Earthquake Jars Mitchell County

Many Mitchell County residents began Friday morning with a jolt. At 6:47 a.m. Friday, an earth tremor shook a good part of West Texas. According to Waverly Person of the National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo., a "moderately strong earthquake located 20 miles north of Snyder" vibrated the area. The U.S. Geological Survey said the earthquake's epicenter or focal point was located about 20 miles north of Snyder. Person said that the tremor measured between 4.75 and 5 on the Richter scale. "This is the largest earthquake to occur in this area," noted Person. According to Person, the Richter scale measures the energy released by an earthquake. A seismograph records the ground motion measured. Each time the Richter scale increases one number, the ground vibration is 10 times greater. A tremor measuring four on the Richter scale can cause moderate damage while one measuring five can cause extensive damage to a populated area.

and registered six on the Richter scale. Mary Lee Moore, 421 Walnut, said that she remembered a tremor shaking Colorado City about 54 years ago. She explained that it was during the summer and she was sleeping in the backyard and "the bed started shaking." Mrs. Moore said that the tremor was a result of an earthquake near Alpine. Friday morning's jar surprised Mrs. Moore. "I'm so used to cats jumping out of trees onto my roof, that's what I thought it was," she said. "If my house still has a roof on it, it would really be something-I haven't looked to see yet."

her husband told her it was an earthquake but she didn't believe him. "I thought it was an explosion," she said, "but my husband lived in California during an earthquake so he knew what it was." Mrs. Britton, who lives southwest of Colorado City, said that she felt two jolts. "The first time it was harder than the second." Herman Cardwell of Lake Colorado City was startled by the tremor. "I was sitting at the table drinking coffee," Cardwell said. "Then the tables shook, and the glass plates in the cabinets rattled. I thought it might be the wind blowing, but it was still when I looked outside."

But, she suspected the jolt was an earthquake because she lived in Missouri during an earthquake. Friday morning's shake caused a rumbling under the Oden's house. Julie Moreno, who lives in Loraine, said she didn't have any idea what the shake was that awakened her. "Then a friend called and said she heard on the news that it was a tremor." Mr. and Mrs. Wilburt Althof of Roscoe said the tremor was "frightening." Mrs. Althof said, "It felt like a puff of wind."

Henry Lee
"...it was a funny feeling."

Johnnie Mae Gardner
"...nose of my bed was really shaking."

Josie Feaster
"...expected another jolt."

Robert Bracy
"...didn't think about it until someone mentioned it at work."

Julie Moreno
"...didn't have any idea what awakened her."

Although Person reported that the equipment at the National Earthquake Information Service showed the tremor to be between 4.75 to 5.0 on the Richter scale, Dr. Jean-Claude de Bremaecker of Rice University had a different report. He said instruments at Rice registered the quake between 3.0 to 3.5 on the Richter scale, saying that a 4.75 to 5.0 was extremely high. Person said that conflicting information had been reported to the National Earthquake Information Center regarding the area affected by the earthquake.

"It's been reported that it was felt in San Angelo, Sweetwater, Abilene and areas surrounding those towns. However, Snyder was the center point and received the strongest shake," said Person. No damage had been reported, Person said, but if the area was not so sparsely populated, it could have been quite serious.

"Any metropolitan area that received a tremor of this magnitude would have had cracked sidewalks and streets, broken windows and other damage-it's lucky that the area is so sparsely populated," Person noted. Certainly earthquakes are not common in West Texas, but Person said another tremor was registered in the area Nov. 28, 1971 with a magnitude of 3.5 on the Richter scale.

Bill Fryrear, manager of the Experiment Station, said that the closest fault zones to the affected area are around the Guadalupe Mountains and the Marathon Uplift north of Big Bend. "But they are quite a ways from where we are," Fryrear said. Person noted that the area around Snyder where the quake's center point was being studied. "Hopefully in the future we'll know more," said Person.

A Colorado City resident recalled an earthquake jolting the area Aug. 16, 1931. It was centered in Valentine, west of Marfa

Mrs. Curtis Shaw, who lives in China Grove, said she didn't know what it was when the tremor occurred. "It felt like a big whirlwind hit the house," she said. Mrs. Shaw noted that the tremor only lasted a few seconds. Many Mitchell County residents were still in bed when the tremor occurred, and some were awakened by it.

Charles Williams of the Payne Community said that he felt his bed shaking. "I'm used to jets and the noise, but this is the first earthquake I've ever felt," he said. O. T. Bird, who lives northwest of Westbrook, said that the tremor caused "an unusual feeling."

He said, "It was just like someone had walked up to the bed and shook it-the house quivered and creaked." Mrs. Floyd Rice said she didn't know what was happening but that her house didn't shake. "But it made me have a weird feeling," Mrs. Rice said. She lives in the west part of Westbrook.

