Distracted driver charged after fatal wreck

By Rachael Gleason
rgleason@mrt.com

A Midland man distracted by his cellphone's vehicle navigation software, which allegedly contributed to a wreck that killed a 20-year-old earlier this month on Highway 191, was arrested Thursday for criminally negligent homicide.

Samuel W. Dominguez, 18, is being held on a $250,000 bond for the state felony charge, which carries a prison sentence of up to two years.

The wreck occurred in the early morning hours of Aug. 3 near Mid-Cities Community Church.

Midland police and fire departments responded after midnight to a collision between a black car — driven by Dominguez — and a maroon SUV — driven by Dustin Wigington, of Odessa, according to a press release from Sara Higgins, public information officer for the city.

Both vehicles were traveling westbound on Highway 191 when Dominguez attempted to change lanes and exit the highway. The car struck Wigington's SUV, causing it to roll several times before landing in the eastbound lanes of Highway 191.

The 20-year-old, who had just gotten off work, was declared dead at the scene, according to the press release.

Dominguez, who was traveling to Odessa to pick up a friend, told officers he was following directions on his cellphone's vehicle navigation system when he attempted to exit Highway 191 at North County Road 1275 from the inside lane.

Dominguez said he did not see any vehicles around him and that the SUV was in his "blind spot," according to his arrest affidavit.

Officers determined Dominguez was distracted while trying to use his cellphone without a hands-free function, causing him to operate his vehicle in an unsafe and unreasonable manner, according to his affidavit.

A Midland man also died that weekend after a wreck at Faudree Road and Business 20, according to a press release from the Odessa Police Department.

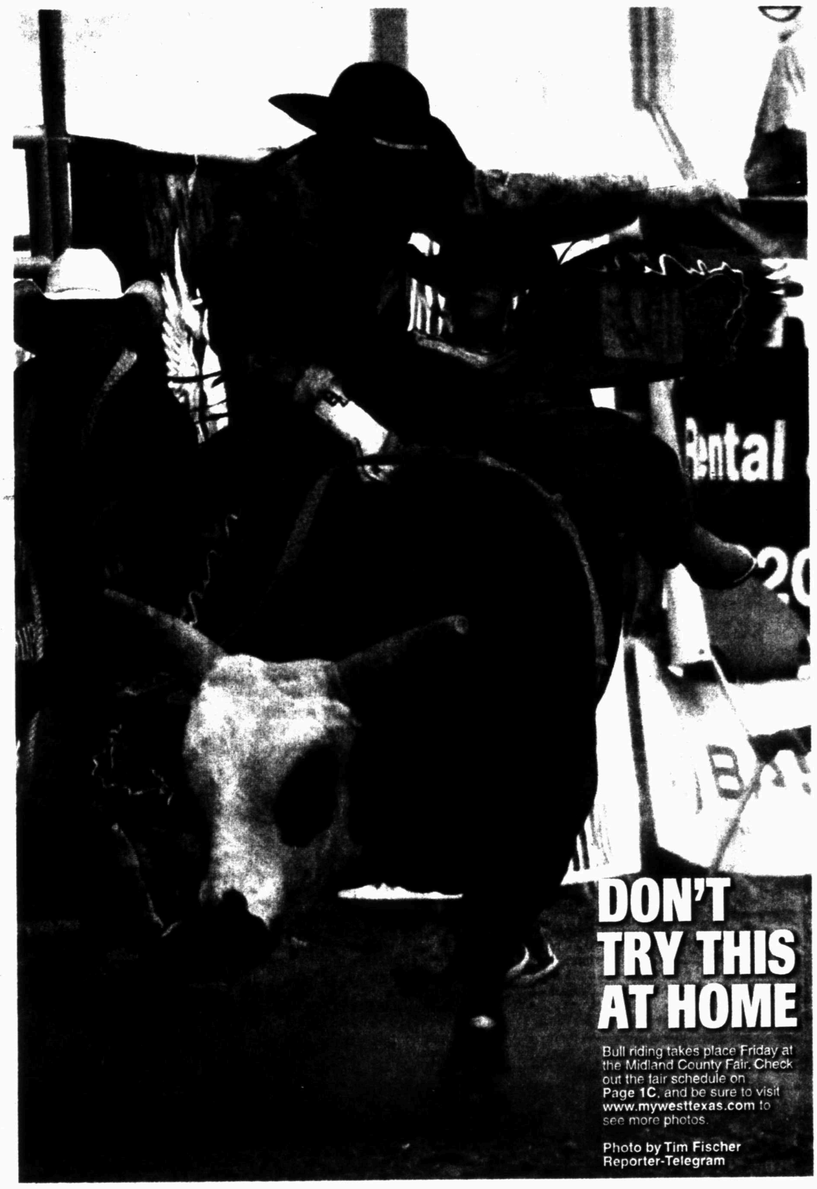

Tommy Lee Boerner, 33, of Midland, died after striking a white pickup pulling a utility trailer that failed to yield the right of way while turning onto Business 20 on Aug. 2.

Odessa police arrested the pickup's driver — 51-year-old Maragrito Baeza, of Midland — later that day on a state felony charge of criminally negligent homicide, according to Odessa police.

Wigington and Boerner were the 30th and 31st people to die on Midland County roads this year in 28 crashes.

Samuel Dominguez: Charged with criminally negligent homicide after a fatal wreck on Highway 191 earlier this month.

City animal shelter on pace to set low mark for euthanasia

By Joseph Basco
jbasco@mrt.com

The city's animal shelter is on track to match or set a record for the lowest euthanaia rate, an accomplishment reached by the partnership with an adoption agency.

Barring an increase in euthanasias between now and Sept. 30, the animal shelter is on track to be at or below the record of 3,000 this fiscal year.

Paul O'Neill, the city's director of animal services, attributed the achievement to the partnership the shelter has with the Midland Humane Coalition. The coaltion, which operates the adoption center at the Midland Petsmart, receives the majority of its animals from the shelter. The transfers to the coalition helped keep the euthanasia rate low this year, he said.

"Being able to bring more and more animals to Petsmart helped us quite a lot," O'Neill said.

Midland Humane Coaltion recently made a milestone of its own, having adopted out 1,530 animals. Steg Stegall, executive director of Midland Humane Coalition, said the adoptions have helped keep euthanasias low as well.

"We're ecstatic we adopted out many animals," Stegall said. "We had a lot of dogs and cats that could've been euthanized."

The achievements from both the animal shelter and the coalition are helping both agencies get closer to a long-term goal — making Midland a "no-kill" city, which means euthanasias would be limited to dogs who are old, seriously ill or mean-tempered.

To help reach that goal, O'Neill and Stegall both said spaying and neutering pets are key, as well as keeping adoption numbers up. Stegall noted that the coalition does not have a quota, but it strives to make euthanasia of adoptable animals a thing of the past.

The city of Midland Animal Shelter is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday. The shelter offers spay and neuter vouchers for city residents worth $70 that can be redeemed at any veterinarian that does spay and neuter procedures.

FROM WIRE REPORTS

AUSTIN

Low lake levels lead to restaurant's closure

A well-known Lake Travis restaurant will be closing its doors after experiencing an estimated 50 percent drop in business attributed to near-record low lake levels.

Gary Manley, co-owner of Carlos 'n Charlie's, tells the Austin American-Statesman the low lake levels have made it impossible for boaters to reach the restaurant by water.

Manley says, "There's no way to do it anymore. We haven't had boat parking in three years. Every year we kept trying to hang on, hoping it'd come back."

He says the restaurant's final day in business will be Labor Day. That afternoon, Carlos 'n Charlie's, which opened in 1994, will auction off many of its decorations.

Employees will have the opportunity to transfer to other restaurants owned by the business partners who operate Carlos 'n Charlie's.

AUSTIN

Texas high court to consider same-sex divorce

The Texas Supreme Court says it will consider whether the state has jurisdiction over same-sex divorces and the constitutionality of the state's law banning same-sex marriage.

The court will hold oral arguments on Nov. 5 for two cases presented by Dallas and Austin same-sex couples who married legally outside of the state. Texas voters overwhelmingly approved a constitutional ban on gay marriage in 2005.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott said in a brief that the state would benefit from the court's ruling on the issue and declaring the ban on same-sex marriage does not violate the U.S. Constitution.

The U.S. Supreme Court in June struck down parts of the Defense of Marriage Act because it treated same-sex couples unequally.

KILLEEN

Arrest made in death of man last year

Authorities say a 29-year-old Central Texas man has been arrested in the death last year of a man whose vehicle crashed into the backyard of a home after he'd been shot.

Killeen police say Donald Lee Mitchell Jr. was arrested Thursday at home in Harker Heights, located just outside of Killeen, by agents with the U.S. Marshal's Office. Mitchell had been been indicted Wednesday by a Bell County grand jury. He remained in Bell County jail Friday on $200,000 bond.

Forty-one-year-old Dominque Allen Davis was found shot in his vehicle in August 2011 after his vehicle crashed through a fence and into a backyard. He was pronounced dead at a hospital.

HOUSTON

Suspect charged with 1994 death of teen

A man has been charged in the 1994 shooting death of his 17-year-old girlfriend at his parents' home in Harris County.

The Harris County Sheriff's Office said Friday that 36-year-old Christopher Stoernell has been charged with murder in the death of Ruth Majewski.

Deputies say Stoernell, who now lives in Michigan, was charged last week and turned himself in. He's free on $50,000 bond. Court records did not list an attorney. A home phone number for him couldn't be found.

Sgt. Eric Clegg told the Houston Chronicle witnesses at the time of the shooting said Stoernell was acting recklessly with the .22 caliber pistol before he and Majewski went into a bedroom and a gunshot was heard.

Clegg says Storenell told investigators at the time that Majewski shot herself.

BROWNSVILLE

Jury finds US marshal not guilty of 2 charges

A jury in South Texas has found a deputy U.S. marshal not guilty of revealing an undercover federal agent's identity to his father — a convicted drug smuggler.

The jury in Brownsville had entered its third day of deliberations before returning a verdict Friday in the case of Lucio Moya.

Deliberations began late Wednesday after Moya testified in his own defense on charges of obstruction and accessory after the fact.

Moya said that in 2011 his father gave him a copy of the driver's license of a man the father said he suspected of drug smuggling. Moya said his father wanted to become a paid informant.

But prosecutors say Moya's father was part of a drug ring that was trying to check out a driver hired to haul marijuana.

HOUSTON

Man pleads to using immigrants on Michigan oil spill

An East Texas man has pleaded guilty in federal court to his role in transporting immigrant workers to Michigan to clean an oil spill.

Prosecutors say 50-year-old Thomas Gard of Nederland also conspired to pay the workers less than what was arranged by the contractor for the cleanup in Kalamazoo, Mich. Gard appeared in court Friday on charges related to harboring workers in the country illegally. A second man, 49-year-old Philip Hallmark of Winnie, Texas, entered a guilty plea in April.

The men worked as subcontractors who transported at least 42 workers to Kalamazoo after an oil pipeline ruptured in August 2010.

The conspiracy included housing and feeding the workers, who each were paid $800 in cash a week.

Obituaries

G. Michael Mull Jr.

G. Michael Mull, Jr. left this world in a tragic accident on August 16, 2013. He was a loving husband, father, and the greatest of friends. He was "THE" man. Mike made an impact on so many lives. His humor was infectious and he had a strong resolve to always do the right thing. Mike served his country for 12 years in the Arizona National Guard, serving 3 tours of duty, two of which were in Iraq. Mike was the recipient of the Bronze Star for his outstanding dedication to duty and service as squad leader in HHB 1/180 FA FWD during Operation Iraqi Freedom. Mike loved to ride his motorcycle and took extreme joy and pleasure in it. He also loved to sing karaoke and many will remember his stellar renditions of Ol' Red. Most of all, Mike cherished his family time with his wife, Sarah Beth and son, Brent.

Mike is survived by his wife, Sarah Beth Mull (Wolf), and their vivacious three year-old little boy, Brent Alexander Mull. He is also survived by George and Jeanie Mull (father and mother), Sara Edens (mother), Dan Mull (brother) and wife Melanie and their children Dusty and Ashleigh, Mark Mull (brother) and his wife Lucy and their son Mark Edward, Jr., and Barney Edens (brother) and wife Brandi and their children Kip, Chance, Liam, and Alexander. He is also survived by Elie Rogers (aunt), Sandy and Jay Murphy (aunt and uncle), Bea and Jimmy Olsen (aunt and uncle), Grandma Bear and her sister Eileen Wallace (great aunt). He will be missed by many and is loved by all. In lieu of flowers an account has been setup to benefit his son Brent and provide for his future college education. Kentucky railroad entrepreneur R.J. Corman dies at 58

Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky. — R.J. Corman, a Jessamine County entrepreneur who ran a multimillion-dollar railroad and construction company, died on Friday. He was 58.

Company spokesman Noel Rush said Corman died at about 11 a.m. at his home in Nicholasville. Corman, who went by "Rick," had been diagnosed in 2001 with multiple myeloma, a type of blood cancer.

Corman was founder and sole owner of R.J. Corman Railroad Group, which became one of only two major companies offering 24-hour emergency derailment cleanup for railways, The Lexington Herald-Leader reported.

The company Corman built started with a single backhoe and a dump-truck he bought after graduating from high school in 1973.

He started doing work for L&N Railroad, digging out and repairing railroad crossings. When Congress began deregulating the railroad industry in the 1980s, the companies began farming out maintenance, construction and derailment cleanups, giving Corman an opportunity to build his business.

Military jury convicts Hasan in Fort Hood attack

Associated Press

FORT HOOD — A military jury on Friday convicted Maj. Nidal Hasan in the deadly 2009 shooting rampage at Fort Hood, making the Army psychiatrist eligible for the death penalty in the shocking assault against American troops by one of their own on home soil.

There was never any doubt that Hasan was the gunman. He acknowledged to the jury that he was the one who pulled the trigger on fellow soldiers as they prepared to deploy overseas to Iraq and Afghanistan. And he barely defended himself during a three-week trial.

The unanimous decision on all 13 counts of premeditated murder made Hasan eligible for execution in the sentencing phase that begins Monday.

"This is where members (of the jury) decide whether you will live or whether you will die," said Col. Tara Osborn, the trial judge.

Hasan, who said he acted to protect Muslim insurgents abroad from American aggression, did not react to the verdict, looking straight at jurors as they announced their findings. After the hearing, relatives of the dead and wounded fought back tears. Some smiled and warmly patted each other's shoulders as they left court.

Because Hasan never denied his actions, the court-martial was always less about a conviction than it was about ensuring he received a death sentence. From the beginning, the federal government has sought to execute Hasan, believing that any sentence short of a lethal injection would deprive the military and the families of the dead of the justice they have sought for nearly four years.

Autumn Manning, whose husband, retired Staff Sgt. Shawn Manning, was shot six times during the attack, wept when the verdict was read. She said she had been concerned that some charges might be reduced to manslaughter, which would have taken a death sentence off the table.

"This is so emotional," she said in a telephone interview from Lacey, Wash., where she and her husband live. "I've just been crying since we heard it because it was a relief. ... We just wanted to hear the premeditated."

Hasan trial Q&A

Q: What charges did Hasan face?
Hasan was convicted of 13 specifications of premeditated murder and 32 specifications of attempted premeditated murder under the Uniform Code of Military Justice. He is eligible for the death penalty.

Q: Why did the case take so long to get to trial?
Judges in the case granted a series of delays for preparation or other issues, often at the request of Hasan or his attorneys. A fight over Hasan's beard, which violates military regulations, led to a reprieve shortly before the trial was expected to begin last year and the eventual replacement of the judge. Legal experts have said authorities are doing their best to avoid mistakes, noting that Hasan would have multiple mandatory appeals if he's found guilty of murder and sentenced to death. Military appeals courts have overturned most death sentences they've seen in the last three decades.

