KID M'COY CONFESSES MURDER OF WOMAN

Victim of Thrift Shooting Dies in Wichita Falls General Hospital

R. F. SHEETS IS VICTIM IN ROW WITH OIL MAN

FIGHT BRINGS SHOTS

Abdomen Pierced by Bullets from .25 Colts Automatic; Lived Seven Hours

R. F. Sheets, an old field worker is dead and R. L. Newton, another oil worker is in the county jail facing a formal charge of murder as a result of a fight at 9:30 Wednesday morning on the streets of Thrift. The altercation which ended in Sheets being shot three times took place in front of the post office building and is alleged to have started over Newton's wife.

The victim died at 4 o'clock in the general hospital to which he was brought by Newton immediately following the shooting. His abdomen was pierced by two bullets from a .25 calibre Colt's automatic and physicians announced at once that his death was but a matter of hours.

Trouble Starts.

Trouble between the two was of short duration, according to eyewitnesses who stated that the men had met but a few minutes before the battle. Newton returned to his home here a day or so ago after an absence of considerable duration in the Corsicana fields. A divorce suit was filed against him by his wife less than a month ago.

Newton and Sheets met in a Thrift cafe early Wednesday morning, it is said, but no words passed between them. Later, Newton went to the post office for some mail and Sheets followed in a few minutes. Words passed between them and the shooting came immediately. The men were clinched, with the gun thrust against Sheets' stomach when the shots were fired. One steel-jacketed bullet hung in the barrel, an examination revealed.

Brought to City.

With Sheets mortally wounded, Newton placed him in an automobile and brought him to the general hospital here. He then returned to Burkburnett and surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Frank Watkins. At the same time he turned over the gun and the shirt Sheets had been wearing and which he obtained at the hospital.

Charges Filed.

Newton was locked up in the county jail after a charge of assault with intent to murder had been filed against him. The charge will be changed to murder today, it was announced by the district attorney's office.

Yesterday's killing was the second homicide in the county this week. Will Snow, a negro, was shot and fatally wounded at noon Monday by Will Parker, another negro who is now held in the county jail.

JOHNSON DECLINES STATE APPOINTMENT

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—Finis E. Johnson, chief of the blue sky division of the secretary of state's office, today declined the appointment as secretary of state tendered him last Saturday by Governor Neff, because of the financial sacrifice involved. Governor Neff is now considering means of filling the position which will be vacated Friday when S. L. Staples becomes state treasurer. C. V. Terrell, present treasurer, has been appointed a member of the state railroad commission.

Mr. Johnson pointed out that the proposed change would be a loss of $1,500 a year with additional burdens. His present salary is $3,500, while the secretary's is $2,000. It would require several months to train another man to handle the blue sky work and the training would fall upon Mr. Johnson, who has been in charge of the department 10 months.

Republicans Will Wage Hot Fight All Over Texas

Plans Await Results From Second Primary To Be Held Next Week; Platform Denounces Ku Klux Klan

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 13.—Details of the plans of the republicans for what they say will be the most active campaign they have waged for state offices will be worked out and started within two weeks. The state executive committee will meet with T. P. Lee of Houston, the party's candidate for governor named today, as soon as the result of the democratic primary of August 23 is known. The republicans plan to hold in abeyance their detailed plans until they know whether Mr. Lee will oppose Mrs. Miriam Ferguson or Felix Robertson for governor.

Leaders Reappointed.

Following the adjournment of the state convention this afternoon the new executive committee met for a round table discussion. It reappointed the headquarters committee, which is in charge of carrying out the committee orders. This comittee is composed of R. B. Creager, national committeeman; Eugene Nolte, state chairman; Charles Boynton, vice-chairman; Col. W. E. Talbot, Dallas; Phil Baer, Paris, and Mrs. J. C. Griswold, San Antonio, national committeewoman. L. E. Shelton of Brownsville, was reelected secretary of the committee.

A more active bid for the votes of women will be made by the republicans this year. They plan to appoint in each senatorial district a woman chairman to advise the chairman of the men's organization.

Platform Is Short.

The state platform contained less than 1,000 words and was one of the two questions which caused debate on the floor of the convention. The debate was on the plank which condemned the ku klux klan, some of the delegates making efforts to get that plank eliminated. Their efforts failed.

The platform favored drastic reduction of cost of government; use of convicts for road building; limitations on bond issues; tax reforms, including elimination of the state ad valorem tax; adequate support for the schools; and vigorous enforcement of all laws.

The state ticket was headed by T. M. Kennerly, Houston, for United States senator; and T. P. Lee of that place for governor.

Executive Committee.

G. T. Bartlett, Linden; J. W. Bradford, Marshall; Gerald Fitzgerald, Morrill; Dr. W. T. McAlpine, Port Arthur; D. W. Merrill, Buffalo; Ray Canady, Corsicana; D. S. Armstrong, Alba; W. J. Harris, Sulphur Springs; G. C. Horney, Sherman; H. F. Lancaster, Greenville; Colonel W. S. Talbot, Dallas; Charles W. Beck, Hillsboro; Charles A. Boynton, Waco; J. Allen Myers, Bryan; G. C. Franz, LaGrange; T. P. Lee, Houston; Ben Sass, Galveston; J. T. Ballard, Beeville; J. T. Askay, Nixon; Mendal Booth, Taylor; Charles R. Nelson, Clifton; Dr. Phil R. Simmons, Parker; Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls; Joe M. Parker, Gorman; C. O. Harris, San Angelo; Dr. F. L. Thompson, San Antonio; Houston Jones, Pharr; Joe Kingsbury, Ft. Worth; M. L. McCune, El Paso; John L. Vaughn, Lubbock; and H. S. Exum, Amarillo.

International Rotary President Speaks In Dallas

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Aug. 13.—Development of understanding, good will and international amity among the peoples of the earth is this year's program of Rotary International, Everett W. Hill of Oklahoma City, international president, told Dallas Rotarians today in his first speech since he became president.

"Rotary has already builded friendships among individuals, among communities and nations," said President Hill. "It has united men of 28 nations in bonds of common brotherhood. It is pouring the light of understanding and good will into the darkness created by the four furies that are yet loose and at work—hatred of one class of society for another, greed which makes profiteers and encourages sloth, envy which breeds suspicion and mental blindness, and fear which creates lack of decision and drives men and businesses to an early grave."

DAVIS PATCHES UP DIFFERENCES WITH N. Y. MAYOR

Holds Conference and Goes Over Political Situation With Leaders

PLANS LONG TOUR

Confers With Nevada Man On Itinerary for Trip Through West

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Returning here early today from Clarksburg, W. Va., where he accepted the democratic presidential nomination, John W. Davis gave immediate attention to plans for his speaking tour and the financing of his campaign, had a luncheon with Mayor Hylan of New York City and discussed the general political situation with other party leaders.

The visit to Mayor Hylan was pointed to by friends of the candidate as another evidence of the effect Mr. Davis' acceptance address has had in bringing together discordant elements within his party. In a statement last week the mayor left open the question of his support of the national ticket, but after reading the address at Clarksburg he announced that he was for Davis.

Extends Congratulations.

At the meeting today with the candidate he personally extended his congratulations. The conference lasted an hour and a half and a spokesman for Mr. Davis said afterward that it had been very satisfactory. General political conditions were gone over and it was stated that the nominee had further encouragement.

The question of Mayor Hylan taking the stump for Mr. Davis did not come up but it was declared that the nominee would like to have him do so.

Immediately upon reaching his headquarters early in the day, Mr. Davis approved additional selections of officials in the eastern division of his campaign organization and then discussed with Senator Pittman of Nevada, plans for his speaking tour in the west. While no announcement as to places and dates was forthcoming, it was stated that there would be a considerable campaign in the west.

Finances Discussed.

Campaign financing came up at a meeting between the nominee and Jesse J. Jones, chairman of the finance committee, and James W. Gerard, the newly elected treasurer of the national committee. Others with whom the candidate conferred during the day were Norman E. Mack, national committeeman from New York; Senator Edwards of New Jersey; Professor Irving Fisher of Yale university and David F. Houston, former secretary of agriculture and also of the treasury and one of those whose name was put forward at the New York convention.

DEATH WINS OVER SCIENCE AS BABE SWALLOWS PENNY

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13.—Death won over medical science in the battle to save the life of little Helen Batcha, 22 months old, who several days ago tried to swallow a penny given her to put in her bank and it lodged in her throat.

Physicians stood helplessly by as the end neared. They were powerless.

An operation to remove the coin that slowly shut off the child's breathing was impossible because of acute swelling in that portion of the esophagus. Liquid food in scant drops was forced past the obstruction in a vain effort to withstall death.

The Callahan Construction company submitted a bid of $2,093,467. The only other bid was $3,191,205, submitted by Gifford and McKenzie.

"Brain Sand" In Glands Misleading, Specialist Tells Judge

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—The structure built by the defense in support of its plea for penitentiary sentences for Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., kidnapers, murderers of young Robert Franks, was attacked, top and bottom, today by the state, which, in rebuttal, kept two alienists on the witness stand throughout the day.

Theories Attacked.

The theories of four alienists for the defense that childish phantasies continuing into young manhood as malign influences stunted emotional growth and functional disorders of the endocrine glands, blended into a whole of "mental sickness" in each youth, were disputed by Dr. Hugh T. Patrick and Dr. Archibald Church of Chicago, who said the examination of Loeb and Leopold indicated no abnormality of dream life or emotion, nor in the endocrine system.

Dr. Patrick, on the witness stand almost throughout the day, declared both youths normal "except so far as commission of a deliberate, cold blood-

War Trophies For Texas Held Up Awaiting Funds

State Land Commissioner Denies Charges of Wichitan

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 13.—"There's no Teapot Dome in Texas so far as administration of the law is concerned," Land Commissioner J. T. Robison said today in response to the criticism of Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, at the republican convention in Fort Worth.

Robison recalled the defeat of a bill in the legislature which was drafted by himself to provide for competitive bidding on university oil land permits in Reagan county and on all school lands embodying the same terms as are now in the law covering state oil and gas leases on submerged lands. Passage of this bill would have brough the state a large sum of money from Reagan county alone he said.

PRIZE FIGHTER TELLS SISTER ABOUT KILLING

3 OTHERS WOUNDED

Ex-Pugilist Holds Up Grocery Store at Point of Gun

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Norman Selby, known to the prize ring as "Kid McCoy," confessed the murderer of Mrs. Theresa Mors, to his sister shortly after Mrs. Mors was shot here early today, it was announced tonight by Assistant Captain of Detectives Herman Cline.

