SEVERED BARBED WIRE OPENS ROAD
Joe Smoot applies cutters as Hal Woodward, right, looks on

Wire Snipped To Dedicate Bypass

IS 20 bypass—Big Spring's multimillion dollar cutoff route—was formally dedicated at 11:15 a.m. today. Brief ceremonies atop one of the structures on the east end of the route, described as the highest point of the road, officially marked the completion of a building project which has been in the making for seven years.

While more than 100 men and women watched, a brightly painted wire cutter was brought into play and three strands of tautly stretched barbed wire were severed.

COVERED WAGON
When the wire had been cut, a covered wagon, complete with chuckbox and drawn by a pair of huge mules, rumbled through the opening and headed west along the super-highway. Ohmer Kelly, Stanton, was the wagon driver.

Reds Reportedly Seize U. S. Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of 15 Soviet government officials "forcibly entered" two hotel rooms occupied by U.S. military attaches in the city of Khabarovsk a week ago, the State Department disclosed today. The Russians reportedly seized photographic equipment and other personal property.

The United States has protested the "flagrant violation" of the diplomatic immunity of the men who were traveling with a British colleague on a trip to Tokyo and Hong Kong.

The Americans are due back in Moscow in a few days.

A State Department spokesman said that details are lacking but that he had no evidence that any of the four Westerners was injured.

Motel Battles Rights Law Clause Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Heart of Atlanta Motel pleaded before the Supreme Court at the opening of the court's new term today for a decision striking down the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Act.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., Atlanta attorney and an official of the motel, said the fundamental question before the tribunal was whether Congress has the right to take from a private business concern the owner's choice of running his firm as he wishes and choosing his customers.

"The fact that Negroes are involved in this issue is purely incidental," Rolleston said. "If Congress has the power to take away the personal liberty of the individual businessman, there is no limit to the power of Congress."

The court, giving top priority to two test cases involving constitutionality of the 1964 civil rights law, got into involved questioning of Rolleston as to whether the commerce powers of Congress alone were involved in the cases.

BASIS FOR ACT
Justice Hugo L. Black wanted to know if Rolleston thought the Supreme Court could decide the cases on any but the commerce clause of the Constitution. He noted that Congress specifically stated it was exercising its power under the commerce clause.

Rolleston insisted that the high tribunal could rule on any section of the Constitution, but pointed out that the Justice Department in the case had stood on its contention that the commerce clause alone was the basis for the act.

Solicitor General Archibald Cox listened to Rolleston's argument. His brief in the case contends that the public accommodations section of the new law is clearly constitutional under the commerce power.

After hearing the Heart of Atlanta Motel case, the court will take up an appeal by the Justice Department involving Ollie's Barbecue in Birmingham, Ala.

A lower federal court in Birmingham held the public accommodations section unconstitutional as applied to Ollie's Barbecue. In the Atlanta motel case the lower court found the section did not violate the Constitution.

PRESENT QUESTION

The section states that "all persons shall be entitled to full and equal enjoyment of goods, services, facilities, privileges, advantages and accommodations of any place of public accommodation, as defined in this section, without discrimination or segregation on the ground of race, color, religion or national origin."

The two appeals present the question how far the section reaches under the authority of Congress to regulate interstate commerce. The interstate commerce power was the main legal basis behind congressional adoption of the section.

The Atlanta motel, headed by Moreton Rolleston Jr., an Atlanta attorney, is located adjacent to an interstate highway. It was argued in the case that 75 percent of its guests were from states other than Georgia. The three-judge court in Atlanta, in this first attack on the new law, said the section is constitutional under the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce.

Hilda Now Weak, But Dangerous

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Former Hurricane Hilda, badly weakened by a battle with a cold front, moved along the Georgia-Florida border toward the Atlantic Ocean today, leaving at least 36 dead in her violent wake.

Death, destruction and misery came to Louisiana during the weekend visit by the storm. President Johnson declared the region eligible for federal disaster aid.

LOSES PUNCH

Sucking the cold front in its circulation, Hilda lost most of its tropical characteristics. All that remained was a huge low pressure area containing scattered squalls in which winds reached gusts of 40 to 50 miles an hour.

But Hilda still was potentially dangerous. The likelihood of tornadoes still existed and the Miami Weather Bureau said a 120-mile wide strip reaching from Ocala, Fla., to Charleston, S. C., should be alert to the possibility of damaging surface winds and possibly one or two tornadoes.

Another probable death was chalked up at Pensacola, in the Florida panhandle, when 17-year-old Bill Waters disappeared while surfing in turbulent waters.

Small craft warning flats flew along the entire Florida Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

POWER OUT

Winds hit miles at Pensacola, knocking out power in some sections, as the storm passed north of there. High tides caused minor beach erosion.

Hilda wiped out nearly half of Louisiana's $100-million sugar cane crop and caused millions more in property damage.

High winds and heavy rains from Hilda knifed across southern Georgia and into South Carolina.

Larose, a fishing town of 5,000 on the banks of Bayou Lafourche 50 miles southwest of New Orleans, was struck by one of the many tornadoes which spun off Hilda's advancing winds. Twenty-one persons were killed and nearly 200 injured.

At Erath, the city's water tower buckled under hurricane winds, toppled on to the city hall and killed eight persons, all civil defense workers in the small Vermilion Parish town.

COLLAPSED

A Negro woman was killed at Jeanerette when a recreation center — being used to house hurricane evacuees — collapsed.

Three traffic deaths were attributed to Hilda's winds and accompanying rain by authorities. A repairman working on downed electric lines in New Orleans was electrocuted and a woman drowned in a rain-swollen drainage ditch.

More than 200 persons were injured — 175 at Larose alone.

Flash floods drove scores from their homes in the outskirts of Baton Rouge, the state's capital city, Sunday. They joined thousands of refugees from the bayou country where most of the French-speaking Cajuns live.

Stolen Stanton Truck Found

STANTON—Earl Bruce Harwood, a California parolee who broke jail in Marfa Saturday and allegedly stole three motor vehicles, was arrested in Oklahoma Saturday after he ran through a toll gate near Chickasha, Stanton Police Chief Bob Smith said Sunday afternoon.

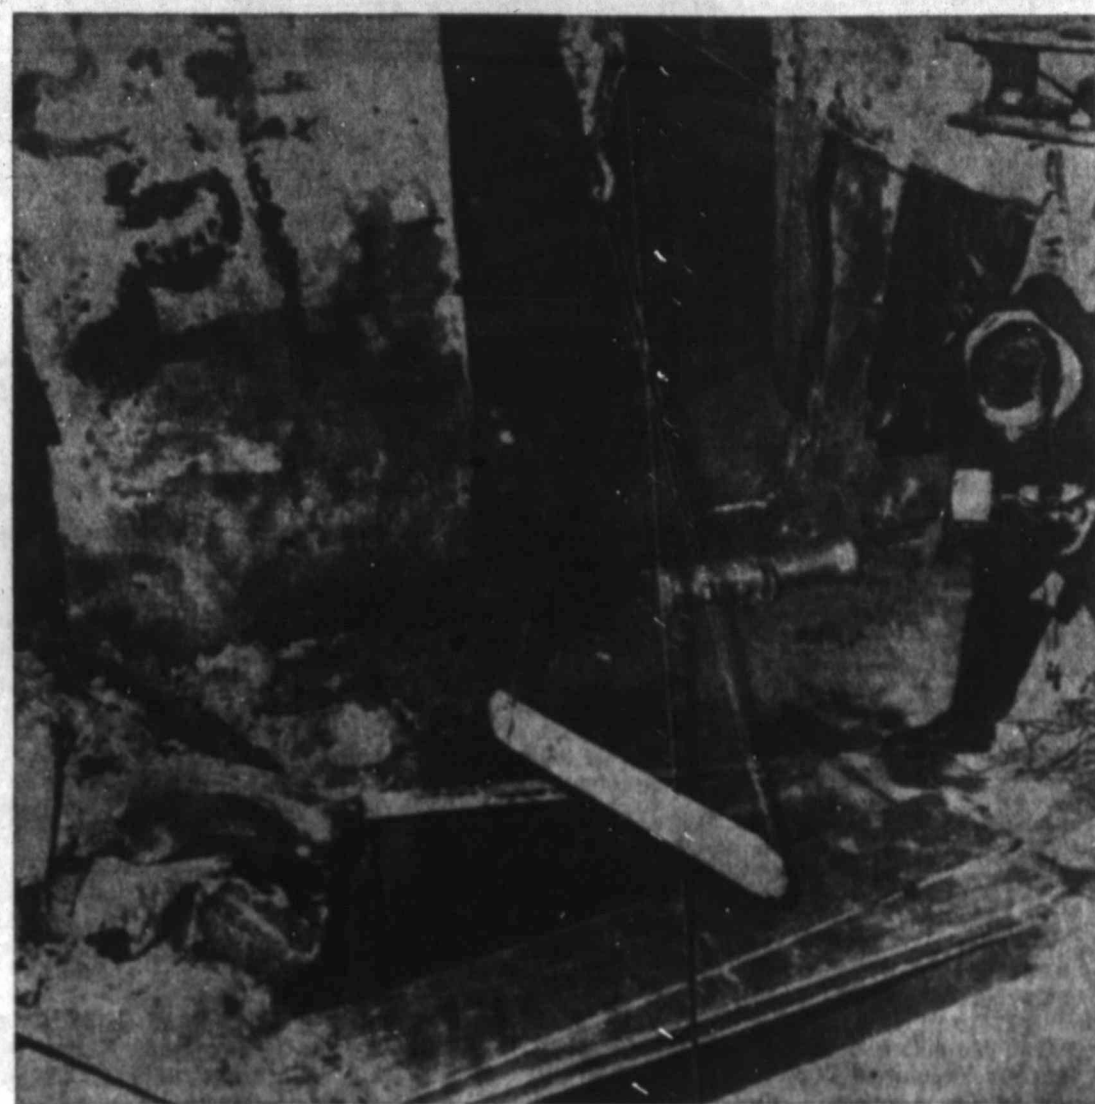

The pickup he was driving was missing from Stanton after Harwood abandoned a jeep stolen in Fort Stockton. The man told officers he left Marfa in a stolen vehicle and abandoned it in Fort Stockton.

According to Smith Harwood ran through a toll gate, and the keeper called Oklahoma highway patrolmen who gave chase. Harwood abandoned the pickup and took off through the woods. Officers called a helicopter into service and took after the fugitive on foot also. He was apprehended and placed in the Chickasha jail.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said the man would be returned to Stanton Tuesday and would be taken before the grand jury, which began deliberations today.

Harwood was being held in the Marfa jail on a burglary charge. Police Patrolman Arthur Posey of Stanton, located the stolen jeep while he was checking on the report of the stolen pickup.

Tunnel Provides Freedom For 57

Gateway To Freedom

A photographer peers into West Berlin exit of a long tunnel under the Red wall through which 57 East Germans escaped this week. It was called one of the biggest escapes since the wall was put up in 1961. The tunnel had been used previously but for the mass escape a new entrance was dug in East Berlin. This photo was taken last January after discovery by East Germans. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Tentative Agreement May End GM Strike

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers announced tentative agreement today on a national labor contract, paving the way for an end to a nationwide strike that has idled some 280,000 workers.

In a joint statement, the two parties said: "General Motors and the United Automobile Workers today announced tentative agreement on terms for a settlement of all national economic and national contract issues between the parties."

"The parties will now concentrate their efforts in resolving local issues."

Louis G. Seaton, vice president of General Motors in charge of the GM negotiating team, said GM and the union had yet to resolve local issues in 117 of 130 plants across the nation. He said the new national agreement would not become effective "until these matters are resolved and the agreement is ratified."

Seaton said the two sides would continue to attempt to solve the local problems — still numbering nearly 16,000 — "so all of our employees can go back to work."

The strike has shut down production of all GM 1965 model automobiles.

GM's chief competitors — Ford and Chrysler — have been turning out their new models while GM has been shut down.

The walkout was called Sept. 25 when the company and the UAW failed to reach agreement on non-economic issues including production quotas, working conditions and union representation in the plants.

There was little difficulty, however, in reaching agreement on an economic package virtually paralleling a GM settlement won at Ford and Chrysler in September.

These called for higher pensions as an earlier retirement incentive, longer vacations, added holidays and other fringes.