"I didn't know what it was," said Rita Latimer who lives at 10th Street and Oak. "I thought it might be a tornado and wondered if the house would crash in."

Mrs. C. S. Snowden of 316 Concho said she was sitting in her kitchen when the tremor occurred. "Two paper sacks were rattling and I thought the cat was in the sacks," said Mrs. Snowden.

Mrs. Snowden's grandson said that he thought the jolt was the result of some oil drilling around Loraine. Mrs. Monnell Marshall of 333 E. 16th said she could feel her bed moving but she didn't think it could be a tremor until she heard the morning news.

"After I knew what it was, it gave me a headache," she said. "It was a feeling I've never had before-something that didn't seem natural."

Mrs. Carl Britton said

Jim Hill of 220 West 4th said he thought the tremor was a train going by. Bob Ratliff of 920 Elm thought it was a jet. Ratliff said, "I woke up and the sliding door in the bedroom was rattling."

Johnnie Mae Gardner of 825 Front said she woke up when the tremor occurred. "The nose of my bed was just shaking," she said. Josie Feaster, who lives at 944 Locust, said she expected another jolt to occur. "I sat up in my bed and waited," she said.

Ann Cook of the Looney Community said she told her husband something had hit the butane, causing it to explode. "I never thought of it being a tremor," she said. "It vibrated terribly much."

Glenda Oden, who lives two miles south of the Roundtop Cafe, said that she went in to wake up her son when the shake began.

Friends Help Out

Thanks to J. C. Pete Barkley's friends and neighbors, he'll be able to have a crop of cotton to harvest this year.

Barkley was thrown from a horse May 24. His pelvis was pulled apart and a two-inch gash cut into his bladder. He was transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo where he is now recovering.

But, since Barkley was unable to plant his cottonseed because of the accident, his friends decided to do it for him.

When Mrs. Barkley returned to Longfellow from San Angelo Thursday and saw that the fields had been planted, "I cried enough to fill Colorado City." Mrs. Barkley said that she had lived in Colorado City all her life "and you just don't know what good friends you have."

Some 20 tractors banded together to plow the beds and plant the cottonseed.

Chamber Of Commerce

Daybreak is beautiful. In West Texas it is also unusual. To just stand and listen to the morning creates a feeling of peace and well being. All things have an appearance of being new, and those that cannot be new seem to be new in spirit. The air is fresh, the sky is a bit bluer than it was the day before and one remembers the last line of the poem, "God's in his heaven, all is right with the world."

But is it really? In a very short time everyone will begin the daily task of making a living, of securing for them and their families the material things considered necessary to a happy life. Most of the thoughts during the day center on themselves. Have we not reached a point where we tend to forget the common good? Do we not tend to expect others to take care of our community? It seems that in our pursuit of material things we have forgotten that all the gold in the world cannot buy a true friend, strength of character, peace of mind, a clear conscience, or a sense of achievement.

In this day and time, no matter what part of the day we choose, it does not hurt to do a little day dreaming. What we could do if we really set our minds to it, how little it would cost, how much it would help the area we live in and how much better we would feel for having done it. Why not let our imagination run full force and think that we could be part of the group that is part of the solution and not part of the problem.

Early in the morning when there are no distractions, quiet and peace enable one to expand their thoughts. It is easy to be more tolerant of human behaviour. One wonders why people of common interests do not have common drives and goal orientations. It seems to me that community service is the rent you pay to the area where you earn your living. I am at a loss to explain why other people evidently do not share this opinion. Am I wrong? I don't think so. Good communities do not just grow. Good people working together make good communities.

It is not enough merely to exist. It's not enough to say, "I'm earning enough to live and to support my family. I do my work well. I'm a good father. I'm a good husband. I'm a good church goer." That's all very well. We should seek always to do some good, somewhere. Every man has to seek in his own way to make his own self more useful and to realize his own true worth. You must give some time to your fellow man and your community.

Colorado City has as much potential as any town I have seen, and we spent last year looking at towns in fifteen states. Talking about potential is an exercise in uselessness. Developing and marketing potential is the best game in town. In fact, if we are to survive as a living, viable community it may be the last and only game in town. The peace and quiet of early morning are wonderful but it soon dissolves into the daily efforts for survival. So it is with communities.

He was employed by the Abilene YMCA at the time of his death and was a sophomore at Abilene Christian University. He was a member of the all-state choir in high school and toured Europe with the National Youth Symphony and Chorus. He was a member of the Hillcrest Church of Christ.

Is personal liability covered in a homeowners policy?

Yes. It pays for claims for which you and family members may be legally responsible, other than auto accidents, and includes legal defense costs even though an accident may not be your fault. For example, if you hit someone with a golf ball or if your dog bites the mailman, you are protected within the policy limits against ensuing claims. There are exclusions which your independent agent can explain.

