Two Area Cities OK Sales Tax

STANTON (SC)—Voters gave a 2½-1 margin to a one per cent city sales tax here Tuesday.

The margin was 130-52, and T. W. Haynie, election judge, said he considered the 182-voter turnout good considering the weather.

Turned Down

Mayor S. W. Wheeler and members of the city council had told constituents that the sales tax was the alternative to an increased ad valorem tax to meet increasing city operational costs.

Stanton's current rate is $1.50 on a 40 per cent assessment of actual value. By some estimates, the council had predicted the tax take would have to go up by one-third.

When the results are certified by the city council, Stanton will be in line to begin levying the tax July 1 and will receive its first returns in the final quarter of this year.

Loraine, in Mitchell County, also adopted the sales tax, by a vote of 109-34. Mayor Dr. Bruce Johnson said the money would be used to enlarge water lines, build a ground storage water reservoir, and other needed items.

Alternative

Snyder, in Scurry County, turned down the sales tax by a vote of 570-728 in a heavy turnout. Councilmen had promised a 10 cent reduction in the property tax, if the option passed. Late Tuesday, council members pointed out that such things as street lighting, pay raises, and other necessary items would not be possible.

"I don't know why it failed," Mayor M. L. Broman said. "People bow up when you mention taxes."

Patients Found Dead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three patients were found dead early today in a men's dormitory at the St. Louis State School and Hospital in north St. Louis County.

Dr. Cecil Baker, the hospital superintendent, said only that the patients were found dead "without obvious medical cause."

Dr. Baker said an aide found one of the bodies a few minutes before 6 a.m. and other attendants arriving soon after found two more bodies in adjoining beds in another section of the ward.

Locke May Run

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Times Herald quoted sources close to deputy ambassador to South Vietnam Eugene Locke today as saying Locke is set to return to Texas next week to announce as a Democratic candidate for governor.

Locke is now tentatively ready to make his public announcement at a news conference on Saturday, Jan. 20. The news conference will be in either Dallas or Austin.

Locke is an old political and personal friend of Gov. John Connally, who has announced he would not seek a fourth term.

Locke spent two weeks in Texas during the Christmas holidays talking to political leaders and others about his candidacy.

'DIVINE GUIDANCE' CREDITED

Surveyor Sees Wild Scene

(AP WIREPHOTO)

Amid Boulders

This wide-angle (25-degree field of view) picture taken by Surveyor 7 television camera after its moon landing last night shows cluster of rocks near craft's landing site. Scientists said the safe, soft landing amid rocks was by "Divine guidance." Horizon, northeast of Surveyor, is formed by ridge characteristic of the undulating topography on the flank of crater Tycho. Rocky debris, scientists added, was ejected by Tycho some 18 miles to the south.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Narrowly missing a dangerous rock with what a space official called "divine guidance," Surveyor 7 settled down gently on the moon Tuesday night and televised the wildest scene yet found by U.S. lunar probes.

The three-legged craft, last of a $500-million series which has already certified four equatorial sites as safe for astronaut landing, was on a purely scientific mission to the 15,000-foot crater Tycho near the south-central edge of the lunar disc.

Surprised

Given at best a 43 per cent chance of success, the unmanned Surveyor 7 surprised scientists by making an almost flat landing on a crater-pocked, boulder-strewn plateau not far from a ragged ridge 18 miles north of Tycho's rim.

Between the craft and the rim was a desolate scene, reminiscent of the crater Copernicus photographed earlier by lunar orbiters.

Pictures televised shortly after touchdown showed a landscape littered with rocks ejected from miles deep when the 50-mile-wide Tycho was formed by a meteor impact ages ago.

One of the craft's three padded feet was only a fraction of an inch from a rock six to eight inches in diameter—big enough to have broken the skeletal metal leg.

Lee Shearer, assistant director of the U.S. space agency's lunar program, told a news conference: "The final 13 feet of the quarter-million-mile flight was under divine guidance." That was the height from which Surveyor 7 dropped free after breaking rockets slowed its 6,000-mile-an-hour plunge toward the surface.

Deliberately

The rugged site was chosen deliberately by scientists hoping to determine whether there is any geological difference between the highlands where Surveyor 7 came down and the plains where manned landings are planned as early as next year.

Surveyor 7, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Sunday, carries a small scoop to dig trenches as deep as 18 inches and a device to analyze lunar soil with radiation.

Communist Troops Keep Up Hit-And-Run Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Communist troops kept up slashing, hit-and-run attacks today to maintain the initiative they have displayed since the New Year's truce ended eight days ago.

In one major attack, North Vietnamese raiders blasted a number of U.S. Army helicopters with satchel charges at Kontum airfield, 260 miles northeast of Saigon. But in another assault, the Communists took a bloody beating.

KILL SEVEN

Enemy assault troops covering the demolition squad fired wildly into the tents of soldiers defending the airstrip, killing seven Americans and wounding 25. The GIs charged out as the first rounds went off, and later counted the bodies of 14 uniformed North Vietnamese within the compound.

The U.S. Command would not say how many helicopters were destroyed or damaged but said damage was "moderate." This indicated a sizable number were destroyed or damaged heavily.

The 57th Army Aviation Company is stationed at Kontum in the central highlands, but it was not known if all its 25 helicopters—"Huey" troop carriers and gunships—were on the flight line when the attack began at 3 a.m.

INTO POOL

An officer who flew into Kontum later said the enemy also got into the aviation company's motor pool "and destroyed a number of vehicles."

North Vietnamese regulars or Viet Cong guerrillas also hit allied positions north and west of Saigon and in the Mekong Delta, inflicting almost as many casualties on civilians as on the military defenders.

One attack was disastrous for some 350 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong who tried to wipe out a battalion of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division bivouacked 31 miles northwest of Saigon but 105mm howitzers firing "killer juniors" cut down the attackers in waves.

'KILLERS'

Associated Press Correspondent George Esper reported from Cu Chi that at least two of the six howitzers in the overnight perimeter were charged with the delayed action "killer juniors" and fired so the shells would burst 20 feet above the incoming enemy.

The U.S. Command said 70 of the Communists—a unit of the force—were killed before the Reds broke off the attack after five hours of fighting. American casualties were five killed and 28 wounded.

In the Mekong Delta south of Saigon 22 civilians, a policeman and three pacification workers were killed in a mortar and ground attack on the district village of Kien Son. About 100 militiamen repelled the attack, killing four guerrillas, but a government spokesman said the militiamen suffered moderate casualties—meaning they were fairly hard hit. The attackers also burned down 44 houses.

Communist gunners killed one civilian and wounded 67—including 47 prison inmates—in another mortar barrage early today on the provincial capital of Khiem Cuong, 21 miles northwest of Saigon. This was the town the guerrillas held for three hours in a daring predawn raid two days earlier. Government troops suffered light casualties in the shelling.

In one of the few allied offensive operations to make contact Tuesday, troops of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade reported killing 147 enemy soldiers in a full day of action in the central lowlands 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

At Least Five Dead In Two-House Explosion

READING, Pa. (AP) — Five persons were known dead and five others missing in an apparent gas explosion that rocked two houses Tuesday night, police reported.

Police confirmed five bodies were pulled from the debris early today, but were not immediately identified.

A Reading hospital spokesman tentatively identified one as Robert Stanislaw, a child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanislaw, residents of one of the dwellings.

The blast at 11:30 p.m. destroyed the attached brick homes of Stanislaw and Robert Geiser. Neighbors said the Geiser home had six occupants including Geiser, his wife, three children and his mother or mother-in-in-law. Stanislaw's wife and daughter still were believed trapped in the rubble.

Police said Stanislaw, 48, was treated for shock at Community General Hospital and released in the care of relatives.

Fire Chief Russell Bowers said a four-man city water crew had been digging in front of the homes where the explosions occurred. He could not immediately determine if the crew may have accidentally hit a gas line.

Gas company spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

Kasperak Sits Up, Improving

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — The world's fourth heart transplant patient, Mike Kasperak, was able to sit up and dangle his legs over the edge of his bed at Stanford Medical Center today, doctors said.

They advised the exercise to maintain circulation.

Kasperak's condition was listed as critical "but improving" on the fourth day after his operation, following complications and a setback. The fifth such operation was performed Tuesday at Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The 59-year-old steelworker's condition has been considered satisfactory until Monday, when internal bleeding developed. Physicians said six pints of blood were transfused.

"Gastro-intestinal bleeding has stopped, and liver and kidney functions have slightly improved," the bulletin said.

Meanwhile the body of Mrs. Virginia White, 43, donor of the heart transplanted to Kasperak, was buried in Palo Alto.

"This was a humble yet famous thing, a history-making event," said the Rev. Watten R. Cheatham of the Church of Christ to 250 persons in a funeral home chapel.

Fifth Heart Transplant Performed

Block Dies In 10 Hours

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Block, the world's fifth heart transplant recipient, died today just 10 hours after a surgical team had implanted a much smaller woman's heart into the 170-pound man.

Maimonides Medical Center in Brooklyn said the death occurred at 4:35 a.m. and attributed it to the "pumping capacity of the transplanted heart and the poor condition of the lungs due to the patient's long standing heart disease."

RETIRED FIREMAN

Block, a 57-year-old retired fireman, was put on the hospital's critical list at 12:40 a.m. when the hospital noted doctors were having "difficulty in maintaining his blood pressure." He was reported in "reasonably satisfactory condition" shortly after the surgery.

The hospital released word of the death at about 6:30 a.m. Its statement said, "It was an invaluable effort by the medical team" headed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz—the second transplant the team has performed.

It was the fifth such operation in 37 days. "Much has been learned from this experience and we still hold out great hope for this procedure in patients with severe heart disease," said the statement.

SMALL HEART

The heart of the donor, Miss Helen Krouch of East Peterson, N.J., was "rather small—about half of the size we would have thought best," he said. She weighed less than 100 pounds, he said.

Because of this, the heart could not maintain the body's circulation by itself, Kantrowitz said, and an auxiliary pump was brought into use. The doctors thus performed two bold procedures in the same operation.

Kantrowitz described it as a balloon pump, a balloon inserted into the main artery which inflates and deflates, pulsed to the beat of the heart, to force blood through the heart and the rest of the body; it is connected to an exterior pump.

WORLD'S FIRST

The world's first heart transplant came on Dec. 3 when Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard of Groote Schuur Hospital, Cape Town, South Africa, gave the heart of a young female accident victim to Louis Washkansky, 53 who died of pneumonia after 18 days.

Three days after that operation, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz made the second transplant, this time with infant boys. The baby who received the heart from a baby with fatal brain damage died 6½ hours after the operation.

Kantrowitz said Block had had several heart attacks and suffered from severe heart failure! The donor, Miss Krouch, had a "rapidly expanding brain tumor," he said.

Miss Krouch went into unconsciousness Monday at Barnert Memorial Hospital in East Paterson and was brought to Maimonides early Tuesday. She died about noon, and the operation began.

GAVE APPROVAL

In East Paterson, the donor's father said his daughter commented, while watching a television program on transplants last Sunday, "If I knew I was going to die, I'd like my heart to be used to save somebody's life."

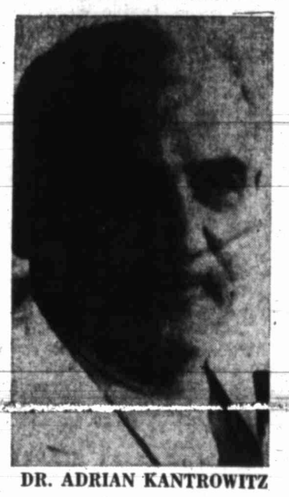

Joseph J. Krouch said that remark encouraged him to give his approval for the operation. "I'm glad part of her is alive," he said after the surgery. "Our prayers and hopes are with the man who now has her heart."

Sixth Transplant Plans Being Made

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Preparations for the world's sixth heart transplant operation were under way at an Oklahoma City hospital Tuesday, the Daily Oklahoman reported.

Three Oklahoma City cardiovascular surgeons were preparing for the operation "within the next few days," dependent on matching a proper donor and recipient, the report said.

