New Tactics By Teachers On Pay Hikes In Prospect

WAR PRISONERS CHECKED

Military police assist medics as they check sick Communist prisoners of war in a medical stockade at Pusan. These men, suffering from tuberculosis, will be among those returned to the Communists in exchange for sick and wounded UN Prisoners if negotiations at Panmunjom are approved by both sides.

Former Secretary Of Defense Confirms Shortages Of Ammo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett said today there was a "definitely unsatisfactory" performance on ammunition production for the Korean War and he "took it out of the Army's control."

"My patience was completely exhausted," he declared.

Lovett told investigating senators that when he took office as deputy defense secretary in September, 1950, Secretary of Defense George Marshall ordered an investigation into the ammunition situation.

But he said the first "inkling" that he had a shortage in Korea was in September, 1951.

This was five months after Gen. James Van Fleet went to Korea in April, 1951 Van Fleet, retired commander of the Eighth Army, has testified there was a shortage the whole time he was in Korea.

Earlier, Lovett had said that last December there was two or three times more ammunition in the Far East than the Americans had in Normandy for the early phases of the invasion of Europe in June, 1944.

Lovett said, however, the handling of the ammunition situation since the start of the Korean War had been "definitely unsatisfactory."

He said he was referring to ammunition for 155 mm howitzers, 105 mm howitzers, and 60, 81 and 4.2 mm mortars.

Lovett testified before a Senate armed services subcommittee which pushed ahead with an inquiry into reported ammunition shortages even though there might be a negotiated end to the shooting in Korea.

Lovett said it should be remembered that at the outbreak of the Korean War in June, 1950, there were critical shortages in many things and the American defenses had been allowed to deteriorate to a point where they were "wholly inadequate to protect this country."

He said ammunition was only one of a number of "desperate shortages" that included manpower.

Aslo before the committee was Lovett's former assistant, W. J. McNeil.

Lovett and McNeil were asked to give their views in the Senate group's search for the persons and conditions some senators believe were responsible for a serious and sometimes critical lack of ammunition in the hands of American fighting men.

Scurry Wildcat Closed After Drillstem Test

Blount Drilling Co. has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Hoyle H. Cary, wildcat in Southwest Scurry County between the shallow Sharon Ridge field and the Allen-Holliday Strawn Lime field.

It drillstem tested at 7,375-444 feet with tool open one and one-half hours and recovered 3,510 feet free gas in drill pipe and 240 feet heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud with no water.

Interested observers said it probably did not have enough shows to make a commercial producer. It topped the Canyon reef at 7,260 on an elevation of 2,194 feet.

It was 660 feet from south and 667 feet from east lines of section 111-97-H&TC, 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

KENT COUNTY

Tidewater Associated Oil Co. has set location in Southwest Kent County for its No. 1 Atkins Ranch, a wildcat six and one-half miles southwest of Clairemont.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 73-G-W&NW, three miles south of the Salt Creek field.

Operations will begin at once with rotary tools to drill to 7,800 feet.

DIAMOND M

Located in the Diamond M Canyon field of Southwest Scurry is Lone Star Producing Co.'s No. 4-B C. T. McLaughlin, 1,330 feet from east and 1,364 feet from south lines of section 184-97-H&TC.

It will use rotary tools to dig to 7,000 feet. It is eight miles southwest of Snyder.

DRILLING REPORT

Wood No. 1 Dixon in Mitchell County is flowing to clean out and test from perforations in the Strawn at 6,232-252 feet after fracturing with 4,000 gallons of acid. During the last 36 hours the well flowed 86 barrels of fluid, mostly load oil, but it did flow some new oil.

Sun No. 3-A C. L. Jones in the Coronet 2900 field of Northeast Howard pumped three barrels of oil with no water on a 24-hour potential test. It is 990 feet from south and 330 feet from east lines of section 10-26-H&TC.

Sunray No. 1-56 Mays, Central-South Kent wildcat, pumped four barrels of water and two and one-half barrels of oil in 24 hours from a plugback total depth of 1,392 feet. It is still pumping.

Texaco No. 3 Fuller in the Fullerville Strawn field of North Scurry acidized perforations at 7,470-538 feet with 250 gallons mud acid and 500 gallons of regular acid. It then swabbed 101 barrels of fluid in 12 hours. No breakdown was given on the fluid. It is still swabbing.

Stanolind No. 1-E TXL, wildcat in South - Central Nolan County, drillstem tested the Ellenburger at 6,145-212 feet with tool open 75 minutes and recovered 110 feet drilling mud and 1,224 feet sulphur water with no shows. It is now taking another drill test at 6,233 feet.

Sunray No. 1 Mitchell, wildcat in West Stonewall County, swabbed four hours to tanks and made 16.7 barrels of water and 2.7 barrels of oil. It is still swabbing.

Sun No. 2 McCabe in Southeast Mitchell has been running electric logs surveys at 6,000 feet in Pennsylvanian sand, where it set five and one-half inch casing and will perforate and test.

Sun No. 1 Dean, Northeast Dawson wildcat, cored at 10,118-134 feet and recovered white and blue lime and chert with no shows. It is drilling ahead.

In Scurry, Bond No. 1 Clawson, wildcat near Fluvanna, is drilling at 2,565 feet in lime and Texaco No. 2 Fuller, North Scurry wildcat is still shutin.

Good Crops In State Predicted

AUSTIN (AP)—Moist soil brought good crop prospects to most sections last week, but the wheat outlook on the Texas High Plains grew worse.

High, hot winds took the moisture from light showers in that area, said the U. S. Department of Agriculture report for the week ending April 6. Rain must come soon to the High Plains to keep wheat alive, it added.

Field work went ahead rapidly in East Texas, where cotton planting was starting. Only small areas in northern, eastern and extreme southern counties were too wet last week.

Grains were prospering in the Low Rolling Plains, North Texas, the Coastal Bend and south central counties. Rice planting was widespread.

Recent rains helped commercial vegetable growth. Conditions were good throughout the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The harvest of onions and early spring potatoes was on in most sections.

Cattle showed some gain in East Texas, where grazing was still good. Supplemental feeding continued in the west and the Panhandle, since pastures there need rain badly.

Texans Asking Canadian Dam Project Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The proposed Canadian River dam in Texas is a "must" to meet needs of an area of a half-million people, three Texans have told Secretary of Interior McKay.

The three men from Amarillo—T. E. Johnson, editor of the Amarillo Globe-Times; Joe Jenkins, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and Rex Baxter, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce—spoke yesterday in behalf of 12 towns which would use water from the project.

McKay said "it is an interesting project" but withheld other comment.

Fred Aandahl, assistant secretary in charge of water and power activities of the project, told McKay "so far as I can see the project looks OK."

The Texans said the Truman budget now before Congress includes $350,000 planning money for the project.

That figure possibly "will be reduced some in the revision underway," Aandahl said.

Congress authorized the project in 1950. Baxter said it has reached the point where final plans must be prepared by the Reclamation Bureau and that the bureau is ready to finish that phase if the money is voted.

McKay asked a bureau official if the $350,000 would be enough to complete the planning. He was told it would be except for the plans which are not prepared until construction bids are sought.

Baxter said the project is estimated to cost 85 million dollars with the cities to repay 95 per cent over 50 years.

He said the area's irrigation wells now are pumping from 150 to 250 feet. McKay asked if the water table was dropping.

Adenauer Said Asking Help In Handling Flood Of Refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was reported today seeking special American financial help in handling floods of refugees from Communist-ruled East Germany.

This problem, with other tough economic and trade issues, was up for discussion today with Secretary of State Dulles, Foreign Aid Director Stassen and other top American officials.

Adenauer was reported hopeful of U. S. financial backing for building big housing projects in West Germany, mainly to help absorb refugees.

About 1,500 men, women and children daily are slipping through the Communist Iron Curtain into Western Berlin.

The conversations that opened on the Chancellor's arrival yesterday were reported to be moving smoothly.

Officials said Dulles and Adenauer talked over Russia's current line of apparent conciliation and agreed it reflected no basic change in the Soviet dream of world domination.

The German Chancellor was quoted as saying the West could test Russia's intentions by renewing proposals for free elections throughout Germany. He also reportedly asked for support in pressing for the return of some 300,000 World War II West German prisoners believed still held by the Soviet Union.

Apart from the discussions with Adenauer, the U. S. was reported to have worked out a new approach to the problem of Western European defense, based on a long pull for 20 to 30 years, rather than preparing for a "crisis year."

Planning originally was aimed largely at readiness to meet a Soviet threat at a time when it was considered most likely. A recent target date was 1954.

However, diplomatic officials said thinking had shifted in favor of a program, now accepted by the administration, which could be fitted into the U. S. economy on a long-time basis. It was argued such a military plan would be less subject to letdowns when "crisis years" passed.

T. P. Henderson Named Hermleigh Councilman

T. P. Henderson was elected to the Hermleigh city council yesterday in a very light vote.

Henderson was given the office with 24 votes, while Dave Hess received the only write-in vote, according to Mrs. H. H. Mason, city clerk. Henderson will fill the vacancy resulting from expiration of the term of John Ulmer Vernon.

Other councilmen are Vance Clift and Frank Kubala, whose terms expire in 1954, and R. L. Jones and Ivy Herrley, whose terms expire in 1955. The term of A. D. Higginbotham, mayor, will not expire until 1955, Mrs. Mason said.

FIRE HITS AIRPORT

Flames devour the main administration building and the attached control tower at the Schenectady, N.Y., County Airport. Firemen confined the fire to the frame building. The flag at right is being lowered to save it from flames. A county official estimated the loss at $35,000 to $50,000.

Negro Gets Prison Sentences; Another Seeks More Trials

James Floyd, 29-year-old Snyder Negro, was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty in district court here this morning to two indictments returned by the grand jury yesterday, charging him with burglary. The grand jury, in its one-day session, returned only the two indictments and "no-billed" Floyd of another felony complaint.

The complaint on which Floyd was "no-billed" was a charge that he stole a 1942 Chevrolet club coupe, used in one of the burglaries, from A. E. Durm, 50, of Hermleigh. Durm, a white man, was arrested on a vagrancy charge about the time he reported the car stolen in the Negro section of Snyder. Durm paid a fine of $38 in justice court on the vagrancy charge. Floyd claimed the car was lent him by Durm.

Floyd pleaded guilty to burglarizing the R. B. Sears Motor Co. a few minutes before he was arrested the night of Feb. 9 when he wrecked Durm's car while officers were pursuing him in Southeast Snyder. Nothing was reported missing from the motor company's office after Floyd gained entrance through a window he broke.

