It is true, isn't it, as Ruth Steele Brooks points out in the current "North American Review" that a generation ago society pitied "the poor working girl" whereas today it's the married stay-at-home housekeeper who gets the pity and patronization while breadwinners are fired by such big guns as Henry Ford or Carrie Chapman Catt to the effect that the world of science and industry must consider the needs of the housewife who is the most exploited of all living creatures?

"Things have reached a point," writes Mrs. Brooks, "where one must be in a profession of some sort to be able to hold up one's head among feminine friends. The fact is that we housekeepers are, to a great extent, the victims of a wrong psychology, of a sort of inferiority complex, to use that threadbare expression.

"We are apt, in this utilitarian age, because we are the recipients of no weekly or monthly check, to resent to greatly the work of those who are. But the fact is that when the two fields are analyzed, the homemaker is still doing the more important part of woman's work. The fact is that the good housekeeper of today is in the advance guard of the present educational trend.

"Is the homemaker's profession not a composite of many of the professions which women pride themselves on practicing? Doctor, nurse, dietitian, chemist, chef, modiste, economist, teacher, interior decorator; these are but a few of the housewife's lines—any one a reputable calling.

I become a little weary of outbreaks by married women insisting that their job is entitled to all respect, and equally weary of outbreaks by maiden ladies insisting that ought but a vegetable could be content with the unstimulating drudgery of the life domestic.

Each one is rationalizing to her own satisfaction the state in which she finds herself, and her own isolated individual experience can never be universal nor have any meaning to the world of women in general.

And with all due respect to this particular housewife-writer's contention that housewifery is worthy of lead place in the professional procession, just how many housewives recognize this?

The whole trouble with the resticted stay-at-home wife is just so much that her job is too small for her but that she herself is too small for the job and utterly unable to put into it what it could use.

I know any number of married women who have an inferiority complex towards their job, not because of what is said to them about it, but because they themselves know they are flunking on it; are utterly untrained for it, and rather than snap into the situation and master it, prefer to take the line of least resistance and reach out for the typing or clerking or teaching or filling job which they do know.

This is no attack on them. Merely a protest at the Mrs. Brooks-writer who says that professional and business women outside the home make the home women feel inferior.

How to Achieve Beauty

One of the most successful gifts I have ever heard of was the inspiration of one of my clever little beauty counselors. Her mother, staid of personal luxuries, as so many mothers are, had been simply surfeited with so-called useful gifts that weren't really useful at all.

After hard and vigorous thinking around every circle except the one nearest to us, we came back wearily to our own province—beauty. "Of course!" we exclaimed triumphantly. And the upshot of the whole matter was the purchase of a gift certificate entitling Mrs. M. to a course of beauty treatments and a complete array of the cosmetic essentials for home care. And never was there a more welcome gift. This year, the certificate is going to hundreds of aunts and sisters and wives for husbands have written in-cautiously first, and then enthusiastically—about her appearance—and is there one of use so dead to femininity that she doesn't think so?

There are lots of combinations which, attractively boxed, will prove highly acceptable. Cleansing cream, tonic, and skin food are perfectly matched, or powder and cream and a nice foundation. Or, should you wish to fly a little higher, a bouqois set of lotion bottles with cotton pad is another happy thought, or you can have a complete treatment boxed and shipped. And you may rest assured that such gifts will be most emphatically welcomed on Christmas morning.

Pumpkin Pie Because Fall and Winter bring us pumpkin pies we can almost forgive them for their bluster and chill.

The flavor of pumpkin is so delicious that when made into a pie it fully deserves a tender, flaky crust which only a delicate shortening like Crisco can make.

Try the recipe below. See if you don't agree that it's the best ever.

1 1/2 cups pastry flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup Crisco Cold water

Filling 1 egg beaten light 1 cup sugar 1 1/2 cups stewed pumpkin 1 teaspoon cinnamon (not strained) 1 teaspoon ginger 1 1/2 cups milk 1/2 teaspoon salt

Sift flour and salt. Cut Crisco in with two knives until the size of small peas. Add water (4 to 6 table-spoons) to make a paste which cleans the bowl. Cover deep pie plate and pinch with fingers to make fancy edge.

