Light Snowfall Blankets Area In Panhandle

Mercury Skids To New Lows; Colder Tonight Forecast

(By The Associated Press)

Twisting windstorms in Southeast Texas and in Louisiana and Mississippi injured at least 15 persons and damaged communication lines and homes as a freezing norther swept across the southwest Monday.

Snow fell over the Panhandle of Texas and Amarillo's 17-degree temperature was the lowest of the season. The Dallas weather bureau predicted sub-freezing weather would penetrate deep into Southeast Texas.

Much Colder Forecast

Livestock warnings were in effect in Northwest Texas. The forecast was for much colder.

A twister swept northeastward through Huntsville early Monday, damaging residences and shattering plate glass windows, but injuring no one. Near Greenville, Miss., 15 persons were injured and a score of farm homes levelled in an early morning tornado. Trees were uprooted and power lined felled at Monroe, La., during a heavy rain and windstorm.

Damage was unofficially estimated at $50,000 at Huntsville where the twisting wind demolished part of the state prison's grandstand. The family of W. H. Honea was trapped for a short time in their home and endangered by leaking gas when the wind blew the house from its foundations. Timbers flung from the grandstand on a nearby house wrecked the room where Bennie Gray was sleeping, but he escaped injury.

Temperatures Drop

At Shreveport, the temperature dropped 32 degrees within a few hours to a low of 74. Waco's low was 39, Sherman 31, Wichita Falls 30, Abilene 33, Tyler 35, Corsicana 36, Big Spring 32, Port Arthur 59. Heavy rains accompanied the drop in many places, including Dallas, Port Arthur, Sherman and Corsicana.

Panhandle snow was regarded as beneficial to crops.

Farm Income Goes Higher

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The rising price trend of important domestic agricultural commodities since late summer when the national defense program began to gather momentum was cited today as an indication that the 1940 farm cash income for the first time since 1929 might top nine billion dollars.

Last year's farm cash income was 8 1-2 billion dollars, while in the depths of the depression it was less than five billion.

Losses Are Regained

Strengthened by America's defense plans but without support of normal foreign demands, prices of the major domestic farm commodities have regained on the average more than one-half the market demoralizing loss that followed German successes in western Europe early last summer.

Analysts studying quotations in various Chicago markets said today this recovery, despite obliteration of most of the foreign outlet for exportable U. S. agricultural surpluses, was the basis of optimistic hopes for improved farm income.

Better domestic demand for farm products, reflecting swelling industrial payrolls, has been felt chiefly

Death Claims Sen. Pittman

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — The unexpected death of Senator Key Pittman (D-Nev) gave post-election Washington a suddenly somber atmosphere today but, since governments must go on, Senator George (D-Ga) was soon mentioned as the most likely man to succeed him as head of the important Senate foreign relations committee.

Pittman, one-time Klondike sourdough, member of the Senate since 1912, and chairman of the foreign relations committee since 1933, died yesterday. He was stricken Monday, the eve of his re-election for a fifth term in the Senate.

Sorrow Is Voiced

President Roosevelt, saying he was "shocked and deeply grieved," led those in the capital who expressed regret at the Nevada senator's death. Secretary Hull, with whom Pittman worked closely on matters of foreign affairs, said he was "grieved and distressed beyond measure." Colleagues and associates likewise voiced their sorrow.

With the turn of international events at such a critical stage, the question of Pittman's successor as chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee immediately became a matter of moment.

Senator Pat Harrison (D-Miss) was the ranking committee member, but for him to take the post would mean relinquishing chairmanship of the equally important Senate finance committee. Harrison indicated promptly that he intended to retain his finance chairmanship and — since no senator may head two committees—this decision made George the No. 1 man.

Tech Judgers Fifth In Livestock Show

Texas Technological college's livestock judging team placed fifth in judging at the American Royal Livestock exposition in Kansas City Saturday, Dear A. H. Leidigh has been informed.

Twenty teams competed.

Iowa State college placed first with 4,635 points Nebraska university, second with 4,624 points, Oklahoma A. and M. third with 4,567 points, Texas A. and M. fourth with 4,565 points, Texas Tech fifth with 4,559 points, Oklahoma Panhandle A. and M., sixth with 4,556 points, Kansas State, seventh with 4,555 points and Missouri university eighth with 4,553 points.

Lewis Nance from Justiceburg, member of the Tech team, placed third in judging of horses and was 12th high individual among 100 competing in the contest. Thomas Ingram from Idalou was third in sheep judging and Elmont Honea from Tulia, fifth in horse judging.

Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, is team coach.

Wreck Victims Are Seriously Injured

BIG SPRING, Nov. 11 (AP) — Mr and Mrs. Walter E. Thompson of Tazewell, Va., injured in a car mishap near here Friday, remained in a serious condition at a hospital today, but attendants said they were resting well.

Mrs. James Haddad of Charleston, Va., also was gravely hurt, with a head injury, fractured ribs and lacerations. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson suffered fractured spines, and she had fractured ribs and a broken ankle.

Treasury Says Many Items Under Study

Individual Income, Soft Drinks And Profits Listed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Treasury officials indicated today they were seeking about $1,000,000,000 of additional tax revenues from new levies on such items as soft drinks and securities and increased levies on individual income and corporate excess profits.

They said that, although Secretary Morgenthau already had committed the administration to seek more revenue from the next congress, no definite tax plan had yet been agreed upon. Congressional leaders probably will be consulted before any decisions are made.

Other Are Considered

Upward revision of the recently-enacted excess profits tax was taken almost for granted by a number of treasury officials. From this revision alone, they hinted, the revenue possibilities run as high as $500,000,000, but probably less.

The corporate excess profits tax, together with the increased corporate income tax enacted with it a few weeks ago, were said by some to necessitate a similar increase in individual income tax rates which might bring in upwards of $100,000,000 more taxes.

Many other tax sources, small in themselves but productive together, are being examined. Chief of these is a possible levy on soft drinks, possibly a half cent on nickel types.

English Resistance Explained By Nazis

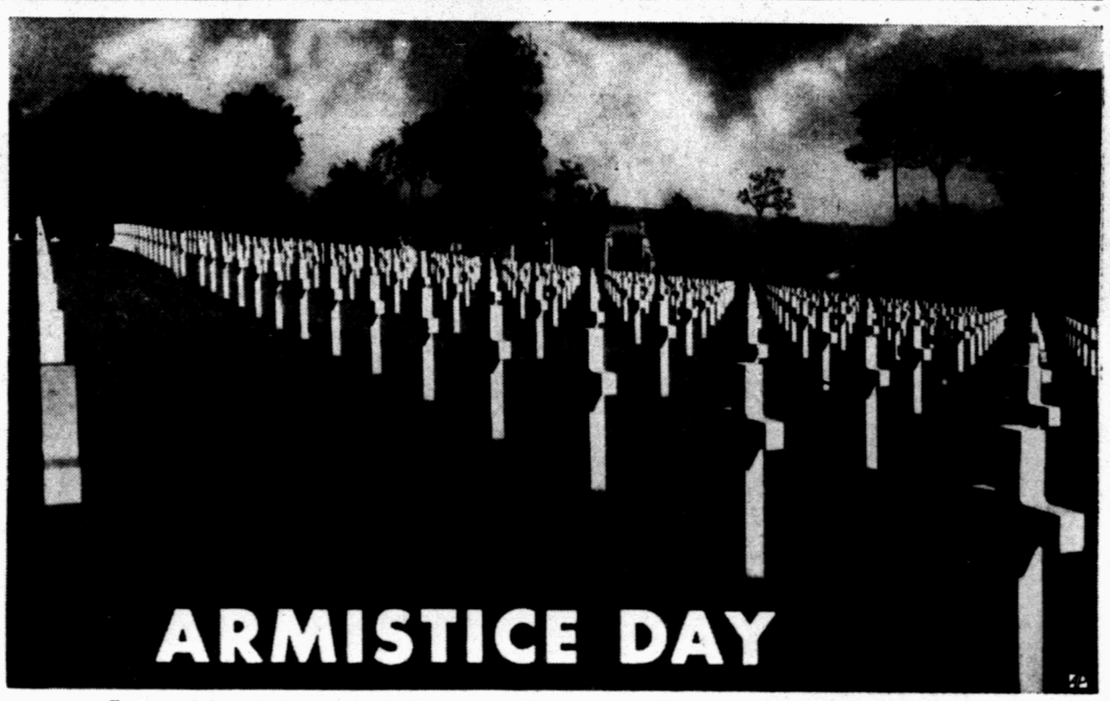

BERLIN, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — The diplomatic correspondent of the Berlin newspaper, Boersen Zietung, gave this reason today why the British thus far have "surprisingly" succeeded in resisting Germany's aerial blitzkrieg:

"It is only thanks to the basic Germanic strain in its race that the English people have been able to withstand this fearful reality."

Uncle Sam Pauses In Armistice Tribute As Guns Thunder In Embattled Europe

America Only Ally At Peace

(By The Associated Press)

The United States paused momentarily in a mighty defense effort today to commemorate the eleventh day of an eleventh month 22 years ago which men once hoped heralded peace in our time.

Of the three major Allies fighting shoulder to shoulder when the Armistice was signed Nov. 11, 1918, this country alone was at peace and unscourged by war as it rendered reverential homage to the unknown soldier who personifies its World war dead.

One Of Rededication

In London embattled Britain will forego her annual observance and make the day one of rededication.

Paris, where once France paid solemn tribute each year to the World war fallen, is in the hands of a conquering army.

At Washington President Roosevelt was ready to express the gratitude and remembrance of a nation at peace when he went to Arlington national cemetery where the unknown soldier of 1917-1918 lies entombed.

To Deliver Message

Departing from the custom of his previous Armistice day pilgrimages, Mr. Roosevelt planned to deliver a message to the country. In bygone years, he has placed a wreath on the tomb and left to others the commemorative addresses. Arrangements have been made to broadcast Mr. Roosevelt's speech.

The coming of a new Armistice day with its memory of a past war also served to bring forth demands that the country avoid any future conflict.

Hundreds Dead In Rumania As Tremors Continue To Spread Havoc In Cities, Oil Fields

(By The Associated Press)

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 11—The most disastrous earthquake in this kingdom's history killed between 1,000 and 2,000 persons and spread devastation across a 5,000-square-mile area yesterday and new tremors added to the catastrophe today.

In a few quivering seconds yesterday morning more of Rumania was laid in waste than would be destroyed in months of war.

Whole Villages Erased

Whole villages were erased. Raging fires burned in Rumania oil fields. Masses of buildings were levelled in Bucharest. Tens of millions of dollars of damage was done to property. Thousands of persons were injured and other thousands left homeless and terror-stricken.

Again at mid-morning today earth tremors shook this capital, toppling balconies and adding to the death lists which grew steadily as communications were re-established with provinces where village after village reported fatalities yesterday.

Rescue Workers Killed

Explosions and fires in the ruins of an apartment house where nearly 200 were entombed killed an undetermined number of iron guard rescue workers. Bursting gasoline tanks spat flames through the wreckage, sealing the fate of those trapped beneath and it was not known how many searchers had gone to their deaths.

While experts surveyed the damage to oil refineries and power plants, caused principally by toppling chimneys, geologists said the

State Funeral For Chamberlain To Be Staged In Britain

LONDON, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—A state funeral was planned today for former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who in 1938 assured Great Britain of "peace in our time" and in 1939 led Britain into war.

Chamberlain died "peacefully" at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon in his country home in Hampshire while German air raiders were winging their way over Hampshire's neatly mown fields for their nightly attack on London.

In Coma For Final Hours

Chamberlain had been gravely ill for days at Heckfield house, near Odiham. In his final hours, the former prime minister was in a coma, but for weeks he had listened to the hum of Nazi planes. With him were his wife and two sisters.

Chamberlain was 71. A tired and ailing man, he severed all connection with the government on Oct. 3 and retired to await death.

The funeral was being planned while government leaders paid tribute. Prime Minister Winston Churchill preferred to make his tribute a statement to the House of Commons. It was expected that the body would be brought to London

Full Program Set For City

A colorful, tuneful downtown parade highlighted this morning's observance of Armistice day in Lubbock.

It was one of the numerous events comprising the day's program celebrating the 22nd anniversary of the end of the first World war.

Bands In Parade

With Mayor Carl E. Slaton serving as honorary marshal and led by the drum and bugle corps of Sons of the American Legion, the parade included bands of Texas Technological college, Senior High school, Junior High school and the national guard; marching members of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, Lubbock post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, and their auxiliaries; Gold Star Mothers; representatives of Spanish-War veterans, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, a Red Cross float, the Salvation Army and others. The Carpenter's local union, as usual, entered a float of striking appearance. Members of the Tech R. O. T. C. units and the national guard companies were in the line of march.

