TWINKLES

The young lady who married an Italian nobleman and quit him in five days has our admiration—when she saw her mistake, she didn't try to take him home to show off to the neighbors.

Anyone who gets the sleeping sickness in times like these and wakes up in a year will feel like a modern Rip Van Winkle in a very literal sense.

Sweetwater girls have formed what may become famous— the Rolling Stone chorus. And how the stones do roll in that country during the sandstorms.

There's a bit of irony in the death of a New Mexico game warden, struck by lightning. Wardens are allies, and not often victims, of nature.

Private note to the Harvester: Coach Odus Mitchell ate two meringue desserts at the Jaysee luncheon this week.

Styles and economics seldom fit For instance, after being economical and slovenly for a few years, we become style conscious just as prices of elegant garb move up out of reach.

We must not coddle our prisoners, but Bandit Bailey proves that in some cases it would be wise to serve them on a platter—in their cells.

A NEW LEAF

Motorists who fell into bad habits during the summer—and that includes most of us—are asked to reform our ways in order that lives of Pampa's children may be made safe. This includes the parents, who are among those who are careless in their driving about the school grounds. It is a peculiar fact that being a parent does not instill a sense of responsibility for "other people's" children. The law, however, does not excuse parents. Stop-signs read alike for all. Let's observe them.

COMPETITION

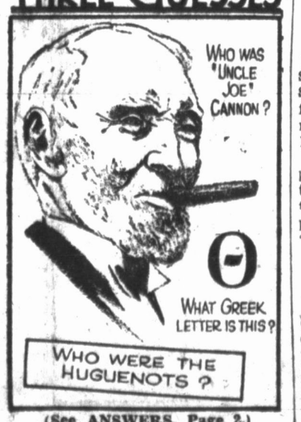

Milk wars in the east have ramifications in the west. Western competition in milk products, especially the processed ones, has resulted in hopeless over-production in the east. A little reflection will explain the situation. You will recall how, a few years ago, delegations from middle-western and southwestern states would go to Wisconsin, New York, and Minnesota to study dairying methods and to buy animals for herd foundations. Even special trains were operated. Dairy plants multiplied in the west. And, convinced that they held the key to wisdom in dairying, the eastern producers sought and found easy credit and expanded their facilities beyond any reasonable need. The possibility of over-production seemed not to have been considered.

RIVALRIES DEVELOP

It took but little depression to reduce milk production below the profit line. Local competition became acute. Milk distributors began to cut their prices to boost volume. Farmers kicked, then organized. Meanwhile, overproduction increased. Associations were tightened. Consumption declined as jobs were lost. The competition from the small unorganized producers became a serious factor. The low price quoted for excess dairy animals by slaughter houses discouraged reduction of herds. Even as late as last January 1, the number of dairy heifers on American farms was greater than the year before.

FLOOD DANGER INCREASING AS STREAM RISES

CITRUS CROP IS GONE; RESIDENTS FACE HARDSHIPS

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Rehabilitation work and attempts to prevent disease were in full sway today as the lower Rio Grande valley began to right itself from the effects of the tropical hurricane which struck Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The death list stood at 25, hundreds were treated for injuries and more than 2,000 families were homeless in the Brownsville, San Benito and Harlingen areas.

To the threat of pestilence which arose when water supplies were cut off was added the danger of flood which arose on the upper reaches of the Rio Grande. The international boundary commission at El Paso was advised that the crest of a flood, caused by heavy rains on tributaries, was moving down the river near Roma, Texas, more than 100 miles upstream from Brownsville. Commission engineers expressed fear that it might join the crest of a flood on the San Juan river and cause considerable damage in this section.

Little anxiety was felt, however, because in the last several years elaborate channels and dams have been constructed on the American side. Because of the lack of such protection, the Mexican side usually suffers more.

MOLLISONS TO FLY TO BAGDAD IN TWO WEEKS

Amy Mollison Pilots TWA Transport To Amarillo

AMARILLO, Sept. 7. (AP)—The Mollisons, Amy and Captain James A., will be on their way to Bagdad in a try for a new distance flight record within a couple of weeks, Mrs. Mollison said here today.

Mrs. Mollison, "guest" co-pilot on a Transcontinental-Western Air transport plane through here early today, expressed confidence in breaking the record. She was en route to California where she will remain only one day, rather than a week as she had planned.

"Our new plane has been completed earlier than we had anticipated," she said, "and Jim is en route to America by liner with it now. I will return to New York Saturday over this same route. We will begin preparations immediately for our long flight."

Mrs. Mollison explained that her cross-country flights were "mostly training" for the strenuous trip to Bagdad. She was piloting the trimotored plane when it arrived here, and was at the controls when the flight was resumed.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—The tennis forces met an unexpected setback this afternoon when Wilmer Allison, Davis cup star from Texas and third "seeded" American, was trounced in three straight sets by Adrian Quist, 20-year-old Australian. Quist completely dominated the match by scores of 6-1, 6-3, 6-2, as he led the advance to the quarter-finals of the national men's singles championship.

Scenes of Ruin Left By Hurricane in Valley

THESE two pictures were taken in the stricken Texas valley district just after the disastrous storm which killed at least 28 persons and injured hundreds more, swept entire towns and completely cut off communications. The pictures, taken at Port Isabel, northeast of Brownsville, were rushed by auto over almost impassable roads to Corpus Christi and then sent to Dallas by plane. In the above photo, men may be seen hunting for bodies. The other picture shows a wrecked building.

Vernon Mother And Son Missing

VERNON, Tex., Sept. 7. (AP)—With increasing anxiety, searchers today continued a hunt for Mrs. Z. D. Shaw, 51-year-old mother of ten children, and her eight-year-old son, Buddy, missing since Sunday night from their home seven miles west of Rayland.

A party went to LeFors and the home of a daughter-in-law but returned without report concerning her whereabouts. Lakes in the vicinity of Bull creek were dragged yesterday. The search previously had been in the mesquite tree acres of Wilbarger county.

Bandit Escapes After Gun Fight In North Pampa

Mrs. McNutt Scorns Threat Of Gunman As He Tries To Loot Residence.

THE roar of large caliber pistols echoed through the Cook addition about 4:30 o'clock this morning as City Officer Weldon Wilson and an alleged burglar exchanged shots at the rear of the Gher home on North Mary Ellen street. The officer was in the open while the man he was after was hiding around the corner of the Gher home, during the exchange.

Officers were called to the Cook addition when Mrs. Violet Gher heard some one fumbling at the door of a nearby house. Officer Wilson and Nightwatchman Shannon answered the call, parking their car south of the house where the man was seen. Wilson saw the prowler rounding the corner of a house and gave chase. Finally the man dodged around the corner of the Gher home as the officer ran up the alley.

The prowler opened fire on the officer after getting the protection

LATE NEWS

HAVANA, Sept. 7 (AP)—Soldiers set up machine guns in uptown parks this afternoon as Havana was stirred by many confusing rumors, including an insistent report that the United States would ask the two-day-old radical government to surrender power. A widely circulated rumor was that Washington would ask that Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, who was deposed from the provisional presidency by a radical coup d'etat, be placed at the head of the government again.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 7 (AP)—That the inhabitants of the lower Rio Grande valley "need help and must get help" was the terse comment of Mayor C. K. Quin as he arrived this morning from an inspection tour of the hurricane area.

MAN WHO GAVE ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY DIES

Sir Edward Grey Of Falodon Dies In England

BY OSCAR LEIDING.

