Pampa Phone Employes On Strike Alert

Local members of the Communications Workers Association of the CIO are on alert, ready to go on strike against Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at word from headquarters of the CWA in St. Louis, Mo.

The time or hour has not been disclosed, according to R. W. Sissons, Amarillo, president of the CWA-CIO Local 6128 which includes Pampa, Amarillo, Borger, Tulia, Canadian, Shamrock, Canyon and Hereford.

Total workers in the area organization is 700, Sisssons said, although no estimate of Pampa workers to be involved is available today. Sissons said 100 per cent of Pampa installation and maintenance workers are union members and part of the traffic and commercial departments, but no definite figures could be estimated.

The strike is pending a joint meeting of company and union negotiators with federal conciliators involving a wage raise in new contracts for company workers.

The company has offered wage increases averaging 3½ cents an hour and a United Press dispatch said today union negotiators are holding out for a 7½ cent raise.

If a strike is called, the UP dispatch continued, an estimated 23,000 Bell Telephone Co. workers in Texas will walk out and long distance service in Bell exchanges would be at a virtual halt.

Supervisory employes of Bell are expected to man switchboards for emergency long distance telephone calls as they have during past labor troubles if the strike is called.

Gray County Forms CROP Organization

The Gray County organization of CROP, the Christian Rural Overseas Program, was formed Monday afternoon at the Schneider Hotel.

Frank J. Shaller, Canadian cattleman, presented an outline of CROP's activities, pointing out that it was a voluntary relief agency of laymen who gathered foodstuffs for shipment to and distribution by missionaries of all faiths in the world.

Shaller stated that it was CROP's desire to obtain from the Panhandle's 26 counties 26 carloads of beef that would in turn be shipped to Ft. Worth for canning.

A formal organization was brought into being after Shaller's talk to assume responsibility for Gray County's car of cattle with Irvin Cole and Frank M. Carter elected co-chairmen; Dr. Douglas Carver, secretary; Floyd Imel, treasurer; Roy Smith, publicity chairman; and Dr. Tom Johnston, Ministerial Alliance representative.

It was decided that a canvas would be made of county cattlemen in an effort to have the cattle, some 30 head, donated. Paul Crouch, of Panhandle Packing Co., offered the use of his yards for marshalling the cattle prior to transfer to Amarillo by September 9 where special dedication services will be held before the cattle are shipped to Ft. Worth for canning.

It was decided that Sunday, August 30, would be suggested to the churches of Gray County as a time for a special offering to help defray feed and other expenses incidental with the endeavor.

Participating in the meeting other than the officers were Lynn Boyd, Chamber of Commerce president; Rev. Carrol B. Ray, Paul Crouch and Coy Palmer.

Rainy Weather Delays Paving

Rain and damp weather has held up the start of paving Pampa's newly stabilized streets, the city engineering office reported this morning.

And, topping out the streets won't start until the surfaces are dry, Director of Public Works James Cowan said. Cowan added, shooting hot asphalt on damp surfaces will cause the streets to blister and ruin the paving right from the start. So, when the dampness eases and the surfaces of the streets to be paved are dry contractors on the job will start applying the double asphalt coatings.

Topping operations for the 1953 program will stop on Aug. 31. Streets untopped, by that time will go into the 1954 program.

Gas Rate Hike Hearing Delayed

The request of Empire Southern Gas Co. for an increase in basic gas rates in Pampa will be taken up next week by the City Commission — if a full commission is present.

Mayor Tom Rose asked City Manager B. H. Cruce during commission meeting this morning to have the gas rate hike request placed on next week's agenda.

FACES McCARTHY

Rothschild Silent On Red Relations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—UP—A government printing office employe Tuesday refused to tell Senate investigators if he is a Communist or has stolen secret documents from the government printing office.

The worker, Edward M. Rothschild, refused on grounds of possible self-incrimination to answer all questions put to him by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

McCarthy's permanent investigation subcommittee is looking into charges of "alleged espionage" and Communist membership by some employes at the printing office.

Summarizes Charges

Before questioning Rothschild, McCarthy summarized charges that had been made against him. He said they included "long-time" membership in the Communist party, stealing "secret documents" from the GOP, and membership by his wife in the Communist party.

"These are very, very serious charges," McCarthy told the 42-year-old bookbinder. "They are among the most serious charges that have ever been made against a government official. Do you care to comment on them?"

Rothschild sat silently at the witness table flanked by his two attorneys, Charles E. Ford and Stanley B. Frosh.

McCarthy, the only member of the subcommittee present, then fired a series of questions at Rothschild. These included whether Rothschild is now employed at the government printing office, whether he is a member of the Communist party "at this moment;" whether he has stolen documents including a secret "code"—from the printing office, and whether he was tried by a Communist party board for what was called "white chauvinism."

Grounds of Self-Incrimination

Rothschild refused to answer the questions on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

He also refused to say if he had visited at the home of Fred Sillvers, a former printing office employe, or if he had solicited James Phillips to join the Communist party.

Phillips, a stitching machine operator at the printing office, testified Monday that Rothschild and Sillvers asked him to join the party in 1938.

Safer Site For Model Planes Asked

A more suitable—actually more safe—place for Pampa's power model airplane enthusiasts may have to be found than the spot they are now using near the Panhandle Packing Plant.

Paul Crouch, operator of the packing plant, told the City Commission this morning the miniature flying field is a little too close to the plant's corral where 30 to 50 head of livestock are kept at all times.

"Those planes flying around there are liable to frighten the cattle, and I don't know if that corral would be able to hold them should they decide to break out. Then somebody is going to get hurt.

The commissioners agreed that they hadn't thought of the corral being so near to where the miniature airfield has its temporary location. Crouch advised its being moved to someplace inside Recreation Park and was told by City Manager B. H. Cruce the present Park Board is working out a spot for the model plane enthusiasts in the park. The park site would be a permanent location.

Crouch also told the commission the county commissioners had intimated to him they might be willing to assume half the cost of paying the salary of the veterinarian hired by the city to inspect meat at his plant and asked that his fee paid to the city for such inspections be dropped.

The packing house manager said he has to pay for these inspections where competitive plants coming in here from Amarillo and other places do not have to pay an inspection fee.

The city hired Dr. T. J. Worrell to make the inspections at a $150 per month salary after the city of Amarillo refused to let Panhandle Packing Co. come over there unless the meat was inspected by a licensed veterinarian.

One-Armed Texan On Shooting Spree

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18—UP—A one-armed Texan pulled a revolver from his pocket in a downtown bus station Monday and began shooting. Two persons were slightly wounded.

Aaron Duval, 57, who came to Los Angeles from Austin, Tex., five weeks ago, was disarmed by police. "They're all after me," he said.

Lamar Denton, 29, told officers the one-armed man came up to him in the bus station, and said: "You've been following me all night. Just because I'm one-armed you don't think I can take care of myself."

Then Duval took out his .38 caliber revolver and started firing. Denton was grazed on the arm and chest by bullets, and Ethel Minnick, 49-year-old waitress, received a slight wound in the arm.

Guaranteed Not To Lose Fuss

HOUSTON, Aug. 18 —UP— Deputy Sheriff J. R. Pickle Jr., called to halt a disturbance at the Little Cotton Patch tavern Monday night, found a 27-year-old Negro seated on the tavern's front steps, a 12-gauge shotgun propped across his knees.

He readily admitted being in an argument with the tavern owner and said he had the gun "to be sure I wouldn't lose the argument."

EDGAR SANDERS
. . . freed by Reds

Briton Freed By Hungary

NICKELSDORF, Austria, Aug. 18—UP—Silver-haired Edgar Sanders, jailed by Red Hungarians for more than three years on false spy charges, crossed the Iron Curtain to freedom Tuesday.

The British businessman walked to freedom along the same path taken by American businessman Robert A. Vogeler, who also was imprisoned on trumped up espionage charges.

Sanders was pardoned Monday by the Hungarian presidium and expelled from the country. A British foreign office spokesman said Sanders would stay in Vienna as long as he wished or the state of his health demanded.

The British announced that Sanders' release would permit Britain to lift its embargo on trade with Communist Hungary.

Two British officials crossed the border into Hungary to escort Sanders to free soil.

Vicenzo Sciotto, an Italian pardoned along with Sanders, made the trip to the border with the Englishman.

Sciotto had been convicted for "assisting espionage" in 1951, the Hungarian government said in a communique which announced the release of the two men. His trial and imprisonment had been kept secret.

A communique from the foreign ministry said the presidium released Sanders in response to a written appeal to its president, Istvan Dobi from the Briton's wife, Winifred.

Sanders was British representative of the Standard Electric Co. on Nov. 22, 1949, when he and Vogeler were arrested and charged with espionage.

Both were tried and found guilty. Vogeler was sentenced to 15 years in prison and Sanders received a 13-year term.

Land Sale Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 —UP— Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay announced the Bureau of Land Management will offer 627 acres in Bingham county, Idaho, for phosphate leasing at a sale Sept. 9.

Action Defeats Russian Demand

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 18—UP—The United Nations political committee Tuesday rejected a Russian demand that Communist China and North Korea be invited here for discussions on setting up the Far Eastern political conference.

The 60-nation committee took two separate votes on the demand made by Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

It beat down, 34 to 18 with 7 abstentions, a motion to reconsider a previous decision not to invite North Korea, and then voted 34 to 14 with 9 abstentions against extending an invitation to Red China.

Vishinsky raised also the question of ousting Nationalist China from the UN in favor of the Chinese Communists, but said he would wait until next September's regular assembly session to demand action on this question.

"The present session," Vishinsky said, "must consider a question in which the Korean people and the Chinese people are vitally interested. Consideration of this question without their participation we believe, would be inadmissible."

The United States promptly opposed the Russian demand.

"We are still convinced," U. S. ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the committee, "that there is no reason why this committee should hear North Korea nor the other aggressors, the Chinese Communists . . . they will be contacted when the time comes to arrange the time and place of the conference. That will be the time to hear them."

Vishinsky said the Chinese and North Korean Reds "must participate in these sittings, since in their absence no success is likely to a solution of this question."

Only this past weekend did informed sources announce that the United States had agreed tentatively to a United Nations proposal to include Russia in the Far East political talks.

The U. S., it was learned, will oppose a similar bid to India.

Reliable sources said the Commonwealth - European supporters of a UN bid to Russia had forged a resolution they believed the U.S. would vote for — thus apparently disposing of the chief issue standing between the U. S. and its major allies.

THAT COLD DAY IN AUGUST everybody frequently talks about hit Pampa this morning following a day of drizzling rain which brought .55 of an inch of moisture to the area and pushed the mercury down to 64 degrees early today. Mrs. Marvin L. Jones, receptionist and bookkeeper at a local radio station, said a coat felt good today, even if it is the middle of August. (News Photo)

PWs Say Chinese Run North Korea

PANMUNJOM, Aug. 18 —UP— A returning war prisoner said Tuesday the Chinese Communists have replaced the Russians as the masters of North Korea.

