NINETY BOMBS DROPPED ON LONDON

FOUR PERSONS KILLED AS RESULT ZEPPELIN RAID

BOMBS INCENDIARY START MANY FIRES

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAYS NO PUBLIC BUILDINGS DAMAGED IN RAID.

ANTI GERMAN RIOTS FOLLOW

Mobs Attack Shops And Special Constables Called Out To Attempt Protection.

By Associated Press. London, June 1.—Ninety bombs were dropped in the raid on London last night by a Zeppelin airship. Four persons were killed and few were injured. No public buildings were damaged. This information was given out officially today. Several million Londoners slept peacefully last night unaware of the attacks. The official statement adds that the ninety bombs caused a number of fires, of which only three were large enough to require fire engines. It also is said that one infant, one boy, one man and one woman were killed and another woman probably fatally injured. A few other private citizens were seriously injured. The raid has brought a recrudescence of the anti-German demonstration of the mob. The feeling against Germany is acute, crowds have attacked ships and special constables have had to be called out.

55 PRISONERS NOW HELD IN WICHITA COUNTY JAIL

Largest Number Incarcerated Since Jail Built—Most of Them For Minor Offenses

More prisoners than ever before are now confined in the county jail, a total of 55 being incarcerated there. These unwilling guests are costing the county 45 cents daily for their board, a total of $24.75 per day. Most of the prisoners are held for minor offenses and there is only one on a charge as serious as assault with intent to murder. Quite a number are county court defendants. With these cases to consider, in addition to a number of others charged with various offenses who are out on bond, the next grand jury, which convenes June 14 is expected to have plenty of work.

ESTIMATE MAIL DAMAGE AT TWENTY-FIVE PER CENT

Noticing a report in The Times which quoted a prominent grain man as having said that the damage to wheat crops in Wichita county from too much rain and hail was not more than 10 per cent, Mike Emmert, whose farm is 3 1/2 miles northeast of the city and D. E. Thomas, four miles southeast, called at The Times office today to say that in their judgment the damage to wheat crops from too much rain, hail and other causes, taking the county as a whole, is fully 25 per cent. Both say the damage to their individual crops from heavy rains is 15 per cent. Neither had damage from hail to amount to anything.

Both gentlemen are practical farmers and raise wheat crops every year. Last year Mr. Emmert's crop averaged 22 bushels per acre. Mr. Thomas' was not quite so much.

This Pledge And Prayers For Righteous Peace Mark Opening W. C. V. Reunion.

By Associated Press. Richmond, Va., June 1.—Pledge of support to the president of the United States "in these perilous times" and prayers for righteous peace of the world characterized the opening here today of the 25th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

COTTON CONDITION MAY 25 ABOVE 10 YEAR AVERAGE

Government Report Shows A Condition Of 80 Per Cent Of Normal On That Date.

By Associated Press. Washington, June 1.—The newly planted cotton crop of the United States showed a condition of 80 per cent of a normal on May 25, the department of agriculture announced today in its first condition report of the season, which had been awaited with interest by cotton, textile and other interests. That condition compares with 74.3 on May 25 last year, 79.1 in 1912, 78.9 in 1912, 87.8 in 1911 and 79.5 the average for the past ten years on May 25.

Until the official report of the government estimating the area planted in cotton, no calculation will be made by the department's crop experts as to the probable size of the crop. The record yield last season, the decreased foreign takings because of the war, and the low price of cotton early this season, are believed to have influenced planters to reduce their planting to some extent. No official reports as to the extent of the reduction have been made but unofficial estimates place the area planted at from 10 to 20 per cent less than last year. The preliminary estimate of the planted area, last year made by the department of agriculture last July, was 36,966,000 acres.

While the early season nearly everywhere in the cotton belt was backward for vegetation, planting operations were carried on successfully. The soil in the western part of the belt was well supplied with moisture but eastward, a drought developed. Toward May 1 excessive rains in Texas and Oklahoma made a replanting necessary to some extent but the drought in the East continued. An unfavorable week, except in the central States, followed. During the second week of the month good rains broke the drought in the Eastern States but in the West conditions were unfavorable because of continued rains. The following week was the best in all portions of the belt the crop had this season.

Generally favorable weather prevailed but little rain occurred in the belt during the final week of the month. The soil in those portions of the belt where rain was light was, in most cases, supplied with moisture for present needs and no harmful effects were produced, except locally in Mississippi and Southern Texas where the late planted needed more moisture and in Louisiana where the crop was suffering for lack of rain. In Oklahoma and portions of Arkansas the soil was too wet for cultivation and the crop was becoming grassy, but in all other portions of the belt the early planting was up to a good stand and well cultivated.

Comparisons of conditions on May 25 by States follow:

State	1915	10 Yr. Av.
Alabama	88	86
Arkansas	85	82
California	80	78
Florida	81	84
Georgia	82	80
Illinois	78	79
Indiana	75	78
Iowa	79	79
Kansas	84	80
Mississippi	85	81
Missouri	90	84

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS ANTI FRATERNITY LAW

By Associated Press. Washington, June 1.—The U. S. Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the Mississippi anti-fraternity law. The case was carried up by J. P. Vaughn, who refused to sign a pledge not to aid in the organization or perpetration of any fraternity while a member of the Mississippi State University. He filed suit to compel the university to admit him. The law was attacked on the ground that it worked discriminations as to honors, diplomas and distinctions as between students in the University at the time the law was passed and those fraternity members who later became students at the University.

EIGHTEEN GRADUATE FROM HIGH SCHOOL

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES DRAW LARGE CROWD TO WICHITA THEATRE.

AN ADDRESS BY DR. BOAZ

Medals and Prizes Distributed By D. A. R. And By One Of City's Banks.