Put in filling and bake in very hot oven (450° F.) until pie crust begins to brown, about 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake until filling has set, about 30 minutes longer.

You taste your milk— You test your eggs—

NOW— taste your shortening!

Crisco's sweet flavor will delight you!

League Officials Disallow Lubbock Protest On Walker

Post High School Has Chance To Go Far In State Class B Title Chase

Amarillo Will Meet Abilene For Bi-District Championship In Game Saturday On Simmons U. Gridiron

Evidence Produced by Loals Is Overruled In Heated Session Yesterday In Quannah

After more than three hours of deliberation, the Intercollegiate League committee of District One yesterday ruled that Bob Walker, Amarillo high school halfback was eligible for play this season and had not played on a Sherman team in 1924, as had been charged by local high school representatives. The vote in overruling the Lubbock protest was four to two.

As a result of the player being found eligible, Amarillo will meet Abilene at Abilene Saturday for the bi-district championship as was originally scheduled. The game will be played on the Simmons University gridiron.

The protest as filed by Superintendent M. H. Duncan of this city was based on the claim that Walker played with the Sherman high school team during the season of 1924. Evidence produced before the committee in the meeting at Quannah failed to convince the league officials that Walker was ineligible. The committee ruled that playing against a Sunday School team could not be used to throw a player out of the league.

Further evidence disclosed at the meeting showed that Walker accompanied the team to Whitesboro in the same season, but an affidavit furnished by J. R. Moody, Sherman coach in 1924, stated that the present Amarillo star did not play in that game. Lubbock representatives presented the facts that Walker was the only quarterback on the team at that time and an affidavit showing that he had filled this position in a previous game. It was also revealed that Walker was a star at that time and only 14 players were carried on the trip.

Coach Henry Frnks and Superintendent Duncan returned last night from the meeting in Quannah. Coach Frnks will see the Amarillo-Abilene game at Abilene Saturday.

Members of the committee who were given a vote on the protest were: C. E. Davis, Quannah; W. T. Loftland, Vernon; E. M. Dinmore, Electra; A. R. Baker, Quannah, and Lass, Plainview.

Pedagogues Whip Grocers, 21 to 6

Displaying an attack that completely swept the opposition from their feet throughout the contest, the Teachers' basketball team trampled the Piggy Wiggy quintet under a 21 to 6 score at the high school gymnasium last night to take their place with the Super Service as the leaders of the City Basketball League.

With Lister and Morgan leading the assault, the Pedagogues played a brand of basketball that broke through the Piggy Wiggy defense at will, scoring baskets from every position on the court.

The Business College girls team trounced the Myrick Building girls aggregation 26 to 11 in the opening engagement of the night.

Two men's games are on the card for Friday night. Montgomery Ward meets the Lubbock Business College and the Avalancha-Journal Publishing company is scheduled to meet the National Guard five.

Cream of Football Crop Play Dec. 25

Seniors in Southwest Conference Directed by Bell Of T. C. U. Will Meet All-Texas Team In Contest

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4.—The cream of Texas football will take the field at the stadium of Texas Christian University Christmas Day when the all-star team of the Southwestern Conference meets the all-star team from other Texas colleges in the Shriner benefit tilt. Men who played their last game for their respective colleges on or near Thanksgiving will have a chance to again favor on a gridiron.

Coach Matty Bell of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs will guide the Southwestern entrants, while Frank Bridges, Simmons' coach and former Baylor mentor, will guide the all-Texas team. The Texas team will be made up of seniors from all colleges in the section, with Centenary, Texas Tech, T. I. A. A. and Texas conference furnishing their best men.

Seniors Play
Bell will invite all the senior players whom he thinks qualified in the conference. S. M. U. will probably furnish several as will Texas, A. & M., Arkansas, Tice, Baylor and T. C. U. Captain Jake Williams, all-conference selection, will undoubtedly play, as will Merlin Toler, Buzz Morgan, Pain Reynolds and other Pro stars.