"There is no more North Korea," Cpl. Lester E. Williams, 26, Kemah, Tex., said. "The Chinese run everything."

Williams returned to freedom Tuesday with 74 other U.S. captives of the Communists, bringing the number of Americans freed in 15-day-old Operation Big Switch to 1,180.

The Texan's statement tended to confirm reports that Red China's dictator, Mao Tse-Tung has succeeded in weaning the puppet North Korean regime away from Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, whom he never has praised publicly as the successor to the late Josef Stalin.

Claimed as Reward

According to Williams' information, the Chinese "volunteers" apparently claimed North Korea as a reward for their intervention in the Korean war.

"On the trains it is the Chinese who do everything," Williams said. "They regard the North Koreans as dirt, and the North Koreans have to take it. The Chinese watch everything, and tell the North Koreans what to do."

The Communists released 450 prisoners Tuesday, the most in one day since Big Switch started. They promised to return even more, 456, Storms Delay Exchange

Since storms off the coast of South Korea had forced the United Nations to return to Koje-Do with boatloads of prisoners, the Allies will release only 600 captives Wednesday and none Thursday. The UN will resume its repatriation of 2,400 prisoners daily on Friday.

Peiping radio, voice of Red China, accused the UN Wednesday of holding back "at least 200 to 300" Chinese prisoners and there was a general feeling here that the Communists had stepped up their repatriation program for propaganda purposes.

School Board To Meet This Week

The third meeting of the Pampa school board this summer will probably be held sometime this week.

Schools Superintendent Knox Kinard said today he thought board members would get together immediately after they complete an inspection of the new Lamar School, slated to open its doors to students just two weeks from today.

J. Aaron Meek, the new school's principal, "has been around there a lot," but has not yet formally moved into his office.

Routine items will round out the board's agenda, Kinard said.

Ike Halts Vacation

DENVER, Aug. 18—UP— President Eisenhower put his vacation in temporary mothballs Tuesday to fly to New York for talks with state politicians and enemies of discrimination in the federal government and to dedicate a housing project dear to his heart and $32 million in cost.

The chief executive, after a day in his summer White House offices at Lowry Air Force Base and possibly a round of golf, was scheduled to take off at 9 p. m. CST for an overnight flight to New York City.

In Manhattan Wednesday, he will spend a day reminiscent of his 1952 campaign.

Heads for Mountains Next

He scheduled a full morning of conferences, a lunch with Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin, and a late afternoon flight back to Denver.

Once the chief executive and his staff recuperate from their whirlwind Eastern visit, they were expected to head for the mountains west of Denver and several days of trout fishing and flapjack cooking at the Fraser, Colo., ranch of an old Eisenhower friend, Aksel Nielsen.

Mr. Eisenhower has been in Denver 11 days. The New York trip, as far as known now, will be the only major interruption in what has developed into a leisurely work and play surcease from normal White House chores. He'll go back to Washington sometime after Labor Day.

The President gave up golf in its 18-hole sense Monday. After a morning conference with Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. on the Mexican "wetback" alien labor problem, the President took Brownell to lunch at the Cherry Hills Country Club where Mr. Eisenhower has been playing golf almost daily.

The chief executive may have gotten in a few practice strokes, but he came back to his office early in the afternoon, signed mail and then went home to the house of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

City Hall Roof Bids To Be Asked

A call for bids on a new roof for City Hall will be sent out as soon as specifications can be drawn up for examination by potential bidders.

The City Commission this morning authorized the call for bids on a four-ply, gravel top roof upon the recommendation of Director of Public Works James Cowan.

Cowan said the roof would cost in the neighborhood of $2,700 and is designed for a life span of 20 years.

Two ordinances up for passage went through on their first and second readings respectively. The ordinance zoning the recently annexed "island" in the northeast section of the city was passed on its first reading. Another ordinance allowing commercial chicken batteries to operate until Dec. 15 passed on its second reading.

At least seven city officials will attend the annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities at Beaumont on Oct., 25-28. Included in the group will be Mayor Rose, City Commissioner W. B. (A) Neel, City Atty. Bob Gordon, City Secretary Ed Vicars, City Manager B. H. Cruce, Cowan, Tax Assessor-Collector Aubrey Jones, and probably Commissioner Gene Fatheree. Cruce will also attend the national convention of city managers at Los Angeles, Sept. 20-24.

G. F. Richmond and Aaron Meek, principal of Lamar School, requested the commission to erect and maintain some type of school zone warning sign for protection of children attending the Lamar School.

Two Killed In Truck Crash

DICKENS, Tex., Aug. 18 —UP— Two trucks collided during a rainstorm near here Monday night, killing both drivers and injuring a third person critically.

One of the trucks burst into flame after impact.

The dead were Sammy Nolley, 19, Lubbock, whose truck burst into flames, and J. C. Williams, 39, of Fort Worth.

Doyle Weir, 23, of Lubbock, riding in Nolley's truck, was in critical condition from injuries.

Williams, a driver for Kimball Food Products, died en route to an Abilene hospital. He was a former resident of Plainview.

ON SEXUAL BEHAVIOR

Women Tell Truth To Kinsey

EDITOR'S NOTE:

On Thursday the first report on Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey's "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female" will be published. The following is a report on the professor's cautious and exhaustive methods of research which have won him the respect of his colleagues in science.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—UP—Do women tell the truth when interviewed by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey for his report on the sexual behavior of the human female?

The answer seems to be yes.

Kinsey's methods of questioning have had close scrutiny from other scientists and particularly the National Research Council which puts up $40,000 a year for the work of the Indiana University Institute for Sex Research.

The verdict has been that there isn't much chance for a person to lie to Kinsey or to withhold information from him. Many who have been interviewed, including newsmen, have verified this.

Kinsey has worked out 325 to 500 questions to cover every facet of human sex activity. Many are cleverly angled to check on answers to previous questions. The interviews last from 75 minutes to three hours and are repeated on succeeding days or at intervals of as much as six months in order to check on any untruths.

But Kinsey reports these precautions are generally not needed. Uusually his subjects are intent on being as accurate as possible during interviews. He has developed psychological methods to win confidence and his subjects are put at ease by the knowledge the intimate facts of their lives will be secret.

The names of the interviewers and all their answers are put on one sheet of paper in a code developed by Kinsey and known only by his three assistants who spent a year learning it. Expert cryptographers have been unable to decipher the code.

In the last analysis the new book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female" will be as accurate as the brilliant scientist, who has devoted almost all his working hours for the past 15 years to perfecting his system of obtaining statistics, can make it.

First reports on the second volume of sex studies written by the 59-year-old Kinsey and his staff will be published Thursday. Kinsey issued his first volume on male sex habits as a classification of all white males in the country by "projection" of the case studies of 5,300 individuals, but he has not made such broad claims for his study of 5,940 females.

London Paper Issues Its 'Little Kinsey'

LONDON, Aug. 18 —UP— The London Daily Sketch published its own "Little Kinsey" report Tuesday, concentrating on mothers and American soldiers as subjects for its statistics.

The Daily Sketch chose the famed university city of Oxford as its sex laboratory.

It said in Oxford one out of every 12 infants are born out of wedlock. Unlike American Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, the Daily Sketch did not publish elaborate charts, but it said the incidence of illegitimacy at Oxford is twice the national average.

The Daily Sketch's front-page report said that two out of every five fathers of illegitimate children born in Oxford (pop. 100,000) are American soldiers.

"Many people would like the police to clear the streets of glamorous, hungry girls in search of uniformed 'Gregory Pecks' on leave from nearby United States camps," the newspaper said.

The headline over the report said: "Kinsey Nothing! What about our city of shame."

TOKYO, Aug. 18—UP—The Nippon Times announced Tuesday that it will not publish excerpts from the new Kinsey sex research report "for reasons of good taste." But it commented that "it is our feeling that both sex and the Nippon Times will exist for many years."

Pampa Man In 'Fair' Condition After Fall

J. M. Patton, 622 E. Foster, was reported in "fair" condition today in Highland General Hospital, following an accident in which he injured his right leg.

According to Duenkel-Carmichael officials, Patton fell down the steps of the Turf Club, 117½ W. Foster, about 4 p.m. Monday. An ambulance took him to the hospital.

Housewife Hopes Gunman Honest

HOUSTON, Aug. 18—UP—A 26-year-old housewife hoped Tuesday a short, soft-voiced gunman keeps his word so she can drive again.

Mrs. H. E. Fayle was a customer at the Smallwood Place Grocery when the gunman entered Monday night and said "this is a stickup." He held Mrs. Fayle and owner A. J. Allison Sr., at bay with a pistol and took $77 from the cash register.

He ordered them out of the store and around to the back where he grabbed Mrs. Faye's billfold saying "I need this more than you do, honey." It contained $30.

As he turned to his car, Mrs. Faye shouted "you better give my driver's license back to me."

"I'll mail it back," he shouted and drove away.

General Clark Ends Vacation

HONOLULU, Aug. 18—UP—Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, flew to Tokyo Tuesday after a brief Hawaiian vacation.

His plane left Hickam Field at 8:45 p. m. Monday—2:45 a. m. CST and was due in Tokyo 13 hours later.

Accompanying Clark were his wife and his son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. William D. Clark.

The younger Clarks honeymooned at Coconut Island.

The Clarks were the guests of oilman Edwin Pauley of Los Angeles.

Frenchmen Defy Orders To Work

PARIS, Aug. 18—UP—Nearly 2 million French workers defied a "back to work" ultimatum Tuesday and the government, fearing violence, massed tanks, paratroops, infantry and anti-riot police in the Paris area.

Premier Joseph Laniel demanded in a surprise national broadcast Monday night that the strikers who have crippled communications, utilities, mines and factories all over the country for 17 days return to work Tuesday.

He implied a threat to use force, and hinted he would jail strike leaders and workers who failed to heed official requisitions to go back to their jobs.

Afraid to Use Force

But the workers stayed out, and the government feared that if it resorted to force, the Communists would call a general nationwide strike and send members of unions they control into the streets of Paris and other big cities for riots.

Garbage piled up in the streets. Train service from Paris was but a fraction of normal. Telephone and telegraph service was maintained only for essential messages. Paris subway service was 50 per cent of normal. Bus service was crippled. In mines the strike was nearly 100 per cent effective.

The workers were rebelling against economy measures ordered by millionaire business man Laniel.

Socialists Lead Move

Socialist members of parliament led a move to force a special session of the national assembly, now in recess, to reconsider Laniel's economy measures.

Pampa City Payroll Said Below Average

(Special to The News)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 — It costs residents of Pampa less than it does people in most other cities for the labor and services necessary to operate the municipal government. This fact is brought out by the United States Census Bureau on the basis of data it gathered from the nation's cities with populations of 10,000 and over.

The Pampa payroll for the month of October, 1952, which was used as the test month in the study, shows a cost of $41,100 for municipal employees, exclusive to teachers and other school workers.

This represented an outlay equal to $2.42 for each resident of the city. It was lower than the per capita cost in the other cities of meeting non-school payrolls, $3.45 a month. It was, however, over costs in Pampa's size group, 10,000 to 25,000 population, which were $2.03 per capita.

