FARMERS RENEW FIGHT ON HOOVER

Premier Airman Of Mexico Greeted By Official Washington

MEXICO'S LINDY COMPLETES HOP TO WASHINGTON

"Lone Eagle" Lands Near Spot Where Lindbergh Took Off

CROWDS CHEER FLIER

Coolidge Wires Message Of Congratulation To Calles

WASHINGTON, June 12. (UB)—Swinging down from cloudy skies, Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexico's "Lone Eagle" aviator landed at Bolling field this afternoon at 5:13 o'clock, completing his flight from Mexico City.

There was a blare from a band and frenzied cheers from the crowds as Carranza's monoplane Mexico Excelsior, almost a counterpart of Colonel Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St. Louis slid to earth. Its wheels touched at almost the same spot where Lindbergh took off on his flight to Mexico last fall.

Chagrined at Halt

Although disappointed at being forced down at Mooresville, N. C., at 3:45 this morning because of dense fog, thus blocking his ambition to make the flight without stop, the young aviator was beaming with joy as he taxied up to the official reviewing stand, popped his head out of the cabin, and then climbed down to the ground.

Carranza had left Mexico City yesterday morning. He followed the Mexican Gulf from Tampico north, then swinging across the southern states and his flying time was at the rate of 100 miles an hour.

On the last leg of a little over 200 miles he took off from Mooresville at 1:30 p. m., following the air mail route through Richmond, Va., to Washington.

Major Davidson, commandant of Bolling field was first to greet Carranza, being followed by Ambassador Telles of Mexico, members of the Mexican embassy, acting secretary of state Robert E. Olds, secretaries for aviation Davison, Warner and MacCracken of the war, navy and commerce departments respectively, high army and navy officials and members of the diplomatic corps.

Boyish Flier

The boyish Carranza was plainly nonplussed over the reception accorded him. He bowed and smiled, bowed and smiled, meanwhile keeping one eye on his plane until assured it was properly guarded.

Carranza wore a tan shirt and tan breeches, as soon as the welcoming ceremonies were over he was placed in an open army automobile and driven the length of the field before the crowds, while the army band played American and Mexican airs and two troops of cavalry were lined up in salute.

Escorted by police, Carranza, riding with Ambassador Telles, was then taken to the Mexican embassy where another escort of cavalry was drawn up and where a band played patriotic music.

Tomorrow he will be received by President Coolidge at the White House and will proceed to the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington national cemetery.

Coolidge Wires Calles.

As soon as word reached the White House that the Mexican flyer had landed, President Coolidge sent this greeting to President Calles of Mexico:

"It gives me particular pleasure to inform your excellency of Captain Carranza's safe arrival in Washington. His feat was hampered by very unfavorable weather conditions when nearing his goal, but this did not daunt him in bringing his flight to a successful conclusion.

"I desire to extend to your excellency my enthusiastic congratulations upon the Captain's notable accomplishment and to assure you that the United States is proud to welcome this intrepid aviator of your country."

BANKER'S BODY FOUND IN HUT

Huntress Discovers Man Killed in Robbery

LIBERAL, Kan., June 12. (UP) The body of a man found in an abandoned hut near here this afternoon was positively identified as that of E. A. Kessinger, teller of the First National bank at Lamar, Colo., who was kidnaped by bandits who robbed the institution, Coroner Sam Miller told The United Press late today.

The ring of Kessinger was on his finger, his watch and bank book in his pocket and a bill fold containing his name also was found in his pocket. The clothes on the man answered the description of those worn by Kessinger when he was kidnaped last month, Miller said.

Mrs. R. J. Carr found the body when she went into the abandoned house while hunting rabbits. She discovered the body about 2 p. m. today. The hut is seven miles north and three miles east of here.

A bullet wound through the head caused the bank teller's death, the coroner said. On account of the decomposed condition of the body, a more complete examination of the corpse could not be made to determine whether the man had been shot more than once. A further examination may be made later.

Finding of Kessinger's body brought the toll of victims charged to the bandits to four. A. N. Parrish, president of the bank, and his son were killed at the time of the robbery, while Dr. W. W. Wineinger of Dighton, Kan., believed to have been kidnaped by the bandits in their flight, was found slain on the highway.

Suspects Held

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 12. (UP)—Three more suspects held in the robbery of the First National bank of Lamar, Colo., were released late today when witnesses of the robbery failed to identify them as the bandits.

Those released are Ted Rogers, Louis Miller and Clarence Sparger. They were arrested yesterday at the request of Sheriff L. A. Alderman of Lamar, who had been here for several days. An assistant cashier and a customer of the bank, witnesses to the robbery, failed to identify the men this afternoon.

First 5,000,000 Share Day Rocks Wall Street

NEW YORK, June 12. (AP)—Wall street today recorded the first 5,000,000 share session in the history of the New York stock exchange.

The record of 5,198,600 shares was created in a market that was rocked to its foundations by a storm of selling orders which carried prices of active issues down as much as to nearly $30 a share in a reaction equalling in intensity the disastrous break of March, 1926.

The previous record of 4,887,400 shares was established on May 16.

She attended the 1916 and 1920 Republican conventions with the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

GIRL FLIERS READY TO GO

Mabel Boll Lands Safely In New Foundland

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 12. (UP) Two American girls, eager for glory and the adventure of being the first woman to fly across the Atlantic ocean, were in Newfoundland tonight prepared to race to England at dawn Wednesday.

Miss Mabel Boll landed at Harbor Grace, N. F., this evening just 11 hours after leaving Roosevelt field, New York, in her Columbia monoplane—the same plane in which Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine crossed the Atlantic last year.

Meanwhile, Miss Amelia Earhart of Boston, fretting under five successive failures of her monoplane Friendship to rise from the water of Trepassey bay today, was making every possible effort to prepare for a departure Wednesday morning.

The sturdy Columbia, forced by fog to return to Curtiss field, L. I., last week after starting for Old Orchard, Me., covered the distance from New York to Harbor Grace in fast time despite its heavy load. Miss Boll and her companions, Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles, co-pilots, and Andrew Sirini, mechanic, completed the first leg of their proposed transatlantic flight in 45 minutes less time than Col. Charles A. Lindbergh required to reach Harbor Grace on his flight to Paris. Sarini will leave the plane at Harbor Grace.

Boll Is Favorite

On the basis of performance to date, Miss Boll was a slight favorite in the contemplated race to Europe, principally because the Columbia, recently equipped with a new engine, is capable of making from 25 to 30 miles an hour better time than the Friendship.

However, the Boston girl's plane, piloted by the cautious Wilbur Stultz and navigated by Lew Gordon, is equipped with pontoons for landing on the water if necessary. The Columbia carries no rubber boats or life-saving apparatus.

Take-offs Fail

Miss Earhart's plane made five unsuccessful attempts to leave the waters of Trepassey bay today, failing because of its heavy load. When it became apparent that the Friendship could not take-off, the crew began stripping the plane of unessential equipment and Stultz was confident that the craft would be able to rise Wednesday morning. He refused to cut the large gasoline supply which he believes may be needed in case the plane runs into stormy weather.

The two rival planes are separated tonight by the width of Newfoundland, with the Columbia slightly nearer the goal—Europe.

TEXAS G. O. P. FIGHT GIVEN TO COMMITTEE

Wurzbach Presents Appeal From Order Seating "Regulars"

BIGGER FIGHT LOOMS

Decision Expected From Credentials Body Today

By L. B. DILBECK
Associated Press Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12. (AP) The fight between two rival Republican factions for the right to represent Texas at the national convention was carried late Tuesday before the credentials committee, with small prospects of a decision before Wednesday.

Appeal Filed

Congressman Harry Wurzbach of Seguin, represented by counsel for the anti-Hoover coalition, presented his appeal from a decision of the national executive committee seating the 26 delegates, including 22 district delegates, selected by the "regular" state convention controlled by National Committeeman R. B. Creager of Brownsville.

Mr. Wurzbach said that all the delegates selected by the district conventions in Texas, known as the Wurzbach-Littleton delegates, are here ready to take their seats if they win them. His chief point is that it has been a practice of the Republican party since 1880 to seat national delegates selected by districts, instead of by state conventions.

May Go Higher

The Creager faction, which already has organized and appointed members of the convention committees, including Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls on the credentials committee hearing the contest, contends that the state election law of 1905 gives the state convention the right and power to select district delegates.

The Texas contest is one of the most important before the credentials committee. The Creager faction is committed almost irrevocably to Hoover, adding 26 votes to his strength.

If the committee goes against the Wurzbach faction, the fight probably will be taken to the convention floor.

Wichita Valley Road Application Heard

1 to 20 Shot Pulls Down Interest in GOP Conclave

Damon Runyon Finds Mr. Mellon Fascinating But Only Color Is Lent by Schumann-Heink

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service
(Copyright 1928)

CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Anytime you've got a 1 to 20 shot going to the post in a race you haven't got much interest left.

That's the way it is with the Republican convention. Hoover is such a cinch that the delegates can't get heated up over the prospect of merely going through the motions.

They took their seats leisurely and quietly this morning and sat staring dumbly into space, some occasionally muttering "well, we'll be out of here by Thursday."

Secretary Mellon Applauded

They bestirred themselves to applause finally when Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, and one of the men who made all the business so painless and perfunctory this year, came down the aisle to take a seat with the Pennsylvania delegation.

Mr. Mellon is a frail, gray looking little man, with a frosty moustache, and a pair of icy white eye brows. His eyes shine alertly from under the white drift of brows. Mr. Mellon had an aisle seat, proving that he must have plenty of influence with the speculators or whoever has charge of the seats. He wore a pink rosebud in his lapel.

The nearby delegates stared at Mr. Mellon fascinated. A man with all that money is naturally fascinating. Mr. Mellon sat with his hands in his lap, listening to the windjamming in its diverse manifestations. He looked as innocent and interested as if he was hearing all this business for the first time and hadn't an idea what was going to happen.

Opera Star a Splash of Color

Madame Schumann-Heink, the opera star, provided the only real splash of color of the morning proceedings when she appeared all aglow in green and diamonds to sing "The Star Spangled Banner." Madame Schumann-Heink would be called fat if she were a man. I must describe her as matronly as a matter of chivalry.

The lady wore a big diamond pin at her belt, a huge diamond ring on the third finger of her left hand, and a few odds and ends of diamonds on her ample bosom. She had a gorgeous crown of gray hair, and her eyes fairly sparkled as she sang the old anthem, directing her voice into a microphone which rolled it out over the big hall in vastly increased volume, and then on out into the air to listening millions.

Prior to Mme. Schumann-Heink's singing, however, William M. Butler of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican national committee, got the delegates in order by banging with a big gavel on a little black table that stands on a small platform just out into the press section.

There are almost as many inmates of the press section as there are delegates, including some very impressive looking lions and also leopards of literature. Mr. Mellon could have saved the newspapers of the country a lot of money by just post-carding them the lay of the land a couple of weeks ago.

Newspapers' Words Meaningless

All the columns of conjecture, all the reams of cook-eyed rumors, and all the acres of words that have been written on the subject of the Republican convention of 1928 don't mean a thing now.

It's in the bag, as we say at the club. Everybody knows it, Hoover can't miss. So those rows upon rows of newspaper men sitting in the old Convention hall of Kansas City might have been reduced to a working staff of four or five good men, while a few fast operators could have easily replaced the regiment of key-pounders that man the mighty tangle of wires in the basement.

The tumult and the shouting that Mr. Kipling has spoken of, and that was expected to play a loud part in this meeting, hasn't lifted above a conversational tone. They rattled off that opening session of the convention this morning with the facility of a girl in Childs' window turning off a batch of wheat cakes.

Keynote speeches, organization committees, and all that sort of thing went through, bingety-bing-bing, and the delegates hastened off to golf, and what-not, until tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock with astonishing speed.

"We'll be out o fher by Thursday," say the delegates with churlish disregard for the splendid hospitality offered by Kansas City, and they probably will. It's all over, including the shouting, except that they must find some fellow who doesn't much mind being vice-president.

Chairman Butler "Comforjable"

Chairman Butler is a man of comfortable build, with gray hair and a stubby moustache. He wore a frock coat of the old William Jennings Bryan school that he will probably seriously regret if the weather lives up to its promise of fervency. The chairman's trousers were striped, like actors wear on Sunday afternoon.

He proved himself a gavel swinger of no mean ability, pounding the delegates into order right on the stroke of 11 o'clock. He then introduced Bishop E. C. Patridge, who prayed for all hands present, though he did not specifically include the inmates of the press section.

The bishop is a fine looking old man, with bald head and a fervent manner. He stretched out both arms while praying. A bright red badge shone against the black of his ecclesiastical garments. The prayer was short. Perhaps the bishop felt that under the circumstances it was too late for any elaborate praying for the Republican party.

After Mme. Schumann-Heink's singing, Chairman Butler announced that an official photograph of the convention was about to be taken, and requested that all hands rise and face one corner of the hall.

"No! remain seated," bawled a photographer who was evidently the official picture taker. Chairman Butler glared at that man and gnawed his stubby moustache as if annoyed at the temerity of the fellow in altering a dictum of a Republican chief.

The delegates remained seated and turned their varied and various faces toward the camera. A muffled roar, like a subway blast, and a slight cloud of smoke, marked this operation.

Roy O. West, of Chicago, secretary of the Republican national committee, presented the temporary roll of the assemblage and read the official call. No one paid the slightest attention. These things are necessary evils. Mr. West realized that he was dead weight, and hastened through his task and faded quickly from view.

As if it had just occurred to his mind, Chairman Butler proposed the name of Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, as temporary chairman of the convention. No one seemed to seriously object to this, so chairman Butler put his suggestion as a motion and a mumble from some of the delegates was accepted by him as an affirmative, and Senator Fess was declared the man.

Fess Fast Thinker

"The chair will appoint Governor Arthur M. Hyde, of Wyoming, Mrs. Leona Curtis, of Rhode Island and Governor C. C. Young of California, a committee to escort Senator Fess to the platform," said Chairman Butler. He rattled off the names quite glibly, giving the impression that he was thinking them up on the spur of the instant, though he probably sat up half the night giving serious consideration to the matter.

The lady and the two governors marched upon the Ohio outfit, which sat right back of Pennsylvania, and came out with a gray and spindling little man dressed in a warm looking swallow tail coat and striped trousers. A small diamond sparkled in a black tie. This was Senator Fess, called the "keynoter" of the convention, which is to say the man who is accorded the honor of uttering a lot of things that the boys felt would be to the interest of the grand old party to hear.

Keynoter Sweats

It is said that Senator Fess is a former professor of history in an Ohio educational institution. He had some history in his remarks. He is bald and earnest, and put so much effort into his keynote that present-

DRAFT PLATFORM

KANSAS CITY, June 12. (UP) A sub-committee of 16 members of the platform committee started an all-night session here shortly after 10 o'clock tonight to draft a platform for presentation to the Republican convention tomorrow.

Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the committee, expects to have the platform ready by 10 a. m. tomorrow for a report to the full committee, which must approve it before submitting it to the convention.

night, carrying anti-Hoover placards and chanting: "We won't vote for Hoover."

Hoover Denounced

They formed a double colum stretching the length of two blocks after a mass meeting at which speakers denounced Secretary Hoover as an enemy of the farmer.

Earlier in the day about 500 farmers invaded the meeting of the resolutions committee and demanded recognition of the farmers' demands.

Some farm leaders were attempting to organize a similar demonstration for the convention session tomorrow to bring their protest forcibly to the delegates' attention.

Allies Still Bitter

Meanwhile, the anti-Hoover allied candidates were still bitter in their opposition to the nomination plan arranged by those dominating the convention.

Senators Watson and Goff were reported to be ready to concentrate their strength behind Senator Curtis of Kansas, provided former Governor Lowden would release his delegates and endeavor to throw them to Curtis.

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12. (UP)—General Pershing for vice president on the ticket with Herbert Hoover was the line-up being considered by many leaders in the Republican national convention tonight.

With the nomination of Hoover for president absolutely assured by developments within the previous 12 hours, thoughts turned to a running mate.

Possibilities

Considered among the possibilities were:

General Pershing of Nebraska.
Vice President Dawes of Illinois.
Senator George Moses of New Hampshire.
Representative John Q. Tillson of Connecticut.
Gov. Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts.
Governor Hammill of Iowa.

Of all these, General Pershing stood out tonight as the strongest figure to take a place beside Hoover in the presidential battle against the Democrats who are expected to be led by Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

The certain nomination of Hoover brought jubilant statements from Hoover headquarters, and most significant of all a promise that the platform will include—presumably through the influence of the Hoover forces—a plank on farm relief which "will afford real relief, and on sound economic lines."

Play to Farmers

The Hoover strategy from now on will be to attempt to convince the farm belt that Hoover, while unable to accept the McNary-Haugen bill, nevertheless has the genuine interests of the farmer at heart.

James W. Good, manager of the Hoover campaign, issued the following statement:

"Mr. Hoover will be nominated on the first ballot. The greatest comfort that comes to Republicans in this hour is in the realization that Mr. Hoover is the genuine choice of the Republicans of the United States. The collapse of the opposition proves that the issue made against Secretary Hoover lacked sincerity.

"The mystery of the so-called farm uprising against Mr. Hoover is explained.

Farm Relief Plank

"The platform will include a plank on farm relief, of course. It will afford real relief, and on sound economic lines."

From a state of tense uncertainty 24 hours ago the convention situation has swiftly moved to a solution so rapidly that tonight the convention already seems as if it were

Silken Tent Only Shelter Crew Of Italia Is Afforded in North

ABOARD STEAMSHIP HOBBY, off Spitzbergen, June 12. (UP)—General Umberto Nobile and nine members of the lost Arctic dirigible Italia are huddled in a silken tent, bulwarked by ice-blocks, and drifting toward northeast land half frozen and for days without warm food, radio messages from Nobile's temporary wireless station to the sister relief ship, Braganza, said today.

Each storm threatens to tear away the shelter of the explorers who have squeezed into the little tent to escape the Arctic blasts.