Coach Bridges reports that many of the schools to whom he has sent invitations have already responded and that he will be able to put a first class team on the field. The teams will assemble at Fort Worth several days before the classic, in order that the men may practice together and learn signals.

Expect Record Crowd
One of the biggest crowds ever to fill the Frog stadium is expected to attend, with fans from all over the section gathering to witness the latter tilt of the season. Proceeds of the game will go to the Shriner benefit fund.

The list of men eligible for competition on the side of the Southwestern Conference include: Hume, Paucos, Tigg, Rice, Sanders, Fischer, Knie, Baldwin, Toler, Williams, Eddie-man, Morgan, Reynolds and a host of others who were outstanding in play this season. Only seniors will be allowed to participate.

In the all-Texas tilt will appear Alfamy and Hanna of Centenary, Walker of Texas Tech and many other stars.

Hockey League Is Stirred By Strife

"Fight for Principle" Results in Victory For President, Contending Against Goalkeeper

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The inner circles of the National Hockey League were stirred today by the "fight for a principle." It lasted more than three hours and ended with President Frank Calder of Montreal victorious over the New York Americans on the question of their right to the goal keeping services of Roy Worters.

The president's hand was upheld in a special session which extended his term of office from one to five years.

Calder did not say definitely whether Worters, star Pittsburgh goalie super-star for holding out for a big salary boost and while under the ban was purchased by the Americans, would be permitted to play for the New York club.

The upshot was that the president was sustained, the American's appeal dismissed and the future of the player left in Calder's hands.

Strong and Lassman Grieve Carnegie

In defeating Carnegie Tech by a score of 27 to 13, New York university showed one of the strongest teams in the country and two of the greatest players of the year in Ken Strong, halfback and Al Lassman, captain and tackle of the team. The brilliance of the two stars practically placed them on the All-American team and Strong proved himself to be one of the greatest all-around backs of all time. In the action picture shown above Strong is shown being held for a short gain by Sweet, the Carnegie end. On the ground with the big No. 1 on his back is Lassman. Below at the left is Strong. In the center, Judge Wally Steffen, coach of the Carnegie Tech, is registering misery at the downfall of his champions and the right is Lassman, who was injured in the game.

The American Association at its final meeting of the convention decided to open and close a week later in the 1929 season than was the case in 1928. The season will open April 16 and close September 29.

Trades Fly Thick At League Meeting
TORONTO, Dec. 5.—A day of active trading in the baseball market will result in changes of uniforms for many players next spring. After a deal between Toronto and Detroit was announced by which First Baseman Dale Alexander and Pitcher John Priddyhomme went to the Tigers for three players and a reported sum of $100,000, the trades began to fall thick and fast about the lobby of the convention hotel.

Toronto will get First Baseman Sweeney from Detroit and two pitchers whose names have not been announced.

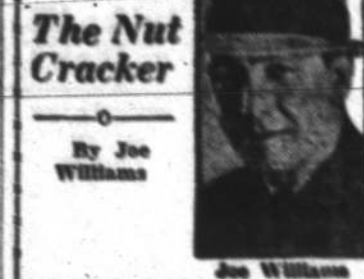

A trade between the Boston Red Sox and St. Paul of the American Association involved five players; the identity of one not being revealed. Bryan (Slim) Harris, an infielder, and Bill Rogell, were sent to the Saints in exchange for Alex Gasten, a catcher, and Russell Scarritt, an outfielder. A catcher will be supplied by the Red Sox later.

Brown Get Beck
The St. Louis Browns sold Pitcher Beck to Buffalo of the International League and the Phillies sent two pitchers and an outfielder to the Pacific Coast League. The pitcher, Angie Walsh and Russell Miller will get tickets to Los Angeles while Art Jahn goes to Portland.

The Mission club of the Pacific Coast League bought Eddie Mulligan, an infielder, from Pittsburgh. Bernie Neis was bought by the Cincinnati Reds from Seattle, but it was believed that the little outfielder would stop at Columbus Ohio, the American Association farm of the Reds.

