CONGRESSMAN NAMED IN PROBE AS INTERFERING

Witness in Shipping Board Inquiry Says Gallivan Cost U. S. Loss on Bids.

Insisted Constituent Didn't Get Square Deal and Delayed Sales of Material.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The name of Representative James A. Gallivan of Massachusetts, was brought into testimony offered here today in the Walsh committee inquiry into affairs of the United States shipping board.

Robert E. Kline, special representative of the board's supply and sales department, was testifying as to the methods used in disposal of surplus materials. In the course of his testimony, he described an effort on the part of his department to procure what he said was an advantageous contract for disposal of scrap material. A bid for its sale on a "six months supply basis" at a rate of 50 cents a ton over the market price was accepted, rejected, accepted again and once more held up because an official in Washington discovered he had acted without authority, he said.

In the interim, another form of bid had been offered. The second bidder alleged he had been discriminated against and, according to the witness, the board secured from Mr. Gallivan a telegram complaining that this bidder, one of his constituents, had not been treated fairly. This first telegram, the witness added, was soon followed by another, which he termed "sharp," demanding an investigation and threatening to take the matter to the floor of congress.

The insistence of Mr. Gallivan, the witness said, no doubt caused the home office of the board to give the controversy over the "scrap" contracts quicker consideration. At any rate, he said, he forwarded to the board a complete file of the case. A delay in determining the successful bidder, however, cost the government money, he declared, for at that time—last June and July—the market for scrap material was much higher than it now is.

Labor Federation Doesn't Control Builders of N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The American Federation of Labor has no influence over building trades unions mentioned in the investigation now under way in New York City, it was declared at federation headquarters today. Reports that associations of contractors and builders had determined to abandon their closed shop policy if the federation failed to take action in the New York situation were described by labor officials here as "propaganda for the open shop" movement.

The federation, it is explained, is able to bring pressure only on national bodies affiliated with it, and none of the locals mentioned in the New York inquiry belong to national bodies which are in the federation.

'LIBERTY' SEES SHIPS COLLIDE

Immigrants Terrified As Vessels Crash in N. Y. Harbor.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—As her passengers, 250 of whom were immigrants, lined the rails for a glimpse of New York's skyline, the Spanish royal mail steamer Montserrat collided today with the Mallory line freighter San Marcos. The vessels, moving in from quarantine, were under the lee of the statue of liberty. The Montserrat was beached on the Brooklyn short before she sank. The San Marcos, her bow smashed in, made her pier safely.

Seized with fear of disaster, the immigrants dashed for life rafts and boats. Captain Muslera, a skipper in the Spanish service for more than a quarter of a century, rang for full speed, turned the vessel sharply toward the Brooklyn shore, jumped from the bridge into the excited crowd and restored order.

Others of the ship's officers, with Ramon Manuel Villova Novo, Spanish consul at Vera Cruz, rendered assistance to Captain Muslera by taking charge of lift boat and raft stations and prevented immigrants from jumping overboard except one man.

"The changes were made to rid Chicago of crooks," said Chief Fitzmorris. "The men will be given a short time to make good in their new jobs. If they fail, there will be more changes."

First Shipment Of Holstein Cows Reach Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Seven hundren Holstein cows, comprising the first consignment of milch cows donated by Americans to Germany, arrived in Hamburg today, where they have been quarantined pending action by the American donors and German officials who will determine their final destination.

An American dairy cattle company which is supervising the gift enterprise and shipment of the cows still retains title to them and has demanded assurances from the German government they will not be included in the cattle levy demanded by the allies.

German red tape is further complicating the situation in that various governmental departments which claim the right to dispose of the American gifts have thus far been unable to arrive at a settlement of the question. Meanwhile, the cows must remain in the cattle quarantine station at Hamburg until their disposition is finally determined.

WIFE WATCHES GINNER SHOOT SELF IN CHEST

E. L. Foreman Seriously Injured While Estranged Spouse Stands By.

Woman Tells Police of Alleged Despondency of Wounded Man.

E. L. Foreman, a cotton ginner, was seriously and possibly fatally injured Saturday night, according to reports from the police, when he shot himself in the presence of his estranged wife in her home at 904 Scott street.

He was rushed to the Wichita General Hospital in an unconscious condition. Upon examination, it was found that the bullet had not entered the heart but had pierced his chest just below and coursed downward. At a late hour the exact extent of the wound had not been ascertained.

According to statements from his wife, from whom he has been separated for the past month, he came to the room which she, her seven-month-old child, and her mother occupied in the house at 904 Scott, to see his child. After playing around with it for a while and cuddling it to sleep, he asked his wife to come into the hall so he could have a few words with her in private.

"He talked with me at the head of the stairs for a few minutes," she said, "then turned his left side toward me, put his hand under his coat, as I thought then, for a cigarette, and fired into his right side."

"I didn't even know that he had a pistol until the shot was fired and I saw him fall," she added.

Police officials investigated reports that Mrs. C. Martin, mother of Mrs. Foreman, had asserted it as her opinion that Foreman intended to shoot some one other than himself. She based this statement, police said, on the belief that the gun was concealed when the shot was fired.

Mrs. Foreman was asked if she thought her husband had intended the shot for anyone else. She said that as far as she was concerned, that she did not believe he meant to injure her because he fired in the opposite direction from where she was. Mrs. Foreman said she saw no one but her husband in the hallway.

Statements from Mrs. Foreman to the police implied that he had intended to take his life as he had appeared despondent for some time, evidently from not being able to resume relations with his wife and child.

This was the second visit to his wife since their separation. She said that he had been going from place to place over the state since she went to live with her mother.

Foreman is 27 years old and has been married three years.

PANAMA CANAL NOW IS SELF SUSTAINING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Panama Canal is now fully self-sustaining and had there been no change in the rules of measurement, such as recently made, would show a comfortable surplus over cost of operation, according to the Current Canal Record, the official publication of the zone.

The statement does not show the exact proportion of tolls paid by American ships, nor indicate the deficiency if any, that would have to be met from the national treasury, if American craft were exempted.

SAYS JAP WAR 'UNTHINKABLE'

American Ambassador Urges Against "Ill Considered Statements."

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—War between Japan and the United States "is simply unthinkable," declared Roland S. Morris, American ambassador to Japan, in addressing the American Academy of Political and Social Sciene here tonight.

Asserting he did not intend to take up any question which might happen to be the subject of friendly discussion between the American and Japanese governments, Mr. Morris expressed regret for the "ill considered statemtn, which time to time find expression in both countries as to the suggestion of war."

"It is as Premier Hara has recently said, 'Simply unthinkable,'" Mr. Morris continued, "that there are pending questions for the consideration of both our governments is valid evidence of unfriendly feeling between them. On the contrary, it is the best possible evidence of the many interests we have in common—many of them difficult and complex, but not one of them insoluble."

'THE CITY THAT FAITH BUILT'

REFINERY BLAZE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS TO PLANT

Ranger-Wichita Refinery Is Threatened When Spark Sets Fire to Waste.

Loss Is Estimated at $50,000; Building in Flames for Hours.

Fire originating, according to employes, when a spark from the smokestack ignited waste oil caused heavy damage at the Ranger-Wichita refinery in North Wichita, and for a time threatened the entire plant Saturday night. The damage to the plant was conservatively estimated at $50,000. The fire started at 9:15 p. m. It was still burning at an early hour this morning.

The fire originated back of the stills. Employes were near the scene. They turned chemicals on the fire, which spread instantly the entire length of the rear of the stills. The efforts of the employes were futile and the fire soon destroyed the connections to the rear of the stills, allowing the oil in large quantities to flow out on the ground.

The wind was blowing away from the still house and the boiler house, and it was believed at an early hour this morning that the flames could be confined to the rear of the stills. The towers to the still were destroyed and the vapor lines running from the stills to the condenser boxes were wrecked.

It was expected that the fire would continue to the rear of the stills until all the oil had run out. The stills will be saved.

According to employes, the waste oil ran out on the ground early Saturday morning at the time E. A. Chandler was found dead in the still house. Chandler was charging one still with kerosene distillate when last seen alive about 2 a. m. The oil was discovered running out of a pet cock in the still by the night fireman, who went to the still house to notify Chandler about 4 a. m. He found Chandler dead.

Considerable oil had run out of the still through the pet cock to the ground. It was this oil that caused the fire to spread to the rear of the stills. An account of Mr. Chandler's death is given in another story of this issue.

"While the housing situation may be acute there just now," he remarked, "I understand a number of persons will be leaving the city shortly."

RAIN MAROONS HARDING PARTY

President-Elect May Go to Brownsville if Bad Weather Stays

POINT ISABEL, Texas, Nov. 13.—Cut off by an unseasonable storm from recreation on land or sea, President-Elect Harding spent today in Point Isabel reading and making preliminary preparation for the speech he will deliver next Thursday at New Orleans.

The president-elect and his party virtually were marooned for the day, the cold norther which blew up yesterday still holding sway on the fishing grounds off Lagun Madre and a downpour of rain making the winding dirt road into Brownsville practically impassable. He had hoped at least to go in for a golf game at the Brownsville Country club, but automobile drivers pronounced the trip impracticable.

Unless the weather moderates by tomorrow the Harding party may be moved to a Brownsville hotel. Local weather sharps thought tonight, however, that the storm would be over in a few hours, and that warmer weather would follow. Mr. Harding wants to remain here and get one more try at tarpon fishing off Point Isabel if opssible. It is about 20 miles to Brownsville along a road that is little more than a trail through cactus and mesquite, and for 15 miles of the way there are no houses visible from the roadway.

Two-Car Train.

An old-style narrow-guage railroad train of two cars, hauled by gasoline, makes the trip each way once a day, and today it was used in preference to motor cars by two or three members of Mr. Harding's party who took permanent leave of Point Isabel and started for home.

Harry M. Daugherty, close adviser of the president-elect, was one of those who departed, having been called to Columbus, Ohio, by the death of a sister-in-law. Senator Elkins of West Virginia, who has been Mr. Harding's companion on his two fishing trips here, also left for his home. It is expected that Edward B. McLean, the Washington publisher, will leave the party Thursday at New Orleans before the departure for Panama. Mr. Harding has invited Will H. Hays, the republican national chairman, to make the Panama voyage as his guest, but no definite acceptance has been received.

Unable to either fish or play golf today, Senator Harding visited for the first time the office set up in the Point Isabel by his secretary, George B. Christian, Jr. He also called on a number of other members of his party in the unheated rooms of the hotel, which was erected for summer accommodation and not to shelter guests against a norther such as that which has swept the coast for the past two days.

Cluster About Stove.

He found most of his fellow adventurers clustered close about a small stove that had been erected hastily in the large room that serves as a hotel lobby.

During his call at Mr. Christian's room the president-elect gave instructions for disposition of the most urgent letters and telegrams that have come to him here. He decided that most of the communications be filed away, however, until his vacation trip is over.

One of the messages that has reached Mr. Harding here is an invitation to visit the city and republic of Panama during his week's stay in the canal zone. Despite his hesitancy in his present position to enter the territory of any foreign nation, he is understood to have replied that he would be glad to receive a delegation to formally present the invitation and to have promised that he would make the visit if he found it possible.

SEBASTOPOL IN TERROR AS RED HORDE APPEARS

American Battleship to Take Away Refugees; Wrangel Doomed.

Streets Swarm With Fleeing Thousands; Soviet Sends Ultimatum.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The French warships Waldeck-Rosseau and Provence are aiding in the evacuation of Sebastopol, says a Havas dispatch, and are making special arrangements for the care of the military missions and the French colony. Measures are also under way for the protection of members of the Wrangel government from Bolshevik reprisals.

SEBASTOPOL, Nov. 13.—Thousands of refugees, panic stricken, fill the streets and wharves of Sebastopol. Ships of many nations are hurriedly taking refugees aboard and the Red Cross is loading its supplies.

Rear Admiral Newton McCully, commander of the Adriatic naval forces in Russian waters, will stay at Sebastopol until the last moment with a small guard on the American destroyer Overton. The American colony has been taken aboard the Overton.

It is reported the Bolsheviki have sent an ultimatum to General Wrangel demanding the unconditional surrender of the "White army."

The cruiser U. S. S. St. Louis sailed from Constantinople for Sebastopol this morning to take a full load of refugees. Gravest fears are now felt for General Wrangel's army. With the entrance to the Crimea in the hands of the bolsheviki, military observers say Wrangel's position in the Crimea is untenable.

Collect $7700 By Red Cross Canvass Here

Secretary A. E. Murdock of the 1920 Red Cross roll call had recorded $7,700 to the credit of the to receive final proceeds from Wichita county organization Saturday night as the result of a two days' campaign. The total represented only 2,700 membership, the difference being accounted for in contributions exceeding $1, the membership fee.

Of the total $1,840 was to the credit of the women, 1,235 members answering the roll. One thousand, one hundred and forty dollars was secured from the residences, $730 from the downtown booths Saturday.

Wichita county is credited with $6,300, $1,350 of the amount collected going into division headquarters as one-half of the membership fees. Almost $6,000 is still to be collected from the county if the $1,200 quota for home use is to be accomplished. Burkburnett, Electra and Iowa Park have been assessed around $4,000 altogether. No reports of the campaign in those towns had been received Saturday night.

Headquarters of the campaign will remain open for the next several days solicitors.

20,000 UNABLE TO GET INSIDE CHURCHES HERE

Declaring that there are 20,000 people in Wichita Falls who cannot today be accommodate within the combined churches of the city, Rev. T. S. Pittenger, newly appointed pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Seventh and Lamar streets, pointed out in an interview Saturday that although boom conditions have been superceded by a quieter, more steady growth, the churches have still much room in which to grow.

"If 10,000 people attended church tomorrow morning, and another 10,000 tomorrow night, every church in town would be filled to capacity both times and there would still be 20,000 people uncared for within the Christian institution," he declared.

Reverend Pittenger, after a few days' study of the local situation, is confident of a steady, continuous growth for Wichita Falls. He predicts a population of 50,000 within five years. Every thousand dollars spent for industrial development here brings at least $3,000 spent in housing the laborers, he declared.

Within his own church Reverend Pittenger is planning to reorganize, according to the Waldorf system, introduced in the church all over the Southwest, and called the "Wichita area," with headquarters in Wichita, Kan. The system was introduced by Dr. E. L. Waldorf, resident bishop of the district. It calls for the appointment of 10 committees through which the work of the church is conducted, including committees in charge of spiritual activities, philanthropies, Sunday school work, young people work, education, organization, finance, civil and social service, publicity and woman's work.

The official board, Sunday school and Epworth league officials have all voted to adopt the system in the local institution.

Reverend Pittenger comes to Wichita Falls immediately from Oklahoma City. For several years he has been superintendent of the Alva district, including northwest Oklahoma, and the greater part of the Texas Panhandle. He comes to this city at the personal request of Bishop Waldorf. He succeeds Rev. P. E. Bingham, who has been appointed to the pastorship of Pauhuski, Okla.

Mrs. Pittenger accompanied the minister to Wichita Fils. The family includes two daughters, one, Miss Bytha Pittenger, is called the "baby historian" in the faculty of the Oklahoma university. Miss Vira Pittenger is a concert musician, until recently a prominent member of the Ralph Dunbar orchestra, playing for "The Mikado."

WHITE WAY LINE READY ON OHIO

The laying of the circuit for the white-way lighting system in the downtown district has been completed on Ohio avenue. It is expected that the laying of the line on Indiana avenue will be completed by the middle of the week. With the arrival of the porcelain heads, the lamp, standdards for both Ohio and Indiana avenues will be set in place and the new lighting system as far as these streets are concerned will be completed.

City Engineer Montgomery said Saturday that as soon as the standards are erected the debris and waste that has accumulated on the streets will be cleaned up. Mr. Montgomery was not prepared to say whether the lights would be turned on as the different streets are completed or would wait the completion of the entire system.

FINANCE KINGS LOOK OVER OIL FIELD HOLDINGS

Lewis J. Hill, president of Great Northern railroad and one of the best known railroad financiers in the United States; W. M. Wrigley of Wrigley & Co., the largest manufacturers of chewing gum, and Dr. W. N. Kellogg of the Kellogg interests, manufacturers of breakfast foods, were among the national known figures in the financial and manufacturing world who were here on the Texas company's special train Friday.