McCoy went to the home of his sister, whose name is being withheld, immediately after the shooting, according to Cline, about two o'clock this morning, several hours before the body of Mrs. Mors was discovered in the apartment house where McCoy and Mrs. Mors had been living.

The sister will be questioned further by the district attorney tomorrow.

Mrs. Theresa W. Mors, divorced wife of Albert Mors, was found shot to death in her apartment here this morning. Mors was out on bail on charges made by her that he had robbed her store while a property settlement was pending.

Three Wounded

In addition three persons were wounded when McCoy entered a suburban brokerage office run by Sam Schapp and his wife Ann.

McCoy say the Schapps, gun in hand, proceeded to rob the place and ordered Schapp and W. J. Ross of New York, who was present, to disrobe, apparently so they would be unable to pursue him.

Ross attempted to disarm McCoy and was shot twice in the thigh. McCoy continued firing, slightly wounding Schapp and Mrs. Schapp and ran from the place.

As the ex-pugilist was fleeing across west Lake Park, a policeman saw a pistol drop from his pocket, and arrested him.

McCoy Tells Sister

McCoy's own version of the shooting of Mrs. Theresa W. Mors, divorced wife of a wealthy antique dealer, in the apartment which he and the woman had occupied under assumed names was revealed by police tonight.

"The Kid," whose true name is Norman Selby, poured out his story to police detectives in a little cafe in the center of the Mexican quarter where they took him several hours after his arrest at the conclusion of a shooting spree in and near the Mors antique shop, resulting in the wounding of two men and a woman.

Sensations Related

Over a huge bowl of soup McCoy began to relate the sensational series of events beginning with the death of Mrs. Mors and ending in his capture after the shooting affray.

He told how he and Mrs. Mors yesterday afternoon went out for an automobile, ride, returning to the apartment about 8 o'clock.

Says She Killed Herself.

"Theresa was very much downhearted," he said, "and I was trying to cheer her up. At last she announced that she could stand it no longer and was going to end it all.

"She took out her revolver which she kept in a drawer and I jumped up to keep her from shooting herself; but she pulled the trigger just as I reached her.

"After the first shot she fell into my arms, and I placed her on the floor. She died with my arms around her and trying to speak to me.

Put Picture in Arms.

"I placed a sheet over her and then put my picture in her folded arms. I was covered with blood, so first washed myself and then got my revolver and started out to kill Albert E. Mors, the man who caused it all.

"I did not find him, but if I had, I would have shot him down. I am sorry I didn't find him."

McCoy did not convince detectives.

"There is not a doubt in our minds that McCoy killed Mrs. Mors," said Captain of Detectives Hoome tonight.

It is the police theory that the former ring champion shot and killed Mrs. Mors in a fit of rage when he learned that she intended to break off her relations with him.

Albert Mors, divorced husband of the dead woman, was been located after a frantic search for him following the discovery of Mrs. Mors body this morning.

She Would Be No. 10.

The ex-pugilist, nine-times a husband, and who, common reports said, was planning to make Mrs. Mors his tenth wife, in the first hour or so after his arrest would make only one statement, and that was "he killed the only woman I ever loved."

The body was found this morning by the apartment house janitor. Near the body was a .32 calibre automatic pistol, and a bullet to fit it was taken from the woman's head by police surgeons.

MAIL PRIMARY SCORES SUCCESS

Members Select Board Without Mominating Convention Held

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Aug. 13. — W. H. Chilson has been reelected president of the Henrietta chamber of commerce to serve for another year. J. S. Dickey and Frank Bunting are vice-presidents chosen. Wainwright Bridges will continue as manager.

Directors Named.

These selections of officers were made at the first meeting of the board of directors chosen in the recent mail election. The following constitute the board of directors: J. F. Alcorn, Jr., A. H. Bevering, R. J. Brown, Frank Bunting, W. H. Chilson, W. S. Culwell, J. S. Dickey, R. C. Green, L. R. Hamm, L. C. Kelley, W. W. King, F. O. Moore, A. V. Slagle, Brad Staggs and J. G. Younger.

The election of directors was conducted in what is said to be the most democratic way yet advised and according to a plan followed by many of the most successful organizations in the country.

Nominations Made.

Nominations were made in a direct primary, conducted by mail. Ballots were mailed to each member and on the back of each ballot was printed a roster of the entire membership (individuals only). From this list of the members, each member selected fifteen and cast his vote for them. There were 104 who received one or more votes in this primary. The thirty highest were declared nominated and these names returned to the membership for the final selection of fifteen who compose the board.

The board then met and organized by electing one of its members as chairman and president of the chamber of commerce and two as vice-chairman and vice-presidents of the chamber.

The plan worked very successfully in Henrietta and resulted in greater participation in the election and more interest than in former elections. It removes many of the objections of the old nominating committee system.

PATHOLOGISTS

Finds No Mental Disease.

Dr. Church testified he found 'no mental disease of any kind whatsoever" in either Loeb or Leopold by examination of them or in reading reports of defense alienists. He also described emotional displays witnessed in the two.

Attacking the finding of endocrine pathology in Leopold. Dr. Church said the X-ray pictures of the pineal gland could not be relied upon as the gland frequently contained a quanity of gritty matter known as brain sand, which would indicate on X-ray plates a calcified condition. It was the contention of Dr. H. S. Hulbert of Chicago, who brought endocrinology, the "chemistry of character," into the hearing, that the pineal governed the other endocrine glands, and thought in Leopold's case the pineal had calcified at the age of 19, whereas it should not have done so for several years yet. Dr. Church testified that the gland calcified at no specific age.

Deny Long Questions.

Long hypothetical questions covering all items of pathology, irregularities of personality and emotional adolescence set forth by the defense alienists indicating "mental sickness" in Loeb and Leopold were asked Doctors Patrick and Church. Their replies to all were without variance: "I found nothing in my examination nor in printed reports to lead me to a diagnosis of mental disease" — Dr. Patrick and 'there was no evidence of any mental disease," by Dr. Church.

Both mental pathologists prefaced their statements of findings by relating complete stories of the kidnaping and slaying May 21 of the Franks boy as told to them by Loeb and Leopold. That the $10,000 ransom demanded from Jacob Franks, father of the murdered boy, actually was a part of the motive rather than a detail of Loeb's phantasied "perfect crime," both doctors testified the youths had admitted.

Report Ridiculed.

Dr. Patrick went through the "Bowman-Hulbert" report which the defense mental pathologists used, along with their personal examinations of Loeb and Leopold, to base the conclusions of "mental sickness" on which the defense hopes to save the youths' lives, and pointed out a score or more of what he termed exaggerated and inconsistent conclusions or statements not based on the precise pathological conditions noted in the two youths.

The state's effort to have Dr. Patrick pursue that subject won approval of Judge John R. Caverly, who must fix punishment at the end of the hearing.

"I want to give you all the leeway I can," ruled the judge; "I want to get all the doctors' testimony about these boys if I can. There is no jury here and I'd like to be advised as fully as possible by Dr. Patrick and all the others."

It Never Rains But Pours Is Proved Too True At Vernon

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 13.—When it rains it pours is an advertisement that is read on packages of salt but Mrs. C. S. Terry is of the opinion that not only salt pours. In the last ten days misfortune has poured on her from every angle until she is now in a sanitarium in Shreveport, La., where she is recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Two weeks ago she planned a trip to Electra to visit friends and had to postpone her trip because of the illness of her daughter. When the child was improved enough to make the trip she started on her trip. On arriving in Fort Worth her purse containing her money and railroad ticket was stolen and she was delayed one day in making arrangements for its recovery if such a thing was possible. On arriving at Electra where she was visiting Mrs. T. H. Freeman she suffered an attack of appendicitis and was brought to Vernon for an operation. Her husband had come to Electra to be with her during her illness and when making the trip here the traveling bag containing her clothes was lost off the car. The doctors examination revealed that she would be able to stand the trip back to her home where she is now convalescent.

KNOX COUNTY COTTON GOOD

Business Men Prepare for Prosperity Due With Good Prices

Special to The Record News.

KNOX CITY, Texas, Aug. 13. — Cotton buyers and others interested in the present prospect of a cotton crop in the Knox City territory estimate the production and receipts at Knox City this fall will be 10,000 bales. This is believed to be a conservative estimate at this time based on the condition of the crop and the acreage planted. Farmers are comparing the present outlook in the production and receipts of cotton at this point with that of 1914 at which time the greatest yield of cotton was gathered since the country was settled in 1904.

Acreage Increased.

The acreage this season here is an increase of about ten per cent over last year, and the condition of the crop is much better than at this time last year. The recent rains have been such to secure the stalk holding all of the fruit that is now developed, and in as much as there is no complaint of damage from any insects, there is no reason that the crop should not put on all the stalks can mature between now and the time cotton ceases to bloom.

Early planting was retarded to some extent by the cool late spring and by the excessive sand storms that prevailed at that time. Some crops were planted over two or three times, but with the ample rains that the country received during the fall and winter and later on in the spring, a season was produced that has carried the crop up to this time without suffering or damage from the summer drouth.

Feed Crops Poor.

Not so good report can be made of the feed crop as that of cotton. In the first place there was not sufficient acreage of feed planted to meet the needs of the farmer if it had made a normal crop, and the late summer drouth has cut the feed crop at least fifty percent. Early maize that escaped the sand storms in the spring has made a normal crop, and promises to produce a yield of one ton per acre and better.

Farmers who had their land prepared, took advantage of the recent rain to plant a full crop of cane and millet, and crops of this kind will greatly add to the shortage of feed that is sure to result before another crop can be made. Some of the larger cotton growers have already made trips to south Texas and other points, and have secured a number of Mexican cotton pickers and are holding them in readiness for the coming season which will open about September 1.

Four large gins have been completely overhauled and will be ready when the first bale arrives. It is expected that a few bales will be picked during the latter part of August, and business of every kind is preparing to take care of their share of trade when the busy season starts in earnest.

The Result of Careless Buying

Motor repair bills and part replacements are most often made necessary thru carelessness in the buying of lubricating oil. Many motorists seem to be of the opinion that "any old oil will do"—but this is not the case.