Q: What did victims say at trial?
Witnesses built a gory, detailed picture about what happened inside Fort Hood the afternoon of Nov. 5, 2009. They said a gunman shouted "Allahu akbar!" — Arabic for "God is great!" — before opening fire on unarmed soldiers, many of whom were getting ready to deploy to Afghanistan. A nurse working at the center, Ted Coukoulis, recalled people trying to save wounded soldiers who were dead or quickly bleeding to death. "I don't know how much blood I swallowed that day," he told jurors. Many soldiers thought the gunfire was a training exercise, and some didn't realize it was an attack until they were hit by bullets. Others recalled hearing a wounded soldier cry out, "My baby!" One of the soldiers who was killed, Pvt. Francesca Velez, was pregnant.

Q: What did Hasan say?
Hasan acted as his own attorney but called no witnesses in his defense and said little during the trial. He wanted to argue that he carried out the shooting in "defense of others" — namely, Taliban insurgents fighting American soldiers in Afghanistan — but the judge denied that strategy before the trial started. Hasan told jurors during a brief opening statement that the evidence would "clearly show" he was the gunman, but that it wouldn't tell the whole story. He cross-examined only three of prosecutors' nearly 90 witnesses. He made few objections but did challenge the government's definition of "jihad," successfully asking the judge that jurors be told that "under Islam, the central doctrine that calls on believers to combat enemies of the religious belief."

Q: What is Hasan's physical condition?
Hasan was shot in the back by officers responding to the shootings. He is paralyzed from the waist down, confined to a wheelchair, uses a catheter and wears adult diapers. His doctor testified earlier this year that Hasan cannot sit upright for more than 12 hours a day without his concentration being affected. His disabilities haven't appeared to be an issue in the courtroom. Hasan has been transported from jail to Fort Hood each day by military helicopter.

Q: Is Hasan still considered a soldier?
Yes. He has retained his rank of major and his salary even in jail. He wore a green camouflage uniform in court, with a green knit cap, instead of the dress uniform defendants typically wear in a court-martial. The judge, Col. Tara Osborn, has said the camouflage uniform was easier for Hasan to wear as a paraplegic.

United Way of Midland sets fundraising goal

By Ragini Venkatasubban
rvenkatasubban@mrt.com

United Way of Midland has set a record-breaking goal for its upcoming annual campaign.

According to Resource Development Director Whitney Roland, the United Way of Midland aims to raise $3.52 million, which would top the $3.5 million raised during its last campaign.

The organization kicked off its 2013 campaign Friday with "Bustin' Clay for United Way," a clay shooting competition at Jake's Clays. More than 600 shooters and volunteers gathered for the 12th annual competition, which had more than 40 sponsors and raised $180,000. Last year's competition brought in $208,607.

The millions of dollars United Way raised last year was donated to health and human service programs in Midland that focus on education, self-sufficiency and health. Last year's donations benefited 65,000 people, said Community Impact Director Alice Freidline.

The $3.5 million raised in Midland was well ahead of the $2.14 million raised in Odessa and $2 million raised in Abilene, according to a previous Reporter-Telegram article. The United Way of Midland has raised $3 million or more during 13 consecutive campaigns.

This year's goal was determined by the amount raised last year, Roland said. United Way surpassed its goal last year, and the organization has "high hopes" to do it again, she said.

United Way conducts two big events per campaign: a kickoff clay shooting competition in the fall and a wrap-up 5K run in the spring. The bulk of money raised comes from company campaigns and individual donations throughout the year.

5-car pileup shuts down part of I-20

By Rachael Gleason
rgleason@mrt.com

A five-vehicle pileup on Interstate 20 sent one driver to the hospital Friday after a dust storm caused traffic to suddenly slow down.

Authorities responded to the pileup at 5:23 p.m. and shut down one westbound lane of I-20 as they cleared the wrecks.

Here's how the scene unfolded, according to Department of Public Safety troopers:

- A white construction pickup, which was driving westbound in the 8900 block of I-20 behind a tractor-trailer, slowed to 5 to 10 mph and was struck by a gold Chevrolet Impala.

"Everything just came real quick, and everyone started stopping," said the pickup's driver, Luis Luna, who is from Odessa but has never seen a dust storm reduce visibility to that extent. "I couldn't see anything," he said.

- The Impala sustained damage to both ends as a second white construction pickup struck it from behind.
- The second construction pickup was then struck by a black Nissan Titan, sending the driver to the hospital with injuries that were not life-threatening. The vehicle sustained severe damages to both ends.
- The Nissan was struck by a white Ford Ranger Edge.

All of the drivers will be cited for various traffic violations, according to the troopers.

Seinfeld adds 2nd show at Wagner

Associated Press

Comedian Jerry Seinfeld has added another show to his Midland schedule. The comedian slated to perform at 7 p.m. Oct. 25 at Wagner Noel Performing Arts Center also will perform a second show at 9:30 p.m. the same day.

After a week of ticket sales, the 7 p.m. show sold out. Tickets for the 9:30 p.m. show are available now at wagnernoel.com or by calling 1-800-514-3849. Tickets range from $83 to $95.

The comedian starred in the NBC sitcom "Seinfeld" in which he played himself. The show, now in syndication, ran from 1989 to 1998.

San Diego mayor will resign

Associated Press

SAN DIEGO — Mayor Bob Filner agreed Friday to resign in return for the city's help defending him against claims he groped, kissed and made lewd comments to women, allegations that shook and embarrassed the city and turned the former 10-term congressman into a national punch line.

Filner was regretful and defiant during a City Council meeting as he explained the "the toughest decision of my life."

He apologized to his accusers but insisted he was innocent of sexual harassment and said he was the victim of a "lynch mob."

Random attack in Spokane leaves WWII veteran dead

Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash. — Police in Spokane, Wash., have arrested one of two teens suspected of fatally beating an 88-year-old veteran of World War II who had survived the battle for Okinawa.

Police contend that two 16-year-old boys approached Delbert Belton in his car at random Wednesday night outside an Eagles Lodge as he was waiting for a friend.

Belton was found by police with serious head injuries and died in the hospital Thursday.

Belton's death has struck a chord nationally and sparked outrage on social media.

"He fought for this country," said Belton's sister, Alberta Tosh, on Friday. "Then he comes home and a couple of creeps kill him in the worst way."

Police Chief Frank Straub said there was no information that the attack was motivated by anything other than robbery. Police were offering no details about the crime itself, including what was taken, if anything.

"I don't really care what their motive was," Straub added. "We are not going to tolerate this." Such random attacks are rare in Spokane, a city of 210,000 people in eastern Washington, Straub said.

Police say the arrested teen was being held on charges of robbery and first degree murder.

Straub identified the suspect still at large as 16-year-old Kenan D. Adams-Kinard.

Sides agree to drop Paula Deen discrimination lawsuit

Associated Press

SAVANNAH, Ga. — Lawyers signed a deal Friday to drop a discrimination and sexual harassment lawsuit against celebrity cook Paula Deen, who was dumped by the Food Network and other business partners after she said under oath that she had used racial slurs in the past.

A document filed in U.S. District Court in Savannah said both sides agreed to drop the lawsuit "without any award of costs or fees to any party." No other details of the agreement were released. The judge in the case had not signed an order to finalize the dismissal.

Former employee Lisa Jackson last year sued Deen and her brother, Bubba Hiers, saying she suffered from sexual harassment and racially offensive talk and employment practices that were unfair to black workers during her five years as a manager of Uncle Bubba's Seafood and Oyster House. Deen is co-owner of the restaurant, which is primarily run by her brother.

The dismissal deal came less than two weeks after Judge William T. Moore threw out the race discrimination claims, ruling Jackson, who is white, had no standing to sue over what she said was poor treatment of black workers. He let Jackson's claims of sexual harassment stand, but the deal drops those, also.

The lawsuit would be dismissed "with prejudice," which means it can't be brought again with the same claims:

"While this has been a difficult time for both my family and myself, I am pleased that the judge dismissed the race claims, and I am looking forward to getting this behind me," Deen said in a statement Friday.

Jackson also issued a statement that backpedaled on assertions that Deen held "racist views."

"I assumed that all of my complaints about the workplace environment were getting to Paula Deen, but I learned during this matter that this was not the case," Jackson said in the statement, which was confirmed by her attorney. "The Paula Deen I have known for more than eight years is a woman of compassion and kindness and will never tolerate discrimination or racism of any kind toward anyone."

It wasn't Jackson's racism allegations, but rather Deen's own words that ended up causing serious damage to her public image and pocketbook. The lawsuit got little public attention for more than a year until Jackson's lawyer questioned Deen under oath in May. A transcript of the deposition became public in June, and it caused an immediate backlash against Deen.

Deen was asked if she has ever used the N-word. "Yes, of course," Deen replied, though she added: "It's been a very long time."

Within a few days, the Food Network didn't renew Deen's contract and yanked her shows off the air. Smithfield Foods, the pork producer that paid Deen as a celebrity endorser, dropped her soon after.

2nd NM county issuing same-sex marriage licenses

Associated Press

SANTA FE, N.M. — The county clerk in the New Mexico state capital and the heart of this state's gay rights movement began issuing marriage licenses to gay and lesbian couples Friday, a court-ordered move that came just two days after a county clerk on the other end of the state decided on his own to recognize same-sex marriage.

The first couple to get a license in the state's third-largest county was Santa Fe County Commissioner Liz Stefanics and Linda Siegle, a lobbyist for Equality New Mexico, a gay rights group. Stefanics is a former Democratic state senator.

The couple walked into County Clerk Geraldine Salazar's office shortly after 1:30 p.m., and asked if they were still denying licenses to same-sex couples.

"Not today," Salazar said.

Second in line were the two men who filed the lawsuit that resulted in the court order directing the clerk to issue the licenses — Alexander Hanna and Yon Hudson.

"It's exhilarating and also humbling," Hudson said.

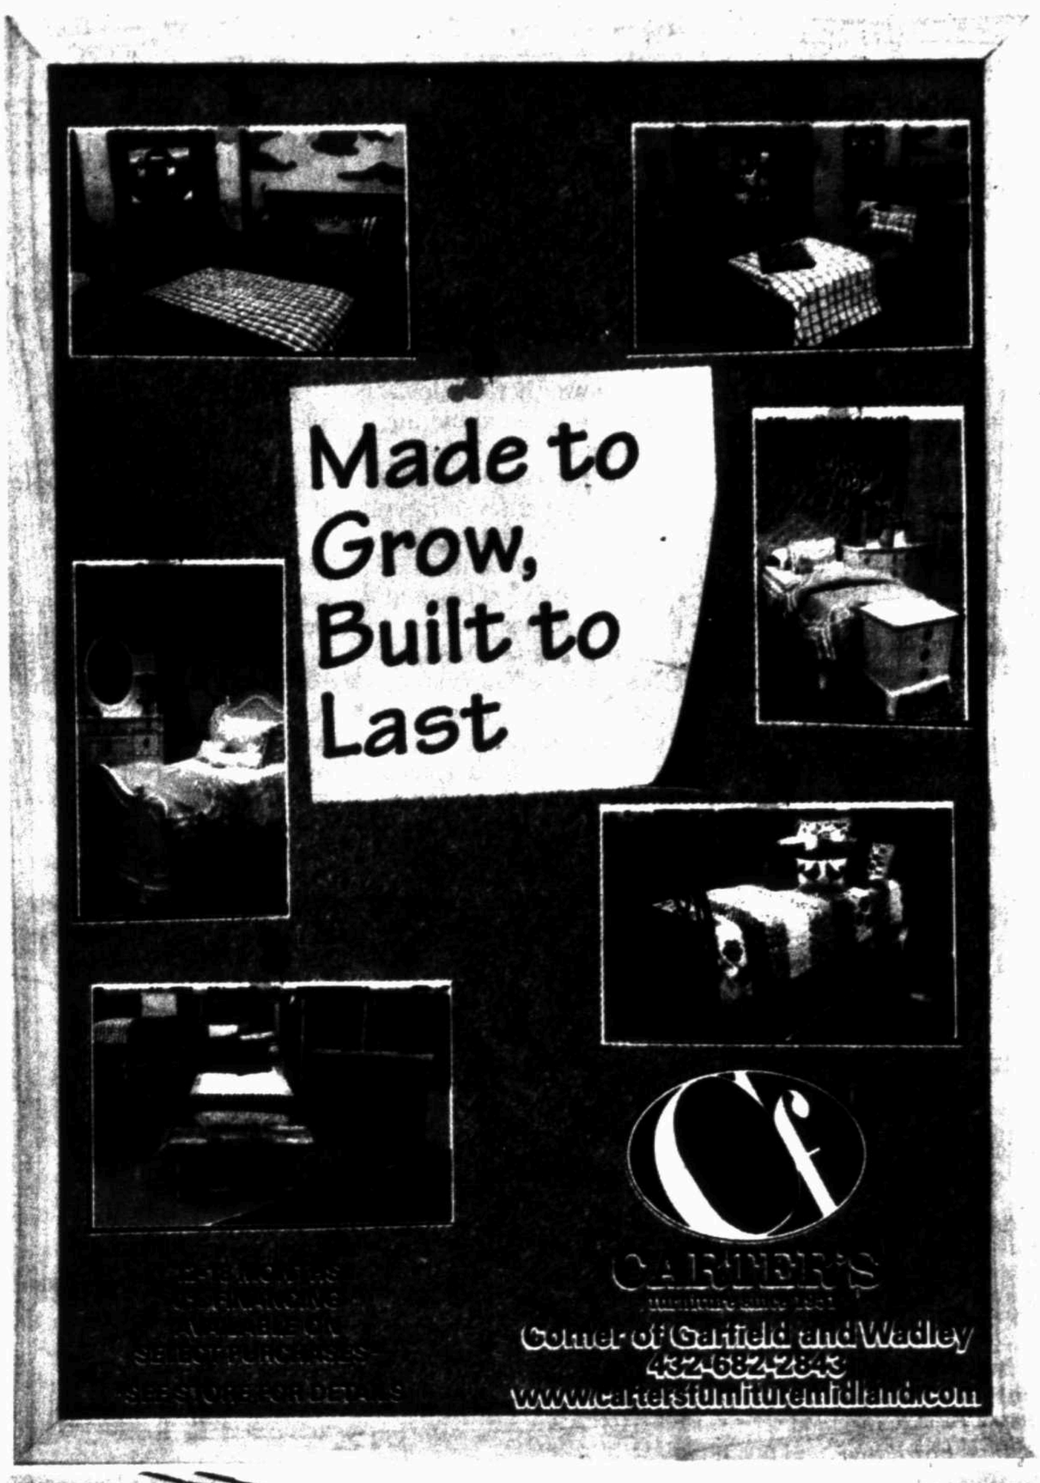

Salazar also sent a staffer to the chemotherapy suite at Christus St. Vincent Regional Medical Center, so Jen Roper, of Pojoaque, who is dying of brain cancer, could marry Angelique Neuman.

