The SDN Column

This has been a very gratifying season for Snyder High School basketball fans and it must be even more so for the players and the coaches. It can become better and better, of course, as the playoffs progress. And there are few fans around (none in the immediate area) who doubt that Snyder has the strongest Class AAA team in the region. But basketball, despite the fact that it is round, can take some crazy bounces itself. It can go half-way through the hoop and somehow leap out. At other times it can hit the edge of the rim, bounce high and finally settle through the net.

This year's Snyder team has demonstrated its strength and its character in losing only three games—two of them to truly powerful Class AAA teams (Ector and Lamesa) and another to a Class 4A team that won its first round of district play (Irving High). Moreover, the Tigers in turn defeated each of the three teams to which they lost. This Saturday brings up the really big one, with the Tigers meeting Lamesa on a neutral court at Levelland, each having won on its home court over the other in district play. And regardless of the outcome in the playoffs, this Snyder team will be remembered by local fans for a long time. They are the winningest ever for the local school.

The Scurry County Industrial Foundation, regarded by many other cities and towns as "an old pro" in acquiring new industry, has been learning some new lessons recently. One involves the fact that no more land is being made these days. And another emphasizes that just plain land won't get the job done every time.

Land in proximity to specific facilities and certain combinations there of often is required by industry of the type that is now moving about. And very often, the exact specifications present problems. Sometimes they simply do not exist, but must be assembled.

For that reason, the time may be here when the foundation needs to acquire some property and prepare it to fulfill a variety of requirements so that it can be "shown" on a moment's notice. Heretofore, the local foundation has been able to compete by simply "taking them as they come"—going out each time a prospective industry expressed interest and arranging for a site.

More recent efforts have indicated that this is no longer possible, especially if the prospect requires certain combinations of adjacent services.

The question of financing arises right off. Acquisition of land and developing it into first-class industrial sites costs money. However, the local foundation has a rather remarkable fiscal record. One larger city surveyed its own record recently and calculated that it cost approximately $180,000 to bring in each new industry it acquired over a period of several years. The Scurry County industrial Foundation has had a total of around $90,000 to work with since it was founded back in 1957—and that includes all of the campaigns for funds it has conducted. With about that much more, it could probably acquire a substantial amount of desirable land and prepare it to receive several new industries.

March Allowable Raised To 86%

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission raised the statewide oil allowable for March to 86 per cent of potential today, the highest since November 1970.

In raising the allowable for the fourth consecutive month, the commission set maximum production next month at 4,074,850 barrels a day.

February production under a 75.8 per cent allowable was estimated at 3,667,150 barrels daily.

Major purchasers of Texas crude oil asked for 3,407,212 barrels a day in March, an increase of 106,790 barrels a day from February. The commission said the U.S. Bureau of Mines forecast a March demand for 3,430,000 barrels daily, a decrease of 100,000 barrels a day from this month.

Six of the 14 major buyers asked for more oil next month than in February, seven wanted the same amount and one asked for less oil next month.

Three other companies which usually do not make presentations told the regulatory agency they had been unable to obtain as much oil as they needed.

Commission chairman Byron Tunnell said as of Feb. 11 Texas' crude oil stocks totaled 87.0 million barrels, 20.2 million barrels less than a year ago. He said Texas is now producing about 100,000 barrels a day less under the same factor as it was a year ago.

He indicated that if circumstances continue the next few months as they have in recent months, Texas may reach its maximum producing capacity.

The allowable started its recent rise in December when the commission ordered a slight increase to 63 per cent. It was raised to 67.5 per cent for January, then 71.7 per cent for January. The commission changed the January allowable to 75.8 per cent after Texas refineries asked for an extra 76,000 barrels a day.

Here are nominations of major buyers of Texas crude oil for March, in barrels per day, with any changes in parentheses:

Says Hughes To Visit Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Howard Hughes left the Bahamas after 15 months in seclusion there, and the president of Nicaragua announced today that Hughes has accepted an invitation to visit his country

The office of the president said Hughes, indirectly embroiled in a dispute in New York over a book that author Clifford Irving maintains is the billionaire's autobiography, would arrive in Nicaragua later today.

The exact circumstances of Hughes' departure from Nassau—why he left and when—remain a mystery.

A plane loaded with his possessions was reported en route to Managua. It was said to have landed this morning at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and to have taken off again.

Whether Hughes' was aboard that craft was not known.

An official of Paradise Island Limited said the 66-year-old recluse billionaire may have left the Bahamas as early as last weekend with a few members of his staff.

Paradise Island Limited owns and operates the Britannia Beach Hotel, where Hughes had been living since leaving Las Vegas, Nev., on Thanksgiving Eve in 1970.

A spokesman for the hotel said he was in Hughes' suite Wednesday night. "I was up there and ascertained that the rooms are definitely empty," he said.

In Los Angeles, Richard Hannah, publicity chief of Hughes Tool Co., said he inferred from his sources that Hughes left the Britannia Beach Hotel Tuesday.

Hannah said he could not confirm that Hughes was in the United States. He said it appeared that Hughes' whereabouts would not be revealed until he has settled down.

'JOURNEY FOR PEACE'

Nixon Party Off To China

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, his wife and a handful of top aides left today on a "journey for peace" to Communist China, saying he hopes it will reduce the possibility of a future war.

The presidential jet, the "Spirit of '76," took off from Andrews Air Force Base on the first long leg of the trip at 10:30 a.m.

Before leaving the White House by helicopter for Andrews, Nixon briefed 19 Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress. Then he delivered brief remarks to a crowd including about 1,000 school children on the South Lawn.

Standing coatless in damp, 35-degree weather, he repeated a prediction he first made last July 15 when he stunned the world with his announcement that he would become the first American president ever to visit China. The China trip, he said, "would be a journey for peace."

He said again that he does not expect the trip to erase all difficulties between Washington and Peking, but hopes it will help to avoid any possible future war.

"We of course have no illusions that 20 years of hostility between the United States and China are going to be swept away by one week of talks," he said.

"As we look to the future we must realize that the government of the People's Republic of China and government of the United States have had great differences," he said. "They will continue to have differences. But what we must do is to find a way to see that we can have difference without being enemies in war."

He cited the words on the plaque left on the moon by America's astronauts to underline the purpose of his journey. The words are:

"We came in peace for all mankind."

Then the President kissed his two daughters, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Cox, stepped past a special military honor guard and into the presidential helicopter. He and Mrs. Nixon lifted off for Andrews at 10:18 a.m.

A sizable crowd lined the fence encircling the White House on the south side and some were holding up large signs. One of them read: "Nixon's war is escalating."

A crowd of several hundred well-wishers, mostly Air Force personnel and families, saw the presidential party off from Andrews.

A bit of snow began to fall as the presidential jet took off for a 10-hour nonstop flight to Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station on the northern shore of the Hawaiian island of Oahu.

The Nixons plan to remain there until late Saturday afternoon when they will fly to Guam for an overnight stop before landing on the Chinese mainland next Monday.

They plan to stay in China one week, the longest time any chief executive has devoted to a single country since Woodrow Wilson went to Europe at the end of World War I.

Nixon's remarks at the White House today echoed his earlier comments on the trip.

The White House said 8,000 persons were on hand at the White House South Lawn to bid the Nixons farewell.

BANQUET ENTERTAINERS—Los Gallos, a typical Mexican Mariachi Band composed of five instrumentalists and a girl vocalist, will be featured at the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet Feb. 25 in the Scurry County Coliseum. They have made numerous appearances on television and have appeared in person with some of Mexico's most famous entertainers.

Britain's Entry Plans Threatened

LONDON (AP) — The flash economic crisis resulting from the British coal strike today threatened Prime Minister Edward Heath's plans to lead Britain into the European Common Market.

It also provided a somber prelude for the British leader's talks this weekend with President Georges Pompidou of France on the future hope of allied Europe.

A three-day debate in the House of Commons ends tonight with a vote on the European Communities bill, key legislation to accomplish Britain's entry into the Common Market next year.

McKee Indicted

DALLAS (AP) — James Keel Zullinger, the man who Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade say has been living under the assumed name of John McKee, president of the Dallas Crime Commission, was indicted Thursday afternoon by a Dallas County grand jury on two counts of embezzlement.

The indictments, handed down in a special return by the grand jury shortly before 1 p.m. Thursday, allege Zullinger embezzled funds in the amounts of $3,802 and $2,920, from Lee Lockwood, of Waco, head of the Scottish Rite Masonry in Texas.

The grand jury recommended bonds of $5,000 on each count.

Los Gallos Booked For C-C Banquet

Los Gallos, a typical Mexican Mariachi Band, which has appeared on several television shows throughout the United States, will provide entertainment for the annual banquet of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

The banquet is set for the night of Feb. 25 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

Los Gallos include five musicians with trumpets and guitars, plus an attractive girl vocalist.

They have appeared with Mexico's most famous composer, Jose Alfredo Jimenez, and they also have appeared with Lucha Villa, the sensational Mexican movie star and singer. They have released a number of records and albums.

Los Gallos will provide strolling entertainment among the tables at the banquet.

Guest speaker at the banquet will be George Nigh, Lt. Governor of Oklahoma, who has been acclaimed on the speaking circuit as "The New Will Rogers." Bill J. Hood, Snyder School Superintendent, will be master of ceremonies.

Mel Gilbert, 1971 president of the Chamber of Commerce, who heads the banquet committee, said that the mariachi band rounds out the program.

Tickets to the banquet are priced at $4 each and are now on sale. They may be ordered by calling the Chamber office at 573-3558. Tickets ordered by telephone will be delivered by the ticket sales committee, headed by Jimmy McFarland.

US Dollar Hits Record Lows

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar hit record lows in France, West Germany and Switzerland today, but improved slightly in Britain.

The dollar's general weakness resulted from a selling wave that began Wednesday with reports of a record U.S. balance-of-payments deficit last year. It intensified when U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally ruled out the dollar's convertibility into gold this year.

Glasscock Rites Set

Wayne Glasscock, 55, a resident of Scurry County since 1920, died at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in Northside Baptist Church with the Rev. Joe Stevens, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Lowell Ponder of Dallas. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Born April 19, 1916, in Johnson County, Mr. Glasscock married Ola Thompson on Oct. 3, 1936, in Snyder. He was a deacon in Northside Baptist Church, and he was a member of Masonic Lodge 706. He was employed by Snyder Public Schools.

Surviving are the wife of the home; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Glasscock of Snyder; one son, Robbie Glasscock of Midland; two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Smith and Miss Lorene Glasscock, both of Snyder; and, three brothers, H.D. of Carrollton and Eugene and Floyd Glasscock, both of Snyder.

Psychiatrist's wife needs some advice

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a psychiatrist who is a wonderful husband and father. We have two preschool children.

I suppose I shouldn't have any problems, but I find that I become very anxious and jealous when I hear of his women patients who are attractive, talented, and lead such glamorous lives. I do a little volunteer work but really enjoy being a housewife and mother.

How do I keep from feeling insecure and jealous, Abby? Should I seek the counsel of my husband's partner? Or should I confess my feelings straight to my husband who seems to help everyone else?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: You say, "I suppose I shouldn't have any problems." EVERYBODY has problems. And that includes psychiatrists and their wives. Why should you be immune? I don't recommend talking to your husband's partner. It may create the appearance of impropriety where none exists, which would be embarrassing to your husband. Instead, tell your husband exactly how you feel, and if he loves you [and I think he does], he will give you the assurance you need.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with this guy for over a year and we have become quite serious. In fact he wants to marry me.