A host often feels an obligation to pay medical costs for a guest injured in his home or a child injured at play in his yard. The medical payments section of your personal liability insurance takes care of these expenses.

Georgeann Smith, Dan Truelove Married Saturday At 1st United Methodist Church

Dana Georgeann Smith became the bride of Daniel E. Truelove Saturday evening at the First United Methodist Church. George W. Burt, grandfather of the groom, officiated at the 8 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Truelove, all of Colorado City.

Mrs. Charles Ranne of Westbrook, pianist, and Eddie Ranne of Lewisville, vocalist, performed traditional wedding selections including "The Wedding Prayer."

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of white organza, featuring a Queen Anne neckline trimmed in venise lace. The princess A-line skirt was edged in lace and swept back forming a chapel length train. Lace appliques accented the full sheer sleeves.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was trimmed in matching venise lace. Her bouquet was made of yellow roses and carnations.

Donna McInnis of Carlsbad, N.M., sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Brenda Robey and Dana Dorn, both of Colorado City.

The attendants were attired in identical dresses of pale yellow satin crepe featuring an empire waistline and floral flocked organza sleeves. Each attendant carried a nosegay of mint green and yellow carnations.

Serving as best man was Tony Truelove, brother of the groom, of Colorado City. Groomsmen were Joe Scott of Odessa and Larry Walker of Big Spring. Seating the guests were James Lee of Loraine and John Lee of Odessa, cousins of the bride.

The couple exchanged double ring wedding vows beneath an arch covered with greenery and yellow and mint green carnations. Other decorations included spiral and seven branch candelabra with yellow candles, entwined with greenery and small nosegay arrangements.

The pews were accented with large bows and baby's breath. The memory candle was used on the registry table which was covered with a white lace cloth.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was draped with white satin, overlaid with white nylon organza. The table featured a white globe candelabrum with yellow candles arranged with yellow and green carnations. The three-tiered cake was decorated in mint green and pale yellow flowers. The punch was served from a crystal punch bowl. The cake, mints and nuts were served on crystal plates. Members of the house party were Mrs. Estelle Lee, Mrs. Lois Iglehart, Mrs. Evelyn Ingram, aunts of the bride; Mrs. Faye Lee, Mrs. Brenda Lee, and Mrs. John Lee, cousins of the bride.

For the couple's honeymoon trip to San Antonio, the bride chose a green floral print blouson dress, complimented by a yellow rose corsage lifted from the bridal bouquet.

Out of town wedding guests were from Carlsbad, N.M., San Angelo, Vernon, Eastland, Odessa and Big Spring.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents Friday evening at 7:30 p.m. at Jess's Bar-B-Que Pit.

Root Lodge Honors Mary Lee Moore

About 30 residents and staff members of Root Valley Fair Lodge hosted a recognition party honoring Mary Lee Moore Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Moore is a favorite of many patients at the lodge and has made daily visits for more than three years.

"It's the very nicest thing that ever happened to me," Mrs. Moore stated after the party. "Visiting at the lodge is the joy of my life."

Mary Lee Moore, who is 72 herself, serves as justice of the peace, a position she has held for about 10 years. She has also been house mother at Root Memorial Hospital.

Her daily trips to the lodge win out over everything else with the exception of an occasional visit to her grandson's to "sit with the great grandkids" Lori and David while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Sanders have some time to themselves. Mrs. Moore has one daughter, Mrs. Charles Franklin.

Judy Jones, administrator of the lodge, presented Mary Lee with a certificate for her services. Maxi Lee Root, head nurse at the lodge, stated that Mrs. Moore helps feed some of the patients, wheel them into the recreation room and for walks, passes out juice and just enjoys visiting with everyone.

After the presentation, coffee, cake and punch were served.

Couple Takes JP For "Better Or Worse"

When planning a trip with your soon-to-be-bride, delays bring on anxiety and desperate measures are taken...and pay off if you are persistent enough.

For Daniel Garza and Theresa Harris, it seemed that they would never get married in time for her to go on a planned trip with him. Delays included a fruitless trip to the Mitchell County Courthouse for a marriage license (they had run out of forms) and two trips Saturday, to Big Spring and Snyder, only to discover their courthouses were closed on Saturdays.

Finally on Monday, the couple obtained a license in Snyder and returned to get ready for the wedding ceremony.

The bride, dressed in a white wedding gown, and the groom, dressed in dark suit, arrived at the home of Justice of the Peace Mary Lee Moore, whom they had contacted several days before to see if she could marry them without a license if they could not get one in Big Spring or Snyder. "Not without a license", she had said. But now they had one and were ready.

In fact, everyone was ready for the marriage including family and friends. That is, everyone except the JP, who when the group arrived, had just "waded in" from the yard where she had been working.