Monday evening the final commencement exercises of the high school were held at the Wichita Theatre, the graduates receiving their diplomas and the scholarships being awarded to the honor students. The address of the evening was made by Dr. H. A. Boaz of Texas Woman's College and the music was contributed by the high school students under the direction of Miss Jessie Agnew, director of music in the public schools. The theatre was crowded to the balconies and there were many who could find no seats.

The opening number was a chorus, "Away to the Fields," Wilson, by the high school glee club and additional musical numbers were given by the girls' glee club, the boys' glee club, the senior glee club and the senior quartette. The quartette scored a remarkable hit, being called back twice for encores. Miss Helen Hines, a graduate, did exceptional accompaniment work for all of the choruses, while Miss Agnew personally directed each number.

The salutatory was given by Chas. Alexander Butts, who made the highest average among the boys and the next to the highest average of the girls. The valedictory was given by Miss Mary Hepp, who received highest honors, or subject being especially timely. Woodrow Wilson as President. In addition to the honor students two other members of the class had been selected, a class essayist and class orator. Miss Helen Hines was selected essayist, her subject being a comparison and a dissertation on "The Girl of Yesterday and of Today." Bryan Cayce Hawks with "Our Foreign Immigration" as his subject.

Dr. Boaz, the speaker of the evening took for his subject, "The Elements of Success" and gave a fifteen minute discourse, filled with excellent advice for the young men and women just leaving high school. He gave some of the qualities one must cultivate to attain the greatest success in life, stating as one of the most important a definite aim. Confidence and perseverance were other necessary qualifications. The use of apt quotations and illustrative anecdotes made Dr. Boaz' speech one of interest to all.

Scholarships in a number of higher institutions of learning were given to the two honor students and the graduates were awarded to the following:

Joseph Akin, Charles Butts, Lawrence Douglas, Bryan Hanks, J. L. Jackson, Ivan Lawler, Ralph Pond, Robert Smith, John Tevis Greiver, Turner, Rubie Bachman, Ruth Elliot, Alice Frazier, Mary Herron, Helen Hines, Thelma Kahn, Ruby Moore, Myrtle Eula Stanley.

In connection with the exercises the D. A. R. medal in seventh grade American history was awarded Miss Madeline Thomas, who had made an average of 92 1/2. The medal was presented by Mrs. P. P. Watts, regent of the Major Francis Grice Chapter, D. A. R., who explained the purpose of the society in offering the history medal. The names of a number of students who had given honorable mention. These students were: Excell Wright, Evelyn Thorp, Forrest Shelton, Mary Akin, Edwin Blair, Hazel Miller, Herbert Watley and Zelma Ashbranner.

The prizes offered by the Wichita State Bank in connection with the school savings department were awarded at the close of the exercises, the presentation being made by P. B. Cox. Three prizes, two $50 and one ten dollar gold piece, for the pupil making the largest number of deposits, the largest percentage of pupils in her room depositors. In case of a tie it was provided that the prize should go to the pupil making the highest average. Twenty-two pupils had made deposits on every school day and four of these averaged over 94, Nolan Bullock, the winner, making an average of 95. Edwin Blair, Mary Joe Kell and Cecelia Adickes averaged 94.

The largest amount was deposited by Pat Greenwood, who made deposits totaling $118.56. The ten dollar gold piece was awarded to Miss Erwin, who had one hundred per cent of her pupils depositors. This is the second year that the school savings department has been conducted by this bank and during the 1914-15 term there were 427 children depositors. The first year 33 teachers were working to encourage the savings bank while this year there were 38 interested.

Adorna, the Italian commander, today announced that the Italians in the Austrian Tyrol continue to advance, capturing the important Heights of Zugna which dominates Robereta an important Austrian city about 10 miles from the border. Zugna itself is about six miles south of Robereta. It is believed that the Austrians intend to try to use Robereta's elaborate defenses to check the Italian advance on Trent. The other Italian invasion eastward toward Trieste has been checked by floods.

Included in this category are judges and law courts which are being transferred to Mezzolombardo, ten miles north.

MUCH MAIL DISTRIBUTED AT GENERAL DELIVERY

Influx of Harvest Hands Makes Large Crowds Before Delivery Windows

Business is very rushing at the general delivery window at the postoffice these days and this morning, following the double holiday, there was a small mob on hand at the windows. Wichita Falls dispenses as much mail through general delivery as any city in Texas and lately, with the coming in of harvest hands and numerous other transients, the number has been increased.

The crowd is being handled with little difficulty, though there are many who wish to hang around after they get their mail to read their letters and engage in discussions; such persons are always requested to move on. The postoffice was not constructed with due attention to the general delivery needs and the space in front of the windows is entirely too limited.

BRIEF AND POINTED NOTE IS PLANNED

IF GERMAN REPLY UNSATISFACTORY MOMENTOUS STEP MAY BE TAKEN.

MEXICO NOTE IS COMPLETED

Immediately After Cabinet Meeting President Begins Draft Of Answer To Germany.

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 1.—After more than two hours discussion by President Wilson and cabinet over the international problems in respect to Germany and Mexico confronting the United States, preparation of a second note to Germany was begun, and a warning to the factions in Mexico was completed. It is believed that the cabinet favored a brief note asking Germany whether Germany's reply is intended to disregard the fundamental principles of international law. If Germany indicates a disregard of these hitherto accepted principles the United States probably will sever diplomatic relations. It is understood that President Wilson is impressed by the virtually unanimous opinion expressed by the American press that the German note was an evasion. All the cabinet officers are reserved in speaking of the Lusitania discussion. It is understood no final conclusions were voiced, the president listening to the views of the members of his official family.