The problem is, before I knew him I was in an accident and four of my front teeth were knocked out and I had to have false ones put in.

I think my false teeth look natural, and several people have remarked on my "beautiful smile."

I really think I should tell my boy friend about my false teeth, but I don't know how. Would you please help me?

NO PHONY

DEAR NO PHONY: Say, "I have a confession to make. Part of me is false. I have four false teeth. Do you still want to marry me?" [I think he'll be relieved. Twenty-eight REAL teeth out of 32 isn't bad.]

DEAR ABBY: In our office your column is often a subject of our lunch hour discussions. One in particular from the lady who spent Thanksgiving alone because she had six sons but no daughters. We all wondered what kind of relationships she must have had with her daughters in law! We all have a mother in law, and will probably be one some day ourselves, and thus we have come up with a suggested Mother in Law's prayer:

"Lord, help me to be glad when my son [or daughter] picks a mate. If he brings home a girl with two heads, help me to love both of them equally. And when my son says, 'Mom, I want to get married,' forbid that I should blurt out, 'How far along is she?'

"And please, Lord, help me to get thru the wedding preparations without a squabble with the 'other side.' And drive from my mind the belief that had my child waited a while, she could have done better.

"Dear Lord, remind me daily that when I become a grandmother, that my children don't want any advice on how to raise their children any more than I did when I was raising mine.

"If you will help me to do these things, perhaps my children will find me a joy to be around, and maybe I won't have to write to Dear Abby about my children neglecting me."

Vandals Damage Building Here

City Police today reported that considerable damage has been done to a dance hall in the 1000 block of Avenue M, owned by Martin Benitez, 505 Fifteenth Street.

Sheetrock in the band stand, benches and windows were broken, officers said, adding that someone took several flood lights and some electrical wiring from the building. The vandalism occurred over a period of several weeks.

The bullpen of the Kansas City Royals recorded 44 saves in 1971.

Not So Primitive

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. James C. King, associate professor of microbiology at New York University Medical School, points out in his book, "The Biology of Race," that no living population is more primitive than another.

Territory Ratings Opposed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Houstonians, while not particularly subject to hurricanes, pay more for their house insurance because of the damaging Gulf Coast windstorms.

The Houston Association of Insurance Agents asked the State Insurance Board Wednesday to take what could be the first step toward ending that situation.

Individual loss statistics for each of the 254 Texas counties should be compiled to show whether homeowners' and extended rates should be set county-by-county, the agents said.

The insurance board now divides the state into three large territories for rating purpose. Houston is part of the Seacoast Territory, which includes Galveston, Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Seacoast Territory residents pay much more for their homeowners' and extended coverage insurance than other Texans because of past hurricane losses and the threat of future big blows.

John Richwagen, a Houston insurance agent, said the county-by-county loss statistics would provide a "firm and concrete" justification for dividing the state into new rating territories on either a county or a metropolitan area basis.

Houston, of course, would have far lighter windstorm losses than cities on the Gulf which have been struck by hurricanes and would, therefore, have lower insurance rates.

Harold G. Duble of Houston, representing the Texas Insurance Advisory Association—an organization of insurance companies, denounced the agents' proposal.

"Just think of the loss to Harris County if a severe hurricane crossed Galveston Bay through Baytown and Houston," he said.

Duble said he doubted if 15 or 20 counties, regardless of population, would be large enough to support a separate rating territory without risking giant insurance premiums if a hurricane or other catastrophe struck.

Board chairman Larry Teaver said he thought the agents' recommendation had "considerable merit" but also said he "recognized the merit" in Duble's objections.

US Ends Heavy Bombings

SAIGON (AP) - A powerful strike armada of U.S. warplanes ended two days of heavy bombing inside North Vietnam today after about 150 strikes against newly installed long-range artillery guns and antiaircraft defenses.

Radio Hanoi claimed that North Vietnamese gunners shot down seven planes in the two days, "killing and capturing many pilots."

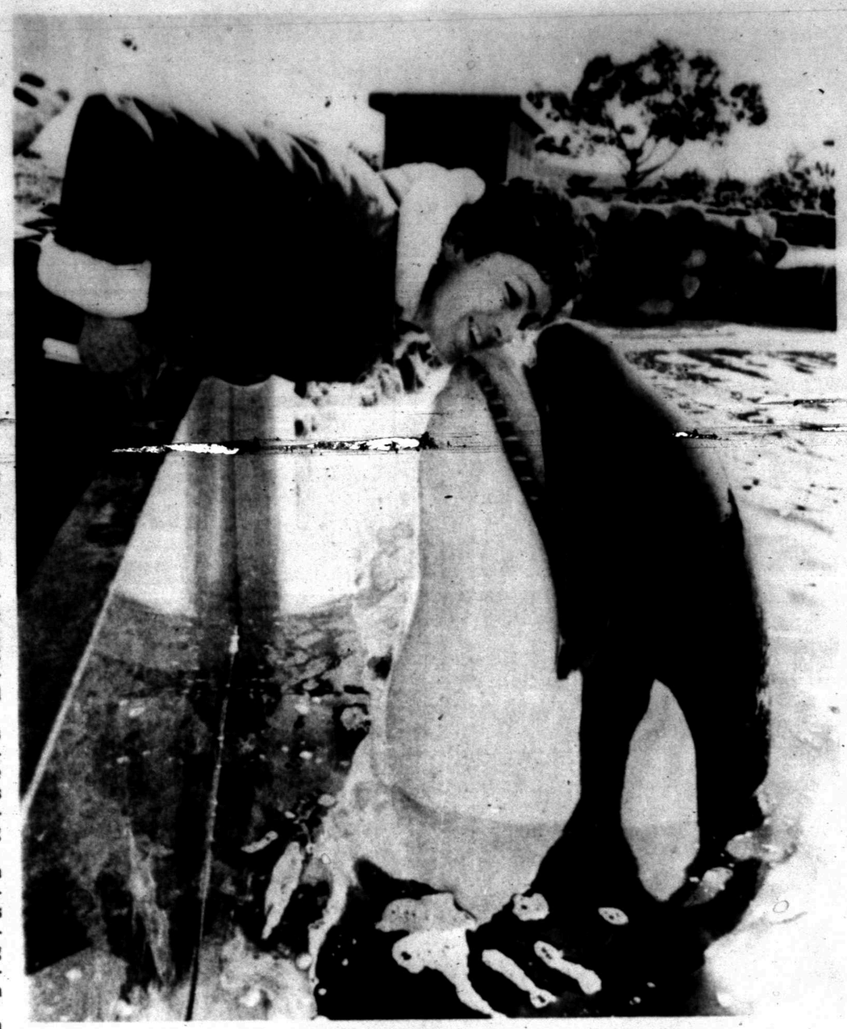

The U.S. Command, in announcing the end of the strikes, said an Air Force F4 Phantom was shot down Wednesday, apparently by a surface-to-air missile. The two-man crew is missing. The command declined comment on the higher claim by Radio Hanoi.

Pilots reported they encountered heavy antiaircraft fire and more than a dozen of surface-to-air missiles or SAMs. Much of the U.S. strike effort was devoted to suppressing the antiaircraft fire, spokesmen said.

Grass Fires Are Extinguished

City Firemen answered a call to a grass fire at 7:36 a.m. today on the Old Post Road across the highway from the Western Company.

At 12:55 p.m. yesterday, they extinguished a grass fire at the American Magnesium plant.

Soviet Officers Fined

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Three Soviet fishing officers await release today after a month in U.S. custody on charges of illegal fisheries support activity in an A...rican fishing zone.

The men were fined $80,000 in U.S. District Court Wednesday after changing their pleas from innocent to no contest. A finding of guilty was directed after the change.

G. Kent Edwards, U.S. attorney for Alaska, said the officers would be released after their fines were paid. The money was expected to be forwarded to the Justice Department from the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

Edwards also announced Wednesday that an out-of-court agreement had resulted in a $170,000 assessment against the two Soviet fishing vessels which were seized by the Coast Guard Jan. 17. The vessels had been liable to confiscation.

Vladimir Artemov, master of an 80-ship Soviet herring fleet working the Bering Sea, and Igor Bovtun, skipper of the 362-foot factory ship Lamut, were fined $30,000 each. Nikolai Pavluk, master of the trawler Kolyvan, was fined $20,000.

Verdict Returned In County Court

A county court jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty against Johnny Lee Ward, who was tried on a charge of speeding.

The complaint originally had been filed in Corporation Court, but was transferred to county court when Ward entered a plea of innocence and asked for a jury trial. The offense occurred Jan. 12, and he was arrested by City Police.

He received a $35 fine plus court costs.

Nadine Willis pleaded guilty this morning to a charge of malicious mischief. She received a $10 fine plus court costs and agreed to make restitution. The offense occurred Feb. 11, and she was apprehended by City Police.

"Twerp" Remark Withdrawn

LONDON (AP) — A member of the House of Commons called Prince Charles a "twerp" Wednesday, withdrew the remark when Tory members objected, then said the heir to the throne ought to "go and spend the next three months in the coal mines."

William Hamilton, a Labor member with a reputation for attacks on the monarchy, was attempting to introduce a bill to nationalize crown lands and the duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, a princedom which gives Charles an income of $286,000 a year.

It was indefensible, he declared, that two mine workers would have to toil underground for 50 years to earn "as much as we give this young twerp in a year."

By a vote of 233 to 104, the House refused to admit his bill.

Two Vehicles Are In Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-car mishap in the 200 block of Thirty-third Street at 7:45 a.m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1962 Model Ford driven by Ester G. Thompson, 812 Thirty-second Street, and a parked 1971 Model Ford owned by the Western Company.

The 1973 USGA Women's Amateur golf championship will be held at Montclair, N.J.

CRMWD Testing Transfer System

Another inter-reservoir transfer of water is being tested this week by the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Pumps were started Monday to deliver water from Lake E.V. Spence, above Robert Lee, into Lake Colorado City, the Texas Electric Service Company reservoir southwest of Colorado City.

Tests were to continue until the CRMWD was satisfied that it could [illegible] requirements up to 10,000,000 gallons per day.

The contract calls for delivery of water if TESCO supplies get low in Lake Colorado City and the CRMWD has ample supplies available in Lake Spence. The district may deliver up to 3,000 acre feet in a year, but not to exceed 9,000 acre feet in five years (an average of 1,800 acre feet per year.) Also figuring in the contract is the availability of storage room in salt lake at the diversion works on the river above Colorado City, because the line used to pump this salt water to oil companies will be used to pump fresh water back to Lake Colorado City.

The transfer calls for a journey of 70 miles because the water first goes to Moss Creek Lake, southeast of Big Spring via the districts 42-in. main supply line. Then it is pumped through 27-in. line to a juncture with the Sun Oil Line in Mitchell county, and then through 21-in. pipe which connects with the terminal storage at the diversion works. However, at the point the line crosses Morgan Creek, the fresh water being pumped back empties into Morgan Creek and flows to Lake Colorado City.

TESCO will refund the district $35,000 for a cost of pumps and installations for the project, then will pay a charge of $100,000 per annum for the water.