There were fewer people on the Pampa payroll during the test month, considering the local population, than there were in most of the cities. The total was 159, of which 131 were on permanent full-time and 28 on temporary or part-time status.

This was equivalent to 9.4 employed for each 1,000 residents. It was less than the general average, 12.3 per 1,000 people, but slightly more than the rate of municipal employment among cities in the 10,000 to 25,000 class, where 9.3 employees per 1,000 were recorded.

The pay scale for these non-school employees in Pampa averaged $259 a month. Nationally, among the 1,233 cities surveyed, the rate was $281 a month. In the 10,000 to 25,000 group it was $220.

City governments had a record number of employees and bigger payrolls in October than ever before, states the Census Bureau. Of the total number, 1,141,000 or 85 per cent, were full-time personnel and the remaining 200,000 on a part-time basis. The latter were chiefly volunteer firemen and elected officials of small cities, who ordinarily receive only nominal pay.

Bicycle And Horse And Buggy Offer Solution To Traffic Ills

By HENRY McLEMORE

Does a back seat driver on a bicycle built for two bother you?

Do you know how to wash, polish, and give a horse a grease job?

Are you any good at mending buggy spokes?

Would you know what to do if your coaster brake went on the blink just as you started down a steep hill?

Well, if you don't know the answers you'd better get wise, for the American Transit Association, which recently convened in Los Angeles, has a decided feeling that the bicycle and the horse and buggy offer the best solution to the traffic headache which is plaguing every city big enough to boast a City Limit sign and an Elks' Club.

Duing the convention it took a test car 14 minutes and 12 seconds to travel a measured distance on one of Los Angeles' busiest streets. Records show that 60 years ago a horse and buggy was clocked over the same route in 10 minutes and 21 seconds.

Walter H. Blucher of Chicago, executive director of the National City Planners' Association, was the first to speak out in favor of bicycles.

"It is strange," he said, "but we build bridle paths for a few people who ride horses, but nowhere has anyone built bicycle paths for those hundreds of thousands of persons who would use bicycles for transportation."

You can bet your bottom dollar that Americans will soon start on a survey - with - the - fringe-on-top buying spree. We love speed, and now that we know that horses will get us from one red light to another red light quicker, nothing will stop us.

If this word has reached England, it's a sure thing that the English are already turning out pint-sized, underslung, sports buggies that are guaranteed to give more miles per gallon of oats.

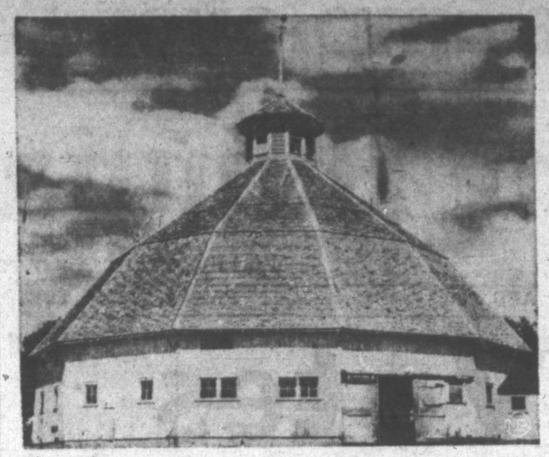

One enterprising service station owner I know has already torn out one pump to make room for sugar, apples, hay, bran, and buggy whips. And he is diligently seeking experienced help that knows how to realign shafts, operate a water trough, and clean rain, mud, and dirt off blinkers.

Schools where bicycle riding is taught have already sprung up. I passed one only yesterday that had a big sign out: "Be the First in Your Set to Ride No Hands. Curbstone Jumping Taught by Experts."

A Hollywood star has aready commissioned a jeweler to design him ten pairs of trouser clips to match the upholstery of his bicycle seat, and Mrs. Esperanza Zilch is rumored to have gone to court on a borrowed tricycle to ask that her husband, John, be ordered to give her $1000 a day for the upkeep of her bicycles.

More than 17,000 Chamber of Commerce secretaries have already laid plans for the selection of Miss Handlebars of 1954, and used car dealers are fighting among themselves as to how much trade-in to allow on automobiles when purchasing a new buggy.

President Eisenhower, Ely Culbertson, Jerry Lewis, Sid Sutherland, and Eddie Arcaro will be named on the list of the ten best dressed horse and buggy riders in the country.

HEADING FOR THE LAST ROUNDUP — One of the few round barns left in the U. S. is this one at Geneseo, Ill. Built in 1913, it is 60 feet high and 80 feet in diameter. The hayloft holds 120 tons and the barn can accommodate six carloads of yearling feeders. But owner Dewey Greene says the unusual shape doesn't permit efficient use of the space.

$200,000 Stolen From N. Y. Bank

FLORAL PARK, N. Y., Aug. 18 —UP— Close to $200,000 was reported stolen from the Franklin National Bank here Tuesday by several men who held the bank's cashier at gun point and forced him to open the vaults.

FBI agents from New York and Mineola sealed off entrances to the bank and began an investigation.

Floral Park police said Eric Gronwall, the cashier, reported he had been seized at his Bellmore, N. Y., home by several men who drove him to the bank.

He was made to open the bank door and then the vaults. The bandits practically cleaned out the bank's cash supply, police said.

They estimated the loot as close to $200,000.

Hardin-Simmons Ex-Students Meet

Dr. Evan A. Reiff, new president of Hardin-Simmons University, will be the principal speaker for the organizational meeting of the Pampa area H-SU Ex-Students Club at 7 p.m. Thursday at the First Baptist Church dining hall.

Dr. Douglas Carver, pastor, will preside over the meeting, which will include in the program a description of the aims and functions of ex-students by Kenneth Hill, executive secretary of the H-SU Ex-Students Association, and a report of enrollment and courses for the fall semester by the university registrar, A. B. Lee.

The meeting, which will begin with a dinner, is to elect officers for the new organization.

Guests of the exes will be students of H-SU who are returning to school for the fall semester and thoe who will register for the first time.

District Scout Roundtable Here Tonight

First Santa Fe District Scout roundtable of the fall season has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today in the Palm Room.

Purpose of the session will be to get pack, troop and post leaders and committeemen together "to discuss coming events and programs and to learn new techniques in the operation of programs," according to Phil Pegues, district Scout executive.

Tonight's meeting — theme of which is the Fall Round-up — will begin unwinding a string of events which will end in the "Climax Event" Oct. 17. Round-up is the program whereby Scout officials contact all Pampa boys in the Scout age-group for possible Scout membership.

Surveys will run from tonight to Sept. 18, Pegues said, adding that Sept. 22 will be the date of another district round-table at which cards will be distributed to various units. "Maverick Nights"—to explain Scouting to interested boys—will be held up till Oct. 17.

E. Roy Smith, district commissioner, will be in charge of tonight's program. He will be assisted by John Schoolfield, Myles Morgan, John Ayres and Mrs. L. N. Atchinson.

Opening ceremonies, featuring Scout "manpower, membership and program," will be handled by Clifford Dunham, Cubmaster, Pack 4 (First Christian Church); M. J. Porter, Scoutmaster, Troop 20 (V. F. W.); and R. M. Barrett, advisor, Post 4 (First Christian Church). Each leader, a member of his group and the boy's parents will participate.

Then five presentations will be made on the Fall Round-up Plan by Ray Evans, Fred Brook, Malcolm Hinkle, Pegues and E. L. Henderson.

Don Cain, district vice chairman, will announce the quarterly winners of the district chairman's award.

Officers Seeking Theft Suspect

McLEAN — (Special) — Oklahoma officers today were combing the area between Sayre, Okla., and Oklahoma City for a man only identified as "Buck Young," accused of grabbing money, revolver and jacket from a McLean filling station—and taking off.

Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton and Constable Luke Henley traced him as far as the state line, then got help from Sooner State authorities.

This is the man's reported description: age 21—small, wiry — 105 pounds — black hair — dark eyes and complexion — part Indian and part Scottish — wearing khaki pants, black and red sports shirt, tan cowboy boots — both arms tattoed — has mania for uniforms.

According to latest reports, Mrs. Nora Light, operator of an all-night eating place next door to Elmer Wickerser's filling station, saw the man Sunday night with Wickerser's gun and jacket. He said he was going across the street to a grocery store to pay 25 cents he owed. He has not been seen since that time in the area.

Road Allotment Going To FM 749

Gray County will use its 1954 farm-to-market road allotment from the state to close a three-quarter mile gap on FM 749 between Bowers City and Phillips Camp.

The allotment of $61,642 was reported to the county commissioners late Monday afternoon by District Highway Engineer James G. Lott who met with the commissioners following the close of the budget hearing.

The money will be used principally to construct a bridge across North Fork of Red River and build approaches to the bridge. FM 749 starts south of Pampa from State Highway 273 and circles through Bowers City, Phillips Camp and comes out on State Highway 70.

Details on the work—length of bridge, type of bridge, approaches and other road work on the route will have to be worked out by the State Highway Department's engineering office here later, G. K. Reading, senior resident engineer said.

Two Auto Mishaps Injure 4 Persons

LEFORS—(Special)— One of two automobile accidents, which occurred one hour apart on roads leading into Lefors, sent four persons to the hospital.

Durant Brock, Lefors, was driving a Phillips welding truck — pulling a welding rig and trailer — from Bowers City to Lefors about 5 p.m. Monday when the vehicle slid off the road into a ditch and turned over on its side.

Four of the seven riding in the trailer—one of them was Harold D. Courson, Hopkins — were reported injured enough to be taken to the hospital by Joe Bevington, Lefors.

One hour earlier, H. D. Dunn, Lefors, was headed from Lefors to Pampa when he collided with a pickup truck operated by James Caldwell, Pampa, who reportedly was parked at the side of the road, then pulled out in front of the Dunn car.

With Dunn were his wife and daughter-in-law, Colleen; Gerald Smith, Pampa, was riding with Caldwell. C. S. Clendennen, Lefors constable, handled the collision. No charges had been reported filed this morning.

One of the decisive battles in world history was fought between the British and Continental armies near Schuylerville, N. Y. Called the Battle of Saratoga and fought in September and October, 1777, the American victory insured eventual independence for colonies.

When the Conquistadores failed to fine cities or mines of fabled wealth in the region that was to become New Mexico, the country was saved from possible abandonment by the courageous Franciscan friars.

Edward J. Flynn, Demo Leader, Dies

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 —UP— Edward J. Flynn, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and boss for 30 years of the Bronx county Democratic organization, died Monday night while vacationing in Ireland, it was announced here Tuesday.

Death of the 61-year-old politician, who was a confidant of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was made known by Rep. Charles Buckley (D-N.Y.).

The handsome, white-haired millionaire had been in ill health since he suffered a heart attack in May, 1950, while attending the Democratic party's Jefferson jubilee in Chicago. However, he had until recently taken an active part in politics and his Manhattan law firm.

