Hull Assails "Infamous Charge" In Probe

FIRST MOTHER IS 93—Mrs. Martha E. Truman, mother of the president, was surprised Sunday on her birthday anniversary when the president made a flying trip from Washington to spend two hours with her at her Grandview, Mo., home. Mrs. Truman posed for this picture a few days before she was 93. On the mantle are pictures of the president, his brother, J. Vivian Truman, and his sister, Miss Mary Truman.

Denies Note Given Nips Touched The Button For War

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Cordell Hull today branded as "an infamous charge" the interence in an Army inquiry board's report that the note he handed Japanese "peace" ambassadors Nov. 26, 1941 touched the button that started the Pacific war.

The former secretary of State, testifying before a Senate-House committee inquiring into the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, assailed in vigorous language the interpretations made by the Army board.

Sat Under Infamous Charge

"I sat under that infamous charge for months when every reasonable minded person knew that the Japanese were attempting at that time to get complete control of the Pacific," Hull declared.

"Somebody who knows little about what was going on and who cares less, says 'why didn't the United States make concessions and keep us out of war?" he continued.

"Any reasonable person knows that the Japanese were bent on attack and knows that we could not have stopped them unless we had laid down like cowards."

Had Unverified Report

Hull earlier testified he had only an unverified report of the attack on Pearl Harbor when he conferred with the Japanese peace envoys at 1 p.m. Dec. 7, 1941.

Hull told the Senate-House committee investigating the attack that the White House had called him about noon of that day with the report that the Japanese had struck, but his informant was unable to confirm it definitely.

Were Still Talking Peace

The question arose, Hull said, whether he should receive the Japanese at all or whether he should leave open the one chance in 10 that the reported attack had not taken place.

Hull said he went into the meeting to find that the Japanese delegates were talking "peace, peace, peace."

Because of the report he had re-

Reich Plan To Scrap Treaty Is Uncovered

Scenes In Horror Camps Are To Be Shown At Trial

(By The Associated Press)

NUERNBERG, Nov. 27.—Secret German activity to violate the Versailles peace treaty by the undercover construction of a Navy and Air Force was disclosed today by American prosecutors at the war crimes trial of 20 Nazi leaders.

Documents were laid before the four-power tribunal as evidence that, from his earlier days of power, Hitler falsified public reports of battleship tonnages, built submarines and trained U-boat crews in isolated hideouts in Spain, Finland and Holland and rebuilt the German Air Force under the guise of a commercial aviation program.

Two Defendants Grin

Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and Grand Admiral Erich Raeder grinned broadly at one point as Assistant Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman read from a list of instructions to Nazi displomats on ways to parry questions of other countries about the Reich's rearmament program.

The instructions "apparently cause the defendants considerable amusement," Alderman commented to the court.

Charging that German scheming to violate the Versailles treaty started "soon after World War I," Alderman submitted documents which he said proved that in the very month that Hitler came into power, the German Navy proposed building a great arms industry by selling munitions to other nations.

Signed By Raeder

The proposal was made in a recommendation signed by Raeder in 1933, he said. The German admiral listened attentively as Alderman read off another memorandum, dated in 1934, in Raeder's handwriting which said:

"The commander in chief of the Navy expresses the opinion that later on the fleet must anyhow be developed to oppose England.

"The fuehrer demands to keep construction of U-boats completely secret also, in consideration of the Saar plebiscite."

Alderman also presented a secret document detailing early plans to re-occupy the Rhineland in violation of the Versailles treaty —an act which Hitler carries out without opposition in 1936.

Listing step by step German plans for Reich domination of Europe, assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman said the early schemes were of "modest origin and fantastic nature" but developed into a real threat with the rise of Hitler.

Could Have Been Stopped

German war preparation, Alderman asserted, "could have been interrupted at several points."

"Gloomy" Review Of Recent World Events Made By Senator—

Wheeler Charges Uncle Sam Backing England And Russia In A Mad Rush For Another War

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) told the Senate today this nation was backing both Russia and England in a mad rush into another World war that might end civilization.

"The only aggressors today are our beloved and noble peace-loving allies," the veteran western senator said in a prepared 27-page speech opposing participation in the present United Nations organization.

Making an admittedly "gloomy" review of recent world events, the veteran western senator sharply criticized results of the war to date, the international policies of the United States leaders, and the United Nations organization.

"I will not believe that Russia wants war," the senator said. "We must quit appeasing Russia and let her know once and for all we did not fight this war to let her enslave the people of Europe. She agreed to our high principles in her hour of distress. She must abide by them now."

Wheeler, leader in the prewar isolationist group in this country, suggested that the United States "have the courage to call a real peace conference and let us do it with or without Russia's participation."

Such a conference, Wheeler continued, should consider:

1. Universal abolition of conscription.

2. Progressive multilateral disarmament.

3. International control of the atomic bomb "patterned after the Truman-Attlee-King formula."

Envoy Claims Democracy Is Undermined

Resignation As Ambassador To China Revealed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley resigned as ambassador to China today, bitterly assailed American policy in Asia, and declared that a third World war was "in the making."

The white-haired soldier-diplomat charged that the United States was using its power and reputation "to undermine Democracy and bolster imperialism and Communism" in the Far East.

Sucked Into Power Bloc

"In diplomacy today, we are permitting ourselves to be sucked into a power bloc on the side of colonial imperialism against Communist imperialism," he asserted.

"I am opposed to both. I still favor Democracy and free enterprise."

Hurley announced his resignation in a 1500-word statement containing frequent charges that career diplomats and State department officials were blocking attainment of expressed U. S. war aims.

Hurley said the United States "began the war with the principles of the Atlantic charter and Democracy as our goal." He added:

Democracy Undermined

"We finished the war in the Far East furnishing lend-lease supplies and using all our reputation to undermine Democracy and bolster imperialism and Communism."

The retiring ambassador to Chungking said he agreed entirely with the outline of American foreign policy which President Truman made in his Navy day address, ut stated that "professional diplomats in the lower echelons were frustrating attainment of announced policy aims."

Hurley said that when he was assigned to China he was directed by President Rooseveit to prevent collapse of the Chiang Kai-Shek government and keep the Chinese Army in the war.

Objective Accomplished

"From both the strategical and diplomatic viewpoint the foregoing constituted our chief objective," he said, "the next in importance was the directive to

General Motors Charges That Lawless Situation Existing

Umpire Brands Tech Coach "Poor Sport"

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 27. (U.P.) — Charges by Texas Tech Coach Dell Morgan that last Saturday's 6-6 tie with New Mexico university at Albuquerque was "the lousiest officiated game I ever saw," were answered in kind today by Edwood Romney, umpire of the game.

Said Romney: "As far as Referee Kermit Laabs and myself are concerned, we don't care whether we ever work another game for a man who is as poor a sport as Morgan. Laabs has tried for three years to avoid working in Tech games, but has always been appointed by Border conference officials."

Federal Aid Seen As Next Step In Strike Dispute

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 27. — Government intervention appeared as the next step in the General Motors strike today following another breakdown in efforts to resume company-union negotiations.

Accusing the CIO United Automobile Workers of "creating a situation of lawlessness" at strike-bound General Motors plants, the corporation notified the union last night that a settlement could not be negotiated "while such a situation exists."

Illegal Picketing Assailed

In its reply to the union's request for resumption of wage talks, the GM management assailed what it termed the "illegal picketing" to prevent office employes from entering the plants.

Further widening the rift was the question of what should be discussed at any negotiating sessions relative to the union's 30 per cent wage increase demand.

"It should be clear to you and all others that we will not negotiate with your union regarding our selling prices and profits," said GM Vice President H. W. Anderson in a letter to the UAW-CIO.

Anderson continued:

Nothing To Be Gained

"Unless you are now prepared to modify your unreasonable wage demands, abandon your attempt to negotiate wages on the basis of our past profits, assumed future profits and our selling prices, and are now prepared to discuss wage adjustments on their merits, we do not think that anything can be gained by further discussions of the wage issue with your union at this time."

Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president, promptly replied that "negotiations without discussing the company's ability to pay are not negotiations."

Reuther said the union, which filed charges of unfair labor practices against the corporation before the strike was called, would notify the National Labor Relations board "of this further violation" of the Wagner act by "refusing to negotiate at all on our wage demands."

Long Stay In Germany Seen

FRANKFURT, Nov. 27. (U.P.)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, newly designated commander of American forces in Europe, predicted today that the Allied occupation of Germany would continue for at least 10 years.

McNarney held his first press conference since he was named to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as commander in chief of U. S. occupation forces in Germany, commanding general of U. S. forces in Europe, and American representative on the Allied control council.

Program To Continue

The strict denazification program in the American occupation zone will continue, McNarney announced. This automatically squelched hopes of thousands of Germans for mitigation of their onus and punishments on the ground of being merely "nominal" members of the Nazi party.

Eisenhower, who will succeed Gen. George C. Marshall as U. S. Army chief of staff, has requested the release from headquarters here of Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith, his chief of staff throughout the campaign in western Europe.

Maj. Gen. H. R. Bull, deputy chief of staff here, will replace Smith in about three weeks, McNarney said in disclosing Eisenhower's request.

Maj. Gen. Miller White will become deputy chief of staff. White accompanied McNarney here from

Orlando Will Not Serve As Premier

ROME, Nov. 27. (U.P.) — Victor Emmanuel Orlando, Italy's World war one leader, took himself out of the Italian political crisis today with the announcement that he would not serve as Premier in a new coalition government.

Orlando forestalled an unofficial move to push him into the premiership by informing crown prince Humbert that he would refuse the post if it were offered officially.

His decision was announced after a serious of conferences with leaders of the various Italian political parties had uncovered strong left-wing opposition to his appointment.

Figl is expected to form a coalition government with the Socialists, who ran second in the elections, and the Communists, who finished a poor third. He indicated he would appeal for the withdrawal of occupation troops and would ask help from the Allies to dispel cold and hunger in Austria this winter.

Jap Elections Face Reforms

TOKYO, Nov. 27. (AP) — Emperor Hirohito, in a colorful reading of an imperial rescript, today made election reform the number one function of the current diet and insured some revision of current laws.

Standing before the imperial throne in the ornate House of Peers, the emperor read the brief rescript in formal, heavy tones while members of both houses bowed deeply. The Japanese ruler was flanked on the right by princes of the blood and imperial household officials and on the left by Premier Kijuro Shidehara's cabinet.

Action Is Assured

Specific mention of election reform in the rescript insured action thereupon and made this the principal diet issue. Simultaneously the rescript statement limited to the House of Representatives such reform, indicating there probably will be no change in the current appointive status of the House of Peers despite considerable newspaper agitation.

The rescript also broadly solicited harmony in dealing with other matters.

The emperor wore his new official non-military uniform. Solemn-faced, he entered the hushed chamber and walked stiffly to a position fronting the throne on a

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—New York's wave of violence and crime today produced its 69th death in 77 days when a policeman on vavation shot and killed one man and wounded another.

Police said patrolman Edwin Wanye, 40, shot them in a Bronx barroom as they attempted to stage their third holdup of the night.

Arrested for speeding, the veteran got by the pronunciation of such words as "presbyterian" and "episcopalian." Then an officer pulled three coins from his pocket and asked him to pick them up.

"This," said the veteran pulling a pair of dice from his pocket, "I like."

The police booked him for intoxication.

Improved Street Lighting For City Provided In Bond Issue

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on the city's five-year expansion program on which taxpayers will vote on Dec. 11. An over-all bond issue of $3,894,000, offered in 14 different propositions, will be offered for approval or rejection on that date.

By C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

The City of Lubbock is far below the average American cities of its size in respect to both quantity and quality of street lighting.

An attempt will be made to remedy this deficiency within the next five years should taxpayers of Lubbock approve proposition No. 11 in the $3,894,000 bond issue election on Dec. 11. The proposition covering street lighting calls for an expenditure of $245,000 for this purpose.

More Than 51 Miles Planned

The five-year program would provide for more than 51 miles of additional street lighting in Lubbock, of which more than 70 per cent of which would be in residential areas. Four and one-half miles of whiteway in the main business district and seven miles in secondary business areas would be provided under the program.