The program, according to Glen Hess, general chairman for the day, followed strictly in accordance with the announced schedule.

Reveille Is Sounded

Buglers at strategic points about the city sounded reveille at 5:30 a. m., followed by a breakfast and a floorshow program in Lubbock hotel at 6 o'clock. Approximately 175

Roosevelt Voices Faith That Democracy Will Live Forever

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. President Roosevelt voiced faith in an Armistice day speech today that democracy would survive and predicted that the people under the "iron heels" of "modern dictators or modern oligarchs" would "rebel."

"I, for one," Mr. Roosevelt said, in a speech broadcast from Arlington national cemetery, "do not believe that the era of democracy in human affairs can or will be snuffed out in our lifetime. I, for one, do not believe that mere force will be successful in sterilizing the seeds which had taken such firm root as a harbinger of better lives for mankind.

"I, for one, do not believe that the world will revert either to a modern form of ancient slavery or to control vested in modern feudalism or modern emperors or modern dictators or modern oligarchs in these days. The very people under their iron heels will, themselves, rebel."

Thousands Are Annihilated By Greek Troops

Fascists Retreat In Disorder; Lose On All Fronts

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Nov. 11.—The Italian invaders of Greece "have lost the battle in all sectors and are retreating in disorder toward Albania," the Greek radio declared today.

Thus the radio summarized a series of Greek successes which it said had been won in 15 days of bitter warfare, "despite the superiority of the Italian forces."

Large Units Annihilated

A smashing defeat of Italy's crack Alpine Centaur division—trained for a year in Albania for a lightning attack through the mountains into Greece—was reported meanwhile by the Greek high command which said large units of the division were annihilated.

Greece's Highland troops were said to have swept onto the offensive along the whole 100-mile fighting front, routing the Centaur division in the Pindus mountains, wiped out two Fascist battalions along the Kalamas river on the Italian right flank, and crumbled the Italian left wing at bombarded Koritza, in Albania.

Confidence Growing

Greek confidence grew apace as the first downpours of the four-month winter rainy season made slush of snow in the mountain passes, deepened the mud in the lowland roads and threatened to bog down mechanized war.

Principal gains claimed today by the high command were in the Pindus mountains, central section of the border battlefront, where the Italian Alpine division was trapped in an attempted drive toward Metsovon, northeast of Ioannina.

What was left of the division was reported retreating in disorder, leaving behind uncounted dead and almost all its equipment—even medical supplies.

To the west, toward the coast, where the Italians started their first wedge into Epirus almost two weeks ago, the Greeks were said to have stopped another Italian attack over the weekend, annihilated two battalions, and forced the invaders back under heavy artillery fire.

From heights overlooking the encircled Italian base at Koritza, at the opposite end of the battlefront, additional Greek guns hauled into position through ice and slush were reported to be continuing a steady bombardment, reducing Italian defenses for a final assault.

The Athens radio alleged Italian prisoners reported that Albanian troops, fighting alongside Italian units, had been machine-gunned from the back when they retreated.

Eight Hurt In Sunday Crash

Eight persons were injured in an automobile accident early Sunday night about four miles from Lubbock on the Littlefield highway.

According to unofficial reports of the accident, F. L. Davis of route 6 was driving one car and was making a left turn into the driveway of his home. His machine was in collision with another car occupied by John Wilkes, about 52, of Wichita Falls, and H. P. Ragan, about 48, of Shallowater. The Davis car overturned.

Wilkes and Ragan were taken to Lubbock sanitarium, Wilkes with a minor scalp injury and Ragan with a fractured left kneecap and scalp wound. Neither was considered serious in condition.

Mrs. Davis and five children, Rondal, 8, Jack, 4, Marvin, 5 months, Maryann, 7, and Burnell, 3, were taken to West Texas hospital, all with lacerations, contusions and bruises. All were expected to return home today, the hospital reported.

Those Tickets Go On Sale Tuesday

Advance ticket sale for the Lubbock-Amarillo high school football feature, scheduled for November 21, begins tomorrow, E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey has announced.

Sections A, B, C and D of Tech stadium will be placed on sale here, while corresponding sections on the east side will go on sale in Amarillo. Tickets will be on sale here, beginning about 9 o'clock in the morning, at Hotel Lubbock Drug, Hub Clothiers and Mark Halsey Drug No. 2.

Nazis Strike At London In Mass Attacks

Wide Area Is Hit In Raids

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Heavy formations of German bombers roared across the English channel today in an Armistice Day parade which three times forced its way through stubborn defenses to attack London.

Reverting to the mass air attacks of the earlier stages of the siege, the raiders hit the coast in such big waves that many were able to streak inland past Britain's defending fighters.

On one occasion one raider, on another five and again 20 flew across the capital.

Drop Heavy Loads

Air battles could be heard in many places while Britons stood with bared heads beneath misty skies to honor their dead of the last war on the 22nd anniversary of the broken peace of 1918.

Three times air raid sirens shrilled alarms but by 2 p. m., the third all clear had sounded.

The day raiders, although harassed by the capital's intermittent barrage, dropped heavy bomb loads on London.

One demolished two houses, injured a woman and three children. Another salvo fell opposite a school but caused no damage. A third wrecked a saloon and bowled over a bus. A bank and some stores also were hit.

RAF Said Repulsed

More than 100 planes, following up a fierce night attack, participated in the first assault, the British said, crossing the coast in two formations. In the second thrust, 50 fighter-bombers crossed the Kent coast.

RAF raiders ranged across Nazi-occupied territory and into central Germany, where the air ministry said "targets" were attacked during the night.

(A German communique said British planes attempted to raid Berlin but were driven back by an "energetic defense" before they could drop their bombs).

Raids Are Widespread

In addition to the attacks on London, invading fliers struck at towns in various sections of the embattled island, including the industrial midlands, but the government said activity as a whole was "not particularly heavy" but "somewhat greater than on the previous night." Most night raids stopped soon after midnight.

In the capital, four members of a stretcher party were killed when a bomb hit a maternity and child welfare clinic being used as an air raid protection depot.

About 150 persons, including many women and children, escaped from a flooded basement shelter beneath a London orphanage damaged when two bombs fell nearby.

LIFE-SAVERS

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Humane Officer J. W. Helvin says two small boys saved the life of a valuable pointer dog owned by James R. Parker when they turned a hose on the animal as he was attacked by a swarm of bees. The dog suffered almost 1,000 stings before the water dispersed them.

Texas Cities Pay Tributes

(By The Associated Press)

New buddies marched with Texas World war veterans today, men as young, lithe and strong as were the veterans themselves 22 years ago on the first Armistice.

These newcomers — national guardsmen called up for training in the regular army and registrants under the selective service act—drew places of honor in lines of parade.

Traditional observance of the day was modified in many places to commemorate the nation's new defense effort.

Blustery Norther

A blustery norther chilled outdoor observances in most of Texas.

Galveston planned to give draftees seats of honor and introduce them at a national rally tonight, climax of a program featuring a day military parade and memorial services for World war dead.

Amarillo, where commemoration of Armistice day opened last night with ex-service men participating in services at all churches, was the rallying point for several Panhandle Legion delegations.

Parade This Morning

For a morning parade sponsors lined up bands from Plainview and Amarillo high schools, 400-odd draft registrants, and veterans.

The army put on a show at San Antonio with mechanized units of its second division allotted for the parade there, and exhibition of army equipment at Alamo stadium. A high point on the San Antonio program was the dedication of a cenotaph to Alamo heroes.

Special drills by the national guard were arranged at Beaumont, and every other city had its celebration.

Originally, sideboards were boards placed on trestles and used to hold dishes during the serving of meals.

Bill Of WTCC Is Completed

A week end announcement by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce told of the completion of its bill for introduction at the coming session of the legislature of Texas embodying the regional chamber's plan for reorganizing and modernizing the budgetary functions and the administrative machinery of the state government.

The bill will be introduced by Rep. Joe Humphrey of Abilene. Humphrey is known as a student of governmental practices, holding a master's degree from Southern Methodist university. He has made a close study of the WTCC program and, in a statement, expressed the confident opinion that "this bill and plan supplies the whole answer to our present haphazard, makeshift and piecemeal system of fiscal affairs."

Ready To Start Firing

"We are ready to start firing," said J. S. Bridwell, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. "Our problem, carrying the bill, is set forth in detail in a pamphlet prepared by D. A. Bandeen, our general manager, and Dr. Geo. C. Hester, head of the school of government in Southwestern university. The plan and procedure have been approved by our public expenditure commission headed by Judge D. Hamlin of Farwell. The pamphlet is ready for the printer and soon will be distributed for study by legislators, the taxpayers and all who are concerned over the problem and the need for gearing the structure of Texas government to the tempo of a modern world where inefficiency is no longer excusable and may spell catastrope."

Problem, Remedy, Benefits

The WTCC plan is a study of the state's management problem, offers a remedy, and recites benefits to accrue from its adoption. It says, as to the problem, that the state has property and investments worth hundreds of millions of dollars and spends annually around 175 millions — "more than the cotton income from all the farms in Texas."

This largest business institution in Texas, consuming so much from Texans' income, is—says the WTCC—run without adequate financial plan or control and amid confusion of responsibility and management; without adequate accounting or auditing including independent post-auditing; without adequate information made available to the legislature, the policy - determining and appropriating branch; and with far too many agencies and departments (more than 100 at present) each independent of the others.

The West Texas chamber contends the remedy lies with the legislature. The bill drawn to meet the problem, to be introduced by Rep. Humphrey, provides for continuous supervision of state expenditures and receipts through definite, centralized control; for directed financial planning; for an adequate system of centralized purchasing of state supplies, materials and equipment. It provides a system of accounting control and independent auditing; coordination of the staff services of the state; a civil service system for employment of non-policy personnel on basis of merit and open competition. It consolidates the state's 100-odd agencies into not more than 18 departments; provides for the supply of complete information on administrative affairs to the legislature; and, in the whole, aims at the installation of a more business-like administration of affairs for the benefit of taxpayers.

Legislature To Be Tops

"The whole plan," Manager Bandeen said, "rests on recognition of the constitutional functions of the legislature. It has for its objective the providing of sound means of planning, placing and executing duties and responsibilities, and handling of funds intrusted to the administrative branch of the government. Its adoption for Texas will, we feel certain, simplify and improve the administrative machinery, accomplishing this in a democratic way without delegating dictatorial power to any person."

Dr. Geo. C. Hester said: "If it works as similar plans are working in other states—notably Minnesota, Nebraska, Virginia and Kentucky—it will save millions of dollars for Texas taxpayers."

A general meeting, statewide in scope, for discussion of the plan will be called during this month, Bandeen said, to be held under the direction of the WTCC's public expenditure commission. Allied with Hamlin's commission are a sinking fund investment commission and a budget analysis staff composed of technical experts. Bandeen and Dr. Hester are counsellors to the commissions. The plan will be fully aired at the general meeting, and the Westex chamber will organize the legislative campaign in which Rep. Humphrey will take a leading part.

Synthetic Fuel May Substitute For Exhausted Natural Resources

Chemist Plans New Formula

BY ROBERT SHUBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 11—In a dimly-lighted laboratory of Carnegie Institute, a chemist is developing synthetic power to turn the wheels of industry when nature's coal and oil resources have been exhausted.

The chemist, Dr. Ernst Berl, fled from Germany in 1932. He began his studies of the formation of coal and oil deposits 13 years ago.

Dr. Berl now claims to have solved the process by which nature produced and stored away fuel reserves. In his laboratory, he is prepared to change a handkerchief into high-grade coal, molasses into anti-knock gasoline.

Through the processess he has developed, Dr. Berl said, the way is open to manufacture fuel from common carbohydrates, such as cellulose and sugars of corn, sea weeds, algae, molasses and cotton. He believes someday man can cease to draw upon dwindling oil supplies and turn to the farmer's products for lubrication and power.

Oil Major Question

While present coal resources may last 3,000 years, Dr. Berl said, this nation's supply of "easy to get" oil may be exhausted in 50 years.

"Our children will have to do something with this problem," he said. "Let's be extremely careful of our resources; let's be liberal with our farm products."

As long as oil is available at $1 a barrel, he admitted, "no synthetic process can compete with nature."

But in countries without natural oil, he predicted, his process may be used in "the not so distant future," and in other countries when reserves fail.

Re-Plotted Nature's Processes

Dr. Berl's researches started in Germany when he abandoned the accepted theory that natural coal and oil were a derivative of lignin, or lignite, and set out to re-plot the processes of nature.

His research, he said, showed coal and oil were derivatives of cellulose, rather than lignin and that the formation of asphalt was an intermediate step in the process, rather than a product of oil.