These are among the 100 stockholders and officials of the Texas company and the Texas Pipe Line company. They spent Friday inspecting the holdings of the companies in the Electric and Burkburnett fields.

Officials of the New York and Houston offices, who made the annual inspection trip were headed by A. L. Beatty, president of the Texas company: E. G. Lufkin, chairman of the board of directors; C. M. Scott, vice-president and general manager of the company. J. L. McMahon, local head of the Texas Pipe Line company and other local officials accompanied the visitors on the inspection trip in this section.

The group, which, it is believed, represented larger financial interests than any that ever visited this section, spent Friday morning in the Electra field. The afternoon was spent in the Burkburnett field following lunch at the dining hall of the Texas company at Burkburnett. The visitors then came to this city and left for Fort Worth. Saturday was spent in the Ranger district. The special train left Chicago early in the week. The inspection is preliminary to the annual meeting of the stockholders to be held this year at Houston November 18.

PUT 2 ENGINEERS ON IRRIGATED JOB

Two assistant engineers, working under direction of R. E. Allison, chief engineer of the Wichita irrigation district project, have been employed to speed up the work, it was announced Saturday by F. N. Lawton, manager of the project. They are Ernest S. Altgelt and Ray W. Capron. The engineers are taking soundings to find foundations for the retaining and diversion dams and for the spillway.

COUNCIL NAMES BOARD TO TAKE UP CITY PLANS

City officials met Saturday morning with George Kessler, landscape architect, in a conference regarding the final plans that will be recommended by Mr. Kessler for the future development of the city. Mayor Cline, Commissioners Bonner, Curlee, Shepherd, Bralley and McDowell, City Engineer Montgomery, City Clerk Thorburn and F. N. Lawton, manager of the waterworks, were among the city officials who attended the conference. The Chamber of Commerce was represented by Hubert Harrison.

After the tentative plans had been explained by Mr. Kessler and his assistant, John Noyes, Mayor Cline appointed a committee consisting of Street Commissioner Curlee, chairman; City Engineer Montgomery, John Noyes and Hubert Harrison, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to work out further details concerning the plans and report back with recommendations to the city council.

At the meeting Saturday Mr. Kessler presented three maps of the city. The first map gave in different colors the present location of all businesses and industrial concerns in the city, the same color being used to indicate business concerns and industrial enterprises coming under the same class. The second map showed in colors a logical division of the city into zones covering the various industries and business houses of the city. The divisions made are the railroads, heavy industries, light industries, business houses, apartment houses and single family residences.

With the zoning recommendations the plans specify the height of buildings and the percentage of the area they are to occupy on the lots in which they are located. In height the buildings, according to the recommendation, should vary from 150 feet in the business district to 45 feet in the residential district. A maximum of 90 per cent of the total area is recommended for the business houses and 35 per cent in the residential district. Other recommendations are made as to height and percentage of area for buildings coming between the two extremes given above.

The third map gave plans for the future development of roads, streets, parks and boulevards. The recommendations take into consideration esthetic features, traffic condition—light and heavy—and the elimination of distance and fire hazard.

ASK FOR BIDS ON STORM SEWER JOB

Bids are now being asked by the city for the laying of storm sewers on several streets in both the downtown and residencial districts. The improvement is part of the bond issue of $260,000 authorized for storm sewers. The bids are the first sought on any of the improvements which received the approval of the voters in the bond election of October 12.

The contracts upon which bids are now being asked provide for storm sewers on Indiana avenue with several lateral lines leading into it; Travis and Austin streets to Eleventh street; Tenth street to Holliday with lateral lines from Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh streets. Eleventh street also is included.

JUDGE TO HEAR LIVERY CAR MEN FIGHT ORDINANCE

Under an agreement reached Saturday between City Attorney Mann and attorneys representing the service car drivers the merits of the ordinance recently passed by the city council regulating the operation of service cars in this city will be argued before Judge Martin of the Eighty-Ninth district court Saturday. The agreement was reached after a few drivers Saturday had been arrested by city police for driving cars without the city license.

The drivers and owners of the cars were released without bond at the police station and no attempt will be made to enforce the ordinance, pending decision in the test case by Judge Martin. The present ordinance is the third to be passed by the city council, the first two never having been enforced. S. L. Givens of the Givens Service Car Company, obtained temporary injunctions restraining the city from enforcing the ordinances.

The present ordinance is practically a duplicate of that which has been in force in several other Texas cities and city officials here Saturday expressed confidence that the city would not be restrained from enforcing it here. The requirement of a bond to protect against injury to person and property is one feature of the new ordinance most strenuously objected to by the service car owners.

FIRST SNOW OF WINTER SEASON IS VERY LIGHT

The first snow of the season fell here Saturday afternoon at about 4 o'clock. It was scarcely heavy enough to be noticeable. The few gusty flakes melted as fast as they hit the ground. Snow fell for a half hour at Electra and 15 minutes at Burkburnett. It did not cover the ground.

Snows in the Panhandle territory and Oklahoma along the Katy railroad were reported here by local railway offices Saturday. At about 7 o'clock it began snowing at Altus and Mangum, Okla., but the storm quickly ended. Snow was also reported at Frederick and Forgan, Okla.

The Fort Worth & Denver railroad reported a light snowfall from Chillicothe to Childress and another light snow in Fort Worth, at the south end of the line.

PRINCETON, NO LONGER JINXED, WALLOPS YALE

PRINCTON, N. J., Nov. 13.—Princeton's football eleven today broke a hoodoo of 23 years and defeated Yale for the second year in succession in scoring 20 points against none for Yale.

Don Lourie of Peru, Ill.; Mike Callahan of Lawrence, Mass., and Stanley Keck of Greensburg, Pa., put themselves in the galaxy of orange and black heroes who have contributed sensational feats in defeating an ancient foe.

Lourie made the prettiest play of the game near the end of the first half. Princeton had the ball for a first down 61 yards from Yale's goal. Keck dropped back from the line to the kicker's position and Lourie lay on the ground in front of him for a place kick. Keck being particularly adept in that respect.

Then ensued a surprise. Lourie received the pass perfectly from Captain Mike Callahan, scrambled to his feet, circled Yale's right wing, dodged, sidestepped, straight-armed and crossed the last white line to the aumzement of both, the Yale team and the 50,000 spectators.

Princeton men, foreseeing an early victory, thought this would be sweet revenge on Yale should it be the means of winning, for Yale once had used the same play to defeat Princeton.

Princeton's cup of joy began to run over before the third period was less than two minutes old, for it soon became evident another score was in prospect. The expectation was realized when Mike Callahan ambled across the Yale goal line for another touchdown.

Later in the third period Keck kicked a field goal from the 36-yard line, with Lourie holding the ball just as he had bluffed at doing before making his sensational run. Keck kicked both goals after the touchdowns and enhanced the high regard in which he has been held by critics for his excellent line plays all season.

The other Princeton score was a field goal by Murray on the first play of the second period, a drop-kick from the 35-yard line.

The line-up:

Texas University Cops Place in Season Wind-Up

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 13.—Texas university clinched their chance of being in the final play-off for the Southwestern conference football championship by defeating Southern Methodist university, 21 to 3, here today.

The Methodists scored when Odom intercepted a forward pass on the Texas 30-yard line and ran to the 25-yard line, where Kitts kicked a goal from placement. They got within kicking distance of the Texas goal only once more during the game and there lost the ball on a fumble. Texas was only two feet from the Mustang goal line and had two more downs when the game ended.

Watson, Texas quarter, was sent from the field for roughness near the beginning of the second quarter. "Slippery" Elam, who has been temporarily ineligible, replaced him at the beginning of the second half and showed his usual good form.

Referee Denies Tech Was "Rough" In Centre Game

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—Mike Thompson of Emmettsburg, Md., referee at the game here two weeks ago between Georgia Tech and Centre college, issued a statement today exonerating the Tech players of intentional roughness and unsportsmanlike conduct, as charged by Centre players. The severe weather prevailing Saturday kept the three contesting teams uneliminated from the golf tournament off the links. The players plan to make up for lost time when pleasant weather comes.

The remaining contests are: Judge H. F. Weldon vs. C. E. McCutcheon; A. H. Britian vs. Reppy; Collier vs. Francis.

TENNESSEE WINS FROM SEWANEE 20-0

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 13.—Tennessee defeated Sewanee here today by a score of 20 to 0. Half a dozen 40-yard runs by Quarterback Campbell and two field goals by Hatcher, one of the 50-yard line, contributed mainly to the result. Sewanee used forward passes in profusion with success and Coughlan made several long runs, but the team lacked the punch when close to the goal.

Hatcher's 50-yard goal kick set a new record on Southern football fields.

WICHITA POLO TEAM TO PLAY DALLAS CLUB

Members of the Wichita Polo club will play their first match game on Saturday on this week at Dallas. It will be the first of three contests. The best two out of the three will decide. If the three games are necessary, they will be played consecutively, Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

The games will be played at the fairgrounds. About eight members of the local club will be selected to enter the contest. The majority of club members will make the trip and see the games. Eighteen or twenty ponies will be sent to Dallas from Wichita Falls for use in the play.

L. O. Wilfong from the Wichita club was in Dallas Saturday completing arrangements for the match.

PLAN MATCH FOR IRSLINGER HERE

Manager Crosbie of the Wichita theater announced Saturday night that he had offered a fancy figure for a match between Henry Irslinger, middleweight wrestling champion, and the winner of the bout on November 16 at El Paso between Billy Shoeber and "Mattsy" Mattsuder, aspirants for the middleweight championship.

November 30 has been set for the date of the match here at the Wichita theater. Local fans are confident the offer will not be rejected as the amount of money named is said to be tempting.

GEORGETOWN LOSES TO TECH 35 TO 6

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 13.—Georgetown University of Washington held Georgia Tech to a 7 to 0 score for the first half of their game here but in the latter half, the blue and gray defense crumpled up against the terrific drives of the Yellow Jacket machine and the game went to Tech 35 to 6.

Georgetown's attack made but little headway against the Tech line as shown by Tech's 21 downs to the visitors four. In the last period the Hill Toppers launched a drive of their own that ended with Kenyon's skirting left end for a touchdown on a triple criss-cross. Three of Tech's touchdowns followed smashing attacks against line and ends.

MINORS' HEADS ASSURE LANDIS THEY BACK HIM

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Steps to place every professional baseball league in the country under the direction of Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, who yesterday was appointed a one-man commission to act as sole arbiter in major league disputes, were taken today.

President John Heydler of the National league and other club owners, conferred with a group of the highest officials in minor leagues over the proposed reorganization of control of professional baseball and, after listening to the major leaguer's explanation of the plans, the minor officials informed Judge Landis they approved of his election and favored coming under his power.

In the delegation which called on the judge were Mike Sexton of Rock Island, president of the National association of Minor leagues; John Farrell, tis secretary; George F. Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario league; E. W. Dickerson, president of the Central league; W. W. Walsh, president of the South Atlantic league and Walter Morris, president of the West Texas league.

Assures Acceptance.

Support of these men for the reorganization plan virtually assures its acceptance by the minor leagues, it is believed by baseball men here. Possibility that Judge Landies' powers might be given an international scope was seen by President Maines of the Michigan-Ontario clubs.

"We want to see you in charge of the leagues in Canada as well as in the United States," he told the judge. "Your appointment is the greatest thing in the world for baseball and the good I know will result from it must not be confined to this country."

Judge Landis spent several hours today conferring with minor leaguers and reading congratulatory messages. He was particularly delighted with several from fans, saying he "wanted the approval of the men in the bleachers more than that of the magnates.

National League Acts.

The National league today appointed Garry Hermann of Cincinnati, Barney Dreyfuss of Pittsburgh and Charles Ebbets of Brooklyn, its committee to officially arrange with the minor leagues for them to come under Judge Landis' control. Clark Griffith of Washington, Frank Mann of Detroit and Connie Mack of Philadelphia, were appointed to represent the American league. They will meet a minor league committee of six within a week or two in New York or Chicago.

If the minor leagues officially approve the reorganization plans, a new national agreement and rules governing the game will be drawn up. At a joint major and minor meeting either in New York or Chicago in December, Judge Landis would attend. President Heydler left today for New York and President Johnson and Phil Ball for St. Louis, left for a hunting trip in Louisiana.

MISSOURI STATE WINS IN FINALE

COLUMBUS, Mo., Nov. 13.—Last minute attack gave the Missouri State University football team a 14 to 0 victory over the Washington University eleven from St. Louis here this afternoon. The visitors made their first score in the second quarter when Hafner, recovering the ball on Missouri's 30-yard line, dashed through the Missouri team for a touchdown. Thompson's field goal ended Washington's scoring.

GROWTH OF ROADS SHOWS CITY'S PROGRESS

NEW FORT WORTH AND DENVER FREIGHT OFFICE

By C. O. WILLSON

It is often stated that the railroads entering this city reflect its rapid was the demand more urgent than on the local railroads during the boom period. With equipment, lines and a force of employes only large enough to meet the demands of a small city of 12,000 in an agricultural country they were called upon in the short space of a few months to care for a passenger business by a population three times greater and to also provide freight accommodations for the greatest oil field in the wordl.

That some congestion resulted on local lines at times was inevitable. But it is also true that the railroads have responded to and handled the situation in a manner unparalleled in railroad history. The heads of the railroads have been quick to realize that the growth of the city was not of a temporary nature and have been willing to make every improvement and extension as soon as the men and material were available.

Within the last few months they have accomplished their purpose, their present equipment being fully efficient to meet the present needs of the city with every assurance that the railroads will keep pace with all future development.

Buildings Show It

The progress made by two lines entering the city—the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway and the Wichita Valley Railroad—is typified in the new freight office building. The $200,000 building is the latest improvement and local accommodation completed by the two lines which have spent hundreds of thousands of dollars during the last two years on added equipment. The building was started the first of the year after the old freight house had burned down. It was then that the management decided to combine a new freight house with office accommodations giving a two story structure that incorporates every convenience needed not only for the present but also future needs.

The building which fronts on Seventh street within one block of the union station and adjoining the main tracks is 188 feet long and 37 feet wide. By the tearing down of the old Lory building adjoining a brick paved drives is provided which extends the entire length of the building and which is also accessible from Sixth street.

The building is fire proof, being of steel and concrete structure. Special lighting features have been incorporated in the day lighting. Every convenience for the accommodation of customers and employes have been provided in the office arrangement.

The yard office is located in the front of the building on the first floor the remainder of the first floor being given over to the largest freight warehouse in the city. The warehouse is open on either side and with the paved drive is easily accessible by delivery trucks. The offices both for this division and those that are strictly local are all located on the second floor. An arrangement of the offices has been secured which secures a maximum of cooperation between the different departments.

The local offices of the two railroads are headed by two veteran railroad men to whom the greatest credit is due for the remarkable progress made by the two lines during the last two years. The two veterans are Elmer F. Lott, superintendent of the Forth Worth and Denver City railroad from Fort Worth to Childress, the division known as the Wichita division, with general offices in this city, and O. E. Maer, superintendent of the Wichita Valley line.

Both Mr. Luft and Mr. Meer are products of the school of experience in railroad life. They have risen to their present executive positions from the lowest railroad jobs having filled practically every position known in railroad circles.

Started As Call Boy

Mr. Lott started as a call boy some two score years ago. From that position he has been a fireman, engineer, brakeman, conductor and held other positions for several years. In 1907 he was made assistant superintendent of the Trinidad division of the Colorado and Southern railroad and held that position until 1919. He was for a few months superintendent of the southern division of the Colorado and Southern and then came to the Fort Worth as superintendent of the newly created Wichita division between Childress and Fort Worth. He has held that position since July, 1919.

There is probably no more widely nor more favorable known executive on the Fort Worth and Denver and the Colorado and Southern lines than the "old man" as he is commonly known in railroad circles. The "old" is a tribute to his railroad experience and not his age and it is probable that he will be an active head for several years in local railroad life.

O. E. Maer who holds the same position with the Wichita Valley has been superintendent of various lines out of this city for fourteen years and is probably more widely known than any other local railroad man. His railroad experience which began as a messenger boy on the Mobile and Ohio covers 44 years of continuous service. During the Federal administration of the railroads he was in charge of all lines out of the city except the Fort Worth and Denver.