JOHNSON WITH HIM: MONEY, MARBLES, CHALK

Ben Barnes May Usurp Demo Leadership

By The Associated Press

Chances are good that Texas' next governor, whoever he is, will wake up one fine morning next spring and discover that Ben Barnes runs the state Democratic party, not the governor.

And if things break just right for the 29-year-old speaker of the House, he could lead the Texas delegation to the national Democratic convention and make a nominating speech for President Lyndon Johnson.

Recent political huddles over the state indicate that some of Texas' most powerful political speculators have decided to sit out the hectic governor's race in 1968 and concentrate on keeping control of the state party.

Barnes, who is expected to have an easy race for lieutenant governor, is the choice of many of these influential party leaders, and contributors.

Right now, most opposition comes from long-time backers of Gov. John Connally who think their man should continue as party general although he is not seeking re-election. This was some of the discussion at a recent super secret strategy meeting on Connally's Floresville ranch.

"Barnes is live bait, while Connally is dead bait—that's the difference," said one politican plotter. "Connally can't understand that when he said he was not running again, he was dead politically."

A Connally leader disagrees. He predicted that only Connally, with his long political know-how and organization could hold the conservative bulwarks of the party against any attack by Sen. Ralph Yarborough's liberals or the Republicans.

President Johnson apparently will be the one to decide.

Connally reportedly pointed out to his supporters at the Floresville ranch meeting that he and the President are still on good terms.

Barnes' backers say Johnson has chosen Barnes.

The President has said nothing publicly. There are different versions of what he has said privately.

There's one story of the President telling Barnes goodbye after a holiday party and saying: "Mr. Speaker, I want you to know I am with you—money, marbles or chalk."

Backers of both Connally and Barnes say privately that none of the possible Democratic candidates for governor with conservative or moderate leanings appear strong enough to fight off any liberal Democratic or Republican challenges and at the same time carry Texas easily for Johnson.

If Connally wants to keep his political power, his backers undoubtedly will make some sort of move March 11 when the State Democratic Executive Committee meets to apportion delegates for the state conventions June 8 and Sept. 17 and generally make party plans for the 1968 presidential election year. Connally's supporters dominate this 62-member committee as they have for the past six years.

But the big test comes May 4 at the precinct conventions when supporters of Barnes, Connally, Yarborough, and others will be asked to start a unstoppable re-election drive for Lyndon B. Johnson.

THOUSANDS SIDELINED

Texans Suffer Miseries Of Flu

By The Associated Press

Influenza and flu-like cases put the pinch on much of Texas Wednesday with tens of thousands incapacitated by the annoying ailments that brought misery but few serious illnesses.

A telephone survey by the State Health Department, officials of the agency said, showed incidence of the respiratory ailments rising in the Panhandle, across North Texas and in the Austin and Laredo vicinities.

100,000 CASES

The ailments declined, however, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the department's spokesmen said, adding that the Gulf Coast area had not yet been affected "appreciably."

Dr. Hal Dewlett, city health officer in Dallas, said more than 100,000 cases of the illnesses were treated in the Dallas area during the past two weeks. The epidemic, he added, has affected 10 to 12 per cent of the population.

Health Commissioner J. E. Peavey said in Austin that the flu and upper respiratory ailments reached epidemic proportions in some areas. "The Dallas-Fort Worth area and the Laredo vicinity have been particularly hard hit," he added.

ABSENTEEISM

And while school absenteeism in Dallas showed some decrease Dr. Margaret Cigarros in Laredo, the city's health officer, said she could see no decline in the incidence there.

Absenteeism rose Tuesday in the Port Arthur area because of the inclement weather and the flu, showing 12.5 per cent absent Monday and sky-rocketing to 29.79 per cent Tuesday. In the Port Neches School District, the rise was from 10 to 12.35 per cent and climbed from 11.62 per cent in Nederland to 17 per cent.

Some 500 teachers were absent Tuesday from Houston schools because of illness. A spot check showed 25 per cent absenteeism among pupils. Substitutes and practice teachers, all available, were called into fill the teacher gaps.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

Houston's city health department said thousands were down with respiratory ailments but said its laboratory had produced not a single flu diagnosis.

Schools at Henrietta and Vernon closed Tuesday due to the high rate of absences. Vernon schools quit until next Monday after 760 pupils and 15 teachers stayed at home. Henrietta said the high incidence of respiratory ailments along with the icy weather caused its schools to close Tuesday and Wednesday.

In San Antonio, Dr. William Ross, the city health director, said there had been no confirmed cases of Asian flu and said the incidence of upper respiratory ailments was "about average for this time of year."

Ross said extensive checks with San Antonio schools and large industrial and business firms showed no unusual number of absences.

MIXED AILMENTS

The Fort Worth city health director, Dr. W. V. Bradshaw, said the flu-like illnesses in his city appeared to be declining. But he said he still considered the incidence at epidemic proportions. He estimated "more than 50,000" down with the illnesses.

"I think it's going to be several weeks before it gets back to normal incidence," Bradshaw said. He described the ailments as "a mixed type of thing, partly flu, partly something else."

Dr. J. R. Copenhaver, health director in the Cameron and Hidalgo County area, said flu-type ailments appeared to be declining in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. He said Hidalgo County had 100 cases last week compared to 150 the week before.

Schools at Harlingen, Brownsville and Los Fresnos reported absenteeism reached 35 per cent during the past few days but blamed much of it on the recent cold weather.

Dares The Jury To Impose Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I prefer death to spending the rest of my life in prison," Jack Kirschke told jurors trying to decide his penalty for two killings.

Kirschke, a former deputy district attorney who once was in line for a judgeship, appeared gaunt Tuesday as he went before the jury that convicted him of murdering his wife and her alleged lover.

DEATH BET

Speaking slowly, he dared the panel to impose death—one of the only two possible verdicts under California law for first-degree murder.

"I did not shoot my wife and I did not shoot Bill Drankhan," the 46-year-old Kirschke declared. "And I am willing to bet my life on that—that is about as far as you can go.

The jury of six men and six women, before whom Kirschke declined to appear during his four-month trial, deliberated slightly more than an hour after Kirschke finished his appeal. In the hushed courtroom was Albert C. S. Ramsey, his defense attorney whom Kirschke dismissed in order to make his penalty plea during the penalty phase of his trial.

NEAR TEARS

Kirschke's statement, in which he said he had been wrongly convicted, was interrupted frequently by Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris who urged it be restricted to the subject of the penalty hearing.

Kirschke was a prosecutor for 11 years before being convicted Dec. 19 of shooting to death his dress designer wife, Elaine, 43, and her friend, Orville William Drankhan, 43, while they were in bed in the Kirschkes' Long Beach apartment last April.

Close to tears, Kirschke told the jury that if he was given life in prison instead of death "people will think that when you got down to the nitty gritty, down to the $64 question, you blinked; that if you had the courage of your convictions you'd have followed through."

SO BE IT

"If this be construed, as it undoubtedly will, as throwing down the gantlet, so be it . . . so be it," he said.

By giving him a death sentence, Kirschke said, he might be assured quicker action by appellate courts and it would ensure that he wouldn't be killed in a prison yard someday by a convict because he was once a prosecutor of the law.

Added Kirschke:

"I don't mind dying, if it's the will of the jury and if all the courts way up the chain of command including the nine men back in Washington say, 'Yeah, Jack, that's it'."

Texas Water Exec Named

AUSTIN (AP) — The manager of the $400 million Texas Water Development fund, Howard B. Boswell, has been appointed executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, succeeding Joe G. Moore Jr.

Moore has been appointed commissioner of the federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

Boswell's appointment was announced Tuesday by Mills Cox, chairman of the board. The appointment is effective Feb. 1.

"Mr. Boswell has had a long and successful career in the field of water development in the field of water development in Texas and is well-known and respected throughout the state," Cox said. "He will serve Texas and the Texas Water Development Board well."

SHRIVER SAYS:

Whites Don't Buy Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity says the antipoverty agency has failed to make white, middle-class Americans believe they benefit directly from helping the poor.

EVERYONE BENEFITS

"We've got to come up with a plan or a way to demonstrate to the middle class that everyone benefits when a person out of work gets a job," Shriver said in an interview Tuesday. "There must be some way."

Shriver said the task of winning support from the $8,000 to $20,000 income group rates concentrated effort by the antipoverty agency this year—but he is not sure what approach will be taken.

"The elimination of poverty is a goal that will benefit white people as well as black people," Shriver added.

"We've gotten through pretty well to the leadership groups—the doctors, the lawyers, the social workers, the politicians—and to the lower levels," he said. "But we haven't gotten through or penetrated to the mass in the middle.

ROBIN HOOD

"There is a gross misunderstanding about what we're doing. They look upon this program as a Robin Hood program—that we rob from the rich and give to the poor.

"It's true we're using taxes paid by the rich—not to give to the poor but to help the poor get out of poverty so they can become independent of the government, get off welfare, begin to earn their living and become consumers and participants in the free private enterprise system."

Shriver reiterated he has made no decision on whether he'll leave his post soon, possibly to pursue a political career in Illinois, his home state.

There have been rumors off and on for the past two years—especially in recent weeks—that he would run either for governor of Illinois or for U.S. senator from that state. Candidates seeking to run in Illinois must file by March 11.

Disagreeable Cold Weather Lingers

By The Associated Press

Dank and gloomy weather maintained its hold on nearly all of Texas and a sharp chill returned to the Panhandle today.

It was just cold enough for a light drizzle to freeze again across parts of the state's northern section, particularly from Abilene eastward through Fort Worth and Dallas.

WARNINGS

The Weather Bureau renewed warnings to motorists about the hazards of icy roads in the Abilene-Dallas sector. Travelers were advised to avoid trips toward Oklahoma City or into Southeastern Oklahoma, also because of icing.

Slush and patches of old ice deposited two to three days earlier had about disappeared over most of the vast expanse crippled by the worst weather of the season. Highway patrolmen cautioned drivers to stay on guard, however, for occasional spots of glazing on bridges and overpasses.

Residents of the Panhandle—the only portion of the state with clear skies—shivered in temperatures well below freezing.

MORE DRIZZLE

Dalhart recorded 12 degrees above zero before dawn. The mercury dipped to 15 in Dumas and 16 at Amarillo.

Readings elsewhere in early morning ranged from the 20s into the 40s, with Brownsville the warmest spot at 48 degrees.

These marks compared with Tuesday afternoon highs running from only 29 at Lubbock up to a warm 58 at Alpine and 60 at Presidio in the Big Bend of West Texas.

Forecasts promised still more freezing drizzle tonight and early Thursday in part of Northwest Texas and occasional drizzle elsewhere across the northern half of the state. South Central and Southwest Texas were the only sections expected to warm a bit.

TB Funds Drive Lags

Harold Bentley today urged that checks in support of the Tuberculosis Association seal campaign be mailed in as soon as possible.

The Christmas Seal appeal this year is lagging after showing a slight lead in the early stages.

Around 2,800 re-reminders have been mailed to friends of past years, and Bentley pointed out that the funds were needed as keenly as ever.

The association carries on a program of administering TB control tests in the elementary schools and following up with X-ray and detailed tests in case of positive reaction. In addition, it furnishes or assists in furnishing drugs in some indigent cases. The association also works toward hospitalization in some instances.

Although there has been some publicity about a serum which may help win the fight against TB, Bentley pointed out that this is not yet the case. In fact, in recent years, TB has been on the increase despite best efforts to whip the white plague.

Police Help Promised DA Probing Booze Board

DALLAS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said his staff and state agents would confer today on steps to be taken in investigating the Texas Liquor Control Board.

The assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Maj. W. E. Spier, told the Dallas prosecutor Tuesday that all its facilities would be made available.

'PROTECTION' SCHEME

Liquor board administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. said in Austin, meanwhile, that he knew of no impending probes into affairs of the agency aside from inquiries already being made in Dallas and Smith Counties.

Wade said earlier he asked DPS help to investigate the liquor board on a statewide basis because his two Dallas County investigators had turned up dozens of leads in other parts of the state plus what might be a so-called "protection" scheme involving some of its agents.