From Ford and GM the union gained what UAW President Walter P. Reuther referred to as "frosting" on the Chrysler cake in the form of a Christmas bonus hinged to the level of the companies' supplemental unemployment benefits fund.

Both local and national issues had stymied settlement.

Reuther told newsmen the tentative agreement included a $7-million-a-year provision for equalization of wages on various job classifications. He said some 2,400 local grievances automatically would move up to the national level for bargaining because they involve wage inequity demands.

Asked whether the few locals which have solved their demands would return to work immediately, Reuther said there were hardly enough local settlements at this point to make any difference in the strike picture.

Latest reports showed only 13 of the 159 bargaining units have resolved their problems.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president in charge of the GM department, said he hoped the bulk of the outstanding local demands could be settled within a week.

Reuther said one of the non-economic issues that caused the strike — union representation — has been resolved with the addition of 12,000 more hours to the time the union is allotted for settlement of local grievances.

More than a quarter of a million workers were pulled off GM's assembly lines just as the new models were beginning to roll out of the factories in large numbers.

Only those plants which turned out the company's autos and trucks were hit. Workers at factories producing parts and accessories purchased by GM's chief competitors — Ford and Chrysler — were ordered to stay on the job.

Kennedy, of Irish descent, said he was invited to march "by my neighbors in Glen Cove," adding: "I'd rather march in the parade with Poles than stand in the reviewing stand."

Kennedy, who had been living in Virginia, several weeks ago took up residence in the Long Island community.

East German Guard Shot During Escape

BERLIN (AP) — Fifty-seven East Germans escaped to West Berlin this weekend through a long tunnel dug under the Red wall, the West Berlin government reported today. East Germany said one of its border guards was shot dead during the escape and called it murder.

It was believed to be one of the biggest mass escapes since the Red wall was erected in the summer of 1961.

UNHURT

All the refugees, 23 men, 31 women and 3 children, came through unhurt. Red guards found the tunnel just after the escape and fired submachine guns into the passageway.

The East German Defense Ministry said the border guard was killed "by aimed shots from armed bandits" who had penetrated into East German territory through the tunnel.

It seemed possible that the guard was in the tunnel and fell under the fire of his comrades.

Informed sources said this was believed to be the third successful tunnel exploit recently. West Berlin authorities try to keep escape methods secret.

The latest tunnel was under Bernauerstrasse on the French sector border. When it was learned Red guards had found the tunnel the city government announced the escape.

SMALL GROUPS

Since last Saturday the refugees had crept through the tunnel in small groups.

The city government said just before the operation was to end four East German soldiers and three civilians drove up to the eastern end of the tunnel. A few seconds later west police heard several blasts from sub-machine guns.

That was 12:30 this morning. Within 15 minutes the east end of the tunnel was surrounded by East German troops.

Tunnel escapes have become less frequent in recent months after East Germans discovered several of them before they could be used and arrested West Germans who were digging them.

PREVIOUS
The largest previous tunnel escape from East Berlin was in September 1962 when 29 persons got through.

Prior to the weekend's mass escape, conservative estimates had set the number of tunnel escapes at between 300 and 400.

Except for the entrance and a few yards in East Berlin, the tunnel was the same used last Jan. 6 by three East German girls. Other refugees were to have used that tunnel but it was discovered by a worker in an East Berlin coal yard where it ended.

Communist guards blew up the eastern end of the tunnel to make it unusable but tunnelers dug another entrance.

To prevent tunneling, the Red regime proclaimed a prohibited zone 300 feet wide on the Communist side of the wall. Only persons with special passes can enter this zone.

450-600 FEET
The tunnel started in the cellar of a former baker, passed beneath the street still in West Berlin and then beneath the prohibited area. This means that the tunnel must have been from 450 to 600 feet long.

The refugees presumably were taken to a West Berlin refugee camp. Authorities would not allow reporters to talk to them.

N.Y. Man Stabbed As Thongs Watch

NEW YORK (AP) — As hundreds watched—but offered no help—a man in the Times Square area was stabbed repeatedly Sunday afternoon by an assailant who had tried to force his attentions on the victim's wife.

Joseph Zaia, 28, and his wife, Sandra, 26, were strolling along Broadway near 47th Street when a Negro, over six feet tall and in his 30s, put his arm around Mrs. Zaia and whispered in her ear, police said.

Goldwater, Strategists To Map Rest Of Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater and his running mate meet with their top campaign braintrusts here today to map the final month of their admittedly uphill fight to capture the White House. The indications are, from sources close to Goldwater, that the Republican presidential candidate will keep hammering away at his "soft on communism" charge against President Johnson.

That phrase drew tremendous crowd reaction when Goldwater used it during a three-state whistlestop swing by train last week.

Johnson poured scorn on the accusation at a Saturday news conference and advised Goldwater to drop it. Johnson said it was "the product of a third-string speechwriter" that got into public print without "prudent screening."

The President added that "the new and frightening voice of the Republican party — his way of referring to Goldwater — was merely trying out this charge to see if it works."

Goldwater does not relate the "soft on communism" charge to alleged internal subversion, as the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., did. Goldwater applies it to the Democratic administration's dealings with world communism abroad, in such places as Viet Nam, Cuba and Berlin.

Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., planned a morning meeting with top party strategists at Republican national headquarters, and no campaign activity was scheduled for the rest of the day.

Tuesday Goldwater treks to the prosperous Philadelphia suburbs.

Miller scheduled a swing into North Carolina Tuesday.

S. C. Adams Dies Sunday

Selmer Carl Adams, 58, resident of Big Spring 35 years, died at his home at 2104 Austin, Fort Worth, Sunday. He was a retired carpenter-contractor and had lived in Fort Worth since about 1954.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the West Highway 80 Church of Christ, with David Tarbet, minister of the Northside Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of Ray Crowder Funeral Home, Fort Worth.

The remains will arrive at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home about 8 p.m. today, and will be in state until service time Tuesday.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Beulah Adams, 58, Fort Worth; four daughters, Mrs. Helen Russell, Bristow, Okla., Mrs. Joan Noack, Lovington, N.M., Mrs. Jean Cox, Cushing, Okla., Mrs. Joyce Russell, San Francisco; 11 grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Bertha Lee McMore, Big Spring.

Police Check Thefts, Burglaries

Several burglaries and thefts were reported to Big Spring police Sunday. John Gardner, 706 Cherry, told officers a television set valued at $140 was taken from his residence. Someone apparently entered the house through a south window, officers said.

A 22-caliber rifle and a tape recorder were reported taken from a house at 706 Pine Sunday. The owner, James Lee Gilbert, told officers the house was unlocked during the day. Kenneth F. McKee, 804½ Andree, told police a food mixer valued at about $30 had been taken from his residence sometime during the past several days.

M. E. Appleby, 907 W. 7th St., also reported someone took some 22-25 sheets of galvanized roofing tin from his residence Sunday.

Tshombe's Plane Sent Off Course

CAIRO (AP) — A plane carrying Premier Moise Tshombe of the Congo to the second world conference of so-called nonaligned nations was diverted mysteriously to Athens, Greece, today. The move threatened to turn the conference itself off course.

Tshombe headed to Cairo aboard a Sabena 707. The runway was in poor condition and could not take a plane as heavy as the 707.

Sunday President Sukarno of Indonesia, the leading foe of Tshombe's presence here, landed in a chartered plane of approximately the same size, a Douglas DC8.

Humphrey Pledges Attempt To Beef U.N. Peace Force

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey pledged to college students today the administration would strive to strengthen the United Nations peace-keeping force and called it "an investment which will save American lives."

Those who demand the United States withdraw from the United Nations are "blind to the realities of our world," the Democratic vice-presidential nominee said in a speech prepared for the University of California.

Humphrey was winding up this excursion into California for the Johnson-Humphrey ticket with visits to the campuses of San Jose State and California. The big Berkeley campus was racked last week by a protest against on-campus solicitation of funds for off-campus political activities, such as the civil rights drive in Mississippi.

In his speech at the university, Humphrey hit at what he called Sen. Barry Goldwater's confused views on the United Nations and presented some suggestions for strengthening the world organization.

What he called the most important need of all was an agreement on better procedures for starting and financing peace-keeping missions.

Failure of many members — the Soviet Union and France, for two — to pay for such peace-keeping activities as along the Gaza Strip and in the Congo has brought the United Nations to the brink of crisis, he noted.

Humphrey contended that payment procedures might be improved in the future with a special committee on assessments in which "the large and middle powers would have a greater representation than they have in the assembly as a whole."

Coahoma RA's Attend Rally

COAHOMA — Eight boys and their sponsors from Coahoma, attended the Regional Texas Baptist Royal Ambassador Rally at Hardin-Simmons University, Saturday. The climax to the program was an address by Roger Duck, missionary to Colombia.

The program began with a tour of the Hardin-Simmons campus and was followed by an assembly featuring music by the world-famous Cowboy Band which has toured Europe and the Far East. Another feature was a "Swap Shop" where the boys traded nearly every item but snakes.

The Royal Ambassador Rally is one of six meetings expected to attract around 8,000 persons throughout the state, Robert Chapman, Texas RA director, said.

City Officials On A Junket

Big Spring city officials are joining representatives from cities across the state at the Texas Municipal League annual conference in Dallas this week.

Attending from Big Spring are Mayor George Zachariah, City Commissioners Arnold Marshall, W. L. Thompson and John Stanley, City Manager Larry Crow, Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson, Police Chief Jay Banks and Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

The meeting began Sunday and continues through Tuesday.

Personnel Will Attend Banquet

Staff personnel and volunteer workers from Big Spring State Hospital will be among representatives from facilities in Texas attending the fall meeting of the Texas Volunteer Services Council in Tyler Tuesday through Thursday.

Mrs. Hila Weathers, coordinator of volunteer services, Mrs. and Mrs. Jack Smith and several volunteer workers will attend the meeting from Big Spring. Smith was state chairman at the conference last year.

The conference will include sessions at the East Texas Tuberculosis Hospital, Tyler, the Rusk State Hospital and the Lufkin State School. Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives Byron Tunnell will speak at an awards banquet Thursday night.

Trial Delay Being Sought For Promoter

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Lawyers for Paul Amos Sandblom asked today that his state trial on securities law violation charges be delayed because of similar federal indictments.

Sandblom, Corpus Christi financier who went bankrupt with losses totaling millions, was scheduled to go on trial today.

His chief lawyer contended that the federal indictments issued Sept. 17 "dramatically inhibited" preparation of the state case.

Judge Archie Brown said he feared the federal and state trial dates would coincide if he postponed the state hearing.

Brown said he would rule on the continuance motion late today.

Sandblom, 39, is charged in two three-count indictments returned by the Nueces County Grand Jury May 17 with selling, and unregistered security, selling a security while being an unregistered dealer, and fraudulent practice in selling the security.

TWO MOTIONS
Two defense motions were on file with Judge Brown. One sought to quash one of the fraud charges and the other asked to allow the defense to see whether the state has any evidence favorable to Sandblom.

The first indictment charges that Sandblom unlawfully sold a security on Dec. 6, 1963, to D. B. Meadows for $15,000. The second charges him with the same offense involving a $10,000 note to Mr. and Mrs. Hilton M. Stone.

Dist. Atty. Sam Jones of Corpus Christi said he expects the trial to last about two weeks. Warren Burnett of Odessa heads a four-lawyer defense staff.

Sandblom, a suave former Iowan who moved to Corpus Christi 11 years ago and opened an insurance agency, has been free on state and federal bonds totaling $180,000.

He voluntarily declared bankruptcy Jan. 7. Officials in bankruptcy proceedings calculated that he took in about $33 million from persons who gave him money to invest.

CREDITORS ACT
When the Oct. 1 deadline passed for filing claims against his bankrupt estate, 119 creditors from coast to coast claimed a total of $5,321,112.31.

Sandblom has been quoted by acquaintances as saying his investments operation was based on his financing of highway contractors and sub-contractors for quick money at high interests.

Sandblom once operated an insurance firm in Waterloo, Iowa. He divorced his first wife five years ago and married his secretary a year later.

He has also been charged with violations of the State Securities Act in San Antonio County, but there the indictments say he acted through an innocent agent.

A federal grand jury in Houston indicted him Sept. 17 on 24 counts of securities and mail fraud.

Three Zone Changes Asked

Three zone change requests will be considered by the planning and zoning commission in a session at city hall at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday.