At the time of his death, Flynn was serving his 16th consecutive two-year term as chairman of the executive committee of the Bronx Democratic committee. It was this job as borough "boss" that was the core of his career as a key political figure in the state and the nation.

Flynn's political star reached its zenith in 1940 when he assumed the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. Three years later he was forced into virtual retirement when a scandal over paving bricks caused him to withdraw from an appointment by Roosevelt as minister to Australia.

Republicans in the Senate Foreign Relations committee charged that Flynn was unfit for confirmation to the Australian post because the European-style courtyard at his Lake Mahopac, N. Y., estate was paved at the expense of New York. The 8,000 bricks in the pavement were sold to Flynn for only $88, the evaluation of an overzealous party worker, the Republicans charged.

Flynn asked the President to withdraw the nomination rather than raise a partisan fight in wartime. He resigned his three party positions, but soon afterwards regained leadership of the Bronx county organization and his national committeeman's post.

Carlene Lelois Carruth Is Bride Of Robert D. Wilson In Lefors Ceremony

LEFORS —(Special)— Miss Carlene Lelois Carruth became the bride of Robert D. Wilson in a double-ring ceremony read recently in the Church of Christ in Lefors. D. C. Lawerence officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carruth and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wilson of Ranger and formerly of Lefors.

Mrs. Jack Taylor was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of green organdy and net and a small white hat. Her flowers were deep pink carnations.

Lyssa Ann Carruth, the bride's sister, was ring bearer. She wore a pink taffeta ballerina-length dress with a white net overskirt. The neckline was off shoulder and was marked with ruffles. She wore a white miniature corsage of carnations.

MRS. ROBERT D. WILSON

Vows were exchanged in front of baskets of white gladioli. Candles were lighted by Karen Dianne Carruth and Marthlynn Taylor. They wore identical off-shoulder ballerina-length blue taffeta dresses with net overskirts. The net skirts were caught with little blue bows at the hem. They wore white carnations in their hair.

Miss Shirley Perkins sang "I Love You Truly." A quartet composed of Miss Perkins, Miss Belva McCathern, Mrs. C. E. Finno and Mrs. Melvin Bigham sang "I Love Thee," traditional wedding marches and "Blest Be The Tie."

Billie Joe Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, from Panhandle was best man. Ushers were Joe B. Pafford, Jack Taylor and James Moss of Ringgold.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and tulle ballerina-length dress over white satin. Her heart-shaped hat was covered with white tulle and veiling and was trimmed across the front with lilies of the valley. The bridal bouquet was white carnations centered with an orchid and she carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Mrs. Carruth, mother of the bride, wore a brown dress with green accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a black and white suit.

The bride and bridegroom are at home at 412 N. Somerville, Pampa.

Double-Ring Wedding Ceremony Unites Thelma Sechler, Clifford P. Callahan

McLEAN —(Special)— A double-ring ceremony in the sanctuary of St. Paul's Methodist Church recently united in marriage Miss Thelma Bernita Sechler, daughter of Mrs. Opal Sechler of Boise City, and Clifford Price Callahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Callahan of McLean.

Rev. J. P. Groom, pastor, read the service before an altar flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli and candelabra bearing white cathedral tapers. Attending her sister as maid-of-honor, Miss Rozelle Sechler wore a street-length dress of light green with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The bridesmaids, Misses Zelda Morgan and Sandy Fisher, wore identically styled dresses of lavender with white accessories. They also carried boquets of white carnations.

Robert Kramer, McLean, classmate and friend of the bridegroom, was best man and groomsmen were Joe McGrew of Beaver, Okla. and Bill Creswell of Boulder Colo. Jennefer and Terry McDaniel of Newton, Kan., cousins of the bride, lighted the candles.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs, Colo. Upon their return they will be at home at Guymon, Okla.

Mrs. Callahan is a graduate of Boise City High School and attended Panhandle A&M College at Goodwell, Okla. last year. The bridegroom is a graduate of McLean High School and has attended Panhandle A&M for the past two years. He plans to return to his studies in the fall where he will be classified as a senior. He is a member of the ROTC Unit of the school and bears the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Pampans Attend Lutheran Camp

Several Pampans attended the First Luthern Young Peoples Camp held in Texas Panhandle and conducted at the Ceta Glen Christian Camp in the Palo Duro Canyon, this past week. About 24 boys and nine girls between the ages of eight and twelve took part in the week's activities.

Campers were present from Borger, Hereford, Amarillo, Lubbock, Hale Center, Olton, Pampa, Abernathy, Plainview and Andrews.

Mrs. Betty Bartsch of Houston, who has had five years experience in Children's Camp supervision, was the general manager and program director. The Reverend Herbert F. Peiman of Borger, was the dean of the camp. Other staff members were Walter Voth and Laura Jacob of Amarillo, and Phyllis Albers of Houston.

The daily program included morning and evening devotions and Bible study. Hymn and folk singing and swimming were directed by Mrs. Bartsch. Phyllis Albers taught the boys and girls to make copper tooled pictures. Softball and volleyball were under the supervision of Mr. Voth.

Commissioners OK '54 County Budget

The $725,253.53 county budget and the $1.16 tax rate to meet it were given the green light late Tuesday afternoon by the county commissioners sitting in special session.

The $1.16 tax rate—eight cents higher than the present rate set by the old court under County Judge Bruce Parker—was not officially passed but was "calculated" as the rate necessary to meet the expenses under the county valuation of $41,000,00 plus figure.

The newly increased rate will be officially adopted Sept. 14.

The commissioners sat around the table in the court room from 9:30 a.m. to noon waiting for someone to attend the public hearing. A few minutes after 1 p.m., the commissioners began to straggle back to the court room where they waited until 3:15 p.m. before finally adopting the budget and agreeing on the $1.16 tax rate. In that time, only one person actually came before the commissioners as a part of the hearing — Berry Brown, Wichita Falls, a tax expert who represents independent oil companies.

While the commissioners were in session, Judge J. B. Maguire said he had been asked by Highway Patrolmen and the County School Superintendent for permission to exchange offices. The request was granted by the commissioners.

So, now there will be office moving again in the court house; the drivers' license examiner and highway patrolmen will move back into their old stand and Nuckols will move into the offices once used by Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry and Constable H. A. Doggett.

JOHNSON ★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Red Skelton and Milton Berle, booked into the Sahara and Sands Hotels for the same two weeks, will be battling it out for the comedy king title of Las Vegas.

Whether it was premeditated or accidental may never be known, but it looks now like Red and Uncle Miltie will clash again on TV in the fall. If Red lands in the CBS fold, as expected, he'll take over the Tuesday night 8:30 period opposite Berle.

Sterling Hayden and his wife, Betty, are now completely reconciled but another movie couple, Shelley Winters and Vittorio Gassman, are skating on thin matrimonial ice. They've decided the odds are against their marriage surviving and a divorce announcement is due.

Two movie agents met and the first raved about the commissions pouring in now that 3-D had arrived.

"You mean you handle such good actors?" asked the second ten-per-center.

"With 3-D, who handles actors?" shrugged the other agent. "I'm handling roller coasters and knife throwers."

Maureen O'Hara is sitting on a sad story that explains her divorce from Will Price and her denials of the break-up until the last minute. . .Diana, Hollywood's dress designer, is putting a fashion show into a night club—the Calvada Lodge at Lake Tahoe. She'll also emcee.

Family Possession

Debra Paget's now explaining that diamond ring with: "It's not an engagement ring and has been a family possession for a long time."

John Payne and Sandy Curtis have set the marriage date — sometime in September.

Don Porter's unhappy with Hollywood — "It's so convenient to everything I can't afford."

Lita Baron is going along with Rory Calhoun on that location trip for "River of No Return," the new Marilyn Monroe starrer. So's Bob Mitchum's wife.

Gail Russell is finding solace in religion these days and intimates say she's winning her fight against illness. She won't divorce Guy Madison unless he plans to re-marry and asks her for his freedom.

The Jeff Chandlers failed to reconcile and he's telling fellow players in "Son of Cochise" that a divorce appears definite.

Norma Shearer gave a bevy of modern-day movie dolls a lesson in glamor when she swished into Ciro's to catch Katherine Dunham and her troupe. Norma, with one of those slicked-down hairdos, caught the attention of every ringsider.

To Do Battle

Aldo Ray and Columbia will battle it out any day now over his salary — smaller than that commanded by bit players in spite of his big-time stardom and proven boxoffice draw.

Kirk Douglas will star in "The Silver Nutmeg," about a 16th Century Dutch family, after his stint in "Ulysses." Mex Setton will produce and David Miller will direct — in London.

The Alan Ladd family trekked down the Queen Elizabeth's gangplank with 114 pieces of luggage! . . .Julie Wilson claims 3-D movies are just 2-D movies with an audience. . .It's a six-month safari to South Africa for Dana Andrews, Jeanne Crain and Director George Marshall, who will film "Duel In the Jungle" there for Moulin Productions.

Zsa Zsa Gabor's next French movie will be "Moi et Toi" ("Me and You.") Sounds like a story of two bath towels. . .Ann Sheridan, who's not afraid of being directed by another movie queen, has been talking to Ida Lupino about co-starring with Howard Duff in "The Story of a Cop."

Phyllis Kirk denies that she and Jennings Lang, of the Walter Wanger-Joan Bennett bang-bang episode, are on their way to the altar. . .Joan Fontaine, furious at rumors that she raised a ruckus during filming of "Flight From Tangier," is showing a gift from Producer Nat Holt "for being such a good trouper." . . .Sign on Dave's Delicious Delicatessen in South Hollywood: "The House of Lox."

Charles Coburn turned down an invitation to join a group who every Friday night play dance records and do a lot of fast mambos and Charlestons.

"No thanks — these things bore me," said Coburn. "I never know what to do with myself while they're changing records."

A family of four should plan on spending about $40 a day while traveling on the road, the Automobile Club of New York advises. Of this amount, $5 is for operating the car, $20 a day for meals, $10 to $12 for lodgings and $3 for tolls, refreshments and miscellaneous expenses.

Scribe Sees Hitch In Western Europe

EDITORS NOTE—United Press Foreign News Editor Phil Newsom is on vacation. For the next four weeks his foreign affairs column will be written by Walter G. Rundle of the United Press foreign news staff.

By WALTER G. RUNDLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

An uneasy suspicion is developing that the West has been so busy watching for evidence the roof is about to fall in on Russia's jerry-built satellite structure that we've failed to notice that a number of foundation stones have been kicked loose in our own European security system.

Western diplomats, who read similar motives into the Kremlin's latest "peace and unity" proposals on Germany, suggest it's time to wake up to the fact Moscow has been cashing in handsomely in West Europe on its phony "let's be friends" strategy.

While we've been preoccupied with such interesting spectacles as anti-Communist riots in East Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia and high level knife wielding in the Kremlin itself, here's what's been going on in our own back yard:

1. Italy's pro - Western government of Alcide De Gasperi has toppled, largely through the cooperative efforts of the Italian Communists and left-wing Socialists.