Nobile's desperate situation was discovered in messages from Giuseppe Biagi, the Italia's radio operator, to the ship Braganza, chartered by the Italian government, which relayed the messages to the Norwegian relief ship Hobby today.

Fractional Voting System Abolished

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12. (AP) The Republican rules committee by a vote of 24 to 9 today adopted a rule to abolish the fractional voting system at the next national convention.

The provision, which will not prevent use of the method at this convention, was one of several changes made by the committee in the rules of the 1924 convention.

Chance for Law

It's too bad that the law, which often is so over-zealous in overstepping its authority when it says what's good for us in the way of books and plays and movie and soap box orators, couldn't have overstepped its bounds a little in this case and given a practical demonstration of nearly every social worker's spoken or unspoken belief in the process known as sterilization. The very promise of Mr. Cromwell to "be good," though ignorant of his offense, indicates that both he and his wife and children would have thanked the law for its presumption.

Wire stories coming into Wichita Falls Tuesday night disclose that the carload of wheat received by the Wichita Falls Mill and Elevator company last Friday was probably the first of the 1928 season in the United States.

Enid, Okla., announced Tuesday that its first car, one from Tillman county, was the nation's first.

Lodge Chosen as Summer White House

Cedar Island lodge, on the Brule river, in the heart of Wisconsin's trout territory, has been chosen by President and Mrs. Coolidge as their summer White House for 1928. The lodge, built in a stand of virgin Timber, is the estate of the late Henry Clay Pearce, pioneer Texas oil man, who died last year. It is 28 miles from Superior, Wis., and six miles from the village of Brule, on property consisting of several thousand acres. C-C Completes Plans for Four Good Will Trips in June-July

The trade trip to the Sterley celebration at the July opening of the Denver and South Plains railway into that city, will not be made by special train from Wichita Falls, according to an announcement made by J. W. Chatham Tuesday at the meeting of the manufacturers and jobbers.

The Denver road has notified the chamber of commerce that it will not be able to handle the train at that time because of lack of facilities. However, a smaller delegation of Wichitans will attend the celebration that the city may be formally represented.

The manufacturers and jobbers voted unanimously to attend the trade trip luncheon at Frederick June 22. At this luncheon the Wichita Falls trade trippers will be hosts to the Frederick people.

It was announced that a trade trip special will be run June 30 to Wisconsin, and Orville Bullington, vice president of the chamber of commerce, has been named sponsor. The round trip fare and lower berth is $94.85. Letters have been sent out to dairymen of this district explaining the purpose of the trip which will include visits to Milwaukee and to Wisconsin farms.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce delegation from Wichita Falls was discussed and it was decided to go by automobile, leaving Wichita Falls at 6:30 o'clock in the morning, June 19. The Panhandle Refining company band will head the delegation and will take part in the day's festivities. Wichitans will remain as a unit for various ceremonies until 6 o'clock that evening. After that time they will be left to enjoy the convention in the way that suits them best.

Spanish Dictator Challenged To Duel After "Insulting" Statement

MADRID, June 12. (US)—Gabriel Maura, son of the late Antonio Maura, one of Spain's recent political leaders, challenged Primo de Rivera, dictator of Spain, to a duel tonight.

Maura charged that the dictator had insulted the memory of his dead father in his statements regarding the desire of designing politicians to see him resign as dictator.

In 1922 Antonio Maura charged that de Rivera was using his dictatorship for his own personal fortunes. The younger Maura interpreted one of the recent statements of the dictator as reflecing dishonor on his father and had written letters to the leading newspapers on the subject.

Primo replied that he intended to "let the dead rest" and confine his discussions to those about him.

Maura's challenge has not been replied to.

LAKE WICHITA AT HIGH LEVEL

Water More Than Foot Below Spillway

Lake Wichita was one foot and four inches below the spillway Tuesday afternoon, according to Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the city water department. This is the highest it has been in two years, Dr. Douglass said.

The level Thursday afternoon was 16 feet, 2 inches. The spillway level is 17 feet, 6 inches, he said. The total rise in the lake since Saturday night is 3 feet, 6 inches.

Tests of the water have made the revelation that it is harder now than it was before the rains. Dr. Douglass had believed the rains several days ago were sufficient to wash the watersheds, thus allowing the last rain water to retain a great part of its native softness.

RAIN HURTS WHEAT

BAYLOR MEDIC GIVES PAPER

Wichita Medical Society Hears Dr. Grigsby

High blood pressure is responsible for 48.66 per cent of all deaths from heart disease, according to a statement made by Dr. C. M. Grigsby, professor of medicine of the Baylor university school of medicine, in a talk Tuesday night before the Wichita County Medical society in the Wichita club rooms. About 45 were present.

Speaking on "Some Problems of Cardiac Diagnosis," Dr. Grigsby said that many patients who seemingly suffer from heart disease are in reality suffering from stomach, gall bladder and other similar diseases.

Indicators Mentioned

"If a man is able to carry on normal activities and physical exercise, he doesn't have an embarrassed condition," Dr. Grigsby said. "Short breath when climbing stairs, running for street cars, playing golf and the like many times indicate heart disease.

"Leakage of the heart is of no significance if the individual is able to carry on normal exercise and his duties of life."

The paper was discussed by Drs. W. B. Whiting, J. D. Hall, R. B. Collins, W. P. Martin and A. D. Pattillo.

Clinic Work Told

Mrs. J. Z. Steinkoenig, health chairman of the Parent-Teachers council, reviewed the work of the free school clinics of the past two years and asked the continued cooperation of the Wichita County Medical association in making the school examinations successful. The society adopted a resolution endorsing the work and expressing cooperation in furthering the cause.

Dr. George T. Singleton of Wichita Falls read a paper on "Occiput Posterior Positions," stating that in many large hospitals 18 per cent cases of child birth have this complication.

Dr. A. F. Leach reported on a case of tularemia in a young woman due to an infection received while preparing a rabbit for fish bait.

AL JENNINGS IS FINED $10

Assault Charge Reduced By Jury

Found guilty of simple assault by a jury in county court Tuesday afternoon, Alfred Jennings was fined $10 and costs. The charge of aggravated assault filed against Jennings grew out of an attack on Cyrus Jetter on May 17.

Charles Vines, charged with Jennings in connection with the attack on Jetter will go to trial next week on companion charges.

The case went to the jury shortly after noon after Jetter had testified that Vines called him out of the garage where he was working and struck him without provocation. Jetter told the jury that the following day when he encountered Jennings and Vines, the two informed him that it was Jennings who struck him. Jetter said that he did not see who delivered the blow.

Dr. T. C. Shirley, state witness, who attended the attack victim, testified that he believed loss of weight by Jetter and frequent headaches were results of the blow given him. Dr. Shirley, however, would not say that the injuries would be permanent.

Nolan Williams, another state witness, testified that he saw Vines and Jennings talking to Jetter and that a little later he saw the two men standing near Jetter, who had fallen to the sidewalk. Mr. Williams was employed across the street from the garage where Jetters worked.

'AL AND VIC' TICKET LOOMS

Ohio and New York Move To Name Donahey

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 12. (UP) Rumors of a movement between political factions of New York and Ohio to nominate Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president, and Governor Vic Donahey for vice president, were insistent here today.

Governor Donahey was in conference with M. S. Tremaine of New York, who sought the appointment by long distance telephone, attaches of the governor's office said.

Indications were that Tremaine is Morris S. Tremaine, state comptroller of New York, and head of the state department of audit and control, elected to that office in 1926 and said to be a political lieutenant of Governor Smith.

JURNEY DENIES DRY PLANK, PAPERS SAY

DALLAS, Texas, June 12. (AP)—The Dallas Times-Herald today quotes Chesley W. Jurney, secretary to Senator Royal S. Copeland, New York, as having declared that the platform upon which the Democrats will nominate Governor Alfred E. Smith at Houston, will not contain a "dry" plank.

"We might as well be frank about it," the Times-Herald quotes Mr. Jurney, who was in conference with Governor Smith last week before starting for Texas, "we cannot carry states like New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Illinois with a dry plank in the platform."

Mr. Jurney, who for many years was secretary to the late Senator Culberson, arrived here last night.

WASHINGTON, June 12. (INS)—Herbert Hoover lunched in his office at the commerce department today to the tune of Senator Fess' keynote speech at the Kansas City convention.

C-C SPONSORS PUBLICITY TAX

To Seek Law Validating Use of City Funds

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, June 12. (AP)—The South Texas Chamber of Commerce has started a movement which has for its ultimate object the creation of a law in Texas, similar to those now in effect in California and Florida, which will provide that cities, towns or counties may appropriate tax money for publicity purposes, according to Ray Leeman, general manager of the South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"Perhaps 80 per cent of the money which has been spent for national publicity and advertising by California and Florida has been tax money," Leeman declared. "In the last few years a great many plans for advertising Texas have been formulated. Meetings have been held and organizations have been formed with the object of telling the world about our great state. It is fairly apparent that the desire of Texas business men to advertise the state is general. Always, however, when the matter of financing such advertising and publicity has arisen, securing such finances by solicitation has proven an obstacle which could not be surmounted. It is our belief that with the legal obstacles removed in Texas, as they have been removed in California and Florida, we can develop a workable and practical plan to advertise our state and can finance the work in a manner fair and equitable to all concerned."

"The South Texas Chamber of Commerce has solicited the cooperation of the East and West Texas chambers in the undertaking, and the final plans for the movement will be announced at the annual convention of the South Texas body in Laredo, November 19-20.

Parade Arrangements Perfected in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 12.—What is declared to be the most ideal arrangement for the beginning and ending of the annual delegation parade, held in connection with the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is that which Fort Worth offers.

The delegations will assemble on the Texas & Pacific reservation, near the union passenger station and march on Main street to the courthouse, thence to Houston street and then to the place of beginning. This reservation covers several city blocks and there will be ample space for the assembling of all the delegations. The plot is being blocked and each delegation will be given a number of a lot for assembling. In this way there should be no delay in starting the parade, and no delay at Eighth and Houston streets. Distinguished guests and others who are to review the parade will lead the procession to this point where they will leave their automobiles to view the delegation features.

It is expected about 100 floats will be entered and that fully seventy-five bands will play in the line of march.

HENRIETTA, Texas, June 12.—A two-weeks community revival under the auspices of the Methodist church of this city closed Sunday night. The preaching was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Paul E. Martin, with an assistant evangelist and song leader, Rev. Robt. E. Huston of Dallas.

Despite the most inclement weather of the season the past week, enormous crowds have attended. Services were held each morning and night, and 7:30 o'clock each evening young people's services were conducted.

Tuesday evening Rev. Martin delivered a sermon, "When a Man's a Man," in honor of the men of the community, and Thursday evening his special sermon to the young people was entitled "Those Blooming Youths," which was attended by a record crowd.

There were 15 additions to the church and many reclamations and reconsecrations.

Actress Spums Waiting Man

Miss Winifred Barry, Broadway actress, isn't going to marry Baron Giorgio Suriani, of Italy, she says. She left him waiting at the church in New York, declaring she didn't know he had advertised his title for sale for $100,000 in the newspapers and that he had been engaged to another last year. The baron offered his title in exchange for a wealthy wife, but found none of those who answered his advertisement to his liking.

Filing Limitation in Districts With One County Banned by Rule

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, June 12.—Candidates for the legislature from districts limited to but one county, are district candidates but are exempt from the filing limit set for district offices embracing more than one county, the attorney general department Monday ruled to the Dallas and Tarrant county executive committees.

Such candidates have until next Saturday to file, the ruling pointed out. It was being contended that as district candidates, the time for filing for places on the July 28 primary ballot had already closed.

Such offices as district judge and district attorney for districts of but one county are also exempted from the district filing limitation, the ruling said, and candidates may file within the time specified for county offices, closing June 16.

In a number of counties, candidates still desired to file for the legislature, and the question raised in Dallas and Tarrant counties, had it been upheld, would have shut off further entries into the races. For flotorial representative, or for representative from any of the districts embracing more than one county, the filing time already has expired.

Commission Takes Proration Order Under Advisement

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 12.—The question as to whether a proration order will be issued restricting the production of crude oil in the Yates pool in Pecos county, was heard and taken under advisement by the railroad commission. The operators in that field are now operating under a voluntary restriction agreement which expires on July 1.

The hearing developed that practically all of the operators in the Yates field are agreeable to an order which will provide the proration of production along the same lines as obtains in Winkler county field. W. A. Moncrief, vice president of the Mariand Oil company, on behalf of his company and other producers in the field, said they were favorable to restriction of production in order to avoid a waste in the resources of the state. It was disclosed there were 190 producing wells in the field with a potential capacity of 1,350,000 barrels, and the plan is to restrict production to 51,500 barrels daily.

C. S. Spence of Fort Worth, representing the Oil Operators Trust, opposed restriction. He said his company now produced about 2000 barrels per day and under a proposed proration order this would be restricted to 200 barrels.

SPEAKER TAKES UP FOR YOUTH

Surgeon-General Sees Little Drunkenness

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 12. (UP)—Modern youths are just as good as they were back in grandmother's day and they are undeserving of the bad name given them, Dr. M. W. Ireland, surgeon-general of the United States army, declared in an address before the American Medical association convention.

Drunkenness is on the wane, Dr. Ireland said, and the men who served in the United States army in the world war should not be blamed for the supposed increase in drinking and crime.

He contended that the five million service men were "medical missionaries," and that the nation's good health should be attributed to the information that the soldiers brought back to their families and communities.

Given Training

"These millions trained in personal hygiene and sanitation," Dr. Ireland continued, "returned to their homes to teach others. They are medical missionaries in the most valuable sense. Benefits of vaccination and inoculation taught them methods fighting communicable diseases.

"Discipline taught them to live simply and to respect their own bodies. This knowledge has been handed down to their families until the nation as a whole is better educated. Insurance companies, generally, give them a better rating, knowing they are prepared to guard their health and the outdoor life built up their stamina.

"I believe drinking is on the wane and young people are not deserving of their bad name. They are just as good as young people ever were. I saw a drunken man on the streets of Chicago while I was en route to the convention here, the first I have seen since prohibition went into effect."

Moody to Attend C-C Convention

Tuesday will be Congressmen's Day. These lawmakers will be introduced at the general session on Tuesday morning. For this particular part of the program, Congressman Fritz Lanham of Fort Worth will preside. He will be host to all visiting congressmen.

Joe W. Pyron And Miss Babe Lane Wed at Home Here

Miss Babe Lane, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Hill Eubank of 1645 Pearl street, was married to Joe W. Pyron of Midland, Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eubank, in a pretty home wedding.

The Rev. Ellis White, pastor of the First Church of Christ, performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of only a few friends and relatives of the couple.

The living room of the Eubank home was decorated with a large wedding bell of white paper, lined with pink crepe, which hung from the center of the ceiling. Pale pink rose buds hung from the bell in shower formation, tied with white satin ribbon and entwined with bits of fernery. The wedding was performed before an altar of palms and ferns, with a rainbow color relief of pink gladioli and large baskets of white and pink roses. Tall candelabra bearing numerous white tapers were set on both sides of the altar.

The bride wore a model of white embroidered georgette which was also her graduation dress when she finished high school three years ago. She carried a shower bouquet of pale pink rose buds. Her sole bit of jewelry was a diamond bracelet, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Cynthia May Pettit was sole attendant and was attired in a shell peach georgette with a circular skirt and tight basque. She carried a large bouquet of shell pink roses. The bridegroom was attended by W. L. Olmstead of Nocona. Mrs. Olmstead played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" as the processional. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Eubank.

A reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Eubank following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Pyron left for a wedding trip to southern points in the state. They will make their home in Midland where Mr. Pyron is district foreman of the Gulf Pipe Line company.

Various showers have been given for the bride by the following hostesses: Mesdames R. B. Melat, W. D. Brookover, P. S. Reeder, and T. H. Smith. Miss Bartlett Weds Fort Worth Man In Ceremony Tuesday

Miss Fay Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bartlett of 903 Austin street, was married to John Fairley Gracey of Fort Worth, in the Grace Methodist church, with the Rev. A. F. White, pastor of the church, performing the ring ceremony in the presence of about 30 guests and relatives, Tuesday evening.

The church was decorated in rainbow shades with giant palms forming a background for grouped masses of orchid gladioli and pink rosebuds, large baskets of flowers were set to flank the altar. Two tall white cathedral candles were flanked by five tall floor candelabra set on each side of the altar.

The bride was given in marirage by her father. She was dressed in a white georgette and satin model, with lace ruffles forming the skirt. Her lace veil was caught at the crown by orange blossoms and satin ribbon. She carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Lola Bartlett, as maid-of-honor. She wore a peach colored georgette dress heavily beaded. Her bouquet was of shell pink rosebuds. Mrs. Joe Hall was matron-of-honor and wore a ruffled organdy dress of pale yellow, and carried a bouquet of summer flowers of pale yellow.

The bride's maid was Miss Claudia Smith of Mineral Wells who wore a pale pink organdy dress and carried a pink bouquet. Misses Anna Fay Williams and Elizabeth Fisher, junior bridesmaids, were dressed in bouffant orchid colored organdy dresses. Flower girls were Bessie Williams and Roberta Fisher. They wore pink ruffled dresses. Little John Tommy Rundell was ring bearer and wore a dark satin suit.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Modena Powell sang "I Love You Truly," with organ accompaniment by Mrs. Carrie E. Wilcox. Mrs. Wilcox also played the prelude. Miss Viola Grace Doern played a violin solo, "At Dawning."

Following the ceremony, guests were entertained at an informal reception in the church parlors. The wedding cake was cut by the bride and served with punch.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gracey left for points in Texas and Colorado, for a wedding trip of two weeks. The bride was dressed in a dark going-away suit with dark accessories to match. Mr. and Mrs. Gracey will make their home in Coleman and Fort Worth where the bridegroom is engaged in the oil business.

CHIC CHERIE

Trinkets From Paris

LATEST FASHIONS

We are not the sort of person to insist that our heroine is always right. She was right, though, to buy these trinkets—the little snake necklace known as "Cleopatra's Asp," which is endorsed by Lucien Lelong; the barbaric looking choker just below it; the tie of two fabrics, one plain and one dotted; the scarf holders of gold and shell.

Ernest and Eustace have been a great help to Cherie on this shopping trip—they're producing jewelry from every pocket. She's exhibiting at the moment one of those demi tri-coleur necklaces of three strands—natural, rose and medium blue. Her dress is blue also and the bindings that trim it are natural and rose—and that's a color scheme! Ernest is reminding her of the necklace she parked in his lower left vest pocket—a choker with a pendant of modernistic cut. Skipping Ernest, who has no further interest for us, we come to Dina, who is wearing a dress of print—one of those wavy line prints rather like a zebra's coat but not nearly so exciting because it is merely white with lines of navy blue. Dina's choker is made of alternating tricoleur pearls.

These are other purchases—shoulder pins, all of them. Fashionably speaking, you will have a choice between flower and pin to trim your new frock, but with these shoulder fobs coming in, why bother with flowers? They're so uninterestingly natural. The pins are marcasite, rhinestone, crystal and colored stones, modernistic in design and new!

Girls of 17 Put Too Little Stress On Really Worthy Qualities in Man

What manly qualities do girls of 17 most admire?—Settling a jealous argument between a traveling man and his hard-working wife. Advice to husband on burying past scandal.

Dear Miss Dix—We would like to have an unprejudiced woman's opinion concering those manly qualities that are attractive to girls from 17 to 20 years of age. We are neither "corner cowboys" nor "drug-store clerks," just two plain, common, ordinary young fellows, who do not intend to be led by some unscrupulous girls as some of our friends are.—TWO PALS.

Answer—I am afraid that girls of 17 and thereabouts do not put much stress on the really fine and manly qualities that a boy may possess. It is only after they are older that they begin to appreciate intelligence and strength and purpose and high ideals.

A girl at 17 is more concerned with what is outside of a boy's head than what is in it. His personal appearance looms bigger in her eyes than his character. So I should say that to make a hit with a girl of that age a boy must have varnished hair and he must be always dressed in the very latest thing in Klassy Kut Kollege Klothes. If they are wearing them loose, his trousers must be the baggiest. If socks trail over the shoes, his must sweep the dust. If gray ties are in the mode, his must make a rainbow shrink and turn purple in comparison. If hats are taboo, he must go bareheaded.

Later on in life she will discover that clothes do not make the man, but every flapper rates a man according to his coonskin coat, and she considers that it were better both for herself and for him to be dead than not to be dressed in the very latest fashion.

Next, the thing that sweet 17 demands of a boy is the ability to dance Her own brains, if any, are located in her heels and not in her head, and she wants as a playmate somebody who can tread a measure with her and who knows all the thousand and one variations of the Charleston and the black bottom and who can add a few extra frills to them upon occasion. Listen to any group of young girls discuss a boy, and the highest encomimum they can pass upon him is to say: "He is a peachy dancer."

Being studious, being industrious, having some special talent that gives promise of raising a boy to distinction in the future cut no figure with a young girl compared with his ability to dance. That is because she is just at the frivolous age of life and is taking no thought of the future. It is enough for her to enjoy the present moment.

The next quality that girls of 17 demand of a boy is for him to have a keen line. They like a boy who can chatter nonsense by the yard; a boy who knows how to jolly; a boy who can giggle and laugh over nothing; a boy who has a way with him and who can make puppy love; a boy who rough-houses a little; a boy who is just as silly and foolish and fond of a good time as they are.

Of course, there are some exceptions to the rule, but most girls of that age don't read anything; they don't know anything except what goes on in their little circle; they are not interested in anything except dancing and clothes and boys and going to the movies, and they are bored to death with a serious-minded boy who is trying to get an education and wants to talk about books and who has the ambition to make a fine, successful man of himself. At 17 they will have nothing to do with the type of boy who makes the kind of man they are crazy to marry when they are 27.

And finally, and perhaps most important of all, the thing that makes a hit with a girl of 17 is for the boy to have an automobile and enough money to show her a good time, for pleasure is the only thing that counts with her.

But don't despise the little 17-year-old flappers too much, because they get over being 17, and somehow, by the grace of God, they outgrow their foolishness and change their taste and develop some gray matter in their heads and in time come to judge a man by his real worth and not by his haircut or his coat or his dancing.

I don't think that if I were you, son, that I should aspire to making a hit with the girls of 17. They admire none of the sterling qualities that go into the making of a real man. Let the corner cowboys and the drug-store sheiks have them, while you devote your attention to making something worth while of yourself.—DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am 34; married 14 years; have a 11½-year-old son, and my husband is a commercial traveler, who is home only every second week-end. Furthermore, I am a stenographer; take dictation from ten men; work at top speed all day long, and have a seven-room house to take care of in the evening, to say nothing of washing and ironing.

Now for the problem: My husband will not and cannot dance. All my life I have danced. My one recreation is going out with a crowd of married people every Tuesday night to dance. My son sleeps at my friend's house so he is not neglected; but this one night a week that I step out is a source of constant trouble between me and my husband. I am only passably good-looking, no longer young, and after working for ten men and being married to one, I assure you that men do not interest me except as dance partners. Now the question is: Must I give up this one diversion in my life? My husband and I have agreed to abide by your decision. Please remember that my husband is a traveler and takes his fun where he finds it and refuses to be questioned.—DOLLY V.

Answer—I think you have a perfect right to your dance and that your husband is unfair in objecting to it. Let him consider these points:

First, that he is away from you almost all of the time and this forces you to lead a very lonely life.

If he were at home all the time and you had the pleasure of his society and he took you out frequently to places of amusement, he might with better face, ask you to give up dacing. Though, personally, I cannot see why either a husband or a wife should object to the other one indulging in some form of pleasure because he or she does not enjoy doing that particular thing.

Secondly, your husband should realise that you are doing two women's work, entirely too much. You live under a strain that is sure to cause a nervous breakdown, and it would come the sooner if you did not have this relaxation, something to break the tension.

Thirdly, let him remember that you are taking your pleasure in great moderation and with great discretion. If you were running out every night to dances, he would have the right to object and to stop you if he could. So he would if you were neglecting your child and leaving him alone. Also, he would have a right to object if you were going out to dances with other men.

But as you go only once a week and with married friends, it seems to me that he should be glad for you to have this innocent pleasure and to have one night's pleasure to brighten your dull week.

When he is off on the road, you do not expect him to retire to his bedroom as soon as dinner is over and spend the long evening twiddling his thumbs why, then, should he expect you to put in all of your evenings that way? I'll venture to say he goes out seven nights a week instead of one and that none of them is spent any more innocently and harmlessly than yours at the dance.

Jealousy is a futile passion between husbands and wives, because in the end they are bound to trust each other. Any husband and any wife can be false or true under any environment. It all depends upon the honor of the individual.

Finally, tell your husband that if he can rise to the justice of granting you your one weekly dance without begrudging it and without argument that he will be repaid a thousandfold in your appreciation and affection.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I married a girl who has a blot on her past, but as I was the man involved, I thought it the right thing to do. I love her and we are very happy together, but one man knows the truth and keeps twitting me with it, and we have come to blows twice. What shall I do?—CONSTANT READER.

Answer—Why don't you move away to some place where no one will know your wife's story? That will be much better than to be fighting every one who talks about her. But in a little while people will forget. Scandals don't live now as they used to. There are too many new, exciting things happening in the world for people always to be threshing over old straw.

—DOROTHY DIX.

"Frightening" Death Appeal Is Made

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, June 12.—Thomas F. Whiteside, Jr., a lawyer of Houston, convicted in Harris county of causing the death of Rose, his wife, and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary, for homicide, has filed an appeal in the court of criminal appeals. The indictment charged Whiteside with "frightening and terrorizing" the young woman so as to cause her to jump out of a window, the effects of which she died on August 8, 1927.

White Is the Thing for Summer

By LUCY CLAIRE

White strikes a dominant note in summer fashions. Without at least one white, or white in combination, frock for summer you will be out of the picture. White is as important in the summer wardrobe as black is in the spring. You have probably noticed that the great majority of the new prints, both in silk and in woolens, have considerable white in their compositions. Summer flannels are one of the foremost materials in this line, and they are coming up very strong, indeed, for summer. The ensemble, carrying through the cape or scarf theme, the sports jacket and the ensemble are all interpreted in these new flannels.

Three of the newest models from the Garment Retailers of America recent fashion show are shown in the photographs. In each of them white predominates. The first is an ensemble of a softly colored floral print on a white ground, with its cape theme expressed in a very broad scarf lined with white silk. It is worn with a white felt hat, banded with a grosgrain ribbon matching the predominating color inthe design of the dress, and with one-strap white kid shoes. As the season advances, the white or ivory ki dahoe is taking preference over the white jade.

Sports Jacket Attractive

One of the most attractive of the new flannels is shown in the sports jacket in the center. This is a compose of blue stripes diagonally woven on a white ground, and the jacket is posed over a white crepe de chine frock. The white kid shoes accompanying this costume are subtly trimmed with narrow bands, almost pipings, of blue. The hat is of white with a blue ribbon band.

The third model exploits an ensemble in one of the new sweater stripe designs, with a dress posed under a white coat, trimmed with the stripe. This makes a rather stunning costume, worn with white kid shoes piped and trimmed in black, and a white hat banded in white.

White is still as popular as ever for evening wear, and will be more in vogue than ever in chiffons and the sheer materials at our fashionable summer resorts. Though at the moment some of the most charming models are developed in white moire and taffeta. White for active sports wear, like tennis, always has been in the lead, and, apparently always will be.

Cal to Leave On Vacation Today

WASHINGTON, June 12. (US) With Mrs. Coolidge rapidly recovering from her indisposition, plans went ahead at the White House today for departure of the presidential party for Wisconsin tomorrow.

White House physicians expressed the opinion that the first lady will be able to stand the journey to northern Wisconsin beginning tomorrow night.

She remained in bed today, gathering strength for the trip. Meanwhile, attaches at the White House finished their packing of office files and incidentals for the summer vacation at Cedar Island Lodge.

President Coolidge had no engagements for the day other than a meeting with Attorney General Sargent, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and R. E. Olds, assistant secretary of state. It was the regular cabinet meeting, minus most of the members, who are at the big show in Kansas City.

As usual the president received several hundred hand-shakers. He read the morning papers and went through a batch of mail.

Unity Club Honored at Clever Breakfast at Forum Tuesday

Members of the Unity club were guests of Mesdames Carrie Joline and Claude B. Woods, Tuesday morning, at a cleverly arranged breakfast at the Woman's Forum, when reports and impressions of the biennial of Women's Federated clubs in San Antonio were given by delegates.

A general description of the biennial was given by the following delegates: Mrs. Woods, Mrs. Joline, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan and Mrs. P. P. Langford. A report of the session in the work of the younger members was given by Misses Elizabeth Langford, Joline Woods, Eva Catherine Rayzor and Elizabeth Carrigan. The young ladies reported the junior department of the Woman's Forum as one of the most active such organizations in the country according to information gleaned from the junior department sessions attended.

The breakfast table was decorated in an unusual scheme, places being marked with clippings from San Antonio papers concerning the work of the biennial. The clippings, arranged cleverly to similate table decorations, also took the place in decorations usually afforded flowers. From these clippings, guests were given a clearer impression of the scope of work covered at the convention.

Guests were Mesdames G. D. Anderson, A. H. Carrigan, W. J. Daugherty, E. B. Gorsline, J. C. Hunt, J. A. Kemp, P. P. Langford, O. E. Maer, W. N. Maer, J. T. Montgomery, H. B. Patterson, W. M. Lynch, Carter McGregor, Marvin Smith and Misses Minnie Young, Elizabeth Langford, Elizabeth Carrigan, Joline Woods and Eva Catherine Rayzor.

WOMEN SEEK PLANK VOTES

But Steer for Men, Not The Ladies

By EMILY NEWELL BLAIR
Vice-Chairwoman Democratic National Committee
(Written Especially for Universal Service).
(Copyright, 1928 by Universal Service Inc.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—In addition to the ladies in the Republican convention looking on there are the ladies on the outside looking in.

I refer to the women here to present planks to the platform committees, a habit growing out of the custom of the sunffrage associations and W. C. T. U. of coming to the conventions of any and all political parties and asking an endorsement of their causes.

They will probably appear before the platform committee, making clever, brief and pointed speeches. They have already, doubtless, seen all the men known to be slated for the platform committee.

Leave Women Alone

But the interesting thing about them from the standpoint of a commentator on women in politics is that these women do not approach the women delegates. They do not seem to count on women votes. So far as one may see, their tactics would be the same were the suffrage still confined to men.

An alternative conclusion is that they act as a group of voters of similar interests or opinoins. In that case they are in a similar position to that of the farm associations which are approaching the platform committee for favorable consideration of special planks.

But look how different the situation is! Though the farmers move on the plaform committee with requests for hearings and with planks, candidates for the presidential nomination do not wait for them but announce in megaphonic voices planks and measures of their own offered to the farmer. Senators and congressmen are pleading their causes. And they are there themselves in the persons of delegates, senators and congressmen, aye and presidential candidates.

Say It With Votes

Of course it will be said that the agricultural situation is more grave and the cause of the farmer more direct in its appeal than the measures of the women, which does account in large measure for the difference in these tactics, a difference explained by the fact that the farmer brings with him the threat, at least, if not the practice of "saying it with votes."

Just before the convention opened an enormous luncheon was held at which stirring speeches were made by such women as Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith, Mrs. Bertha K. Landis, Mrs. Henry Peabody.

Wet Democrats and wet Republican candidates were excoriated while the audience applauded. Phophecies of dry Democratic and dry Republican candidates were made and the audience cheered. But no candidate was proclaimed and proved dry either by record or argument, although whenever Hoover's name was mentioned there was no doubt of the women's enthusiasm, if one may judge by volume or length of applause.

Can one imagine a farm organization applauding a candidate whose entire and whole position on farm relief was not known down to the equalization fee? This shows the difference between the farmers and the law enforcers. These women are in earnest. They want to say it with votes. But do they?

Convention Mere Sidelight When Style Show Opens

By CORINNE RICH
Universal Service.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12.—The season's most pretentious styles show opened here today.

Some called it the Republican national convention but the women knew what it really was to them.

You'd have thought a social affair of great importance was going on, the way those women were dressed up. From the galleries' top seats to the delegates on the floor, every woman there was apparently in her Sunday clothes.

But it was the boxes, circling the great open spaces in the middle, that best exhibited what the young women and the "older" women are wearing this June. There sat the richest and most influential feminine members of the Republican party, come to see and to be seen.

Visitors in the galleries craned their neck. They saw chiffons, satins, crepe de chines, tweeds. They discovered a predominance of black and white combinations of soft tans and browns, of dull colors in figures, of a dash here and there of royal purple or lavendar.

ELECTION ENDS BANKERS MEET

J. H. Read, Memphis, Is New President

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, June 12.—J. H. Read, vice president of the Hall County National bank, Memphis, was elected president of the Panhandle Bankers association in the closing session of the 24th annual convention of this organization in Memphis today.

J. C. Anderson, cashier of the First National bank, Plainview, was elected first vice president, with Martin Crews, active vice president, First National bank of Childress as second vice president. L. V. Steel of Dalhart was elected secretary, and Holman Kennedy, Clarendon, treasurer.

Childress was selected as the meeting place for the convention in 1929, winning over Amarillo, 32 to 15. Judge A. J. Fires spoke for Childress.

Governor Talks

The closing session of the association was opened by invocation by the Rev. Dr. Mallard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, after which the president introduced Clifford B. Jones, vice president and director of the Spur National bank who gave an address on "Interesting Phases on Early West Texas History." Following this address Lynn P. Talley, governor of the 11th Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, was introduced and made an address about stock exchange and speculation, and the service that is being rendered by the Federal Reserve bank.

In the report of the resolution committee some valuable recommendations were made, as follows: That banks should tighten up on exchanges, that the dairy program that is being outlined in the section have the hearty support of the bankers, and that Panhandle bankers should lend their support to getting additional transportation facilities.

The association voted to withdraw the posted bank awards for the arrest and killing of bank robbers. An old-time barbecue was given the bankers at Wayside park at 1 o'clock.

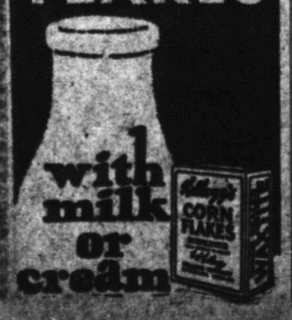

W. U. McCutchen of the First National bank, L. G. Stewart and H. H. Carson of the City National bank, early Tuesday night returned from Memphis, Texas, where they attended the two-day annual session of the Panhandle Bankers association. They reported a very beneficial meeting. More than 200 bankers of the Panhandle section and other points were present. Splendid programs, good music, plenty of eats, golf, dancing and auto rides were furnished by the local clearing house of Memphis, they said.

Political Pot Shots

by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

DR. SULLIVAN

"Stop Hoover," is the war cry of the diehards of Kansas City. "Stop Smith" will be the war cry of the diehards of the democrats at Houston. Dr. Mark Sullivan has pushed his face into the Kansas City picture. He has let it be known that Calvin Coolidge will not stand a draft. That Herbert Hoover will be the nominee. That all the rebellious corn and wheat belters will remain on the reservation and support the nominee. Dr. Sullivan, republican to the core, is the most adroit of all the publicity agents and propagandists of the G. O. P. Those who read when they think always know just how to interpret the writings of Dr. Mark.

PRICE OF PUBLICITY

Senator William B. Pine of Oklahoma has let it be known that Calvin Coolidge will accept the republican nomination if it is handed to him by the convention. Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire says that Calvin Coolidge would not touch the nomination any more than he would touch a dead mackerel sleeping in the sand on the coast of Rhode Island. Queer man, this Calvin Coolidge. Humorist Rogers admits it. Humorist Rogers has a $10,000 bet hung up with William Randolph Hearst that Coolidge will be the nominee. If Humorist Rogers has to pay the bet it will take from the Rogers till the net proceeds of ten lectures, but think of the million dollars publicity received by the humorist since he placed the wager. Advertising is the life of the humorist trade. Claremont Bill knows it.