Now, besides having mud from her knees down, Mrs. Moore was shampooing her hair but the couple was not to be put off again! So, Mary Lee Moore officiated at the marriage, wet hair and all in the

Barbara Williams Addresses B&PW Club On Purpose Of County Extension Program At Tuesday Meeting

The Young Careerist Committee hosted the regular dinner and business meeting of the Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday evening, June 13 at 7 p.m. at the Civic Center. The menu was a salad plate served buffet-style.

Assisting Committee chairman, Christine Ware with the meeting were: Ida Kirschbaum, Ethel Harde-ree, Margaret Bodine, Mary Hickman and Bessie House.

Guest speaker was Barbara Williams, County Extension Agent, who was introduced by Mrs. Ware following the supper. Miss Williams gave an informative talk on the aims of the Cooperative Extension Service, which is sponsored jointly by Land-Grant Universities (Texas A&M), county governments, and Educational Services to Consumers.

She noted that the extension program is aimed at helping people use their resources to increase their quality of life. This is done to provide a person-to-person service through community meetings, personal consultations, 4-H and Extension Club activities.

She explained that as a county extension agent, she was a teacher, but she was a unique teacher in that she teaches adults who in turn teach others through the extension programs. One of their major goals is to help people in their programs to develop leadership skills and gain confidence in teaching others.

She pointed out that a home demonstration club is composed of homemakers who learn together. Its purpose is to provide education, inspiration, and recreation. Members learn by attending club and leader training meetings. There are 6 Home Demonstration Clubs in Mitchell County. These clubs have two monthly programs and short business sessions conducted by elected officers.

"4-H is a youth development program of TAEX which focuses on the needs, interests and concerns of young people. All youth between the ages of 9-19 are eligible for membership," she stated.

At the conclusion of her talk, Miss Williams was presented with a potted ivy plant.

During the business session, presided over by president Mildred Free, the treasurer's report was given disclosing a balance of $401.88 in the treasury; standing committee reports were heard; and an auditing committee composed of Neva Turner, Aldred Pickens and Judy Winkle was elected.

A going away gift from the club was presented to Helen Reeves by Lee Hutchins. Mrs. Reeves will be moving to Indiana soon.

Jana Bruce, daughter of Fern Thompson was selected to represent the club in the A.J.R.A., to be held here July 4-5.

It was announced that installation of officers for the coming year would be June 29 in the Charles C. Thompson Room. Margaret Ann Conaway will be the installing officer.

Club members present were: Minna Berman, Margaret Bodine, Katy Byrd, Margaret Ann Conaway, Virginia Dearen, Shirley DeLaney, Mildred Free, Elaine Fugate, Nelda Garrett, Louise Havard, Mary Hickman, Jean Holbert, Lee Hutchins, Wyone Jameson, Etta Jones, Ida Kirschbaum, Ida Miles, Mary Lee Moore, Erdine Morgan, Margaret Oylar, Aldred Pickens, Helen Reeves, Sallie Rogers, Juanita Schafer, Nell Shackelford, Velma Smith, Faye Spivey, Thelma Tidwell, Fern Thompson, Neva Turner, Christine Ware, Roxie Witten, Sue Womack, Wilma Womack and Judy Winkle.

Guests included Mayme Dozier, Lona Pritchett, Jewell Richter, Jana Bruce, Juanita Coker, Betty Oylar, Frances Ranne, Brenda Kirschbaum, Bertie Costin, Frances Myers, Jackie Coffman, Nina Crout, Jan Lemons and Maggie Hamrick.

BIBLE VERSE

I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

JOHN 10:11

He Will Supply

Rev. Wayne Oglesby
Pastor
Oak St. Baptist Church

"But my God shall supply all your needs according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Philippians 4:19

Some time ago a very peaceful evening at our home was interrupted by the crying of our oldest son. He came running into the house holding his hand and soon displayed a cut on one of his fingers. I looked at the cut and told him that I would put something on it to help it. Suddenly the tears stopped and he looked at me and said, "That's all right Dad, Jesus can take care of it for me." He immediately returned to his friends to continue his play.

As I think back on this event I realize the simple yet victorious faith that caused this scripture to be written. If we could only have the daily faith like that of an innocent child and realize that Jesus is all we need to face all the world has to give us.

We each have our problems from time to time. They may seem small to those that are around us but they are mountains in our lives that we cannot climb alone. Many times the loneliest moments of our lives are spent in struggling with the problems of the day. Others around us seem not to be able to help and still others seem to act totally unconcerned that we are in despair.

I believe that God wants His people to be at peace in Him at all times, even in those moments of trials. His deepest desire is to meet our needs as they come before us. He desires to give us the things that this world simply will not bless us with. He will supply us with the things that we need moment by moment.

Perhaps the words of the old song sum it up best by saying:

"If the world from you withhold,
From its silver and its gold,
And you have to get along with meager fare,
Just remember in His word,
How He feeds the little bird,
Take your burdens to the Lord and leave them there."