CHRISTON BANK, England, Sept. 7 (AP)—Viscount Grey of Fallodon who, as Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, gave Germany the ultimatum plunging Great Britain into the World War, died today at the age of 71.

He virtually retired from public life in 1916 because of failing eyesight and had been seriously ill for more than a week.

Death came to him at 6:05 a. m. at Fallodon, his beautiful home on the Northumbrian coast.

As foreign secretary for the eleven years from 1905 to 1916, Viscount Grey was fated to play a leading role in the destinies of Europe. He never wavered in his stand on behalf of Belgium after exhausting every effort to avert the war.

The United States became acquainted with him during a five-month period in 1919-1920 when he was the temporary British ambassador to Washington, but President Wilson's battle with the senate and his own poor health conspired to place him in the background.

The room in the mellow red-brick mansion where the viscount spent his last days looked out on a bird sanctuary he had set up on the grounds of Fallodon, and throughout the long days of his illness he lay with the windows open whenever possible so the sounds of his well-loved birds could reach him.

Thirty Ships Sent To Cuba

Intervention Will Begin As Soon as American Property and Life Are Menaced.

By F. G. VOZBURGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—With the dispatch of 16 destroyers bringing to 30 the the armada of American war vessels to border Cuba, the American government stood ready today to land marines and blue jackets on the first genuine threat to American citizens.

At the same time, there was resolution against the momentus step of taking over the island's government by armed intervention.

Already the psychological effect of American fighting vessels in sight off the coast was seen as aiding in holding the lid on the cauldron which Cuba has become.

Orders in the hands of the commanders of the destroyers, cruisers and the one big battleship either en route to Cuban waters or already there were guarded closely, but it was understood the administration would not hesitate a moment in putting armed men ashore to guard Americans and their property.

If a government capable of protecting life and property—including the billion of American investments—is established by the Cuban people, nothing hinting of intervention will be invoked.

Eight navy and eight coast guard destroyers were ordered today from off the east coast to Cuba. In addition, the Indianapolis was bearing Secretary Swanson there, and last night the destroyer Overton was sent from the Panama canal zone to the Isle of Pines off the south Cuban coast to protect American lives there, if necessary. Many wealthy Americans have winter residences on the Isle of Pines.

COAL CODE IS ABOUT READY TO BE SIGNED

Roosevelt Meets With Hugh S. Johnson and Coal Operators Last Night.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—Hugh S. Johnson announced today that as a result of the conference with President Roosevelt last night, bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers have "cleared up their points of disagreement" on phrasing of labor clauses in the contract being framed for the industry.

In a prepared statement, the NRA executive went on to say that the hitherto contesting parties are proceeding "to negotiations of details with what, I am informed, are excellent prospects of success."

Last hour negotiations only apparently remained today after President Roosevelt's personal participation in a White House conference between operators and mine workers resulted in Hugh S. Johnson's

Pampa Asked To Give Money For Stricken Valley

The Pampa chapter of the American Red Cross has been asked to raise money for relief in the stricken area of Texas, laid waste this week by a hurricane. The local committee met this morning after receiving an urgent telegram from headquarters.

A telegram received during the meeting said that the latest check made by the Red Cross in the devastated area set the dead at 24, the seriously injured at 600, with 1,750 families destitute, 2,000 homes destroyed and 5,000 homes damaged. The telegram was from W. M. Baxter, Jr., head of this district.

The appeal to Pampans will be made by solicitation and through jars placed in local stores. Those desiring to help immediately may leave their donations in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall.

The money will be used to care for the injured, buy food for the destitute and for other purposes.

Postmaster And Superintendent Address Lions

Pampa Lions heard interesting addresses by Postmaster D. E. Cecil and Supt. R. B. Fisher at noon today. The program was in charge of the publicity committee, Gilmore N. Nunn, chairman.

Postmaster Cecil told Lions that more merchants would have to use the mails to keep a first class postoffice. He told of the various changes in the postoffice rates from 1885 until the present time. His discussion brought out the fact that the inter-city postage rate of two cents would have to become more popular to overcome the loss of the drop from three cents.

Hi-lights of his summer in New York were told by Supt. Fisher who received his M. A. degree from Columbia. Mr. Fisher said that the reason the university was so popular was because of its freedom of thought. He made a tour of the sub-treasury where 70 per cent of all the gold is stored. It is kept in a room 30 feet under ground and the door leading to the room weighs 92 tons. He also saw the international supply, carefully labeled with the country's name.

All the elevators and doors in the sub-treasury are controlled from one room. In case of emergency, all elevators would be sent to the top floor. Enough food and water is kept on hand to feed the 3,000 employes for two days in case of emergencies.

Guests today were H. R. Kelley of Cleburne, brother of Dr. J. H. Kelley, Ernst Zahl of Amarillo, and Arthur Holland, Pampa.

A. L. Reamsnyder of Roxana shopped here this morning.

THREE TOPICS PRESENTED BY 'MA' FERGUSON

TO SUBMIT SUBJECTS FROM TIME TO TIME

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today called the Texas legislature to convene in extraordinary session on next Thursday, September 14, at noon.

Three subjects for legislation were presented for consideration, but the way was left open for the governor to submit "other subjects and questions" from time to time.

The governor called for the passage of laws as may be necessary to issue $20,000,000 of bonds, proceeds of which would be used in augmenting the federal funds to relieve persons suffering on account of unemployment.

She also asked the legislature "to consider and pass such legislation as may be deemed necessary to amend, change or repeal existing laws affecting and controlling trusts, conspiracies against trade, and monopolies.

The third item presented was "to make needed appropriations for refrigeration at the governor's mansion and needed work on the grounds of the governor's mansion."

In a special election on August 26 the voters of the state approved an amendment to the state constitution that authorizes the legislature to issue relief bonds, not to exceed $20,000,000.

Whether the legislature would authorize the full amount immediately, or issue only a part of that sum, will be a matter to be decided. Also, the manner of administering the money will be proposed in bills submitted to the legislators.

The question of modifying the sate's anti-trust laws was brought up in order to permit Texas business interests to fully embrace the national recovery act. It has been contended that unless Texas' stringent statutes against trusts and monopolies are broadened the president's program cannot be fully realized in this state.

The regular session of the legislature adjourned on June 1 last after 143 days in continuous session. Under the constitution a special session is limited to 30 days.

BANDIT KILLED IN ESCAPE PLOT ON PENAL FARM

Watson Slain After He Breaks Out Of Line and Runs

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 7. (AP)—Hunt Watson, alias "Jim Yarrell" notorious North Louisiana bandit, today was shot and killed in an attempt to escape a third time from the Angola State penal farm.

Warden Long at Angola said Watson was felled before he had an opportunity to run far.

"He tried to get away by breaking out of the line and was shot," he said. "That's all there was to it."

The warden said burial of Watson at the penitentiary was arranged after attempt to communicate with the convict's relatives.

Watson, originally of Beaumont, Texas, was known as one of the most desperate men in the penitentiary. He was sentenced to 9 to 14 years for a Union parish bank robbery in 1931, and escaped April 17, 1932.

While a fugitive, he was convicted of another North Louisiana bank robbery and returned to the penitentiary with a 14 to 28 years sentence November 5, 1932.

TOO MANY FARMERS

It is clear that we have too many farmers in this country. The Wallace solution is to hire them to loaf, taxing the consumer's bread to get their hire—from loaf to loafer the bonus runs, as it were. More specifically, if wheat raisers will plant 15 per cent less than they did this year, Mr. Wallace will pay them from $90,000,000 to $120,000,000 for the work which they thus refrain from doing. This seems to be the best plan we can think up in a world where millions of Russians are hungry and millions of Chinese are starving.

