglaries.

The three boys divided the money between themselves, Myers told police, and he told the officers he had hidden $770 in the roof of his home. Officers said the money was recovered by cutting out a portion of the roof.

The police, after obtaining a search warrant, went to the Goheen home and found $1,481 in a camea box hidden in one of the boys' rooms. The two brothers were then questioned and finally admitted to breaking into the homes, police said.

Officers also found a number of other items taken in the burglaries, including several rings, watches, a knife and 25 silver dollars.

The case for the juveniles was taken before County Judge H. C. Williams, who released them to their parents and attorneys for psychiatric examinations. Andy Shuval represents the young Goheen boy and Ed Line the Myers youth.

The adult, Gary Goheen, is free on $1,000 bond and awaits action of the grand jury.

The boys were charged with the burglaries of the Charles Hoover and John McNey homes during the latter part of March. Both families were out of town during the Easter holidays when the break-ins occurred.

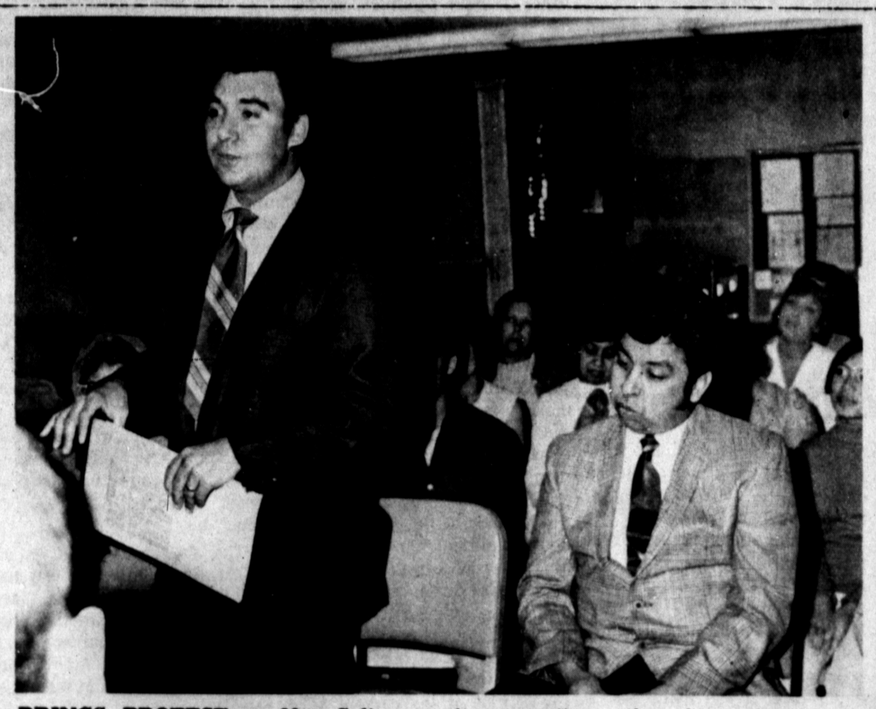
Police officials said the Hoover home, which had been left unlocked, was burglarized March 29. Taken in that burglary were several rings, watches, a silver dollar collection and an estimated $3,000 in large bills.

The youths also did considerable damage to the interior of the Hoover home, smearing catsup and mustard over the carpet and furniture, ripping the beds with a knife and breaking several items.

Taken in the McNey break-in, which reportedly occurred between March 26 and April 2, were several watches, an assortment of liquor and a knife.

Entry into the McNey home was gained through a sliding door, at the rear of the house, which had been pried open. No vandalism was reported to the home.

Police Captain Ed Owsley, who aided in the arrests of the youths, said 90 per cent of everything taken in the two burglaries has been recovered. Still missing, he said, were a watch, a sports coat and a diamond ring.



BRINGS PROTEST — Noe Salinas, spokesman for protesting Mexican-Americans in the Hereford community, questions the thoroughness of Hereford school officials' efforts to get bi-lingual teachers in the system.

Mexican-American Group Protests School System

Some 35 Mexican-American residents of the Hereford area protested to school officials Tuesday night that their children are getting a bad deal in the local school system.

Some of their biggest complaints concerned the sending of students before County Judge Judge Hank Williams for school disciplinary problems.

They also charged that school officials have made insufficient effort to get bilingual teachers and to inform the Mexican-American population of new programs available to their children.

"Discipline is a problem that has gotten out of proportion. We don't understand how you handle it. We want to know why one of our children can be suspended from school and up before the county judge before the parent is aware there is a problem," said Noe Salinas, spokesman for the group in its 90-minute appearance before the Hereford School Board.

"The first time a child gets in trouble, the teacher handles it; the second time he gets in trouble, the teacher handles it; the third time the principal handles it; the fourth time the principal handles it and gives the boy a lickin," Salinas continued.

"Pretty soon, the principal is going to get tired of that child and send him to the judge. We want to know if our child is causing a problem, before it gets to this point, before the principal sends him to the judge."

Jerry Don George, high school principal, said "We feel we would betray the student's confidence in us if we ran to his parents each time he came to this office. But I assure you, if it is something of a severe nature, every effort is made to contact the parent."

Rose Valdez, one of the delegation, said "Not once--not once -- have the parents been called before the child has been sent to the judge. And as soon as the judge sees them he says to him, 'You're just another Mexican Get out. Go to work. We don't want you in school." He just gives the attitude that our kids are made for hard labor and not for education. This lady right here, her son was sent to the judge and he said, 'You get out of here. We don't want kids like you in nthe school.' That was three years ago and I haven't seen any changes yet," she said.

Mrs. Valdez and Salinas both protested Judge Williams' practice of ordering the juveniles that appear before him to have their hair cut in a burr.

"I'm no psychiatrist, but I know that cutting his hair is not going to help. If anything, it's going to make him worse," Mrs. Valdez said.

George said he had been to several sessions between youths and Judge Williams "and I have yet to see him mistreat one of these youngsters when they appear before him. But even at that, we send youngsters to hi monly as an absolutely last resort. Then, many cases, when we do reach the parents, we hear every excuse in the world when we try to get them here. And this is not only Latin Americans but Anglos too," he said.

"Believe me, I do not enjoy sending a kid to Judge Williams I feel like that means something wrong with us, that we let a situation get to such that we couldn't handle it. These are kids who more or less defy authority. There are none that we send to the judge that we have not worked with through out counselors and teachers and so forth, all down the line," George added.

To other complaints Supt. Roy Hartman countered with claims the Hereford school system offers far more programs for the benefit of the Mexican-American child than can be found in most other schools.

"We have more new programs in this school than all the other schools in this area added together," Hartman said, "and a big part of the reason for this is the bilingual population in this area. I can name you a large, respectable school system not far from here either, that requires each teacher, all over

Theater Group Asks County To Install Phone

Ed Line, representing the local theater group, the Community Players, appeared before the county commissioners Monday to request the installation of a telephone at the little Bull Barn where the group will be staging and rehearsing their plays.

Line told the commissioners that because of the participation of doctors and mothers in the plays, there is a definite need for a telephone in the Little Bull Barn. He said doctors need to be in contact with their offices and mothers and others acting in the plays need contact with their homes.

The large Bull Barn is equipped with a telephone and the commissioner suggested running an additional extension from the big barn. They finally decided to install a jack in the small barn so that a telephone could be taken out when the barn is not being used. They also suggested putting the phone in a box so it could be locked up when not in use.

In other action in their regular meeting, the commissioners approved the payment of $650 to Oscar Schilling, architect for the hospital addition that is being constructed.

Dr. Duffy E. McBrayer was appointed county health officer, replacing Dr. Noble Ballard who moved to Oklahoma.

Easter Lions Elect John Smith

The Easter Lions Club elected John Smith as its president at the annual Election Party Monday night.

Joining Smith on the officers' staff for the next year, and taking office July 1, will be Don Tindal, first vice president; Jim Odom, second vice president; Buster Thompson, third vice president.

Also, Gene King, secretary; Clarence Behrends, treasurer; Roy Bodkin, tailtwister; Ken Anderson, Lion Tamer; and Danny Martin and Clayton Jobe, directors.

Evening Lions Name Skypala New President

The Evening Lions Club elected Elwood Skypala Monday night as its president for the 1970-71 year.

The club also elected eight other officers at the election meeting, held at the Chaparral Restaurant.

The oficers will take office July 1 and serve for one year.

The others named to leadership positions were Charlie Riggin, first vice president; Guy Cornelius, second vice president; Johnny Latham, third vice president; Carl Skaggs, Lion Tamer; Jimmy Cochram, tailtwister; Freddy Cooper, secretary; Larry Alley, treasurer; and Ken Gooch and Gary Billingsley, directors.

Entertianment for the meeting was provided by Bob Wert, vocalist, who was accompanied by Don Baugous on the piano.

Office-Seekers Make Pitch At Political Rally

Candidates for county office will make their pitch to voters Saturday night in a political rally at the Walcott School.

The Messenger Home Demonstration Club is sponsoring the rally.

In addition to county office-seekers, the four Democratic candidates for state senate and Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake have been invited to attend the rally.

The H. D. Club will sell doughnuts, coffee and various baked goods at the rally. Senior citizens will have various projects on display.

L. B. Russell will preside.

Jury Convicts Hereford Youth On Dope Charge

A district court jury convicted a Hereford youth Tuesday of possessing marijuana and assessed him a two-year probated sentence.

The jury deliberated 43 minutes before returning the guilty verdict against Harvey Gomez, 18.

Dist. Judge Archie McDonald presided.

Gomez was seen leaving a Hereford dwelling in April 1969 with a small package, which the state argued was the same one found later in the car Gomez was driving. Marijuana was found in the car under the right front seat.

Julio Contreras, 26, was convicted earlier on charges stemming from the same incident. Contreras was arrested inside the dwelling Gomez had left. The arresting officer said he smelled marijuana when he entered the house. Contreras is now serving his sentence in the penitentiary.

In another case before the 69th District Court, Juanita Martinez pleaded guilty to assault with intent to murder, and was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. She fired a pistol at a policeman the night of Jan. 24 in Hereford.

Trustees Adjust School Tax Rate

By CHARLES RICHARDS
News Editor

The Hereford School Board this week ordered a slight upward adjustment in the tax rate for the school district in order to free additional revenue to meet increases in operating funds for the system in years to come.

The trustees raised the percentage used to figure the valuation of property in the district to 45 per cent, from the present 40 per cent figure.

At the same time, however, the board ordered a cut in the tax rate of $2.20 by at least 21 cents and maybe more, so that the maximum effect of its action will be a 1.76 per cent hike in total taxes.

The probable new tax rate will be $1.99, although it could be as much as 2 cents cheaper. The board deferred its decision on the exact rate until this summer when work on the new budget is more complete.

It is the first school tax raise since 1967, when the rate was raised from $2.10 to $2.20.