"They will do everything out of the county and some work here," Wade said after being assured of assistance from DPS investigators.

PAY OFF

The Dallas News reported that investigators have a sworn statement from a tavern operator that he paid a Dallas man $50 to negotiate for a light penalty in a liquor case.

Liquor Control Board operations came under official scrutiny in Dallas after the firing of six employes at its district office there Dec. 13. One was district supervisor James E. Dale, since replaced by the transfer of Thomas W. Head from a like post in Beaumont.

The discharges followed inquiries into allegations of misconduct in disposing of seized whisky and a confiscated truck.

Boozed Bulldozer

HOUSTON (AP)— The Harris County jail attendant said the charge was unusual.

A 29-year-old man was arrested after the vehicle he was driving crashed into an air conditioning unit and the side of a building.

The charge: Drunk driving while operating a bulldozer.

SERIES NO. 22

You know that not everyone can be treated the same due to variances in the spine and the problems of the individual patient. This was the case of this 68 year old woman who suffered with partial paralysis of the right arm. Due to a severe kyphosis (slumping) which had caused her spine to become immobile (fixed) treatment had to be adapted to her physical condition.

With treatment designed for her particular physical abnormality, she regained use of the arm and at no time was there any discomfort for her in the treatment. In fact she was so thrilled to regain the use of the arm and have the associated pains removed that she has sent and referred many, many cases to this office even though she and they live almost 50 miles away. Johnson Still Polishing State Of Union Message

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson concentrated today on the State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress shortly after its return to Washington next week.

Aides said the President was still polishing up some sections.

Congress reconvenes Jan. 15. It has been Johnson's custom to report to a joint session of the legislature on the nation's affairs within a day or two after they assemble. He usually prefers a night appearance, in prime television viewing time.

DOLLAR PLEA

The date and time for the delivery of the State of the Union message have not yet been announced, however.

Nor has the President said when he will return to Washington. He went into his 16th day at the LBJ Ranch today, with Texas weather rainy, overcast and cold.

Johnson sent a message to a group of industrialists meeting in Washington Tuesday night, renewing his appeal to help stop the U.S. dollar drain and end a deficit in the balance of international payments.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler read the President's statement at a dinner meeting of the U.S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee.

Johnson congratulated the group for its "remarkable achievement" in selling $3.5 billion in U.S. savings bonds in 1967 under payroll deduction plans for 2,606,640 employes.

TEXAN TAPPED

There was little official action Tuesday from the Texas White House.

But there were these appointments, subject to Senate confirmation:

William W. Sherrill, 41-year-old former Houston, Tex., businessman and city official, reappointed to the Federal Reserve Board. A Democrat, Sherrill was first appointed last April to fill the term of Charles N. Shepardson, who reached retirement age. Sherrill's new term is 14 years.

Elizabeth J. Kuck of Chicago, named to a $28,000-a-year post on the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Miss Kuck, 52, native of Readstown, Wis., an independent in politics, is supervisor for personnel policies and procedures for the International Harvester Co. She replaces Aileen Hernandez of California, who resigned a commission term that expires July 1, 1970.

Computer Aimed At Halting Stolen Securities Racket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, wielding a computer as its weapon, is activating a plan aimed at thwarting a growing multimillion-dollar racket in stolen securities.

Serial numbers and other information on about 50,000 stolen securities are being fed into a computer that can deliver the information within minutes to thousands of banks and police agencies across the nation.

FBI TRIGGERED

The computer is part of the National Crime Information Center and is operated by the FBI.

Although no government or private agency could supply any figures on the value of the securities stolen annually, Justice Department sources said Tuesday that even a single theft could net more than a million dollars.

Many stolen securities wind up in banks as collateral for loans. The banks do not learn the collateral has been stolen until months after granting the loan when, having received no payments, they try to sell the security.

BIG LOSER

The government is a big loser too. Justice Department figures show the government alone sustains about 2,000 losses a month, mostly in savings bonds.

The Secret Service, which investigates stolen government securities—but only after they have been cashed—says the value of bonds reported stolen now stands at about $20 million.

A Secret Service official told The Associated Press these thefts "are a real concern to us. Years ago burglars would throw these bonds away. But now they are being fenced in rather large quantities through underworld channels. They come to our attention in large amounts."

He said some criminals use elaborate schemes to dispose of stolen securities.

This month the FBI began placing information on stolen securities into its computer, starting with about 50,000 items.

Monthly Draft Requests Of About 40,000 Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the 39,000-man draft call announced for March is a sign of things to come this spring and summer—with monthly manpower requests of about 40,000 or more likely in April, May and June.

Last year's draft summons in the same four-month period averaged only about 15,300 per month.

REPLACEMENTS

The mechanics are that the Army is now in the midst of what the Pentagon calls a major replacement cycle involving the rotation out of service of thousands of men drafted when the Southeast Asia buildup was launched.

By August replacement needs will really be soaring. The reason: In August 1966, when U.S. manpower for the war was escalated, 36,600 men were ordered to duty, followed by 37,300 in September, 49,200 in October and 37,600 in November.

TOURS ENDING

Those men will be ending their two-year tours this fall, and the Pentagon has to allow about five months for the induction process and training in lining up ready replacements. Thus, March inductees actually will be August replacements.

Pentagon planners say it would be somewhat misleading to try to project 1967's April, May and June manpower needs simply by looking at the draft calls of September, October and November, 1966. This is because enlistments and re-enlistments—over which the Pentagon has no control—help determine replacement needs and because the overall planned level of the armed forces must be considered.

A Devotional For The Day

"If two of you agree on earth about anything they ask, it will be done for them by my Father in heaven." (Matthew 18:19, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we bow before Thee in adoration and recall all Thy miracles of deliverance in our lives. We thank Thee for prayers answered above all expectations. Bless us, we pray, as we gather in Thy precious name, and make us a blessing to a needy world. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

Advice Should Be Heeded

George S. Squibb, former vice president of E. R. Squibb & Sons, Inc., indulged in some pretty plain talk when he appeared recently before a congressional committee. The pharmaceutical industry reacted with outraged cries of denunciation.

Squibb is not an official of any drug manufacturer and he does not speak for them, drug industry spokesmen said. He speaks only for himself.

That's true, but Squibb told no more than the truth when he said that the people generally had become alarmed over the high price of drugs. That alarm had been communicated to Congress, he said, and the resulting investigation may lead to federal control of pricing. Drug industry officials took special offense to his charge that price variations for the same drug in different localities or between competing brands was rationally unexplainable. The people have wondered about price variations, too.

From the anguished cries of critics it would be reasonable to suppose that Squibb had advocated socialized drugs: He did no such thing. He defended "reasonable" profits, with emphasis on the reasonable. His criticism of the industry was largely responsible.

The drug industry would be well advised to take Squibb's criticism seriously. For members of Congress, in response to letters from home, are looking into the matter with some sort of legislation in mind. It is almost certain that if the industry will not take appropriate steps to allay public alarm over the rising cost of drugs, then Congress will enforce an unpalatable remedy.

More Money, Same Service

Now the the Post Office department has jolted the public and business with a $900 million annual increase in rates, it is sobering to reflect that there has been no mention of improvement in postal service.

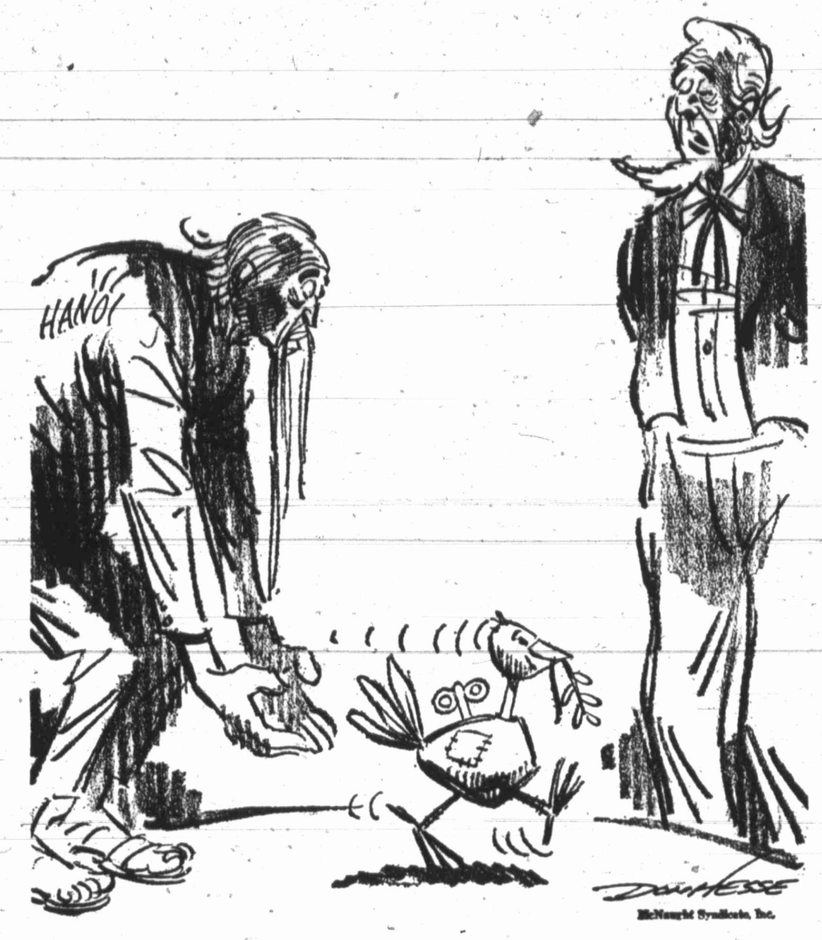

Equally as sad, the new rates will not eliminate the chronic postal deficit — an annual deficit of $436 million is expected by 1970, as compared with the dificit of $942.3 million in 1966, and $1.2 billion by June 30, 1967.

Most ordinary users of mail will resent what they consider the inequities of the increases. Invariably postal rate raises seem to hit hardest the most essential mail — the first class letter and airmail. Not all of the propaganda of the lower class mail users convinces the average citizen that enough postage is charged on the bulk of material which clutters his mail box.

The cost of operating the postal service has not remained static, of course. The volume of mail has grown from 75.6 billion pieces in 1966 to an estimated 83.4 billion pieces for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968. At the same time costs have risen sharply for wages and transportation, the two chief expenses of the service. Some modest attempts toward modernization through automation have been made, but Congress squeezes every penny which might be used in research for new methods and techniques, and views plant expansion with a lackluster eye.

Congress apparently reflects the will of the American people in forcing the postal service to operate on a deficit. For one thing it gives some the opportunity to inveigh against the waste, mismanagement and inefficiency of the postal service, without offering to do the same job cheaper. The evidence is strong that few businesses are operated with more overall efficiency — no private individual or company, for instance, is clamoring to perform the same service at anywhere near the same cost.

It would be simplicity itself to place the postal service on a paying basis, or even make it earn a substantial profit. All that would be needed is to raise the rates, particularly where they are less than cost, some more. But Congress and the people seem satisfied to take tax revenues from one pocket and put it in the postal cost pocket. This is fair enough as long as the people know what's going on.

Peking And Moscow Call Shots

WASHINGTON — Evidence is mounting that the key to a temporary cessation of the fighting and later an end to the war in Vietnam doesn't rest with the Hanoi government alone but with Peking and Moscow as well.

For behind the scenes both of the Communist governments are exerting pressure and telling the North Vietnamese what they can and cannot do.

SIGNIFICANT news dispatches have come recently from British sources over the United Press International wires. These confirm the role being played by the two principal Communist governments. Here is the sequence:

"London, Nov. 2 — North Vietnam's Communist allies have lost virtually all influence over the hardening regime in Hanoi, high diplomatic sources said today. Hardliners in the government of President Ho Chi Minh have intrenched themselves solidly, keeping even their closest allies in a state of uncertainty over military moves and political intentions.