A request from Keaton & McGibbon, Inc., involves a 4,900 acre tract at the northeast corner of the intersection of US 87 and IS 20. The request is for a change from IF-1, one family residence, to R, retail.

Another change requested is for a lot at 2701 E. 25th St., owned by Raymond Hamby, from IF-2, one family residence, to NS, neighborhood service. A request from Mrs. Martha E. Birdwell is for a change from one family residence to neighborhood service for two lots at the corner of Galveston and West Sixth Streets, in Jones Valley Addition.

Indian Infant Wins Hearts

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Parents throughout the nation have taken an unwanted American Indian baby boy to their hearts. They've sent hundreds of requests to adopt seven-month-old Quince.

The task for the Protestant Home for Children now is to screen the long list and pick the most suitable parents.

"It's not going to be easy," said Sally Matlock, the adoption agency's executive secretary. "But I plan to do it no later than December."

The case came to light last Wednesday after Miss Matlock said she couldn't find the baby a home.

Miss Matlock said no one wanted to adopt an American Indian. It was the home's first failure to place a child in 38 years, she said.

The Associated Press ran a story and Quince's picture. Within hours, telephone calls, telegrams and letters started flooding in from every state but Alaska and Hawaii, she said.

Inquiries came from all kinds of people. She said one call was from a family with 13 children. They said they could take care of one more.

There were calls from many families with four to six children — even from a newlywed couple expecting a baby, and a prospective bride.

Preference will go, Miss Matlock said, to a family of American Indian culture — that is, parents who are native-born Indians or who have an Indian child.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Gordon B. (Bart) Wilkinson, 72, a Big Spring resident since 1919 and operator of the oldest business establishment in Big Spring, the City Barber Shop.

Mr. Wilkinson died at 10:10 p.m. Sunday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

He moved to Big Spring in 1919 from Midland and had owned and operated the barber shop since that time. He was born May 30, 1892 in Rainier, Texas.

He had retired from barbering about three years ago due to ill health.

During World War I Mr. Wilkinson served with the Fifth Division, with most of his service time overseas.

He married Fannie Leatherwood in Big Spring Feb. 22, 1920. A charter member of the Elks Lodge, he had served as the treasurer for some 10 years.

He was also secretary-treasurer of the barbers local for many years and a member of the First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Bart Wilkinson, of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. James Edwards, Big Spring, and Mrs. Dean Miller, Santa Fe, N.M.; three grandchildren, Benny Edwards, Big Spring, Mark Miller, Santa Fe, three brothers, Sam Wilkinson, Stanton, Bill Wilkinson, Dallas, and A. C. Wilkinson, Ponca City, Okla.; and three sisters, Mrs. Lorena Lynch, Big Spring, Mrs. Charles J. Cox, Garden City, and Mrs. Kenneth Cox, Lubbock.

Palbearers will be Troy Wylie, Joe Hayden, Dr. W. B. Hardy, W. L. Wilson Jr., Earl Penner, Houston Cauden, Chester Cathey, Jess Slaughter, and Baber, R. W. Currie and R. V. Middleton.

An orientation was being given today for 12 new employees of the Big Spring State Hospital, conducted by Charles McQuaid, personnel officer. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, and other staff personnel were providing briefings on various parts of the hospital, along with a tour of the facilities, McQuaid said.

The orientation is an effort to make the transition to duties in the hospital easier for the new employees, McQuaid said.

Woman Beaten, No Charges Yet

A Big Spring woman, Mrs. Bertha Smith, was reported in critical condition at Howard County Hospital Foundation this morning after she was beaten at her residence, 309 E. 2nd St., about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Big Spring police were investigating the assault today, but no charges had been filed. Hospital officials said today Mrs. Smith had received several head injuries and multiple lacerations.

GOP Candidate In West Texas

SWEETWATER (AP) — Republican Senate Candidate George Bush said today "federal spending has reached a frightening level."

"Texans are fed up with large, inefficient government at the federal level," he told a breakfast meeting.

Bush also had outdoor rallies in Stamford and Albany, and a dinner and rally in Abilene.

Tuesday, Bush will be in Brownwood, Ballinger, San Angelo, Junction, Rock Springs and El Paso.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all of our many friends and relatives for the beautiful flowers, food and expressions of kindness extended to us at the passing of our beloved wife and Mother, Tomasa.

G. B. Wilkinson Dies Sunday, Rites Tuesday

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday for Gordon B. (Bart) Wilkinson, 72, a Big Spring resident since 1919 and operator of the oldest business establishment in Big Spring, the City Barber Shop.

Mr. Wilkinson died at 10:10 p.m. Sunday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

He moved to Big Spring in 1919 from Midland and had owned and operated the barber shop since that time. He was born May 30, 1892 in Rainier, Texas.

He had retired from barbering about three years ago due to ill health.

During World War I Mr. Wilkinson served with the Fifth Division, with most of his service time overseas.

He married Fannie Leatherwood in Big Spring Feb. 22, 1920. A charter member of the Elks Lodge, he had served as the treasurer for some 10 years.

He was also secretary-treasurer of the barbers local for many years and a member of the First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Bart Wilkinson, of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. James Edwards, Big Spring, and Mrs. Dean Miller, Santa Fe, N.M.; three grandchildren, Benny Edwards, Big Spring, Mark Miller, Santa Fe, three brothers, Sam Wilkinson, Stanton, Bill Wilkinson, Dallas, and A. C. Wilkinson, Ponca City, Okla.; and three sisters, Mrs. Lorena Lynch, Big Spring, Mrs. Charles J. Cox, Garden City, and Mrs. Kenneth Cox, Lubbock.

Palbearers will be Troy Wylie, Joe Hayden, Dr. W. B. Hardy, W. L. Wilson Jr., Earl Penner, Houston Cauden, Chester Cathey, Jess Slaughter, and Baber, R. W. Currie and R. V. Middleton.

An orientation was being given today for 12 new employees of the Big Spring State Hospital, conducted by Charles McQuaid, personnel officer. Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, and other staff personnel were providing briefings on various parts of the hospital, along with a tour of the facilities, McQuaid said.

The orientation is an effort to make the transition to duties in the hospital easier for the new employees, McQuaid said.

Orientation For New Employees

A Big Spring woman, Mrs. Bertha Smith, was reported in critical condition at Howard County Hospital Foundation this morning after she was beaten at her residence, 309 E. 2nd St., about 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

Big Spring police were investigating the assault today, but no charges had been filed. Hospital officials said today Mrs. Smith had received several head injuries and multiple lacerations.

Three Zone Changes Asked

Three zone change requests will be considered by the planning and zoning commission in a session at city hall at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday.

A request from Keaton & McGibbon, Inc., involves a 4,900 acre tract at the northeast corner of the intersection of US 87 and IS 20. The request is for a change from IF-1, one family residence, to R, retail.

Another change requested is for a lot at 2701 E. 25th St., owned by Raymond Hamby, from IF-2, one family residence, to NS, neighborhood service. A request from Mrs. Martha E. Birdwell is for a change from one family residence to neighborhood service for two lots at the corner of Galveston and West Sixth Streets, in Jones Valley Addition.

Big Spring city officials are joining representatives from cities across the state at the Texas Municipal League annual conference in Dallas this week.

Attending from Big Spring are Mayor George Zachariah, City Commissioners Arnold Marshall, W. L. Thompson and John Stanley, City Manager Larry Crow, Assistant City Manager Roy Anderson, Police Chief Jay Banks and Public Works Director Ernest Lillard.

The meeting began Sunday and continues through Tuesday.

Lady Bird Special Is Ready To Roll

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Lady Bird Special has the trappings of a traveling carnival, including give-aways.

Its advance section rolled into Union Station in the r-in Sunday for a preview. A spokesman said it was ready — even to convert any Republican "spies" into Democrats.

When Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sets out Tuesday, it will be the first time in American politics that a First Lady has embarked on a whistle-stop train campaign. Veteran railroad men have to admit "this one is different."

The traveling ladies weren't about to go for the regular railroad decor, so they quickly saw to it that Mrs. Johnson's observation-hospitality car, 90 feet long, got a chic face lifting.

Built for the Washab Railroad in 1930, it was transformed from "Pennsylvania Railroad red" to red, white and blue — inside and out.

Matching "LBJ - for - the U.S.A." campaign posters were plastered on the train windows. Inside, from the 40 red, white and blue upholstered observation seats, visiting VIPs along the 1,682-mile route can look at decorative color photos on the pale blue walls. They show the First Family — at home and on tour.

Mrs. Johnson's section of the 19-car train, a vice president's private car, includes a green-room office, two bedrooms and bath in rose and beige, and a tight little gallery, presided over by a veteran chef of the Southern Railway, Ernest Deane of Knoxville, Tenn., and Washington. He has received eight special LBJ Ranch and Southern recipes to be featured as afternoon snacks for the traveling troupe.

The Lady Bird Special is receiving VIP hospitality from the six Southern railroads whose tracks it is traveling. They gave out "priority" orders to try to keep the incredibly tight schedule as the train passes through some 180 communities in eight

More Rights Arrests Due

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and his deputy Cecil Price, both charged with civil rights violations, were back on duty today after more arrests loomed.

The Justice Department said more arrests in Neshoba County were imminent. A spokesman indicated the number might reach a dozen.

The FBI arrested Rainey, Price and three others Saturday, a day after a federal grand jury at Biloxi issued indictments accusing them of violating the civil rights of Negroes. All were released on bond.

The other three were Philadelphia policemen Neal O. Burke, 71, and Richard A. Wilks, and former Sheriff Ethel G. Barnett, 42.

The indictments charged violations of the 1948 federal penal code. The five were accused of depriving the constitutional rights of Sam H. Germany, Kirk Culbertson, Cleo J. Nichols Jr., Harvey Nichols Jr., Ernest Kirkland and Earl Tisdale.

A second indictment charged Rainey and Price beat Culbertson in the Philadelphia jail last Jan. 26.

The indictment against all five provides a maximum penalty of one year in prison and $1,000 fine.

Billy Graham Says Death Penalty Okay

BOSTON (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says he believes capital punishment is permissible under certain conditions.

Dr. Graham, who opens a religious crusade at Boston Garden tonight, told a news conference Sunday: "I believe the Bible allows, that under certain conditions, capital punishment is permissible in the eyes of God."

He said God's condemnation of extreme sin, such as murder, rape and kidnap, has as much strength today as in the day of ancient Israel.

Honesty Is The Best Policy

The only federal gambling tax stamp in the districts covering all of New York City is displayed by its owner—Andrew "Bubba" Wisner, 71, a policy bet collector. Wisner bought a $25 stamp for half a year last fall after he served 30 days in jail and paid a $550 fine for working as a policy runner without a stamp. Wisner, who says his weekly commission is $25-$30 a week for collections made in his poor neighborhood, has since bought a gambling tax stamp for one year until next June for $50. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Viet Nam Troops Fight Way Out Of Ambush, Pound Reds

THU DAU MOT, South Viet Nam (AP) — Large units of two Viet Cong battalions were mauled when government forces recovered from a bloody ambush, trapped the Communists in a village and pounded them with aircraft, armed helicopters and artillery.

U.S. advisers credited aggressive government commanders and nearly 12 hours of virtually continuous close air support for victory in the battle, which ended early today.

One American was killed during fighting Sunday. A second escaped when he played dead after the unit he was advising was overrun by howling guerrillas.

Li. Paul D. Jemison, Alexandria, La., feigned death while his ring and watch were stripped off and he heard random shots being fired into the bodies of the fallen government soldiers.

The Viet Cong fled into the jungle with the arrival of a flight of U.S. Army armed helicopters, and Jemison was treated at Bien Hoa Air Force Base hospital.

U.S. military sources said Communist losses during the battle five miles north of Saigon cost the Viet Cong from 60 to 75 dead by conservative estimate.

Puzzle of Saturday, October 3, Solved

Congress Has Secure Place

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 88th Congress finally has quit its place in history secure because of its action on civil rights, tax reduction, poverty, education and the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

Some of its members were saying today, however, that President Johnson may call Congress back into session after the Nov. 3 election if he wins.

Said Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La.: "This is too good an opportunity for the President to miss. Sometime in a campaign speech he's going to say, 'The members of Congress raised their own salaries $7,500 but they didn't do anything for the old folks and the poor, so I'm going to call them back to remedy that.'"