The board took its action after Supt. Roy Hartman said the school district must come up with $65,000 in new money next year to pay its share of some $407,000 in additional operating expenses over the 1969-70 school term.

The present rate of $2.20 includes 70 cents approved in bond elections to retire bonds and $1.50 for operating funds, and the $1.50 is the maximum that can be assessed, Hartman emphasized. The only way to get more local money, therefore, was either to increase the base through a higher percentage or by adding property to the tax rolls, Hartman said.

In other business during its five and one-half hour session Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning, the board:

--Abolished early morning (7:40 a.m.) classes at Hereford High School, effective next fall.

--Modified high school graduation requirements to permit the school to allow some students, in special cases, to graduate with fewer than the normal minimum of 20 credits, provided they meet the state minimum of 16½ credits.

--Voted to leave teachers' salaries at $900 above state base. The board gave the superintendent the authority to withhold the bonus from non-degree teachers.

--Discussed for more than 90 minutes, with a delegation of about 35 Mexican Americans led by Noe Salinas, the school's disciplineary procedures and academic programs, particularly as they pertain to Mexican American students.

--Swore in 1969-70 president Raymond White and 1969-70 secretary Ed Loerwald as members with new terms through the April 4 election, and named Dr. A .T. Mims its new president, Hilrey Aven the vice president and Loerwald the sec-

Abolish Early Classes

Starting this fall, the early morning classes at Hereford High School will be a thing of the past.

The School Board abolished the program Tuesday night on the recommendation of Supt. Roy Hartman, who said the special classes no longer served the purpose they were created for but resulted instead in several unfavorable situations.

The classes start at 7:40 a.m., and those who attend the classes are permitted to leave earlier in the afternoon.

"We've had these classes for several years, and the primary purpose was because we were cramped for space at that time, and this let us run more students through the typing rooms and science rooms and so on, through the day," said Bill Phillips, secondary coordinator for the school.

"That problem no longer exists," Hartman said. 'Plus, lately we've been having attendance problems, tardies, and staffing dificulties."

Hartman cited results of a check in early February, which showed 134 tardies in the 10th grade, 241 in the 11th grade and 258 in the 12th grade--all during the first period. In the fifth period of the same day, there were 34, 32 and 29 tardies, respectively.

"If a kid gets up late and he sees he is going to be tardy he'll go ahead and be absent," the superintendent added. "Also, there is a problem in that some students leave school in the last period to be with their friends, who are getting off early because they have class in the first period."

Cancer Crusade Nets $2,991 In County

The Cancer Crusade Drive this month netted the county unit of the American Cancer Society $2,991, according to John David Bryant, information chairman.

"It is looking terriffic," Bryant said. He said there are still a number of business account that have still not been contacted which will boost the total.

"The rural campaign, under Mrs. Peggy Higgins, collected $1,600 of our total," Bryant said, "making the drive a definite success."

Dyalthia Benson Dies; Services Held Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Dyalthia Benson, 61, founder of Hereford Federal Credit Union and longtime Hereford resident, were conducted at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in First United Methodist Church where she was a member.

The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, and the Rev. Russell Wingert, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated. Burial was in West Park Cemetery by Gililland Funeral Home.

Mrs. Benson died Saturday at Littlefield Hospitality home at Littlefield.

She was born Oct. 6, 1908 at Floydada and came to Hereford from there in 1918.

She founded the credit union here in 1936 and was director of Texas Credit Union League from 1956 to 1966 and Credit Union National Association. She was on the board of directors of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and Kings Manor, was on board of stewards of First United Methodist Church, and was an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma Society of Women Teachers Association.

An active civic worker, she headed the Red Cross here during World War II and was active in Business and Profesional Womens Clubs, serving as president.

A fund has been established for King's Manor in her memory.

Survivors include her husband; one son, Bill Bradly of Hereford; three step-sons, John Benson of Garland, Anthony Benson of Newbury Park, Calif. and Bruce Benson of Texarkana, one sisted, Mrs. Virginia Gilbreath of Dimmitt and eight grandchildren.

Pallbearers for the service were John and Zay Gilbreath, John, Anthony and Bruce Benson and Truitt Bradly.

Lloyd Bentsen Schedules Visit Here Next Week

Lloyd Bentsen, who is trying to unseat U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough in next month's Democratic primary, will be in Hereford next week, his Austin office announced Wednesday.

Bentsen will visit seven Panhandle cities next Thursday and Friday.

He will be in Hereford Friday of next week for a coffee at 2 p. m. in the Civic Center. E m. in the Civic Center. Earnest Langley, Deaf Smith coordinator for the Bentsen campaign, is handling the arrangements.

Following his Hereford appearance, Bentsen will fly to Lubbock.

He will be in Amarillo next Thursday, then be in Pampa, Perryton, Boger, Dumas and Dalhart on Friday before arriving in Hereford.

Hereford Area Welcomes Farm Leaders Today

A group of the most noted men in Missouri buiness and agriculture will be in Hereford today as a part of a three-state tour to study agricultural operations.

Twenty-nine Missouri agribusiness leader will arrive here around noon for a luncheon, afternoon tours and an evening social and dinner. Their afteroon tours will include Wilson Beef and Lamb, vegetable sheds, feedlots and other agricultural operations which could have potential application and impact in the state of Missouri.

They will review such operations as new field crops and methods; financing of feeder lots; auction procedures; changes in area services with respect to zoning and utilities; banking and credit policies in the area; packing plant operations; special crops; private and commercial feed lots; sugar beet processing; irrigation; cow-calf operation; feeder supply problems; and livestock feeding.

The group is making the study tour on the invitation of local attorney Earnest Langley. In the fall of last year, when Langley was president of the Chamber of Commerce, he spoke to the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce Agribusiness Conference about "The Hereford story," and extended an invitation for the committee to visit this area.

The delegation, arriving in three planes, will be greeted at the Hereford Airport by local businessmen who will provide tranportation and information on local agriculture, industry and business. The group will be taken on a tour of residential Hereford prior to a noon luncheon at the Country Club and the afternoon will be devoted to tours.

The evening entertainment will begin with a social hour at 6:30 followed by a dinner at 7:30.

The group will spend the night in Hereford and will depart Friday morning where they will fly to Guymon, Okla., to tour facilities of the meat packing plants there. They will lunch at Guymon and fly to Ulysses Kan.

At Ulysses, 10 members of the tour will stay to study sugar beets, vegetables, cattle feeding, irrigation and other developments in that area and the remaining 1 will fly on to Garden City, Kan.

At Garden City, 10 more will remain to study the agribusiness situation there and the remainder of the group will go on to Dodge City, Kan. for tours.

The entire group, after gathering in Emporia, Kan., will then return to Columbia, Missouri.

The list of participants in the agribusiness studytour includes C. R. Johnston, president of Missouri Farm Bureau; Allen King, president of Missouri Cattlemen's Association; John Faust, executive director of Missouri Meat Packers Association; Lowell Mohler, director of Missouri Department of Agriculture; Schell Bodenhamer, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, Missouri University and Glenn E. Scott, executive vice president of the Missouri Chamber of Commerce.

Other notables from the fields of agriculture and business from throughout the state will also be among the visiting delegation.

town, to be on the same chapter of the geography book at the same time. Do you think this meets the needs of the children?

Why, of course not. We did away with this type of thing a long time ago."

Very few schools in the state have counselors at the elementary level, Hartman continued, but Hereford has them.

Hartman went over the summer migrant program with the delegation. So far, more than 500 migrant children have indicated an interest in the program which will let them progress at their own rate.

"Also there are free breakfasts, lunches and snacks, to the tune of $14,996 for that alone," Hartman said. "The program runs $101,000 for the summer.

Through the regular school year, the Hereford school system has provided 71,025 free lunches at a cost of $24,859 and 62,117 free breakfasts at a cost of $9,317.55 through last month.

"This is another program available through the state that we made application for, and received," Hartman went on. "We didn't have to. Many schools don't."

He then outlined free medical treatment worth $1,131.50, free dental work worth $2,559 and free optical work worth $808.50 --for a total of $5,621.16--that went to migrant children in the current school year.

"And are you aware that there are three parental programs operating in the state of Texas now, and Hereford has one of them. The name of this is the School Parental Community Involvement Program, which is a liaison between the bilingual people and the school," Hartman said.

The superintendent suggested that the Mexican-American residents call on officials of that program, on Assistant Supt. Bob Holman or on him to speak before groups on new innovations in education that might have special significance to the children.

"More than a third of the enrollment is Mexican-American, yet we find that we do not have at this time very many bilingual teachers. Why?" Salinas asked.

Hartman said the school had hired one highly rated Mexican-American teacher twice but that man resigned before the start of school both times and that he himself made a special trip to El Paso last year to recruit Mexican-American teachers.

"For some reason, I don't know why, they don't want to come here," Hartman said. "I'm as interested in this as you are, but they just won't come, that's all."

The superintendent pledged the board's support in the attempt to get more.

"This board will go on record of being for exactly what you're saying--bilingual teachers. In a community as bilingual as ours, we need them, and we'll continue to try to get them," Hartman added.

Although recruiting of any kind was practically nil the past year because of an unprecedented "15 or 16 applications" for every vacancy, Hartman said the Hereford school worked closely with a Mexican-merican official of the Texas Education Agency who toured the state as part of her job and promoted the Hereford system among Mexican-Americans throughout South Texas, without success.

Mrs. Valdez charged that counselors in the Hereford schools have belittled Mexican-American students and told them they are not bright enough to go on to college.

"And I know of at least four Mexican-American students this year who didn't go to college because they didn't have enough credits. The counselors fixed it to where the girls take typing or hairstyling, where it won't do any good for them if they want to go to college." Mrs. Valdez said.

The board questioned a member of the school counseling staff about this. She said all students who graduate have enough credits to get into almost any college, but that they don't always have the grades, which are a determining factor in many colleges.

High School Sets Award Assembly For May 13

The annual Hereford High School awards assembly will be May 13, high school principal Jerry Don George said Wednesday.

All organizations who have given scholarships to graduating seniors or want to do so should contact Robert Thompson, high school counselor, at the high school by May 1.

Miss Andersen Is Lone Star Speaker

Miss Elin Andersen, American Field Service exchange student from Norway was guest speaker for members of Lone Star Study Club Tuesday in the H.E. Henslee home. Assisting hostess was Mrs. Opal Bookout.

Miss Andersen told of her family, schools and the customs of her country. Milk from the cattle in Norway, she said, is used to make Swiss Cheese. The largest industry in her country is an alumunum manufacturing plant.

She explained that corn, one of her favorite foods since being in this country, is not grown in Norway.

Miss Andersen also displayed pictures of her homeland and her hometown of Kinstiansand.

The next meeting is to be hosted by Mrs. Hardy Benson on April 28.

Others attending were Mmes. Thelma Chisum, Jim Higgins, Ray Suit, Virgil Dodson, S. S. Williams, Ed Warren, J. J. Durham, R. G. Blue, C. O. Phillips and Miss Mildred Elliot.