With this mystery solved, Dr. Berl began to reproduce the process in his test tubes. The result was synthetic coal and oil, which, Dr. Berl stated, have the same properties as the natural materials.

Method Very Easy

"Nature had, let us say, 400,000,000 years to produce these materials," the scientist, now a naturalized citizen, said. "With highest temperatures and higher pressure, now we can produce them in an hour."

His method, he added, is "very easy."

Carbohydrates, such as produced in vegetation, are combined with limestone, or dolomite, and heated under pressure until converted into a dark, tar-like substance, which Dr. Berl has named "proto-product." Under further internal combustion, the substance is converted into asphalt.

The asphalt, in turn, is converted into coal and oil by "cracking" or hydrogenization. The final product can be changed from coal to oil by varying the amount of limestone used.

Has Costs Charted

The cost of producing gasoline from common carbohydrates, according to Dr. Berl, would be four times the cost of distilling it from natural oil at the present time. Further improvement of the process will reduce the ratio to about three to one, he said.

Production of gasoline by the new method, however, would be cheaper than by the hydrogenization of coal, as is being done in Germany at the present time, and costs approximately the same as distillation from oil-bearing shale. The abundance of carbohydrates available for conversion into oil by the new method, however gives it an advantage over existing methods, he said.

Merchants Have Own Index For Business

WINSLOW, Ariz., Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Residents of Winslow Rock area, adjacent to the Navajo Indian reservation, consult neither stock market reports or business reviews for the economic well-being of the Indians.

The infallible barometer of business prosperity or lack of it on the spends his ornamental buttons.

In periods of prosperity Navajos use dimes, quarters, half-dollars, for buttons and ornaments on their clothing and moccasins. A small copper eye is soldered on the back of the coin to enable the squaw to sew it to the shirt or moccasin.

When times are good on the reservation, coins hang in rows on leather jackets, hats, cuffs, belts and moccasins.

In hard times when all other money is gone, the Navajo snips and spenuds his ornamental buttons.

Indian's Scholarship Possible By Treaty

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11 (U.P.)—A treaty signed in 1817 is responsible for Arthur L. Biggins, jr., 20-year-old Indian of Pocatello, Idaho, having a University of Michigan scholarship for the third successive term.

The scholarship was established in recognition of an Indian treaty concluded at Fort Meigs, Mich., granting three sections of land to the institution later designated as the university.

No Drug Store Cowboys Would Relish "Deer Herder's" Job

(By The United Press)

CANON CITY, Colo., Nov. 11—Tonight, as on every other night in the year, Ed W. Coryell, equipped with flashlight, pistol and shotgun, will go on patrol to frighten deer away from the gardens of Canon City.

For the lack of a better title, the State Game and Fish Department has listed Coryell as a "deer herder." There are other deer herders in the state but their duties are to feed and protect the herds in the winter. Coryell protects the city's vegetables from the deer.

How many thousand deer he has driven out of Canon City dens in the last eight years Coryell doesn't know. Once he saw more than 100 deer in one hour. One herd numbered 67 deer before he drove them away.

Coryell has developed his own system to frighten the deer. First he aims at their feet with his .22-caliber revolver. If that doesn't work, he uses a small caliber shotgun loaded with birdshot. The shot does not penetrate the hide, merely stinging them enough to start the herd running.

Coryell's job was created when a law was enacted providing a gardner can sue the state if his property is damaged by a protected animal. So far, no gardner near Canon City has sued.

Coryell drives an average of 100 miles each night, examining each garden hourly. His "deer patrol" mileage in the last eight years approximates 130,000 miles.

The prettiest sight he has ever seen Coryell said, was when his spotlight swung down a line of 28 deer standing shoulder-to-shoulder along the bank of a stream. They fled when he fired his revolver at them.

Deer are not the only animals Coryell has seen on his patrols. Twice he has seen mountain lions and smaller game is often discovered.

Coryell said the deer come to Canon City district for protection during the hunting season.

There were a total of 13,281 daily, weekly, semi-weekly and tri-weekly newspapers in the United States at the end of 1939.

Burglary Of Caves Has Stumped Cops

CARLSBAD, N. M., Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Officers are stumped over the most unique "job" in Carlsbad crime history.

Two burglars descended more than 750 feet into the famous cavern after prying through the entrance, made their way without any light except what they carried, and looted the cavern supply room.

There they robbed a cash register of $12 in pennies and $20 in other small change and fled with sandwiches and 12 cans of beer.

TRAFFIC HAZZARD

KINSTON, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. M. A. Garner remarked to her husband that they were driving through bear country in Craven county when—bang!—their car struck something. It was a big black bear, who grunted, regained his feet and lumbered away.

4 O'clock fatigue? Maybe it's your EYES

Physical fatigue is the result of many causes—the most common reason is the strain induced by faulty vision. Eyes that are not functioning at their normal efficiency drain tremendous amounts of energy from that vital store that should be used for other organs of the body. The result is complete over-all fatigue, often times accompanied by headaches, nervousness and perhaps other common more serious disorders.

How important it is then that you be relieved of all forms of visual strain. If there are any weaknesses, if your vision seems poor, we suggest that you have your eyes examined at once by your Oculist. He will prescribe the proper correction to enable your eyes to accomplish their daily tasks without undue strain—give you efficient, normal, restful vision—a valuable asset in these days of long hours indoors further complicated by artificial lighting.

Pies Will Make That Thanksgiving Meal Just About Perfect; Recipes Given

Mince Pie Is Old Standby

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Associated Press Feature Writer

Mince pies and plum puddings!

Reappearance of this pair definitely heralds the holidays.

You'd better get some practice in making up these winter standbys so you can turn them out at top speed when Thanksgiving arrives.

Here are recipes that click. They can be used all winter. Some are brand new; others are faintly doctored to meet changing times, varying pocketbooks and whimsical moods.

MINCE MEAT AND CRANBERRIES, mixed together make a pie with a tantalizing flavor. Mix 2 cups of prepared mince meat with ½ cup raisins and pour into an unbaked pie crust. Cover with a cup of cranberries, mixed thoroughly with 2-3 cup granulated sugar, a tablespoon flour, 1-2 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Pour 1-4 cup orange or spiced peach juice over the filling and cover with a top crust. Bake 15 minutes in a moderately hot oven, then lower the heat and bake 35 more minutes.

Mince meat is improved when moistened with leftover fruit juices, orange juice, cider or spiced fruit liquid. Or brandy for those who want it. About a fourth cup of liquid per pie is ample.

Always serve MINCE PIE hot. To reheat it, carefully cover with a pie pan and leave it for 10 minutes in a moderate oven. You can sprinkle grated cheese over the top crust before it is heated. The cheese will melt and form a crusty, brown topper with a delicious flavor. Mince pies made up a day or so ahead should be stored in a cool place.

For those waist-watchers who love rich foods but cannot often indulge, this FRUIT PIE is grand and not so heavy as mince pie. Mix a cup of sugar with 1-4 cup flour, 1-3 teaspoon salt and 1-3 cup each of apricot, orange, prune and lemon juices. Cook slowly until thick. Stir constantly. Add 3-4 cup each chopped cooked prunes, apricots and figs. Add 1-3 cup broken nuts, 1-2 cups raisins and pour into a crust-lined pie pan. Cover with strips of pastry, criss-cross fashion. Bake 10 minutes at about 450 degrees. Lower the heat and bake 25 more minutes.

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING STANSBURY is less rich than most plum puddings but equally as good. Soak 2 cups of bread crumbs half an hour in a cup of hot milk. Add a cup of chopped suet, cup of dark brown sugar, 3 eggs, beaten, 1-4 cup fruit juices (any kinds), teaspoon each of vanilla, cinnamon, cloves and grated orange rind, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour, teaspoon soda and a cup each of chopped prunes, dates and figs. 1-2 cup each chopped citron, nuts and candied fruit peels (assorted). Half fill greased pudding mold and steam 3 hours. Serve hot with hard sauce or sherry or fruit liquid sauce.

Milwaukee Pancake King Fills 'Em Up; It's Hobby With Him

BY BOB MADDOCK
United Press Staff Correspondent

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11—His business card said "Griddle cakes furnished for fraternal, church, civic, political women's clubs, picnics, etc."

The card pictured a stack of pancakes which made a tantalizing appeal to the appetite. Back of the card is the story of Henry G. Eiler, 67, "Milwaukee's Pancake King."

The man who can fill 500 to 600 people with pancakes on an "eat all you want" basis in 30 minutes ascribed it to "system." It's his pancake machines—he has made to serve from eight to 64 pancakes at one pouring.

Makes No Charge

Pancake making is Eiler's hobby. He makes no charge for his services. He solicits no jobs. Any organization can call him up and say: "Henry, we want pancakes." He'll come and feed all the pancakes people can eat for the cost of ingredients and an assistant, if one is necessary.

Eiler retired 18 years ago. He had been a highly successful flour salesman. Since he retired he has ridden his hobby hard.

He has served as many as three clubs in one night. So great has been the demand on Eiler from churches, father-and-son organizations, lodges and other groups that often arrangements are made a year in advance with him.

His pancake feeds have taken him to almost every state in the union. Once he taught an Indian tribe how to make griddle cakes.

The proceeds of a church benefit Eiler assisted bought a 14-year-old boy a wooden leg.

He serves Milwaukee orphanages several times a year and in the summer "treats" Boy Scout campers.

Thousands Cooked

The largest gathering Eiler ever served at one sitting was 1,285 persons. He said 8,000 pancakes were cooked and eaten at that party.

Eiler said women are the lightest pancake eaters and Boy Scouts the heaviest. An average Scout will eat 12 cakes before quitting.

He has one "regular church customer" who never eats less than 36 of his cakes.

His pancake machine consists of a hopper for the batter running on a track over a series of special griddles each of which holds eight cakes. The hopper drops batter for four cakes at each throw of the lever, which works an automatic counter.

Eiler uses a flour milled on his orders and intense heat under the griddles. Eiler cooks his pancakes on both sides in half a minute.

Coast Areas Gain Orders

By ROY J. FORREST
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 11—The Texas Gulf coast, a depression bright spot, continues to shine on the nation's business map despite vanished foreign markets for petroleum and cotton.

Private and national defense industrial building and public works costing more than $250,000,000 have jumped the retail sales barometer in this area 28 per cent.

Effects of national defense spending have not approached a peak, as the program hardly has got under way. Private construction alone for the first nine months of 1940 totaled more than $34,000,000 in Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Galveston.

Major projects, exclusive of a $920,000,000 contract for 12 U. S. Navy destroyers to be built at Orange, include a $25,000,000 naval air base at Corpus Christi, a $17,000,000 plant for Union Carbide Company at Texas City, a $12,000,000 magnesium plant for Dow Chemical Company at Freeport and a $5,000,000 shipyard at Orange.

Big Refinery Expansion

Oil companies in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area are carrying out a $20,000,000 refinery expansion program. The City of Beaumont has authorized construction of a $2,000,000 airport and an $850,000 addition to its educational system.

Humble Oil & Refining Company has completed plans under federal approval for construction of a $12,000,000 plant for manufacture of tuolene, base for explosives, at Baytown near here.

In addition, the War Department has authorized work and construction costing more than $3,000,000 for re-establishment of Ellington military airfield near Houston and for expansion and improvements at Fort Crockett, Galveston, and Camp Hulen, Palacios. Extensive expansion of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, is under way.

Private Business Rolls Increase

The trend in business conditions of this coastal area is reflected in the August report of the Texas State Employment Service for district 14, which includes the Houston area.

The state service reported placing 17,852 employables in private industry during August, a gain of 11,875 over July. August placements in Houston alone totaled 2,993, a gain of 204.

Despite the heavy demand for labor, A. A. McBride of Houston, president of the Texas Federation of Labor, cautioned against an influx of outside workers and said "There is no shortage of skilled mechanics and we can man any job."

WPA rolls for a 21-county area, including Houston, have dropped off by more than 3,500 since Jan. 1, the workers having obtained private employment. Francis Barker, district WPA administrator, estimated that 15 per cent of those who quit their relief jobs were skilled workmen who found places in industries related to national defense.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels with herb laxative, combined with syrup pepsin to make it agreeable and easy to take

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with good old Syrup Pepsin to make your laxative more agreeable and easier to take. For years many Doctors have used pepsin compounds, as agreeable carriers to make other medicines more palatable when your "taster" feels easily upset. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna, combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully its herb Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines, to bring welcome relief from constipation. And see how its Syrup Pepsin makes Dr. Caldwell's medicine so smooth and agreeable to a touchy gullet. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna at your druggist's today. Try one laxative that won't bring on violent distaste, even when you take it after a full meal.