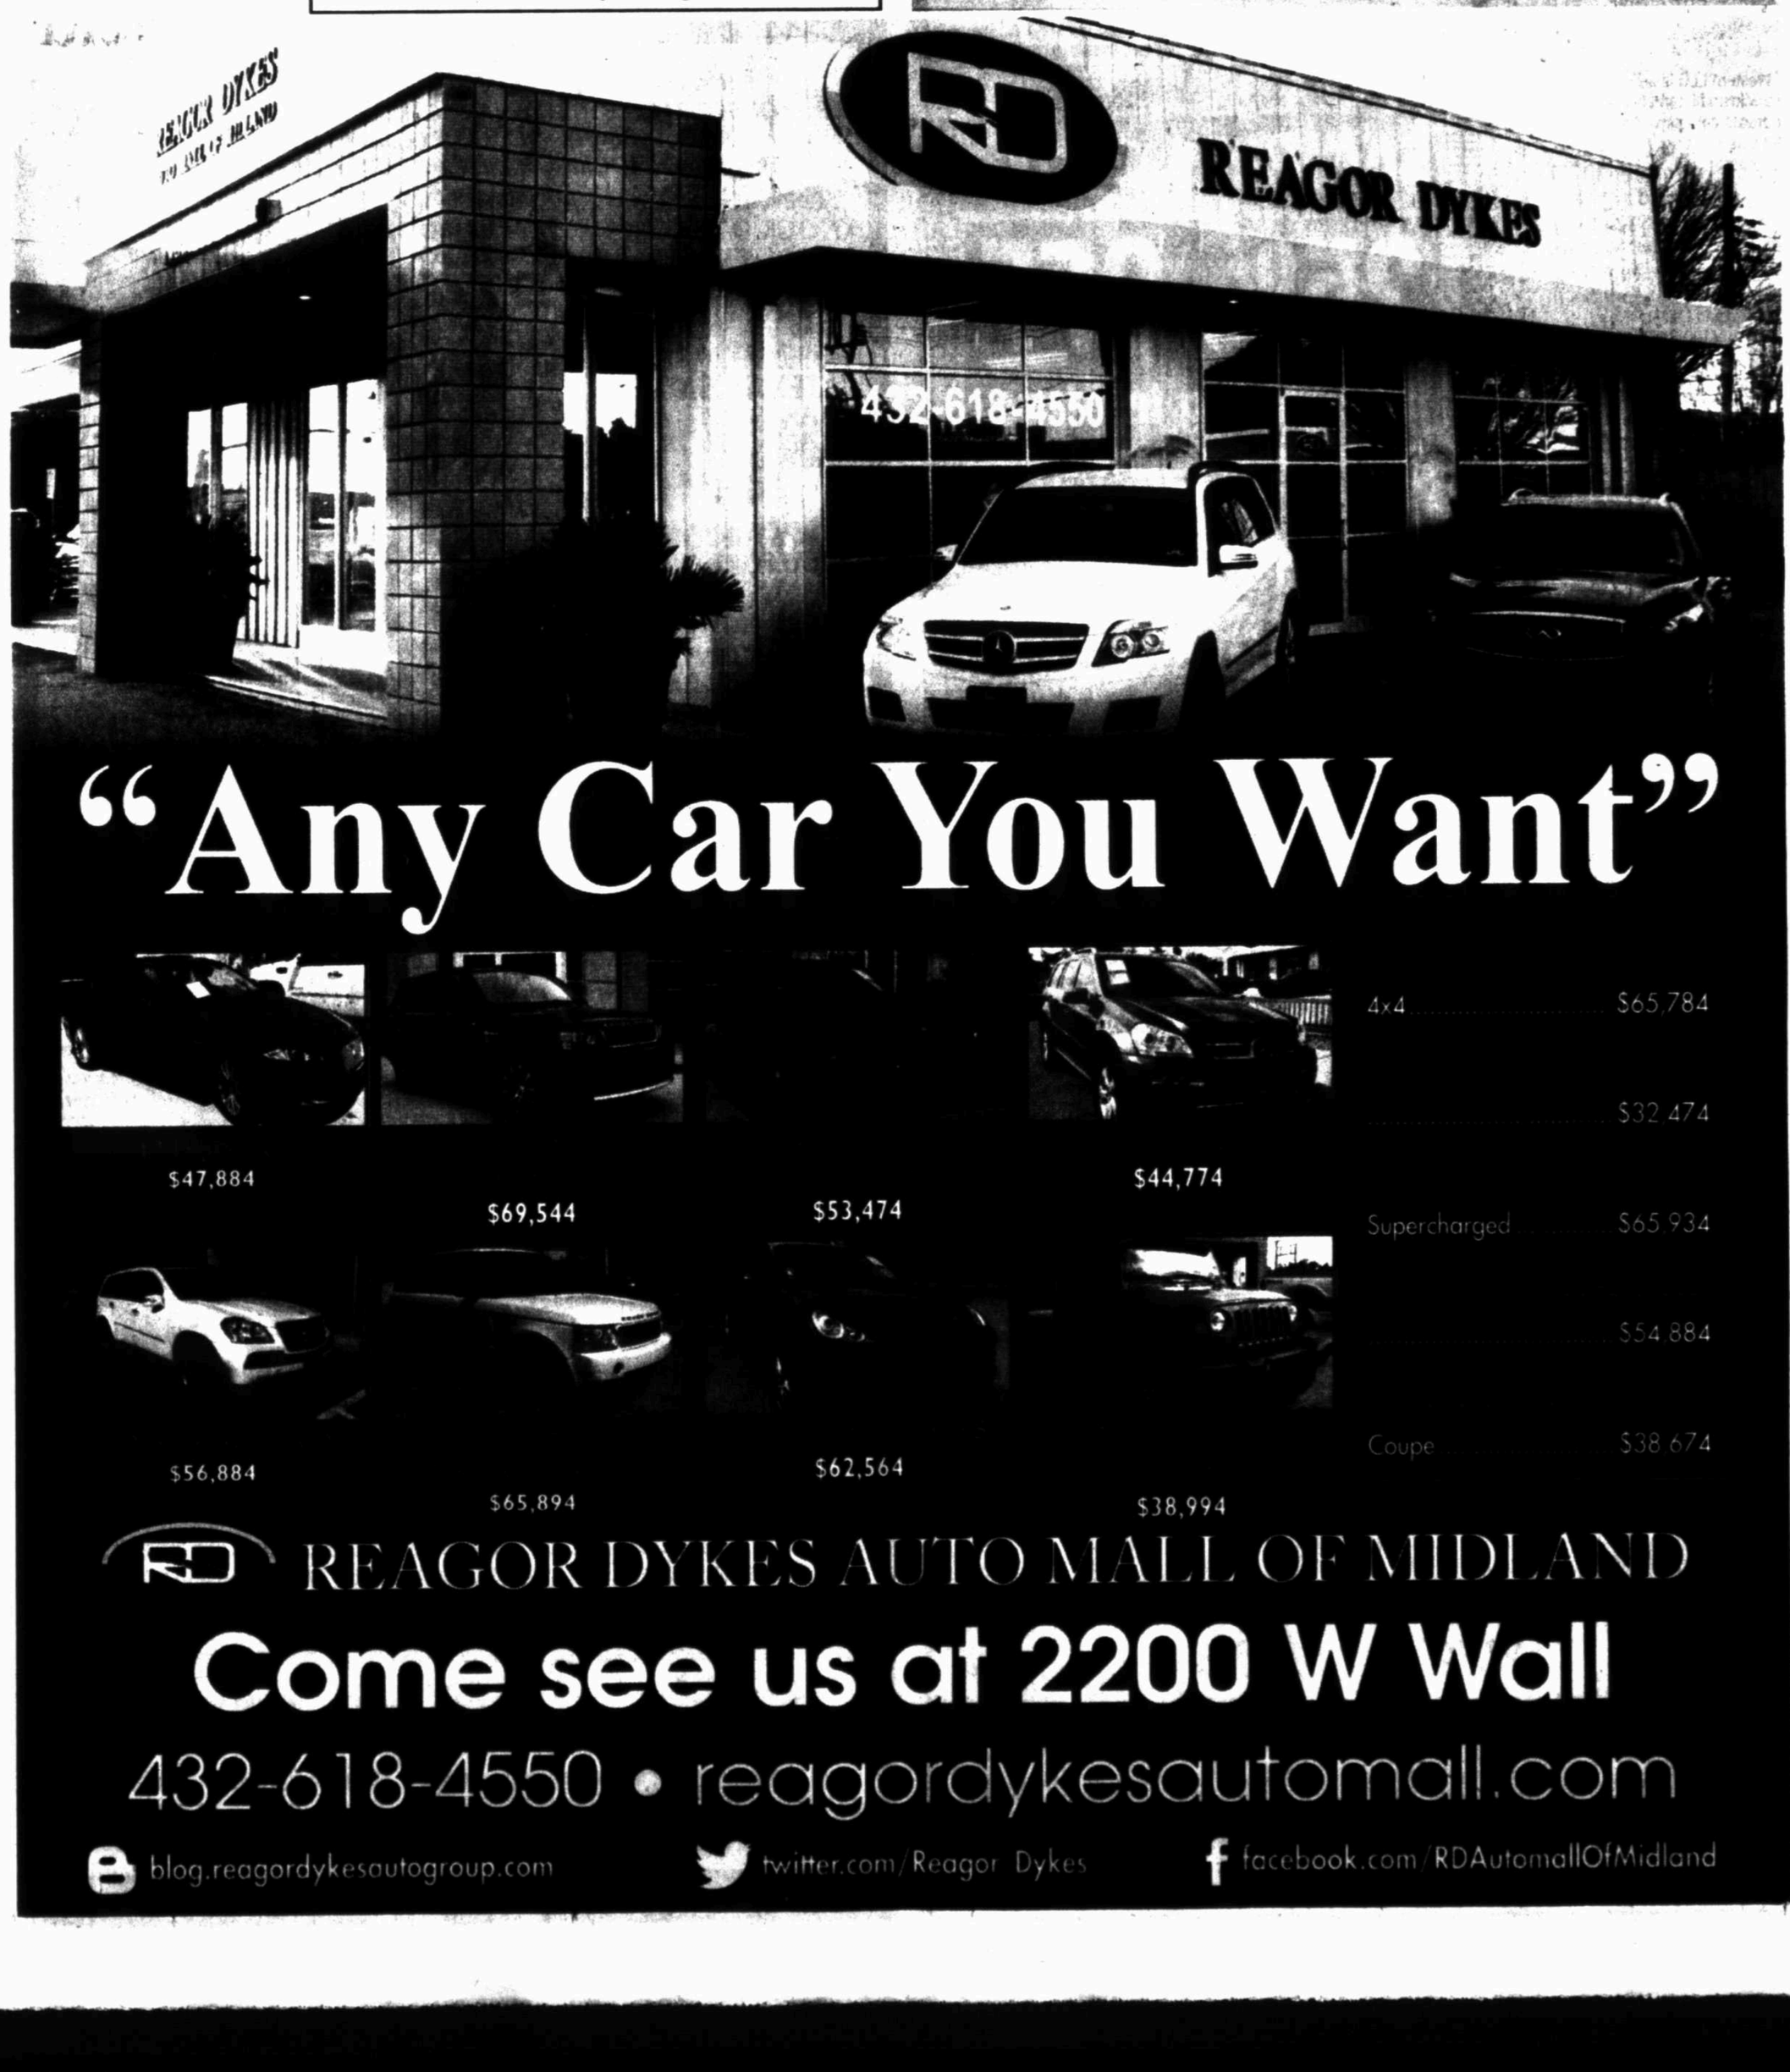

The order late Thursday from District Judge Sarah Singleton represents the first time a New Mexico judge has ruled that gay and lesbian couples can be married, said state Rep. Brian Egolf, a lawyer representing Hanna and Hudson in the lawsuit.

HOUSTON

US rig count falls 15 this week to 1,776

The number of rigs exploring for oil and natural gas in the U.S. fell 15 this week to 1,776, according to Houston-based oilfield services company Baker Hughes.

There were 1,382 rigs listed as searching for oil, down 15; 387 as searching for gas, down one; and seven as miscellaneous, up one. A year ago this week there were 1,408 oil rigs, a difference of 26, and 486 gas rigs, a difference of 99.

Directional drilling rigs declined by 13, ending the week at 256. Horizontal drilling rigs decreased by two for a total of 1,075. Vertical drilling rigs were unchanged at 445.

At this time last year there were 1,898 rigs in the U.S.

The number of rigs exploring for oil and natural gas in Texas increased by two this week for a total of 848. There were 895 rigs in Texas at this time last year.

Rounding out the top five states by rig count were Oklahoma with 169, unchanged; North Dakota with 169, down three; Louisiana with 110, down three; and 76 in New Mexico, unchanged.

Among the other major oil- and gas-producing states, Pennsylvana and Kansas each added one rig. California decreased by five rigs, Colorado lost four, Utah lost three, Ohio and Wyoming lost two each, and West Virginia was down one. Alaska and Arkansas were unchanged.

There were eight-fewer rigs searching for oil and natural gas in the Permian Basin, which ended the week at 466 rigs. The Eagle Ford had 234 rigs, up five; the Granite Wash had 72 rigs, down two; and the Barnet was unchanged at 30.

In the U.S., there were 1,692 rigs listed as on land, down 14; 22 in inland waters, down one; and 62 as offshore, unchanged. The Gulf of Mexico was unchanged at 59 rigs.

Canada added 25 rigs for a total of 383. There were 246 rigs listed as searching for oil, up 15; 137 for gas, up 10; and zero as miscellaneous, unchanged. At this time last year there were 334 rigs searching for oil and natural gas in Canada.

The total number of rigs exploring for oil and natural gas in North America was up 10 this week for a total of 2,159. There were 2,232 rigs in North America a year ago this week.

NEW YORK

Oil rises more than $1; pump prices inch higher

The price of oil rose for a second straight day Friday. Meanwhile, gasoline prices ticked higher as the summer driving season winds down.

Benchmark oil for October delivery gained $1.39, or 1.4 percent, to close at $106.42 a barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Oil rose $1.18 a barrel Thursday. Even with the two days of gains, oil fell $1.04 a barrel this week.

Oil rose after the U.S. government said that Americans cut back sharply in July on their purchases of new homes, a sign that higher mortgage rates may weigh on the housing recovery. Traders apparently saw the weak data as an indication that the Federal Reserve may need to wait before slowing down its bond-buying program.

Risk premiums linked to the political crisis in Egypt and labor conflicts at key Libyan ports used to ship oil exports also supported crude oil prices.

Egypt controls the Suez Canal and the Sumed pipeline, crucial transport routes between the Middle East and the Mediterranean Sea through which around 4.5 million barrels of oil and refined products are shipped daily.

Brent crude, which sets prices for imported oil used by many U.S. refineries, gained $1.14 to $111.04 a barrel on the ICE Futures exchange in London.

In the U.S., the average price for a gallon of gasoline ticked higher to $3.54 a gallon. Prices have held fairly steady over the past 10 days, and are down 9 cents so far in August.

In other energy futures trading on Nymex:

- Heating oil added 3 cents to $3.10 per gallon.
- Natural gas fell 6 cents to $3.49 per 1,000 cubic feet.
- Wholesale gasoline gained 3 cents to $2.87 per gallon.

ALASKA

Complaints arise over implementing new oil tax law

ANCHORAGE — Implementation of Alaska's new oil tax law is getting complaints from the people it was designed to help.

Oil industry officials said proposed new rules are confusing and may not be practical to implement.

The Anchorage Daily News reported some of the difficulty is deciding what will be considered "new oil" that gives petroleum companies the biggest tax breaks.

Gov. Sean Parnell and Republicans controlling both houses in the Legislature pushed through the new tax system. They said lower rates and new incentives were needed to stop or slow a decline in North Slope oil production.

Critics called the measure a giveaway to petroleum companies already earning healthy profits. An effort is underway to let voters decide whether to repeal the law.