"Any approach for compromise or peace negotiations has been all but banned in Hanoi. The Hanoi regime apparently feels it can play safe, keeping its allies at arms' length because the Soviet Union cannot afford to halt support for her North Vietnamese friends. Any Soviet peace initiative in Hanoi now would be useless, sources say, because nobody apparently wants to listen."

BUT MORE than two months later the story was [illegible] Kong — a British colony with access to Red China's government — is different. Red China's position now is given in a UPI dispatch as follows:

"Hong Kong, Jan. 6 — Communist China was reported today to have turned major diplomatic heat on North Vietnam to block any talks with the U.S. Diplomatic sources with contacts in Peking said the Chinese leadership cautioned the Hanoi regime not to make any hasty peace moves and has dispatched special emissaries to the North Vietnamese capital to reinforce the warning."

SINCE RED CHINA is supplying war materials to North Vietnam, the Hanoi government cannot afford to alienate its Communist ally. The Peking regime opposes any peace moves because of a belief that continued fighting will produce an even bigger drain on the American economy and that inevitably the Johnson administration will have to give way. This is an erroneous impression, of course, but it seems to have been accepted by the Communists as logical.

The Hanoi government nevertheless seems to believe that eventually a cessation of hostilities would lead to an early withdrawal of American forces and North Vietnamese would be able by infiltration to take over South Vietnam.

ONCE THE fighting stops, however, the North Vietnamese will discover that the United States will not get out of Vietnam any more than it abandoned the South Korea Republic in 1953. Indeed, American military forces are still there guarding the Armistice Line.

THE WAR certainly can be ended by Moscow and Peking, but this is likely only when economic pressure is exerted by the American government.

Billy Graham

How can we know if we possess real Christianity? I sometimes wonder about many of us who call ourselves Christian. Is it possible that our concept of Christian ideals have become distorted through the years? Y. T.

Of course it is!

That is why we must go back to the original pattern, Jesus Christ, as a checkpoint. The Bible says, "But they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise." If a carpenter refused to use a tape-line for his measurements, but measured one board by the last one he sawed off, his measurements would not be true. And it is very possible that we Christians have measured ourselves by other Christians, and not by the criterions of Jesus Christ.

Your Christianity is good and vital if it nourishes in you hope and love, and the infinite value of existence; if it renders forgiveness more easily than vengeance; if it acts in love, and not in anger and hate; if it thinks of others rather than self; if it is allied with what is best in you, rather than what is base and low; if it seeks to honor God, and do good to one's neighbors; if it keeps you from being cynical and bitter; if it helps you to look at pain and misfortune, and believe that God is never unkind; if it is out-going, rather than inner-directed; and if it increases your respect for the conscience of others. And last, if it loves the Lord God with all your heart, and all your strength and soul.

Year Of Judgment For Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the year of judgment for President Johnson, making everything that he has done or that has happened to him in 37 years of public life a preparation for the 1968 test which can be briefly stated:

Do the people have enough confidence in him to want him for president again?

EVEN IN 1968 the test could be less than clear-cut if Republicans produce a mediocre candidate to run against him, for then the public reaction might hardly be more than "Better Johnson than that other guy."

And the test might well have been in 1964, instead of 1968, when he beat Barry Goldwater for the presidency so overwhelmingly.

After that victory, if the times had been normal and his presidency had been reasonably good, he could have looked forward to re-election this year rather comfortably.

BUT THE VIETNAM war has divided the country so badly, with a multitude of ill will dumped on Johnson for failing somehow to abandon the war, that it is the major issue now and Johnson is inescapably identified with it.

Just as much of a handicap to him is that his performance in the presidency, aside from the war, has been blurred in the public mind by the war itself, which has consumed time and energy he could have devoted to other fields and other needs.

This in turn put a huge dent in his image as the master politician who had Congress eating out of his hand, for the time he had to spend on the war diminished his contact and influence with the men in the Capitol.

Thus the four years between the 1964 and 1968 elections can give only a foggy picture of what the Johnson presidency might have been if there had been no war.

NO ONE SEEMS to doubt he will run again. But only if he is re-elected and the war disappears and he has then four fairly tranquil years can his performance in the presidency be fairly and fully appraised.

Meanwhile, in the hurly-burly of the years he has already spent in the White House Johnson has had time to examine his virtues and defects as a leader in contact with the people.

His greatest failure, perhaps, is in communication. He has been too stiff, too unskilled in public speaking to arouse deep feeling or personal devotion although it could mean life or death for him politically.

He apparently realizes this for his performance before the television cameras has greatly improved. The best example of this was at his news conference not long ago when he was his free-wheeling self.

SO GETTING ACROSS to the people will be one of his major problems. But another may very well be just trying to make public speeches unmolested by cranks and demonstrators.

The New York Times recently reported the number of persons arrested each year for threatening a president has risen more than 500 per cent since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

The Secret Service, whose job is guarding the president, released figures showing the number of arrests for threats against the president rose from a one-year total of about 80 against Kennedy to about 425 against Johnson last year.

Getting Old Tips

By LEO MARKS

KANSAS CITY (AP) —You know you're getting old when:

People you consider old suddenly start saying hello more often.

You overhear the wife refer to you to your children as "your father," instead of "Daddy," or "Dad."

YOUR GROWN son starts addressing you confidently as "old man," and gets away with it.

Your daughter confides that she's looking for a boy who'll make the kind of husband you've been to mother.

And you advise her not to be so choosy, or she'll wind up an old maid.

Then you wonder what she sees in the boyfriends she does bring around.

THOSE STAIRS to the office get longer, and your breath shorter.

It takes nothing stronger than a hot cup of coffee to relax you after a hard day.

Your father, in his 80s, asks for your advice and takes you into his confidence.

Your mother, in her 70s, begins calling you by your given name, not "Dear," or "Honey."

You find comfort in small things, like holding hands with your wife in the movie show.

YOU NOTICE overnight that her pepper and salt hair has turned completely salt.

And yours has turned the corner to oblivion.

You can't recall when you last asked the boss for a raise, or why you bothered.

THE FACES in the late movies on television look familiar, but you can't remember their names.

And you find yourself nodding off to sleep during the love scenes.

The idea of trading in your old car for a new one would be like deserting your wife for another woman.

Rainbows Around Lights May Be A Warning

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: At night the street and car lights have a rainbow around them. What would this indicate? Would one of the new antibiotics help?—B.M.

This may be one of the warning signs of glaucoma developing. I do not say it is a positive sign of that — but glaucoma is such a dangerous ailment if not treated, that you should by all means be examined by an eye specialist at once. If it is glaucoma, it requires immediate treatment to avert the threat of blindness. I doubt if any antibiotic would help, but that is beside the point. The important goal is for you to find out at once what is causing these halos around lights.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: When I was 11 I had a sore on my ankle which did not heal readily so the doctor gave me X-ray treatments for a number of months.

I also work in a hospital and am sometimes exposed to patients who have radium inserted. I am now 22 and worried what effect this would have in children I have later. How much risk is there that they would be defective?—G.R.

Probably very little risk. The X-ray treatment of your ankle, I would presume, was used with proper shielding so the rays were limited to your ankle, and did not reach your reproductive organs.

As to patients with implanted radium, I wouldn't think you would be in frequent or prolonged contact, and it is my impression that the amount of radiation reaching you would be quite small anyway. The purpose of implanting radium is to place a small amount of radium (and its radiation) very close to the exact area where it is needed, thus avoiding the intense radiation needed if it has to penetrate the body.

For your peace of mind, you might tell one of the doctors in the radiology department what is worrying you. He might provide one of those badges, containing photographic film, which are worn by people who work near any substantial amount of radiation. The density of the film, developed after due time, indicates how much radiation the person has encountered. Wearing such a badge might well prove to you how little radiation you are encountering.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our four-month-old grandson has a naval hernia. When and why were the old fashioned "belly bands" discontinued? Is surgery performed for this, and when? Does this condition correct itself — Mrs. R.E.R.

The old belly bands didn't, in fact, serve any real purpose so they went out of fashion. I don't know exactly when but it's been years since I've seen one.

Navel (belly button) or umbilical hernia is not unusual in babies, and as a rule it corrects itself in a few months, or a year or so. It's the only type of hernia which does correct itself.

Often no treatment is necessary. In some cases a flat object (a 50-cent piece has been used) is kept taped over the navel for a few weeks. If the hernia does not show signs of returning to normal, occasionally surgery is required, but it is nothing to fear. The only way to know when surgery is advisable, if at all, is to let the doctor decide for you.

Around The Rim

A Night On The Cap Rock

About 50 years ago, my father took in a span of mules and a wagon on a debt. There was one problem — the team and wagon were in Post; he was in Lamesa. So he caught the train up to Slaton and back down to Post and took possession of his new property.

THE DAY was bathed in sunshine, almost balmy as he hitched the mules and pointed southwestward toward the cap rock country. He made good time until he rolled into the breaks, but following faint trails, he pressed on.

Then the unexpected happened. A band of gun-metal gray began to inch up from the northern horizon, and before long the deep blue-gray line loomed almost overhead. As the blue norther hit, the mules became friskier and quickened their pace. Before long, however, the cold began to penetrate, and still the temperature dropped.

AS IF THIS were not enough, night came on. Nowhere in that vast expanse of rugged country was there a sign of life except the eerie creak and rattle of wagon and the clinking of the trace chains. He urged the team on, keeping his course as best he could tell. The cold was getting unbearable, so he got down and walked beside the wagon until weary, then crawled stiffly back into the seat.

After he had ridden for several hours, he came to an awful realization. He had been travelling in a circle; he was lost and the wind was getting stronger and the temperature lower.

IT WAS impossible to go on like this, he knew, so with numbed fingers, he managed to unhitch the mules. Then he set out on foot, driving the team. Sometimes he stumbled and fell; sometimes he just had to huddle in a ditch and rest.

When he did this, he began to feel warm and serene. It was such a comfortable feeling that it frightened him for he had heard that freezing to death was a pleasant way to go. But his mind would go back to his wife and children in Lamesa. What would they do without a husband and a father? This prodded him to his feet, and off he stumbled behind the mules, being jerked along more than he walked. He tried talking, and then singing — anything to stay awake. Several times this pattern was repeated during the inpenetrable night.

IN THE BITTER hour before dawn, he topped ridge and saw a flicker in the distance. If was at first like a spark, then it was a faint light. He knew that it had to be a ranch house, so he pointed his mules and his numbed feet toward it.

He banged without feeling on the door, then half fell through it as an astonished John B. Slaughter opened it to find a near-frozen creature standing there. The rancher took him into the room where the stove was and put some cover around him. Then, from the medicine chest he produced a bottle of red-eye and administered a couple of stiff shots.

WHEN MY FATHER finally began to thaw, the rancher assured him the team had been taken care of, and served up a big steaming breakfast. Later they found the wagon, and my father resumed his trip without incident. Now nearing his 92nd birthday, he can still remember, when he gets a gullet full of cold air, his night on the cap rock in blue norther.

Free Form Firms Face Solid Tests

NEW YORK (AP) — This coming year of change should provide a solid test for the most glamorous idea in corporate management, the free form concept.

Free form is a term applied to companies which orient themselves to opportunities rather than industries. They seek profits where they can find them—in pollution control, for example—rather in specific industries.

FREE FORM seeks not to stick to its last because to do so in this day of science, technology and transition is perhaps to end up last. "Whatever became of the country's big ice companies?" it asks.

It means a company in the paper industry might spot opportunities for profits in greeting cards or plywood, and thus utilize its know-how and products more efficiently, or even in shipping or running a Job Corps center. A free concept company is always willing to take risks to keep growing.

TO EFFECT ITS PLANS, free form management usually buys a related company by offering its own stock. Because of this it never forgets stockholders or the price of its stock, both of which are essential to growth. It is responsive to stockholders; it keeps them informed.

In carrying out its concept, free form assigns as much importance to flexibility, creativity and initiative as the old management concept does to efficiency. And when it takes over an older company, a free form management attempts to motivate the older company to greater achievement.

IT BELIEVES that the traditional market boundaries are restrictive, that a steel company should not limit itself to steel but should consider the entire market and perhaps diversify into plastics and even urban renewal.