Earlier in the session, the House and Senate passed a law to increase the pay of their members from $22,500 to $30,000. Last week, in their rush for adjournment, they brushed aside two key Johnson administration measures — health care for the elderly under Social Security and a $1.06-billion aid package for the impoverished Appalachia region.

The health care proposal died when Senate and House conferees were unable to agree whether it should be attached to a bill to increase retirement payments under Social Security. The fight killed the payment increases, too.

Noting this, House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana said in a statement Sunday that Johnson killed the chances of an increase in Social Security payments "by personally dictating that socialized medicine be forced down congressional throats."

The 1964 session dragged to a close Saturday when the Senate adjourned sine die at 1:41 p.m. and the House at 3:16 p.m. Congress had met for 21 consecutive months and this was the latest adjournment in a presidential election year since 1944.

In the weeks since the Democratic and Republican conventions, Congress accomplished little. But Democratic leaders insisted this did not dim the luster of the 88th's record and Johnson hailed Congress as among the most fruitful in history.

Nearly all of the major bills passed were recommended by the late President John F. Kennedy but only a few were sent to the White House before his assassination.

On taking over the presidency, Johnson immediately began a drive for every item on the program and succeeded in winning passage of most of them. These probably are the top accomplishments of the 88th:

—A sweeping civil rights bill, passed in the Senate only after a 14-week Southern filibuster was broken by imposition of debate-limiting cloture, the first time this was done on civil rights. The measure strikes at racial discrimination in jobs and in restaurants, hotels and other public places, in voting and in public schools.

—A $11.5-billion tax cut bill covering both individuals and corporations, designed as a stimulus to the economy and as a spur to private enterprise.

—Ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, holding out the promise of son's cold war thaw and of ending pollution of the atmosphere.

—A big package of education bills, including a $1.2-billion college construction measure, a $1.56-billion vocational education bill, a $231-million medical education measure, and a $1.8-billion bill broadening the National Defense Education Act and extending the impacted-areas program. The latter was sent to Johnson last Friday.

—A $947.5-million measure to provide jobs for youths, train unskilled persons, and encourage local community programs.

Flight Bares New U.S. Satellite Fault

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest scientific satellite, IMP2, is not as effective as hoped because of a lower-than-planned orbit.

IMP2, which stands for Interplanetary Monitoring Platform, was launched from Cape Kennedy Saturday night toward an orbit intended to range from 120 to 161,000 miles high.

However, because of apparent substandard performance by the Delta booster, the orbit stretched from 120 to only 59,400 miles.

Thus the satellite does not remain in interplanetary space — above 40,000 miles — for the periods desired. However, officials said equipment for all nine experiments were operating.

Major purpose of the satellite is to chart radiation hazards that threaten astronauts who venture beyond the earth's atmosphere.

Leader Of Largest Catholic Order Dies

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Jean Baptiste Janssens, 27th general of the Society of Jesus Jesuits, died today.

The Belgian leader of Roman Catholicism's largest order was 74. He had led the Jesuits for 18 years.

Father Janssens suffered a brain stroke last Wednesday. The Jesuit order was founded in 1534. It defends and promotes the Roman Catholic faith through preaching, schools, the press and other activities.

Construction Women Install New Officers

The Big Spring Chapter of Women in Construction had their installation of officers Friday in the Blue Room of the Cosden Country at 7 p.m. A cocktail hour preceded the dinner and installation ceremony for 14 members and four guests from Lubbock. They were Mrs. Raymond Mackey, Region 8 director; Mrs. Noah Hancock, past national first vice president; Mrs. Cecil Williams, Lubbock WIC president; and Mrs. Lee Heatley.

Mrs. Sam Armstrong, outgoing president of the Big Spring chapter, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Raymond Dyer read the "WIC Prayer" for the invocation, and Mrs. Armstrong made introductions and gave the welcome address. Mrs. Mackey performed the installation ceremony. Each of the officers were assigned their duties and Mrs. Mackey used a part of the plumb bob for each officer and a complete plumb

Mrs. Enloe spoke using the theme, "Tomorrow," and explaining what could happen if the WIC of Big Spring did not plan their tomorrow properly. She then presented Mrs. Mackey with a gift from the Big Spring WICs and thanked her and the other Lubbock WICs for their interest. Announcements were made regarding the Fun-a-rama which is to be held the coming week and in which Women in Construction will participate.

The table was in the shape of a "T" with the head table being centered with The WIC scrapbook, surrounded by queen's lace and greenery. A replica of the WIC emblem which is a silhouette of a woman holding a plumb bob was suspended from a tripod of yardsticks on one end of the head table. business with queen's lace and greenery centering each table. Favors were jeweled key chains.

Mrs. Armstrong presented each member with a charm bracelet bearing different kinds of tools as charms and to each of her officers, she presented a jeweled pen thanking them for the support they had given her in the past year. Mrs. Enloe presented all of her incoming officers, directors, past presidents, and the regional director with a corsage of chrysanthemums in green and white, the chapter's flower and colors.

Following the installation, Mrs. Armstrong presented Mrs. Enloe with her symbols of office, and gave a farewell speech. Mrs. Enloe, in turn, presented Mrs. Armstrong with her past president's pen and a charm bracelet, with each member's name subscribed to an individual charm.

Alpha Chi Begins Rush Activities For October

Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha made final plans for rush activities Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. B. E. Reagan, 1500 E. 8th. Invitations to rush activities were presented to Mrs. Ann Nall, Mrs. James Parks and Mrs. Bob Rogers.

The first of a series of rush parties, using the theme, "Tour the USA with E. S. A.," was begun at the Saturday session held in the home of Mrs. Reagan, where the first two courses of a progressive dinner were served to 19 members, guests and their husbands. The decorative theme was centered around the California, Oregon and Washington area.

The main course was served in the home of Mrs. William Glyn Mitchell in Sand Springs, and Montana, Wyoming and Colorado motifs were used in the decorations. A southern dessert was served at the home of Mrs. C. A. Andre in Coahoma. Party games were played following the dinner.

After a week of activities at the Fun-A-Rama, rush activities will resume with a "Go Hollywood" party at the home of Mrs. Bill R. Davis in Sand Springs Oct. 15.

New Club Organized

Twelve members of the newly organized Westbrook Home Demonstration Club met last week at the home of Mrs. W. E. Smith Jr. for a covered dish luncheon.

The group will have a booth at the Mitchell County Fair to be held in Colorado City Oct. 15-17. The club booth will have the theme, "Heart of the American Home." Committee members are Mrs. Smith, Mrs. W. A. Swafford, Mrs. Cleburn Rich, Mrs. Troy Lankford and Mrs. L. F. Forbes.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 12 in the home of the club president, Mrs. Emory Sweat.

Mix Laundry Loads For Better Results

Dear little laundresses:

That's us, gals! Why do we wash all our sheets in one load, bath towels in another, etc?

Because mother did, that's why. Or books recommend it. Or because we have been doing it that way for years and years.

If you have white towels and white sheets, try putting one sheet in your machine and adding two bath towels, a few hand towels and some wash cloths and then giving it a spin.

They (the sheet and towels) just might be glad to shake hands with each other!

The roughness of the terry cloth towels will rub against the smooth sheets and buff and scrub the soil away much easier and better than if a smooth sheet rubs against another smooth sheet.

And you should see the results we got (while testing in the laundry today) by mixing pillowslips and bath towels. Amazing!

After all, we have so many bath towels and so many sheets each week, so toss them together and see what wonderful results you get.

I am sure that you all know not to mix colors together.

White articles should be washed with white, etc.

We also tried washing some pale-colored bath towels which had been washed MANY times before, with some of husband's OLD colored sport shirts and they came out beautifully.

Again the rough towel did its miracle scrub.

You might try it. After all we have so many pounds (or is it tons) on washday and the loads come out the same.

I think you will love the results you get. Heloise

I sure did! Heloise

Dear Heloise: Have you ever tried making book covers out of wallpaper samples?

I covered some of our books (the ones that look shabby). They turn out beautifully and really dress up our bookshelves. These sample wallpaper books can be purchased at any wallpaper store.

I use a laundry-marking pen to print the titles of the books on the covers. Betty

Dear Heloise: I took my dingy white candles from the candle sticks and was ready to toss them out, but decided to try washing them in detergent and not too warm water. They look like new again. Try it! Annie

Dear Heloise: I made some small bags of nylon net, and put a short drawstring around the top. I half-filled these bags with moth balls and hung them on my coat hangers with the clothes and sweaters.

The moth balls do not actually touch the clothes, but the nylon net allows the moth ball aroma to circulate through the closet.

The small nylon net bags, in all colors, look attractive in the closet and solves the problem of moths. Leonie S.

Dear Heloise: I am 12 years old and a Girl Scout.

In response to Mrs. Kroil, who wrote in asking how to keep clothes dry on a camping trip: The Girl Scouts have an effective method. If you put all your clothes in a large plastic bag, the clothes will not get damp. Janet Brown

Campaign In Britain Begins To Liven Up

By MILTON MARMOR
LONDON (AP)—The British election campaign has begun to liven up the last few days. Heckling is again in flower, but to oldtimers things still aren't what they used to be. They used to throw eggs and tomatoes.

Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the Conservative party prime minister who is leading his party into the Oct. 15 election, faced hecklers at almost every stop during a tour of northwest London.

George Brown, Labor's deputy leader, had a rough time from youngsters in Northamptonshire.

Reginald Maudling, chancellor of the exchequer, was bombarded with modeling clay. Yet it's a far cry from the elections in 'Charles Dickens' day in the last half of the 19th century. At rallies in those days 250 or more demonstrators would be arrested at one time.

Lt. Col. Sir Thomas Moore, Conservative who gained his first election to Parliament in 1924, recalls he held 36 meetings in a fortnight, and half of them ended in a free-for-all.

"Things have quieted down a lot in the last few years, except in some of the more difficult seats," he says. "You should never lose your temper with hecklers and always make it appear you take the question seriously."

However, he said, the thing to have been done with the youngsters who bombarded Maudling was to "call the fire brigade and turn the hose on them. I don't call that heckling."

The question is somewhat academic for Sir Thomas. He's not running for Parliament this election.

In 1951, heckling was bolsterous. Herbert Morrison, the Labor party foreign minister in those days, had to call the police to one of his meetings.

Harold Wilson, who will be prime minister if Labor wins the election, has said:

"I welcome heckling because it livens up the proceedings. However, organized breaking-up of meetings is a different matter."

TV Quality Is Way Off

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Gleason's move to Miami has not — so far — made any difference in the format and quality of his show. The only thing that seems faintly new is that Joe the Bartender now is parting his hair on the side instead of the middle.

"The Defenders" last week wound up a delightful two-part story, full of warmth and gentle humor.

"Gunsmoke" continues about as usual, except Matt Dillon's sidekick is an unshaven fellow who isn't as appealing as Chester. And I'm worried about Killy, Matt's unloved lady friend for these 10 years. She has taken to drinking neat whiskey after all this years of toying with a mug of beer. Maybe Doc better speak to her.

Many of the old shows are back and in pretty good shape.

But some evil spirits are apparently affecting too many of the new programs. With a few very notable exceptions, the quality of the new shows seems way off. The stories are often silly and dull and the characters are just not interesting.

The general level of network television is so pedestrian that on a recent night a showing of a fairly recent feature movie romped off with all the ratings honors.

The problem is compounded by we viewers who have seen so many nights that we are becoming harder and harder to please.

A case in point was Friday night's Bob Hope Theater on NBC, a piece of light-hearted comedy called "Think Pretty," which provided some pretty brittle bones to support an appearance by Fred Astaire and Barrie Chase. Occasionally, Astaire and Miss Chase would break into a dance and while that lasted, all was well. Then we'd go back to a silly story about an adventure in the record-making business.

Maybe if so many of us were not entertained sated we might find television a lot better than we think it is.

Recommended tonight: "90 Bristol Court," premiere, NBC, 7:30-9 EDT — Three separate but related situation comedies: "Andy Williams Show," NBC, 8-10 — premiere as a weekly show, with Jack Benny and Jonathan Winters; "The Alfred Hitchcock Show," NBC, 10-11 — return to NBC with a story of political vengeance starring Peter Fonda.

NFL Play Blighted For Sherman, Halas

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Turn the National Football League standings upside down and they'd make a bit more sense—at least to George Halas and Allie Sherman.