The newest scheme for cotton control limits the amount of business that a gin can do. If a gin turns out two thousand and one bales when its quota is only two thousand, something unpleasant is to be done to the ginner. Whether he will be fined or locked up or shot, depends, no doubt, upon the degree of severity agreed on by the guardians of agriculture.

Instead of shooting ginners, however, it would surely be more fundamental to shoot farmers. In the first place, shooting farmers would thin our farm production at the source. Non-farmers would be slow to join a shootable industry. In the second place, with adult farmers being shot, fewer little farmers would be born on the farm and rural population curves would trend downward.

By shooting only the best farmers, leaving the inefficient and unlucky ones to raise crops, production would be sharply reduced and prices would rise. In short, Mr. Wallace's major objectives would be swiftly and surely attained. As long as efficient farmers are permitted to exist, with the mere palliative measure of hiring them to abstain from efficiency, the country is continuing danger of a good crop. On the other hand, shooting farmers would give employment to many farm relievers who could serve on firing squads, as morticians, grave-diggers, ammunition makers and vital statistics clerks. The plan should be gone over with care.—Dallas NEWS.

Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—With traders uncertain as to forthcoming economic developments and price trends, there was only faint interest displayed in the stock market today. While a few issues were steady to firm, the majority of listed equities were inclined to sag. The close was easy. The volume of transactions dwindled to approximately 950,000 shares.

Attorney Does Not Agree With Railroad Alibi

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—A grand jury inquiry to place possible criminal responsibility for a train wreck that took 14 lives and injured scores was announced today after District Attorney Frank Wooster clashed with counsel for the Erie railroad.

Wooster, who announced the inquiry, intimated he was not satisfied with a statement by an Erie official holding Engineer M. H. King of Elmira solely responsible for the wreck.

King was accused of running past signals. He was at the throttle of a milk train which rammed the rear of the Atlantic Flier, Chicago-New York express, Tuesday night. A wooden passenger car sandwiched between steel cars of the express was smashed to kindling wood by the impact. All of the dead lost their lives in this car.

PICKETING FUTILE

Milk producers have picketed, they have blocked roads, they have poured out milk, but their tactics could not increase buying power and bolster consumption. Organization of the dairymen is the most powerful in the farming industry, but associations cannot dictate to consumers . . . Success in any phase of modern business seems self-limiting in that it attracts newcomers and invites over-production while present domestic allotment plans, with control of production as the price for cash benefits may seem fantastic, our analysis of the dairying situation should make it apparent that uncontrolled competition is the death (not the life) of such a business. Rugged individuality is all right in a rugged country with frontiers, but our frontiers are gone.

C. B. Hensey of Oklahoma City was here on business yesterday.

of the house. Wilson returned the fire, shooting at the flashes, and dropped to the ground. The gunman, apparently believing he had struck the officer, ran and before Wilson could regain his feet and run around the house, the bandit disappeared.

Reinforced by Sheriff C. E. "Tiny" Pipes and two deputies, a search of the neighborhood was made but the gunman was not found. Officers are at a loss to know where he went unless he had a confederate in a car nearby.

Earlier in the night a man entered the McNutt home on North Russell street. He was searching a dresser when Mrs. McNutt awoke and screamed. The burglar drew a gun and ordered Mrs. McNutt to be still or he would kill her. He demanded money and a watch but Mrs. McNutt turned on the light and the man fled.

Mrs. McNutt called officers but a search of the neighborhood revealed no one. Mrs. McNutt said the man was about 5 feet 10 inches tall, weighed about 150 pounds, wore a dark shirt, dark trousers and felt hat. He threw his arm in front of his face as Mrs. McNutt switched on the light.

The man seen in the Cook addition answered the same description and officers believe it was the same man who had the gunfight with Wilson.

Chief of Police Jno. V. Andrews arrested three men on suspicion this morning. Two were released but the third man is being held and his movements last night investigated.

announcement that he expects to put a master code on the president's desk Saturday.

"We really got somewhere tonight," Johnson said near midnight after the two-hour White House discussion. "I think it will be settled by tomorrow noon."

Johnson immediately began polishing up the code for presentation to the operators who will have until tomorrow evening to file objections. Bituminous coal was the last of the basic industries Johnson sought particularly for blue eagle membership.

After Appalachian operators and spokesmen for the United Mine Workers of America had quit the White House, Johnson and the president briefly reviewed the case of Henry Ford.

The sight-seers gone, the citizens had more opportunity to take stock of the damage and they gathered up far-flung parts of the homes, dried out drenched furniture and planned for the future. The citrus crop, on which so many of them depended was almost gone and they had to seek other means of earning a livelihood.

The majority of several hundred civilian physicians and nurses who came into the valley on relief trains from San Antonio and other cities began returning today, having set up the framework of the relief work. Hundreds were innoculated against typhoid fever at Harlingen and other stricken cities and the injured continued to be brought to emergency hospitals for treatment.

C. B. Braun, field director for the Texas relief and rehabilitation commission, said his organization would continue aid to 3,500 persons on relief, rolls before the storm and the Red Cross, with ample food and medical supplies would care for the rest.

CIVIL WAR SEEMS IMMINENT AS CUBAN REVOLUTIONISTS SPLIT

Mother Jumps To Death With Her Daughter

DALLAS, Sept. 7. (AP)—With her infant daughter clasped tightly in her arms, Mrs. J. H. Logan, 23, plunged to death early today from a seventh-story window in Cliff Towers, the apartment where she lived.

Crashing to a concrete pavement below, the two-year-old daughter, Elaine, was killed outright and her mother died shortly afterward.

Investigators learned that Mrs. Logan's husband, a traveling salesman, was in the hurricane-devastated section of the lower Rio Grande valley when the tragedy occurred. Efforts were being made to locate him.

Torn fragments of what appeared to have been a note were found in Mrs. Logan's room but efforts of police to piece them together were unavailing.

Deer Walks Down Gorge Ledge Bank

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Watkins Glen lost its latest attraction today with the departure of its celebrated deer from the rocky ledge it had occupied for the past ten days.

Scorning the temporary and camouflaged bridge that had been erected for its exit, the deer, under the gentle urging of two park employes, made its way cautiously down the precipitous bank into the stream that flows through the glen, crossed to the opposite side, jumped to a small ledge and then ambled to the top of the bank on the south side of the ravine.

YES, YES, GO ON

RACINE (AP)—Defending himself when arraigned on a charge of breaking into a filling station "Peck" Carner, 32, of Racine, testified thus:

"The operator of the station gave me $5 a week ago to buy him a dog. I spent the money, but not for a dog. I had to return with a dog or $5. It was quite a problem because I didn't have the money. So I broke into the filling station to get the money to pay him back."

Ninety days was the penalty.

TWO FACTIONS SEEK CONTROL OF SITUATION

INTERVENTION APPEARS TO BE INEVITABLE TO OBSERVERS

BY J. P. McKNIGHT.
(Copyright, 1933, By The Associated Press.)

HAVANA, Sept. 7 (AP)—Turbulent Cuba stood at the cross-roads today, with some political factions convinced that civil war would be necessary to solve her governmental problem, while others looked for intervention by the United States.

The radical administration which has seized power continued on the surface to be optimistic that Tuesday's coup d'etat would be successful.

Members of the provisional government declared that order would be maintained and that there would be no intervention by America. But all sections of the more conservative political groups considered intervention inevitable unless there was an abrupt change in the tense situation.