Nine miles of lights would be added on major traffic routes and

Parents Wait In Grim Silence As Divers Search For Bodies

Fifteen Children And Driver Killed As School Bus Plunges Into A Deep Lake

(By The United Press)

FIRST CREEK, Wash., Nov. 27—A little group of parents huddled in common misery on the shores of beautiful Lake Chelan today as divers resumed searching for a school bus which carried 15 children and its driver to death in the deep ,cold waters.

The tragedy, which occurred yesterday during a snowstorm when the vehicle struck a boulder on the cliff-top country road and plunged into the lake, left four families childless.

Two children were lost in each of six families. Only five children were left alive in the entire, sprawling Twenty-Five-Mile Creek rural area.

Despite the stunning accident, one of the worst in the history of Washington state, the Chelan schools continued classes.

Awaiting in grim silence the recovery of their children's bodies, a sharper grief assailed the bereaved couples. Authorities said that the ill-fated bus and its lifeless load might have sunk so deep into the almost bottomless lake that it might never be found.

Cold Halts Divers

Four divers from Seattle and Grand Coulee dam were forced last night to abandon their search until today because temperatures dropped into the low 20's, while high winds and lack of sufficient emergency lighting hampered their work.

Boatment and divers recovered one body, however. It was that of 15-year old Henry Davis.

Ronnie Ayers, 13, drowned as he struggled toward shore in the frigid water. The other 14 victims, including Jack Randall, 26, the bus driver, were believed still trapped in the bus.

Only Seven Survivors

There were seven survivors, Washington state highway police said. Had the schoolbound bus completed its circuit, it would have been carrying up to 50. Loss of life was lowered because many parents were driving their children to schools through the snowstorm.

The victims were students in the high school, junior high school

Three Texans Lost In Plane

NEW DELHI, India, Nov. 27 (AP)—Headquarters of the India-Burma theater said today that an airplane carrying 40 homebound American soldiers had been missing in India for three weeks.

An intensive search has failed to uncover any trace of the plane or its passengers.

Some officers considered it possible that the plane crashed in the snowy Himalayas and that it would be weeks or months before it was found. Much of the territory is uninhabited or unexplored.

Relatives of missing persons have been informed.

The passenger list, all air corps personnel, includes: Flight Officer Charles M. Fulton, Quanah, Tex.; Sgt. Roger C. Mallard, Palestine, Texas; Sgt. Robert L. Smith, Big Spring, Texas.

Woman's Case Hasn't A Leg To Stand On

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27. (U.P.)—Police said she would, the woman said she wouldn't walk to jail. She didn't; she simply removed her legs.

A 35 year old woman, arrested in connection with a cutting scrape, was brought to police headquarters and left in an anteroom while a male companion was booked by the desk sergeant.

A crash was heard. Officers R. D. Allen and Joe de Staphano investigated and found her sitting on a table, her right leg on the floor.

"Nobody is going to say I walked to jail of my own free will," she said to the amazed officers.

Then she unscrewed her other artificial leg and hurled it to the floor.

She had to be carried to the lockup.

Men Grow Angry At Risk After War Has Ended

(By The Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, Nov. 27—Chinese Nationalists today heard that some 700 American planes are being flown into China, presumably for their use, as central government troops drove to within 90 miles of Mukden, vital rail center in the battle for Manchuria.

Associated Press Correspondent Richard Cushing wrote from Shanghai that virtually every flyable American plane in India and Burma was being flown into China in an operation which already has cost several American lives. There were 11 crashes last Thursday when 22 P-51s flying from Kunming to the Shanghai area encountered a weather front.

To Be Given To Chinese

Cushing was told the flight was ordered by the War department and that the 10th Air Force was bringing transports and the 14th Air Force fighters. Ranking officers told Cushing the aircraft undoubtedly will be given to the Chinese Nationalists.

U. S. Air Force officials said it is vital that the United States protect Allied gains in China, Cushing wrote, but the men flying the aircraft "are debating angrily whether they ought to be risking their lives three months after the end of the war."

Nationalists Advance

Chungking newspapers said Nationalist forces advanced 40 miles along the Peiping-Mukden railroad to Kowpangtze, 90 miles from Mukden. There was no report of opposition.

Simultaneously, unconfirmed press reports indicated the Russians will permit the Nationalists to garrison Manchuria.

Russia will adhere to the spirit of the Sino-Soviet friendship and alliance pact, these reports declared, but will postpone withdrawal of Soviet troops from Manchuria until January.

Dazzling Display Of Diamonds And Ermine For Opera Opening

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—As Mrs. Truman and Mary Margaret smiled and applauded, the Metropolitan Opera company opened its 61st season last night—with the most dazzling display of diamonds and ermine in years.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt wore her traditional head-band, Mrs. George Washington Kavanaugh wore diamond bracelets up to her elbow, John Jacob Astor wore a white tie and an opera hat—and New York society knew that once again, all was right with the world.

The annual opening night spectacle of pelts and sparklers was dimmed during the war years, but last night the mighty flung aside wartime modesty and welcomed peace with a lavishness worthy of Diamond Jim Brady and Lillian Russell.

The president's wife and daughter were among the atch-conservatives of the glittering crowd.

The first lady and first daughter arrived—early. (The queen of New York's 400, Mrs. Vanderbilt, arrived at her customary hour—9 o'clock. The opera began at 8).

Dam Projects Are Discussed

MINERAL WELLS, Nov. 27. (U.P.) —A U. S. Army engineer report by Jan. 1 on the proposed $7,000,000 dam on the Leon river was promised board members of the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district at a meeting in Mineral Wells.

Other important projects discussed were the dams at De Cordova bend in Hood county, Leon and Lampasas in Bell county, and Inspiration point and Turkey creek in Palo Pinto county.

The board, headed by President George G. Chance of Bryan, was told by R. D. Police Brutality Charged By Paper

HOUSTON, Nov. 27. (U.P.) — A Houston newspaper was squared off today against the Houston police department.

Its sports writer was preparing to carry his charges of being beaten and choked into unconsciousness by four policemen to a grand jury. He claimed the beating occurred when he was picked up on a speeding charge and taken to the police station.

In a front page editorial, entitled "Black Jack Law and Order," the Houston Post today said:

"We have seen blood on the floor at headquarters (police) too many times.

"We have seen the cruelly battered heads and faces of prisoners at the city jail.

"And we have seen the dead carried from their cells."

The newspaper then advocated a major shakeup in the police organization.

The charges of the sports writer, Don Cook, jr., followed by a few days news stories by Houston papers that the city mayor and councilmen were seeking to discharge the city manager, John N. Edy. The mayor and councilmen held a secret meeting yesterday but all declined to discuss what it concerned.

Shooting Case Being Probed

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 27. (U.P.)— Police were investigating the fatal shooting of Mrs. Juana L. Davis, 45 year old mother of three school age children.

Mrs. Davis died instantly when struck in the head by a shotgun blast fired in front of her home in Brownsville. Police still sought a motive, but ordered the arrest of Alfonso Trevino and his son, Alfonso, jr. They said Davis had just returned from a trip across the border to Matamoros with the elder Travino when she met her death.

The victim was the wife of Warrant Officer Carrol F. Davis of Camp Phillips, Kans.

Another valley tragedy was being investigated by officers, who sought details of the death of Consepcion S. Santillan, 40, of Pharr, who died shortly after he was struck by an automobile on "Dead Man's curve," south of San Benito.

Santillan was walking in the middle of the highway when hit by an automobile driven by Charles Shanholtzer, 19, of Kansas City, Mo., according to Highway Patrolman Doug Sadler.

Old Farmer's Almanac Says 1946 Will Be One Of Snowiest And Rainiest Years Yet

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. — Gather 'round the stove, friends, and we'll look into the old farmer's almanac, hot from the press with news of the big snows that are about to engulf us.

For 154 years now, except when the war-time censors wouldn't allow weather predictions, the yellow-backed almanac has been putting out information about the moon, the tides, why to leave the corners of your pastures bushy, and when to get out the snow shovel. Nary a complaint in all those years, writes Publisher Robb Sangendorph of Dublin, N. H.

Cold Weather Foreseen

With no further information, let us take a preview of 1946, with some good advice thrown in:

January: Cold and snowy on New Year's and for a week thereafter. There's no sense in selling your milo wholesale and buying your grain retail. A thaw on the 21st but bundle up well on the 27th.

February: This is the time of the deep snows; the weather'll be particularly bad on the 20th. If you get snowed in and a neighbor digs you out don't forget to give him a little something bracing from the bottle behind the clock. More storms are coming.

March: Time to wade through the seed catalogues and put in your orders. Heavy rains until the ninth; then snow for a couple of days. Wood cut now will be dried for next winter. 24th: Floods and tornadoes in the south. Mud and haste make waste.

April: Uncover root plants; hoop and rail your berry bushes; mulch strawberry beds. Clear and cooler until the fifth; rain on the 10th; rivers are whitening the 26th. With one foot on the threshold of spring and one at the back door of winter, April rangs uncertain which way to fall and its never what it's cracked up to be.

To Be Changeable

May: First to fifth, changeable. Many find pleasure in chewing the twigs of black birch and sassafras. 14th, easterly storms and then some unsettled days. The violet as a salad delicacy has its advocates.

June: This is the month of young love and young leaves; look for trouble on both. First through ninth, a fine spell of rain. Don't spare the hoe. 17th: Good growing weather. 24th and 25th, thunderstorms.

July: Variable for a few days with signs of rain. The old swimming hole is grand but have a care. Eighth: scorching sun. Water up the nose is more dangerous than water in the ear. 27th: Look for a cool rain.

August: Begins hot and sticy. Be ready for the long dry spell; arrange for water for the cattle. 24th: Rain.

September: 13th through 25th: Expect anything from hurricanes to nice, mild weather. Now will the porcupines take their fill of the ripening apples and the deer munch the fine green beans. Now will the red fox look to the hen roost and the skunk rattle the lid of the garbage pail. 27th: Cold and rainy.

October: First through eighth: Keep your umbrella handy. Potatoes should now be dug. Expect a good storm on the 20th. Have in mind that game birds like bushy corners and save them what you can.

November: Fifth through tenth: Snow flurries. No plowing now. 13th: Indian summer. 20th: Some real snow. Quarter of a lemon squeezed into coffee cup removes sleeplessness.

December: First: Cold and windy; 13th: Gales now and much colder; 23rd: Sleet, some rain or snow, then cold. As the hard bitterness of cold descends the heart should warm to home fires. Don't tinker with the clocks.

Or, as the publisher remarks, 1946 looks like one of the snowiest, rainiest years yet. Good for eskimos and ducks.

Ex-Solon's Son Held For Taking $20,000

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 27 (AP)—A former Detroit congressman's 18-year-old son with romantic ideas and $19,112 in cash was held here today with the girl of his dreams and another feminine companion after police halted a trip to Florida which the youth said was to culminate in matrimony.

Bespectacled, slender Malcolm McLeod was quoted by Police Sgt. George Lawson as saying he took $20,000 to $21,000 from a lockbox in his father's home and headed for Miami to marry pretty Betty Ann Mackey, 21, a sophomore at Detroit's Wayne university.

Betty Ann didn't have anything to say about matrimony. She said she and Kathleen Conricode, 19, had agreed to go to Miami with the son of former Rep. Clarence J. McLeod of Michigan because "we thought of the posibility of obtaining a job there."

The boy disappeared Thanksgiving night. He was traced to Chicago and then the search turned southward.

Vacation Spot Has Been Incorporated

Ruidoso, the little New Mexico village where many Lubbock residents head during vacation time, has incorporated into a city, according to Albert Vaughn. Ruidoso businessman who was in Lubbock today on business.

City limits of the newly incorporated town extend from the Old Mill, familiar landmark at the foot of the hill going into Ruidoso, about five miles to the Indian reservation. The city is about one mile wide.