Last December Sherman's New York Giants and Halas'

Chicago Bears emerged on top of the NFL's Eastern and Western Division races. The only way you can get them up there today is by flipping those standings.

The Bears languish unceremoniously in the Western Division cellar and New York isn't far out of the Eastern basement following losses Sunday.

San Francisco's 49ers, tail-enders a year ago, surprised the Bears 31-21 and the Detroit Lions battered the Giants 26-3.

Elsewhere in the NFL, Baltimore ripped Los Angeles 35-20, Cleveland humbled Dallas 27-6, St. Louis whipped Washington 23-17. Philadelphia downed Pittsburgh 21-7 and Minnesota nipped Green Bay 24-23.

John Brodie flipped three touchdown passes as the 49ers, who equaled last year's winning total with their second victory, jumped out to a 17-point lead.

Billy Wade, with three TD flips of his own, led a late Bear surge but it was too little too late.

The loss was the third in four starts for Chicago. The Giants have the same record in the East and only winless Washington is keeping New York out of the cellar.

The Lions thrashed New York with a 19-point second period and throttled Y. A. Tittle's offense all day. The Giants reached Detroit territory only twice in the first half.

Earl Morrill started the Lion romp when, after lining up his club for a field goal attempt and setting himself to take the centering pass, he suddenly jumped up and lofted a 23-yard scoring pitch to Nick Ryder. The Giants never recovered.

The Chiefs, on the comeback trail after their flop last year in their first season after switching from Dallas, now lead Houston by one game in the Western Division. Houston fought to a 17-17 tie with the Jets Saturday night before a league record turnout of 46,828.

Cappelletti Breaks AFL Record For Field Goals

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Just let the Duke get inside the 50-yard line and it's dollars to doughnuts he'll kick a field goal.

Duke is the nickname of Boston's Gino Cappelletti who set an American Football League record Sunday by kicking six field goals as the unbeaten Patriots drubbed the Denver Broncos 39-10.

The 30-year-old Gino, a native of Keewatin, Minn., who now lives in Wellesley, Mass., booted three-pointers from the 11, 30, 16, 48, 15 and 18-yard stripes to erase the previous league mark of five FG's in one game by Gene Mingo of Denver against San Diego Oct. 6, 1963. Mingo got his five in seven tries. Cappelletti didn't miss any.

Late Sunday night, hours after the game, Jack Faulkner was fired as head coach and general manager of the winless Broncos. In his three years at Denver, Faulkner's record was 9-22-1.

The victory was Boston's fourth straight and kept the Patriots tied with the Buffalo Bills for the lead in the Eastern Division. The Bills won their fourth Saturday night with a come-from-behind 23-20 victory over the Oakland Raiders. Daryle Lamonica came off the bench to spark Buffalo's second-half rally after Oakland led 10-7.

Len Dawson and Bobby Hunt led the Kansas City Chiefs to a 28-7 victory over the Houston Oilers in Sunday's other scheduled AFL game. Dawson threw three touchdown passes and Hunt equaled a league record by making four interceptions.

Austin Gonsoulin of Denver set the mark against Buffalo in 1960 and Bobby Ply of Dallas equaled it in 1962 against San Diego.

The Chiefs, on the comeback trail after their flop last year in their first season after switching from Dallas, now lead Houston by one game in the Western Division. Houston fought to a 17-17 tie with the Jets Saturday night before a league record turnout of 46,828.

REPLACES DARK
Herman Franks

Franks Hired By Stoneham

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Herman Franks, with a one-year contract, must know how tough it is to manage the San Francisco Giants when Alvin Dark loses the job after first division in four seasons.

Dark's club won the National League pennant in 1962.

Horace Stoneham, club president, made the announcement of the switch from Dark to Franks Sunday at Candlestick Park after the fourth-place Giants lost to the Chicago Cubs 9-2 in the final game of the season.

The dismissal of Dark confirmed an exclusive report by The Associated Press in early August.

Franks' only previous managerial experience was one year in the minors and three seasons of winter league in Puerto Rico and Venezuela.

"We felt as early as June this year that we could do better," Stoneham said. "Then on our last road trip to Houston and Chicago, I decided to make a change."

"I talked to Herman at the time, and he said he was available. I never considered anyone else."

Stoneham said he told Dark he was through in the sixth or seventh inning Sunday.

Just prior to the stadium news conference, which Dark didn't attend, he said he could make no comment. He left the clubhouse before the conference was over.

Roommates on the pro golf tour, the two wound up deadlocked at 280 after the regulation 72 holes, eight-under-par. On the second extra hole, the 28-year-old Knudson dropped a birdie putt, the same thing he had done on the final regulation hole.

Roscoe Wins Over Wylie

ROS COE — The Roscoe Plovers boys beat the Wylie Bulldogs, 14-0, here Saturday night in the District 6-A opener for both teams.

Roscoe now stands 2-2 for the season while Wylie has yet to win in four outings.

The first half ended 0-0 and the game might have ended that way if not for a Wylie fumble.

Recovering a miscue on the Wylie 28, Roscoe dilly dallied for two plays and then quarterback Benny Harbour passed to halfback Jackie Smith for the first six points.

In the fourth quarter, halfback Charles Shelton set up the score with a 50-yard run which two plays later, was followed by a 27-yard scoring run by Harbour. A pass from Steve Prescott to end Tommy Meredith accounted for two points.

Wylie almost opened scoring when they drove to the Roscoe seven in the second quarter but were forced to give up the ball on downs.

Coahoma plays host to Roscoe Friday night.

Roscoe 0 0 0 0-14

 Saturday's Answer: What Jack Frost said when he kissed a pretty flower—WILT THOU?

DEAR ABBY

Funeral Protocol

DEAR ABBY: Some woman signed "BOILING OVER" complained because she, a blood relative, rode in the fifth car behind the hearse at her mother's funeral while "relatives-by-marriage" rode in cars ahead of her. You said, in your opinion, husbands and wives belonged together at funerals in order to console and comfort each other. I am with you, Abby. My husband was only a son-in-law, but my mother could not have loved him more if he had been her own son. In fact, he treated my mother better during her lifetime than her own sons did. We didn't even think about how far back we were in the procession of cars at her funeral. And anyone who did, couldn't have been mourning very much for the one they had come to lay to rest.

"DEAR ABBY: 'BOILING OVER' infuriated me! I am one of 16 children, and I was always accused of being my mother's favorite. At her funeral I rode in the LAST car of relatives and I couldn't have cared less if I had been in the last car of the whole procession. I knew in my heart that I was the closest to my mother. Why? Because all the rest of them waited until the last week of her lingering illness to rush to her side. I was there the moment I learned she was ill. And I was there every day for as long as she needed me.

"THE LAST CAR"
 DEAR ABBY: Your opinion on funeral protocol was correct. The spouse of the deceased always rides in the first family car behind the hearse. Should there be a large number of children, the proper sequence is as follows: The eldest daughter, her husband and their children ride in the first car. The other married daughters and their families follow, giving priority to age. Next come the unmarried daughters. Then the eldest married son and his wife and family, followed by the other married sons and their families. Then the unmarried sons. Variations occur, but this is generally

El Paso Voters Favor Bond Issue

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — El Paso voters have approved by margins of more than 2 to 1 a $22.4 million bond issue and a proposal to revise the city charter.

A proposal to create the city charter commission to rewrite El Paso's constitution passed 11,924 to 3,122.

Items in the bond issue were voted on individually. Approved by the widest margin, 11,835 to 3,724, was $364,500 for fire department projects.

A $14,965,000 roads and streets item passed 11,643 to 3,936.

Annual Prison Rodeo Under Way

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Prison opened its 33rd annual prison rodeo Sunday.

A crowd of 11,000 persons, 8,000 of them inmates, turned out for the event, dedicated to Byron Tunnell of Tyler, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Tunnell praised the Texas Department of Corrections and urged public support of the rodeo.

The prison rodeo is held each Sunday in October. Proceeds benefit inmates of the state penal system.

Absenteeism Blocks Try
For Hearing On 'Kickback'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Absenteeism by both Democratic and Republican senators blocked a GOP effort today to force pre-election hearings on a political pay-off charge in the Bobby G. Baker case.

Only the chairman, Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., showed up at a closed meeting of the nine member Senate Rules Committee called by Jordan.

Cooper had planned to offer a motion to have Baker, former Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey, and other key figures involved in the pay-off charge, summoned to testify later this week or the first of next week.

But, without a quorum of five members, no business could be transacted.

After a brief discussion of the situation, Jordan and Cooper said they would get in touch with other members of the committee during the week to find out the prospects of getting absent senators to return here next week.

SHUNS MORE

Jordan was asked by newsmen if he would urge his absent Democratic colleagues to come back.

"I'm not going to ask them to do anything," he replied, adding it was up to the members to decide for themselves.

However, Jordan said, "I'd like mighty well to get this thing cleared up."

Cooper said he would get in touch with Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., the absent GOP members of the committee, and urge them to return for early hearings.

He said he saw no reason why the committee couldn't complete hearings in October on the pay-off charge, brought by Sen. John J. Williams, R-DeL., if a quorum could be obtained.

"I'm disappointed we could not get a quorum," he said.

The Baker investigation, reopened last week by the committee on orders from the Senate, packs a potential political wallop because of Baker's close association with President Johnson when Johnson was the Democratic leader of the Senate and Baker was secretary to the Senate Democrats.

PROBED AFFAIRS

The Rules Committee probed Baker's affairs last summer and found him "guilty of many gross improprieties."

Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater and other Republicans have accused the Democrats of a coverup and a whitewash in the Baker case under pressure from the White House.

Williams charged that McCloskey, a Philadelphia contractor who won the contract for construction of the District of Columbia Stadium with a low bid of $14.2 million, made an overpayment of $35,000 to Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, on the premium for the performance bond.

CHARGES "KICKBACK"

The senator called this "a kickback" and "a payoff" and said, on the basis of a statement from Reynolds, that $25,000 of it was channeled through Baker into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

Williams displayed a copy of a $109,205.60 check from McCloskey's company to Reynolds. He said this compared with the $73,631.28 "actually owed" for the premium and commission on the stadium performance bond.

Catholics Admit Having
Role In Churches' Rift

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican Ecumenical Council, in a historic vote today, overwhelmingly agreed that the Roman Catholic Church was not blameless in the discords that have split the Christian world.

The council — a gathering of Roman Catholic prelates from around the world — also voted approval of an exhortation for all Catholics to work for Christian unity.

Both votes came as balloting started in the assembly in St. Peter's on a crucial schema on Christian unity, "De Decumenismo" — on ecumenism.

Altogether four votes were taken on various parts of the first of three chapters in the schema. In the voting, the prelates:

— Accepted a statement that restoration of Christian unity was a main aim of the council, 2,094-16.

— Affirmed that Christ had desired unity of all men, 2,081-30.

— Deplored differences that have caused separations in Christianity, and declared that such separations occurred "sometimes not without fault on both sides," 2,051-57.

— Approved an appeal to Catholics to work for Christian unity advising them to avoid mis-trusts about other Christians and to follow lives that would bring credit to the Catholic Church in the eyes of non-Catholics, 2,056-50.

Council spokesmen, briefing newsmen on the activities in the closed council session in St. Peter's, said the voting today, in effect, also approved a historic new Roman Catholic way to refer to Protestants. The document uses the term churches, and not communities or sects, as in the past.

The spokesman explained that there was no direct vote on this wording, but that the approved articles were phrased "in this manner."

Along with modernization of the Roman Catholic Church, the issue of unity was the outstanding objective foreseen for the council by Pope John XXIII when he called it together.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Span Tragedy
Blame Placed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Coast Guard said today that the tugboat-bridge accident on Lake Pontchartrain last June which resulted in six deaths was caused by the tugboat helmsman's fainting or falling asleep.

The helmsman was Clifford Miley, mate on the tugboat Rebel Jr.

Although the Coast Guard officer who conducted the investigation said no federal laws had been violated, the Coast Guard commandant, Adm. E. J. Roland, said the manning of the tugboat was inadequate and the working hours of the crew unreasonable.

The Rebel Jr. was pushing two steel barges early on the morning of June 16 when it collided with the 24-mile-long structure which spans the lake. It swept away a small section of the bridge and within seconds a bus carrying eight persons plunged from the bridge into the lake. Two survived.

The Coast Guard said Miley, and the tugboat master, Ned Palmer, had been aboard the vessel almost continuously for 16 days with one or the other at the helm at all times.