Treatment For Rare Diseases May Be Found In New Experiments

New Element Said Located

(By The United Press)

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 11.—A new field of therapy for heretofore baffling diseases is being developed at the University of California through thereapeutic possibilities of the 200-ton atom-smashing cyclotron of Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence.

A report on various lines of research, some of which have been in progress for four years, has just been made public.

Two lines of therapy which the cyclotron has created are:

Radiation by neutrons which the cyclotron creates into diseased tissues instead of the present use of X-rays and radium.

Experiments On Animals

Injection into the system of chemicals and other substances that have been made radioactive by the cyclotron and which permit their being traced throughout their course in the body, their final point of absorption and the checking of effects they produce.

In addition, the cyclotron has permitted the discovery of a heretofore unknown element, which is now designated as Element No. 85 and which has already shown marked therapeutic possibilities.

All experiments to date have been conducted on animals to begin with, and only on human beings after their effects and harmlessness have been fully established.

The report shows that greatest success with the new therapy has been in the treatment of cancer and tumors.

Cancer Treatments Given

Neutron radiation has been used on 75 patients with cancers that have resisted other forms of treatment. Each patient receives treatment directly from the cyclotron for 10 minutes three times a week over four to six weeks.

Patients are then kept under observation and a check made on the results obtained. It has been established that the new radiation acts similarly to that of the X-ray with the neutrons penetrating deeper than the X-rays.

The success has encouraged the Advisory Council of the National Cancer Institute to support financially the continuation of the experiments.

Treat Blood Disease

The next greatest success of the cyclotron therapy has been in the treatment of leukemia with fruit juice cocktails in which the "kick" consists of radioactive phosphorous which the cyclotron creates.

Leukemia is a blood disease that heretofore has been regarded as incurable. The experiments have demonstrated that the new treatment has retarded the disease and gives promise of a possible cure.

Of the 16 persons treated during the past two years, five have died. Three of these were moribund at the time treatment started.

The remaining 11 continue to respond favorably and scientists noted that their lives have been saved for the time being. It remains to be established that the treatment will eventually become a cure.

Iodine Use Improved

The cyclotron has also permitted new progress in use of iodine for treatment of goitre and for checking metabolism that is governed largely by presence of iodine secretion in the thyroid gland.

By making the iodine radio-active with the cyclotron process, the course of the iodine through the body can be checked, its final resting place established, and also the degree and length of its absorption into the system.

It has been established that New Element 85 is stored in the thyroid gland and acts very much like iodine. It is believed it will react in the human system in much the same way as iodine.

A new field of therapy for promoting teeth and bone structure has been opened up by the discovery that injection into the system of radioactive strontium makes radioactivity of bones 100 times greater than that of the tissues. Strontium, it was found, reacts similarly to calcium, which is the chief building material for bones and teeth. Experiments have been conducted only on animals.

Other "Secrets" Revealed

The cyclotron has also thrown new light on the manner in which rats and other animals may continue to live for an indefinite period of time, after their adrenal glands have been removed, by feeding them with an optimal amount of salt.

Use of radio-activated salt made by the cyclotron has established the manner in which the salt corrects and makes normal the rate of excretion of sodium and potassium in animals which is changed when the adrenals are removed.

These findings, the report states, have been helpful in treatment of Addison's disease, which is caused by derangement of the endocrine glands.

This new therapy, university authorities state, is expected to assume more important proportions with completion on the Berkeley campus of a new $1,500,000 cyclotron that will be 20 times larger than the present one.

This has been made possible by a $1,150,000 donation from the Rockefeller Foundation.

● Thousands know of the amazing benefits of S.S.S. Tonic to help build rich, red blood...to increase the appetite...to aid digestion

IF you are past middle-life you will want to give particular attention to two important body functions—one, to keep your natural stomach digestive juices flowing . . . two, to keep your blood rich and healthy.

Frequently, as the years advance, the stomach becomes sluggish in pouring out its digestive juices to make use of the food eaten . . . likewise, wear and strain of worry, overwork, colds, and sickness often reduce one's blood strength.

Now you may rebuild your blood strength and restore sluggish stomach digestion, in the absence of an organic trouble or focal infection, with the famous S.S.S. Tonic.

S.S.S. acts two ways

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways . . . first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

join the happy thousands

S.S.S. may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again . . . it helps build sturdy health . . . that's why so many say it "makes you feel like yourself again."

Undefeated Raiders Meet Centenary Here This Afternoon

Techsans Favored In Armistice Day Football Feature; Game Will Start At 2:30 O'Clock

The event—Armistice Day football.

The teams—Centenary college of Shreveport and Texas Tech of Lubbock.

The time and place—2:30 o'clock, Tech Stadium.

The special occasion—American Legion Day.

The coaches—For Centenary, Jake Hanna, head coach; Elmer Smith, backfield coach, and Tom Cobb, line coach; for Texas Tech, Pete Cawthon, head coach and Dutchy Smith, line coach.

The officials—Referee, Harry Viner (Missouri); umpire, Roscoe Minton (Indiana); head linesman, Eddie Dyer (Rice); field judge, W. W. Bushman, (Missouri Wesleyan).

The probable starting lineups:

No.	Player	Wt.	Pos.	Wt.	Player	No.
62	Taylor	180	LE	190	Bingham	69
57	Jacks	195	LT	211	Shanks	80

22	Barnes	180	QB	178	Bain	39
25	Faith	185	LH	189	Storrs	81
21	May (Capt)	170	RH	162	Hill	34
20	Wilkins	180	FB	189	Dvoracek	54

Centenary's Gentlemen, with a new coach and a revised "system" of offense, will try again this afternoon to accomplish what three previous Centenary teams have failed to do — lick the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

Also Boast Running Attack

Closest any Gent team has ever come to whipping the Raiders was a scoreless tie in Louisiana mud about this time last year. It rained before, during and after the game, and about all there was to it was a lot of punting, with Charley Calhoun of Tech running up a fine kicking average to keep the Gents at their distance, while Centenary kicking kept Tech away from the goal line.

Chances are that it will be cold, but not wet, at Tech Stadium today, giving Tech's advertised scat backs plenty of firm footing and Centenary's advertised pitching ace, Cotton Barnes, plenty of dry pellets.

But Centenary also has a running attack, and Tech a passing attack, provided C. L. Storrs is in form after suffering from a stiff neck last week.

Techsans Are Heavier

In view of the nippy weather, the game promises to be a wide-open affair, with each side taking chances and each team likely to score. The passing of Cotton Barnes appears to be Centenary's greatest threat, and he is somewhat of a pitcher, as witness his three touchdown tosses against Washington university at St. Louis which won for Centenary in its last time out. He has capable receivers in Otho Taylor, Claude Teel and Lavelle Murphy, the ends. Taylor, a fleet sophomore, is slated to start, but Teel, who has been suffering from an infected foot, will be able to play. Barnes, who is to start at quarterback, also pitches to his backfield mates. Barnes also runs and kicks, and J. F. Wilkins, fullback; F. M. May, right halfback and captain for the day; Chief Johnson, not listed as a starter but raedy to play, and Maho Faith, starting halfback, all have their ability to run with the ball.

Tech's team, for once, will outweigh the opposition, but not by a large margin. The backfield stack up just about even. Tech's line a little heavier than Centenary's forward wall.

Gents "Set" For This One

In view of the records, the Red Raiders are favorites by several points, but Centenary has had this particular game in mind all season and is "fired up" for it. The Gents have not enjoyed one of their best seasons, but have improved steadily. They have been up against some rough customers, such as T. C. U., Rice, Hardin-Simmons and Arizona university, and they know, by this time, how to "take it" rough. They've already defeated one of Tech's 1940 opponents, the St. Louis university Billikens, and recently won from the other St. Louis team, Washington university.

Coach Jake Hanna brought his Gents into Lubbock early yesterday, took them for a limbering-up walk before noon, and out to the stadium for a "look-see" and another good walk in the afternoon. The boys were quiet, serious and ambitious-looking in their hotel headquarters, unlike the most recent visitors from Miami, Florida. Unless you looked for them, you'd never know they were here.

All Raiders Ready

The Red Raiders, by way of observing the last day before the game, attended the downtown Bible class in a body, then were guests for lunch at Horn Hall, boys dormitory on the campus. They took to their bunks in the afternoon, continuing their rest from Saturday's vigorous workout.

Coach Pete Cawthon said all hands were ready to play, although a few still had colds and Jumbo Webster and C. L. Storrs still were bothered with boils.

Today's game will mark the first for Tech this week, the next-to-last home game of the season.

Four Games On Class A Card

Two "win or get out" contests highlight today's Class A slate for the area, Paducah plays at Spur, loser to be eliminated from the District Four chase, and Slaton plays Brownfield at Brownfield in a game which the Tigers must win to retain a mathematical chance at the District Five championship.

Two other games which will decide the cellar occupant of the two districts for the season complete the slate. Crosbyton plays at Ralls in a 4-A contest and Post goes to Tahoka for a 5-A game. Neither of the four has yet won a conference game.

Both Undefeated

Paducah and Brownfield, the favorites in the championship games, will be risking unbeaten records. Brownfield has been tied once, Paducah twice. The other two unbeaten teams of the area, Levelland and Matador, do not play today.

District championships will not be definitely settled today, but in both circuits contenders will probably be reduced to two. In District Four, Paducah, Matador and Spur still have a shot at the title, but one will be eliminated today, leaving the winner and Matador to battle it out, the title depending on the result of the Thanksgiving Paducah-Matador tilt.

Cubs, Mustangs Favored

In District Five, if Brownfield wins the title will lie between the Cubs and Olton's Mustangs, north half champions. Perhaps it was clairvoyance on the part of the schedule makers, but the Cubs and the Mustangs have a regularly scheduled game on Thanksgiving, which will probably count as the district title game—if Brownfield wins the south half. That would give the district winner two full weeks of rest before the bi-district game. But if Brownfield loses today, the south half race will be scrambled into a three-way deadlock between the Cubs, Slaton and Levelland.

Also of interest to District Five fans will be the Colorado City-Rotan game in Colorado City today, the title game in District Six. Neither has been beaten in conference play, and the winner of that game will battle the District Five champion for the bi-district title.

Entering Home Stretch!

By Collier Parris

JUST A YEAR AGO TODAY, Weldon Bailey Chapman signed a final Armistice with The Great Peacemaker; an everlasting Armistice it was—not a phony one such as we celebrate today.

In your moment of silence today, give heed to the memory of one of the grandest guys you ever knew.

November 11 may soon pass, has already passed for millions of men, as the anniversary of the day when peace came to the world; it shall never pass from the minds of thousands who knew him as the anniversary of the date when peace came to Weldon Chapman.

IT'S FOOTBALL TIME again, with one of the headline attractions of the season on tap at Tech Stadium.

Although it's only the first game of the week for the Red Raiders, it's also the next-to-last game of the season for them at home. After Saturday, the college football season in Lubbock will be all over. The last three games of the eleven-game card will be played on foreign fields from Missouri to California, with a stop-over in New Mexico.

Yesterday's bluster put the chill on the last day of advance ticket sales for the Centenary-Tech contest today, but served up some real "football" weather at that, making it convenient for the dear ladies to doll up in their richest and heaviest furs, the guys to break in their new overcoats and jackets. If the Big Wind lays, it ought to be a swell day and a good one.

Least surprised of all at yesterday's turn of the weather was genial Jake Hanna, the head mentor of the Gents.

"I really couldn't expect anything else," laughed Hanna. "This is my third trip to Lubbock, and every time it's either come a duster or a bluster. I'm getting used to it. I only wish I'd had this team along with me on the previous trips."

Hanna, incidentally, is one of the youngest college head coaches in the business—of a "major" college, that is—but he's a veteran in many ways and one of the brightest young coaches in the game.

The writer's acquaintance with Jake Hanna dates back to the freshman days of both of us, when we went to different colleges together. We recall particularly the first year Jake played on the Centenary varsity. Also the third year he played as regular back on the Gent team. The first was in 1927.

Gee, what a little bunch of boys, especially backs, we mused from the press box when the Gents came over to play Alma Mammy. How can they do what they've been doing? All they'd done up to that time was knock off Sam Houston Teachers, 27-0, Millsaps college, 26-0, Southern college 26-0 — and Southern Methodist university 21 to 12, in their first four games.

Jake Hanna, at 162, was the heaviest man in the Centenary backfield. Before the game was over that day, he had played an important part in maneuvering the Gents to a 9-6 victory. The Gents went on from there to beat two other Southwest conference teams, Rice and Texas Christian, making four in all, and finish a ten-game schedule undefeated and untied. The Almy Mammy got it back on the Gents in 1928, although they blanked the Aggies, but in 1929 Jake Hanna was still going, stronger than ever, and knocked off our side, 27-12.