Smith General Agent

O. M. Smith is general agent of the traffic department of the two lines and also several other lines in this section. The lines include Colorado and Southern, Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, Rock Island, Wichita Falls and Northwestern, K. C. M. and O., Clinton, Oklahoma and Western and Frisco.

B. P. Hathorn is local agent both for the Fort Worth and Denver and Wichita Valley lines. W. T. Wood is his chief clerk.

Other officers in the local office include: O. D. Gephart, terminal trainmaster; Guy Whitley, his chief clerk to Superintendent Maer; J. W. Mode, trainmaster of the second division of the Fort Worth and Denver, M. A. Tudik, warehouse foreman; J. R. Ferguson, chief clerk to Superintendent Lott; J. H. Davidson, chief clerk; J. A. Murphy, trainmaster of the First division of the Fort Worth and Denver; F. E. Rose, chief dispatcher of the Fort Worth and Denver; W. C. Cavanaugh, chief dispatcher of the Wichita Valley; W. M. Langford, general yard master; About 75 men and women are employed in the new office and warehouse building.

The case of "Doc" Snow, charged with murder of Marvin W. Caples, of this city, has been set for Tuesday afttrnoon at 1:30 o'clock.

HARRISON TO GO TO CHILLICOTHE

Hubert Harrison, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce has accepted an invitation from the Chamber of Commerce at Chillicothe to speak at the barbecue to be held in that city November 15

The barbecue will be one of the biggest events that has ever been held in that section and will be attended by people from all sections of west Texas. Mr. Harrison will leave Monday afternoon.

SAY 60 NEGROES SLAIN

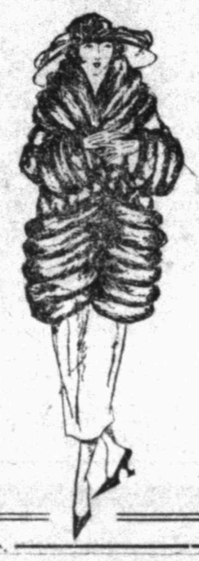

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today charged that between thirty and sixty negroes had been killed "in Florida election riots and the statewide terrorization of voters."

In making public a letter to Attorney General Palmer asking a federal investigation, the organization asserted that "sufficient evidence of violence, frauds and illegality is at hand available for the department of justice to disqualify the entire vote of the state of Florida in the last election." The latter charged "intimidation by the Klu Klux Klan and other agencies apparently beyond the control of the state of Florida," and requested that "Alabama, Georgia and other southern states" be included in the investigation.

RAILS FOR MEXICO

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Contracts have been signed by Florian and Company, Limited, of this city with the Mexican government to furnish rolling stock, locomotives, rails and other steel material for the complete reequipment of the Mexican National lines, a $20,000,000 project, it was announced by members of the firm.

The officers of the City National Bank of Commerce always endeavor to acquaint themselves fully with the business entrusted to the bank by its customers, because they believe this to be the only sound basis for mutual confidence and intelligent cooperation.—Adv.

JACK BARNARD, DIRECTOR OF RETAILER BODY, URGES SALES TAX IN LIEU OF LUXURY TAX

The unanimous adoption by the Texas Retail Dry Goods association, when it met in Dallas Thursday, of a resolution asking that a sales tax be substituted for the luxury and excess profits taxes now in effect, won high favor from local merchants, according to a statement Saturday by Jack C. Barnard, secretary of the P. B. M. company.

Mr. Barnard was elected one of the 12 directors who will serve two years on the board of the state association. Eleven other directors serve for only one year. There are 23 in all.

Mr. Barnard told The Record-News Saturday that the adoption of a sales tax is a much more satisfactory arrangement than the luxury and excess profits taxes, from a consumer's standpoint as well as the merchant's, would be effected. The sales tax, according to the bill supporting it, will be absorbed in the market, the merchants paying it and not the public. Under the present system of taxes in effect the consumer pays the luxury tax and the merchant pays the excess profits tax.

Passage of the sales tax bill would mean that a tax of one per cent on all retail sales would be paid to the government as revenue.

Discussions of a minimum wage scale and the draft of a bill was presented which, it is proposed, will be submitted as an amendment relating to that section of the state constitution regulating employment and wage scale of female beginners and experienced women. It is proposed that the minimum wage scale for beginners shall be at least 33-1-3 per cent less than that of women who have had experience of 12 months or more.

Although favoring the state wide movement, Mr. Barnard said that the employes of his company would not be effected one way or the other should the amendment be adopted. He said that an inspection of the employment rolls by state officials showed that his company at present is ranked among the leading stores of the state in payment of wages.

The law allows each merchant to have 10 per cent of his total number of employes as beginners or apprentices, and they are taken on at whatever salary may be agreed upon between the applicant and the merchant. After filling the position for six or eight months, the beginner is then advanced to the grade of experienced salesman or saleswoman with corresponding salary increase.

In expressing his opinion of a fair wage scale for employes, Mr. Barnard declared that he is strongly in favor of a living wage and a square deal to all employes. The matter of adjusting the minimum wage scale according to zones is also favored, it being pointed out that living is higher in some places than in others and that it is only fair to both employe and employer that wages should be fixed on such a basis.

DIVORCE QUICK REPENT AN AGE IS MOVIE PLOT

"Why change your husband, since you are practically certain to want him back?" is the tehme of "The New York Idea," which opens Monday at the Majestic theater with Alice Brady in the stellar role. It cannot be charged that the idea is clothed from De Mille's "Why Change Your Wife," however, for "The New York Idea" is a famous American satiric drama first played in 1906 by Minnie Maddern Fiske, and revived three or four years ago in New York by Grace George.

The New York Idea is, we learn, to marry for whim and divorce for the same reason; in other words, divorce in haste and repent at leisure. As the capricious heroine, Cynthia Karslake, Miss Brady has something nearer a comedy role than her previous Realart pictures have afforded her, though she brings her well-known emotional ability into play more than once. Throughout the picture she wears sumptuous clothes, as do the other women of the cast, as well as several hundred extras who are used for ball-room, wedding and race track scenes. Aside from the plot the film would have interested merely as a picture of New York society.

Belmont Park race track on Long Island, The Piping Rock Hunt Club and other favorite haunts of the idle rich are used as backgrounds for he unfolding of the story, which abounds in divorces—which may be said to make it an accurate picture of smart society. Lowell Sherman, long a Broadway favorite in stage plays, and the last few years a familiar face in pictures, plays opposite Miss Brady, the role of her first and final choice as a husband. But before she comes to her final decision she betroths herself to another man, played by George Howell, a newcomer to filmdom, but no novice in acting. His divorced wife is played most bewitchingly by Hedda Hopper, wife of the popular DeWolf Hopper of light opera fame. Others in a splendidly chosen cast are Lionel Pape, Marie Burke, Julia Hurley and H. J. Hockey.

Herbert Blache, who has directed pictures for many of the leading stars, among them Ethel Barrymore, Nazimova in "The Brat," and "Stronger Than Death," Edith Storey, Emily Stevens, Florence Reed and Frank Keenan, was director of this production, which is a Realart offering and quite up to the Realart standard.

The New York Idea will be shown at the Majestic theater.

"OH, DADDY," TO BRING BEVY OF DANCING BEAUTIES

MILLIONAIRE'S CHORUS IN KILROY-BRITTON COMEDY AT WICHITA THEATER MONDAY

Kilroy-Britton's presentation of the merry, tuneful musical comedy, "Oh Daddy," is to be seen at the Wichita Theater tomorrow and Tuesday. This musical play, which ranks among the emphatic hits scored by Kilroy & Britton in half dozen notable productions was last winter accredited with being one of the most satisfactory attractions of the year.

Its performance here will introduce a brilliant cast and beautiful stage equipment under the personal directions of Kilroy & Britton. Book and lyrics by Richard C. Maddox and music by T. H. Wilhite. This piece did more perhaps than any other product to establish the face of this energetic duo as universal producers of musical comedy.

"Oh Daddy" has a logical plot concerning the tangled romance of a wealthy old doctor and a charming widow. The widow is jealous of the doctor's innocence but misjudged interest in a pretty society girl. The doctor's son is a lieutenant from overseas service, where he was cited with honor chevrons and many foreign military decorations.

The young society girl becomes infatuated with the handsome lieutenant, which eases the mind of the charming widow. This is the bare outline of a story cleverly told amid tinkling harmony, hearty humor and a wealth of song numbers that are already widely sung and danced to all over America.

Kilroy & Britton have provided a typical musical comedy cast and a large beauty chorus of singing quality. All in all "Oh Daddy" promises to fully sustain the past standard of this reliable producing firm. This is the only company playing "Oh Daddy."

MAJESTIC TO BILL SATIRE ON SOCIETY

MOVIE WRITER CLAIMS KEY TO SERVANT WORRY

There was a time when people of wealth had only to do their own breathing. That was a few years ago. Today it's different. Not so long ago, if a servant didn't wear his or her eyebrows just right, out they would go, and others immediately took their places.

A few years ago, one could go into an employment agency and have the pick of an army of help. Now, when the butler goes to the employment agency he finds not an army of fellow employes waiting for jobs, but an army of employers waiting for someone to fill a job. Oh, yes, it's different.

Now, the maid, before she takes the job, looks over the lady of the house very carefully. The color of her hair and the shape of her nose must meet with her approval before she will even talk about work, and if perchance the wall paper in her room is not in harmony with her temperament, it's either new wall paper or no maid. So milady of the house meekly and gladly remodels the room to suit the maid, changes her social dates so they won't conflict with hers, and in general makes herself as sociable and agreeable as possible.

And when a visitor calls, the maid is carefully concealed, for who dares to take a chance these days on letting a servant be enticed into some one else's service.

But now we have been told the servant question has been solved. Yes, absolutely and conclusively solved. William Collier, "the prince of light comedy," claims to have tied, roped and thrown the problem in his photoplay creation "The Servant Question," a Select picture, which will be shown at the Plaza theater Monday.

WRITER HOLDS EVERY THING RUNS IN PAIRS

Have you a double? A well-known authority on such matters has made the statement that every tree, flower man and woman, has somewhere a physical double.

In Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, "Always Audacious," which will be shown at the Olympic theater next Monday and Tuesday, Perry Danton, a young San Francisco millionaire wasn't aware of the fact that he had a double, until the latter, who was a gentleman crook, had shanghaied him, and usurped his place in society. Then he got busy, made his way back to San Francisco and the excitement starts.

Wallace Reid plays both the millionaire and the crook and the results are said to be two of the most unique roles he has ever portrayed. Margaret Loomis, famous as an interpretive dancer and leading woman of the screen, has the role of Camilla Hoyt, opposite Mr. Reid. Clarence Geldart is Theron Ammtdown, his executor, while the three crooked accomplices of Slim Attucks, known as Jerry, the Gent, Denver Kate and Molly, the Eel, are ably interpreted by J. M. Dumont, Rhea Haines and Carmen Phillips, well-known screen heavies. Fannie Midgely is Mrs. Rumson, and Guy Oliver plays Martin Green, the newspaper reporter.

EMPRESS OFFERS BOSWORTH MOVIE

Hobart Bosworth is the star at the Empress theater, beginning Monday in "The Brute Master," with Anna Q. Nilsson, who has often been called the screen's most beautiful blonde, playing opposite him.

The story is by Mrs. Jack London, and seldom has Bosworth had a story that fitted him so ideally. He plays the role of a hard-fighting, brutal, domineering sea captain, who ruled his little world by might of right—and then a beautiful girl came along. She hated and feared him, and showed it.

They are cast ashore, by the burning of the ship, on an island inhabited by friendly South Sea islanders, and here the story reaches a fine dramatic climax. There's plenty of action, some fine sea views, and the fire scenes on the ship seldom have been equaled. J. Parker Read Jr. produced the story, and it's great.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK TO START HERE NOV. 15TH

BY MISS VERA DODGE.

"Don't buy any more 'quick lunch' books for me. I want some books that I don't get tired of. Aren't there any better books written, or don't you know where to find them?"

The mother of the 10-year-old boy who made this comment on her selection of books for his reading had been in the habit of buying a book in the midst of her general shopping. She had given no further thought to the matter than to ask for another book for a boy of 10 years at the price she was accustomed to pay. The boy's challenge to buy better books brought her to the children's room of a public library one day in September.

There she was helped to make out a list, including "Treasure Island," "Tom Sawyer," "Robinson Crusoe" and Howard Pyle's "Merry Adventures of Robin Hood." Not one of these titles had her boy ever had before. Moreover, this mother was roused to a sense of her own lack of equipment for meeting the book needs of an intelligent growing boy and determined to avail herself of every opportunity to make good in her future selection of his books.

"From now on," she said, "it must be a book George will like and think worth reading, not just another book. I can see that I shall have to read more of his books and know what he thinks about them if I expect him to put any confidence in my judgment. It will take more time to select his books, but I feel a new interest already, and I am going to have a good time doing it."—Annie Carroll Moore in Bookman, November, 1920.

To stimulate a greater interest in better and more attractive books for boys and girls, there has been instituted by libraries and publishers the custom of a national celebration known as children's book week, to be held this year November 15-20.

Effort has been made during the past few months to improve the collection of books for children in the Kemp public library, and though the collection is still small a number of attractive books have been added. A selection of these will be on exhibit in the library during the week of November 15-20, those notable for handsome illustrations and good editions of old favorites. The list will include:

"Little Mother Goose," illustrated by Jessie Wilcox Smith.

"Night Before Christmas," illustrated by Jessie Wilcox Smith.

MURDERER ASKS FOR NEW TRIAL

By Associated Press

LYNDON, Kan., Nov. 13.—Attorneys for Rufe King, who was convicted yesterday of murder in the first degree, filed a motion for a new trial in the Osage county district court today. In case the motion is not granted, the attorneys said before it was filed, they intend to carry the case to the Supreme court. Meanwhile King is out on bond, Judge Heiser permitting a renewal of the bond on which King has been at freedom before his trial.

OH DADDY

IF YOU ARE SICK

PROFIT BY THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHERS

CONSULT DR. SCHULTZ

THE RELIABLE SPECIALIST

For scientific treatment of chronic, nervous and special diseases of both sexes, catarrh of all mucous membrane, stomach, liver, kidney complaints, blood and skin diseases. Hemorrhoids and prostatic complications treated without the knife, by a safe and humane system of scientific office treatment.

If you are sick of experimenting, sick of failures, sick of being sick, come to me. I invite sick people who contemplate taking treatment to come. Special attention given in the combination of curative powers, modern electricity, vibrations, etc., with the scientific administration of selected Specific Medicines. I endeavor to do everything to promote the welfare of my patients.

IF YOU NEED A SPECIALIST WHY NOT THE BEST?

Are you a nervous wreck? Are you worn out and broken down. Are you suffering from vicious Blood and Skin Diseases, that destroy bone tissue, and disfigure for life? Backaches and kidneys give you all-gone feeling? Whether these conditions were caused by early excesses, or contracted by inoculation, it does not matter, for they will all respond to my treatment. Consult Dr. Schultz, the Reliable Specialist, who is well equipped by long experience that enables him to offer his services on a basis that no other can; his charges are lower for cures than the average physician generally charges for failures.

Those who have wasted time and money, and failed to get rid of their ailments, are especially invited to consult FREE. I am giving the benefit of over 30 years honorable experience; some of my cures are truly wonderful, yet I do not work magic; I do not make the old younger, nor the blind see; I simply apply the knowledge my years of honorable experience have given me, and I do this honestly and intelligently.

Jiffy-Jell comes ready-sweetened. It comes acidulated with lemon or grape acid. Simply add boiling water, as directed on package, then the flavor from the bottle, and let cool.

A package serves six in mold form, or 12 if you whip the jell—all for 15 cents. The fruit alone would usually cost more.

The Men of Real Power

The men who occupy the positions of importance and influence are the men of keen, alert minds and strong, sturdy bodies.

The weakling never ascends to the top of the ladder in any calling. His lack of strength and endurance prevent him from going so high. He must of necessity stay near the bottom, where the crowd is ever dense; submerged in a mass of mediocre humanity—and there to be jostled and pressed always from every side, with no elbow room or freedom of opportunity.