Black Pupil Files Suit

DALLAS (AP) — A black girl pupil at W.T. White High School asked a federal judge Wednesday to have her reinstated and to declare the school's suspension procedures unconstitutional.

The girl, Jewel Phillips, 16, was suspended Feb. 3 because she cursed assistant principal Walter Bingham. She admitted in her suit that she had "in fact used profanity in connection with an investigation of a matter of which she was not guilty and for which she was not found guilty or suspended."

The suit claimed she was provoked into profanity and that the penalty of exulsion was harsh, arbitrary, unjustified and discriminatory.

U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr., after conferring with the girl's lawyers, who included Southern Methodist University law professor Charles J. Morris, said he hoped the matter could be worked out without a court order. He declined to issue a temporary restraining order but said he might do so if the girl was not taken back into school within a few days.

'Civilisation' Is Set Tonight

"Civilisation," the renowned color film series on the cultural life of Western man, written and narrated by art historian Kenneth Clark, will be shown at Western Texas College at 7:30 p.m. in the science lecture hall. A second film in the series will be shown Feb. 24 in the same place. Admission is free.

It had been announced earlier that the film series would be held in the fine arts auditorium at WTC.

LeRoy Alitz is in his 18th season as West Point wrestling coach.

January Sales Of Water Up

Water sales were up in volume and dollars for January, according to the monthly revenue statement of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Water billed in January, however, represents December deliveries.

Revenues for the month amounted to $398,232, or up by about $199,000 over the same month a year ago. Part of the reason for this sharp jump is the increased rates for 1972 water billings in order to meet new and highter debt service requirements.

During the month, member cities, which drew 10 million gallons more water, paid $172,126 which is about $35,000 more than a year ago. Oil companies, which were restricted or cut off a year ago, upped their payments by about $161,000 in reaching $215,984. Pipeline and recreational charges accounted for the remainder of the revenue.

As mentioned, cities upped their volume total by 10 million gallons and oil companies by 333 million gallons during January. Most of the production came from Lake Thomas (369 million gallons) and Lake Spence (363 million). Salt water wells furnished another 89 million gallons to SACROC unit.

PLANNING FOR ARD—Members of the two local TOPS Clubs met Feb. 15 at Stanfield Elementary to make plans for the ARD (Area Recognition Day) to be held in Snyder March 25 at the Scurry County Coliseum. Club members (from left) Thelma Swanson, Ethel York, Edna Shields and Cheriann Derryberry are pictured making items to be used for decorating and to be given at the ARD meeting. An estimated 500 TOPS members from surrounding counties is expected to attend. This will be the first ARD meeting to be held in Snyder.

Plan Clothing Purchases

COLLEGE STATION—"Reflecting on last year's experiences, consider the number of clothing purchases you made," suggested Becky Dunlap, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M University.

"Were all your purchases satisfactory? Did they fulfill an existing need, or did they create a need to make more purchases to complete the total look of the first purchase? Or, were they purchased and never worn?"

According to a recent survey, clothing costs have risen 23.7 per cent in the past five years. "With the rising yearly costs of clothing, it's a good idea to plan your clothing purchases," Miss Dunlap suggested.

"Regardless of the amount of money spent on clothing, planning ahead is important. It's not the plan itself that has value, but the thought that goes into the plan.

"When you consider clothing purchases ahead of time, you catalogue each one in your mind according to its importance. Therefore, you're more likely to eliminate whims."

The specialist said that a plan also helps establish priorities so more isn't spent on an item that's worn only a few times.

"A plan also brings peace of mine," Miss Dunlap claimed. "You realize necessary purchases ahead of time and conduct your shopping accordingly. A bargain purchase from a sale isn't a bargain if it isn't needed. Learn to stretch your clothing dollar."

Miss Dunlap mentioned these suggestions when formulating clothing plans:

"Consider clothing needs in regard to the environment and activities engaged in during the year. Also keep in mind current fashion trends and prices available on the market. Other considerations are condition of the present wardrobe and needed additions, as well as available resources in terms of time, energy and income."

Wife Alerted By Maternity Bill

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Mrs. Robert Brassell was granted a Circuit Court divorce Wednesday after testifying a hospital maternity bill alerted her to the existance of another woman.

Mrs. Brassell, 29, said she had no knowledge that her husband had been associating with another woman until she received a bill for the birth of a baby in a Mississippi hospital while she was undergoing surgery in a Milwaukee hospital.

ROAD TO PEKING

Mao Is Triumphant

Editor's Note—As he travels the road to Peking next week President Nixon will see, figuratively, the signposts left by Japan, for much of this century the scourge of China and now one of America's staunchest allies. Along the way, too, are remnants of history left by such figures as Stalin and Roosevelt and Chiang Kai-shek. This fourth in a series of five articles brings the story of China into the era of World War II and its aftermath.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Joseph Stalin, the story goes, once sent Mao Tse-tung a long treatise on how a revolutionary war should be fought.

Mao is said to have turned the document over to Lin Piao, then a close revolutionary comrade-in-arms, for his comments. Lin read the Stalin essay, says the legend, then remarked: "If we had this as our text, we would have been wiped out 10 years ago."

Considering himself the fountainhead of Marxist-Leninist wisdom, Stalin felt his recommendations to be nothing less than immutable law.

But often Stalin's advice to the Chinese was dictated less by his concern for the movement than by Soviet national interests. This was the case in the 1930s when Stalin, dreading the potential of a dynamic and aggressive Japan, ordered the Communists to join a united front with Chiang Kai-shek's Kuomintang.

The fear of Japan was shared by Chiang and Communists. The sharp pain of China's first defeat by an Asian nation had come in 1895 in a clash that lost Taiwan with other islands, and brought deep psychological shock. For Japan, 1895 marked the beginning of a half century of dogged effort to bring all China under Japanese "protection."

Japan's invasion of Manchuria and north China in the '30s, left Chiang's shaky Kuomintang confronting the perils of a two-front war. Chiang had been industriously engaged in an annihilation campaign against the Communists and had driven them into hiding in remote Shensi Province.

But Japan's aggressions provided a golden opportunity for Mao Tse-tung, by then in full control of his party.

Mao would continue to regard and treat Chiang as his chief enemy, even while fighting alongside Kuomintang forces against the Japanese.

His right-hand man Chou En-lai arranged for a mid-1936 meeting in Shanghai with Kuomintang representatives. There he offered to integrate the Red army with Chiang's command.

In the north, Chang Hsueh-liang, son of a slain warlord and known as "the Young Marshal," commanded Chiang's northeast army. He had become convinced, however, that resistance to Japan should take precedence over war with Mao.

Anxious about the situation, Chiang decided on a personal visit to the young marshal's command at Sian. While there he was placed under arrest—in effect, kidnaped—by Gen. Yan Ju-cheng, commander of Chiang's northwest army, who shared the young marshal's views. Chiang was to be hostage for an end of the civil war and for a united effort against Japan. But the young marshal feared that Chiang's stubbornness would cost the Kuomintang leader his life. The young marshal personally released Chiang and flew with him to Nanking, where Chiang had his liberator arrested and jailed.

But the kidnaping incident had proved important in breaking down Chiang's resistance to united front negotiations.

As Japanese forces moved in to Shantung province, Communist-Kuomintang negotiations were resumed.

In July 1937, Japan attacked the Marco Polo Bridge near Peking. That signified the end of any kind of Japanese restraint. Now the united-front tactic would be the more potent.

Chiang, fully aware of the risk, accepted a Chou compromise offer. The Communists would forgo revolutionary violence. The Red army would integrate with Kuomintang forces under Chiang's over-all command. Mao's troops would be renamed "8th Route Army."

The front worked as long as each side wanted it to work.

MOA TSE-TUNG

CHOU EN-LAI

The two armies fought the Japanese together, but not for long. Chiang hoarded his reserves with the idea that Mao eventually would be his main enemy. The Communists under Chu Teh's command, began a policy of fighting Japanese only when necessary and directing much effort toward subversion, infiltration and harassment of Kuomintang forces.

To the peasants, however, the Communists appeared to be the ones who were patriotically trying to stop the Japanese. This worked in Mao's favor. At the time the party's hard inner core probably was no more than 40,000, despite millions of unsophisticated followers, but Mao and Chou had produced a situation in which the Kuomintang stood little chance of winning.

Stalin had never hesitated in the past to give Soviet national interests clear precedence over international communism. He did so once again when, dreading the possibility of a two-front war, he recognized Japan's conquest of Manchuria. In return, Japan recognized the permanent separation from China of Outer Mongolia, by then a Soviet satellite. That freed Russian troops to keep watch on the Germans, and Japanese to embark on a wider military quest for a "Greater East Asia Co-Prosperity Sphere."

As the tide of World War II began to shift in East and West alike against the Axis powers, the United States urgently sought unity of the contending political factions in China in the interest of more effective prosecution of the conflict on the mainland. But Mao and Chiang each seemed to hope that the Japanese and his Chinese antagonists would exhaust one another. President Franklin D. Roosevelt sent Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley to China in search of unity. His labors would prove fruitless.

The dreadful thunder of the U.S. atom bomb brought the American war with Japan to an abrupt end. Eager for a share of spoils, Stalin had declared war on an already defeated Japan only two days before her surrender to the Americans.

Then Stalin signed a treaty with Chiang Kai-shek promising that Soviet aid would go only to Chiang's government as the recognized regime, pledging no interference with China's internal affairs and declaring that Soviet troops would withdraw promptly from Manchuria. The promises were in line with the big powers' Yalta agreements. Stalin kept none of them.

The Russians dismantled Manchuria's industry and hauled it off as war booty. They gathered mountains of Japanese arms which eventually would fall into Communist hands. They obstructed Chiang's attempts to counter a Communist drive in Manchuria.

Mao's forces made great progress on their own. Having impressed the peasants with exemplary behavior, in contrast with that of the Japanese and some Kuomintang forces, the Communists could move in behind withdrawing Japanese and methodically set up local authority.

Looking to postwar Asian problems, the United States continued its efforts toward reconciliation of the two sides in China. With a U.S. guarantee of safe conduct, Mao for the first time in his 51 years boarded an airplane. It took him and Chou En-lai to Chungking, Chiang's capital, where Chou did all the talking with Chiang's representatives.

Each time it appeared that agreement was possible, Chou would increase his demands. Clearly, the talks would wind up nowhere and Hurley resigned his mission in indignant frustration, claiming both sides sabotaged his efforts.

President Harry S. Truman sent Gen. George C. Marshall to China.

Marshall was hailed by Mao Tse-tung and toasted warmly by the Communists during a visit to their Yenan headquarters, but he had no more chance of success than his predecessor found.

Having infiltrated Manchuria heavily, the Communists now were moving swiftly through North China in the wake of Japanese withdrawal. The civil war had come in earnest and Marshall, after desperate attempts to bring about a truce, pronounced a pox on both houses and gave up.

Chiang's Kuomintang forces ran into one disaster after another. Despite about $1 billion worth of American arms aid, the Kuomintang was no match for the now well-armed Communists. Internal corruption, weak leadership and indiscipline, plus lack of public support and Chiang's reputation for dictatorial rule, all combined to make the Kuomintang's defeat inevitable.