Club Tours Vacational Education Departments

Members of Young Mothers Study Club met Tuesday evening at the Vocational Education Department of Hereford High School for a tour of the facilities given by Walter Bryan, head of the department.

He explained the program and took them on a tour of departments of ICT, Auto Mechanics, Building Trades, DE lab, VO Education, VOE Lab, CVAE lab and Cosmetology.

Following the tour they went to the Don Beard home for a business meeting and refreshments.

During a business session with Mrs. David Brumley presiding, the group voted to assist the Young Homemakers of Texas with the measles vaccine.

The group will attend the play, Finnins Rainbow at WT on April 23. The next scheduled meeting is April 28 in the Larry Dobbs home at 7:30 p. m. It will be a campaign party.

Others attending were Mmes. Jim Arney, Don Brush, Raymond Gerk, Chesley Johnson, Lynn Pittard, Bud Thomas, Eugene Baldwin and Burl Spears.

Clean-Up Month Gets Underway

Cleanup month, April 15 to May 15, began Wednesday with weather favorable to yard and alley cleaning.

After several days of dusty and windy weather, the mild warm temperatures put Hereford residents in the mood to spruce up, paint up and clean up the exterior of homes and businesses.

City trucks have already been spotted collecting limbs and weeds placed in the alleys by weekend enthusiasts.

Mrs. Elmer Patterson, publity chairman for the beautification committee of the women's division of the Chamber of commerce, sponsoring the campaign said art classes from La Plata and Stanton Junior High Schools are creating posters for display about town. The posters will serve as reminders of the month-long campaign to beautify the city of Hereford.

Mrs. Pete Caviness, chairman of the beautification committee, said efforts "are being expanded to spotlight the need for community programs to eliminate litter. We are concerned and want you to be concerned about the mountains of carelessly discarded trash that threatens to engulf our community and our country."

She said $100 million dollars is spent yearly to clean up federal highways. That could landscape 14,000 miles of highway, provide 4,000 scenic overlooks, or provide gates and lights at 12,000 railroad crossings, she pointed out.

Boiling this down to community level, Mrs. Caviness urges Hereford's citizens to do everything possible to eliminate litter-cluttered lots and alleys and remove the bottles and cans strewn along streets and highways.

NAACP To Serve Dinner Friday

To finance a college scholarship fund, the NAACP will sponsor a chicken dinner at St. Anthony's School cafeteria, Friday evening, at 6:30.

Mrs. Wesley High, president, says the organization has several seniors to help and needs the attendance of the public at the dinner to succeed in this project.

However, due to the shortage of workers, no orders will be delivered, Mrs. High said.

Elgin Williams of Hereford, attending Trinidad College, is one of the NAACP sponosored youths. A letter of gratitude has been received from his coach, Mrs. High said.

--Hired three new teachers--Joe Kerbel Jr. of Canyon, son of West Texas State football coach Joe Kerbel, as teacher and coach at La Plata Junior High; Donald Cumpton of Tulia as math teacher and member of the high school coaching staff; and Jerry Lane of Abilene as an elementary teacher. The board accepted six resignations.

The board considered making an immediate decision on the new tax rate but went along with the recommendation of Hartman and school tax officer Oprha Click wants to wait 'til it is more apparent precisely what the school's financial picture will be next year.

Hartman suggested a $1.99 rate if the board preferred to make an immediate deision.

A rate of $1.97 or $.98 also is considered a possibility, although the board's decision at an earlier meeting to improve the lighting at the football stadium, assuming the funds were available, is expected to result in approval of the higher figure.

A house valued at $25,000 would have a tax value of $10,000 at the 40 per cent rate and its owner would pay a total tax of $220 at the current $2.20 tax rate.

The same house will have a tax rate of $11,250 under the 45 per cent assessment rate. At a tax rate of $1.99, the total tax would be $223.88, an increase of $3.88, or 1.76 per cent. A rate of $1.97 would bring $221.63 (.73 per cent higher) and $1.98 would bring $222.75 (1.24 per cent higher).

The estimated school budget here next year is a record $2,042,720, which is $407,051 more than a year ago. Of that, the state will pay $1,599,000 and the local school district $443,720. A year ago the state paid $1,256,896 and the local district $378,773.

Of the increase over last year, an estimated $337,400 will come in higher salaries resulting from teachers reaching higher experience levels.

Hartman asked for the right to deny some non-degree teachers the bonus of $900 above state base.

"It doesn't seem right for a teacher with a master's degree and 20 years experience getting $900 above base salary, and a person with 90 hours in college maybe, getting the same $900," he said.

The superintendent said there are some cases, however, in which a person has all his college hours in his major field and is still working to clear up degree requirements "and makes an outstanding teacher.

State To Support Teacher Aides

Texas' new financing plan supporting teacher aides for the first time under the State Foundation School Program in the 1970-71 school year will have little effect on the Hereord school system, Supt. Roy Hartman said Wednesday.

The local system presently employes 23 aides, financed by the migrant program and local monies, Hartman says. The state program will provide the salaries for nine or 10 of these aides.

Details of the state financing plan were announced last weekend both by legislation and each school district's decision on what the aides will do in a particular type of classroom.

"The decision to use aides rests primarily with teachers and administrators in individual school districts," Dr. Edgar points out.

"The aide is an extension of the teacher or other professional, performs routine and other duties under his direction, but does not relieve him of any legal responsibility for the instructional program in the classroom."

More than 6,300 aides are now working in Texas public schools, all earning salaries primarily paid out of federal grants or by the local school district. These include helpers for teachers working with disadvantaged, migrant, bilingual, and special vocational students.

State funds will help finance teacher aides for the general instruction programs and special education classes beginning September 1, 1970. The Foundation School Prgram will reimburse local schools for each aide authorized at the rate of $300 per month for a 10-month school year. This salary base may be supplemented by the local district, however. The number of aides hired by an individual school may be governed by a number of factors. However, the number of aides which will be supported, at least in part by the state, will be based on the number of students in average daily attendance.

Beginning with the 1971-72 school year, salaries, educational experience requirements, and the use of aides supported by the Foundation School Program will be governed by the Texas State Public Education Compensation Plan as set out in House Bill 240 passed by the 61st Legislature.

Education and other requirements for aides will be governed both by legislation and each school district's decision on what the aides will do in a particular type of classroom.

In special education, for example, aides must have at least a high school diploma or certificate of equivalency, plus training or experience in working with handicapped children.

Training programs for teacher aides will include an orientation to school operations and proceedures, relationships with teachers, and the specific duties for each type of program. The indoctrination will be followed by inservice workshops and other types of training while working in the schools.

TWO FOR THE MONEY

Pioneer brand corn hybrids are setting the yield pace wherever corn is grown in Texas. Here are two Pioneer varieties you can count on for this area. 309B is a high-yielding single cross that produces high quality feed either as grain or silage. 3306 is another record breaker that really responds to modern farming practices—high fertility levels, high plant population, and narrow rows. If you're after maximum yield—for grain or silage—pick up the seed you need right away from your Pioneer dealer.

Piano Auditions Scheduled Here

Ninety-three local piano students will participate in this year's National Piano Playing Auditions sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers, April 21-24 at the Community Center.

Judge for the auditions will be Mrs. Cornelia Williams Hurlbut of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mrs. Hurlbut received a Bachelor of Music degree from Drake University in Des Moines and for 10 years served on the Drake faculty in the Piano Department.

Her musical studies include training under Isidor Phillip and M. Camille Decreus at Fontainebleau; Tobias Mattaby in London; and Rudolph Ganz at the American Conservatory in Chicago.

A national faculty member of the Piano Teachers Guild for 18 years, Mrs. Hurlbut has conducted workshops for the Iowa Federation of Music Clubs for a number of years and has twice served as chairman of the piano department for the National Festival bulletin.

Members of the local unit of the NGPT who have entered students in this year's auditions are Mmes. Larry Bown, Allen Evers, Joe Hacker, Sam Long, Paul Lyons, William Penn, Buddy Peeler, Frances Parker, Jack Rogers and Glenn Syder.

Over 76,000 participants were involved in Guild auditions last year. Known as the "biggest piano event in the world," candidates play against a standard of excellence rather than individual competition against each other.

RAISING MOUSE FARES

LONDON — The state-owned British railroads are upping their fares for mice 50 per cent and this has brought a protest from Alf Horne, secretary of the Scottish and Border Mouse Club.

"Its a blow to mouse fanciers all over Britain," said Horne. "I have 200 pet mice which I send to shows all over the country."

British Rail, however, said the new fares will affect other pets too. Cage birds and rabbits will also find their trip costs more by railroad.

Perfect Weather Marks Hereford Pro-Am Golf

By JERRY ODOM
Staff Writer

An even 100 golfers — 86 amateurs and 14 professionals participated in the Hereford Pro-Am Golf Tournament Monday, and according to host pro Cal Garrett, everything went perfect.

"We couldn't have asked for a better turnout or better day," he said.

The team of pro Jim Haren of Amarillo, Cleo Vaughn, Ruby Holmes and Bob Reiner took first place with a low ball score of a 56.

In second place with a 57 was the team of Mack Tubb, Heath Nuckolls, Rocky Lee, and Babe Nuckolls.

Three teams tied for third place with scores of 59. They were Pat Robbins, Bob Lindsey, Judge Baldrige, and Roy Ellis; Bob Baker, Owen Seamonds, Wendell Burdine, and Joe Easley; and Richard Hale, Jerry Allen, Dale Ladd, and Jerry Boston.

Approximately $570 in winnings were distributed over-all about $430 went to the amateurs and the rest to professionals.

Haren and Joe Collins of Dumas had a low ball of 65 to tie for first place with Richard Hale of Floydada and Jay McClure of Lubbock in the pro-pro draw.

Vern Farguhar and Al Forrester of Canyon took third at 66.

Haren shot a 65 for low-pro honors. Tied for second were Hale and Forrester with 68s.

Slaton's Ronnie Henry was low-amateur with a 67 game. Mack Tubb of Hereford was second with 70. Jim Madison and Eddie Duenbel of Amarillo tied for third spot with a 71 score.

The 100 participants were divided into 25 four-man teams with one professional and three amateurs on most teams. Since only 14 professionals were present, amateurs with handicaps of five or less were appointed as team captains to the remaining squads.

"We had a few more golfers last year," Garrett said, "but we like it better with just 100. It's not as crowded."

Golfers from Amarillo, Pampa, Dumas, Clovis, Friona, and Dimmitt played, he said.

"Most of our golfers came from within about a 125 to a 150 mile radius of Hereford."

Ticket Sales Begin For Sports Banquet

Tickets for the 3rd annual All-Sports Banquet, which honors all Hereford High School athletes, are now on sale by Booster Club members at several locations throughout the city, according to Ted Higgins, club president.