The two most commonly used examples of the concept are Litton Industries and Textron, both of which have had enormous growth in the past decade, mostly through acquiring other companies, and which have taught managers of many other free form corporations.

EQUITY RESEARCH Associates, an independent investment research house that has studied Litton, Textron and other new management companies, identifies it this way:

"It is a philosophy rather than a type of corporate structure. It is 'opportunity oriented' toward the widest possible range of industries and products, whereas traditional management is 'industry oriented' toward particular markets, customers or techniques."

IT IS CHARACTERIZED, Equity says, by youth, entrepreneurial spirit—free form managers are committed to growth, which they participate in through stock ownership more so than salary—motivation, a small headquarters staff, a desire to return the top dollar to stockholders, the use of computers, a high degree of financial knowledge, and aggressive marketing.

What makes the free form concept of unusual importance is its development at the same time that old proprietary management is being phased out, at the same time the family run organization is giving way to professional management.

The Problem Cannot Be Equated

WASHINGTON — Sen. Edmund Muskie (D., Maine), like many liberals, can't resist the catnip of racism.

He is a sincere and industrious man, but he gets led astray on the up-from-prejudice theme. Boastfulness of this sort is unattractive, even when factually justified, and in the instance of the Polish-extracted Muskie, it is not. It is also an unstatesmanlike trait, and there is hardly a worse place for racial exhibitionism than in the McClellan committee hearings on riotology where Muskie participated as a member.

HE WAS THERE for the testimony this winter of Negro Fred Brooks, a functionary of the notorious Liberation School of Nashville. The bushy-haired Brooks, under questioning by the chairman, showed himself alternately pitiful and dangerous, psychotic and lawless. He is an ill-educated, angry young man to whom a white skin is like a red flag to a bull. The gravamen of his discourse was that Western Civilization should be junked, and a new start made under the likes of Stokley Carmichael, Rap Brown and the late Malcolm X, whom Brooks recommended to school children as a "black, shining knight."

Chairman McClellan was methodically trussing up Brooks in the latter's tangled web of malice, evasion and contradiction, and that should have been sufficient unto the day. But there came Muskie's turn to question, and the senator took off on the inferential line that his handicaps in life were comparable to those of the pathetic Negro witness.

"I AM," said Muskie, "the first Polish-American ever to be elected governor of a state . . . the first Polish-American ever to reach the Senate of the United States."

Muskie kept pouring it on. "I am entirely Polish . . . In Buffalo, N. Y., where my mother was born there is a substantially Polish - American community . . ." and he was still at it when McClellan interrupted to say there's been a Senate roll-call signal.

WELL, THERE IS no more honored race in America than the Poles. Their monuments stand all over the country. Far back in 1609 some 30 Polish glass-blowers were members of the colony at Jamestown, Va., and have their monument at Williamsburg. Pulaski and Kosciuszko were Revolutionary Army officers under George Washington. There is a statue in this city to Pulaski at 13th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, and a statue to Kosciuszko across the avenue from the White House. A name-changing Pole, Teodor Josef Konrad Korzeniowski, became Joseph Conrad, who broke through to international recognition in 1913 when the New York Herald serialized his 15th book, "Chance." At Conrad's death in 1924, H. L. Mencken called him "incomparably the greatest artist who ever wrote a novel."

I HAVE ALREADY written an overkill here against the political practice of equating hyphenated American background with the Negro problem. It is a practice that deserves to be stomped on, and I regret having to single out Ed Muskie, who is not the worst offender. But we are never going to get along with subduing the violence or redressing the wrongs in the Negro uprising by pretending it is anything like the Americanization of other minorities.

NOR IS IT helpful to over-kill the subject of our guilt toward the Afro-American. Black slavery here was a legacy of colonialism. The Constitution outlawed the slave trade with a cutoff date of 1808. Slavery itself was abolished in a war fought almost entirely by white men, one of the noblest acts of history. What we face today, as the McClellan hearings begin to show, is the attempt of white incendiaries to enlist black people for the pillage of a society that protects us all.

A LOVELIER YOU

Make Face Look Its Best At Early Hour

By MARY SUE MILLER

Legend has it that only children wake up in the morning with bright, rosy faces. And even they have been known to look a bit haggard.

In more mature circles, very few faces come alive until the day is half gone. Eyes are shadowed and perhaps puffy. The skin is a ghostly color and maybe kind of lax. The sight is depressing to the face in the mirror and to the face as seen across the breakfast able or in the office.

Do you know that your morning face ould look fresh as a dewy dawn? If the idea interests you, simply get up 10 minutes earlier than is your custom. Groan all you like at the thought of missing a few minutes' sleep. Really it's of so little value when you wake up looking 10 years older.

In that 10 minutes you could give your face a refresher course. It's easy as should be in those first jolting minutes of wakefulness.

Get out of bed slowly — stretch and yawn to your heart's content. Once on your feet pull up tall. Pull up the knee, thigh and stomach muscles. That way you tune up most of your beauty muscles from legs to face.

Get your circulation going by breathing deeply for one full minute at an open window. This brings color to your cheeks and awakens your alertness. Your with-it-ness!

Now to your usual ablutions and a special waker-upper. This is a series of cold water compresses, applied to face and throat for a full five minutes. Believe it, your face can then face up to the day.

Texas, Baylor Advance To Top In SWC Race

By The Associated Press

Texas and Baylor pulled out ahead Tuesday and remained tied for the lead in Southwest Conference basketball race and the other teams started to string out behind them.

The Texas Longhorns had to beat back a desperate rally by the Texas Christian Horned Frogs, previously unbeaten in conference play, for a narrow 66-65 victory. Baylor led all the way for an easy 80-69 victory over Arkansas.

In a third game of the evening, the Rice Owls handed defending champion Southern Methodist its third straight defeat with a 73-71 threshing.

Texas and Baylor now have identical 3-0 loop records to pace the conference. Texas Christian and Rice are tied for second place with 2-1 marks. Texas A&M and Arkansas are both 1-2 while Southern Methodist and Texas Tech are joint occupants of the cellar with 0-3 records.

A layup by Gary Overbeck with one minute and eight seconds left provided the winning margin for the Longhorns, who then had to turn back two TCU scoring threats. The Horned Frogs sank 27 field goals to Texas' 21 but the Longhorns made 24 points at the free throw line compared to 11 for TCU.

The Arkansas Razorbacks managed to tie the score three times in the first half but thereafter were never able to come closer than six points to the Bears. Ed Thorpe paced Baylor with 21 points.

Rick Mount Taking Up Slack At Purdue

By The Associated Press

Rick Mount is getting used to playing without his steel lining, and this still could provide a silver lining to what has been a disappointing basketball season for Purdue.

With the much-publicized sophomore wearing a steel lining in his left shoe because of a broken bone suffered last October, Purdue staggered to a 5-4 record.

Then last Saturday, Mount played without the lining as the Boilermakers opened their Big Ten season against Ohio State. But Mount scored only 19 points and Purdue lost 108-80.

However, in a Big Ten game at Wisconsin Tuesday night, Mount looked as if he's ready to concentrate on providing support instead of depending on it, by hitting on 16 of 32 field goal attempts and eight straight foul shots for a collegiate high of 40 points in Purdue's 99-79 victory.

Purdue's state rival, Indiana, also won. But the defending league champion Hoosiers had a much more difficult time, edging home team Illinois 61-60 in overtime to run their Big Ten record to 2-0 and their over-all mark to 8-3.

Vern Payne's basket with 28 seconds left won it for Indiana. A field goal by Les Bushboom and Jodie Harrison's two fouls shots enabled Illinois to send the game into overtime at 55-55.

Kent State upset Toledo 68-66, ending the Rockets' six-game winning streak as Bruce Burden and Fred Brown sank two free throws each in the last 40 seconds of the Mid-American Conference game at Toledo, Ohio.

In another overtime thriller, Roger Brown's foul shot with 12 seconds left gave Canisius a 66-65 road victory at Syracuse. A jump shot by Canisius' Tom Hardeman at the buzzer sent the game into extra period.

And in a Southern Conference game at Richmond, Va., the hometown Spiders fell victim to some foul play. Virginia Military made 38 of 38 fouls shots in beating Richmond 91-85.

In other games, Duke trounced Clemson 101-79, Yale blasted Brown 86-54, Duquesne drubbed Iona 100-47, Kansas State upended Nebraska 78-62, Oklahoma edged Oklahoma State 61-58.

Wichita State ripped North Texas 81-63, Rice nipped Southern Methodist 73-71, Texas outlasted Texas Christian 66-65, Baylor whipped Arkansas 80-63 and New Mexico State thrashed Santa Fe 105-62. All were home victories.

St. Joseph's Pa., beat Xavier, Ohio, 71-60 and Temple topped Pennsylvania 72-64 in a doubleheader at Philadelphia, and LaSalle scored a road victory, 71-51 over New Orleans Loyola.

Okie, Barry In Spotlight

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Two young champions making their first appearances in the Bing Crosby Pro-Am Golf Tournament will share the spotlight the next four days with such perennial stars as Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Arnold Palmer.

They are Bob Dickson of Muskogee, Okla., only the third man ever to win the British and U.S. Amateur titles in the same year, and Rick Barry, scoring champion of the National Basketball Association last season.

Dickson is paired with Casper, who is seeking his third Crosby victory and is favored to win or finish high in both the pro and pro-am division. First money is $16,000 and $2,700, respectively.

Barry, who has been shooting in the 70s and low 80s while under a court order not to play with any team except the San Francisco Warriors before his option expires, will pair with young Ray Floyd, former International Jaycee Amateur champion.

The $104,500 tournament, the 27th in Bing's series, pairs 168 pros with 168 amateurs. They will rotate the first three days over three courses: Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and new Spyglass Hill, a Crosby site only a second year. Each is par 72.

Sunday, those who survive the cut will play the final 18 holes over exacting and often windswept Pebble Beach.

Nicklaus will defend the crown he won last year with 284. Casper was runner-up with 289 and Palmer third with 291.

Back to defend their pro-am laurels are the Souchak brothers, Mike and Frank, whose 259 was three shots better than three teams tied for second.

Alamo City In NFL Bid

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A car dealer said Tuesday that a group of businessmen here are making a serious bid for a National Football League franchise.

B. J. McCombs said the group have been seriously pursuing a franchise for about 13 months and will attend a Feb. 14 meeting in New York of NFL club owners.

He also said the group is "actively working on a stadium" to house a team should the franchise be granted.

The San Antonio News said the group was trying to recruit the franchise and that the NFL is expected to expand into two cities in 1970. The newspaper said Seattle has one of the franchises almost assured and that Tulsa and San Antonio are in competition for the other.

Monroe Leads Bullet Surge

By The Associated Press

Earl "The Pearl" returned to the place where his brilliance first attracted attention and proved the glow still is there.

"The Pearl" is Earl Monroe of the Baltimore Bullets and he led them to a 121-118 National Basketball Association victory over the Cincinnati Royals Tuesday night in Winston-Salem, N.C., where he starred in college.

In other games, St. Louis came from behind for an easy 121-109 victory over Chicago at Evansville, Ind. The New York Knicks won their fifth straight with a 118-105 victory over host San Diego and Detroit whipped San Francisco 118-102 at Oakland.

In the first American Basketball Association All-Star game, the East beat the West 126-120 in Indianapolis, Ind.

Monroe equaled his season high with 37 points and his two free throws with two minutes left pulled the Bullets out of a jam after Cincinnati got within reach at 115-114. Kevin Loughery followed with a basket and Baltimore was safely ahead 119-114.

Oscar Robertson led the Royals with 27 points.

St. Louis protected its slim Western Division lead by coming from 12 points down early in the second quarter and caught the Bulls at 70-70. The last tie was at 79 when Zelmo Beaty put the Hawks ahead to stay with a basket and Len Wilkens added three points. The lead reached 119-102 with two minutes left.

Wilkens, hitting 22 points in the second half, finished with 30. Bob Boozer had 23 for Chicago.

The Knicks overcame a 56-54 halftime deficit on the shooting of Willis Reed, who hit 16 of his 24 points in the final half. John Barnhill had 22 for the Rockets.