Unless the German Ambassador Von Bernstorff brings new proposals it is not believed his talk will affect the note. The president today told callers that the note would not be many days delayed. Mr. Wilson was calm, showing none of the strain of the problems before him. He said that questions of a domestic nature hardly touched the edge of his mind because of the importance of the international problems.

By Associated Press. Washington, June 1.—President Wilson told callers today that it would not be wise for him to discuss the German reply until after he had consulted his cabinet and studied further the important questions involved. He said, however, that his answer would not be many days delayed. Tomorrow count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at his own request will see the president. "Well informed circles, however, it is said that he is not in close touch with his government because of the difficulty in communication. The reply to Germany is expected to go forward on Thursday or Friday. While the president would give no intimation of his course those familiar with his previous views thought the American rejoinder would be brief and would demand an early reply. Failure to furnish the American demands, it was said, would likely result in the severance of diplomatic relations. The pressure for that course has been great in many quarters since the sinking of the Lusitania. Some friends of the president have indicated that he would not hesitate to adopt the final and ever is unsatisfactory. Diplomatic non-intercourse, however, would not necessarily be followed by any other steps unless American rights were violated flagrantly again.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE AFFECTS WALL STREET

WICHITA FALLS LIFESTORE

At The Theaters

The Empress.
"Shorty Turns Actor" a two part comedy with Shorty Hamilton. Chester Conklin in a Keystone, "Dropping the Bomb" and a Mutual Weekly, which shows among other interesting events the death fall of Lincoln Beachy at San Francisco Bay. The program is completed by "Station Content" a two part Reelance with Wallace Reid and Catherine Henry in the leads. A story is given:

Station Content is so called because of the happy family life of Jim Manning, the agent. The first trouble to enter the lives of Manning and his wife comes with the death of their little girl, Dorothy. In an effort to forget her loss, Belle Manning learns telegraphy and assists her husband. Several years later, Manning, having been made general manager, Station Content is closed and abandoned. Absorbed in his new duties, Manning neglects his wife, who, during his protracted absence from home, determines to leave him. Halted by the wreckage of a storm, she seeks refuge in old Station Content, where she finds a broken doll, once belonging to Dorothy. This arouses memories and in her eagerness to hear the telegraph instruments again, she "cuts in" receiving a message which appears to be her husband's death warrant. A bridge has been washed away and the special train with Manning aboard has just left the last open telegraph station. She flags the train and saves his life. Manning wins from her an explanation of her presence at the telegraph instrument, and then he realizes that their future happiness rests with him.

The Majestic.
"The Thief" a five part Box Office Attraction is today's offering. New plays lend themselves so wholeheartedly to pictorialization as Henri Bernstein's "The Thief." It is a play in which the plot has been laid with extreme care and its object is the plot, the situation and the emotions that spring from it, rather than poetry or atmosphere, so that the picture, since it has been able to make this situation absolutely clear, loses but a modicum of the appeal that the stage version made. It utilizes the advantage the screen has over the stage of telling its story more directly and perhaps it gains as much as it loses. It appeals to this reviewer speaking of it as a production that gets its purpose over—as the strongest picture he has seen in a long while.

The staging is rather bare, as though done in a cramped studio, but this is no hindrance to it, for Director Edgar Lewis and his players headed by Dorothy Donnelly, had a story that needed the best art to make it effective on the screen, but with that art required no other embellishment. The staging serves, for as producers and acted the story would have made itself felt in much poorer sets. The director and every one of his players can well be proud of this picture. Dorothy Donnelly plays Marie Landau, in love with Richard Voysin, an admirer of pretty tricks. He and she are comparatively poor, now married and living with the Legardes (E. L. Davenport and Ivy Shepard). Legardes, a remarried widower, has a son, Fernand, the pride of his heart (Harry Spangler). The boy, impressionable and flighty, has fallen madly in love with Marie, who hardly flirts with him. But she, to get the pretty dresses she thinks she needs is stealing from her friend, Mrs. Legardes. A detective, George De Carlton, is brought in as a guest. This man knows that Fernand has been living a free life in Paris and watches him closely. He has marked some bills. He sees the boy in the part of the house where these are and finds at once that they are gone.

Marie knows that the thief is to be named in an hour, is waiting in suspense, and is surprised to hear the detective state that the boy is the culprit. He is out on the lawn and she asks permission to go for him. She has the bills with her, and telling the boy all the truth, persuades him to take them and absolve the whole guilt, which he quizzically does. From this situation on, the picture changes a little from the original story; but it has that fine scene in which Marie's husband discovers the truth and the scene in which she finally confesses to the family. It can truly be called a big feature offering.

The Gem.
Viola Dana is featured in a three part feature "The Stoning" today's chief attraction at the Gem. A story of significance, one in accord with the generous heart of American intelligence, "The Stoning" is imbued with the spirit of sincerity and truth—it strikes root where the ordinary production is inane and impotent. It will reach warm sympathies and through its very tenderness will reach the hearts of those who are not to be reached, or to be affected, by cut and dried codes promulgated from the pulpit. Taking us by the hand and leading us into the bright and pretty story of Ruth Fenton, picturing her the pride of her graduating class, a favorite in the church choir, the most loved of all among the young people who give her a surprise party, a simple, pure minded, affectionate girl of upright father and a fond mother, "The Stoning" contains no warning of the intense drama to follow, even when Ruth gives up Buck Jones' boy to follow the God-given natural dictates of her heart. It is a drama of actuality. A story that to its noble theme it is this actually which counts most heavily. Director Brabin has joined the band of those who know the secret of convincing realism. It does not lie in realism of action so much as in truth of mental revelation—it is largely a matter of psychology. Ruth falls in love with Alec Peters, a handsome young brakeman. Something in his personality causes her susceptible heart to whisper that he is her natural mate. Her father's opposition only serves to fan the flame of love—it has the appearance of injustice—so Ruth runs away with Alec. He evades marrying her on one pretext or another until she knows the sharpest pain a human heart can support. The man to whom she has given all a loving heart can give is a low and utterly worthless scoundrel.