In order to properly lubricate all bearing surfaces in the motor and protect under the trying conditions of heat and load to which it is subjected, an oil must have certain qualities—it must hold its lubricating body under high temperatures and under heavy loads; it must be viscous enough to properly lubricate and protect, and yet light enough to reduce internal friction to the minimum, and to "splash" readily; it should have a low carbon content and should be uniform in its body, free from deleterious substances, and be clear, clean and pure.

Humble Motor Oil is an unblended lubricant, made from high-grade Gulf-Coast crudes and is specially designed and refined to meet all of the severe service conditions encountered in the motor. It is the safe oil for your car. Look for the Humble Signs.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—The cotton market staged a sharp decline in prices today completely wiping out the gains of the previous day. Development of rains virtually breaking the long drouth where they fell, was later in the day followed by reports from several points in the eastern part of Texas where there has been no rain since June 2.

Prices showed an opening decline of 70 points on October and although there was a prompt rally to 27.04 for that month, the weakness soon increased and the price dropped to 26.40, or 114 points below the previous close. After a rally to 26.62, values sagged off again in the late trading on the east Texas rains, October dropped as low as 26.30 or 124 points below the previous close. The close was a few points above the lowest of the season, showing net losses for the day of 113 to 115 points.

Liverpool came in much lower than due, the weakness there being attributed to American selling in that market and advices of rains from Dallas. This weakness abroad and the private reports from Dallas and Fort Worth reporting good rain in North Texas gave the early impetus to the decline. Liquidation by recent buyers was heavy and the downward trend of prices was accelerated by constantly increasing reports of rains.

Exports for the day totalled 14,041 bales of which Houston contributed 10,858 bales.

Market Letters

New Orleans Cotton

R. L. Flowerree received the following market letter yesterday:

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 13.—Rains and showers over north central Texas and southern Oklahoma induced heavy liquidation on the part of recent buyers and values dropped 124 points. The market was also called upon to absorb considerable short selling. Buying by shorts to take profits absorbed most of the offerings though there was a fair amount of buying by the bullish element who accepted official reports and the forecasts as indicating that the rains have not been general enough to relieve the worst drouth sections.

The late selling was based on private wires saying the rain had extended to towns in east Texas and possibility that they might extend further south and east over-night.

According to the best information obtainable the rains in Texas have not relieved the drouth by any means but the map indicates possibility that they will spread southward over-night. If they do, a lower market is likely.

FENNER AND BEANE
Chicago Grain.

CHICAGO, Aug 13.—Wheat:—There were persistent selling attributed to hedgers and the northwest. Speculative buying was restricted. Locals followed selling because of weakness at Winnipeg. Weather over Canada more favorable. For the first time in several years spring wheat is being offered out of Duluth for export on a competitive basis and this is causing the foreigners to pause in his buying.

Corn:—General buying on cool weather early carried December and May to new highs on the crop. Later there was wide-spread realizing because of weakness in wheat and the forecast for warmer weather.

Oats:—More active trade and comparatively strong market. Advances met with liquidation with heaviness in wheat a factor. Country movements continues light and advices tell of losses in grain in shock as result of excessive rains.

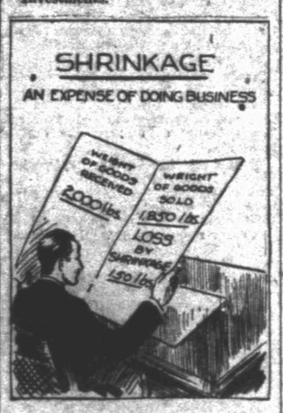

Rye:—There was buying early by houses with seabord connections. This buying took the surplus out of the market and later prices did not reflect in full the decline in wheat.

Provisions:—More active trade with buying credited to local packers and commission houses. Scattered liquidation noted on advance. Hogs were 10@25 cents lo er. Top $9.65.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bands and Investments.

Goods which lose weight during handling must bear an expense sufficient to make up for the lost weight.

An item easily overlooked in computing prices, profits and expenses is that of shrinkage. It is of importance because it may often be controlled.

Accurate shrinkage figures may point out theft or some loss occurring in handling which could easily be stopped. Some losses in weight which are due to loss of water content of goods are prevented by having the installations of air humidifiers which prevent evaporation by having the air so saturated that water is not drawn from the goods.

As a controllable expense, shrinkage should be watched.

CORN REACHES NEW RECORD

Wheat Pulled Down by Selling from Northwest

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Highest price yet this season were reached in the corn market today by all new crop deliveries. Unseasonable cool weather and too much rain, together with backwardness of growth led to a notable broadening of demand, but the top prices failed to hold. Corn closing quotations were unsettled, 3-4 to 1 3-4 cents net higher, December 108 5-8 to 108 3-4. Wheat finished unsettled at 1-2 to 7-8 cent decline, with oats ranging from 1-4 cent off to 3-8@1-2 cent advance, and provisions showing seven to 32 cents gain.

Aggressive selling on the part of houses with northwest connections pulled down wheat, although the market at times proved responsive to the influence of corn strength.

Cattle Market Cracks As Big Receipts Appear

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Aug. 13.—The cattle market cracked under the strain of excessive receipts today, a run of 6,000 head, exclusive of calves to the number of 1,500, arriving. The market was slow. Cattle values averaged 15 to 25 cents down. Good light calves remained steady under strong outside competition, but common grades were dull and unevenly lower. All stocker stuff dragged on a weak to 25 cents lower level.

The hog market was 25 cents to 35 cents lower, but there were instances where the decline was fully covered by 10 to 15 cents. Receipts were about 1,000 head. The top was 9.50. Most of the run sold at a spread of 9.00 to 9.35.

Trade conditions in the sheep house remained unchanged. Only 500 head were here.

Grain Letter

Curtis Clements today wired their crorespondent, W. N. Graham, of Wichita Falls, Texas, as follows:

Chicago—The market after a steady opening eased off about a cent under the influence of weakness of Winnipeg. The best buying was credited to eastern interests, indicating activity in the export business.

A large local firm reported more export business done in wheat yesterday than in any previous day in their history. A large export trade is expected to come to Chicago this year. The weakness in Winnipeg was due to forecast of warmer weather with no damage as yet from frost.

Liverpool opened 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 higher but closed only 3-4 to 7-8 higher. The primary movement is less than last week but much more than a year ago. Bradstreet reported the available supply increase the past week 5,480,000 vs an increase of 2,020,000 over a year ago.

Corn—There was commission house buying of December and May and without much selling pressure, prices advanced to new high levels for the season. The market acted nervous and fluctuation although not wide were rapid.

Oats—There was good country commission house buying and the market was firm although near the close was influenced somewhat by the tone of corn and wheat. September oats is considered in a strong position. It as pointed out that public and private stocks here are only 821,000 bushels, the smallest ever known and there is believed to be a considerable short interest in September oats.

STOCKS AGAIN RECEIVE CHECK

Good Street Report Fails to Inspire Heavy Buying

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Profit taking sales continued to impede the upward movement of stocks in today's session, which developed considerable irregularity. Bullish demonstrations were successfully conducted in a number of the rails, coppers, public utility and specialties, but heaviness was apparent in most of the steel and equipment shores.

Publication of the weekly steel trade review showing further improvement in sales and operations apparently had little market effect. Crucible steel broke four points to 49 1-4 and republic, Gulf States, and Otis steel preferred yielded 1 to 2 points. U. S. Steel closed 1-4 lower at 106 1-2. Weakness of crucible was attributed to unfavorable dividend rumors.

Reports that large consumers were again in the market for copuper imparted fresh strength to these shares, Kennecott and Chile advancing fractionally to new high prices for the year, while Cerro de Pasco closed a point higher at 47 1-2. Buying of these issues also was stimulated by the announcement that foreign governments were heavy purchasers of silver for coinage purposes.

Except for some good buying in New York Central, Nickel Plate, and "Big Four," all of which bettered their previous peak prices, chief speculative interest in the railroad group was confined to the low priced carriers. Texas and Pacific, Frisco preferred and Missouri Pacific preferred being among the issues to establishe new 1924 highs. Chesapeake and Ohio closed more than a point higher despite reports that minority stockholders were dissatisfied with the proposed terms of Canadian Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Lackawana, and Jersey Central. Nickel Plate also cancelled its early gain and closed about 1 1-2 points lower.

National Biscuit was heavily bought just before the close showing a net gain of nearly six points at 69 1-2. The Pan-American issues touched new highs on the movement and then reacted on realizing. Leather issues gave a good demonstration of group strength.

COTTON MAN PRAISES IRRIGATED FARMS

John Dunaway of Waxahachie, cotton raiser and banker, with extensive experience in raising cotton in central Texas, stated here recently relative to certain properties being irrigated in this county, "the land on the Will Hodges place southwest of Iowa Park that is being irrigated has every indication of producing a bale and a half to the acre this season if no further adverse conditions should arise before it is picked. This farm is under the supervision of Mr. Greer, a practical irrigator, and is evidence of what irrigated land will do when treated properly.

"The J. M. McFall land nearby should do nearly as well this year. With the cost of irrigation approximately $3.50 a year, and cotton at $150 a bale little mathematics is required to determine whether irrigation pays or not."

WILBARGER COUNTY BUILDS NEW VAULT

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 13. — The county commissioners yesterday accepted a proposal of the Texas Stone Products company of Dallas and the Chico Crushed Stone company of Chico to furnish about 14,000 tons of Chico crushed stone for surfacing the five miles of road leading north from Harrold to the Elliott and Guyer communities.

The contract gives the commissioners the option to purchase materials at the same price for the remaining five miles of road north of Harrold if found to be satisfactory.

LUNCHEON AT BURK HONORS VISITOR

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Aug. 13.—Among the midsummer entertainments none have been more beautiful or enjoyable than the luncheon, followed by bridge, given by Mrs. Glenn R. Kincaid honoring Miss Genevieve Viles of Springfield, Mo., a visiting cousin of the Kincaid families.

Places were marked for 24 guests and promptly at half past 1 o'clock an elegant three-course luncheon was served.

The tables were brilliant in cut flowers and the plate favor was a pencil in the form of a yellow rose and which proved very useful in marking the tallies of the games which followed.

Miss Gladys Gibbons won high score and was presented an ice bowl; Mrs. Sam Spence received second honors and was awarded a dainty tea pot, while the honoree was distinguished by the presentation of a pair of unique china wall vases.

In the course of the afternoon's entertainment Mrs. W. W. Miles, mother of the honoree, was presented to the guests who were the following: Mesdames A. R. Thomas, F. U. McCutchen, John Vann, Blake Grennell, Sam Spence, Robert Brumbalow, H. C. Anderson, W. D. Utts, H. L. Johnson, Bob Robinson, F. Covington, J. D. Ahern, J. C. REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS
Aug. 13th, 1924.