Dave Bing, with 33 points, paced Detroit over San Francisco. The Vistons reeled off a 17-6 burst in the second period to break a 32-32 tie and stayed ahead the rest of the way. Rudy LaRusso topped the Warriors with 28 points.

NEW YORK (AP) — Proposals to study and try to eliminate head and neck injuries in college football have been approved at the annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Carl Blyth of the NCAA's joint commission on competitive safeguards and medical aspects of sports announced Tuesday that two studies would be made in the coming year.

The possibility of refining the football helmet to "insure the ultimate protection of football players" will be undertaken at the University of Michigan, Blyth said. Recommendations are also to be made of techniques to reduce head and spinal injuries.

A study at Maryville, Tenn., College will be undertaken to evaluate the neck collar currently in use in college football to see if it is doing the job it is supposed to, Blyth said. To date, he added, no research has been made in that area.

In other action taken at the convention, Abe Martin, former head coach and now athletic director at Texas Christian, was named winner of the Amos Alonzo Stagg award for service to football by the trustees of the American Football Coaches Association.

Also on the award front, former Massachusetts Senator Leverett Saltonstall was given the Theodore Roosevelt Award at the NCAA's annual honors award luncheon.

The award cited Saltonstall's "devotion to intercollegiate athletics as an undergraduate and his continuing dedication to higher athletics."

The finals of the 1970 NCAA basketball tournament were awarded to the University of Maryland and will be played March 19-21. The format for that year and 1969 will be changed to have the semifinal games played on Thursday night and the finals on Saturday afternoon.

And yet another voice was added to the chorus taking part in the controversy between the NCAA and the Amateur Athletic Union over the control of amateur track. This time it was Theodore Kheel, chairman of the federal panel trying to solve the problem.

Kheel promised that the long-awaited decision of the panel would be made soon and "we expect the principals to be morally bound to abide by the decision."

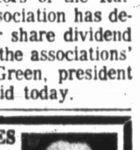

Kheel indicated the ruling would come before the meet of the U.S. Track and Field Federation, scheduled for Feb. 9 at Madison Square Garden.

The federation will not ask the AAU to sanction its meet and college athletes who compete in it against open athletes could lose their AAU-given eligibility to compete in international meets.

Jayhawks Rack Up Third League Win

LEVELLAND — The apogee of the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks gets bigger.

The team from Big Spring, rated back in the pack before the Western Conference season began, made South Plains College its third straight victim with an impressive 87-53 victory achieved here Tuesday night.

South Plains is now 1-3 in the race and 9-7 over-all. HC returns to play Friday night against Odessa in Odessa.

The Texans hit the court planning to use a stall but never got to make use of it. HCJC jumped into a quick lead and by half time was in charge 39-17.

Wally Stuart led the Big Springers in scoring with 21 points. Three other HC players hit in double figures, Hiron Hubert getting 17, Robert Jackson 14 and Barry Linder 12.

Larry Lekk paced the Texans with 15 points. Jimmy Poe was the only other South Plains player to hit in double figures —he settled for 11.

In the rebounding department, Jackson grabbed off 11 for HC. Stuart had nine, Hubert eight, Terry Fields and Robbie Lemons seven each, Barry Linder five, Larry Linder three, Bruce Belcher and Mickey Wilson two each and Simon Terrazas one.

The Hawks out - rebounded South Plains, 56-29, and hit 44 per cent of their shots from the field, compared to 39 for the Texans.

At the foul line, Buddy Travis' team showed improvement, too, getting 21 of 29 for 73 per cent.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Dee Andros, coach of the Oregon State football team which upset USC and Purdue the past season, was too small to play a guard position for the University of Oklahoma, but he emerged as one of the best in the school's history.

Dee was appointed a company cook for the U.S. Marines on Iwo Jima during World War II and he thought it was the natural thing to do because "Greeks are cooks."

Then he added:

"That applies, except in the case of my brother, Plato. With his name he didn't have to work. All he did was make believe he was thinking."

One day on Iwo Jima, Dee charged out of the galley when asked to help a combat patrol seek out enemy machine gun pockets. He succeeded so well he was awarded the Bronze Star for gallantry in action.

A backfield man named Sal Cirensione fell out for football at Oregon State one time and his name proved to be a tongue-twister for his coach.

"After you score a few touchdowns, I'll get to know it," said Andros, whose real name is Demosthenes Konstandis Andrecopolous.

Ben Davidson, who'll be playing alongside Big Spring's Danny Birdwell for Oakland in Sunday's Super Bowl game at Miami, had his talents assayed by the New York Giants, Green Bay and Washington in the NFL and was found wanting — before he went west.

Oakland, which has a reputation for harboring the oppressed, welcomed Davidson and worked with him until his real talents surfaced.

He's become one of the best defensive ends in pro football but success hasn't spoiled him at all. He enjoys, more than anything else, packing his motorcycle with three days' supply of C rations, a sleeping mattress, an extra tin of gasoline and riding into the primitive countryside of Mexico.

Davidson is the fellow who wears a handle-bar mustache, so he shouldn't be too hard to pick out in Sunday's telecast of the championship game.

When he visits in the remote areas of Mexico, the natives are often startled by the sight of him. He may be singled out by the Packers Sunday, too, but they won't stand around on first one foot and then the other staring at him.

One of them is apt to try and tweak that lip foliage.

Dennis Walling, who departed Dallas Baptist College for the head basketball coaching job at West Texas State University in Canyon, may be counting almost exclusively on junior college transfers the next few seasons rather than boys who will be with him for four years.

His freshman team recently lost to the Texas Tech Picadors, 91-36. The Canyon team had only 17 points at the half. Pratt Lyons scored all but 14 of the West Texas club's points.

Five of the seven coaches who took part in the poll to forecast a basketball winner in District 2-AAA picked Odessa Ector to win it all. (The other two went for Andrews and one of those, no doubt, was Ector's coach, Moe Madison).

Big Spring beat both clubs and, although it shaded Ector more handily, the Eagles probably looked stronger than Andrews. On occasions, the Eagles can be great.

Tommy Nobis Is Honored

By The Associated Press

Tommy Nobis, the former University of Texas star who is in his second year of pro football with the Atlanta Falcons, has been named Texas pro athlete of the year.

Nobis received 26 first place votes in the poll by the Texas Sports Writers' Association selection committee.

In a close vote, Nobis took first place, Rusty Staub of the Houston Astros baseball team took second, and Houston auto racer A. J. Foyt placed third.

Other finishers, in order, were Hoyle Granger of the Houston Oilers, Charlie Taylor of the Washington Redskins, Homer Jones of the New York Giants football team, Bob Lilly of the Dallas Cowboys, and George Sauer of the New York Jets.

Nobis was named to the National Football League's all-pro team as middle linebacker after a great year with the Falcons although the Atlanta team had a losing season.

Staub was one of the leading hitters in the National League. He made a determined bid for the batting title, hitting over .350 much of the season and finishing with a .333 average.

Foyt is the leading auto racing driver of all times, both in victories and money winnings.

Stanton Buffaloes Win Three Cage Contests

By DARWIN McBETH

STANTON — The Buffaloes made a clean sweep of things here Tuesday night as they took a trio of games from Coahoma.

The Bulldog varsity squad suffered a 99-51 shellacking at the hands of Stanton, while their feminine counterparts were on the short end of a 46-25 count.

The Stanton junior varsity emptied the bench as they put a 67-45 defeat to the discredit of the Bulldogs.

The Buffs, paced by David Avery's 34-point performance, were aided by an unusual number of fouls, aimed at Coahoma.

However, the high - powered offense and stingy defense of Stanton was the big show as the Buffs roared to a quick eight-point lead which never was headed.

Minus their top two scoring aces, the Bulldogettes suffered their fifth seasonal loss. The 21-point bulge which the feminine Buffs sported at the final buzz was the largest losing margin posted by the Bulldogettes.

Leading the fem's scoring battle were Coahoma's Ann Stout, with 16, and Kay Harrell and Kathy Biggs of Stanton, who had 14 each.

Larry Jones of Stanton paced the B-team scorers with 24 netrippers.

CRMWD Awards Pact, Okays 1968 Water Rates

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District let a contract for 17 oil well mounds here today and established water rates for 1968 to member cities.

The over-all picture on rates will remain about the same, although there will be some variations due to the change in percentage of consumption by a city in relation to the total deliveries to member cities.

WEATHERFORD WINNER

Roland L. Scherer of Weatherford formally was awarded the contract to build 17 mounds in the Humble IAB field in Coke County on a proposal of $465,058. His offer was slightly under that of Gilven-Terrill, Amarillo, for $474,285. Work will start immediately.

The next contract letting by the district is due around March 1, said O. H. Ivie, general manager, and will be for diversion works and side storage of mineralized water on the Colorado River in northwest Mitchell County.

The Odessa rate for 1968 will be $56,475 monthly fixed charge plus six cents per thousand for all water consumed. If Odessa takes its estimated quantity of 4.171 billion gallons during the year, the rate will figure at 22.25 cents per thousand gallons. Last year, because Odessa took more than estimated, its actual rate was 20.79 instead of the 22.38 estimated at the start of the year.

BIG SPRING RATE

The Big Spring rate for 1968 will be $21,851 monthly fixed charge plus six cents per thousand gallons. If Big Spring uses the estimated 2.750 billion gallons in 1968, this will figure out to 15.54 cents per thousand. Last year the actual rate was 15.52 cents per thousand against an estimated 16.32 at the start of the year. Big Spring also used more than it had anticipated.

The Snyder rate for 1968 will be $4,768 monthly fixed charge plus six cents per thousand gallons. If Snyder uses its estimated 800 million gallons in 1968, the rate will figure at 13.15 cents per thousand. Last year the actual rate to Snyder was 15.12 against an estimated 13.72. Snyder used less water than estimated for the year.

Water charges are based on a formula which gives weight to the percentage of a city's consumption to the total volume, also in part to the distance that a given volume of water must be pumped in delivery.

Mother's March

Mrs. T. A. Harris (right), chairman, and Mrs. R. E. Ray, assistant chairman, report all plans have been made to stage the annual Mother's March against birth defects, major project of the National Foundation's January fund-raising effort. The march will be held next Tuesday, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Calf's Valve Used In Heart Operation

TEL AVIV (AP) — An Israeli doctor has performed what is believed to be the first operation to replace a damaged human heart valve with that of a valve from a calf and reports his young woman patient is progressing "quite well."

The valve came from a 2-month-old calf and was kosher, killed at the Tel Aviv municipal slaughter house in accordance with Jewish ritual slaughter practices.

Prof. Maurice Levi, a Bulgarian-born surgeon who has won acclaim for his skill in replacing damaged human organs, performed the operation several days ago at nearby Beilinson Hospital. He did not identify the patient, who he said may be released from the hospital in two weeks.

Levi, 41, a fellow student of Dr. Christian N. Barnard of Cape Town at the University of Minnesota, said his team had been doing about three to four successful heart valve operations a week using plastic valves.

The operation with the calf's valve took four hours, Levi said. He said the valve had to be modified to fit in the patient's heart.

Asked how he felt, he said: "Just like after any operation—relieved and thankful that we could help a patient."

Public Demand Key To Crime

Rotary club members were told Tuesday that the way to better law enforcement and a decrease in the soaring crime rate lies with public demand. The speaker was city detective Sherrill Farmer.

He said that the crime rate is increasing six times faster than the population growth and that estimates peg the annual rise at 40 per cent. Farmer said that nationally, he expects the crime rate to double before public outrage dictates a strong program of law enforcement. He noted also that he looks for congress to pass strong new laws, probably backed by a constitutional amendment.

Farmer urged the Rotarians to be on the side of law and order, to serve willingly on juries, be prepared to report any suspicious activities and to testify in court when asked. He suggested that all citizens make known their views on law enforcement to members of all law-making bodies, from city commission to the national congress. Farmer was introduced by Hayes Stripling Jr., program chairman.

President Bill Coleman read a letter of resignation from Martin Landers.