2. The Communists have egged on and taken advantage of the wave of French strikes which have further weakened the tottering economy of that Western ally.

3. The six-nation West European Defense Community has been quietly shelved with no indications of early revival of this important European defense project.

4. Moves toward European unification have slowed to a standstill.

To a considerable extent, these developments can be traced to the lulling effects of Moscow's siren song of "peace and friendship" which has encouraged a wait-and-see policy in West Europe and influenced its leaders to channel some of their vital energies into the old avenues of internal strife and tardy defense.

Now the Kremlin is concentrating on Germany.

Important elections are coming up in West German in three weeks. At stake, for the West, is the political future of the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, most determined champion of German cooperation with the West and a German contribution to an European defense force.

The Kremlin's week-end note was a thinly disguised attempt to buy the election for Adenauer's political foes.

Technicians Eye September Meeting

Members of the Texas Medical Technological Society, founded in Pampa last December, were making plans today for their next meeting, following a picnic which comprised the August get - together

Usual meeting date is the first Thursday of the month—that would make it Sept. 3.

T.M.T.S members got together Sunday afternoon for a combination picnic-business session. But there was more picnic than business to it.

After assembling at the Lefors swimming pool, the technicians moved their locale to the Dunigan lease, midway between Lefors and McLean, where they spent the next few hours going through all the edibles that go to make up a picnic.

General Motors, with a 1952 income of over $7½ billion, matched the total income of 42 states combined, excluding only New York, California, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio and Illinois, Cars Magazine reported.

No Sure Wage Scale

Steady jobs are a desirable national objective. Few would disagree with that general premise. Among other things, steady jobs mean steady buying power. Some people say a guaranteed annual wage is the answer to business cycle unemployment. Is it? Or would a guaranteed annual wage be a monkey wrench in the gears of our flexible economy that has steadily lifted the American people from one plateau of living standards to a higher plateau?

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States believes that intensified business methods buttressed by greater cooperation between management and labor — rather than guaranteed annual wages — provide the only practical answer for business cycle unemployment.

In a study entitled "Guaranteed Wages Through Supplemented Unemployment Compensation," the National Chamber points out that much has already been done to level out peaks and valleys of unemployment through the introduction of new and supplementary products to combat seasonal swings in production; development of new markets and uses for existing products; production for stock, and increased advertising and promotion.

"With mutual confidence and understanding between management and labor and a willingness on the part of labor to shift from an accustomed job to a different type of job, still more can often be done in providing steady employment throughout the year," it adds.

Guaranteed annual wage plans can do little to regularize work and pay in the face of broad swings in demand and production, says the report. In the rare cases where they exist, it added, guaranteed wages followed the establishment of steady employment but did not create it.

"In the long run all business is a slave to its volume and rate of sales," the report added. "No private company without a certainty of future sales can 'guarantee' wages or give any definite assurance of being able to pay an annual income — any more than it can guarantee profits or other payments."

Savings, TVA Style

A bit of publicity sent out the other day by the Tennessee Valley Authority boasted that TVA navigation facilities made possible a savings of $10,000,000 to shippers on the Tennessee River.

That $10,000,000 figure represents what it would have cost the Tennessee shippers to have their goods hauled by rail. Instead of paying that $10,000,000, however, the shippers had only to provide their own boats and crews. The rest of us in the 48 states and territories paid over $8,000,000 so they could float their boats.

You don't have to be an expert in figure juggling to get that conclusion. The TVA report for 1952 admits a cost of $2,670,453 for the operation and maintenance of navigation facilities. It also admits an over-all investment of around $155,000,000 as navigation's share of TVA allocations. TVA pays no interest on that investment but the American public does, through the interest that Uncle Sam pays on bonds through which the money was raised. Figuring interest at the low rate of 2½ per cent, we have an annual interest charge of around $3,500,000 on the navigation investment.

The $10,000,000 the railroads didn't get from the shippers would have meant an additional $2,000,000 Uncle Sam would have collected in taxes from the railroads. It all adds up to more than $8,000,000 — the price of providing "free" shipping on the Tennessee.

Let's just say that the taxpayers of the whole nation are paying the freight for Tennessee River shippers — just as all the taxpayers are subsidizing consumers of TVA electric power — and let it go at that.

Same Old Arguments

Once again, a bill to establish compulsory government health insurance, and to take other steps which would give government the whip-hand over our entire medical system, has been introduced in Congress. And, once again, the proponents of this measure (which almost everybody believes would be but a prelude to socialized medicine) argue that it is necessary because the people have no protection against the financial shock of illness, and that the cost of medical care is an insuperable burden.

Two facts cast an illuminating light on these hoary arguments.

Fact one is that more than 90,000,000 Americans now voluntarily carry some form of hospital, surgical and medical insurance — and this huge figure does not include the legions covered by industrial insurance, veterans' benefits, and local, state and federal custodial programs. The growth of these voluntary plans is unrivalled in the whole broad history of insurance.

Fact two is that, according to figures gathered for the Federal Reserve Board by the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, 80 per cent of American families have no medical debt at all; 17 per cent have debts ranging from $2 to $200, and only three per cent have debts in excess of $200.

Much remains to be done to improve medical care — and it is being done, in a sound and orderly manner. No great nation can point to achievements in this field which are equal to ours. Certainly, the small percentage of indigents can be adequately helped without setting up a compulsory system which would cost untold billions a year to operate — and which would undermine and eventually destroy free, progressive medicine.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"Moral And Spiritual Values In The Public Schools"

In an article appearing in "Liberty" magazine on the question of whether public schools are irreligious, a book called "Moral and Spiritual Values in the Public Schools" was mentioned. This book is issued by the Educational Policies Commission of the National Education Association.

Since I do not believe it is possible for public schools to teach moral and spiritual values, I wanted to read this book. It is a small book of 100 pages.

The book is loosely written and does not define its terms. It is written to confuse the public rather than to enlighten the public as to whether tax supported schools can teach moral and spiritual values. It constantly refers to the public schools' effort in developing democracy, but it does not define what it means by democracy. It, of course, goes through the various forms of pretending to be able to teach moral values.

Public schools can teach moral values only if we can have one moral standard for an individual and another moral standard for a person acting as an agent for a group or a government. It never once points out that if a thing is a violation of moral law for an individual, it is a violation of moral law no matter how many people advocate or do the same act.

Under "Values" it lists 10 headings:

1. Human Personality — The Basic Value.
2. Moral Responsibility
3. Institutions as the Servants of Men
4. Common Consent
5. Devotion to Truth
6. Respect for Excellence
7. Moral Equality
8. Brotherhood
9. The Pursuit of Happiness
10. Spiritual Enrichment

All of these heading lead the reader to believe that the public schools are on an ethical and moral basis.

Under "Human Personality" the book says:

"The basic moral and spiritual value in American life is the supreme importance of the individual personality."

They are sound in this principle if they would only stick to it and be consistent to that moral principle. But instead of believing as they contend that every individual has certain inalienable rights, by their practices they deny this. They contend that the majority has a right to force the minority to pay for anything that the majority regards as education. It is hard to conceive how they pay any attention to the importance of individual personality when they advocate the initiation of force against the individual. They ride roughshod over it on the theory that the end justifies the means and that might makes right.

Equal Opportunity

They distort the meaning of equal opportunity. Certainly, everyone should have equal opportunity does not mean that each permeant equal natural rights and equal justice. But equal opportunity does ot mean that each person will get equal development or have equal happiness or an equally full life.

They seem to use this equal opportunity argument to mean that every child should be supplied with equal schooling without cost to the parents. Their idea of equal opportunity seems to be nothing but state socialism or communism — not voluntary socialism or voluntary communism.

When one puts everything that they advocate together, one sees that they mean by equal opportunity that every child should have an equal probability of gaining understanding, happiness and material well being. If one child has more talent than another, or has parents that help him gain understanding and material well being, then equal opportunity would at least take the material advantages from those children and give it to those who do not have this material advantage.

What these advocates of a socialist "equal opportunity" do not see is that in a free society it does not hurt the child with one talent, no matter how wise or how rich the 10-talent child or man becomes. They do not seem to see that in a free society the gain of one is the gain of all. They seem to believe, as do communists and socialists and labor leaders, that the gain of one in a free society is at the expense of another. That undoubtedly is the reason they insist on taking from one to give to another or on some form of socialistic "equal opportunity."

If they really interpreted equal opportunity to mean equal justice or equal inalienable rights, then equal opportunity would be good. But, as a friend of mine remarked, a one-legged man has an equal opportunity to win a race as a two-legged man, but he does not have equal probability of winning.

So analyze and make the advocates of equal opportunity define exactly what they mean by equal opportunity before one accepts it without analysis. One interpretation of equal opportunity is good and another is just plain state socialism or communism.

Under the heading of "Moral Responsibility" the book says:

"Good schools, then, will help children and youth to grow up."

There is no argument about that. The question is whether tax supported schools can be good schools. The book would leave the impression that they can be. But when they violate the Golden Rule, they cannot be good schools.

USA Markings Specified For Goods Sent To Needy Nations

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Anglo-American timidity accounts for the almost unexplainable delay in labeling our food packages to East Berlin Germans as gifts from Uncle Sam — a blunder which may be rectified in future shipments under a congressional mandate.

Like George F. Kennan, whose negative "containment" strategy still reflects the thinking of an influential State Department faction, Number 10 Downing Street fears that our humanitarian interference in this key satellite zone will provoke Kremlin retaliation.

BRITISH PRESS OPINION—London's statesmen cling to the belief that Malenkov will speak for a truly reformed Russia at the forthcoming "Big Four" conference, if only we welcome him with open arms, forgetting and forgiving his many crimes against civilization. London newspaper editorials regard our "Operation Hunger" as regrettable, provocative and short-sighted.

The Churchill group has ballooned his peace overtures into the major issue of British politics. His party's continued control of Parliament may depend on the success or failure of the meeting with Messrs. Malenkov, Molotov and Zhukov. Otherwise, he would not protest so blusteringly against our feeding of hungry and dissident Germans.

TO BRAND U.S. SHIPMENTS — Capitol Hill does not suffer from the diplomats' inferiority complex with respect to the Reds.

In enacting the new foreign aid bill, Congress inserted a provision that requires a U.S.A. marking on all goods sent abroad with funds provided for Harold E. Stassen's reorganized Foreign Operations Administration. In fact, the original amendment proposed that private firms must advertise all exports as made in America.

It was struck out as impractical and unenforceable. But Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks will try to "persuade" exporters to brand their shipments as private enterprise and democratic handiwork. Some businessmen object on the ground that it might hurt trade in pro-Communist and anti-American markets.

ARMED APPEASEMENT POLICY — These incidents are chiefly important because they reveal the inner disputes and hesitations over how to deal with Moscow.

The disciples of Kennan's "containment" philosophy, which gave the Reds the advantage of surprise tactics and initiative during the Truman-Acheson regime, favor a policy that approximates armed appeasement as against peaceful liberation.