Record News,
Wichita Falls, Texas,
Gentlemen:

Like a good many real estate men I slow down on my advertising in July and August. Just why I don't know, unless it is usually harder to make trades and one does not have the "pep" to go after business.

Your solicitor, Mr. Oxford, has insisted that this was the wrong course to pursue—that one should advertise more during these months. In order to try out his suggestion I offered four homes in this morning's "Record News," using a 14-inch ad, and was kept busy till noon answering the phone and making appointments. Early this afternoon made my first trip out showing the place advertised, and by 2:30 p. m. Mr. E. H. Cunningham had contracted to buy the six room brick. Mr. Cunningham was the first man I took out, and he purchased the second home shown him. Have seven more appointments for this afternoon and tomorrow and feel confident that I will sell at least one more home through this ad.

Hereafter the "Record News" is going to get more of my summer advertising, and, like the mosquito, I will not be satisfied with one insertion.

Yours very truly,
H. G. Helgerson.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

LOVE NOT THE WORLD:—Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.—1 John 2:15.

PRAYER:—May the love of God keep our hearts and minds steadfast and true upon Thee our God

DAWES.

General Charles G. Dawes is responsible for the Dawes reparations plan which has been accepted by Germany and all the allied governments. This acceptance by the socialist government of Germany speaks for financial rehabilitation of war ridden Europe and the stabilization of the finances of all European countries concerned in the settlement. It makes General Dawes an international figure and places him in the center of the stage, politically speaking, in this country.

Now what effect will it have on American politics? What effect will it have on the voting in November when a choice of president will be made by the American electorate? There are millions of voters of Teutonic origin in the United States. A large percentage of these voters were arrayed against Cox and Roosevelt four years ago. They voted for Harding and Coolidge. Where will they land this year?

German acceptance of the Dawes reparations plan may serve to strengthen the hold of Hell and Maria on a powerful bloc of voters. If it is true that the plan has been accepted it is also true that peace will come to Europe and that the foreign market of this country will be extended and a greater demand created for the American farm products and the American mill and factory.

Samuel Gompers has branded General Dawes as the enemy of American labor, the sworn foe of collective bargaining, the advocate of government by injunction and the special agent of the capitalistic classes. German-American voters are not socialists, they are not communists, they believe in capitalism and they are sturdy champions of law and order.

According to labor leaders Dawes is a dead weight to the republican cause. They may change their minds after the election returns come in early in the month of November. Then they will know something of the ramifications bloc politics and what the Dawes plan has done for the standard bearers of the republican party.

BULL AND THE BEAR.

Now the English Bull and the Russian Bear are commercial partners, general and commercial treaties between Great Britain and Soviet Russia having been signed by representatives of the two nations.

Mr. Bull needs trade; Mr. Bear needs a loan and Prime Minister James Ramsay McDonald negotiated a successful deal. Europe is coming back. Harvests are rich over there this year. All the real workers are digging. All the taxpayers, the little fellows are busy. They are digging their way out.

America produces two-thirds of the cotton crop of the world. In the last cotton year Germany purchased 1,100,000 bales of American cotton, an increase of 300,000 bales over the preceding year. Texas is the banner cotton producing state and all Texans are interested in the cotton industry.

Two million southern families are interested, vitally interested. They are growers of cotton. There are thirty-seven wheat producing countries. There is only one great cotton producing country although cotton is grown in many climes.

Cotton is the money crop of the south. Cotton brought almost a billion dollars of new money to Texas last year. More than half the cotton crop of 1923 was taken by foreign buyers. If there was no foreign demand for American cotton the staple would be as cheap as dirt.

It may be different in the years to come but today there must be a brisk foreign demand for American cotton to place prosperity within the reach of the southern cotton grower.

STEALING A MARCH.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette is a wise politician as well as a sly statesman. He is stealing a march on Davis and Coolidge. On all the leading issues which are burning into the hearts of the voters he is getting there first. Now when is he going to make a declaration on the wet and dry issue? He has been a consistent wet. Is he going to stand pat in this campaign?

PANTOMIME —:— By J. H. Striebel

ANOTHER LITTLE SURPRISE FOR THE PRESIDENT.

Their Name Was Legion

"All right." The deputy had seated himself at the desk. "I'll just make out a memorandum of it, to remind him."

"Good. Put it there on my hook. Now—" and he turned back to Rogers—"as for you, just put under your hat to walk straight and narrow, or I'll have you in here too! Make all the charges you want to, call me every name you can think of—the more the better. That doesn't interfere with me enforcing the law, and I'd just as soon arrest you as your deputy!"

"My deputy?" Then the eyes of Bart Rogers caught the writing of the notation which the under sheriff was hanging on the hook: It read:

In the first place, he knew that he could look for no aid from Sheriff Grabam of Mannington. On the contrary, the arrest of Bud Tarko, on the complaint of Franniston and his crew, was extremely good evidence that the sheriff would be a hindrance and not a help. With the thought Bart straightened in his saddle and whistled slowly. Was that the reason why every gambler, every woman of uncertain morals, every con man and crook knew in advance the name of "Bull" Franniston as the man between, the person who would take their tribute and in return be able to guarantee them safety from arrest?

All of a sudden Bart felt grateful for the events of the night. They had set him straight on one thing at least; they had pointed out to him the fact that the game he was up against was a brace affair, and that if he was to fight, he must carry on his battle in comparative lone liness.

That Bud Tarko was innocent he felt sure. The facts were as the tall ex-marine had related them when Bart first had discovered him reeling in the light of the street lamp—of that Bart Rogers was certain. "Bull" Franniston and his gang had lain in wait at the jail. When Tarko arrived they had leaped upon him and sought to assault him, not a moment supposing that he would offer resistance. But Tarko was a fighter, with the result that a gambler had been shot in the leg.

Evidently, as it now appeared to Bart Rogers, the accusations against Tarko had been an afterthought. The original plan, he felt sure, was to have taken the keys from the night officer, release the prisoner, then burn the jail—leaving it all a mystery. But with the resistance of the intended victim and the shooting of one of the assailants the scheming brain of "Bull" Franniston, had concocted the accusations that suspicion might be turned against the officials themselves, and the enmity between Bart Rogers and the man who had become the possessor of his oil lands be held up as an incentive for persecution and an excuse before any inquiring person for the lawlessness of the town. But—and Bart's whistle became more curious than ever—was it "Bull" Franniston's brain which had conceived the scheme?

Or was it the brain of a man who desired to remain in the background, a lean, dump-appearing person whose hands writhed in times of excitement, who spent most of his time looking over the work on an oil project for which he posed merely as an attorney?

"Wait until I get my checkbook," he finally announced. "I'll put my signature on a few pieces of paper and give them to you. Then I want you to take my machine and go back to Mannington; use my name at the bank, and make arrangements to have 'em call me if there's any difficulty. When Tarko comes up for arraignment, bail him out; and do it if it costs twenty-five thousand. In the mean while I'll see what I can do about getting my lawyer in Cheyenne to come on here—and then we'll have a little battling from a legal standpoint."

Then Bart spoke, his hands half-raised and clinched, his eyes glistening with new hope, new enthusiasm.

"I'll be blamed if we're whipped yet," he half-shouted. "If I can get Tarko out and bring him back here, and if he's half the man I think he is, mayor, we've just begun to fight!"

"What is it? Spink it up, son?"

"I can't!" The features of Bart Rogers were beaming. "But it's a hunch—and if it pans out—! Give me those checks! Tell me where I can get that machine! I want to get out on the road and start thinking over the details!"

CHAPTER VXII
A Fight

An hour later Bart was in Mannington, at 10 o'clock he reached the bank and got the money; then he walked to the courthouse and waited for his deputy to be brought forward for pleading.

It was not long before Bud Tarko appeared.

"Not guilty, your honor," came the voice of the tall, bedraggled young man, and with that Bart went forward.

"If you please, your honor, Mr. Tarko's attorney is on the way here from Cheyenne," he announced, "and, simply as a citizen, I would like to ask permission of the court to have this case set for at least a month from today, as Mr. Tarko's attorney will have to familiarize himself with all the details."

The district attorney nodded.

"It's agreeable with me, your honor."

The date of trial was set. Bart again faced the court.

"I am ready, your honor, to furnish a cash bond.

Fifteen minutes later the dilapidated Tarko beside him, Bart again was on the road to Bellaire. A mile and he turned to his companion.

"Bud, I'm going to let you out at the discovery well. I want you to visit every camp and outfit and find every American Legion man in the oil district. What's more, I want you to argue with that man until he gives you his solemn promise to meet at the alkali flat, just west of town, at 9 o'clock tonight. Do you get me?"

"Do I? It's memorized. What'll I tell 'em is doing?"

"Action—and plenty of it."

Accordingly Bart let Tarko off at the oil field and went on. At the entrance to the main street he leaned over the wheel suddenly at the sight of a crowd on the corner. A second more and he had swerved the machine to the curb, shut off the engine and was rushing forward. He had heard the jeering tones of a man—then the frightened cry of a girl—the voice of Anita Franniston.

In a doorway lounged "Bull" Franniston, plainly drunk, while, at the curbing, Anita was struggling vainly to evade the caresses of a man—the gambler Bart had arrested the day before. He was too drunk—almost as drunk as the shouting, roaring "Bull," who egged him on from the doorway.

Old Jim, begging piteously with his drunken brute of a master for some evidence of human commiseration, was unheeded. About them the crowd laughed and jeered as the gambler continued his lurching efforts to force the lips of Anita Franniston to his. And with that, Bart Rogers swept forward.

A new, a greater strength than ever he had known, seemed to have come into his muscles. His heavy arms swept to the right and the left, throwing aside the ring of men and women who were cheering the gambler on to renewed efforts.

He tore the gambler away from Anita.

"Let go of that girl!" It was "Bull" Franniston, weaving forward now, his right hand fumbling in the direction of a hip pocket.

"Bart!" It was a screaming voice from the side, where Old Jim was scrambling forward. "Bart! Look out! He's got a gun!"

But half way to his aim Franniston's hand halted, and he whirled in frenzied fashion to the thin, suddenly super-strong Old Jim lunged toward him, with both thin hands, grasped his heavy wrist. A great fish drew back and the black eyes of the hulking beast seemed to pull together in a spasm of anger.