JAKE L. HANNA

After that one, Hanna took up coaching and we took Greeley's advice. Jake did, too, or as far west as Corsicana, after one year at Franklin, La., High. As backfield coach at Corsicana, Hanna watched his team win district and bi-district honors in 1931, and the state championship in 1932. He went to Leesville, La., High as head coach the next year, then back to Gladewater, Texas, where his 1935 and 1936 teams won 19 games in a row.

Now he's head coach of his alma mater, having succeeded Curtis Parker, who resigned last spring to go into private business. He fell heir to a bunch of light and inexperienced but very willing ball players, and has seen them improve steadily since the season opened.

Win or lose today, Hanna will have done a fair job of head coaching, considering that he has changed the "system" at Centenary, and we wish him much luck in the future.

TO FIGURE THAT Plainview will knock the props from under the Amarillo Sandies this afternoon is to do a lot of wishful thinking, but the game is of much interest hereabouts. Not that it matters a heckuva lot who wins, because the Westerners have to play both teams anyway, on succeeding Thanksgivings, but most of us are scarcely, or maybe outwardly, hoping the Bulldogs do things to worry the Sandies this afternoon.

Contrary to popular belief, the Westerners will NOT attend the DALLAS, Nov. 11 — Officially, there's only silence from the Texas Aggie football campin' ground.

Unofficially — but from the usual well informed, reliable, authoritative, unimpeachable, and trusted voices from the inner circle come whispers about as soft as an air raid alarm that it's the Rose Bowl or bust.

The robot machine that is the Aggie football team dasn't dare speak of such things as the California excursion. But you can tell every time jarrin' John Kimbrough knocks off five yards that a statistician cuts that much off the mileage chart from College Station to Pasadena.

Eighteen Straight

"No bowl talk around here," mutters Coach Homer Norton. "We have a quaint policy of playing the games as they appear on the schedule."

Such is true, and it has worked well. Eighteen straight have been ground under the Aggies' heels — the latest a very capable Southern Methodist team.

In the words of Madison Bell, a respected gentleman with a sincere ring to every word he utters and a man with experience after coaching since 1924 in the Southwest conference:

He Didn't Hit Stands

"There hasn't been a better football team in this league since I started coaching. They really licked us."

("Us," in this case, being Southern Methodist).

Furthermore, Coach Bell and 27,000 fans who watched it, agree solidly on another little matter. John Kimbrough is a fullback of great proportions.

But to clear John's good name and relieve him of liability, there is definitely not an iota of truth to the circulated rumor that he had the slightest thing to do with the collapse of the temporary bleachers during the S. M. U. game. He did not hit the stands on that blast over right tackle.

But he did something else that shook the permanent concrete stadium. On one single sweep around right end, his 222 pounds going at top speed, he felled and rendered unplayable two of the most rugged individuals on the Methodist club—blocking back Will Mullenweg and tallback Johnny Clement. Mullenweg compares favorably with a panzer tank. Clement confessed after the game he was "somewhere else for the next two periods."

It has become rather generally known that the Aggies do not plan a return trip to the Sugar Bowl. If it isn't the Rose Bowl, the game they grieved over missing last year, it will be Dallas' Cotton Bowl for them.

But next Saturday it is Rice institute at College Station. And Rice be it known, is a rather salty eleven itself, having lost only to Tulane and defeated such teams as Texas, Louisiana Etate, Arkansas, Texas A. & I. and Centenary.

found Yale a stubbornly resisting opponent but won 21-0. This week it's Dartmouth and although the Indians' record is fully as bad as Yale's they won't give up without a struggle.

Rice Plenty Tough

Stanford virtually clinched the Pacific Coast conference title when it came through in the last quarter to beat Washington 20-10. Still there's no assurance that Oregon State won't make trouble this week.

The mighty Texas Aggies couldn't be stopped by Southern Methodist, a previously unbeaten team, they won 19-7, and that only sent them on to meet Rice, 14-7 winner over Arkansas, loser only once in six starts and currently the No. 2 team in the Southwest conference.

"Perfect" List Small

In addition to this "big four" the nation's list of unbeaten and untied "major" teams includes Boston College, Georgetown, Notre Dame, Tennessee and Hardin-Simmons. Michigan was the week's only important casualty and the Wolverines' 7-6 toss to Minnesota didn't take much away from their rating.

Penn State, held to a 13-13 draw by Syracuse, Mississippi State and Texas Tech have been tied but not beaten.

Hardin-Simmons comes east to play Catholic University, 12-6 loser

'Breathers' Are Gone Forever---

Minnesota Facing Trouble In Tough Purdue Team; Cadets Must Hurdle Rice Saturday

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—It takes persistence as well as power to win recognition as champion in any of the big football conferences and as a contender for the mythical national title.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, who might easily choose to rest on the laurels they won in successive one-point victories over Northwestern and Michigan, run into Purdue next. That should be a comparatively easy assignment, but the Boilermakers turned in a couple of good early-season performances and gave a tough Fordham team a real scrap last Saturday before going down 13-7.

Pampa Invades Borger; Few Games Slated

BY TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

A valiant little team from Plainview today spells out the answer to the question followers of Texas schoolboy football have been asking since September:

"Have Amarillo's Sandies really come back?"

Power-packed and seemingly as good as in the lush days of the mid-thirties, the Sandies get their first big test of the season this Armistice Day in the headline game of seven played in the state.

Greathouse Is Great

It's a game between two undefeated and untied teams. But this description is all they have in common.

Amarillo has big, aggressive ball players and lots of them. Last time out the Sandies used 38 men. Their backfield probably is the state's best. Certainly Myrl Greathouse, a slashing 181-pounder, is as fine a blocker as they come, and M. T. Johnson, can think, run, pass and kick with any.

Sandies Heavy Favorites

Plainview's Bulldogs number but 18. But they are sizeable, durable and capable. Few are faster than Plainview's touchdown twins, Mick and Wick Mason.

Few look for Plainview to pull an "iron man" stunt today and stop the all-around greatness that Amarillo seems to have.

It's cold up in Amarillo today, way down below freezing, but they'll be out by the thousands to see this football game.

Another crowd-getter will be Longview's clash with Tyler. Rated high at the season's start, compared with the state champion Longview team of '37, the Lobos stumbled over a rough-and-ready Kilgore team three weeks back. That gave once-beaten Tyler the district lead and today's game is an all-important one for both teams—with Kilgore equally interested in the result.

Drive To Open Here Tuesday

Approximately 200 workers will gather in Hilton hotel Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock for doughnuts and coffee before starting the annual Red Cross roll call, according to announcement this morning by J. Ray Dickey, chairman. The refreshments, he added, will be a courtesy of the hotel management.

JOIN RED CROSS

Goal of the campaign, he added, will be 3,000 members compared with 1,900 at present. The quota has been increased, he explained because of the immense burden that has been assumed by the Red Cross as result of world conditions.

All other preparations for the opening of the drive have been completed, he announced.

Displays or placards have been placed in scores of downtown display windows. Placards have been replaced at street intersections after having been torn down by Sunday's violent wind. A float to publicize the roll call was part of the Armistice day parade. Candidates for beauties of Texas Technological college were aboard and were at gates to Tech stadium before the football game this afternoon distributing literature.

Finish In One Day

Every effort will be made to finish the drive in one day, Dickey said.

Committee leaders in the roll call are Olen Stewart, co-chairman; Mrs. Carl Slaton, residential district and secretary; W. C. O'Mara, business district; James G. Allen, Texas Tech; J. E. Maisen, special groups; Ed D. Allen, county; and Culver Hill, publicity.

Big Bend

highways. They want a trail park, retaining the Texas frontier aspect and atmosphere, with food served from chuck wagons, wild horses and wide open spaces, where men can whoop and holler.

When the ysay Brewster county is big, they aren't fooling. It's five times larger than Rhode Island. From the Chisos mountain basin, in the geographical center of the proposed park area, it's 90 miles to Marathon, the nearest railroad; 121 miles to Alpine and 146 miles to Marfa — all in Brewster county.

The Big Bend park would begin here at Persimmon Gap and extend southward through a lot of oh-and-ah country of high peaks, desert and ranchland.

The tumbling Rio Grande splits the canyons, Santa Helena, Mariscal and Bouquillas, three of the southwest's most beautiful natural gorges.

Through public subscription, a committee headed by Publisher Amon G. Carter, of Fort Worth, has raised 150,000 to buy the land for the park. A campaign for $1,000,000 is scheduled to start in 1941.

M. R. Tillotson of Santa Fe, N. M., regional director of the national park service, proposed that park workers build a western longhorn cattle ranch for visitors to romp over and "make the Big Bend unique among the national parks."

The people of Brewster county, who like a lot of elbow room anyway, cottoned to the idea.

in meat and produce markets where it has been translated into higher prices for farmers' livestock, butter and eggs. Market experts said these were the items which normally put the most money into rural pocketbooks.

Highest In Three Years

Hog prices have more than regained the loss since mid-May and now are almost as high as a year ago despite the fact that marketing and slaughter recently has been at record breaking levels for this time of year. Prices of best cattle have risen 30 per cent since June and are the highest in three years. Egg and butter prices have recovered practically all of the loss that followed the capitulation o. France.

Prices of most grains have risen to levels comparable or above a year ago. Corn is more than 20 per cent higher. Government economists, discussing the outlook for a higher general average of prices, said this trend might be most pronounced for commodities normally consumed almost entirely domestically, such as some vegetables and fruits and most livestock.

city limits the mercury dipped to 25 degrees and at the experimental sub-station east of town to 28 degrees.

Previous low for the season was 38 degrees at the airport and 35 at the sub-station.

This morning's temperature readings touched minimum about dawn and started rising rapidly soon after sun-rise. By 9 a. m., the mercury had climbed around the 40-degree mark and still was rising.

The chilling weather was accompanied by the first killing frost of the season, coming more than a week later than the average date, Nov. 3.

Amarillo-Plainview game in a body. Coaches Keyes and Nichols will be there as official scouts, but the Westerners, returning late yesterday from El Paso where they hung one on the snazzy Austin High Panthers, will take a holiday, possibly taking in the Tech-Centenary game.

With the hard luck that has been breaking down around the Westerners' ears in their last two games, even in view of their victories, it would seem that almost anything can happen. The backfield is seriously weakened now by the absence of Billy Wright, blocking and running halfback who suffered a broken arm in the El Paso game Saturday night. While not so serious as Marvin McBrayer's broken leg, Wright nevertheless is "out" for the season. As in the other case though, the personal injury is to be more regretted than the injury to the team.

Wright was a valuable ball player. He was a fine blocker, and would have been a fine runner, despite his size, had his backfield mates been as capable or as willing blockers as himself. Don't think for a minute that Jackson, McKinnon or anybody else would have been getting away on those "long gainers" had not little Wright done yoeman service blocking for them. And since they're bigger, they should do even a better job of blocking for somebody else.

Crucial Games

to the strong Tulsa team last week.

Michigan and Northwestern clash in the standout game of the Western conference with second place as the stake. The winner will retain a chance of beating out Minnesota if the Gophers are as tired as they should be by now.

Oklahoma, 13-0 winner over Kansas, and Missouri, which whipped Colorado 21-6, fight it out for second place in the Big Six. Kansas goes east to play George Washington while Kansas State, beaten 20-13 by South Carolina, faced Iowa State, 7-6 winner over Drake.

Mustangs Meet Arkansas

Tennessee, after blasting Southwestern of Memphis 40-0, takes on a bigger "independent," Virginia, which beat Washington and Lee 20-6.

Still hoping for the Texas Aggies to crack and give them a chance, Southern Methodist's Mustangs play Arkansas and Texas Christian meets Texas, victor over Baylor, 13-0. Baylor tackles the Missouri valley conference leader, Tulsa, and Texas Tech, the big, "independent" risks its unbeaten record against two southern schools, Centenary today and Wake Forest Saturday.

today and the loser drops out of the Oil Belt district race.

A year ago an underdog Nacogdoches team rose up and polished off Lufkin. This situation is the same now, but this time the underdog seems too far out-manned for a repeat performance.

Those are the games which involve district champions and possible sectional winners, but the others will be furious scraps too.

Pampa plays at Borger, Cisco at Ranger and Marshall at Texarkana.

Demaret Takes Lead Over Lawson Little

HOUSTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Armistice day meant only a tightening of the battle lines between Jimmy Demaret, Western Open and Masters tournament titleholder, and National Open Champion Lawson Little.

Little was still reeling under the impact of two great sub-par rounds by Demaret yesterday, however, and starts out the second half of their 72-hole challenge match today with scant hope of overcoming the eight-hole lead the Houston pro compiled.