A trade between American Association and International League clubs was completed with difficulty. Indianapolis proposed to give First Baseman Maurice Burris and Catcher Paul Florence to Rochester for Catcher Moryhan. The Columbus club, however, refused to waive on

Taylor Brothers Coach The Post Eleven With Four Sets of Brothers Playing On Team

POST, Dec. 5.—Brothers seem to be putting the Post high school football team to the front this season as a glance at the personnel of players and coaches reveals. Two brothers, Harry and Gene Taylor, former T. C. U. stars, have coached the team to an enviable record and one of the best in the school's history. Only one game was lost during the season and that to a heavier Class A team from Lubbock. On the other hand the youngsters have pulled up a total of 210 points to their opponents 28, winning 8 Class B games and undisputed championship of District One and Two.

While two brothers have been producing the coaching tactics for the squad, brothers, four sets of them, have been furnishing the material for the successful season. C. and O. Curley, P. and D. Williams, B. and C. Cray, and O. B. and J. B. McCampbell are the brothers on the squad.

The bi-district title came to the Post team by defeat from the Mustangs and Mustangs game which resulted in a tie, both teams voting to forfeit. Friday of this week, the Post aggregation will meet the Plainview team at Post and on the following week they will engage with the winner of the Clay-Mineral Wells tilt. Should they emerge victorious from this game, Post will be winner of four districts and eligible for competition for the state Class B title.

Saints End Successful Season With Crushing Victory Over Champions of T. I. A. A. In Brownwood

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 5 (AP)—The St. Edwards University Saints from Austin closed one of their most successful seasons by crushing the Daniel Baker College Hill Bilies, champions of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association, 7 to 0 here today.

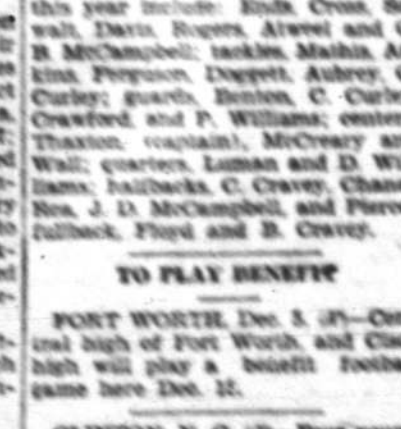

The score did not indicate the superiority of the victors. They outplayed the Bilies in every period and were prevented from running up a larger count by the desperate stand of the Daniel Baker team when backed up against its own goal line.

Baseball Leagues Meet In Opening Session Of Group

President of National Association of Pro Baseball Leagues Favors Selection Of Central City For Meet

Associated Press Staff Writer
TORONTO, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The National Association of professional baseball leagues went into action today but only for a few minutes. The 28th annual convention was opened and two sessions announced for tomorrow when baseball oratory was expected to hold sway on the subject of the draft.

Most delegates failed to reach the convention hall for the opening, remaining in the hotel lobby to talk baseball, past and future.

The place for the next convention came before the first session when President M. H. Sexton in his annual report deplored the fact that some of the smaller leagues could not afford to send representatives to the conventions. He thought also that baseball would be better served by reducing the travel to attend to a minimum by the selection of a centrally located place. He suggested that it should be a "grid" spot so that the attention of the delegates would not be distracted from the business in hand. The president put forward West Baden, Ind., as such a place.

Want Central City
The constitution provides that the convention must be held in a city represented by a minor club, but this, he said, could be temporarily set aside. Chattanooga, Tenn., Southern Association, will bid for the 1929 convention and others may join the quest.

Harry Williams of Los Angeles president of the Pacific Coast League, told today of a tentative survey of territory for a proposed Western International League. Such a circuit would include Tacoma, Spokane and Bellingham in the state of Washington while the Canadian cities would be selected from among Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary and Moose Jaw.

Slaton Tigers Win Six Games In Race

(Special To Avalancha)
SLATON, Dec. 4.—The Slaton high school Tigers have closed their grid schedule, winning six games out of seven played in the district race. The record is: beat Tahoka, 26 to 6; won over Spur, 12 to 7; demolished Lamesa, 33 to 14; dunned Padonah, 13 to 6; crushed Brownfield, 40 to 20, noted out a victory over Floydada, 13 to 12, and lost to Post, 19 to 0. A game with Lockney, which should have been played here on Nov. 2, was prevented because of bad weather.