The Negro also pleaded guilty to the Jan. 25 burglary of the Jack Rape Humble Service Station, where a sack containing $33 was stolen. He was sentenced to two years in each case. Sentences are to run concurrently unless otherwise specified by court order, which was not issued in either of these cases.

Floyd was under five-year suspended sentence given at Midland in an aggravated assault conviction before the burglaries here occurred. Officials here have not yet learned whether Midland's district court will revoke the suspension.

Also in court here this morning was Luther (Crip) Tucker, well-known Snyder bootlegger, sentenced by jury in February for forgery. The jury sentenced him to four years for forgery in a swindling racket operated by him in the county jail. The sentence had not been officially pronounced upon him by the district judge, however, and Tucker was brought before the judge today. The judge withheld pronouncement today when Tucker said he wanted to be tried on two other indictments also charging him with forgery in companion cases.

Tucker has been held in the county jail at Rotan since his conviction here. Homer Whisnand, sheriff here, said Tucker was kept at Rotan because of his previous record of numerous violations and because the jail here was being remodeled. Tucker has a record of 17 arrests on charges ranging from vagrancy and investigation to robbery and grand larceny and violation of the Dyer Act, according to a report from the Department of Public Safety.

43 Votes For Council Posts

Only 43 persons voted in the city election unanimously return three incumbents to seats on the city council yesterday.

Eugene E. Harper, motel owner, was re-elected to place No. 1 on the council; C. N. von Roeder, rental property owner, was elected to place No. 3, and Malven K. Stevenson, grocer, was re-elected to place No. 5.

The men were first elected Dec. 16, when seven candidates were unopposed for the position of mayor and the six council seats.

In that election 218 votes were cast compared to yesterday's 43.

Costs of the election yesterday to the city was $68.35, Mrs. Clara Jones, city secretary, said.

Each of the six election officials who held the election from 8 o'clock yesterday morning until 7 o'clock last night was paid $10, and the 500 ballots printed for the election cost $8.35, she said.

In a very brief meeting last night the city council canvassed the election, and voted unanimously to pay the election expenses.

The re-elected councilmen were sworn in their offices, and the meeting was recessed.

The city council consists of Harper, Stevenson, Von Roeder, J. L. (Browdway) Browning, J. W. Phillips, Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, and the mayor is Harry T. Holbrook.

Pushing Ninety Degrees

The temperature rose to a high of 86 degrees according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer. The low last night was 50 degrees with a 2-degree rise by 7:30 o'clock this morning, she said.

Opponent To Minimum Price On Natural Gas

AUSTIN (AP)—An increase in the price of gas in the Panhandle could result in halting the operations of an Amarillo Smelting Co., a Senate committee was told today.

C. J. Roberts, representing American Smelting and Refining Co., said a minimum price of 10 cents per thousand cubic feet would increase his company's gas bill $233,000 per year.

His testimony opposed a bill by Sen. Grady Hazlewood that would let the Railroad Commission set a minimum gas price in the Panhandle.

Roberts was the only opponent heard today before the committee called a recess until 9 a.m. tomorrow. A number of proponents, mostly land and royalty owners in the area, were also heard. Others on both sides had testified yesterday.

Proponents contended they were at the mercy of gas purchasers who pay 2 cents to 8 cents for their gas while the minimum price permitted by Oklahoma is 9.8 cents.

Witnesses Talk Before Hearing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nine more witnesses have refused to tell a House un-American activities subcommittee whether they ever were members of the Communist party.

The subcommittee, at a session yesterday primarily for witnesses who objected to being televised during a series of hearings here last month, heard from:

A semico-operative former State Department attache, a plumber with a master's degree from Harvard, a drama critic, a building contractor, a musician and four educators.

Charles Albert Page, 54, testified he worked for the State Department from 1927 to 1933 and from 1941 to 1946, serving in Cuba Ecuador, Guatemala, Uruguay and most recently as cultural relations attache in Paris.

He denied Communist affiliation during his 11 years of government service, answering questions about those years willingly, but refused to discuss Communist connections, if any, from 1934 to 1941.

He told the subcommittee, comprised of Chairman Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif) and Clyde Doyle (D-Calif), he was assistant to then Lt. Gov. Ellis Patterson of California from January, 1939, to December, 1940.

Rain Chances Are Said Cut

(By The Associated Press)

A feeble cold front slid into the Panhandle and South Plains early Wednesday, but a forecaster said it "looks like it will die right where it is."

The Weather Bureau said the collapse of the cold front meant Texas probably wouldn't get thundershowers that had been predicted for Wednesday night or early Thursday.

Another cold front pushed through Nevada toward Arizona, and the bureau said it should reach Thursday night or early Friday, setting up another chance for rain.

Temperatures at dawn across Texas ranged from Dalhart's chilly 40 to 73 at Alice, Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

At 6 a.m. Wednesday no rain had been reported in the state in 36 hours.

Highest Number Of Casualties Since Nov.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department reported today 1,039 more battle casualties in Korea, the largest weekly rise since Nov. 12.

The toll, reflecting the recent bitter battles for Western Front hilltops, raised the war toll of American killed, wounded and missing to 132,967.

Efforts Made To Force Bill Out Of Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—New efforts to force committee action on teachers pay raises were in prospect today after a three-and-a-half hour no-decision hearing yesterday.

Backers of a plan to boost pay $600 a year said they might try again to take it out of the hands of the House Appropriations Committee.

The committee heard testimony on the three bills yesterday—each requiring more tax money from some source—after Rep. Max Smith of San Marcos, committee chairman, said the rules precluded immediate action.

Beside the $600 a year bill that would cost the state 33 million dollars a year, these measures were offered:

A bill by Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen giving an average raise of $305 a year. His original measure, fought by the Texas State Teachers Association, would have given a $240 increase. It was regarded as a compromise.

A bill by Rep. Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford, who proposed a $603 a year boost for beginning teachers.

Some 2,000 citizens including many teachers swarmed the floor and galleries at yesterday's hearing.

"What can we do now?" one school principal asked after the hearing.

"Thank your representatives who are on our side and apply a little more heat to the one's opposing us," answered Rep. Lamar Zivley of Temple.

Zivley is sponsor of the bill to make a $600-a-year, across-the-board increase in the minimum pay scale for teachers. A companion bill has been approved by a Senate committee and awaits Senate action.

The House Appropriations Committee listened three hours and 20 minutes to arguments for three bills that would give teachers more money.

No action was taken, for Speaker Reuben Senterfitt has ruled no other bill involving state spending can be considered until the Legislature acts on the general appropriation bill for state services.

The teacher pay issue drew the biggest crowd yesterday, but other committees found equally touchy proposals on their hands.

Red Attack Is Thrown Back

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese Reds slammed into Allied defenses in Western and Central Korea today, but battle - toughened American Marines and Belgian infantrymen sent the Communists reeling back.

B26 bombers wiped out 130 Red trucks on North Korean highways during the night, while fighter-bombers blasted three rail bridges and a radio station at Haeju, in Western Korea, the Fifth Air Force said.

Chinese Reds in company strength—about 175 men—stormed up Bunker Hill on the Western Front but were blocked by a Marine combat patrol.

The attack carried some Communists into Allied lines but sharpshooting Leathernecks stopped the Reds cold in 11 minutes of bitter, close-quarter fighting, the Eighth Army reported.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy Wednesday, Wednesday night and Thursday. Cooler Wednesday night and in Panhandle and upper South Plains Wednesday.

Number Of Prisoners Offered Is Called 'Incredibly Small'

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists today said they are ready to send home 600 disabled prisoners of war—a figure that includes only 150 Americans and other U. N. soldiers. The chief Allied negotiator asked for a recount, and added: "I have hopes we will get more."

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel told the Communists their figure was "incredibly small," and asked "that you have these figures reviewed." He said later, however, that "I have no reason to believe at the present time that they are not acting in good faith."

The U. N. Command offered to return 5,800 sick and wounded Communists—5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese. This is 7 per cent of the 83,000 pro-Communist prisoners and 4 per cent of all prisoners held by the Allies. The Communist figure of 600 is 5 per cent of the 12,000 to 13,000 U. N. and Korean prisoners the Reds have said they hold. Both sides named lower-level staff officers to work out administrative details of the exchange. The U. N. Command appointed Col. Williard B. Carlock of Galveston, Tex.; Air Force Col. Douglas Kairns of Riverside, Calif.; and South Korean Col. Lee Soo Yung. The Communists named North Korean Col. Lee Pyong Il and Chinese Col. Wang Ching.

The staff officers went into session immediately after the liaison groups adjourned for the day.

Daniel asked the Communists for a complete revised text of the whole draft agreement on transfer of sick and wounded so the U. N. Command could consider any changes "in one package and arrive speedily to the items which are controversial." The Communists have agreed to the main points of Daniel's plan, and said they will submit their versions of the rest.

The Allied protest on the Communist offer was the stiffest statement yet made in the three-day-old conference. It was the first note of discord in the otherwise smooth negotiations which Tuesday resulted in agreement in principle to exchange disabled POWs.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho told Daniel, "We have offered the figures of sick and injured prisoners of war only after we have checked the matter in detail. Accordingly, I cannot find any reason why the figures are incredibly small."

Daniel told newsmen the figure is "controversial."

"It depends on what category you put them in," he said. "In other words, how sick is a man?"

Of the 600 ailing prisoners the Communists offered to return, 450 would be South Koreans. The rest would be Americans, British, French, or other U. N. soldiers.

U. N. sources said possible reasons for the relatively few prisoners the Reds will return include:

1. The Communists are not as liberal in defining sick and wounded prisoners—a reason suggested by Daniel.

2. The Reds may claim some of the Allied troops they hold have embraced communism and decline repatriation.

3. A final, and more dismaying explanation, may be found in the Reds' policy of "liberating" captured soldiers at the front. The Communists have captured many more U. N. troops than they admit. Some Allied estimates place the total at 65,000.

Vishinsky Asks West Nations To Meet Russians Half Way

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Russia's Andrei Vishinsky urged Western Countries today to "meet the Soviet Union half way just as the Soviet Union is endeavoring to meet them half way" in an effort to agree on disarmament.

In a brief speech to the U. N.'s 60-nation General Assembly, Vishinsky claimed that "in an effort to reach agreement the Soviet delegation deems it possible not to press for adoption of its own resolution."

That draft, which the assembly's political committee defeated, called for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb and a one-third across the board arms cut by all the big powers.

The General Assembly was due to consider Russian amendments to a proposed resolution continuing the work of the U. N Disarmament Commission. The Soviets want to take out instructions for the commission to base its work on previously approved — but Russian-rejected — Western proposals for supervised, step-by-step arms reduction.

Some delegates viewed Vishinsky's amendments as a compromise offer because, though they threw the commission's deliberations wide open again, they did not specifically restate the Russians' own proposals for immediate one-third arms cuts and bans on atomic and germ weapons.