Vaughn said an election would be held Dec. 11 to name a mayor, city trustees and a city clerk. Plans are being laid for new water and sewage lines and a butane gas line, all to be run by various companies for the entire city of 3,000 cabins.

Ruidoso has a permanent population of about 1,000 and a summer population of near 10,000. A private airport is being constructed and a golf course is to be put in soon, Vaughn said. Several brick buildings are being erected in the business section of the sprawling village.

More Street Lights

six miles on secondary traffic routes. More than 25 miles of strictly residential street lights would also be erected under the program.

Lubbock Below Average

A recent survey of the street lighting situation in Lubbock revealed that Lubbock has a total of only 54 lumens per capita while the average progressive American city has from 175 to 200 lumens per capita. Total lumens per mile in Lubbock is 21,475 compared to 50,000 to 120,000 lumens in other cities. Total population per street lamp in Lubbock is 63 compared to 30 to 40 for progressive cities.

The average annual per capita investment for street lighting in this country is approximately $1; and on a mileage basis, approximate $443 per mile for the group of cities ranging between 25,000 and 50,000 population. As compared to this national average, the annual street lighting budget in Lubbock approximates only 31 cents per capita—based on a population of about 40,000.

Advantages Are Cited

On the basis of 100 miles (estimated) of improved streets and highways in Lubbock, the present street lighting budget results in only about $122 per mile of street, about 28 per cent of the country-wide average per mile for cities of this size.

The safeguarding and acceleration of vehicular traffic flow; affording of a maximum of nocturnal protection and convenience to pedestrians; stimulation to retail trade throughout business districts; general enhancing of abutting values; direct aid to the fire and police departments; a positive impetus toward effective general municipal advertising; and creation and promotion of civic pride and community well-being are outstanding advantages of a system of modern street illumination.

Cuts Down Accidents

An ever-increasing amount of authentic accident data and experience proves, beyon' any doubt, that properly applied street and highway illumination is the most effective method—so far devised—for guaranteeing a maximum of nocturnal protection to both vehicular and pedestrian traffic. These data and records, from scores of progressive American communities, conclusively prove that approximately 50 per cent of all night traffic accidents and fatalities can and are being prevented by means of modern street lighting systems.

Under the city's proposed lighting development program, use of both and incandescent lights would be made in the street lighting extensions, the sodium lights being planned for the traffic routes, both major and secondary.

Plan New Traffic Lights

The development program also calls for a complete new traffic light system for Lubbock with the lights being changed from the present type to the three-light system which provides for an amber caution light, warning drivers of an impending traffic flow change.

A careful study will be made of the city's major thoroughfares under the plan and lights installed at various points to aid in controling vehicular traffic.

New York State consumes about one-third of the anthracite produced in Pennsylvania.

News Briefs

H. W. Wylie of 2818 Twenty-third was admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital Monday afternoon for treatment of a fractured back suffered Sunday when a horse he was riding fell on him. The accident occurred at Wylie's ranch near Aspermont.

Jimmy Lee Aultman, three-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Aultman of 220 Ave. T, lacerated his palate with a stick while playing Monday afternoon. He is in Lubbock Memorial hospital.

Laying of bricks commenced this morning on Lubbock's new power plant, costing approximately $75,000 and located at the city outskirts on the Plainview highway, according to City Manager Marlin R. Smith, jr. Work has been delayed about a month, Smith said, because of the unavailability of bricks and layers.

Firemen answered two alarms about 10:30 o'clock this morning: From 1313 Thirty-second, where someone had set fire to a dead tree, and from 1615 Seventh, where a gas hose had become detached from a heater. There was no damage at either address, firemen said.

Warning Is Given Mysterious Caller

Police coupled a warning with an announcement this morning that someone representing himself to be a "colonel calling from Dallas" had telephoned four Lubbock women, three of them widows, within the last 10 days—to report that "your son has been killed in action overseas."

Officials reminded that two Texas Tech students had been jailed briefly in recent days in connection with investigation that brought admissions of having turned in false ambulance and police alarms.

"The same can happen if this latest practice is continued," it was announced.

No Such Calls Placed

It also was learned that at least one other agency was investigating the "colonel from Dallas," and that it had been determined that no such calls were placed in Dallas.

"Some crackpot or worse is likely to find himself in pretty deep if he is caught at this business," a detective working on the case said. "Two of those calls were last night—and the 'colonel' knew something about the persons he was calling. That much could be determined, and the fact may help in establishing his eventual identity.

"Actually, the public itself should be reminded of this fact: That the War or Navy department always informs the nearest of kin by telegram—before the news of the death of a serviceman is announced to other persons. Pay no attention to such unauthorized reports."

Only three ivory-billed woodpeckers are known to be alive.

GOPs Hurl Charges As Demos Ask Cash

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 — Republican contentions of "pork barrel" today greeted a Democrat-backed drive in the House to add $128,475,000 in rivef and harbor-flood control funds to a $1,131,-452,312 appropriation bill.

"It's worse than pork barrel," said Rep. John Taber of New York, ranking Republican member of the House appropriation committee which yesterday approved the deficiency supply bill without the river and harbor money.

Taber directed his remarks at a move launched by some Democratic committeemen to restore to the measure the $128,475,000 knocked out by a close committee vote.

A showdown is unlikely before tomorrow or Thursday because today's House meeting has been set aside for a general discussion of the bill and its scores of separate items.

"On some of these river and harbor and flood control projects," Taber told a reporter, "even the sponsors and the Army engineers can't agree. They are millions of dollars apart on the potential value of the projects."

Taber said he not only would oppose the addition of any new funds but would move to strike from the bill some money already in it.

The appropriations committee already has lopped $576,242,136 from budget estimates which formed the basis for the bill.

Study Is Favored

Ther may be a well-backed drive to restore at least part of the $158,-320,000 estimate for construction of hospital and other facilities for veterans. In rejecting this allotment, the committee said it believed its regular sub-committee handling Veterans' administration funds should study the program before money is voted.

Western congressmen are studying the possibility of seeking to restore some of the $22,169,900 cut from the Interior department's reclamation project fund. Taber said he and other Republicans would oppose any changes.

There was no fight in prospect over the committee's denial of new funds—and its cancellation of previously-granted money—to the national labor relations board for financing strike-elections. Separate legislation repealing the NLRB's war-granted authority to conduct these elections has been approved by the House military committee and is pending in the House.

Dutch Leaders Ask Evacuation

(By The Associated Press)

BATAVIA, Java, Nov. 27 — Indonesians in Soerabaja launched a counter attack against British troops in that embattled area and an official British report told of more attacks in Ambarawa and Bandoeng.

In Batavia, prominent Dutch leaders and Red Cross workers asked in a petition to the Netherlands East Indies government that 200,000 women, children and the aged and sick be evacuated from Java pending "the return of normal times."

Some People Suffer

The petition claimed that the same people who had suffered under the Japanese were now being attacked by Indonesians and declared "the people who have suffered so much already cannot stand the strain any longer."

The Indonesian counterattack in Soerabaja was mounted by a force of 50 Indonesians with the aid of a small Japanes tank. A British Indian patrol near the hospital area was forced to withdraw.

The Indonesians also attacked the released internees' camp and police station at Ambarawa, 30 miles south of Semarang.

Bombers In Battle

The British yesterday sent three RAF Mosquito bombers into the battle for Ambarawa and the planes, using machineguns and cannon, strafed troop concentrations and attacked roadblocks, warehouses and transport columns.

In Bandoeng a British company returning from the airfield area was overdue and believed to have been held up by roadblocks.

Aron Gutwirth, local chairman for the Netherlands East Indies Red Cross, said when the mass evacuation petition was presented to the government, that "people are disappearing daily. We never hear of them again."

Gutwirth also voiced a special appeal to America for aid. . . . We appeal especially to America, which is one of the few countries that didn't suffer from an invasion. We appeal to America to send us ships and other help in getting these people away, and to all Americans to grant us hospitality until times become normal here again."

Shooting Still On For This Army Man

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., Nov. 27. (AP) — Soldiers standing in the separation line for discharges were startled by a shout: "Hey, you, get out of that line. You're essential."

Pvt. Thomas L. Cooke, Company B, 415th Infantry, of Pima, Ariz., wheeled with his heart in his boots to follow the officer.

Before he could even protest, he was out on the rifle range, down on his stomach behind an M-1 rifle, pumping 30 caliber bullets at a target 500 yards away.

The 414th and the 415th Infantry regiments were having a rifle match. The 414th finished shooting 22 points ahead of the 415th who had one man left to compete. Cooke, a crack shot, was declared essential long enough to compete.

Then he was declared surplus again and went back to the line. He scored 31 and won the match for the 415th.

● Here is the cross-section of a new, improved railroad rail.

It looks very much like any other rail. Actually, it has basic advantages, proved by more than three years' testing on thirty miles of Burlington main line.

This is the Torsion-Resisting Rail★—created by Burlington engineers. It is important, not only for what it is, but for the particular kind of railroad progress which it typifies. For like so many of the vital railroad improvements which have become realities over the years, this Torsion-Resisting Rail lacks the glamor to bring it into the spotlight of public attention and acclaim.

Railroading is like that. For every improvement you see, there are dozens you never notice. But they're on the job—in the cause of better transportation.

And that's how it is with this new Torsion-Resisting Rail . . . which the Burlington offers as a significant contribution to better railroading for all America.

★ What the Torsion-Resisting Rail Offers:

1 • Narrower head. Less leverage exerted by wheels.

2 • Stronger fillets for greater strength.

3 • Better weight distribution permits greater height, resulting in substantially increased stiffness of rail. This distributes load more evenly over more ties.

4 • Permits improved joint bar design.

NEW LONG DISTANCE CIRCUITS

...coming up!

Most long distance calls—about 7 out of every 10—are going right through. Some are delayed because we are short of circuits. There aren't enough to handle the enormous number of calls now crowding the lines.

New wire, new cable, new equipment of all kinds is now becoming available to us. As fast as we can install it, more and more calls will go through while you hold the line. But if now and then your call is delayed, you'll know the reason why. Thanks for your patience.

"Sheep Queen" Wants Domestic Wool Put In Competition With Imported

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP) — Mrs. Mary Thomas Peavey, jr., of Gooding, Idaho, the "sheep queen" asked the Senate special wool committee today to lend a helping hand to western sheep raisers.

The operator of a 40,000-acre ranch, the attractive young woman declared that uncertain prices and the threatened sales of British wool stockpiles in this country are causing great numbers of sheep and wool men to go out of business. She is a daughter of the late Senator John Thomas of Idaho.

"In settling my father's estate," she told the committee, "we're facing the question whether or not we should liquidate holdings in sheep. You actually lose money now in sheep operations."

Wants Wool On Market

She recommended that the government's Commodity Credit corporation program for purchase of all American wool be continued, and that the government then sell the wool on the open market in competition with foreign produced wools. She suggested that the loss incurred by the government be made up by tariffs on imported wools.

(The overall normal consumption of 750,000,000 pounds of wool in the United States exceeds domestic production by about 300,000,000 pounds annually, and the tariff is 34 cents per pound. The CCC pays producers $1.18, as compared with the price of $1.05 at which British wools are offered for sale in this country, tariff paid).

Mrs. Peavy recalled that her father had served on the committee until his death less than a month ago. She added:

Land Barren Without Stock

"Although I have heard for years of the vast barren spaces of the west, and knew in general — it was only as I flew, with my father's body, from Washington to Boise — only then did I see with my own eyes, and realize how vast were the tracts of land that would be barren indeed if it were not for the livestock and the courageous people who tend them.

"They turn them into a productivity that would otherwise be totally lost. You can't pay taxes on a lot of barren land, but you can pay taxes if you can produce foods, fats, oils and fibers for the nation on that land. This can only be if the policy established by our government is one which will insure a fair return for the investment and labor necessary to maintain this vast industry."

HONEY OUTPUT RISES

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P.)—Nebraska honey producers plan to retain a large quantity of bees until the sugar shortage has passed.

Production this year increased 44 per cent over the 1944 total. State-federal agricultural statisticians estimated the output at 5,885,000 pounds, against 4,080,000 in 1944, and the number of bee colonies up eight per cent.