The Tigers will now give their attention to basketball, and Coach Paul Wright hopes to have a splendid quintet.

UNITED STATES AND THE WORLD COURT

President Coolidge could have chosen no more suspicious moment than the present to make known his intention to renew the effort to bring the United States into the Permanent Court of International Justice.

When the Senate, on Jan. 27, 1926, voted 76 to 17 in favor of joining the World Court there was every reason to believe that this decision represented the considered will of the people of the United States.

Concerning this reservation divergent interpretations were advanced, and in hesitancy to accept the reservation the members of the World Court invited a further exchange of views.

A Washington Bystander

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON ASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—When February 2, next, rolls around and the senate opens for the day's business, without doubt it will halt proceedings to do honor again to its senior employe, Theodore F. Shuey, dean of that hard driven corps of stenographers known as the "Official Reporters of the Debates of the Senate."

There is no parallel in the government service anywhere so far as the Bystander knows, and in calling attention to the anniversary last year Vice-President Dawes pointed out that Shuey in more than 59 years "has never missed a day on duty because of illness."

Kept Young By Work. On that occasion, Dr. Copeland, senator from New York seized the opportunity to deliver a homily on the folly of too early retirement.

"The man who retires from active life is the man who dies," Dr. Copeland asserted. "If Mr. Shuey had retired 10 years ago he would have been buried five years since, but now he is a young man, keeping his youth by striving to do his work very day."

Another Veteran. Shuey is by no means the only long-service member of the senate staff. A number of the permanent corps of workers go back more than a quarter century. Several have become non-political fixtures because of their incalculable value.

Such is Kennedy F. Rea, long chief of staff of the senate appropriations committee, who probably knows more of the details of government money bills than any living man.

Peace On Earth, Goodwill Towards Men

SO THINK WE

We think there is no use on earth for people to put off their Christmas shopping, for it will only be a matter of a few days now till it will be too late.

We think with two million eggs on cold storage in Chicago alone it would seem that there should be more eggs in Lubbock, but the prices would indicate that they are scarce.

We think it may be a pretty good way to separate eggs to put them in a sieve and the whites will run through, and the yellow will remain in the sieve.

We think it is a very good idea in raising children to always say good night to all of the children when they go to bed, but it is a very trying thing for some parents to sit up so late, just for that pleasure.

We think it is a mighty disgusting to see a man with nine of the installments of the twelve original ones on his automobile to be taking up all of the parking space or right in the middle of the highway with no idea of turning aside to let your automobile pass.

We think the fellow that said that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush, but what if you were at the table. Wife would very likely remind you that it was just awful in table manners to have the bird in the hand.

We think it is a mighty peculiar feeling to be with your wife, at some function that bores you to death, just because the better half made you go, and then meet some lady who said that she could not get her husband to respond to her coaxing at all.

We think that if Herbert Hoover should fire that negro who has been holding that good job as Customs House official in New Orleans and replace him with a white man, it will go a long way toward making a lot of friends in the South for the incoming President.

We think it was good news today that the under passes on the Santa Fe would soon be put in. We have been waiting a long time for them, and we are of the opinion that we should not have to wait much longer for the work to begin.

We think the people of Lubbock should respond liberally to the call of the Salvation Army in collecting a large number of toys, etc. for the poor of that city, who are unable to obtain food and clothing to say nothing of the little things to brighten the lives of the children of such families.

We think that the fellows that claim that advertising does not pay should listen to what Sampson did. He took two columns and brought down the house.

We think it used to be true that the hand that rocked the cradle ruled the world, but we are doubtful that this is true in this day and time most of them that rules the world, are not much on rocking the cradle.

We think that life is too short to listen to scandal, but it seems that a great many people will waste a lot of precious time in getting their ears full of such dope.

We think that a great many of us even get experience on the installment plan.

And it is of course obvious that any habit which tends even slowly to undermine the body and the mind reduces at a terrific rate the likelihood of greatness or the winning of distinction in the world.