The new law features a 35 percent base tax rate and $5 allowance per taxable barrel of oil produced. The allowance would apply to what would be considered new oil and production that also would qualify for a 20 percent tax break. Certain units comprised exclusively of leases with higher royalty rates, and those not getting royalty relief from the state, could qualify for a 30 percent tax break.

SALT LAKE CITY

Utah oil refinery settles pollution violations

Another Utah oil refinery has reached a settlement with federal regulators over pollution violations.

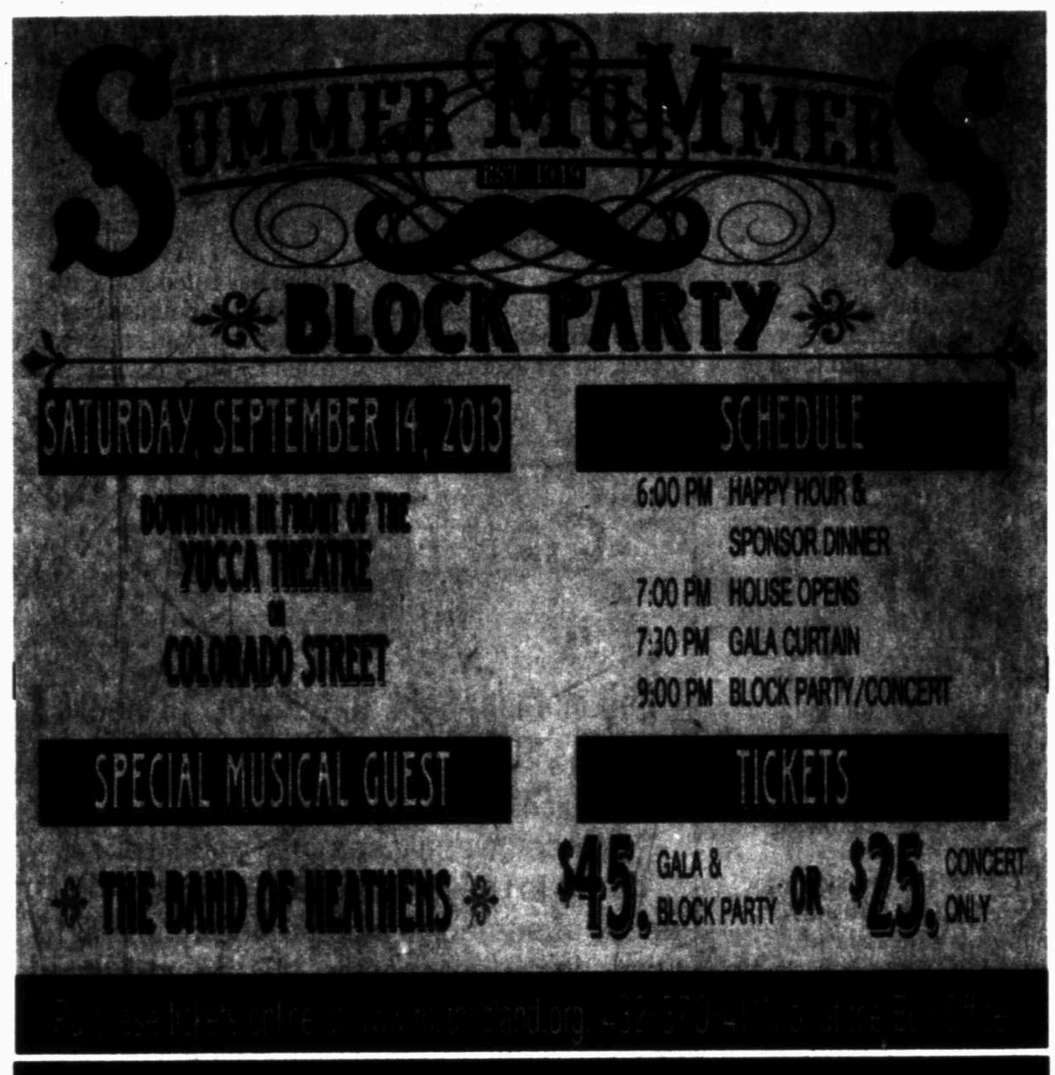

The U.S. Department of Justice and the Environmental Protection Agency announced Friday that Big West Oil LLC has agreed to pay a $175,000 fine and cut emissions of soot, nitrous oxide and sulfur dioxide.

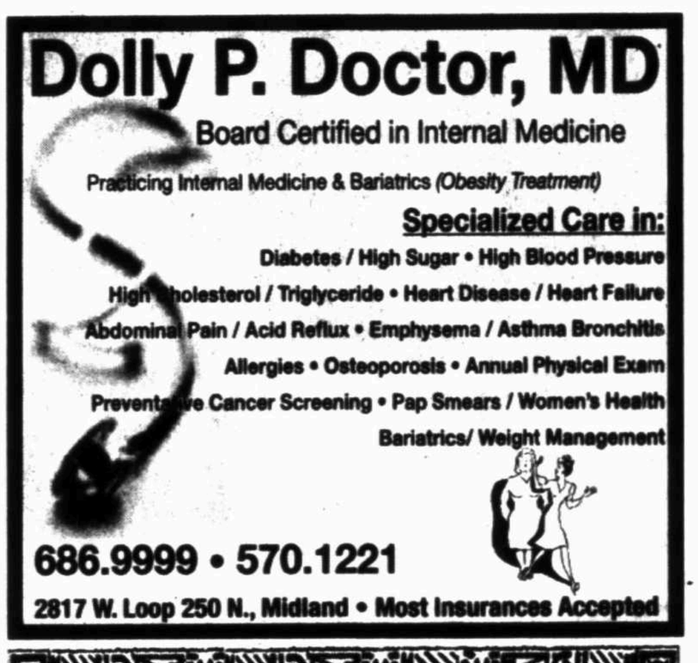

Big West Oil operates a refinery in North Salt Lake. It agreed to spend $18 million to update emission controls, plus $353,000 to improve the monitoring of potential hydrofluoric acid releases.

In addition, Big West agreed to update its leak detection and repair program to minimize fugitive benzene emissions.

Friday's settlement resolved alleged violations of the Clean Air Act.

At a nearby refinery in May, Tesoro Corp. agreed to pay $1.1 million to settle claims it failed to test or monitor the production of gasoline for harmful pollutants.

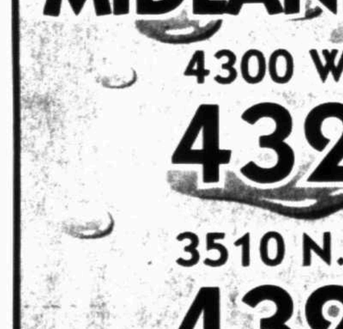

Texas voter ID law likely enforced next week

Associated Press

AUSTIN — Unless a federal judge intervenes, the South Texas city of Edinburg could be the first to enforce a new voter ID law next week, and lawyers will likely use the special election to gather evidence to strengthen lawsuits to block it in the future.

While the U.S. Justice Department and several civil rights groups have filed federal lawsuits to block the requirement that voters produce a state-issued photo ID, no one as of Friday had asked for a restraining order to stop enforcement of the law. That means it will be in effect when early voting in the city's special election begins Wednesday.

Allowing Texas to enforce the law could be part of a larger legal strategy to defeat it in the long run.

Texas has been the center of the fight over voting laws after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in June that Congress must update how it enforces the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Texas is the only state in the last three years where a federal judge has ruled the Legislature intentionally discriminated against minorities.

Federal judges in Corpus Christi are hearing two cases opposing Texas' voter ID law: One filed in June by Democratic U.S. Rep. Marc Veasey, the League of United Latin American Citizens, the NAACP and Dallas County and a new one filed Thursday by the Justice Department. Both cases will likely be combined by Judge Nelva Gonzales Ramos, an Obama administration appointee.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott insists there is nothing wrong with the voter ID law and says enforcing it is critical to preventing fraud in upcoming elections. He also points out that the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that states may require a photo ID to vote.

Opponents, though, say that's only if the requirement doesn't make it too difficult for people, particularly minorities, to cast ballots.

Those who brought the lawsuits argue Texas is doing just that by requiring state-issued ID cards. In the past, Texas law has allowed people to vote after showing their voter registration card or state, federal, city and college IDs.

The Justice Department points out that a state-issued ID can only be obtained from the Department of Motor Vehicles. Many counties don't have a DMV office, or it is only open one or two days a week and never on weekends or after 6 p.m.

The complaint adds that to get a free Election Identification Card, a person must pay either $22 for a certified copy of their birth certificate or $345 for a copy of naturalization and citizenship papers. State data also shows that Hispanic and African-American citizens are more likely not to possess a state-issued ID.

Lastly, the Justice Department lawsuit said, there was the process the Republican-controlled Legislature used to adopt the law.

"The Legislature and governor implemented a series of unusual procedures including designating (the voter ID bill) as emergency legislation, which enabled the Senate to consider the bill on an expedited schedule," court papers say. Lt. Gov David Dewhurst also amended the rules to exempt the bill from needing a two-thirds majority and Speaker Joe Straus created a special committee to consider the bill.

Collier first Democrat for statewide office

A Houston businessman has become the first Democrat to announce for statewide office. He's running for state comptroller in 2014.

Mike Collier said on his website Friday that his experiences as a businessman and financial professional make him the perfect candidate to take charge of the state's bank accounts.

He promised to bring more transparency to the office currently held by Susan Combs, who is retiring next year.

Collier is the first Democrat to announce they are running for statewide office. A Democrat hasn't won statewide since 1994. Democratic leaders have said more candidates will likely announce once Forth Worth Sen. Wendy Davis decides whether to run for governor. She's promised an announcement after Labor Day.

Three Republicans are competing for their party's nomination in the March 4 primary.

Possible GOP presidential contender Cruz visits NH

DUBLIN — U.S. Sen. Ted Cruz, a Texas Republican seen as a possible contender for president in 2016, visited New Hampshire tonight.

Cruz attended a New Hampshire Republican State Committee fundraiser in Dublin. The $100-a-ticket event at Knollwood Farm was attended by about 40 people who met privately with Cruz under a tent atop a hillside overlooking the Monadnock Valley.

The freshman senator has made national headlines suggesting that Republicans in Congress shut down the federal government to stop implementation of President Barack Obama's signature health care overhaul, the Affordable Care Act.

NEW YORK

Obama sends warning to GOP about government shutdown

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. — Casting an eye toward upcoming budget fights, President Barack Obama on Friday warned Republicans against trying to defund his signature health care law, vowing to protect spending on education, scientific research and America's infrastructure.

Taking questions from college students in central New York, Obama decried the Republican approach as "penny-wise and pound-foolish," predicting the U.S. will fall further and further behind other nations in decades to come unless it prioritizes creating opportunities for young people.

"When Congress gets back to Washington, this is going to be a major debate," Obama said during a town hall at Binghamton University.

Obama said it's the same debate he and lawmakers have been having for two years and that the difference now is that the U.S. has made progress in cutting deficits.

"My position is going to be that we can have a budget that is sensible, that doesn't spend on programs that don't work, but does spend wisely on those things that are going to help ordinary people succeed," he said.

Ohio State set for 3rd corpse flower bloom of 2013

COLUMBUS — A large rainforest plant known as a corpse flower because of its terrible smell is expected to bloom soon at an Ohio State University greenhouse that already experienced two of the rare blooms this year.

The 5.5-foot titan arum hadn't opened by Friday morning, but the school said it was on the verge. The plants unfurl to reveal a bold, reddish-purple color and release the smell of rotting-flesh.

NEW YORK

Ex-convict sentenced for sneaking into NYC jails

A convicted sex offender who repeatedly used phony correction department credentials to gain entry into New York City jails has been sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Matthew Matagrano was sentenced Thursday. The 36-year-old Yonkers resident pleaded guilty last month to posing as a correction officer and sneaking into the Manhattan Detention Center, where he mingled with inmates for hours.

During a Feb. 27 visit Matagrano assaulted an inmate and stole a $2,500 walkie-talkie. He also handed out cigarettes to inmates.

Matagrano's rap sheet includes a conviction for sodomy and sexual abuse. Police statements released in court report Matagrano said he repeatedly sneaked into jails because the people inside were "nice" and made him "feel important."

COLORADO

Hacked road sign shows support for Snowden

TELLURIDE — A portable, electronic road sign that was supposed to alert drivers to delays on a southwest Colorado road got changed to say something completely different.

For roughly a day, it read, "SNOWDEN IS A HERO," referring perhaps to Edward Snowden, who leaked classified documents to reporters. The Telluride Daily Planet received a photo of the sign from a reader.

Colorado Department of Transportation spokeswoman Nancy Shanks said a time stamp on the photo indicates the message was up for at least 23 hours. A colleague turned off the sign Wednesday.

MHS, Lee have varying results in scrimmages

Temple throws speed at Dawgs

By Greg Wille
Temple Daily Telegram

TEMPLE — Midland High coach Craig Yenzer said one of the reasons he likes to bring his team all the way from West Texas to Central Texas for a scrimmage is that Temple's team speed helps his Bulldogs prepare for upcoming opponents.

"We just don't see your kind of speed in our neck of the woods," Yenzer said. "That top-to-bottom speed is what we need to see for us to practice faster and play faster. That's the No. 1 thing I told my team."

The Wildcats certainly complied with Yenzer's intentions Friday night.

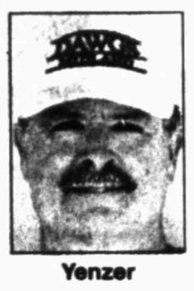

Temple showcased its speed and athleticism on both sides of the ball as it outscored Midland 20-10 during two timed quarters of action at Wildcat Stadium. That followed the controlled portion of the scrimmage, in which the Wildcats scored five touchdowns to the Bulldogs' one.

"I honestly saw what I hoped I'd see," said Temple third-year coach Mike Spradlin, who used to face Yenzer's Midland High squads

Rebel defense has solid day

By Jordan Mason

SHALLOWATER — The last time Lee wasn't practicing against itself, it saw its season end in a flurry of second-half points, 28 to be exact, as San Angelo Central rallied to keep the Rebels out of the postseason.

Amarillo High certainly isn't San Angelo Central when it comes to high-flying offenses — and Friday won't count in the win column — but the Rebel defense was certainly proud of its effort Friday as the Sandies' first-team offense scored just once in the teams' intersquad scrimamge at Todd Field.