Plainsman Speaks At Legion Session

Charles A. Guy, introduced as The Plainsman, discussed governmental changes that have grown out of custom and precedent during the past 200 years when he spoke Monday night at the regular meeting of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion in the Legion hall.

Guy discussed the recent growth of government "by, of and for the pressure groups," and indicated that there is a growing feeling among the electorate that terms of elected officers should be limited.

Christmas Trees Due Soon

It was announced by Commander H. J. Kendrick that a shipment of Douglas firs for the Christmas season would arrive here during the next few days, selected in a range of sizes and prices to suit each family. The trees will be on sale at the Legion hall.

Also announced was sponsorship by the Legion of a concert by Benno Rabinof, the violinist, and his accompanist, Sylvia Smith, on Jan. 10, at the high school auditorium. Committees were appointed to handle ticket sales.

The Allen Bros. post with 702 members may soon be among the 10 biggest posts in the state, it was reported.

Music was furnished by Buddy Hornsby and his string orchestra.

"Flags," The Psychopathic Parrot, More Stubborn Than Cave Full Of Japs; And He Remained That Way Until The Bitter End

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Nov. 27 — "Flags," the psychopathic parrot, was more stubborn than a cave full of Japanese.

And he stayed that way to the bitter end — cynical, unreconciled, silent and embittered — the kind of bird that just grunts when you ask him to talk for his dinner.

His Pacific career has been somewhat overshadowed by such events as the Philippine landing and the Tokyo surrender, but now it can be told, without fuss or feathers.

Flew 10,000 Miles

"Flags" flew 10,000 miles during his short military life, without once flapping his wings. He was too lazy. He always took the air in a plane. He wouldn't sing, he wouldn't bite your finger, he wouldn't learn to say, "Okay, Joe," like other parrots.

"He wouldn't do anything but lap up food," said Franky Filan, Associated Press war photographer and Flags' most bitter enemy. "He was the stupidest bird that ever lived."

Flags was a small, green bird with a red chest, red-tipped wings and yellow beak. He led a sedate existence aboard a seaplane tender off Treasury island until the skipper ordered him disposed of on the grounds that he might spread psitticosis or parrot fever among the crew. Medics always suspected every parrot.

Took Him As Pet

To save Flags, Charlie McMurtry, Associated Press war correspondent, agreed to take him as a pet.

Flags behaved fairly well on the airplane flight to the Guadalcanal press camp, and there the boys labored mightily to build a sleeping perch. It evidently gave him insomnia, because during the night he left it and crawled into a bunk with Al "Red Dog" Dopking, another Associated Press war correspondent. There he slept.

Dopking awoke at dawn with howls of rage to report that sleeping wasn't all Flags had done.

It was always a problem to keep medical men from destroying Flags, too, Filan reported. So we drove all over Guadalcanal and finally cornered a harassed form horse doctor who prodded Flags disdainfully and then signed his name to a piece of paper saying:

Nothing Wrong With Him

"'I don't see anything wrong with this bird'."

Mac finally took him back to Honolulu. After Flags spent four weeks in quarantine there, he was put into a special cage that Mac had built in the pantry of his apartment.

"And when Mac came home from work," said Frank, "there was stupid old Flags, his head at half-mast. Dead. He had hanged himself in his own wire cage. And after all the trouble we took to get him into Honolulu! That's gratitude for you."

Five Suspects Held In Theft Ring Case

GONZALES, Nov. 27 (AP) — A 12-county theft ring was believed uncovered today with the arrest of five men, Sheriff Knapp Burnett of Gonzales county reported. The suspects are being held in the DeWitt county jail at Cuero, the sheriff said.

A pistol, allegedly stolen from W. C. Forsythe, Dewitt county game warden, broke the case when it was offered for sale and recognized by a Gonzales man, officers said.

A county deputy estimated that the cases against the five men will run into the hundreds of items including washing machines, guns, watches, automobile wheels and tires. Counties in which the men are said to have operated included Dewitt, Gonzales, Lavaca, Guadalupe, Bee, Aransas, Karnes, Goliad, San Patricio, Jackson, Fayette and Victoria.

Three of the men were said to have lived at Victoria and the other two near Gonzales.

Jewish Strike Called Today

JERUSALEM, Nov. 27 (U.P.)—A 30-minute Jewish strike was called throughout Palestine for 1:30 p. m. today while villagers of the Sharon valley mournfully buried the nine men killed in yesterday's raid by 10,000 British airborne troops.

The Jewish council ordered the demonstration in an atmosphere of extreme tension which threatened to break into open fighting.

"Battle Has Begun"

"The battle has begun," one Jewish leader shouted at a mass meeting last night.

At least 92 persons were wounded in the mass raid by British infantry, supported by armor and fighter planes, on six villages north of Tel Aviv in search of Jewish extremists who attacked two British coast guard stations. Eighty Jews and 12 policemen were wounded.

At midnight the 10,000 British troops which had swooped on the Sharon valley returned to their bases, easing dangers of an immediate clash. The curfew on movement between villages was lifted.

Nevertheless, passions touched off by the raid were near the flash point. Tension could only be compared with that which existed just before the battle of El Alamein, when the Jews feared that the German Army would sweep across Egypt to Palestine.

Mass meetings in Haifa last night condemned the British amid exhortations from Jewish leaders.

Nazi Trials

sion listed by Alderman were: One, period of preparation from 1933-36; two, absorption of Austria; three, grabbing of Czechoslovakia; four, invasion of Poland and beginning of actual war; five, expansion of war to Scandinavia and the low countries; six, attack on Russia; and seven, collaboration which Japan and Italy in aggression against the United States.

A new phase of the trial—under the count of the indictment which charges the Nazi leaders with crimes of murder and abuse of civilians — will be opened tomorrow when the court and the defendants will see films of Nazi horror camps.

The Nazis took cognizance of unrest among the Germans themselves in 1943, it was revealed by quotations from a speech by Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, chief of the German general staff and one of the defendants. He was quoted as saying:

"Up and down the country the devil of subversion strides. All cowards are seeking a way out. They say we must negotiate. In this war there can only be a fight to the end. Capitulation is the end of Germany."

The German high command overestimated Allied military strength six months before the invasion of Normandy while Allied leaders underestimated the Reich's defensive strength, according to Jodl's speech.

German intelligence officials, Jodl said in the speech estimated Allied strength in England in November, 1943 — just before Gen. Eisenhower assumed supreme command — at a total of 54 divisions with assorted brigades.

As a matter of fact, there probably were less than half this number at the time.

At the same time, Jodl reported to the Nazi leaders that the Germans had 46 divisions waiting for the Allied attack in the west. Allied intelligence in London estimated at that time they were faced with from 24 to 30 German divisions across the channel.

At that time German Army, air and naval forces on all fronts totaled 9,860,000 men, Jodl revealed.

Bus Tragedy

and grade schools of nearby Chelan, Wash.

Heroine of the accident was Mrs. Glenna Brown, 37-year-old farm wife, who boarded the bus to keep a dentist appointment in Chelan. She saved several of the children by pushing them through broken windows as the bus rolled over in the lake and sank after floating momentarily.

"I can still hear the helpless cries and screaming of those children," Mrs. Brown said as she lay prostrate from her experience.

Donnie Mack, 13, said that he "nearly fainted" when the bus catapulted down the 15-foot cliff into the water.

"But the cold water brought me to and I headed for the first broken window," he said. "I got out before the water started coming in fast, but when I saw my pal, Ronnie, drown, I wished I was back in there. He can't swim you know, and he headed out into the lake instead of into shore."

Donnie cried.

Divers, operating from a lake barge floated over the spot where the big bus disappeared, thought once that they had located the sunken vehicle at the 65-foot level. But paint and broken glass on a ledge at the 144-foot level led them to believe the bus had dropped even deeper.

Has No Sympathy

McNarney said he had no sympathy for Nazis of any sort, whether they were active party members or "joined the party through the necessity of feeding their wives and children."

"I have not forgotten who started the war," he said. "The German people must realize that they were responsible, and their debt has not been paid."

The principal business of both chambers for the balance of the day was formulation of an official answer to the rescript.

Jap Pictured As A Martyr

MANILA, Nov. 27. (AP) — A defense witness testified today that Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita was so disliked by Dictotor-Premier Hideki Tojo that he was "exiled" to Manchuria despite his victory at Singapore.

The witness, Keichoku Yoshida, a Tokyo attorney, declared at Yamashita's trial on war criminal charges that the defendant brought down Tojo's wrath by saying a war with the United States was "undesirable."

Sympathy Of Public

Yoshida claimed the wide publicizing of Yamashita's trial in Japan was having an effect opposite to that intended by the Americans because the Japanses people "know Yamashita to be such a high character that the public is in sympathy with him."

The attorney, one of a group brought here by Defense Attorney Maj. George Guy, asserted Yamashita was one of the "pacifist" group of former War Minister General Ugaki opposed to Tojo and his henchmen.

Yoshida, a personal friend of the defendant, did not say what prompted Tojo to take Yamashita from Manchuria — where he had been assigned to watch the Russians — and send him south to the Philippines, where his military career met disaster.

Not In Control

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Akira Muto, Yamashita's chief of staff, testified that under an intricate chain of command stretching down from Tokyo Yamashita could not have had control over Japanese military forces who put Manila to the sword.

Muto, sweating under cross-examination, said that under this system Yamashita had no authority over the Japanese naval forces, mainly accused of the atrocities in Manila during the battle of Luzon.

Once, exasperated by a long series of answers that appeared to be contradictory, Maj. Robert M. Kerr, chief prosecutor, exclaimed:

"I'm tired of this witness squirming out of testimony."

British Stress Plane Program

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Tviation Editor

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The British aircraft industry now employs more than six times as many persons as the United States industry and its present orders for military planes are double those projected in the American Army-Navy procurement programs running into mid-1946.

Information on the United Kingdom program was received today from the Society of British Aircraft Constructors (SBAC). Data on the American military aircraft program is from various industry sources.

900,000 Britons In Aircraft

The SBAC reported 900,000 workers in the British aircraft industry, which compares with 148,000 employed in the basic aircraft industry in this country during October and an estimate of 122,000 such jobs during December.

The basic American airplane industry had a peak wartime employment of more than 1,000,000. Aircraft and aircraft engine manufacturing by automobile companies and subcontractors brought the wartime aircraft peak to more than 2,000,000 employes.

The SBAC said British industry had orders for more than 10,000 military planes and that "manufacture of these military types is still going on apace."

Production Figures Aired

This is the first indication here of the scope of British production plans. United Kingdom representatives here previously had said they could not give figures, but commented that the current production rate was a larger percentage of the wartime schedule than was true in the United States.

In this country the Navy's aircraft purchasing program calls for 1,988 planes by July, 1947, while the army air forces have projected a procurement schedule calling for 3,120 new planes by July, 1948. Together they bought 96,369 airplanes in 1944, but some of those went to lend-lease countries.

Texans Falling Down In Bond Purchases

(By The Associated Press)

"Miserable."

That was the word Nathan Adams, state chairman of the Victory loan, today used to describe the showing Texas is making in the purchase of E bonds in the Victory loan.

"The state has bought only 30.7 per cent of its 90 million dollar E bond quota," Adams said.

Adams asked that the people of Texas buy E bonds if only in tribute to the state's own 36th Division.

"These men kept faith with us," the state chairman said. "When the war was still in progress, we were ready to promise anything for victory. Now that we are enjoying peace, to which we contributed so little, can we be so ungrateful as to ignore the fact that we haven't finished our job?"

Adams declared:

"In every county in Texas, the men are coming back from war. In view of the fact that E bond sales are the measuring stick of success or failure of any loan drive, the E bond figures are a sad thank you to these veterans.

Man Kills His Three Children And Self

ADA, Okla., Nov. 27 (U.P.) — Robert W. Pierce, 40, took his three small children for a Sunday automobile ride, shot them to death one by one, then turned the gun on himself, police said today.