"Let go there!" he ordered, and struck wildly at the dodging, twisting form of the old man. "Let go there."

"I'll not let go!" Old Jim was screaming now, with a sort of fierce terror, "I'll not!" It's my flesh and blood, 'Bull,' and I ain't going to stand it any longer! You ain't going to hurt her and you ain't going to hurt him! Drop that gun! Drop that gun, I say!"

"Let go!" The big voice thundered the command and again the heavy, free fist of the man swished through the air, to catch the older man on the side of the head, to stun him momentarily and to send him staggering, while the gun-hand again swung upward.

Then a shot tore its way into the sidewalk as Old Jim once more leaped to the attack and grasped the wrist of the larger man. A third shot a fourth—and then a shriek!

The teeth of Old Jim clamped on the wrist, and the blood began to splatter on the sidewalk. The gun had dropped from the deadened grasp of "Bull" Franniston, while Jim leaped and seized it, then, whirling, swung it high and brought the butt crashing down upon the forehead of the being he hated and feared.

A laughing second—then "Bull" dropped, while the crowd, frightened now, milled for safety.

"I've done it—" came in a strange, droning voice. "I've done it—he'll get me now. But I—I can't help it. He looked toward Bart Rogers, who had turned, after assisting the weakened Anita into the car, and in his eyes was the look of a man facing something far worse than death. "I've done it, Bart—the thing I've always been afraid of. I knew he'd make me—I knew he'd go so far some day that it'd all have to come out. Now he'll get me—and she'll—she'll have to suffer, 'cause she ain't his daughter, Bart—she's mine!"

WATER

The Depth of The Water Does Not Stop the Sinking of an Object.

Our recent articles on water have caused a number of questions to be asked. One man wants to know whether a ship sinking in mid-ocean where the water is very deep will ever reach the bottom. His idea was that it would only sink until it reached a point where the pressure became so great that it could sink no further.

When a ship sinks it goes right on down until it reaches the bottom regardless of how deep the water is or how great the pressure.

It all goes back to the fact that water is practically incompressible and that an object only floats when it displaces more water by weight than the weight of the object.

As a cubic foot of water weighs practically the same on the surface as it does a mile down then any object would only have to displace the same weight of water in the depths of the sea as at the surface.

The deeper in the water we go the greater the pressure tending to crush an object, but as the pressure upward is the same as the pressure downward they just balance and the result is the same so far as an object sinking is concerned.

The pressure of water and the weight of water should not be confused. Water weighs practically the same regardless of the pressure it is subjected to but the pressure exerted by water is dependent upon the depth.

For all practical purposes we can say that anything that will sink to the bottom of a foot of water will sink to the botton in ten thousand feet of water.

HOW IT STARTED

"LILLIPUTIAN."

There are few words in our language with more picturesque background than "Lilliputian," which we use for anything that is small or diminutive from lilliputian sausages to lilliputian men! It is sometimes also in the figurative sense of insignificant or petty.

"Lilliputian" had its introduction in "Gulliver's Travels" of Dean Swift, published in 1726.

The hero, Gulliver on one of his voyages, finds himself on the shores of "Lilput" whose inhabitants, (Lilliputians) are no longer than a man's finger.

And from out of the pages of his book which soon created a sensation and has survived to an unquestioned place in literature, came the new word, lilliputian.

Ireland Gives Subsidies For Every Acre of Trees

By The Associated Press.

DUBLIN, August. — Last year the Free State government planted 4,000,000 trees on 1,000 acres of land and proposes this year to plant 1,000 acres.

The minister of agriculture described Ireland as perhaps the most wooded country in the world. The establishment of peasant proprietary has helped to deforest the country. It was said in the Dail that the first thing a farmer did on getting his land vested was to cut down the timber.

The government is inviting the county committees of agriculture to set aside a certain sum for forestry and will make a grant of $100 for every acre used for growing trees.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

"YOU SHOULD WORRY."

Nobody has a good word to say for that brooding, and pining and fearing, fearing mostly, that is worry. Everybody, including the victims of worry, agrees as to its futility and absurdity and devastating power for harm.

But what has that to do with the "I-should-worriers," the type of people whom nothing bothers, and who advise you not to let anything bother you?

If you appear to have an interest in life, they hasten to say, "You should worry." In their zeal for placidity, actual worry is out of their ken. What they mean is "you should bother," "don't bother at all; let the others bother."

If you are thinking about your job they say, "you should worry. Let the boss worry." If concerned about your child they advise "you should worry He'll grow up just the same." Have you duty, responsibility? "You should worry. The smoke goes up the chimney just the same."

Nothing bothers them, and they are proud of it. They remind you, don't they, of Micawber. He never bothered—just waited for something to turn up. The fact that he died waiting for something to turn up probably would not affect them if they stopped being placid long enough to think about it.

Or if you have a bent for natural history they may remind you of the turtle. It never bothers—and it lives a thousand years, they say. Fine, if you like the life of the turtle. Or the toad, we must not forget the toad. It never bothers, and it gets along just the same. But who wants to be a toad?

The men and women who have hopes, ambitions, aspirations, guts, to whom life is not merely existence, but real and vital and deep—these will have responsibility and sometimes cares. If they are sensible they will not worry. But they will bother; they will bother very much indeed and leave no stone unturned in whatever happens to be their endeavor. They will not say "I should worry," which means "I won't bother."

The worst bothers in the world are the result of not bothering in time, and those whom nothing bothers are very likely soon to be without anything to bother about.

KITTY

Sadie's very clever,
Knows the operas by heart;
She could talk to you forever
On the trend of modern art.
She can chat with her admirers
Of the very deepest books;
As for Kitty, she is pretty,
So she lands 'em with her looks.

Molly bobs her tresses,
Uses lots of beauty clay,
And she wears the loveliest dresses,
Six or eight, sometimes, a day.
All her furbelows and ruffles
Come direct from Paris, France;
As for Kitty, she is pretty,
So she gets 'em with a glance.

Ethel shines at tennis;
She declares that fashion's whirl
Is the most alarming menace
To the modern healthy girl.
She has only scornful pity
For the female slave of style;
As for Kitty, she is pretty
So she wins 'em with her smile.

Mabel's very proper;
It is always safe to bet
She will never come a cropper
On the road of etiquette.
She'd regard a break in grammar
As a very serious crime;
As for Kitty, she is pretty
So she lands 'em every time.

Dr. Frank Crane's Daily Editorial

Animals

Walt Whitman speaks somewhere of loving to be among the animals because they do not bow to each other.

That is, among animals there is no rank, nor class, except that class which is fixed by nature and all of them recognize as part of the organization of things.

The dog wastes no time in regretting that he is not a fish and the fishes do not want to get out of their medium. They are content to be in the water.

There is no unkindness among the animals, no sense of shame. They expose one part of themselves as indifferently as another.

It is only among human beings that we come to clothes and the coverings of the human body.

Consequently humanity is the only kind of animal life that has manufactured a sense of shame.

There is no modesty or shame or any such thing among the animals who frankly are what they are. Animals go about the world and out of the world as naked as when they were born. It is man alone that must be covered up. It is from our sense of concealment that most of our sins arise. Animals have neither sin, nor confession of sin, nor remorse for it.

Only by our ability to sin are we able to rise to a greater height than the animals.

Only because of the responsibility of removing our clothes do we call keeping them on a purity. Animals have no purity because they have no possibility of sin.

They are regulated by their instincts, which is another name for the gal of nature.

It is only when the intelligence has been placed in man, and he endevors to regulate his own conduct by it, that we have such words as "decency." The animals are automatically decent.

For this reason those who spend their lives among the animals tend to their level. Virtue is a human thing and is cultivated only by contact with our fellows. As virtue, by its very name, means the character of a man, it means the effort to do by our reason what the animals attain by instinct.

The world is gradually ridding itself of all animals except those domesticated by man and the fishes of the sea and of the river.

The time is coming when other force than animal shall be used by mankind in the performance of his labors.

When that time shall come humanity will no longer tolerate the existence of animals in their midst.

Thus the growth of intelligence means the development of virtue and the sense of shame.

Those who look back with longing at the freedom of the animal life are simply those who contend against the law of growth. From this law we cannot escape. It has its bad adjuncts as well as its good ones but it is inevitable.

Panthers Tear Into Spudders for 16-5 Win

FELINES BRUTALLY BLUDGEON TRIO OF TANNER'S SLABBISTS

Turgeon, Fitzgerald, Moore and Kraft Bust Homers—Turge Wallops Couple

Jacob Atz held a heated skull meeting with his Cats following the 8-7 defeat foisted off the Fort Worth athletes by Bud's Adonises Tuesday, and with Jake's acid words still burning their ears, the Panthers tore into the Spudders Wednesday and drubbed 'em, 16 to 5.

Three Wichita Falls pitchers heard the call and all three were mauled monotonously by the frothing Cats. Ineffective slab duty held the Spuds from the victory column. Eighteen safe swats were garnered by the champions.

The homelings did not hit the veteran Joe Pate frequently, but they crashed him with vengeance when they did hit safely. Wee Peter Turgeon, sturdy little Spud shortfielder, whammed two non-stoppers off the wily southpaw and Howard Fitzgerald, romping outer gardner, connected with another. Turgeon's second homer came with a runner on base. The other Wichita Falls marker was scored as result of an error, single by Callaghan, wild pitch, and sacrifices by Locker.

Kraft and Moore of Fort Worth also homed.

Bubber in Hard Luck

Neither club menaced in the initial round, but Pate and Art Phelan nearly contributed to the Spudder run column during the second. With one gone, Josephus passed Turgeon. Wano rolled one at Phelan in croquet fashion, and the Cat third sacker played the wicket. Turge stopped at second. Pate walked White, and with the cushions loaded Dame Fortune smiled on Joseph and laughed at Bubber Jonnard, Spud backstopper who batted next. Bubber busted a brutal liner on a line squarely into the mitts of Palmer who doubled Wano off second. The drive a few inches in any other direction would have been sure safety.

Possum Tastes First Blood

Possum Moore, rotund Feline catcher, hoisted the apple over the port wall in the third, thereby tasting first blood for the Panthers.

Homelings evened the tabulation in the latter portion of the frame, a more or less gift tally. After there was one away Palmer bobbled bounder by Fitzgerald. Callaghan singled to mid pasture. Jungle heave by Pate advanced Fitz to third and Callie to second. Locker lofted to starboard, and Fitzgerald checked in after the catch. Weis grounded out to Tavener.