Miley slept on June 15 but was awakened late in the afternoon and worked with Palmer and a deck hand until after midnight. The others were asleep, with Miley at the helm, when the collision occurred about 1:20 a.m.

Supersonic Plane Is Dubious Value

Representatives of airlines met with plane manufacturers in Bogota, Colombia, not long ago to discuss the supersonic transport plane. Neither the breaking of bread together nor the animated discussions which took place served to lift the proceedings beyond a cautious, inconclusive note.

The airlines are plainly skeptical about supersonic planes, not because they think that suitable planes cannot be built, but because of the questionable economics of the venture. Even a plane of large capacity and a passenger fare surcharge of, say, 15 per cent for getting there quicker from here, would not be profitable, air transport officials fear.

Then there is the matter of sonic booms. Will they be bearable? Najeeb E. Halaby, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, is not sure of the answer. During a visit to London, Halaby said that the results of a series of tests over Oklahoma City are still being analyzed. Those tests may prove that sonic booms are an intolerable nuisance, Halaby suggested, or that they are bearable.

The airlines are deeply worried, too, about the cost of a supersonic transport. Estimates of initial cost range anywhere from 2½ to 7 times the present cost of an American subsonic jet. They are prepared to buy the supersonics, just to keep up with the competition, but they are plagued by fears of huge operations losses.

Yes, How Come?

A question of interest, though not of world-shaking importance, was raised the other day in a letter to the editor of a newspaper. The writer was commenting on a recent theft in which some $70,000 in John F. Kennedy half dollars was stolen from a firm that specializes in commercial promotions. He thought it odd that the company could acquire that many commemorative coins when he himself has been unable to get any.

In effect, two questions were raised. One is why a business concern should get such a large supply of these popular coins, which were informally rationed by banks in all parts of the country. The other is one of taste: Is it acceptable that a coin struck to honor an assassinated president of the United States should be used as a gimmick to promote cereal or whatever was to be promoted?

We think the answer to the second question is a decided no, even though there seems to be no law against it. As for the first, it makes a fellow wonder—especially a fellow who tried to get Kennedy half dollars for his grandchildren as a memento of a tragic event, and was allowed to buy only two of them.

The Livable World And The Election

WASHINGTON — The Council for a Livable World, a Ban the Bomb group of peace-mongers which contributes its support to Senator McGee (D., Wyo.), Joe Montoya (D., N. M.) and Frank Moss (D., Utah) was right in their pitch at the 13th Pugwash Conference which recently met behind the Iron Curtain in Czechoslovakia.

The news story by Reuters, published in the New York Times of September 22nd, did not list the Americans who attended, but at least two of the Livable World's front-liners were there, according to sources in Washington.

THEY ARE Professor Bernard T. Feld, presiding officer of the secret membership Livable World, and Mrs. Ruth Adams, who is a ranking member. The 13th Pugwash Conference recommended these following policies, all of which are recognizable as part of the Communist strategy to disrupt the Western Alliance and to disarm the United States:

1. A nonaggression treaty between NATO and the Warsaw Pact nations. Such an agreement would emasculate NATO.

2. A RECOGNITION and guarantee of existing German frontiers. This arrangement would make Communist East Germany a permanent European nation.

3. A nuclear freeze in Central Europe which the Communist news agency CETCKA described as "possible steps toward disarmament."

4. EXTENSION of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty to cover underground testing, plus agreements to prevent the sharing of nuclear weapons and materials. Since France and Red China did not sign the Nuclear Test Ban, such agreements would certainly threaten American nuclear supremacy.

5. Abandonment by the U. S. A. and our NATO allies of plans to build up a multilateral nuclear force. This agreement would reduce the deterrent which has kept the peace in Europe since 1945.

SOME MONTHS ago, the Livable World's effort to found a "peace party" in the Senate, where treaties are made, became a continued story in this column. One candidate for reelection—Burdick of North Dakota—patriotically returned almost $15,000 given him by Livable Worlders. Another—McGee of Wyoming—has practiced brinkmanship by offering to make a conditional refund.

McGee earlier received about $5,000 and my information is that he has recently taken an additional, perhaps smaller, amount. He says he won't look at his contribution list, but will return such sums as I can show were personally sent him by Communist fellow-travelers.

McGEE, MONTAYA and Moss all come from that section of the Western States which supply and house our nuclear industry, and which is the location for the vast inland complex of missile bases. How they can promise their constituents to keep the nation strong and yet accept campaign funds from the Livable World is an election year anomaly.

But if these and other Senate candidates who take this kind of money are going to deliver anything like a "perfect voting record by Council standards"—well, we may have "peace" all right, but will it be Pax Americana?

Billy Graham

There are so many things about Christianity and the Bible I do not understand. Are we to accept these by blind faith? It seems to me that to rationally accept something, we should understand it.—G. W.

Yes, there are many things about our faith that I cannot comprehend. However, much of life is a mystery, and religion is not the only sphere in which faith is required.

Salt, for example is composed of two poisons, sodium and chlorine, either of which if taken individually, would kill you. And yet you use salt every day and ask no questions.

Water is made of oxygen and hydrogen, both of which are flammable. Yet when they are joined together in water, we use these flammable substances to put out fires. Try and explain that. You drink water every day without ever giving a thought to the great mystery contained in it.

We have a natural capacity for faith, and we use it every day. God has taken this natural capacity and made it a condition of knowing Him. When we thirst for God like we do for water, and crave Him like we do salt on our food, we will accept Him with all the mysteries which surround Him, and ask no questions. I did that. Thousands of others have done that, and their lives were made better for it.

The word "faith" is used 92 times in the Gospel of John. It is interesting that God only requires "faith" for salvation. If he had put salvation on any other basis many could not be saved.

A White Christmas

CHICAGO (AP)—While most Americans were buying sunburn lotions during the hot months, highway authorities perspired over estimates of rock salt purchases for snow removal.

According to the Salt Institute, highway clearance crews will use about 3.9 million tons of salt during the coming winter. Some of this salt has already been delivered, the rest has been ordered by state, county and municipal purchasing agents.

Institute statisticians point out that 3.9 million tons of salt can melt as much as 185.7 million tons of snow.

Had A Split Personality

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 88th Congress, which just finished its two-year existence, had a split personality.

It was delinquent in its first year, 1963, almost juvenile in shirking its responsibility to act. Its biggest achievement was approval of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty.

This year it did one of the biggest turnabouts in history, putting on an active, productive performance unequaled in a generation.

THE SWITCH began after President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in 1963 and Lyndon B. Johnson became President.

When Congress came back in 1964 for its second session it was almost as if House and Senate had gone through a purgation of the spirit. It went to work.

Johnson, a far better handler of Congress than Kennedy, pushed the legislators' noses to the grindstone.

He phoned them, met with them, undoubtedly twisted their arms.

But there may have been other factors — particularly Kennedy's death — responsible for their sudden earnest, even zealous, attention to the job.

PERHAPS THE realization of this and a desire by the legislators to overcome regret at having done so little Kennedy asked also underlay the sudden spurt.

Most of the programs they pushed through this year were Kennedy programs from the year before.

For example: A $11.5-billion income tax cut and the civil rights bill, the most far-reaching in 100 years.

Johnson worked for all of Kennedy's major programs. His own first major program, an anti-poverty measure, was also approved in 1964.

In the end, two of Johnson's most important programs were left undone by both houses whose members were anxious to scurry home to campaign to keep their jobs:

1. Linking medical care for the aged to Social Security. This, a holdover from Kennedy's days, will come up next year again. Neither Kennedy nor Johnson was ever able to overcome the resistance of one man above all others, Rep. Wilbur Mills, Arkansas Democrat.

2. JOHNSON'S $1.6-billion Appalachia program for the rehabilitation of the dilapidated areas in 11 states. This, no doubt, will be revived next year.

This year the legislators voted themselves a salary increase of $7,500, from $22,500 to $30,000 a year, along with smaller boosts for thousands of other government workers. They upped cash benefits for veteran pensioners about 5 per cent.

These setbacks for Johnson tattered any myth about his invincibility with Congress. Nevertheless, it set a historic record and enacted 24 of Johnson's 30 principal "must" measures.

Gambling In Paradise

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

There's plenty of gambling in the Communist paradise. The Soviet Union has more than 90 race tracks at which betting is legal.

A flea can broad jump 13 inches and high jump eight inches. If you had as much leg-power in comparison to your size, you'd be able to broad jump 700 feet and high jump 450 feet — and that would just about make you the perfect pedestrian.

A report from Africa says that the bills for liquor consumed on safaris is higher than all the other charges combined. Well, after all, how can a fellow shoot a pink elephant if he first doesn't get into condition to see one.

In 1928 the average grocery store stocked only 967 items. Modern supermarkets now have over 6,000.

Mice don't have doctors, but they do have midwives. Older mice sometimes assist a young female in the delivery of her first young.

They are: Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin D. Roosevelt, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Why you should keep medicine and harmful chemicals out of children's reach: More than 500,000 kids each year accidentally poison themselves.

Alaskans don't like to brag, but if you pin them down they'll admit their state is more than twice as big as Texas, five times larger than California, 10 times larger than Illinois, 14 times the size of Ohio, and 483 times larger than Rhode Island.

Medication Can Help Hyperactive Child

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: I have a six-year-old grandson who suffered brain damage at birth. He is high strung, hyperactive and retarded. What medication do you suggest?—MRS. D. W.

A hyperactive (or hyperkinetic) child is not necessarily retarded nor the victim of brain damage. However, there is some reason for his being subject to excessive or extreme periods of unrest, jittery moving about, compulsive talking, or an uncontrollable urge just to always "do something." There are any number of ways in which such a child can, obviously, be a nuisance to others around him, in school or elsewhere.

This is what we mean by "hyperactivity." It can occur in varying degrees. Some such youngsters are so distracting that they can't be allowed in ordinary classes. In milder instances, they may be sufficiently controllable.

These hyperactive youngsters (they may be of average or of brighter intelligence) are the ones for whom special medications can be quite useful. Their explosive energies can be "focused" and controlled rather than expended in bursts of pointless activity.

Experts have recognized this condition as something other than "high-strung." There are, I dare say, plenty of borderline cases in which it is hard to draw the line between one and the other.

I doubt that, for practical purposes, you can expect much or perhaps any useful improvement in cases of severe retardation.

I am not saying that nothing can be done. We have learned quite a bit about the training of retarded children. We cannot help being enormously gratified at the change of the attitude of society. We have emerged from the stone age viewpoint of shutting away and trying to forget these children.

The last couple of years have seen action at federal level toward encouraging care and training of retarded children, and study aimed at preventing retardation.

But we must also be realists. We must not fool ourselves into believing that we can give medicines and correct retardation. It isn't that sort of thing. Mild sedatives or small doses of tranquilizers may be necessary to curb the hyperactivity until other adjustments can be made.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can a 25-year-old person remember an incident that happened when she was three years old? My husband and I disagree on this.

—MRS. M. R.
Madam, I don't like to be drawn into family arguments, but the facts are that some incidents at the age of three (often quite unimportant) are vividly recalled at the age of 25. And at the age of 50. And in a couple of decades I'll tell you whether I can still remember them at 75. It is equally possible for other individuals not to encounter a "rememberable" incident until ages four, five, six or so.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Crime And Moral Laxity

WASHINGTON—Senator Goldwater returns again and again to the subject of crime in contemporary America, although, characteristically, his plans for combating it are as unintelligible as a Swahili drinking dirge.

President Johnson is reported to be concerned with the decline of moral values in our society, and the FBI has found that race conflict that swept through American cities last summer actually was "a senseless attack on all constituted authority without purpose or object," and was not racial in its basic structure.

NOT A CITY in the nation remains untroubled by crime. Few have not recorded annual increases in serious crimes (murder, rape and armed robbery) since the end of World War II. And, perhaps more ominous than any other element in this dreary tapestry, more and more crime seems to be committed by young people.

It is possible to dismiss all this accumulating evidence of serious weakness in our society with a variety of comforting phrases which have served well in the past.

UNFORTUNATELY, however, no amount of comforting rationalization is going to disguise the bleak truth any longer: The nation is facing a crisis in crime, as even Senator Goldwater dimly perceives. The FBI reports may be discounted as heavily as anyone pleases—and they still illuminate a society that is corroded by a terrible sickness.