Keeping Cool. "Keep cool and you command everybody." The moment a man loses his temper and his self control he puts himself at such a disadvantage that almost everybody who can beat his mind can beat him. It is true for the mind and the body. PRESS COMMENTS

COOLIDGE ADVOCATES CO-OPERATION

There is sound logic in the statement of President Coolidge, in his address before the National Grange on November 16, in which he asserted that co-operation will enable the farmer to place agriculture upon a prosperous basis.

An organization to sell at the right time in the right place was pictured as a means of efficiency. The president has repeatedly announced his opposition to the equalization plan of the McNary-Haugen bill. He stated that he sees future peril in a subsidy and wants the government kept out of farming as he wants it to keep out of other lines of industry.

The president insists that co-operation is the remedy, not legislation proposing subsidies, though he admitted that legislation designed to foster co-operation would aid. He asserted that one of the greatest handicaps of agriculture is temporary overproduction; that the world is hungry and can consume all that the farmers produce. But, he points out, these temporary surpluses, unless controlled, will continue to reap against agricultural property, so long as the farmers fail to co-operate to protect their own interests.

Co-operation, especially in connection with agriculture, is still in its infancy, President Coolidge said; but asserted that it is sound in theory and when conducted in a business like way promises to be a successful solution. He pointed out that it avoids price fixing; that it would control surplus by means of orderly distribution; and that it would not put the government into business. The latter, he stated, would be fatal to the independence of the farmers, which is expected to convene March 1, will stress the necessity of following these policies in framing the proposed farm relief bill. Many members of the farm bloc, formerly ardent advocates of the equalization fee program and will favor the extension of co-operation as a means for controlling surpluses of both staples and perishables.

To formulate a co-operate plan which will be generally acceptable to the agricultural interests will be an extremely difficult task, as those who have taken leadership in farm co-operative programs can testify. However, in recent years the farmers of the United States have received a liberal education in the value of co-operation. They are exhibiting a tendency to accept able and constructive leadership along that line, and it is probable that with the government presenting a plan to be worked out upon a national scope they can be induced to accept.—Brownsville Herald.

It is unfortunate that growth and progress have by-products which are not so pleasing. Among these is that of jealousy among communities in a given area for recognition and other advantages.

Recently there have appeared in newspapers over this region petty bickerings among various cities and communities. To the communities involved the matters treated seem to assume an exaggerated importance. To the outsider, looking from the side-lines they look very insignificant and often quite silly.

Jealousy between towns and cities is one of those things which sap vitality, build barriers to growth and serve no good end. When a town sends a team onto a field to play against some other town, it expects its team to get in there and play hard to win, but if it can't always win, not to resort to that distasteful expediency of blaming it all on the umpire.

We sum it up in the term, "Good Sportsmanship." Why can't communities, in their strivings and competitions be "good sports" too? We would all get much farther much more rapidly.—Childrens Index.

PHILIPPINES DECLARED TO BE PROSPERING

By Major General Frank McIntyre Chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs.

Frank McIntyre was born at Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 5, 1865. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama, the United States Military Academy, and the United States Army Staff School. He was promoted through the grades from second lieutenant to major general in 1917. Chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs since 1912, he has been affiliated with the bureau since 1903. He took part in the Spanish-American war and was assistant chief of staff during the World War. He has been awarded the distinguished service medal and decorations from several foreign countries. His home is in Washington D. C.

This has been an excellent year for the Philippine government and the Philippine people. Finances are in excellent condition. Public order is good, the conditions of health and sanitation have steadily improved. The Philippines are doing with the status of a nation and trade and production and evidence of continued progress.

The committee of congress has a great deal of time to consider bills affecting the Philippines. One of the most important, known as the "Kloss bill" and urged by both the war department and the governor general of the Philippine islands, provided for an increase in the salaries of the 13 officials of the Philippine government appointed by the president and for the setting aside from the United States internal revenue collected on Philippine products of $120,000 per annum for the salary, travel and other expenses of certain civilian assistants in the office of the governor general. Congress passed an act increasing the salaries of the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme of the Philippine islands. This is gratifying, as it partially meets the recommendation of the bureau, made annually since 1920, for increases in the salaries of all the officials of the Philippine government appointed by the president.