The bodies of Pierce, Emily, 9; Janette, 7, and four-months-old Bobby were found yesterday, lying on a blanket which had been spread neatly in a small grove of trees 300 yards from the family's parked car. All four had been shot in the head.

Police Chief Dudley Lester said Pierce apparently had shot the older children and then the baby. His own body lay across Emily's and Janette's.

Mrs. Pierce, distraught over the tragedy, said her husband had been a railroad dispatcher until last week when illness had forced him to resign. She said he had not appeared disconolate, however.

130-POUND WOLF KILLED BY FATHER — Sharon Kuhn, 14, Cheektowaga, N. Y., looks at the 130-pound timber wolf bagged by her father, Walter E. Kuhn, near Cloyne, Ontario. Kuhn said he expects to receive a $30 bounty from provisional authorities for killing the animal.

Yanks Are Warned Against Optimism

FRANKFURT, Nov. 27. (AP)—American troops in Germany were cautioned today against being overly optimistic about getting their wives and families to Europe in the near future.

Maj. Gen. H. R. Bull, deputy chief of staff who is chairman of the special occupational planning board, said that preliminary surveys for establishment of "communities" for soldiers' families are already under way, but that even the size of the occupational force has not yet been "firmly established."

The first bald President of the United States was John Quincy Adams.

Big Flattop Breaks Atlantic Records

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 27. (AP)—A broom at her foremast as a symbol of her feat, the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain entered Hampton Roads Monday after shattering all records for average speed on a Transatlantic crossing.

The 27,000 ton flattop, bringing home more than 5,000 American troops from the European theater, averaged 32.048 knots in covering the 3,360.3 nautical miles from Cape Spartel nead Gibraltar to the Chesapeake bay sea buoy in four days, eight hours and 51 minutes.

Captain Logan Ramsey of Philadelphia, the skipper, said on arrival that the voyage was also the longest high speed run on record

Tickets For Army-Navy Game Available If You Want To Pay $35 To Sit In End Zone

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27 (AP)—Tickets to the Army-Navy game are rarer than uranium, but a few ducats are available if a person wants to pay as high as $35 for a $4.80 seat behind the goal-posts, the Philadelphia Record reported today.

Most of the expected 105,000 persons who will jam-pack the giant oval will be members of the Army and Navy Athletic associations, high government officials, congressmen, Philadelphia city officials—and their friends.

Army Still Leads In Football Poll

Navy Grabs Second And 'Bama Is Third; Texas Longhorns Up In Select Circle

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. — Eighty of the sports writers participating in the Associated Press poll to determine the country's ranking college football teams rated the Army machine in first place. Only two critics differed with that decision.

Tom Stephenson of the Elkhart, Ind., Truth, eplained his first place vote for Indiana with the statement that "Army and Navy are in a class by themselves, somewhere between the colleges and pros." He listed neither of the service schools among his first ten.

Boost For Alabama

Harold Harris of the Knoxville, Tenn., News Sentinel, continued his campaign to lift Alabama into first place in the poll, a spot Army now has occupied since Notre Dame abdicated in mid-season a year ago.

Harris penciled Army into the second place spot and the Cadets thus wound up with 809 points, gaining 10 points for each of their first place votes and nine for their lone second.

Navy, whom the Army hopes to make its eighteenth consecutive victim Saturday in Philadelphia's municipal stadium, grabbed second in today's tabulation with 664 points.

'Bama Is Third

Alabama is third and is followed by Indiana, the Big Ten's new champion; Notre Dame; Oklahoma A & M; Michigan; Pennsylvania; St. Mary's of California, who meet the Oklahoma Aggies in the Sugar bowl Jan. 1 and Texas, leader for the Southwest conference race.

Holy Cross, the east's representative in the Orange bowl, is thirteenth, the second ten being headed by Duke with Ohio State in twelfth place.

The Buckeyes' 7 to 3 setback by Michigan Saturday dropped the Ohioans from seventh place to the also-rans. That made room for Pennsylvania, a former member of the elite group which slipped badly a week ago after bowing to Army, 61 to 0. The Quakers came back Saturday with a 59 to 6 victory over Cornell for the Ivy league title.

How They Rank

The leading teams (first place votes in parenthesis):

Army (8)	809
Navy	664
Alabama (1)	629
Indiana (1)	584
Notre Dame	443
Oklahoma A & M	358
Michigan	280
Pennsylvania	231
St. Mary's	221
Texas	96

Second ten: 11, Duke 65; 12, Ohio State 33; 13, Holy Cross 29; 14, Tulsa and Missouri 25 each; 16, Southern California 22; 17, Tennessee 21; 18, Clemson 16; 19, Columbia 12; 20, Virginia 8.

Bi-District Clash Set At Littlefield

LITTLEFIELD, Nov. 27 (Special)—Friday, Dec. 7, at 2 p. m. here has been set for the bi-district clash between the Littlefield Wildcats, winners in District 5-A and the Denver City Mustangs, winners in District 6-A, it was decided here last night in a meeting of officials of the two schools.

The bi-district clash between these two clubs will pair perhaps the greatest offense in Class A Texas schoolboy football with one of the greatest defenses of the state.

Two Fine Records

The Wildcats, in sweeping through a ten game schedule this year, scored 428 points while winning eight, losing one and tied one. Denver City played ten games, winning nine and tied one, and gave up only 12 points—two touchdowns in the ten games. Levelland in the second game of the year, and Sundown in the last game, each scored once, with Levelland gaining a 6-6- tie.

It will be a repeat showing of last year's bi-district round, and most of the critics over this area predict another free scoring offensive duel between these two high geared elevens.

Cats Won Last Yar

Littlefield won the bi-district game last year by a 39 to 20 score. Littlefield was then beaten in the regional finals by Merkel.

Supt. Fred Miller and Coach J. S. Fike represented Littlefield at tonight's meeting. Supt. Jones, Principal Tate and Coach Wilson Head represented Denver City.

The winner of this game will play the winner of the Monahans and Roscoe game, scheduled for the night of Dec. 7 at Sweetwater.

Hoffman Top Ball Carrier

Preston Smith Is In Second Spot

(By The Associated Press)

Big John Hoffman, the Arkansas freshman fullback, has taken over the ball-carrying lead in Southwest conference football.

While Preston Smith and Rob Goode of Texas A. and M. were idle last week, Hoffman ran his season total to 587 yards on 139 carries to go ahead by 23 yards.

Hoffman has played in 10 games, however, to nine for Smith and Goode.

Smith Is Second

Smith is in second place with 564 yards on 137 carries and Goode is third with 504 on 102. Sammie Pierce of Baylor missed a chance to move to the top when he was held to a net of two yards by Southern Methodist. Pierce is in fourth place with 502 yards on 89 runs.

In passing it's Leon Joslin of Texas Christian, as usual. The Horned Frog freshman ace flipped 12 and completed 5 for 108 yards against Rice to move further out in front. He now has 61 connections in 124 throws for 878 yards.

Jack Price of Baylor hit three for 69 yards last week and is in second place with 639 on 53 connections out of 111 for the season. Doak Walker of Southern Methodist completed eight out of nine against Baylor for 82 yards and moved into third place with 353 yards on 36 connections on 58 tries.

Wilson Best Pass Receiver

Gene Wilson, Southern Methodist end, took over the lead in pass-receiving when he snared seven for 103 yards against Baylor. Wilson has now caught 29 for 277 yards. Hubert Bechtol of Texas, idle last week, is second with 22 catches for 353 yards.

In team offense Southern Methodist moved into first place ahead of Texas. The Methodists now have 1291 yards rushing and 1250 passing for 2541 yards. Texas has 2508 yards but has played one less game.

Defensively, Texas A. and M. is No. 1. The Aggies have allowed 1440 yards rushing and passing—an average of 160 yards per game. In defense against rushing Texas leads. The Longhorns have given up only 745 yards on the ground—an average of 82.7 yards per game.

Ben Hogan Wins In Montgomery Tourney

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 27. (AP)—For the fourth time in as many months, Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., carried off first money when he won the $10,000 Montgomery invitational golf tournament.

Hogan carded a four-under-par 68 in yesterday's playoff to edge out Harold (Jug) McSpaden for the $2,000 first prize in Victory bonds and bring his golf winnings since leaving the Army last August to $23,353.

DEMPSEY IS CIVILIAN

NEW YORK, Nov. 27. (AP)—After nearly four years of service in the coast guard, Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight champion, is a civilian again.

Dempsey retired as a commander when he received his honorable discharge yesterday.

LEE OUTPOINTS DEEG

OMAHA, Nov. 27. (AP)—Don Lee of Edison, Nebr., outpointed Billy Deeg of Corpus Christi, Texas, in a ten-round bout here last night. Lee weighed 148½, Deeg 148.

Highland Park, Wichita Falls, Lufkin, Waco, Odessa, Sandies Big Six Of Schoolboy Elevens

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Nov. 27. — Highland Park (Dallas), Wichita Falls, Lufkin, Waco, Odessa and Amarillo are the big six of Texas schoolboy football in our book.

We're ranking them in that order this week. The only change is that we've slipped Lufkin a notch ahead of Waco.

They're All Good

Truth of the matter is that you could put any of the top four in No. 1 and feel reasonably sure you were right.

Anyway, here're the leading 10:

1. Highland Park.
2. Wichita Falls.
3. Lufkin.
4. Waco.
5. Odessa.
6. Amarillo.
7. Paris.
8. Goose Creek.
9. Brownsville.
10. Milby (Houston).

The second 10: Plainview, Marshall, Jefferson (San Antonio), Pampa, Crozier Tech (Dallas), Breckenridge, Austin, Galveston, Brackenridge (San Antonio), San Angelo.

The third 10: Temple, Sweetwater, North Side (Fort Worth), Palestine, Orange, San Jacinto (Houston), Brownwood, Port Arthur, El Paso High, Electra.

On down the line: Paschal (Fort Worth), Sunset (Dallas) Longview, San Benito, Waxahachie.

New Records Expected

If the state high school championship game is played in one of the larger cities this year, there should be a new record in attendance on the basis of the turnouts over Texas during the regular season.

San Antonio had close to 24,500 the other night—the largest crowd of the year. Dallas drew 20,500 the next night.

The top for a state championship game was 23,000. That many saw Amarillo play Corpus Christi at Dallas in 1934.

The largest throng ever to watch a high school game in Texas was at Dallas in 1930 when 46,000 turned out for the North Dallas-Sunset game opening the State fair. However, these were not paid admissions as was the case at San Antonio for the Jefferson-Brackenridge game last Thursday. At Dallas the huge crowd was attracted to the game when all who bought tickets to the fair were admitted to the Cotton bowl to see the schoolboys play.

Therefore, San Antonio's crowd must be called the largest number ever to pay to see a high school game in the state.

Texas Tech Raiders Opening Cage Season

About 20 candidates for the Texas Tech Red Raider cage team, most of them freshmen, answered the first call of Coach Polk Robison last night at the Tech gym as the school starts into the new cage season.

Most of the men have been working out for the past month under direction of Jay Kerr, letterman from last year.

The team this year, it appears, will be built around three letterman, Jay Kerr, Gene Hardey and Jiggs Jackson. Bill Kelley, a first-stringer the first semester last year, also will be depended upon.

A new addition expected to be in most of the time is freshman Tilley Sneed of Idalou, a mere 6 foot, 8½ incher. Sneed has been taking on a small amount of polish in workouts but has had no previous coaching and will need a lot of work. He is the tallest man ever to report to the Raiders.

Shifting over from football along with Hardey, Jackson and Kelley were Freshmen Bennie Tidwell, Frank Ottmers, Athol Craver and A. W. Montague.

Other freshmen on hand were Bob Scarborough and Jim Pardue of Lubbock.

Phil Ragland, former Raider star, is expected back for the second semester. Coach Robison said he feels his team will be much better than last year but "will not set the world on fire."

West Texas Gassers Boost Bowling Lead

Taking three in a row over Birds Eye Food, while Armour's was winning only two from the Jaycees, boosted the lead of the West Texas Gassers to two games in the City Bowling league race Monday night at Plamor alleys.