Now Stalin worried that the Chinese Communists were progressing too swiftly. He would have preferred a protracted struggle which might waste American resources. He instructed Mao to slow down. Mao ignored the Kremlin master.

Chiang's rule of the mainland ended in the fall of 1949. What was left of his forces fled to Taiwan. On Oct. 1, 1949, Mao Tse-tung stood atop the Gate of Heavenly Peace at the entrance to the 500-year-old imperial palaceand announced to the world:

"The People's Republic of China is now established."

4 MAR Members Arrested

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican attorney general's office announced Wednesday the arrest of four members of the Revolutionary Action Movement (MAR), an urban guerrilla group.

The attorney's office said warrants for the arrest of three of the men were issued in March 1971, also 19 members of the MAR were apprehended.

Police said one of those arrested, Edilberto Arturo Castellanos Santiago, like some of the original group, was trained in guerrilla activities in Pyongyan, North Korea. Castellanos Santiago is accused of conspiracy, criminal association and carrying prohibited weapons.

The other three, Eufemio Gonzalez Mancilla, Baldemar Villarreal Alvarado and Raymondo Ibarra Valenzuela, were accused of gathering weapons and participating in assaults on two banks and a bus station.

Police said several weapons and a large quantity of ammunition were confiscated at the time of the arrest.

12- Month School Program Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — School bells might be ringing 12 months of the year instead of the traditional nine if a movement to establish year-round schools finds support.

None requires students to attend class 12 months but several extend the school year for longer than the usual 180 days and provide shorter but more frequent vacations. Teachers also have several options.

The usual reason to consider a 12-month plan is economic: fuller utilization of facilities and savings on debt service, fuel, light, power and maintenance.

But economies are not the only reason. Some advocates maintain 12-month plans could result in quicker pupil movement through school and enable educators to improve the education of all children.

A 12-month plan is not a new idea. Before 1840, city schools were conducted nearly year around. Rural schools had shorter sessions to permit pupils to help with the farming. Later, cities shortened the school year, rural schools lengthened theirs and by 1915 most of the nation's schools were operating nine months with a three-month summer vacation.

The current resurgence of support for 12-month schools stems from economics and the feeling of many administrators that something must be done to restore public confidence in the public school system.

Public support, in terms of the success of school bond issues in the first six months of 1971, was not encouraging. The National Education Association said that 277 bond elections were successful but that 314 failed. More fearsome for school officials was the fact that $1.302 billion was turned down and only $605 million approved.

Glen Robinson, NEA director of research, noted in an interview that many schools remain locked during the summer, students face three months without much to do and teachers must find summer jobs.

BANISHED — Rear Adm. Robert Welander has been "banished" to sea duty, according to columnist Jack Anderson, for what Anderson said was the mistaken belief by the Nixon administration that Welander was the source of the leak of secret documents to Anderson. Welander had served as liaison between the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the White House. (AP Wirephoto)

Sale Of Cookbooks Is Aiding LCC

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — More than 25,000 copies of a cookbook compiled by women of many religious faiths have been sold all over the world and proceeds are being used to provide educational facilities at Lubbock Christian College.

The cookbook, which sponsors say has no specific reason for being popular, still commands such a wide demand that another thousand copies have just been readied for distributing.

Sponsored by the Lubbock Christian College Associates, a group of women organized to support the college, the cookbook, named "Treasured Recipes," was compiled from contributions of women of this area.

The order for the first printing, Oct. 1, 1961, was for 2,000 copies. "When they arrived we were scared to death they wouldn't sell," Mrs. A.C. Tanner, current treasurer of the fund, said. Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. W.T. Rogers were co-chairman of the initial project.

Within three months, demand for copies was so great that a second printing was ordered.

But when the second printing, which included 1,000 copies, sponsors found that the printers had made an error in the title and the entire printing bore the title, "Treasured Receipts."

Women who had taken orders apologetically delivered the books and felt this was the end of their project. However, this was not the case. All were sold and now this edition is considered a collector's item.

"I have standing order for the books with the misprint and can get a good price for them and have asked that any copies located be turned back in for resale. But I have located very few copies," Mrs. Tanner said.

Sales of the cookbook have increased the associates' treasury by more than $93,000.

Mrs. Tanner points out the cookbook contains recipes that are typical of this area.

Watkins Plans To Remarry

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Arthur V. Watkins, who was widowed early last year, has announced plans to remarry.

Watkins, a Republican, served two Senate terms and was chairman of a select committee which censured the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis. He later was chief commissioner of the Indian Claims Commission, retiring in 1967.

Pension Funds Have Found Stock Market

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — State and local government pension funds have discovered the stock market. In just one year they jumped their holdings of New York Stock Exchange stocks to $12.3 billion from $8.2 billion.

While this increase helped push holdings of all institutions to more than 40 per cent of the value of Big Board shares, perhaps the more meaningful story is the reason behind the growing percentage.

Years ago the trustee of an important sum of money would hardly consider investing heavily in stocks, mainly because of the risk. Preservation of capital rather than capital gains was the prime consideration.

Increasingly during the post-World War II years the wisdom of the concept was tested and found wanting. Capital invested in conservative securities, such as bonds, was found to erode rather than remain constant.

Inflation was to blame, of course. But more precisely, the shift into stocks can be attributed to an awareness of inflation.

Except for recessions, this country generally does have some inflation, if only at the rate of 2 or 3 per cent a year. But in the 1950s, investors became very aware of the damage wrought by even small rates of inflation.

Their awareness was made acute by contrast with the stock market. During the 1930s, stocks didn't do much of anything and so there was a tendency to discount them as investment vehicles. But they rose during the 1950s.

Gradually, even the most conservative money managers couldn't ignore the evidence that money invested in stocks not only was preserving capital but was adding to it as well.

Insurance companies began putting more funds into stocks. Bank trust departments did likewise, as did college and university endowments and nonprofit foundations. Even corporate pension funds were so invested.

Pension funds of local and state governments, however, were generally restricted to more conservative securities. Managers were constrained by state laws to bonds, and then often to bonds of their own locality.

The pressures to relieve those restraints gradually mounted. Inflation, remember, was making their performance look awfully bad. Moreover, as state and local governments grew in size, more and more people were becoming dependent in their old age on the success of those investments.

In 1967 Wisconsin decided to permit more stock investments but many other states and cities didn't follow until the early and mid-1960s. These pensions funds, therefore, are still in the process of realigning their portfolios, which accounts for the big percentage gain in stock holdings.

Here are the statistics that document the shift into equities by the institutions.

Life insurance companies, $3.2 billion in stock in 1960, $15.2 billion in 1971.

Nonlife insurers, $6 billion in 1960, $15.5 billion in 1971.

Mutual funds, $12.4 billion in 1960, $46.4 billion in 1971.

Noninsured corporate pension funds, $13.5 billion in 1960, $72.2 billion in 1971.

State and local government pension funds, $400 million in 1960, $12.3 billion in 1971.

College endowments, $2.9 billion in 1960, $7.8 billion in 1971.

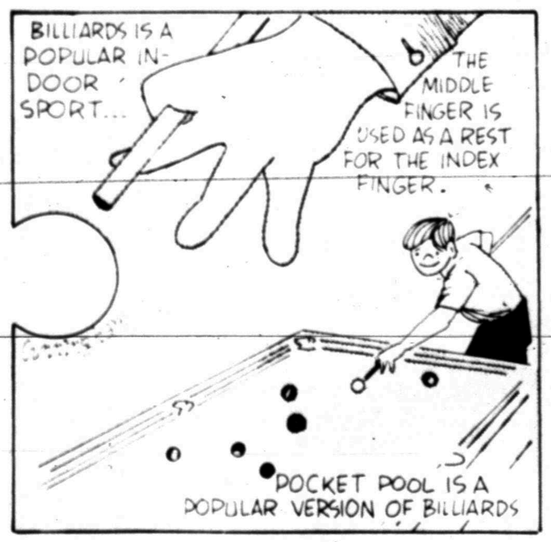

Foundations, $5.3 billion in 1960, $14.9 billion in 1971.

Common trust funds, $1.4 billion in 1960, $4.6 billion in 1971.

Much of the increase can be attributed to the growth in the size of the institutions, rather than in their investment philosophy. And not to be forgotten, either, is that the size of their holdings has been accelerated by capital appreciation.

It's a good bet, though, that the great majority of institutional portfolio managers are inclined to view the future economy as an inflated one and that it is better to try to ride the crest with equity investments.

Junior Editors Quiz on BILLIARDS

QUESTION: When and where did billiards begin?

ANSWER: Billiards is a popular indoor game played on a rectangular table with three ivory balls and a wooden rod or cue to drive the balls. There are many variations of the game. Pocket billiards or pool is a popular version of billiards.

The game was known in England and France in the 1300s. Colonial settlers from England and Spain brought the game to the New World. About the year 1800, a Frenchman named Mingaud is credited with developing the game to a form much as we know it today.

Some authorities say a similar game was played in ancient Egypt. The Greeks as early as 400 B.C. played a game very much like billiards. Many famous writers referred to billiards in their writings. Shakespeare, in "Anthony and Cleopatra," mentions the game. Billiards had been a popular game with royalty and the aristocracy. Early in the history of the game, it was played with hoops and other obstacles on the table. Mary, Queen of Scots, in 1576 while confined in prison, complained that she could not play billiards.

Things That Make Life Worthwhile

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

A woman smiling and saying "thank you" after you hold the apartment house elevator for her.

The ecstatic yelps of beagle hounds chasing a surprised rabbit.

The biggest pot of the evening in the middle of the green table cloth and four kings hidden in your hand.

The shimmering trail of beauty a full moon makes across a breeze-rippled lake.

Feeding a breaded veal cutlet—your least favorite food—to the dog under the dining room table while your wife isn't looking.

Winning a kewpie doll for your girl at the carnival by knocking all the rubber milk bottles off the stand with three pitched balls.

Eloping with the snippy young lady who once said she wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth.

The soft sheen of candlelight falling on old silver.

The taste of the first tomato to redden in your backyard garden.

The comradely wink of an old schoolteacher who gave you a better final grade in algebra than the one both she and you knew you really deserved.

Buttering up Dad for an extra dime as a child and hearing him tell you with mock seriousness, "Don't throw it all away on one girl, son."

Thumbing through an old family photo album and being startled at how young and near and human the faces of the vanished dead now seem. When you were young, they looked so quaint and far away—almost as if they weren't actual people at all.

Getting a letter from a distant friend disclosing that he has gained 15 pounds while you were taking off 10.

Going to a zoo and staring deep into a tiger's eyes.

Sleeping alone in a tree house creaking in the wind.

Having a fire you built in the fireplace spring into roaring blaze after your wife predicted it wouldn't catch.

The life stories of dignity and calm told by the wrinkles in elderly hands.

Holding the first dandelion of spring under your sweetheart's chin to determine whether she liked butter or not.

Holding your sweetheart's hand and finding it even clammier than your own because neither of you was quite sure what would happen next.

The audible metal clang that ensued when you kissed while both of you were still wearing braces.

The peal of bells that rang in your heart the day you evoked a successful burp from your first baby.

By such small unforgettable moments are our long lives made memorable.

Word 'White' Is Voted Out

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Middleboro Lodge of Elks has voted to recommend that the national Grand Lodge strike the word "white" from its membership requirement.

