Blanco Feed Yard Is Under Construction

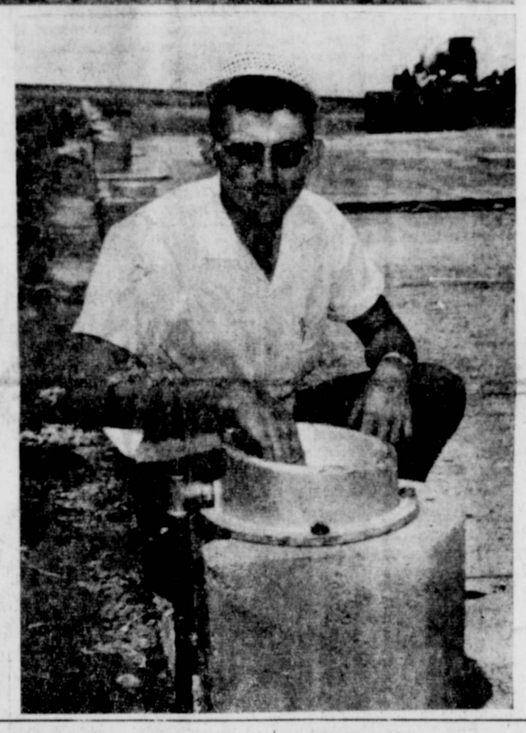

The new Blanco Feed Yards four miles west of Floydada are now under construction and shooting for a completion date in September. Troy McNeill is manager of the Blanco plant and the farm. Richard Patterson and Kelton Shaw of Patterson Grain Co. of Lockney are the owners. The Blanco operation's first building project is 16 lots, each of which will handle 75 to 100 head of cattle.

The pens contain 4,900 square feet each and are on filled sloping land with concrete floors. The fencing for pens is steel pipe with steel rods, other working pens are of green oak with creosote posts.

Watering of the cattle will be taken care of by some 50 automatic all-weather fountains that are temperature controlled by a circulating water system. The plant will have a roller mill and mixing plant with storage space and automatic feeders that can be filled about twice a week.

McNeill says plans are to stock the plant with feeder steers and heifers or both as soon as it is completed. Feed will be mainly milo, cotton seed hulls and meal and other supplements.

The picture above shows a crew working on the piping for the water system while the lower shot is that of McNeill examining one of the automatic watering fountains.

Farm Bureau Is Promoting Safety Week

President Kennedy and Gov. Price Daniel recently designated the week of July 22-28 as Farm Safety Week on national and state levels and the Floyd County Farm Bureau is cooperating with the Texas Farm Bureau's Farm Safety Department in its effort to promote the program all across the state.

The purpose is to call attention to worthwhile safety practices that can reduce disabling injuries and death. Farm accidents are responsible for needless suffering and incapacity, and greatly affect the economic well being and progress of our agricultural population in our county, state and nation, according to farm officials.

A vigorous farm accident-prevention education program will be conducted during the week by the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Floyd County Farm Bureau with the theme, "Family Safety - At Work and Play".

County Farm Bureau president Lee Burton said a different phase of safety would be emphasized each day during the week: Sunday - reverence for life; Monday - safety begins at home; Tuesday - agricultural chemicals; Wednesday, prevent falls; Thursday - rural highway safety; Friday - farm machinery; Saturday - recreation safety.

Stolen Vehicles Found Abandon'd

The 1961 pick-up belonging to J. P. Moss on the Ralls highway and a 1960 model passenger car belonging to Roy Hodges, local barber, were found abandoned Thursday morning after thieves had taken the vehicles from their parking places the night before.

Moss' vehicle was located on Ross Street in Floydada and the Hodge car was found abandoned at Petersburg. No damage was found to the pick-up but the passenger car had a broken fan belt and other minor damages according to Hollums.

The sheriff said they had no leads as to who took the vehicles.

Prospects for a sugar beet acreage for Floyd County and the irrigated plains region took a big jump this week. New hopes were pinned to the proposal of a new sugar beet mill at Hereford.

According to announcements in the daily press Hereford has a commitment from Holly Sugar Corporation to build a 20 million dollar plant there. The plan needs only approval for acreage allotments for the area and then is expected to get the go ahead signal.

News from the proposed plant were to the effect that the refinery would have a capacity of some 1,300,000 one hundred pound bags of refined sugar annually. It would employ some 300 persons and operate on a 24 hour per day schedule.

About 40,000 acres of sugar beets would be needed to produce the 65,000 ton quota. It is expected that this will be forthcoming under the acreage increase to new growers that is building up.

The Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association has been working toward increased acreage in west Texas for some time. A sugar mill was considered a must before real progress could be made.

The Floyd County Sugar Beet Association has been assisting the state organization in the fight for acreage and has put much time and money into the effort.

Floyd County being located on the edge of the irrigation belt and having joined the fight at a later date than Hereford, held little hope of gaining the mill site, but does stand to benefit when the acreage allotments are released.

Richard F. Stovall, president of the Floyd County Sugar Beet Association, said this week he believes that Floyd County will be able to secure two rail heads for shipping raw beets to the Hereford plant. He also states that it is likely that the county may be able to get about all the beet acreage it wants or up to about 5,000 acres, if the proposed plan goes through.

It is not known exactly how many county farmers are interested in growing beets as they require heavy irrigation and a considerable amount of hand labor.

Present prices are $14 per ton on 14 percent content beets and $15 per ton on beets of 15 percent sugar content. Hereford growers have been getting the 15 per cent variety and 23 ton per acre yields are not uncommon.

A big cattle feeding program usually goes along with beet production as the pulp makes fine feed and the tops are usually pastured after harvesting.

Barring hitches in the plan a 1965 completion date for the sugar mill is possible and in that event 1965 would be the first crop year for beets in this area.

Mrs. Bob Smith Visits Floydada

Clean-Up Drive Is Making Progress

The entire negro section of Floydada has gone all out in the clean-up drive which got underway here Monday. The group organized in that community and each had his own job to do in making their portion of the city cleaner. The results were showing up good Tuesday in a survey in that part of town.

The drive is to continue through Saturday and citizens are still being urged to have empty lots mowed and cleaned off in order not only to beautify the city but also to arrest breeding places for mosquitoes and other infectious insects.

Floydada Chamber of Commerce clean-up committee said the Negro section had been invited to participate in the program and that they had cooperated whole heartedly.

A survey of women of the local Garden Club has been made and they report most city dwellers and business men as well have brightened up their premises by removing unneeded articles in and around their buildings.

The truck committee will be busy Friday (tomorrow) picking up trash and junk from the alleys. They will be volunteer workers headed by T. R. Thedford, Claude Weathersbee, Clem McDonaid and Wayne Bennett.

Smithermans Are New Owners Of Fieldan Motel

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Smitherman of South Plains are new owners and operators of the Fieldan Motel in Floydada. They have been busy moving into living quarters at the motel this week and getting squared away in their new surroundings.

The motel plant was purchased from Menard Field who built the modern lay out only some two years ago.

The Smithermans are retiring from active farm life having been prominent in community and county affairs at South Plains for a number of years.

Fieldan Motel has been a popular stopping place for vacationers, and traveling sales people passing through Floydada since it was opened here by Field. The new owners plan no changes in the fine service to which its customers have become accustomed.

Giants Win Freshman League Championship

The Dougherty Grain Company Giants of the Freshman league won the championship this week by virtue of their victory over the Dodgers coupled with a loss by the Cardinals to the Red Sox.

With a single game remaining on the Giant schedule they are definitely in as champs and win the right to enter the district tournament starting Thursday, July 26.

Action in all three leagues of boys baseball has entered the final week of regular play. After champions have been named there will probably be some play-off activity and possibly some all-star contests as well before the suits are put away for another season.

In the Junior League remaining games will match VFW with First National tonight (July 19). On Friday Motley Caprock tangles with Motley Eagles. Monday night it will be Motley Eagles against VFW and these two league leaders also have a suspended game to finish. Football Ticket Options Must Be Exercised Before Aug. 1

Word this week from Charles Tyer, principal of Floydada High School, was to the effect that holders of football reserved seat tickets to the stadium at Wester Field must exercise options before August 1.

On August first all unsold reserved seats and parking stalls will be sold on a first come first served basis to the general public.

Reserved seat ducats are the same price as in past years, $3.75, for the five home game schedule. Parking stalls along the fence inside the field have not been changed and the price is $5.00 for the season. Option holders who want to make sure of their seats or stalls may send checks along with name and seat numbers to Charles Tyer at the high school.

Fans who desire reserved tickets and have not had them in the past may contact Tyer for the exact manner in which unclaimed ducats will be marketed.

The above mentioned tickets are for seat or inside parking stall only and do not admit fans at the gate. Admission prices set for district 2AA team games this fall are $1.25 for adults and 50c for students, payable at the gate at each game.

THANKS TO VEGETABLE MEN

Floyd County vegetable farmers deserve a pat on the back from Floydada business men who have found more than the usual number of field hands visiting their stores of late. The county's small acreage of onions, potatoes and other vegetables along with the cotton chopping have brought many added families to our town to live and to trade.

Onions and other vegetables have not been a sure money crop for growers here, though they usually produce well and the quality of the product is fine. Marketing has been the big problem and some times the farmer is left holding the bag.

These men have been modern pioneers who are trying to find ways and means to make Floyd County's irrigated land pay off with crops other than cotton, milo and wheat that seem to be facing stiffer acreage restrictions each year.

The "old stand by crops" are good and of course no one is suggesting that they be replaced, but no one wants to see $400 per acre land have to lay idle following an acreage cut.

Modern Farming Equipment has been a necessity for area farmers who have faced increased production costs without getting increased prices for their products. This same modern equipment has however made it possible to farm more land with less help and this in turn reduces the number of people gaining a livelihood from farming.

The vegetable crops do not lend themselves to the big tractor so well and when hand labor is required then there is a big population jump on the farm.

California with fewer productive acres employs many times the number of farm laborers as does west Texas. Maybe Floyd County's pioneer vegetable farmers of today will find the answer to selling their new crop and they along with the local business man will find the prosperity that has smiled on some sections of our country.

Hard To Own A Home Here?

Most of us who have lived in Floydada for a number of years like it here and would not think of looking elsewhere for a place to make our home. We think that Floydada is the ideal spot and in no other town would we be as happy as in Floydada. If this were not the case then we would have moved on to another location.

There are a few things that are brought to our attention repeatedly, however, and many of our new citizens say that Floydada is sadly lacking in these weak spots. One of the items mentioned most often is lack of the type housing projects that are offered in most cities and in many area towns.