Maybe your problems are far bigger than a cut finger, but I guarantee you that the answer to them is the same as that of my son that was mentioned. My prayer would be that we would each let Jesus meet our needs each day this week.

Industry Chooses Another Location

Colorado City, Lamesa, Big Spring, Sweetwater and Snyder were recently scrutinized by a subsidiary of a major company for the possibility of locating in this region according to Chamber of Commerce Manager Larry Winders. "Colorado City lost" Winders stated, "but next time we could win if we want to badly enough to make a few changes."

Winders explained how the representative came to be interested in Colorado City. He said major utility companies are in constant contact with all types of industry. They have special employees who do nothing but work with companies to bring industry into new regions. This is done as a community service.

Wedge Turner, manager of Lone Star Gas Co. explained his company's policies. "We supply this service because we feel a responsibility to the communities." He noted this particular company had contacted Lone Star stating a desire to locate in one of the five cities listed above. His prime concerns according to Turner were available utilities, general community attitude, low profile labor union activity and available labor force.

He requested interviews with certain persons but also wanted to tour each town and speak with citizens at random to obtain public opinion in the town.

Turner explained the representative would be looking at general appearance which he stated reflects attitude of the people. If they have pride in the community, the trash is picked up and the weeds out. This indicates community responsibility and is of prime importance he commented.

The representative came and met with Winders and other key members of the community. He walked around town, spoke with people and got a first hand look at the overall community.

"I was able to give him a good report on the labor situation. He required about 60 persons to be being with and anticipated an increase of about 500 in five years," Winders explained. "This is regional expectation. People go to work in Snyder and Big Spring from Colorado City and if we had the industry they in turn would come here."

The industry located in one of the other towns.

Winders said, "When we didn't get the business I wanted to know why." He stated he wrote and requested, as a personal favor, any information available about why Colorado City was not chosen.

He hoped in this manner to gain enough information to present a plan to the citizens in areas that could be improved.

Winders communication was answered and two reasons were listed for Colorado City's rejection as the industry choice.

One of the requirements had been for a labor force of between 50 and 60 persons in the beginning and within five years 400 to 500 persons. The letter indicated that the industrial company was concerned in this area.

The only other area of concern expressed was the general appearance of the town.

Though, the letter stated it was similar to other towns of comparable size, it also stated there were areas which had the potential of being an asset to the community if they were generally cleaned up.

Lone Star continued the letter with an offer of assistance in any aspect which Winders required. They offered to hold professional training sessions to instruct a community industrial team upon request.

"I don't have all the answers," Winders commented. "I do know there is one place we can begin that is extremely important as evidenced by this letter. We can clean up our town and keep it that way. By that I don't mean everything has to have a new coat of paint. We just need to cut the weeds and pick up the litter."

Summer Homemaking Program Underway This Month At CHS

Summer Homemaking Program of Colorado High School offers a variety of educational experiences for the students enrolled. Under the direction of teachers, Martha Matthews and Marian Craddock, organized activities are carried on during the month of June and individual experiences in home and community continued in July.

Organized activities that students have the opportunity to participate in this summer are: Sewing Workshops and Education Field Trip. Students who are employed set personal goals which they strive to achieve through their work experiences and may include such things as money and time management, interpersonal relationships on the job, personal grooming and mastering the skills required to do the job.

Those enrolled in the sewing workshops develop new skills and improve those already learned in previous classes. The popular sundress has been a favorite with most of the girls, with shorts and tops next on the list.

The Educational Field

LHS To Sponsor Workshop

Loraine High School homemaking department will be open at 9:30 a.m. Monday to register for the "Simplified Sewing Workshop" to be held each morning until each sewing student finishes the garment which will be constructed.

Anyone who is interested in learning to sew is welcome to attend the workshop. There is no charge for the instruction. All ages are welcome. Margaret Latimer, LHS homemaking teacher, is sponsoring the workshop.

Trip is an educational and fun experience, and expenses for it have been earned by the FHA members during the year. This June, the group will spend two days in Lubbock at the Holiday Inn Solar Dome, enjoying its activities and facilities with tours scheduled of Tech Campus, the Home Economics building, the museum and the South Plains Mall.

Individual and community projects include such things as: home management, child care and development, housing, clothing care and construction, food preparation and preservation, meal planning, assistance in Bible Schools, church activities and Wallace Community Education Center.

Middle School students and High School students not enrolled in Homemaking courses have the opportunity to participate in the sewing workshop. Regularly enrolled Homemaking students receive one trimester credit toward graduation upon completion of their summer work.

A "So Simple to Sew" workshop for adults will be offered the last week in June. This program is in cooperation with Wallace Center but will be held in the CHS Homemaking Dept. Interested adults may contact Wallace Center for further information.

Participation in this summer educational program offers students a challenge and growth in areas in which they are most interested.