But with the healthy and vigorous the surroundings are entirely different. By their superior strength they are able to climb above the motley throng, to where their visions have full scope and their chances are unlimited for development and expansion of their talents.

It's the same old story of that inexorable law of the universe—the survival of the fittest. Yet, withal, it teaches a lesson of paramount value to the weak, nervous and worn-out; bringing forcibly home to them the tremendous importance of good health and the proper care of the physical system.

There's hope of greater achievement and fuller enjoyment of life for those who are mentally and physically exhausted, in FORCE, the master rebuilder. For this tonic possesses wonderful revitalizing and reconstructive qualities; properties which tend to materially increase the energy, strength and endurance of those who are reduced in vitality, whether as the result of sickness, excessive exertion, worry or care. Its rejuvenating, strength-giving and upbuilding effects begin to show almost immediately in greater mental and physical efficiency.

Therefore, make up your mind today to discard the handicap of ill-health and decide to supplant it with new vigor, increased energy, and greater strength by commencing to take FORCE.

This splendid tonic is sold by retail druggists everywhere; and is equally beneficial to men, women and children.

TEXHOMA WELL EXTENDS K. M. A. SOUTHERN POOL

Kemp-Munger-Allen operations continue to hold the spotlight in the drilling operations in the Wichita Falls district, a westward extension of production in the south pool into Block 16 by the Texhoma and the showing made by the 1,500 foot and picked up in block 20, being the principal contributions of the week just closed.

The Texhoma's extension was effected by that company's No. 1 Kemp and Kempner in block 16, good for 100 barrels. The same company has just company just completed its first producer in block 17, adjoining to the east, where there already were several producers, also good for around 100 barrels. The Texhoma's No. 1 Kemp and Kempner in block 19 is approaching completion, but is being delayed through casing trouble.

The 1,500-foot sand, discovered in the Universal test in block 20 as the the casing was being shot to bep ulled and the test abandoned, has made a show during the past week which has proved one of the principal items of interest for operators in this section. The showing has resulted in the discontinuance of preparation for abandoning the test, and cable tools are being rigged to complete the new depth. The hole is reported to be standing to the top with oil, the oil bubbling over the top of the casing, indicating someg as, although not sufficient to make a flowing well.

Thinks Pay Is Willis Sand.

The sand is believed by operators to be practically the same as that encountered just below 1,900 in the No. 1 of W. T. Willis, in the southeast corner of thes ame block. In the case of the latter test, about six feet of oil sand making a rich showing was drilled, but the water sand below was drilled into before a test could bef ade and efforts to shut off the water weren ot successful in this case. In the next block to the east from the Willis test, in block 21, the sames and was found around 1,630 in three tests, those of Dr. Wallace of Nixon et al and of Porter & Barnard. Of these tests the Dr. Wallace test is reported to have produced at ther ate of 200 barrels in a day. Therew as a large proportion of water with the oil, however, according to field reports. Efforts to shut off the water in this test are reported to be still under way.

The No. 9 of Nixon et al in block 21 failed to make a producer at the 1,630 depth and is now drilling below 1,700 feet for ther egular K. M. A. sand. The No. 1 of Dixon et al, and the Porter and Barnard are reported now testing out the shallowers and.

W. T. Willis et al are reported rigging up for their No. 1 Kemp & Kempner in block 18, offsetting the No. 1 Lewis of W. T. Willis in block 20.

K. M. A. Company Wells.

The special packer for the No. 6 Munger of the Kemp Munger Allen Co., which is producing frof an 1,800-foot sand, arrived the latter part of the week, and the fifty some odd feet of open hole should be cased off by Sunday or Monday and a proper test of this new sand made possible. With the exception of a day or so when the pump rods were off, this No. 6 has been pumping 50 barrels of oil and a very little water, even with the open hole below 1,760 feet. It is continued production with the waters ands at the regular K. M. A. depth uncased, increases the belief of the company that this new sand will prove a remarkable thing in the development of the K. M. A. pool.

On the east side of the company's 560-acre tract the fifty-fifty well, drilled on 4 feet or so deeper into the same, it is reported. The well as it stands is producing around 100 barrels. The deby the Sibley Drilling Co. is to be drillelon to drill deeper was influenced in a great measure by the bringing in of the Art, Haynes & Cranfill No. 5 Munger as a 400-barrel well, by drilling a little deeper in the sand than usual.

Drilling has begun on the Nos. 9 and 10 of the Kemp Munger Allen Co., it is reported. Both these new tests are on the east side of the lease, in the general neighborhood of the Occidental, Chase and Art Haynes and Cranfill wells.

Bissnet Standardizing.

The No. 2 Parkey of Bissnet, Cerreaux et al is now standardizing after the casing troubles have been overcome, according to reports frof thef ield, and the well should be ready for completion in a short time. The No. 2 has started drilling and the same operators have another rig up as hort distance to the east, their No. 9 Riggs according to field reports. The Harvey Natural Oil Co has started drilling on its No. 1 Ferguson, east of the Bissonet discovery and this hole is now down around 300 feet according to latest reports from the field.

Tillicum No. 3 Drilling In.

The No. 2 Mattie Parker of Temple and White and the Tillicum Oil Association set casing at 1,300 feet the middle of the week and is now preparing to drill in with a star machine, according to reports from the local office of the operators. The No. 1 which got the sand several months ago, and which has produced, butw hich has had trouble to be bem ade a deep test, according to present plans. The two Cities Oil Co. offsets to the Tillicum No. 2, one to thes outh, the other to theeast, are now rigging up and are due to start drilling this week, according to wood ard reports from the field.

Texhoma Pool Operations.

The Texhoma Oil & Refining Co. has the only new completion reported for the Texhoma pool this past week, their No. 7 Willis making about 50 barrels, from the 1,300-foot Texhoma sand.

This same company is on the gas sand with their first two tests to be drilled to the gas sand depth. Their No. 25 Cropper offsets the Jones Light Oil gasser on the Pexford and their No. 28 Daniel offsets the Camp — Johnson Syndicate, the biggest gasser yet brought in in the field, completed a short time ago with a flow of 35,000,000 cubic feet.

Reports from the Chisco Oil & Gas Co., on the Beach, reported last week on the gas sand, show salt water trouble. The well is reported making some gas, however, with the salt water.

The O'Dell Oil Co. is reported rigging up stars over No. 7 and No. 8 Beach to complete. The Stumpf Oil & Gas Co. No. 3 Beach, is reported cleaning out after a shot, sand at the usual Texhoma depth.

Emerich & Danciger are drilling two additional tests on the Roiser at present, having completed six wells.

The Emerich, Danciger & Underwood No. 1 P. M. Myers is reported drilling around 1,200 feet. This test is in the north part of the Texhoma pool, close to the Thresher & Mails well, which forms the extreme northward extension of the Texhoma sand.

Old Burkburnett Activities.

A number of activities are reported in the old Burkburnett pools. In block 4 Kepley & Bright are reported drilling below 1,000 feet in their No. 1 Buchner.

The Magnolia Co. is one of the most active operating companies in the field at present, doing extensive drillyng on their proven leases in the heart of the old Burkburnett field. Their No. 65 and No. 66 Hugh Reilly are reported drilling in, in the 1,350-foots and. No. 61 cleaning out at 1,440 feet. No. 67 set casing at 1,550 feet.

The Magnolia's No. 10 L. F. Ramming is drilling around 1,100 feet, and the No. 29 is drilling around 1,300 feet. On the W. F. Ramming lease the No. 29 is reported drilling around 1,750 feet and the No. 29 drilling around 1,700 feet. No. 31 drilling around 1,000 feet, No. 32 drilling around 700 feet. The No. 5 Holcomb, Lease A, is reported around 1,350 feet.

North Clara.

The most important development in the north Clara pool since the bringing in of the Brown & McCallister first Porter Ramming well, over a year ago, is the striking of the sand at 1,763 feet in the No. 1 Ramming of the Forty-Nine Co. a half mile north of production. The sand has been drilled into far enough, it is stated, to show a rich oil content, and preparations are being made to complete with a shot. This test is drilled on a 10-acre lease north of the McCallister & Brown lease.

In the west part of the pool the No. 6 F. W. Prechel of the McEarn Oil Co. is reported on the sand, with casing set and bailing down to test; is now in progress.

Burkburnett Northwest.

The No. 1 Roberts of the Texas-Ohio Oil Co., block 830, is reported on the sand at 1,580 feet and shut down awaiting pipe line connections. In block 831 the No. 7 Allen of Kapsey & Bright is reported cleaning out after a shot of 4[illegible]

Three widely known authorities on advertising and advertising clubs will speak at Monday's luncheon of the Wichita Falls Ad Club at the Kemp Hotel.

H. C. Burke, Jr., Fort Worth, national vice president and district organizer of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and Fred E. Johnston, Dallas, former national president of the same organization and one of Texas' best known advertising men, will speak.

W. R. Patterson, president of the Dallas Advertising League, will be the third speaker.

Mr. Burke is director of the business extension of The National Bank of Commerce of Fort Worth. Charles Doolin and Norris Ewing of the local Ad Club are on a committee to meet Mr. Burke and the other distinguished visitors Monday and welcome them here.

The addresses of the visitors are expected to furnish both stimulus and director for the growth of the newly organized local ad club.

Miss Vivian Ralley, violinist, and Miss Mary Bartel, vocalist, will present musical numbers.

The luncheon will start promptly at 12:10 and all who expect to attend should be on hand at that time. It is not necessary to make reservations in advance.

ESCAPING GAS CLAIMS TWO AS VICTIMS HERE

Physicians who examined the bodies of Jake Hudson, 35, railway conductor, of 1508 Austin street, and E. A. Chandler, 30, employe of the Burk-Waggoner Refining company, of 311 Lee street, who were found dead early Saturday morning as the result of asphyxiation in different parts of the city, late Saturday confirmed the coroner's verdicts in each case and pronounced death as due to the inhalation of gaseous fumes.

Employes of the Virginia rooming house at Twelfth and Ohio streets, in which Hudson was found by a caller early in the morning, insisted that he could not have died from escaping gas fumes. They stated that his gas stove was burning when he was found and that if any gas had escaped from defective connections, this in turn would have been burned by the flames in the stove when the atmosphere became filled with it to a certain extent, and could not in any way have caused the fatality.

Physicians held, however, that the burning stove consumed all the oxygen in the room and left only air which was unfit to breathe. All windows and doors were tightly shut and it is believed that the combination of impure air and consumed gas which he inhaled while he slept was responsible for Hudson's death.

The death of Chandler was pronounced as due to breathing gaseous fumes where gasoline leaves the stills in the company's plant in North Wichita.

Hudson was a conductor for the Wichita Falls & Northwestern railway and has lived in Wichita Falls for more than twelve years. He is survived by his wife. Funeral services will be held at Cleburne, the home of his father, W. J. Hudson, Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Hudson accompanied the body there. The funeral will be attended by members of the railway brotherhood, of which he was a member, in a body. He had no children.

Funeral services for Chandler will be announced upon the arrival of his father, R. L. Chandler, from Brady Sunday. The body is being held at the funeral chapel of the Hines Undertaking company.

CITY KICKS AT GAS SHORTAGE IN RESIDENCES

Judge W. N. Bonner, city commissioner of public utilities, announced Saturday that he had received complaints from various sections of the city of gas shortage during the present cold spell and that he would take up at the city council meeting Monday an investigation into whether there is a real shortage and into whether the gas company is selling gas for industrial purposes without having the minimum amount which the coptract specifies that it shall have for domestic use before the factory can get any.

The North Texas Gas company, when told of Judge Bonner's complaint, replied that the trouble was not in shortage of supply, but in inadequate gas mains within the city. The company contends that as soon as the feed line which is being built out Seventh street to the residence district is completed that the gas scarcity will end.

This line has been completed about half way. It will go south on Taylor and feed into all the residence lines on the west side of town.

At least one, and possibly more of the three big mains of the Lone Star Gas company, which "wholesales" the gas for Wichita Falls, from Keys Field to Wichita has broken in the bed of Red river last week. The North Texas Gas company here does not know whether it is repaired, but the company contends that it has plenty of fuel even without that line.

Judge Bonner said later that he "hoped that the situation is only a temporary one." If it is not, the judge expects to demand that the gas company stop selling gas for industrial uses until after the domestic needs are cared for. He says the company is selling for industrial consumption now. The contracts between the city and the company requires, Judge Bonner states, that the company shall have a minimum of three hundred million cubic feet of gas for domestic use before it can supply factories, if shortage is such that the house holder would otherwise suffer.

Health Means Warm Feet and Hands

SUNDAY HEALTH TALK NO. 9.

By P. L. MYERS, D. C.)

When heavy clothing is essential to comfort, suffers from chronic cold feet and hands begin to know the full misery of their ailment.

Equal circulation of the blood in all parts of the body is seldom attained, except in sleep, for the brain of the average person requires more blood than any other portion of the body. But when the extremities are unnaturally cold, the cause lies in interference with the free distribution of nerve impulse.

Persons who suffer from any form of paralysis, which is complete shutting off of spinal nerve power, know that the paralysed parts are always cold. When by CHIROPRACTIC SPINAL ADJUSTMENTS the nervous balance is restored, the temperature of extremities becomes equalized with other parts of the body, and the chronic state of colds and chills becomes a thing of the past. Comfortable warmth in hands and feet becomes a natural condition.

Cold Hands and Headaches Disappear

"When a girl, I suffered from malarial fever and for six years seemed unable to regain or rebuild my strength. I had nervous headaches and my hands and feet were nearly always cold, but after I started chiropractic adjusting, the first thing I noticed was the warmth in my hands and feet. I have had no nervous headaches since."—Mrs. Frank Ingram, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1230H.

DAILY FINANCIAL, OIL AND MARKET NEWS

GRAIN COTTON

COTTON STRIKES WEEK'S LOWEST IN DAY'S TRADE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Lowest prices of the week and new low levels for the season on most months were caused in the cotton market today by selling mainly stimulater by the unfavorable showing of the October mill statistics from the census bureau. The opening was lower and the market remained depressed almost throughout the session. Following early declines the market recovered on profit taking by shorts but in the late trading it met a fresh burst of selling. In the last few minutes of the day, however, shorts took profits on a large scale and the close was officially called firm at net losses of 12 to 21 points.

NEW YORK WEAK

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The cotton market showed renewed weakness today with March and later deliveries making new low records for the season. Reports of freezing weather all over the belt seemed to attract very little attention compared with the continued depression of general business and overnight reports of weaker spot markets. Trade interests were good buyers on the decline however, and closing prices showed moderate rallies with the market finally steady at a net decline of 15 to 25 points.

The opening was easy at a decline. Covering for over the week-end caused rallies right after the call but the market soon weakened again owing to continued liquidation promoted by unfavorable reports from the goods trade fear of further spot liquidation and nervousness over the general conditions.

The census report showing domestic mill consumption of only 399,837 bales for October was a factor on the decline.

RAW SUGAR UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—While no further changes took place in the local market for raw sugar today, the undertone continued weak.

The drop in refined sugar failed to materialize and the market ruled weak at the previous range of 10 to 10.50 for fine granulated with business very slow.

Sugar futures showed decided weakness early with opening declines 40 to 45 points. Part of this loss was recovered, the close being steady at 10 to 20 points net decline.

COFFEE FUTURES QUIET

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Coffee futures were quiet today. The opening was 6 to 14 points lower and the close showed a net loss of 5 to 10 points, December 6.82.

SHORTS COVER, GIVING GRAIN HIGHER RANGE

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Short covering made a higher range for all grains today with wheat in the lead. The markets were overruled and offerings were light, but the upturn failed to hold as heavy selling developed and coarse grain broke sharply. At the finish wheat showed a net gain of 3-4c to 2½c with December $1.79 3-4 to $1.80 and March $1.70 1-4 to $1.70½; corn was 1-4c higher to 1-4c lower. Oats were unchanged to ½c lower and provisions were unchanged to 35c higher.

There was a general disposition on the part of early buyers to take profits in wheat, many of them not caring to leave their trades over Sunday in view of the disappointing action of the stock market. New York reported two cotton oil exporters in financial difficulties which aided in depressing prices. There was some export demand via the gulf, but sales were not reported. A liberal export business was claimed to have been done after the close yesterday.