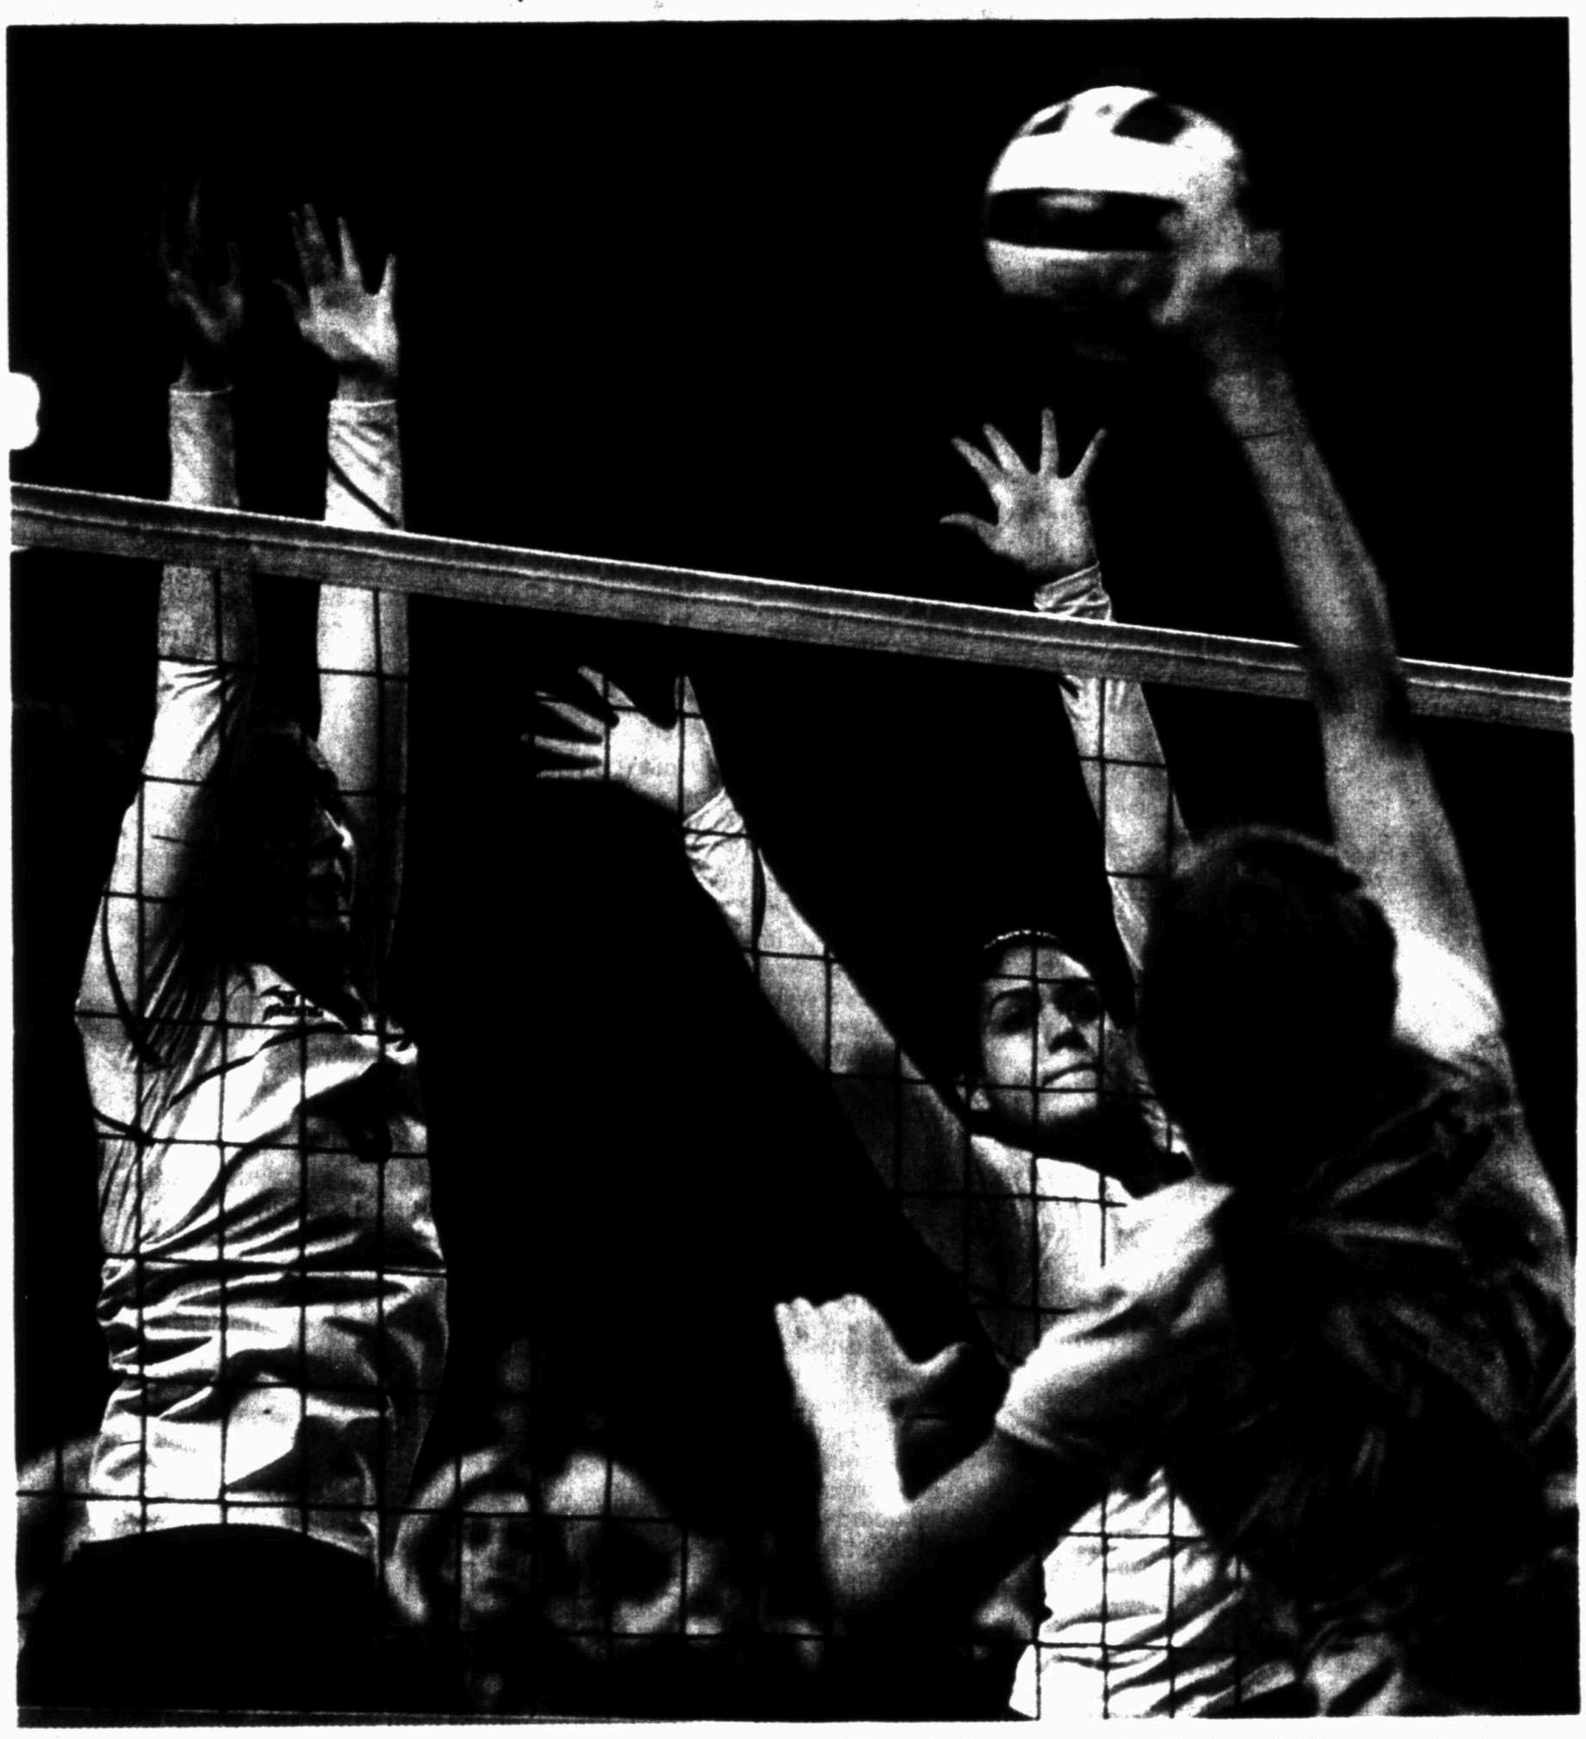

"It feels real good," said senior safety Logan Vitello. "We feel real confident about our defense."

Lee made the Sandies, who return two starters on offense, look the part of an inexperienced team Friday as it only allowed one scoring drive, which came in the first half of the scrimmage.

The Rebel defense was particularly effective in the live portion of the

From staff reports

Midland RockHounds reliever Jeff Urlaub struggled to throw strikes late against the Corpus Christi Hooks on Friday ultimately allowing the Hooks to take a 4-3 victory at Whataburger Field.

With the score tied 3-3, Urlaub started the ninth by walking Ryan McCurdy, who moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Ronald Torreyes. Urlaub then intentionally walked Enrique Hernandez, but unintentionally walked Leonardo Heras to load the bases.

Hooks first baseman Erik Castro ended the game with a ground ball single up the middle of the infield, scoring McCurdy to end the game.

Urlaub took the loss after allowing the winning run and giving up one hit and three walks in 1 1/3 innings.

The RockHounds took a 3-1 lead after scoring all of their runs in the top of the fifth. It was a two-out rally as Conner Crumbliss singled to score Chad Oberacker and Vinnie Catricala to put Midland up 2-1. Crumbliss scored two batters later on a Jefry Marte single.

A Matt Duffy solo home run pulled Corpus Christi within 3-2 in the sixth, while a wild pitch by Midland reliever Blake Hassebrock allowed Torreyes to score from third in the seventh to tie

Cowboys hope to jumpstart offense in dress rehearsal against Bengals

By Tom Orsborn
San Antonio Express-News

ARLINGTON — Tony Romo shrugged when reminded after the Dallas Cowboys' 12-7 loss last week at Arizona that he's yet to direct a touchdown drive this preseason.

"We'll be in the end zone soon enough," the quarterback said.

The Cowboys hope "soon enough" means Saturday's 7 p.m. dress rehearsal against Cincinnati because the first-team offense's next chance to get rolling won't come until the Cowboys host the New York Giants in the opener Sept. 8.

While the starters will play into the second half against the Bengals, they will be on the sideline for the preseason finale Aug. 29 against Houston, also at AT&T Stadium.

"There is no need for us to get nervous or pout," receiver Dez Bryant said. "It's simple. We just need to tune it up and fix some things."

Judging by Dallas' play of late, it might not be that easy.

The Cowboys suffered six turnovers in losing to the Cardinals, including fumbles by Lance Dunbar and Bryant at the Arizona 7- and 28-yard lines. In the five possessions over the two preseason games he's played this month, Romo has led Dallas (1-2) to only three points.

Romo completed 7-of-10 passes for 142 yards against the Cardinals, but he overthrew wide-open rookie Terrance Williams on what should have been a 47-yard touchdown pass. For the preseason, Romo is 13-of-18 for 230 yards with no interceptions after offseason surgery to remove a cyst from his back.

"You really just need to keep improving and the rest of the stuff will take care of itself," Romo said. "We have to put the ball in the end zone and cap the drives off, and we are going to make a concerted effort so that happens (Saturday)."

Pro Bowl tight end Jason Witten said it begins with protecting the football.

"We didn't do a very good job of that (in Arizona)," he said. "It's something we've talked about all offseason. Hopefully, we'll move the ball, get in the end zone, be productive and put more than one drive together."

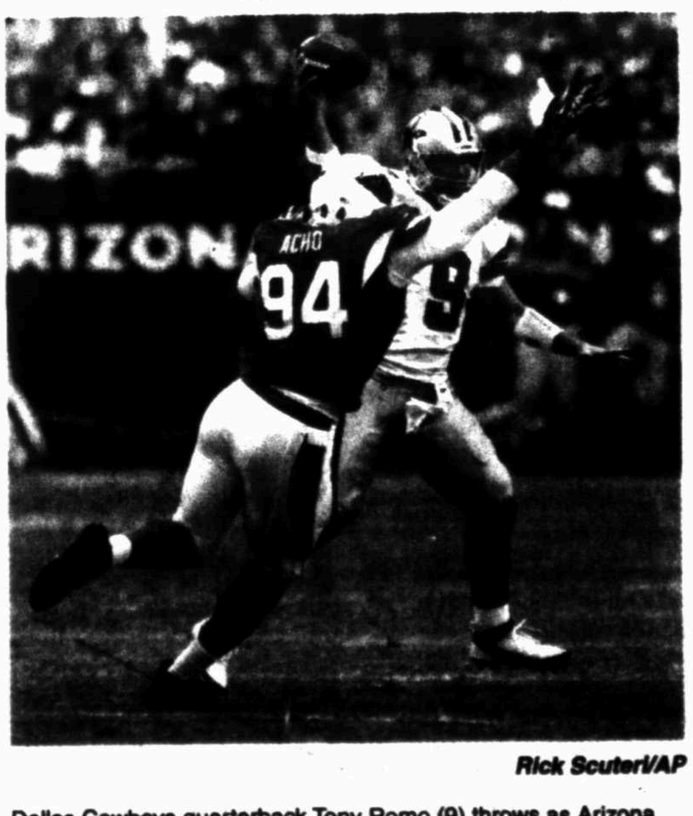

Like Romo, tailback DeMarco Murray hasn't played much in the preseason. The third-year pro has only 22 yards on seven carries.

Coach Jason Garrett said Murray's meager production stems partly from the penalties and turnovers that have stymied the running game in the red zone. Of the 26 snaps Romo has taken, 19 have been pass plays.

But Murray should break a sweat against Cincinnati (2-0).

"What we try to do is bump him when Spradlin coached at Abilene Cooper from 2006-10. "We were very aggressive defensively and were flying around.

DAWGS

"With the exception of the two long plays we gave up (in the timed quarters), I thought we were pretty dominant. We got after it."

Junior running back Jeff Carr and senior slot receiver/backup quarterback Chase Truelove scored two touchdowns apiece for the Wildcats.

Temple, 6-4 last year, will seek the 700th win in program history when it hosts Round Rock in next Friday night's season opener. Midland High, 5-5 a year ago, will begin its season at home against El Paso Americas at 11 a.m. next Saturday. That will be followed by a road game at Hurst L.D. Bell.

On the first possession of the controlled portion, Wildcats junior cornerback Clint Cole drilled a Midland High receiver on a Sam Grimes pass that sailed high. Several plays later, Temple senior linebacker Michael Hicks made a juggling interception when Grimes threw a quick slant.

Defenders such as second-team all-state linebacker Dominick Thompson and senior ends James Judie and O'Sha Solomon consistently invaded the Bulldogs' backfield, giving Grimes and fellow senior quarterback Preston Howey limited time to step into their throws.

"We were playing fast out there," Thompson said. "Like Coach Dunnam (defensive coordinator Aaron Dunnam) says, just hit 'em. Our defensive line played perfect, really the front seven. Really we played good overall."

With the temperature pushing 100 degrees around 6:30 p.m., Temple's offense came out hot on its first possession of the controlled portion. On the Wildcats' second play, Baylor-committed junior quarterback Chad President hit receiver DeAngelo Bell in stride and Bell pulled away for a 65-yard touchdown.

It was the first of three touchdowns on Temple's initial 10-play possession. After Carr scooted off right tackle for 39 yards, President faked a handoff and Truelove got wide-open in the left side of the end zone for an 18-yard scoring catch. Then from the Temple 40-yard line, the speedy Carr weaved through dense traffic at the line and sprinted in for a 60-yard TD.

"He's a standout," Spradlin said of Carr. "He's pretty special."

Operating Temple's second-team offense, Truelove took off running and scampered along the right sideline for a 35-yard touchdown.

Thompson, Judie, Solomon, safety Ladarius Thomas and linebacker Ty McCorkle starred the next time Temple's No. 1 defense was on the field, and safety D'Artagnan Seay intercepted a long Grimes pass.

A holding penalty negated a 47-yard touchdown run on Midland High's next possession, but Darius Reed later crashed in for a 1-yard TD run.

Temple's Le'Ronace Hicks had a 13-yard touchdown run up the middle to cap the scoring in the controlled portion.

The Wildcat defense got a stop to start the first timed quarter, then President passed to Erick Arizmendi for 28 yards, Davion Curtis for 9 yards on fourth-and-8 and another of 19 yards to Arizmendi to set up a 1-yard touchdown rumble by Dewayne Dobbins.