Clarence and Pete

Fort Worth forged ahead in the fourth and again the count become knotted before the inning was finished. Bambino Clarence Kraft, Cat initial cushioner, bruised one to the same territory investigated by Possum's whack in the third act. Turgeon led off the Spud portion of the fourth by blasting the first pitch to the same home run zone.

Three bingles and a walk tabulated a pair for the Cats in the fifth and routed Morgan. Drake went to the altar, and three more singles and a walk accounted for a trio of counters and his demise. There was one out and the bases full when Musser climbed the hillock. Moore popped to White and Pate whiffed—their second times at bat during the inning.

More Turgeon

Musser walked Phelan and Sears in the sixth with one out, and successive singles by Kraft, Palmer, and Edington brought in three more for Atz and company.

Weis opened the Spudder sixth with one out, and successive singles through the box. Turgeon then jumped to the fore again with his second circuit wallop of the tilt. Next three Spudders went out in order.

Fitzgerald connected with his four-base swat in the seventh. The drive hit the top wall in right and fell through the space between the upper and lower layers.

A walk, a hit batsman, infield safety by Tavener and bingle to port by Moore scored two Cats in the ninth.

Boydkin has been elected to coach the Broncs to victory. He declares that he is pleased with the outlook. Boydkin comes to Clarendon from Jasper where he was unusually successful in coaching in Jasper high school. There are to be six old letter men in the Bronc lineup this fall, including Whitlock, Gatlin, Ingram, Clark and the Naylor brothers. A stiff schedule has been mapped out which will prove the mettle of the squad.

BLONDY

Gravy today! Bear gravy! The Spudder gravy train has rolled into town for a three-day stand.

Tanner will use Fussell or Hodges this afternoon against San Antonio.

Umps Weir returned to form yesterday. He ejected Jakie Atz for being such a flip youngster, and later chased Al White because Al didn't smile when objecting to a called strike.

Arbiter Daly had a perfect day. Didn't call a single wrong one. He wasn't given the chance to render a verdict all afternoon.

Ehmke turned an unique feat pitchig against the Sox in the first game of a doubleheader Wednesday. He allowed two safe blows, a sterling accomplishment in itself. But the peculiar part of it all was that not an infielder or outfielder made so much as one assist during the game. The only assist of the contest was chalked by Ehmke himself.

No selection for the legion boxing card of next week has been made as yet other than that of Monte versus Fink in a ten-rounder. If Tucker beats Trammel tonight he will be used probably.

The Denton brothers, Joe and Jack, although not matched immediately plugged away here yesterday in training session. Rich showed up later and worked out.

Trammel will fight the feature bout Labor Day in Oklahoma City with Roy Fisher. Duke flopped Fisher three times their only other meeting.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Boston won two games from the White Sox today the first 6 to 0 and the second 4 to 1. In the opener Ehmke held the White Sox hitless until the eighth and with Boone hitting effectively with men on base, won easily.

Tex Ray, Former Army Instructor, Tangles With McFarland — Amateur Expects To Drub Lewis

The first real test of his career!

That's what the dopesters say about Trammel and his scheduled ten-round tilt tonight with Frankie Tucker of Shreveport in the legion final.

Is the veteran Tucker too old to whip the youthful Trammel? That's the question. A few of Duke's more enthusiastic followers believes that Tucker will go the way of nearly all others who have stepped onto the resined canvas with the Fort Worth boxer. They believe that early or late during the fight Trammel will slip over his now somewhat famous right and then it'll be the birdies for the flashy Tucker.

Tucker a Fast One

All week ringsiders have been watching the two during their daily workouts with interests, and the rail brids are of opinion that Duke will have great trouble in laying a glove on the elusive Shreveporter.

But be whatever it may the bout should prove a thriller, and there is great room for Tucker to receive the second knockout of his ring history—he took the count of ten once at the behest of the fast-stepping Mike Dundee.

Roy Versus McFarland

In the second ten-rounder of the evening will be seen another veteran, a boxing instructor with the United States army during the world war, and a youth who, four years ago, made the journey to Europe as a member of the American Olympic boxing team. Tex Ray, the Forth Worth veteran, mingles mittens with Franke McFarland of Boston. They're featherweights, and the fight should be a thriller.

Sion Key, Vernon lad and a Southern Methodist university gridster, will box Red Lewis of Galveston. The amateur, according to his admirers, will give Lewis the licking of his life.

The initial attraction of the card will be a midnight tinted battle royal.

By The Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 13. — The daily average crude oil production of the United States as estimated for the week ending August 9 by the Oil and Gas Journal showed an increase of 7,940 barrels over the previous week. The increase is another high peak reached this year in the industry, the journal says.

Oklahoma produced approximately 15,000 more barrels last week than the week previous, the report states. The total for the United States is estimated at 2,088,751 barrels compared with 2,080,811 for the week ending August 2, an increase of 7,940 barrels.

Total production for Oklahoma was estimated at 507,985 barrels compared with 492,772 the week previous, an increase of 14,213 barrels.

Total for Arkansas, including the north Louisiana, El Dorado and Calion, Smackover light, Smackover heavy, Stephens and Nevada fields was 144,911 barrels, compared with 148,376 the week before, a decrease of 3,465 barrels.

Total for the mid-continent field, including the north central Texas, east central Texas, Mexia, Currie, Corsicana, Powell and Kansas, was 1,045,545 compared with 1,035,708 barrels, an increase of 9,837 barrels.

Total for California, including the gulf coast, southwest Texas, eastern, Rocky Mountain area, Santa Fe Springs, Long Beach, Huntington Beach, Torrance and Dominguez, was 622,000 as compared with 625,000 barrels.

Four New Tests Are Drilling In Ragle District, South Archer Co.

Three-Day Guage on Discovery Well Offset Shows It To Be 92-Barrel Well

Four new tests in the Ragle district, south Archer county, have spudded and are drilling. The Knight-Hines-Hayes No. 2 is down past 200 feet, the Knight-Hines-Panhandle No. 4, east offset to the Knight-Hines-Hayes No. 1 producer, is drilling past 150 feet while the No. 5, located in the southwest corner of the north half of the R. Newman survey, is drilling past 175 feet. Jeffers and Newby have spudded and are drilling their test to the west about a mile on the Hausler land.

A three-day gauge on the producers in the district as given out yesterday shows the original well making the same 50 barrels a day, its west offset, the No. 3, making 92 barrels a day for the three days, and the No. 1 Knight-Hines-Hayes making 55 barrels a day average.

The water line from the city of Olney lake east of Swastika is about completed and should be able to furnish water to all four of the drilling tests by the end of the week. Frick-Reid are putting up a power plant between the discovery well and the southwest extension.

Oil from the wells is being run through a 10,000-foot pipeline to the Olney Refining company plant on the railroad right of way north of Olney, this plant taking care of the entire production, it is understood.

Innocent Recreation.

Tourist: "But what do you do here when you're lonely?"

Mountaineer: "Oh, I shoot at ol Bill Scroggins down in the valley."

PARKERS RIGGING FOR PUMP TEST ON M. A. LOVE LAND

Parker Brothers are running tubing in their well on the M. A. Love land, about three miles southwest of Iowa Park, W. S. Kinpard survey, abstract 171, block 129. Estimate for probable production after placed on the pump give the well a possible 75 barrels a day from a little more than foot of sand at 1,806 feet, with some water trouble, it is reported.

TONKAWA GETS 8TH DEEP WELL

Production From 8 Deep Producers Was 32,024 Barrels Monday

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Aug. 13—The eighth producer in the deep sand of the Tonkawa field was brought in Sunday by the Comar Oil company in their No. 1-W, C. C. Endicott, in the southeast corner of the north half of the southeast of 34-25-1w, the well topping the sand at 3,988 feet. After being drilled to 4,040 feet it flowed 5,472 barrels of oil in the first 24 hours.

The total production of the deep sand Monday night from the eight wells was reported to be 32,024 barrels. In the storm here last Saturday eight derricks on deep sand locations in the field were reported to have been blown down.

Oil Personals

B. J. Shaw, Panhandle Refining company, has returned from a two weeks' vacation in Colorado.

W. E. Campbell, Panhandle Refining company, has returned from a short trip to Dallas.

Britt Cranfill, Cranfill Brothers and Penn, spent yesterday in Dallas.

Shamrock Gets Another Good Well, Swastika

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Aug. 13.—In the Swastika field Lowry and Cavin are skidding rig west to their No. 2 location in block 2, Harbison land. This will be an offset to Clark and Magee's No. 5.

In block 4 on the Scruggs tract, Bart Magee has drilled in and has a well estimated at 100 barrels. The sand was found at 1,339 feet.

The Shamrock Oil company's Bridwell-Mayfield-Richardson No. 9 has been drilled in. This is on the north end of the lease. In the first 24 hours on the pump the well produced 182 barrels.

The Swastika Oil Syndicate is skidding rig to drill No. 1 on the J. T. Richardson lease, block 7.

TEXHOMA TESTS DRY AGAIN IN MONTAGUE HOLE

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company set casing and tested a sand for the third time in its well on the Boulding farm near Nocona, Montague county, resulting this time as formerly in getting salt water. Depth was given as 1,680-84 feet with a good oil showing. Casing has been pulled and the test is going deeper.

EVEREST DRY AND ABANDONS KREBS

Everest has abandoned as dry his test on the C. A. Krebs land, section 1, abstract 190, H&TCRR survey, southwest of the old Waite Phillips test on the Henry Ford land, drilled to a depth of 2,002 feet and abandoned. Depth of the Everest test was given as 1,751 feet.

MAGNOLIA WELL GETS PIPELINE

Derrick Going South for Number 2, Parrish

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company has begun construction and will probably finish today a 6,000-foot two-inch pipe line from their main Wilmot line to the newly completed No. 1 Parrish of the Magnolia Petroleum company in the southeast corner of the northwest 40 acres of section 26, H&TCRR survey, abstract 1197, Archer county. This marks the farthest east extension of the Texhoma pipelines in the Holliday district.

The Magnolia Petroleum company is making preparations to place their well on the pump with the expectation of making a 75-100-barrel well from three feet of good oil sand at 1,595-98 feet. The derrick and rotary have been skidded a location south for the No. 2 Parrish, drilling to start as soon as possible.

Production from the Carter well to the north of the Magnolia's producer is taken by the Texas Pipeline company which has made connections there.