The minister finds Ruth and brings her home—her mother's condition is precarious. She is forgiven by mother and father, her fault being one of judgment, not of immoral impulse. She is forgiven by the minister, even as Christ forgave, but his congregation has not reached a breadth of view on the redress of social wrongs, especially that which blames a woman for a man's successful deceit. Instead of according her sympathy and pushing the seducer, her friends and associates stone her in the modern method. Next morning her body is found in the lake—she has gone to Him who forgives poor erring humanity. The minister who has attempted to make the people of his flock Christian in deed as well as in profession now turns on them in his wrath. He points to the pure face of the girl in the casket, her face sanctified by knowledge that she followed the dictates of her heart to fulfill her divine mission and he denounces them all. "There is one word written large across all your hearts. It is MURDERER and there lies the child you have murdered."

PASSENGERS MUST GIVE VALUATION OF TRUNKS

On and after June 3 all persons who check trunks on railroad tickets will be obliged under the provision of the Cummins act amending the interstate commerce laws to declare the value of their baggage. Railway officials are now working on plans to enable their subordinates to enforce the provisions of the act with the least possible inconvenience to the traveling public, but they are not altogether sanguine that the new regulations will be popular with the tourists and others who will check trunks when the rush to the seashore and country resorts begins.

The railroads now carry trunks and other baggage not exceeding 160 pounds in weight free with tickets on transportation and assume liability in case of loss or damage up to $100. They declare they can not assume unlimited liability as permitted under the Cummins act, but will accept the alternative of assuming the $100 liability on each piece of baggage checked and insuring the passenger for all over that amount on a basis of 10 cents per $100, the rate laid down by the interstate commerce commission.

The amendment speaks specifically of "shippers" and although no mention is made of passengers checking trunks the commission has interpreted the act to mean that baggage constitutes a shipment in the meaning of the law. As shippers must sign a declaration as to the value of each item it has been decided that each and every shipper of a trunk must declare the real value of its contents when he has his trunk checked. Any one who signs a declaration dishonestly, a railway official who has made a close study of the new law said yesterday, will be guilty of a misdemeanor. It is understood that the railroads will consent to accept declarations as to values from agents, which might be a valet, or butler, or porter, or second cousin, or anybody who helps a shipper or passenger to make use of the checking privilege, but everybody has got to be careful that no false declarations are made or there is sure to be trouble.—Denton Herald.

HOW ENGLAND VIEWS THE GERMAN ANSWER

London, June 1.—British evening papers unanimously predict United States will express her dissatisfaction with what they called the "evasiveness" of the German reply. They declare Germany dodged the main issue by refusing to answer the demand that she cease torpedoing passenger carrying vessels. The Pall Mall Gazette replies the German claim that the Lusitania was an armed ship carrying Canadian soldiers, and added that "if the slaughter of the Lusitania passengers is defended by the assertion that she was carrying ammunition to England, we wonder what excuse Germany will offer for the attempt to torpedo the liner Messtier Sunday while she was outward bound for Montreal?" The Westminster Gazette said the German reply was "perfidiously what was expected."

"It merely seeks to gain time," said the Gazette. "Almost daily since the American note was forwarded, the Germans have given the most practical evidence that they do not intend to discontinue submarine-ing." The Birmingham Post, a leading conservative newspaper, declared it believed President Wilson will regard the reply as "most temporizing and as tantamount to a refusal," and that "the people of the United States will support him in any action he may take."

AUSTRIAN COAST OF ADRIATIC IS BEST

500 MILES LONG 110 WIDE

For Centuries It Has Been Scene Of Duels For Mastery Of Medi-

Special to The Times.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—"Once more the people upon the opposite shores of the Adriatic Sea are in a duel with one another for the mastery of the Mediterranean—just as neighbors across this arm of the land-locked sea have always clashed—for upon the Adriatic South European supremacy has been contested since the days when Rome fell heir to the sea-power of Athens and Carthage. Over this waterway Rome met the pirates of Istria and Dalmatia, aggressive Teutonic tribes and pressing hordes of Slavs; over it the Empire of the East sent its expeditions to attack the Empire of the West; and Austria a generation ago waged war with a disinterested Italy over Adriatic paths and for the sovereignty of the sea."

After giving the above brief review of this historic theatre for the transport of invading armies and the actions of battle fleets, youngest of the war theatres in the present European struggle, around whose shores the interest of South European battles will center through the months to come, the bulletin issued today by the National Geographic Society continues a presentation of the geographic details of the Adriatic Sea.

"The Adriatic Sea is 500 miles long and about 110 miles wide in its greatest width. It separates the Italian and Balkan peninsulas as far as Brindisi and the lower coast of Albania, and ends at the Strait of Otranto, by which it communicates with the Ionian Sea. This eastern coast is 110 miles, the islands off the Dalmatian and Istrian coasts decrease this average to about 90 miles. The sea is very deep, varying from 500 feet in the north to more than 4,000 feet in the southern area.

Fine Harbors On Austrian Coast.

"The Austrian, or eastern coast, is very broken, strewn with fine harbors and lined with numerous rocky islands, which belong to Istria and Dalmatia. This eastern coast is of great naval and commercial value, well formed for the upbuilding of great thriving trade ports, and, by reason of its almost continuously mountainous shores, its deep gulfs and bays, and its screening fringes of rocky islands, advantageously defended. The western, or Italian coast, on the other hand, is low, sandy, and almost unbroken. It lacks good harbors and offers few natural advantages for defense.