Among these latter factions were members of the A B C secret society, the followers of former President Mario G. Menocal, and a considerable part of another important revolutionary body, the O C R R, among whom fears of a counter-revolution were expressed.

In the face of this acute crisis the administration—a five-man junta set up after soldiers, sailors, and national police ousted commissioned officers and obtained the resignation of President de Cespedes' month-old provisional government courageously tackled head-on its most dangerous problems.

Failure Looms.

It secretly resolved to disarm all civilians and began to try to restore to their former positions officers ousted Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Impartial observers believed that neither effort would be crowned with success.

Unnumbered thousands of students, A B C members, O C R R men and others have pistols and rifles and machine guns, for which ammunition was issued in large quantities from the barracks Monday and Tuesday.

Batista Seems 'Boss.'

Military units at Camp Columbia, origin of the movement for a "purely revolutionary government," at San Ambrosia barracks, and at Camaguey were reported divided on the course of events.

It was considered significant that Sergeant Fulgencio Batista, a leader in the anti-Cespedes revolt, and others of the executive commission now in power refused to give out the total number of officers subject to re-instatement nor any of their names.

Credence to reports was lent by the refusal of many officers to reassume their commands, preferring to await developments.

The commission met a long time last night. When the session ended at 1:05 a. m., they announced that complete order reigned throughout the island. Ramon Grau San Martin, a junta member, said the long-closed university of Havana would be re-opened October 1.

Sergeant Batista told the Associated Press that the deposed officers would be re-instated according to a selective process, in which only those having the confidence of the soldiers and the people would be retained, and that the highest rank would be that of lieutenant colonel.

The officers' reluctance was explained by the belief that none of them is willing to compromise his position by accepting the new movement.

In the presence of an Associated Press representative Sergeant Batista received several of the younger officers, privates, corporals, and sergeants. They saluted him solemnly as chief of the army. Their demeanor was not enthusiastic.

Palace Guarded.

For an unexplained reason a strong guard was placed on all four sides of the presidential palace at 2 a. m.

Rumors circulated freely that all revolutionary factions—opponents of the Gerardo Machado regime, which toppled August 12 and gave way to the short-lived de Cespedes regime—were in a state of intense agitation.

Scores of automobiles went to and from the residences of Menocal and Colonel Carlos Mendieta, prominent opposition leaders, and A B C headquarters constantly throughout the night.

Insurance Agents Form Association

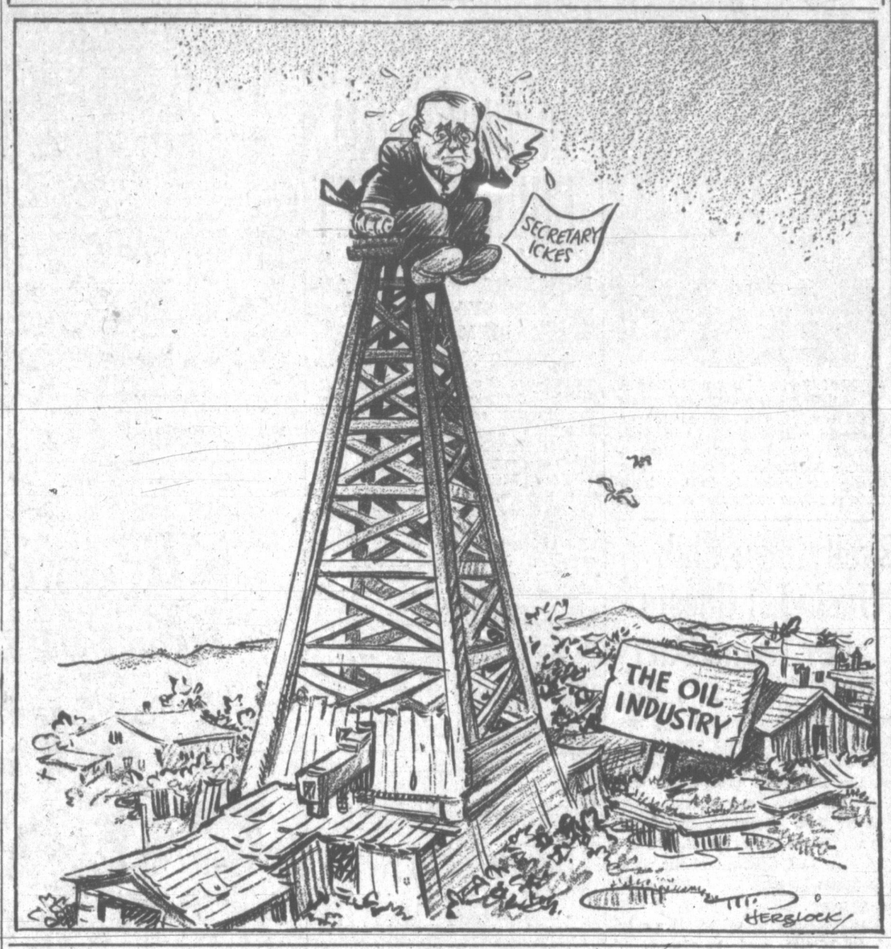

Insurance agents of Pampa and nearby towns met at the city hall Tuesday and elected M. P. Downs president and chose Farris Oden as secretary and treasurer.

John K. Boyce of Amarillo, president of the Texas Association of Insurance Agents, and Guy Saunders, also of Amarillo, assisted in forming the local organization. President Boyce explained the purpose of the state and local associations as an effort to improve general practices and reduce fire hazards. He also explained the relation of the groups to the NRA movement.

The associations likely will be asked to establish a code of fair practices.

Among The Newly-Created Positions

The HIDDEN DOOR

BY FRANK L. PACKARD

SYNOPSIS: Captain Dollaire, of the rum schooner, Alouette, hi-jacked and wrecked the St. Lawrence river counterfeiting plant of the Mask, New York underworld czar. To avenge the Mask three men just have gone aboard the Alouette off Long Island to murder the crew and captain, and with the help of their gang, to steal the liquor. One is Buck O'Mara, the Mask's lieutenant; another Benny Malone, gangster, and the third the famous writer, Colin Hewitt, disguised as Clarkie Lunn, crook. Colin is tracking down the Mask, who also is tracking down Colin. Dollaire suddenly declares the money offered for the liquor is counterfeit and covers his would-be murderers with his pistol.

Chapter 40

MURDER AFLOAT

Dollaire was rocking on his feet, his face was contorted, his beetle brows a straight line, his jaw outthrust, his eyes like black, luminous pinpoints glinting through narrowed lids.

"So!" he flung out through twisted lips. "You think you fool me some more, eh? You think you make a monkey of Dollaire? So! I see the whole business now. You are friends with those fellows at the Riviere des Cascades, eh?—and that Heimie Schwarm is a fat!

"You come here to laugh at Dollaire, and steal his cargo, eh? But you do not know Dollaire. No! I will show you what Dollaire does to"—he broke into a torrent of vile French epithets—"skunks like you!"

Buck O'Mara shrugged his shoulders as Dollaire, with pointed gun, backed in to the companionway.

"You're all wet, Dollaire," he said as patiently as though he were talking to a refractory child. "I do not know what you're yapping about. Better put that rod down, and come back here and talk it over."

Dollaire had backed nearly to the top of the companionway. He laughed now in a low, ugly way as, halting, he patted his revolver with his free hand.

"I talk with this now," he jeered through working lips. "Maybe once you go to church, eh? Maybe you remember some little prayer, eh? Well, for me, I do not think about that any more, but I have the good heart. I give you one minute, and than I count—not that nice fresh money—but one, two, three dead on the floor."