Lamesa Celebrating Colorful Armistice

LAMESA, Nov. 11 (Special) — Stores of Lamesa will be closed today and among the festivities that were planned was a parade in the morning, including Gold Star mothers, selective service draft registrants, veterans of the Civil war, Spanish-American war and World war, Boy Scouts of America, CCC camp enrollees, bands, school children and floats prepared by civic and patriotic organizations of the city.

Arrangements for the celebration were made by the local post of the American Legion. Following the parade a program was given on the courthouse square including a principal address by Carl Rountree on "National Defense"; explanations of District Judge Louis B. Reed and Fred Sanders, chairman of the Dawson county selective service draft board, of the procedure of drafting men under provisions of the selective service act. Others were scheduled to be on the program.

GO ROLL A HOOP!—Anyone with an overpowering desire to roll a hoop should hie himself down to Bunkie, La., where these barrel girdles belonging to a hoop factory are hung out to season and dry. The green cut hoops are rolled into bunches and, with a strip to hold them fastened on, are then hung on the drying racks. Later they roll on a barrel.

Police Report Busy Weekend

Weekend activities as reported to the police included the stealing of two cars and the taking of auto accessories, a bicycle and other items, some of which had been recovered Monday morning.

W. J. Morris of 1613 Fifteenth street reported this morning plumbing items had been stolen from a house he was repairing at 1623 Fifteenth street. Robert H. Swetson of 2213 Seventh street reported a new bicycle had been stolen from his residence.

Neckties Are Taken

C. C. Taylor of route 6, Lubbock, reported Sunday night his 1935 Ford had been stolen. Peter Evans of Dallas, a cotton buyer, said his 1940 Chevrolet coupe had been stolen from near Cactus Inn. J. D. Holcomb of 605 Fourth street, reported two red Chevrolet wheels and a tire had been taken from his residence. A box of mechanics tools was stolen, said Dutch Creed, a mechanic employed by Smith Implement Co. The theft took place Friday night, he added.

Thirty-nine neckties were stolen from a sample room in Lubbock hotel some time Sunday, George Brake, clerk, reported. It was believed a pass key was used to gain entrance to the sample room.

Checks Are Recovered

Recovery of checks, estimated at approximating $2,000, a ladies' purse, a jacket and $2 in bills was reported Sunday by Preston Weaks of 2508 Twenty-fifth street, which were reported stolen early Sunday.

Cliff Williams reported a jacket stolen. Also missing were hats belonging to Weaks and H. C. Poindexter. A battery and radio set also were taken in the theft which occurred at the residence.

Sheriff Ed Hofacket of Hockley county said he had been told a man wanted at Pampa and Oklahoma City, Okla., was in this section and asked that he be picked up. Sheriff L. A. Carlisle of Matador said two men had picked up the former wife of one of them, a baby and a 13-year-old girl and that the girl's parents were uneasy about her.

Shows Robbed

The D. S. Dudley shows at Morton were robbed Saturday night and between 600 and 700 pennies taken. Jim York asked police to pick up a man wanted in the case.

Saturday night a Mexican reported the theft of $15 in groceries from his car, parked near a down town grocery where he had just bought the articles. J. C. Bearden of 1718 Nineteenth street reported a suit of clothes, a blanket and a pillow missing from a car parked at Thirteenth street and Avenue F. E. W. Jones of 2331 Avenue H reported his bicycle, city license tag 1605, was stolen.

Bouldin Speaker In Matador Services

MATADOR, Nov. 11. (Special)—Homer Bouldin, county judge of Shackleford county and former resident of Matodor, spoke at a pre-Armistice service held here Sunday night in the Methodist church. Judge and Mrs. Bouldin and two sons, Courtney and Tom, planned to leave Matodor today after several days' visit.

Pruett Funeral Set In Levelland Today

LEVELLAND, Nov. 11 (Special)—Davis-Mason Funeral home announced last rites for Mrs. Sarah Pruett, 78, would be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Levelland Church of Christ and burial would be in Levelland cemetery.

Mrs. Pruett was fatally injured when struck by a Mexican's car Saturday afternoon on a downtown business street.

SHIP REACHES PORT

LONDON, Nov. 11. (AP) — The Steamship Empress of Japan has reached a United Kingdom port under her own steam but suffering "some damage" from an attack "by enemy aircraft," the admiralty announced today.

News Briefs

Patient Leaves Hospital — St. Mary's hospital reported this morning Dave Armistead of Lubbock, employe of Gilberts Products company, would leave the hospital today after treatment for injuries suffered in an accident on East Broadway Saturday night. The man was an occupant in a car which crashed into a house after it was forced off the highway by another car and struck slippery road shoulders.

Fractures Hip—Mrs. R. W. Syfrett, 52, of two and one-half miles south of Lubbock, entered Lubbock sanitarium early Sunday morning after she fell at the residence and suffered fracture of her left hip. Her condition was considered satisfactory this morning.

Courts Open Tuesday — Criminal week for the 99th district court will open Tuesday morning before Judge E. L. Pitts, presiding, with a number of cases docketed. A jury will report at the usual time. Civil matters will occupy the attention of Judge Daniel A. Blair in 72nd district court. Both courts were closed Monday because of the holiday.

Special Service Tonight — A service at which special recognition will be given World war veterans will be held in First Christian church tonight at 7:30 o'clock, according to Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor. An appropriate musical program has been arranged.

Prayer Service Held — A small but interested audience attended an annual "prayer for peace" service held at 8:45 o'clock in St. Paul's Episcopal church, 2407 Sixteenth street, said Rev. John A. Winslow, rector. The service was prepared by the Council of Church women, an adjunct of the Federal Council of Churches, he said.

Penney Rites Held—Last rites for Mrs. Joe Penney, 60, of 1318 Avenue M were held Sunday afternoon in Rix chapel, with Rev. John A. Winslow of the Episcopal church officiating, and burial was in Lubbock cemetery. Mrs. Penney died Saturday night of a heart ailment.

Hood Funeral Held—Funeral services were conducted at Calvary Baptist church this morning for Odis Hood, 41, of Fresno, Calif., who was killed in an automobile accident in Fresno Wednesday. Rix Funeral home directed burial in Lubbock cemetery.

Two Wrecks Sunday—T. C. Laws, state highway patrolman, investigated two wrecks shortly after 6 o'clock Sunday evening. He filed charges of drunk driving against W. H. Yoe after investigating a wreck in Yellowhouse canyon, east of town. Bond of $750 was set by Justice of the Peace J. T. Inmon and Yoe had made bond this morning. A car, said to have been driven by a man named Cook, of Amarillo, turned over north of Lubbock, but the man had boarded a bus by the time the officer arrived at the scene.

Twenty-Eight Drown In Ferry Collision

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Fishing launches and coastal patrol boats searched the icy waters of Belle island strait today for the bodies of 26 persons missing after a collision of two 15-ton ferry boats.

Only four persons of the 32 on the ferry Garland were known to have been rescued. Two bodies already have been found.

The Garland sank in three minutes after colliding with the ferry boat Golden Dawn. The latter was damaged only slightly but before it could turn about and give aid, the Garland had gone down.

The ferries, privately owned, ply the three miles between Portugal cove on the mainland and Conception bay on Belle island.

former service men attended.

Immediately after the parade, a public program was presented in First Baptist church, with Dr. W. B. Irvin, city school superintendent and a Legion member, the principal speaker.

At noon, a chow-line lunch was served in the Legion home, 910 Texas avenue, by Alex McDonald, post mess sergeant, and his crew. A program by Hop Halsey's Drug Store Cowboys featured.

Flag To Be Raised

Flag-raising ceremonies between halves of the Tech-Centenary football game this afternoon in which the drum and bugle corps and color guardsmen of the Legion and VFW posts was scheduled at about 3:15 o'clock.

Kick-off of the football game has been set for 2:30 o'clock.

Final event on the day's program will be the annual Armistice day ball in Lubbock hotel tonight at 9 o'clock.

Chas. Whitacre and J. A. Raley, jr., were co-chairmen of the reveille and breakfast committee. Members of the parade and program committee were Chester A. Hubbard, Major Jack Walton, Lloyd Johnson and C. S. Walker. H. D. Stanley headed the committee arranging for the between-halves ceremony, and W. E. Lavender and Stanton Rhea are in charge of preparations for the dance. Admission will be $1.10 per couple or stag.

Jack York's orchestra is to play and he has made arrangements for a floorshow program.

Schools, official offices and most business establishments were closed throughout the day.

FDR Speaks

soldier, the president denounced "unpatriotic efforts" which he said had been made by some Americans since the World war "to make us believe that the sacrifices made by our omn nation were wholly in vain."

In 1914, he said, a definite effort had been made "in a part of the world" to destroy democracy. The effort was designed, Mr. Roosevelt continued, to substitute for it the doctrine that might makes right.

"The attempt failed 22 years ago today."

A hundred years from now, Mr. Roosevelt added, historians "will say rightly" that the World war preserved "the new order of the ages" for at least a whole generation and that "if the Axis of 1918 had been successful in military victory over the associated nations, resistance on behalf of democracy in 1940 would have been wholly impossible."

"America, therefore, is proud of its share in maintaining the era of democracy in that war in which we took part. America is proud of you who served—and ever will be proud."

Today, Mr. Roosevelt continued, "we recognize certain facts of 1940 which did not exist in 1918—a need for the elimination of aggressive armaments—a need for the breaking down of barriers in a more closely knitted world—a need for restoring honor in the written and spoken word.

"We recognize that the processes of democracies must be greatly improved in order that we may obtain those purposes."

In almost every century of recorded history, he said people have thought they were creating some kind of "new order of the ages," but that he believed "we can properly recognize that in 2,500 years there have been only a few 'new orders' in the development of human living under a thing called government."

United States Pays Tribute

announced meetings of "more than 3,000 youth organizations" for the purpose of combatting "warlike acts which bring America closer to war and dictatorship."

Once every year since 1918, millions in Europe paused this day to commemorate the World war armistice.

But not today.

Every year for more than two decades the ancient bells spoke solemnly across the countryside, the whirr of machines in factories and the creak of wagon wheels on dusty roads came to a sudden stop. Every year at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month entire nations prayed, in sick remembrance of the millions long dead now on fields once bright with shrapnel fire.

But not today.

No Stopping Today

There was no time for such things today. This anniversary of an Armistice that was to silence guns forever came on the wings of war beyond the conception of the men who dropped their guns on the crimson earth 22 years ago. The eleventh hour struck today but was unheard in the deadly din. To stop even for a minute, could mean the difference between victory and death.

One minute: A woman's hands take 10 more smooth-nosed bombs from the conveyor belt at Coventry. One minute: A sweating stevedore hurls a hundredweight of grain ashore at Liverpool and never once looks up to see the bombing planes against the sky. One minute: A pilot dives five miles across the clouds.

Numbed Silence

Twenty-two years ago a numbed silence settled over Europe's battlefields and out of that silence came the cry of weary people that there should be no future war.

Today the tall, unhappy old man who had promised "peace in our time" lay dead in an England that was rocked by the blast of bombs.

In 1918, an obscure German corporal lay on a hospital bed in Pomerania and "blushed with burning rage and shame" that the German military might had cracked and republicanism had arisen in the reich.

In 1940, Adolf Hitler, his burning shame forgotten, told Germany and the world that he was the hardest and most absolute ruler it had ever had, and that this war would be won without promise.

In 1918, Marshal Ferdinand Foch sat in a railroad dining car in dark, cool Compiegne forest and dictated the terms on which defeated Germany might sue for an Armistice to avoid complete destruction.

Hitler In Control

In 1940, Hitler stood in the railroad car in the same forest and formally received the emissaries of defeated France, seeking an Armistice in the name of Marshal Henri Philippe Petain who had been at Foch's right hand in France's day of greatest victory.

Twenty-two years ago, a Frenchman named Georges Clemenceau and a Welshman named David Lloyd George, who was destined to see disaster come again, crushed a broken Germany to the earth and circled her with armed foes that she might never rise again.

In 1940 Germany over ran the continent and bound France in servitude.

In 1918, peace came to Europe's little people, such as those of the Balkans. They thought that war had brought them to the threshold of a new era.

Battle For Showdown

Today the armed power of Great Britain and the Axis powers surges toward a showdown in the mountains of Albania and Greece and all of the Balkans shudder under the imminent threat of another war.

Nineteen hundred and eighteen was a year of hunger and hope, of revolt against the past and rejoicing in the future.

Babies born that year are grown now. Their hands touch the controls of bombers over Berlin, of U-boats lurking off Ireland; of cannon on the mountain roads of Greece, of machines everywhere turning out weapons for war.

Perhaps beyond the deadly puff of anti-aircraft shells, and beyond the submarine torpedo sights there will rise again the ancient ideal of a friendly world.

But not today.

U. S. Army Plane Is Believed Crashed

SPIRIT LAKE, Ia., Nov. 11. (U.P.)—A U. S. army observation plane, many hours overdue on a flight from St. Paul, Minn., to Omaha, Neb., was believed today to have crashed into Spirit Lake during a severe storm.

Sheriff Joe L. McQuirk of Dickinson county said farmers and residents, some of them living as far as a mile and a half from the lake, had reported hearing an airplane crash last night a few hours after the army plane took off from the 109th squadron national guard airport at St. Paul. Spirit Lake would be on the course of a plane flying between St. Paul and Omaha.

Maj. R. S. Miller, commanding officer of the St. Paul airport, said Lieut. Robert M. Prange, Lieut. G. Smith and Pvt. Cerratto were aboard the plane when it left.

Rumanian Tremors

earth movements might have made unpredictable changes in the oil deposits which have made Rumania a bone of war contention.

In some places, where oil never before had been found, gushers were spouting through fissures in the ground.

At Focsani, near the epicenter, 70 per cent of the houses were levelled.

There were 35,000 homeless and at least 22 dead. Hundreds of others were injured, many gravely, and still others were buried.

German Troops Aid

Tens of thousands of German soldiers quartered in the kingdom pitched in swiftly to help iron guardists, firemen, police and Rumanian troops in the rescue work, which was hampered seriously by broken communications, including almost complete suspension of rail traffic because of collapsed bridges and buckled tracks.

(Some neutral military observers considered the damage might constitute a stiff blow to possible German plans to move large numbers of troops through Rumania for a Balkan campaign. They also pointed out the damage to oil fields might slow down the flow of Rumanian oil to the Nazi military machine.)

The quake, whose epicenter was in Focsani, a city of 50,000 in the eastern Carpathian foothills about 100 miles north of Bucharest, struck at 3:39 a. m. (7:39 p. m. Saturday, C.S.T.)

Focsani and Galati, a city of 102,000 population on the Danube, were believed to have been the worst hit cities.

Hundreds Are Trapped

Bucharest's newest and most modern apartment building, a 10-story structure, collapsed at the very beginning of the quake and officials estimated 300 men, women and children were trapped in the wreckage.

Rescue workers shoveled frantically, in an effort to reach groups trapped in an air raid shelter beneath the 20-foot high pile of rubble. By some freak, the telephone in the shelter worked long enough for a call to police headquarters for help.

The United States legation said a hasty check disclosed no Americans among the casualties of the quake thus far.

Ploesti, an important oil center nearer the capital, also was hard hit, while hundreds of roofs and large buildings collapsed in Brasov, historic German Transivanian city, killing some and injuring a great many.

Panic-stricken residents of the capital were afraid to go home for fear further shocks would shake down tottering buildings.

SHIP IN DISTRESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 11. (AP)—A distress call from the British freighter Baltmore, 1,925 tons, saying she had been bombed by German planes some 300 miles west of Ireland and was in danger of sinking, was reported today in a message received in New York from the Japanese liner Fushimi Maru.

HOYT'S COMPOUND A MIRACLE WORKER SAYS LUBBOCK LADY

Indigestion, Gas Pains, Bloating, Sourness, Constipation, Weakened Kidneys, Shortness of Breath Quickly Relieved By Hoyt's Says 83-Year-Old Mrs. Paden

Ever since the dawn of civilization, men and women have zealously guarded their most valuable possession, good health. Once it has been lost, they have traveled to the far corners of the earth to regain it. Right here in Lubbock, hupdreds of suffering folks have come to the Mark Halsey Drug Store at Broadway and Ave. L to talk with the Hoyt Man. This special laboratory representative is daily explaining to the many who call, the action of Hoyt's Compound, the modern liquid extract of Nature's roots and herbs. But one of the Lubbock residents who has recently expressed appreciation for Hoyt's is Mrs. F. P. Paden, 1622 Fifth St., who states: "I have been bothered with indigestion, gas pains, bloating, sour stomach and weakened kidneys. My stomach was awfully upset. Nothing I ate gave me any strength. I had sharp pains in my back and limbs. I was nervous, run-down.

"Hoyt's Compound has been a miracle worker for me! All my troubles have been relieved. My food digests, my bowels have become regular and I sleep all night. I breathe easily and feel years younger than I actually am!"

MRS. F. P. PADEN

Thousands say that Hoyt's Compound has brought them relief. You, too, may be benefitted by this well-known liquid medicine. The Hoyt Man invites you to call at the Mark Halsey Drug Store at Broadway and Ave. L, Lubbock, where he will explain in detail its action. Hoyt's Compound is also sold by all other drug stores in this area.

SINCE most of us out here have little or no personal contacts with the owners of the Big Names that make the Big News in Important Places, we have the idea that there is nothing human about those fellows—that they live in a world apart from the ordinary run of people.

Nothing, of course, is further from the truth because the men with the Big Names are just like the men with the little names. They all pull on their pants one leg at a time.

Illustrative of the fact that Big Men are human, too, and like their fun, is a story coming from Washington.

On election day, the reporters assigned to the Department of State filed into the office of Cordell Hull, the secretary, for their regular conference with the cabinet member.

With the election the top topic of conversation, there simply wasn't any news in Washington that day, because no one was thinking about anything except the outcome of the battle of ballots.

The Hull conference dragged along and developed into an informal chat. One of the reporters, facetiously, of course, told Secretary Hull, for many years one of Washington's best poker players, that the State Department Press room had been turned into a book-making establishment for election bets.

WITH typical Hull gravity, the secretary stated that the Press room could have continued "protection" only with the understanding that he be "cut in" for a half interest in all winnings, and no responsibility for the losings.

Then he noticed that the stenographer who records everything said in his press conferences was industriously taking down all the monkey business, verbatim!

For the sake of the department's morals, Mr. Hull ordered it expunged from the record!

NUMEROUS times in past years, and at least twice in recent weeks, Lubbockites and Tech supporters severally have been infuriated—and rightly—over disparaging comments by foreign sports editors regarding Texas Tech, its football team, and the City of Lubbock.

The Avalanche-Journal, as infuriated as anyone, has given publicity to these journalistic slobberings, based wholly upon misinformation, lies, or both, and the last one we commented upon came from the typewriter of a Miami, Fla., sports scribe just prior to the Tech-Miami game. Thus the first thing The Plainsman wanted to know when Sports Editor Everett Clay, of the Miami Herald, arrived with the Miami team, was: "Is he the guy who wrote that blast?"

When we found out that it was not Mr. Clay, but, instead, a sports writer on the second and unimportant Miami paper, we welcomed Mr. Clay to the office and enjoyed meeting him.

Quite unlike most of the big-town sports writing gentry who come here to cover Tech football games, Mr. Clay was a clean cut, clear eyed, personable young man totally devoid of cynicism. We, of course, didn't know what he was going to write about Tech, Lubbock and the football game, but even so, it was a pleasure to have him here at the office for a couple of days.

But on his return to Miami, Mr. Clay wrote two articles, each of two-column length, for his signed sports column in the Herald and not even A. B. Davis, secretary of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, or Bill Parker, publicity man for Texas Tech, could have been fairer or more glowingly complimentary—than was Mr. Clay.

He praised Tech as a fine college; Lubbock as a remarkable city; the hospitality here as the best he had ever encountered. And then when he got to the subject of the quality of the Tech football team, he really went to town! Among other things, he described the Tech team as the best he had seen in 7 years of covering big games in the Old South—even better than Major Bob Neyland's great 1938 University of Tennessee team which played in Miami's Orange Bowl. And regarding Doctor P. W. Cawthon's Mr. Charles Dvoracek, Mr. Clay said he didn't believe John Kimbrough could be any better fullback.

LIKE EVERYBODY else would hereabouts, The Plainsman nearly fainted at such a swell pair of write-ups in a big newspaper located in a highly important winter resort city. But after we regained our composure, it occurred to us that since we get so high behind about the mean things written about us, we should show our appreciation for the good things. So we took the matter up with Tech's President Jones, Coach Cawthon and with the chamber of commerce's Mr. Davis, and found all of them delighted at the suggestion that letters of appreciation should go both to Mr. Clay and to his immediate superior, John D. Pennykamp, managing editor of the Miami Herald. In fact, Coach Cawthon already had written his letters—having the same idea that appreciation should be shown the Miamians. President Jones and Mr. Davis immediately followed suit.

Very probably there are those among the readers of this column who believe in offering "flowers to the living," and, if so, we urge that they, too, write letters to Sports Editor Everett Clay and Managing Editor John D. Pennykamp, of the Miami, Fla., Herald.

Certainly such letters from the Texas Tech student council and the alumni association would be appreciated by the Miami men to go alongside those from President Jones, Mr. Davis and Coach Cawthon.

Before getting plumb away from football, permit us to recall an amusing little happenstance of last Thursday.

One of the local "downtown quarterbacks" was nursing a flock of those "football parlay cards" which the "suckers" are using each week to record their bets against terrific odds on each week-end's national gridiron schedule. Doctor Cawthon happened to come by and the "down-town quarterback" asked the Tech coach to help him pick his list.

Doctor Cawthon literally howled when he gave the "sucker" the horse laugh.

"Boy," he said, "I can't pick the winners! I wouldn't even try!"

If a guy whose business is football—and has been for a quarter century—can't pick 'em, how can a plain fan?

But Barnum was right, and each week thousands of fans around the country keep a flock of national football lotteries going, with swell profit to the wise guys who know "there's a sucker born every minute—and most of 'em live!"

YESTERDAY: Joe is still in a critical condition, may have to undergo an operation. Worried and weary after her visit to the hospital, Sue Mary reads of federal agents hunting down subversive elements. She hurries to the fedral building, tells her story to the department chief. He tells her not to worry, to go through with plans to meet Nick.

CHAPTER XXV

SUE MARY WINS

The door to the law office was partly open. Sue Mary pushed it wide, stepping in to the dim quiet. She started back in surprise as Nick rose from a chair and came toward her. She had hoped to be there ahead of him. She wondered how he had come in, but she had no time to puzzle that out. He was beside her before she could speak. He took her in his arms, looked into her face.

"Why—Nick—you're here early."

"Not too early. A man in love doesn't like to wait." He held her tighter and kissed her long while she tried to push him away.

"No, Nick. No, please. You—you said you wanted to talk to me."

"We can always talk—" he said kissing her again.

She wanted to run: to run anywhere; get away from Nick, from his lips, his arms. She was terrified, but she had to stay. He took her hand and led her to the office.

"We shouldn't be here," she repeated, but he only smiled. It was then that Vera came out of old Ross Clark's office.

"So—she did come," she said, looking at Sue Mary in her usual calm, poised, assured manner. "Well, now we can call it a night."

Sue Mary sat down suddenly. Her legs refused to hold her up and again she felt panic taking control of her. She wasn't alone.

Mr. Flanagan and his men should be here. But were they? She wondered if they were here—now. How much had they seen and heard?

She felt enough confidence in Flanagan and his men to believe they controlled the situation. Yet being with Nick was nerve-wracking enough.

Vera was stuffing some papers into her bag. "Let's go. She knows—that is unless she's a complete half-wit."

Sue Mary felt feminine indignation rising within her. "Half-wit?" she repeated angrily.

"You can't do anything about it now," Vera told her calmly. "I knew you saw too much the other night when I was here. The only way to keep you from talking—just in case you did understand what was going on—was to make you a partner. That's why you're here tonight.

"So you are in; in on whatever goes on here, and you hadn't better talk unless you want to blow yourself right out of a job and into plenty of trouble. You just do as we say and everything will be all right. Won't it, Nick?"

But Nick wasn't looking at Vera. His gaze was on Sue Mary.

"We can talk later," he said to Vera without turning toward her. "If you've got the stuff you'd better get along. Someone might come. We've been lucky so far."

"All right, let's go then."

"I'll come down in a minute," he said.

"What's stopping you from coming now?"

He turned to her abruptly. "Maybe I want to say something to Sue Mary."

"Well, you can say it at the apartment. If it isn't safe for me to stay here, then it isn't safe for either of you." Vera's briskness wasn't so emphatic.

"I said I'd be along in a minute. Start down. I'll meet you in the lobby."

Vera walked out and Nick waited a moment. Then he turned to Sue Mary and drew her to him.

"Kiss me," he told her. "Nothing's going to happen to you. Stop trembling. You're in this, but you belong to me and we're going to come out ahead. Right on the top—"

"No Nick. Let me go."

His lips were on hers again for an endless eternity. Vera's voice, furious and cold, broke them apart.