The vote Wednesday was announced by the Rev. William M. McKenzie, curate at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, who joined the Middleboro lodge in 1970 specifically to force a change of the national whites-only membership requirement.

Last December, William F. Ezell, a black scoutmaster, applied for membership to the Middleboro lodge and was turned down.

Tigers, Tornadoes To Vie For Playoff Spot

Tiger basketball coach Bob Moore yesterday afternoon said that Snyder and Lamesa officials have agreed to declare the Tigers and Tornadoes co-champions of District 3-AAA. The two teams will clash at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Texas Dome in Levelland to determine the team that will represent the district in the playoffs.

There will be no pre-game ticket sales. They can be purchased at the door at the rate of $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Snyder fans are asked to sit on the north side of the coliseum.

In the eyes of most fans, however, Saturday's contest will decide which team is superior. Snyder beat Lamesa 58-49 in the Scurry County Coliseum in the first round of district play. Lamesa won, 44-38, on their home court. Thus Saturday's clash will be the first clash between the two teams on a nuetral court and fans from both towns are anxiously awaiting the outcome. For all practical purposes, the winner will be the real champion of the district in the eyes of the spectators.

It should be a whale of a battle. Each team has an outstanding record. Snyder is 26-3 for the season while Lameesa is 26-5. Both teams have strong defenses, smooth attacks, and a desire to win.

Snyder apparently has more bench strength and will have a slight height advantage on the starting unit.

Tiger Coach Bob Moore said he probably will go with his usual alignment, which would include Dub Preston (6-5) and Tommy Washington (5-11) at wing, Jerry Brooks (6-3) and Kent Horsley (6-8) at post, and Fred Liner (6-2) at guard. Horsley and Preston are seniors; the other are juniors, although Washington is a senior in eligibility.

This year's Tiger team is one of the best ever to play for the Black and Gold. Preston is one of the best outside shooters in the state. He was named to the All-State third team last season as a junior. Washington has a knack for getting inside, but he also can hit from outside. Both lads have a talent for stealing the ball when they're on defense. Jerry Brooks also is an accurate shooter. He and Kent Horsley both are superb defensive players with an ability to block opponents' shots. Kent handles his 6-8 frame better this season than at any time in the past. He does a good job under the boards and can get you two quick points on a tip in. Fred Liner handles the ball well and is a good play maker. Although he doesn't shoot often, he also can hit from the outside.

Several of the reserves could make the first string on most other teams. Perhaps their finest attribute is their will to win. They play just as hard as the starters. Included in this group are Kevin Jones, Gary Brooks, David Thompson, Jackie Murray, Jimmy Don Dyess, Mike Hinton, and Charles Anderson.

Veteran Coach O.W. Follis of the Tornadoes also has a talented first unit that scores well inside and out and plays sound defensive ball. Probable starters are center David Sisson, forwards Kent McCurley and Harry McCurley and guards Brad Boyd and Frank Sims. Sometimes, Greg Cannady or Ted Jackson start in place of Sims.

Strangely enough, neither team looked very sharp in their second clash. The Tigers only hit 26 per cent from the field while Lamesa threw the ball away several times. They didn't shoot very accurately either.

DIGGING IN—Gene Stallings, former head football coach and athletic director at Texas A&M University, gets started in his new role as secondary defensive coach with the World Champion Dallas Cowboys by reviewing films of the 1971 season in the Cowboys' office in Dallas, Tex. Stallings is the second former Texas A&M head coach to join the Cowboys after termination of contract. Jim Myers, offensive line coach came with the Cowboys in 1962. (AP Wirephoto)

Ira Girls In Playoff

Ira's girls will tangle with Balmorhea's girls at 4:15 p.m. Friday in the Texas Dome in Levelland in a quarterfinals basketball tilt.

Coach Roy Sallee's Ira girls are champions of District 10-B. Balmorhea is champion of District 13-B. Both teams won bi-district contests last week. Ira put down McAdoo 53-31.

Ira is 29-2 for the season. Possible starters include forwards Janie Roddy, Jan Kruse and either Susie Hester or Nancy Sterling and three of the following four guards: Gale White, Annette Erwin, Debbie Sterling and Beverly Autry.

Paula Sterling was injured in the Hobbs game, but saw action against McAdoo and could start on either offense or defense.

Ten Named To Famed Hall

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Angelo Bertelli, Notre Dame quarterback, and the late Bruce Smith, Minnesota halfback, both Heisman Trophy winners, were among 10 former collegiate stars named today to the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame.

The electees, announced by Vincent dePaul Draddy, chairman of the board, also included six other backs and two linemen.

The other inductees scheduled for induction at the 15th annual Football Hall of Fame Awards Dinner, Dec. 5 in New York are: Malcolm Aldrich, Yale halfback; Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma State back; Robert Hamilton, Stanford halfback; Mort Kaer, Southern California back; William Morton, Dartmouth quarterback; Charles O'Rourke, Boston College quarterback; the late Bowden Wyatt, Tennessee end, and Joe Stydahar, West Virginia tackle.

Bertelli, 51, called signals for the Irish from 1941-43, but interrupted his college career to enter the Marine Corps. He presently is in business in New Jersey and broadcasts Princeton games in the fall. He won the Heisman Trophy in 1943.

"Boo" Smith, who died in 1967, won the Heisman Trophy and All-American honors in 1941. A native of Minnesota, he died of cancer at 47.

Westerners Host Wayland Tonight

"I hope wet a good crowd out tonight," said Coach Sid Simpson, "I believe a good crowd would encourage our team to play better."

Simpson's Western Texas College Westerners host Wayland Baptist College's junior varsity at 7:30 p.m. in the Scurry County Coliseum. It will be the second meeting between these two teams. Wayland beat the Westerners 71-62 in Plainview and again will be favored tonight. WTC will be trying to improve on a 10-12 record.

Coach Simpson said probable starters will be Walter Hanibal (6-4) of Fort Worth at wing and Steve Sparks of Krum and Johnny Neff of McAdoo at guard with two of the following three at post: Joel Dyess (6-4) of South Garland, Ralph Jackson (6-5) of Brownfield Union or James Houston (6-3) of Charlotte, N.C.

The Westerners' Jimmy Hill, 6-4 post man from Amarillo Tascosa, still is weakened by the flu and is a doubtful participant. If he sees action at all, it will be limited.

However, several other lads are ready for service, including Cliff Gardner of Tahoka, Mike Simpson of Snyder, Mike McDowell of Lubbock, Mark Pearson of Borger, and Gary Henderson of Amarillo Tascosa.

Possible starters for Wayland include Hester, Lombard, Thomas and Braden or Brown.

WTC closes out the season next Tuesday night at home with Lubbock Christian College's junior varsity providing the opposition. If the Westerners can win their final two games, then they can break even for the season, although they weren't expected to win more than four or five games at the start of the campaign.

Eau Claire Is Still Top Team

Western Washington State, which stretched its record to 18-0 last week by defeating St. Martin's 78-75 and Southern Oregon 89-64, jumped from ninth place to fifth in The Associated Press' college division basketball poll released Wednesday.

The Vikings, the only unbeaten team in the Top Ten as selected by the panel of 16 sports writers and broadcasters, received two first place votes and 158 points.

The Eau Claire Blugolds, 181, continued to hold the top spot in the poll with eight first place ballots and 286 points. In last week's action, Eau Claire trounced Stevens Point 101-64 and edged Whitewater 97-89 in double-overtime.

Louisiana Tech, 19-2, grabbed second place with two first place ballots and 244 points. Tennessee State was third with 206 points and Cheyney State fourth with 168. Each received one first place vote.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Eastern Michigan, up from seventh to sixth; Stephen F. Austin, which moved from eighth to seventh; Akron, dropping from fourth to eighth; Alabama State, dipping from sixth to ninth, and Evansville, which retained the No. 10 spot.

Eastern Michigan received one first place ballot, as did Gardner-Webb, which did not make the Top Ten.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through last Saturday's games and total points on a basis of 20 for first, 18 for second 16, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

"Ball day" will be Saturday afternoon, May 27 against the Detroit Tigers; "bat day" is Sunday, June 18 against Dallas-Fort Worth and "tee shirt day" Wednesday, July 19 with the Minnesota Twins as the Yankee rival.

"Oldtimers day" is set for Saturday afternoon, July 22 when the California Angels are in town.

Former Oiler Back Files Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A former Houston Oiler defensive back has filed a suit asking $44,000 from the Houston National Football League team.

John Douglas claimed in the suit filed Wednesday that the Oilers owe him back pay from the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

Douglas claims he was paid $11,000 of a $22,000 contract for 1970 and has not been paid anything on a 1971 contract for $22,000. He also asks $11,000 for attorney fees.

A spokesman for the Oilers said he did not know the circumstances of Douglas's departure from the Oilers but that he understood Douglas now was with the San Francisco 49ers.

Bryan Hires Cooper Coach

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Merrill Green, football coach at Abilene Cooper since 1965, has signed a $15,000-a-year contract to become head football coach and athletic director at Bryan, Tex., High School.

Green leaves a 59-16-3 record at Abilene Cooper, a school that in its four years of existence before Green arrived had a 5-30-5 mark.

Green took Abilene Cooper to the state 4AAAA finals in '67, the quarter finals in 1969.

Seaver Signs $120,000 Pact

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets have satisfied Tom Seaver's 1972 contract demands but it will take a little more effort for the Los Angeles Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies to do the same for Frank Robinson and Rick Wise.

Seaver agreed to exercise his valuable right arm for $120,000 this season, making the 27-year-old pitcher the highest paid baseball player in New York history. And that includes people like Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle.

But the Dodgers came up about $10,000 short on their first offer to Robinson, who was acquired during the winter from Baltimore and their $140,000 pitch left the talented outfielder "shocked."

And Wise, who pitched a no-hitter and won 17 games last season, informed the Phillies that he was shooting for a 100 per cent boost to $65,000 which is considerably more than General Manger John Quinn has offered.

Seaver, who reportedly had been interested in a three-year $500,000 contract similar to the one Carl Yastrzemski received from Boston last year, settled for less, but enough to keep him happy.

"I don't think you ever sign for what you want in this give-and-take world," said the ace righty, who led both leagues with a 1.76 earned run average to go with his 20-10 record last season.

"I am satisfied and I am grateful," he said. "I'd be glad to sign a contract for $5,000 less than I want every year."

That may be okay for Seaver but it's not for Robinson. He wants $150,000 from the Dodgers and he may miss the team plane to spring training if [illegible] Angeles doesn't come throu...

"I doubt I'll be on the plane with the team a week from Saturday," said Robinson after rejecting the Dodgers' offer of a $10,000 raise over the $130,000 he earned from the Orioles last year. "I'm shocked, not angry," he said.

Wise and Quinn seem to be at loggerheads on the Phillie pitcher's contract demands.

"I went in to see him Jan. 16 and we each named our figures," said Wise. "It was almost a month before he contacted me again. His figure hadn't changed."

Quinn did sign two other players, pitcher Woody Fryman and third baseman John Vukovich, on Wednesday.

The World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates opened their camp for pitchers and catchers today but World Series heroes Steve Blass and Nelson Briles were among the missing. Both are unsigned.