In other games of the night, the Lions club took three in a row over S. and Q. Clothiers and Hub Laundry took two from Meads Bakery.

Scoring honors were divided for the night, with M. A. Cooper of Hyd Laundry toppling 237 pins for the best single game of the night, and Terrell Matthews of Birds Eye Food had the best series with 601 pins.

Colleges In Texas Close Grid Season

Texas Tech Winds Up In Seventh Place; Six Will Play Last Games On Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

Six of the twelve colleges in Texas playing football this year have wound up the season. The other six close out this week with the exception of teams that may appear in bowl games.

Highlight of the week is the Texas-Texas A. and M. clash at College Station Thursday when the Southwest conference championship may be determined.

Saturday Rice plays Baylor at Houston and Texas Christian meets Southern Methodist at Fort Worth.

Season Is Finished

Texas Tech, Southwestern and John Tarleton finished the season last week, Texas Tech with a 6-6 tie against New Mexico, Southwestern with a 19-7 defeat at the hands of Hondo Air field and John Tarleton with a 19-0 victory over Abilene Christian college which played its one and only game of the season.

Previously North Texas Agricultural college, West Texas State Teachers and Allen academy had finished the campaign.

Sometimes, after reading the news of the day, we become as jittery as if we were strapped in a weak hammock over a cut-off saw running at 3,000 revolutions per minute!

WHILE Lubbock's special Hallowe'en programs — the parade, costume contests, Boys club party, etc. — are working very well in eliminating much of the usual vandalism on the night of each "All Saints Day," Douglas, Ariz., goes us one better.

In addition to a parade and contest, similar to that staged here by the City Recreation department, Douglas oldsters give Douglas youngsters a day's holiday from school providing there is no damaging of property, or untoward worrying of householders and business men on the kids' "big night."

The plan is working well in Douglas, too.

The whole thing is on a basis of a "trade" between Douglas youngsters and Douglas grown-ups.

The adult population, in effect, says to the juveniles:

"You kids have all the good, clean fun you like on Hallowe'en, in connection with the parade and contest and your private parties.

"If no citizen shows proof of vandalism, or destruction, you shall be rewarded by a holiday on one regular school day.

"But if, on the other hand, there are any Hallowe'en depredations, you don't get the holiday."

SINCE the great majority of kids —being kids — would rather have a day off from school than a million dollars in cash plus a spotted pony, the youngsters ride herd on each other on Hallowe'en night.

Even boys (and girls) who might rather tear up something than get a day's holiday from school are afraid to follow that bent, knowing full well that upon their heads will fall the wrath of the majority of their fellows.

It's a pretty good idea — one that every town and city might consider.

If you happen to walk down the street and see some guy standing on his head, he's the fellow who believes Britain, Russia, et all, will really repay any "loan" we might make them!

A city-wide traffic survey — similar to what is needed here —is on in El Paso. The Border City, like our own, has many "bottle-necks" at various community centers as well as some bad spots downtown and a committee headed by Capt. Mike Snider, veteran head of the Police Traffic detail, is at work attempting to improve conditions.

As the Lubbock City Planning commission suggested to the Lubbock City commission several weeks ago, Lubbock needs a traffic survey — and badly. Something similar to what is being done in El Paso can and should be done here.

The Lubbock City commission took rather kindly to the planning board's suggestion. At least, there was no outspoken opposition on the part of the city fathers to the idea of appointing a group of representative citizens to attack the problem.

However, and logically, the City commission noted that Lubbock soon is to have a new city manager; that he may have some ideas of his own regarding traffic; that it would be better to await his arrival before "getting strung out" on a city-wide traffic survey.

That makes sense now, although a dozen years have passed since Lubbock had its first traffic survey made by an imported expert, and almost 10 years since it had the second of such surveys.

IN El Paso, the survey was sparked not only by knowledge on the part of police officials that traffic conditions should be improved, but also by active, organized interest of several civic groups there.

In the beginning, quite a number of El Pasoans thought a professional traffic engineer should be employed to work out a program, but when all opinions were in it was found that a majority thought El Pasoans were more capable of handling the job than an outsider. Hence the local committee.

We think that's true in Lubbock, too, especially since the history of the traffic problem here reveals that we don't pay any attention to expert opinion even when we get it.

Upon both occasions when an expert traffic man has surveyed Lubbock, and made his recommendations, the then city administrations have given three rousing cheers and a tiger — and have then forgotten about the whole business.

But if the City commission, and/or the new manager, Homer Hunter, appoint a City Traffic board composed of intelligent, energetic and interested citizens, we believe the result will be different — always assuming that when the traffic board completes its job and turns in its recommendations the latter will be followed.

It's much easier to forget an imported expert after he leaves town than it is to overlook a group of citizens who remain here after their work is done and who naturally expect some official action in return for their time, thought and labors.

THE new city manager, Mr. Hunter, who will take up his work in Lubbock come January 1, is highly recommended as a gent who knows the city manager dodge from one end to the other.

Coming from Dallas, where traffic problems over a period of several decades have been among that municipality's chief headaches, Mr. Hunter should have more ideas than a dog has fleas when it comes to the matter in question.

Doubtless he will be able to help Lubbock to learn from whatever mistakes Dallas may have made in traffic matters and, at the same time, to benefit from the wiser moves in the East Texas metropolis.

Anyhow, as traffic here gets thicker and thicker — and, in many spots, more tangled — it's something to think about and look forward to.

Don't blame the world if it places what you consider to be too low an estimate on your ability. No individual is judged by what he can do — but by what he does.

NOW that Thanksgiving, 1945, has joined the limbo of the past, let us hope that Lubbock never again goes through a Turkey Day without a feature football game in which either the Westerners of the Tech eleven are presented.

We don't know whose fault it was that both Tech and Lubbock High were absent from the local gridiron last Thursday. Maybe it wasn't anybody's fault. But the fact remains that it is bad business for West Texas' leading city — with both a high school and college team — to pass a Thanksgiving Day without a major grid tilt.

Monkeying with the Thanksgiving date likely will be avoided from now on. Beyond doubt, juggling of Turkey Day has left a bad taste in everybody's mouth.

So with Thanksgiving now officially set again, let's hope the schedule-makers at Tech and Lubbock High will get together and arrange game-and-game holiday cards.

"GIVE a congressman a highball before dinner, a good night's sleep and fewer letters from voters back home and his blood pressure will drop." That, says a recent story from Washington, is the prescription of Capt. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, for a healthier congressional term of office.

MILLETT

Well, since we've listened to the symptoms of the harried law makers and the treatment prescribed, maybe they'd like to hear we're suffering from high blood pressure, too.

If the congressmen want to cure our ills, here is how they can go about it:

Get our men back from overseas.

Iron out the labor difficulties.

Hurry up with that postwar reconversion.

Get rid of the so-called luxury taxes on items the "American way of life" has made more like necessities.

Hurry up and end all rationing so we can throw away our worn and disintegrating books.

NO MORE "NEXT WAR"

BUT—above all—make the peace work and let us hear no more about 'the next war"—at least not until we get the men home from this one.

Yes, we have high blood pressure, too. And with a shortage of doctors, because doctors overseas are waiting around month after month for transportation home, we can't even get in to see a doctor about our ills.

That is why we are prescribing for ourselves.

About 75 per cent of all anthracite mined is used for home heating.

CONSIDER THE STOGIE-PUFFER

When wartime scarcities were at their height, much attention was bestowed on the cigaret smoker. When fags got scanty as peanut brittle at an octogenarians' party, the cigaret smoker was coddled and pampered and given sympathy. Everybody in the cigaret business became concerned over his plight. The government threw its weight around in order that no one would have to go without even his pre-breakfast cigaret.

But has anybody ever given a thought to the cigar smoker? A hundred and sixty-five times no! Though all during the war he suffered more than all other weed addicts, he was never given a tumble. About once every month he was able to locate some decent stogies, and once in a great while his old, favorite brand. But then, he was able to get only a few, a limit of two or three. At other times he was able to buy only some stink stick with a crazy name which was as dry as a debater's throat at a WCTU convention.

Many was the time he couldn't buy anything that looked like a cigar. What did the cigar smoker do then? He suffered, that's what he did. For the cigar addict is so constituted that he cannot, with satisfaction, switch willy-nilly one nicotine form to another. He is a rugged, individualistic character who can be soothed only by the virile draughts from an El Explodo.

Well, the cigaret famine is over; there's plenty of cigs. A guy could smoke one in each nostril and still not endanger the supply. But while some relief has come to the cigar crowd in the last three or four months, the stogie supply is far below the demand. The situation has been particularly desperate in Lubbock the last few days. As this is written, a man on a local street with a cigar in his jaws looms as something of a novelty.

So, the cigar smoker continues to suffer and suffer. We just couldn't let pass the opportunity to bring his problem to public attention. He is due consideration.

GOP Astounded At Labor-Management Plan

Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Invigorating Republican Senator Bill Knowland of California came up last week with a labor-management plan which nearly took the breath away from his conservative, hand-sitting GOP colleagues.

Young Knowland, who succeeded to the moss-grown Senate seat long occupied by Hiram Johnson, proposed that wages be adjusted once a year by collective bargaining in accordance with the earning power of business.

He also proposed an immediate wage increase of 10 per cent in order to sustain buying power through the nation.

Finally the young California Senator proposed that labor and management get together and estimate each year what the coming year's business would be, together with the most equitable division of profits for the workers (through wages), for the stockholders (through dividends) and for the consumers (through lower prices).

Such a plan, of course, would mean the new and—to some business moguls—revolutionary step of opening the books of a company to the public.

RECONVERSION STYMIED

PROGRESSIVE as this is, Senator Knowland's idea already has received support in many Congressional quarters. It is argued that if the books of the big auto companies or U. S. steel were available for examination, it could be accurately ascertained just how much wage increase was justified. It is also argued that companies as big as U. S. steel and General Motors are virtual public utilities. When they stop operation it affects business throughout the nation. Reconversion is absolutely stymied.

This is also why it is being proposed that President Truman revive the old TNEC, or something similar to it. The TNEC was a joint committee of Congress and the executive branch of the government which studied monopoly, little business, and the economics of the country generally.

Today, with reconversion bogged down and scores of new economic problems to face, both the Administration and Congress lack the concrete facts on which to chart a revivsed economic course. That is why a new, quick, economic study along the lines of the old TNEC is probably needed now more than ever before.

WASHINGTON DINES OUT

COMES a dread moment after every dinner party when the men go off to smoke and the ladies are left to get in each other's hair. Such a moment came following the ornate party given by ex-Democratic Secretary Chip Robert when beauteous Congresswoman Clare Luce of Connecticut sat down beside Mrs. Robert Fleming, wife of the Riggs National bank president.

Mrs. Fleming, a long-time resident of the long-neglected District of Columbia, began it.

"You people from Congress never pay any attention to the District," she said in quite positive tones. "You come down here from Connecticut and take advantage of all benefits and you give absolutely nothing in return."

"What benefits?" sweetly asked the author of that famous satire on feninine belligenerency, "The Women."

"Our parks, our low taxes, our ——" replied Mrs. Fleming.

Mrs. Luce began to look restless.

Mrs. Fleming, however, was determined. "Now you just sit still," she said, "and listen to me."

Whereupon Mrs. Luce, with a swish of her long and exquisite gown, got up and walked away.

Note—Herbert Bayard Swope, when hosting a Washington dinner, asked the ladies, "How soon shall we come back after coffee?" "Oh, anytime," said one. "No you don't," remonstrated piquant Mrs. Forrestal, wife of the Secretary of the Navy, "My house is well run, my children are all going to school. I have nothing to talk to these women about."

FARM PRICE BOOST

VERY quietly, one of the most inflationary bills recently proposed in Congress was debated by the House Rules committee. The bill, authored by Representative Steve Pace of Georgia, would tack increased farm labor costs on top of farm parity prices. This would mean a rise in the price of food and other agricultural commodities which would hit the pocketbook of Mrs. America to the tune of a 20 per cent increase in the cost of living.