Arizmendi struck again to begin the second quarter. He caught a crossing pass from President and sliced through defense for a 14-0 advantage after Cole Martin's second extra point.

The Midland offense finally had an answer, with big senior receiver Mazelle Justice catching a post pass from Grimes and dragging a defender on a 61-yard gain to the 8. Justice then beat his defender to catch a 12-yard touchdown pass from Grimes for a 14-7 game with 10 minutes left.

After Deandre Goodley's 41-yard catch from Howey, Temple limited Midland to a 30-yard field goal that made it 14-10 with 6:31 remaining.

Wildats junior running back Marques Hatcher then provided separation, literally. He burst up the middle and outran everybody for a 60-yard touchdown at the 5:41 mark to complete the scoring.

"We got challenged in several areas tonight, and as a team it will help us in our evaluation," Yenzer said. "I don't put much credence into who won the scrimmage. We played 65 kids a whole bunch."

Added Yenzer of Midland's quarterback competition: "Our quarterback situation has been real interesting. (Coming into training camp) I thought Sam was ahead, but I'm not sure that's the case."

Spradlin said his team's lone scrimmage served its purpose and couldn't have gone much better from his perspective.

"We didn't want to get too juiced tonight," he said. "It's just fun to get out here and get to hit somebody else."

scrimmage, which consisted of two 10-minute quarters, shutting out the Sandies and forcing the only turnover of the scrimmage on a fumble caused by senior linebacker Brives Turner and recovered by junior cornerback Juwan Lee.

With the Rebel offense having a hard time getting going — the first team had only scored once the entire scrimmage to that point — the defense was happy to come up with a momentum-changing play.

"I think that pushed our offense more to show them that we were out there busting our butts just for them to get back out there and try to go score and put points on the board for us," Turner said. "So, I feel like that was a good turnover, and I feel like after that they realized that we were stepping it up, so I felt like they were trying to step it up too just as much as we were."

In the live portion, Amarillo High never had more than two first downs in a series, and Lee only allowed three plays of 10 yards or more. Perhaps the most encouraging part is that coach James Morton still saw plenty of room for improvement.

"I liked it OK," Morton said of the defensive play. "We don't have all of our adjustments on and other things, so they hurt us in some sets, but I'd like to see us tackle better, just do the little things right. I'll have to look at the video sure, but I want to see us running to the football."

What else Morton said will be a focal point going forward is the play on offense as Lee scored once in the first half of the scrimmage. The Rebels found a bit of a rhythm in the live portion, scoring twice — once by the first team and once by the second — but Morton said his team still has work to do with its new system.

"You can tell that we're still not comfortable offensively," Morton said. "We're kind of thinking our way through it, kind of slow — that's got to get to where it's second nature for us.

"I'd say our biggest focus is going to be that to where all that stuff is just playing the game, and we're not there as an offense. But as the game went on, I think we got a lot better."

The defense will be right there with the offense in trying to improve before next week's opener against El Paso Coronado.

Because like their perfectionist of a coach, Turner and Vitello were still looking forward to getting better even after the encouraging performance Friday.

"After today we feel pretty good about ourselves," Turner said, "but we've just got to keep working to fix the mistakes."

Added Vitello: "We've got a long way to go."

Portland, Seattle meet in Dempsey's home debut

By Tim Booth
Associated Press

TUKWILA, Wash. — Aside from his head coach, Brad Evans is about the only one who has been there for all the moments, games and events that have helped define the Seattle Sounders and the wild success of the franchise.

Sunday night will be another one of those memorable events for the Sounders when the second-largest crowd for an MLS regular-season game — about 67,000 fans — is expected to see the home side face rival Portland in Clint Dempsey's first home match with Seattle.

The Sounders have played twice with Dempsey, both on the road in Toronto and Houston. It's just luck of the schedule that his home debut comes against Seattle's most heated rival with CenturyLink Field having been sold out for a couple of weeks.

"It's great things are moving in that direction," Dempsey said about the attention on Sunday's match. "The game is growing here, as you can see — more franchises popping up, more soccer-specific stadiums. It's awesome to be a part of, helping continue the growth of the game here. The most important thing is to make sure we're successful here in Seattle and we get the job done."

While bragging rights and positioning in the Cascadia Cup rivalry between Seattle, Portland and Vancouver will always be at stake anytime the three sides are facing off, Sunday's match brings a new aspect that hasn't been there the last two seasons: a legitimate fight for playoff positioning with two months left in the regular season.

Portland enters the match unbeaten in its last three and in second place in the Western Conference but smarting from a missed opportunity to move on top of the conference standings. The Timbers held a late 3-2 lead against 10-man Real Salt Lake on Wednesday night, but gave up a stoppage time goal for a 3-3 draw, the Timbers' 12th tie this season.

"We definitely want to play this game against Seattle as quickly as possible," Portland's Ryan Johnson said following the 3-3 draw. "We're all looking forward to going. It's going to be a great game with all of those fans. Should be exciting."

Meanwhile the Sounders are still playing catch up. Entering the weekend they are two points behind Vancouver for the final playoff spot in the Western Conference, but have played the fewest league matches of any team in MLS. Having additional games to make up ground is an advantage for the Sounders. The disadvantage they have is the upcoming games in September and October when Dempsey, Evans and Eddie Johnson will likely be gone for World Cup qualifying.

Seattle is welcoming Portland's success, just as long as the Timbers don't get in the way of the Sounders' own playoff aspirations. The competitiveness is good for the rivalry, beyond just geographical proximity of the two franchises.

"For me there are always the marquee games. The first game of the inaugural season; Kasey Keller's farewell game was a big game; and anytime we meet these guys it's a big game," Evans said. "You add a little bit of something extra when it's Clint's first game at home, selling out what we think is the whole stadium, but also there has never been this sort of battle for positional rankings right now and the standings haven't been as close as they are right now."

Connecticut beats Washington at LLWS

SOUTH WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Chad Knight said he was on edge. It never showed as he laced the biggest hit of his young life.

Knight lined a run-scoring single to left field in the bottom of the seventh inning, and Westport, Conn., beat Northwest champion Sammamish, Wash., 14-13 in a wild game Friday to earn a spot in the U.S. championship game at the Little League World Series.

SHR making progress in pursuit of Busch, Childers

By Jenna Fryer
Associated Press

BRISTOL, Tenn. — While team co-owner Tony Stewart is sidelined at home nursing a broken right leg, Stewart-Haas Racing is charging full steam ahead with aggressive plans for 2014.

SHR competition director Greg Zipadelli said Friday the team is moving forward in its pursuit of 2004 NASCAR champion Kurt Busch, who has been offered a seat in a new ride that would expand the organization to four cars next season. The push for Busch is being made by team co-owner Gene Haas, who Zipadelli said only wants Busch for the seat that apparently would be funded and sponsored by Haas' CNC machine company Haas Automation, Inc.

"As far as Kurt's deal, that is moving forward," Zipadelli said. "We spent time this week talking about buildings and expanding. So as far as that part goes, we're pretty much committed. If we can get it all worked out, we're going to add that link."

Meanwhile, Rodney Childers informed his Michael Waltrip Racing team he wouldn't be returning in 2014 to crew chief Brian Vickers. Although he has nothing officially lined up, it appears to be a mere formality until he finalizes a deal to move to SHR next season to crew chief Kevin Harvick.

"It's actually not 100 percent done, but I think everybody has a good idea what it is," Childers said.

The flurry of activity for SHR comes as Mark Martin prepares to drive the No. 14 Chevrolet on Saturday night at Bristol Motor Speedway as the latest replacement for Stewart. The three-time NASCAR champion is out for the rest of the season after breaking his leg in two places in an Aug. 5 sprint car crash in Iowa.

Zipadelli has spent the last three weeks lining up driver replacements — first was Max Papis at Watkins Glen, then Austin Dillon last week at Michigan — and a deal was worked out to get Martin freed from his commitments with MWR, where he shared a seat with Vickers, to replace Stewart everywhere except Talladega going forward.

That allows Zipadelli to concentrate on what has obviously become a very aggressive plan to turn SHR into a NASCAR powerhouse.

FROM WIRE REPORTS

DENNY HAMLIN GRABS THE POLE AT BRISTOL: At Bristol, Tenn., Denny Hamlin has won the pole for Saturday night's race at Bristol Motor Speedway.

Hamlin turned a lap at 128.969 mph around the 0.533-mile bullring in Friday qualifying to put his Toyota in the top starting spot at Bristol for the first time of his career. It made him 2 for 2 so far this week at Bristol, where he won Wednesday night's Truck Series race.

Brad Keselowski finished second and was followed by Austin Dillon and Justin Allgaier.

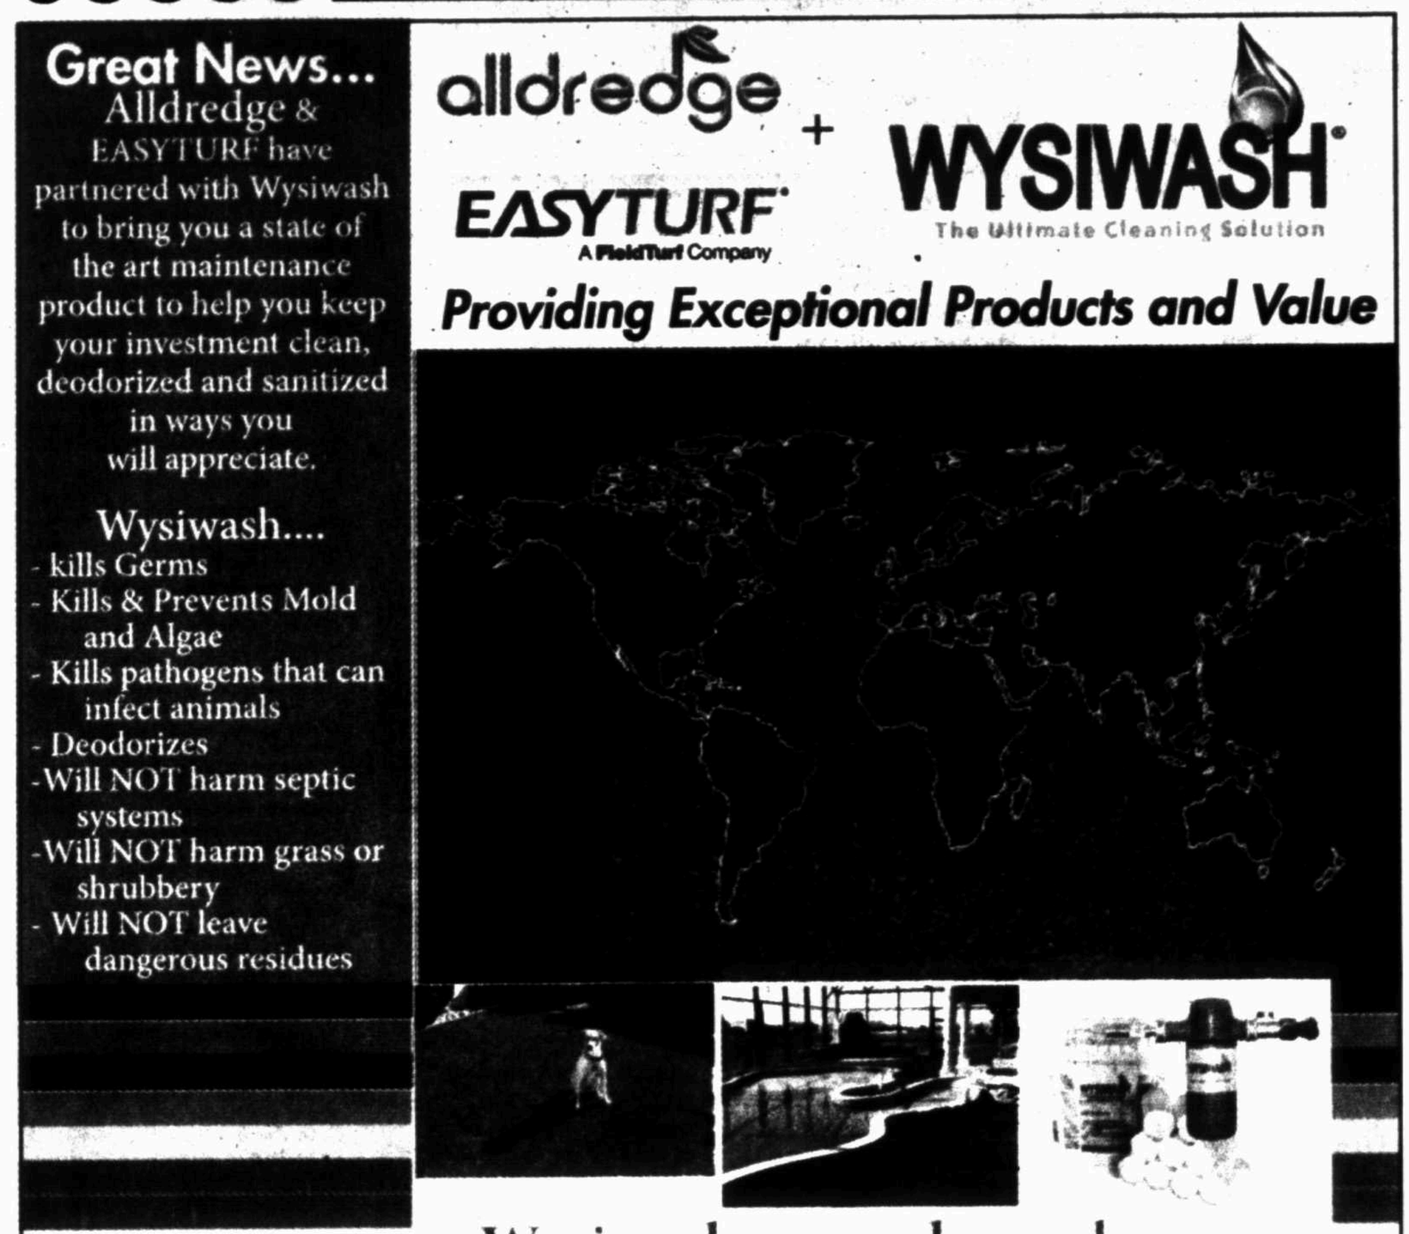

BUSCH DOMINATES BRISTOL TO WIN NATIONWIDE RACE: At Bristol, Tenn., Kyle Busch has won the Nationwide Series race at Bristol Motor Speedway for his ninth series win of the season.