On other negotiation fronts, St. Louis signed seven players including pitcher Sal Santorini, the New York Yankees satisfied four players including second baseman Horace Clarke and pitcher Mike Kekich, and the Mets got pitcher Gary Gentry as well as Seaver.

Barry Files Big Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Basketball star Rick Barry is back in the courts—this time in a $1.1 million suit he filed in U.S. District Court against the National Basketball Association team formerly known as the San Francisco Warriors.

Barry, now 27 and a forward with the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, claims a 1969 contract he signed with the Warriors, now the Golden State Warriors, is invalid.

The suit, filed Wednesday, is acutally a counter-claim to one filed in November by attorneys for Warrior owner Frank Mieuli seeking to make Barry live up to the three-year contract.

Barry, in his action, alleges that the NBA and the Warriors pooled resources in obtaining his services, thereby violating federal anti-trust regulations.

The complaint claims the contract is invalid because it is "an unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of sections one and two" of the antitrust law.

"Part of the suit is similar to the Curt Flood baseball case," said Barry's attorney, Frederick Furth. "We are alleging that the NBA reserve clause is illegal."

Taylor Upsets Newcombe

TORONTO (AP) — Unseeded Roger Taylor of Great Britain capped a day of upsets in a $50,000 World Championship Tennis tournament Wednesday by eliminating Wimbledon king John Newcombe of Australia 7-5, 4-6, 6-4.

The eighth-seeded Newcombe was fighting a hot-and-cold backhand and an inconsistent serve throughout the match.

Fifth-seeded Bob Lutz of Tiburon, Calif., ran into what he termed bad line calls and a steady service game as he was sidelined 6-2, 6-4 by 10th-seeded Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico.

Unseeded Fred Stolle, who eliminated fourth-seeded Cliff Drysdale earlier, put together a strong volleying game to outlast 11th-seeded John Alexander 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in a battle of Australians.

Other seeded players managed to advance to quarter-final play which starts tonight although Ken Rosewall of Australia had to overcome a shaky start to defeat Bob Carmichael of France 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia breezed past Frank Froehling of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-0 6-1 while seventh-seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., whipped a sore-armed Tony Roche of Australia 6-2, 6-1, 9th-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia eliminated Graham Stilwell of Great Britain 6-4, 6-2 and third-seeded Tom Okker of the Netherlands got past Jeff Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif., 6-3, 6-4.

Jim Cahoon of Melville, Sask., stars for the North Dakota hockey team. Eleven other Canadians are on the squad.

Blacksmith Shop Dedication Is Set

LUBBOCK—An authentic blacksmith shop, now appropriately enshrined not under a spreading chestnut tree but under the wide open West Texas sky on the Ranch Headquarters outdoor museum site at Texas Tech University, will be formally dedicated Feb. 22.

The structure, completely restored and outfitted with its original forge, drill and grinding wheel, was moved to the Ranch Headquarters from the historic Renderbrook-Spake Ranch.

Donors of the blacksmith shop at the Ranch Headquarters collection of historic structures depicting ranching's past will be special guests at the dedication ceremonies.

The donors are Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Chappell Jr., formerly of Lubbock and now residents of Waterford, Conn., and Chappell's sister, Mrs. Marian Bassham of Colorado City

According to Jerry Rogers, associate director of the Museum, of Texas Tech University who is in charge of the Ranch Headquarters project, another special guest, Otto F. Jones, is expected also. Jones is a longtime employe and manager of the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch and a ranching pioneer, who, around 1917, helped construct the building to be dedicated.

The dedication ceremonies are scheduled to begin at the Ranch Headquarters at 11 a.m., with the dedicatory address to be delivered by Charles G. Scruggs, vice president and editor of Progressive Farmer magazine and a member of Texas Tech's Board of Regents. He will be welcomed by Tech President Grover E. Murray.

Rogers said a number of members of the Ranch Headquarters Association will be on hand for the dedication and emphasized that the general public is welcome to attend.

Renderbrook Spring in southern Mitchell County was a famous landmark in early West Texas, Rogers said, used at various times by Indians and the U.S. Cavalry. The Snyder brothers established a buffalo hunters' camp at the spring in the 1870's which evolved into a ranching enterprise.

Isaac L. Ellwood, the first successful developer of barbed wire, purchased the Renderbrook Ranch in 1889 and added the Spade Ranch to the holdings several years later, Rogers said.

At the conclusion of the formal dedication ceremonies, the ring of the smith's hammer and anvil will beckon visitors and guests to the Renderbrook-Spade Blacksmith Shop to observe it in actual operation as it was during the early days of the Texas ranching industry.

Holladay Retires

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Securities Commissioner Truman G. Holladay, 65, will retire April 1 and be succeeded by Deputy Securities Commissioner Roy W. Mouer.

Carl L. Phinney of Dallas, chairman of the State Securities Board, announced Holladay's retirement today.

Phinney said the board unanimously offered to keep Holladay in the post as long as he wanted it. Holladay has been with the board for 16 years.

According to Phinney, Holladay "declined to pursue an opportunity for a position as vice president of the New York Stock Exchange offered to him.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. What effect will the new law have on the amount of tax withheld from my paycheck in 1972?

A. As a result of changes in the withholding system for 1972, single employees earning up to $25,000 a year and married employees, whose spouses are not employed with earnings up to $31,000 a year, can generally expect to have their full tax withheld. Wage earners should determine if it is necessary to file a new withholding exemption certificate (Form W-4) to avoid overwithholding and unnecessary reductions in take-home pay. Specifically, employees should (1) claim all the withholding exemptions to which they are entitled, (2) claim the new "special withholding allowance" if single and earning $25,000 or less or if married and earning $31,000 or less (allowance may not be claimed if employee has more than one job, and (3) claim the "additional withholding allowances" shown on the back of Form W-4 if their itemized deductions are substantially larger than the standard deduction.

Q. I was out on strike last spring. Do I have to pay tax on the strike benefits I received then?

A. Yes, strike benefits are taxable, unless the facts clearly show they were intended as a gift. See IRS Publication 525, Taxable Income and Nontaxable Income, for complete information. It is available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q. What transportation expenses are deductible that are not business related:

A. You may deduct as a charitable contribution unreimbursed out of pocket transportation expenses directly attributable to services you render to a charitable organization. If you use your own car, instead of actual expenses you may use the rate of six cents per mile to determine your deductions.

Transportation expenses necessary to get medical care are also deductible in the same way. However, these expenses are subject to the three percent rule for medical expenses.

Transportation expenses in connection with education and moving may also be deductible. Details can be found in two booklets: IRS Publication 508, Tax Information on Educational Expenses and Publication 521, Tax Information on Moving Expenses. They're both available free by dropping a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q. Have there been any changes in the Social Security Tax rate for 1972?

A. No. The rate remains at 5.2 percent for both employers and employees. However, the maximum amount of wages subject to social security tax has been increased to $9,000 for wages paid in 1972.

Q. How much is the percentage standard deduction this year?

A. On your 1971 return the standard deduction is 13 percent of your adjusted gross income up to a miximum deduction of $1,500. Thus, if your adjusted gross income is $11,999 and you take the standard deduction, that deduction would be 13 per cent of $11,000 or $1,430. If the adjusted gross income is $16,000 the standard deduction would be the maximum of $1,500 since 13 percent of $16,000 is $2,080.

Q. Where can I get information on the tax obligations of operating a business?

A. Contact your IRS district office for a copy of "Tax Guide for Small Business." This 160-page booklet, which costs only 75 cents, will aid you in finding the answers to tax questions that arise in starting, operating and disposing of a business. This publication is also available at many Post Offices.

Convict Dies At Home

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Jackie Webber, 25, of Abilene who was released from Huntsville state prison in August so he could spend his last days at home, died Wednesday of liver cancer.

Gov. Preston A. Smith granted an emergency medical reprieve to Webber in August. At that time, doctors who had operated on Webber said that he might not live until November.

When Webber left the prison, he left behind a younger brother, Aaron, who was also serving a burglary term.

A wish by Webber that he would be alive to welcome Aaron home from prison came true when Aaron was released in January.

Although Webber was officially a convict when he arrived home, there were friends waiting for him. And there were friends at his bedside when he died.

When the convicted burglar came home, a Christian service organization and the students association at Abilene Christian College helped raise $1,000 toward the youth's hospital bill which reportedly amounted to about that figure per month.

The students continued to visit him until he died.

A woman who was a member from the Christian service center said of the dying convict: "He wasn't afraid to die."

Families Smaller Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — American wives of child-bearing age expect smaller families than did their counterparts five years ago, according to a new Census Bureau survey.

The report may have special significance for scientists worried that the earth is becoming so overpopulated that its ecology is endangered.

"People who are concerned about the population explosion need to read this very closely," said Census Director George Hay Brown who announced the findings Wednesday.

But Brown pointed out that the survey covers only 6 per cent of the world's population.

Regarded as a key indicator of the national birth rate, the survey showed that:

—Wives from 18 to 39 expect to have an average of 2.8 children, a decline from the 3.1 average reported in 1967.

—Wives from 18 to 24 expect 2.4 children, compared with 2.9 five years ago.

—64 per cent of those 18 to 24 expect no more than two children, up from 44 per cent reporting those expectations in the previous survey.

The new study coincides with earlier findings that the nation's birth rate fell last year to one of the lowest levels in history.

The findings take on added significance because there are more women of prime child-bearing age now than in previous years, which usually would mean a rising birth rate.

Demographers say the number of births per woman of child-bearing age must be trimmed to 2.11 per cent if a stable population that neither increases nor decreases is to be achieved. The most-recent survey put the figure at about 2.9 births per family.

Mercury Poisoning Victim Goes Home

ALAMAGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Ernestine Huckleby, one of three children stricken by mercury poisoning more than two years ago after they ate pork from a home-butchered hog, has left the hospital.

The 10-year-old can't feed herself, can't talk, and can't see. Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Huckleby, said Wednesday night, "I'm just so tickled about having her home again. I'd like to tell everyone about my blessings and thank God."

The youngster had been home from a local hospital for day visits, her mother said, "but when we took her back to the hospital at night she cried every time because she was lonely."

Since Monday, she has been home full time.

"All she can do yet is to smile when we tell her a joke. The people at the hospital wanted us to have her sent to a different hospital rather than let us bring her home," her mother said. "I prayed to the Lord to bless me by letting Ernestine come home and he answered my prayers."

Doctors traced the mercury poisoning that afflicted Ernestine and two older Huckleby children to seed grain that had been treated with a mercury compound and then fed to the butchered hog.

The older children—Jean, now 22, and Amos, now 15—have been home for some time after spending several months in a rehabilitation center at Roswell.

All three children suffered severe brain damage, doctors said. Like Ernestine, Amos is blind, but Dorothy Jean has regained much of her sight.

Dorothy Jean now gets around by herself with the help of crutches and is going to night school to finish junior high.

"She called out to me and was all excited about how she was getting along," Mrs. Huckleby said, recalling a day in December when Dorothy Jean tried walking in a hall without crutches.

"Dorothy was bouncing from wall to wall, but she was able to go a short distance by herself," Mrs. Huckleby said. "She can wash clothes and is a lot of help to me these days."

"Amos can give himself a bath now, and he can move anywhere on the couch by himself without having to have help," his mother said. "Amos is doing well."