The Americans, however, feared Vishinsky's efforts to knock out the proposed endorsement of the commission's previous work, if successful, might be employed later by the Soviet as a propaganda point against the Western proposals.

The Americans said they would vote against the Russian amendments. It was believed most of their Western allies would do the same.

Though some saw in the Soviet amendments at least a softening of the usual Communist approach to the long-deadlocked disarmament question, there seemed no suggestion at this time that the Russians in their astonishing new peace offensive were ready yet to accept Western proposals which would call for lifting the Iron Curtain to allow complete international control and inspection.

Vishinsky told newsmen, however, he would not repeat in the Assembly at least the old Soviet demands that the Big Five reduce their conventional arms by one-third immediately and ban all atomic and germ weapons.

Russia's delegate on the disarmament commission can bring them up there later—and probably will.

Should the Russian amendments be rejected, the Soviets are expected to vote against the resolution continuing the disarmament group. It appears certain of endorsement by the Assembly, however, and the Soviets are expected to continue sitting on the commission.

Teachers Will Hear Educator

Dr. James Millar, educator of Portland, Ore., will address the annual banquet of the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association here April 23, according to Mel Zane Gilbert, president of the group.

Millar, now director of the Good Citizenship Foundation at Portland, is one of the country's top five educational speakers, Gilbert said. He was educated in Europe and America.

The Good Citizenship Foundation is well known for its extensive influence toward citizenship in the schools, he said.

Gilbert said the banquet will be held at the fellowship hall of the First Methodist Church. He added that any person interested in student citizenship in the public school and desires to hear Millar speak may purchase tickets at the Morris Melody Shop of the east side of the courthouse square.

Gilbert will be master of ceremonies of the banquet. Miss Jane Hardin will be in charge of the program, and arrangements for the dinner are being made by Mrs. Mabel Brock.

The organization has 64 members here, Gilbert said.

Difficulty In Getting Religious Services For Ex-King Carol II

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—The body of ex-King Carol II of Romania lay entombed today in the Pantheon of St. Vincent's Roman Catholic Church here, traditional resting place of Portuguese royalty.

An Anglican chaplain conducted the burial service yesterday for the former monarch, who died of a heart attack Saturday at 59. Carol had been reared in the Greek Orthodox faith but no Orthodox priest was available here. The Roman Catholic church refused to perform the ceremony because Carol divorced his first two wives.

The exiled monarch's third wife, the former Mme. Elena Lupescu, and a handful of European royalty were on hand for the service. Carol's son, ex-King Mihai, remained in Switzerland but sent a wreath.

Heavy Schedule Of Speaking Dates For Chamber Manager

Leon Huff, manager of the chamber of commerce, will be in Lubbock from Saturday until next Wednesday attending the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas.

Huff, who is secretary - treasurer of the group, will preside over the Monday afternoon business session of the group.

Speakers will include Harry Krusz, executive vice - president and general manager of the San Antonio chamber, who will give the keynote address; Fred Husbands, executive vice - president and general manager of the West Texas chamber; and Ben Blanton, executive vice-president of the Wichita Falls chamber.

On April 23, Huff will attend a meeting of the Southwestern Retailers Association, where he will speak. He will speak on May 1 at a meeting of the Southern Managers Association of the Chamber of Commerce in Shreveport.

Former Snyder Lawyer Visiting In Snyder After Navy Duty Tour

Jack Kennedy, former Snyder attorney and assistant to the county attorney here for more than a year, was visiting here last night and today after serving 17 months in the Navy.

Kennedy said he had resigned his commission as an officer in the Navy. He was to leave today for Lubbock, where he will visit friends. His wife and son are in Durant, Okla., his home town.

The young attorney said he had not yet made any plans for the immediate future.

The veteran of World War II was recalled to the Navy 17 months ago and served as deck officer on an LST.

Still Winter In Some Parts

(By The Associated Press)

There was a touch of wintry weather over the Rocky Mountain and Northern Plains area today with snow and freezing temperatures.

Snow fell over sections from Northern Minnesota across the Northern Plains and Northern Rockies but much of it melted as it hit the ground. However, it accumulated in the mountain regions along the Continental Divide. Heaviest falls were in the Big Horn Basin of Northwestern Wyoming, with 13 inches on the ground at Cody. There were snow flurries and showers in the Pacific Coast states and in the Central and Southern Rockies.

Temperatures dropped below freezing in much of the area, and southward to Nevada.

Thundershowers were general in the Central Plains and in Eastern Kansas but rain which fell yesterday from Florida to Southern New England appeared nearly ended. There were heavy falls during the night in parts of Southern New England, with Nantucket, Mass., deluged with nearly 2½ inches.

There was considerable warming over Texas and Oklahoma yesterday and warm, moist air moved northward into the Southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley.

Mrs. Levi Schrock and children, 1912 Coleman, returned yesterday from Odessa where they spent the Easter holidays with Mr. Schrock.

Alan Friberg of Kilgore has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Youngblood and daughter, Marsa, 1812 Thirtieth Street, and of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ham, 3101 Avenue Y.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Adams had as Easter guests at their farm home Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Lilly and son, Fred, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McWilliams and daughter and son, Gaynelle and David, all of Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Miller of Fence Lake, N.M.

More Communist Propaganda Received Through Mail Here

At least a trickle of communist literature reached Snyder this week, a part of numerous pamphlets sent to cities throughout Texas.

Sent to the Daily News was a 24-page pamphlet designed by the Communist Party to play on racial prejudice and labor conditions in the South.

The booklet was mailed from Houston in a plain envelope, but inside it gave the New York City address of the party and urged subscription to The Worker, communist newspaper. Urging readers to write for further information, the booklet used the slogan, "If it's about communism, ask a communist!"

One of the main things of the U.S. run down in the pamphlet was Wall Street, the target of most communist propaganda. In the 24 pages, Wall Street was mentioned 17 times with such phrases as "The plain people of the South are gripped by a new sense of alarm since General Eisenhower and his Wall Street cabinet have taken over the government," or "In the service of the oil trusts and of the Morgans, duPonts and Rockefellers, they have conspired to reduce our Southland into even more of a Wall Street enslaved colony."

Paradoxically, the book blames Wall Street for stopping trade with Red China. It is the first time communist literature had laid an act at Wall Street's doorstep that didn't reek of immediate profit gained at the expense or blood of others.

The book advocated the enactment of state measures and support of federal legislation for "a fundamental land redistribution and an extensive program of land reclamation and development.... put a ceiling on the number of tillable acres of land that can be held by any one individual or corporation."

It said the communists want to "end the Wall Street imposed embargo against trade with the socialist one-fourth of the world... Wall Street's war embargo policies threaten the permanent loss of the South's traditional China market for cotton and textiles."

It also said the party wants to abolish the practice of loyalty testing and to "cut the size of and introduce reforms into the state militia and national guard and police forces."

In one place, where the pamphlet was urging Southerners to unite in the party's "Common Program," it said "Victory will create the conditions for the Southern workers—in league with their class throughout the country — to undertake their historic march toward that next state of mankind's progress—Socialism." Later in the booklet, still on the same subject, it said "the struggle for these partial democratic reforms is thoroughly consistent with the fundamental beliefs of Marxist-Leninist science of social progress."

J. P. Nelson, postal official here, said he has not had any notification of any more than the one pamphlet here.

Ralph Rippy of Lubbock, FBI agent, said the FBI office there has had several complaints of the pamphlets being sent to persons there, but he said nothing can be done about their being sent through the mails as long as postage is paid.

Mrs. Davis Dies In Colorado City Hospital

Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning in St. Elizabeth's Church for Mrs. Evelyn Clark Davis who died unexpectedly in Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Rosary will be held in Bell Funeral Home Chapel tonight at 8 o'clock with the Rev. Thomas Quinlivan of Colorado City officiating. The Rev. Edward Chrisman will conduct services tomorrow. Burial will be in Central City, Iowa.

Mrs. Davis was the wife of Archie Davis of 500 Twenty - seventh Street.

Mrs. Davis, 39, was a nurse for Dr. John Broaddus. She was born Oct. 3, 1913. Survivors include one brother, Joseph Clark, who is serving in the navy and one sister, Mrs. Dudley Henderson, Central City, Iowa.

Arrangements are under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

1st Symptoms Of Cancer Are To Be Watched

"Many people put off seeing their physicians, when they suspect cancer, because they are afraid, and yet, this fear, resulting in delay, causes many deaths from cancer," Miss Leah Davis, county health unit nurse, said.

"One half of the lives now being lost to cancer could be saved if sufferers would see their doctors in time," Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said in a report to Miss Davis' office.

"The sooner cancer is found, the less likely it is to have spread to other parts of the body, making cure impossible.

"Most persons are familiar with the danger signs, such as a small sore on the skin, lip or tongue that does not heal quickly; a mole, wart, or birthmark that suddenly changes in appearance; a painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip, or tongue; persistent indigestion; radical changes in normal bowel habits; any unusual bodily discharge or bleeding; and persistent hoarseness lasting more than a few weeks. When any of these symptoms show up between physical checkups, go quickly to see your doctor. They are common indications that cancer may be starting," the report said.

"You cannot tell if you have cancer without seeing a doctor. A regular thorough physical checkup by your family physician is your best guard against cancer, plus an examination when one of the danger signals, or warnings appear. The first symptoms of cancer are scarcely noticeable. You may notice just a slight change from the normal. But do not wait until you feel pain to see your doctor. It is characteristic of cancer that there is no pain in the first stages. Pain is usually a late symptom and when it comes, the growth is often far advanced."

Snyder Band Is 1st In Division At Contests

The Snyder High School stage band took first place in the class A division of the second annual Stage Band Festival in Brownwood yesterday.

About 16 bands were entered in the two divisions of the contest, according to Melvin Montgomery, local band director. State bands organized less than a year entered in Class A and those organized longer in class AA. The Snyder group has been organized about two months, he said. Breckenridge won first in class AA.

The local band was presented a black and gold metal trophy about 16 inches high. Tim Dennis arranged the five number the group played, and Montgomery directed.

Six of the students placed on the all-star band that was made up from both divisions. Joe Devenport played bass, Jimmy Boyd, trumpet, and a group called the Four Tunes made up of Sally Glover, Jane Houston, Devenport and Boyd served as vocalists.

Others in the Snyder stage band were Roland Barton, Bert Rand and Karleen Roberts, trumpets; P. W. Cloud, Jr., Ray Gordon and Lynn Tankersley, trombones, Charlotte Colley, Bruce Evans, Johnny Randolph and James Burleson, saxophones, and Kenneth Lawrence, piano.