TEAPOT DRILLING AGAIN PAST 2140

The Teapot Dome Oil company has resumed drilling on its test south of Vernon, Wilbarger county, section 100, Castleberry land, after being shut down temporarily at 2,140 feet.

RAY-FEATHERSTONE SETTING CASING AT 1,415, NICHOLS

The Ray-Featherstone Oil company has set casing and is testing a sand encountered at 1,415 feet in their No. 2 Nichols, a location west of their No. 1, southwest corner of lot 6, section 30, ATNCL, Archer county. The sand has been penetrated to a depth of three feet with the bottom of the hole now at 1,418 feet. The No. 1, R-F Oil company, A. P. Nichols, is a producer from the 1,600-foot sand, it being the first well in that depth completed in this section.

NORTON SETS CASING, GRAHAM

W. E. Norton has set casing at 1,419 feet in the lime above the sand in his No. 3, Graham, Pease estate, J. W. Schnell survey, abstract 388, northwest of the Texas company's Pease estate discovery well, No. 1, Graham. This test is just to the west of the No. 2 well of Norton finally abandoned after being unable to shut off water.

SHIPLEY FISHING, EVERTS WAITING

Shipley et al are fishing for a swab in their test on the Miller land, lot 2, block 19, ATNCL. The line parted when the swab was let down too far into the hole and failed to lift the load placed on it.

A location to the south Everts et al are waiting for cement to harden in their test before drilling out the plug and drilling into the sand.

COCHRAN SETTING WEETH TEST LINE

R. A. Cochran is setting a liner in his test on the Weeth land, south of Ruyle Farm Oil company's lease, Clara district, Wichita county, and expects to bail today, depth being given as 1,651-1,692 feet.

Taylor, 450 feet west and 150 south from the northeast corner of lot 2, section 17, ATNCL, north of the Peterson pool, Archer county. This is the initial test on a 320-acre lease recently acquired by the Atlantic in this district, and is being drilled on a forty-acres owned equally by F. E. Skinner.

Button told how he had carried the sandwiches to Mr. Noland. "I can tell you," he continued, "Mr. Noland appreciated those sandwiches as much as I did the luncheon the grocer gave And he said to the farmers who were helping him, 'There is a good-hearted man and from now on I shall buy all I can at his store. He deserves to be helped.' To which all the farmers agreed and one and all said that they traded with him altogether as they found he never cheated on his weights or gave short measure.

"With the help of the farmers, the auto was soon up on the road and hitched to the back of one of the farm wagons that was going our way. Mr. Noland and I were in another wagon that was going the same way.

"In this manner we reached home just before dark. I tell you what; give me an auto in preference to a horse! My back fairly ached from trying to push those slow horses and it took hours to go over the road we had traveled in minutes by automobile.

"I am pretty tired, so I guess I will bid you both good-by and go to bed. Au revoir until tomorrow!"

"Not so fast!" said Button. "I am tired too, so I will turn in when you do."

"I am not feeling any too spry myself," said Billy. "So if you two are going to bed, I will also."

And presently the three Chums were fast asleep under the trees, living over again in dreams their experiences of the day.

The next day when Billy, Stubby and Button were resting on the grass on a side hill, Billy exclaimed in a petulant voice, "Say, fellows, I am getting tired of this place and I feel that it is time we were continuing our journey."

"I am exactly of that opinion," said Stubby.

"Anything you fellows plan is all right to me," said Button.

"Then it is agreed we move on," said Billy.

"The sooner the better for me," replied Button, "for I know I am in for a siege this afternoon when Nellie comes home from school. I heard her ask Kittie to come over and bring Bella, and she said they would have a tea party under the trees, and make the cats sit in high chairs at the party with bibs on their necks, and drink tea. 'Won't it be fun to see them sit up and drink tea?' she said.

"Now I have attended all the tea parties I want to, so unless we move on I shall have to find a place to hide all the afternoon."

"What do you say to starting this minute?" asked Billy.

"Say we do!" replied Stubby and Button as with one voice.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am very much in love with a young man who seemed for a while to be much in love with me—was always coming to see me and making dates with me. Then he began breaking appointments with me, but always had a good excuse. And he told me that if I cared to have dates with any of the other fellows to go ahead, it would be perfectly all right with him. Now he has come back to me, and seems to care for me as much as ever. I think that our break was mainly my fault, for I have a terrible temper, and get angry very easily. This young man used to speak to me about my temper and beg me to control it, but I just snapped him off when he spoke of it. Also I have been badly spoiled by my parents. Do you think this young man really loves me and wants to marry me? He has never spoken of marriage except in a joking way. IRMA.

Answer—A woman's common sense alone can determine whether a man breaks an engagement with her through rudeness and contempt for her or through necessity. The man who makes an appointment with a woman, and then fails to keep it because something else pleasanter presents itself, offers her an unforgivable insult. But, on the other hand, a woman is most unreasonable who does not recognize that business or personal affairs often come up unexpectedly, and make it impossible for a man to keep a social engagement with a girl. So that's that.

As for the young man not wishing to monopolize your society and leaving you free to go about with other young men until he is actually engaged to you, that shows that he is a gentleman and a man of honor. He recognizes that it does a girl immeasurable harm for her name to be linked with that of a man who hasn't made up his mind whether he wants to marry her or not.

Probably the real explanation of the young man's attitude is that you fascinate him, but he is afraid to marry you on account of your temper, for there is nothing else on earth of which a man is so much afraid as he is of a virago. Nor is there anything else that so disillusions a man as to see a girl in a rage, her face distorted with anger, her voice shrill and high, her tongue saying mean and cruel things. She would no more disgust him if she were maudlin drunk, and he thinks a long time before he commits himself to a lifetime of such a spectacle. No man's ideal of a wife is a schrew who makes scenes, who has to be handled with gloves to keep her from getting peeved and who keeps him in terror of her tongue lashings.

I should say that the best way to get your young man back and to hold him, is to convince him that you have conquered the devil within you and have learned to control your temper.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married thirteen years, and have five children. My husband has been a good man, devoted to his family, and we have been very happy until now.

But recently he has become infatuated with a woman of bad character. He spends all he makes on her and tells me that he does not care for me, and that he wants me to give him his freedom. But we have no money. I cannot support the children alone and, besides, I love him with my whole heart. The children cannot understand what is wrong with the daddy they worship. What shall I do?

BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

Answer—Just be patient. Sit tight. Shut your eyes to what your husband is doing. Quit nagging him about the other woman. Stop discussing the situation with him at all. Try to think of him with pity as a sick man, who is out of his head for the time being, and it will all come out right in the end. He will get over his fancy for the other woman and come back to you and the children an humble and a chastened man, and you will have the whip hand over him the balance of your life, because he will be so ashamed of what he has done that he will be in an apologetic attitude toward you.

This is a hard piece of advice to follow, but desperate cases need desperate remedies, and there is no easy way out of a difficulty such as yours.

I believe in the righteousness of divorce, but I don't believe in its efficacy always. Especially in a case like yours, all that it would do for you would be for you to lose your husband forever and to leave you with five helpless children on your hands. As long as you are married to a man the law forces him to support you and your children, but no man in the world is so hard to collect alimony from.

Besides this, any man whose children love him must be worth saving. He must have something fine and kind and tender in his soul under the selfishness and weakness which makes him indulge his passions at the expense of his family and that makes him the easy mark of a designing woman. That type of man soon tires of philandering. He yearns for home and his faithful old wife and the feel of little children's arms around his neck, and he repents his folly in sackcloth and ashes.

I grant you it is not easy to forgive the erring husband, but when there are children it is oftener better to forgive him than lose him. Let watchful waiting be your policy. Broken-Hearted Wife, and in time you shall regain your own again.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 23 years old. I am good looking and dress well, but I never have any fun. I never go anywhere except to my office and back again, and I nearly die of lonesomeness. How can I get acquainted with some nice young men? LONESOME.

Answer—Every woman has to do her own man stalking, my dear, unless she is lucky enough to have a managing mama. Business offices are full of men and should be a happy hunting ground. Thackeray said that any woman who didn't have an actual hump on her back could marry any man she pleased. How much more easily, then, for the pretty, well-dressed girl to be able to attract the attention of young fellows who would be glad to make dates with her.

DOROTHY DIX.

District Governor of Optimist Adresses Newly Formed Local Club

OPTIMIST HEAD PLEADS FOR BOY

District President Says Service Is Greatest Thing In World

Judge Ed Hall of Oklahoma City and district governor of the southwestern district of Optimist International, was the principal speaker at the Optimist luncheon at the Kemp hotel Wednesday. In a forceful speech he urged the members to do service at all times.

"I had rather have my bones bleached by the sun on the western plains and know that I had performed some service than to be on the highest throne and not helping some one. Fifty years ago a baby was left on the steps of a home in Nashville, Tennessee. The people took that baby and raised it. Several years ago I heard a man, who had been that baby, rise to his feet in Nashville and accept the governorship of Tennessee. Years ago a newsboy was picked off the streets of Atlanta, today that boy is United States judge in New Mexico. I tell you service pays.

Hundreds Are Lost.

"There are hundreds of lost boys in Wichita Falls and other cities. These boys are not actually lost but their soul is lost. If I lost my boy and the people found it out searching parties would be formed and groups would search through the county. Well there are hundreds of boys in Wichita Falls who are lost and there are no searching parties helping them. It is the duty of every Optimist to help the boy."

Mr. Hall spoke on some of the conditions in the United States.

"We fought for world peace in the late war, our boys laid down their lives in Flanders that the world peace might become a reality. Yet after 59 of the leading nations of the world have signed a document in favor of this world peace the United States refused and in doing so assassinated the author of the plan for world peace. It is the duty of every Optimist to get behind a plan for world peace."

Jimmy Allred, district attorney, made a report of his visit to the Optimist luncheon in Denver. Mrs. Louella B. Thompson sang two selections, with Mrs. Wayne Holmes at the piano. Both women were given flowers by the Optimist club.

LEGION PICKS POST DELEGATES

Vote to Support Fort Worth for Next Meeting

Pat Carrigan post of the American legion last night named T. R. Brunson, Roy J. Daniels, J. C. Hampton and Joe Carrigan as delegates from the local post to the state convention of the American legion to be held in Brownwood August 18-19-20. W. E. Nichols, J. A. York, J. R. Halcbitt and W. M. Huey were selected as alternates.