The tickets, priced at $2 each, may be purchased from any member of the Whiteface Booster Club, at the Chamber of Commerce office or at the Hereford Bakery.

"Anyone wishing to attend the banquet," Higgins said, "can buy a ticket from any of the places where they are on sale, but we are asking that people not purchase tickets unless they plan to attend the banquet.

"We are not looking for donations of $2 for a ticket. We are asking for attendance at the banquet," he said.

The banquet is open to the public.

The banquet will be April 27 at the Bull Barn, with Jim Carlen, new head football coach at Texas Tech, the featured speaker.

Calvin Goodin will be master of ceremonies for the banquet. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the News Service Awards by the Hereford Brand and KPAN radio.

The awards will be presented to one star individual in each of seven sports during the past year at Hereford High School.

The meal for the banquet will be catered by the Caison House.

Underdog HHS Competes In District Track Meet

Hereford High School's track and field squad will lay it on the line Saturday for the district 1-AAA title in the conference meet at Canyon.

To win, the Whitefaces must overcome powerful Dumas and Perryton, who have poven well-balanced all season.

"We expect Dumas to win the meet pretty easy. About the only teams that could give them a run for it are Canyon and Perryton but Dumas has a more rounded team," Hereford athletic director Larry Wartes said.

"A good track team usually relies on good seniors, and Dumas and Perryton have them. Peryton has some good 440 boys who'll probably take the mile relay but Dumas is still, by far, the heavy favorite," he added.

Results of last Saturday's Borger Relays coincide with Wartes's predictions! Hereford finished ninth in the varsity division with 10 points, far behind Dumas with 88 and Perryton with 78. Tulia also beat Hereford with 21 points.

Percy Mays took a second place in the 880 yard run with a time of 2:01. Tony Gorman finished fifth in the shot put with a throw of 50 feet 11 inches.

The Whitefaces finished eighth in the B-team division with 21 points.

Billy Bob Taylor vaulted 11 feet 6 inches for third place and Hector Rodriguez timed a 55.2 in the 440-yard dash for fifth.

Hereford's 440-yard relay team nabbed fifth place in the B division with a 46.8 time. The mile relay squad took sixth place with a 3:46 clocking. Both relay teams consist of Rodriguez, Jay Henderson, Mickey Ginn, and Jimmy Jobe.

BY 12-7

Hereford Clubs Ball, But Bows To Dumas

Sometimes even when you pull out your big bats, you wind up on the losing end of the score.

The Hereford High School baseball team put together 11 hits, and that sounds pretty good compared to the nine Dumas got in the clash between the two conference opponents.

Hereford also had six errors, however, and that makes up for a lot of things. At Dumas Tuesday, it added up to a 12-7 victory for the Demons, raising their league mark to 1-1 and dropping Hereford's Whitefaces to a 1-0 record.

Dumas pushed across six runs in the first inning on four successive singles, a hit batsman, a bases-loaded walk, a dropped pop fly and a two-run single.

That was almost all the Demons needed. They clinched the matter with two runs in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Whitefaces kept the outcome in doubt through the early innings, despite the outburst of Dumas scoring.

Harold Schmucker slammed a run-scoring triple in the second, and then scored on Gary Lemons' single in the second inning. Singles by Keith Duncan and Alan Wagner, the starting Hereford pitcher, pushed Lemons around for the third run of the inning and the game for the Whitefaces.

Duncan cut the margin to 8-5 with a two-run home run in the fourth inning, but of course Dumas bounded back with two in its half of the frame to quell the treat.

Schmucker hit a home run in the sixth for his second long blast of the afternoon, Lemons followed that with a standup triple and then scored Hereford's final run of the day on Duncan's ground ball.

Dumas' one district loss was last week to Canyon, 6-5.

Hereford resumes conference play Tuesday with a doubleheader in Canyon scheduled to start at 3 p.m.

Sutan® Selective Herbicide + atrazine lets your corn grow free

Your corn grows free from all major grasses and weeds. Free from the growth stress that weeds cause. Free to develop strong, vigorous roots that reach down to make maximum use of soil nutrients and moisture. Free from extra cultivations, possible root damage and free of trashy fields at harvest time.

This season, use dependable, economical Sutan plus atrazine on all your corn acreage. Stop the toughest grasses and weeds—nutgrass, wild cane, foxtails, fall panicum, Johnsongrass seedlings, crabgrass, annual morningglory, lambsquarters, pigweed, ragweed, nightshade and others that lower your profits. Mix Sutan plus atrazine in the soil as you prepare your seedbed. There's no need to depend on unpredictable rainfall to move the herbicide into the weed seed zone. Sutan and atrazine will be waiting to control weeds as they sprout. Used as directed, Sutan controls weeds without leaving harmful residues in the soil. Free yourself from work and worry...see us today for your supply of Sutan.

Bell Presented Highest Honors

Charles Bell Jr., Hereford representative for Southwestern Life Insurance, was awarded two of his company's highest honors at a banquet held in Dallas recently.

Bell was named the company's Territorial Man of the Year for the Amarillo territory and also the company's top producer in the amount of annualized premiums on conversion of ordinary term insurance to permanent insurance.

The awards were presented at the company's 1970 Agents Convention in Dallas.

Charles Bell

Bell has served with Southwestern Life in Hereford since 1959 and has won many company and industry honors. He is a five-year recipient of the National Quality Award and is a qualifying member of the Texas Leaders Round Table. He is also a continuing member of Southwestern Life's Top Club.

Community Players Prepare For Bull Barn Production

DO-IT-YOURSELF STAGE — Members of Hereford Community Players are building themselves a stage, which will be used for the first time the area acting group presents a comedy, The Courious Savage, in Little Bull Barn April 24 and 25. At work as the stage nears completion are, from left, Dale Moore, Earl Wood and Bobby Byars.

A new locale for Hereford Community Players' productions is to be used when the spring play, The Curious Savage, will be presented April 24 and 25 on a stage now being constructed in the Little Bull Barn.

Rehearsals for the three-act comedy are under way with Polly Bullard as director, Fred Howard assitant director and Bobby Byars producer. The play was a Broadway hit of several seasons ago, starring Helen Hayes.

Previous productions of the Community Players have been seen in school auditoriums here. The smaller auditorium of the Little Bull Barn, located just south of the County Bull Barn, is better adapted to spoken drama, providing a more intimate effect. Chairs can be arranged to seat about 300 persons.

The stage is being built by Community Players members, the first major permanent investment of the area drama group. It is constructed so that it can be easily dismantled for moving when the county building is used for some purpose in which the stage would be in the way.

Construction work is being done principally by Earl Wood, Byars and Dale Moore, with help from other members.

Committees for some of the production duties were announced by Tom Kendrick, president, at a membership meeting of the Players Tuesday evening in the parish house of St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Chairman of stage construction and props is Lucy Cooley, with a committee including Ruth Warner, Jean Holbert, John Claypool, Wood, Moore, Joyce Haug and Juanita Owen.

Meredith Wilcox is in charge of programs, Alice Gilleland of tickets, Sue Coleman of publicity and Claypool of intermission refreshments.

In the cast of the play are Bessie Lee Wood, Rose Ann Smith, Lana Weyerman, Amy Gililland, Lorene Johnson, Joyce Johnson, Gene Brink, Dr. C.E. Rush, Bruce Miller, Ed Line and Andy Shuval.

A report on the annual membership campaign, now in progress before a new year begins in June, was made Tuesday evening by John Aikin, chairman. Individual and family memberships are open to all area residents; patron and other special memberships are being offered to business irms as well as individuals.

THE BRANDIN' IRON

By MELVIN YOUNG

Area feeders have been having problems in the past few months with cost of gain on cattle and in many cases local milo has gotten the blame. Not so, however, says Jack King, Research Director of the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board.

King, in a communique to members in the High Plains area blames rising feeding costs to increases in all feed products plus the fact that some inferior grain has been shipped into the area from other parts of the midwest.

According to King, Texas Grain Sorghum Produers Board has conducted additional surveys on cost factors for the feeers of this area and the new test information still confirms that the 1969 milo crop is equal to past crops in nutritional value. "Regardless what chemical analysis is used, they do not substantiate claims that the 1969 production was inferior to previous crops," he says. "As reported earlier by TGSPB protein is slightly higher; starch availability and energy are equal to '68 production. The only difference between '68 and '69 could be in protein availability; but since sorghum is noted as a protein supplement, this should not be a serious consideration."

King places much of the blame for high costs on management. "Some lots are showing high cost of gains; while others are reporting costs as low, or lower than this time last year. Yet, most are feeding the 1969 production." Yet, according to King, sorghum is being blamed for the increase in feeding costs. Of course, as he points out, no one factor can be singled out, but the increase in the cost of molasses, fats, alfalfa, cottonseed hulls, and sorghum plus management problems in some area, have contributed substantially to the increase costs per pound gain.

He does encourage feeders to have grain graded if there is any doubt. "As stated before poor quality grain is being shipped into West Texas from the Midwestern United States. Some of this grain has heat damage as high as 85 percent. Heat damaged grain has dead germs and questionable starch availability. Some is being sold to feed yards direct while the rest is being blended with West Texas grain in order to make a minimum No. 2 yellow sorghum. Blends which are No. 2 will not compare with the average High Plains grown sorghum, which is still the best quality."

—HB—

This past year has been a rough one for local farmers. We'd hate to see them get the blame for all the problems in the feeding industry too. Anyway, we thought the above would be of interest to most of our readers.

—HB—

Tom Robinson has been giving us a bad time about last week's editorial. Apparently a typographical error made it look like the college vote had only 400 people turning out, while the truth is that 2400 came to vote. A record to be sure.

Tom, however, thinks that had we been forced to count all those ballots, we'd be more careful next time.

Sorry about that Tom, but we think you do a good job in the counting department. Just keep up the good work.

Pioneer Club Hears Review

Mrs. Ted Panceria, Texas Heritage chairman, presented a book review of "The Texan", written by David Nevin, to members of Pioneer Study Club Tuesday at the Caison House. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mmes. L. H. Lookingbill, R. L. Wilson and C. L. Craig.

In his negative views on his native state, Nevin stated that he does not believe Texas will ever be great. He also said Texas has the resources to do anything they choose, adding that Aristocracy is null and void in Texas.

The meeting was opened with the invocation given by Mrs. William Wimerley followed by the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. H. E. Miller. "Think on These Things" was also given by Mrs. Miller.

During a business meeting with Mrs. Delmar Sigle presiding, the club voted to co-operate with the month-long clean-up campaign sponsored by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce an to continue the project of care of Mother's Park.

An announcement was made of the County Federation Seated Tea scheduled at the Community Center April 30, of which Pioneer Club is a hostess club.

The club voted to assist in registration of guests at Mid-Plains Annual Meeting on May 30.

The theme "Challenge of the 70's" was adopted as next year's study followed by a report of the District Convention given by Mrs. Lookingbill and Mrs. Ralph McCullouh.