At district solo auditions that were held for soloists from the entire band Saturday in Sweetwater, 17 out of the 20 entered qualified, Montgomery said. These students plus three ensembles who also qualified will be entered in regional contests in San Angelo May 2.

State To Let Contract On County Farm Road

Contract will be awarded in Austin by the State Highway Department some time about the middle of this month on three miles of farm to market road in Scurry County to connect two other recently paved farm to market roads M. A. Callaway, member of the highway engineering department here, said.

Callaway said it will be farm road No. 1608, including three miles of grading, structures, base and surfacing from farm road No. 1606, which runs south and east from Randel's corner to Ira, to farm road No. 1609, which runs directly south from Union to Ira. The new connecting road will be two miles south of U. S. Highway 180 and parallel to U. S. 180, Callaway said.

Returns From Ira, Fluvanna Elections In

Official returns from Ira filed in the county clerk's office shows the returns of Saturday's school board election but does not show who one of the new trustee's will be. There were two ties among the five candidates.

Houston Kimbrell was elected to the board with 22 votes. Either J. C. Sterling or Marvin Sorrels, each of whom received 15 votes, will be the other new trustee. The places vacated were held by Clifton Thomas and Orville Taylor, neither of whom was a candidate for re-election.

Forrest Beavers, county school superintendent, said today that the problem of the tie would probably be worked out among the candidates and the school board in its regular meeting next Tuesday night. The other tie in the election was between Elton Crowder and T. L. Martin, each receiving eight votes.

The tie between Martin and Crowder is immaterial, however, since there were only two places to be filled on the board. Beavers said there were two options to settling the tie. One of the candidates may submit a written withdrawl to the election judge, thereby placing the other in office or the judge may order a new election for decision between the two.

Beavers said Ira officials were in his office today, indicating they would probably work the problem out between the board and the two candidates by the time of the board's next meeting.

Trustees whose terms did not expire were Jim Brown, Jack Dunn, Whit Farmer, A. P. Brooks, and M. L. Wilson.

Returns of the Fluvanna school board election were not brought to the clerk's office by noon today, but it was reported to Beavers that Burl Belew and Hurston Lemons had been elected. They sought places held by Roy Reeder and Alfred Beaver, both candidates for re-election. The only other candidate was Robert Jones. Other trustees are Henry Flournoy, Joe Landrum, Leo Beaver, James Stansell, and Dee Pylant.

Marshmallow Fudge Easy Dish To Fix

Mrs. Jack Dillon of 2350 Sunset Drive frequently uses a recipe for marshmallow fudge that was popular in Aspermont when the family lived there last summer.

Mrs. Dillon said the chocolate, a favorite at her house, is simple to fix. Occasionally she gives it as a gift to persons the family visits. She also has shipped some to her father in Korea, wrapping each piece separately in aluminum foil.

MARSHMALLOW FUDGE

4 cups sugar
1 large can condensed mik
¼ pound butter
3 packages bittersweet chocolate
1 pint marshmallow cream
½ pound or more pecans

Bring sugar, milk and butter to a rolling boil for six minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add chocolate, marshmallow cream, and pecans. Beat until well mixed and pour on large greased pan to cool.

History Of Friendship Day Told At Art Guild Meeting

Friendship Day, an annual event in federated clubs, was observed at the Art Guild program last night when Mrs. Ivan Gatlin was hostess.

Mrs. Harry Lee told how Friendship Day was begun in honor of Miss Eleanor Brackenridge, who established the Woman's Club in San Antonio and worked with a nurse to provide medical aid for the needy. The philanthropist also gave a dormitory to Texas State College for Women, Mrs. Lee said. In 1947 the San Antonio club asked the Texas legislature to establish a Friendship Day in Miss Brackenridge's honor. Her birthday March 7, was the day chosen.

Miss Lamoyane Harrell, guest soloist, sang a friendship song accompanied by Mrs. Bill Campbell. Members answered roll call with friendship quotations and poems and closed the program by singing a friendship song composed by Mrs. Willis Keller, state chairman of the friendship department in the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

An arrangement of spring flowers centered the dining table. Sixteen members attended, and guests were Miss Evelyn Levisay, Miss Vallie Eoff, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Harrell.

Lowell Martin Marks Birthday With Party

Mrs. J. Ray Martin, 3726 Dalton Drive, entertained with a party Monday honoring her son, Lowell, on his fifth birthday.

Favors were party hats and horns.

Mrs. George J. Webb assisted the hostess in serving.

Billy Hicks, a student at Texas Tech, was home for the holidays to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hicks, 1812, Thirtieth Street. Dee, Tommy and Lugie Bowman, also from Tech, were guests in the Hicks' home.

Here's a suggestion for a springtime turkey dinner. Try buying a 4-or-5-pound family - sized turkey. Stuff with a whole fresh pineapple and serve with orange and cranberry sauce. For the sauce, combine one 1-pound can of jellied or whole cranberry sauce with one large orange which has been run through a food chopper (rind and pulp included). After mixing the sauce and orange, cover the dish and chill to blend flavors. To stuff the turkey, select a ripe fresh pineapple and pare lengthwise. Roll in sugar and place in turkey cavity. For even browning, cover turkey with cheesecloth dipped in melted fat. Press cloth around bird snugly and roast according to standard time for weight of bird. During last 10 minutes of roasting, remove cheesecloth to allow extra browning.

This is one tested recipe for a master mix:

9 cups sifted flour
1-3 cup baking powder
1 tablespoon salt
2 teaspoons cream of tartar
¼ cup sguar
2 cups shortening

Sift dry ingredients together three times. Cut in shortening until mix is consistency of corn meal. Store in covered container. To measure the mix, pile lightly into cup and level off with spatula. Yield: 12 cups. One way to use the mix is in Cheese Pinwheels. Mix 2 cups mix with 2-3 cup milk to make a soft dough. Roll on floured board or pastry cloth into rectangle ¼-inch thick. Sprinkle 1 cup grated cheese on dough and roll as for a jelly roll. Cut ¾-inch slices and place on greased cooky sheet. Bake in hot oven for 12 to 15 minutes. Yields 10 to 12 pinwheels.

Gloria Graham Not Known As Friendliest Of Girls

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie town can't figure out Gloria Graham, the provocative blonde who won an Academy Award last month.

The gal has been in pictures for almost 10 years, yet few people claim they really know her. Maybe that's why she's such a good actress.

But her unorthodox ways upset many people in Hollywood. These people expect Gloria to conform to the modes and methods of the movie town. She refuses. Three studios have let her go, and some of the partings have not been friendly.

Now she is taking the rap from certain columnists who accuse her of having become afflicted with Oscaritis. (A seasonal disease caused by award poisoning and resulting in swelling of the head and the sense of proportion.) The carping is caused by Gloria's unconcern over cashing in on the publicity benefits of her Academy Award.

I'm an expert observer of the disease, and I don't think Gloria has it. She acts just the same as she did before she won the big prize — unpredictable, somewhat vague, but still fascinating.

She is continuing her string of unique portrayals in "The Big Heat." When I saw her on the set, she was about to commit a murder. Her face was made up to be horribly scarred, a gangster having splashed her with scalding coffee.

Was she thrilled about winning the Oscar?

"Sure, who wouldn't be?"

Where is it now?

"My son Timmy has taken it over. He keeps it in his room and thinks it's a toy." Timmy, 4½, is her son by her former husband, director Nick Ray. Her first mate was actor Stanley Clements.

Gloria has had an amazing career during her span in Hollywood. A Los Angeles girl, she was first signed by MGM, as Louis B. Mayer's own protegee. But the furthest she got was playing a second lead in "Merton of the Movies," with Red Skelton.

"When my option came up, they offered to let me stay at my same salary, $500," she recalled. "Dore Schary offered me $750 at RKO, so I took it. Six months later, Schary left RKO."

Her experience at RKO started out happily. Schary handed her a brief but meaty part in "Crossfire," first of the films on anti-Semitism. It won her her first Academy nomination, and it's still her favorite role.

She became unhappy after Howard Hughes took over the studio. She once complained to me that she had been offered second leads to Ava Gardner and Laraine Day and leads in B pictures. This was after she was an Oscar nominee and co-star with Humphrey Bogart. The studio turned down a loanout for the Shelley Winters role in "A Place in the Sun."

Instead of taking a suspension, she accepted a small role in "Macao," a Jane Russell-Robert Mitchum potboiler. "This is my part," she said, showing me three script pages.

She soon parted with RKO and landed a contract at Paramount. Her only role was as the elephant girl in "The Greatest Show on Earth." She even allowed the elephants to hold their feet over her nose. What happened to the Paramount pact?

"They dropped me," she admitted frankly. But she added that her career has never prospered as as it has since she turned free lance. She has only a picture-a-year deal at 20-Fox now.

Gloria takes care with her characterizations, as witness her award winning role as the Southern belle in "The Bad and the Beautiful." She had never lived in the South.

"So I studied a couple of hours every day for two weeks with Joe Adams, the Negro disc jockey in Santa Monica," she said. "I took a lot of care with it, because I knew the ladies of Virginia speak excellent English with only a slight drawl'."

Snyderites Return From Coastal Trip

Mrs. H. H. Everett and daughter, Jayne, northwest of town, and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Collins, Lamesa Highway, returned Monday night from Corpus Christi where they visited Mr. Everett.

The group fished for speckled trout Friday and Saturday and Mrs. Collins brought back a five-pounder she caught.

PERSONALS

Mrs. G. W. Hicks and son, Graydon, Jr., 1812 Thirtieth Street accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. John Robert Prude of Odessa, were to have left today for Iberia, Mo. Mrs. Hicks' father, T. E. Lewis, is to return with them.

International Program Given At Club Here

A program on international relations was presented by Mrs. J. A. Woodfin when Woman's Culture Club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Bernard Longbotham, Sr.

Two recordings were played during the program. One was of Mrs. Edwin Troland's description of a Sunday in Europe and of the Passion Play. Another was by Mrs. Hiram Houghton who told of a world co-operation tour of Europe. Both women are from Houston.

Each club member read a letter from a woman in a foreign country.

Spring flowers and Easter lilies were used in arrangements throughout the home.

Refreshments were served to 11 members.

Miss Hardy, G. Blacklock Married In Ranger Church

Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Blacklock will be at home here following a wedding trip.

Mrs. Blacklock is the former Miss Jane Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Hardy of Ranger. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blacklock, also of Ranger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and carnations.

Miss June Ann Morton and Miss Wanda Clem were bridesmaids. Miss Linda Blair, niece of the bridegroom, was candle lighter.

Lloyd Beck of Midland served as best man, and Vivrn Hise of Albany was groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Community Club House.