The bill has been before the last three congresses and was passed by the last House only to die in the Senate. Only last month it was approved unanimously by the House agriculture committee, and Congressman Pace argued at length for a rule to permit the bill to come up for an early House vote.

At the close of his argument, Pace turned to Representative Clifford Hope of Garden City, Kansas, ranking Republican on the agriculture committee, for support.

Long a farm-block leader, Hope had voted for the bill in previous sessions of Congress. But last week he astounded both the rules committee and Pace by declaring:

"Gentlemen, while it is true that I have supported this measure in the past, I cannot in good conscience give it my support now. Sympathetic as I am to the necessity for improving farm income, I can only conclude that passage of such a bill at this time would be dangerously inflationary.

"Not only would it raise the cost of living for millions who cannot afford to pay more for the necessities of life," Hope continued, "But it would boomerang against the farmer by breaking down all control over the items he must buy to live and keep in the farming business."

Judge Adolph Sabath of Illinois, chairman of the rules committee, then succeeded in having the committee pass over the bill. But it is still on the committee's agenda and may come up for a vote at any time.

CAPITAL CHAFF

AFTER flirting with various law firm offers, Franklin Roosevelt, jr., finally decided to team up with New York's ex-Lieutenant Governor Charlie Poletti. The firm is Poletti, Diamond, Rabin, Freidin and Mackay . . . Young Roosevelt has been doing a swell job pushing housing for veterans dumped off the boats from Europe. He is roaring mad at Mayor LaGuardia for neglecting this.

"The mayor knew way last summer that these men were going to be coming back," says young FDR, "But did nothing about it. Most of the men can't afford to stay in New York hotels, even if the hotels had any rooms, which they haven't" . . . Kentucky Republicans view 269-pound Ed Pritchard (he reduced from 300) as one of the smartest political organizers in the state. But they don't like having him around. He is trying to mould split-up Democratic factions, and as long as they remain split, the Republicans can win . . . Believe it or not, but the Navy is still paying civilian labor at the Richmond, Fla., base near Miami $2.31 per hour for cleaning away hurricane debris. Its one of the most boondoggling projects in the government.

"Try And Stop Me"
By Bennett Cerf

THE mayors of New York in recent years have supplied copy for every newspaper in the land. First there was John Hylan (called "Red Mike" behind his back) who escorted Queen Marie of Rumania on a tour up Fifth Avenue.

"What a wonderful avenue," exclaimed Her Majesty.

"You said a mouthful, Queen," agreed His Honor. Hylan seldom bothered to read speeches that trusted ghosts prepared for him ahead of time. In the middle of one speech he came to the phrase, "That reminds me of one of my favorite stories about a traveling salesman." It developed that the Mayor had never heard the joke before, and when he finished reading it, he laughed so hard he broke his glasses. The chairman of the dinner had to finish the speech for him.

Jimmy Walker brought gaiety to City Hall. A pretty girl was once led into his office, worrying audibly whether she should address him as "Your Honor," "Mr. Mayor," or plain "Mr. Walker." Jimmie settled all that by pulling her down on his lap and crooning, 'Come to baby, Beautiful," while the camera men clicked away in delight. Asked by a publisher to name his ten favorite novels, the Mayor laughed and declared, "Son, I never read a book in my life!"

THINGS I Never Knew About the Phone Book—Many a bore at a party has been urged to go home and read the phone book. He might have a good time if he did! Phones are the chameleons of communication. They take on the color and personality of the people using them.

WINCHELL

Someone once said there are two ways to answer a phone: one, as if you were afraid something had happened; two, as if you were afraid it hadn't. One's telephone personality—and don't look now, but you have one—is built on what the pert ring does to you.

An anecdote about phone books is told of the famous Madame Modjeska, the Polish Duse. It may not be true, but it ought to be. She used to give in to friends and satellites and read from the phone book—any old phone book—and she spoke the lists of names so movingly, so touchingly, that the room hushed and tears sprang into many eyes.

The tiredest operators in the world are the Weather Information girls (WEather 6-1212) and the Time Information girls (MEridian 7-1212). Incidentally, and for reasons known only to the telephone company, dialing NERTS TO YOU gets the hour from the Meridian number as quickly as the usual way.

Many famous phone scenes have been played in movies—and on Broadway. Remember Luise Rainer's call to "The Great Ziegfeld" which won her the Academy award? . . . In "Hello, Frisco, Hello," they sang the title song over a wire . . . Laurette Taylor's phone solicitations in "The Glass Menagerie" ("You're a Christian martyr, a Christian martyr!") are already famous. She is selling mag subscriptions to buy her way through a spinster daughter . . . In "Five Star Final," Edward G. Robinson listened in on his editorial boss in order to scoop a scandal . . . On the other hand, playwrights up against it sometimes use the phone as a crutch. Anyhow, they hobble along on it.

Everyone's seen the strong man feat of ripping the thick Manhattan book in two. Few have tried it. A phone book tossed out of the Astor on New Year's Eve or Election Night can have the power of the atomic bomb. Ask the man who woke up in Roosevelt Hosp.

THE telephone, whether in New York or in Joplin, Mo., is one of the child's first joys. When he's old enough to be the very devil, he plays the tricks everyone's guilty of. You call up a cigar store and ask if they've Prince Albert in a can. When the answer is yes, the gimmick is: "Better let him out before he smothers!" . . . Then there's the one where you call up a store on a busy corner and ask if they're on the car line. "Yes" brings forth, "Then you'd better get the heck off, 'cause the trolley's coming!" . . . The best, however—and you can try it on your boss—is to ask the person on the other end if this is number 1-9-4-5. When they say no, you laugh yourself hoarse. "It sure is 1945!" you yelp. "Brother, you're in the wrong year!" Yockitty, yockitty, yock!

Not all celebrities have the magical private phones. Even a quick perusal of the phone book will reveal the addresses and numbers of sports-writer Grantland Rice, painter Marc Chagall, actress Francine Larrimore, dancers Nelle Fisher and Beatrice Kraft, pianist Rosalyn Tureck, prima donna Frieda Hempel, playwright Moss Hart, directress Margaret Webster, columnist Dorothy Kilgallen (in her Pop's name), singer Bernice Parks, and choreographer Jerome Robbins. They don't care who gets in their hair.

ABASHFUL swain could send his loved one a message, if he wished, by telling her to combine three words. One is found on page 329 of the Manhattan (Summer-Fall 1945) book, first column, 39th name; the second on page 663, third column, 37th name; the third on page 1,192, second column, 39th name.

The City of New York alone takes three pages of listings in the Manhattan book.

Ever examine "The Spirit of Communication" on the Manhattan book closely? He has a hot wire in one hand and three lightning bolts in the other, but, like Superman, he isn't fazed. He is standing, approximately, on the North Pole with the toes of his right foot approaching Canada. His wings are of autogyro breadth and his face is that of an American football player.

Psychologists will tell you a man leaves his history behind him in public phone booths in the form of doodles. Maybe the rest of us can't read them—but the curlicues and hobogoblins even a Milquetoast can make sometimes rival Dali for kicks.

Some people — like busy head waiters—are notoriously short on the phone to everyone. Others—like insurance clerks—are always exceedingly polite. But ask the man in the street. No one ever answers a phone who is as rude and sharp as the box office agent in a theatre. He never says No; he says Naah!

In 1769 the anthracite mined in Pennsylvania totaled 20 tons. By 1944 this had risen to 64,000 tons.

Hindsight Is Always So Much Easier Than Foresight

People Not Told Enough Of Truth In 1941

By MARQUIS CHILDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Hindsight is always so much easier than foresight. By the time the congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor is finished, they will know all about why the disaster of Dec. 7, 1941 should never have happened.

CHILDS

But whether they will have learned enough to take the steps to prevent another Pearl Harbor is doubtful. Through the murk of political bickering and what seems often to be pure malice and mischiefmaking, even hindsight looks a little cloudy.

At least one witness has testified thus far who is entitled to say that he did have foresight. Admiral J. O. Richardson, who was chief of staff of the Pacific command until he was relieved in February, 1941, sent warning after warning on the danger of our position in the Pacific. He got nowhere at all.

One Fact Emerges

One fact emerges above all others. The American people were not told enough of the truth in the critical year of 1941.

Truth-telling was perhaps impossible in 1940. That was a bad year; a year when many of our politicians, including some of those who are now yammering most loudly about the blame for Pearl Harbor, were shouting that America was perfectly safe. These Republicans were voting against any and all moves for preparedness, including, just before the Japs struck on that fatal day, the extension of the draft.

But in 1941 the American people could have taken a bigger dose of the grim truth. We could have had a few of the facts about the Japs' intentions without necessarily disclosing that we were breaking their codes.

IT was one of President Roosevelt's great weaknesses. He made a fireside talk in the late spring of 1941 that contained a very high content of easy assurance and a very low content of facts on the perilous situation the country confronted.

Papa knew best. That was inherent in his attitude. He was so preoccupied with the moves in the game of war and peace that he forgot about the role of public opinion in a democracy.

Unhappily at this moment we seem, in a lesser way perhaps, to be repeating the same mistake. The negotiations between Britain and the U.S. aimed at creating a workable trade relationship around the world have now been going on in Washington for several weeks.

Consequences Serious

What the public knows about these negotiations so far has come largely by indirection; by inspired stories and by leaks of one kind and another. No effort has been made to make the public appreciate how big this issue really is and how serious will be the consequences of failure.

A long-term loan of three to four billions at an interest rate of something less than 2 per cent has been proposed to Britain. But negotiators on both sides of the Atlantic are fearful of what will happen when the proposal is thrown into the political arena.

Very possibly it will touch off the kind of political repercussions calculated to weaken our friendship with Britain at a time when it most needs strengthening. You can write now the kind of speeches our resurrected isolationists will make. On the British side, both on the extreme left and the extreme right, are those who distrust America's power and her capacity to use that power intelligently and reasonably in the world.

THE clamor of these discardant voices, echoing back and forth across the ocean, can wreck the patient work of the negotiators. Out of the wreckage will grow distrust and resentment. It may well mark the start of a trade war with blocked currencies, subsidies and all the economic weapons that were developed in the thirties.

If that happens, one reason will be because the public was never made to understand what it was all about. It will be because we were never given any insight into the importance of what was going on.

That is how Pearl Harbors happen. The long chain of consequences goes far back. That is the real lesson of Pearl Harbor, and it is the lesson which the congressional committee is overlooking.

It sometimes seems that, with wilful childishness, politicians such as Senator Owen Brewster of Maine are determined to reduce it to cheap political capital. On that level, the whole effort will be wasted and we shall be helping to prepare the way for another Pearl Harbor.

FISH GOES FISHING

PORT ISABEL, Tex., (AP)—William Bledsoe, 74, is nursing four broken ribs, the result of an encounter with a six foot tarpon.

Bledsoe was sitting in his skiff fishing when something hit him so hard it knocked him out of the boat. When he climbed back in he found a 125 pound tarpon flopping around.

Coast guardsmen who saw the incident and went to Bledsoe's assistance verified the fact the fish had not been hooked. It was believed it struck at the reflection in the water of the outboard motor.

LITTLE JOEY JUMPS

CHICAGO, (AP)—Joey, the baby kangaroo at the Brookfield zoo whose mother gave him the brush-off when he wanted to sleep in her pouch where all kangaroo mothers carry their young, is going to leave mama.

Director Robert Bean sensing a mother-son feud a week ago when Joey, six months old, was left out in the cold by his mother, put him on the market.

The baby kangaroo is going to be sent to the Central Park zoo in New York City.

Lt. Col. Howard M. Nelson of Louisville was being honorably discharged.

The Army counselor giving him "discharge" advice was Lt. Howard E. Nelson—his son.

Today's Thought

For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for? But if we hope for what we see not, then do we with patience wait for it. — Romans 8:24-25.