Dollaire meant it—of that there was no doubt in Colin's mind. Dollaire was in a maniacal rage—well, it was merely what Buck O'Mara had intended to do to Dollaire!

The end? Colin was conscious of strange mingling sensations and thoughts rushing in a flood upon him that he could not analyze. Bewilderment? Fear? Numbed resignation? He saw Germaine—and she smiled wistfully at him.

He was alive, full of vitality at this instant—what would death be like the next? The muzzle of Dollaire's revolver was like a magnet from which one's eyes could not be dragged away. Would one both see the flash and hear the report? Which of the two, light or sound, traveled the faster? Was there—

He heard Buck O'Mara speaking again—but there was something sharp, imperative in O'Mara's voice now:

"Listen to me, Dollaire. You've got a gun on us, so I'll come across. That money's phony all right, and we had it in for you for what you did to some of our boys down the river, but you're not so hot even now. You don't get out of this unless I say so; but, as it stands, if you want a rain check on your own life I'll give it to you now, and we'll call it off for tonight.

"A shot fired down here'll mean just one thing. It'll be the signal my mob is waiting for to come aboard and clean you up. If any of us three go out, you'll go out too. Don't kid yourself about that. But we're willing to walk out of here to the boats with our hands up and push off. What do you say? I'm not bluffing. I'm showing you my cards face up on the table. A royal straight flush, Dollaire. Take a look at it."

Colin's brain was in riot as Dollaire stood there glaring, licking hungrily now at his lips. Would Buck O'Mara get away with this? Buck O'Mara was lying, of course—not as to what would follow on the heels of a shot being fired down here, for that was true, but as to the bargain he was offering Dollaire.

He had not the slightest intention of keeping his share of that bargain, even if Dollaire agreed—he was merely seizing upon what seemed to offer the only chance to escape the immediate peril in which he himself stood.

No matter what happened here in the cabin, neither Dollaire nor one of his crew would escape tonight. That was certain. But would Dollaire fall for this? It meant his, Colin's life, too. Would Dollaire—

Bah!" jerked out Dollaire. "I take a look—and I laugh. It is like the money, your cards—they come from the same place! You get some boys on them boats, and they come out to fight, and steal my Alouette, eh? Well, me, I got big crew that fight plenty with you first. When I shoot that is the signal, eh? Well, my fellows they hear that quick, too. So"—he grinned ferociously—"I give that signal—like this!"

There was a flash and the roar of the report in the confined space dinned in Colin's ears. He was conscious that Buck O'Mara, anticipating the shot by a split second, had flung himself out of his chair to the door.

But neither Benny Malone nor himself had been so prescient. Another crash—another report. What sounded like a deep sigh came from Benny Malone. Seconds that seemed to span eternity! Dollaire, like some great ape, was crouched there on the topmost step of the companionway, still firing down into the lighted cabin.

There was only one chance, only one. Colin flung himself from the settee, leaped for the low-hung lamp that was scarcely two yards away, and brought it smashing down, a shattered thing upon the table.

The cabin was in darkness.

"Good boy!" Buck O'Mara's voice called out—and from the floor came the flash now of Buck O'Mara's gun.

But the companionway was empty now. The slam of the cabin door proclaimed the fact that Dollaire was gone.

Tomorrow sees the end of one Dollaire.

IRONIC-EH, WHAT?

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Biffo and Socko put up a brisk battle in the comedy bout of the Benefit Amateur boxing show—but the only one injured was Joe Fischman, second.

Between rounds, Joe ventured to prove that the hand is quicker than the eye by removing a piece of iron from one of the boxer's gloves without being seen.

The theory worked. So quickly did the hand—and the iron—move that iron struck Joe in the eye.

WILL USE OLD COAST GUARD CUTTER BEAR

EXPLORATION OF NEW AREA TO REQUIRE TWO YEARS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, USN, retired, announced today at the White House that he would sail from Boston on September 25, for another expedition to the south pole.

Byrd, who spent the night at the White House talking over his plans with President Roosevelt, departed this morning for New York to hasten the preparations for his exploration, which he expects to take two years.

Asked why he was returning to the dreary Antarctic regions, he replied that there was an area there still unexplored as big as the United States and Mexico combined.

The youthful looking explorer will use the old coast guard cutter, Bear, which has been the property of Oakland, Calif., since it was decommissioned, after years in the Arctic.

He will have with him about 70 men and probably several airplanes. His old base at Little America will be used again. It was from there in 1929 that Byrd and his companions flew over the south pole.

Harold June, who was with him on that flight, will be the chief pilot with Byrd as navigator and assistant pilot.

Byrd will sail with 35 men each on the Pacific Fir and the Bear, the latter to be used to crush its way to the edge of the ice at Little America, and the former to serve as a base ship north of the ice pack.

The addition of the Pacific Fir was made in the interest of economy, Byrd said, as it permitted the expedition to carry all of its supplies from the United States, including an enormous quantity of gasoline and oil.

The personnel of the party to accompany the rear admiral included, he said, several men who were with him on one or more of his previous expeditions and others who are awaiting their first glimpse of the earths' most barren region.

Girl Detained In Slaying Of Her Companion

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 7 (AP)—The 17-year-old girl companion of J. Glenn Justice, Jr., when he was shot to death last night on a lonely road north of the city, was held in jail today for questioning.

Still suffering from a bullet wound in her right arm, received she said, when a holdup man turned his pistol on her after killing Justice, Ruth Terry was arrested on orders of Deputy Sheriff W. I. Eads.

Justice, 23, secretary and treasurer of the Pan-National Insurance company, was shot five times. The girl said two men accosted them as they sat on a cushion from Justice's automobile.

Justice grappled with one of the men, she said, and the man opened fire. The two men then escaped in Justice's car after robbing him of $50. The car was found abandoned near the scene today.

The judge, who watched the mice perform, admitted they were good. He also admitted Mrs. Marshall had a right to collect her bill. Then, he continued the case to September 20.

Ex-King's Son To Wed Princess Maria of Italy

MADRID, Sept. 7 (AP)—Persons close to the former ruling family of Spain predicted today that Juan Carlos, youngest son and heir of Ex-King Alfonso, will soon be married in an elaborate ceremony to Princess Maria of Italy.

The pope, these sources said, is to officiate at the wedding, with Premier Mussolini acting as official sponsor.

The 20-year old Juan Carlos became heir pretender when his elder brother, the prince of Asturias, married a commoner, Edelmira Sampedro of Cuba, last June. The predicted match with Princess Maria, who is 19, is to be associated with all the pomp and ceremony carried by the rank of the pretendership.

The Prince of Wales, it was said, will be among highest ranking representatives of the nations attending the ceremony, which would be one of the most elaborate royal weddings in recent times, in accordance with the rigid Spanish-Italian protocal.

Juan Carlos is serving as a courtesy cadet in the British navy and he met the daughter of the Italian king not long ago when on leave. Alfonso recently visited the pope and the Italian royal family.

GOBBLERS GUILTLESS

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP)—After 13 years, Mrs. Ellen Gill's turkeys stand exculpated.

In 1920, Mrs. Gill shook a tablecloth out of the door of her farm house. On it her visitor, Mrs. Jarry Jessup, had laid her diamond engagement ring. Each turkey was killed that fall in belief one of the fowls had picked up the ring.

The farm later changed hands and Mrs. Harry Myers found the ring yesterday not far from the house.

Mrs. M. S. Jenkins is reported resting well at Pampa hospital after an operation yesterday.