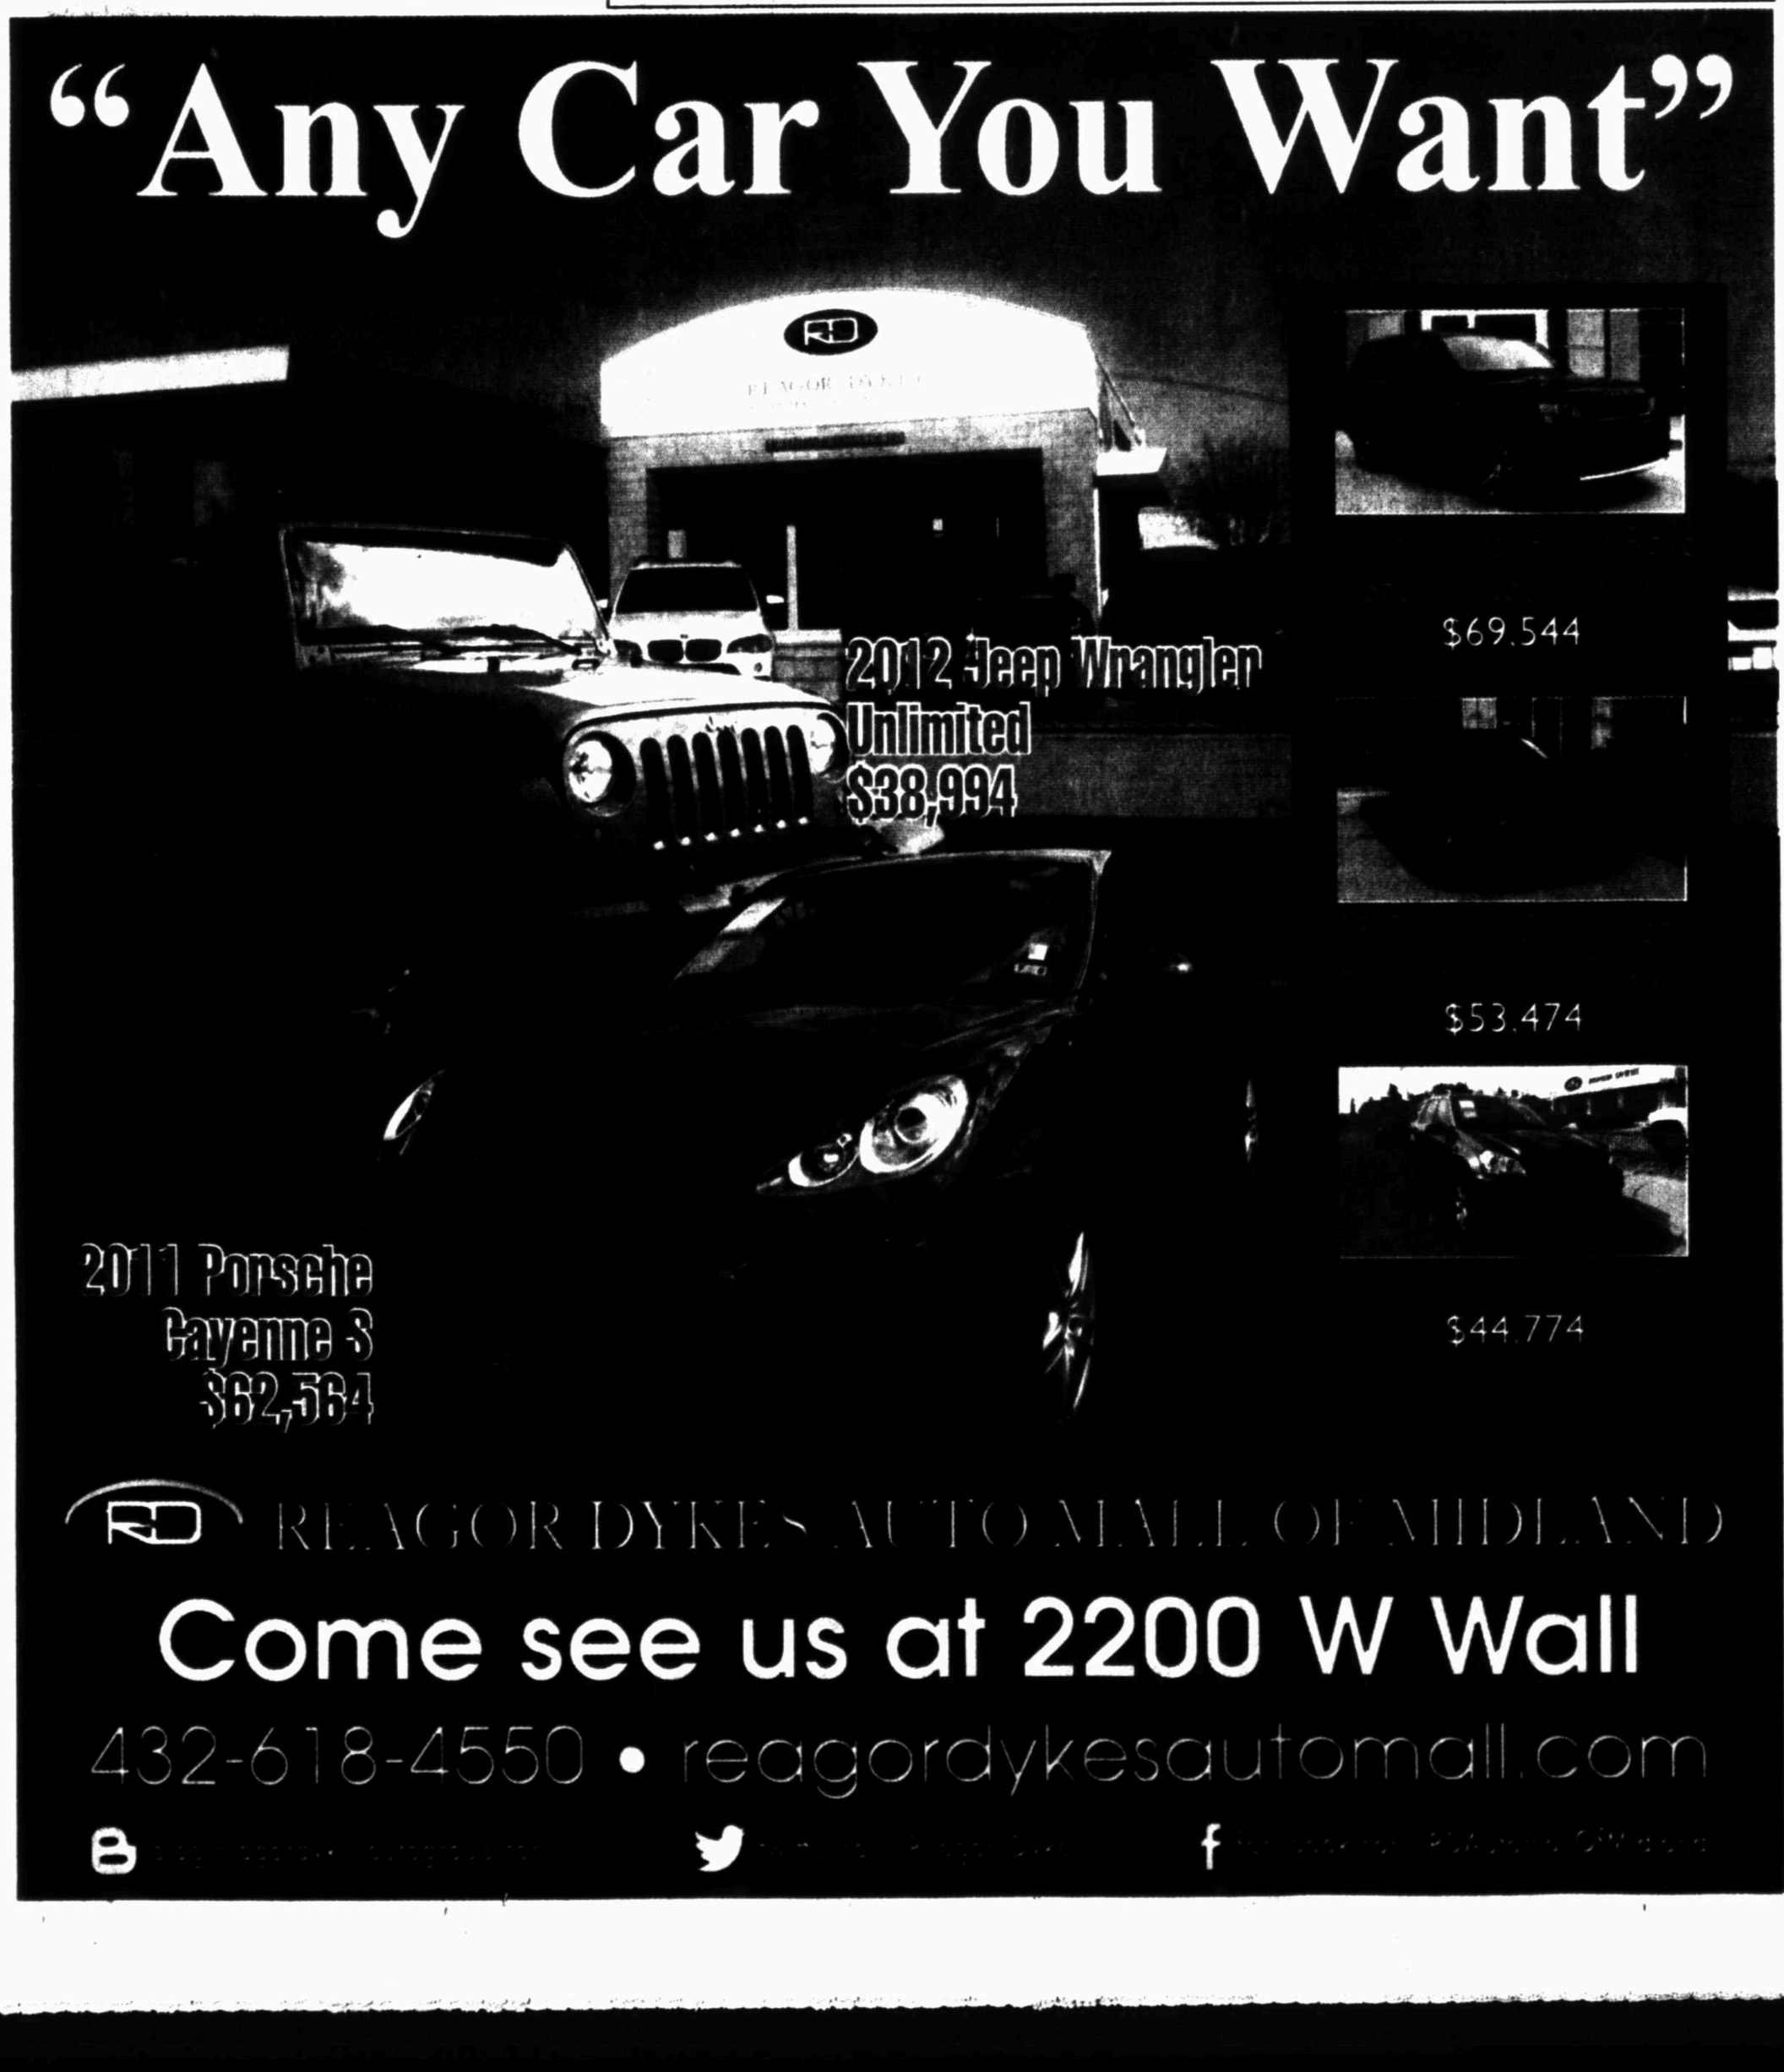

Busch started from the pole Friday night and led 228 of the 250 laps en route to the 60th series win of his career.

VETTEL FASTEST IN 2ND BELGIAN GP PRACTICE: At Spa, Belgium, Sebastian Vettel had the fastest time before his rear tire punctured during Friday's second practice at the Belgian Grand Prix.

The three-time defending Formula One champion had to stop with about 20 minutes left. His right rear tire popped and the loose rubber flapped around as he made his way back to the pits.

UTEP tries to settle questions about team at Camp Alpine

By Brett Bloomquist
El Paso Times

EL PASO — As is the case with every team in August, UTEP began the month with a load of questions to sort through.

Coach Sean Kugler decided to do that in Alpine, with a 12-day camp that marked the second longest one in UTEP football history.

For the most part, they've gotten good news in the first two weeks of practice. Of the five questions posed on the eve of Camp Alpine, the biggest one was answered with a huge thumbs up, while only one is still lingering.

Here is a look at those five questions and the road to their resolution:

HOW WILL JAMEILL SHOWERS DEVELOP? In a word, quickly.

Showers has impressed with his work ethic and leadership, both on the field and off. He has shown a command of the offense, he has a good arm, he makes good decisions.

He may be the second best quarterback in the state of Texas after Texas A&M's Johnny Manziel, which means he may be the best quarterback in Texas who isn't under NCAA investigation.

"He's our quarterback," Kugler said, officially naming him the starter for the New Mexico opener. "He's a leader."

"This is a very good feeling, this is what I came here for," Showers said. "I feel a lot more comfortable in the offense now, getting to know everybody. Every day is getting better with the receivers and even with the offensive line, communicating with them."

HOW WILL THE TEAM PICK UP THE NEW DEFENSE? Decently.

There have been struggles getting such a late start with a new system and that is to be expected. The team is still spending too much time thinking and not enough reacting, but there is improvement.

Most importantly, defensive coordinator Scott Stoker, who looked like an impressive hire when he arrived after spring ball from two-time FCS runner-up Sam Houston State, has inspired confidence in the players and staff.

"He's extremely intense, he has very high standards and if you don't meet them, he'll get on us," end Adam Ayala said. Learning "is coming along. We've been spending extra time together as a unit, studying plays. We're making fewer mental mistakes each day."

"Coach Stoker is an outstanding coach, having as minimal time as he had and as much stuff as we do, getting them up to par," Kugler said. "We need to develop depth, find some twos."

WHO WILL KICK? Kugler said the group has improved since the start of camp, but given where they began, improvement was just about unavoidable.

The situation has been dire enough that Kugler has threatened to pull the redshirt of receiver Brandon Moss and have him punt. At one point, they were also looking at quarterbacks Blaire Sullivan and Garrett Simpson there.

Place-kicking has improved to the point that the Miners have a reasonable chance of making a 35-yarder. But, right now, the dream is that UTEP can reach the level it was at last year in place-kicking, which was quite a low level.

Jay Mattox will probably start the year at kicker, but at some point there will likely be a revolving door that will include Mike Ruggles and Tanner Kneisly.

WHAT ARE THE BIG POSITION CHANGES? The two big profile position changes were a mixed bag. Horace Miller has taken well to the linebacker position, where he can showcase his versatility.

On the other hand, Kevin Perry's move to left tackle lasted three days before he was put back at tight end.

Another key position change is the move of Hunter Nix from various spots on the defense to fullback, where he is now the backup. Traun Robberson has made a smooth transition from cornerback to safety.

WHO ARE THE NEWCOMERS TO WATCH? The quick answer is Showers, freshman tailback Aaron Jones, freshman safety Devin Cockrell, freshman cornerback Jaylon Scott, freshman fullback Darrin Laufasa and junior transfer safety Jameel Erving.

Heading forward, kicker is now the biggest unanswered question, and continued improvement on defense will obviously be a key.

The health of Richard Spencer's surgically repaired knee is a big concern, as he only practiced for a few days at the start of Camp Alpine.

The Miners, though, still have two-and-a-half weeks to sort through things, and they are certainly further along than when the bus pulled out for Alpine.

Putin bans rallies in Sochi near the 2014 Olympics

By Nataliya Vasilyeva
Associated Press

MOSCOW — Russian President Vladimir Putin has signed a decree banning demonstrations and rallies for two and a half months in Sochi around the 2014 Winter Olympics.

The Rossiyskaya Gazeta, the official government newspaper, published the presidential decree Friday, listing an array of measures tightening security in the Olympic host city, including the ban on public assemblies. All "gatherings, rallies, demonstrations, marches and pickets" that are not part of the Olympics or the Paralympics will be prohibited in Sochi from Jan. 7 to March 21, the decree said.

The Winter Olympics is taking place Feb. 7-23 in the Black Sea resort, and the Paralympics are being held March 7-16.

Government-imposed protest bans across entire cities where Olympics are held are unusual. Putin's decree could be aimed at heading off demonstrations against Russia's ban on alleged gay propaganda, a new law that has been sharply criticized in the West.

Among other measures in the decree are restrictions on vehicles entering Sochi. Only cars with local license plates, emergency vehicles and those accredited by the Olympic organizers will be allowed to enter the host city between Jan. 7 and March 21.