ABC

What is the A.B.C.?

Chatting with a merchant the other day, we mentioned our "ABC figure."

"What," he asked, "is an ABC figure?"

Perhaps what we told him will also interest you.

This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an independent, nonprofit organization of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers.

Its purpose is to provide accurate and factual reports on the circulations of member publishers. In the advertising and publishing industry, the ABC insigne is often referred to as the "hallmark of circulation values."

At regular intervals, an ABC traveling auditor visits our office to check our records. The findings of this physical audit are embodied in an Audit Report published by ABC — the report literally tells us what our circulation is.

Virtually everything an advertiser should know about our circulation is found in this report, facts and figures without opinions.

Few retailers bother to ask to see a copy of our report, yet we want you to know one is available anytime you are interested in the quality and quantity of our circulation audience — the audience for your advertising messages.

What is an ABC figure?

It is our way of assuring you that you get full measure for your advertising dollar in this newspaper.

'Willie Boy' Playing At Star Theater

An unusual western drama starring Robert Redford, Katharine Ross, Robert Blake and Susan Clark is showing at the Star Theater.

The movie is "Tell Them Willie Boy Is Here," the screen version of Harry Lawton's epic western novel "Willie Boy."

It is the story of a young Indian whose search for romance and identity leads to murder and sets off a manhunt unparalleled in western history.

Redford portrays under-sheriff Cooper, assigned to bring to white man's justice Willie Boy, guilty only of following tribal dictates.

Oklahoma Rites Are Scheduled For Ex-Resident

Study Group Recommends Drive Leader

A study group, appointed to investigate methods of increasing interest in future United Fund drives, has recommended using the services of a professional leader in this field.

Since the past two or three local United Fund drives have not reached their goals, the study group led by Milton Durham found the possibility of professional leadership for the 1970 drive a necessary step to improvement.

This group also recommended adopting the title "United Neighbors Drive" following the action of Amarillo and other area communities.

At Tuesday morning's meeting, the board members agreed to meet with a professional leader to discuss the 1970 drive before acting upon this and other suggestions presented by the study group.

Board president Jerry Don George appointed publicity and budget and admissions committees to serve for the coming year.

Members of the publicity committees are Mrs. Werner Koelzer, chairman; Darrell Rose, Tom Burdett, Homer Garrison, and Gene Brock.

Ed Lemons will direct action of the budget and admissions committee, along with members Ivan Block, Mrs. O.G. Hill, Sr., Mrs. Tommy Carnahan, Joe Shollenbarger, Calvin Goodin and Ed Loerwald.

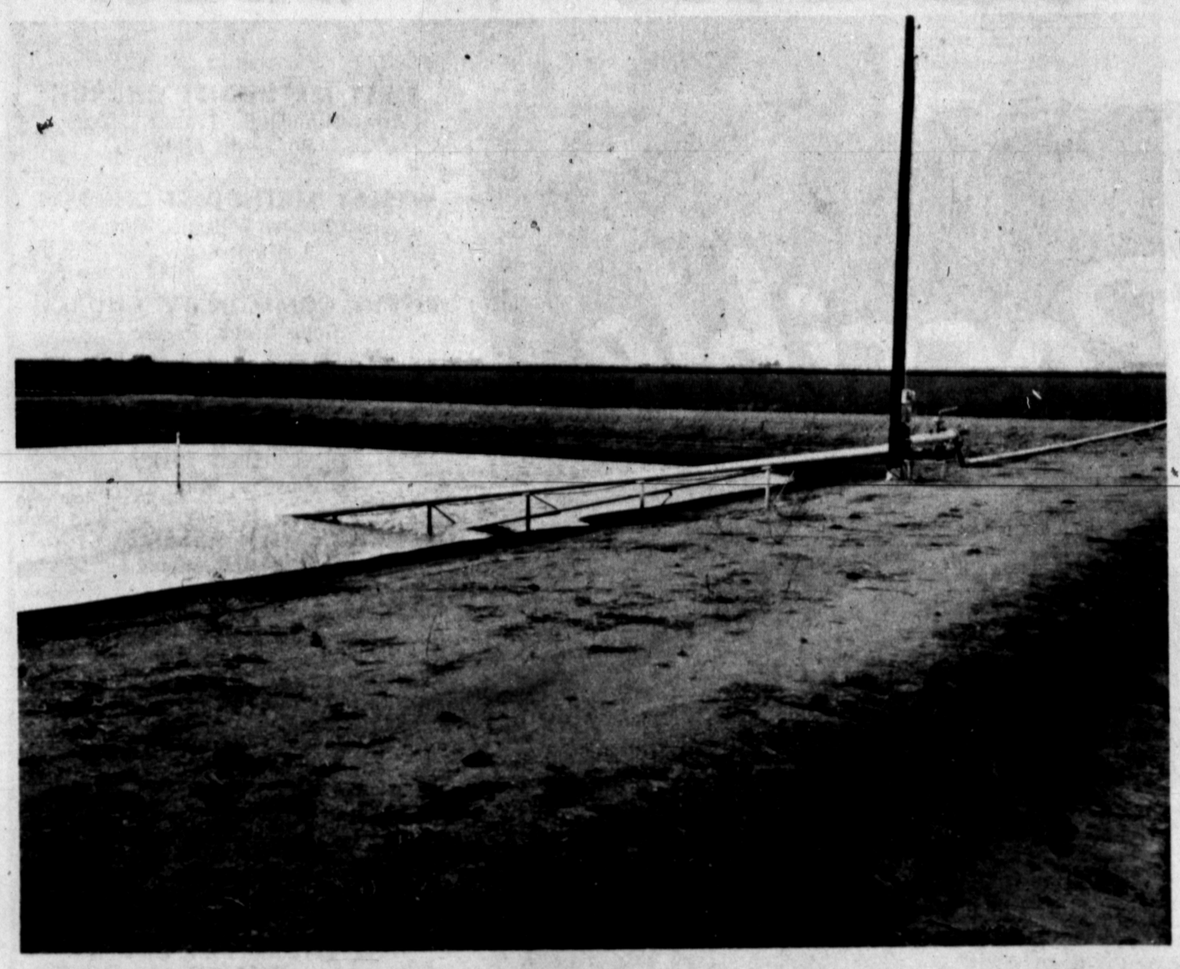
SOIL SEDIMENT IS NO. 1 PROBLEM

SCS Lauds Farmers' Role In Pollution Fight



POLLUTION CONTROL METHOD — This irrigated tailwater recovery system on the Charles Schlabs farm, is only one of the many methods of farming used by area farmers to combat pollution.

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

Few people realize that American farmers including those in Deaf Smith County, are playing a major role in the national crusade on pollution.

According to Clyde W. Graham, head of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) for Texas, locally-led conservation programs have dramatically reduced many forms of pollution and have improved the quality of the environment.

In this area, different methods of farming, at first used solely for the benefit of the farmers, have aided in the local fight against water and air pollution.

"Whether most people realize it or not, soil sediment is the No. 1 pollution problem in the United States. And, farmers, whether they realize it or not, are helping control sediment pollution through the various methods of conservation they use on their land," said J. C. Brown, manager of the local SCS office.

Sediment washes from unprotected land into streams and lakes. The soil particles can carry disease and wastes, ruin fishing, and increase the cost of purifying water.

Brown said the tailwater recovery system is one of the main farm methods that combat water pollution. He said the tailwater recovery system used catches a considerable amount of nitrates, herbicides, pesticides and other chemicals used in farming and returns them to the main irrigation system to be used again.

"This prevents the chemicals from getting into water supplies and contaminating them," Brown said.

"All practices such as grassed waterways, terrace systems, diversion terraces and livestock ponds tend to either reduce erosion or catch sediment, thus eliminating pollution," he said.

He said these practices have been installed for a number of years here and across the nation and farmers and other people have never thought of them as pollution control methods. Crop rotations are used to conserve and improve the soil and fight insects, weeds and diseases.

"New ways are being found to use or dispose of wastes that once went into streams. Wood chips, fruit processing plant wastes, animal by-products, and a long list of other materials are proving to be useful as soil conditioners or fertilizers," according to Graham. He said the whole concept of conservation is founded on planning for the protection and improvement of the environment — a positive approach.

Charge Cards Good By July All Over U.S.

Western Union Telegraph Co. has announced that holders of BankAmericard and Master Charge credit cards will be able to charge up to $50 in services throughout the continental United States by mid-July.

The services currently can be charged on the two credit cards in 24 states. The chargeable services include flowers, candy and dolls sent by wire, and the transmission cost, though not the principal, on money orders.

With bank verification, the $50 limit can be exceeded, up to the ceiling set by the bank issuing the credit card. Telephone orders will be limited to $15.

Across the nation, some 59 million persons hold at least one of the two cards, Western Union officials said.

CONTROLLING INSECT POPULATION

JAIPUR, India — Zoologists at Rajasthan University have sucessfully sterilized a grass hopper and a cockroach in what they said could be a breakthrough in controlling India's massive insect population which destroys millions of tons of foodgrain each year. The experiment not described in detail, was said not to be the first successful one of its kind.

BOOKS FROM PRISON

COLOMBO, Ceylon — Buddhist monk Venpitagedera Gnanaseeha, released after 38 months in prison on charges of treason, wrote 38 books on Buddhism during his confinement. They included two written in Pali, two in Sanskrit and the rest in Sinhalese, the native tongue of Ceylon.

Labor Supply Too Short In Construction Industry

In a recent statement on combating construction inflation and meeting future construction needs, President Nixon pointed out the need for increasing the labor supply in the construction industry.

"To moderate severe increases in the cost of labor," the President said, "...we must assure equal employment opportunity for all in the industry, increase productivity through vocational training, adopt innovative techniques, and reduce seasonality; and make special arrangements for returning Vietnam veterans in the construction industry."

Pointing out that a shortage of skilled labor runs up the cost of the labor, the President said, "While manufacturing wage settlements in 1969 were about 7 per cent they were almost double that in construction 14-per cent. Employment opportunities in construction will multiply in the years ahead. We must provide people with the skills needed to take advantage of those opportunities and bring supply more nearly into line with demand."

The President said shortages in skilled construction labor contributed to recent construction industry wage settlements that exceed progress in labor productivity and increases in the general cost of living. "This," he said, "is serious for the health of the industry, and it complicates the problem of achieving a new price-cost stability generally."

Between now and 1978, President Nixon said, almost two million new jobs will be created in the construction industry. To fill these jobs, the country will need more training and apprentice programs and easier access to skilled labor market. In addition, to take advantage of tehnological opportunities in the home building industry, special training and apprentice programs must be developed.

The President cited the need for all Federal agencies to review their contracting procedures to make sure that their actions do not unnecessarily disrupt construction activivity or inflate the costs of public facilities paid for out of limited Federal budget resources. In addition, he directed the appropriate government agencies to carry out pertinent programs and to report their progress at regular interval to the Cabinet Committee on Construction.