STRONG ISSUES DECLINE UNDER SELLING FIRE

NEW YORK, No. 13.—The short session of the stock market today was characterized by the continuance of the recently heavy selling movement, many popular issues registering new lows for the year, in some cases a much longer period.

Prices reacted for the long account again, giving the bears a free hand. Not all of the day's selling was of that sort, however, signs of involuntary liquidation being observed.

Extreme declines of 2 to 5 points in the more volatile issues were effected with little difficulty. Rails and shippings were relatively steady but for time, these shares, including Southern Pacific and Reading, broke sharply at the weak close.

Advices from New England, the middle west and south told of further curtailment in the textile industry and of the acceptance of a 25 percent wage reduction by the mill hands of a large cotton company in Virginia. Bonds were heavy, all the Liberty issues reacting on free offerings.

TEXAS CATTLE FOR GERMANY OFF NEXT WEEK

GALVESTON, Nov. 15.—The first shipment to Germany of Texas dairy cattle will be made next week, according to announcement by steamship agents here today. The initial consignment of about 750 milch cows will leave Texas City for Bremen aboard the shipping board steamer Wast Arrow, which is due here in three days.

The cattle have been bought by the German government, which will superintend their distribution upon arrival at Bremen. According to a recent announcement of Dr. August Moeller, a representative of the German government in this country, his government intends to purchase 35,000 milch cows in the United States.

The animals to be shipped next week will replace, in part, those killed for meat during the war and those which under the terms of the treaty of Versailles, Germany was compelled to deliver to France and Belgium.

WHY NOT DO BUSINESS BY CHECKS?

Why not do business by checks? Safe crackers entered the store of a Ranger firm, dynamited their safe doors and found nothing but checks as a reward for their predatory instinct or lawless enterprise.

This is a splendid advertisement for banks and bankers, a sterling tribute to business men who bank their coin daily where it is beyond the reach of the yeggmen and keep their safes for their ledgers or their papers which are not negotiable, or easily handled by fences or other receivers of stolen goods.

Safe blowers must be numerous in the south and west, if daily records of their daring operations forms an index to their numerical strength and amazing activities.

There are banks in all the cities and towns of Texas. Why should men carry rolls of currency in their pockets? Why should business men stuff their money in tin safes as a place of safety? Why not do business in a business way?

When checks are stolen it is easy to stop payment. When cash is stolen it is not easy to recover the loot from the safe breaker or the stick-up man.

Why should intelligent men display rolls of bills in public places?

Why should they arouse the cupidity of crooks or would-be crooks?

Why should they advertise their rolls?

The wise business man deposits his money at his bank. He uses his check book. He takes no risk. He laughs at the yeggmen or the stick-up man. If a wage earner has a surplus he should bank it. Money is always accessible when in the bank. It is never accessible when it is transferred from the pocket of the law-abiding citizen to the loot bag of the underworld ruffians who prey upon society and are as bloodthirsty as they are conscienceless.

Bankers are the custodians and guardians of the money of the people and the wise men of today bank their dollars in the vaults of fiduciary institutions and make free use of their check book in the payment of bills. They neither stuff their pockets with fat rolls or their safes with the coin or currency of the realm.

Business is business.

WICHITA FALLS' PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Wichita Falls is known to the people as "The City That Faith Built." Wichita Falls is proud of its public schools. Wichita Falls has 5,794 children of school age. Wichita Falls has 109 teachers, nine principals and four supervisors to direct their education. The men who are proud of "The City That Faith Built" believe in the education of all the children of all the people.

They believe that the brain should be developed and the hand trained. They believe in practical education—the education that best fits the boy or the girl to go forth to fight the battle of life.

Wichita Falls citizens voted for the school amendment to the constitution. Wichita county citizens voted for the school amendment. They voted to make Texas first instead of thirty-fifth in the list of states.

Texas, regardless of political affiliation, did a splendid day's work when they sent the school amendment over the top on Tuesday, November 2.

Texas has a compulsory school attendance law; Texas has a free text book law.

Texans in recent years have voted millions to aid the rural schools and lastly Texans have made it possible for independent districts to vote additional taxes in order that rural schools may be of as high standard as those to be found in the cities and larger towns and that efficient teachers shall be paid a living wage for meritorious service.

Always something to take the joy out of life. Now that the politicians are about to set up knocking, the old steam radiators of the country resume.—Anaconda Standard.

We don't know how you feel about this presidential business, but OUR congratulations will be offered to the man who is NOT elected.—Pittsburgh Press.

THE WAR TAX'S BURDENS

Figures compiled by the British treasury and reproduced in the Independence Belge of Brussels furnish an interesting comparison of tax rates in the larger belligerent countries, before and after the war. The comparison can oly be approximate, of course, because the fiscal years of the various nations do not end on the same dates, and there are also inequalities in local taxation to be taken into account. In converting into dollars, pre-war figures are taken at par exchange and post-war figures at the rate prevailing at the end of the fiscal year in question, or, in case of future dates, at the present rate.

The following are the average per capita taxes in the five countries mentioned:

Year Ending	Per Capita
United States
June 30, 1914	$ 6.79
June 30, 1919	37.93
June 30, 1920	49.41
Great Britain
March 31, 1914	$17.21
March 31, 1920	85.20
March 31, 1921	78.00
France
Dec. 31. 1913	$20.00
Dec. 31, 1919	19.60
Dec. 31, 1920	29.70
Italy
June 30, 1914	$ 6.52
June 30, 1919	15.80
Germany
March 31, 1914	$7.35
March 31. 1921	6.65

Although the French or Italian or German taxpayer would protest against making a comparison, as above, in dollar exchange, it is only by using some such common measure that any intelligible comparison can be made. All of the nations included in the table are heavily indebted to foreigners, with the single exception of the United States. and as these foreign debts are payable in gold, a quotation of the tax rate in depreciated paper would be misleading.

From these figures it appears that federal taxation in America has been increased 7 1-2 times over in six years; Great Britain's taxes have risen sixe times over in seven years (in pounds) but only 4 1-2 times, with gold as the standard of measurement. France's taxation, even in francs, has been multiplied by only 4 1-2 in seven years, and in gold the increase is only about 50 per cent. The Italian figures for 1920 are not yet available. As for Germany, although taxation in marks has been increased 15 times over in seven years, the net result in gold is actually smaller than before the war.

And as Germany's staggering indemnities are payable in gold marks it is difficut to see how they can be realized out of the present taxes, even supposing the German government capable of collecting these taxes.

In view of these figures, America may be entitled to feel that she has shouldered a considerable proportion of the war's tax burdens.

CASH AND CREDIT IN PLENTY

The November statement of money in circulation allows each of us $59.48, against $54.63 a year ago. The total this year is $6,393,140,821, against $5,816,925,779 last year. These are the figures of money in people's pockets and tills. Including the money in the treasury and banks, not circulating, the total is $8,254,949,120, including $3,663,517,685. It would be a pity to publish these figures and deny credit to those deserving it. As a matter of fact, credit is not denied to those deserving it, but only to those not establishing their rights to it by meeting the conditions of credit which are regarded as right and proper by competent judges.

The trouble with the agriculturists who complain that they cannot sell their crops is less that prices are low than that there are few buyers at the decline. Their best customers are foreign buyers who have neither cash nor credit to spare, and who are not able to supply goods in payment for lack of ray materials from which to produce them. Those who have good credit, if only they will sell instead of holding. The crops will move themselves if only buyer and seller can be brought together. There is no lack of cash, credit or crops. There is only a derangement of finacial machinery, and it is most serious in the case of our lease experienced exporters—the farmers. They have been accustomed to let others sell their property and make a profit belonging to them if they will earn it. When they become as good exporters as our manufacturers, they will have less to complain of.—New York Times (Ind. Dem.)

Editorial Digest

HARDING AND HIS JOB

Whatever their confidence may be in the ability of the incoming administration to live up to its "fearful responsibility," as the New Haven Journal Courier (Ind.) calls it, there is unanimous agreement among American editorial writers that the president-elect has a big job on his hands. What the majority of writers expect first of all, is a wise choice of cabinet officers and a careful study and adjustment of the question of our foreign relations.

"There must be a cabinet made up of the men of the first rank," says the Chicago Evening Post (Ind.) and next in importance, it feels, Mr. Harding must carry through "his fair, middle-of-the-road policy in regard to the league." Granting that he has no easy task before him" the Providence Tribune (Ind. Rep.) adds that he must have "great advisers." The democratic Wheeling Register has faith that the republicans "will get down to business" and hopes that Harding "will surround himself with a strong cabinet." This sentiment is echoed by the Chicago Tribune (Ind. Rep.) which emphasizes the "need of common counsel." The conference of leading Americans, which Harding has promised, the Tribune believes, means finding a satisfactory solution of international co-operation for peace which will guarantee American interests.

This point the Jersey City Journal (Ind.) considers of vital importance but is not as confident that it can be attained; it says:

"It will be Harding's difficult task to hold the approval of the pro-league republicans. His promised 'counsel of the best minds' of his party may enable him to perform this feat but it is not going to be easy. Yet upon the successful solution of this particular international problem will it be determined whether Harding's following will break up or be held together."

Indeed, the Springfield (Mass.) Republican (Ind.) considers that "to win a republican congress in 1922 Senator Harding must begin at once" with, first, the "momentous question of the league." Great inertia, it declares, will have to be overcome before the reorganization of federal departments can be effected and in this, as in other matters, decisions must be made immediately. The New York Times (Ind. Dem.) agrees that to bring about a union of the nations "to preserve peace," will be "the great work of his administration."

Aside from the league question, the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.) mentions a number of questions on which it declares, the republican party "has a plain mandate:" an adequate tariff protection, "against the novel, the incalculable but undoubtedly dangerous industrial competition which depressed living conditions abroad will fling upon our shores;" further, a revision of taxation to protect interference in business affairs," and an end of "blood-spattered Haiti imperialism."

The important duty of the new administration for which the New York Herald (Ind.) pleads is enforcement of strictest economy in government affairs.

"Our government expenses must be cut to the bare bone," it says, "We must reorganize the business of the government. It must be put on a sound working basis. All unnecessary help must go. All unnecessary departments must go. All derelicts and drones must go. All red tape that makes for salaries must go."

While agreeing that the question of foreign policy is one that Harding must handle without hesitation indefiniteness, both the Cleveland Plain Dealer (Ind. Dem.) and the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) point out that the election itself will be no guide. The latter says:

"The people expect such settlement of our foreign policy as will be in accord with American principles and ideals, a settlement that will place us in active co-operation with other nations in an association for the maintenance of the peace of the world without the sacrifices of our own independence."

But, continues the Globe-Democrat, "the election constitutes no specific direction as to methods." The task of the new administration then, the Cleveland Plain Dealer declares, is to "sit down with the facts concerning the League of Nations and to work out a policy without reference to the November election."

The Minneapolis Tribune (Rep.) is confident that the advent of republican power will mean that "we shall hear less in the coming years of class movements and more of united, patriotic Americanism," and the Detroit Free Press feels that the country may face the future "with cheerful confidence" since it can do so "with its constitution rescued" and "its free institutions safe."

Another optimistic expression comes from the New York Tribune (Rep.) which without going into detail, states:

"Senator Harding has a great opportunity. We believe that he will reestablish our world relations as they existed two years ago. We will be able to harmonize our domestic affairs."

The Wall Street Journal (Ind.) too, looks to the future with satisfaction. There will be no fear of presidential veto to shifting "the burden of taxation from production to consumption where it belongs," it promises, a scientific tariff can be instituted, excess profits taxes will be removed, and the income tax put on a "common sense basis."

The opposite attitude is taken by the New York Call (Soc.) as might be expected:

"The United States will be made safe for the great banks and the corporate oligarchies. Mexico is in danger of a raid within a year or two and the oil investors may come into their own. Within a year after Harding's inauguration the masses will be as disgusted with Harding as they were with his predecessor."

From the south comes an interesting viewpoint expressed by the Florida Metropolis (Dem.), which, while not yielding its political beliefs, predicts a great opportunity for the republicans:

"If they treat the south fairly and abandon the theory of race-equality, they may be able permanently to break the 'Solid South.'"

On the Spur of the Moment

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE

My wife voted.
I'll say she voted.
She went into the booth
And she stayed there
For hours, and she stayed there
And she stayed there and she
Stayed there and she stayed there
And she stayed there and she
Stayed there, and finally
Stayed there, and finally
She came out and she said:
"Now listen, my dear. I have
Voted for all the people
That we have talked about.
I have voted for everybody
That you told me to vote for.
I looked for Mr. Lyon's name
All over the ballot, and I put
An X against the name of the man
Who was against him,
And I put an X against the
Name of every man you didn't like."
And what could I say but:
"My dear, you did very well."
And she smiled and said:
"Well, I am very glad.
I did my best."

Now that the election is over, the only great blessing we have to look forward to is the income tax.

Personally, it is a great grief to us to bury Article X, but, with the help and sympathy of friends, we hope to survive it.

We have always been very sorry for two classes of people. One is the class who have waited for the returns to see whether they shall be elected to the presidency, and the other is the class who waits for the chair at Sing Sing. It has always seemed to us that both have waited with an unusual amount of sang froid.

But times have changed. We remember the stores of General Grant, waiting by his window, for the returns and smoking furiously. And General Garfield pacing up and down, and Major McKinley sitting up all night, and Colonel Roosevelt pacing the floor at Oyster Bay. We remember Grover Cleveland glowering over the returns and talking to Dan Lamont; and now we hear of Harding going to bed and Cox going to bed, and letting things take their course, and we read of the men going to the chair at Sing Sing and eating a hearty meal and going to sleep for an hour or two before the execution, and we wonder if the race is not gaining in philosophy.

We have just combined in this country to break the heart of the world, but we have consolation that it is a tough old heart and will probably snap back into place.

In the old days we had torchlight processions, and it was a poor night when some prominent citizen was not sent home with his coattails in flames. We used to set fire to the city hall and call out Wide Awake Hose Co. No. 1. Now we sit in our clubs and wait for the returns and swallow them and say nothing. The question is, how many of us long for the good old days?

If any multimillionaire today wishes to die poor there is apparently nothing to stop him.

It is very difficult to pick out an overcoat this fall. Everybody is watching.

It is almost time to begin trying to think up something to be thankful for.

The democrats have succeeded in making Senator Harding popular.

Some features of modern baseball seem to be pretty base at that.

One reason work is so unpoplar is that so few people like it.

THANK CHURCH FOR USE OF STRUCTURE

Resolutions thanking Rev. N. F. Grafton and the officers and trustees of the First Presbyterian church for their "kindly and generous hospitality" in permitting the congregation of Temple Israel to use the church during the six months before the completion of the temple for assembly and worship and for the use of the Sabbath school, and avowing its readiness to "reciprocate the helpfulness at all times," have been adopted by the congregation of Temple Israel and mailed to Rev. Grafton.

The resolutions are signed by Rabbi David Goldberg, J. L. Art, Louis Pink, vice president ,and H. L. Goldstucker, secretary.

Appreciation for the part taken by Rev. Grafton in the ceremonies connected with the laying of the cornerstone of the temple was expressed and hope voiced that the "neighborly and friendly relations thus encouraged may presage an unbroken era of neighborliness and good will among all worshippers of the one Almighty God."

DOES THIS EXPLAIN IT?

UNIFICATION IS KEYNOTE OF GOVERNMENT IDEAS UPON OIL GAME, DELANO REPORT SAYS

By C. O. WILLSON

How would the oil industry be run by the government? That is the question that is often asked by oil operators when confronted by the occasional threat that the only way to solve the difficulties between the public and the oil business is to nationalize the entire petroleum industry.

It is beyond the imagination of the average operator to conceive of the government successfully handling a vast industry whose varied features present an ever changing round of problems which yearly eliminate many from its ranks.

To the oil man desiring some enlightenment on the question the recent third report of Frederic A. Delano, federal receiver for the Red river disputed territory, conveys some idea of what would be the government's method of handling a particular oil field.