Mrs. Blacklock attended Ranger High School, North Texas State College and Texas Tech, where she was a member of Ko Shari social club.

The bridegroom attended Ranger High School and Ranger Junior College. He is employed by an oil company here.

Poetry, Verse Program For Beta Sigma Phi

Mrs. Carolyn Reon was in charge of a program on poetry and verse when Beta Sigma Phi met Monday night with Mrs. Sig Line.

After describing different types of poems, the program leader read several examples, including "The Highwayman." Each member told her favorite poem.

Yankees Display Tremendous Strength In Pre-Season Play

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

Mickey Mantle's back with the New York Yankees and already things are looking a whole lot brighter for the world champions.

The picture never was entirely gloomy but the word from the Yankee traveling party is that Manager Casey Stengel wasn't able to manage a full smile at any time while the young sensation was absent.

Mantle has had a skin rash. For two weeks he suffered, not only physically but from countless jokes from his teammates and opponents. The best of the jokes was credited to an anonymous member of the St. Louis Cardinals who asked the switch hitter:

"Which hand do you scratch with?"

Stengel finally sent Mantle back to his Commerce, Okla., home to visit his wife, who is expecting a baby. A few days in the Oklahoma sun apparently did the trick because Mickey had only a couple of red splotches on his legs when he rejoined the club in Nashville yesterday.

Mantle was put right to work. He started a game for the first time since mid-March and played a faultless seven innings. He went hitless his first three times but in the seventh with two on base he poled a 420-foot double.

Two other things made Stengel happy. He apparently had found another starting pitcher in Jim McDonald, who went all the way in yesterday's 9-1 victory over Nashville, and Hank Bauer, back in the outfield after resting his lame back, picked up his tremendous spring hitting immediately. Bauer slammed a home run and a double in three trips to the plate. McDonald now has gone the route twice and has yielded only five earned runs in 40 innings. No other Yankee pitcher has worked a full nine.

The best combined pitching yesterday came at Mobile, Ala., where the Cleveland Indians broke a four-game losing streak by edging the New York Giants, 1-0. Early Wynn and Steve Gromek held the heavy-hitting Giants to a measly three safeties while Dave Koslo and Max Lanier doled out only five in the Giant cause. A dropped fly ball by New York outfielder Dusty Rhodes allowed the only run to score.

In another game where the pitchers were stingy, the Louisville Colonels of the American Association whipped the Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, on three hits. Milwaukee got four. Bob Buhl, Brave rookie who has been one of the biggest finds of the spring, went six innings and was the loser.

The Philadelphia Phillies paraded their long-ball hitters against the Boston Red Sox at Roanoke, Va., and came up with a 15-2 decision. Connie Ryan homered twice for the Phils and Earl Torgeson and Willie Jones contributed one apiece in the home run department.

A home run by Minnie Minoso made the difference as the Chicago White Sox clipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, at Chattanooga.

Steve Bilko of the St. Louis Cardinals unloaded his longest home run of the spring as the Cards whipped Dallas of the Texas League, 6-4.

The Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association pounced on veteran Johnny Lindell for four runs in the first and went on to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-5, in a free-swinging exhibition.

Whirlaway, Calumet Farms great triple crown winner in 1941, died at the Marcel Boussac stud farm near Paris, France. The first thoroughbred race horse to win $500,000, Whirlaway was sent to France in August, 1950, under a lease for three seasons. Death of the 15-year-old campaigner was due to a ruptured nerve tissue.

Acceptances At Colonial Grow

FORT WORTH (AP)—The field for the seventh annual Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament May 20 - 24 grew to 30 today as three more players—Skip Alexander, Jack Burke Jr. and Fred Haas—sent in acceptances.

Previous acceptances had been Jerry Barber, Al Besselink, Tommy Bolt, Jimmy Clark, Jimmy Demaret, Dave Douglas, Jim Ferrier, Doug Ford, Marty Furgol, Ray Gafford, Bob Hamilton, Chandler Harper, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Clayton Heafner, Ben Hogan, Ted Kroll, Lloyd Mangrum, Cary Middlecoff, Bill Nary, Byron Nelson, Ed Oliver, John Palmer, Skee Riegel, Jack Shields, Earl Stewart, Harry Todd and Amateur Charles Coe.

Bob Toski was issued an invitation today. He was invited to fill a place vacated by Amateur Frank Stranahan, who declined an invitation because he will play in the British Amateur, which starts the day after Colonial ends.

Toski earned his alternate automatic qualification for the $25,000 tournament by ranking 29th in the nation in earnings and winning money at Colonial last year.

Actually, he was outranked as an alternate by Lew Worsham, who was 26th in money winnings, but Worsham declined a bid because he is host professional to the National Open at Oakmont, Pa., which is scheduled three weeks after the Colonial Tournament.

Six invitations now out have not been heard from and this week end six more bids will be made following the Masters Tournament at Augusta, Ga.

Texas League Openers Set

DALLAS (AP)—Texas League openings Thursday and Friday nights are expected to attract 28,000 fans.

Largest turn-outs are due at Dallas and Beaumont where 8,000 is expected in each city. Houston anticipates between 6,000 and 7,500 and Tulsa looks for 5,500.

Three games Thursday night formally launch the campaign. Fort Worth will be at Dallas, Oklahoma City at Tulsa and Shreveport at Houston.

Friday night the other two clubs—San Antonio and Beaumont—swing into action, clashing at Beaumont.

The second round of openers will be Sunday with Dallas at Oklahoma City, Tulsa at Fort Worth, Beaumont at Shreveport and Houston at San Antonio.

Houston last year won the opening day attendance trophy with 7,581.

Houston has been picked to lead the regular season campaign by Texas League writers. The Buffs were selected for first place by six writers and wound up with 95 points.

Dallas, selected for first place on five ballots, rated second with 94 points. Fort Worth and Oklahoma City round out the first division. Thus the writers think it will be Houston vs Oklahoma City and Dallas vs Fort Worth in the league playoffs in September.

Giants Send Early Training Season Hopes Back To Farm

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It says in the paper that the New York Giants have sent outfielder Bill Taylor, infield Ronnie Samford and pitcher Al Worthington, among other players, to their Minneapolis farm team. Their names sound faintly familiar.

Taylor? Now we remember. He was that great big fellow just out of the service who could hit a baseball a country mile. He was the talk of the camp for the first week at Phoenix. Almost every time he came up he either hoisted one far and away over the right field fence or slashed a double into the open spaces.

"There's this much for certain—he can really hit that ball," said Manager Leo Durocher. "With that big bat and the way he swings, all he needs is to get a piece of it. That short right field wall of ours is built for him. He could give what I need out there."

For quite a time, we recall, the handsome ex-soldier played right field every day and the boys began to speculate on what would become of Don Mueller, the splash hitter who had previously owned the job. The only thing was, they noticed, that Taylor seemed to take an awful long time getting to first and that he had difficulty locating line drives.

Worthington? Ah, yes, that was the youngster who wasn't even on the club's official roster—a sleeper if there ever was one. We won't forget the evening that Frank Shellenback, the Giants' astute and vastly respected pitching coach, told of his find.

"Don't overlook this kid," he warned. "He could be the surprise of the year. He couldn't throw a ball straight if he wanted to. Everything he throws has something on it, and usually a lot. All he's got to do is get it over the plate and nobody's going to hit him. I'm anxious for him to get a chance to show you what he can do."

Unfortunately, we missed the Worthington debut a few days later, but checked up anxiously to find if the youngster had forced the opposition to fan the high Arizona air. Turned out he hadn't. Something to do with lack of control, but his pitches had, indeed, jumped and swerved and given his catcher a bad time. We were advised to wait until next time.

Samford? Why, sure, he was the little pepperpot second baseman who teamed so brilliantly with Daryl Spencer at Minneapolis last season and was going to nail down at least a utility job with the parent team. Every time he got in there in the late innings he looked like a million dollars and evoked stirring praise from Durocher.

What Taylor, Worthington and Samford have been doing with themselves lately we wouldn't know. Anyway, they had their respective days, and maybe all of them will be back.

It's baseball.

Good Pitching Again In Texas League Is Seen

(By The Associated Press)

The spring training grind ends for all Texas League entries Thursday with San Antonio's Missions playing Brooke Army Medical Center in the final practice session. The Missions were scheduled against Austin Wednesday.

Some brilliant pitching Tuesday showed the customers that the loop may again live up to its reputation as a "pitchers' league."

The league race opens Thursday with Shreveport at Houston, Oklahoma City at Tulsa and Fort Worth at Dallas. San Antonio plays Beaumont Friday to open the season for the Missions and Shippers.

In games Tuesday:

WOOLDRIDGE WINNER

At Beaumont, Floyd Wooldridge bested Jack Creel and George Eyrich in a blazing mound duel as Houston whipped the Exporters, 2-1.

The Buffs made an unearned run on Creel's own bad throw on a pickoff play at first in the fourth inning. They scored the winning tally in the ninth on Harry Elliott's double, an infield out and Roy Brooke's single.

Beaumont counted in the sixth on a double by John Metkovich and a single by Bama Ray.

It was six-hit pitching for Fort Worth by Carrol Berringer that won, 7-0, for the Cats over Texas Christian. The powerful Panthers collected 14 hits off two of the collegiate moundsmen.

SEVEN-HIT HURLING

At San Antonio, seven-hit pitching won for the Missions, 7-6, over Austin of the Big State League. Rhyne Duren, usually a wild right-hander, got credit for the Missions win with one-hit ball for the last two innings.

Duren used only seven pitchers and fanned two in the ninth. Bob Caffrey led the 10-hit Mission attack with three hits.

Though losing, Dallas pitchers fared well enough against the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League. But Stan (The Man) Musial, great Cardinal outfielder, ruined their day with four hits in five times up.

No other Redbird got more than one hit in the 6-4 Cardinal victory. A big five-run seventh inning was Dallas' undoing as the St. Louis team turned on the steam. Steve Bilko's massive home run, scoring two men ahead of him featured the inning.

Gil Turner Is Beat In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Welterweight Joey Giardello, a 3-1 underdog, exploded into action in the final rounds last night to beat Gil Turner by a decision.

Giardello had won 35 and lost only two prior to last night's set-to before 7,377 at the Arena. He was fighting Joey as a warmup for future business with Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan.

It looked like the odds makers were right for the first six rounds. Terner appeared to have conceded seven pounds in weight and Giardello seemed to have conceded class. Gil danced around the slow, plodding Giardello, trading six punches for one. Joey didn't seem to mind. In fact there was some doubt he wanted to keep on going.

Then came the seventh round and Joey lashed out suddenly with a right hand. Turner ran right into it and almost knocked himself out. From that punch on, Giardello felt like fighting and Turner looked like he wanted to go home. The crowd that paid $40,642 were loving it.