The President directed the Department of Labor to communicate to the state and local agencies of the United States Training and Employment Service the serious national shortage of construction workers and encourage local surveys and reports on specific manpower needs in the construction industry.

He also directed the Secretary of Labor to prepare within 60 days a plan expanding by 50 per cent present enrollment in Department of Labor programs providing training for construction skills, increasing this pace over the next five years.

Pointing out the need to improve existing apprenticeship programs, the President directed the Department of Labor to undertake a comprehensive study of apprenticeship programs in construction crafts.

To utilize the talents of thousands of returning veterans, the President proposed a Veterans' Training Program for the Construction Trades, anticipating that such a program would enroll over 50,000 trainees during the next two years. He directed the Secretaries of Health, Education and Welfare and Labor to develop training program in the construction crafts to be provided servicemen during the final months of their enlistment.

To expand opportunities for workers with limited educational background, Mr. Nixon recommended that the apprenticeship system be supplemented with different types of training for construction crafts.

In addition, the President directed the heads of all Federal Government agencies to include a clause in construction contracts that will require the employment of apprentices or trainees on such projects, and that 25 per cent of apprentices or trainees on each project must be in their first year of training.

Pointing out that equal employment opportunity is the key to economic justice, the President also directed all Federal agencies and deartments to review their construction programs to make sure that they are in accordane with Executive Order 11246, and to provide assistance in the programs for equal employment opportunity in the construction industry being developed by the Department of Labor. He further directed the Secretary of Labor to review and propose revisions of Federal regulations governing equal employment opportunity in approved apprenticeship programs.

These actions, the President concluded, can simultaneously meet two of the Nation's most pressing needs: the need to open up new job opportunities for millions of working men and women, and the need to provide adequate shelter for everyone.

Ag Prof Talks Tonight On Beef Cattle Industry

Dr. Curtis F. Lard, associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M University, will talk on the beef cattle industry before agricultural students and the public at West Texas State University Thursday.

Sponsored by the university department of agriculture, Lard, author of several articles in national publications, will speak to a joint meeting of Alpha Zeta, agriculture honorary club, and Block and Bridle Club at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in Room 101 of University Complex South.

"Structure and changes in the beef cattle industry of Texas" will be his topic of discussion. The public is invited.

Friday at 9 a. m., Lard will conduct another seminar with students enrolled in Agriculture 302, "Marketing of Agricultural Products." He will discuss the firm growth in agriculture.

A final speech, "Review of Recent Research in the Area of Agricultural Economics — Texas A&M," will be made in a second seminar Friday with agriculture 213 students.

A visit with Bruce Lusky, assistant manager of the Randall County Feedyards, will conclude Lrrd's visit.

Lard received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Tennessee in 1957 and a master of science degree from Michigan State University in 1959. He was awarded a doctorage from Michigan State in 1963.

A member of numerous professional societies, including the American Agricultural Economics Association, Lard has been an associate professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M since 1967.

GSPA Hits Support Bill Of Congress

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association, in a meeting recently in Lubbock, introduced to the House Agriculture Committee an amendment which would raise the price support of grain sorghum by as much as 15 cents per hundred weight.

"The recent feed grain bill, which was passed by the Sub-Committee on Livestock and Grains, would severely cut the grain farmer's income," said Elbert Harp, executive director of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

The bill by the Agriculture Committee would set a total price support of $1.35 a bushel, or $2.41 per hundred, for corn on 50 per cent of base; however, anytime the average market price, for the first five months of the marketing year, is above the loan rate, the difference would be subtracted from the price support payment.

"Therefore," Harp said, "the farmer would have no opportunity of receiving more than $1.35 per bushel total income for his corn and comparable limits for other grain."

"This price is less than 80 per cent parity for corn and farmers would only receive it on 50 per cent of their base," Harp said. "They receive this only after diverting a considerable amount of high priced land to be eligible and to pass this legislation would mean the farmers would receive no more than 75-80 per cent of parity on their grain."

The amendment presented by GSPA was to relate grain sorghum loan rates to corn. It was introduced by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa and passed by the Sub-Committee on Livestock and Grain by an unanimous vote of all committee members.

THE ABLE TABLE

A shining example of lovely legs comes on a table that can greet guests in a foyer, serve a buffet meal, or fulfill the new home decor idea of having a table behind the sofa.

Turning the tables on the obsolete idea that old and new don't go well together, an idea that no longer has a leg to stand on, the table looks extra modern against the background of a carving from India, and this ultra modernity helps make the carving craft look even more ancient.

Slim, trim chrome-plated legs are connected at the floor with stretchers on two sides and on opposite sides, a top rail. It appears to be fashioned from one continuous length of polished metal. The tops in tops is its luxurious Romarco surface. The appealing piece produced by Founders Furniture Co., is 60 inches long, 16 inches wide and 27 inches high, making it especially usable behind a sofa.

Other features include upholstered benches on casters to pull out for extra seating when entertaining.

JC Enrollment Shows Large Jump Forward

WASHINGTON — Millions of Americans are taking job-related courses in the nation's rapidly-growing complex of community colleges and through correspondence schools, according to Manpower magazine.

"Last year, nearly five million Americans were enrolled in correspondence courses — almost as many students as attended all U. S. colleges and Universities," an article entitled "Training by Mail" points out in the March issue of Manpower. "Some 15,000 courses, many of them duplicating each other, are on the market."

Although academic subjects are taught by mail, there is heavy emphasis on job prepration. Unions and industry use the mails to train budding craftsmen. One drawback: the drop-out rate is high -- 70 per cent for private home study schools and 90 per cent in some business and industry courses. It is hard to keep student motivation high by mail, the article notes.

As for community colleges, they are "Spreading like brush fire across the land," according to an article entitled "Finishing School For Workers." These colleges are "starting up at the rate of more than one a week ... now enroll two million students and expect to double their enrollments by 1980."

Like traditional junior colleges, community colleges offer two years of post-high school studies to prepare students for transfer into a four-year college or university. "But in most other respects they are very different," according to the artick.

"To standard junior college fare, community colleges have added occupational studies and made them a major part of the curricula. They offer two-year programs of technical and semiprofessional studies capped by the award of an associate degree (an award academic graduates also receive) and one-year certificate programs to train for less skilled jobs."

Trend Rises Among Men For Leisure

In Deaf Smith County, a significant proportion of the able-bodied male population above the age of 14 is, by choice, not going to school, not working and not seeking or wanting work.

In the past 10 years, the number of local people in this inactive category has risen considerably.

It is part of the trend all across the country, according to the latet figures from the Department of Commerce and the Labor Department.

Most of these non-workers are retired people who have sufficient sources of income to let them to lead lives of leisure. Others, of course, are neither self-supporting nor interested in working. They represent a small portion of the total, however.

Of Deaf Smith County's male population over 14, the number of persons in the non-work class is estimated at 630, at compared with the total ten years ago, 336.

Nationally, there are some 8.5 million in this non-school non-work group, a sharp increase over the 6.8 million in 1960.

Much of it is attributed to the fact that more men are retiring when they reach 65. Only one-fourth of them continue to work beyond that age.

Of Deaf Smith County's male population over 65, the number who have retired has increased greatly since 1960, when the total was 177.

The major factor in enabling people to retire, in many cases before reaching 65, is the rapid rise in private and public pension programs in recent years.

The Institute of Life Insurance reports that almost 44.5 million Americans were covered under such programs, other than social security, last year, a gain of 1.6 million in one year.

In addition, the non-work population has other sources of income, in varying measure. These often include interest on savings, life insurance annuities, unemployment insurance, social security and veterans benefits.

As to the proportion of non-workers in the local male population, the latest figures place it at about 10 per cent. In 1960 it was 8 per cent.

Nationally, by way of comparison, the average is 14 per cent.

If it be Possible

let this cup pass from me" (St. Matthew 26:39).

Even the Son of God could not always have His way. The bitter cup did not pass. Even though Jesus prayed three times for the cup to go away, He always concluded with, "not as I will, but as thou wilt".

He drank it deliberately in a calm majestic mood, while God stood by in loving sympathy.

By drinking that most bitter cup, Jesus became the Saviour of the world. God gave Him strength for the suffering and through this heroic deed, Jesus became perfect.

People, all about us, every day, cry the same prayer, "let this cup pass from me". We tremble at the ordeal ahead. Our faith shrinks to know we must suffer such fate as St. Matthew spoke of. But suffering seasons us. It links us to God, for high adventure and noble service through His church.

At The Library

Mid-Nineteenth Century Wales

At Deaf Smith Library this week is the unforgettable saga of Wales as it was in the mid-nineteenth century and what happens in a case of mistaken identity. Check into them today.

Song of the Earth
by Alexander Cordell

This is an unforgettable saga of mid-nineteenth-century Wales and of the people who lived and worked there, often in wretchedness and poverty. The Evan family come from a long line of coal miners, and as the Industrial Revolution sweeps down on the Welsh mining country, they are inextricably caught in a hopeless but glorious fight for decency in the face of collective greed.

At first the Evans are among the comparatively lucky ones; Mostyn and his three tall sons; his daughter Sharon, who has ambitions to be an actress; Gwen, the baby; and above all Gran, who look after the family for her widower son--an indomitable character rooted in the soil & history of Wales. Mostyn and his sons have given up the collier's trade to work the barges that carry the coal down the canals to the ports, and after a time Mostyn becomes a contractor in his own right. But what he hasn't reckoned with is the genius of Brunel, who sends the railways snaking and thundering up the valleys where they had been delcared impossible, so making the coal barges an anachronism.

The tale sweeps on with scene after memorable scene-Mostyn's fight with Black Welshman who blocks the canal with logs; his son Bryn's rescue of the dog from the treadmill in Cushy Cuddlecome's bawdy house; the Michaelmas Fair and Bryan's battle with the Cumberland Wrestler; the frightening ordeal of the mock ceremony when the union men bury Mostyn as a reprisal for his resistance; the great and adventurous journey by barge from Cardiff to Neath.

Peopled with a cast of vivid characters, the grand picture is sometimes tragic and sometimes humorous, but it is always filled with the gusto and lyricism of the Welsh. The superb narrative powe of Alexander Cordell has few equals in modern fiction.

Double Identity
by George Harmon Coxe

Plagued by deep personal problems, Alan Carlisle flied to Surinam in South America to help operate a bush-pilot airpline. On board the flight there is a man who looks very familiar--in fact, he is a dead ringer for Carlisle himself. This coincidental resemblance leads to an intricate and dangerous case of mistaken identity, in which a man who wants to change his will charts an implausible course in order to check-mate a killer. As he finds skeletons in every closet, Carlisle inadvertently discovers much about his own life and character.