Rights organizations have voiced concerns about what they described as the "harassment and intimidation of civil society" advocates in Sochi. Human Rights Watch said in a statement that environmental, human rights and other activists have been "the targets of attacks, detention for peaceful protests and police searches."

The International Olympic Committee received a letter Thursday from Russian Deputy Prime Minister Dmitry Kozak giving assurances that the host country will comply with the Olympic Charter's provision against discrimination of any kind. The letter, however, defended Russia's new anti-gay law and said it would be enforced.

International Olympic Committee President Jacques Rogge said Friday that he is "comforted" by Russia's assurance the charter's ban on discrimination will be respected.

Rangers hit 5 homers in victory over White Sox

Associated Press

Rangers 11
White Sox 5

CHICAGO — Ian Kinsler raced around the bases for a bizarre inside-the-park homer and Adam Rosales had a conventional two-run shot, helping the Texas Rangers beat the Chicago White Sox 11-5 on Friday night.

The AL West-leading Rangers (75-53) had five homers in all while winning for the 19th time in 23 games to move a season-high 22 games over .500. Jeff Baker and pinch hitter Mitch Moreland each had two-run shot, and Adrian Beltre belted a solo drive.

The White Sox were unable to overcome a shaky outing by ace Chris Sale, ending a season-high six-game winning streak. Sale (9-12) allowed eight runs and eight hits in seven innings.

A.J. Pierzynski and Alex Rios each had a nice night in their return to U.S. Cellular Field for the first time since leaving the White Sox. Pierzynski, who signed with Texas as a free agent in the offseason, went 1 for 4 with a sacrifice fly. Rios, who was traded to the Rangers on Aug. 9, had two hits and scored two runs.

Pierzynski received a standing ovation when he was introduced in the first inning.

But the biggest break went to Kinsler, who hit a line drive in the third that rolled into a drainage track under the left-field wall. By the time Dayan Viciedo was able to find the ball, Kinsler was on his way to the plate for his 11th homer and a 5-3 Rangers lead.

White Sox manager Robin Ventura came out to argue the play and was ejected.

Baker and Rosales connected in the second inning, powering Texas to a 4-0 lead. Rosales added a sacrifice fly in the fourth that made it 6-3.

ASTROS 12
BLUE JAYS 4

HOUSTON — Rookie Robbie Grossman homered and drove in four runs, Matt Dominguez had a solo shot and the Astros used a big fourth inning in cruising to a win over the Blue Jays.

Houston led by one before adding five runs in the fourth inning behind a two RBI triple by Jonathan Villar and a run-scoring triple by Jason Castro to make it 8-2.

Jordan Lyles (6-6) allowed 10 hits and four runs in 7 1-3 innings for the win.

Blue Jays starter Todd Redmond (1-2) allowed eight hits and seven runs — both career highs — in 3 1-3 innings, which was the shortest start of his career.

ORIOLES 9
ATHLETICS 7

BALTIMORE — Brian Roberts hit a grand slam, Adam Jones homered and had three RBI and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Oakland Athletics 9-7 Friday night to gain ground in the wild-card race.

Roberts and Jones connected in a six-run fourth inning that put Baltimore up 6-3. After Oakland rallied to take the lead, Jones drove in the go-ahead run during a three-run seventh.

The victory moved the Orioles past Cleveland into third place in the wild-card hunt. Tampa Bay is on top and Baltimore now stands two games behind Oakland. The top two teams make the playoffs.

Coco Crisp homered, had a career high-tying four hits and scored three runs for the A's, who have lost four of six.

RAYS 7
YANKEES 2

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Rookie Chris Archer beat the Yankees for the third time, Evan Longoria hit one of four homers off Hiroki Kuroda and the Rays topped their AL East rival.

INDIANS 1

CLEVELAND — Samuel Deduno pitched six solid innings and Josh Willingham busted out of a slump with a two-run double in the seventh, leading the Twins to a win over Cleveland, slowing the Indians' climb toward a wild-card spot.

Michael sparks Seattle in win over Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Christine Michael ran for 97 yards and Stephen Williams snatched a ball from cornerback Loyce Means in the end zone for a 42-yard touchdown catch in the Seattle Seahawks' 17-10 preseason victory over the Green Bay Packers on Friday night.

Michael added a 43-yard touchdown run in the third quarter for the Seahawks (3-0), who stayed unbeaten but didn't look like the juggernaut that steamrolled over Denver and San Diego the previous two weeks.

Vince Young, vying for the backup quarterback job behind Aaron Rodgers, was 6-of-7 passing for 41 yards and the only touchdown — a 1-yard pass to Jonathan Amosa — on the night for Green Bay (1-2).

Rodgers played one series, going 4 of 7 for 41 yards. Seahawks starter Russell Wilson, returning to the state where he played in college, was 11 of 17 for 126 yards and two interceptions.

up each week," Garrett said. "I don't know if that's actually happened because of the fewer plays and the turnovers. You want to get him feeling like he's playing a game — get knocked around a little bit. Play consecutive plays, consecutive carries — all that stuff."

Sounds simple enough, but the Bengals boast a stout defense anchored by Pro Bowl defensive tackle Geno Atkins. Dallas, meanwhile, is expected to start a reshuffled offensive line that features right tackle Doug Free playing right guard for the first time.

"Good defense up there in Cincinnati with (defensive coordinator Mike) Zimmer," Witten said. "It will be tough for us, but this will be the time to get everything tuned up and get some confidence going into the Giants game."

Woman needs attitude check to become a good stepmom

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my late 20s and have been with my boyfriend for more than two years. We are serious, having lived together for a year, and we discuss marriage often. We make all our major decisions and purchases together and are generally very happy.

The problem arises when his children from a previous relationship are around (he shares custody with his ex). I am overwhelmed by them. They are very needy and have some minor manner problems. I am uncomfortable with all the attention they demand of me. They are literally always in my space, trying to sit on my lap or show me something, etc. It gets to the point where I just want to get away. Sometimes they're OK and we have some fun, but it's the downtime at home that is annoying.

I am ashamed writing this, but I need some advice because the kids are obviously not going away. Will they grow out of this? It's making me question if I can remain in the relationship. — BOTHERED IN BUFFALO

DEAR BOTHERED: You need an attitude adjustment. I don't think you realize what a compliment it is that the children compete for your attention and want to be close to you. A way to deal with this could be to arrange to have one-on-one time with EACH child while your boyfriend spends time with the others. It is very important that they spend quality time with their father.

If you and he agree that their manners need tweaking, it shouldn't be too difficult to set a good example, and praise and reward them as they improve. When they grow older, they will develop interests of their own and be less needy. But for now, it is important you work on being patient, show the children you care about them — and let your boyfriend know when you need a timeout. Everyone does.

DEAR ABBY: My 26-year-old son has been going with a 23-year-old woman off and on for a year and a half. He has tried to break off the relationship several times. Last weekend she played the "I'll kill myself" card when he told her he wanted to move on.

I take any threat of suicide seriously. However, she is holding this over his head. I need the right words to use to talk to him about her threat. — FEELING LOST IN GEORGIA

DEAR FEELING LOST: The woman is trying to manipulate your son using emotional blackmail. He should not attempt to "rescue" her by continuing to see her. During their next conversation, he should let her know the personal responsibility for her well-being is hers and hers alone, and he wants no part of it. If he feels she is truly a danger to herself, he should notify her family so they can help her get the psychological help she needs.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me what women are looking for? I keep being told that they feel so "safe" with me, it's like dating their brother. They know I won't force them into doing anything they don't want to do. — PUZZLED IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR PUZZLED: It looks like the women you're asking out may have been dating men who forced them into doing things they didn't want, or may be trying to tell you politely that their interest in you is only platonic.

It's time to ask some married friends what is causing women to react to you this way. Having been through the dating scene, they should be able to give you some helpful input.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Aug. 24, 2013:

This year you feel more comfortable kicking up your heels and becoming more playful than in the past. You often will be juggling two different interests. Knowing what you want can't be emphasized enough. You could be unusually fortunate, especially in your personal life. If you are single, you seriously might be considering a change of status this year. If you are attached, the two of you benefit from special time together. In some cases, you will be getting to know each other again. ARIES can be demanding.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★ Your efficiency emerges, even if it's just playing softball or organizing a get-together with family. No one can deny your enthusiasm and energy. Opportunities seem to fly right by you. Allow greater give-and-take with a child, older friend or relative. Tonight: Trust your whims.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★ You will continue to be slightly remote. Assure a loved one that the issue has nothing to do with him or her. The unexpected occurs, which gives you more insight into what is happening. Return calls, and fun plans naturally will evolve. Tonight: Remain open to someone else's idea.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★★ Follow through on plans involving your immediate circle. You'll enjoy yourself no matter where you are, as long as you're with friends. Don't say "no" to an unorthodox invitation. Renew your energy with the excitement of something new. Tonight: You are the party.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★ Pressure could build quickly, which will encourage you to take charge in the near future. You might feel in sync with this project. Recognize that an older family member needs some of your time. This person is more dependent than you realize. Tonight: A force to be dealt with.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★ Keep reaching out to someone you care dearly about who might not be in the same town as you. When the two of you connect, you'll support each other in making positive changes toward a long-desired goal you share together. Tonight: Go where you can be entertained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★ Relate to someone directly. Understand what is happening within a key relationship and/or business partnership. You don't often try to "get" this person, so try walking in his or her shoes. Your self-expression will be far more dynamic with greater understanding. Tonight: Be a duo.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★★★ You might discover that there are limits to what you can do without the support of a friend or loved one. You often put up a good front, but you would be more successful with the person in question if you were more vulnerable. Tonight: Make and return calls.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ Take in a different perspective. You can get stuck in your own opinions and ideas, if you are not careful. Your creativity will flourish once communication starts to flow. You'll see the benefits of being more open as a result. Tonight: Carry the day's interactions into the night.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★★ It might be too much for others to ask you to contain yourself, and fortunately no one will. You seem to be able to share your feelings openly. Others respond to your enthusiasm in kind. You could be taken aback by a partner's responsiveness. Tonight: Feel like a kid again.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★ You might feel as if you can do no wrong, but a surprise could happen. A partner could try to branch out into new areas. Take a leap of faith; otherwise, you'll have to deal with a hassle. Because you are logical, you are likely to study the possibilities first. Tonight: Entertain guests.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★ You have a way with words that draws several people closer. If you are single, you could have a situation evolve between two potential suitors. Your best bet is to remain your charming self and continue maintaining a low profile. Tonight: Favorite people, favorite place.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★ Rethink a recent expenditure, especially if some important information comes up that could affect your finances. Your creativity will kick into high gear, as you try to manage to have it all. Be reasonable, for everyone else's sake. Tonight: Pick up the tab for the group.

6802 Island Circle

How often have you wished you were at the lake instead of at your home? Well, now you can have the best of both worlds! Located at 6802 Island Circle in Green Tree North, you will find a house with gorgeous, relaxing scenery right out the back door! The backyard has ample space for an outdoor kitchen, swimming pool or whatever you can imagine!

Built in 1987, on approximately .601 acres, it has 4,803 square feet (per appraiser), with five bedrooms, four full baths, two living areas, two dining areas, a three car garage and two fireplaces. Schools for this neighborhood include Greathouse Elementary, Abell Jr. High and Lee High.

Doors open to beautiful hand scraped hardwood flooring that flows throughout the house. Immediately your eyes are drawn to the scene outside of the lake. Inside, a spacious open floor plan provides a formal dining area with a vaulted ceiling as well as a formal living area. The fireplace with a black marble hearth is surrounded by white built-in cabinets. To the left of the entry is the first bedroom with more built in cabinets, closet and fan. It faces the front yard and is connected to the second bedroom by a large Jack and Jill bathroom. Dual dressing areas and sinks with bonus cabinets makes it an easy space to share. The attached bedroom has a stacked ceiling, walk-in closet and windows to the side.

Off the formal living is the master suite. The room is oversized, a sitting area provides a view out the wall of windows. In your master bath, you will love the jetted tub, two dressing areas and separate shower. The wrap around walk-in closet has built-in cabinets, shelves and hanging spaces for easy organization. A door to the flagstone covered porch gives quick access to the outdoors so you can enjoy your backyard.

On the other side of the formal living area is a gourmet kitchen! Granite countertops and backsplashes, tile flooring, skylight and custom cabinetry. Seating is at the wrap around bar or at the breakfast nook where once again, you can enjoy your priceless view. The den is here too and features the same wood flooring as in other areas of the home, a fireplace.

Additional amenities to this home include built-ins, tall ceilings, crown molding, wood and tile flooring, automatic sprinkler and in-law plan. Listed at $779,500.

Ask the Guys

Dear Classified Guys,
So far I've survived my recent divorce without becoming bitter. After springing it on me that she was leaving, my wife took anything of value from the house and moved a few states away. Surprisingly, I managed to keep a positive attitude. However, there is still one asset holding us together, our house. With the recent real estate market, it hasn't sold as quickly as I hoped. Since we have both relocated now, I took the time to clean out the rest of the house. The few pieces of remaining furniture were junk and the closets just had stuff neither of us wanted. I thought this would help our situation. Yet after my-wife visited the house, she called me to say that I shouldn't have packed up what was left. She says the house will never sell empty. I'm wondering if she may be right in this case. Should I go unpack the leftover furniture and boxes of stuff or will this house sell just as quick if it's empty?

Cash: Keeping a positive attitude while experiencing a divorce is important, so you're on the right track. It can be even more difficult when the two parties don't agree on things.

Carry: Divorce aside, a well-furnished house is typically more appealing to prospective buyers. The furniture helps them to imagine what the rooms may look like with their belongings.

Cash: However, people often have too much furniture so removing some can make small rooms look larger or more spacious. The goal is to make a house look full of life and inviting to buyers.

Carry: Now if you and your ex-wife took most of the good furniture and left vemnants behind, then the house may look lifeless anyway. A wobbly coffee table and a torn chair won't make a buyer feel welcome. In that case, you're probably better off cleaning out the house and making it look presentable.

Cash: If your home is completely empty, then everything needs to be in good shape. Nicks in the wall, cracks in the ceiling, or missing trim suddenly become noticeable when there is nothing in the room. Take a little time to finish those details.

Carry: Even though the inside of the house may be empty, it's important to keep the outside looking nice. Mow the grass, collect the mail, and make the outside look like it hasn't been neglected. A well-landscaped home will have a much better chance to sell.

Fast Facts

Welcome Home

Staging, it's not just for Broadway shows. Staging a home for sale involves refreshing the interior to give potential buyers a great first impression. Some research estimates that it can add 3% to 10% to the value and result in selling it up to 32% faster. Although the interior is important, you may want to start at the front door. Buyers often spend slightly over one minute at the entrance while the showing agent gets the key and unlocks the door. That's estimated to be about 5% of the time a buyer will spend at your home.

Two-isted

While it takes two people to get married, it only takes one to get divorced. And the process of getting one is big business. The work of marital law is estimated to be a $28 billion dollar industry. While couples may spend years saving their money, it can quickly disappear with a divorce. The average divorce involving attorneys can cost a couple between $15 and $20 thousand dollars. For some that may be enough incentive to try marriage counseling.

I Do

My girlfriend Beverly has been on the hunt for "Mr. Right" for the past several years. So it didn't come as a surprise when we went to lunch and she told me she was seeing a new guy.

As a real estate agent, she was showing an apartment to a young couple when she happened to stumble into the owner, a single guy, on his way out. After a few minutes of small talk, they made plans to go on a date and have been dating ever since.

As we continued to eat lunch, she pulled a picture of him from her purse.

"Beverly!" I exclaimed looking at the photo. "He has an earring. Do you really think he's marriage material?"

"Absolutely," she replied. "It means he's experienced at buying jewelry!"