Annual School Census Begins

The Big Spring Independent School District is again conducting the annual school census.

All students whose birthdates fall between Sept. 1, 1950 and Sept. 2, 1962, will be included in the scholastic census.

The entire month of January has been set aside to conduct this census, and blanks in the Big Spring School District will be sent home this week with elementary, junior high and senior high school students. Not all students will receive a blank since all the children with the same family surname will be listed on the same census blank.

Parents having no children in school but who have a child with a birthdate prior to Sept. 2, 1962, are urged to sign a census blank at the school nearest to their residence. If unable to do this, they are asked to call 267-8245 for a census blank or come to the administration office at 11th and Owens.

This census also includes all children attending a private or parochial school whose age is within the dates stated.

This census does not register a child for school in the fall but is strictly a scholastic enumeration of students residing in the Big Spring area, said Noel Reed, census trustee for the Big Spring Independent School district.

Zone Changes Win Approval

The Big Spring Planning and Zoning Commission approved two zone change requests Tuesday.

W. H. Eyssen's request for a change from one family residential district on a 1.98 acre tract at FM 700 and Coronado was okayed. A change from commercial to central area zoning was approved for Jeff Brown on five lots at Sixth and Main.

Bank Officers Are Reelected

All directors and officers of the State National Bank were re-elected at annual meetings held Tuesday afternoon. Only routine yearend business was transacted.

At the annual stockholders meeting, these directors were renamed:

Robert W. Currie, John Currie, Merle J. Stewart, A. F. Kasch and J. Y. Robb Jr.

At the subsequent meeting of directors, all officers were re-elected:

Robert W. Currie, president; Edith Hatchett, John Currie, Alton Marwitz, vice presidents; Charles M. Havens, cashier; Ima Deason, Morris Slavens, Fred E. Haller, Travis L. Waller and Faye Reed, assistant cashiers.

Garrison Responds Well To Therapy

HOUSTON (AP) — An M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute spokesman said today that Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, is responding well to radiation therapy.

Garrison, 66, returned to the hospital Tuesday for additional therapy.

The veteran law officer received his first radiation treatments last summer when Anderson doctors reported he had lung cancer.

Doctors said Garrison's return to the hospital had been planned following his treatments here in July."

The doctors said Garrison "is ambulatory at present and responding quite well to his therapy."

Local Schools Absenteeism Up

There were about 800 absent in the Big Spring schools today, according to Supt. Sam Anderson, representing a little over 10 per cent. For this time of year, normal absenteeism is about five per cent.

Anderson pointed out there are no epidemic problems and no evidence that all the absenteeism can be attributed to a single source. Some cases of flu have been reported, as well as two cases of mumps.

Absenteeism is heaviest at Bauer, he said, followed by Runnels and Boydstun schools. There are not many teachers out, he added, but the custodial staff has been hit pretty hard.

Heart Transplants Need To Continue

NEW YORK (AP) — Deliberately one Sunday morning, surgeons cut out the sick—but still-beating heart of a human being—and put a healthy heart in its place.

That audacious surgery—first performed Dec. 3—now has been repeated four times more in 37 days.

TIME WAS RIPE

Three highly skilled teams of surgeons, nurses, anesthetists, pathologists and other specialists, in three cities, have pioneered this new era of surgery.

They were all ready, all long trained, for just this step. And more such teams, similarly honed, likely will perform human heart transplants before the year's end.

The time was ripe, the preparations made, the confidence was building—all through 1967 and even earlier—that hearts could be exchanged, a healthy for an ailing one.

Where the first operation occurred depended upon fortuitous circumstances, plus reasoned boldness.

NAGGING UNKNOWN

All three teams had done their preparation work well and successfully with dogs—that of Dr. Christian N. Barnard in Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town, South Africa; Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz at Maimonides Hospital in New York; Dr. Norman E. Shumway in Stanford, Calif., at Stanford University School of Medicine.

One nagging unknown was whether a human heart, placed in another breast, would survive and support life.

Dr. Barnard answered that question with his first operation on Dec. 3. Louis Washkansky lived for 18 days with the heart taken from a young woman. The borrowed heart functioned powerfully and well, with Washkansky dying of pneumonia, not from heart trouble that had narrowly numbered his days with his own heart.

Dr. Kantrowitz had received go-ahead permission from his hospital for human heart transplantation as early as mid-1966. Dr. Shumway last fall had predicted that the time now had come.

CONFIDENCE

The essential was the right circumstances—a dying person whose healthy heart could by permission of relatives be taken soon after death, and second, a person with a heart so severely damaged that life could not long continue.

Still to be resolved is the delicate matter of using drugs and/or X-rays to prevent the borrowed heart from being rejected as foreign tissue, while not so suppressing the body's normal immune reactions that ordinary diseases could invade and kill the recipient.

Medical scientists are gaining confidence this can be done.

Unless this rejection problem appears too formidable still—from the first handful of patients—the year probably will bring a series of heart transplant operations, including some by other experienced surgical teams in other medical centers.

The surgeons have been ready. The time was ripe. The need will continue desperate.

Bitter Siege Of Snow, Ice Claims 74 Lives

By The Associated Press

Winter heaped new weather miseries on the country today, scattering snow with zero cold in the Northeast, glazing highways in the south and stinging the plains with still another arctic chill.

The bitter siege of snow, ice and record cold claimed 74 lives since Saturday in a variety of weather-related circumstances ranging from traffic accidents to exposure.

GAS SHORTAGES

Shortages of natural gas used to heat homes developed Tuesday in parts of New England in the wake of some of the coldest weather in 40 years. Residents of South Portland, Maine, were without heat Tuesday and gas shortages also were reported in Manchester and Concord, N.H.

The Southern Connecticut Gas Co. cut back gas to four industries as it tries to fill increased demands by homes in Bridgeport.

Although the intense cold which gripped the region Tuesday eased somewhat today, a new batch of subzero temperatures rolled eastward across the northern states toward the Northeast.

MORE SNOW

Snow fell through much of the Northeast during the night. Accumulations ranged up to 3 inches in parts of New York and New England. The snow was scattered westward into the Great Lakes region as well.

Temperatures again fell below freezing across the Southeast, and rain turned to a treacherous mixture of freezing rain, drizzle and sleet from northern Georgia to Virginia. Icing conditions extended across all of North Carolina to within a few miles of the coast.

Some western North Carolina communities were reported "locked in" by icy roads. State police requested that travel be limited to emergency traffic only in the northern inland section of the state.

GLAZED PLAINS

The storm of ice which began in the Southwest Tuesday glazed Georgia from Atlanta northward. Numerous power failures were reported throughout the Atlanta metropolitan area as ice-coated tree limbs crashed down, dragging utility lines with them.

Far to the West the same storm system met a wave of cold weather in the southern plains and glazed portions of Texas and Oklahoma. Much of Texas still had not recovered from a sleet and ice storm which hit the state last weekend.

Three Accidents

Three minor accidents were reported to the police Tuesday. Annie Carnes McCoy, Midland and Jack Margolis, Veterans Administration Hospital, were in collision at the parking lot at VA Hospital. John Walter Green, 904 N. Goliad, and Bill Edmond Gordon, 174-B Fairchild, were in an accident at Tenth and Goliad. Carmen Brooks Davés, 3705 Caroline and Billy Joe Byrd, 2200 Runnels, were involved in an accident in the parking lot of the 7-11 Store, 2310 Wasson Road.

Limestone Gap Stalls Spark Soonerland Boom

KIOWA, Okla. (AP) — The long, steep highway up Limestone Gap stalled more than 150 motorists when it became covered with ice south of Kiowa Tuesday night.

Und it also made a boomtown of this small hill town in southeastern Oklahoma on US 69.

Early this morning, police estimated more than 100 trucks remained in a three-mile line of stalled or blocked vehicles, including many families in cars.

One of the trucks was overturned, and several others had jackknifed.

ROADS SLICK

Freezing rain, sleet and snow have plagued Oklahoma hardest this week and has kept the area's hilly roads slick and dangerous.

Highway Patrol trooper Cecil Craig had his patrol car parked across U.S. 69 in front of Mary Nick's Cafe and wouldn't let across US 69 in front of Mary ward Limestone Gap.

"It's just light rain," he said, "freezing when it hits. You can hardly walk on it."

"This place is filled up, the population is doubled. They've opened up the gymnasium and the truckers are staying in their trucks."

BUSY DUO

Inside the cafe, Mary Nicks had given up on closing for the night. She was too busy to talk, she said.

"Nobody here but me and the cook," she said above the crowd noise.

The Beadon Motel, one of the two in town, was preparing to keep people in the lobby.

"We may have to sit up all night," said Edna Land, operator of the motel. "We wouldn't turn anybody away. We'll let them sit in the lobby and give them something to eat and coffee."

'Tornado' Film Due In Spring

Copies of a new color motion picture film, "Tornado," should be available for schools, civic clubs and civic organizations in early spring, according to James E. Lunney, meteorologist in charge of the Weather Bureau station at Terminal.

The film was produced by the Environmental Science Services administration and runs for 15 minutes. It succeeds a black-and-white production viewed by millions of persons over the years. It provides perhaps the most complete film record of tornadoes ever offered the public and includes footage from Nebraska, Texas, Missouri, Illinois and Kansas, showing in detail the fury of this phenomenon.

Virtually every area of the United States has experienced tornadoes, with the greatest frequency in the Central and Southern Great Plains states. The film is designed to acquaint the public with the dangers of tornadoes and to emphasize precautions which should be taken to reduce the toll which averages around 200 deaths annually.

A copy is due at the bureau in early March for a preview for news media and public safety officials. It will be available for television stations afterwards, followed by copies for circulation among clubs and other groups.

25 Parking Permits, Taxi Hikes Gain 'Green Light'

City commissioners approved 25 free parking permits for the downtown area, rubber stamped a unique method of financing a golf course club house, and decided to give the Yellow Cab Co. permission to increase its rates. The commission met in regular session Tuesday evening at city hall.

Jay Banks, police chief, told the commission he had issued free parking permits to 12 elective officials in the courthouse, as well as to the district attorney's investigator and the juvenile officer. He brought 29 other applications for permits to the meeting, 15 of them for secretaries and clerks in the courthouse that he recommended be turned down. Commissioners agreed.

Coy Burt, of the State Welfare Department, asked the commission for permits for himself and three case workers, eliminating three other requests for secretaries in his office. These were approved.

RATES CLIMB

One permit was approved for Mrs. Pauline Petty's office, although four deputies made requests. In addition, permits were granted to Paul Gross county agent; James Shelton, assistant county agent; Ruby Phillips, county welfare director; Virginia Black, county auditor; Bill Norwood, courthouse yard man; and Jerry Spence, court reporter, the last following a recommendation by Tom Huckaby, city attorney. A permit for Mrs. H. O. Hudgins, executive secretary for the county TB association, was held up pending receiving more information.

Commissioners agreed with George Russell that his Yellow Cab Co. should have a rate increase, and instructed Huckaby to draw an ordinance for emergency reading at the next session. The present rate of 45 cents for the first mile will be changed to the same cost for two-thirds of a mile. The hourly rate will go from $3 to $3.45.

Jack Watkins, chairman of the Parks and Recreation board and Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, presented a list of priority park development for consideration as money is available.

KIDDIE PARK

Most expensive item — listed fifth—was for a pro shop clubhouse at the golf course. Watkins pointed out that an exceptionally large share of the Master Plan bond money was spent on the golf course, and he hesitated to ask the taxpayers to spend more on it. He said a plan had been outlined to increase green fees and use this money to pay the $17,000 cost of a club house, which could be financed through a local bank. Commissioners asked him to bring details of this plan to a later meeting for a decision.

Other items on the list, in order, are Kiddie Park at the ABC Park, $3,500; joint city-school development at the Airport School, $5,000; playground area on Salvation Army leased land between Fifth and Sixth, east of San Antonio, $3,000; tree planting project, $2,000; baseball field on FM 700 near the sewage treatment plant, no estimate; Lakeview Park restrooms, $900; Birdwell Park restrooms, $900; lights on tennis courts in City Park, $2,000; enlarging the trailer park, no estimate; bounce-ball courts on new ground storage water reservoirs, $2,000; improve city park entrances; golf course restrooms, $1,600.

BIG SPRING PUSH

Commissioners George Zachariah and Jimmy Morehead questioned why the development of the "old Big Spring site" was not included in the list, and urged that this work be stepped up. Watkins said this project had not been referred to his committee, but was in the hands of a larger community group.

A resolution cancelling the Big Spring Country Club's lease on water wells in Section 17 was approved. An ordinance giving the highway department authority to provide maintenance on roadways inside the city also was okayed.

Successive readings were given a number of ordinances: zoning change from "C" to "CA," requested by Jeff Brown and Daryle Hohertz; annexation of property west of Goliad; on premises consumption at Fina's Place and Pat's Bar and Grill.

Fire Destroys Giant Truck

Two big trucks owned by the same company were involved in an accident at the East Howard Field viaduct east of Coahoma at 6:10 a.m. today. One of the vehicles, a tandem tanker, caught fire and was destroyed.

Highway patrol officers said that the trucks were owned by the Western Co. One was parked on the shoulder of the road and was struck, it was reported, by the tanker. No one was injured.

The Coahoma Fire department answered the call to the burning truck.

Driver of the tanker was identified as Glenn Hoyle Holladay, Snyder.

Simon (Cy) Terrazas has announced his candidacy for re-election for County Commissioner of Precinct One. He is filing for the Democratic nomination subject to the May 4 primary.

Terrazas, local resident for nearly 40 years, and his wife, Claudine, own their home at 1001 Bell, where they reside with two of their children, Simon Jr., now a sophomore at HCJC, and Mary Alice, now an eighth grader. Their oldest daughter, Mrs. Steve Cone, is student teaching at Lubbock High School and will receive her degree from Texas Tech at mid-term.

In announcing his candidacy, Terrazas issued the following statement:

"It has been my privilege and pleasure to have served the citizens of Precinct One and Howare County as Commissioner for over three years. I am now asking for the opportunity to serve in the same capacity for a second term. I have strived for economical, honest and efficient county government, and if elected will continue to work to improve services. Your suggestions are always welcome. The experience of this term will enable me to better serve you in the future. I will greatly appreciate your vote on May 4, 1968, in my bid for re-election to the office of County Commissioner Precinct One."

TV 'Thief' Zips Off To Glorious Start

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "It Takes a Thief," ABC's midseason contribution to escape amusement for the tired working man, zipped off to an action-filled start Tuesday night. There were 90 glorious minutes loaded with fights, and death by strangling, gun, a javelin to the midriff and—new this season—a dart from a blow gun.

The format of the series, which hereafter will be confined to one hour a week, is a combination of elements from other recent action and suspense series.

We have a convicted thief, released from prison on condition he serve his country. The thief, Alexander Mundy, is a clever cat burglar and a debonair fellow descended from a long line of elegant crooks. He is surrounded by gorgeous girls and carries an arsenal of equipment for advanced breaking and entering. On the premiere show, there was one gorgeous girl who specialized in the quick, deadly judo chop. Any of these themes sound familiar?

Somehow, all the bits and pieces fused into a galloping whole, and may work out very well.

EXCELLENT PILOT

The first program was a pilot film, so some of the time was used to show how the cat burglar got himself involved in working for a secret government bureau. His assignment was to steal an attache case that held pictures threatening the bureau's operation. An hour and one-half later, he completed the job, after switching attache cases on a transatlantic plane, rescuing the judo chop lady just as she was about to have acid thrown in her eyes, breaking into all sorts of establishments, and fighting a terrible hand-to-hand battle which included some action on a trampoline. We even got a look at Expo 67 in the course of the adventure.

The production and photography of the pilot program was excellent.

NBC's short special, "Herman's Hermits in Concert," showed the popular British singing group performing before a howling audience of teenagers last summer at the Ohio State Fair.

'AVENGERS' RETURN

This apparently was not enough, so extra material was cut in. Portions of the program resembled those kooky gag and dream sequences started by "A Hard Day's Night" and used by "The Monkees." The psychedelic effects, however, were self-conscious and forced.

Now that "PBL" of the educational network has established a weekly two-hour current events program, NBC announced it plans next January a monthly two-hour public affairs program in prime evening time. It will, the announcement said, feature "aggressive journalism" and stress investigative reporting. The show, called "Tuesday," will be broadcast the first Tuesday of each month.

Recommended tonight: "The Avengers," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EST, midseason return of the suave, wry British action series, with Patrick Macnee and Diana Rigg as the imperturbable agents.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	4 ♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: King of ♣

The above hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt in a recent team-of-four contest.

The auction was identical at both tables and South became the declarer at a final contract of four hearts.

West opened the king of clubs at one table, continued with the ace and then a third round putting South in with the queen. Declarer led a small heart, West followed with the five and the jack was put up from dummy. The seven of hearts was returned and, when East showed out, South played the king to dislodge West's ace.

West returned a fourth round of clubs which declarer ruffed in his hand and another heart lead enabled the latter to successfully finesse North's nine and then pick up the ten with the queen. High diamonds and spades took the remaining tricks.

At the other table the play began in an identical fashion. West observed, however, that, if he merely permitted nature to take its course, he would end up with two club tricks and one heart on the deal—and South would score a profit.

Therefore, when the deuce of hearts was led at trick four, he followed suit with the eight, concealing the five. When dummy's jack won the trick, South had something to think about. If the hearts were divided three-two it did not matter what declarer did next. If they were four-one, however, then he must determine which way to play the suit.

If West has four hearts headed by the ace-ten, a small heart must be led from the dummy next. West's play of the eight led declarer to believe that East was more apt to have four trumps, and was holding off the ace in order to steer his opponent off the track.

In order to protect himself against a trump concentration on his right, South continued with the queen of hearts from dummy. If East played the ace and West showed out, declarer could lead thru the ten-five subsequently and pick up the suit.

When East showed out, West's subterfuge was revealed; however, it was too late for the declarer, and he was obliged to concede two tricks and a grudging congratulation to a resourceful defender.

Dear Abby

Her 'Fringe Benefits'

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman in my late thirties. I am secretary to a very successful, prominent family man who has a very fine reputation. He is always telling everyone what a wonderful wife he has, but you should see this bird operate behind closed doors.

I do receive an excellent salary, with many fringe benefits, but it seems that being mauled goes with the job. He simply cannot keep his hands off me. I have threatened to walk out if he doesn't cut that stuff out. He promises he will, but the next day he is right back, locking the office door, and starting the whole thing over again.

I know you will say WALK OUT, but it's not that easy. I am the sole support of myself, two children, and an invalid mother. This job is five minutes from my home, no carfare, no lunches, and as I have said, the pay is wonderful. Now what?

MAULED IN PHILLY

DEAR MAULED: Walk out, anyway. Your next job may not have as many fringe benefits, but neither will it require combat training.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In reference to the recent discussion in your column as to the propriety of dress or undress before one's young children, let me say that it is a mistake for adults to try to anticipate children's reactions concerning this. If parents are comfortable in a state of undress when a young child appears, it will very likely be accepted in a normal way by the child. If parents are uncomfortable and embarrassed, the child will react in the same manner. In support of this, I submit the following:

A father came home and found his six-year-old son staring at a picture in a popular men's magazine. The picture showed a curvaceous young woman, bare to the waist. The horrified father tried to be nonchalant, and asked the boy what he found so fascinating about the picture. The boy replied, "I'm looking at this lady here. Daddy, look, she's lucky, she gets to go barefoot."

It took the father a full minute to realize that the "lady" was indeed barefoot.

"THE FATHER"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing to you because I know that millions of mothers read your column faithfully, and some of them need to know what's on my mind.

Why don't mothers teach their daughters how to do a washing? Today at a coin laundry I met a sweet, young girl. She asked me, a perfect stranger, to please help her with her laundry. She didn't have the slightest idea of how to go about it. She didn't know which fabrics to wash together and she was even going to put bleach in her colored wash!

This girl was 21 and married and seemed intelligent enough. She said she had never even had to help with the laundry at home. Then she moaned, "Gee, I miss the maid."

I am only 22 myself, but I sure felt like an experienced housekeeper today. I'm so glad my mother taught me how to wash.

Tryouts Set For 'Liliom'

Tryouts for "Liliom," forthcoming major high school production, will be held in the drama room Thursday at 8 p.m. and after school Friday, Dan Shockey, drama teacher, announced today.

This three-act romantic drama is probably best known for the musical made from it — "Carousel."

Shockey invited all interested high school students to participate in the drama, emphasizing that back stage and production workers are also needed. The play calls for 17 men and eight women.

The play will be staged Feb. 16-17.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Wonderful ideas assail you for the weeks and months ahead that you should put in operation as quickly as possible, in conjunction with others who can make them a positive reality and success. You have to have a more modern approach to life altogether if you are to have the happiness that is possible and designated in your particular chart. Be practical and read your newspaper more thoroughly, wisely.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Important you give more attention to the increase of good reputation you now enjoy, since others are apt to be up to some trickery or other. Be more practical. Dwell on the constructive instead of the opposite.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have not taken enough time for pleasure lately and this is a good day to renew your spirit with congenials. Be more cheerful. Forget any disappointments and worries of the past. Be good to your spleen.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal plans can be made with kin today for whatever is on your mind, be it business matters or recreation, more harmony. Be sure you keep any promise you have made to an outsider. Safeguard your reputation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be sure to dash in and see some of your friends; you have been neglecting them pretty much of late. Also, more cooperation with associates brings finer results now. Show you have ability and enthusiasm.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get at those duties that have to be done; some time and clear the decks for more action in the right direction later on. Then sit down with some monetary expert and get good ideas. Follow through with initial steps.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be very sociable today, whether in business or at recreational activities. Show others that you like them. Then you get far better results with everyone. Increase profits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Keeping professional appointments on time is wise or you could be sadly disappointed. Put that new idea to work as quickly as you can. Procrastination has been your downfall for a long time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look to that fine pal for assistance with some plan of importance you have in mind. Get the information you require from right sources, also. Make this a most productive day and evening. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to be more practical in handling those outside matters than you have been in the past. Also, get in touch with one who is in position of greatest importance where some project you are interested in is concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to have expert advice with some idea you have in mind if it is to be operative and successful. Some new contact you have made can prove to be very helpful to you. Show appreciation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Finding a better modus operandi is wise right now to give impetus to your daily operations. Get into those personal matters that should have been handled long ago, as well. Do not permit any grass to grow under your feet.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Listen to what a good friend has to say so that you have more harmonious relations with an associate. Then you get the right results. Out to the recreational.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow, he or she will be one of those young people who early understands the importance of being practical and having feet firmly on the ground at all times, and will not be easily swayed by others. The field of business is especially good here, or any professional of a trouble-shooting nature. Business college best here.

Adam Powell Takes Walk In Riot-Scarred Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hundreds of Negroes mobbed him. "Fight together!" urged Adam Clayton Powell—and they roared back with cheers, whistles and applause.

'KEEP THE FAITH'

Then Powell took a three-mile walk Tuesday through riot-scarred Watts, besieged by admirers and calling everywhere, "keep the faith."

Here from self-imposed exile in the Bahamas, Powell gives today at UCLA the first of 14 lectures at colleges and universities on what he calls the black revolution.

"The game here" he said Tuesday, "to talk to my soul brothers and soul sisters. One day, history is going to record that the second civil war and the beginning of the black revolution was born here."

Five days of fiery rioting in August, 1965, left 34 white and Negro dead and $40 million property damage in a 46½-square-mile southside area including Watts.

SPEAK OUT

From a pickup truck before starting his walk, Powell told the crowd: "The eyes of black Africa, brown Asia and even white Europe are focused upon people like us. We are the salt of the earth.

"Don't be ashamed of anything that has happened, and don't be afraid of anyone. Stand up and speak out boldly in God's name."

Expulsion from Congress last March, Powell said:

"You see what they're trying to do to me? If they can do that to me"—he turned to a member of the crowd—"they can do it to you, John Jones."