License Office To Be Closed

The Drivers License office will be closed Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, June 19, 20, 22 and 23. It will be open Wednesday.

Uranga, Gardea Indicted

Ricardo Artemyo Uranga and Hector Gardea were indicted by the Mitchell County Grand Jury Friday on charges of entering a building with intent to commit theft.

Uranga and Gardea were arrested on May 19 by Colorado City Police after they were allegedly discovered inside Creations By You, 153 Walnut.

Officer Bobby Calloway discovered a door window broken on the store about 2 a.m. while on routine patrol. After sending for a back-up, he and Officers Don Cheek and Jimmy Roundtree entered the store. They discovered coins and merchandise strewn about and allegedly found two men hiding behind counters.

The suspects were brought before Justice of the Peace Henry Doss and bond set at $30,000 each. Uranga posted bond and was released from custody. Gardea remains in Mitchell County Jail in lieu of bond.

Conservation Meeting Set

"Public views on the future of the conservation, protection and enhancement of Texas' soil, water and related natural resources will be sought at a meeting to be held in the C. C. Thompson Room of the City National Bank, on Thursday, at 8 p.m.," Jimmy Harrison, chairman of the Mitchell Soil and Water District, said.

The meeting is in response to the Resources Conservation Act which was signed into law last November.

"Public views are to be considered as data and authority (provided by the RCA Act) to be used to systematically develop, fund, evaluate, and keep current soil and water conservation programs that are in the best long-term interest of the nation and its people," said Harrison.

"The RCA Act authorizes and directs the Secretary of Agriculture to develop a national soil and water conservation program in cooperation with the public, our local soil and water conservation districts, and the Soil Conservation Service," Harrison continued.

"This program will establish new direction for future soil and water conservation efforts in Texas based on current soil, water and related resource appraisals," Harrison commented.

"One point I want to make clear is that districts in their 40-year history have always assisted landowners with voluntary conservation programs on their farms and ranches. We do not advocate any other approach since farm and ranch land is privately owned and that the interests and welfare of the owners must be served and that programs must be acceptable to them," Harrison concluded.

HORACE PADGETT, (left) and Nolen Bird, Soil Conservation Service technician, observes a newly constructed diversion terrace on Padgett's farm. The diversion diverts about 700 acres of drainage away from one of his cultivated fields. This outside drainage has caused severe soil erosion on the cultivated field. Padgett reported the diversion worked to perfection during the recent heavy rains and no damage was done to his valuable cropland.

Vernon Lewis' Home Preserves 50 Years Of History & Style

by Donna Watson

Vernon Lewis' home is reminiscent of an era of comfort and elegance. Filled to capacity with beautiful antiques and replicas of furnishings and pieces from days gone by, it is completely livable and lovely.

This two-story home, acquired by the Lewises about three years ago, located at 944 East 9th, was constructed in 1928 by R. J. Wallace. In 1954 when Mr. Wallace became unable to climb the stairs to the bedroom, the west wing of the house was built to accommodate his needs.

A small guest house with basement, green house, double garage and carport complete the estate grounds.

A sun deck, full basement and enclosed patio area compliment the home. The exterior is white painted brick. Mrs. Lewis explains the white paint as necessary to cover the smoke damage done when the house burned in the 40's.

Built with sturdy concrete walls, Mrs. Lewis, who has done her own decorating, left the interior style virtually unchanged.

The entrance hall displays the first hints to the character of the old house with its cut glass prisms chandelier and sturdy red wood hat tree.

Mrs. Lewis, who has recently begun a real estate business in Colorado City, utilizes a solarium filled with beautifully alive plants and antique furnishings off the hall to the right as her office.

A Dutch door affords her privacy when closed, or when half open, she is a part of the conversation in the sitting room which adjoins the office at one end.

The sitting room is actually one end of a very long dining area filled with 19th Century Chippendale styled buffet, china closet and table with chairs. A special sideboard, or Pembroke table is tucked neatly in one corner.

Hanging lanterns of silver and crystal, which were installed when the home was built, adorn the ceilings. A pair of French doors span the west wall offering a broad view of the spacious, beautifully landscaped back yard.

Off this room to the south the Lewises have fashioned a living, den area complete with massive natural brick fire place.

Furnishings in this room are of modern design with polished wood and using shades of brown, rust and gold. A bookshelf filled with a wide variety of literature acts as a room divider on the east wall. A small organ, frequently used by the family, opposes two huge overstuffed chairs with matching ottomans.

Mrs. Lewis, a handicraft enthusiast, noted a white hooked area rug under the coffee table which she had just completed using a frame tucked away in the dining room.