Young family men who want to own homes can, in many of these towns, move into a new home with little or no down payment. They get a house that is complete with sidewalk, paving, and sometimes with landscaping. They get long term financing on the package deal and find they are still able to furnish the new home and don't have to cut too many corners.

What seems to bother the new home seeker in Floydada is the fact that there are few finished houses to select from.

He learns that he must find his own lot on which to build. If he locates a building site then he is faced with purchasing this on a separate deal and many times can not get sufficient financing to cover both the lot and the house.

If he does not give up too easily he may get by these two obstacles and eventually move into his new home . . . . then comes a paving project and another note to pay.

New homes would be in easy reach of many more of our young families if a housing development could be worked out where all of these items were taken care of before the contract was signed and the home buyer came out with one monthly payment instead of three or four. The latter set-up seemingly scares most home makers out of the idea of building or scares them on to another town.

We said before we liked it here . . . perhaps it is worth paying a bonus to live in Floydada.

Stock Market . . .

To those who have been following the recent decline of the stock market, it would seem that stocks have been dropping for as long as they can remember.

Every person who has ever looked at a financial page has an explanation for the recent decline. The explanations range from the fear of a complete Kennedy take-over of government to the simple explanation that the stocks were greatly over - priced before the decline began.

The questions naturally arise —why have billions of dollars been lost in the stock market, and who has suffered the severest blow?

Some professionals were certainly hurt, especially in the funds which were capitalizing on the unusual growth which some stocks had achieved. Their record will be poorer than most of the stock individually, as many of the leading growth stocks which have been priced out of proportion to their earnings and dividends suffered most in the recent decline.

In the main part, however, the small investor will be the one who will suffer the most. If this investor can hold on to his stock and weather the hard times, he, like the professional, may not be hurt too badly. Those who bought on margin, whether small or large, will of course suffer more than any other group of investors.

The key for any investor going into the stock market is flexibility of funds. If there is a chance that the funds will have to be used at a given time for any purpose, it is desirable not to put them in stocks. On the other hand, if the funds can be left at the will of the buyer, stocks still offer a very excellent way to participate in American business.

Safety Belts Coming . . .

The latest automobile production figures indicate that the use of safety belts in automobiles are steadily increasing. It has been a long fight — to get the public to accept them, and already three states have passed laws requiring them in new automobiles, now or in the near future.

The three states which have acted are New York, Virginia and Wisconsin. There are signs other states will take similar action in the near future.

Safety belts, of course, keep people from flying forward into the glass or into harsh metal, when they are involved in automobile collisions. It keeps them in their seat, and tests have proved that this will often save lives.

Even better than safety belts are shoulder straps but putting this over with the public would be a more difficult task than selling the safety belt idea.

If one will not use shoulder straps, then certainly safety belts are the answer. If everyone riding in an automobile were using safety belts today, it is estimated that as many as twenty-five lives a week would be saved in the United States. And many more serious injuries would be avoided daily.

Syria Wants Back . . .

The Middle East, a land of mystery and intrigue to many westerners, has produced another strange turn. Syria, which only recently broke the yoke of the United Arab Republic, which it had joined and thus placed itself under President Gamal Nasser, now says it wants to join Egypt again.

This would indicate to the student of affairs in the area that President Nasser's reforms and decrees were not as unpopular as we have been led to believe.

And recently a near-revolt occurred in Syria, the sentiment behind it being largely pro - Nasser. Now the Syrian Premier announces Syria wants to join in a "confederation" with Egypt — retaining a large measure of independence.

Thus the Nasser tide of sentiment still runs strong through the Middle East. There is little doubt that the reforms he has brought about in Egypt appeal to many of his countrymen, as much as some Americans hate to admit it. And it must also be admitted that the regime he replaced was a corrupt one.

National Farm Safety Week July 22-28

The theme for the 19th annual National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28, is "Family Safety at Work and Play" and major emphasis is being placed upon highway and farm machinery safety.

According to the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, motor vehicle accidents account for almost half of the fatal, but only one fifth of the non-fatal injuries to farm people in the United States each year. In 1960, 11,300 farm residents died from accidents and 950,000 suffered disabling injuries. Of the total fatalities, 5,100 resulted from traffic, and 3,300 from work accidents.

The Council points out that studies of accident reports show that over 90 percent of all accidents involve some human failure — improper attitudes, carelessness, lack of attention to rules and regulations and many others.

Accidents are the leading killers of young people from ages 1 to 36 and rank fourth in total deaths. From 1950 to 1960, nearly a million persons died in accidents, 95 million suffered disabling injuries, and 3.5 million were permanently handicapped.

Saftey is no accident and the accomplishments of rural leaders and cooperating farm families and organizations in their work to reduce accidents was cited by the Council. During the past decade, an 11 percent decrease in the farm resident death rate has resulted from this cooperative effort. But we still have a long way to go to give farming and ranching a safety record equal to other national industries. Every rural resident needs to make safety his business.

Senior 4-H Camp

The 4-H camp for high school age members will be held next Thursday and Friday at Roaring Springs. 4-H members who plan to go should let their organization leader know by next Monday, July 23. Home Demonstration Council

The regular meeting of the Home Demonstration Council will be held this Friday at 2 p. m. in the council room. After the council meeting, the THDA election of delegates to the state meeting will be held. The State THDA meeting is scheduled for Dallas, September 19 and 20.

FOUNDATION CONDUCTS RESEARCH ON SUNFLOWERS

HALFWAY, Texas, July 11, 1962 — Farmers throughout West Texas may be growing sunflowers as a cash crop in the near future, if scientists at the High Plains Research Foundation are successful in their attempt to breed improved varieties for commercial use.

The sunflower plant, which was being used by the Indians when the earliest European explorers discovered North America, offers considerable promise as a potential cash crop for West Texas. Of particular importance is the fact that it is a drought tolerant plant well adapted to our soil and climatic conditions. It can be grown with less water than most other crops such as corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, cotton and castorbeans.

Several hundred plant types from Russia, Canada, Chile, Columbia and South Africa are under study at the Foundation. Dr. Earl Collister, Chief Agronomist, and Barry Love, Assistant Agronomist and Paul Belcher, Technician, are conducting the plant breeding program. Superior plants are being self-pollinated for use in developing high yielding varieties adapted to complete mechanization. The goal of the breeding program is to develop varieties that can be harvested with a regular grain combine.

The sunflower seed could be marketed as an oilseed crop to oil mills, sold directly to feed mills, or consumed on the farm as feed for poultry and livestock. The whole seed is an excellent feed for poultry and livestock. It contains a higher percentage of total digestible nutrients, protein, and fat than many other feed crops, particularly corn, oats and wheat.

Sunflower seed contain approximately 30 percent oil or fat, which is classified as a very high quality semi-drying oil, and approximately 22 percent protein.

The oil is used in the manufacture of drugs, shortenings, salad dressings, oleomargarine, and liniments. The meal or flour from the sunflower seed is an excellent source of protein, minerals, and vitamins. It contains above 50 percent protein, is unusually rich in calcium, an excellent source of thiamine or vitamin B-1, and particularly outstanding in its supply of niacin. From the standpoint of nutritional value, sunflower meal would be a very desirable ingredient in human food products.

On commenting about the future of sunflowers as a crop for the future, Dr. Collister stated, "sunflowers could be an important cash crop for the farmers of West Texas, since it can be grown with less water than most crops." "With our declining water table throughout the High Plains or West Texas, crops of this type will be essential in our farming program in the future."

4-H CLAIMS 23 MILLION ALUMNI, HONORS MANY

Awards Program In 10th Year

The 4-H Clubs of America can claim the largest alumni of any co-educational youth organization in the world.

Today's former 4-H members number nearly 23 million men and women, according to the Federal Extension Service. They can be found in virtually every rural community and in cities as well.

Within the next decade, an even larger number will reside in suburban towns and big cities because 4-H is rapidly extending into these areas as the farm population continues to shrink. The latest U. S. census reports the smallest farm population in history in proportion to the entire population. About one person in 12 resides on a farm.

Awards Given

The national 4-H Alumni Recognition program was launched just 10 years ago when 4-H grads numbered around 15 million. Its purpose is to inspire today's youth by citing men and women who credit 4-H with making a valuable contribution to the success and satisfaction they now enjoy.

Award sponsorship of this unique 4-H program was undertaken at its inception by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, Chemicals Division - Agricultural, of Little Rock, Ark. The Cooperative Extension Service supervises selection of award nominees.

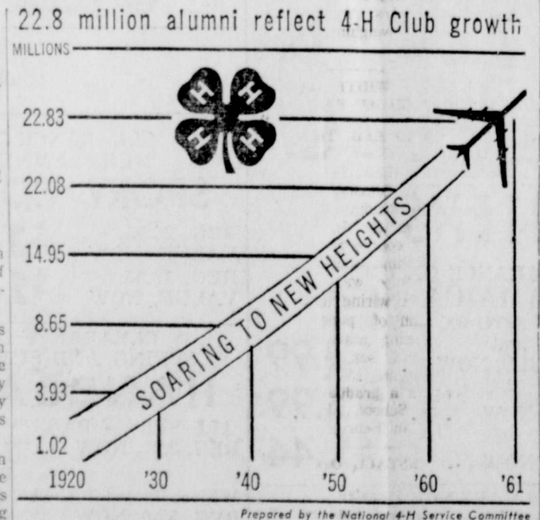

Since 1953, the national gold alumni key has been presented to 80 men and women from 35 states. Several thousand have gained county and state recognition and awards. They represent occupations or professions ranging from homemaker to astronaut.

Candidates may be nominated by anyone. Nomination forms can be obtained at the County Extension office. A judging committee then selects two individuals who best measure up to standards set for meriting county 4-H alumni certificates.

Plaque to Four

From all those receiving county recognition, as many as four can be chosen for the state award. The winners receive a handsome, engraved, burnished copper and walnut plaque.

Eight national award recipients are invited to Chicago to attend the National 4-H Club Congress as guests of Olin Mathieson. Each is presented with the 4-H alumni key during the annual alumni banquet attended by 500 national and state 4-H leaders, educators, business officials and other friends of 4-H.

Sunset School Class Reunion A Huge Success

Class members of the Old Sunset School, class of 1927-28 met at the South Plains School Sunday morning, July 15, for a class reunion, and everyone had such a good time, and the event was such a success that they have planned to make it a South Plains Reunion next year, on the 3rd Sunday in July, at the same place. Around 100 were there for the basket lunch, and some came for the morning services at the Baptist Church, even staying for the evening services. Some of the members came from as far away as Arkansas as Cap Wooten and his family did. It was a fine day for everyone, and special thanks go to Ed Hammond of Floydada who air-conditioned the building for the meeting, and made the day so pleasant. Water is the cheapest item in milk production, but is all too often a limiting factor because dairy cows don't get enough of the right kind, says Arch Meekma, extension dairy specialist. He adds that the average dairy cow in production will drink from 12 to 15 gallons daily but that some very high producting cows will consume up to 35 gallons or more. Don't make the cows walk too far for their water or they may not get it, he says.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Like to fish for "whites"?

Only a few short years ago the white bass (Lepibema chrysops or Roccus chrysops) was almost unknown to Texas anglers. But Mississippi River Valley fishermen had been familiar with this wonderful game fish for a long time.

In Texas, white bass apparently appeared first in Caddo Lake, then spread over the state.

Actually, these fish are direct descendants of the big saltwater striped bass. They adapted themselves to fresh-water condiditions and thrived. Now they are found from the Great Lakes to Mexico, from Alabama through Texas.

Up to 5 pounds is claimed as a world's record for a white. However, no "official" record ever has been made.

Whites are easy to recognize. They are a silvery color on back and sides, yellow white on the belly. Black stripes that are rather indistinct relieve the unbroken silver on each side.

Distinguishing marks are the medium long mouth set horizontally in a scaly, rather conical head. White bass fins are distinctly separated. A fairly high back along with a flat perch-like body give white bass even more distinction.

White bass like still, deep water with a sandy, gravelly bottom. Usually the species is found in medium and large lakes and streams — seldom in small streams or tank ponds.

During February and March (and sometimes as late as April and May) the white bass in Texas move upstream looking for likely spawning grounds in shallow flowing water. Lake whites seek shallow stream inlets, while river whites prefer the sand bars.

Eggs are laid among rocks or weeds in very shallow water.

No attempt is made to protect these eggs when once deposited, nor even to build a nest. The female dumps [illegible] apparently with no maternal feeling. When the job is done, she heads for deep water as fast as she can.

Females have been known to lay over half a million eggs at one time. Once hatched, the young remain in shallow water until strong, then migrate to deep water.

In Texas most white bass are found in big lakes such as Buchanan, Inks, Granite Shoals, Travis, Corpus Christi (Lake Mathis), Falcon (on the Mexican border) and of course Lake Caddo, their point of origin in Texas.

So common are white bass in most Texas lakes that it is not too far-fetched to claim that more than half of all game fish caught in the Lone Star State are of this species.

Schooling habits of the white bass, and the voracity with which it feeds, make for fantastic catches when the whites are running. Hundreds can be caught from one big school once it is located.

How do you locate a school of whites?

Most fishermen on the big lakes cruise about, watching for concentrations of feeding seagulls. Once such a flock is found, the fishermen hurry to that spot.

If bass are there the surface will be rippled where thousands upon thousands of gizzard shad are feeding. The white bass are just beneath, gobbling up the shad.

Often the bait is grabbed the instant the gold or silver spoon (such as a Dixie Jet), or an underwater spinning lure (like the Abu), starts flashing through the water.

Fishing then is fast and furious until the school moves on.

White bass may be found almost anywhere that food is plentiful.

On warm nights try fishing with small, live minnows. A Coleman lantern suspended over the water, from a boat or dock, will attract bugs. Fish are drawn to the area by the light and the bugs that fall into the water.

Small fish, crustaceans and insects form the major portion of the white bass diet. However, it doesn't take a biologist to inform Texas fishermen that this great game fish goes all out for gizzard shad.

White bass seldom live longer than four or five years. However, they grow fast. They reach a length of 12 inches, or longer, in two years from the date of hatching. Such fast growth, coupled with a short life span, makes for quick population turnovers.

However, they multiply so fast that strict bag limits are not necessary. So fish to your heart's content, for whites.

Kitchen And Field Report

from Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., by Nancy Morckel, Home Economist

National Farm Safety Week, July 22 - 28. "Your Safety is in Your Hands"

Sunday — Have Reverence For Life

Take Time to Take Care: — Banish fatigue and tension of routine living. Realize that haste makes waste. Plan to avoid an over-crowded schedule.

Monday — Home Safety:

Keep Your Farm in Order: — Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place. Eliminate hazards as you find them. Be a good housekeeper in your home and on your farm.

Tuesday — Livestock:

Be Open Minded to Safety Suggestions: — Keep small children away from animals and check [illegible] livestock equipment. Listen to safety lessons your children bring home from school: heed safety suggestions given at farm group meetings.

Wednesday — Falls:

Plan Ahead. Good planning reduces the temptation to hurry; means better production, and fewer accidents. Repair or discard broken, unsafe ladders. Place guards at hazardous places.

Thursday — Highway Traffic:

Be courteous on the Highway — A courteous driver believes in living and letting live. Know and obey all traffic laws, follow all safe driving practices. Remove shrubs and trees near farm entrances.

Friday — Machinery:

Don't depend on Luck: — Make sure your equipment is in safe operating condition — make sure all guards and safety devices are in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.

Saturday — Review Day:

Take Safety Seriously: — Check up on any farm and farm home hazards that might have been overlooked. Find and eliminate any unsafe conditions that may exist.

And Always Remember: "Your Safety is in Your Hands". The KITCHEN seems to be the spot where most accidents occur in the home. Here is a safety engineer's description of a kitchen:

"A potential fire hazard at all times of the day. Scene of more accidents than any other work unit. Equipment used here is highly dangerous and complicated. Its safe handling requires at least an elementary knowledge of the physical sciences and a working familiarity with the principles of mechanics, plus training in emergency medical procedure." Three main "paths" to safety in your kitchen according to safety experts are:

1. Know your kitchen and its equipment.

2. Train yourself and your children how to handle it (or not to handle it) to prevent accidents.

3. Learn the principles of first aid in case an accident should occur.

Take an inventroy of the equipment in your kitchen, remembering that the main causes of accidents are poisons, electrical appliances, and sharp instruments. Examine each one carefully, noting where and how they may be dangerous. Even the most innocent looking things, such as plant food, may be lethal.

When you know what's in your kitchen, you can begin to immunize yourself and your children from its hazards. The most effective "Vaccine" is PLACEMENT. Knives, scissors, ice picks, - all sharp instruments should be stored away, out of the reach of youngsters. Water and electricity are natural enemies; keep all electrical appliances away from the sink. Poisons should be locked up or placed on high shelves, not stored with or near foods, and never placed in discarded food containers.

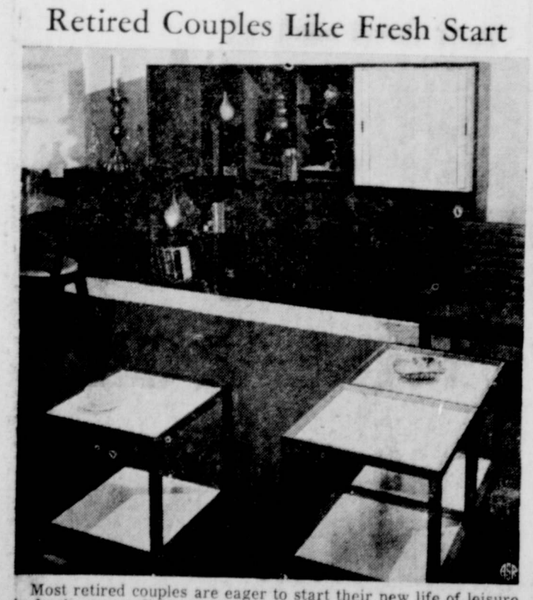

Before you use any electrical appliance, study the directions that come with it and follow them exactly. In cooking use the back unit and turn the pot handles toward the range where curious children can't get to them. Keep the range free of grease at all times.

And NEVER let a little child play alone in the kitchen. You never know what danger spot those busy hands may pick out to explore next.

It seems nowadays, a child's safety health is as important - if not more important than his physical health. Such great strides have been made in medical science that disease is no longer the menace it used to be. Instead accidents have superseded it as the major cause of child fatalities. As yet no "wonder drug" to cure accidents has been invented.

The best medicine is safety; the best place to administer it is in the modern-day kitchen. Just picture a little boy with a badly burned hand all because he was curious and grabbed hold of the hot saucepan on the stove. There's nothing to be done about a little boy's curiosity, but always remember you can do something about the saucepan on the range, (just place it on the back unit with the handle turned in, out of his reach).

Retired Couples Like Fresh Start

Most retired couples are eager to start their new life of leisure in fresh surroundings, perhaps in a smaller house in the country, or a centrally located apartment. Taking their cue from the young homemakers, they select home furnishings which checkmate housekeeping drudgery by practically wiping clean with a damp cloth.

Color has special meaning in the home of a retired couple. A light colored easy-to-care-for vinyl plastic flooring, or carpet of man-made fibers, makes furniture stand out distinctly. Bright vinyl wallcoverings in fabric textures, or handscreened prints, are newly practical because they are scrubbable, scuff and grease resistant.

The exquisite colors and look of quality materials are captured by upholstery vinyls, too. Immune to spills, they thrive on soap and water. Favorite chairs are high, and have straight backs for easy rising. Table tops of marproof and stain resistant melamine plastic laminate, preferably in white, and in small sizes, are easy to see without glasses, and easy to move.

Beds must be easy to make, because they often double as lounges during the day. Urethane foam plastic mattresses are as firm or soft as the individual desires, and light enough to be turned over without strain.

Broadway News

By Mrs. T. E. Thornhill

BROADWAY, July 16 — Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Spence of Floydada were Wednesday afternoon callers in the community.

Mrs. A. D. Whalen was a caller of Mrs. T. E. Thornhill Tuesday afternoon late. We sent green beans and pepper home with her out of the garden.

Brian Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy R. Webster has been in the Crosbyton hospital for several days, and Sunday he was still a very sick boy. We hope he will soon be much improved.

Many from our community have visited both Brian and R. E. Smith in the hospital. Mr. Smith underwent surgery Sunday morning. We hope he improves very rapidly.

Mrs. D. D. Thornhill drove over and her grandson Gary Thornhill who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wooten and Mike over there for the past week came home with her.

More spotted showers fell over parts of the community last week. Most farmers would like to see a good general rain. No one wishes for those big nice weeds to have to wilt. After all when the weeds get to looking bad the crop also will. However, so far most every where the crops look very pretty.

Miss Ruth Woods came up from Houston the last of the week. Her mother, Mrs. Shadie Woods who has been visiting relatives here the past three weeks returned home with her. They left for home early Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gray of Bellville and friends, were Sunday over-night visitors with the Kelton Winegars. Others visiting until bed time were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thornhill and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winegar.