EVIDENCE of moral laxness abounds in the growing tendency of American families to fragment at the first sign of stress. Divorce and dropouts do not occur on an epidemic scale in stable societies. Nor does moral preoccupation with sex and sexual symbolism at virtually every level of human experience. Above all, we live in a time when the psychology of the quick buck sweeps the nation like a plague. American folk heroes used to be the long hunters and the brawny, elemental men who tore fortunes out of the forests and the very bowels of the earth. They are no longer. The wheeler-dealer is the king now, and a man who works is just slow in the head.

THERE IS NO evidence that the stewards of the nation's spiritual life have any answers. Billy Graham embarrassed the honest drunks and streetwalkers on Boston's trolley a few days ago, and it is a pity the good man doesn't aim a little higher. The people who frequent the mean saloons of skid row are failures at sin just as they have been failures at everything else in their despairing lives.

THE REAL architects of the decay of American morality are to be found elsewhere—in the ethos of a business community where all too often all is permissible that is not actually illegal. In the gutless, well-willed husbands and wives who lack the maturity to weather the storms that shake every couple, in the irresponsibility of indulgent parents who give their unfortunate offspring everything except firm and loving discipline, and in a neighborhood that turns its back on a poor woman being murdered simply because it doesn't want to become involved.

Gov. John Connally of Texas reported that the President sought advice on how a spiritual "renaissance" might be launched in what surely be the richest and most neurotic nation in history. It is a good question, and it is one that both candidates might well address themselves to in this last month before elections.

Conflict Over The 'New Deal' School

WASHINGTON — Why is Senator Goldwater hated so much and denounced so bitterly? What is the explanation for the wave of almost fanatical attacks on the Arizona senator?

This correspondent has never been concerned with personalities and has known and liked all the men who have run on both tickets in the many campaigns of the last half-century. What is more important today, as always, is the kind of advisers either nominee, if elected, would have and what basic philosophy would be applied in running the government.

MANY OF THE critics of Senator Goldwater say their criticism isn't personal — they merely dislike his ideas. In campaign after campaign, however, issues have been widely discussed and personal epithets have been rare. But this time derogatory words are used almost daily by Democratic spokesmen to characterize the Republican party's nominee. Little light is being shed on fundamental questions, and the whole campaign tactics of the Democrats seem to indicate a deep-seated contempt for Mr. Goldwater as a person—his alleged "recklessness" or "dangerous purpose." This is a strange development, the effects of which will not soon disappear. It means that the battle will not be over on election day, no matter who wins.

FOR WHAT WE are witnessing in the Goldwater movement is not the rise of a relatively unknown man as the presidential candidate of the Republican party, but the expression for the first time of an organized opposition to widely accepted doctrines—the philosophy that arose with the New Deal in the 1930s and has been dominant ever since. The latter can be summed up as a belief in the majesty of big government as the cure-all of everything unpleasant.

As long as theory was debated, and intermittent "booms" in business were stimulated, the average man was inclined to feel that maybe it was best to "let things alone." But today superficiality is being questioned. As taxation has become confiscatory, as the states have been reduced to the level of dependent units and as government permits private groups such as labor organizations to wield vast power — because they are politically decisive in many an election—resentment has been steadily developing.

IN DESPERATION, groups of the "radical right" have arisen. Some are irresponsible and deserve condemnation. But others have come into being because of a feeling of frustration, a kind of irrational but nevertheless "revolutionary" rejoinder — a "grass roots" upheaval so familiar in world history. Angry people may not always act politely or sensibly, but the grievances they reflect cannot be brushed aside because the champions of their ideas are at times tactless.

What is really bothering these people? They don't regard Senator Goldwater as a governmental genius, any more perhaps than numerous Democrats feel that way about Lyndon Johnson.

THE TRUTH IS that, personalities aside, there is a fundamental collision going on between two schools of thought. Neither one is clear as yet in its exposition. But the "New Deal" school wants to be left alone to spend and spend, to borrow and borrow, and to tax and tax, while the opposition, though not offering a panacea, wants to stop what it is convinced is a really dangerous trend for America.

As so often happens, a battle may be won, but not a war. After November, if President Johnson is elected, the present trend will continue—governmental deficits and more and more interference with the opportunity of free enterprise to develop a healthy expansion.

Helpful Suspect

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff Fred Boling and Constable John Lee drove through a heavy rain, then stopped in front of the home of a wanted man.

"Nope," Boling replied. "Who are you?"

The man identified himself.

"You're the man we're looking for," said the deputy. "You are under arrest."

Grim Picture Of World's Food Supply

ROME (AP) — Skyrocketing population has outstripped the increase in world food production in the past 12 months. Man-kind had less per person to eat, and almost everywhere food cost more.

This was the grim picture painted today by the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) in its 1964 annual report. It came against a background of recent food riots in teeming India and the lengthening shadow of hunger over much of the rest of the world.

The actual over-all balance between population gain and food production increase may even be darker than FAO described. Its report contained no figures for Communist China, which has almost a fourth of the world's population.

The report said it appeared there were some increases in food production in mainland China during 1963-64, but it was unlikely the increases had kept abreast of China's population gain of 15 million a year.

Soviet Russia, with its massive population, had actual food production decreases in the past year.

The FAO report for the year ended July 15, 1964, said world population had increased 2 per cent but food production had gone up slightly less than that.

Much more significant than the single-year comparison was the fact that "for five years now there has been no increase in world agricultural production per capita," the report added.

The past year, however, was the first time FAO has reported production gains actually below population increases.

The increases in production were mostly in North America, 4 per cent, and Oceania, 3 per cent — both regions already eating well.

In developing regions where malnutrition is widespread, the gains were described as "very slight" — only 1 per cent in Latin America and 2 per cent in the Far East, excluding China.

FAO said that in 74 of the 85 countries for which statistics were available, the cost of living in 1963 was, on the average, higher than in 1962, largely because of an increase in retail food prices.

There were some decreases, FAO said. Food was 8 per cent cheaper in Nigeria, 6 per cent in Sierra Leone, 4 per cent in Tanganyika and Burma and 3 per cent in Kenya.

Urges City Sales Tax

DALLAS (AP)—The president of the Texas Municipal League planned today to stress the importance of legislation allowing cities to levy a municipal retail sales tax.

W. B. Strange Jr., mayor pro tem of Richardson and head of the league, said this emphasis would be among his remarks in an opening address before the league's convention here.

Strange said Texas cities are forced to labor under severe and archaic revenue restrictions.

"Texas cities must have access to a more just and equitable tax base," he said.

The 50 largest cities in the nation, he said, receive 31.3 per cent of their revenue from other than property taxes. Dallas gets only 13.3 per cent, Fort Worth 8.3, San Antonio 6.2 and Houston 11.8, Strange said.

The City of New Orleans gets more revenue from non-property taxes than the five largest cities in Texas—Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and El Paso—combined, he said.

Strange said all cities do not need such a tax but should have the right to levy it, if necessary. The mayor said he also would call upon the league to mount a massive attack on the rising crime rate.

He said he would ask in the name of the league for closer cooperation between city officials, the State Bar Association, judicial groups, prosecuting lawyers, law enforcement agencies and news media.

Byron Tunnell, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, was scheduled to address the opening session of the convention.

Gov. John Connally speaks at a league luncheon Tuesday.

State Assassination Report To Governor

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's report on the state's role in the investigation of President Kennedy's assassination goes to Gov. John Connally today at 4 p.m.

The report details the part Texas agencies played in investigating the Nov. 22 death of the president at the hands of a sniper. The Warren Commission concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald fired the fatal bullet.

Firemen Offer To Pinpoint Potential Hazards For You

City residents, who want to take advantage of a fireman's knowledge of how fires get started, can do so this week as the Big Spring Fire Department increases its home inspection efforts as part of Fire Prevention Week.

Residents may schedule inspections by calling any city fire station. The inspections, Fire Marshal A. D. Meador stressed, are entirely a voluntary cooperation by homeowners with fire department officials in locating possible dangers of fires.

The fire inspections are primarily being made between the hours of 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m., Meador said, in order to cause minimum interference. "We don't want to interfere with anyone's daily routine," Fire Marshal A. D. Meador said. "We just want to check their homes to possibly prevent some fires."

Many fires in homes can be prevented, Meador pointed out. If firemen can check such possible sources as overloaded electrical circuits, improperly vented heating areas and others. Firemen will only point out possible fire sources to residents, Meador said, with no reports being made concerning the checks.

The department hopes that interest will be such that firemen can continue making a number of such inspections throughout the year, Meador said.

A source of considerable fires in kitchens, he pointed out, are curtains near a stove, which may be blown near the stove's burners by a breeze. Hot water heaters are another source of fires if they are not fully ventilated, allowing fumes and heat to accumulate in a closet or enclosed area.

Emphasis is on the living room, garage, kitchen and hallways.

Where A Fire Can Start

Fire Marshal A. D. Meador points out to Mrs. H. H. Stephens, 1507 Eleventh Place, how a fire can possibly start in a heating closet through fumes from a unit. Firemen are making home inspections for residents as part of Fire Prevention Week.

In looking for possible fire dangers, Meador said:

Venting of floor furnaces, for example, may involve fire dangers, Meador pointed out, since a floor furnace without proper ventilation can explode. Many fires also occur when heating units, not in use during the summer months, are turned on for winter use, especially if old rubber hoses are used or if a large amount of lint has gathered around the units.

Meador pointed out that 37 per cent of all home fires occur in the living room, 21 per cent in the kitchen, 12 per cent in bedrooms and the remainder in halls, closets, attics and basements.

Some 6,000 persons are killed in home fires each year, Meador said, with $300 million in home property loss. A fire starts in a home somewhere in the United States every 60 seconds, he pointed out.

State Assassination Report Cites Officer, Reporter Roles

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr reported today on Texas' role in the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy and recommended that law officers seek better exchange of information and that reporters should review trial coverage practices.

Carr presented the brief report to Gov. John Connally, whose name is part of the title: "Texas Supplemental Report on the Assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the Serious Wounding of Gov. John B. Connally."

Carr concurred in findings of the Warren Commission, and added: "So far as is known to me or my special counsel there are no untapped sources of information in the assembling of all material facts pertaining to the assassination of President Kennedy."

Carr's report traced the plans for, and subsequent decision against, holding a court of inquiry—a fact-finding hearing by a justice of the peace—in Texas. The report concluded with a discussion of the legal aspects of obtaining fair trials.

PUT IN STRAIN Carr observed that "immediately following the arrest of Lee Harvey Oswald and after the arrest of Jack Ruby, the orderly procedures of the rule of law were placed under severe strain and unusual demands."

Carr gave three causes of the demands: "The news media...virtually took charge of the entrances, hallways, and public rooms of the city jail before Oswald was placed in jail."

"While local officials recognize that subsequent events, including the killing of Oswald by Ruby during an attempted transfer from the city jail to the county jail, magnified the deficiency in security measures, they do not accept the full responsibility for such conditions, because of the fact that they had no knowledge whatever of Oswald and his background until they were advised (after the assassination) of his presence in Dallas and his past activities by the federal authorities."

"Interviews and comments elicited by the news media from police officers and the prosecuting attorneys...were made public before arraignment or indictment of the suspects...the opportunity was provided for the leading defense counsel (Melvin Belli) to seize the microphones from cooperative news media in the courtroom and after the arrest of Jack Ruby, the orderly procedures of the rule of law were placed under severe strain and unusual demands."

The 4,000-report then concluded with three recommendations:

1. That the report and accompanying exhibits be filed in the state archives.

2. That representatives of the State Bar, the news media and local and state officials "take appropriate steps to establish a fair and satisfactory working relationship designed to prevent future disorder and confusion in pre-trial activities, deficiencies in security for prisoners, as well as to improve judicial ethics in criminal trials."

URGES STUDY 3. "Appropriate representatives of the various federal, state and local law enforcement agencies in Texas conduct a thorough study for the improvement of coordination and exchange of information concerning criminal or subversive subjects and recommend ways and means of improving security measures for the protection of the president, other high officials and distinguished guests while visiting our state."