National Fire Week To Begin On October 8

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed the week beginning October 8, to be observed as fire prevention week.

His proclamation follows:

"It has been a commendable custom for the president of the United States to request the annual observance of fire prevention week throughout the country. It is a week set aside for the purpose of informing the public of the dangers of fire to life and property. Fires which are largely preventable take a cruel toll of many lives and destroy property exceeding $400,000,000 in value each year. Of late, progress has been made in reducing the nation's fire loss, and this fact should encourage continuous vigilance and alertness so necessary to decrease the hazards of fire.

"Now, therefore, I Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week beginning October 8, 1933, to be observed as fire prevention week. To prevent our enormous waste by fire, the cooperation of all citizens is requested, and the organizations, groups and individuals interested in fire prevention are asked to take the leadership in instructing the public in the simple precautionary measures advocated as fire prevention safeguards."

Franklin Montgomery left this morning for Houston, where he will enter Rice Institute for post graduate work. He received his bachelor's degree there in the spring.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

You will find a special cracker for every purpose if you take the trouble to study the array on your grocers' shelves. Their crisp freshness is appetizing in hot weather and very often carefully selected crackers can be served in place of a baked-stuff. This means a saving of both time and effort for the cook.

The cracker is always ready and will keep in good condition almost indefinitely. Naturally, certain varieties keep better than others, but there is little danger of actual molding and spoiling and a short sojourn in a moderate oven will restore the desired crispness.

With Soups and Desserts

There is no waste, because the broken odds and ends can be used to the last crumb; those from the unsweetened varieties like soda, milk and butter being especially suited for savory meat and vegetable dishes, and those of the sweet varieties finding their way into puddings and desserts. Either kind of cracker crumbs are excellent for thickening fresh fruit pies.

Soda crackers are fine for thickening soups and chowders. Use 1 tablespoon fine crumbs to a cup of liquid, sprinkling in the crumbs a few minutes before the dish is done. A little time must be allowed for the crumbs to expand and thicken the liquid properly.

Crackers are particularly suitable to serve with soups, either hot or jellied. The crisp texture of the cracker contrasts pleasantly with the liquid smoothness of the soup.

Tomorrow's Menu

Luncheon: Open tuna fish and celery sandwiches, frozen fruit salad, toasted crackers, hot chocolate.

Dinner: Broiled ham with pineapple slices, scalloped potatoes, spinach and egg salad, graham cracker ice-box pudding, milk, coffee.

Salads gain importance when accompanied by a bread-stuff of some description, and how much easier it is to serve crackers than to make sandwiches of bread and butter.

For Salads and Sandwiches

Crackers themselves make dainty sandwiches. Suitable fillings for use with unsweetened crackers are quite piquant and snappy. Sardine and anchovy pastes, cream cheese with pimentos and nuts, hard cooked eggs mashed with mustard and tomato catsup, highly flavored grated cheese worked into creamed butter—these are a few combinations that are sure to please.

Slightly sweetened crackers may be made into sandwiches, using a mixture of cream cheese and preserves or jam. Chopped dates and raisins combined with peanut butter make a good sweet filling. Chopped nuts added to marmalade is another delectable combination.

FIFTH AVENUE FASHIONS

By ELLEN WORTH

White Satin Goes Over the Top

This slenderizing frock wears a touch of white satin just where satin is smartest this season—at the neckline. But the softly knotted yoke is only one of four reasons why this model will make you look your very best. The other three are the panel seaming which takes inches off the hips, the sash which accents a slender waistline and the graceful puffed sleeves caught in tightly below the elbows.

If you choose your frocks with an eye to flattery this is one you simply can't overlook. Every line counts—and it's as easy to make as it is to wear. Try it in navy or tobacco brown crepe with a tiny autumn print.

New activities are being introduced for Woodrow Wilson pupils this year, and past activities reorganized at the start of the term, Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal, announces.

TOMORROW LAST DAY TO QUALIFY FOR COUNTRY CLUB GOLF TOURNAMENT

OVER 55 WILL START FLIGHT PLAY SUNDAY

CHAMP WILL BE GIVEN $22.50 WORTH OF MERCHANDISE

Pampa golfers have only tomorrow to qualify for the Country Club Golf tournament which will get under way Sunday morning with as many flights as necessary to acmodate all players who have qualified. The entry fee for the tournament is only $1 and green fees for qualifying and each round of tournament play have been set at 25 cents.

Before shooting the qualifying round, each entrant should register at the clubhouse, pay his entry fee, and secure a card signed by Secretary C. P. Buckler. Qualifying is over 18 holes.

Qualifyers passed the 55 mark yesterday afternoon. The course is in the best condition of the year as a result of recent rains. The fairways are green and level. Greens have been worked over since the rains hardened them and some good scores are expected.

A valuable prize list has been arranged by the tournament committee with the championship flight winner getting $22.50 in merchandise. Each flight winner and runner-up will receive prizes. Six golf balls will go to the player shooting low medal score during qualifying and also during match play. The qualifying prize is still "wide open," the low score to date being 75.

Golfers are urged to play their rounds as quickly as possible so that the tournament committee can start matching at dusk tomorrow night.

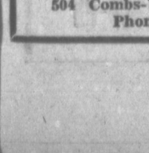

Harvesters To Scrimmage With Exes Tomorrow

With everyone back in uniform again, the Harvesters will scrimmage the "exes" again Friday afternoon. When the high school squad worked out against the former Harvesters last Saturday, seven players were out with injuries or sickness and two of them were lettermen.

Coaches have been working hard this week, perfecting a few plays, polishing up weaknesses and also giving a series of new plays. Although to definite starting lineup has been announced, coaches are beginning to select players who will remain on the Harvester squad. They will not divide the players until sometime next week.

Several new players are showing up well, but like every prospect, they need lots of training. It takes work and practice when green material has to be used for an entire team. Usually teams have a number of veterans who can hold up some of the work until the green material learns but this year Texas teams are all handicapped by the eight semester rule.

Manager C. C. Busby of the "exes" says he was holding his boys back last Saturday when they scrimmaged the Harvesters but tomorrow afternoon he intends to let them go. He has lost several of his boys by returning to college but will still have a strong lineup. The scrimmage will start soon after 4 o'clock.

NEW FOOTBALL RULES ISSUED BY HIGH SCHOOL GRID CZAR

Rules Not Clear—Mitchell Receives Ruling on Vague Number-of-Games Rule.

Several new rules on eligibility and number of games that can be played in the Texas high school football world this year have been issued by Roy B. Henderson, athletic director. Some of the rules are anything but clear, and opinions have been asked.

The information in the bulletin follows:

The eight-semester rule is now in effect in all member schools, Classes A, B and C. Under this rule a boy is ineligible after eight semesters of attendance in the eighth grade or higher. An enrolment period of less than three weeks in one semester does not count against the pupil. One term in a school of less than eight months counts one and one-half semesters.

The rule which prevented the playing of a football game before the last Friday in September has been changed. The new rule places the limit on the number of games to be played, rather than upon the beginning date. A school may now not play more than 10 games (conference or otherwise) between the opening day of school and the Saturday following Thanksgiving. (Coach Odus Mitchell of the Harvesters has received a ruling on the last clause from Roy B. Henderson in which Mr. Henderson says that if a tie results in a district and either team has already played the 10 games, the play-off can be after the Saturday following Thanksgiving.) If a school has two or more teams, this rule applies to both teams, i. e., each team may play 10 games. In that case, however, the squad composing each team must be kept separate. After a player has participated, either as a regular or a substitute, on the "first" team, he may not play on the "second" team unless the game is counted as one of the 10 games for the "first" team. (Local officials take the last sentence to mean that a player on the first team who "flops" cannot play on the second team or the game would count as one of the 10 games played by the first team and would mean cancellation of one of the regularly scheduled games. A ruling is being sought). In addition no player shall be allowed to participate in more than 10 games.