Tommy Thornhill and Wayne Justice accompanied Robert Winegar to Lake Thomas over the weekend. They were met there by Larry Cox and two other friends. They reported a wonderful time and oh how tired they were, when they returned home.

We didn't learn the names of all the girls who attended Camp at the Baptist encampment last week. Also several of the ladies accompanied the girls.

Not only is everyone who can walk busy as bees, it seems the telephones will only ring a few of the folks.

Due to many unforeseen conflicts our July Club meeting was called off. We will not have another meeting until September, as we always call August our vacation month. Will try to remember to remind everyone in time for the September meeting.

Preston Givens seems to be doing fairly well with the injured leg, altho he is to keep that leg elevated for two more weeks.

Visitors last Wednesday in the Cecil Berry home were Edrie Sikes of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mitchell and sons, Haydin and Mason, of Plano, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Berry and children, Bill, Beckie and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Cypert all of Meadoo, Mrs. Lois Ratheal and little granddaughter Michell Powell of Crosbyton, Joy and Mellissa Bond, Lois, Edrie, Mrs. Maxine Mitchell and Mrs. Weldon Cypert are all sisters of Mrs. Berrys.

Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bassinger and sons Mike and Richard of Albuquerque, N. M. Incidently Mrs. Bassinger is also a sister of Mrs. Berrys; Lois Ratheal, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Berry, Patty and Johnny all of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Berry and Jamie Lou of Lubbock, Van Cypert of Lorenzo, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gregory and the Donnie Berrys of McAdoo, also Glenn Berry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tribble accompanied their daughter, Mrs. Joe Fisher and family of Lubbock, to Dallas early this month where they visited relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Lutrick and Mrs. J. M. Willson left Tuesday noon for a Leadership Camp at Mount Sequoyia in Fayetteville, Ark. They plan to return home sometime Friday night. The two couples are making the trip by car.

Too Hot To Eat? Try These Tips

When temperatures climb into the 90's and when the very air you breathe feels like a blanket of soggy cotton -- then is the time to keep a weather eye on family diet habits. The warning comes from Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, author of several books on nutrition and president and director of a major scientific research foundation.

"Most people tend to eat less in hot weather," Dr. Goodhart points out. "They forget that, whatever the weather, the body is still working full time and it still needs a consistent fuel supply." He gave these hot weather diet tips in a recent interview:

1. Are hot foods more nutritious than cold? . . . By no means. Such things as vegetable and fruit salads, cold meats, enriched bread -- all provide important amounts of essential nutrients.

2. When "it's too hot to eat," why not just have a snack and let it go at that? . . . This is all right, but only provided that the snacks you eat during the day add up to a well balanced diet. It is safer to stay on a regular meal schedule; if you don't, your "heat" exhaustion may be aggravated by insufficient nutritious fuel to keep you going.

3. Will plenty of fresh air and sunlight provide all the vitamins you need? . . . Not a chance. The only vitamin your body absorbs from sunlight is Vitamin D. You still need your full daily requirement of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

4. What's the best time of day to have one's biggest meal? . . . Probably evening, when the outside temperatures are lower. Don't forget that eating itself generates some body heat. Large meals might well be avoided. Divide the day's food into 3 to 4 equal, relatively light meals.

5. Any other safeguards for a healthy summer diet? . . . Don't forget that increased exercise and increased perspiration deplete your salt supply; get enough salt, generally this can be assured by the liberal use of the shaker at meal time.

If common sense tells you you're short-changing yourself on good, nutritious food in sufficient quantities, a supplementary vitamin preparation can increase your supply of these essential nutrients.

Finally, adds Dr. Goodhart, sensible hot weather diets and eating habits will contribute to the whole family's enjoyment of the good old summertime -- at the same time they literally "take the heat off" the cook!

Boyce House Says I Give You Texas

September 21, 1961

He was tall and handsome, with features like those of a Roman senator — a toga would have been perfectly appropriate for him. He had an impressive manner, a deliberate form of utterance, his sentences were long, his diction elevated.

The first time I heard him speak he was governor and the occasion was the laying of the cornerstone of Texas Tech. His rhetoric was worthy of Cicero. The next time, he spoke in the open air at the summer commencement at T C U , sometime after his second term as governor. Still another speech I recall was at the State Democratic convention in Austin in the 1940's. He was then close to 70. His form was as straight, his voice as clear and his command of language as great as ever. He spoke for half an hour, making what was easily the best address of the convention.

Afterwards, reporters asked for a copy of his speech. He replied that there was none and pointed to a small card on which there were a few notes.

Death some time ago claimed a long-time friend of mine — Clyde Garrett, who served as Eastland city manager, as county judge and as Congressman.

When he was making his first race for Congress, he called at my office in Fort Worth where I was publicity director of the original Casa Manana. Vice President Garner was to attend the show that night and Judge Garrett hoped that I could arrange for him to meet the vice president but Garrett's opponent was then a Congressman and the official in charge of the tour bawled me out for making such a suggestion. (It so happened too that the incumbent had named a relative of his as a postmaster.)

His violent reaction so antagonized me — plus the desire to try to help my friend — that I arranged for a Photo of Judge Garrett being pushed in one of the picturesque little sight seeing cars by another county judge; also the suggestion was made that, when the vice president entered the gate, Judge Garrett be in the crowd and join in the applause. The next day the papers carried the picture and said that Judge Garrett was on hand.

Among those whom I have interviewed as a newspaperman were Will Rogers, Vice President John N. Garner, Alf Landon, Speaker Sam Rayburn, William Jennings Bryan, Gypsy Smith and Bert Swor.

Also Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Raymond Hitchcock and Tris Speaker.

Rogers was interviewed between planes at the Fort Worth airport — so was John N. Garner.

Actually I couldn't think of anything to ask Mr. Garner and there being quite a crowd, I suggested he make a speech, which he did and that was my "interview."

Landon also was interviewed at Meacham Field; he had just been to Brazil. The Rayburn interview was at his Bonham home immediately after his return from Washington about 1933; Bryan, on the platform right after he had made a speech; Gypsy Smith, on his arrival to make an address in Memphis during World War I.

Bert Swor, one of the greatest comedians of minstrel show days, visited Ranger when I was the editor; Willard was interviewed in Fort Worth, many years after he has been world's champion; Dempsey in Dallas in 1956; Raymond Hitchcock, star comedian, when he brought his big musical show to Eastland in the 1920's; Tris Speaker when the Baseball Hall-of-Famer was an honored guest at the Fort Worth Casa Manana.

DEFENDS HER HOME

Policemen had entered her home searching for evidence in the arrest of her father without proper authority.

The judge dismissed assault and battery charges in finding the policemen were on her property illegally.

Margaret Collier, Floyd County clerk, returned from Amarillo this week where she visited relatives during her vacation period.

WELL FRED DOGS

Pittsburgh — The late Mrs. Florence D. Arenberg made provisions in her will establishing a trust fund of $6,000 to provide care for her two pet dogs.

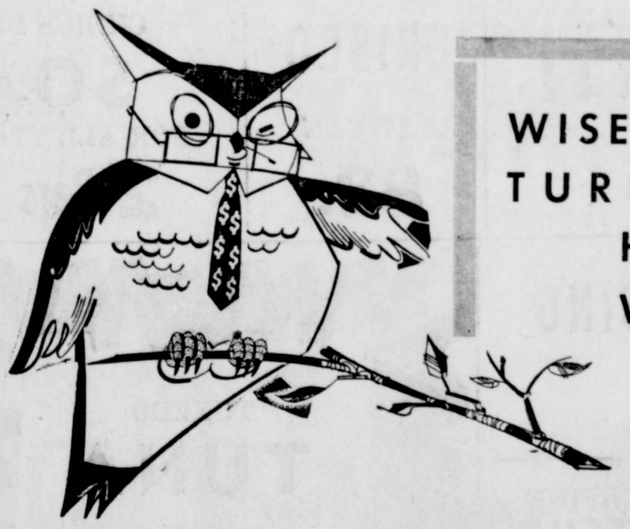

Mrs. Arenberg also directed that a daily diet of "100 per cent beef chunks" be fed to her two dogs each day.

Barbequed turkey meat is excitingly new and tasty, and when cooked right it all but melts in your mouth, says F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. Because supplies of turkeys are plentiful, he suggests their use for the next family or community picnic.

Mrs. Fred Reeves, Mrs. Harry Reeves and Mrs. Roy Kinard were in Lubbock Tuesday night to attend a bridal shower honoring a niece of Mrs. Fred Reeves, Maxine Woolsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Woolsey.

Vicki Reeves is in Fort Worth this week visiting Malissa Spann, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Spann, former residents of Floydada. Malissa was here last week, guest in the Harry Reeves home.

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

Like to fish for "whites"?

Only a few short years ago the white bass (Lepibema chrysops or Roccus chrysops) was almost unknown to Texas anglers. But Mississippi River Valley fishermen had been familiar with this wonderful game fish for a long time.

In Texas, white bass apparently appeared first in Caddo Lake, then spread over the state.

Actually, these fish are direct descendants of the big saltwater striped bass. They adapted themselves to fresh-water condiditions and thrived. Now they are found from the Great Lakes to Mexico, from Alabama through Texas.

Up to 5 pounds is claimed as a world's record for a white. However, no "official" record ever has been made.

Whites are easy to recognize. They are a silvery color on back and sides, yellow white on the belly. Black stripes that are rather indistinct relieve the unbroken silver on each side.

Distinguishing marks are the medium long mouth set horizontally in a scaly, rather conical head. White bass fins are distinctly separated. A fairly high back along with a flat perch-like body give white bass even more distinction.

White bass like still, deep water with a sandy, gravelly bottom. Usually the species is found in medium and large lakes and streams — seldom in small streams or tank ponds.

During February and March (and sometimes as late as April and May) the white bass in Texas move upstream looking for likely spawning grounds in shallow flowing water. Lake whites seek shallow stream inlets, while river whites prefer the sand bars.

Eggs are laid among rocks or weeds in very shallow water.

No attempt is made to protect these eggs when once deposited, nor even to build a nest. The female dumps all eggs apparently with no maternal feeling. When the job is done, she heads for deep water as fast as she can.

Females have been known to lay over half a million eggs at one time. Once hatched, the young remain in shallow water until strong, then migrate to deep water.

In Texas most white bass are found in big lakes such as Buchanan, Inks, Granite Shoals, Travis, Corpus Christi (Lake Mathis), Falcon (on the Mexican border) and of course Lake Caddo, their point of origin in Texas.

So common are white bass in most Texas lakes that it is not too far-fetched to claim that more than half of all game fish caught in the Lone Star State are of this species.

Schooling habits of the white bass, and the voracity with which it feeds, make for fantastic catches when the whites are running. Hundreds can be caught from one big school once it is located.

How do you locate a school of whites?

Most fishermen on the big lakes cruise about, watching for concentrations of feeding seagulls. Once such a flock is found, the fishermen hurry to that spot.

If bass are there the surface will be rippled where thousands upon thousands of gizzard shad are feeding. The white bass are just beneath, gobbling up the shad.

Often the bait is grabbed the instant the gold or silver spoon (such as a Dixie Jet), or an underwater spinning lure (like the Abu), starts flashing through the water.

Fishing then is fast and furious until the school moves on.

White bass may be found almost anywhere that food is plentiful.

On warm nights try fishing with small, live minnows. A Coleman lantern suspended over the water, from a boat or dock, will attract bugs. Fish are drawn to the area by the light and the bugs that fall into the water.

Small fish, crustaceans and insects form the major portion of the white bass diet. However, it doesn't take a biologist to inform Texas fishermen that this great game fish goes all out for gizzard shad.

White bass seldom live longer than four or five years. However, they grow fast. They reach a length of 12 inches, or longer, in two years from the date of hatching. Such fast growth, coupled with a short life span, makes for quick population turnovers.

However, they multiply so fast that strict bag limits are not necessary. So fish to your heart's content, for whites.

National Farm Safety Week, July 22 - 28. "Your Safety is in Your Hands"

Sunday — Have Reverence For Life

Take Time to Take Care: — Banish fatigue and tension of routine living. Realize that haste makes waste. Plan to avoid an over-crowded schedule.

Monday — Home Safety:

Keep Your Farm in Order: — Have a place for everything and keep everything in its place. Eliminate hazards as you find them. Be a good housekeeper in your home and on your farm.

Tuesday — Livestock:

Be Open Minded to Safety Suggestions: — Keep small children away from animals and check on repair livestock equipment. Listen to safety lessons your children bring home from school: heed safety suggestions given at farm group meetings.

Wednesday — Falls:

Plan Ahead: Good planning reduces the temptation to hurry; means better protection, and fewer accidents. Repair or discard broken, unsafe ladders. Place guards at hazardous places.

Thursday — Highway Traffic:

Be courteous on the Highway — A courteous driver believes in living and letting live. Know and obey all traffic laws, follow all safe driving practices. Remove shrubs and trees near farm entrances.

Friday — Machinery:

Don't depend on Luck: — Make sure your equipment is in safe operating condition — make sure all guards and safety devices are in place. Stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.

Saturday — Review Day:

Take Safety Seriously: — Check up on any farm and farm home hazards that might have been overlooked. Find and eliminate any unsafe conditions that may exist.

And Always Remember: "Your Safety is in Your Hands".

The KITCHEN seems to be the spot where most accidents occur in the home. Here is a safety engineer's description of a kitchen:

"A potential fire hazard at all times of the day. Scene of more accidents than any other work unit. Equipment used here is highly dangerous and complicated. Its safe handling requires at least an elementary knowledge of the physical sciences and a working familiarity with the principles of mechanics, plus training in emergency medical procedure." Three main "paths" to safety in your kitchen according to safety experts are:

1. Know your kitchen and its equipment.

2. Train yourself and your children how to handle it (or not to handle it) to prevent accidents.

3. Learn the principles of first aid in case an accident should occur.

Take an inventroy of the equipment in your kitchen, remembering that the main causes of accidents are poisons, electrical appliances, and sharp instruments. Examine each one carefully, noting where and how they may be dangerous. Even the most innocent looking things, such as plant food, may be lethal.

When you know what's in your kitchen, you can begin to immunize yourself and your children from its hazards. The most effective "Vaccine" is PLACEMENT. Knives, scissors, ice picks, - all sharp instruments should be stored away, out of the reach of youngsters. Water and electricity are natural enenies: keep all electrical appliances away from the sink. Poisons should be locked up or placed on high shelves, not stored with or near foods, and never placed in discarded food containers.

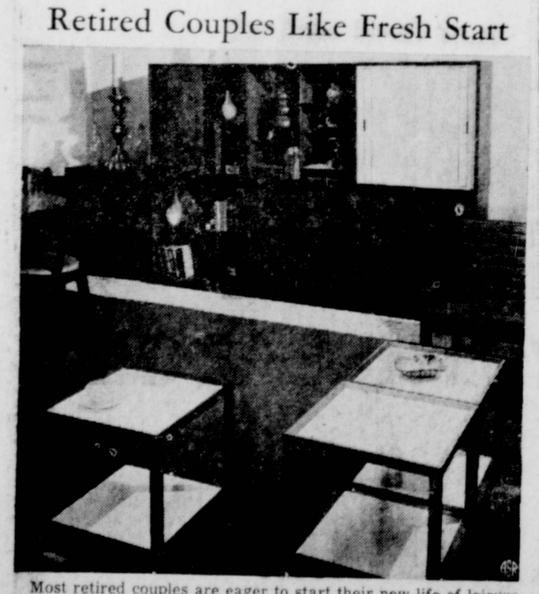

Before you use any electrical appliance, study the directions that come with it and follow them exactly. In cooking use the back unit and turn the pot handles toward the range where curious children can't get to them. Keep the range free of grease at all times.

And NEVER let a little child play alone in the kitchen. You never know what danger spot those busy hands may pick out to explore next.

It seems nowadays, a child's safety health is as important - if not more important than his physical health. Such great strides have been made in medical science that disease is no longer the menace it used to be. Instead accidents have superseded it as the major cause of child fatalities. As yet no "wonder drug" to cure accidents has been invented.

The best medicine is safety; the best place to administer it is in the modern-day kitchen. Just picture a little boy with a badly burned hand all because he was curious and grabbed hold of the hot saucepan on the stove. There's nothing to be done about a little boy's curiosity, but always remember you can do something about the saucepan on the range, (just place it on the back unit with the handle turned in, out of his reach).

Retired Couples Like Fresh Start

Most retired couples are eager to start their new life of leisure in fresh surroundings, perhaps in a smaller house in the country, or a centrally located apartment. Taking their cue from the young homemakers, they select home furnishings which check-mate housekeeping drudgery by practically wiping clean with a damp cloth.

Color has special meaning in the home of a retired couple. A light colored easy-to-care-for vinyl plastic flooring, or carpet of man-made fibers, makes furniture stand out distinctly. Bright vinyl wallcoverings in fabric textures, or handscreened prints, are newly practical because they are scrubbable, scuff and grease resistant.

The exquisite colors and look of quality materials are captured by upholstery vinyls, too. Immune to spills, they thrive on soap and water. Favorite chairs are high, and have straight backs for easy rising. Table tops of marproof and stain resistant melamine plastic laminate, preferably in white, and in small sizes, are easy to see without glasses, and easy to move.

Beds must be easy to make, because they often double as lounges during the day. Urethane foam plastic mattresses are as firm or soft as the individual desires, and light enough to be turned over without strain.

Broadway News

By Mrs. T. E. Thornhill

BROADWAY, July 16 — Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Spence of Floydada were Wednesday afternoon callers in the community.

Mrs. A. D. Whalen was a caller of Mrs. T. E. Thornhill Tuesday afternoon late. We sent green beans and pepper home with her out of the garden.

Brian Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy R. Webster has been in the Crosbyton hospital for several days, and Sunday he was still a very sick boy. We hope he will soon be much improved.

Many from our community have visited both Brian and R. E. Smith in the hospital. Mr. Smith underwent surgery Sunday morning. We hope he improves very rapidly.

Mrs. D. D. Thornhill drove over and her grandson Gary Thornhill who had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wooten and Mike over there for the past week came home with her.

More spotted showers fell over parts of the community last week. Most farmers would like to see a good general rain. No one wishes for those big nice weeds to have to wilt. After all when the weeds get to looking bad the crop also will. However, so far most every where the crops look very pretty.

Miss Ruth Woods came up from Houston the last of the week. Her mother, Mrs. Shadie Woods who has been visiting relatives here the past three weeks returned home with her. They left for home early Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gray of Bellville and friends, were Sunday over-night visitors with the Kelton Winegars. Others visiting until bed time were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thornhill and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winegar.

Tommy Thornhill and Wayne Justice accompanied Robert Winegar to Lake Thomas over the weekend. They were met there by Larry Cox and two other friends. They reported a wonderful time and oh how tired they were, when they returned home.

We didn't learn the names of all the girls who attended Camp at the Baptist encampment last week. Also several of the ladies accompanied the girls.

Not only is everyone who can walk busy as bees, it seems the telephones will only ring a few of the folks.

Due to many unforeseen conflicts our July Club meeting was called off. We will not have another meeting until September, as we always call August our vacation month. Will try to remember to remind everyone in time for the September meeting.

Preston Givens seems to be doing fairly well with the injured leg, altho he is to keep that leg elevated for two more weeks.

Visitors last Wednesday in the Cecil Berry home were Edrie Sikes of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mitchell and sons, Haydin and Mason, of Plano, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Berry and children, Bill, Beckie and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Cypert all of Mcadoo, Mrs. Lois Ratheal and little granddaughter Michell Powell of Crosbyton, Joy and Mellissa Bond, Lois, Edrie, Mrs. Maxine Mitchell and Mrs. Weldon Cypert are all sisters of Mrs. Berrys.

Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bassinger and sons Mike and Richard of Albuquerque, N. M. Incidently Mrs. Bassinger is also a sister of Mrs. Berrys; Lois Ratheal, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Berry, Patty and Johnny all of Crosbyton, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Berry and Jamie Lou of Lubbck, Van Cypert of Lorenzo, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gregory and the Donnie Berrys of McAdoo, also Glenn Berry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tribble accompanied their daughter, Mrs. Joe Fisher and family of Lubbock, to Dallas early this month where they visited relatives.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Lutrick and Mrs. J. M. Willson left Tuesday noon for a Leadership Camp at Mount Sequoyia in Fayetteville, Ark. They plan to return home sometime Friday night. The two couples are making the trip by car.

Too Hot To Eat? Try These Tips

When temperatures climb into the 90's and when the very air you breathe feels like a blanket of soggy cotton -- then is the time to keep a weather eye on family diet habits. The warning comes from Dr. Robert S. Goodhart, author of several books on nutrition and president and director of a major scientific research foundation.

"Most people tend to eat less in hot weather," Dr. Goodhart points out. "They forget that, whatever the weather, the body is still working full time and it still needs a consistent fuel supply." He gave these hot weather diet tips in a recent interview:

1. Are hot foods more nutritious than cold? . . . By no means. Such things as vegetable and fruit salads, cold meats, enriched bread -- all provide important amounts of essential nutrients.

2. When "it's too hot to eat," why not just have a snack and let it go at that? . . . This is all right, but only provided that the snacks you eat during the day add up to a well balanced diet. It is safer to stay on a regular meal schedule; if you don't, your "heat" exhaustion may be aggravated by insufficient nutritious fuel to keep you going.

3. Will plenty of fresh air and sunlight provide all the vitamins you need? . . . Not a chance. The only vitamin your body absorbs from sunlight is Vitamin D. You still need your full daily requirement of vitamins, minerals and other nutrients.

4. What's the best time of day to have one's biggest meal? . . . Probably evening, when the outside temperatures are lower. Don't forget that eating itself generates some body heat. Large meals might well be avoided. Divide the day's food into 3 to 4 equal, relatively light meals.

5. Any other safeguards for a healthy summer diet? . . . Don't forget that increased exercise and increased perspiration deplete your salt supply; get enough salt, generally this can be assured by the liberal use of the shaker at meal time.

If common sense tells you you're short-changing yourself on good, nutritious food in sufficient quantities, a supplementary vitamin preparation can increase your supply of these essential nutrients.

Finally, adds Dr. Goodhart, sensible hot weather diets and eating habits will contribute to the whole family's enjoyment of the good old summertime -- at the same time they literally "take the heat off" the cook!

Boyce House Says I Give You Texas

September 21, 1961

He was tall and handsome, with features like those of a Roman senator — a toga would have been perfectly appropriate for him. He had an impressive manner, a deliberate form of utterance, his sentences were long, his diction elevated.

The first time I heard him speak he was governor and the occasion was the laying of the cornerstone of Texas Tech. His rhetoric was worthy of Cicero. The next time, he spoke in the open air at the summer commencement at T C U , sometime after his second term as governor. Still another speech I recall was at the State Democratic convention in Austin in the 1940's. He was then close to 70. His form was as straight, his voice as clear and his command of language as great as ever. He spoke for half an hour, making what was easily the best address of the convention.

Afterwards, reporters asked for a copy of his speech. He replied that there was none and pointed to a small card on which there were a few notes.

Death some time ago claimed a long-time friend of mine — Clyde Garrett, who served as Eastland city manager, as county judge and as Congressman.

When he was making his first race for Congress, he called at my office in Fort Worth where I was publicity director of the original Casa Manana. Vice President Garner was to attend the show that night and Judge Garrett hoped that I could arrange for him to meet the vice president but Garrett's opponent was then a Congressman and the official in charge of the tour bawled me out for making such a suggestion. (It so happened too that the incumbent had named a relative of his as a postmaster.)

His violent reaction so antagonized me — plus the desire to try to help my friend — that I arranged for a Photo of Judge Garrett being pushed in one of the picturesque little sight seeing cars by another county judge; also the suggestion was made that, when the vice president entered the gate, Judge Garrett be in the crowd and join in the applause. The next day the papers carried the picture and said that Judge Garrett was on hand

Among those whom I have interviewed as a newspaperman were Will Rogers, Vice President John N. Garner, Alf Landon, Speaker Sam Rayburn, William Jennings Bryan, Gypsy Smith and Bert Swor.

Rogers was interviewed between planes at the Fort Worth airport — so was John N. Garner.

Actually I couldn't think of anything to ask Mr. Garner and there being quite a crowd, I suggested he make a speech, which he did and that was my "interview."

Landon also was interviewed at Meacham Field; he had just been to Brazil. The Rayburn interview was at his Bonham home immediately after his return from Washington about 1933; Bryan, on the platform right after he had made a speech; Gypsy Smith, on his arrival to make an address in Memphis during World War I.

Bert Swor, one of the greatest comedians of minstrel show days, visited Ranger when I was the editor; Willard was interviewed in Fort Worth, many years after he has been world's champion; Dempsey in Dallas in 1956; Raymond Hitchcock, star comedian, when he brought his big musical show to Eastland in the 1920's; Tris Speaker when the Baseball Hall-of-Famer was an honored guest at the Fort Worth Casa Manana.

DEFENDS HER HOME

Policemen had entered her home searching for evidence in the arrest of her father without proper authority.

The judge dismissed assault and battery charges in finding the policemen were on her property illegally.

Margaret Collier, Floyd County clerk, returned from Amarillo this week where she visited relatives during her vacation period.

WELL FRED DOGS

Pittsburgh — The late Mrs. Florence D. Arenberg made provisions in her will establishing a trust fund of $6,000 to provide care for her two pet dogs.

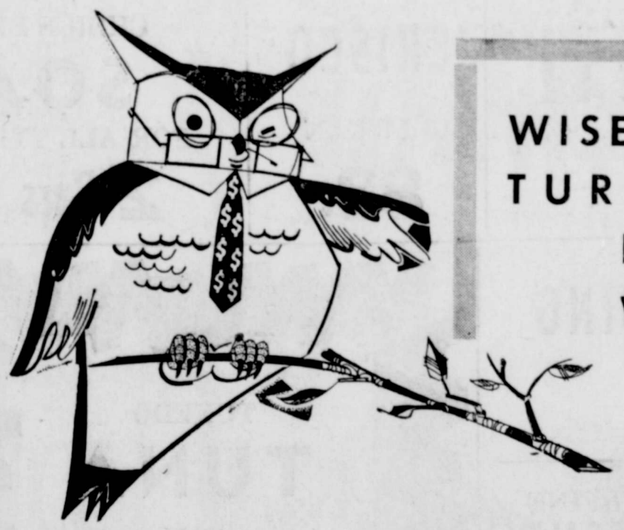

Mrs. Arenberg also directed that a daily diet of "100 per cent beef chunks" be fed to her two dogs each day.

Barbequed turkey meat is excitingly new and tasty, and when cooked right it all but melts in your mouth, says F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry marketing specialist. Because supplies of turkeys are plentiful, he suggests their use for the next family or community picnic.

Mrs. Fred Reeves, Mrs. Harry Reeves and Mrs. Roy Kinard were in Lubbock Tuesday night to attend a bridal shower honoring a niece of Mrs. Fred Reeves, Maxine Woolsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Woolsey.

Vicki Reeves is in Fort Worth this week visiting Malissa Spann, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Spann, former residents of Floydada. Malissa was here last week, guest in the Harry Reeves home.

Floydada has been named site of the district Freshman League Tournament of the Texas Teenage Baseball Association. The announcement came this week from Claude Estes who is vice-president of the Floydada Association and in charge of the Freshman League.

Estes said the tournament is to be at best two out of three series and match the winner of the Floydada league against the winner of the Matador league.

Presently the Dougherty Grain Co. Giants and the Wylie Oil Co. Cardinals are leading the local circuit and it will be the club that finishes with the highest standing between these two. Opponent for the Floydada champion will be a Roaring Springs team. At the present two Roaring Springs clubs are tied for the Motley County crown.

The tournament is set to begin on Thursday, July 26, at 8:00 p. m. Second game at same time on Friday and third if required will be played on Saturday.

Admission charges of 50c for adults and 25c for school children will be charged to defray tournament expenses. Winner of the tournament will advance to the state tournament at Corsicana.

KIRK CRITICALLY ILL

A report at mid-afternoon yesterday from W. A. Kirk indicated that his brother, I. C. Kirk, Harmony farmer, is critically ill in a Slaton Hospital where he was taken on Tuesday of last week. Mr. Kirk has been ill with a malignancy for the past eight years but during this time has operated his farm and was up and about until about two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk were in Slaton Tuesday and found his brother partly conscious, but under oxygen and taking blood transfusions. Mr. Kirk said his brother was having a rather difficult time in breathing and was unable to swallow.

The ill man's wife has moved to Slaton to be with him as much as possible. A daughter Mrs. L. A. Reasoner, is a member of the hospital staff and able to care for her father much of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Duvall and two daughters of Little Rock, Ark., are here visiting Mrs. Duvall's sister and family, Rev. and Mrs. Houston Dixon and family and with relatives in Lubbock. Mr. Duvall is farm editor of the Arkansas Gazette in Little Rock.

Fair Board Say Quarter Horses Will Be Fenced

Floyd County Fair Association met July 10 in Lockney to discuss further development on the Fair. Present were Hershel Carthel, president of the board, Corkey Guffee, Hubert Frizzell, Joe Foster, Cecil Lewis, Charlie Boedeker, and the agricultural teacher at Lockney school.

It was decided at the meeting that a fence of some form would be built for the horses entering the quarter horse show this year. Previously the animals have roamed at will or have been guarded closely by their owners. By being fenced in owners will have more free time at the show and it will save the horses or persons from possible injury.

The fireworks display will be held again this year, and welcome banners will be hung along the streets in Lockney for the September event.

Guffee, who is vice-president of the association, said that Fair Catalogs would soon be available.

The next board meeting will be in Floydada in the Lighthouse Electric Building on August 14. All persons interested in the welfare and benefit of the Fair are urged to attend.

LOCAL POOL BURGLARIZED

The Floydada Swimming Pool was broken into Tuesday night before 10 o'clock, according to reports from the sheriff's office yesterday. Missing were candy bars amounting to about a dollar and ten dollars in cash.

Fred March, manager of the pool, said he was there earlier in the night to clean the filter, returned home and then went back to the pool about 10 o'clock and found papers, letters, etc. scattered about the floor and the candy and money missing.

Entry was gained by scaling the wall and going in between there and the roof, and through the dressing room door. No leads had resulted as of yesterday.

Patrol Reports Rural Accidents In Floyd County

The Highway Patrol investigated 2 rural accidents in Floyd County during the month of June according to Sergeant D. S. Lawson, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,800.00.

The rural traffic accident summary of Floyd County from January through June of 1962 shows a total of 24 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were 1 person killed and 18 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $13,461.00. This compares with the first six months of 1961's total of 14 rural crashes killing no persons, injuring 10 persons and causing a estimated property damage of $6,844.00. In a statewide comparison the total number of traffic fatalities are practically the same as they were this time last year.

The current "Slow Down and Live" summer campaign has played an important role during the last several years in acquainting motorists, especially vacationists, with the danger of speed and the ever-present hazards of the highways during the crowded summer months. Many vacationists from other states will be in Texas for the first time this summer. Some of them will be unfamiliar with the roads and road signs. Many of them have only a smattering of knowledge of traffic laws of their own state, and little or no information about those of other states where they will travel. Commercial drivers and motorists who travel the highways day after day have little difficulty in distinguishing the stranger, even before seeing his license tag. Unless motorists show courtesy and consideration to the vacationing driver and try to help him, they may discover that their own speed will cause an accident involving the tourist who may suddenly slow down to make an unexpected turn or to get his bearings. Those who live and drive in Texas must remember that we would be just as bewildered in another state as this motorist is in our own state. It is under such circumstances that we must do some thinking for him, we must drive defensively.

The Sergeant stated the out-of-state traveler, however, is not so much a threat to our safety as the native selfish motorist who drives dangerously and discourteously with no regard for traffic laws, signs or signals.

Throughout prior years accident statistics prove that more accidents occur in the last six months of the year than in the first six months. With this thought in mind the veteran patrol supervisor cautioned all motorists to exercise due care while traveling on the streets and highways. "Drive unto others as you would have them drive unto you," he said. The Sergeant stated that this "Golden Rule" is a challenge for the motorists of Texas to reverse the trend shown in prior years for the last six months of the year.

MARK PARKEY BACK HOME

Mark Parkey, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Parkey, was able to come home Saturday from Methodist Hospital where he has been confined for several weeks, a victim of polio. Mark is able to sit in a wheel chair and move his arm and stomach muscles. One leg however is still paralized but with continued therapy and the relatively fast progress he has made thus far, the family have hopes of his regaining full use of the lower limbs.

SAFER AND SANER

Families that have seat belts in their cars and use them will have a safer and saner Fourth of July holiday than families that don't. Seat belts work. The National Safety Council says they increase your chances of walking away from a traffic accident. If every one used them we could save at least 5,000 lives a year . . . reduce serious injuries by ⅓! There's still time to install seat belts in your car for the Fourth.

Donna Sammann Crowned Queen Of Farm Bureau

Miss Donna Sammann, daughter of W. M. Sammann of Lockney, was crowned "1962 Floyd County Farm Bureau Queen" in ceremonies held Thursday night in Floydada High School auditorium. Alternate was Miss Jackie Yeary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yeary of Floydada.

Miss Sammann was among ten contestants vieing for the title. She was crowned by last year's winner, Miss Carolyn Harris, also of Lockney.

Entries were judged on their general appearance, personality and brief talks on why they were glad their parents were members of the Farm Bureau.

Miss Sammann said "This wonderful organization which upholds so many fine beliefs and which works toward so many worthy goals, is the fact which makes me most proud my family are members of the Farm Bureau."

She continued "Also the fact that the Farm Bureau urges its members to keep their belief in God, the dominant force in America. Not all organizations, certainly not a large organization like the Farm Bureau, are this interested in the welfare or spiritual being of their members. For this and so many other reasons I am proud to say that my family holds their membership with the Farm Bureau".

Violence Erupts Over N.M. Mine Strike, Ruckers Visit In Floyd

The violence which has been erupting in the 42 day old potash strike in Carlsbad, N. Mex., is showing effects on four families who have come to Floydada to wait out the results.

Among them, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rucker and family, were back in Carlsbad over the week-end to check on their home and see for themselves just how bad the situation is. Mrs. Rucker said a trailer home there had been set fire and a number of homes had borne the blunt of broken windows and other damages. Theirs however revealed no damage.

Rucker is a mechanic and drives heavy machinery in one of the six mines on strike. C. M. Norris, another Floydada man, remained to walk the picket lines. The Billy Patricks, third family involved, have departed for California to seek work, as has the Herbert May family that went elsewhere.

Norris is a welder, Patrick a mechanic and May an electrician.

The situation at this writing in Carlsbad is revealed by a newspaper article from other sources as follows:

An extra contingent of state police officers patrolled Carlsbad today (July 12) in an attempt to halt violence in the 42 day old potash industry strike. A show cause order today by the District Court Judge of Hobbs in the wake of the violence which included the attempted dynamiting of a non-striking potash worker's house.

The order is for the officers of three of four striking unions to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court in connection with the alleged violation of an injunction issued June 23 which restrained the unions and their officers from violence and intimidation in the Carlsbad area potash industry strike.

About 2000 men have been idled by the strike which started June 1 after union and company negotiators disagreed over management rights, contracting out of work and arbitration. The judge issued the show cause order after hearing testimony from Asst. Chief of Carlsbad police Dean Smith and others.

Smith testified the latest acts of violence included the attempted dynamiting of the Carlsbad home and the burning of a house trailer on the 11th of July. Carlsbad police said dynamite was thrown on a driveway leading to the house of a non-striking potash worker. Police there also reported an increase in fights and other disturbance lately.

A hearing on the show cause order is set for July 26 in Lovington. Named in the order were officers of Local 886 of the operating engineers, Local 662 of the boilermakers, and Local 177 of the stoneworkers, all AFL-CIO.

Also named were members of the machinists, AFL-CIO, union, and the electrical workers union. The electrical workers are not on strike but are observing picket lines.

International Minerals and Chemicals Corp., has hired 350 men to replace some of the striking force.

Rucker, who has been working with harvest crews since the strike, indicated he may not be able to get his job back when and if the strike is settled.

Saturday a dynamite blast tore up a section of the main 14 inch waterline leading to one of the six plants. The explosion which occurred at 2 a. m. halted production at the International Minerals and Chemical Corp.

State police said evidence indicated six sticks of dynamite were set under the pipeline, five miles east of Carlsbad.

Center News

CENTER, July 16 — Weather continued hot and dry on the whole though it clouds up every day. It usually clears off with only a few sprinkles. Last Wednesday it showered in some parts of the community.

We had good services at Calvary Baptist both morning and evening Sunday though there were some "absent faces". Some away on vacation, some visiting out of town relatives. Brother Zinn's baby had German measles and lots of folks we know were at family reunions somewhere. That is part of the "Good Old Summer Time". John Hinsley was honored for such perfect attendance as Sunday School Superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. James David Welborn and girls, of Canyon, and his sister, Donna, were dinner guests of home folks, the J.J D. Welborns. Donna, who has finished six weeks work at W.T.-C., returned home for the rest of the summer.

Mary Grace Dunn, of Lubbock, accompanied by her nieces, Debra and Brenda, spent the weekend with homefolks, the Frank Dunns.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn spent Monday in Plainview.

Phil Horton returned home Saturday from a several days vacation trip with Borger relatives. They toured the Red River country and other points in New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Ross accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Guffee to Muleshoe Sunday afternoon to see Mr. and Mrs. Bob Guffee. Mrs. Guffee is seriously ill in the hospital there.

We sympathize with the Ross' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Melvin Ross (Alma), of near Spearman, whose father passed away one day last week. He lived in Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren and children accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Charley Battey, dined in Lubbock Sunday at the home of Mrs. Warren's brother, Clark Battey. Others present were the other sister and family, the Bob Alldredges, of Hobbs, N. Mex. and seven of eight of the Clark Batteys children and their families. There were thirty nine in all present and they report a good time.

SATELLITE TALK—Telstar, the Bell Telephone System's first communications satellite, is now orbiting the earth at 16,000 miles per hour. White lines show how signals for phone calls, live television and other communications are sent from a ground station to the satellite and retransmitted to another earth station. Electronic gear on Telstar boosts signals 10 billion times for their return trip to earth. Telstar tests will help pave the way for a worldwide satellite communications system.

Earth Satellite Is Big Aid To Communications

A small satellite hundreds of miles in outer space is sending signals to earth in tests that will lead to better communications services for Floydada residents.

The satellite, Telstar, is the Bell Telephone System's pioneer in the new frontier of space communications. Telstar tests will help pave the way for a worldwide satellite communications network to send overseas phone calls, live television and other signals. The satellites will receive and retransmit signals, much as overland microwave systems do in today's long distance calling.

Telstar was successfully launched from Cape Canaveral by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which is cooperating with the Bell System in the experiments. The Bell System will repay NASA for the Telstar launching costs, about $3 million.

Floydada television viewers will have opportunity to see Telstar's work first hand in a series of live telecasts planned between this country and Europe. Television signals will be sent from ground stations in England and France to Telstar and retransmitted to the Bell System's ground station at Andover, Maine. American programs also will be sent to Europe via Telstar.

Live overseas telecasts have not been possible up to now because ocean cable and radio systems in use don't have the transmission capacity for the signals.

Major experiments involve sending signals from the main ground station to another Bell Station at Holmdel, New Jersey, via the satellite. Telephone calls, video tape signals, facsimile news photographs and high-speed data signals are being transmitted in these tests.

In addition to communications transmission, Telstar gathers technical information on outer space as it orbits the earth at altitudes up to 3,500 miles. These findings will be shared with scientists throughout the world to help advance the peaceful use of space.

Built by Bell Telephone Laboratories, Telstar is a 170-pound satellite, just under three feet in diameter. It carries more than 10,000 electronic parts and this gear amplifies signals 10 billion times for their return trip to earth.

A number of Bell Laboratories inventions, including the transistor and solar battery, are essential to Telstar's operation. The small transistors make possible the satellite's complex circuitry. Telstar is lined with 3,600 solar battery cells that convert sunlight into electricity for the satellite's power supply.

FROM COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

Grain Sorghum

There has been much speculation as to expected damage from Sorghum Midge. We have checked several fields of early Grain Sorghum in all parts of the county and no midge has been found to date. The main insects found in Grain Sorghum have been thrips, aphids, Lady Bugs, and Flower Bugs. The last two are beneficial insects. The thrips and aphids normally do not cause heavy damage on grain sorghum. The Flower Bug is a small insect that is black and white checkered on top and the nymph or young stage is a tan colored insect shaped like a fleahopper.

Many of the heads of early grain sorghum have not set a full head of grain. This has been attributed to weather conditions during blooming. Showers sometimes tend to upset pollen and a thorough pollination job is not received. Also, the young grain sorghum went through a stress period in May, and some of the heads did not develop normally. The hot winds were evaporating the moisture out of the plants faster than the roots could pump water to the leaves causing stress. This condition brought about shorter stalks, earlier booting and blooming, and some killing of the flowers on the grain sorghum head.

Federal Gasoline Tax Refunds

Forms and instructions for requesting Federal Gasoline Tax Refunds are available in the County Agent's office. The gasoline used on the farm during the period from July 1, 1961 to JJune 30, 1962 is to be included. Applications for refunds must be filed by October 1, 1962.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — U. S. Supreme Court's decision that federal courts have power to review acts of state legislatures in reapportioning representation was met with an uproar from many states.

"Reapportionment" is the business of redistricting a state to determine the number of legislators according to an area's population. National and state constitutions both provide for re-examination of representation in legislative assemblies every 10 years.

An area frequently gains or loses representatives to the state house. This happened in Texas recently, when a 1961 redistricting act by the legislature took effect.

Working under a constitutional amendment adopted in 1936, limiting cities to one representative for every 700,000 inhabitants, Texas' representative districts got a pretty thorough going over.

The 31-member senate body was not greatly effected by the reapportionment, however, since the law states that the senate "shall never be increased and no single county shall be entitled to more than one senator."

What the U. S. Supreme Court would hold about such a condition, in view of a congressional provision for two U. S. senators from each state regardless of population, won't be known unless the question is put to its nine justices.

There is some reason to believe, however, that the higher court would look with disfavor on this State's constitutional provision limiting House representation to one member for every 100,000 inhabitants after a county attains a population of more than 700,000.

In the event citizens dissatisfied with the situation in Texas ever go to court for a reshuffling, they'll be armed with the information that 11 urban counties have a little more than half of Texas' 9,579,677 inhabitants and more than a third of the 150 members of the House of Representatives.

HOPE FOR TRAPPED FISH— An "escape route" for thousands of fish which risk death daily in a shallow pool off Padre Island is planned by the State Game and Fish Commission, which estimates that tons of game fish have died in a nine-mile hole north of Port Mansfield over the last 10 years.

Howard Lee, the commission's director of field operations, said red fish and trout swim into the shallow pool in the course of their north-to-south migration, "and don't recognize the fact that there's only one way out."

As the temperature increases in late spring and summer, the water level drops. Fish then are caught in a dry water pool created by drifting sands and are trapped there until death releases them as food for birds and other scavengers in the area.

Dredging of a six-foot deep, 30-foot wide channel running 4,000 feet through Laguna Madre into the Intracoastal Canal is expected to put a stop to the waste of fish and make them available for "harvest" — a Game and Fish Commission euphonism for fishing.

Up to now, fishermen have been unable to get to them in the pool trap without trudging through long distances of mud and sand.

PERMIAN BASIN COLLEGE URGED — A "Citizens Relations Committee" of 20 West Texans flew into Austin to ask the Texas Commission on Higher Education to approve plans for converting Odessa Junior College to a state-supported, four year "Permian State College."

According to their spokesman, W. D. Fleck of Odessa, 30 per cent of the Ector County's college enrollment of about 1,600 is composed of out-of-county students. Administrators estimated a 3,686 enrollment by 1970, if it's changed to a state-supported senior college.

C. A. Roberson, business manager of Odessa's $3,000,000 junior college, said the population in the Permian Basin increased from 159,000 to 288,000 between 1950 and 1960 and is expected to reach 500,000 by 1970.

Commission will study the matter further before making a recommendation to the next legislature.

Attempts to get the 57th Legislature to approve full state support and senior college status of San Angelo Junior College, Laredo Junior College and Pan American College at Edinburg failed in the third special session.

T. E. C. TEAMS TO AID SMALL TOWNS — Two teams which form the working force of the Texas Employment Commission's newly-organized Expansion Employment Service for Small Communities recently moved into Brady where they'll survey job seekers and job opportunities for the next six weeks.

Service was set up with funds from the Federal Bureau of Employment Security to assist communities like Brady which have "substantial and persistent unemployment problems," yet are too far from one of the Employment Commission's 91 local offices to get help from a regular staff.

According to Ted Clifford of the commission, the teams will go into economically-distressed areas to try to determine what has caused a long-time employment slump, offer remedies and either find job opportunities elsewhere or assist local civic groups in launching industry recruitment programs.

Limestone and Falls county officials already have asked for the teams' services. Clifford reported that some 25 or 30 counties now are in the "substantial and persistent unemployment" category.

CROOKED - HOLE DRILLERS CUT OFF — Texas Railroad Commission has severed pipeline connections and set zero allowables for all wells on leases in the East Texas Field on which deviation or inclination surveys have shown a crooked-hole oil well.

Chairman William J. Murray of the Commission says that the order covers 62 leases.

Attorney General Will Wilson advises that when a deviated well is found on a lease, the whole lease is to be questioned until proven otherwise.

Before the wells involved can be restored to production, operators must have inclination surveys made on each one, and must have production tests to determine each well's actual ability to produce. Wilson said production test were required because of the possibility that a single deviated well might be drawing the allowables for eight or 10 wells on a lease that are actually dead.

Officials also revealed that the deviation survey is being extended to a single well in the Webster Field in Harris County. Operators have been asked to give permission for the survey under a new policy which allows the operator to volunteer permission before a court order is sought.

Short Snorts

Deficit in the State General Revenue Fund, which dipped to $89,000,000 in March, was $28,351,556 on July 9, according to State Treasurer Jesse James.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says the waiting list in the Texas Veterans' Land Program has been reduced to less than 16,000. He figured his office would pass No. 94,000 this week, so any veteran applicant can estimate when his number will come up, since 1,000 contract forms are sent out each week.

Gov. Price Daniel reappointed Joseph B. Hutchison of Arlington and Lloyd Gregory of Houston to the Battleship Texas Commission and named Mrs. Murray Ezzell of Port Neches and C. H. Coffield of Houston new members. Also he appointed Weldon Cabaniss of Rockport to the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission.

Eleven Texas firms were among the 42 recently granted permission to issue $22,050,375 in stocks by the State Securities Board.

A report by State Auditor C. H. Cavness showed that the Texas Surplus Property Agency, which disturses federal surplus property to schools, colleges and other public agencies, had an income of $608,606 during fiscal 1961, while cost of operations was $692,798.

Broadway News

(Crowded Out last week)

By Mrs. T. E. Thornhill

BROADWAY, July 9 — Our community received a nice shower Tuesday afternoon of last week, and another Friday afternoon. So now all the farmers are really fighting those weeds. But all are proud that we have received enough rain to keep everything growing as well as the weeds.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Parsons and sons Tony, Keith and Kirk of Ft. Worth came up over the weekend to visit with Mr. Smith and other members of the family.

Preston Givens, son of Mr. an Mrs. M. R. Givens, is also confined to the Crosbyton Hospital suffering with a very large laceration on his leg. We wish for him a very speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Rainbolt, Doug and Jan of the Lakeview community came down Wednesday night, the Fourth and brought a freezer of ice cream which all enjoyed after supper that night.

Our very deepest sympathy to Mrs. Oney Harvey in the death of her husband, who passed away Friday afternoon of last week in the Crosbyton Hospital. May God be very near to comfort you in this hour is our prayer, Mrs. Harvey.

REV. GILBERT RHINE

Gilbert Rhine Returns To Bible Baptist

Gilbert Rhine, who is no stranger to the people of Floydada, returns once again to fill the pastorate of the Bible Baptist Church. He resigned his work here at the same church only one year ago and moved to Ft. Worth, Texas.

Rhine told the Hesperian this week he didn't pastor any church during the summer of '61 after leaving here until after school started in September, although he was called to two different churches, which he refused. Rhine worked during the week as salesman for Montgomery Ward and Co. and was supply preacher for several churches in the Dallas and Ft. Worth area. On Wednesday nights he was teaching the Bible in the Eastside Baptist Church in which he and his family were members.

The last of September he was called as pastor to the First Baptist Church of Cottondale, Texas where he remained until July 1. The church at Cottondale is only four years old and they had a beautiful church building in which to meet, Rhine said. The Lord blessed his work there with many additions to the church by conversions, letter and by baptism. Also on their high day they had sixty nine visitors in the services.

Bro. Rhine said they did not accept his resignation at Cottondale at first because they thought they could persuade him to stay but later they accepted his resignation before he left. He said a strange thing happened there in the area of Wise County where he pastored; and that was four pastors resigned their churches in a three week period and all four came to West Texas to pastor churches.

Bro. Rhine said the people of the Bible Baptist Church told him that if he would return as pastor, they would, if the Lord was willing, erect a new church building, and the plans are being made to build on their vacant lot next to the present building. If things go according to plan, the present building will later be sold and the property will be used for parking space.

Bro. Rhine, his wife and two children moved into the parsonage of the Bible Baptist Church which is located at 810 South 3rd. Street. They give an invitation to all to come and visit at the Bible Baptist Church in any or all their services.

TEMPLE LEWIS RESIGNS

LOCKNEY - Rev. Temple Lewis, pastor of the Lone Star Baptist Church, presented his resignation to the church Sunday, July 8, effective on August 1. Rev. Lewis and his family plan to move to Abilene, their former home. He has as yet not accepted a church, he said.

Rev. Lewis has been active also in community affairs, livestock shows and other civic affairs since coming to the Lockney area.

Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Newman, parents of Mrs. Jimmy Willson, her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Smith and son, Jerry, and her aunt, Miss Lila Newman, art professor at Elon College, Elon, North Carolina, arrived Tuesday for a weeks visit. The Newmans and Smith are from Raleigh, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Watson, Ft. Worth, visited Mrs. Charley Battey recently. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Battey. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Battey are cousins.

Graveside rites were conducted Monday morning in Babyland Park near Waco.

Survivors in addition to the parents and the local grandparents are a brother, Glenn Frank Spencer of the home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Spencer, Chicago, Ill., and paternal great grandmother, Mrs. William Schuppert of Oshkosh, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Arch March and family visited last week here with his mother, Mrs. Joe March and Fred. Arriving on Monday was Mrs. March's daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom McGill and family of Oklahoma City.

New "TELSTAR" relays phone calls and TV pictures for first time!

Bell System microwave-in-sky satellite is latest communications triumph for America arising from telephone research

The world's first private enterprise communications satellite is now being used for dramatic experiments in relaying telephone calls and television internationally.

Its name: Telstar. It was launched from Cape Canaveral at Bell System expense by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Telstar receives signals beamed to it from a ground station, amplifies them and transmits them to another station on the ground below—perhaps an ocean away from the first one. The new satellite thus acts as a microwave relay station in the sky, enabling voices, TV pictures and data messages to leap thousands of miles in a new and exciting way.

The ground stations in the U.S. now being used for Telstar were built by the Bell System at Andover, Maine, and Holmdel, New Jersey.

Telstar is a first major experimental step toward a worldwide satellite communications system that was first proposed as a practical venture at Bell Telephone Laboratories. Progress toward such a system would not have reached its present state without continuing research and development by the private communications industry.

Above all else, Telstar is the latest achievement in an unending Bell System quest—the search for ways to make your telephone service still better, more economical, and more useful.