OPTIMISM

Oh, pay no heed to doleful cries of woe,
That stern joy-killers always want to give:
"This life is futile; it is proven so!
Not worth the work required that one may live!"

We sometimes loath our sordid, plain old life,
As we survey our unattractive lot;
Still, tolerant, we plug on through the strife.
We'd rather keep on living life than not.

When next you meet a crying, whining soul,
Just ask him if he'd leave his paltry lot,
And sail from life toward undetermined goal.
He'd rather keep on living life than not!

—John Self Elliott.

DINNER STORIES

Exactly!

It happened during a class in military science, and it is doubtful whether the instructor has yet recovered from the shock. He had been lecturing on the effect of gunfire on marching troops.

"So, you see," he ended, "plopping a couple of shells down on the road, and raking it with gunfire, may not have much physical effect on the troops, but still it will badly damage their morale, their—er-r-r—well, that indefinable—"

"Yes, Captain," piped up a freshman from the back of the room, "we understand. You mean their 'It.'"

One-Minute Sermon

Yea, if thou criest after knowledge, and liftest up thy voice for understanding;
If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for hid treasures;
Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.—Proverbs, ii, 3-5.

Scholastic Population of Dallas

DALLAS school census listed 48,986 boys and girls of scholastic age. There was a total enrollment in the school last year of 47,635 students, showing an increase of 1,775 students this year over last. More white boys and girls were listed with the figure 20,547 boys against that of 20,026 girls. The opposite was true of the negro listing, the girls numbering 4,467 and the boys 3,946. Not many years ago the total population of Dallas was below the 48,000 figure. Growth of Texas cities and towns has been amazing.

Vacuum Cleaners by Air Mail

ALWAYS the course of daily events furnishes new testimony as to the popularity and service of the air mail.

A new line, connecting Albany, N. Y., with the main line of the transcontinental service at Cleveland, was opened the other day. The first westbound plane carried three tons of mail. Or, rather, it was supposed to; another plane had to be pressed into service to help take care of it all.

Here is a sample of the material it carried: A Cleveland retailer wanted two vacuum cleaners, made by an Albany firm, and it wanted them in a hurry. It wired Albany at 8:30 a. m. At noon the plane left Albany bearing the vacuum cleaners. That evening the Cleveland retailer had them.

Such things indicate the service performed by the air mail. Unless all signs fail, the work of aerial transportation and communication is going to increase mightily in the near future.

Pocket Veto a Nullifier

FORMER Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, recognized authority on the federal constitution and constitutional law, in an interview declared "the Muscle Shoals bill is dead by a pocket veto of President Coolidge."

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and other advocates of the farm relief measure contend that the president's failure to approve or disapprove the bill within the ten day period after adjournment has put the measure into effect.

It is conceded by many of the foremost constitutional authorities of the land that the pocket veto killed the Muscle Shoals measure as dead as a dead mackerel. Senator Norris, while in a sarcastic vein, made this comment:

"The failure of this bill may disappoint the American farmers interested in fertilizer. It may drive away from the administration candidate a large number of progressive, thinking citizens, but it will give money in unlimited profusion and enable us to win the election by controlling the political machines and sources of publicity."

Senator Norris is correct. There will be millions poured into the war chest of the Republican party by certain huge corporations not necessary to name at this writing.

Master minds dominate legislation to a great extent, and the master minds are the men who pull the invisible wires and name Republican standard bearers and draft the platforms on which they stand.

Business is business.

Progress Through Loss

ERICH GRAICHEN, a young German scientist, claims to have invented a machine that will "isolate and split" atoms.

He is primarily interested in finding something to cure cancer, and he believes his invention will do it; but he says that it can also be used as the most destructive war weapon ever known. It emanates rays that will kill any living thing they touch; if directed on a ton of coal, he adds, these rays would cause it to explode with a force of 90 billion horsepower.

He wants to build a bigger machine than the experimental model he is now working with, he continues, but is afraid to for fear it would wreck his laboratory and kill everybody in it.

In the absence of confirmatory reports, it is impossible to tell how much of his story is sober scientific fact and how much is pure brainstorm. The thing is interesting, however. Assume for the moment that his invention will do all he says; would it not be a strange, terrifying device to let loose on civilization?

A cure for cancer would be an unspeakable blessing. But suppose that the cure, if mismanaged, could blow physician, patient, hospital and city into cosmic dust; what then? Would we be willing to see it used?

As a matter of fact, nearly every great advance in civilization is a gift of that kind. Every great boon can be a curse if misused. The steam engine has made possible modern civilization, but in its early days it brought into being man-killing factories that made hopeless drudges out of thousands of men and women. The automobile is a great blessing, yet it kills more than 20,000 people a year on American highways. Even the printing press, which has done so much to enlighten humankind, has its drawbacks; has it not made possible the tabloid scandal sheet?

That, as it happens, is the way civilization makes progress. Men toil on from discovery to discovery; and each new weapon, forged for the service of humanity, is two-edged and proves destructive to the users until it can be properly managed. Nothing comes easily. We pay a great price for every step forward.

Assume that this German's machine actually is a practical, usable affair. As long as we keep our sanity it will be a splendid thing. But if we go to war it may wipe out civilization. Our salvation is strictly up to us.

So it is with everything. It is useless to blame our "machine civilization." The fault always lies with ourselves. If we are wise enough to handle our modern tools all will go well.

CHAPTER LII

After a short silence, during which the three of us remained speechless, the same feminine voice said in a loud, distinct tone: "No; nothing is the matter. I'm sorry. . . . Everything is all right . . . Please go home, and don't worry."

The needle had come to the end of the record. There was a slight click, and the automatic device shut off the motor. The almost terrifying silence that followed was broken by a sardonic chuckle from Vance.

"Well, old dear," he remarked languidly, as he strolled back into the living-room, "so much for your irrefutable facts!"

There came a loud knocking on the door and the officer on duty outside looked in with a startled face.

"It's all right," Markham informed him in a husky voice. "I'll call you when I want you."

Vance lay down on the davenport and took out another cigaret. Having lighted it, he stretched his arms far over his head and extended his legs, like a man in whom a powerful physical tension had suddenly relaxed.

"'Pon my soul, Markham, we've all been babes in the woods," he drawled. "An incontrovertible alibi—my word! If the law supposes that, as Mr Bumble said, the law is a ass, a idiot.—Oh, Sammy, Sammy, vy won't there a allebi! . . . Markham, I blush to admit it, but it's you and I who've been the unutterable asses."

Markham had been standing by the instrument like a man dazed, his eyes riveted hypnotically on the telltale record. Slowly he came into the room and threw himself wearily into a chair.

"Those precious facts of yours!" continued Vance. "Stripped of their carefully disguised appearance, what are they?—Spotswoode prepared a phonograph record—a simple enough task. Everyone makes 'em nowadays—"

"Yes. He told me he had a workshop at his home on Long Island where he tinkered a bit."

"He really didn't need it, y'know. But it facilitated things, no doubt. The voice on the record is merely his own in falsetto—better for the purpose than a woman's, for it's stronger and more penetrating.

"As for the label, he simply soaked it off of an ordn'ry record and pasted it on his own. He brought the lady several new records that night, and concealed this one among them.

"After the theater he enacted his gruesome little drama and then carefully set the stage so that the police would think it was a typical burglar's performance. When this had been done, he placed the record on the machine, set it going, and calmly walked out. He had placed the prayer-rug and bronze bowl on the cabinet of the machine to give the impression that the phonograph was rarely used.

"And the precaution worked, for no one thought of looking into it. Why should they? . . . Then he asked Jessup to call a taxicab—everything quite natural, y' see. While he was waiting for the car the needle reached the recorded screams. They were heard plainly, it was night, and the sounds carried distinctly. Moreover, being filtered through a wooden door, their phonographic timbre was well disguised. And, if you'll note, the enclosed horn is directed toward the door, not three feet away."

"But the synchronization of his questions and the answers on the record . . . ?"

"The simplest part of it. You remember Jessup told us that Spotswoode was standing with one arm on the switchboard when the screams were heard.

"He merely had his eye on his wrist watch. The moment he heard the cry, he calculated the intermission on the record, and put his question to the imagin'ry lady at just the right moment to receive the record's response.

"It was all carefully figured out beforehand; he no doubt rehearsed it in his labarat'ry. It was deuced simple, and practically proof against failure. The record is a large one—12-inch diameter, I should say—and it requires about five minutes for the needle to traverse it.

"By putting the screams at the end, he allowed himself ample time to get out and order a taxicab. When the car at last came, he rode direct to the Stuyvesant club, where he met Judge Redfern and played poker till 3. If he hadn't met the judge, rest assured he would have impressed his presence on some one else so as to have established an alibi.'

Markham shook his head gravely.

"Good God! No wonder he importuned me on every possible occasion to let him visit this apartment again. Such a damning piece of evidence as that record must have kept him awake at night."

"Still, I rather fancy that if I hadn't discovered it, he would have succeeded in getting possession of it as soon as your sergent-de-ville was removed.

"It was annoyin' to be unexpectedly barred from the apartment, but I doubt if it worried him much. He would have been on hand when the Canary's aunt took possession, and the retrieving of the record would have been comparatively easy. Of course the record constituted a hazard, but Spotswoode isn't the type who'd shy at a low bunker of that kind. No; the thing was planned scientifically enough. He was defeated by sheer accident."

"And Skeel?"

"He was another unfortunate circumstance. He was hiding in the closet there when Spotswoode and the lady came in at 11. It was Spotswoode whom he saw strangle his erstwhile amoureuse and rifle the apartment.

"Then, when Spotswoode went out, he came forth from hiding. He was probably looking down at the girl when the phonograph emitted its blood-chilling wails. . . . My word! Fancy being in a cold funk, gazing at a murdered woman, and then hearing piercing screams behind you! It was a bit too much even for the hardened Tony.

"I don't wonder he forgot all caution and put his hand on the table to steady himself. . . . And then came Spotswoode's voice through the door, and the record's answer. This must have puzzled Skeel. I imagine he thought for a moment he'd lost his reason.

"But pretty soon the significance of it dawned on him; and I can see him grinning to himself. Obviously he knew who the murderer was—it would not have been in keeping with his character had he failed to learn the identities of the Canary's admirers.

"And now there had fallen into his lap, like manna from heaven, the most perfect opportunity for blackmail that any such charmin' young gentleman could desire. He doubtless indulged himself with roseate visions of a life of opulence and ease at Spotswoode's expense. When Cleaver phoned a few minutes later, he merely said the lady was out, and then set to work planning his own departure."

"But I don't see why he didn't take the record with him."

"And remove from the scene of the crime the one piece of unanswerable evidence? . . . Bad strategy, Markham. If he himself had produced the record later, Spotswoode would simply have denied all knowledge of it, and accused the blackmailer of a plot.

"Oh, no; Skeel's only course was to leave it, and apply for an enormous settlement from Spotswoode at once. And I imagine that's what he did. Spotswoode no doubt gave him something on account and promised him the rest anon, hoping in the meantime to retrieve the record.

"When he failed to pay, Skeel phoned you and threatened to tell everything, thinking to spur Spotswoode to action. . . . Well, he spurred him—but not to the action desired. Spotswoode probably met him by appointment last Saturday night, ostensibly to hand over the money, but, instead, throttled the chap. Quite in keeping with his nature, don't y' know. . . . Stout fella, Spotswoode."

"The whole thing . . . it's amazing."

"I shouldn't say that, now. Spotswoode had an unpleasant task to perform, and he set about it in a cool, logical, forthright, businesslike manner. He had decided that his little Canary must die for his peace of mind; she'd probably made herself most annoyin'. So he arranged the date—like any judge passing sentence on a prisoner at the bar—and then proceeded to fabricate an alibi.

"Being something of a mechanic, he arranged a mechanical alibi. The device he chose was simple and obvious enough—no tortuosities or complications. And it would have succeeded but for what the insurance companies piously call an act of God.

"No one can foresee accidents, Markham; they wouldn't be accidental if one could. But Spotswoode certainly took every precaution that was humanly possible. It never occurred to him that you would thwart his every effort to return here and confiscate the record; and he couldn't anticipate my taste in music, nor know that I would seek solace in the tonal art.

"Furthermore, when one calls on a lady, one doesn't expect that another suitor is going to hide himself in the clothes press. It isn't done, don't y' know. . . . All in all, the poor johnny was beaten by a run of abominable luck."

"You overlook the fiendishness of the crime," Markham reproached him tartly.

"Don't be so confoundedly moral, old thing. Every one's a murderer, at heart. The person who has never felt a passionate hankering to kill some one is without emotions. And do you think it's ethics or theology that stays the average person from homicide? Dear, no! It's lack of courage—the fear of being found out, or haunted, or cursed with remorse.

"Observe with what delight the people en masse—to-wit, the state—put men to death, and then gloat over it in the newspapers. Nations declare war against one another on the slightest provocation, so they can, with immunity, vent their lust for slaughter. Spotswoode, I'd say, is merely a rational animal with the courage of his convictions."

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD.

NEW YORK, June 12.—New York may be the busiest city in the world, and New Yorkers the most sophisticated folks alive, but it is an easy place to collect a crowd. A broken-down auto long since ceased to be a curiosity in even Hazard, Ky., but it is a never failing source of interest on Broadway. A man applying gold leaf to lettering on a window is certain of an appreciative audience. Flapjack flippers in Childs' windows no longer have the powerful attraction they used to possess, but the appeal in the sight of men repairing shoes on machines or making cigars by hand in a window has not diminished.

Hawkers in fake auction rooms on Broadway and Sixth avenue are never without hearers, a few of whom ever seem to buy anything. Excavations until they reach the stage where everything is boarded up, are big displays. One contractor is thoughtful enough to make the top railings around excavations on Broadway of round unsplinterable wood, so that the "inspectors" are saved from injury. The other day traffic on both sidewalks on West Forty-second street was blocked by persons gazing at workmen using a sand blast machine to clean a building.

"Pitchmen," whose subtle harangues and dubious wares get little or no attention in Tulsa, Okla.; Ice, Oregon; Bald Knob, Mo.; Jackson, Miss., and Longnose, Maine, find themselves big attractions on Chambers street, New York, N. Y.

The explanation, of course, is that New York is the biggest small town on earth; and I do not set this down as an original discovery. Barnum found it out long ago.

In most towns, a banker or prominent businessman would be ashamed to be seen following a fire truck. But in New York captains of industry glory in being honorary firemen, in having fire alarm signals in their houses, and in racing after the salvage trucks.

Restaurants, night clubs and such naturally dislike for customers to bring in liquor. It's against the law, and besides it hurts the business of the house bootlegger. Various methods are tried to force customers to buy their drinks on the premises. One roadhouse owner has trained a dog to silently search under tables for liquor and carry off the bottles.

What do you want to know about New York? Ask C. K., 2260 Times building, New York, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.

Work on New Texas Air Center, Named For Plane Victim, To Start Soon

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 12.—"Randolph field," known as the West Point of the air and the world's biggest aviation center, will be laid out within the next few weeks, on the 2300-acre site secured for it by the army air service near Seguin, according to notice received here by those who were active in having the new military flying field named for the late Capt. J. D. Randolph of Austin.

The field, including purchase of a small part of the ground to be used in it, will cost approximately $12,000,000.

Training Center

It will be used as the training center for army aviators, taking over much of this activity from Kelly field. It will concentrate all military aeronautic activities of San Antonio, except those of Kelly field, and will give Texas the two largest military airports in the world.

The field has been named for Captain Randolph of Austin, through efforts of his friends and of the military authorities at Texas camps, and all the officers of Kelly field. Captain Randolph was adjutant of Kelly field at the time of his death a few months ago in a plane accident in central Texas.

Captain Randolph has a brother living here, Mrs. Merton L. Harris of Smithville is his sister. His widow, member of a prominent California family, announced, following Randolph's death, that she would make her future home in Austin.

PATIENTS' PAY IS AVAILABLE

Eleemosynary Heads May Use Emergency Funds

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, June 12.—Funds received by the heads of the various state eleemosynary institutions from pay patients may be used for support and maintenance and also for salaries in case of an emergency, it was held by the attorney general's department in an opinion to R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control.

The question arose over the inadequacy of the appropriation for the proper enforcement of the "9-54-hour law" for female employes of these institutions. The board wants these institutions to comply with the provisions of this law but the legislature failed to make sufficient appropriation to work three shifts of nurses, so an official ruling was requested from the attorney general's department. Under the ruling the board of control is authorized to use funds derived from pay patients to pay salaries of nurses as it is construed to be an emergency.

Provisions for the float were made at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Henrietta Chamber of Commerce. A large number of Henrietta folk are expected to attend the three-day convention.

NEW YORK, June 12. (AP)—Meetings are being held to bring about a curtailment of cotton mill production throughout the country during the holiday week of the Fourth of July. Burlaps were quiet. Raw silk has been bought freely by some mills since the decline began.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, billiousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical college back in 1875) he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many ills someone is sure to need it quickly.

Jennings Pool Scores Sixth Oil Producer

Special to The Record News.

COLEMAN, June 12.—A sixth well in the Jennings pool, seven miles southeast of Santa Anna, the No. 3-A Jennings, was developed during the fore part of this week by E. J. Cunningham, White, Simpson & Pinkerton and appeared to be the largest well yet drilled into the sand around 1170 feet.

Preparations were being made to shoot the well with hopes of completing the test for a 250-300 barrel daily pumper from the Fry sand. Production in the pool will likely reach near the 800-barrel daily figure when the No. 3-A Jennings is finally placed on the pump. In the same area, the Derby Oil company is drilling two tests offsetting production which will likely be into the sand before the end of the week, increasing the number of producers to eight if the sand is found.

KELLEHER-ANDREWS

Kelleher and others No. 1 W. L. Andrews, located in block 140, R. Carson survey, Archer county, has reached a depth of 1180 feet.

CONSOLIDATED-HAYTER

The Consolidated Oil company has encountered a sand at 1443 feet in its No. 1 W. O. Hayter test, located in section 2435, T. E. L. survey, Mezarzel area of Archer county, and may set casing to test.

WAGGONER FARM-WAGGONER

Waggoner Farm Oil company No. A-1 W. T. Waggoner, in section 5, block 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, Wilbarger county, has set and cemented the pipe on the sand at 1860-65 feet and will drill in the next few days. The well is an offset to the east of the Consolidated Oil company's No. 1, or discovery well in this pool.

FAIN-M'GAHA-ROXANA

Roxana-Fain-McGaha No. 1 L. F. Mathews, in section 2, G. C. S. F. survey, Foard county, has been abandoned as a dry hole at a total depth of 2550 feet. The well was formerly a producer from the sand at 1492 feet, and the first oil well completed in the county, but in an effort to kick up a deeper pay was drilled to the above depth.

HINES & STUMP-PERKINS

Harry Hines and E. J. Stump have made location for their No. 1 J. Perkins well in the northwest corner of block 13, and 300 feet east of the Arco No. 1, Denton county school lands, Archer county.

CONSOLIDATED-WAGGONER

The Consolidated Oil company is nearing the pay in its two wells drilling in section 5, block 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, Waggoner lands, in southeast Wilbarger, and should set pipe in the next 24 hours. No. 3, north of the discovery well, is drilling at 1835, and No. 2, located 300 feet west of the well, is drilling at 1750 feet.

G. B. OWENS' DRY HOLE

After drilling to a total depth of 2012 feet in his No. 1 J. A. Kemp and others test, located in J. R. Burrus survey, abstract 351, Wichita county, G. B. Owens and others decided to abandon as a dry hole.

ARCO OIL LOCATION

The Arco Oil company No. 1 J. J. Perkins has erected a steel derrick on the northeast corner of section 14, Denton county school lands, east of Holliday in north Archer county, and will offset the Hines-Stump, Wallace No. 1 producer to the south.

THIRD PETITION IN OIL CASE

Hutchinson Land Case Is Again Delayed

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, June 12.—Trial of the suit brought by Attorney General Claude Pollard against Phillips Petroleum company and others for recovery of 784 acres of oil land in Hutchinson county, and for an accounting of oil taken from it, was postponed from Monday until Tuesday morning, to permit defense attorneys to examine the third amended original petition, filed by the state Monday.

The state alleges illegal possession by the defendants of the oil rights on the land. An operating agreement was entered into last November whereby the operators would make reports of oil and gas taken, and of expenses incurred in operating on this tract, so that the decision of the trial could be based on the royalty value of oil and gas taken from the area.

The third amended petition asked that Gulf Production company, Phillips Production company, Marland Oil company of Texas, Devonian Oil company and Prairie Oil and Gas company be required to file operating reports as provided in the November order.

The suit asks judgment against the various defendants for the amount of net production, for all royalty money or the reasonable market value of all royalty oil, either held or paid by the defendants and for a writ of possession to the land in question.

The suit was brought by Attorney General Claude Pollard and Assistant Attorney General C. W. Trueheart.

PICTURES FLASHED FROM KANSAS CITY AS CONVENTION OPENS

LEADERS IN FIGHT AGAINST HOOVER

The anti-Hoover forces in Kansas City are both confident and jovial. Here is a group of them snapped as they emerged from a conference in the Kansas City Athletic club. In the picture can be seen Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Michael J. Tobin, Louis F. Glenn of Illinois, A. A. Lilly, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Lewis L. Emmerson, Henry W. Marshall and Dorothy Cunningham. How many can you identify?

THE FIRST POLITICAL CONVENTION IS ON

The first of the 1928 political conventions is under way at Kansas City, with the convening of the G. O. P. to select its presidential nominee. Above is a view of the entrance to Convention hall, where the Republicans will meet. Below are the three convention leaders—left to right, Senator Moses, slated to be permanent chairman; Lafayette Gleason, secretary of the Republican national committee, and Senator Fess, keynoter of the Convention.

THE LOWDEN FAMILY

FRIENDLY ENEMIES

Two rival candidates for the G. O. P. presidential nomination seem to be friendly enemies. At least, this exclusive NEA photo shows Frank O. Lowden shaking the hand of Senator Charles Curtis.

HOOVER'S SON

Allen Hoover, youngest son of Herbert Hoover, is one of the most interested spectators at the G. O. P. convention in Kansas City. Naturally, he is confident his dad will be nominated.

IT'S CARNIVAL TIME IN KANSAS CITY

THE HOOVER VAMPS

FARMERS WANT JUSTICE

M. J. Tobin, Republican farm leader of Vinton, Iowa, was making an emphatic speech about justice for the farmers when this NEA photo was snapped. He is working for a strong declaration in the platform on farm relief.

Hoover's 1 to 20 Edge Hurts Interest in Conclave, Runyon Says

ly he was sweating profusely.

They kept turning a battery of heavy lights on the platform for the news reel camera, and this light was so intense that Senator Fess came off with a nice sunburn. Mr. Mellon sat with arms folded, looking straight ahead, and one gathered from his attitude that he was not entirely surprised by Senator Fess' remarks.

The other delegates followed the senator's utterances with some interest, their heads necessarily tilted back against their collars from the angle at which the floor seats faced the little platform. Their faces were soon sparkling with beads of perspiration, for it was warm in the hall.

All Keys Keynote

Over the mass of 1089 men and women seated on the floor there was a steady, gentle motion, as the women fanned themselves. Occasionally they all lifted their hands from their laps to applaud some remark by Senator Fess that was obviously intended to draw applause. The keynoter was keynoting on all the old familiar keys.

The delegations sat under little placards indicating their states. Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, California, Maine and Oregon had the front line positions. From the rafters of the old building in which the Democrats nominated William Jennings Bryan in 1900, swung red, white and blue streamers, and rosettes, vaguely stirred by occasional little drafts of outside air that crept in through the windows and nets. Little gusts of tobacco smoke rose from some of the delegations on the floor now and then as rude Republicans disregarded the presence of the members of the fair sex. It's a good thing for these thoughtless delegates that William Muldoon wasn't present.

Proletariat Absent

The galleries played to scant business this morning, indicating that the proletariat of Kansas City has no more passion for walk-over races than the delegates. The way the sightseers remained away from the hall this morning was really astonishing. Business may pick up later.

As Senator Fess continued his keynoting, some of the delegates and spectators manifested a disposition to drowse. It was currently rumored that Mr. Mellon was catching a few winks. Certain it is that his eyes were closed as he sat there, but perhaps he was merely shutting out sight while he took cognizance of sound. Probably he was cudgeling his memory to recall when he had heard something like Senator Fess' remarks before.

"The senator is muffing some of the notes of the keynote," commented Mr. Eddie Roddan, a young man grown cold and calloused before his time by contact with national politics and who seemed to know what the senator ought to be saying. "He's left out some of the keys, too."

There was enough of the keynoting to make a few omissions welcome to the perspiring delegates, however. Senator Fess' white linen collar was showing signs of succumbing to the heat as he struggled on, and the veins of his forehead stood out angrily. He talked without notes, his hands hanging almost rigid at his sides. He had occasional reference to a glass of water that stood on the little black table in front of him.

Reporters Busy

The inmates of the press section scribbled away briskly, or punched persistently at noiseless typewriters as Senator Fess talked, though his speech was already in type) if not on the streets in printed form in every newspaper office in the land.

The literary lions, such as Will Rogers, the rope twirling paragrapher, seemed less occupied with the keynoting. Mr. Rogers sat with his chin in his hand, his eyes half closed. A light hum arose from his nostrils. I wouldn't say that Mr. Rogers was snoring, but it will do until a snore comes along.

Senator Fess finally awoke the delegates to real applause when he mentioned, with sonorous inflection, the name of Abraham Lincoln. Even Mr. Mellon opened his eyes and looked around brightly. Old Abe was looking down on the scene from a rafter behind Senator Fess, a sad expression in his eyes. Mr. Coolidge was peering coldly from another rafter nearby.

The name of Ulysses S. Grant also aroused some handclapping, and the name of William H. Taft was politely received.

"He's forgotten Roosevelt," whispered young Mr. Roddan, excitedly. But Senator Fess didn't forget Coolidge, and when he referred to "our illustrious leader in the White House," the delegates stood right up and began cheering and clapping. Senator Fess donned a pair of big horn rimmed specs and beamed out over the demonstration. I suppose it was a demonstration, though it didn't last over half a minute. Maine seemed to be making the most noise.

The senator now had reference to notes as he eulogized President Coolidge. When he spoke of him as the greatest personal and political force in the world today, the delegates again stood and began applauding while the motion picture men bathed them in a white hot glow. It wash shortly before 1 o'clock our time out here, which would be around 3 o'clock, New York time, when Senator Fess concluded, and it struck the casual observer that this was a moment for some one to step forward and shake him by the hand. No one did so. The senator just merely stepped back, dripping, and recognized Chairman Butler, who presented the recommendations of the committee for the femporary order of the convention.

Lafayette B. Gleason, of New York, a portly, pleasant looking man, with a pince nez delicately riding his fat and florid features, read these recommendations. Mr. Gleason is secretary of the convention. He wore a suit of clothes that turned to a brilliant blue under the klieg lights.

"What about Utah?" demanded a Nobody seemed to know what about Utah. The recommendations were adopted as read without fuss, voice, as Mr. Gleason read the list of temporary officers.

DRAMATICS ARE UNDER SURFACE

Fight On Hoover Takes Queer Twist

By MARK SULLIVAN

KANSAS CITY, June 12—Beneath the surface this has been one of the most dramatic conventions in history. The result was in doubt until the 40th man on the Pennsylvania delegation voted in their caucus to support Hoover next Thursday. As late as 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, one hour before the Pennsylvania delegation caucussed, it was confidently believed by the New York leaders opposing Hoover that they could still pull Secretary Mellon their way and that they could have 52 delegates out of the Pennsylvania delegation to vote against Hoover. Had they been able to do that at that time they would have been able to hold the result in suspense until the balloting and might have prevented Hoover from winning.

The fight was New York against Hoover, with the corn belt farmers providing privates for the anti-Hoover army. The generals of the fight against Hoover were Charles Hilles, head of the Republican organization in New York state; Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, New York, and ex-Senator James W. Wadsworth of the same state. They fought with extreme determination, with great energy, and up to the last moment with conspicuous success. They held 62 out of New York's 90 delegates as a compact body against Hoover.

As late as 5 o'clock Monday afternoon they conspicuously defeated and humiliated the Hoover element in their delegation by denying them places on the committees and otherwise "rolling" them. That flaunting gesture of defiance and success was designed to impress Secretary Mellon, just then arriving in Kansas City, and indeed Mellon might well have been impressed by it.

Ironically most of the privates in the army commanded by these New York anti-Hoover leaders were the delegates from such dry states, and states so sympathetic to New York interests as Iowa, Indiana, Kansas and the Dakotas.

PRAYER OPENS G. O. P. CIRCUS

Bishop S. S. Partridge Delivers Message

KANSAS CITY, June 12. (AP)—Here is the text of the prayer with which Bishop S. S. Partridge of the Kansas City diocese of the Episcopal church, opened the Republican national convention.

"Almighty and Everlasting God, our Father in the Heavens. We, Thy children, come now into Thy presence, and reverently bow our heads as we approach Thy throne.

"By Thy mighty aid was this nation first established, and under Thy guiding hand it hath continued to this day.

"Each passing year bespeaks our deeper dependence upon Thy overflowing providence and fills our hearts with gratitude for Thy gracious mercy to this, our native land.

"We invoke Thy benediction upon the purposes and deliberations of those who are gathered here.

"May the spirit of the truest and noblest patriotism animate and control us all.

"Lift us above every tie serving a mercenary motive and save us from all selfish and unworthy ends.

"Help us in every word and deed to show ourselves true and loyal citizens and thus be worthy of the priceless heritage bequeathed unto us by our fathers.

"May our consultation be peaceful and harmonious, and in the bestowal of position and honor may our choice fall upon those of unquestioned honesty, integrity, purity and loyalty.

"Uphold us in all measures that shall minister for the highest good of the people and the advancement of justice, liberty and truth throughout the world.

"Grant us, we beseech Thee, that this great assembly, from first to last, be actuated by the noblest sentiments and principles that shall exalt and advance the nation, and tend to the advancement of purity and justice and truth throughout the land.

"These and all else, we humbly ask, in he name of Christ, the Redeemer and Savior of the world.

"Amen."

Democratic Year If Singing Will Win, Baer Avers

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER
Copyright 1928, By Universal Service

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—Convention was called to order by Butler, who should have known better.

Then the disorder began.

The singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" was led by Schumann-Heink with nobody following.

If singing will save the country it looks like a Democratic year.

Senator Fess was elected temporary chairman and made the keyhole speech.

After listening for an hour we realized why Coolidge vetoes so many senatorial debates.

Judge Landis is in town supporting the rural relief bill. The judge says the Boston outfield makes him a farmer.

And putting their badges outside the door to be shined.

Nobody can claim to know what is going on.

Looks like the farmers had to stay home to prevent the neighbor's cattle from taking a straw vote on his hay.

Teddy Roosevelt Jr., ran around the convention.

But couldn't find any politician of junior size.

The convention was opened with a flashlight picture. We saw the proof and it made the affair look like a convention of Lon Chaneys.

After having wasted Tuesday the convention adjourned until Wednesday.

Before Senator Fess gets started talking again we hope that they pass that national flood control bill.

A convention is a game where everybody gets on base.

And nobody scores.

Not one of them seemed to know that Henry Ford is making a new car.

HOOVER QUIET ON HIS PLANS

But Talks to Leaders Over Telephone

By CLINTON COFFIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 12. (AP)—Secretary Hoover was precipitated today unexpectedly into the turmoil of an actual political campaign with the sudden emergence of his probable nomination for the presidency.

From the moment intent of the Pennsylvania delegation to support him was announced, the secretary's private offices in the commerce department were inundated. The telephone wires were jammed and a small host of newspapermen assembled in the anteroom.

Still Silent

Nevertheless, the pressure failed to break the self-imposed silence as to politics which has been followed by Mr. Hoover for weeks.

It was made clear that Mr. Hoover accepted the fact of his nomination as assured and that he and his intimates today threw themselves into the mapping out of further plans and campaign arrangements. Notwithstanding, Mr. Hoover would give out no word as to his views on the platform, upon the selection of a vice-presidential candidate or any other political topics.

Wires Busy

What he is to say on those subjects was transmitted into the long distance telephone held constantly open between his office and the Kansas City headquarters of his supporters. Mr. Hoover sat behind his big flat-toed desk all through the day with the telephone to the convention city in use most of the time.

Three Recruits Here Admitted to Navy

Wilbur Ash, Call field, Clarence Geneo, 408 Lamar avenue, and John D. Singletary of Amarillo have passed the final examination for enlistment in the U. S. navy and have been sent to the U. S. training school at San Diego, according to information received Tuesday by A. F. Clayton, local recruiting officer. The three recruits complete the June quota for the Wichita Falls station.

VETS SMASH PEACE PLANS

Kellogg's War Outlawry Voted Down

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 12. (UP)—A move to have the Republican convention commend the administration for Secretary of State Kellogg's war outlawry proposals was sidetracked today by some 150 war veterans, delegates in a platform caucus.

After a heated interchange in which doubt was raised as to the efficacy of Kellogg's plan, the veterans voted merely to ask the convention to go on record as commending the administration for "its efforts toward world peace."

Immediately Brigadier General Henry J. Reilly, Chicago delegate, objected.

"We don't know anything about the Kellogg proposal," he said, "except that what other nations propose to sign is quite different from what America asks them to sign.

Changes Wording

"Let us not commend the proposal until we know it won't turn out as disappointingly for us as did the Washington disarmament conference."

Three other veterans opposed the Sullivan resolution, and Sullivan then consented to the changed wording.

The veterans approved a suggested plank of Representative Fish of New York, for employment of war veterans in civil service posts from which they are now barred by physical disability.

They adopted a resolution by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt calling for continued development of American air forces, maintenance of a skeleton army capable of expansion in war time, and United States parity with great Britain on the sea.

Two resolutions for drafting capital and industry as well as manpower during war were favored. They were given to war veterans on the platform committee to reconcile and support as a single plank.

DUNLAP TIRE SHOP TO OPEN

Bradley and Harris To Be Local Distributors

Wichita Falls' newest tire store, the Pioneer Tire company, 811 Tenth street, formally opens for business Thursday, June 14. The store has been appointed retail and wholesale distributor for Dunlop tires.

The new company is owned and operated by I. M. Bradley and Drummond Harris, both well known Wichita Falls men. Mr. Bradley has been actively engaged in the oil business for the past eight years and is well and favorably known with the oil fraternity, and was at one time distributor for Pierce Arrow automobiles. Mr. Harris is a Wichita Falls product, having lived here for 25 years, educated in the public schools of the city and took active part in all athletic events. He was a member of the famous 1922-23 high school football team. For the past two years he has been actively engaged in the tire business, associated with the Panhandle Tire company, and for the past eight months has been located in Vernon, Texas. He is thoroughly familiar with every phase of the tire industry.

The new company selected Dunlop owing to its large distribution and being one of the largest and oldest rubber companies in the world, and selling tires in every country on the globe.

On display in the show window of the organization is one of the original Dunlop tires that Major Segrave used on his famous 1000-horse power Sunbeam races when he broke the world's speed record of 203.8 miles per hour at Daytona Beach, March 29, 1927. This tire was especially developed and manufactured in England.

Messrs. Bradley and Harris are well pleased with the present outlook of business and look forward to a wonderful success with Dunlop.

Nationalists Victorious In Capture of City

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The flag of the victorious nationalists was raised above the city of Tientsin today as the northern troops under command of Generals Chang Tsung Chang and Chu Pu withdrew before approaching Shansi divisions.

Clarence E. Gauss, American consul at Tientsin, today advised the state department that some fighting had occurred in the native section but that the city had been taken over without serious difficulty.