A synopsis of this report carried in an issue of the Record News during the last week furnished a financial statement for the five months that the Red river area has been under the supervision of the receiver, with actual responsibility for the operation of a considerable area of the disputed section. The previous synopsis gave a brief report of the drilling operations and various changes that have been made in method of development since the receiver was appointed by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Handicapped By Change

In justice to the receiver the recommendations contained in the report can not be considered final. The report admits that changes from the original program for development have been changed and there is reason to believe that other changes would later be made if it were seen that they were necessary. To this handicap of insufficient ime o study all the problems of the industry, must be added the peculiar problems with which the receiver has been confronted and handicapped in the river bed area.

In several respects however, the operations of the receiver can be taken as indicative of what would be he government's method of handling the oil industry if it should ever become nationalized. Frederic Delano, a man of national reputation in the business world, is typical of men called to executive positions in government service.

In carrying on operations in the river district he has been aided by experts from different departments of the government and in this respect the official government stamp can be placed on the results obtained.

Would Vary Stream

"Unification" is the keynote of the recommendations made by the receiver in the third report. So far as possible everything has been unified in the river district. From the report it is evident that if the receiver should operate the area for an indefinite period he would deflect the course of the stream to one side of the river bed while the other was developed. When the production was exhausted on the one side he would deflect the stream and develop the remainder of the bed.

In future development a policy of moving steadily forward from proven ground with a taboo on a general hit-or-miss policy would be observed. This policy is to be followed out in the future development of the river bed area, according to the report. From the report it is evident that the recommendations of the geologists would receive consideration in any drilling campaign that was to be carried out.

Scores Hit-or-Miss Policy

The receiver estimates that the general hit and miss policy even in semi-proven areas results in dry holes in three-fourths of the tests that are made.

Steam from boilers burning fuel oil is an expensive power according to the report, which recommends gas engines where feasible. The sale of casing head gas is recommended, the residual gas to be returned to the leases for gas engines.

Central power plants should be installed as soon as possible and the wells pumped by electricity from the central station as economical method of operation.

Finally the government system of operation is opposed to the practice of swabbing wells in this field where, according to the receiver, the rock pressures are light. The high vacuum is also objectionable and would be done away with in unified operation. The receiver calls attention to the fact that United States government experts condemn the use of the high vacuum.

For governor: Neff, 1,056; Culberton, 359; McGregor, 60; Rhoades, 50.

In the governor's race Neff received a larger vote than he did in the two primaries. In July he received 463 votes; in August primary, 1,002, and in the general election, 1,056 votes. In 1916 the general election vote was:

SCOUTS DOUBLE EFFORT TO GET 250 ADDITIONS

Efforts of scout leaders in Wichita Falls to secure 250 new scouts before January 1 are being redoubled and officials are confident that the necessary complement will be recruited. A long waiting list of boys desirous of joining the scout ranks is already at hand and reports are to the effect that applications are being received daily.

The problem now confronting the officials is to obtain competent leaders to instruct the boys and enter into the spirit of scoutdom as leaders for better and more efficient future generations.

Nine men attended the scout leaders meeting last Tuesday night and were instructed in the elementary training of a scout. A short address was made by Scout Executive Taylor in explaining registrations of the various troops and methods to be employed in the recruiting campaign.

It is especially desired that all boys take advantage of the 25-cent registration fee before the advance which takes effect the first of the year.

41 ATTORNEYS GENERAL HELD JOB IN TEXAS

By ALICE B. BALLARD

AUSTIN, Texas—During the brief period of the Republic of Texas and the life of the Lone Star state, forty-one men have held the office of attorney general. The list compiled in the attorney general's office here contains names of men who stand out as prominent figures in the history of the state. Some of these served brief terms of only a few months; others held office as long as six years. The office, at first appointive, became elective in 1850.

Of the forty-one men who have served in this capacity four later became governor of the state: J. Pinckney Henderson, who held the office for a few months under an appointment of President Sam Houston in 1836 and who became the first governor of the state of Texas; A. J. Hamilton, who was attorney general for about six months before the office was made elective and who was appointed provisional governor of Texas by President Johnson during the period of reconstruction; James S. Hogg and Charles A. Culberson, whose services as attorney general and governor belong to a more recent period in the history of the state.

Serving under the administration of David G. Burnet, president adinterim, were Dacid Thomas, who died soon after he was appointed to this office, and Peter W. Grayson from whom Grayson county derived its name. The former came to Texas from Tennessee. He was a member of the convention of 1836. Grayson, who emigrated to Texas from Kentucky, served as attorney general again in 1836, succeeding J. Pinckney Henderson. He became a candidate for president at the termination of Houston's first administration in opposition to Mirabeau B. Lamar. During the canvass, however, he committed suicide while on a vist to Tennessee.

Others who served as attorneys general under the first administration of President Houston were John Birdsall and A. S. Thurston, both of whom were in office only a few months. During Lamar's administration as president, J. C. Watrous, James Webb and F. A. Morris were attorneys general. Webb resigned to become secretary of state and was later sent on an important mission to Mexico, his biographers say. Webb county was named in his honor.

George W. Terrell and Ebenezer Allen held the position of attorney general in the cabinets of President Sam Houston, during his second administration, and President Anson Jones, respectively. Allen was attorney general again in 1850 when that office was made elective by an amendment to the constitution. He was also a prominent figure in negotiations with the United States prior to the annexation of Texas.

When Henderson became governor of Texas he appointed Volney E. Howard attorney general, but Howard, who was then a member of the legislature, and later became United States congressman from Texas, declined to qualify. John W. Harris was then appointed attorney general. He had come to Texas in 1837 and settled in Brazoria county. Forming a partnership with E. M. Pease, who was elected governor some years later, Harris won a name for himself in legislative and judicial circles of the state, it is said.

Harry P. Brewster, who succeeded Harris, had been secretary of war in President Burnet's cabinet, and later was made commissioner of insurance under Governor Ireland's administration. Brewster county was named in his honor. A. J. Hamilton, who was next in line, offers an interesting study. Though a Southerner by birth, having been born and reared in Alabama, he was a radical opponent of secession. Realizing the danger to which he committed himself in Texas during the war between states, he remained in hiding, his biographers say, until an opportunity presented itself for going into Mexico. In that manner he gained his way into the northern states where he preached and plead for the cause of the union. In recognition of his services, President Johnson made him provisional governor of Texas.

Thomas J. Jennings who was elected to office in 1852 came to Texas from Virginia in 1840. Serving for two terms of two years each, which was the provision of the constitutional amendment, Jennings refused to offer himself for re-election in 1856. James Willie was elected attorney general in that year. Willie emigrated to Texas before he had reached his majority, living with an uncle, Dr. Asa Hoxie, at Independence, studied for a time under friends of his uncle for admission to the state bar. Before his election to the office of attorney general in 1856 he represented his county in the state legislature. He served for one term in the state office, returning to private law practice in 1858.

Malcolm D. Graham, who was an eminent lawyer of the time, succeeded Willie, and having served a term was in turn succeeded by George M. Flourney. The latter resigned in January, 1862, in order to join confederate forces in the cause of the south. Nathan G. Shelley, who came into office in 1862 to fill the vacancy created by Flourney's resignation, served slightly more than a year. Shedley later was a popular member of the state senate, where he represented his district for six years.

On account of the secession of Texas and the war which had upset everything in administrative circles, William Stedman and B. E. Tarver, who should have succeeded Shelley in office, did not qualify. William Alexander who was appointed by provisional Governor Hamilton, was the next man to fill the office. Following him was William M. Walton, who was removed by Federal General Griffin as "one of the obstacles in the way of reconstruction." Alexander was again appointed to fill the vacancy, holding office until Nov. 5, 1867, when Ezekial B. Turner received the appointment from Federal General Reynolds. Turner was in law partnership with A. J. Hamilton, and, like Hamilton, was a radical opponent of secession. After the period of reconstruction, he was a member of judicial circles of the state.

Alexander again came into office in 1870, serving for four years. George Clark of Waco, who is said to have been extremely young to hold such a responsible position, was next in order. He had been secretary of state, however, and was a student of law, which, it was thought, aptly fitted him for the place. He served only one term, H. H. Boone of Navasota succeeding him. The latter had been a student at Austin college, which was then situated at Huntsville and conducted by the "distinguished Presbyterian educator" Rev. Daniel Baker. He served only one term, retiring to private life at his old home.

George McCormick, J. H. Leary and John D. Templeton respectively were no in line, each serving only one term. McLeary was later appointed a justice of the supreme court of Porto Rico. James S. Hogg followed with a service of two years.

During the '90's, Charles A. Culberson, M. M. Crane and Thomas S. Smith were in office. The first named is now United States senator and Mr. Crane is a prominent lawyer of the state. Smith died in office and was succeeded by Charles K. Bell, who was appointed by Governor J. D. Sayers. Mr. Bell died only a few years ago.

R. V. Davidson, who followed Bell, served nearly three terms, resigning Jan. 1, 1910, only a few months before the expiration of the third term in office. Jewel P. Lightfoot, whom Governor Tom Campbell appointed to succeed Davidson, who was elected to that office at the election in November. He resigned in August, 1912, and is now practicing law in Chicago. Mr. Davidson is a member of a law firm in Dallas.

Governor O. B. Colquitt appointed James D. Walthall to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mr. Lightfoot. Mr. Walthall, it will be remembered, with his wife was burned to death in the disastrous County Club fire in San Antonio about five years ago.

B. F. Looney, who figured as a candidate in the rectangular gubernatorial race in the July primaries, is the only attorney general who served three full consecutive terms.

C. M. Cureton, who was elected to office in 1918, was re-elected in the election of November 2.

STRENGTH

—An old adage says: "A chain is not stronger than its weakest link." How true this is of the service of a commercial institution. It isn't enough that a store satisfactorily meets your needs most of the time; that does not balance a failure to meet a particular need at a particular time even though the item itself is of minor importance. It is our earnest endeavor to have our organization as thorough and our stocks so complete that no detail of service to you will be wanting at any time.

Rich Plaids Suggest Stunning Skirts and Knockabout Coats

—And both are articles of apparel that may be easily made at home. Take the Skirts, for instance—it's no trick at all to run them with the patterns of these lovely plaids to guide you in pleating. They only need straight little belts as trimming. The Coats, while they require a little more effort, may well be attempted by the amateur, for fashion insists that they be simple of line.

(DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT)

You Really Need a Good Warm Sweater In Winter Time

—It doesn't make any difference how cold the day is, you can always be sure of keeping warm in one of these handy Sweaters. They are firmly knit to fit well and to hold their good shape as long as they last. Some are made in slipover style, others button down the front, but almost all of them have comfortable shawl collars.

Dashingly Smart, Yet Moderately Priced New Hats for Late Autumn

Musicians' Club Supports Plan For Better Music

One of the most enthusiastic and best attended meetings ever held by the Musicians' club was the one Thursday morning at the Wichita club rooms.

A feature of the meeting was a talk by Miss Henrietta Pyle, musical instructor for the public schools, who appeared before the club to request their co-operation and ask them to sponsor the cause of the memory contest which will be launched for the students of the local schools.

In this contest a large selection of Victrola records of the best music will be used to train the pupils to become familiar with good pieces, and the Musicians club members were asked to sing and play these selections at some concerts which will be given the near future and allow the pupils to name the selections from memory.

C. L. Bass, Jr., and Bride Expected In Wichita Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bass Jr. will be at home here in a few days. They were married recently in San Antonio. Mr. Bass lives here. He is the son of Judge C. L. Bass of Wichita Falls. Both Mr. Bass Jr. and his wife, who was Miss Arline Herndon, have many friends in Wichita Falls. Announcements of the marriage of their daughter were sent to a number o fiocal people several weeks ago by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Herndon.

The San Antonio Light carried the following account of the wedding:

"Charles L. Bass Jr. of Wichita Falls and Miss Arline Herndon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Herndon, were married at 8:30 Wednesday evening at St. Mark's Episcopal church, Bishop W. T. Capers officiating. Before the ceremony Mrs. Graves N. Fulshear of Austin sang 'The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden,' and Mrs. Louis Tulane Bass of Brackenridge, Texas, sang 'O Perfect Love.' The 'Wedding March' from 'Lohengrin' was played on the organ by Mrs. Robert Thomson for the bridal processional.

"The ushers, Dr. T. M. Wheat and Hal Corrington, and the groomsmen, J. W. Herndon of Mercedes and Joe Sheldon, entered first, followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Marie Burns and Miss Stella Bass of Houston, walking in single file. Next came the matron of honor, Mrs. Graves N. Fulshear, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Frances McClaren of Marshall. The little flower girl, Virginia Ogilvie, entered immediately preceding the bride and her father, Herbert T. Herndon. They were met at the chancel steps by the bridegroom and his best man, Charles Gaddis of Brackenridge, Texas.

"The bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned in hoop skirt effect and appliqued with handmade roses. The bodice was tight fitting and trimmed with roses. She wore a veil of tulle caught to the coiffure with a wreath of orange blossoms and falling to the hem of the short skirt. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids, maid of honor and matron were gowned alike in peach-blow taffeta. The gowns were made with a tight-fitting bodice finished with a large fischu collar edged with fringed ruffles. The short full skirts were trimmed with fringed ruffles. They wore hats of silver lace trimmed with pink roses and carried ar mbouquets of orchid colored chrysanthemiums. The little flower girl wore a frock of pink taffeta and tulle and carried a basket of pink roses.

"Following the ceremony the bridal party and members of the families were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herndon. The house was decorated in giant white and yellow chrysanthemums. A buffet supper was served in the dining room, where a color scheme of yellow prevailed in the decorations. Miss Jane Cleveland poured coffee.

"Mr. and Mrs. Bass left later in the evening for New Orleans and points in Alabama. They will make their home in Wichita Falls. The bride's going-away costume was of dark blue duvetyn with moleskin collar and cuffs."

WHAT THE GREAT MINDS OF ALL TIME SAY ABOUT MUSIC

MUSIC is a kind of inarticulate, unfathomable speech, which leads us to the edge of the infinite, and impels us for a moment to gaze into it. —CARLYLE

Such sweet compulsion doth in music be. —MILTON

Language is not subtle enough, tender enough, to express all we feel, and when language fails, the highest and deepest longings are translated into music. —INGERSOLL

MUSIC
—the Voice of the Emotions

A BOY laughs or a girl cries! Why? Because there are no words adequately to express their feelings and their feelings must have vent.

Music expresses emotions which can be expressed in no other way. Neither tears nor laughter nor words can tell the story of our moods, our aspirations.

Joy, sorrow, yearning and light-hearted gaiety are all reflected by music. Furthermore, it harmonizes with them all, softening sorrow and adding zest to joy and gaiety.

Neglect to make proper provision for music in your home is more than an oversight. It is a deprivation to the entire family of a wholesome pleasure and a stunting of part of their nature.

EDDIE SHOWERS THROWS HAT IN SHRINE LISTS

By EDDIE, HISSELF

Announcement has just been made that Eddie Andrew Showers, the popular young assistant cashier at the City National Bank of Commerce has thrown his hat into the ring in this contest for the Shrine ring to be awarded by Maskat Temple at the ceremonial to be held next Wednesday.

Eddie has just returned from Dallas where he became a member of the Scottish Rite Consistory. While there he decided to become a candidate for the Shrine ring, so secured the endorsement of all the prominent thirty-third degree masons attending and a great many of the more prominent Shriners. Among the two most notable of these was Governor Hobby, who, although he backed a loser last time, is determined now to be on the winning side; and Tris Speaker, leader of the champion Cleveland Indians. As evidence of this, Eddie is now the possessor of a petition of endorsement signed by these two, followed by the signatures of approximately fifteen hundred other Nobles.

Tris swears he is going to play ball for Showers in this campaign, and that it will be of the winning brand. Until Speaker arrives in Wichita Falls to actively conduct the campaign, it will be managed by O. A. Jones, the former ring winner, W. S. Abbott, his winning manager, Jouette Bonner and R. C. Dunkelberg, two former losers, but good ones.

It may be a surprise to the ever unsuspecting public to learn that in spite of the personel of the above named committee, this campaign will be conducted upon a dignified and pure basis. Eddie knows no evil, and consequently will allow none to creep into his platform. He thinks the eighteenth amendment is a part of the League of Nations, and that wild women are found only in the jungles.

This is a severe restriction to impose upon the above committee, but they have resolved to refrain from having any gutter thoughts whatsoever. This clean platform consists of:

Clean streets, clean milk, clean socks, clean underwear and clean minds.