"So—that's it. You had to talk to her. Natilie was right. You're in love with the little fool."

Her voice rose to a high key. "You've used me—just as you used her. Maybe she isn't the only fool. But you won't get away with it this time, Nick. Not as far as I'm concerned anyway. I'll talk—I'll talk—"

"That's right, lady, you're going to talk. And soon."

Nick whirled around at the sound of the strange voice. Sue Mary saw Flanagan in the doorway smiling. Other men were crowding through, behind him. One came out of Ross Clark's office. Several had guns.

"What the—" Nick muttered.

Vera started for the door, but an agent stopped her, motioned her back into the center of the room.

"Take the two of them along," Flanagan ordered. "And get those papers away from her. There won't be any airport site announcement tomorrow. I've settled that deal already after talking to young Clark.

"Now, maybe, good citizen Nicky can tell us about the labor trouble at Smithson—as well as a lot of other things we've been wondering about."

They were finally gone. Vera berating Nick and Nick trying desperately to hush her angry flow of words.

"Nice people," Flanagan said to Sue Mary. "I'm sorry you had to go through this, but it seemed the safest way. Get them here as though nothing was going to happen and then nab them.

"You've helped us plenty. Most people want to help these days, but too many of them let their imaginations run wild. But this—this was the real thing. You've done your part tonight."

She felt a glow of gratitude, but her eyes were on the clock. She wanted to get to the hospital. They might be operating on Joe even now.

"Sure, I know," Flanagan was saying. "You're worried about the boy friend. Well, get along. I'll put you in a cab. I have a hunch you're going to find everything all right. You deserve to have it that way."

Sue Mary didn't remember much about the ride. She walked down the corridor to Joe's room. Suppose it was empty! Suppose he had gone to the operating room never to return! She met the nurse at the door.

"Tell me—is he—?"

"He's fine. They won't have to operate. It will be a tough struggle back, but he's out of danger. And you can go in — just a second, though."

A second— It was a whole lifetime.

The beginning of a new life, she thought, standing by Joe's bed watching his regular breathing, touching his helpless hand. It was a new life and no matter what happened around them, no matter what problems arose in this strange, confused world they would face them together.

The curtains moved gently in the breeze and a faint sound of music came from a radio. It was midnight and a station was signing off.

"God bless America—"

She leaned over and kissed Joe's lips.

THIS IS A GREAT ANNIVERSARY

Although sacrifices made by the United States because of its part in the first World war never have seemed more utterly futile than right now, it is entirely fitting and proper that this city and this nation should observe the Armistice anniversary just as they are doing. The time should not be permitted to come when the day passes with scant notice.

The fact that it is a day dedicated to the end of a conflict in which thousands of our young men died and in which millions were in service prepared to die if need be demands that it continue as a memorial to their sacrifice, and to the sacrifices made by the entire nation with them and for them.

Aside from serving as a memorial, the day symbolizes sacrifices for certain ideals. We thought we were fighting for the achievements of certain things involving human happiness and liberty which were desirable then, which are desirable now, and which eventually must be achieved if man is to fullfil his finest destiny. True, the things for which we sacrificed have not been achieved. But there is a measure of pride and consolation that at least, we made the effort.

This is a great anniversary in our history. It is fitting to observe it as such.

Armistice Day, 1940

Hectic Ruckus Expected When CIO Holds Meeting On November 18

Secret Of U. S. Bomb Sight Carefully Kept

By BRUCE CATTON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. — The election may be over, but for the CIO the scrap is just getting started.

The organization was due for some sort of a showdown fight at its Nov. 18 convention anyhow, with the left-wing unions heading one way and the more moderate unions heading in another. But the bitter antagonisms aroused by John L. Lewis's declaration for Wendell Willkie put a new element into the picture.

Catton

Union politics are about as hard to forecast as national party politics—which is saying plenty. Men close to this situation, however, suggest two possible outcomes for the CIO conclave: an on-the-surface smoothing over of differences, which would leave the sub-surface struggle to go on for a while longer—or a three-way split in the CIO as a whole.

Cleavage Hasn't Healed

A smoothing-over job was done at last fall's convention, when the moderate leaders demanded a purge of Communists and suspected Communists from CIO ranks. It kept the peace, but the underlying cleavage wasn't healed.

The anticipated split, if it occurs, would presumably find the so-called radical group—the unions led by such men as Joe Curran, Michael Quill and Harry Bridges— setting up a separate organization.

Balancing that group would be the more moderate crowd, whose chief spokesman is Sidney Hillman. Commonest guess here is that if the split occurs this group would before long find some way of making peace with the American Federation of Labor and getting back into the fold.

Which would leave Mr. Lewis's United Mine Workers. It would not be surprising to see Mr. Lewis call down a curse on both the rival houses and take his mine workers down an independent path owing allegiance to neither.

Any predictions as of today must be taken with a grain of salt, at least until the election smoke settles a bit more.

Bomb Sight Safer

There have been more rumors, hot tips and general misunderstandings about the famous army bomb sight during the last eight months than about any other single item of American defense equipment.

Latest story is that the bomb sight has finally been released to Great Britain. This promptly drew a flat denial from the War department. Whether you believe the original story or the denial is up to you.

What is undisputed is that the British have placed an order for bomb sights with an American company which does the same sort of work for the U. S. Army. That may be how the story got started. The thing to remember, though, is that no manufacturer makes the army's bomb sight.

Fact is that this bomb sight is about the most intricate and complicated mechanism imaginable. One manufacturer makes one part, another makes another, a third makes a third part, and so on. The army does the assembling — and while you might know all about the making of three-fourths of the parts, you still wouldn't have the low-down on the entire bomb sight.

Even that isn't all. An army officer once told me that even if a plane equipped with the bomb sight should pass into the hands of a foreign nation, it would take that nation six months to figure the thing out.

Railways of Spain are still crippled by the destruction of locomotives and freight cars during the civil war and freight often must wait nearly four weeks before it can be shipped.

GENE GERMANY, of Dallas, chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, wired Ed Flynn, of New York, chairman of the Democratic National Executive committee the other day the suggestion that President Roosevelt make two cabinet changes for his third term administration, and appoint Wendell Willkie as chairman of the National Defense committee. Germany made the suggestion in keeping with the plea of the President, and all other responsible leaders of both major parties, for complete national unity now that the elections are over and the nation faces the problem of surviving in a world afire.

We will not here argue that Mr. Germany's suggestion about Willkie is either good, or bad. We can see both good and bad points in it. But we agree with his idea that Americans as a whole—both Democrats and Republicans—would overwhelmingly approve removal from the cabinet of Republican Renegade Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior; and Mrs. Paul Wilson, Secretary of Labor, who, although she has a husband and a grandchild, calls herself "Miss Frances Perkins." We agree with Mr. Germany that if President Roosevelt would replace this pair with a couple of able, co-operative cabinet members of his own choosing his act would, more than anything else he could do at this time, help bring about the close national unity we need now.

Our belief in the soundness of Mr. Germany's suggestion was strengthened when we noticed that the first to criticize the state chairman's idea was none other than George Purl, of Dallas, who used to be a state senator but who, fortunately, was removed from that office by a vote of the Dallas district several elections back. Purl, who went in for some lobbying in Austin after his defeat, will be remembered as one of those oldtime, hide-bound East Texas senators who voted with monotonous regularity against everything that was for the good of Texas Tech and all that portion of the state lying West of the Trinity river.

In our books, if Purl's against something, it must be all right. If he's for something, it's bound to be wrong!

Hawks Menace Bird Flights In Texas

DALHART, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — Ducks and geese which once came by the hundreds of thousands to the wildlife refuge on the famous XIT ranch are falling prey to vicious hawks.

Mrs. R. L. Duke established the refuge at Buffalo Springs, north of here, when her husband was general overseer of XIT, at one time a 3,000,000-acre ranch. The refuge was operated in the early 30's and nearly a million ducks and geese stopped there on their migrations annually.

Their protection ended when Mrs. Duke left the ranch after her husband's death. The pools remain and the birds continued to stop there.

The chicken hawks, fierce fighters of the plains, now have made Buffalo Springs their headquarters.

Albert Law, who observed the predatory hawks in action at the site of the former game refuge, believes their kill this fall has been "at least 1,000 ducks and geese."

JOB FOR SHOE DEPARTMENT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Private Buddy Gould, jr., gave the quartermaster a special headache when he enlisted in the army. A special order finally brought a size 13½ shoe for the six-foot, 158-pound recruit.

WPA Completes Old Fort From Photos

COPPER HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 11 (U.P.)—War department records, photographs dating from the Civil war, and the files of various historical societies are being used by the Works Projects Administration in the restoration of old Fort Wilkins on the tip of the Keweena peninsula.

The fort is a gift of the United States government and has been the principal attraction at the state park since it was opened in 1921. The stockade and buildings were erected in 1844, the year after a treaty with the Chippewa Indians had opened the upper peninsula to mining.

Work of restoration, under the guidance of the State Conservation department's parks division, was begun last year. A new road, parking area, tourist camp grounds, and a water system are under construction, in addition to repairing the stockade and soldier's quarters.

HE PROVES SOMETHING

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Three years ago a friend argued to George Lee that Germans were the best woodworkers in the world. Lee went to work and fashioned a tea table composed of 22,158 pieces of wood.

Effort Made To Halt Diamond Smuggling

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — Philadelphia customs officials and the Coast Guard are guarding the Delaware river from Philadelphia to the Breakwater against alleged diamond smuggling by war refugees.

Customs officials refused comment but it was reported Netherlands and northern France refugees are flooding the United States diamond markets with valuable uncut diamonds.

To combat the suspected smuggling, the Coast Guard opened 11 short-wave stations along the river, enabling them to conduct ship-to-shore conversations and to receive instructions from the Philadelphia headquarters.

Butcher shops in the desert town of Niamey in French West Africa are employing male singers and female musicians for "night club" shows to attract customers.

Modern Equipment Is Given Chaplains

FORT BENNING, Ga., Nov. 11 (U.P.) —The old-time circuit riders were stay-at-home parsons compared with the Army's 1940 model "motorized chaplains."

Under the new War Department orders, each division chaplain will use a one and one-half ton truck and trailer with a mobile public address system for use in recreational and religious meetings.

Each truck will carry a field desk with typewriter, filing cabinets, a small safe and a portable altar.

Other equipment includes kits for celebration of Catholic mass, and Protestant Holy Communion services, hymnal and service books, New Testaments, prayer books, Bibles, rosaries and medals.

Every chaplain also is to have a flag and tent equipment for his personal effects.

Omaha Schools Find New Use For Corn

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Two Omaha grade schools have found a new use for Nebraska corn.

Pupils at Webster and Columbian schools used corn shucks to make dolls and floor mats for their annual fall exhibits.

Salmon, tuna and oysters are the three most valuable fisheries in the United States, in respective order.

Saratoga Spa In Use Again

(By The United Press)

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Nov. 11. Federal medical authorities, envisioning an increase in cardiac diseases in the Army and Navy due to the draft, have begun plans to treat veterans at the famed Saratoga Spa, for years a meeting ground for American society.

Success of the plan might lead to establishment of similar treatment centers at other watering places throughout the United States they said.

Could Treat 1,500

Established cooperatively with officials of the state-operated spa, the program would permit simultaneous treatment of up to 1,500 veterans and found a military hospital and research center for cardiac ailments caused by arthritis, inflammatory rheumatism and such maladies. The plan already has the approval of President Roosevelt.

The President said the state reservation, containing healthful mineral springs, marble-columned bathhouses and clinical rooms, possessed perfect facilities for large scale treatment of cardiac diseases.

New Baths Available

It was explained that mobilization of manpower under the draft will multiply cardiac cases tremendously in the military ranks, not as a direct result of the service, but rather from the normal incidence of such diseases upon large groups of individuals.

Among facilities at the spa are the new Roosevelt baths, which were constructed with a $3,200,000 R.F.C. loan. Nearby are the exclusive Lincoln baths and the less expensive Washington baths.

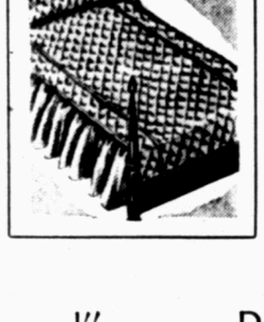

TOO MANY PHEASANTS?

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—Lake Madison hunters will shoot pheasants instead of ducks this fall. When the lake dried, pheasants thrived in the dense undergrowth. The game and fish commission abandoned the refuge and invited "come and hunt."

ADD HORRORS OF WAR

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A Charlestonian received a report from a friend in London saying an English golf course put up a sign asking members to pick up any shrapnel found on the course because "it might damage the mowing machine."