* * *

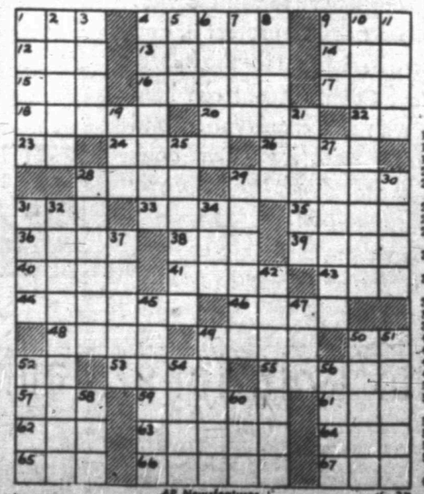

When there is no hope, there can be no endeavor. — Samuel Johnson.

Hurley Resigns

harmonize the relations between the Chinese and American military establishments and between the American embassy in Chungking and the Chinese government.

"Both of these objectives were accomplished."

Hurley said, however, that it was "no secret that the American policy in China did not have the suport of all the career men in the State department."

"The professional foreign service men sided with the Chinese Communist party and the imperialist bloc of nations whose policy it was to keep China divided against herself," Hurley asserted.

Opposed By Diplomats

"Our professional diplomats continuously advised the Communists that my efforts in preventing the collapse of the national government did not represent the policy of the United States."

"The same professionals openly advised the Communists armed party to decline unification of the Chinese Communist Army with the National Army unless the Chinese Communists were given control.

"Despite these handicaps we did make progress toward unification of the armed forces in China. We did prevent civil war between the rival factions, at least until after I had left China. We did bring the leaders of the rival parties together for peaceful discussions.

"Throughout this period the chief opposition to the accomplishment of our mission came from the American career diplomats in the embassy at Chungking and in the Chinese and Far Eastern divisions of the State department."

Weakness Is Cited

Hurley said that when some "professional diplomats" were recalled from China at his request they were placed in the State department as his "supervisors."

The statement, issued at Hurley's Washington office said the ambassador, in tendering his resignation, "attributed failure of American foreign policy in Asia to the weakness and opposition of the United States foreign service."

Pink Slip Day For War Labor Board
Wartime Jobs For 1,000 Will End Jan. 1; Division To Head Off Wage Cuts Is To Continue

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Saturday will be pink slip day at the War Labor board.

About 1,000 of the 1,500 members of the staff will be notified that their wartime jobs will end one month hence, January 1.

The others will remain with the wage stabilization division, whose chief job—until the stabilization act expires next June 30—will be to head off wage cuts.

Approval Is Required

This task arises from a provision in the act requiring government approval for any cut in basic pay below the level paid for the same job between January and September 15, 1942.

During the war that provision was rarely invoked. Instead the emphasis was on the so-called little steel formula which limited basic wage rates to 15 per cent above January, 1941, levels.

At one time WLB employed 2,-800 persons in Washington and in its 12 regional areas. Since President Truman first announced that the board would be dissolved as promptly as possible, the staff has been job hunting—when it could find time from the task of liquidating the agency.

Streamline Version

The stabilization division, which will carry on as a unit of the Labor department, will be a streamlined version of the War Labor board—with a six-man board instead of 12. The two public representatives will be Chairman W. Willard Wirtz and Sylvester Garett. Industry members will be Earl N. Cannon and R. Randall Irwin, and labor members will be Robert J. Watt of the AFL and Carl J. Shipley of the CIO. All had experience with the War Labor board.

The 12 regional boards will be cut to six members each, with only the chairman on a full-time basis. These board are located in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Cleveland, Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Denver, San Francisco, Detroit and Seattle.

The division will start handing down decisions in another week, according to one WLB official.

In addition to ruling on wage cut cases, the division will act on requested wage increases requiring price relief or increased cost to the government on contracts.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 27 (AP) — Profit cashing toward the close carried grain futures prices away from the day's best marks, with traders inclined to take the sidelines and await announcement of the 1946 rye crop ceilings, mid-month reports on parity prices and the December flour subsidy rate.

Nearby contracts in rye, up as much as 1¾ cents during the early part of the session, were ⅛ to 1 cent under yesterday's close toward the finish, on reports that 9,000 bushels of Texas rye had been sold for delivery here.

At the finish wheat was unchanged to ½ higher than yesterday's close, December $1.80⅜. Corn was unchanged at ceiling, December $1.18½. Oats were ¼ to ½ higher, December 75½. Rye was ⅛ higher to 1⅛ lower, December $1.87. Barley was unchanged to ⅛ higher.

Stock Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP) — Stocks generally continued to travel the recovery route in today's market with assorted favorites adding 1 to 3 points at peaks for the past several years.

Dealings were quite active at intervals after a quiet opening but slowdowns appeared now and then. Leading the comeback were selected rails, coppers, steels, motors, aircrafts, amusements and specialties. While top marks were trimmed in most cases near the close, plus signs predominated. Transfers ran to about 1,-700,000 shares.

Bolstering sentiment as much as anything else was a big batch of pleasing year-end dividends including increases and extras.

Prominent in the "new high" class the greater part of the time were St. Paul Railway issues, further responding to the reorganization approval of a federal court; Anaconda, Kennecott, South Porto Rico Sugar, R-K-O and Warner Bros.

Bonds were steady with carriers doing better.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27 (AP) — Cotton closing advanced here today on price fixing, expectation of higher November 15 parity prices and absence of first December notices. Closing prices were steady, 40 to 65 cents a bale higher.

Mexican Politicos Make Heated Race

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27 (AP) — Mexico's presidential campaign is getting hot.

Former Foreign Secretary Ezequiel Padilla, in accepting yesterday the nomination by the new Mexican Democratic party, attacked his opponent, Miguel Aleman, also a former member of the cabinet, as a candidate "imposed" upon the people by the government.

He said PRM, the government party, is utilizing government money to support Aleman.

Aleman has outlined plans for improved systems for the farmers, the factory workers and industrialists. Padilla has launched what his supporters describe as an effort to "clean up Mexico."

A political enigma is Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, whose supporters continue campaigning for him. Padilla forces have predicted he will join their camp. Aleman supporters deny this. General Henriquez Guzman has not said whether he will be a candidate or support another candidate.

Hull Testifies

ceived, Hull said he "felt like taking liberties in talking with them about their government that would have been a little undiplomatic in ordinary times."

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn) asked Hull for his estimate on Saburo Kurusu and Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese envoys.

The former secretary said it was his belief that both knew during the negotiations that "they were here primarily to prevail on us to abandon our doctrines and policies and yield entire control of the Pacific west of Hawaii, including India and the trade routes, to Japan."

Here To Clear Way

"They were here to clear the way for Japan to go forward on her plan of conquest without fighting," Hull declared. "I think these two gentlemen must have been morally certain, if not absolutely so, that their government was going on—if they didn't clear the way they must have known that the Japanese military forces were going on anyhow."

Hull said he didn't know whether Nomura and Kurusu knew definitely that Pearl Harbor was to be attacked.

He added, however, that intercepted messages showed the Japanese envoys were instructed by Tokyo as early as Nov. 27, 1941 to "continue talking with us as though they were in earnest, though they were not."

Uncle Sam Is No Green Hand At Running Private Business

By ROBERT C. RUARK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Running streetcars for Washington citizens over the protests of striking transit employes, as well as conducting large-scale oil operations to keep ships and autos moving, today is hardly more than routine for the federal government.

Since 1942, when Uncle Sam grabbed off the Toledo, Peoria, and Western Railroad Co., he has had his fist constantly in private businesses, and generally with fair success. At one time or another, the government has found it necessary to seize some 40 businesses, when union-management collisions necessitated government intervention.

Uncle Sam Is Busy

Today, Uncle Sam, through the Office of Defense Transportation, is operating the Capital Transit Co., here and the Illinois Central Railway Co. Through the Navy, 46 oil refineries and four pipelines are operated, and through Interior, the Carter Coal Co. of West Virginia.

These are all that remain of the businesses which were handed back to private management since the president's order of Aug. 25 letting labor and management go back to squabbling on their own time.

Released since that time have been such widely assorted businesses as tool companies, cotton mills, mail-order houses, rubber companies, machine shops, foundries, engineering companies, bus lines, railroads and coal mines.

Not Too Successful

The government, insofar as straightening out disputes while running private shows, hasn't been too successful in spots. The T. P. & W. railroad, which was turned back after nearly three and a half years, promptly was struck and is not running today.

Montgomery Ward, also recently turned back, faces a strike today in protest against Sewell Avery's stand against arbitration. Several oil firms, recently released by the petroleum administration for war, are two-time losers and are now being run by the Navy.

The government's stand on strikes in vital industry during the emergency briefly was this: First try to ameliorate, then lay down the law, and if it isn't accepted, get tough and step in. War Labor board would issue a directive, if the dispute was over wages, to pay a certain arbitrary scale, usually more than management wanted to allow and less than the unions asked.

Seizure Recommended

If not accepted, the Office of Economic Stabilization recommended to the president that the company be seized and operated under government supervision. The help was paid from company funds. It was possible for a retroactive wage be paid from current income, but the government's operating agency could not dig back into company accounts to provide such payments.

Government's idea was merely to assure production; after that was no longer needed, it was of nationally small concern if the plant was tied up in a strike. According to OES, about 50 per cent of the released companies picked up the quarrel where it rested when government took over—in cases where the squabbles had to do with other than wages. If over wages alone, in many cases the government's arbitrary figure worked out satisfactorily for both labor and management.

At one time, ODT was running 103 truck lines for the Midwest Operators Ass'n., a railroad in Puerto Rico, as well as the T. P. & W. and the Illinois Central back to its owners is seen. ODT says that under government management, the T. P. & W. made money.

No immediate release of the oil refineries is contemplated, since the union is still asking for a 30 per cent pay raise and the owners are still talking 15 per cent. Navy says that no wage adjustment has been made under its operation.

Since Navy went into the oil business on Oct. 4 three of 49 refineries have returned to private operation, on grounds of no current dispute.

Laughing Children Only Happy Germans In Segregation Unit

By RICHARD CUSHING

SHANGHI, Nov. 27 — Laughing children, busily at play, are the only happy Germans in the Kiangwan segragation center.

The few hard-bitten Nazi leaders interned in the large white former Japanese high school are grumpy, scowling, untalkative.

Germans with less violent party ideals don't have time for much revelry. They're too hard at work making themselves and their families comfortable in the large, partitioned schoolrooms assigned to them.

Wives Not Happy

The German wives, most of whom had Chinese amahs jump at their every command, aren't happy either. They spend long hours cooking, peeling potatoes, sweeping floors, hanging curtains, arranging furniture and engaging in other household chores hard on finger nails and German tempers.

But the children play blissfully, as they would in a Berlin kindergarten made of gingerbread.

Mild-tempered Tinan W. Loo, who put in 20 years as registrar of St. John's university, runs the Kiangwan center with a hand not too heavy. There is little need for stern discipline, for the Germans are adapting themselves to the restricted life with no show of rebellion and little complaint, not that a complaint would gain them anything.

Ex-Diplomat Is Leader

Tall and handsome Elgar von Randow, 41-year-old German career diplomat, is the appointed head of the internees. Years ago he was German consul at Peiping.

"Our main worry is that there's nothing decided about what's going to happen to us," is his chief plaint.

"Here we are. We received our notices to pack up and come. Now we're here and nobody has the slightest idea what for, or how long, or anything. It's just the feeling of uncertainty. The whole purpose of interning us isn't clear.

"Are they going to question us, send us back to Germany, or what? It's the uncertainty that gets us."

Infant Undergoes Major Operations

HOUSTON, Nov. 27. (AP)—A baby girl, less than two months old, has undergone two major operations in the past four weeks—and is reported recovering at a local infirmary here.

The infant, first child born to Mrs. A. J. Gee of Shreveport, La., has undergone an operation for a ruptured appendix and another to eliminate an obstruction in the intestines caused by the appendix rupture.

D. A. Battle, Humble company employe and brother of Mrs. Gee, said his sister was visiting her mother, Mrs. R. R. Shaw, in Bryan when the child was born Sept. 29.

Gee is employed on a ranch near Shreveport.