It envisages a bitter period of heavy military burdens and taxes, as Stalin and Malenkov have planned and anticipated. It may mean defection from the anti-Russian alliance by such weary and bankrupt allies as France, Italy, West Germany.

Another school insists that Washington and London do everything possible to undermine the Reds wherever and whenever they show signs of cracking up. And they maintain that the time to become aggressive is now.

IKE'S WAITING GAME — It is these contradictory views, still unresolved by the man in the middle — President Eisenhower — which prevent us from capitalizing fully and effectively on the current crises behind the Iron Curtain.

Ike seems to be playing a waiting game. He appears willing to let Churchill test out his conciliatory program at late autumn talks with Malenkov. Then, if these produce no tangible and permanent results, the West will go on a diplomatic and economic warpath.

Meanwhile, the opportunity may have passed. But that is a calculated risk the White House feels it must take for the sake of allied unity.

ATTEMPT TO RESTORE "SOUND DOLLAR" — Correction: In a recent column, the interest rate on the Treasury's long-term issue of securities was given as 3 ¾ per cent. It should have read 3 ¼ per cent. It is this offering which represents Secretary Humphrey's attempt to restore a "sound dollar," but which Democrats denounce as meaning "hard-to-get money."

"'SELF-LIQUIDATING' TVA CAN'T SCRAPE UP MONEY TO BUILD ONE STEAM PLANT"

Fort Lauderdale News

For a good many years now we have been listening to the proponents of government operation and ownership of huge power projects using the success of Tennessee Valley Authority as proof of their contention that there should be more and more of these federal boondoggles started in various part of the country.

These noisy supporters of outright socialism never cease to brag about the wonderful job TVA is doing in selling power to the general public at cheaper rates than they claim private power companies could ever do the job. But the people seldom hear these peddlers of socialism explain why the government can sell power cheaper than private companies and how, in the long run, the taxpayers really pay through the nose for the development of these government enterprises.

A few days ago we read a piece which we think throws a good bit of light on this subject and which we believe should be read by all those who hold to the idea that these public power projects are a legitimate and self - supporting governmental function.

BID FOR A SMILE

When Calvin Coolidge was in the Massachusetts legislature, another member in session asked him whether the people where he came from said:

Member — Does a hen lay or does a hen lie.

Coolidge — The people where I come from lift her up to see.

Hillybilly to neighbor — They tell me your wife makes moonshine whiskey.

Neighbor — Yes, she does, and I am awful ashamed of her, but with all her faults I love her still.

Fan — How do you like the way I play golf?

Pan — Not bad — but I still prefer the way other people play it.

Irate waitress (to customer)—And if we weren't stressing courtesy this week, I'd tell you that you're the stupidest, most unreasonable jerk I've ever waited on!

—o—

Father —(wrathfully) Your conduct has made you the talk of the town.

Daughter — Yes, but how long will it last? Some other person will make the news, and then I'll have to do it all over again.

Many a successful man is one who works hard to get rich and then spends the rest of his life sitting on the porch of a sanitarium watching the healthy poor go by.

MOPSY

He told the girl if she didn't marry him he'd get a rope and hang himself right in front of her home.

"Oh, please don't, Richard. You know Father doesn't want you hanging around here."

Phil — I ain't really bow-legged.

Bill — No. If you were in Scotland you could take the high road and the low road at the same time.

Durkin's Tolerance Of Union Agent's Criminal Record Told

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Martin Durkin, President Eisenhower's Democratic secretary of Labor, has come out for freedom of speech and fair play as noble American traditions. This declaration by the former president of the Plumbers' Union, is inconsistent, with his conduct in the case of Ralph Howard Alsup, business agent of the great plumbers local which covers Clark County, Nev., including Las Vegas.

Alsup wantonly shot a brother in the bond of unionism for making a mild remonstrance on behalf of a "fellow member of the painters' union, who had been run off his job in favor of a newcomer who had paid a fresh initiation fee. The dispute was none of Alsup's business, for the painters' union had a qualified local exercising jurisdiction.

The evidence showed that Alsup was drunk, as usual, and, being a notorious criminal with a multiple record of convictions for gunplay and a jail delivery in Texas, was looking for trouble, as usual. He was president of the Clark County Federation of Labor, vice president of the State Federation and business agent of the Clark County Plumbers' Union by Durkin's tolerance and with Durkin's knowledge of his criminal character and record. Durkin never took any step to remove Alsup from any of his offices, although his own personal representative had ventured into Nevada and confirmed the facts in a report to Durkin.

The wounded man was an inoffensive, wandering craftsman of a type now familiar all over the country as workers follow the construction program of the government departments. After he recovered, the Clark County AF of L racketeers, including Durkin's local subordinates, ran the poor fellow out of Nevada and even pursued him to Alaska, where he tried to hide from their persecution. Driven from Alaska, by other AF of L unions, he found his way back to his home in Oklahoma. He wanted nothing from the unions but peace and freedom to work for an honst living.

It was hard to persuade him to go back to Las Vegas to testify against Alsup because Alsup had continued his vicious career, adding two more gun charges and a charge of wife-beating to his police record. The wives of some of the working plumbers in Las Vegas helped Mrs. Alsup and her children and the plumbers were compelled to pay for his court defense, well understanding that if they refused, Alsup would pass the word to the contractors to lay them off.

Durkin knew all about Alsup's criminal career and know also that he was a racketeer, conniving with the leading contractors to grant them a monopoly on construction jobs by denying other contractors the services of workmen under his control. For this Alsup and a group of contractors and suppliers of material were indicted under the anti-trust law and convicted. At last, Alsup went to the state prison at Carson to serve about one year for shooting the painter. But when I encountered Gov. Charles H. Russell, of Nevada, at a conference of governors in New Orleans last June, Mr. Russell said Alsup was getting out of Carson that very day and never would have to serve a sentence of six months, federal, for the anti-trust job. By this time his boss, Durkin, was a power in the new Eisenhower administration.

The governor said Alsup was a confirmed criminal with a brutal disposition who would shoot anyone when his temper was aroused. He did not know why the Department of Justice was not enforcing his sentence for the conspiracy with the contractors.

This conspiracy is an old, familiar relationship between contractors or master-plumbers and the bosses of plumbers' locals and councils. It has been the subject of investigations and indictments under the Sherman Act for 40 years, but it never dies out.

Durkin's home union, in Chicago, pipefitters' local 597, the largest in the world with 8,000 "regular" members, has a notorious record compiled largely during Durkin's active career. During World War II, when skilled labor was scarce in some areas, this local charged itinerant non-members a permit fee of $4.50 a month. An opportune fire destroyed some records but these might not have disclosed the amount collected from such licensees beause this phase was not carried anywhere in the books. A chance discovery of an isolated record did indicate that 748 men were paying $4.50 a month for permission to work in the jurisdiction of Durkin's local in Nov., 1942. However, 1942 was not a "big" year in government war projects so this figure may be low.

During this period, Durkin was a member of the War Labor Board in Washington and overall president of the Plumbers' Union for the entire country. He had served a hitch in a meaningless sinecure as director of the Illinois State Labor Department which has to do with statistics and practically nothing else.

When court action was brought by the local to compel an accounting by Secretary - Treasurer George A. McKinley, Durkin was on the side of the angels, but this was a belated stand because he was a power in the local throughout the time in question. McKinley refused to testify about the money lest he incriminate himself.

Following the conviction of Alsup and his fellow conspirators in Las Vegas, another outrageous condition was discovered, typical of the trade where the union prevails. Plumbers who had been flunked by the local examining board, charged that tests were rigged to make it impossible for new journeymen and master-plumbers to work on the new resort hotels, gambling houses and government works of prodigious cost and scope.

The power of local plumbers' unions and local contractors to exclude workmen and contractors from the adjoining township, a few miles away, has become a flagrant racket. "Foreigners" are permitted to come in from adjacent neighborhoods, both as contractors and as journeymen but only under prohibitive license fees. They may also take the examinations, but the examiners often flunk qualified men of long experience, thus protecting their own local monopolies.

A man named Iles Brody who has long been a close friend of all four of the famed Gabors, from mother Jolie right on to Eva, Zsa Zsa and Magda, probably will have the trash basket thrown in his face the next time he shows up at the Gabor front door...He has done a magazine piece in which he describes Jolie as wearing "a hat that is too cute, a hair-do not quite right and one eye is placed higher than the other." . . . As for Magda, she is described as "the eldest and least picturesque of the sisters."...Well, Mr. Brody, one of them had to be the eldest in the very nature of things, but I would meet you on any reasonably flat field of honor to defend her against indictment as the least picturesque...She makes more sense than Zsa Zsa, has a more settled and lasting beauty than that glittering doll, Eva, and if you took Jolie off in a corner and made her talk turkey I think she would confess that Magda has the best chance of living out the Gabor legend...The other two are bound to fade off into the distance.

If people think about it and figure it out, you may find a mort of bicycles on the roads and streets next year...Some exceedingly smart designer has put together a lightweight diesel engine that weighs 1L pounds, develops almost one horsepower and will give the owner of same 300 miles for a galon of either gasoline, kerosene or diesel fuel oil...It was designed to fit into bicycle frames ...Are you tired of picking weeds in anything from a cotton patch to your little stand of corn and tomatoes in the back yard?...Relax, brother, and buy yourself a few geese...They will keep all the weeds out of your place and keep them out for good and all...Geese go for weeds the way most people go for a good steak.

Henson, Hughes Face Clovis In Doubleheader Here At 7

Big Jake Henson and lefty Eddie Hughes will attempt to get the Oilers back in the first division tonight when they take the mound against the Clovis Pioneers in a crucial doubleheader.

Henson will hurl the first game, starting at 7 p.m.

The doubleheader was necessitated when wet grounds postponed last night's scheduled tilt between the two clubs.

Manager Grover Seitz of the Pioneers was unavailable this morning to comment on his starting pitchers for tonight. But it is expected that Roy Parker and Bill Mitchell will get the starting nods.

Tonight will mark the last appearance of the season of the Pioneers at Oiler Park. The Pioneers, in third place, are 1½ games ahead of the fifth place Oilers, need at least an even break in tonight's twinbill to stay ahead of the Oilers.

The Oilers stayed one-half game behind fourth place Plainview who was also rained out last night. The Ponies meet Amarillo in a doubleheader tonight at Plainview.

How To Play Par Golf

Automatic Grip Must Be Right

Thirth-seventh of a series
By JULIUS BOROS

NEXT: Breaking the wrists too quickly on the backswing.

A professional first looks for a golfing fault in the grip, the player's only contact with the club.

The most common fault in the grip is having the right hand too far over on the shaft. If this is the situation, the golfer is slicing almost every shot.

The right hand too far under the shaft causes a hook.

By this time the grip should be automatic—so make sure it is automatically correct. The hands should be close together so they can perform as a unit.

The V's formed by the thumbs and index fingers should point to the right shoulder.

An improper pivot ranks high on the list of causes for common golfing headaches. This is a natural body turn, caused by the movement of the arms and hands swinging the club to the top of an arc and back down to contact with the ball and into the follow through. If you can keep it on that elementary plane, you should have a minimum of problems with your swing.