Giardello staggered Gil with right hands that could be seen in the 10th row. He won the last four rounds.

Referee Charley Daggert scored it 7-3; Judge Lou Tress, 7-2-1, and Judge Jack Clayton, 5-3-2. The AP had it five rounds for each man.

Carmen Graziano and Tony Ferrante, managers of Giardello, said they weren't interested in a Turner rematch. They said they want either Billy Graham or Paddy Young.

Mrs. W. L. Green and children, 216 Thirty-fourth Street, returned Monday from Turkey, Tex., where they visited her mother, Mrs. J. M. Eudy.

Bad Day For SW Conference In Baseball

(By The Associated Press)

Southwest Conference baseball teams lost all but two scheduled games Tuesday and won none. One game was cancelled because of wet grounds, and another ended in a tie.

It was a dismal day for the conference.

The Fort Worth Cats of the Texas League whipped Texas Christian, 7-0, behind six-hit pitching. Nebraska beat Baylor, 8-1, in the first game of a doubleheader at Waco and tied them, 8-8, in the nightcap. Oklahoma snapped the Texas U. win streak at six straight 3-1, behind four-hit pitching. And Sam Houston State humbled the Texas A&M Aggies, 6-1, at Huntsville.

HOGS, TIGERS CANCEL

The other game scheduled, University of Arkansas vs University of Missouri at Fayetteville, Ark., was cancelled because of wet grounds.

Boyd Linker, Texas' starting hurler, had not allowed a run in 19 and one-third innings until yesterday's Sooner game. Oklahoma's Mac Sanders had a two-hitter cooking until the ninth when the first three Longhorn batters up got on base.

Frank Brock, who walked to open the inning, scored on a single by Travis Eckert after going to third on a single by Roy Kelly. But that was all for Texas.

Starter Jerry Nelson's wildness helped the Bearkats win over the Texas Aggies. Sam Houston picked up five of their six runs in the second stanza when they used two singles, along with four walks by Nelson plus two wild pitches and an error. Pitcher Jesse Hernandez of SHSC knocked in two runs with a single, and Jackie Carroll followed with another bingle.

TWO BEAR HITS

At Waco, Charley Wright and Dick McCormick limited Baylor to two singles in the opening game of the twin bill as Nebraska scored four times in the first inning and was never pushed.

The Bears exploded for six runs in the sixth inning of the nightcap when Catcher Bobby Benge clouted a bases-loaded homer. But the Cornhuskers came right back with seven runs in the fifth and another one in the sixth.

By that time, the Nebraska team had to catch a train and the score was tied, 8-8.

Fort Worth's Carroll Berringer choked off Texas Christian's Horned Frogs with six hits for a 7-0 shutout.

ISBELL STILL SHINES

Larry Isbell, former Baylor All-America gridder, made his debut with the Cats, getting a double in one of his two trips to the plate.

The Longhorns will try to get back on the winning side Wednesday in a return game with Oklahoma at Austin. Arkansas will play Buena Vista College at Fayetteville if the diamond has dried out enough. And Rice will go to Huntsville to see if the Owls can fare better against Sam Houston State than the Aggies did Tuesday.

Spring Training Starts

DENTON (AP)—North Texas State College opens spring football training here today with 29 lettermen included in the squad of 50 and 60 expected to turn out.

Picture Of Namesake

DALLAS (AP)—Stan Musial wasn't asked for an autograph by a namesake, but he did pose yesterday for a picture with Cardinal Musial Manitour, a three-months-old St. Bernard puppy.

The dog is owned by John Barker, Dallas Morning News sports writer and ardent admirer of the St. Louis Cardinals and Musial.

Isbell To Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP)—Larry Isbell, an All-America quarterback at Baylor University in 1951, has been optioned to Fort Worth of the Texas League by the Boston Red Sox' Louisville farm club.

Isbell, a catcher, hit .288 in 60 games for Louisville last year. It was understood that participation in National Guard activities prevented Isbell's reassignment to a Red Sox farm this season.

Martin Side Lined

DALLAS (AP)—Dick Martin, one of Texas' best known amateur golfers, will miss all tournaments this year. He'll be hospitalized for about a month because of an operation and has orders not to play any golf for a long while.

Break Down Of Parking Meter Revenue Given To City Council

A report by B. J. Shelley, city manager, to the city council Monday night, showed that many persons are still ignoring the city's parking meters even though the meters are being constantly patrolled by a policeman.

About half of the 4,021 parking tickets issued in the 38-day period from Feb. 16 to April 2, had been voided when taken to the police station by the violator within one hour of the time they were issued. The police department has followed a practice of voiding the parking tickets when they were brought in within one hour and a nickle was desposited in the parking meter head on the police desk at the station.

Shelley's report showed that 2,218 tickets had been voided in this manner.

The report also showed that only 287 tickets had been paid by SI fines, making a total of 3,002 parking tickets disposed of by those means or by methods not explained in the report, but it leaves 1,009 tickets not disposed of.

Letters are written to violators who don't pay their fines and later warrants are issued for their arrest.

Collections from the parking meters during the same 38-day period totaled $2,276.58, Shelley reported.

No action was taken by the council on Shelley's request that the meter head in the police station be raised to a larger amount of money to void the tickets.

J. W. Phillips, owner of Phillips Bros. Hardware, and member of the city council, suggested that the price for voiding tickets at the station within one hour of the time they were issued be raised to 25 cents, but no action was taken on either of the requests.

Shelley stated to the council that, "I haven't called this a revenue measure anywhere, and I don't look on it as a revenue." He didn't explain what kind of a measure he did consider it.

Both Shelley and Phillips stated that it was their desire that the meters only serve the purpose for which they were installed — rotation of traffic so that more shoppers could find a parking place near where they wished to shop in the down town area.

Texas City Is Still Arguing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court called on attorneys to finish arguments today in the 200 million dollar 'damage suits filed against the government after the 1947 Texas City disaster.

Explosions rocked the Texas City harbor area when a French ship being loaded with fertilizer grade ammonium nitrate caught fire and blew up, killing 560 persons and injuring 3,000.

Assistants to the attorney general told the tribunal yesterday the government was immune, under the circumstances involved, from suits which might be successfully lodged against a private company.

The fertilizer, made at surplus Army munition plants, was being exported to war-ravaged countries faced with starvation.

In answer to charges of attorneys for the claimants that the government had failed to give a proper warning to all persons handling the fertilizer, the government lawyers commented that the Interstate Commerce Commission rules prevented the material being labelled as explosive.

The Supreme Court was asked by the government lawyers to uphold a decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which in turn had overruled a decision of Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly, of Houston. Kennerly had blamed the government for "blunders, mistakes and acts of negligence" in the disaster.

Wreck Victim Brought Home From Del Rio

Lester Moore, 38-year-old Snyder man injured in an auto accident south of Sonora last Friday, was to be returned to his home here today by a Bell ambulance.

Moore, who has been in a Del Rio hospital, is improving from lacerations and a shoulder injury.

Ivy M. Rollins, 40, who had suffered a head injury and both legs broken, was reported as improved, while his brother, Alvin C. Rollins, 46, was slightly improved with a head injury and broken neck. Both are in a Sonora hospital.

The three men, all partners in Rollins and Rollins Used Cars here, were en route to Del Rio to buy cars when an approaching car crowded the car in which they were riding off the road.

Street Marker Given City By Lions Tuesday

In a special ceremony held in front of the First Methodist Church educational building yesterday afternoon the Lions Club presented a street marking device to Harry T. Holbrook, mayor, who accepted for the city.

The street marker will be used by the city street department to paint stripes for parking lanes and center stripes on Snyder streets, B. J. Shelley, city manager, said.

The marker was purchased by the Lions Club with its part of profits from a minstrel show jointly sponsored by the Lions and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Earlier in the Lions program yesterday the Rev. Arthur DeLoach, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Odessa, talked briefly on the importance of having a good name as an individual, family, or community.

Mr. DeLoach was introduced by the Rev. E. K. Shepperd, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Mr. Shepperd also introduced Al Wilson, director of education and music of the First Baptist Church of Almogordo, N.M., who sang "Its In My Heart," a religious song.

Two new members were inducted into the club by Harold Bennett. The new members are R. B. Fulcher, Cogdell Hospital administrator; and Ray Foy, new owner of the Studebaker dealership here.

Bennett announced that Lloyd S. Bentsen, congressman, will speak to a joint meeting of all service clubs at the Lions Club program next Tuesday.

Kent, Dickens Officials Here On Road Talks

A special meeting of the highway committee and executive committee of the chamber of commerce has been called for 10 o'clock Friday morning, in which the group will meet delegations from Kent and Dickens Counties.

Leon Huff, chamber manager, said the group from the counties north of here called the chamber yesterday and asked for the meeting. It will be held at the chamber office.

Coming here will be the commissioners courts of both counties and representatives from the Spur chamber of commerce, Huff said.

The officials from the two counties told Huff they will ask the Texas Highway Department for a road to be built from Clairemont to Spur, a distance of about 25 miles.

Now being completed is paving on the Kent County portion of the Snyder - Clairemont road, which includes the construction of a new bridge across the Double Mountain fork of the Brazos River. The officials from those counties will ask for support of their proposed project because it will open closer routes to towns north of here.

Construction of the road from Clairemont to Spur would include crossing of the Salt Fork of the Brazos, which is just north of Clairemont.

Water Districts Given Nod In Committees Of House Yesterday

AUSTIN (AP)—Two underground water district plans were approved by a House committee yesterday.

Fifteen square miles in the northern outskirts of Houston would comprise a district under one approved bill. It could issue bonds but could not collect taxes.

A bill letting the 550 residents of D'Hanis, near Hondo, form a district to dig a deeper municipal well got quick approval of the House Conservation and Reclamation Committee.

The group also recommended to the House a plan to set up a port and navigation district in Orange. Rep. Ellis Carter of Orange said it was patterned like some water districts.

A bill setting up a surface water district to supply ten northeast Texas towns ran into a delay. Among objections was a clause in the bill providing for park facilities.

Recalling the controversy over privately-built hotels on state land, the group decided to postpone action on the bill.

Injured Couple May Be Brought Home This Week From Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hughes of 2410 Thirtieth Street are improving from injuries suffered in an automobile accident Sunday, according to their daughter, Mrs. Zane Gilbert.

The couple will probably be brought home sometime this week, Mrs. Gilbert said. Hughes, part-owner and manager of Radio Station KSNY, was said to have been suffering from cuts and his wife from facial lacerations.

Aged Man Found Dead In Health Resort Pool

HOUSTON (AP)—Andrew Jackson Nelson, about 75, was found dead yesterday at the bottom of a hot pool at Hot Wells, a bathing resort 26 miles northwest of here.

The hot pool is a tank of hot mineral water several feet deep.

Justice of the Peace V. P. Davis said Nelson had a gash above his left eye when an attendant at the resort found him. The justice withheld his verdict pending an autopsy.

Davis said he wanted to determine whether Nelson drowned or died from a heart attack or a head injury.

Nelson was bathing in the hot pool in an effort to help his arthritis, friends said.

Nelson's wife was visiting a daughter in Fort Worth when the tragedy occurred. Another daughter lives in Odessa.

Mrs. Hubert L. Guthrie and son, Clairemont Road, have returned from Brownwood where they visited Mr. Guthrie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Guthrie.

Cries Of 'Politics' From Republican Ranks On Demands Of Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications that Senate Democrats will fight President Eisenhower's plan for reorganizing the Agriculture Department drew cries of "politics" today from some Republicans.

"I certainly hope the Democratic leadership has not singled out agriculture as a political football," said Chairman Aiken (R-Vt) of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), also in an interview, said, "We can expect that, because they hope to make some votes out of agricultural problems."

Both referred to an announcement yesterday by Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) of the Senate Democratic Policy Committee that Democrats want full hearings on the Eisenhower plan.

Toll Road Bill Gets Committee Approval In Senate Yesterday

AUSTIN (AP)—A statewide toll road bill, as suggested by Gov. Shivers, won Senate committee approval yesterday.

A proposed Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike project would have top priority.

Sen. Ottis Lock of Lufkin sponsored the revised plan. He said it would allow construction of toll roads on an orderly basis.

Two bills providing for non-profit private corporations to finance such projects were approved by the committee. Existing corporations planning toll roads from near Irving through Waco and Austin to San Antonio and from Houston to Dallas were given priority on those routes.

Kenneth McCalla of the Texas Railroad Association opposed the statewide authority bill. He said a tax exemption feature in the private corporation bill posed an unwarranted threat of competition to railroads.

Auto Workers Get Pay Cuts

DETROIT (AP) — Ford, Chrysler and a host of other auto firms are expected to follow General Motors' lead soon and lop a penny an hour off the wages of their employes.

Within a couple weeks possibly a million or more auto workers will take the cut under cost-of-living wage contracts.

General Motors, biggest of the car producers, announced yesterday that it was knocking 1 cent off the wages of its 397,000 hourly rated employes. About 98,000 non-union salaried employes will be given a proportionate pay reduction.

The G. M. action was taken under its five-year contract with the CIO United Auto Workers, a pact that set the pattern in 1950 for virtually the entire industry.

The cut was based on the cost of living as of Jan. 15 as computed by the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics under the so-called "old style" index.

The International Harvester Company in Chicago also announced a 1-cent pay decrease based on the "old style" cost-of-living index. The decrease, to be effective Monday, covers 75,000 Harvester employes at 15 plants in Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Renfro, 404 Thirty - third Street, returned Monday from Waco where they had visited their daughter, Miss Kathleen Renfro.

Trellis Mae Doesn't Realize How Men Can Just Run Down

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U.S.A. (AP)—Trellis Mae Peeble was preparing a lecture for her club, the Minerva Gin Rummy and Current Events Society.

At their monthly session these literary ladies usually devoted 15 minutes to a lecture—and three hours to card playing.

"Wilbur, I'm stuck for ideas," appealed Trellis Mae. "Won't you help me?"

"What is the topic of your talk?" asked her husband.

"Why men don't live as long as women."

"What reasons have you put down so far?"

"I can think of only one," said Trellis Mae. "Biological inferiority — men just don't have the strength in the stretch, poor lambs."

A red flush of anger mantled Wilbur's ears.

"Well, I'll tell you something that's killing off men before their time—gallantry," he said. "Put down gallantry."

"What's that."

"Gallantry is chivalry," said Wilbur, nettled. "Surely you've heard of chivalry."

"I remember the term," replied Trellis Mae, "but I seem to forget what it means."

The battle was on. Wilbur put down his newspaper and said:

"Chivalry is all the useless things a man does for a woman, things that are totally unnecessary or that she ought to do for herself."

"Such as——?" murmured Trellis Mae, her teeth showing.

"Such as opening doors for women, tipping your hat to them, picking up gloves they drop, jumping up when they come into the room, lighting their cigarettes, and—"

"The last time you remembered to light my cigarette was in 1946, and you burned my nose," broke in his wife.

"A man is like any other machine," continued Wilbur. "Every bit of energy he puts out brings him closer to the time he'll break down.

"Say a boy starts practicing chivalry at 15. Well, no wonder he drops dead at 65. In 50 years he has worn himself out opening maybe 100,000 doors for women, tipping his hat 200,000 times, lighting 300,000 cigarettes for them, and picking up 500,000 things they have dropped—and maybe running to catch 25,000 taxis for 'em."

"That is the silliest, most unfair—" began Trellis Mae.

"And take girdles," Wilbur said. "How many tired husbands a year do you suppose die of heart attacks brought on by trying to help an overweight wife get into her girdle? There must be hundreds . . . thousands."

"May I say just one thing to you?" said Trellis Mae.

"You may."

Trellis Mae opened her mouth. Three hours later when the sleepless neighbors in the apartment below began pounding on the radiator for quiet she still hadn't finished her first sentence.

Refugees Flee Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Almost 9,000 refugese from Soviet-occupied East Germany poured into West Berlin during the first week of April, official quarters reported last night. Yesterday's total of 2,145 arrivals was double the average daily influx.

Roby Bank Is Suing Fisher Commissioners

A breach of contract suit has been filed by the Citizens State Bank of Roby asking $10,000 damages against the Fisher County commissioners court members and the First National Bank of Rotan.

The suit was filed April 4 in 104th District Court. The Roby bank claims that a vote of the court Feb. 9 bound the court and made the Roby bank the depository of the county's funds, about a quarter of a million dollars, for two years.

The suit alleges that the court's later naming of the Rotan bank would damage the Roby bank in the amount of the suit, the amount the Roby bank claimed it would have made from the contract.

Defendants named are County Judge Bruce McCain, Commissioners Bill Owens, Jerry Crowley, Ted Underhill, and Homer Rucker, and the First National Bank of Rotan. Representing the Roby bank is the law firm of Ash & Abbott.

The Rotan bank has been the county depository for the past 12 years. A depository is named every two years by the court after advertising for bids. Both banks presented bids this year.

At a regular session of the court Feb. 9, the Roby bank was named county depository by a vote of three to one. On Feb. 12 the Roby bank posted securities required by law as a depository. On Feb. 16 the court met and voted three to one to rescind all previous motions pertaining to a depository and to start over again advertising for bids.

At the March 9 session of the court on a second vote the court named the Rotan bank as county depository by a vote of three to one. The Rotan bank posted securities and continued as depository.

B. C. Drinkard, formerly Farmers Home Administration supervisor at Snyder, is president of the Roby bank, and B. L. Springer heads the Rotan bank.

Judge Owen Thomas has set May 15 for a hearing on a application from the Roby bank for a temporary injunction against county officials and the Rotan bank from carrying out their depository contract. The hearing will be held in Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Chess R. Martin, 3200 Hill, had as a week-end guest her cousin, Raymond Brown, of Sundown.

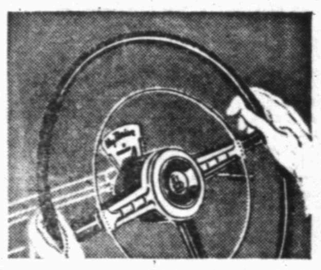
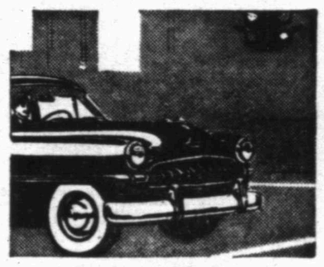
PLYMOUTH ANNOUNCES
HY-DRIVE
the newest, smoothest
NO-SHIFT DRIVING
in the lowest-priced field!

Drive without shifting! Drive with new smoothness! Drive with Plymouth's sensationally new HY-DRIVE! Nothing new to learn—HY-DRIVE makes driving easier than ever! Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is available now for the 1953 Plymouth of your choice—at the lowest cost of any no-shift unit in the lowest-priced field!



HY-DRIVE is easy to use! Start the engine with the lever in neutral. Simply move the lever into high, and you're in HY-DRIVE! In traffic, starting or stopping, cross-town or cross-country, HY-DRIVE lets you drive without shifting—just brake or accelerate!

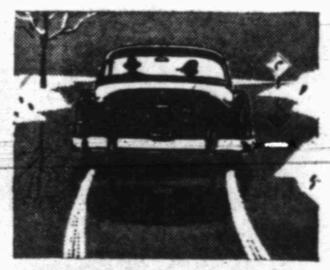


HY-DRIVE starts smooth, stays smooth! From standstill to cruising, there's never a lurch or jerk as your speed increases; no lagging engine action. When your toe says "go," you're off and away with HY-DRIVE'S fast, powerful response!

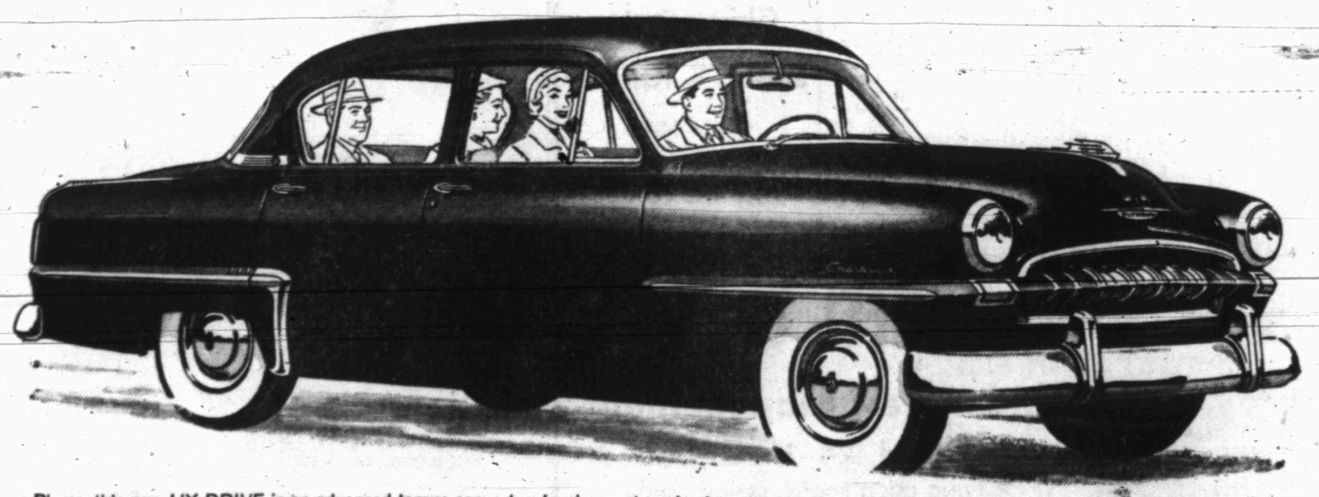
HY-DRIVE takes to the hills! No need for a long running start. Just feed more gas; HY-DRIVE instantly provides the extra power your car needs to take steep grades without slowing down. HY-DRIVE also gives you braking action coming down a hill.