WEST BUILDS BETTER ROADS

Tom Green County Road Improvement Starts

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, June 12.—Developments that are being made toward improvement of the highways in this section indicate that within a few years Southwest Texas roads will be on a parity with the best to be found anywhere.

David H. Ryan, of San Diego, California, who was awarded the contract for paving 15½ miles of the Petroleum Highway, northeast from San Angelo to the Runnels county line, is here making plans for the work, and expects actual construction to start early in July. The pavement will be concrete, 18 feet wide and with six-foot dirt shoulders on each side, making the roadbed 30 feet wide.

John T. Mathison, county judge of Tom Green county and president of Highway Nine association, and Claude C. Wild, chairman of the executive committee of the association, attended a road conference at Brady at which plans were discussed for a $2,000,000 road improvement program in that county, which would be carried out by the voting of bonds and securing of state and federal aid.

Money is already available for the paving of the Petroleum Highway in Tom Green county, from San Angelo west to the Irion county line, and a bond issue to provide for the paving of the highway in that county has been proposed. Other counties traversed by the Petroleum Highway which has its western terminus at Presido, on the Rio Grande, propose voting bonds for paving the road.

School Architecture Service Installed

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, June 12—Establishment of a division of school architecture in the state department to render free service to the smaller school districts of the state, beginning September 1, was announced by Prof. S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction.

"This today was made possible through the generosity of the general education board of New York," said Superintendent Marrs. "On my return from Boston early in March where I attended a meeting of the council of state superintendents called upon Dr. Wycliffe Rose, president of the general education board in New York and as a result of the interview, the board at a recent meeting, made a sufficient appropriation to finance the division for a period of three years, at the end of which time I believe, the legislature will recognize its importance and make adequate appropriations for its support. Personnel of the division and details of administration will be announced later.

A 62% GAIN on top of 26 MILLION DUNLOPS

LAST month, the American public bought 62% more Dunlops than last May.

This gain is on top of the fact that over 26 million Dunlops were running at the beginning of the year.

These simple facts explain why:

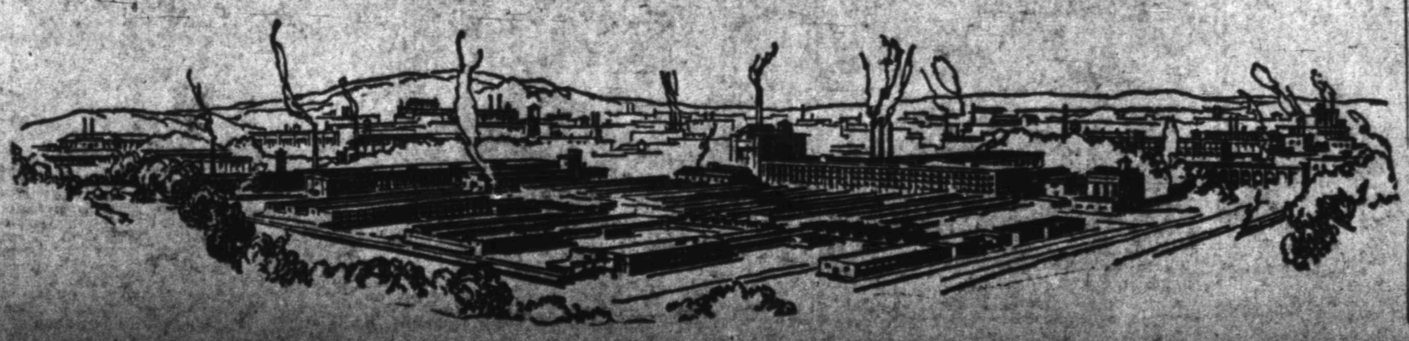

Dunlop's 40 years of experience...$195,000,000 resources...vast rubber plantations...great spinning mills and mammoth tire factories on every continent of the world...These are Dunlop's advantages in tire-making, unequalled by any other manufacturer.

If you will but believe that which all Dunlop users know—your next tires will be Dunlops.

"DUNLOP CITY"

Supreme in quality for 40 years, Dunlop has grown until its productive properties—if combined in one place—would form a vast "Dunlop City" of over 100,000 acres.

Wichita Falls' Newest Tire Store

Pioneer Tire Co.

811 TENTH STREET

The New Home of

DUNLOP TIRES

We have been appointed distributors for DUNLOP TIRES, the product of the world's greatest tire-building experience; for Dunlop is known all over the universe. We studied and considered the distribution of a number of standard make tires and after careful and diligent research we concluded that DUNLOP better fitted the requirements and gives more dollar for dollar value than any tire on the market. Dunlop is not a new adventure—it is one of the oldest tires in the world.

Powerful Dunlop Facts!!

DUNLOP is the founder of the pneumatic tire industry.

DUNLOP is selling in every country of the world—dominating the markets of most.

DUNLOP has great factories in all five continents.

DUNLOP owns over 200,000 spindles, engaged day and night in producing famous cable-twist cord. (Ask a cotton man what that means.)

DUNLOP consumes forty thousand tons of rubber a year; owns and operates one hundred thousand acres of rubber lands in the tropics, employing approximately 15,000 people in this work alone.

DUNLOP has sixty thousand dealers all over the world who swing open their doors every morning to service Dunlop tires in every continent on the globe.

DUNLOP has the benefit of the best engineering minds from all the world's greatest tire producing centers.

DUNLOP'S financial resources rank Dunlop among the world's greatest Industrial Enterprises. Cash dividends paid to common stockholders probably not equaled by any other tire manufacturer in the world.

DUNLOP was requested by Major Segrave, pilot of the famous 1000-horsepower Sunbeam racer, to develop the tires on which he made his thrilling speed record of 203.8 miles per hour at Daytona Beach, March 29, 1927; breaking the previous world's record of 174.8 by Malcolm Campbell, also on Dunlop Tires.

DUNLOP'S great Buffalo plant with its powerful manufacturing facilities, its cool process water direct from the Great Lakes, its low cost electric power from Niagara's mighty falls and its thirty-five acres of actual floor space on two hundred and fourteen acres of Dunlop land—form the foundation for the manufacture of A VAST PERCENTAGE OF AMERICA'S TIRES.

DUNLOP'S policies which are necessary to maintain this great enterprise and to protect its enormous investments of labor and capital provide the automatic insurance that its products must be of positive dominating quality—and Dunlop's President makes this personal pledge to users of its products and to its stockholders: "The policy of this company is to build each Dunlop Tire as carefully as if Dunlop's 39 years' supremacy had to stand or fall on the record of that single tire."

THEREFORE, is it any wonder that there are twenty-eight million, thirty-two thousand, one hundred and forty-six Dunlop Tires of all types actually running now on the highways of the world? (Based on a two-year life.)

A complete stock of all sizes is carried. We want you to call around. Let your next Tires be Dunlop.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to
FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By OLIVE BORDEN

OLIVE BORDEN

Try as she might Olive Borden could not land a job in the movies because the studio officials claimed, after numerous tests, that she didn't have a "movie" face.

Then one day an extra girl gave Olive a tip on make-up, and, presto, Olive possessed just the type of beauty which photographs well. And that is no make-up story, either.

"Three Bad Men" lifted Miss Borden to a permanent place in the movie constellation. Following that picture Olive was seen in "Fig Leaves." Recently she played in "Pajamas" with Lawrence Gray.

"I went over to the house of a friend of mine the other day," Olive told me, "and there I heard what I believe is the world's funniest true remark. This friend—a well-known movie actress—has a little 5-year-old girl who is the cutest thing you ever saw.

"When I reached the house the little girl was lying in bed crying because she was sick and the doctor had just said that she must be operated on for appendicitis.

" 'Don't cry honey,' the doctor was saying, consolingly, 'you'll be asleep and it won't hurt a bit.'

" 'I know it won't hurt me,' the child replied, 'but it'll leave a nasty scar!'

" 'But it won't show,' laughed the doctor. 'That is, it won't be where any one can see it.' Still the child wept.

" 'How can you say that,' she asked, 'when the fashions of ladies dresses change so quickly? Besides, when I get big I want to be a movie actress like mamma.' "

The Framework of the Body

The main difference in the appearance of people is produced by the shape of their bodily framework. If the bones were removed from a person's body, the flesh would fall into a shapeless mass very much as a tent falls down when the poles which support it are removed.

During infancy and childhood the bones are flexible and easily bent. As a child becomes older, the cartilage out of which the bones are first formed becomes filled with a lime substance and thereby becomes hard and brittle. After this hardening has occurred, it is exceedingly difficult to change the shape of the bones without breaking them. For this reason, babies and children often sustain falls without serious injury which would completely disable an adult.

The positons of the body are controlled by the muscles which move the bones. It has been found that many children develop slight curvature of the spine from carrying their books habitually with the same arm, or from sitting at desks that are either too high or too low. The clothing of children may likewise interfere with the proper development of the bone. This is sometimes caused by tight belts, tight hats, and tight shoes. We all remember seeing pictures of Chinese women who had their feet bound as babies.

Special care should be taken that children form the habit of carrying their bodies erect while the bones are hardening. The shape of these bones may be altered to some extent until about the age of 25.

When a bone is broken, the broken ends are soon covered with a jelly-like cement. In a few days this begins to harden, and it is very important that the broken bone be held in its correct position until this hardening process has been completed. A physician should be called to set the broken bone. If it is necessary to move the individual before the physician arrives, a pillow or blanket should be tied around the limb, and then boards or canes tied around the outside to keep it straight. If this is not done, there is danger of the powerful muscles pulling the two ends of the bone past each other, ripping through the muscles, blood vessels, and nerves which surround it, and making a very serious, complicated fracture which is difficult to heal.

When the bones slip out of their sockets we have a dislocation. In some people, these joint sockets are very shallow, and the bones may be dislocated without breaking the ligaments. With most people, some of the ligaments are torn at the time of dislocation, inducing a very painful joint. A dislocated bone must be put back into its place and kept there until the ligaments are firmly reestablished. In some joints, such as the finger, it is possible for the average person to stretch the joint and allow it to slip back into its proper place, but usually a physician should set the more important joints.

In sprains, some of the ligaments or fibres are broken or torn loose. Both dislocated and sprained joints should be bathed in either hot or cold water or, better still, in hot and cold water alternately. This keeps down the swelling and reduces the pain.

A dislocated or sprained joint joint should not be kept entirely at rest. Lightly exercising it, even though painful, keeps up a good circulation thorugh the part, and this carries away the congested blood and dead tissues, hastening the healing process.

Once a dislocation has taken place, it is very easy for that joint to slip out of its normal position again.

Questions and Answers

QUESTION: H. V. writes: "I have a friend who, three years ago, was in a sanfatrium for tuberculosis. She has been home for three years and is a frequent visitor in my home. She has a habit of kissing my children. She claims she is cured, but do you think there is danger to the children or to myself in having this lady visit us?"

ANSWER: Authorities now claim that only one out of one hundred is susceptible to tuberculosis through kissing. As ten out of every hundred deaths are from tuberculosis, it is apparent that there is some other more important cases. Keep your children strong and healthy by proper care, and they need not fear infection from any source.

QUESTION: Mrs. D. H. J. asks: "Are onions, kidneys, and liver harmful foods? If not, what is the particular usefulness of each?"

ANSWER: The onions are too gassy, and kidneys and liver have their best use while in the living body of the animal.

QUESTION: Constant Reader asks: "What causes a young man to take cold so easily, and to be troubled with boils. Tonsils and adenoids removed a year ago. Has good appetite, sleeps well, but does not gain weight and always has a pale, sallow color. If this means a rundown condition, what tonic would be advisable?"

ANSWER: Do not repend upon the removal of tonsils and adenoids to cure boils. The toxic cause of the boils and the enlarged tonsils is the same. The sallow color will disappear as soon as the blood stream is thoroughly cleansed of waste matter. A bodily housecleaning is what this young man needs, and not a "tonic." I will be glad to send an article called "A Cleansing Diet" if you will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Weather Report Lists Wheat Crop Damage

TOPEKA, Kan., June 12. (UP)—Excessive rains accompanied by wind and hail, raised havoc over limited areas in McPherson, Clark, Barber and Pratt counties in the wheat fields, the weekly crop report of the board of agriculture said today.

"Some improvement was noted in the north central counties, little change in the southwest, and marked deterioration on central and south counties," the report said in referring to the condition of the wheat crop.

Corn in northern counties was aided by the rains although bottom land corn was damaged in southern counties. Oats, heading on short stalks, will yield a light crop. Many fields are infested with smut in the southeast, the report says.

A VIEW OF THE NEW FRITZ MOTOR CO. USED CAR LOT

Not just car dealers but automobile merchants selling new and used Motor Transportation

The old days of swapping horses are past. Likewise are the evil practices of used car trading rapidly drawing to a close. The public today is motorwise. Today the used car purchaser considers the integrity of the dealer before making a used car purchase and buys from the merchant whom he knows will willingly and publicly back the used car he has for sale. Just as in a new car the car merchant has only so many miles of unused mileage to sell. But they must be satisfactory miles for the used car buyer—if fooled at all, can only be fooled once. That the new and used car customers of the Fritz Motor Company are satisfied with their investments is evidenced by the many letters received from owners of the cars we sell, a few of which are reprinted on this page.

Every member of the Fritz Motor Company is proud of the growth of our business, proud of the fact that forty-five people find employment here and that forty-five families find in our business a means of livelihood. Such an accomplishment would not be possible if we lost sight of the fact that our customers are entitled to a square deal in every transaction — new and used car.

SPUDDERS TAKE NIGHTCAP, 8-6, AFTER LOSING OPENER, 5-4

RALLY IN FINAL EARNS VICTORY

Cobb Saves Game; Hard Hiting Marks Pastime

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 12. After dropping the opener by the close score of 5 to 4 the Spudders captured the nightcap today, 8 to 6. Trailing 2 to 6 in the seventh and last inning the champions fell upon the offerings of Marty Griffin, drove him off the hill and before Burns could stop the swatting had tallied six runs.

The first game was a free-hitting affair, in which the Cats hammered George Payne, who went all the way, for 14 blows. The Spudders batted Johns and Burns for 15 hits.

Benton and Swenson led the Spudder attack, each macing three hits. Freitag was the batting leader of the game with four knocks in as many trips to the plate.

Roetz Hits Homer

Ed Roetz's home run with a comrade on base started the seventh inning rally that won the final for the Spudders, and Turgeon climaxed it with a hit that drove home the last two and decisive tallies.

Lamb banged three hits and Jenkins two in this encounter. Holland and Bonowitz also each maced a brace of blows.

Herb Cobb went to the rescue in the first inning after Cvengros had yielded three runs and two hits with only one out, and after giving up another run in that round and two tallies in the second, settled down and showed some efficient chucking.

The Spudders made only one error in the 16 innings.

Cats Start Scoring

Holland and Freitag started the second inning of the opener with singles. Bonowitz fanned. Kibbie singled to right but Eldred threw out Holland at the plate. Smith walked. Johns doubled to center, scoring Freitag and Kibbie.

The Cats added two more in the third. After one was out Richardson and Holland doubled, the former scoring. Freitag singled to right, Holland tallying.

The Spudders counted three in the fourth. Eldred walked but was forced at second by Jenkins. Swenson singled to center, Jenkins going to third when Moore fumbled. Stanton filed to Holland, Jenkins scoring. Lapan also singled, Payne also singled, scoring Swenson and sending Lapan to third. Benton hit to center, Lapan scoring.

Williams' men tied in the sixth when Lapan doubled and scored on Benton's triple.

—Fort Worth won in the eighth. Kibbie and Smith singled. Horace going to third. Moore's single to right scored Kibbie.

Spudders "Come Back"

The Spudders scored twice in the first inning of the nightcap. Benton beat out an infield hit and went to second when Freitag threw wild. Benton was out at third on Turgeon's grounder to Freitag. Lamb singled to right, Turgeon going to third. Lamb stole second. Eldred singled to center, scoring Turgeon and Lamb.

The Atzmen, however, came back with four tallies in their half. Moore walked, LaFayette fanned. Benton booted Richardson's roller, Holland singled over second, filling the bases. Freitag tripled down the third base line, scoring Moore, Richardson and Holland. Cobb relieved Cvengros. Bonowitz doubled, scoring Freitag.

Fort Worth counted two more in the second. Moore made an infield hit and LaFayette walked. Richardson grounded to Turgeon, Moore scoring and LaFayette going to second. Holland singled to right, scoring LaFayette.

The clubs batted runless into the seventh when the Spuds tallied six and won. Lamb walked. Roetz hit over the left field wall, scoring Lamb ahead of him. Jenkins singled. Kibbie kicked Swenson's grounder. Stanton sacrificed, J. Cobb singled to left, scoring Jenkins and Swenson. Burns relieved Griffin. Herb Cobb lined to Moore. Holland muffed Benton's liner, J. Cobb going to third. Benton stole second. Turgeon singled to left, scoring J. Cobb and Benton.

New York Boxing Interest Wanes

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, June 12. (UP)—A marked decline in the profits of fisticuffs this spring led today to a move of retrenchment on the part of the usually indefatigable optimist, Tex Rickard.

Admitting that the interest of the cash customers of the cauliflower trade is falling off at an alarming rate, the promoter announced the transfer of the light heavyweight championship bout between Tommy Loughran and Jimmy Slattery from Yankee stadium to Madison Square garden.

Rickard gave as one of his reasons for the change the uncertain weather of the current month.

Tex Fears Attendance

The thing Tex fears is not bad weather, but bad attendance. He moves the Loughran-Slattery fight, scheduled for June 28, from a ball park seating 70,000 to an arena holding not more than 20,000 because he believes the latter figure more nearly represents the probable attendance at the championship match.

Tex will promote no more outdoor shows until the heavyweight championship match between Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney, upon which he intends to concentrate all his attention. He will take sports writers to Fairhaven on his new and palatial ocean-going yacht this week to show them Tom, the challenger, start training.

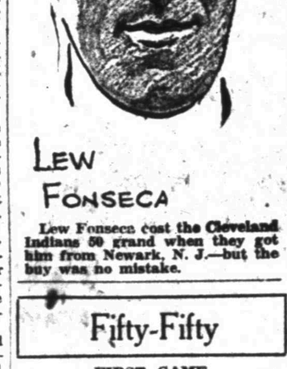

Rickard gave as his reason for cancelling all further outdoor shows until after the title fight the fact that he has to pay 10 per cent of his profits to the owners of Yankee stadium whenever he holds a bout there. This and the "uncertain weather" were advanced by the promoter as excuses for shifting the Loughran-Slattery business indoors.

Fugazy Losing Money

Meanwhile, Rickard's rival, Humbert Fugazy, continues optimistic over the prospect of making money with outdoor boxing shows. Senor Fugazy's optimism is a trifle forced, of course, for he has no indoor arena. He has some very nice plans for one costing $12,000,000 on the lower west side of Manhattan, but thus far the scrape of steam shovels has not disturbed the neighborhood.

Fugazy has been losing money hand over fist this spring, putting on shows at "popular prices."

About Amateurs

The last postponed game of the Panhandle Longhorns is scheduled to be played Thursday afternoon with James Brothers Creamery. A victory means the first half championship in the Twilight league for the Longhorns, and a loss means a tie with Texas Electrics for first place.

Dimock plumbers' victory Monday over the Producers gave the Katy a cinch on the City league first half.

The Railroaders have played good baseball since the first of the season and so far they have only one loss marked against them.

Panhandle Longhorns have annexed a new third baseman, Dusty Rhodes, from Texas university.

Rhodes should strengthen the team considerably. He played good ball through his school days with Oak Cliff High school and with Texas university for the last two years.

Archie Wommack, the long talked of pitcher who was to be imported by Texas Electrics in the Twilight league, appeared on the scene Tuesday afternoon against James Brothers and delivered the goods for the Kilowatts. Archie hails from Beaumont and tried out with Corsicana in the Lone Star loop during spring training.

The new hurler is a right hander and seems to have plenty to put on the ball. He held the hard hitting Milkmen to five hits, and three runs, struck out six and walked three.

Bill Andree, local amateur pitcher who has been working in the right field for the Electrics all season, returned to the mound Sunday in a practice clash with Clara and hurled an excellent game. Bill will probably perform on the mound some during this half.

Jack Sharkey to Fight 'Ferocious' Leo Gates in Jaunt to St. Louis

Bostonian Makes First Trek to Hinterlands, and Barnstormers of Former Days Are Recalled

KANSAS CITY, June 12.—A halt in St. Louis between trains the other day gave opportunity for a brief investigation into sport conditions in that entrancing city.

I here reveal, not in the nature of a public scandal, but just as an item of passing interest, the fact that the terrible Sharkey man of Boston is to make his first appearance this side of the Mississippi river in St. Louis on June 19.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

I AM FOLLOWING with what I hope is pardonable pride the excellent work of Otis Brannon, the youthful second baseman of the St. Louis Browns. I note recently that he hit home runs in three consecutive days and that the other day had "three for three," in addition to playing a smart defensive game. It seems that Brannon has definitely "arrived" as a star, or at least a regular in the big leagues, as has his running mate, the even more youthful Ralph Kress, who plays shortstop for the Browns.

◆ ◆ ◆

BRANNON IS a graduate from Tulsa of the Western league. I was sports editor last summer of a newspaper in that Oklahoma town and it became my duty to travel on the road with the Oilers of Tulsa, as well as to view their games at home. It was not very interesting, that job, as the Oilers were out in front from the first game and won their league championship as handily as the Spudders captured the Texas league gonfalon. So I became more imbued with the idea of helping some of the lads go up than in chronicling the routine story of another victory by something like 20 to 9 over one of the other clubs.

◆ ◆ ◆

I seized upon the idea that Brannon was the best prospect in the Western league. This was greeted with some derision by my readers. They pointed out the very truthful fact that Brannon was hitting little more than .300. Now a .300 batting average means nothing in the Western league and if one doesn't hit that figure he has a hard time holding a job. But I noted that Brannon was that sort of hitter who will hit them ANYWHERE; that is he meets the ball hard, sending out those harsh grounders and liners and not looping flies that are homers in small parks but outs in big league fields. Too, I noted that in the pinch the second baseman was about the most dependable hitter of that mighty-macing Oiler tribe. I wrote pieces along that line all summer, and in December sent one to that effect to The Sporting News, Mr. J. G. Taylor Spink's very excellent baseball paper on which that inimitable lyricist, L. H. Addington, who used to work in this town, is employed.

AFTER THE WESTERN league season was over the Browns took Kress and Guy Sturdy and Red Bennett, an outfielder, and George Blaeholder, a pitcher, all fine players and who are doing their part in the remarkable rise of the remade ball club, from the the Tulsa club. During the National association meeting at Dallas, Bill Friel, Mr. Phil Ball's wise man and noted teller of stories, also decided to give Brannon a chance. Well, my ball player has made good. I didn't cause the Browns to give Brannon a trial. But the young man himself told me last fall that he owed a lot to my confidence in him; and that WHEN he got his chance he would make good and that this humble writer would be largely responsible for it.

THIS LONG DISSERTATION on a player over whom possibly there is not a great deal of interest here isn't prompted by any particular reason. But as with every theatrical manager there always is the hope of discovering another Bernhardt, as a fight manager always is looking for a Dempsey, so anyone holding connection with baseball always is on the lookout for a potential major leaguer. It is thus that I "point with pride" to the fact that Brannon has delivered.

World Swimming Record Falls at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12. (UP) Another world's record was broken here today in the closing events of the national swimming championships and Olympic games trials when Clarence Crabbe of Honolulu swam 880 yards in 10 minutes 29 1-5 seconds.

It was the fourth world record to be broken in the four-day water carnival and the second by Crabbe. The Hawaiian star lowered the mark for the one-mile swim the first day, while Johnnie Weissmuller of Chicago lowered the mark for the 100-meter dash and the Illinois Athletic club's relay team cut more than two seconds from the record for the 880-yard four-man relay.

WOMEN COMPETE IN OLYMPICS DESPITE POPE'S DISAPPROVAL

GIRLS TRAINING FOR CONTESTS

European Ladies to Present Formidable Teams

By HENRY CAVENDISH
Universal Service Special Wireless

ROME, June 12. (US)—The opening of the Olympic games at Amsterdam will be made the occasion for a new tirade against participation by women in athletic contests by Pope Pius, Universal Service learns today. Speedy signornas, hurdling mademoiselles, high jumping American misses, and husky fraulein shot putters will be told through the official vatican journal, the Osservatore Romano, that the Holy Father sternly disapproves of their unladylike activities.

The anti-feminist attack will come on the occasion of the first time in history when girls have participated in the track and field events of the Olympiad. It is understood the attack will be launched during the first days of the formal opening of the Olympics when both masculine and feminine athletes take the Olympic oath of honor and stage their mass parade demonstration.

Discourages Modernists

The forthcoming papal attack is a continuation of the Holy Father's policy of discouraging the modernist wave of feminine participation in competitive athletic contets. On the occasion a short time ago of the "first national athletic and gymnastic competition of fascist girls," staged under the permission of Premier Mussolini, the pope attacked the games in a stinging letter sent to Cardinal Pompelli, vicar of Rome. At that time the pope said:

"It is impossible not to approve everything giving agility, grace, health and strength to the body provided it avoids everything irreconcilable with womanly reserve and does not constitute an incentive to vanity or violence. If woman's hand is to be lifted we hope and pray it may be lifted only in prayer or for acts of beneficence."

U. S. Hard to Beat

In spite of the pope's frowning attitude nearly all European countries are planning to send strong teams of woman athletes to compete in the games at Amsterdam, and the advance word is that the fair American girls will be hard to beat. Germany and England are generally favored here as having the best chance of coming out victorious among the nations of Europe. England is favored in the race with Misses Edwards and Tricey, while the German feminine speed merchants include Fraulein Junkers, Frau Raedek-Batschauer, and Fraulein Spangenberg. The French best bet is Mademoiselle Radeau.

In the jumps, Fraulein Helma Notte, Fraulein Eva Von Bredow, and Fraulein Bonnetsmiller, all of Germany, are generally favored as winners. Haline Koonopacka, of Poland, is the woman world record holder among discus throwers.

POPE TO HEAR FLORES REPORT

Archbishop to Present Mexican Situation

ROME, June 12. (US)—A sacred consistorial congregation, under the presidency of Pope Pius, will shortly consider the 2083 page report submitted to the vatican by Archbishop Ruiz Flores on the Mexican situation. Cardinal de Lai, secretary of the sacred consistorial congregation; Cardinals Merry del Val, Gasparri, Bisleti, and 15 others will be called together to study the report.

The archbishop will be heard as counsel for the Mexican Episcopate. Monsignors Filippe and Crespi, former vatican delegates to Mexico, and other of the vatican's diplomatic personalities, will be questioned by the congregation.

The pope and the cardinals are expected to draw up a resolution regarding the situation in Mexico. In an exclusive interview, a member of the congregation told Universal Service:

"The vatican maintains its well known attitude that there can be no agreement reached without the assurance of religious liberty. The vatican does not in any way incite faithful Mexicans against the government and does not wish to see any bloody solution. The church only desires to gain freedom of conscience under the Calles government."

Latzo to Face Lomski Tonight

Leo Favored in 10-Round Battle at Brooklyn

NEW YORK, June 12. (UP)—Instead of finding the light-heavyweight champion, Tommy Loughran, opposite him in the Ebbets field boxing ring Wednesday night, Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen, Wash., assassin, will face Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., a persistent fellow who gave Loughran a close call 12 days ago, in a 10-round light heavyweight match.

Lomski signed to meet Loughran, but the bout was postponed when the New York state athletic commission ruled that the 178-pound king must meet Jimmy Slattery before he engaged the Aberdeen boxer.

Latzo, former welterweight champion, who is pounding at the light heavyweight throne room now, readily agreed to take on Lomski.

The winner will get a chance at Walker's crown July 4, provided the Elizabeth, N. J., champion defeats Ace Hudkins in their forthcoming title bout at Chicago.

Latzo and Lomski completed training today, the former weighing 170 and the latter 167. Lomski is a favorite in the betting.

FLAG RAISING

Ceremonies for Spudder Occasion Friday Are Announced

Plans for ceremonies Friday for the raising of 1927 Texas league and Dixie championships, won last year by the Spudders, were announced last night by Secretary Guy Airey of the Wichita Falls ball club. The ceremonies will start at 3:30 o'clock and will be featured by the address of prominent local citizen, in which the significance and the winning of the gonfalons will be retold.

A band will play during the ceremonies and the game, in which the Spudders open a four day home stand with the Dallas Steers. It is planned to have a military flag raising, with some army unit aiding in the flag raising.

J. Doak Roberts, president of the Texas league, has indicated he will attend.

SINGH WINNER IN TWO FALLS

Hindu Beats Johnny Carlin With Rabbit Punches

Basanta Singh took two straight falls in the main event from Johnny Carlin Tuesday night in the main event of Alec B. Ross weekly wrestling card at the Gym, 608 Scott avenue, in 29 minutes of wrestling with continuous punches on Carlin's carbuncle, on the back of his head.

It was agreed before the match that rabbit punches would not be used but after a few minutes in the ring, Carlin began to use them on the Hindu. After Carlin had hit Basanta about ten times and after the Hindu had protested vainly to Promoter Ross he turned on his opponent and sent him to the mat.

Again, after the second fall had started, Carlin resorted to the rabbit punch and again Singh sent him squirming to the canvas to win the decisive fall in five minutes.

Teddy was conceded the only fall after 24 minutes of wrestling when he put the Greek on the floor with a toe-hold.

Everybody's Friend and the Line Bucker

By GEORGE ADE

In a sequestered Dump lived two Urchins, Edgar and Rufus, who went to the Post with about an equal Handicap.

They got away together down the broad Avenue of Hope which leads one Lad over the Hills and far away to the United States Senate Chamber and guides another unerringly to the Federal Pen near Leavenworth, Kansas.

When Edgar was a Tootsey he received a frequent dusting with Extreme Violet Talcum Powder.

About the same time Rufus was propped up to look at Pictures of Napoleon and John L. Sullivan and Sitting Bull.

At School each was a trifle Dumb.

If Edgar fell down on an Exam, his Relatives would call a Mass Meeting to express Regrets and hang Crape all over the Place.

If Rufus got balled up in his Answers, his immediate King would pat him on the Back and tell him he was right and the Textbook was wrong.

Edgar would emerge from the Feathers every morning to find his Parents all lined up to wish him a new set of Police Regulations.

They held up the Rigid Forefinger and warned him that he was merely a Grain of Dust and a Weakling and a poor juvenile Mutt whose Mission in Life was to Lie Down and Behave.

Rufus would be aroused each Sunrise by a full Military Band of 60 Pieces playing "Hail to the Chief who in Triumph Advances."

Whenever Edgar was forced into a Battle and came home smeared and disarranged his Mother would go to her Room and Cry softly and Father would paint a vivid Word-Picture of a Wretch standing on the Gallows with a Black Cap over his Head.

Then Edgar would crawl to the Hay Mow and brood over his Moral Infirmities and try in a groping way to figure out his Relation to Things in General.

But when Rufus appeared all dripping with Gore, his Seconds would cool him out and rub him with Witch Hazel and pin Medals on him.

No wonder he became as pugnacious as U. S. Grant, as conceited as a Successful Business Man and as self-assured as a Chautauqua Lecturer.

Every one disliked him intensely. But just the same, they stepped off into the Mud and gave him the entire double width of Cement Sidewalk.

Edgar, on the other hand, was one of the most popular Door-Mats that ever had "Welcome" marked up and down his Spinal Column.

All those who scratched Matches on him and used him as a Combination Hall Tree and Hitching Post used to remark that he didn't have an Enemy in the World.

They had corraled his Goat, so he had to play the Part himself.

It had been dinged into him that True Politeness means to wait until every one else has been Served and then murmur a few Thanks for the Leavings.

Besides, his Parents had convinced him that if he went Fishing he wouldn't get a Nibble, and if he climbed a Tree he would fall and break his Leg, and if he tried to manipulate more than Two Dollars at one time, he would go Blind.

Therefore, when both were in College, Rufus acted as stunning Half-Back, with Blue Smoke coming from his Nostrils, and achieved the undying Distinction of being singled out by Walter Camp.

Edgar sat up on the Bleachers with 2800 other Mere Students and lent a quavering Tenor to a Song about Alma Mater.

Even the Undergrads could not take the Tuck out of Rufus.

He was fresher than Green Paint and his Work was Raw but he was so Resilient that no one could pin him to the Mat and keep him there.

When a Boy has been told 877 times a Day for many Years that he is the Principal Feature of the Landscape, it takes more than ordinary Doctoring to Cure him.

He left College thoroughly convinced that the World was his oyster and that he had an Opener in every Pocket.

He began grabbing Public Service Utilities by Strong-Arm methods, whereupon a lot of Uplifters became excited and wanted some one else to head him off.

He put things Across because, when he tucked the Ball under his Arm and began to dig for the Goal of his Immediate Ambition, all the Friends of Public Weal were scared Blue and retired behind the Ropes.

Edgar took his Degree out into the Cold World and began to make Apologetic Inquiries regarding Humble Employment which would involve no Responsibilities.

He became an Office Lawyer of the dull gray Variety with a special Aptitude for drawing up Leases and examining Abstracts.

He could not face a Jury or fight a Case because the fond Parents had put the Indian Signs on him and robbed him of all his Grimp.

But a Nice Fellow?

You know it!

Any one who had a Book to sell, or a Petition to be signed, or a Note that needed endorsing came dashing right into Edgar's Office and hailed him as the Champion Patsy Bolivar.

Not one of these ever ventured into the Lair of the Street Railway Czar, for he knew that Rufus might jump over the Mahogany Table and bite him in the Arm.

Even Edgar, when he made a Business Call on Boyhood Friend and Loving Classmate, was permitted to wait in the Outer Room, resting his Hat on his Knees, and mingling on terms of Equality with the modish Typist and the scornful Secretary.

And when they went away to look at some Properties, Rufus took the Stateroom while Edgar drew an Upper.

Every one at the Club referred to Edgar as a Good Scout, but when all the Push gathered at the Round Table and some one let fall the Name of the High-Binder, they would open up on Rufus and Pan him to a Whisper.

Then Rufus would enter in his Fur Coat, upsetting Furniture and Servants as he swept through the Lounging Room.

Immediately there would be an Epidemic of Goose Pimples and a Rush to shake Hands with him.

Rufus was sinfully Rich, but nevertheless Detestable, because his Family had drilled into him the low-down Habit of getting the Jump on the Other Fellow.

Edgar may live in a Rented House, but he will always have the inward Satisfaction of knowing that he is a sweet and courteous Gentleman with Pink Underwear and a Masonic Charm in his Watch Chain.

When Edgar answers the Call, the Preacher will speak briefly from the Text, "Blessed are the Meek."

If the Death Angel succeeds in pulling down Rufus the same Minister will find a suggestion for his Remarks in those inspiring Words, "I have fought the Good Fight."

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 12. (AP)—Several bearish influences led by selling to force a reaction were responsible for a decline of $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today after prices had advanced in the morning trading. The sharp afternoon decline carried October down from 20.07 to 19.57, 50 points off from the high. A last minute flurry of covering by satisfied shorts caused the delivery to close at 19.69, a net loss of 34 points for the day. The general market closed steady 33 to 35 points net down.

Liverpool cables were one penny lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 7 to 10 points. Failure of the western storm to reach the cotton belt promoted some selling in early trading which carried July off to 20.13 and October and December to 19.90, or 12 to 15 points net down. Trade buying developed later being stimulated by prospects for unsettled weather over the belt and July recovered to 20.39, October to 20.07 and December to 20.04, or 14 to 17 points above the lows and 1 to 4 points over the previous close.