Terrorists Kill Irish Bus Driver

BELFAST (AP) — Terrorists in Northern Ireland executed a part-time militiaman and killed another British soldier Wednesday night, raising the province's death toll in 2½ years of religious-political violence to at least 245.

Thomas Callaghan, a Catholic member of the mostly Protestant Ulster Defense Regiment, was dragged from the bus he was driving in Londonderry's Creggan District as his passengers screamed. The gunmen bundled him into a car, shot him through the head and dumped his body at the edge of a road on the other side of the city.

The soldier died in Belfast when terrorists riddled a jeep with machine-gun fire. He was the 51st British soldier killed in Northern Ireland.

In two other incidents in the capital, a sniper shot and wounded a British paratrooper on his first day of duty in the province, and terrorists blew up a tire depot on the city's north side. The gunmen allowed the workers to leave the depot before planting the bomb, and there were no casualties.

Earlier Wednesday, a bomb was found aboard the ferry Duke of Argyll.

HHH Is Leading In Labor Polls

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who suffered some recent setbacks in efforts to hold on to his traditional support from organized labor, is running ahead of other presidential hopefuls in three polls of key AFL-CIO local leaders and has won endorsement from a union leaders' meeting in Minnesota, his home state.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) revealed results Wednesday of polls it took among conference delegates in Atlanta, Dallas, Cincinnati and Florida. Humphrey led but received less than a majority in the three cities, with Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine running from less than 2 to 13 percentage points behind and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington third.

Jackson led in the Florida poll, followed by Humphrey, Muskie and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama. All are running as Democrats.

President Nixon received less than 1 per cent in the three city polls and no delegate votes in Florida.

In Minneapolis, where Humphrey told a meeting of 300 union business agents from Minneapolis-St. Paul that "I am your champion," the officers endorsed him by acclamation.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said only a day earlier that Humphrey had not a chance of getting the labor federation's endorsement before the Democratic National Convention in July.

In another development Wednesday, the Michigan Senate passed and sent to the governor a House-approved bill to hold a state presidential primary May 16. The measure has the endorsement of Gov. William G. Milliken, who is expected to sign it soon.

When the Michigan bill becomes law, the state will be the 24th in the nation with a presidential primary, and Texas will be the only one of the 10 largest states that does not hold a primary test of presidential hopefuls.

A California Poll released Wednesday said Muskie was leading other announced candidates for the Democratic nomination with 28 per cent of the votes of those polled. Humphrey got 23 per cent, and the other candidates received less than 10 per cent each.

Asked which candidate, if nominated, would be most difficult to vote for, 56 per cent said Wallace and 51 per cent said Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles.

When the polling agency added Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a sworn noncandidate, to the field, he outran Muskie 24 per cent to 23.

Big Toll By Heart Disease

Heart and blood vessel diseases will claim the lives of 50,800 Texas residents in 1972, it was predicted today by Ethel Wadleigh, president of the Scurry County Heart Association. Nationwide it is estimated that more than one-million persons will be victims of America's leading cause of death.

"Deaths from heart and blood vessel diseases in this state will represent 50 per cent of the total of 101,100 deaths from all causes," declared the Heart Association spokesman.

"More than 27-million Americans, or one in every eight persons, also suffer some type of heart and blood vessel disease. The most common forms," said Mrs. Wadleigh "are heart attack, high blood pressure, stroke, rheumatic heart disease, and congenital heart defects. In Texas it is estimated that these diseases afflict more than 1,178,000.

"In addition to the human loss suffering caused by these diseases," Mrs. Wadleigh said, "they will place a $17.3-billion burden on the economy this year. This estimated cost includes, among other things, $6.9 billion lost in wages, $6.4 billion in hospital and nursing home care, $2-billion in medical and nursing services, and more than half a billion for medications.

In February, during American Heart Month, an educational campaign is being conducted here as part of a nationwide drive to inform citizens about the heart and blood vessel diseases and the steps they can take to safeguard their families.

Girls Work Horses

MIAMI (AP) — More and more girls are working with race horses at Hialeah Park this winter. Trainers Del Carroll and Reggie Cornell often send out as many as five exercise girls who work their horses during early morning workouts. Some of the girls will also escort the horses in the post parade for the meeting opening March 3.

SS9 No Threat To US Missile

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Department officials say the Soviet triple-head SS9 missile is still not accurate enough to threaten U.S. Minutesman missiles.

But these officials predict the Russians eventually will come up with a more advanced multiple warhead.

Arguing for the Safeguard antimissile defense system, Pentagon leaders started, cautioning three years ago that the Soviet Union could be in position by 1975 to destroy 95 per cent of this country's land-based missiles with a surprise attack.

This warning was predicated on the belief that the Russians would develop effective mechanisms for ejecting triple, five-megaton warheads from SS9 missiles in a "footprint" that would assure destruction of Minuteman complexes.

But, after studying data from a long series of SS9 tests, U.S. experts have concluded the Russians were unable to achieve the required pattern.

Final judgments are not yet in because, as Adm. Thomas H. Moorer told Congress Wednesday, this model of the SS9 "is still an enigma."

The model referred to by Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is less-sophisticated than the separately aimed multiple warheads mounted on advanced U.S. missiles. These sophisticated warheads are called MIRVs.

"While the MIRV capabilities of the current SS9 ... system have not yet been demonstrated," Moorer said, "the intelligence specialists are in agreement that the Soviets will eventually develop MIRVs ...."

Moorer said "our greatest uncertainty at this time" is the ultimate objective of more than 90 missile silos built by the Russians in recent years.

"We don't know how many more of these silos the Soviets intend to build," Moorer said, "Nor do we know what particular missiles they intend to install in them."

President Nixon and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird have said the Russians appear to be developing two new or improved ICBM systems.

The Florida Derby for 3-year-olds will be run March 2 at Gulfstream Park, Hallandale, Fla.

Crane Shooting Probed

CRANE, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Raymond Weatherby investigated today the shooting death of a man and the disappearance of a woman.

The body of Neal Brashear, 39, was found Tuesday in a roadside park nine miles south of this West Texas town. He had been shot through the head. No weapon was found.

Weatherby said he is seeking a woman and a man for questioning.

He identified the woman as Johnnie Louise Stover, who was reported missing the night of Feb. 3 after her three children were found in a car on a discount store parking lot in San Angelo.

The children, ages 6, 10 and 12, told police their mother left with a man who had given them money to buy food.

Weatherby said he was still awaiting an autopsy report before officially ruling on the cause of Brashear's death.

OFFICIAL RELIEVED OF JOB

Scottish Rite Hospital Fund Shortage Reported

DALLAS (AP) — Paul Prasifca, son-in-law of Dallas Crime Commission Chairman John McKee, has been relieved from his job at the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital because of shortages in the Dallas Scottish Rite Bodies, a hospital official announced Wednesday.

Paul Prasifca, who was the executive secretary of the endowment fund of the hospital, was relieved of his duties Jan. 14, 1972, because of his connection with a shortage in the Dallas Scottish Rite Bodies and not because of any matters involving the hospital," said C. F. Jessee, executive vice president of the hospital.

At the same time, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he plans to offer criminal evidence to the grand jury but it did not pertain to the hospital.

Prasifca has been questioned by Wade's office but was unavailable for comment Wednesday night. A woman at his home said he was not expected to comment at this time.

The district attorney said Wednesday night that Wade and local police are examining several alleged legal violations in connection with Scottish Rite funds. He did not elaborate on the persons involved or their number.

Wade and Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson charged last week that McKee is in reality a 1929 U.S. Navy deserter named James Kell Zullinger. The sudden announcement surprised most Dallasites and the crime commission was temporarily suspended from operation by its parent organization.

McKee has claimed the accusations are part of an underworld plot to discredit him and the commission and that he is conducting his own investigation to clear up the issue.

The grand jury has issued a subpoena summoning McKee for testimony Feb. 25.

Wade confirmed that an audit of the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital funds reflected heavy losses of $1.76 million for the year ending last September 30. He added, however, that he had uncovered nothing criminal about the losses.

Television station IDFW-TV reported Wednesday night that hospital stock losses amounted to $919,000 while losses from bonds totalled $841,000.

Investments through the endowment fund, the station said, showed loans to the daughter of the top Scottish Rite Mason, Lee Lockwood of Waco. The audit showed, the station said, that $57,000 of a larger loan at 4 per cent interest remains on the books.

Wade said, however, that the loan to Laurine Dosher, Lockwood's daughter, and her husband, William, was "not delinquent."

The 30-odd pages of the audit showed that $364,000 in various GI mortgages were servied by Waco Mortgage Co., Inc. The television station said the major stockholder in the mortgage company is Lee Lockwood.

The station also said that a $120,000 mortgage at 5 per cent interest is outstanding with Waco Enterprises, Inc., a multi-faceted corporation whose registered agent and board member is Pat Beard. Beard also was a member along with Lockwood and McKee of the investment committee of the Scottish Rite Hospital. Waco Enterprises was formed in June 1965 and dissolved in May 1968, the television station reported.

Wade confirmed to The Associated Press that he was making "good progress" in the case of McKee and the Masonic funds. But he did not say against whom the evidence would be presented. He emphasized that no crippled children's hospital funds were involved.

"It's not against the law to lose money on the stock market or in bonds," the district attorney said. "It's also not against the law to loan money at low interest." He agreed it was unusual.

McKee, longtime chairman of the Citizens Crime Commission, went into seclusion for several days following the disclosure by Wade and Police Chief Frank Dyson that McKee is a Navy deserter, circa 1929, whose real name is James Kell Zullinger.

Wade and Dyson said they made their announcement because reports of their investigation had been leaking slowly to the public.

McKee was reported back in his Dallas home Wednesday under tight security. He had denied the allegations against him and through a lawyer claimed they are part of an underworld plot to discredit him and the crime commission.

Narcotics Statistics Outlined For Kiwanis

County Judge Preston Wilson told Kiwanians yesterday that 174 persons died in Texas from April to November of 1971 as the result of drug abuse. He spoke at noon at the regular luncheon meeting, held at the Steak House.

Wilson also brought out several other facts concerning drugs, as follows:

1. One out of every three; or 34 per cent; of all Texas State Hospital admissions are of alcohol or drug dependence.

2. Adult drug dependent persons account for about 75 per cent of all drug dependent persons treated in all State Mental Health Treatment Facilities.

3. The vast majority of youthful regular drug abusers have a serious problem of some kind at home.

4. The medium age of drug abusers being treated in State Hospitals is 26 years.

5. Regular drug abusers during their childhood had been ill more often; and had taken more medication more often than average; and many of them tend to feel there is a drug that will cure any ill.

6. People who use drugs usually do not have a favorite drug.

7. In state hospitals and 28 mental health and mental retardation centers across Texas the biggest problem numerically among drug dependent people who come for treatment are adults dependent on marijuana. They outnumber youth about 14 to 1.

8. Eighty-five per cent of all heroin dependent persons used marijuana before they used heroin.

9. Eighty-five per cent of all marijuana users never go to a stronger drug.

10. It is estimated that there are more alcoholics in the city of San Francisco than narcotics addicts in the entire U.S.

It was announced that the Kiwanis Club will hold its annual pancake supper March 10, beginning at 5 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. General chairman of the project is Jim Tully. Duane Hood, subchairman for ticket sales, handed out tickets to various members who will sell them at $1 per person. Children under six will be admitted free.