Stay where you stop with HY-DRIVE. On an upgrade like this HY-DRIVE lets you keep your hands on the wheel, your foot on the accelerator. There's no need to use the parking brake—just speed up your engine a trifle to offset the backward pull of the slope.

Feel fresh, all day long, with HY-DRIVE! It takes so little effort to drive with HY-DRIVE. There's no "traffic fatigue" from continually working up and down through conventional gears. You drive with new ease, new sureness, and HY-DRIVE saves your energy!



HY-DRIVE gives you better control. Because HY-DRIVE applies power to the rear wheels smoothly, you get better traction on icy, wet or slippery streets. For rocking out of deep mud or snow, your low and second gears are there, with the normal clutch control.



Plymouth's new HY-DRIVE is an advanced torque converter development; a simple, self-contained unit that never needs adjustment, special care, or expensive upkeep. Your nearby Plymouth dealer invites you to drive a new Plymouth equipped with new HY-DRIVE—to see for yourself how much HY-DRIVE smoothness and ease will add to your driving pleasure. Why not see him today?

Glamorous modern styling makes this compact house appear much larger than the 960 square feet covered by the house itself. Economy of construction is envisioned by a plain rectangular perimeter and elimination of basement. Extra storage is provided in garage and garden storage in outdoor closet supporting the porch roof. Three bedroom capacity is made possible by a folding partition to close off open-planned study when desired. Extra ceiling height for living room creates an interesting break in the roof line. Large window areas in all rooms are a feature. Heater room is off the kitchen. This is Plan H-159-P by the Homograf Co., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich.

India Copies 4-H Clubs In Farming Ways

BHADSON, North India (AP)—At the 4-H Club youth camp near St. Joseph, Mo., they had no idea what they were starting when 21 touring Indian farm leaders paid a visit one day last September.

One of the Indian agricultural experts, 34-year-old Amrik Singh, decided then and there that organizing young farmers along 4-H Club lines could change the face of the impoverished Indian countryside and end recurrent famine.

"I had heard about the farm youth programs in America, but seeing something in action makes all the difference," Singh declared.

Less than six months after his return from the Ford Foundation-sponsored tour of the United States and Japan, Singh has helped organize 24 young farmer clubs with 300 members. He has even staged his first annual demonstration camp to teach better farming methods.

Now other young farmer groups are springing up in the South Indian state of Mysore and in scattered areas across the country.

Bhadson is one of the most successful model extension projects in India after slightly less than a year in operation.

Village-level extension workers show peasants how improved seeds, fertilizers, and farming methods can increase crop yields. Through simple sanitation reforms such as filling stagnant ponds, they can quickly demonstrate better health possibilities.

Healthy poultry stock drawn from breeds expensive in India such as leghorns or Rhode Islands prove especially popular as youth projects. Poultry breeding is not widespread at present in Indian villages and could materially help ease food scarcities.

Communist strength has mounted throughout other regions of this strategic frontier state, the Patiala and East Punjab States Union. But in the Bhadson area the political winds have now shifted in favor of democratic groups.

Altogether the Ford Foundation aids 15 extension projects similar to Bhadson and 34 village workers training schools.

Broadcasting networks of the United States include NBC, CBS and ABC which include both television and radio, MBS which is purely radio and Dumont which is purely television.

Visitor To Snyder Next Week Considered For Governorship

Lloyd M. Bentsen

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Texans in Washington talk politics these spring days, most speculation centers on the fate of congressional redistricting proposals before the Legislature. They potentially affect the political well-being of each of the 22 representatives.

There is also much talk about the race building up for governor when Allan Shivers steps out.

While names mentioned include those in state jobs which often serve as stepping stones to the governor's mansion, there's special interest here in reports from Austin that Rep. Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen may be the one to whom Shivers would like to pass his baton.

BENTSEN COY

The tall, handsome Rio Grande Valley congressman had combat experience as a bombing squadron commander in the war, served a year as county judge of Hidalgo County and now is in his fifth year in Congress. The congressman waves off inquiries about gubernatorial prospects.

"You know I'm representing the 15th district in Congress," he adds with a smile. "I am trying to justify the confidence of the people who sent me here by doing the job to the best of my ability."

But, here are some of the facts surrounding the reports, lending weight to the suggestion that Bentsen may toss his hat in the ring when the proper time comes:

He is a personal friend of Shivers, who has extensive interests in the Rio Grande Valley through his wife's estate.

FRIEND OF JOHNSON

He also is a personal friend of Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

It is no secret that both Shivers and Johnson hold Bentsen in high esteem, although the governor and senator took opposite stands in the election last November.

Bentsen said during the heated presidential election that he could not actively campaign for Stevenson because of the Democratic nominee's anti-state stand on the submerged lands ownership issue. It is pretty generally understood he stuck with the Democratic ticket when it came to casting his individual vote. He never said.

STRONG CHALLENGERS

Friends of Bentsen say it almost certainly would take the support of Shivers and Johnson to put him across in the face of the formidable opposition that would arise if the contestants included those whose names are mentioned in speculation. Those most often named are:

Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Ralph Yarborough, Ely Thornton of Galveston and former Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater.

Each probably has a much wider personal acquaintance over the vast expanse of the state than does Bentsen, since he has never sought a state office. He toyed a bit last year with the idea of running for the Senate when Tom Connally quit, but abandoned the thought after a flying trip to Texas to talk first with Shivers, then with Johnson.

During the recent hearings on the tidelands, Giles, Shepperd and Yarborough all showed up to plug for state's ownership. Should that issue arise again in election campaigns they can point to the record.

Bentsen will speak here next Tuesday at a joint luncheon meeting of the service clubs in the Educational Building of the First Methodist Church.

Horse Trader Still At It At Age Of 78

ORANGE, Tex. April 14 (AP) — Clarence Murphy defies the auto, the railroad and the airplane. At 78 he's still a nomad horse trader—and as vigorous and busy as ever.

His philosophy: "Don't sell a man something he don't want. Let him buy for himself. Then he's happy and ain't got no comeback."

His home and shop are his wagon, his motive power a horse. He works a big trading circuit across East Texas and West Louisiana these days, and since 1920 he's slept in a house just two nights.

"A horse trader is supposed to be a liar before he starts, so he might just as well be," Murphy said the other day. But he added:

"You've got to make a fair trade or you can't come back. I always come back. I try to make the best trade I can for myself naturally."

Time was when you could cheat a man pretty easily, Murphy recalled. Btu "nowadays you snide a man and he's got the sheriff after you."

"He always told me to try to do better next time. Thats the way I've been operating all my life."

He's learned a lot. For instance:

"There was a fellow wanted a horse that could plow and he liked one he saw hitched up alongside my wagon. Now I know this horse can't plow nohow. But this fellow wants him. He says, 'Can you plow him?'

"And I says, 'Sure I can plow him.' He says, 'Let me see him plow.' So I put the harness on him and drug two furrows across a field. 'That's enough,' the fellow says, 'let me have him.'

"So I sell him the horse. He's back in two days, though. 'Say,' he says to me, 'that horse can't plow.'

"So I remind him, 'I didn't tell you he could plow. You said you wanted to see him plow and I showed you.'"

Why did he become a horse trader?

"I didn't have no mind, that's all."

Better And Cheaper Cotton Needed To Save Lagging Industry

DALLAS (AP)—More and better cotton grown more economically is all that will save the cotton industry, the Texas Cotton Ginners Association has been told.

A New Mexico grower—Dean Stahmann of Las Cruces—said mechanization is one of the answers to cheap cotton production.

"Some day soon a new synthetic will appear which will be better than rayon and cheaper than nylon," Stahmann said.

"Then it will price cotton out of the market."

The convention heard Rep. George Mahon, Democrat from Colorado City, predict passage by Congress of a bill to continue the importation of Mexican farm labor.

Mahon also said that by 1954 there would be a need for return of cotton-planting controls.

Mahon said he expected the Republicans to gamble on the chance that there will be no war before 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ackerman, 312 Thirty-third Street, have returned from Spraberry where they visited Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shropshire.

Two Snyder brothers who were at home last weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Heath, 2409 Twenty-eighth Street, are shown above. They are Pfc. Leonard C. Heath, 18, left, and Cpl. Alford R. Heath, 22, who has just returned from 11 months duty in Korea. The younger brother is stationed at Kileen, Tex., and the Korean veteran at Albuquerque, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Dolezal, Post Highway, visited relatives in Perry, Okla., during the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ham, 3101 Avenue Y, visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Grappe in Aspermont.

Snyder Man Sent Behind Red Lines To Destroy Radar Gear

Destruction of an expensive Air Force jet plane might seem crazy to most person, but to Corporal Alford R. Heath, 22, who just returned from 11 months duty in Korea, it was all in a day's work.

Heath's job while in Korea was to go behind the enemy lines and remove the radar equipment from downed American and allied planes so that it could not be captured by enemy soldiers.

"But lots of times we didn't have time to get the radar equipment off the planes, so we just blew them up to destroy the secret equipment as well as the downed plane," Heath said.

During his tour of duty in Korea the young soldier was sent to all parts of the peninsula on radar recovery missions.

He was stationed at Suwon, Korea, which is about 15 miles from Seoul, capital of Korea.

Heath said that he was stationed at a permanent base, and that he never experienced any shortages of ammunition or knew of any such shortages in his area.

He said that replacements were being sent to Korea fast enough to keep the rotation program going as planned so far as he could tell.

He also said that many South Korean nationals have been trained and equipped and are now in the front lines, especially in heavy artillery and anti-aircraft outfits.

The Korean veteran was in Snyder last weekend visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Heath, 2409 Twenty - eighth Street, and a younger brother, Pfc. Leonard C. Heath, 18, who is stationed at Gray Air Force Base at Kileen, was also here.

The younger brother had received a 10-day leave to visit his parents.

Stationed now at Albuquerque, N.M., the Korean veteran said that one of the highlights of his foreign duty was seeing President Eisenhower and General Hoyt S. Vandenberg when Eisenhower visited Korea after he was elected last fall.

"I just got close enough to see them," he said.