Shorts began active selling to force a reaction. This feeling was accentuated by the political uncertainty, weakness in stocks and smaller sales of cotton textiles during May.

Satisfied shorts covered in the final trading and prices recovered 12 points of the loss, July closing at 19.95, and December 19.67.

All Groups On Stock Exchange Go Down and Banks Call More Loans

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, June 12.—Banks called more loans, tightening up the money market, and influencing avalanche of liquidation that closed all groups lower on the stock exchange, in the most active session in history today. Radio lost over 23 points, American International over 6, General Motors more than 4, while other recent favorites lost to an equal extent. The tape fell close to two hours behind by the close as the total turnover reached 5,250,640 shares.

It was 4:43 before recording of round lots was finished and 4:56 when the last odd-lot quotation appeared.

A fitful rally was enjoyed in the early hours as rather definite advices were received that Hoover would be the Republican nominee.

Loans are Called

Then the banks called $15,000,000 loans with further calls threatened and a heavy wave of profit-taking started the list on the toboggan again. Call money held at 6 per cent throughout but was tightening as the day progressed with a 6½ per cent rate indicated at the close. Wheat and other grains were heavily sold while cotton slipped lower as liquidation induced by weather reports continued. Foreign exchange turned irregular, with sterling dipping fractionally.

Heavy selling that broke out as the banks called loans demonstrated quite clearly that money is the dominant market influence. It will remain so until the federal reserve effects the correction of brokers' loans it desires. With the big midmonth turnover of funds scheduled for Friday and the huge-mid-year interest and dividend disbursements a fortnight thereafter, the reserve is in a position to bring about such result to better advantage than at any time during the year.

Due to Adjustment

The calling of loans today, was largely due to the adjustment with the reserve bank as of the close of business. The next few days will witness the banks preparing for payments on the new treasury certificates while next week the checks for income tax payments will go through.

So there is little reason to hope for anything more than momentary easing in call rates for the next few weeks and there would be no surprise if the rate advanced to 8 per cent or higher before the nearby operations are concluded.

The street accepted indications of Secretary Hoover's nomination as bullish, although there was considerable disappointment in many quarters where hope had reigned that President Coolidge could be persuaded to run again. General sentiment was that the nomination of Hoover meant the continuance of Coolidge policies and therefore was bullish on the stock market in as far as "long bull prospects" were concerned, in that it was thought to indicate a more lively political fight. However, it was not thought to be sufficient to offset the bearish effect of the changed money conditions.

Rally Fails

"Buy on reaction" the usual advice of many brokers and practically all "tipsters" was instrumental in catching quite a large public participation in the break. For every four or five times such advice proves profitable there is always the one time when the rally fails to hold that it quickly wipes out margins of the small speculator. The influence of such advice was enhanced by the widespread rumor of "Durant interests buying Steel and General Motors." Steel was given better support than other standard industrials in the subsequent crash but it also closed net lower as even many of those who are bullish on it for the long pull have stepped aside until the federal reserve accomplishes the desired correction of brokers' loans.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, June 12.—Wheat, probably weakened again by short covering that caused a rally of a cent from the bottom at the end of today's session, showed a net loss of between 2 and 3c for the day. Corn held.

At the close wheat was down 2¼c to 2⅝c; corn was ⅛c lower to ⅝c higher; oats were ⅛c to 1⅛c off; rye was down 2⅛c to 2½c.

At the end the wheat market looked to be in just about the same shape it was in at the close on Monday—technically weak, with no prospect of any news to stimulate buying.

The market opened sharply lower—as much as 2c—and worked gradually downward through the price of the bids. Buying against these privileges and short covering, furnished the only real support the market appeared to get.

As a result, although the market closed lower and has had a big break from the top, it does not seem to have been strengthened by the readjustment in prices. There appears to be no short interest to speak of. Bears are afraid to stay short.

Corn held in a remarkable manner today, but its strength seemed to be due entirely to the speculative situation in the nearby futures. If holders of July corn contracts stand to take delivery, that future can sell very much higher.

But who knows what the holders of July contracts will do?

Corn looks too dangerous a market to me at present to trade in. The prospects for the new crop are altogether too brilliant to be ignored. On the other hand, the cash situation and determined hanging on in the July future by the holders of contracts in that night offset new crop prospects for a time.

In the cash market wheat was 1¼c to 2½c lower; corn was unchanged to ⅛c higher; oats were firm; rye was quiet; barley was steady.

Produce and Cotton Prices Take Slump

Cotton took a nose dive on local markets Tuesday, dropping off 20 to 25 points. Wheat continued to come in slowly, maintaining a stationary price of $1.20 on No. 1. Oats were unchanged.

Produce prices dropped all along the line. Onions, with the Laredo district cleared of its last crop, and with Asherton, Crystal City and the Winter Garden district flooding the market, dropped to $1 on Bermudas and $1.50 on the crystal wax. Cabbage, tomatoes, cantaloupes and bananas also declined in price.

DALLAS WINS WALTHER MEET

Modern Dancing Scored By Convention

Selection of Dallas, Texas, as the convention city for 1929, adoption of a motion to postpone for a year all discussion of the proposed division of the Lone Star district, and completion of the major sectional conferences brought the three-day convention of the Lone Star district of the Walther league to a close here late Tuesday afternoon. The meetings of the convention were held at the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Dallas was unopposed in the selection of the next convention center.

Committee Named

The motion to table discussion of district division passed by a unanimous vote when the subject was first introduced. The meeting provided that a committee chosen from the executive board at San Antonio should study the feasibility of the division, and report to the membership of the 1929 convention.

The hospice committee conference, in charge of the Rev. W. F. Klintworth, Dallas, heard reports developing that during the past year 6000 strangers had been received in membership by the church, 15,000 had been given lodging in hospice homes, and 1200 were given employment. The administration committee conference, led by the Rev. A. O. Rast and the Rev. J. W. Behnken, both of Houston, and W. R. Kramer, retiring president of the district, defined work of the societies and their officers.

The Rev. G. H. Biar, Waco, was named head of a committee to investigate possibilities for maintaining four summer conference camps during 1929. The committee in his charge will also propose sites for the encampments.

Condemn Dancing

The Walther league convention, in its convention here, authorized an increase of 50 per cent in the budget for annual expenditures, it was reported Tuesday. The increase, it was explained, was necessitated in a new apportionment of delegates to the national convention at Milwaukee, Wis., in July; and the establishment of a new organ, the "Spotlight," in Waco, for the publication of convention reports and league matter. Delegates to the national convention, under the new apportionment, will be chosen from each of the eight zones in the state, contrary to previous regulations which provided selection of only a limited number from the state at large.

Modern dancing was condemned as "repulsive, degrading, destructive of morality, sinful, and far reaching in its influence for evil," in resolutions adopted by a rising and enthusiastic vote as the feature of the morning session Tuesday. Disposing of this, the delegates heard an address on "Being a Christian Every Day," by the Rev. A. Kretzmann, international representative, and the annual treasurer's report of H. G. Kleb of Houston.

Frank Wilson, National Umpire, Dies Suddenly

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—Frank Wilson, National league umpire, died of appendicitis at Victory hospital in Brooklyn today after a brief illness. Wilson was stricken and operated upon last Friday and progressed well until last night when he suffered a relapse.

WHAT TO DO WHEN TONGUE IS COATED

Alabama Tells How She Heeds Warning Signs by Taking Pinch of Black-Draught. Says Relief Follows.

MOBILE, Ala.—In thousands of homes a package of Thedford's Black-Draught is regarded as an indispensable article in the family medicine cabinet. Mrs. Alafair Howard, of 8 Harris street, this city, tells below what she thinks about this well-known remedy:

"I have found Black-Draught to be an excellent medicine," says Mrs. Howard. "I have used it in my home, whenever I have needed a laxative.

"I am the mother of several children, and it is necessary to keep a medicine in the house which can be depended upon to quickly relieve constipation. Whenever my children complain of headache, or upset stomach, or if they show signs of taking cold, I begin giving them Black-Draught, as I have found that it clears the system and removes the cause of the trouble.

"Occasionally, I have sick headache and spells of indigestion. Then I take Black-Draught, myself. When I get up in the morning, and my tongue is coated and rough, I know it is a sign of trouble. A pinch of Black-Draught, three times a day, is all I need to regulate this.

"I have found it so handy to keep, and easy to take, that it has come to be our family stand-by. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught to other people, for it has been a great help to me."

Today At the Theaters

MAJESTIC: Phyllis Haver in "Chicago." Fables. Topics. Paramount news.

STRAND: "Sorrell and Son" with all star cast. Vitaphone, (talking motion pictures): Brown and Whitaker in "In the Park," and The Revelers, Victor recording artists.

OYMPIC: Laura La Plante in "Finders Keepers." Mermaid comedy.

GEM: "The Riding Renegade." Serial. Comedy.

GARDEN: Milton Sills in "The Valley of the Giants." Western comedy.

A couple of weeks ago the concession on tickets to the Monday night meetings of the city council meeting was asked for by the writer of this theater column. The idea was that it is always wild entertainment with frequent comedies. The program is never announced, and sometimes, like the movies, it is dull and uninteresting. Monday night's fireworks came a little before the Fourth of July, but they were quite good at that.

◇ ◇ ◇

And some folks have just been crowding around the old Underwood to say that "Sorrell and Son" at the Strand is a mighty good show. One young lady said it moved her to tears and that she considered it a most powerful play. That's from the public, and is but one of many similar reactions to the great picture.

◇ ◇ ◇

A great talking motion picture starring Dolores Costello and Conrad Nagel, "Tenderloin" is coming to the Strand Friday. It's a story of love, hate and life with words spoke and music played throughout on the vitaphone. When the police grill the innocent girl, when the cops nab Rose of the tenderloin as an accomplice in the sensational bank robbery, when the crooks attempt to wreak vengeance on Chuck White who is determined to reform for the sake of the girl who has suffered for him, and when excitement and thrills pile up quickly into one great climax, the play approaches the greatest heights ever reached by a motion picture, according to New York critics where the play is now running.

◇ ◇ ◇

Mary Roberts Rhinehart, famous for many books and plays, has given to the world another masterpiece of love and fun in "Finders Keepers," now playing at the Olympic.

◇ ◇ ◇

She betrayed her husband, and slew her "angel," then laughed at the law, and—what do you think happened? You see she was a handsome thing, and you know what usually happens when they get in the tight places. Phyllis Haver is the jazz crazed wife and the show is "Chicago" now at the Majestic. Don't miss it.

◇ ◇ ◇

Charlie Moorehead, manager of the Olympic, comes to bat again to emphasize the fact that the prices at the theater are lower than they used to be, and that a summertime rate policy of 25 cents all over the house at all times is in effect for adults. Kids 12 and under are on the dime list.

Child, Struck By Auto Escapes Serious Hurt

LaVerne Askins, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Askins, 1323 North Third street, suffered severe bruises about the head when struck by an automobile at the Third street entrance to Scotland park about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The driver of the automobile rushed the child to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. Examination failed to reveal any serious injuries, and the child was removed to his home.

HOSPITAL COST IS $96,256.13

Audit Report Shows Cash Balance of $3848

The cost of operating the Wichita county hospital for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1928 was $96,256.13 according to the audit by Smith, Allred and Lambert, certified public accountants, in their annual report submitted to the city of Wichita Falls Tuesday.

Recommendations were made suggesting the adoption of duplicate receipts for control of cash receipts. This was said to be "an aid in keeping records and safeguarding both the institution and the employes.

"A complete system of records has not been maintained at the hospital," the report continued, "due probably to the many changes in the personnel. We understand that a general ledger is to be placed in service and a trial balance taken each month. We heartily commend this plan."

The report was signed for the auditing company by Lowell E. Nichols and carried an appreciation of treatment received by all persons contacted in making the audit.

A balance of $3,848.81 was carried forward to the present fiscal year which started April 1.

The total income of the hospital was listed as follows:

Balance from Mar. 31 1927	3,501.36
From hospital sources	60,476.06
From Wichita Falls city	18,002.64
From Wichita county	18,002.64
Bank interest on daily balances	122.24
Total	$100,104.94

Traffic Regulations and Accidents Draw Fire at Ad Club Meeting

Traffic regulations of the city of Wichita Falls were assailed by members of the Advertising club at a luncheon Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel. The entire program was devoted to a discussion of work of the safety council and to means of avoiding traffic accidents.

J. W. Pyland, who lead the safety discussion, lamented the fact that overtime parking draws as heavy a fine in corporation court as does running a stop sign. Mr. Pyland also pointed to the fact that a number of children under 16 years of age are being allowed to drive automobiles in Wichita Falls.

"Since we met last week," Mr. Pyland said, "two persons have been killed in automobile accidents here. We can't eliminate all such accidents, but we can keep teaching the public and help a little."

T. A. Bradley scored the inefficiency in the regulation of headlights and censured the practice of discontinuing the traffic lights downtown at 10 o'clock.

"The lights are turned off," he declared, "at an hour when hundreds of people are leaving the theaters."

A. E. Kelly and T. C. Scott also made short talks on ways of educating people to carefulness. Work of the local safety council and the "Just Kids Safety club" was praised by W. S. Abbott.

Special Federal Court Session To Close Refinery Receivership

Receivership affairs of the American Refining company will be finally disposed of here in a special term of federal district court called for 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 20, by Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas, it was learned here Tuesday.

Judge Atwell advised that he will also be prepared to receive pleas of guilty in criminal cases. The term probably will not last beyond the end of the week, it was said.

The special term for consideration of the affairs of the receivership of the refining company follows sale several weeks ago of assets of the company at public auction. The assets were purchased by the creditors' committee, with a bid of $2,250,000.

RUSSIANS IN CONCERT HERE

Phillips U. Quartet at First Christian Church

A quartet of brothers will appear in a full evening of music, instrumental and vocal, at the First Christian church at 8 o'clock Wednesday night.

The four brothers, Paul, Walter, Slava and Eugene Prokanoff, escaped from Russia when their native land fell into the hands of the Bolshevik element. They came to America after suffering extreme hardship and danger. They entered Phillips university at Enid, Okla., to prepare themselves for Christian leadership back in Russia.

They are said to be talented musicians and have always pleased their audiences whether in a theater or a church. They are on their way to the world's Sunday school convention in Los Angeles, where they will represent their native country in the program.

They will appear in Wichita Falls under the auspices of the junior board of First Christian church. No admission is charged and the public is invited, according to announcement Tuesday.

Strand Rushes New Ventilation System

Installation of the new ventilation system at the Strand theater is being rushed that it may be in readiness for the opening of the new Vitaphone feature, "Tenderloin," at the Strand Friday night if possible, according to announcements made Tuesday night by Hans Smith, manager of the theater.

The central portion of the system is a gigantic new fan which is being placed on the roof. It is twice as large as the one serving the Majestic, and patrons of that house know how cool it is.

The system being installed draws in air from above the roof, high above the dirt and dust of the streets, and washes it with an especially cooled water almost freezing.

Mr. Smith said that when the system is completed, he expects the Strand to be the coolest theater in this part of the country.

Two New Scholarships For College Donated

Two more scholarships were announced Tuesday for the Wichita Falls Junior college. One was given by W. M. McGregor and the other by Mr. and Mrs. John Hirschi. No reservations were attached to either scholarship, the awards being left to the discretion of the board of education.

Others who have given scholarships include: The Kiwanis club, W. B. Chauncey, W. B. McClurkan and company, W. M. Moore and J. J. Perkins.

$225 Damage in Two Fires Tuesday Night

Two fires in Wichita Falls caused damage estimated by fire department officials at $225 Tuesday night.

Shortly after 8 o'clock an automobile belonging to the Southern Bus company, parked near the Union station, caught fire and was damaged slightly before it was extinguished.

A toll of about $200 was taken by a fire in the boiler room of the Wichita Falls Southern railroad shops near Call field about 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

City Law Eight Years Old Gets First Test in Court Session

Five men, arrested on charges of "blocking the sidewalk," tried in corporation court before Judge W. L. Bass, were convicted and fined $1 each Tuesday afternoon and an ordinance of the City of Wichita Falls, dormant since its passage late in 1920, survived its first test.

The men were "picked up" by police officers after merchants on the north side of Seventh street near Indiana avenue had protested against "the loafers hanging around" their establishments, Chief of Police Frank Burns said.

"This loafing on the corner of Indiana and Seventh street has been going on for the past 10 or 15 years," Chief Burns said. "Since there is an ordinance prohibiting it and since the merchants are protesting against it, I feel that the loafing should be stopped."

Last week two men from the corner in question were tried on vagrancy charges. The first trial resulted in a hung jury. A second trial released the men.

All in a Word

KANSAS CITY, June 12. (US)—The situation tonight regarding the work of the Republican national convention is as follows:

Herbert Hoover will be nominated on the first ballot for President.

On the roll call the vote of some states will first be cast for favorite sons, but it is expected that before the result is announced all states voting against Hoover will switch over, and he will be declared the nominee by acclamation.

Charles G. Dawes of Illinois is the most likely choice for vice-president, the office which he now holds. Strong efforts have been made by the Hoover leaders to have Dawes agree to go on the ticket in the opinion that his election would appease the farmer vote and cause the turbulent middle west to rally to the ticket.

The platform will be adopted and nominations made in time to allow the convention to adjourn Thursday night.

You cannot be attractive without a clear skin

EVERYBODY wants to be attractive. It is a great and just ambition. But no one can be attractive without a clear skin—you know that.

Do you realize the importance of pure, rich blood in preserving the health, and that the source of most skin disorders is in the blood?

Remove the cause, which is not in the skin itself, and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S.S.S.?

S.S.S. is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs, and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, you don't have that tired, languid feeling when you awake in the morning. Instead, you feel refreshed, ready to meet the world.

Your appetite is keen—you enjoy work or play—your skin is clear, cheeks naturally rosy.

All this because rich, red blood builds and sustains the body.

For more than 100 years S.S.S. has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"S.S.S. cleared my skin of pimples and blackheads. I think it a most wonderful blood medicine. Several of my friends are taking it for the same reason I did."
Miss Margaret Frye
Lapel, Ind.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.