Carr produced the report with the help of two prominent lawyers, former SMU Law School Dean Robert Storey of Dallas and Leon Jaworski of Houston. Carr joined him and federal officials met at the White House after Kennedy's funeral and decided on a three-step procedure:

1. The FBI would make an initial report to the President. This was done.

2. A Texas court of inquiry would be called, with federal officials cooperating.

3. A presidential commission would compile facts developed by the FBI and the court of inquiry into a report.

Chief Justice Earl Warren urged Carr to delay the court of inquiry, asserting that "A public inquiry in Texas at this time might be more harmful than helpful in our mutual search for the truth."

Carr complied, and instead worked with the Warren Commission, "assembling and submitting investigative reports" gathered by Dallas officials and "serving as liaison between the commission and" Dallas officials.

Goldwater To Be In Texas Twice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater will make two campaign visits to Texas this month.

Republican national chairman Dean Burch announced Sunday that the GOP presidential candidate will visit Brownsville, Beaumont and Houston Oct. 15, and campaign again in Texas Oct. 24. Places he will visit on Oct. 24 were not named.

"...AN' YA KNOW WHAT MARG

Queen To Begin Canadian Visit

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II arrives today to begin an 8-day Canadian visit that has sparked threats from French-speaking separatists in Quebec and pledges of loyalty in this maritime province.

The queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, were scheduled to land at the huge Royal Canadian Air Force Base at Summerside.

After a brief ceremonial greeting by Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, the royal party was to board the yacht Britannia for an overnight trip to Charlottetown, 45 miles away.

Prince Edward Island's capital, a city of 20,000, promised a warm welcome. Extensive security precautions were being taken, but officials said they did not anticipate trouble.

Charlottetown's mayor, Walther Gaudet, angrily told newsmen that the citizens are getting "damned annoyed" at suggestions that the situation which prevails in Quebec is also a problem here.

He said he was constantly hearing speculation that something awful is going to happen to the queen here.

"We are loyal and we find it difficult to understand such an idea," he said.

Provincial Premier Walter Shaw also minimized the possibility of trouble.

Some public officials are concerned that the threats of separatist demonstrations in Quebec and the emphasis on security measures will obscure the purpose of the royal visit, which is to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first conference on Canadian confederation.

The queen goes to Quebec after two days here.

Headlines and editorials in the British press stressed the fear that militant French Canadians might demonstrate to press their demand for a separate state. With President John F. Kennedy's assassination still in mind, security arrangements were reported the most stringent ever to surround the queen. Elizabeth was reported unperturbed.

Service Restored After Gas Line Blast

OTTAWA, Kan. (AP)—Service has been restored in a Texas to Detroit natural gas pipeline which exploded Saturday night in a towering column of flame visible for 70 miles. No one was injured.

The fire burned an area 400 by 200 yards around the break northeast of Waverly, Kan., along U.S. 50.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN

(To 1964: By The Chess Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, the dealer, you hold:

♠ 9 8 6 4 2 ♥ 7 ♦ A 10 4 2 ♣ A J

What is your opening bid?

A.—Pass. While this hand ostensibly contains 13 points, enough for an optional opening, flaws are present in the form of the unguarded queen of hearts and the A-J doubleton in clubs. There is the further consideration that no convenient rebid will be available if partner responds with two hearts over a one spade opening. Discretion, therefore, dictates a pass.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ K ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q J 4 3 2 ♣ K Q 4 3

Your partner opens with two no trump. What is your response?

A.—Four clubs. This is the type of holding that calls for use of the Gerber convention. All of your problems can be solved by ascertaining the number of partner's aces. If he responds with four diamonds, showing all four, you can confidently bid seven no trump and be prepared to spread your hand after the lead.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ 7 3 ♥ A Q 6 4 2 ♦ A Q 10 9 7 ♣ K

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass

2♦ Pass 3♦ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's three diamond bid is highly constructive since your rebid was not forcing on responder. Game aspirations should therefore be entertained and our choice is for a bid of four diamonds. If responder happens to have a hand containing three small hearts, he will have the opportunity to try four hearts over four diamonds. A bid of three hearts over three diamonds is not our choice because partner might be induced to raise to four on some hands containing only two trumps.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ K 3 ♥ 8 7 ♦ A 10 9 6 5 ♣ J 9 2

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West

Pass 1NT Pass Pass

Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have splendid defense against a no trump contract and should pass. We have not lost sight of partner's previous pass, but in view of the fact that he was willing to double the no trump bid he must be just under an opening bid himself. This means that West will show up with a practically trickless dummy and East will have to operate completely from his own hand.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠ K Q 10 7 ♥ 7 ♦ A J 6 3 2 ♣ K 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East South

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. Don't crowd a fellow who might be working for you. Give him plenty of elbow space. Any action by you that tends to impede the opposition is bound to prove to your material detriment.

Q. 6—As South you hold:

♠ A 6 3 2 ♥ K 4 3 ♦ A K Q 9 5 ♣ 6

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North

1♠ Double Pass 1♥

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may have only scant values, a jump is not to be considered. The best strategy calls for a bid of only two diamonds. If partner has any values he should make a further bid. If he happens to rebid hearts you may then go on to game in that suit. One should be reluctant to give an immediate raise with only three trumps where partner has been forced to bid.

Q. 7—As South you hold:

♠ A K Q J 6 ♥ A K 5 ♦ A 10 7 ♣ 4

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

2♥ Pass 2NT 3♣

What do you bid now?

A.—A forcing pass is indicated at this point. Your opening two bid was slightly shaded. Partner should be given the opportunity to double three clubs if he finds it to his taste. Furthermore, he might be able to bid three no trumps which could conceivably be the only safe game contract. In any event partner is obliged to act.

Q. 8—As South you hold:

♠ J 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ K 8 5 2 ♣ Q J 7 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East

Pass Pass 1♥ Double

What do you bid now?

A.—With this mediocre hand we recommend no action whatsoever. It is good policy to make it easy for the opponents to take this proposition off your hands. The fear that one heart doubled would be left in is unfounded. It rarely happens and then you must presume that partner can take care of himself.

Cotton Stocks Shifting Into Government Hands

By OVID A. MARTIN

Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — At 10 million bales, the stocks of cotton held by the government under farm price support operations are the largest since 1939 and more than one year's domestic needs.

An Agriculture Department report said stocks in commercial hands total around 2 million bales. This reflects how the holding of extra cotton has shifted from private hands to that of the government under the farm programs.

The department said it expects little or no change in this supply situation during the 1964 crop sales year ending next Aug. 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports that farmers are paying lower prices for seed used in fall planting of winter wheat, oats, rye and barley as well as for most legume seed than a year ago.

For all these seed combined prices this fall average 3 percent less than a year ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department plant breeders are working on the development of a creeping type of alfalfa that could be used effectively in areas subject to drought and alternate freezing and thawing conditions.

The common alfalfa does not do well under these conditions. The breeders have found that once established under ideal conditions, a creeping-rooted alfalfa plant and its offshoots may spread several feet annually. Assisting in the work are scientists at the Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station.

Violence Kills 22 In Texas

By The Associated Press

A total of 22 persons died violently across Texas over the weekend. Traffic accidents claimed 14 lives, including four in a single mishap near San Antonio.

Other fatal violence included stabbings, a shooting and a plane crash.

The Associated Press tabulated a list of the deaths from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

Moments before midnight, a two-story garage apartment near downtown Houston burned, killing Ulysses Franklin, 67. He apparently suffocated in the smoke. A fireman rescued a three-year-old boy, Gregory Paul Beverly, from the second floor.

Bill Buchanan, 37, Friona farmer, was killed Saturday when the raised bed of a grain truck fell on him.

Two pickup trucks collided east of White Deer in the Panhandle Friday night, killing Damasco Torres Noyola, 56, of Slaton.

Robert Winston, 68, was killed in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas Saturday night when he stepped in front of an oncoming automobile.

Isabell Martinez, 35, of Kansas City and La Joya, was found dead on a railroad track in Dallas Saturday night.

Thieves With Lots Of Brass Get More

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Thieves with lots of brass lifted a boxcar Sunday and made off with some more brass.

Police said $312 worth of brass axle bearings were missing from a Denver and Rio Grande freight car parked on a siding. They said the only way to get the bearings off was to lift the car.

Over $1 Million Left By Comedian

INDIO, Calif. (AP) — An estate of more than a million dollars was left by comedian Harpo Marx.

Marx, the silent, harp-playing member of the Marx Brothers comedy team, died Sept. 23 at 75. His will was filed for probate Saturday.

Named sole beneficiary was Marx's wife of 28 years, former actress Susan Fleming.

Spadework Needed Before 'Summitry'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson expects to meet fairly soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, but his top lieutenant in the Senate takes a dim view of summitry.

Some spadework is necessary before such a confrontation "would have significance," Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana said Sunday night on Radio Press International's "From the People."

Work on the ambassador level should precede any summit meeting, the Senate Democratic leader said, "to see what can be done in the way of an accommodation — if there is a possibility of really doing something which will be beneficial."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Society of Newspaper Editors has set Oct. 17 for a conference of news media representatives to discuss criticism in the Warren Commission report of news coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The report was particularly critical of the confusion in the basement of the Dallas City Hall during which Lee Harvey Oswald was shot by Jack Ruby.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Sunday automation is taking over 35,000 to 70,000 jobs last Saturday night, apparently killed by a train.

James Patrick Ramsland, 14, died in McAllen Saturday night after his motorcycle collided with a car.

Peter D. Repp, 22, San Antonio musician, was killed and eight other persons were injured early Sunday in a head-on collision of two cars 5 miles south of Georgetown.

Mrs. Jack Brown, 76, of Longview was killed when she was struck by a car Friday night.

Clarence D. Wilson, 38, was shot to death at Dallas Saturday. Police sought another Negro for questioning.

Charles Arthur Lively, a sergeant stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base, was killed Sunday when a single-engine civilian plane he was flying crashed.

Kathy Lavern Stokes, 15, of Tyler was killed early Sunday when the car in which she was riding went out of control and overturned near Tyler.

Mrs. Lugenia Randle, 67, was struck and killed by a car as she crossed a street in Houston Saturday night.

Lloyd Rowell, 39, of Denver, Colo., was shot to death on the front porch of a home in Houston Sunday.

Mrs. Mildred Turner Adams, 49, of Wimbors was killed Saturday when two cars collided 2 miles west of Wimbors.

Luciano U. Lopez, 33, of San Antonio was stabbed to death Sunday in a tavern following an argument. Police held another man for questioning.

Oscar Jones, 39, was shot to death in a home in Houston Sunday. Police said they were questioning a 66-year-old woman in the shooting.

Robert Jones, 30, a farm laborer from Robstown, Tex., was killed Sunday in a two-car collision in Corpus Christi.

A three-car pileup 9 miles south of Livingston on U.S. 59 Sunday night killed Mrs. Buena Wright of Houston and injured five other persons. State Highway Patrol Sgt. Jim Touchstone said one car tried to pass a pickup truck and met another automobile head-on.

Four persons were killed Sunday night in a four-car smash-up east of San Antonio.

The dead, all riding in the same car, were Roger Constinius, 26; his wife, Diana, 22; their daughter, Terry, five months; and Bobby Brent, 9, brother of Mrs. Constinius, all of San Antonio.

State's First Freezing Weather Hits Panhandle

By The Associated Press

The first freezing weather of the season slipped into the upper Texas Panhandle Monday. Perryton had 31 degrees. Other chilly readings were Dalhart 43, Amarillo and Wichita Falls 44, Alpine and Texarkana 45 and Dallas and San Angelo 48.

Meanwhile, dying Hurricane Hilda wasted away as a land borne tropical storm over Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

Texas had one repercussion from its near-miss with the hurricane. The Weather Bureau said small craft from the Texas northern Gulf coast to northern Florida should remain in port because of rough seas and the strong surge of cold air pushing in behind Hilda.

Forecasts called for fair skies in Texas through Tuesday. Cooler temperatures were predicted in Central and East Texas, with a warmup due in Southwest Texas Tuesday.

Auto Overturns

DUMAS, Tex. (AP)—Dwight Lamont Harris, 16, was killed early today when a car overturned three miles north of here on an unpaved county road.

Public Work Body Honors El Pasoan

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — An El Paso man was one of 10 top public works officials honored Sunday night during the 70th annual congress of the American Public Works Association.

He is Alonzo C. Taylor, regional engineer for the Bureau of Public Roads.

He and other public works personnel received awards from Paul Screvane, president of the New York City Council, and president of the association, and Edward Mayhan, president of Kiwanis International. The awards also were given on behalf of the Kiwanis.