A step through the door adjoining the west wing is like walking into the past. Shades of pink and blue help you drift into yesteryear. Marble topped Victorian Rococo tables displaying antique pitcher and wash basin, matching chairs covered in blue velvet, flowing yards and yards of blue and pink floral sheer draperies framing two large picture windows surrounded by lush green plants and centered by an enormous king size bed topped with matching spread are only the beginning in this added wing.

Two huge walk in closets completely lined with cedar contain dressing tables, windows and built-in chest of drawers. Across the room a large bath room with tub and shower in tones of pink and blue complete this all but perfect picture.

The north side of the downstairs area consists of a spacious kitchen, a large bath room and a guest bedroom.

The kitchen is actually two rooms divided by an archway. The front portion is used as a breakfast nook and contains hard rock maple table, chairs and breakfast china hutch along with appliances and sink. The back area features a butcher block and canning table.

A wrought iron hanging pot holder centers this cool and inviting room which is done in shades of yellow, blue and mint green. A large window allows a pleasant view from the table of the lush back yard, birdbath and covered patio area.

Storage galore is featured in this roomy kitchen. Cabinets line the walls and a large pantry displays items of home canning.

Adjacent to the kitchen, at the end of a hall, a bathroom containing the original fixtures connects to a guest bedroom where heavy antique bed and mirrored dresser made of sturdy Chestnut set gently on green carpet against white walls. Cornice topped windows line the walls and a large potted pine tree fills one corner.

The second story of the home is reached by a white banistered curving stairway extending upward from the sitting room. This bright blue carpeted staircase leads into a general living area divided by bookshelves.

The sitting area serves as a general family room with television, hi-fi, books and a spinning wheel, which Mrs. Lewis commented she spent many happy hours learning to use.

"The fifth bathroom," as Mrs. Lewis jokingly calls it, is adjacent to this sitting room. It is still in its original state. Refurbishing this will be a project at some later date.

Two bedrooms on the north side are used as a haven for Jerry Don, the Lewises' son who is a junior in Colorado High.

"When we moved in these red velvet curtains were up and he wanted to keep them," Mrs. Lewis commented about the deep velvet draperies covering the windows.

A brass bed covered by a hand crocheted white spread and an antique trunk which serves as a hope chest complete this room. A large bath adjoins the room on the south.

Across the hall is Jerry Don's other room. This room appears more like what a teen-age boy's room is expected to be with its bright colors, hi-fi equipment, posters and general neat disorder.

On the south side of the house is the bedroom of Lewis' daughter Shari, who is a sophomore at Texas Tech. This room extends the width of the upstairs and has walls lined with windows which look out over a sun deck and white patio groupings.

Tiny mint green, white and dainty yellow floral prints covering the windows and bed give an airy texture to the surroundings.

Two love seats form a conversation group at one end of the room. Light white high poster canopied bed and dresser in traditional French style add gentle elegance to the decor. Beautiful hanging macramé supporting a glass table top adds just the right touch to take you back into yesteryear. It's easy to imagine yourself on a plantation in the deep south at the turn of the century as you pass through the young mistress' quiet room with her cherished doll collection displayed in a lovely glass front cabinet.

A plush bath with a shower curtain matching the bedspread and draperies and turquoise tile complete the decorating scheme.

Three large closets with cedar lining, an old fashioned hat closet constructed especially for the first owner's convenience, a full bath and an antique wash stand with bowl and pitcher are special added features to the upstairs area.

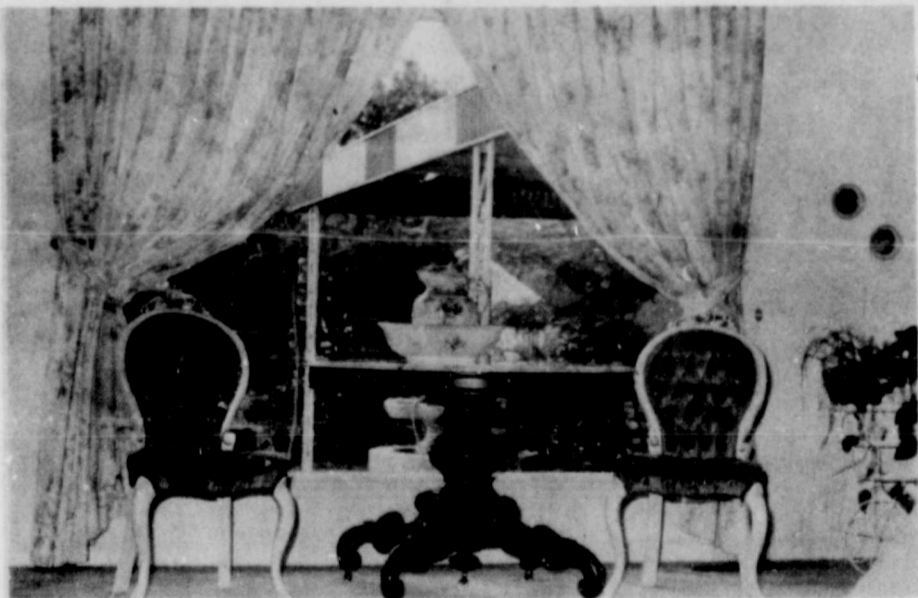

"We are very proud of our home and its history. We have tried to leave it as nearly as possible in the original style. We live in every nook and corner and enjoy it to the fullest extent," Mrs. Lewis commented.