While time does not permit an active and extensive press campaign, Eddie will devote his time to an active campaign conducted from the front porch of the City National Bank of Commerce. Anyone coming to the porch (not brass) rail will be dumfounded by his oratorical prowess, B. Y. O. L. (bring your own liquor.)

Now just a personal word about this pure guy Eddie. Born in Poetry, Texas in 1897, finished schooling in Dallas in 1913. Was buried in a Vernon bank until the outbreak of the war, when he enlisted with the 36th Division, and served overseas until sent home as a casual. (We don't know the extent of his injuries, but we feel sure he will be a more complete casual Thursday morning.) He came direct to Wichita Falls and reentered the banking business and is still with us at Oral Jones' bank. While he is not yet in charge of the loans there, the other Novices will find that he is a mighty good man to tie into. A more complete biography can be found in "Who's Who."

You Nobles of the Mystic Shrine who are skeptical as to the authencity of Tris Speaker's signature on Eddie's peition are requested to step down to the bank and take a slant at it. While there, it might be a good idea to jot your signature down just below it.

N. WHITE ADMITS LIQUOR CHARGE

Neal White, who was arrested early Saturday in the northwest oil fields by Texas rangers and brought to Wichita Falls, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy to manufacture of whiskey and is being held in $750 bail pending trial of the case.

It was charged that a still and a quantity of whiskey were found in the house which White occupied with another man in the field.

SCOUTS THANK COURT

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Court was suspended in the courtroom of Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald today when a company of boy scouts marched in and presented the judge with a resolution thanking him for his work in cleaning up organized baseball.

Chief Justice McDonald directed the grand jury investigation which resulted in the indictment of thirteen ball players and gamblers for alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world's series.

Miss Pittenger Leaves for Coast After Stay Here

Miss Vira Pittenger, a member of Ralph Dunbar's orchestra playing "The Mikado," shown here early last week, left Saturday for California after a week's visit with her parents the Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Pittenger. The Rev. Mr. Pittenger has recently arrived from Oklahoma City to assume the pastorship of the First Methodist Episcopal church, at the corner of Seventh and Lamar.

Miss Pittenger has temporarily severed her connection with "The Mikado" orchestra in which she played the flute, her two appearances here last week being the last before the first of the year. She will do some special work in California.

Glen Slaver, understudy of the Mikado and other principal characters in the play and a friend of Rev. Pittinger since babyhood spent several days with his old friend here, leaving Saturday to join the company. Years ago the Rev. Mr. Pittenger officiated at the christening and baptism of Slaver, the bond being sustained and strengthened through the years. Mr. Slaver and Mr. Pottenger favored select groups with informal musical programs.

Miss Pittenger's musical education has been extensive. Her experience includes concert work with the Liberty Bells Company, under government auspices during the war and several months with the Ridpath Bureau in Chicago. She has been with the Dunbar group for four months and expects to rejoin them about the first of the year.

DAVIDSON SUCCEEDS BYERS ON KATY JOB

G. C. Byers, who has been trainmaster of the Wichita division of the M. K. & T. railroad for the last 18 months, left Saturday to assume a similar position on the Denison division of the samerailroad. He will be succeeded by H. W. Davidson of Waco of the Central Texas district of the Katy lines.

Mr. Byers was presented with a Masonic Shrine pin Saturday. It was the gift of the division heads of the local offices and the employes of Mr. Byers' department. The presentation of the pin was made by Superintendent Grace who spoke highly of the work accomplished by Mr. Byers during the 18 months that he has been connected with the Wichita division.

The officers of the City National Bank of Commerce always endeavor to acquaint themselves fully with the business entrusted to the bank by its customers, because they believe this to be the only sound basis for mutual confidence and intelligent cooperation.—Adv.

C. C. BOARD SEES MARTIN PRINTING PLANT SATURDAY

The publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce Saturday visited the plant of the Martin Printing and Stationery Company at 1507 Lamar avenue. The inspection trip was the second to be made to local industrial concerns by the committee, which will make weekly trips until a representative number of industrial firms have been visited. Later the committee will make a report to the Chamber of Commerce covering the industrial resources of the city and section.

The committee was shown through the Martin plant by N. H. Martin and D. L. Boyd, sales manager of the company. The plant has complete equipment. Modern machinery was recently installed in the new two-story building. In addition to being equipped to do all kinds of job print work, the plant does binding and ledger work. The present equipment of the plant is said to be as large and complete as that of any plant in West Texas.

Mr. Martin told the committee that three salesmen would be placed on the force in the immediate future to solicit business from the entire trade section of this city. Mr. Martin has also secured the services of J. Ramsey as general manager. Mr. Ramsey was for a number of years connected with the Bennett Printing Company, a concern which is known throughout the Southwest.

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 19..

PREDICTS CAR SCARCITY THIS SPRING SEASON

A real shortage of motor cars is coming in the spring, a local motor car dealer, who withheld his name, declared Saturday. He said:

"For the opening spring I cannot see anything but a shortage of automobiles, more acute than any shortage that has existed in the past, for the reason that, due to the ill-advised flurry brought about recently in the trade, the automobile manufacturers and parts makers will not proceed with as big productions as formerly.

"Many makers deliberately curtail their production to filling actual orders as they receive them and the parts makers will pursue the same course. This will result in very much decreased outputs, resulting in higher cost to the manufacturer, and I would not be surprised to see several price advances, even from some of those who have recently reduced their prices, under the mistaken idea that reduced prices would stimulate greater business, resulting in perhaps a double business at the same net profit. The results have not fulfilled their expectations.

Reverse Effect

"Among people well posted in the industry, some of the recent price reductions have been characterized as unwise, as these reductions have had just the reverse effect from what was expected.

"The automobile business as a whole has been quite free from profiteering, the advance in price being only sufficient to compensate for the increased cost of labor and the increased federal taxation. The average increase in automobile prices since 1914 has been only 12 1-2 per cent. After 1914, when the tremendous production of motor cars started, these big productions brought about a reduction in prices, but of recent years, after the rise in taxes and labor, many automobile manufacturers advanced their prices only 20 per cent, whereas other commodities advanced, such as farm products, 144 per cent, furniture 235 per cent and clothing 260 per cent. These advanced prices of automobiles permitted only a fair and proper manufacturing profit, even with factories that had a large output.

Will Be Less

"Where these outputs are reduced, the profits, of course, will be less and until such time as materials and labor are cheaper there is no hope for a proper and businesslike reduction of automobiles. As the rise in labor followed the rise in the cost of necessities of life, the price of labor will have to follow, not lead, the decline in the price of necessities.

"This reconstruction cannot be brought about quickly, and therefore for the coming year a reduction in the price of motor cars cannot be looked for, barring, of course, the exceptions of occasional reduction by manufacturers who have priced their cars too high, or those manufacturers who wish to realize on their inventory.

No Such Thing

"As E. S. Jordan said: 'The point of saturation in the motor car business will be reached when every person has a motor car and none wears out.' There are in the United States close to 10,000,000 vehicles, and assuming that the average life of a motor vehicle is five years, it would seem that merely the renewal of existing motor vehicles will call for an output of 2,000,000 cars per year, which is greater than American makers have ever produced, to say nothing of taking care of foreign business.

"For the reasons stated I look for the best business that we have ever had for those who can obtain good motor vehicles to sell, but, believe me, it is going to be a case of 'get them first,' more so than it has ever been before.

"Summing it up as stated, the outlook for motor car business for the coming spring was never so bright for the legitimate manufacturer and dealer."

GIVE AUTO TRUCK LOTS OF ROOM IN WINTERY WEATHER

When a heavy motor truck is swinging around a curve on a wet day it is the part of wisdom for passenger cars to give it a good wide berth. If the rear end of the truck starts to skid it is likely to annihilate any light passenger car that gets in its path.

"It is this danger of skidding that is one of the truck drivers' big worries on a wet day," said a veteran truck operator of the United States Tire company recently. "I've seen small passenger cars smashed to pieces in this way on curves. When the tail end of one of these big fellows starts to slip there is no telling where it will stop.

"My recommendation to the drivers of passenger cars is to give the trucks plenty of room on slippery days.

"One other favor passenger car operators can confer on truck drivers is to be a little generous in the matter of space on a hill. The truck man is desirous of showing every possible courtesy to other drivers, but he has a big, heavy vehicle to handle and it is not so simple a thing for him to get far over to one side on a bad grade as it is for a passenger car

NEW DEPARTURE IN PACKARD CONSTRUCTION SEEN IN SINGLE-SIX TOURING CAR MODEL ON DISPLAY HERE

This new Packard single six touring car is finished in black leather throughout with the same quality and appointments as the twin-six. It is a recent addition to the already well known line handled here by the Lloyd Weaver Automobile company.

Hundreds of interested motorists have called to inspect the baby Packard and to compare it with other present and past models to see if the Packard standards of construction and design had been followed in the little car.

Spring Surprise.

A few days before the arrival of the cars, a surprise was sprung on Packard distributors all over the country by the factory. An announcement was made that a new introductory price would be made of several hundred dollars lower than set by the factory, prior to the first showing of the cars to the eastern public. Early in October the car was announced and shown in a few of the larger eastern cities. According to a factory official the lower price was made possible by the unprecedented demand for the single six. This demand will necessitate a greatly increased production, and as Packard has always based their selling prices on cost, plus a reasonable profit, they mound that the increased production made necessary by the unexpectedly large demand would permit of lowering manufacturing costs appreciably during the first season.

Clean-Cut Motor

Some very interesting features are to be noted in the six-cylinder motor. A very clean-cut cylinder block shows nothing on one side other than oil filler spout, while the other side has only the carburetor equipped with the new invention, the Packard fuelizer.

The fan sets high, being equipped on a line with the top of the cylinders and the water pump is directly back of the fan hub.

A glimpse into the mirror under the engine shows a seven-bearing crank shaft and an equal number of bearings on the camshaft. This extra number of bearings, together with the light reciprocating parts is the reason ascribed for the lack of engine vibration even at car speeds of sixty-five miles an hour.

PARLIAMENT STOPS TO SEE AUTO FILM

Evidence of the active interest in motor transportation by foreign countries is seen in the adjournment of the parliament of Perth West Australia, for one hour during an official session to watch a truck motion picture film and listen to facts regarding motor truck transportation in the United States.

The 'movie' which is said to be the first one ever exhibited in the parliament house, was staged by R. W. Pachaly, representative of the export department of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, Clintonville, Wis. Mr. Pachaly also addressed the assembly and told how large business houses and municipalities in the United States were using motor trucks in the conduct of their business.

According to advices from Mr. Pachaly the film aroused considerable interest and brought on a general discussion of motor transportation, during which he was asked numerous questions.

Among those present were such prominent officials as the premier, the minister of public works, minister and commissioner of railways, minister of agriculture as well as the members of parliament.

DURANT SEES HEALTHY DAYS ON HORIZON

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—W. C. Durant, president of the General Motors corporation, in a message to members of the Automobile Chamber of Commerce, stated:

"The automobile industry has grown to its present size on merit of its product. It would not be entitled to its present high position if it was not able to weather an occasional readjustment, such as it is now passing through, along with other industries of the country.

"It seems to me this is the proper time for careful thinking, placing of various departments of our business in order and an ideal time to further efforts of our sales department.

"This readjustment was a perfectly natural thing to expect at this time, and when the country settles down to normal and the present hysteria passes, our industry will be found stronger than ever. We should look forward to the usual buying enthusiasm at the shows, followed by a big demand for motor cars and trucks.

"I am as much an optimist on the future of the auto industry as I ever was."

When asked about the general business outlook, Durant had this to say:

"Business at present in all lines

BLOW-OUTS FROM AUTO ROW

Owing to the weather the past week the touring and sport car have taken a back seat in the estimation the local dealers. There are some classy looking models of closed design to be seen on the floors of local dealers and we are sure if this weather continues they wont be there long.

E. V. Lesley, Jr., of the Auto Tire company states that business is very good this week in skid chains, lap robes and alcohol. We don't know what kind of alcohol he has in mind but we will take his word for it.

Fred Keim reports that Studebakers are moving as well as usual. The two car loads has received this past week will not last long, he says if people continue to buy.

W. B. Omohundro, the popular Ford dealer, says that business is "Universally Good," and that Fords are moving every day. Well we must have our Fords whether anyone else sells cars or not.

To enter the sales room of the Lloyd Weaver company is just like stepping into a miniature automobile show, for here we see some of the most popular makes and they are all one that greets our eye is the new Packard Six and some job it is, upholding all true Packard traditions.

We find an Essex, and from its appearance it must have come from the emerald isle.

It is green throughout, with California top an green upholstering, different from the rest. The first Then there is a Hudson that won 1st prize at the recent Dallas show. This is a job entirely different from the rest and one worth seeing.

B. C. Cochran, local Chevrolet dealer, reports that he has just received a car load of his popular make. This makes three car loads that have come in lately for Mr. Cochran but two of them were not all together upon arriving, having been partly lost along the way were unexceptable.

The many friends of Jimmie Zinn, out ideal of other days when baseball was the popular sport, will be pleased to learn that he has entered the automobile game in Wichita Falls through the Lloyd Weaver Co. If he is as good at desposing of cars as he was on the diamond there will be only room for one dealer in the city.

W. J. Daughtery of the Overland Motors has been busy the past week, seeing that the orders have been filled promptly. Mr. Doughtery reports a large shipment of cars and says that business is always good.

and in all parts of the country is very much disturbed. This is not unusual in a presidential election year, but the situation is particularly acute this fall, due to a necessary and long deferred readjustment of values and to a national administration apparently unable to cope with business and financial problems.

"The country is sound. The people are thinking hard and can be relied upon to take steps to correct where correction is needed. Crops are good. The banks have been husbanding their resources and are prepared to take care of all legitimate needs. As soon as we are assured of a new administration with a definite and constructive policy and the new administration has an opportunity of functioning, we will once more enjoy a healthy and fundamentally prosperous condition on a price level that will be fair to the farmer, the manufacturer and the consumer."

HUPS WIN TRIO OF HONORS IN SWEDISH RACES

"The 'man from Missouri' has apparently moved to Sweden," say Eckman & Von Allmen Hupmobile dealers, "and the reliability tests that marked the early days in America's motoring development have become a prominent factor in the automobile business of Sweden.

"The Royal Automobile Club of Sweden every winter arranges a reliability run of 1260 kilometer (820 miles) over the worst possible roads available. Naturally the winning of this race firmly establishes a car's reputation for performance and dependability throughout Sweden.

"This year the race was held the first week in March, and the route chosen was exceptionally difficult—over muddy roads and through deep snow. Road conditions were so bad that many of the entrants, which included both American and European cars, were forced from the run—in fact, the Hupmobile was the only make having more than one entry, which finished with all its cars in the race. Three Series R Hupmobiles were entered, and won first, third, and seventh places, in a field of seventeen cars—a convincing proof of Hupmobile endurance and performance.

"Such reports of decisive Hupmobile victories coming from all parts of the world give absolute confirmation of our belief. "We believe the Hupmobile to be the best car of its class in the world."

IDAHO GIRL WINS FIRESTONE PRIZE ESSAY FROM FIELD OF 200,000 HI SCHOOL STUDENTS

In a competition that centered thoughts of more than 200,000 high school students, their relatives and friends, upon good roads, 16-year-old Katherine Flournoy Butterfield, Weiser, Idaho, won the Harvey S. Firestone university scholarship for the best essay written in the Ship by Truck-Good Roads essay contest recently concluded.

School children from every state in the union competed under the supervision of educational authorities. Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton appointed the committee that judged the essays from among Washington officials.

From one of the smallest high schools in the west, where she always has lived, Miss Butterfield comes forth as one of the best informed young persons in the country on highway transportation problems, according to the contest judges. Almost a quarter of a million high school pupils from the metropolitan centers and rural sections of the United States competed with her in writing a 500 word essay on good roads and motor transportation. For her efforts she receives a four years' scholarship in any college or university she chooses to attend.

The contest and prize was announced during National Ship by Truck-Good Roads week last May and was part of Mr. Firestone's contribution to its success. So great was the interest aroused by this effort to turn the thoughts of thousands of young people to one of the nation's greatest problems that motor companies, newspapers, magazine publishers and automotive associations gave hundreds of city and state prizes.