George Harmon Coxe, whose books Erle Stanley Gardner has called "uniformly entertaining, gripping and exciting," has again written a fast-paced novel of mystery and inntrigue.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Old-Time Stuffed Hen

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

One of the best stuffings for roast chicken is one of the simplest: just an old-fashioned combination of bread, butter, onion and seasoning.

But there's a technique to the making, and the following recipe gives you the details.

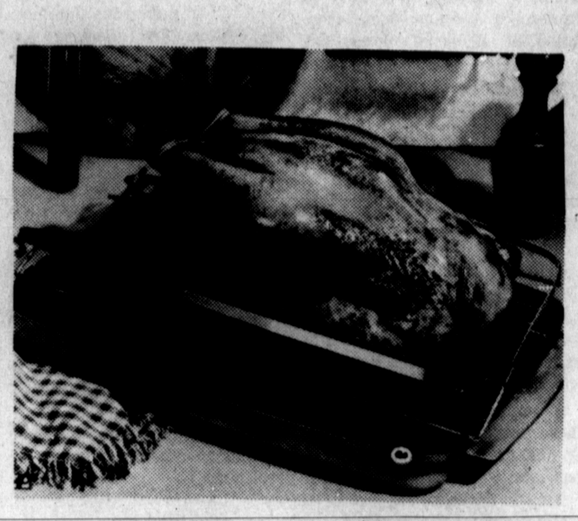
Do try this stuffing! When your family becomes acquanted with it, it's sure to become a top favorite.

ROAST CHICKEN WITH OLD-FASHIONED STUFFING

¾ of a 1-pound loaf of thinly sliced firm-type bread (12 slices)
½ cup (1 stick) butter
¾ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
6-poound roasting chicken
Extra soft butter

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Arrange bread slices in a single layer on a rack in a large roasting pan or on cake racks on a large cookie sheet. Place in oven, close door and turn off heat; let bread dry in oven 1 hour, turning once midway to facilitate drying.

When ready to stuff chicken, fill a deep bowl with cold water and place a second empty large bowl beside it. Quickly dip 1 slice of the dry bread in the cold water, then hold the slice over the second bowl and crush and crumble the bread into coarse crumbs. Repeat process with remaining bread slices.



ROAST CHICKEN — It has an old-time bread stuffing but it's roasted in a new-fashioned shallow pan with a non-stick surface and a V-shaped rack.

In a 10-inch skillet, over moderate low heat, melt half the butter; add half of the onion; cook gently, stirring several times, until onion is softened and yellowed—about 5 minutes. Add half of the bread and cook, tossing lightly with a long-handle fork, for about 3 minutes. Turn crumb mixture into large bowl. Cook second half of bread in same way with remaining butter and onions and turn into large bowl. Add salt and pepper; toss thoroughly but lightly; do not pack down.

Spoon stuffing into neck cavity of chicken, being careful not to press it in too tightly. Fasten neck skin to back with poultry pin or small skewer.

Fill body cavity lightly with stuffing. Close opening with poultry pins; skewer across opening and lace with soft cord; tie legs together with ends of cord. Hook wings back akimbo fashion.

Place Chicken breast-side-up on adjustable rack of a shallow teflon-lined roasting pan (15½ x 12 by 1⅜ inches or 12¾ by 9½ by 1⅜ inches). Rub chicken with soft butter.

Roast in a preheated 325 - degree oven 30 to 40 minutes per pound or until leg joints move easily and leg flesh feels soft to the touch—3 to 4 hours. Baste occasionally with drippings in pan. Let chicken stand out of oven 10 to 15 minutes before carving.

Note: Many large roasting chickens are available frozen. Before stuffing, thaw frozen chicken in the refrigerator about 36 hours or in cool tap water for about 3 hours, changing water often.

Jack Hazelwood Plans Barbecue

Jack Hazelwood, a Democratic candidate for the Texas Senate post being vacated by his uncle, Grady Hazelwood, will be in Hereford Sunday.

He will have a free barbecue in Hereford, beginning at 6 p.m.

Hereford Youth Wins Ad Tour

Michael Paul Harvey of Hereford is one of eight University of Texas senior advertising majors who have been chosen to attend the 1970 Dallas Advertising League student tour, which begins Sunday and continues through Tuesday.

The Ad Legue will host 88 students and 12 professors from 12 universities in the Southwest for a tour of Dallas advertising agencies, media and production facilities, ending with the regular Tuesday Ad League luncheon program.

Selection for the tour is equivalent to receiving a $100 scholarship.

Serve artichokes with a dressing made from olive oil, wine vinegar, salt, pepper, dry mustard and a little dried crumbled thyme. It's the thyme that adds special flavor !

Landscaping Is Club Program

A program topic entitled "Now-Landscaping For Beauty" was presented to Hereford Garden Club members Friday in the home of Mrs. R. L. Ethridge. Assisting hostesses were Mmes. O. G. Hill Sr. and Ray Johnson.

Mrs. S. S Williams discussed an article from The National Gardener on a bird sanctuary which one woman had started. In the beginning she did not know the difference in a crow and a saw, she said, until she become interested and today she has one of the best known bird sanctuaries.

The use of benches in landscaping grounds was discussed by Mrs. R. L. Laymon. In the lecture, she explained the use for benches and the attractiveness they add to a garden.

The new trend of garden lighting and the effectiveness in a garden was discussed by Mrs. Johnson. She said you should plan well, then use every safety precaution and should be done by an electrician.

Following the program, Mrs. Johnson was elected as alternate delegate to attend the Texas State Garden Club Convention in San Antonio on April 28-30. Mrs. Hill and Mrs. A. L. Manjeot will attend as representatives on the state board.

Mrs. L. W. Norvell, club president and a member of the Beautification Committee of Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, announced the general theme of "Litter a Family Affair" for the month-long anti-litter campaign April 15-May 15.

Mrs. Margaret Shown reported on a trip to Clovis to hear plans and suggestions of the Clovis anti-litter campaign scheduled there July 4 highlighted by a fireworks display.

Mrs. Johnson gave a brief report of awards won at District I Convention and Mrs. Hill, program chairman, reported on a workshop held last week at the Camp Fire Lodge grounds.

Mrs. Manjeot announced plans for pruning of roses in The Memorial Garden and explained that the name of Mrs. Elsie Boardman, a former club member, had been added to the plaque.

Mrs. Alfred Smith, therapy committee member, gave a report on a redent Easter project with the exceptional children's school.

Mrs. W. C. Hromas and a committee consisting of Mmes. Williams, Newsom and Ethridge are making plans for a rummage sale scheduled May 9. Time and place will be announced later.

Self-Defense Is Bippus Topic

Self-defense for women was the program topic presented by Justice of the Peace Bill Rowland to members of Bippus Home Demonstration Club recently in the home of Mrs. C. T. Douglas.

He told various ways of self-protection from attackers and precautions to take to prevent such attacks.

During a brief business meeting with Mrs. Kenneth Homfeld presiding, the club voted to sell ironing board covers as a ways and means project. Anyone wishing to buy one may contact any member.

Mrs. Homfeld, who was elected as a delegate for state meeting, presented a program on tuberculosis and urged all members to have a checkup. A council report was given by Mrs. John Hill, followed by a recreation period led by Mrs. Jimmie D. Bradley.

Other members attending were Mmes. C. F. Homfeld, Jack Fortenberry, Wayne Sifford, G. V. Hall, C. F. Burks and guests, Mrs. Jack Weaver and Mrs. Phillip Miller.

The next meeting is scheduled May 13 in the home of Mrs. Sifford.

Student Paper Wins Award

The Hereford High School newspaper, "The Whiteface," received the Award of Distinguished Merit at the Interscholastic League Press Conference in Austin March 21. This was the highest award given for high school newspaper ratings.

The conference was open to all schools in the state, and was broken down into five divisions for printed newspapers.

"The Whiteface" was entered in Division 3, with 38 schools competing for ratings. Nine copies of "The Whiteface" were sent in to be rated. There were four levels of ratings.

The Hereford paper rated in the same award with Amarillo, Caprock and Pampa high schools. Area schools rating awards of achievement were Dumas, Lubbock Estacado and Perryton high schools.

Pre-Schoolers Get Orientation

Conferences with parents of children starting to school in September are now being scheduled at Hereford elementary schools.

The purpose of the interviews is to obtain personal health histories on each child, explain school health policies, and give each child an opportunity to visit the school he will probably attend.

Parents of these children, not previously contacted by means of the school census card, (sent home from school), who desire a conference, are encouraged to contact the school their child will attend.

If this school is not known, these parents may contact Mrs. Jo Solomon, Health Services Supervisor, 364-5321, any morning.

Color Is Topic Of Garden Club

"Our World of Color" was the program topic presented by Mrs. Wayne Mayfield to members of Bud To Blossom Garden Club Friday at the Community Center. The meeting was hosted by Mrs. Bill Nelson, club president.

Mrs. Mayfield gave suggestions for year around color in landscaping.

A letter was read from the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce urging the club to participate in the city-wide clean-up campaign slated here April 15-May 15.

A discussion followed and plans will be finalized at the next meeting scheduled Friday.

Others attending were Mmes. Bruce Brown, Gaylon Bryan, W. H. Gentry, Kenneth Klechak, Ray Polan, Wayne Porter, Jess Robinson and Lloyd Sharp.

Nearly all homes and offices in Reykjavik, Iceland are heated with water from thermal springs, thus avoiding soot and smog in the capital city.

Plan Art Show Here Sunday

An art show will be presented Sunday at the Campfire Girls Lodge, featuring about 150 works of students of Mrs. Eunice Petersen.

Some of the art work, by the 35 boys, girls and women in Mrs. Petersen's class, will be for sale. The show will begin at 2 p.m. and continue until 5 p.m.

Some of the students are just beginning; others are more experienced.

Miss Caison Performs At Convention

Miss Dee Anne Caison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Caison Jr., performed on the Fine Arts Program of the State Convention of Federation of Music Clubs held at the Villa Inn in Amarillo on Saturday.

Dee Anne attained the honor to play on Junior Day by making her 6th consecutive superior rating in the Junior Festival.

All participants had made superior in their local festivals.

Miss Caison's selection for the program was "Rhapsody" by Wigham. She is a student of Mrs. Joe Hacker.

Cotton Fabric Is LAE Topic

Mrs. Sam Morgan presented a program on the use and care of cotton fabrics to members of La Afflatus Estudio Club recently in the home of Mrs. Earl Clark.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Mme. W. F. Johnson, Al Hewitt, A. H. Cook, T. W. Roberson, Emitt Hale, A. B. Higgins, W. F. Markham, B. A. Redell, A. N. Hopson, Glenn Witherspoon, George Suggs and S. C. Ramey.

ATTENTION . . .
GRAIN SORGHUM GROWERS

Are you concerned about residue carry-over with the grain sorghum herbicides you have been using? If you are, use a product that reduces your carry-over problem. LOP-64 is a combination of the two outstanding weedkillers, Lorox and Propazine, and combines the best characteristics of each. This means that LOP-64 gives excellent weed control yet disappears from the soil at a favorable rate. You get the weed control you want and at the same time, you minimize the carry-over problem.