"The commercial importance of the Adriatic Sea throughout the Dark Ages and the Middle Ages was very great. This importance was somewhat impaired by the opening of an all-sea route to India and by the determined growth of the Dutch and English merchant marines. With the opening of the Suez Canal and the commercial and industrial awakening of Italy and Austria-Hungary, the Adriatic regained much of its old-time significance. The most important commercial points are Trieste, Venice, Fiume, Ancona, Brindisi, Venice and Trieste, at the head of the Adriatic, are the two foremost cities.

Only Two Large Rivers.

"Owing to the systems of screening mountains, the Adriatic receives but little drainage. There are only two rivers of any considerable size that empty into it, the Adige and the Po. The water of this sea, therefore, is very salty. Navigation is generally safe, although there are some dangerous points upon the eastern coast, and sudden, northerly squalls often lash the waters with terrific force against the rock-bound coast.

"The principal gulfs of the Adriatic are those of Manfredonia on the west, Venice and Trieste on the north, and Quarnero on the northeast. There are numerous and admirable bay harbors, extending from Fiume and culminating in the wonderful land-locked harbor, the Bocche di Cattaro. The Strait of Otranto, where Italy approaches nearest to the Balkan mainland, is 45 miles wide. Here is the magnificent Albanian harbor, Avlona, over which Italy aspires to win control."

JUDGE NOT CONVINCED OF LEO M. FRANK'S GUILT

By Associated Press.

Atlanta, June 1.—The principal witness for Leo Frank at the hearing before the Georgia pardon board was Mrs. Frank. She denied an affidavit made by the negro cook in her home that she had said Frank was drunk the night Mary Phagan was killed.

A letter was presented from the late Judge L. S. Roan, telling of the hostile atmosphere around the trial, which induced him to urge that Frank be not present when the verdict was rendered. Judge Roan died last March. His letter, addressed to Frank's attorneys, was written last December. In it he refused their request to urge at that time commutation for Frank, but said that at the proper time he expected to ask the pardon commission to recommend commutation of Frank's sentence to life imprisonment. Judge Roan said he would not do this until Frank's application for commutation was filed. He wrote:

"It is possible that I showed undue deference to the opinion of the jury in this case when I allowed their verdict to stand. They said by their verdict that they had found the truth. I was still in a state of uncertainty and even after deliberating for weeks I am not yet thoroughly convinced of the guilt or innocence of Frank. I don't believe a person should meet with the extreme penalty of the law until the court, the jury and the governor shall all have been satisfied of that person's guilt."

WATERPROOF CLOTH NOW FAVORED AUTO UPHOLSTERY

The scarcity of good leather, compared to the proportion of demand, has brought about an important change in automobile upholstery which according to many manufacturers, will soon become universal. Instead of using makeshifts in the form of imitation leather, many motor car builders already have adopted a high grade of waterproof cloth, declaring that it is even better from the standpoint of wear and comfort than the best leather they could secure.

While it was not difficult to secure enough leather for upholstering the 50,000 cars built a few years ago, the difficulty in securing an ample supply has steadily increased until this year, when it is expected that fully half a million cars will be produced in this country. Today it is practically impossible to obtain enough good leather to go around.

Realizing that the shortage in the leather market would become more acute as the number of cars increased, automobile men have encouraged experimentation on the part of cloth upholsters during the past year or two. The result is a non-cracking, non-heating, waterproof fabric of such attractive appearance that many of the leading manufacturers are planning to use it on their entire output this coming season.

An added advantage of the cloth upholstery is that it contains no oil or "surface finish" which may come off in warm weather and mar the clothing of passengers. Nor does the smooth surface hold dust. A light brushing will remove any dust that may collect. Grease and oil spots can be removed with soap and water.

The best of the closed cars have always been equipped with cloth upholstery, as it was handsomer, more comfortable and cleaner than the leather. But until a few years ago this was not extended to open cars, because of the difficulty of waterproofing and cleaning the cloth.

SAFETY FIRST is our principle and the GUARANTY FUND LAW your protection—it means that your money deposited in this bank is absolutely safeguarded.

It is one of the best things we have to offer together with COURTEOUS TREATMENT and every accommodation consistent with conservative banking.

Below is a newspaper clipping showing how this GUARANTY FUND LAW WORKS and how you are protected.

We will soon be the only bank in town operating under this Guaranty Fund Law.

Newspaper comment:

The Wichita Daily Times says:
A few days ago there was a bank failure at Amarillo. It was a state guaranty bank, however, and the depositors will not lose one cent. The state guaranty fund has in it $961,000 and the closing of the Amarillo bank will take from it the sum of $39,000 with which to pay the protected depositors. The more we see of this law the better we like it. Every depositor who trusts his hard-earned money to a bank should be protected to the limit, and that is what has been done in every instance where a bank operating under this law has failed or closed its doors.

And the El Paso Times says:
According to a statement made by Receiver Arnold, depositors of the defunct Arizona Bank and Trust Company will receive 75 per cent when its affairs are finally wound up. The first dividend of 50 per cent will be paid on May 4, it is said.

The patrons of the Texas bank will get their money promptly. The patrons of the Arizona bank will only get 75 per cent and will have to wait for that.

It will be about a year and a half before the Gibson bill comes before the legislature again, and that interval, The Times hopes, will prove long enough for the esteemed Dallas News to get right on this question. The News has been hard put to it to defend this measure and some of the weakest editorials it has ever published have appeared on the subject. One imagines that every time the editor started to write a boost for the Gibson bill he looked out of the office window and saw the sky scrapers which Texas insurance companies have erected in Dallas since the Robertson law passed, with the result that his writing hand became cramped. And one can imagine also that there were some folks in the News office who gaged just a little bit when those editorials of fulsome praise for Ferguson were published.