THIS HAS HAPPENED... Jerry had merely an adjunct, Jerry had made good. Nothing else mattered.

Stars sneaked down Jerry's cheeks when Evelyn hugged and kissed her. "Aren't we funny?" she said. "Who saw me?"

"Flowers for Miss Ray," someone yelled from the door. Jerry started to run toward it, but Evelyn pulled her back.

Mr. Hule was tearing his hair. Mr. Weizerts out front with his guests, mouthed an imaginary cigar between his lips and groaned inwardly.

Mr. Weizerts nodded. He knew it, he'd told Harsell his big idea was no good. You couldn't whet jaded appetites by overdressing the girls just to add a kick to their scanty appearance in the last act.

She saw rows and rows of people who melted into an indistinguishable, composite picture. A picture that carried to Jerry an impression of patience, of carefree interest.

In the first row a woman lifted her hands to applaud. Jerry caught the flash of jewels on her wrist. The woman's companion was watching Jerry, trying to make her look at him.

She found herself thrilling now to the knowledge that her stage fright had passed, that actually she was before the public and enjoying it. The spell of the theatre began to weave itself about her.

Curran. A thunder of applause hysterical people congratulating themselves and each other in the relief of the moment.

Mr. Hule grim. "Well," he said. "No, mah! No!" It was the producer, a hand on his director's shoulder. "We're going over. When a first act gets them like that... 'They'll tire.'"

Jerry heard no more. Encore! For the start, of course, but the audience wanted the chorus, too—the little girls in bridesmaid costumes. Jerry was one of them.

Appeal Courts... AMARILLO, Dec. 5.—The following proceedings were had in the court of civil appeals for the seventh district at Amarillo today.

"Hurry," Evelyn cried, as she saw Jerry come running up the stairs. "What in the world did you do that for?" she whispered a second later as they danced out to join the company in ensemble for the closing song.

"Mrs. Dwight has a telegram for me and she wouldn't let me have it," Jerry whispered back. "Of course not," Evelyn replied under her breath.

"Bad news," Jerry hadn't thought of that. And why, she asked herself now, should Alister send her a telegram when he was in the house?

Others in the chorus had received flowers, too, and telegrams, but the messages had been received at their hotels, or earlier in the day at the theater.

"It's against the rules in Mr. Weizerts's productions," "But the show's almost over." "Then you can wait," Mrs. Dwight said firmly. "I never break the rule, Miss."

Jerry rushed back to the wings. Tel. 1087 511 Myrick Bldg. S. B. HAYNES Architect LUBBOCK, TEXAS

Kiddies Originate Novel Yuletide Cards

plea of not guilty. Attorneys are to marshal their witnesses, and for the first time since Mathews fell to the sidewalk details of the shooting and the incidents which lead up to the slaying are to be disclosed.

McCraw leaped to his feet shouting, "that's contemptible insinuation," and Judge Pippen hammered for order.

PRIVILEGE PLEA OVERRULED. A plea of privilege, seeking to move the case of Leonard Pearson versus H. E. Edwards, from the Lubbock county court to the Floyd county court, was overruled by Judge Charles Nordyke Wednesday. The case is a suit on contract to recover attorney's fees.

ABERNATHY COUPLE WED. A marriage license was issued Wednesday to W. L. Nesbitt and Miss Emel Dunn, of Abernathy. The couple were married at the courthouse by "Uncle Billy" Clark, justice of the peace, being the 21st couple he has married.

$100 FINE IS ASSESSED. One fine of $100 was assessed and collected in city police court Wednesday, following a charge of drunkenness and gaming. Two other fines were paid, both of $15, one being for disturbing the peace and one for vagrancy.

A toy duck, outlined in holiday red, may waddle across a cream-colored page suggesting a merry holiday by his comical appearance. Little Billy, the baby, seated on his hobby horse, is no mean decoration for a family greeting card. The children can draw themselves roller or ice skating, sliding on sleds, standing on their heads or whatever they do. But the easiest thing is to keep the cards impersonal and use toys, pets, the fireplace, the front door or any other thing the children themselves think of. Once started, their little brains prove very fertile.