Construction To Continue Nine Travel To La Jitas

La Jitas, Mexico, a remote sleepy little community of between 60 and 75 persons will have nine new temporary citizens for the next two weeks.

The group, headed by Jim Hill pastor of the First Christian Church and eight other persons, will leave this afternoon (Sunday) and travel in a caravan of two pickups with travel trailers and two automobiles, ending the six hour trip just south of the Rio Grande.

Earlier in the year a similar group journeyed into Mexico to make arrangements with the government for permission to build the only public building in this little town. It will be used by the Mexican people as a meeting hall, school and church.

The group plans camp and begin construction on the proposed structure at first light Monday. Adobe bricks were to be prepared this past week by the villagers for the group to use in construction. "We won't know until we get down there if the brick are ready," Hill commented "if they aren't we can make our own and they'll be ready to use within four hours anyway."

The group, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is carrying lumber and other items necessary for use in the building with them.

Hill also made arrangements for 20 student desks which will be donated by Ray Russell of Big Spring. Russell does independent agricultural work in Mexico.

"I'll carry these desks down on my next visit," Hill stated.

Members of the group making the trip include Don Banta, Wilford Oylar, Janice Wood, Gayla Proctor, Jim Hill, Gary and Sheila Redwine, Fred and Donna McWhorter and Virgil and Connie Stone.

While the men do the bulk of the construction work the ladies will be working in the community with the women and children.

They will try to instruct the women in hygiene and sanitation. They will disinfect the children's heads for lice. They are also carrying window screen and plan to try and cover the windows on the huts to help control insects in the village.

Funds for the project were raised by the chamber.

About $600 was collected for the entire project with $450 of that donated for construction of the building.

This will be a continuing community project and at least one more trip into Mexico will be required.

*Mrs. Gregory Reeder
...the former Miss Lynette Maniss
Maniss, Reeder
Exchange Nuptials*

Miss Lynette Maniss of Abilene became the bride of Gregory Alan Reeder Saturday, June 17, at 7 p.m. in the Aldersgate United Methodist Church. The Rev. Edwin Chappell officiated at the double ring vows.

Parents of the newlyweds are Dr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Maniss of Abilene and Herman Her-shall Reeder of Matamoros, Mexico and Mrs. Mary Hart Reeder of Bend, Ore. The bride is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Maniss of Colorado City.

The church was decorated with white roses, chrysanthemums, stephanotis, ferns and tapers. Musical selections included "The Wedding Song," Processional Bach's "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" changed to "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell, and Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was attired in a dress designed by Daniel Thompson for Pandora. The bodice was re-embroidered Alencon lace with an accordion pleated chiffon skirt and attached train in candlelight color. Her chiffon veil was attached to a Bianchi Juliet cap.

The bride's bouquet consisted of white roses, stephanotis, feathered carnations, baby's breath and delicate greenery.

Mrs. Berkley Gordon Craig, III of Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a floor length dress of chocolate brown batiste featuring a ruffle at the round neckline and full, long sleeves. A long, full skirt fell from the empire waist and was edged with a ruffle at the hemline. She carried a basket of bright, vibrant summer flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Ava Proctor of Austin, Miss Jennifer Sleeper of Arlington and Miss Stacey Strong of Abilene.

Best man was John Sartor of Abilene. Groomsmen were John Hudgens of Dallas, Steve Strong of Abilene and Berkley G. Craig, III of Pauls Valley, Okla.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Abilene Women's Club. The bride's table of polished wood was covered with a candlelight, satin shantung runner. It was centered with a large floral arrangement flanked with tall, tapers of chocolate brown. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with candlelight icing and fresh yellow roses, baby's breath and greenery. Sterling silver appointments were used.

The groom's table held a German chocolate cake decorated with iced grapes and toasted almonds. Brass appointments were used. Houseparty was composed of party hostesses, and high school and college friends.

The bride wore an apricot eyelet sundress with jacket and white accessories for the couple's honeymoon trip. Upon return they will reside at 3203 S. 15th St., Abilene.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Cooper High School and attended the University of Texas at Arlington. She is presently employed by the Abilene Reporter News.

The groom is a graduate of Tulsa Electrical Trade School and is a journey electrician for Long Electric Co., Abilene.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Maniss of Colorado City, grandparents of the bride. Other guests were from Lubbock, Muleshoe, Dallas, Irving, Lewisville, Corsicana, Oklahoma and Oregon.