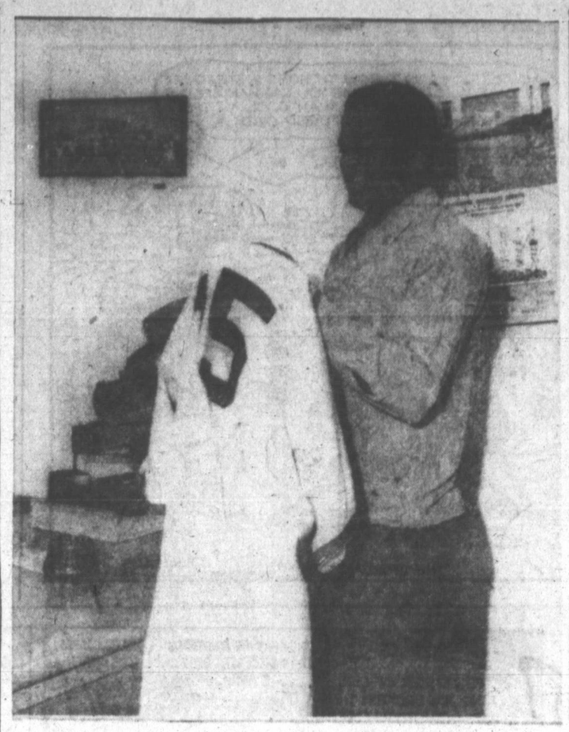

The golfer who does not pivot sufficiently usually slides into a swaying motion. The reason is that when your arms swing back, your body must move in some manner in order to shift out of the way of the arms. If a pivot does not thus occur, the body only sways out of the way. Swaying ruins the arc of your swing and usually results in topping or missing the ball, or at best, pushing the shot off to the right.

Keep the clubhead low to the ground as you start it back. That's the beginning of a correct pivot. The rest will follow if the grip and stance are sound.

Make sure you are properly balanced and completely comfortable in addressing the ball.

POWERLESS—If Julius Boros' right elbow is out from the body at the top of the swing, it will result in loss of power and direction. (NEA)

WEDDING SUIT! — Ben Felder, star Negro second baseman for the Pampa Oilers, looks at his "wedding suit" which he will wear at tomorrow night's marriage ceremony at Oiler Park. The wedding suit, of course, will be his blue and white baseball uniform which he wears at Oiler home games. Felder will wed Miss Irene Boyd, a local school teacher, at home plate tomorrow night. The wedding will precede the Oiler-Amarillo Gold Sox WT-NM clash. (News Photo)

Stage Set For Ben Felder's Homeplate Wedding Tomorrow Night At Oiler Park

ONE OF THE MOST UNUSUAL events in the history of organized baseball will be unreeled at Oiler Park tomorrow night where the Oiler second baseman, Ben Felder, will be married in a home plate ceremony.

The wedding itself, of course, isn't so unusual. But the rarity of it is that it will probably be the first Negro wedding in the history of organized baseball.

Plans are just about complete for tomorrow night's wedding. The starting time has been set for 8 p.m. with the game with Amarillo to follow immediately. Rev. J. S. Thomas of the local Negro Methodist Church will read the wedding vows. Sad Sam Williams will serve as best man.

Pampa merchants are contributing wedding gifts for the Felders which will be presented to them at the ceremony tomorrow night. And any fans who would like to contribute gifts are asked to do so. Just bring your gifts to the park tomorrow or leave them at the Oiler business office anytime between now and the wedding.

Local merchants who have already indicated they are going to contribute gifts include Lewis Hardware, Zale's Jewelry, McLaughlin Furniture, Richards Drug and Pampa Furniture.

The bride-to-be is a local school teacher, Miss Irene Boyd. Miss Boyd's home is in Sherman but she has been teaching school at Carver High School and will continue in that capacity this coming fall.

Ben met Miss Boyd soon after reporting to the Oilers this spring.

The likeable Negro second sacker has been one of the most consistent performers for the Oilers this season. Felder is a quiet and modest sort of a fellow. You never hear him beefing or alibying about anything. He just goes about his business out on the diamond and turns in fine performances.

Felder never seems to get rattled. If he commits an error he shakes it off and comes right back to make a sensational play.

Only 20 years of age, Felder has been judged by most baseball addicts who have seen him play as having the best chance of any current Oiler of reaching the Major Leagues.

As everyone knows, it takes a lot to get a young married couple started out in life so anything that the good Oiler fans can do for them will be greatly appreciated by Ben and his pretty wife-to-be, Miss Boyd.

Added to tomorrow's attraction at Oiler Park will be an All-Negro pitching duel between the Oilers' Sad Sam Williams and Amarillo's Eddie Locke, the most publicized rookie in baseball.

These two fellows, the ace of their respective mound staffs, will be meeting for the second time. Locke got the best of Sad Sam in the first game although neither was up to his usual form. Locke and the Gold Sox won over Sad Sam and the Oilers last week in Amarillo, 10-6.

Much of the ineffectiveness though was blamed on the "band box" park at Amarillo. A decent ball that is hit out of the infield goes over the fence in Gold Sox Park. Homeruns accounted for 10 of the 16 runs scored in the game between Sad Sam and Locke.

THE LUBBOCK HUBBERS, now strengthening for the stretch drive, have signed third baseman Al Kubski, a heavy sticker. Local fans will recall that Kubski was a dangerous hitter for the Hubbers back in 1951. Kubski, who also is a former manager of the Hubs, has been playing semi-pro ball in Wisconsin this summer. He comes to the Hubs just in the nick of time to be eligible for the playoffs.

At the same time of the announcement of the signing of Kubski, the Hubs also came up without a shortstop. Joe Valdivielso, the rookie shortstop for the Hubs, will be out of action for two or three weeks because of a neck injury.

Threw Teeth at Him

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 17—UP—Alexander Brown, 44, was fined five pounds ($14) for throwing his false teeth at an attendant who tried to remove him from a music hall balcony four shouting and swearing.

Notre Dame, 2 Others Cited For Violations

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—UP — Three new schools were subjected to NCAA punishment Tuesday with two of them, Notre Dame and Michigan State, suffering penalty chiefly through publicity.

The Irish and the Spartans, together with Arizona State, Tempe, were revealed Monday as the culprits in the 1953 action of the policy-making council to enforce the NCAA athletic code.

Arizona State, least prominent of the trio, was handed the stiffest penalty: two years probation and banishment of athletes and teams in all sports from national tournament for the next school year.

Notre Dame Objects

Notre Dame and Michigan State were subjected only to written rebuke, but NCAA officials believed the publicity of their cases would cause them the greatest anguish.

Objections were forthcoming almost immediately from Notre Dame, where university vice-president the Rev. Edmund P. Joyce said the NCAA could have "more profitably" dealt with "many areas of really serious abuses" at other schools.

The penalty was levied against Arizona State for payment to athletes for participation in sports, for try-outs of athletes, and for actions of the Sun Angel Foundation, an alumni group in the Phoenix area which from 1949 through 1952 contributed approximately $73,600 to the college.

Opens Series With Giants

Brooklyn Moves In For The Kill

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—UP—Brooklyn was ready for the "big kill" Tuesday and Charley Dressen, the chipper skipper, ordered a smorgasbord of Florida crab fingers for the celebration.

It may not come off, because the Giants could upset the plans even though Dressen still insists—dramatically but ungrammatically that — "The Giants is dead."

"If we beat the Giants that makes it 11 in a row for us and a new high for the year," Dressen said after Monday night's hilarious 5 to 2 triumph in 11 innings over the Pirates, who have been dead since last April.

Pirates Blew Lead

Dressen was elated because the Pirates, who had come to life briefly on the fine knuckle - ball pitching of Johnny Lindel, blew a 2 to 0 lead when Duke Snider homered in the ninth to tie the score, then lost in the 11th when Gil Hodges smacked a three-run homer.

These things especially put Dressen in a fine frame of mind:

1. Hodges, who had been in a brief slump, came out of it with his 26th homer, driving in three runs to give him a total of 101 and assure him of topping the 100 figure in runs batted in for the fifth straight year.

2. Snider, who is on one of his hot streaks, connected for his fourth homer in three games with a man on in the ninth, giving him 28 for the year and eight hits in his last 16 at bats, with three doubles and a single completing the total.

3. Clem Labine, the reluctant relief pitcher, who held the Bucs hitless for the two final innings, gained his third victory in Brooklyn's last six starts, and ran his record to no runs, just four hits, no walks in 9 2-3 innings over a stretch of four appearances.

Sadistic About Giant Series

"Looks like we're in pretty good shape with Clem Labine as the No. 1 bull pen man," Dressen said. "He still isn't quite as strong as he was in 1951 when he finished up so well, but I told him if he would forget about starting and work in relief only he'd make more money. And he liked that idea."

The victory, which equalled a previous Dodger winning string of 10 games this year, put them 8½ games ahead of idle Milwaukee and gave them a chance to pull away if they can keep up their pace of last week when they swept a three-game series with the Giants. The Giants have just come out of three straight doubleheaders and are expected to be a little weary.

Dressen, who would rather beat the Giants than any other team, said most sadistically, "I wish we could play 'em this afternoon instead of tonight.

"That would give 'em less rest and I guess they need it."

Yankees Win Two

The Yankees also were riding high and stretched their lead over the idle White Sox to nine games with 10 to 3 and 9 to 0 triumphs at Philadelphia. In the opener, Whitey Ford pitched his 15th victory with relief help from Tom Gorman as the Yankees made 11 hits including a two-run homer by Yogi Berra. In the second game, lefty Bob Kuzava, making his first start since his one-hitter against the White Sox on Aug. 8, scattered 11 hits to win his fourth game as Joe Collins hit two homers and Billy Martin got one with a man on base.

The Phils topped the Giants 5 to 2 on a four-run rally in the eighth plus nine-hit route-job pitching by Bob Miller, but New York took the second game 6 to 0 as Al Corwin turned in an eight-hitter for his sixth victory. Hank Thompson hit his 23rd homer for the Giants in the nightcap.

There were no other games scheduled.

Monday's Star: Gil Hodges, who hadn't batted in a run in four games, blasted a three-run homer in the 11th to give Brooklyn its 10th victory in a row, 5 to 2 over Pittsburgh.

Hockey Play Starts Oct. 10

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 18—UP—The coming American Hockey League season will open Saturday, Oct. 10, and will close Sunday, March 21, with each team playing 70 games, it was announced Tuesday.

Braves Slugger 23 Shy Of Record

Matthews Insists He Isn't After Ruth's Homerun Mark

CHICAGO, Aug. 17—UP—Eddie "The Moose" Mathews, youthful home run belter of the Milwaukee Braves, wishes well-meaning people would stop asking him if he is going to break the home run record set by the immortal Babe Ruth.

"I know they mean well," Mathews said. "But hardly a day goes by when some guy doesn't come up, grab my arm, and demand to know if I'm gonna break Ruth's record."