Simple Sentiments. Love, complicated, sentimental verses are rarely personal. It means much more to your friends if your cards convey a few words that carry a real message from you to them. That is why children may prove veritable geniuses in writing the inscriptions. For they are so simple and sincere, whatever they hit upon is apt to have a fine ring to it as well as be very original.

Since Christmas cards have become so universal an exchange, there is little value in trying to "outdo" your friends in expense. Therefore, these simple greetings are admirable. At very small cost, the drawings and the message may be reprinted on colored cardboard, in either postcard or folder form.

Most adults remember the old days when children always looked forward to making the Christmas presents, and recall the thrill of pleasure there is in participation.

Tradition Plays Part In Life Of Bicycle Prodigy

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—If ever an example of inherited ability, or at least inherited tradition, as a factor in the making of an athlete were seen, it is Jimmy Walthour, Jr.

His father and his uncle, Bobby, sr., twin brothers, were famous riders, not to mention his older cousin, Bobby, jr., while the mother of this 18-year-old cycling sensation used to be the Princeton half of the Walthour and Princeton-vanderbilt team whose stock in trade was a bicycling track.

The world's youngest six-day bicycle rider as seen through the eyes of his most ardent fan, his mother, is just a kid who "never wanted to play with toys unless they had wheels on them."

"From the time I was three years old," said Mrs. Jimmy Walthour, sr., "Young Jimmy could ride a bike. Anything that would go always had a fascination for him and you couldn't keep him off a bicycle after the time he first saw one. No wonder he can ride with the best of them now!"

Her eyes went back to the white pine saucer where 18-year-old Jimmy today was whirling with the six day pack.

REFORESTATION FOSTERED. RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—To aid farmers in reforestation of areas not providing natural forest growth, the state has 250,000 pine seedlings, grown at a state nursery, for distribution next spring.

HAPPY GETS RATE SLASH. AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—The fire insurance key rate of the town of Happy, Swisher county, will be cut from 81 to 71 cents, J. W. Dewesse, fire insurance commissioner, announced today.

3500 FOR STOLEN CHICKENS. WHITWELL, Tenn. (AP)—James Stevenson, farmer, discovered a coop of fowls he had prepared for market had disappeared. But in his path lay a pocketbook containing $300, for which he found no claimant.

BOND ELECTION. (Continued From Page 1) for the order of this election, and thinking too, that possibly Mr. Pinkston had failed to receive order, the court, through courtesy to him, delayed the action on this bond election until Monday, December 10, which will be the day of a regular meeting of the court.

"There is on file now in the county clerk's office, for the commissioners' court, a petition, with more than 300 names on it, requesting the court to order a bond election for a million dollars to take up $2,000 or bond district number 1 outstanding roads and to finance the paving of the highways, which petition will be acted on at the December 10, and the election ordered for Saturday, January 12, 1929.

To Give Department Authority. "The three commissioners present this afternoon, and myself, want to state in this statement to the people of Lubbock, that we have the authority of the highway commission not to spend any money in constructing highways whose type and quality does not meet the approval of the highway commission and that the highway department will do our best to make any demands on the highway department as to the nature or quality of the roads to be built in Lubbock county, leaving the matter of what kind of kind of roads that is being built to Lubbock county highway authority to the discretion of the highway department."

In canvassing the results of last Saturday's election, the fact was revealed that there were five voting boxes in the county which did not give the proposition a single vote, while only one box in the county voted the necessary two-thirds. The five boxes failing to give ballots favorable to the other bond issue were, Foster, Slide, Center, Hardy and Abernathy.

The only box voting the two-thirds for it was that of Acuff, its vote being 42 for and 21 against, an exact two-thirds vote.

How the Votes Went. Following is the list of votes as officially canvassed by the commissioners, which show a total of 1,378 votes for the bond issue and 2,292 votes against it, a majority of all votes goes against the proposal by 714 votes:
