Weather Slows Jaycee Rodeo

Though blowing sand and threatening rain interfered with the second and third performances, Jaycees managed to "just about" break even on the annual Tahoka Rodeo staged here last Friday and Saturday.

In fact, if it had not been for a fine crowd Friday night, the organization would have "gone in the hole."

Those who saw the show, however, were not disappointed. Even then, the Saturday afternoon and night performances were better than on Friday night, although only small crowds braved the sandstorms to witness the events.

This was the third year in a row the weather had interfered with the show.

There were 102 cowboy entrants, and competition was heated for the prize money. Stock, furnished by Morris Stephens of Silverton, lived up to expectations, and in many cases the animals were too rough for the riders.

Announcers Clint Walker and Earl Grider and Don Smith of Littlefield, the rodeo clown, helped fill out the program on entertainment.

Miss Doris Jean Clinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clinton, was crowned Rodeo Queen for having sold the most advance tickets.

The Post Sheriff's Posse took first place among the riding groups, Terry county was second, and Dawson was third. The Lynn county posse rode but did not compete for the prize money.

The parade Friday afternoon was the best ever staged in Tahoka. There were 164 horseback riders in the event, including Sheriff's Posses, individual riders, and a group of old T-Bar ranch cowhands.

Post Posse was represented by 28 riders, Dawson by 14, Terry by 14, Lubbock by one, Lynn county by 24, and the T-Bar ranch

Jaycees Will Elect Officers

Thirteen members and one guest, Bill Haralson, coach of Tahoka High football team, met at the Legion Hall Wednesday noon for their regular luncheon.

A report on the rodeo, up to date, was made by Wendell Moore, financial chairman.

Next Wednesday, June 3, election of new officers will be held. The nominating committee, composed of James Huey, Jimmy Dykes, Pat Patterson, and James Tippit, submitted the following nominations to the club, to be voted on: President, Geno Jones: vice president, Tucker Williams and Dan Curry; secretary, Wendell Moore and Dwayne Vaughn; treasurer, Charles McClellan and Granvel Ayer; directors, Seth Lewis, H. L. McMillan, Jr., Bill Chancy, and Dub Gurley. The new officers elected will take office July 1.

Mexican Fined In Liquor Case

Antonio Mendoza, New Home Mexican, was fined $350.00 and costs in county court Monday on a plea of guilty before Judge W. M. Mathis to a charge of illegal possession of beer, wine and whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Mendoza was arrested last midweek when Sheriff "Booger" Redwine and officers of the State Liquor Control board made a raid on his farm home.

Another Mexican, Leo Lopez, arrested the same night on another farm at New Home and charged with a similar offense, pleaded not guilty. His case has been set for trial on June 9.

Gail School Has First Graduation

The first graduating class of Borden County High School, Gail, held its commencement exercises Thursday, May 28, in the high school auditorium.

Members of the graduating class were: Brent Murphy, Margaret Sexton, Bill Staggs, and James Worley.

Honor students wer Margaret Sexton, valedictorian, who had an average of 95.5, and Bill Staggs, salutatorian, with an average og 89. Dr. John Carroll, head of the Department of Education at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, was the main speaker.

The class will leave on their senior trip to New Orleans, La., on May 30. On the week-long trip they will visit San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Galveston, Biloxi, and Dallas.

Rev. Caswell Goes To Perry, Okla

Rev. Bervin Caswell, pastor of a Methodist Church in El Paso and family have been here several days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Caswell, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sherrill, all of Draw.

Rev. Caswell is being moved to the First Methodist Church in Ferry, Okla., a city of about 6,000 population. He has made an outstanding record for a young minister. His church at El Paso just recently raised $28,000 for an educational building.

Rev. Silas Dixon, pastor at Draw, says the community is justly proud of Rev. Caswell and of four other Methodist pastors who were reared at Draw.

Rev. G. P. McCollom, once a resident of the community, is district superintendent of the Wichita Falls district of the North Texas Conference.

Rev. Claude LeMond is pastor at Sudan, an outstanding small town church.

Rev. Billy Porterfield is pastor at Gruver, on the North Plains, which has built a $150,000 church under his leadership.

Rev. John Sewell is pastor at Franklinton, Louisiana, where he has led in the building of a $100,000 church structure.

It is doubtful if there is a small community anywhere that has turned out five Methodist praechers all of whom are going upward in the ministry such as are these five men.

Poppy Sale Nets Veterans Nice Sum

Proceeds from the poppy sale conducted by the VFW Auxiliary group on May 23 were approximately $163, according to Mrs. Albert Curry, president.

Mrs. Curry gave special praise to the teen-age girls who aided the Auxiliary in carrying out this year's sale. The girls were: Karen Kidwell, Kay Settle, Gloria Best, Margie Curry, Sue Williams Ann Reasonover, Jo Ann Curry, Ruth Curry, and Peggy Halamicek.

The monthly unit social will be held Thursday, May 28, at 8 p. m., in the home of Mrs. Bill Griffin. Mrs. Laudie Smith will be co-hostess.

City Is Patching Local Paving

City of Tahoka workmen are engaged in patching and repairing paving over the town.

"Sinks" in the brick paving and holes in the asphalt paving are being filled with asphalt.

Most of the paving in the city really needs a new seal-coat of asphalt, but this will not be applied at this time.

County Finances In Good Shape, Report Indicates

In the Lynn County financial report for the first four months of 1953 in The News last week, there was a "slight" error of $36,000.00.

In the balance of the Precinct and Lateral Road Fund No. 1, the figure should have read $15,486.68 instead of $51,486.68.

The Lynn County Commissioners' Court has been complying with the new publication laws in publishing these financial statements in order that the citizens of this county may keep up with the county's financial business.

This last report showed that Lynn County's financial condition is good. The officers' salary fund deficit has been cut considerably, and all other funds are operating "in the black."

Naturally, however, this soon after taxpaying time, the county has money on hand, and most of the funds may be expected to dwindle as the year advances.

Bobby Boyd Is Platoon Leader Ross Volunteers

Bobby K. Boyd of Tahoka, a junior student majoring in history, has been elected as a platoon leader for the school year of 1953-'54 in the famed Ross Volunteers at Texas A. and M. College.

The Ross Volunteers is a crack honor guard organization which is called on frequently by top functions of the state because of its impressive presentation of precision drill.

Boyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Boyd of Tahoka, and is a graduate of Tahoka High School.

Vacation Bible School Closes

With boys and girls wishing it lasted another week, the Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church closes today, Friday.

All attendance records have been broken with 52 workers giving freely of their time for the benefit of the 248 enrolled. There had been an average attendance of 207 through Wednesday of this week.

At the commencement program last night, diplomas were awarded to all those enrolled with special awards for those with perfect attendance. Each department presented a part of the program and at the close of the meeting, parents and visitors were conducted through the various departments to observe the display of handwork.

As a special feature for the closing session today, home-made ice cream is to be served.

Mrs. Truett Smith has served as principal of the school and has been aided by a splendid group of workers who have made possible the best school in the history of the church.

HEARD RESIGNS—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has announced the resignation of Dow Heard, head of the department's submerged lands division.

Heard was a leading figure in the state's successful fight for recovery of its tidelands. He has been in Washington since January representing the state in connection with tidelands legislation.

In comment on Heard's resignation Shepperd said "Texas owes Heard a great debt of gratitude for an outstanding and conscientious job in securing the return of our tidelands."

Heard has been an assistant attorney general since 1949. He assisted in several other major lawsuits, including the injunction against telegraph and telephone companies to stop racetrack and bookie joint service.

Methodists Are At Conference

Six Lynn county Methodist pastors this week are attending the annual Northwest Texas Conference in session at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Abilene, Wednesday through Sunday.

First place was taken by the colorful Santa Rosa Palomino Club of Vernon, and the Hockley County Posse was second.

The largest crowd in history 5,000, attended the opening performance Wednesday night.

The Stampede rodeo runs through Saturday night.

Mrs. Charley Clinton has been very ill this week, and it became necessary for her to take a blood transfusion Wednesday. Her sons, Lee Roy and Edgar, both of Lubbock, have been visiting her.

Bathing Revue Features Opening Swimming Pool

Plans are being made for a formal opening program in about two or three weeks for the new Tahoka swimming pool, which is nearing completion on the 11-acre City park site in south Tahoka.

On request of the City Council, a Tahoka Chamber of Commerce committee composed of Clint Walker, Otis Spears, and Alton Cain is arranging a program for the formal opening.

Mrs. A. C. (Myrna Dean) Verner heads a committee which will conduct a bathing beauty contest. All unmarried girls residing in Lynn county are eligible to enter, and may register now at the office of Clint Walker or at any time until the opening.

Mayor E. R. Edwards has promised to make the first dive to open the pool. There will be a diving exhibition by some experts from Lubbock, and a Boy Scout swimming race.

Mr. Walker said the opening will be held in the late evening, or at night.

An exact date for completion of the pool has not been given by the Paddock Pools company, but water will probably run in some time next week.

Concrete work is being completed this week, sanitary filter equipment is being installed, and the 20 by 60 foot bath house is nearing completion. Several days will be required for finishing touches. A chain-link fence will surround the swimming and wading pools.

Meanwhile, city workmen are busy improving about half of the parksite, on which trees and grass are being planted. Civic organizations of the town are being asked to take certain projects of the park for development as a suitable playground for the people of Lynn county.

MRS. T. R. ODELL

Mrs. Odell Guest Speaker At Haskell

Mrs. T. R. Odell, Lynn county elementary school supervisor, recently was the guest speaker at the 16th annual banquet of the Progressive Study Club at Haskell.

The Haskell Free Press has the following to say in regard to her appearance there:

"Theme of Mrs. Odell's address was a tribute to past presidents of the club. More than any other person, Mrs. Odell was responsible for the organization and was principal sponsor in forming the club while she was a teacher in Haskell High School in 1937. She has been devotedly termed the 'Club Mother' by members who recall Mrs. Odell's wise counsel and advice which kept the organization from being disbanded during the days of World War II.

"Mrs. Odell, now elementary supervisor in Lynn county schools, is a former member of the Magazine Club, former PTA president, and served on the district and state boards of the Congress of Parents and Teachers. After teaching in Haskell High School, she was on the faculty of McMurry College, and later Hardin-Simmons University before going to her present post in Lynn county."

Lewis Allsup At Shriner Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allsup last Friday and Saturday attended the annual Texas Shriners Convention in session in El Paso. Lewis is a member of Khiva Temple of Amarillo, which won the drill championship for 1953 at the convention.

Incidentally, Lewis at the age of 23 was one of the youngest Shriners ever initiated into Khiva Temple when he became a Shriner several years ago.

The Allsups also visited his sisters who live in El Paso.

Frank Gotch was one of the greatest wrestlers of all time.

Unusual weather is the usual thing in this section.

And the past week has lived up to West Texas' reputation for the unexpected. The seven days, Wednesday of last week through Tuesday of this week, was the record heat wave for May in the history of the Tahoka station of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

In fact, last Friday's high of 106 degrees was one of the hottest, if not the hottest, days ever recorded here. Average high for the period was 100 degrees; the average low was 67.

Another unusual factor is the fact that a low of 34 degrees was recorded the first week in May. And, another is the fact that sandstorms have possibly been worst this month than any other May on record.

The heat wave was broken temporarily by slightly cooler weather Thursday morning.

Moisture for the year to date has totaled only 2.50 inches, as compared to only 4.79 up to June 1 last year.

And the drouth continues. The 1952 total rainfall was 14.21 inches. The 1951 total rainfall was 10.91 inches.

Records for the past week follow:

	High	Low	Precip.
May 20	94	61	.00
May 21	102	63	.00
May 22	106	68	.00
May 23	101	68	.54
May 24	100	70	.00
May 25	101	69	.00
May 26	98	68	.00
May 27	94	64	.00

High for month, 106 degrees.

Low for month, 34 degrees.

Precipitation for month, .52 inches.

Odds AND Ends

(BY E. L. THE ELDER)

The Waco tornado by this time has doubtless become ancient history to most of you people who live as far away as Tahoka, Lubbock, and other cities and towns of the South Plains but it is still the main subject of conversation by almost every group of people that gathers for any purpose here in Waco. And it has monopolized the attention not only of the people of Waco but also of hundreds of thousands of people that live many miles from Waco, if one is to judge by the thousands who have been swarming into the city to view the wreckage. Most of them were sorely disappointed, however, for prior to last Saturday, police turned them back before they reached that portion of the business district which had been hardest hit. First they were stopped at 8th St., which is eight blocks west of the Brazos River; then later they were allowed to go on east to 5th St.; then to 3rd; and only on Saturday was the whole area opened up clear to the Brazos River. The last area opened was the original public square, in the center of which stands the City Hall, but traffic lanes are still marked out through the square and city police still direct traffic through these lanes.

For the first time since I came down here, I had the opportunity and the privilege Saturday afternoon of traversing, with two of my sisters who live here, the the whole storm-stricken area and of crossing the new bridge across the Brazos and viewing the destruction wrought by the tornado in East Waco. But I am not going to try to describe the destruction we saw. I could not do that if I were to try; and if I could do that you would not read it. The story would be too long and the scenes too far away. The destruction on Franklin Street or on Austin Street or on Washington Street or on any other particular street would not mean much to the most of you, for the most of you have not lived in Waco nor visited Waco often enough to become acquainted with the geography of the town. So, I am not going into details to tell you the story again in this column.

The death and destruction wrought by this tornado does constitute one of the most terrible disasters that Texas ever suffered, second possibly only to the great Galveston storm of 1900 when some 7,000 people lost their lives. It is rivaled only by another destructive storm that swept the Gulf and the coast country in 1902, by a gas explosion that blew up the public school building and took the lives of hundreds of children some 15 or more years ago at Overton in Rusk county, and by the terrific series of explosions at Texas City a few years ago. The toll of life taken by those explosions was shockingly great, but the great miracle respecting the Waco tornado, considering the property damage and the number of buildings destroyed, lies in the fact that only 114 lives were taken and only 350 others were seriously hurt. Any one who today makes a tour of inspection and takes note of the number of wrecked business houses and wrecked homes in the city marvels that the dead list did not run into the thousands instead of hundreds. This is obvious even in the face of the fact that most of the rubbish and the ruins of wrecked buildings and cars and the multitude of the limbs torn from fine trees have been removed from the streets and consigned to junk yards and heaped up in inaccessible gorges away from the gaze of the public and much of the evidence of the horror that attended and immediately followed the passage of the storm has been eliminated. Any person who sees Waco today will see a city of broken and cracked and tumbled-down walls but he will not see the horror that he would have seen two weeks ago if he could have toured the storm-stricken areas at that time.

Possibly I can make some comparisons, however, that will make the enormity of the destruction clear and understandable by the people of Tahoka and Lynn county. The picture will not be perfect though because of the great differences that are to be found in the characteristics of the two cities of Waco and Lubbock, which two cities I am going to use for the comparisons.

In the first place, Waco is a much older city than Lubbock, being more than a hundred years old, and the homes of all the prominent or well-to-do families of its early years were built in the old Colonial style of the Southern plantation owners prior to the Civil War. Many of those houses are still standing. Most of them are well-preserved and hand some homes even yet. They give Waco an air of dignity and culture that is not to be found in the ordinary modern city. Waco has had wonderful growth, however, in the last fifteen or twenty years. Most of this growth consists of about the same character of modern homes, cottages, and apartment houses that are characteristic of Lubbock and of many other modern cities and towns. Across the Brazos River from the main city of Waco, is that portion of the city known as East Waco. Most of the Negroes and the Mexicans of the city live in East Waco together with a quite a sprinkling of white people, most of them of the poorer classes. This area corresponds roughly with the "Flats" in Lubbock.

The population of Waco according to the last census was 84,300, but it has grown much in the past three years, and with all of its outlying suburbs it is believed now to have a population considerably more than 100,000. Two army airfields are situated near the city and other military and government projects have been established in the city. Waco also has about 300 minor manufacturing establishments. That will give you a fair idea as to the size and character of the city as compared with Lubbock.

Now suppose that this tornado had hit Lubbock instead of Waco. Here is about what you would have found as a result.

The court house would still be standing as it is today, and probably the Federal building too, but practically every building on the east side of the square would be a mass of ruins, with some jagged and broken walls messing up the picture.

Likewise, a not a building on the north side of the square would be standing except the Lubbock National Bank building and the remains of badly damaged or totally destroyed business houses against which masses of limbs torn from the trees on the courthouse lawn would be lodged together with the remains of numerous cars, both old and new, which would have been smashed against or under falling walls or tossed about like playthings and finally lodged against the wrecked buildings.

Half the buildings on the south likewise would have been wrecked or too badly damaged to be used without repairs being made.

Now look up Broadway clear to Avenue Q, and you will see other masses of ruins. The Lubbock Hotel will be standing, practically undamaged, the Lubbock General Hospital will be intact, and the former Church of Christ building will have sustained little damage, but the First Methodist Church will be such a pile of ruins as to make the angels weep. O, they will have church services in it Sunday, for the ragged walls are still standing, and the ceiling and the roof are still in place but the big spires and the outside embelishments are all gone. It looks as dejected and forlorn as a plumed fowl whose brightest feathers have all been drenched with rain and plucked out and the silken down that was left smeared and bespattered with mud. The hearts of those who worship within will necessarily be just as rent and broken as are the tower and the spires that now lie prone and broken in the slush and mud of the adjacent street. Half the business houses from the courthouse to Avenue Q are either demolished outright or are badly damaged. Hemphill & Wells is temporarily closed and so also is Sears & Roebuck. Look from the Caprock Hotel up Main Street and you will find the same story of destruction. Look south from the Baptist Bookstore on Ave. Q to 19th Street, and again you will find many roofs battered, window lights broken out, some of the buildings destroyed, wreckage and rubbish all over the street, numerous cars smashed flat and ready for the junk yard. Most of 19th street presents a similar picture. The largest and strongest houses are the only ones that are left standing. Little damage has been done to west and southwest Lubbock and few Texas Tech buildings seemingly were touched by the mad demons of the air; but now run on out to the Arnett-Benson Baptist Church in northwest Lubbock and take a peep. Look at the roof hoisted up at one corner and smashed down at another corner Walls cracked and ruined. The building will have to be torn down and rebuilt from scratch. It has its counterpart in the Emmanuel Baptist Church on Bell's Hill in southwest Waco. It was a frame building but much larger than the Arnett-Benson Church. Its membership consisted of laboring people mostly, very religious folks and active church workers. They are already raising funds with which to rebuild their church and are holding their services in a tent until a new house of worship can be constructed. Some of the wreckage of their demolished house of worship can be salvaged but the major protion of the required material must be purchased new. The pastor of that church is Rev. Tilson F. Maynard, who once taught school at Three Lakes in Lynn county and later did the preaching in a successful revival meeting in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka. He is one of the ablest and most vigorous preachers in Waco and is highly esteemed and loved by the ministry and the laity alike throughout central Texas.

* * *

Now let's come back from the Arnett-Benson Church through the main business section of Lubbock lying between and along Broadway and Main streets, from Avenue Q to the underpass running under the Santa Fe tracks just east of the court house square, if we can manage to get through the rubbish and ruins of wrecked buildings and cars and tree limbs to a point south of the courthouse, and take a look south down Avenue H. Well, all those second-hand places of business and some of the more substantial buildings will constitute one continuous impassable road through some imaginary tangled jungle that leads down to Hades.

I know of no building in Lubbock which I can compare to the R. T. Dennis six-story building in Waco whose walls fell onto the Joy Theatre when the tornado hit, killing 22 of the employees in the Dennis store, several persons in the theatre, and at least two persons, a University Professor and his wife, who had driven up and parked their car at the curb just a moment before the tornado hit. The wall came tumbling down on his car also, flattening it out like a pan cake with the two people on the inside.

So, folks, if you can imagine Lubbock wrecked as I have described, you will possibly have some conception of what Waco looked like after the storm; though I assure you that I have underdrawn the picture and have in no respect overdrawn it.

* * *

Yes, on last Thursday morning for the first time I got down in to the storm-wrecked business section but I did not get to see it all.

On Saturday they threw all the bars down except around the City Hall in the middle of the old public square. We were permitted to go through that area guided by the police.

I saw every wrecked or badly damaged business house in the city, unless it was some small store or other unimportant business house in East Waco. A few places which had been utterly wrecked, like the R. T. Dennis building and the Joy Theatre, I did not see, for they had been reduced to kindling wood and the splinters had been hauled away. But there was the barren lot where the two buildings had stood, as barren as your floor, good lady, with not a thing on it but a policeman who was standing guard, and a chair for him to sit in whenever he got too tired. Yes, and we went across the Brazos River on the new Waco Drive four-lane bridge that spans the stream, and proceeded to drive carefully over many of the streets of East Waco. That part of the city had been hard hit from a material standpoint, many of the squalid houses having been un-roofed or toppled over by the storm; but remarkably few of the inhabitants had been killed or seriously hurt. The Lord seems to have been kind to the poor and lowly. And now the Red Cross and possibly the Government are going to help them. It should be noted also that Paul Quinn College, a Negro institution, was scarcley damaged at all, and a new spick and span First Baptist Church for Negroes, recently built on the west side of the Brazos, also escaped unhurt.

Practically no damage was done to any building on Baylor University grounds, though Baylor now has many fine buildings, and many Baptists are inclined to regard this fact as providential. But, providential too then must have been the sad fact that a Baylor Professor and his wife drove up to the Dennis building and parked just in time to get killed. They both were greatly esteemed and beloved.

Furthermore, it seems providential that practically all of the school children were dismissed from their respective schools and permitted to reach their homes before the storm struck and did serious damage to some of the buildings.

Yes, it in fact seems remarkable that while property damage in the city mounted up to the colossal sum of 57 million dollars, according to engineering experts, the storm took the lives of only 114 persons out of a population of more than 100,000. That is not only remarkable; it seems to have been actually providential. And "providential' seems to be too weak a word. We should say that it was "miraculous."

A reduction in expenditures can be expected this year on farms that make large purchases of feed and livestock and reductions in cash returns will be greatest on farms whose products have dropped fartherest in price since 1952, such as beef cattle.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A plan to solve newsprint problem is before Congress.

* * *

Background data supporting this plan was amassed during Senate Small Business Committee study of newsprint situation about a year ago. Facts were found, for example, that the U. S. press depends on Canada for 80% of its newsprint supply where producers appear to operate as a monopoly.

C.W. Harder

* * *

It is time for action, says Sen. Francis Case (Rep. S. D.).

* * *

He has introduced a bill that will permit a newsprint industry in the vast Tongass National Forests of Southeastern Alaska

* * *

Although these reserves were held inviolate for years, recently permission was granted an international firm to cut pulp timber to make cellulose.

* * *

Senator Case feels time has come to protect interests of independent U. S. publishers.

* * *

His bill has several interesting provisions. A private company shall operate Alaskan newsprint industry. It must agree to reserve a certain percentage of production to meet needs of American newspapers with circulation of 10,000 or less.