In commenting on the nationwide scope of the contest Mr. Firestone, who is a prominent tire manufacturer, said:

"It was with the hope of inspiring the men and women of tomorrow to give thought to one of our greatest national problems that I offered the scholarship. The results lived up to my highest expectations. It ought to give great impetus to the good roads movement."

In winning the scholarship, Miss Butterfield realizes the dream of her life—four years in college. She has chosen to spend one year at a well-known girls' school on the Hudson near New York City. She then plans to enter an eastern university for three years.

This young western girl is not without honor in her own home. During the war she won first prize for the best Liberty Loan essay and wrote a play which was produced with the aid of twenty cousins—upon the return of her brother from the battlefields of France.

Members of the committee which made the awards of national prizes were Dr. C. D. Jarvis, United States Bureau of Education, chairman; Dr. Walton C. John, United States Bureau of Education; H. S. Fairbanks, United States Bureau of Public Roads, and Pyke Johnson, secretary of the highways committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The best essays were winnowed out by a process of elimination through city and state committees until the national committee, which sat in Washington, had before it only one essay from each state.

Miss Butterfield's essay, which won for her the scholarship and honors coveted by hundreds of thousands of high school pupils, follows:

"Like curious children, the Indians of the plains watched the building of the first transcontinental railroad. When the first engine breathing smoke and flame steamed down upon them, the turned their ponies' heads and fled wildly, expecting to feel, at every jump, its hot breath on their cheeks. But the monster never pursued them over the trackless prairies. It had its limitations then. It has them now.

"A more noble kinsman of the locomotive demonstrates ability to travel without steel rails, the tractable truck. On the farm it is shortening the distance to market, carrying twice the load in half the time and eating only while it works.

"Freight traffic everywhere is clogged. The present condition is choking industry—a menace financial and otherwise to the whole country. Every year to some extent, freight congestion recurs. The railroads have no competitors for the long haul, which justifies the short haul at each end. Shall they compete for the short haul, or advise the segregation of short haul traffic, and invoke the aid of this "rural express" for the hundred mile runs? Railroads cut through community areas a single diameter. Truck highways spread out innumerable radii.

"Trucks carry blooded stock to range flocks. In due time fleets of trucks are convoyed, bringing in the wool, transferring it for its long haul to the Atlantic seaboard. Railroads again return it to us as manufactured goods and the cycle is complete. Bursting granaries spell prosperity for the railroads—a long haul to the sea. To insure a hundred per cent harvest, fullest benefit from short planting seasons, let the truck carry the seed wheat, farm machinery, fuel, replacements and repairs for the short haul. Long and short haul agencies supplement each other. The long arc and the short arc dovetail, and the transportation circle is complete. They coalesce, not conflict.

"'Within a mile of Edinboro town' there runs an old Roman road. The sightseers' bus travels over the same highway that reechoed to the tread of Roman soldiery. The work of human hands two thousand years ago is an instrument of human progress today. The cost of such highways, distributed over centuries, fades into insignificance. Nevertheless it takes something besides the enthusiasm and energy of a pseudo—efficiency expert to build roads. A good program can not be clapped down upon a community like a nicely fluted pie crust, presenting an attractive surface. Every dollar's worth of bonds must show a dollar's worth of permanent improvement. Posterity will help pay for the roads; we must insure value received. Millions have been spent by corporations to improve railroads, millions will be spent by co-operation to build good roads.

"The agencies of transportation may be likened to the circulation of the blood. No matter what bright arterial blood the heart, the trunk line pumps, unless the capillaries, the truck lines, carry it to the finger tips.

"To the Motor Truck, the highest exponent of good roads! To Good Roads, the basis for Truck Efficiency!"

RHODE ISLAND BUYS COLES IN CARLOTS

Popularity of the Cole Aero-Eight models in Rhode Island is attested by the fact that it is demanding its Coles in carload lots.

Rhode Island, despite the fact that it is the smallest state in the union, boasts 44,000 motor car owners, or at the rate of one car to every 14.7 residents of the state. And in this large number of cars the Cole is listed as among the most popular.

One of the largest single shipments of motor cars ever sent out by the Cole company left the big Indianapolis factory recently for Rhode Island. It consister of twenty-one railroad cars destined for the Cole Motor Car company of Rhode Island with headquarters at Providence, R. I.

MOVIE TO SHOW EVOLUTION OF HORSELESS WAY

For the first time, the Evolution of Travel is to be picturized, and the public is to have an opportunity to see just what has led up to modern modes and methods of travel, and of what struggles and efforts, and conquests these methods are the result.

The story of travel evolution, from the earliest days when primitive man had only his two legs to carry him, through the ages to the coming of the "horseless carriage" is to be shown in motion pictures.

This picture is a result of a belief on the part of officials of the Cole Motor Car company of Indianapolis that a product has a greater appeal to the general public if associated in the minds of that public with a definite background, either of history, or manufacturing process. The Harry Levey Service corporation of New York is directing the making of the production, which, it is said, is to be an elaborate one, and which will require many months for completion.

Every phase in the story of travel evolution is being picturized, and cameramen are being sent to all corners of the globe to secure authentic scenes. Museums throughout the world are being scoured for models of means of ancient travel, and permits are being secured for cameramen and directors of the Harry Levey Service corporation to photograph them.

One important feature in the making of this production, will be the making of such models as are not in existence today either in museums or elsewhere. In the course of the evolution of travel vehicles of queer kinds have been made—some of them so queer, that they did not survive or enter general use, however, the influence of some of these modes of travel was felt later in vehicles of travel, which embodied characteristics first appearing in these rarer specimens. Such was the case with the steam carriage, propelled by legs striking against the ground. Very few of these were ever made, and none of them are in existence today, yet their influence is felt in later-day travel.

For this reason, in a special historical department, such vehicles are being carefully studied through the medium of old books, charts, and drawings, and a special staff of technical builders is manufacturing models in accordance with plans and specifications laid out as a result of the information contained in these volumes. These will then be filmed as part of the great story of travel evolution.

Animal travel, beasts of burden in all parts of the world—the ostrich, the dog, the llama, the camel, the dogs of the frozen north—and all other animals that have played or do play a part in the travel of the world are being photographed, it is said.

Another big feature of this picture will be the showing, for the first time through the medium of the screen, the mechanism of many of the modes of travel—and especially of the modern motor car. Through a series of questionnaires, the Cole Motor Car company has discovered that the percentage of motor-car owners who really know what is going on in their cars, why the machinery acts certain ways and why it refuses to act in other ways, is remarkably small.

By means of a new contrivance known as the Mechanigraph, it is possible to show on the screen exactly "how the wheels go round." A replica of the mechanism is built of a specially prepared fibre-board, and animated by hand under a specially focussed camera for this purpose.

Mechanigraphs have been made of many of the ancient and modern means of travel, and of the entire Cole Motor Car mechanism.

The picture, which is to be called "The Porcelain Lamp," is to be shown internationally, it is stated. A definite tie-up is to be effected with printed advertising, window displays, and local branches, and definite results will be checked up, it is announced.

MAXWELL WINS IN 586-MILE TOTALS

In a recent endurance and economy test held under the auspices of the Dallas Times-Herald, a Maxwell stock car won first place in its class and second in all classes, some of the cars entered selling as high as $6,000. This was announced by S. M. Bemrod local dear. In motor, ignition, transmission, differential and all bearings checking, the Maxwell scored 100 per cent. The test run covered 586 miles, much of it over rough country.

FORD DEALERS WATCHING FOR PIRATE PARTS

An interesting feature of the Ford Service Bulletin, the magazine issued by the Ford Motor company, to help Ford dealers in their service work, is the department which helps dealers to distinguish between genuine Ford parts and the vast number of spurious Ford parts that have made their appearance on the market in recent years.

In the matter of such parts as Ford connecting rods, for example, it is very important for the dealer to be able to detect "pirate" products. It is a feature of Ford service that if a customer comes in with a connecting rod to be rebabbited he does not have to wait to have the rod he brings in repaired. Every Ford dealer keeps a stock of rebabbited connecting rods on hand, and the customer simply exchanges his worn rod for one the dealer has in stock, and pays the cost of rebabbiting.

It is of the utmost importance for the dealer to be certain in making such an exchange as this, that he gets a genuine Ford rod from the customer, according to Mr. Graves. The average spurious connecting rod is usually made of low grade open hearth steel, and is of a quality entirely inadequate to stand the heavy work demanded of a connecting rod. The Ford rods are made of chromo vanadium steel of the highest quality.

The Ford Service Bulletin, consequently, published a list of the counterfeit forging trade-marks used on the spurious Ford parts. Like the cattleman of the early days of the west, who had to be able to recognize every cattle brand within a radius of many miles, the Ford dealer has to be able to recognize at sight of dozen or more of the spurious brands, which makers of Ford "pirate" parts employ.

EDUCATORS TALK OF THRIFT STUDY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Officials of the savings division of the treasury department conferred here today with a number of educators regarding plans for making the principle of the saving and investment of money permanent and compulsory of the American public school curriculum and for the use of government savings securities as the practical medium for applying those principles.

The conferences will continue tomorrow and the committee of education, appointed at the National Education association convention at Salt Lake City last July, will confer with Secretary Houston during its stay in Washington.

DEEMS LANGUAGE CALL TO MURDER

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Lieutenant Colonel L'Estrange Malone liberal member of the house of commons, who was arrested Wednesday night in Dublin, where he had gone by invitation to speak in a debate on bolshevism, was arraigned in Bow Street police court today for the use of language likely to cause sedition among the civilian population. The proceedings arose from a speech delivered by Lieutenant Colonel Malone in Albert hall here last Sunday.

Humphrey Travers, the crown prosecutor, declared Colonel Malone's speech was nothing less than an "incitement to murder." He quoted the following passages from the speech in question:

"The Russian revolution taught us the humbug of the old parliament. I hope the day will soon come when we shall meet here to pass a blessing on the British revolution—when you meet here as delegates of the first all-British congress of workers, sailors and soldiers.

"When that day comes, woe to all those people who get in our way. We are out to change the present constitution, and if it is necessary to have bloodshed and atrocities, we shall have to use the lamp posts or the wall. What are a few Churchills or a few Cursons on lamp posts compared with the misery of thousands of human beings."

FRANKLIN AUTO SALES GAIN IN SPITE OF CUTS

Sales of the Franklin car the country over have kept up a high level following the price reductions announced on September 23, according to C. J. Waelder, local dealer. For the thirty-day period following this date, daily orders reported by dealers were 140 percent greater than the sales rate maintained immediately prior to the reduction.

Sales during the last twelve days have averaged 40 per day, which record is almost on a par with the average production of the factory during the peak season this spring.

Production itself has already been established on a basis of 50 cars per day. The reserve stock of cars has been subject to heavy shipments, to supply the difference between national demand and the daily output. As a result, cars on hand at the factory total no more than the normal requirements of the season.

Coincident with this increase of output is the addition of over 200 workers to the payroll during the last two weeks of October.

TEXANS TO SCAN BOLL WORM EVIL

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 12.—With the approval and by the request of Governor W. P. Hobby, the Texas Chamber of Commerce will appoint a committee representative of all branches of the cotton industry, to visit the cotton growing districts of Torreon, Mexico, and make a careful investigation of the damage done by the pink boll worm during the past season. The results of this investigation will be laid before the people of Texas for their guidance in further dealing with this infestation.

Correspondence to the Texas Chamber of Commerce from resposibile concerns either interested in, or who have recently visited the Laguna district of Mexico, confirms the report that the ravages of the pest has been very severe this year. Since the damage done to cotton in that district has been the basis of much of the apprehension of the appearance of the pink boll worm in Texas, the agricultural department of the Texas Chamber of Commerce has taken the lead in making this investigation.

The committee will assemble at San Antonio November 26, and the trip to Mexico will consume about twelve days. Five of the following organizations have already agreed to send representatives while the other five have not been heard from: Texas Chamber of Commerce, Texas Division of American Cotton Association Texas Farmers' Union, United Cotton Growers, Association, Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Texas Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, Texas Ginners' Association, Texas Cotton Association, Texas Bankers' Association and Farmers' Protective Association.

FREEDOM FIGHT TOLD IN STORY OF TEXAS' FLAG

By ELIZABETH M'CURDY

AUSTIN, Texas—Interwoven with the history of her struggles for freedom is the history of the flag of Texas. During the Texas revolution the designs of the first flags were an expression of the feelings of the people. Of the United States flag each state was represented by a five-pointed star on a blue field. This naturally suggested to the Texans, most of whom were from the United States, the idea of a single star on a blue background.

But the sentiment of the people was divided. Some were controlled by a desire for complete independence, to be followed by annexation to the United States. Others were determined to contend for their rights under the Mexican constitution of 1824. Consequently a strange mixture of these two political views was portrayed in the flags adopted by different organizations. The official government always adhered to the Mexican tri-color, substituting the numerals 1824 for the eagle in the white stripe. The municipalities on the other hand, when their rights were infringed, raised flags bearing devices significant of their outraged feelings.

The month of September 1835 was active in military preparations to repel the threatened invasion. A company raised at Harrisburg was presented a flag by Mrs. Sarah B. Dodson. It was tri-colored, red, white and blue, with a white star in the center of the blue square. The design showed plainly that for Texas alone of all the Mexican states, the star of liberty was rising. The flag was borne by the company for several months.

Another flag made at about the same time was one suggested by Captain William Scott, who commanded a company from Lynchburg. This flag was of blue silk with a large white star in the center and the word "Independence" written below it. When this flag was first displayed conservative citizens objected to the inscription, but it was unfurled at Lynchburg before the company started to Gonzales. This flag was also lost sight of after a time.

In the same year, 1835, the Georgia Battalion was presented with a lone star flag by Miss Troutman of Knoxville. It was made of plain white silk with a blue star of five points on either side, and the inscription "Liberty or Death."

In the meantime, Captain William Brown of Velasco, after taking part in the storming of San Antonio, stopped at Goliad on his return. At a meeting held there to recommend an immediate declaration of independence, he unfurled a flag known in history as "Captain Brown's Flag of Independence." It bore stripes and had the word "Independence" on it, also the representation of a hand clutching a bloody sword. This flag was unfurled at Velasco, where it was greeted with a joyous demonstration. On March 8, 1836, this "flag of independence" was raised to celebrate the birthday of the republic after the convention at Washington on the Brazos had declared Texas free and independent. But on being lowered the flag was too badly torn to be used again.

Although many flags representing the spirit of independence had been raised throughout the state, there had been no official act authorizing any flag other than that of the Mexican constitution of 1824. It is thought that Travis and his followers perished with that flag waving over the Alamo. However, a report of Santa Anna indicates that at least one of the flags of independence was found among the slain Texans.

The first "Lone Star" flag that had the approval of the government was the one adopted by President Burnett at Harrisburg, over a month after the declaration of Texas independence. This flag was for the use of the Texas navy. At the first session of the Texas congress Burnet's choice was approved and adopted. The same congress also declared that there should be a national standard of Texas, which should consist of a blue ground with a large golden star in the center. This act was amended in 1839 in order that Texas might have a flag different in character from the flags of other nations.

The national flag thus adopted by congress for the Republic of Texas consists of a "blue perpendicular stripe of the width of one-third of the whole length of the flag, and a white star of five points in the center thereof; and two horizontal stripes of equal length and breadth, the upper stripe white, the lower red, of the length of two-thirds of the length of the whole flag."

This flag waved over Texas until February 19, 1846, when it was voluntarily lowered to give place to the United States flag.

During the war between the states Texas recognized the flag of the confederacy. The present flag of the state of Texas is the same as that of the republic as described above.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Declaring that the navy department would "go the limit" to uphold the authorities of the naval academy at Annapolis in their efforts to stamp out hazing at the institution, Secretary Daniels announced today that instructions had been issued that no hazing would be tolerated and that any number of midshipmen necessary would be dismissed to end the practice. "I would rather have 800 men at Annapolis who can obey orders than 2,200 who cannot," said Mr. Daniels. One midshipman has already been expelled, the secretary continued.

CALOMEL LOSING OUT IN SOUTH

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place. "Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.—Adv.