The Times is informed that although the jitneys charge a five cent fare in those sections of the city where they compete with the Traction Company, they ask 25 cents for hauling passengers to the "Phillip pines" and other parts of town where there is no street car service. If the jitney expects to serve the public on its own merits and not merely as a parasite, it has its opportunity; for the Traction Company is not apt to build any more lines upon and it does not put the jitney in a favorable light to carry passengers for a nickel where there is competition and to charge two-bits where there is none. The money, after all, is still on trial.

There is some hope—not much—that after Germany learns from the American government that the Lusitania was not a man of war menacing German commerce and German war craft, that she will "regret" the sinking of the ship and the killing of more than 100 Americans on board. It is evident from the German note that the German submarine commander supposed her a warship. There are a great many people in America who are hoping that Germany, when set right on this point, will not attempt to condone the sinking of the ship and thus place herself as an upholder of murder—or what is worse assassination—as it said there are a great many Americans who have been sympathizers with Germany in the present war who are hoping that Germany will explain the matter as a regrettable mistake—even though a heedless, cruel and unnecessary one. In this connection it occurs to Americans that the German submarine commanders are a bit careless and too ready to draw inferences that fact do not bear out. The admission of the German government that one of her submarine commanders failed to see the American flag flying from the Gulfport and torpedoed her through mistake will not help the German cause with Americans. An American flag is an emblem that is easily seen. Submarine commanders ought to at least look twice before letting loose their torpedoes. If submarine warfare cannot give an opportunity of seeing what kind of a flag a vessel is flying it most certainly ought to be abandoned. Maybe the submarine commanders have been ordered to shoot first and then look to see what flag and what kind of a ship was fired on afterwards.

Dear Sir: I have been a reader of your paper for some two years. I have a brother who lives near your city on a farm that I own, the Hillside Stock Farm, therefore I do not feel that I am a stranger to you or to your community. I have been very much interested in the Gibson bill, which you have editorially opposed, and which right of course you are not to be denied I read in the issue of May 28th comment from the Abilene Reporter and your comment on that editorial. I agree with the Abilene Reporter that Texas cannot be destroyed by even a Robertson law. Her resources are too great, and her opportunities are too many for any legislation to materially affect our future, but in common fairness I want to express to you my opinion that if Texas expects a square deal, she must give one, and I would like for you to let me know what particular reason requires Texas to have a compulsory investment law in regard to the investment of life insurance monies when it is not required by any other State in the Union. When you consider that the new

State of Oklahoma has $2,000,000 more invested in farm mortgage loans by life insurance companies doing business in that State than the great State of Texas, and when you consider that the State of Iowa has almost five times as much invested in farm loans by life insurance companies doing business in that State as has Texas, it would occur to me that the Robertson law has in no sense been a success in attracting investments. When you consider that fourteen of the seventeen foreign life insurance companies who proposed to return to Texas, if the Gibson bill were enacted, invested in farm mortgages in the States of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri in the year 1913, $23,400,000 for which they received an average rate of interest of 5.28 per cent and when you consider that all the foreign life insurance companies doing business in Texas that same year loaned $3,200,000 on farm mortgages, for which they received an average rate of interest of 7.2 per cent and all the Texas companies loaned in Texas that same year $1,700,000 on farm mortgages, for which it received an average rate of interest of 6.22 per cent. That same year it loaned in Texas $950,000 in the same manner, for which it received 7.74 per cent, a difference of 1.52 per cent in the same company, where loaned in the same manner. These figures ought to be conclusive as to the way Texas is suffering in the way of rates of interest on farm mortgage loans.

It can likewise be demonstrated that in taking a participating policy in one of the old line mutual companies, such as the Northwestern Mutual of Milwaukee, say, an ordinary life policy, a period of fifteen to twenty years, where the policyholder takes his dividends annually and uses them to reduce the cost of his insurance, he will find that a savings of 11 per cent can be had in the cost of insurance over the non-participating rates charged by the Texas companies, and he Texas companies write practically no other kind of insurance.

Don't you think this is a burden on the people, besides the people are taking their insurance in young and married companies? Many of them have consolidated and many more will have to consolidate.

Through the operations of the Robertson law, we have available to us only 11 per cent of the assets of the life insurance companies of the country for this part in borrowing. If you will consider that 89 per cent of the insurance assets of the country are not available to us on account of the Robertson law, I cannot help but think you will appreciate the great advantage the people of this State are laboring under.

The seventeen companies who desire to return to Texas are all mutual companies and they are not run for profit. They do not have to earn dividends for stockholders, but on the other hand they serve no other purpose than to "give their millions of policyholders life insurance at cost. I am taking the liberty of sending you some literature on this subject but I want you to be kind enough to look through. I take it that you are sincere in your position on the Robertson law, and on this assumption I do not believe that if you understand all the facts that you would feel about it as you do.

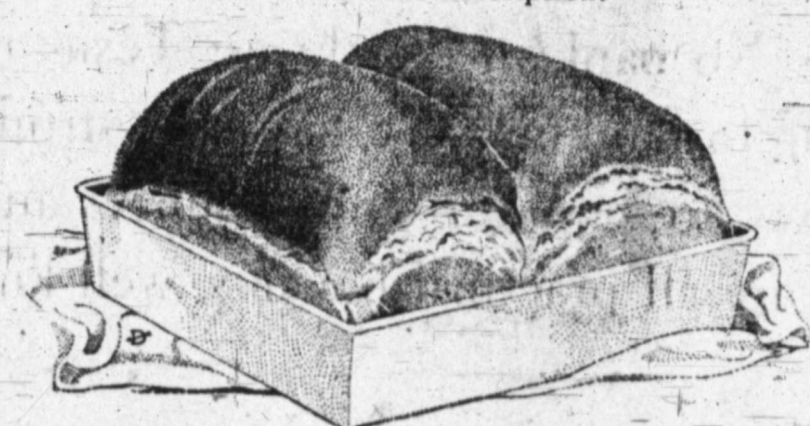

The principle of compulsory investment is wrong from the policyholder's point of view. While there is no objection on the part of the companies, as far as Texas is concerned, yet it is a most dangerous thing for them or Texas cannot do a thing that it cannot do the other States of the Union doing, and if every State in the Union had a compulsory investment law, it would force them to make investments in some States where the securities might be of questionable character, and in other States the interest rates would be arbitrarily low. Massachusetts has three times as much life insurance reserves as the great State of Texas, and there is now only about 50 per cent of the reserves in the New England States invested in those States. In the Northwestern group 220 per cent and in the Southwestern group 150 per cent, with Texas largely eliminated by reason of the Robertson law.

As far as the governor's attitude is concerned, since he made his opening speech at El Paso and declared himself in favor of the Robertson law, the whole world practically has gone to war, and I call your attention to an editorial in this morning's News, which shows the real sentiment of capital that will likely follow the war. We have invested in this State many millions of dollars in Scottish and English mortgage companies. It is reasonable to expect, in fact, that these companies have now quit investing money in this State, and in as much as the national existence of these nations is at stake, every dollar is liable to be called home, and unless a supply can be had from somewhere else to meet the emergency, it is hard for me to understand what we are to do, and instead of the governor being criticized as going back on what was a campaign promise, it strikes me that he is deserving of commendation for this act. Besides if the Robertson law was not enacted for the purpose of attracting life insurance investments, for what was it enacted? If this was its purpose, when the companies commuted themselves to Governor Ferguson, they invested $25,000,000 as a minimum within the next five years, does not look like this was very much more than could be expected of a law templated under the Robertson law.

Good bread—why not? You've been used to eating bread made the hard way. It has been pretty good bread—but not the best bread. The really best bread is made with Crusto.

Not a substitute for lard but better than lard. In the first place it is flavorless, tasteless and odorless—it is pure and sweet. It acts as the binder, enricher and shortener that you've used lard for—but it does it all better. We can't describe it further. Try it and taste the description.

CRUSTO—Houston, Texas

and there is no sort of question but what they would have complied with their promises.

The Robertson law was passed without any former public agitation. It was an ill-advised piece of legislation, and when passed, no doubt, its sponsors had no idea that the great insurance companies could withdraw from the State, but unfortunately they did, and our people have since been denied the opportunity of taking the cheapest and best insurance and have been burdened with the highest interest rates of any State in the Union on their mortgage loans.

I do not write this letter for publication at all and I presume the matter is dead until it is put into next year's campaign, and there is no question but what it is going to be a political issue, and in my opinion it will result most disastrously to the Texas companies.

The Gibson bill did not affect the Texas companies at all except in the matter of competition, and I do not believe that any man can defend that principle. The Texas companies spent a great deal of money to defeat the Gibson bill.

I know that the outside companies have not put up one dollar. The movement for the passage of the Gibson bill was started by Texas business men, and one partisan of the Texas companies introduced a bill in the lower House to investigate the outside companies, but refused to include the home companies, and when he was met with that issue, he refused.

I am just as certain that the Robertson law will not be on the statute books two years from today as I am that I am writing you this letter. A campaign of education will show the people the truth and where they know the truth, there is no question about what they will do. You will put me for writing you this letter, but I am doing it on account of the repeated editorials I have seen in your paper against the Gibson bill and my views merely outline some things that probably you have overlooked. I am,

Yours very truly, ED WOODALL. Although Mr. Woodall says his letter is not for publication, we take the liberty of giving it all the publicity we can for the reason he thinks The Times' position in the matter is not only incorrect, but that The

Shorty Turns Actor

This comical cowboy turnmaker never fails to bring the house down with new and novel capers. It is sort of secret but this picture is one of the best this popular favorite has a parallel in for some time.

will bring just one big laugh starting in with the first scene and closing with the last. Everyone wishing it was two instead of just one reel.

Lincoln Beachys Last Flight

You will remember this popular bird man that performed so many daring feats last fall at the Dallas fair. In this picture we will show some remarkable photographs of his fall of 2000 feet to his death in San Francisco into the soft mud where sailors from the S. S. Oregon recovered his body and machine.

We have just installed a modern system that will make this theatre cooler than an almshouse. It is the talk of the town that the Empress is showing a very fine program now. If you have not taken advantage of the trial, we invite you to let us show you any day this week that there is foundation for the rumor.

Jim Allen, the old man who was picked up unconscious on the river road Sunday was still at the old jail today, and while some improvement in his condition was noted, he is still critically ill. The old jail seems to be the only place for him, as the county has made no provision for such cases, and the unfortunate man is to a large extent dependent upon the charity of the officers. Medical attention, however, is provided by the county.

PROPERTY OWNERS VOICE
PROTESTS OVER INCREASES

Protests are now being heard by the county commissioners on the increases in tax valuations. The court was in session all day Monday and was still quite popular today. Oil men were much in evidence this morning and submitted numerous protests. Some of them said they would be glad to sell their leases at the figures placed on them by the county.

Indications are that the county valuations will be about the same as 1914, with a possibility of a small increase. The county commissioners will continue to session until all protests have been heard.

"Rule G"

Adapted from story by Rufus Steele, "Keeping John Barleycorn Off the Trains," printed in Saturday Evening Post.

Greatest Railroad Story ever put into film form. Endorsed by heads of leading railroads of the United States.

Parts played by men actually engaged in service of a Railroad company, who granted them leave of absence to play in this picture.

Cars, Engines and Equipment loaned by Railroad company to take the various scenes.

Head-on collision demolishing two engines in one scene. The story opens with a scene of workmen actually at work among the machinery, showing their use of liquor and the death of one employee because of intoxication. The story goes on through various experiences of the railroad with insubordinate employees, including a riot, a train wreck because of a drunken engineer, and various other thrilling scenes, and a pleasing love story woven throughout the entire web of the production.

PORT ARTHUR HERO PREVENTS ENCIRCLING OF PRZEMYSL

Petrograd, via London, May 31.—The following official account of recent military operations has been issued from the Russian general staff: "The object of the prodigious efforts made by the enemy in the last few days has been the encircling of Przemyśl. The defense fighting on the San was interrupted on May 20 and the four following days were occupied by the enemy in an attempt to change the direction of his offensive from the northeast to the south-east. Between Sieniawa and Jaroslau fifteen bridges were constructed. "While the enemy was changing his front the whole mass of the enemy of all arms was transferred to the west, which led to the supposition that the Germans were beginning a retreat, but on the morning of the 24th General Mackensen began to hurl his army against our position between the Rivers Ludaczow and San. Concurrently hundreds of thousands of infantry, supported by thousands of guns of various calibers, attacked our trenches on the left bank in the direction of Radymno and Drohobitch on a front of fifteen miles.

Repeats Lodz Maneuver. "General Mackensen in endeavoring to turn our line at Przemyśl is practicing at the beginning of November in front of Lodz, when his army broke our lines near Strykow and Brest-Litovsk, while at the same time an attempt was made to turn us with his left flank. The same maneuver is being repeated now, but on a larger scale, not with isolated corps but with entire armies, which, thanks to their size, are slower moving. General Mackensen's maneuver is still incomplete, though some of his infantry regiments have three-quarters of their effectives.

"Austro-Germans who were to have met General Mackensen and turned Przemyśl from the south have been wiped out near Gouaskow in a vain attempt to pierce our front, when General Irmannoff, the hero of Port Arthur, crushed the garrison of Talsseco behind Mackensen's army on the little Sieniawa, seizing trophies and cattle intended for the revictualing of troops directed against Przemyśl.

"In spite of the enemy's tremendous losses, which since May 29 alone have amounted to hundreds of thousands, it would be premature to speak of the result of this battle, which is of extraordinary intensity.

"Austro-German communications in April said the third-Caucasian corps had been entirely annihilated on the Wisloka. Yet the same corps captured fourteen cannon and seven thousand prisoners at Sieniawa."

UNEMPLOYMENT FOR MARCH 11 PER CENT

Washington, June 1.—More than eleven wage earners in every 100 were out of employment and about sixteen of the remainder were working only part time during March and the early part of April, in fifteen of the important cities of the country, the bureau of labor statistics stated in a report on unemployment. Returns of a canvass of 299,881 families, including 644,358 wage earners, showed 73,800 or 11.5 per cent, wholly unemployed and 106,657 or 16.6 per cent without full time employment.

NEW IMPERIAL IS NOW ON EXHIBITION

The new Imperial 64 which has been advertised for several weeks in The Times, without giving the name of the car, has arrived and is being exhibited at 707 Ohio, by Messrs. Brown and Classy, managers of the Imperial Motor Sales Co., and is attracting considerable favorable comment.

The exhibit is out of the ordinary being arranged so that a good view may be had of the chassis. A car is turned on the side with the working parts exposed to the entrance of the building. In the rear of the building another car shows the body and general appearance.

The new Imperial is a very attractive car and promises to become one of the most popular sellers of the season. The manufacturers claim for the advantages of other cars selling for considerably more money and while it is made to sell at $1085 f. o. b. factory, quality has not been sacrificed to price in its construction.

Chicago, June 1.—Favorable weather and lower cables tended to bring about weakness today in the wheat market here. Harvesting was reported to be general throughout North Texas. Prices here, after opening 1 to 2 3/8 cents lower, steadied at a moderate rally. Corn sagged with wheat. Improved crop reports counted also against the bulls. Traders in oats showed a disposition to be guided by the action of other grains. Business was of fair volume. Pronounced heaviness developed later in wheat owing to estimate of 50,000,000 bushels greater yield than indicated at this time a year ago. Wheat closed steady. Wheat July 1-1; Sept. 1-17 1/4. Corn July 7 1/2-1; Sept. 7 1/2-7 3/4. Oats, July 47 7/8-1; Sept. 43 1/2-1.

points today in response to scattering liquidations. Offerings, however, were far from aggressive and the market steadied around the opening prices with active months later showing rallies of two or three points on covering. The government crop reports making conditions 50 per cent against 74.5 last year and 79.8, the ten year average was followed by a bulge of 8 to 10 points in prices on coverings by recent sellers who had expected slightly higher figures and a little support from local bulls. It failed to stimulate any general business, however, and prices later eased back 3 or 4 points from the best with active months ruling 6 to 7 points net lower. There was little or no cotton for sale on the setback and the market was steadier during the middle of the afternoon. The close was steady, July 9.37; Oct. 9.77; Dec. 9.94, Jan. 9.99; March 10.24.

Farming and Stock Raising

Two industries that have absolutely been benefitted by the war. There was never a time in the history of the country when farming and stock raising was so profitable as it is today and it will be for years to come. Wichita county can not be excelled in the state for wheat or stock raising. Land is cheap and is bound to go higher. Why not go into a safe and profitable business?

Let me show you some bargains in farms and ranches.

HOW ABOUT IT?

When a continued visit to our little cemetery reveals the fact that you have forgotten a loved one gone, and that your neglect warrants comment from friends. How about it?

When you say repeatedly to yourself, "I will beautify that plot at once and you don't." HOW ABOUT IT?

WHEN YOU GO with a friend to the last resting place do you falter and make excuses because of your negligence, what do you think they think?

There is only one way, and one time that is TODAY.