The delegates were instructed to vote for Fort Worth as the place to hold the convention in 1925. They were further instructed to use their own judgment in voting for a state commander. The members present voted to place the name of V. N. Armstrong, member of the local post, as a candidate for a place on the state executive committee. If elected Mr. Armstrong would represent the 13th district.

Plans for national defense day to be held September 12 were discussed and three were appointed to draft resolutions and submit them at the next meeting.

Much discussion was held on the building of an auditorium, swimming pool and gymnasium to be sponsored by the local post. It was pointed out that Wichita Falls was in great need of such a building inasmuch as the city did not have a Y. M. C. A. building.

CUSPIDORS USED EFFECTIVELY ON DRUNK

Cuspidors proved ungainly but effective weapons early Wednesday night when a man carrying too much liquid ballast entered an Ohio avenue rooming house, accosted the proprietress and was promptly driven out under a barrage of spitoons.

The rooming house was near the city hall and as the fugitive plunged from the front door with a trail of cuspidors filling the air behind his head, two officers collared him.

"He was locked up, protesting that he 'didn't understand it.'"

SCOUTS TO LEAVE ON CAMP JAUNT

F. B. Creighton, boy scout executive, will leave Wichita Falls, Monday, August 18, in company with 18 or 20 first class boy scouts for Palo Duro on a week's camping trip. The party will leave Wichita Falls Monday in two trucks and will return in about a week. Palo Duro is situated south of Amarillo, and is beautifully adapted for a camping place.

Mr. Creighton said Tuesday that there was room for two or three more boy scouts and anyone desiring to make the trip inquire at scout headquarters for particulars.

WACO YOUTH SINGS BEFORE LIONS CLUB

Lions Club yesterday heard two songs by Armstead Hutchenrider, of Waco, at the weekly luncheon of that club yesterday. Young Hutchenrider sang with a voice that bespoke experience seemingly far beyond his years.

He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Brown, 1606 11th street, home for the summer vacation from the College of Industrial Arts at Denton. Mr. Hutchenrider is the guest of his uncle, J. T. Camp, 2310 Tenth street.

Swanson will speak on the effort of Robertson to inject the prohibition issue into the campaign. Judge W. N. Bonner will discuss Mrs. Ferguson's attitude toward the state university. Tourist Travel Still Holds Up

Tourist travel through the municipal camp at Scotland park continues heavy, according to records maintained by the keeper there and which show that as high as 125 or 130 people spend the night there at times. Monday of this week saw 123 tourists camped for the evening.

Most of the visitors come from points to the south and east of here—cars that are following the Colorado to Gulf highway from the southern portions of the country into the mountains of Colorado. An increasingly large number, however, are now coming the other way, returning from summer trips in the high altitudes to homes south of here.

A liberal scattering of tourists from further points continues to show up on the record books, however.

COPS PREPARE TRAFFIC BOOKS

Small booklets giving all the local traffic regulations, speed limits in various parts of the city, parking rules and other information have been printed by the police department and are available without cost to the public. A supply of the books are now with the desk sergeant at the city hall and all motorists are urged to stop for a copy.

The information was compiled and printed at the direction of Police Commissioner Young and Chief of Police Hodgins.

PAVING WORK IS BLOCKED BY RAIN

Paving operations on Fourteenth street from Lamar avenue west were halted Wednesday by the downpour of rain that struck this section early in the morning. All grading had been completed and pouring of concrete was scheduled to start.

The rain, however, changed the street into a quagmire and it must be allowed to dry out before work can be resumed. It is thought that crews may begin operations there either today or tomorrow at the latest.

LIONS APPROVE DAMMING RIVER

Would Put Proper Life-Saving Apparatus at Lake Kemp

A unanimous vote on two motions made at the Lions regular weekly luncheon yesterday has placed that club squarely behind damming of the Wichita river near Scotland park to provide a municipal swimming pool there and the maintenance of proper life-saving equipment at Lake Kemp. Not only was the moral support of the Lions promised in the motions but committees were appointed to see that both movements were put under way.

Cripliver Starts Move.

The proposition of damming the Wichita river at Scotland park in order to make a good bathing beach and swimming pool there was presented to the club by Frank Cripliver, who told of activities that had already been started in regard to the enterprise and pointed out that while everyone agreed as to the merits of such a pool none seemed willing to take the responsibility for a campaign for its construction.

J. T. Camp told of the various advantages to be derived from the prospective pool and of the splendid opportunity for its installation. P. B. Curd told of efforts of the city to put the idea over. He stated that the city had estimated the cost of such a project at around $100,000.

Committee Named.

As a result of a motion to that effect a committee composed of Frank Cripliver, P. B. Curd and J. T. Camp was appointed with instructions to ascertain how Lion activity toward putting such a project through might be best applied, their report to be given at the next meeting of the club.

Joe Carrigan then told of having been at Lake Kemp recently when two girls were drowned as a result of getting in water beyond their depth, improper life-saving facilities delaying the recovery of their bodies and preventing resuscitation after recovery. He pointed out that a pulmotor on the lake would have saved the lives of both girls where the crude means of artificial respiration that were used proved incompetent.

The necessary expenditure for the pulmotor and diving apparatus, he stated, would approximate $400.

The Lions voted to appoint a one-man committee to go with Mr. Carrigan to the other clubs of the city and enlist their support in the movement. J. T. Camp was appointed to go with Mr. Carrigan to the other clubs.

Mr. Carrigan stated that he intended to make trips soon to Vernon, Electra and Seymour to endeavor to get aid from those cities in installing the equipment.

Squatters Told To Get Out Of Front Street

Acting on orders from the city council, City Attorney W. E. George delivered orders Wednesday to a number of river front squatters to evacuate their property at once and get their houses out of a city street.

The order was merely another in the long fight between the city and residents of the Front, Washington, Carolina and other neighborhoods. A complaint was presented to the council last Monday night by Mrs. R. E. Montgomery, owner of considerable property in that territory, and the commissioners agreed to do what they could to oust the undesirables.

The battle between the city and the squatters has been one of long duration. It has been carried to the district and federal courts; injunctions, orders and decrees galore have been issued, and still no remedy has been obtained.

WILBARGER MAKES FAIR RESERVATIONS

Wilbarger is the third county to reserve rights for a county exhibit at the Texas-Oklahoma fair, according to R. E. Shepherd, secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association. A letter was received Wednesday from R. M. Fielder, secretary of the Vernon chamber of commerce asking for the reservation. It is thought by the officials that approximately 30 different counties will apply for reservations at the fair.

Jackson county in Oklahoma and Throckmorton county have previously applied for reservations and in as much as no contracts had been mailed out officials of the association are optimistic over the interest being shown at this early date.

R. M. Fielder, of Vernon, will have charge of the Wilbarger county exhibit.

CREIGHTON GOING TO SCOUT MEETING

F. B. Creighton, boy scout executive, will leave Wichita Falls September 1 for Estes Park, Colorado to attend the camp for the scout executives of the United States. The camp will last for two weeks and it is thought that more than 700 boy scout executives from all parts of the United States will be in attendance.

Each year the scout executives assemble from all parts of the United States and learn new scout methods.

Wichita Theatre To Open Aug. 28 With Six Acts Of Big Time Keith Vaudeville; Decorating Complete

The Wichita theatre will have its formal opening under the new management Friday, August 28, with a six feature bill of big-time vaudeville, according to announcement made yesterday by Manager Day of the Strand and Wichita theatres. Repairs are all but completed, seats are on their way, and the decoration of the interior with the exception of hanging $2,700 worth of Oriental draperies has been finished.

Already the interior of the building presents a marvelously changed appearance to one who has been used to the old red-cushioned seats of prize-fight fame. A scheme of blue and gray has been carried out throughout and from the starry sky dome to the well finished floor there is every evidence that neither time nor money has been spared in making the theatre new and modern.

Seats to Arrive.

Seats are yet to arrive, and it is stated by the management that they will be the best and finest upholstered obtainable.

Opening on Friday night, the big-time vaudeville will continue through the next night, six big features having been obtained for the first bill. A formal opening has been arranged, the details of which will be announced later.

The program as announced yesterday follows:

(1) Leo Singer presents "Harmonia", an artistic presentation with two well known talented headliners, Lna Hayward and Dora Maughn, and Mischa's famous orchestra. This number will headline the bill and is said to be one of the best ever given to theatre-goers.

(2) America's famous yodlers, Wilson Brothers, in "The Lieutenant and the Cook."

(3) Pardo and Archie in "The Girl Next Door."

(4) Allen and Cranfield, "Gimme the Makins."

(5) Roy and Emma Tracy in a skit of comedy singing and talking.

(6) McRae and Clegg present the champion lazy cyclist of the world.

Advance Seat Sale.

Advance sale of seats for the opening performances will begin on August 25, it was announced yesterday, although season reservations may be made now by calling F. W. Day, manager, at the Strand theatre. Tickets for week performances will be handled from both the theatre and Tipton's drug store.

"All is practically in readiness for the formal opening," stated Mr. Day yesterday in discussing his new theatre. "Six of the biggest numbers B. F. Keith's Interstate Vaudeville will present this year will be given for the initial night's performance, and I am satisfied Wichita Falls people will be proud of the new theatrical attraction that has been added to their city.

Proud of Theatre.

"The theatre has been completely overhauled and redecorated," he stated. "The scenic artist has completed the scenery and chairs, the finest and most modern theatre chairs I have been able to obtain have been shipped and should be here any day.

"I am proud of the beauty of the new theatre, and I am also proud to say that I did not have to go out of Wichita Falls for a single item of its decoration. Without a shadow of a doubt the new Wichita theatre is the most beautiful in the entire southwest for a city the size of Wichita Falls.

Lemons Bleach the Skin White

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—adv.

WOMAN AILING FOR A YEAR

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Happy Results

Newcastle, Pa.—"I was all rundown and everybody thought I was going into a decline. I had been ailing for a year with pains in my right side so that I could hardly stand on my feet. When I walked I felt as if something was falling. I was not able to do any work and had a nurse most of the time. She spoke to me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I gave it a fair trial. Some women think one bottle should cure them, but I did not stop at that. I took more and got better and am able ever since to do my own housework. There was a time, when I would complain of not feeling well, that my husband would say, 'Go to the doctor.' But now he will tell me to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's, and it has always helped me. I have had druggists tell me that they had something better, but they don't tell me that now, for I take no other. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound now for five years. Any woman who cares to call or write, I will be glad to tell her how it helped me."—Mrs. MABEL LIST SHERBAHN, 515 Newell Ave., Newcastle, Pa.