Kiwanians also elected Gene Robertyson to replace David Cook on the board of directors. Cook has moved out of town.

Frank Stephenson presented Wendy Monroney, club sweetheart; a box of valentine candy.

Two new members—Richard English and Ted Martinez—were inducted into the club.

Guests included Wayne Mullinax of Sweetwater, R.W. Rambo of Snyder, and Bob Crowell, Don Lovelady, Jim Thompson, Bob Goodwin and Horace Reagan of Big Spring.

Eckhardt Criticizes No-Fault

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., says the auto insurance industry "operates at a very low level of efficiency."

Under the liability system used in Texas and most other states, Eckhardt said, about 60 per cent of the total premium investment is absorbed by lawyers and adjustment costs, overhead and administrative expenses.

He told a seminar on no-fault insurance Wednesday that the traditional auto insurance system should be changed because it returns only 40 cents on the premium dollar in benefits.

He was equally critical of no-fault auto insurance as operated in Massachusetts.

However, John G. Ryan, insurance commissioner for Massachusetts told the seminar his state's experiment with no-fault insurance was a "resounding success."

He said rates in Massachusetts for personal injury have decreased by 42 per cent since initiation of the plan last year.

Massachusetts was the first state to adopt no-fault insurance.

No-fault insurance is a system whereby victims of automobile accidents may recover damages and medical payments from their own insurance companies without regard to fault in an accident.

Ryan said no-fault strikes at high cost, inefficiency and inequity of traditional liability insurance.

Eckhardt said, however, that under the Massachusetts system "the reduction in premium cost is almost totally due to the different standards for damages and the difficultys in collecting damages."

Eckhardt said that injured persons cannot collect general damages for pain and suffering in Massachusetts unless medical expenses exceed $500 or there is death or serious injury such as dismemberment or disfigurement.

Danish Singer On Cavett Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Nina van Pallandt, the Danish singer linked with author Clifford Irving in the Howard Hughes "autobiography" case, made her American television debut Wednesday on ABC-TV's late-night Dick Cavett show.

Dressed in a floor-length, flowered pink gown, she sang "You've Got a Friend," then spoke with Cavett.

She said she was "flabbergasted" when she learned that Irving's book was suspected of being a fraud.

Feed Lots Proposal Attacked

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The staff of the Water Quality Board is going to have to come up with another version of proposed regulations for feed lots.

The board returned one version Wednesday that would have permitted Hugh Yantis, executive director, to grant or deny permits to feed lot operations without notice and without a public hearing.

Ecologists criticized this section. One of them, Margaret Louise Hancock of Austin, called it "government by an employe of the people, not government by the people."

Cattle and poultry raisers also attacked the regulations, which they said were too strict for them to meet by July 7, 1973.

Also, J. T. Woodson of the Texas Farm Bureau said his group "will oppose any legislation or regulation which arbitrarily defines agricultural wastes as ecological contaminants."

Legislation that would have branded agricultural wastes as contaminants failed to pass the house, he said, "because it was clearly obvious that the bill was inspired by the mass hysteria of instant ecologists and environmentalists rather than by a body of scientific fact."

Yantis said the staff recommended another drafting of the regulations, with the assistance of informal consultations with board members. He said an amended version should be ready by the board's meeting in April.

Last Moon Landing Mission Set Dec. 6

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 17, the nation's last planned moon landing mission, will blast off during the nighttime hours of Dec. 6, bound for a moon valley thought to be filed with volcanic ash, the space agency announced Wednesday.

The moon flight will be the first U. S. manned mission launched at night. Liftoff time is set for about 9:38 p.m. EST.

The space agency said the landing target for the flight is a mountain valley in the center of the northeast quarter of the moon. The site is called Taurus-Littrow. The Taurus Mountains and the crater Littrow are just north of the landing spot.

Officials call the landing area the "keystone site" for the Apollo program because it is expected to fill in major gaps in theories developed from the earlier moon landings.

The site combines several types of terrain. There are mountains, a spectacular rock slide, a dark material which appears to be volcanic ash and nearby cinder cones. Scientist believe that if there was in fact volcanos in the area there may be rocks at the site from deep within the moon.

Veteran astronaut Eugene Cernan commands Apollo 17. His crewmates include scientist-astronaut Harrison Schmitt, the first academically-trained geologist to go to the moon. The third crewman is Ronald E. Evans, a space rookie.

Cernan and Schmitt will land on the moon while Evans remains in lunar orbit.

Apollo 17, the last of the planned moon missions and probably the last American moon landing in this decade, will include six new surface experiments and three new experiments which will be operated in orbit.

Three of the new experiments will provide data which should prove or disprove the existance of water beneath the moon's surface. Recent discoveries from earlier missions have raised the possibility that the moon, previously thought to be dry, may have underground pools of water or ice.

Apollo 17 will last about 12 days. Schmitt and Cernan will spend about three days on the moon's surface.

Fire Destroys Gas Truck

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP) — Fire destroyed a truck loaded with two tanks of bottled gas and forced four families to flee their homes in this east Texas village Wednesday night.

Fearing an explosion, officers ordered the evacuation after the flames broke out in the vehicle, owned by the Mount Enterprise Automatic Gas Co. They said it contained enough fuel that a blast would have flattened the four dwellings, a cafe and a gas station nearby.

There was no explosion and firemen stood by until the fire burned out nearly five hours later.

Mount Enterprise is 15 miles south of Nacogdoches.

Fire chief D. T. Lowdermilk from neighboring Henderson said the cause of the fire had not been determined.

Andrews Woman Is Found Dead

ANDREWS, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Roy E. West Jr., 23, was found stabbed to death Wednesday afternoon at her home.

Her husband, also stabbed several times, is reported in good condition at Permian General Hospital in Odessa.

Fogg Pumpman Tells Of Leaks

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A pumpman who left the tanker V. A. Fogg shortly before its final voyage says he repaired various leaky pipes aboard the vessel.

Charles Floyd Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla., who left the Fogg Jan. 30 in Freeport, told a U. S. Coast Guard board of inquiry of repairing leaks from wing tanks into the coffer-dam area in both the forward and aft sections of the vessel.

He told the board Wednesday that in the after pumproom the seals on some pumps were leaking and at one time put eight inches of a chemical into pumproom bilges.

The Coast Guard Board is investigating the sinking of the Fogg whose wreckage has been discovered on the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico about 50 miles southeast of Galveston. Divers said they discovered evidence of a tremendous explosion.

The Fogg, with 39 men aboard, left Freeport Feb. 1 on a short voyage to Galveston. The ship was to have gone out into the Gulf to clean her tanks of benzene residue before going to Galveston. She was still carrying 19,000 gallons of explosive xylene.

The inquiry board also heard testimony Wednesday about the location of a smoke cloud in the Gulf.

Lt. Cmdr. Kenneth R. Gard, a Coast Guard pilot from the Corpus Christi Air Station, told of receiving a report from Roger C. Zweig, a space agency pilot, about a large smoke cloud off Galveston Island.

Gard said the cloud was located shortly before dark Feb. 1. He said it was approximately a quarter of a mile wide and covered an area some 15 miles long.

He said the pilot reported the smoke cloud was almost on the surface of the water in some places but mostly was between 300 and 1,800 feet.

Gard said he searched a 20 by 35 mile area around the smoke area at altitudes of 300 and 500 feet Feb. 1 but saw no vessel in distress or spotted any debris.

He told of seeing three or four tankers in the area and several smaller ones but it was dark by this time and they could not be identified.

Louisiana In Race For Superport

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov.-Elect Edwin Edwards has committed his state to a race with Texas to obtain a deep water superport and has named a man he defeated in last fall's first Democratic primary to head the task force.

Gillis Long of Alexandria, who ran third in the primary, heads a 31-man task force of men of offshore industry, finance, shipping, labor and various state ports.

Edwards said Wednesday financing will be one of the minor problems of the project.

"The U.S. Maritime Commission projected if you spend $300 million for constructing the port it will pay for itself in transportation savings within two years," said the governor-elect. "Very candidly, financing will be a small part of the problem."

He stressed that Louisiana congressmen are 100 per cent behind the project and "we will use very political muscle we have in Washington to get the proper permits and authority and funds for studies—which we have already applied for."

Panel Eyes Juke Box Industry

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The House General Investigating Committee is looking into the juke box industry and may ask its senate counterpart to join in.

"It would be on the basis that both the house and senate are interested in the whole subject matter of it—whether we need some news laws or whether the (vending) commission itself needs some investigation or some of the appointees," chairman Menton Murray of Harlingen said Wednesday.

The 1969 legislature failed to enact tough laws on vending despite recommendations of a previous investigating committee.

The 1971 legislature established the Texas Vending Commission, and Gov. Preston Smith named Dallas juke box king Raymond Williams as chairman.

Murray said his committee would issue a report on the vending industry if Smith opens a special session to a revision of the vending commission law.

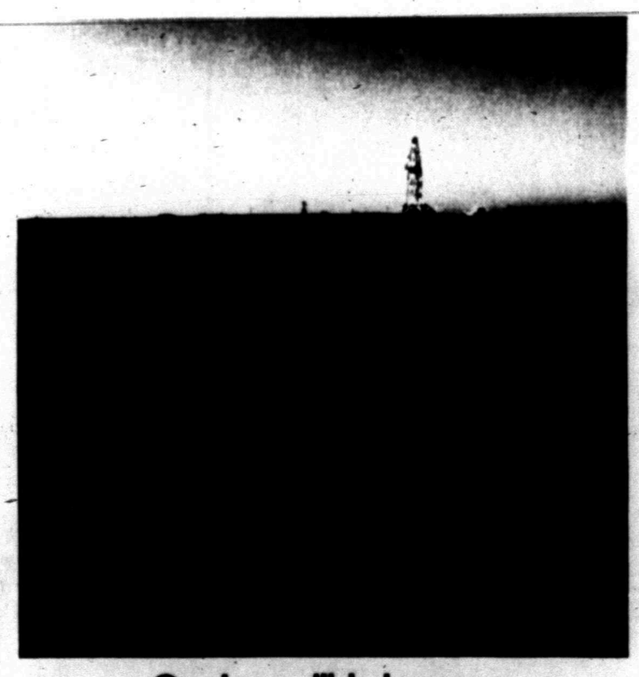

Murray also said the committee would report on how two controversial banking bills linked to the Texas stock fraud scandal got through the legislature in 1969.

The committee is trying to decide, he said, whether to probe the passage in 1971 of three bills pushed by the personal lobbyist of Galveston millionaire Shearn Moody Jr.

Our incredible journey
5½ miles beneath the surface of the earth.

We're going deep, deep, deep into the earth.

28,000 feet beneath the surface.

We're drilling a 5½-mile-deep well at the Anadarko Basin in Oklahoma. We are pioneers in drilling for gas at this great depth.

This well is just part of our continuing search for natural gas. We're continuing our search even though we already have an adequate supply to meet our customers' needs. We know we have a responsibility to look after the needs of the next generation.

What does this mean to you?

It means you'll have adequate gas energy for all your needs. It means we'll be able to operate at peak efficiencies and keep your gas service reasonable. And we'll be able to support the growth of our service area. This will mean more jobs and more money. And a better life for all of us.

You might say we're going to great depths to stretch your dollar.