Mathews, who leads both major leagues with 37 roundtrippers, is sightly behind Ruth's 1927 record year, when the Babe hit the magic number of 60 homers.

Ruth hit his 37th homer in his 114th game. By his 118th, the number played by Mathews and the Braves, the "Bambino" had walloped 39.

The biggest single factor in Ruth's record year and the stumbling block to record-breaking aspirants so far, was Ruth's torrid pace in September.

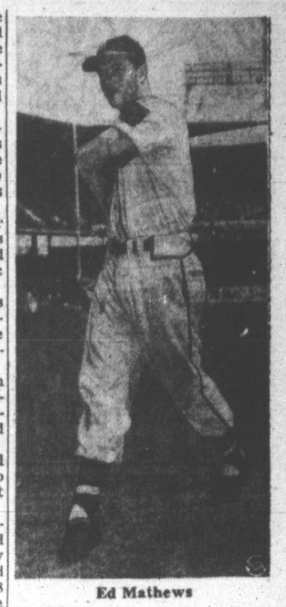

The legendary slugger cracked 17 homers in that month, and no one in either league has ever hit that many in September.

Hank Greenberg, now an executive of the Cleveland Indians, had probably the best chance of any modern hitter to break the record when he entered September, 1938 playing with the Detroit Tigers. He had 46 circuit blasts but could only add 12 more in September.

The most frustrating thing to Greenberg when he hit 58 homers must have been that he had five games in which to hit three more and crack the record, but didn't even come close.

But at 21, Mathews rates the best chance in either league of catching and passing Ruth's elusive record.

The handsome third baseman is a big, well-muscled boy and is in only his second year of big league play. He hits to all fields but with almost brute force to the right. He is a natural "pull hitter."

Ed Mathews

Mathews insists he doesn't think about hitting a homer or passing Ruth's mark, every time he steps to the pate. But "with everyone talking about it it's hard not to at least consider it," he grinned.

Baxter Trails By 8 Strokes

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 18 — UP—Favored Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., was eight strokes off the pace as second round play began Tuesday in the 8th annual International Jaycee Junior Golf tournament.

Baxter, who earned the favorite role by winning the United States Golf Association championship earlier this month, finished with an 81, eight behind leader Dick Chase of Oakmont, Pa., with a 74.

Swim Attempt Postponed

TORONTO, Aug. 17—UP— William Sadlo, a 53-year-old Brooklyn, N. Y., grandfather, postponed a third attempt to swim Lake Erie Sunday to start training for the Canadian National Exhibition's 10-mile, $10,000 water marathon.

FOOTBALL
Season Reserved Tickets
$7.50 for 5 Home Games

People desiring same reserved seats as last year should pick up their 1953 books by Sat., Aug. 25. To those who had seats on the west side, we have given as near as possible the same yardage and the same distance from the top of the new stand. There will be no season books issued in the east stand. To those who had seats in the east stand, we have given good seats in the west stand between the 40 yard lines.

A committee worked on this re-seating arrangement in the new stadium, and we trust each of you will be happy with the results of their labor.

Beginning Monday this office will take orders from people who have not previously had season books, which orders will be filled after next week.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Held Cards Will Give You Good Tip

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When your opponent makes the opening lead, you naturally study the card that was led to see what you can find out from it. Did you ever reflect on the fact that sometimes you can find out more from what was not led?

In today's hand West led the five of clubs. The lead didn't seem to mean much; West had merely led the unbid suit. But there was a vital clue in what West had failed to lead.

East took the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the seven of clubs. West played the king of clubs to cover South's jack, and dummy ruffed.

How should South continue? It isn't very convenient to get to the South hand to begin the diamonds. Perhaps declarer should plan to begin the diamonds from the dummy (either at once or after drawing some trumps); for such a plan would succeed if the diamonds were 2-2 or if the ace happened to drop a singleton king or queen.

But South is guided to the right

	NORTH (D) 18
	♠ A K 8 4 ♥ K Q 9 3 ♦ A 9 6 3 ♣ 6
WEST		EAST
♠ Q 10 9 7 6 2 ♥ 4 ♦ K Q 4 ♣ K 10 5		♠ J ♥ 10 8 6 5 ♦ 7 ♣ A Q 9 7 4 3 2
	SOUTH ♠ 5 3 ♥ A J 7 2 ♦ J 10 8 5 2 ♣ J 8

line of play by the fact that I have mentioned a couple of times already. West had not led his king of clubs, so he hadn't started with the king-given of that suit.

West hadn't led the queen of spades but had chosen to lead away from the king of clubs. It was highly probable, therefore, that West didn't have spades headed by Q-J-10.

This was highly significant. West had bid on a broken spade suit, with the king of clubs as side strength—and what else? Obviously West had diamond strength, and perhaps a singleton somewhere.

In short, South can practically read the entire hand if he uses every scrap of information at his disposal. And then the winning line of play is quite clear.

After ruffing the second club in dummy, declarer cashes the king of hearts and leads a low heart to his jack. West's spade discard is not a bit unexpected.

South leads the jack of diamonds, intending to let it ride if West plays low. West should cover with the queen of diamonds, and dummy wins with the ace. Dummy then returns a diamond, and it doesn't matter whether East ruffs or allows his partner to win. South can simply use the diamonds as a way of making East ruff, and he can easily bring in the game from that point on.

Japanese Prince to Visit US

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 —UP— Crown Prince Akihito of Japan will visit in the United States beginning early next month, the State Department has announced. The 19-year-old crown prince will be in this country for about a month and will be the guest of the government when he visits in the capital.

The present method in the use of adobe bricks for building purposes in New Mexico, was preceded by the ancient process of puddling the 'mud' into the walls in stratified layers.

1 Card of Thanks

Where has he gone since yesterday—
And left us lonely here?
'Tonight he seems so far away
Who yester-eve was near.
No map of ours, on sea or land,
His journeyings may trace;
We only know he's reached his home
And seen his Father's face.

And oh! He knows since yesterday,
And he'll be learning fast;
The mists of earth are cleared away,
The mysteries are past.
The sun of truth in radiance glows
All shadowless and bright,
Undimmed by any cloud of earth,
Undarkened by it's night.

And he has grown since yesterday,
And he'll be growing still;
The bonds of time and sense and space
That irked his eager will
Were dropped like shackles from the soul
In that first upward flight.
The weary body frets no more
The spirit, freed and light.

O dear, familiar yesterday!
O sad and strange today!
Yet who would call the glad soul back
To rouse the resting clay?
Content to wait, for such a plan
Would succeed if the diamonds
Who, loosed from Death and all its pains
Has entered into Life?

Kerry Ward

We cannot adequately express our appreciation for the many acts of love performed in behalf of our little one, Kerry Ward, who passed from earth into his heavenly home on Aug. 8 after eight brief but blessed years with his loved ones. We are grateful for the beautiful flowers and messages and for the helpful and comforting services of Rev. E. Douglass Carver, minister of the First Baptist Church and the music rendered. Also to Duenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home for the impressive last rites. May God bless each of you.

The Clarence Ward family.

COOL TYPIST—Virginia Panian knows how to keep cool in an office that's hot as an oven, as a fireman searches for source of heat and smoke. That's no figure of speech—hot as an oven—as a defective oven unit caused all the excitement in a Detroit, Mich., restaurant.

UNRUFFLED—What appears to be a length of silken ruffle is actually a blazing bar, confronting a horse of Stockholm's crack police cavalry. The horse must leap the barrier without fear in order to qualify for a spot with the mounted police.

THEY'RE YOUNGER, THOUGH

Korean War Veterans Have Problems Of Previous Vets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—UP—The average Korean war vet is 12 years younger than the soldiers who returned to civvies seven or eight years ago but his problems and outlook are about the same.

His benefits—under a new "Korean GI bill of rights"—are roughly the same. His chances of getting the job he wants are somewhat better. And his attitude toward civilian life not unlike that of the World War II veteran.

But the Veterans Administration says there are differences.

Because the Korean veteran averages about 22 years of age, he needs more advice on such things as how to buy a house and whether to continue his education. However, he is less likely to have a family and finds it easier to pick up where he left off if he decides to go back to school.

Uncertain About Life

The new veteran is a little uncertain about life in general and his own future in particular. Like many a World War II veteran, he also often is confused about his insurance, loan, hospitalization, education and other government benefits, according to the VA.

Korean conflict veterans now total 2 million, although many of these saw no combat service in the undeclared war.

Now, as in 1945, the first question the veteran asks the VA concerns education benefits. The second is about insurance. These are the only benefits which have changed appreciably since the end of World War II.

Still Pays for Schooling

The government still pays for veterans' schooling but under a different formula. Until last year, Uncle Sam stood the entire cost of tuition and for a reasonable amount for books and supplies. These payments were made directly to the schools. Single veterans got a check for $75 a month for subsistence, and married men $105 or $120, depending on the number of their dependents.

New legislation provides for a monthly check to cover everything. If he has no dependents, the veteran gets $110; one dependent is worth $25 a month more and more than one, $50.

Of 131,000 veterans taking some sort of government-subsidized training, 76,000 are in colleges and universities. Less than half of World War II's veterans took their GI bill training in higher education.

Insurance Changed

As for insurance, the government now pays the premiums what it calls a $10,000 "indemnity" on each serviceman's life. When this coverage ends 120 days after discharge, the veteran may take out the type of "level premium" police that was offered servicemen in World War II. It is not convertible to any other type—as the World War II term insurance was—nor does it pay dividends. Disabled Korean veterans are eligible for a special kind of insurance but it doesn't pay dividends either.

Other benefits — rehabilitation, home mortgages — remain the same. Officials expect much less demand than in 1945 and 1946 for home mortgages because housing problems have eased considerably and because the new veterans are so much younger.

John Bo wn, the fiery abolitionist whose raid at Harper's Ferry helped set off the Civil War, is buried near Lake Placid, N. Y. His grave, maintained as a state-owned historic site, is on a farm formerly owned by the abolition leader.

Enid Firm Slates Largest Elevator

ENID, Okla., Aug. 18—UP—The Union Equity Co - operative Exchange, owner of the world's largest grain elevator, will build an even bigger one.

Stockholders voted Monday to construct a new $6 million elevator with a capacity of more than 15 million bushels as an answer to the annual wheat-storage problem.

During wheat harvest, Oklahoma farmers often have to put their grain on floors of barns, on city streets or even on the ground because of insufficient storage space.

Union Equity now has three elevators with a total capacity of 34.1 million bushels, including the world's largest—a 15 million bushel tower constructed in 1951. The new elevator will provide the firm with a storage capacity of about 50 million bushels.

Ed Puckett, general manager of Union Equity, said ground would be broken within a week on a 160-acre lot northeast of Enid, close to the firm's other elevators. He said he hoped part of the structure, to be 287 feet high, would be ready for use during the 1954 harvest.

The odor of a flower comes from glands, usually to be found near the base of the petals, which give off a volatile substance. We can think of the fragrance as composed of tiny droplets which, when they are inhaled in the nose, give us the perception of that particular odor.