This year, use a safe, effective, proven pre-emergence herbicide on your grain sorghum and worry less about long lasting residues. Use LOP-64—It will work for you.

BURMA BIBLES

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The Assemblies of God, an evangelical denomination, has launched a $50,000 fund-raising project to supply Bibles for Burma, a Buddhist country closed to Christian missionaries since 1966.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Concerning the recent seminar of the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Church in Atlanta, Georgia, the mistake the seminar made was to let the press in on the meeting.

These men were saying that their Christianity has the answer to the Playboy philosophy and "situation ethics", and that it is strong enough for them to meet proponents of these philosophies face to face with confidence. But you would never know it from the press report. The only quotes I have seen have been those of Playboy's Anson Mount and "Situation ethics" author, Joseph Fletcher. Even Billy James Hargis in one of his tirades against the seminar said that in all fairness he would report that Baptist representatives responded to these men. However, his fairness, too, did not extend the quoting any of their statements.

Our local paper also has quotes from Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Mount, but none from Dr. Bar[illegible] Pinson. The headli[illegible] article and the caption under Dr. Mann's picture at first glance seemed to have Dr. Mann supporting Playboy, when nothing could be further from the truth.

As for the letter from California, if the writer were at all familiar with Dr. Mann's teachings, she would know that he has given his congregation Christian answers to these philosophies and told them that the so-called new morality is not new, but the old immorality we have long known. While I do not care for her metaphor, I will use it to say that a minister often finds himself trying to help his parishioners to clean up the garbage and debris of their lives, so perhaps he is not as afraid of being soiled by facing such garbage as the rest of us.

For Women

Don't Blame Women, Blame Those Designers

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

That maverick of the fashion world, designer Mr. (Richard) Blackwell, says this year, for the first time in a decade, he suffered "terrible pangs of conscience" composing his annual list of worst-dressed women.

"Not that I worried about being out-spoken or hurting anyone's feelings — I adore having people hate me — but I felt why blame the women," explained the flamboyant, handsome former movie actor. "The blame should fall on those designers who have intimidated and brainwashed these women into wearing their clothes."

As he paused to comb his graying sideburns and adjust the shawl collar of his black mink coat, he reflected upon the public figures he had named to the list this year: Queen Elizabeth II, Barbra Streisand, Raquel Welch, Jacqueline Susann, Goldie Hawn, Carol Burnett, Doris Day, Shirley Temple, Mae West and Ann-Margaret.

"Let's take, No. 1, Queen Elizabeth," continued the Los Angeles resident. "Let's blame her dressmaker, Hartnell, who I feel is terribly antiquated in his fashion concepts.

"Granted the Queen's position influences her fashion choices. I agree with keeping her dresses to the knees but that doesn't mean the cut and line can't be modern. And protocol doesn't demand she wear only the one strand of pearls. Nor does tradition specify millinery 10 years behind the times or call for the big, oversized satchels, which she calls a purse," he elaborated.

Balenciaga is the designer he would choose to dress the Queen.

"He'd make her look like a royal lady, a royal figure who represents an extremely fashion-conscious nation."

Although Blackwell claims there is no one hard and fast rule for getting on his worst-dressed list — "the problem is individual" — he cites a woman's "total disregard for her own image, age and position in life" as being most offensive.

Elizabeth Taylor and Zsa Zsa Gabor, both named to his hall of fame for making the list three consecutive years, share a common disregard for individual figure problems, he says.

"Miss Taylor never acknowledged her size problem. For too many years, she's squashed herself into clothes too small for her figure."

Zsa Zsa, he points out, "overdresses from the waist down and exaggerates her figure problems, instead of framing her face, which is beautiful, or emphasizing her jewelry, which is magnificent." If it were up to him, he'd dress her in very simple, uncluttered styles, "maybe emphasizing a special neckline or a vivid color."

A woman who wishes to be well-dressed, he says, must learn to disregard the dictates of fashion snobbery and be real, be herself. "She should concern herself with who she is, what she is, her particular figure problems and her position as a woman in view of her husband's role. No man wants to come home to Yves Saint Laurent's decision of what a woman should look like," Blackwell comments with a smile.

He insists, "For 90 per cent of American women, the total concept of high fashion is wrong. Small portions of haute couture should be applied, however, so the woman looks as of today."

Blackwell, who says he loves making fashion sense even more than he enjoys collecting his beloved antiques, claims most designers have lost sight of their role. "We're not here to set ourselves up as kings or judges or to appraise their measurements." His own designs, which take into consideration women sizes 38-46 as well as 6-20, are executed with one basic idea: A woman is a woman for a good reason and for a man to admire. "And if a woman does not have a man around to admire her, then she's not a complete woman," philosophizes the never-married designer.

With the introduction of the midi for spring, Blackwell believes the haute-couture designers finally may have done themselves in. "We're sitting at the funeral, businesswise, for high fashion. Stores, stuck with an abundant stock of minis, started advertising three skirt lengths and many women, adverse to the thought of instantly outdating their wardrobe, took to the idea. This may spell the end of dictates from designers."

Not that he is dead-set against the midi. "I like what I can do with this length, particularly for after-dinner costumes, theater costumes and after 5 outfits," he notes. However, he doesn't feel the midi is a contemporary enough look for daytime.

"Fine fashion should be a total evolution of concepts," he concludes. "It should evolve very gracefully over, say, a 10-year-period. Perhaps once in a decade we could have a smashing change. But why should a wardrobe be outdated instantly?" he asks.

Blackwell, who can neither sketch nor sew, fell into the fashion field by accident. At 14, he was offered a role in an off-Broadway production of "Dead End" and jumped at the opportunity to escape his Brooklyn slum background. Moving from Broadway to Hollywood, he appeared in more than 100 motion pictures as a child and later as an adult actor.

After World War II, and no longer in demand as an actor, he turned his attentions to personal talent managing. While trying to book his one client — a singer — he realized a striking wardrobe might enhance her appeal. He bought some remnants and began draping the fabric into an eye-catching gown. When the singer made her debut, Blackwell's creations elicited as much applause as his client's talent. Shortly thereafter, he banded together with R. L. Spencer to put their total resources, $8,000, into an assault on the fashion world.

Rotary Conference Begins Next Week

The 13th annual conference of District 573 of Rotary International begins a three-day run in Plainview next Thursday at Holiday Inn.

Theme of the conference is, "Up With America." Programs during the meeting will deal with early, modern and future America.

Judge Charles Raynolds of Childress is district governor of the 568-member district. Glen Bickel of Plainview is serving as conference chairman.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m. Thursday, with a golf tournament to start at Plainview Country Club at 10 a. m. Past and present Rotary officers will meet at the Country Club at 5:30 p. m., with a western-style meal to begin at 7 p. m. at the Hale County Agriculture Barn.

The first planary session of the conference will begin at 9:30 a. m. on April 24 at the Harral Memorial Auditorium at Wayland Baptist College.

Business sessions will continue throughout the day, ending with a governor's banquet at Plainview High School cafeteria at 7 p. m.

On the final day of the conference, the second business session will begin at 10 a. m. at Plainview High School Auditorium. Jim Franklin Jr., of Fort Meyers, Fla., and representative of the president of Rotary International, will speak at 10:15 a. m.

The conference will close with a luncheon at Plainview High School cafeteria. Speaker for the event will be Dr. Gilbert Peaks of Markyate, England.

DE STUDENT OF THE WEEK — Miss Stephanie Figueroa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo Figueroa of 439 Avenue D, has been chosen this week's DE student of the week. Stephanie, an 18-year-old junior at Hereford High School, is employed under the Distributive Education program at the Dairy Queen. Her plans for the future include becoming a computer operator. Miss Figueroa is shown above with her employer, Lynn Arnold. —Staff Photo

CARD OF THANKS

The family of R. L. Wilson wishes to take this means of expressing our sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness shown during his illness and finally during our great loss. May God's blessings be yours.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wilson
Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wilson

The earliest written record of cheese dates back to 4,000 B. C. The first cheese factory in this country was built over a century ago.

It took 53 man-hours to produce 100 bushels of corn twenty years ago. By the mid-sixties, the number had been cut to six.

GOOD FOOD IS MY LINE
By Red Hagan

© S. F. OF W.

A revered and time-hallowed tradition of plenty, conviviality and good eating is the New England Clambake. Long a custom of the Indians along the northeastern coast of the United States, the clambake has become synonymous with almost any gathering where plenty and good cheer abound, however, the original clambake that was the basis for the expression still is being held, not only in New England where it is said to have had its origin, but also throughout the rest of the country. Where the original clambake is still held, it is usually a family or social affair. There should be a peck of clams per person which are dug at low tide the day before. The clams are baked on hot rocks in a pit, usually in the last week of August.

When your feet hurt your face tells the world.

When you beautify your feet, you beautify your face. Sound crazy? It isn't. With your feet cool, satin smooth and satin soft they feel so good they don't feel at all. You're relaxed. Poised. The strain is gone. Tense lines disappear. You look prettier. Younger.

It's all so easy with For Feet's Sake,™ four scientifically formulated products to beautify and make your feet healthy. They work together. They work alone.

PUMICE SOUFFLE.™ Totally new cream that gently smooths away roughness on heels, soles and toes. 2 oz., $3.50. TOUCHSTONE.™ Remarkable "gritty" sponge made from specially treated seaweed to use on rough skin while you relax in a tub. $2.00. HEEL-TO-TOE CREAM.™ A completely greaseless cream that quickly soothes, smooths, air-cools warm, tired feet. Use night or day, all year-round. 2 oz., $3.50. REFRESHER SPRAY. Like dangling your feet in a waterfall! This deodorant aerosol spray can be used on bare or stockinged feet. Contains special ingredients to cool, revitalize weary feet. Helps keep them dry, too, even in hot weather. 6 oz., $3.00.

SPECIAL INTRODUCTORY DUO. LIMITED TIME ONLY. Pumice Soufflé and Heel-To-Toe Cream in travel-size one ounce tubes. $3.50.

RUGGED... AND READY TO SHOW

This roper will be a "winner" in any arena

Swing into Tex Tans' new HIGH COUNTRY for the ride of your life. The naturally narrow seat of this new roper, with the foam rubber cushion, is a joy to ride and the 3½" cantle gives just the proper amount of support. Enjoy the fresh new styling of square skirts fully embossed with a flowing floral pattern, rich tan finish and the highlight of white buckstitching trim. The HIGH COUNTRY is no sissy though . . . under all this beauty is Tex Tan's tough, ductile iron horn and the one-piece laminated fork that gives up to FOUR TIMES THE STRENGTH of conventional tree construction. For riding, for roping and for showing . . . ride the HIGH COUNTRY. Come in and see it today at this low, introductory price.