* * *

In addition, the bill recognizes the financial problems faced in establishing an Alaskan newsprint industry. Therefore, the emergency rapid tax amortization allowed major U. S. industries will be granted. As it costs around $70,000 per ton of capacity to build a newsprint plant, the bill also provides RFC may loan up to $50 million, to be paid back over 50 years.

* * *

Strenuous objection to this bill from both domestic and foreign sources can be expected. Former State Department opposed action on newsprint problem.

* * *

But in Senator Case's mind the problem is quite simple.

* * *

Preservation of American liberties, both political and economic, rest on a free and independent press in the smaller communities of the nation.

* * *

Due to price gouging by Canadian newsprint producers, many publishers must spend 50 cents out of every dollar taken in just for paper. Mortality among independent newspapers has reached a new high.

* * *

On the other side of the picture, more and more the big cities are being served only with a chain newspaper. And due to what many consider laxity by the Federal Communications Commission, television and radio station ownership is being given to big combines, many of them also having interests in metropolitan newspapers.

* * *

Thus, more and more, weekly and small daily newspapers remain the only institutions where freedom of expression is found in the United States.

* * *

Opposition to this bill will undoubtedly claim this is a plan by which newspaper publishers are trying to use the government to feather their own nests.

* * *

But the facts are the major support comes from independent businessmen not connected with the publishing business. The leaders of these businessmen feel that as so goes the independent newspaper, so goes the freedom of enterprise in all fields of endeavor. The progress of this bill will be watched by millions.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Most any day it may be proposed in Congress to:

1. Repeal child labor law.
2. Repeal Food and Drug Act.
3. Repeal Minimum Wage Law.
4. Repeal Social Security Act.

* * *

However, whoever makes the proposal will not expect favorable Congressional action. The proposal will be made to focus attention on the battle over the attempt to repeal U. S. tariff laws.

C. W. Harder

* * *

In this fight to abolish tariff protection under the British-coined slogan "Trade, Not Aid", starry-eyed idealists are again being made dupes.

* * *

Idealists claim world trade should be free. Yet they fail to recognize, largely because they never have had to meet a payroll, that the ideal of free trade cannot exist where partners in commerce operate on different internal levels.

* * *

In order for independent American business and agriculture to compete, it would be necessary to operate on the same basis as competition.

* * *

This would require abolition of all laws prohibiting exploitation of men, women and children and of all sanitary laws.

* * *

But idealists, heads high in the clouds, do not see these details.

* * *

And with cloud wrapped heads they also fail to see real power behind the drive to repeal U. S. tariff laws.

* * *

But there are practical men studying the situation. For example, Congressman James B. Utt, (Calif.) recognizing the wolf in Granny's bed, has released significant figures.

* * *

He finds that just four U. S. firms have a total of 365 subsidiaries in foreign countries, some in nations where the yearly wages are less than $100.

* * *

Heads of some of these four firms have been loudly active on behalf of "free trade".

* * *

But free trade to them would only mean freedom to flood U. S. market with products of their foreign plants, underselling domestic producers and still making bigger profits than on their American production.

* * *

Congressman Utt also states under guise of "Reciprocal Trade Treaties" tariff protection is so badly breached, entire U. S. economy is on the brink of disaster with full return of buyers' market.

* * *

He claims American imports have increased 50% in volume, 50% in dollar value, while tariff duties have slipped from an average of 50% to 12%.

* * *

During sellers' market, U. S. has not been badly hurt, but with the return of full buyers' market, he predicts disaster.

* * *

Significantly, even though American imports are several times prewar level, a free trade condition has not prevailed.

* * *

In free trade, a nation's imports and exports should balance.

* * *

But while true American postwar exports have been at a high level, a major share of them, over $30 billions worth, has been free gifts. Or, as one Washington observer states it, "We have actually been experimenting with free trade, but with the result nothing has been free but U. S. taxpayers' dollars."

ORDER EASTERN STAR

County SCS Aid Land Owners

The Lynn Soil Conservation District is assisting land owners to establish conservation irrigation systems to consume the underground water supply, utilize all the rainfall, prevent erosion, and to maintain the production of the soil. Conservation irrigation is the management of the soil and water to get the maximum production through even distribution of the moisture, reduction of erosion, and a cropping system to improve the fertility. One phase of a conservation irrigation system is level borders or bench leveling with concrete pipe to distribute the water to the borders with the minimum loss. Disbributing water using open ditches usually allows a great loss in water in some instances as great as forty to fifty percent of that pumped. Every gallon of water pumped and not used for production lowers the farmers profit and reduces the under-ground supply

Kay K. Moore, chairman of the Lynn Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors, cites as a good example of level borders with concrete pipe for distribution on the sixty-two acres just completed on the Pat Swann farm. Swann was given engineering assistance by the Soil Conservation Service personnel. The borders are designed to get the water evenly spread over the tab which makes it necessary to consider the head of water, how fast the soil will take water, the water holding capacity of the soil which all goes to determine the length and width. This type of irrigation if properly managed will allow the least amount of water to be wasted by run-off or excessive application. Water lost through excessive application is wasted the same as if it had run down the road ditch.

The Lynn Soil Conservation District is interested in the conservation of both soil and water and have the necessary people to assist farmers in these problems Moore reminds us that our soil is like a bank account, it can only be drawn on so long with out a deposit or we will be broke.

Miss Betty Huddleston, James Foster, Tahoka Graduates, Marry At Post Church

Before an altar flanked by basket arrangements of white gladioli adn greenery, Miss Betty Huddleston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Huddleston of Grassland, became the bride of James Foster.

The vows of the double ring ceremony were exchanged Friday May 22, at 6 p. m., in the Church of Christ, Post, with J. C. Eubanks, minister, officiating.

Organ recordings offered the traditional wedding marches, and "I Love You Truly" was played during the ceremony.

The bride, choosing a navy blue dressmaker suit of sheen gabardine, wore a pastel blue straw hat with matching sheer nylon blouse and shoes. The bride's bouquet was a white orchid with white carnations with a cascade effect of ribbon and white split carnations. She wore an antique ruby belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Ray Young, of Post.

Miss Margie Roberts of Grassland, dressed in pastel blue linen fashioned with round collar, three-quarter length sleeves, and bolero, was the maid of honor. Miss Roberts wore navy accessories and carried a bouquet of white split carnations tied wth blue maline and ribbon.

Miss Wanda Norman, also of Grassland, was bridesmaid, wearing a costume identical with Miss Roberts.

Wayne Tekell, Tahoka, served as best man, and Charles Fulkerson, of Lubbock, acted as groomsman. Ushers, who were not a part of the wedding party, were Garland Huddleston, brother of the bride, and Wiley Curry.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mrs. Young in Post. Miss Gloria Young registered the guests, and Miss Ganelle Babb, Post, and Mrs. Charles Fulkerson, sister of the groom, presided over the refreshment table which carried out the bride's color scheme of blue and white, being laid on a white crochet cloth over a blue undercloth and centered by an arrangement of the attendant's bouquets, with blue decorations was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Foster of Rt. 1, Wilson, is a 1952 graduate of Tahoka High School. Mrs. Foster is also a 1952 Tahoka High School graduate.

The couple left on a short wedding trip to New Mexico.

The couple will be at home at 2220 16th street in Lubbock. Foster is employed by the Southwest Meat and Provision company of Lubbock.

Rites Read Here Wednesday for Miss Frances Marion Haney and John W. Wells

At a ceremony held at high noon, Miss Francis Marion Haney became the bride of John W Wells, Wednesday, May 27, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Haney.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wells, Sr., of Tahoka.

Traditional nuptial music was offered by Mrs. Marcus Edwards, aunt of the groom. The Rev. Jim H. Sharp, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the rites, which were read before the fireplace. A low arrangement of white chrysanthemums and blue daisies was on the mantel, and the fireplace was flanked by basket arrangements of the same flowers. Similar floral combinations were repeated throughout the receiving rooms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pastel blue Moygashel linen costume suit designed with a steel grey satin-back crepe blouse with a picture neckline. The matching linen jacket was lined with crepe. Her small halo hat, shoes, and bag were blue. The bride's bouquet of a white orchid arranged with stephanotis and blue forget-me-nots, was carried on a white prayer-book borrowed from Mrs. W. T. Clinton. For something old, she carried a linen handkerchief, a gift from Mrs. J. W. Maxwell of Austin.

Miss O'Gene Gill of Tahoka and Midland, was the bride's only attendant, wearing a plum shantung dress, matching hat, and navy accessories. She wore a white corsage.

Mr. Glenn D. Wells of Tahoka, brother of the groom, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held.

The table, laid on an Italian cut-work white linen cloth, was centered by a three-tiered white, bridal cake topped with a blue wedding bell and flowers. Featured on the table was a wedding gift, a silver candelabra with a crystal epergne, filled with flowers. Other table appointments were in silver and crystal. Dainty sandwiches and coffee were served with the wedding cake.

The bride and groom are graduates of Tahoka High School. Mrs. Wells is also a 1952 graduate of the School of Pharmacy at the University of Texas, where she was a member of Delta Zeta sorority. The groom is a business administration graduate of Texas Technological College, where he was a member of Delta Sigma Pi, national honorary business fraternity.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 1617 North Fifth street, Tahoka.

Wilson Shows Steady Growth

The little city of Wilson is undergoing possibly the greatest growth and development of any town on the Plains for its size, some of its proud citizens believe.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, under the leadership of its pastor, P. W. Heckmann, is erecting one of the finest and certainly the most beautiful church buildings in Lynn county. Work on the structure will possibly be completed next month.

Wilson School district is preparing to start work on $100,000 worth of improvements to the school plant. A $150,000 high school was erected two years ago.

Pat Campbell has just completed a very modern 25x60 foot building for the Wilson post office, which includes special built-in features found only in post offices of few towns much larger than Wilson. The building has a vault, rest rooms, special carrier's entrance, and storage room, in addition to the working space and foyer. The post office has real air-conditioning. Also, in the building is a 15x60 foot room to be rented out for offices.

Mr. Campbell has sold the old Post office building to the Wilson State Bank, which is preparing to enlarge the bank building to include this building.

Ira Clary has just recently completed a modern building for his service station at the intersection of the paved highways.

Plans have been made by C. G. Franks for rebuilding a modern theatre to replace the old show destroyed by fire.

Gatzki gin is rebuilding its plant, and the other two gins expect to make extensive improvements. A new hardware store also recently opened.

When Wilson voted bonds for its city water system, the "city dads" figured the plant would pay off if they could sign up sixty customers. Now, the number of water users has grown to 100, which is some indication of the growth the town is undergoing.

Thirty members of Phebe K. Warner Club, their families and guests, attended a barbecue Tuesday night, May 26, at the H. W. Carter home. This activity marked the close of the year's activities for this federated women's club, meetings resuming next September.

The social committee in charge of plans for the barbecue were Mesdames C. S. Thomas, Harold Green, and Roy Edwards.

A group, headed by Mrs. Green, is working out plans for a series of noontime dinners to be sponsored each Friday in June from 11:30 to 1:30 in the American Legion Hall in order to raise money to add to the Lynn County Library Building Fund. The first dinner will be given June 5, according to Mrs. Green.

At a recently sponsored spaghetti supper, the federated group cleared approximately $60.00 toward the Building Fund.

School Cafeteria Report Given

(By Archie Sims)

The Tahoka School lunch room began operation September 1, 1952, with a balance of $752.40. During September and October, we received $249.36 from the state which was due for 1951-'52 operation. This would actually make a balance at the beginning of the school year of $1,001.36.

During 1952-1953, the income from the state was $4,483.85. State income in 1951-1952 was $5,552.11. During 1952-'53 school term, 84,048 meals were served compared to 82,396 meals served the preceding year.

Even though more meals were served during the year just ended than the year before, the income from the state was less. The reason for this was that for every meal served in 1951-'52, with milk, the state donated 7 cents, whereas only 5 cents was given for the same type meal this year.

Income for school year, 1952-'53:

From student and adult luncnes	$21,536.31
From State	4,483.85
Total Income	$26.020.16
Total Expense (food, labor, and miscellaneaus)	24,684.74
Profit	$ 1,335.42
Balance at beginning of year	$ 1,001.76
Profit, 1952-'53	1,335.42
	$ 2,337,18
Balance in bank at close of year	$ 840.58
Due from State	1,496.60
Total	$ 2,337.18

An electric dish washer will be added to the lunch room at an estimated cost of $1,800.00, which will leave a little over $500.00 to begin operation with another year. The dish washer will save much labor for the lunch room ladies. Six ladies can probably operate the lunch room with the dish washer much easier than seven could without it.

Jan Thomas, Judy Thomas, Margaret and Kenneth Cawthron, Kay Howell, Kay Parker, Susan Thomas, Elaine Buchanan, Sue Walker, Geraldine Tippit, Jan McElroy, Linda Milliken, and Marla and Andy Bray.

Taxes on Texas farm and ranch property in 1952 were about 55 percent higher than in 1946 and were near the 1931 record high of 29 per cent and acre.

Recommendations from the State Nutrition Council on the home preservation of food are available at the offices of county home demonstration agents.

Miss Patsy McGinty And Dale Thomas Nuptial Rites Held at Church of Christ

In a colonial garden setting, bordered by a small picket fence and backed by trellises entwined with greenery and pastel spring flowers, Miss Patsy McGinty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McGinty, Tahoka, became the bride of Dale Thomas of Longview.

The vows of the double ring ceremony were exchanged Thursday, May 28, at 7:00 p. m., in the Church of Christ before a floral arch of greenery, white gladioli and daisies, flanked by urns of the same flowers in front of white candelabra. Tahoka minister, Doyle Kelsy, officiated.

Special music for the occasion was provided by the chorus from the Broadway Church of Christ, Lubbock, directed by Horace Coffman. Offering the traditional wedding marches, the chorus also sang "Through the Years" and "Be With Us, Lord," before the ceremony. Mr. Coffman, soloist, sang "Oh, Promise Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white with a short train and a bouffant satin skirt, inset with lace and gathered onto a pointed lace bodice. The bodice was styled with a high starched lace collar and long sleeves which came to a point over the hand. The bride's fingertip veil of nylon illusion, was gathered on a lace tiera, and her bouquet was a white orchid with stephanotis knotted in white ribbon streamers, carried on a white Bible belonging to Mrs. W. T. Clinton. She wore a single strand of pearls, the groom's wedding gift, and carried a white linen handkerchief belonging to an aunt, Mrs. O. M. McGinty of Spur.

The bride's attendants, her sister, Miss Marianna McGinty, maid of honor, and her cousin Miss Mary Draper, bridesmaid, wore identical ensembles of pastel green, antique taffeta, hooped skirts worn with sheer white nylon blouses having high necklines of gathered lace and three-quarter length sleeves. Each carried a miniature parasol of pink net on which was pinned a corsage of mixed pastel flowers.

The junior bridesmaids, wearing gowns of the same design, were Miss Nancy Draper, cousin of the bride, in an orchid skirt and yellow blouse, and Miss Carolyn Thomas, sister of the groom, in a yellow skirt with white blouse. The flower girl, Miss Montie Ruth McGinty, the bride's sister, wore a pastel blue skirt and white blouse of the same fashion and threw rose petals from her closed parasol in the path of the bridal couple.

Jimmy Thomas, brother of the groom, served as best man, and James Williams of Robstown, acted as groomsman.

Ushers for the occasion, all cousins of the bride, who were not members of the wedding party, included Bland and Robert Draper, and Don McGinty of Spur.

At the reception in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony, Miss Annette Lee of Spur, registered the guests. Misses Telchik, roommate of the bride at Abilene Christian College, from Rt. 1, O' Donnell, and Miss Grace Wales of Eden, presided at the refreshment table. The bride's table, which was laid on a white crochet cloth, handmade by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Marion McGinty, was centered with an arrangement of white gladioli and daisies. The white wedding cake was of a three tiered, divided pedestal design, topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Other members of the house-party were Miss Bobbye Draper, Mrs. Howard Draper, and Mrs. Clyde Thomas.

For a short wedding trip, the bride selected a pastel blue palm beach suit with navy accessories, worn with a white lace hat and blouse. She wore the orchid from the bridal bouquet as a corsage.

The couple, both business administration majors, will continue their work at Abilene Christian College.

The bride is a 1951 graduate of Tahoka High School, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Thomas, Rt. 4, Longview, is a 1950 graduate of White Oak High School at Longview.

Guests attended the wedding from Longview, San Angelo, Coleman, Spur, Hereford, Plains, Lubbock, Levelland, Brownfield, San Antonio, and Houston.

Mary Fern Dewbre, Donald McKibben Married Recently

Miss Mary Fern Dewbre became the bride of Donald E. McKibben of O'Donnell Saturday night, May 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris, 1111 Center Avenue, Brownwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Carson before an improvised altar of greenery, white gladioli, asters, and white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin shantung dress made with a fitted jacket and full street length skirt. She also wore white accessories and carried a white Bible, topped with roses.

Miss Ruth Dewbre, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and James Swinford of Tahoka attended the bridegroom as best man Miss Dewbre wore a street-length dress of ecru lace and linen with matching accessories. Her corsage was of carnations.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Dewbre, Route 4, Brownfield, and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McKibben of O'Donnell.

Following a reception, the couple left on a trip to Fort Worth. They will reside in Tahoka, where the groom is employed.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity to express our thanks to our friends of Lynn county for the floral offering sent to Snyder and the many cards of sympathy received, during the death of our father, Mr. Yates. May God bless each of you. —Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Green.

KIN OF DUDGEONS WERE IN TORNADO

N. T. Conner reports that his mother-in-law, Mrs. L. O. Dudgeon, recently received a letter from her brother-in-law, Dr. Rush Dudgeon of Waco, in which he told something of the tornado damages.

Dr. Dudgeon and his son and nephew, also doctors, knew nothing of the tornado, as they lived in another part of the city, until some time after the storm they were called to the hospital to administer to patients.

Mr. L. O. Dudgeon's late husband was himself a prominent physician at Sweetwater until his death, following which the family moved to their farm in the Midway community.

Joyce Weaver Is Married Recently To Harley Schulz

Miss Joyce Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weaver, and Harley Schulz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charley Schulz, were united in marriage Saturday, May 16, in Portales, New Mexico.

Rev. W. J. Carpenter, pastor of the Calvery Baptist Church of that city, read the ceremony.

The young people were accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Weaver, mother of the bride, Mrs. Charley Schulz, mother of the bridegroom, and Harley's twin brother, Charley, Jr.

The bride is a 1952 graduate of Tahoka High School, where she was a majorette in the band, and for the past several months has been working in the office of the Tahoka-Post National Farm Loan association here.

The groom is a 1953 graduate of the Tahoka schools, and during the past year worked part time at Stanley-Jones Funeral Home. He recently accepted a position with Furr Food Stores in Lubbock, and the couple will make their home in that city after June 1.

WILSON F. H. A. CHAPTER HOLDS STYLE REVUE

Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the freshman, sophomore, and junior girl Home Making classes of Wilson High School held a style show, "The Ole Woman Who Lived In a Shoe Style Revue."

A large shoe was set on the stage, from which the girls stepped as they modeled. The clothes modeled were made in our Home Making classes, and some were home projects. The divisions were: general wear dresses, blouses, school dresses, and special occasion dresses.

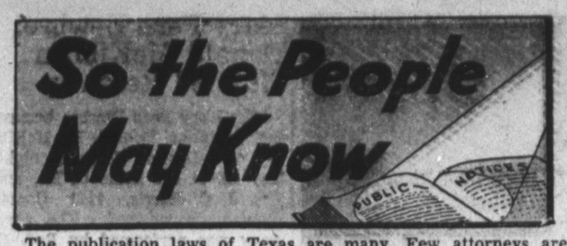

"Patricia Verkamp was the old woman who lived in the shoe, the models were the children with whom she did know what to do."

Guests present were mothers and relatives of the girls, other members of the F. H. A. chapter and high school women faculty members.

After the style show a tea was given in the Home Making Department.

So the People May Know

The publication laws of Texas are many. Few attorneys are familiar with all of them, and public officials charged with carrying out these laws may not have a detailed knowledge of them.

This series of articles calls attention to some of the publication laws so as to attract the interest of more citizens in the governmental units that they support with their tax dollars; and to inform government officials who may be in violation of these laws through unfamiliarity with them.

One of the provisions of the law is that the tax assessor and collector must by the first of April each year prepare the delinquent tax rolls of water control and improvement district.

Directors of the water control district must publish the delinquent tax rolls in a newspaper. The law says:

"Art. 7880-72. Water—publication of delinquent tax roll of water control and improvement district.

"The tax assessor and collector shall on or before the first of April each year prepare a delinquent tax roll, showing all charges upon the tax rolls which have not been paid and file same with directors of said district. The directors shall publish said delinquent tax list showing name of owner, description of property, and total amount due, in a newspaper published in the county where said district or any part thereof is situated. Said notice shall be published once a week for two weeks. If no newspaper is published in the county said notice may be published in a newspaper outside of the county. There shall be paid to the newspaper for publishing such a notice a reasonable fee fixed by agreement, not to exceed, however, twenty cents for each rendition or each tract of land, allowing not to exceed three lines single column thereto. The publisher of such notice shall file in the office of the district a copy of each issue of the paper containing said notice with affidavit of publication attached thereto. The notice herein provided for to be made by publication is intended to be for the information of all taxpayers and shall not be, or be held to be, a requisite to the filing of any suit for the collection of taxes and such suits may be filed without publishing such notice." *

Cutting Horses At Graham Rodeo

GRAHAM, May 28, —A cutting horse contest will be a feature of the annual Possum Kingdom Roundup which will be held in Graham four nights, June 24 through 27. Last year's contest drew 27 entries.

Because of the number of entries expected, the first go-round will be held beginning at 8 a. m. on June 24 and the 12 highest will be seen in the rodeo, four horses at each show, with the finalists appearing of course on the last night.

A $300 purse is offered by the rodeo and $20 of the $25 entry fee also will form part of the prize money, which will be divided 80 per cent in the go-rounds and 20 per cent in the finals. Zearl Williamson of Graham and Foster Richmond of Olney are in charge of arrangements for the contest. Douglas B. Mitchell of Fort Worth, secretary of the National Cutting Horse Association, will conduct the event.

The 1953 Texas Chicken-of-Tomorrow Program was a record-breaker. Participants sent 4,080 birds to the finals—a new record by 870 birds. The quality was described by the judges as remarkable.

Reasonover Is Award Winner

At a meeting of managers and company officials in Lubbock last Thursday, Johnnie Reasonover, local manager for Southwestern Public Service company, was awarded a certificate for outstanding contribution to the utilization department of his company and was named a Reddy Killowatt Manager for 1953.

This certificate is awarded managers whose towns exceed the quota of new electric ranges and electric water heaters set up for the year, the quota being based on the previous year's sales.

Actually, the local appliance dealers deserve the credit, states Johnnie, since it was their sales of electric ranges and water heaters which enabled Tahoka to exceed its quota for the year in the first six months of 1953.

Due to the effectiveness of local advertising and the cooperation of the local dealers in reporting sales, Johnnie becomes the second manager in the Southern Division of the company to receive this award.