The "15 mile clause" has been made part of the one-year transfer rule. This means a pupil living at home with his parents, or guardians, may change from a school having less than 15 accredited units to any higher school within 15 miles of his home and be eligible his first year so far as this rule is concerned. It is understood that the pupil must have attended the former school at least one year immediately preceding his transfer.

In inter-district elimination games this year the "home and home" rule of the football plan will not apply unless the last game between the schools occurred within six years and counted on league standing.

The maximum fee for officials has been regulated and notice is hereby given that officials may be paid the same or different fees so long as none is paid more than the maximum. (In the past some schools have paid exorbitant fees for officials).

AUSTRALIAN'S BACKHAND IS DRAWING CARD

'BIG FOUR' OF TOURNEY MAY FIND GOING HARD TODAY

BY GAYLE TALBOT,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Vivian McGrath, the smiling young man from Australia, and his double-barreled backhand are playing to standing room in the national men's tennis championships.

Billed strictly as a novelty, the only living player who hits a tennis ball from the port side with both hands grasping the racquet, the lad from 'down under' has proved far more than that. He is an exceptionally fine tennis player, and that two-fisted shot of his now has the experts doing mental and literary cartwheels.

"There's the most important thing tennis has seen in many a day," declared Mercer Beasley, the old tennis maestro, as he hunched over and watched. "The greatest backhand in the world today, and the lad has it all to himself."

Beasley and his star pupil, Frankie Parker, who was defeated by Keith Gledhill yesterday, have been experimenting with the stroke and it would not be surprising to see Parker using it next summer.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, was scheduled to play the sensational young Australian today, and the consensus was curtains for McGrath.

The "big four" of the tournament —Ellsworth Vines, Jr., and Frank Shields of this country, Fred Perry of England and Jack Crawford of Australia—all had come through rather easily up to this point, but each was promised pretty stiff opposition today.

Vines, the defending champ, faced Bryan Grant, of Atlanta. Shields met Ryosuke Nunoi of Japan, who yesterday upset George Lott, veteran U. S. Davis cup star, in a five-set match.

Crawford encountered Sidney Wood Jr. Perry appeared to have his hands full against Keith Gledhill, former intercollegite champion, who yesterday took a four-set fall out of Frankie Parker.

STEERS LOSE TO GALVESTON IN 2-0 DUEL

HOUSTON TO PLAY SAN ANTONIO NEXT TWO NIGHTS

DALLAS, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Galveston Buccaneers had scored first blood today in the Shaughnessy plan play-offs for the Texas league pennant, by walloping the Dallas Steers 2 to 0.

The other two teams in the running, Houston and San Antonio, had their initial contest last night postponed because of rainy weather.

Some 7,000 fans watched the Steers and Buccaneers fight for an edge last night. The Buccaneers got away in the eighth inning by bunching four hits, including Fuzzy Hufft's home run, to bring in their two runs.

The game was a pitching struggle between Orville Jorgens, young Galveston right-hander, and Fred Stiely, crafty Dallas southpaw. Jorgens held the Steers to three hits, while Stiely was pounded for seven. The Buccaneers got but two hits in the first seven innings.

Jorgens had no trouble handling the situation after the first inning, when Koster doubled with one out and advanced to third on an infield out.

Houston plays San Antonio tonight and tomorrow night at Houston, while Galveston continues its series at Dallas. Winners of these five-game series will fight it out for the championship and the right to compete in the Dixie series against the Southern Association champions.

HOUSTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Smart 37-year-old George Payne, veteran master of control, will see what he can do about beating the San Antonio Missions tonight.

Youthful Fabian Kowalik, ace right-hander with an assortment of stuff that netted him 21 victores this season, will oppose Payne.

These two stars are due to steal the headlines tonight when Houston and San Antonio meet in the first five-game series in the round-robin Shaughnessy pennant plan play-off. A heavy rain storm forced a postponement of last night's game.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Purviance and daughter, Janice returned home Tuesday after a visit with relatives in Illinois. Mrs. Purviance and Miss Janice spent more than a month with relatives but Dr. Purviance only flew up last week. He left Amarillo at 6 a. m. and had dinner at 2 p. m., in Springfield.

PIRATES SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER WITH LEADERS

GIANTS WRECK BUCS' HOPE OF SWEEPING SERIES

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.,
Associated Press Sports Editor.

There was still plenty of trouble in sight for the New York Giants today but behind them was convicing proof that they have the ability to come back when they have to.

The Giants' lead, which dwindled at an alarming rate in the first two games of their important series at Pittsburgh, remained at 6½ games as they rallied brilliantly to win the second game of yesterday's doubleheader and the third of the series, 9 to 1 after the embattled Buccaneers had pulled out to a 6 to 5, ten-inning decision in the opener.

The triumph, while it ruined Pittsburgh's hopes of sweeping the series and cutting the Giant margin to a mere 2½ games, left the league leaders with two more games against their nearest rivals today and tomorrow, and a pair of tough customers, Chicago and St. Louis, still to be met after a breathing spell at Cincinnati against the last place Reds.

The Pirates did some comeback work of their own in the first clash, rallying to drive Freddy Fitzsimmons to cover in the late innings after an exciting four-run rally in the sixth had given New York the lead. Steve Swetonic, who started for the Bucs, was relieved by Leon Chagnon in this frame and when he was banged for three more in two Bill Swift went to the box and it was his single in the tenth that spelled victory.

Ralph Birkofer, the young southpaw who trimmed the Giants in New York recently, failed to get through an inning of the second game and Chagnon was not much more effective. The former gave up two runs and left the bases loaded and the inning wound up with a 5-0 count. The Giants kept right on clouting and Hal Schumacher came close to a shutout on the hill, giving only seven hits.

While the big twin bill was going on, the third-place Chicago Cubs crept half a game closer by knocking off the Boston Braves 4 to 3 behind young Bud Tinning, who pitched a three-hit shutout up to the final inning. The St. Louis Cardinals did even better, beating the Phillies twice, 3-1 and 8-7. After taking the opener on Bill Halalhan's three-hit flinging, the Cards had to stage a seven-run spurt in the last two innings of the nightcap.

Brooklyn and Cincinnati divided a meaningless doubleheader, the Dodgers taking the first 7-3, and the Reds pounding out 21 hits to reach their high scoring mark of the season with an 18 to 8 victory in the second.

The American league situation remained unchanged with Washington 9½ games ahead of the New York Yankees. Alex McColl, 37-year-old Senator rookie, pitched 4-hit ball in his first major league start and batted in two runs in a 3-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Lou Gehrig did all the Yankee scoring in the Yanks' 3-2 triumph over the St. Louis Browns, hitting his 24th homer among other blows.

Jimmie Foxx came through with his 41st homer and Lefty Grove hurled effectively in the clinches for his 20th victory of the season as the Philadadelphia Athletics downed Cleveland 5 to 4. The Detroit Tigers combined 14 hits with a flock of walks off Boston pitchers and beat the Red Sox 11 to 5.

Canzoneri And Ross Battle Is Arousing Fans

NEW YORK, Sept. 7. (AP)—The similarity in the boxing styles of Barney Ross, the new lightweight champion, and Tony Canzoneri, the former title holder, who assumes the challenger's role in their 15-round bout at the Polo Grounds next Tuesday night, has impressed the experts more than anything else in their preparations.

Add to that almost identical workouts and it is easy to understand why some of those who toured the New Jersey countryside yesterday to see Ross box four rounds at Lake Swannanoa and Tony go six frames at Pompton Lakes wished they had stayed in one place.

Both the champion, who won his title from Canzoneri at Chicago in June, and his rival featured sharp left jabs, left hooks and smart right crosses in their assaults on their sparring aprtners. Each scored one knockdown and there was no fault to be found with the physical condition of either battler.

Today they were scheduled to visit the offices of the New York State Athletic commission for examination. Ross weighed 137 pounds before yesterday's workout and Canzoneri was a pound under the class limit at 134.

Nearly a week before the bout, the prospects already have aroused so much attention that forecasts of a $100,000 "gate" were being made freely.

Special Deputy Kills Cafe Owner

GIDDINGS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Theodore Mitchell, cafe operator, was dead today of gunshot wounds suffered after a heated argument with H. H. Jones, telegrapher and special deputy sheriff. Jones was charged with murder and held under $500 bond.

Officers were told that Mitchell and Jones argued and then engaged in a fist fight late yesterday in Mitchell's cafe. Jones left the cafe and when Mitchell came out to the street the shooting occurred, two bullets tearing through the cafe operator's body.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good", for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. ©1933, C.M.Co.

NEY'S BUST OF JOHN H. REAGAN NEAR PALESTINE

Odd Battle Between Sculptor And Judge Told

RUSK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Near Palestine, close by the site of Old Fort Houston, stands one of the most interesting of East Texas shrines. Gleaming among great trees is the white-pillared home of Judge John H. Reagan, now carefully kept by his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff D. Reagan.

According to Mrs. Reagan, this spacious old mansion just grew. Some of the rock foundation and underpinning were a part of a house built on the site in 1838. The last addition was made in 1890.

Sam Houston Painting.

Entering the hall through massive handmade doors, visitors find themselves in an historical treasure-house.

In one drawer of the desk standing where Judge Reagan left it, is a part of the manuscript of his famous memoirs. The ink-well is made of stone from the room where the heroes of the Alamo made their last stand. Dominant over the picture-hung walls of the beautifully ceiled living-room is a great painting of Sam Houston. An album of rare old photographs includes pictures of Charlotte Bronte, Queen Victoria, the historian Prescott and Gen. R. E. Lee. Among the interesting volumes in the handmade bookcases is the "ordinances and decrees of the consultation, provisional government of Texas and the convention which assembled at Washington, March 1, 1836." The major portion of the Reagan library, a car load of books, was given to the Texas state library.

Bryan Dinner Set

The commission signed by Jefferson Davis which made John H. Reagan postmaster-general of the confederacy hangs in the library. On a tapestry in the dining-room the trophies of three generations of Reagans include the pistol John H. Reagan used in the civil war, the swords used by his son in the Spanish war, and the helmet worn by his grandson in the World war. Here also is a cabinet containing the 114-piece dinner set used in entertaining William Jennings Bryan and scores of other celebrities.

Around the marble bust of the judge which stands in one corner of the living room, is woven the following story that never has been published.

That Ney Bust

When Judge Reagan was a member of the railroad commission the famous Elizabeth Ney invited him to pose in her studio. Insisting that he could not buy the bust, he finally posed under protest, thereby beginning a battle royal between two powerful characters. Miss Ney apparently worked under the impression that he would buy; he posed, thinking the bust would be his. She went to Italy with the cast and the marble bust finally arrived at the Galveston customhouse. The judge refused to pay the duty. Miss Ney returned and asked him to give it to her. Another clash ensued. In the end, to prevent the work of art being sold for customs duties, Major Littlefield paid the charges. At last the judge yielded, refunded charges and placed it in the living room, a refutation to the generally accepted story that Miss Ney destroyed her work.

STATE PAID RENTALS

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Announcement was made today of the payment of approximately $57,000 in oil and gas bonuses by companies that hold leases on public free school lands, the amounts having been due for some time. The California company remitted $16,380 as bonus and rentals due on 30 leases, and the Stanolind Oil & Gas company recently paid $21,000 due on a number of leases.

Bailey Smiles Sardonically

PRE-WAR PURCHASING POWER FOR BUSHEL OF WHEAT SOUGHT UNDER DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 7.—The wheat farmer who signs a contract with the government to reduce his acreage for 1934 and 1935 is paid for his cooperation in the form of a cash premium on that part of his crop used for human consumption in the United States, extension service officials at Texas A and M college explain.

It is an effort, they say, to give the farmer a price on 54 per cent of his crop sufficient to make it equal the pre-war purchasing power of wheat. For the 1933 crop, growers who sign contracts are promised 28 to 30 cents per bushel less local administrative costs for 54 per cent of their average production for 1930-31-32. This production is adjusted up or down to put it in line with the county 5-year average for the period 1928-32.

If John Doe produced an average of 1000 bushels during the years 1930-32 and lived in a county where the county 5-year average production was the same as the three-year average production, he would be awarded on signing his contract a farm allotment of 540 bushels of wheat. On this amount he would be paid such benefits as the Secretary of Agriculture might announce each year of the three years the contract runs. For 1933 this figure was set at 30 cents per bushel when the wheat processing tax was levied. Out of this might be deducted as much as 2 cents per bushel to promote exports of American wheat, and out of this would be deducted a small amount to pay the cost of applying the plan in the county. John would be paid 20 cents per bushel this fall on the 540-bushel allotment, and the remaining amount about June 1st next.

If John's wheat blew out last spring he would receive the payments just the same. If he fulfills his contract in good faith the government will pay him his benefits on his allotted 540 bushels each of the three years 1933, 1934 and 1935. If he fails to carry out his contract it will be cancelled and all advances paid John will be collected.

In return for his benefits, which may vary from year to year but which will always be calculated to bring the price of the allotted bushels up to pre-war purchasing power, known as parity, John contracts to reduce his wheat acres as much below his three-year average acreage as the Secretary of Agriculture directs, but never more than 20 per cent. This fall he will have to reduce 15 per cent. Suppose he averaged 100 acres in 1930-32, he will be called upon to reduce down to 85 acres. He might reduce still further but would have to agree to sow enough wheat to produce his allotted 540 bushels assuming average yields. In this case his average yield was 10 bushels per acre, hence he would have to sow at least 54 acres but would not be allowed to sow more than 85 acres.

If John is a tenant he will have to get his landlord to sign the contract with him, and the two will share in the benefits in the same proportion as they share in the crop. If he is moving to another farm this fall he will still get his benefits on the land he farmed last year if he signs a contract with his landlord before leaving. The new tenant would have to assume the contract for the remaining two years. If John moves to a new farm where the landlord and tenant have signed a contract he will continue to participate in the benefits. The contract follows the farm and binds all parties for the life of the contract, whether they be new tenants or new owners.

The administration of the plan will be in the hands of wheat production control associations to be organized as soon as county agents with the aid of temporary campaign committees have explained the plan. Every man who signs an application for a contract will have one vote in electing a community allotment committee, the chairman of which will be one of the members of the board of directors of the county wheat production control association. Acting through the county allotment committee composed of board members, the new farmer association will work out all the farm allotments, sign contracts, inspect farms, and generally administer the affairs of the wheat allotment plan in their own interests and in accordance with provisions of the government.

County educational campaigns are now beginning in most of the 131 Teas counties growing wheat, and every grower in the State is to be given an opportunity to sign a contract if he wishes.
