QUAKE ROCKS SOUTH AMERICAN CITIES

TORNADO TOLL INCREASES AS INJURED DIE

Rock Springs Wounded In San Antonio Hospital Die of Hurts

TWO NEW STORMS

Fatalities Reported at Two Texas Points Early Wednesday

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 100 persons are dead and scores injured as the result of devastating pranks of mother nature throughout the world during the past three days.

Texas has been hardest hit in the United States. No less than 15 storms of cyclonic variety have swept over the state leaving a trail of dead and injured. At Rock Springs, Texas, a tornado Tuesday night took toll of 61 lives. At Lufkin a small tornado caused the death of one woman today, while 12 were injured, according to latest reports. Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming are in the grip of a spring blizzard which has seriously impeded highways, rail and air mail traffic. Today marked the fifth day of the storm.

Down the Mississippi valley and through other sections of the south, flood waters menace property, and one life was lost, while forest fires continued their work of destruction in New England. Governor Fuller of Massachusetts proclaimed the woods closed to the public and Governor Pothier of Rhode Island, suspended the fishing season. Governor Spaulding on Wednesday closed the New Hampshire woods to all except owners of timberland.

Across the Atlantic, heavy winds have struck along the Moroccan coast. The storm is described as the most violent in a decade.

Twenty lives are reported lost.

Bucharest reports a violent wind storm destroying 200 homes. Fires started in the wreckage.

At least 16 persons are reported killed and 50 injured in an earthquake which rocked Mendoza, Argentina, today. The shock lasted 20 seconds.

Wire communications were interrupted in the Canadian northwest today by Aurora Borealis.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 14. (AP)—Death, watching here with physicians over hospital cots of some 90 injured, tonight had increased its roll by six victims in the Rock Springs tornado catastrophe of Tuesday night.

C. McMain, succumbing this afternoon, was the sixth of the more seriously injured group brought here in three trains last night to die.

Fourteen others, who were near death when rescued, held their own during the day. Nine of these will probably die, doctors say, and the other five are in a critical, but not hopeless condition.

Six More Die.

Those who died here were Nicolette Montello, John Lowrance, Dottie Flemming, Flora Adams, another woman whose name is Adams and Charles McMain.

Mrs. D. Bartley, a baby named Perez, Marguerite Fennington, whose sister and mother are dead, a baby named Harrington, Mrs. James Bourland, a man named McKinney, Apolinar Duran and Mrs. T. Reynolds are in a very serious condition.

Most of the injured are suffering terrible gashes and bruises received when they were buried through the air and thrown to the ground or struck with flying debris. Almost every resident of the town received an abrasion or bruise of some description, but only those whose injuries were serious enough to make death a possibility, were brought to the hospitals here.

ROCK SPRINGS BURIES MOST OF ITS DEAD.

ROCK SPRINGS, April 14. (AP)—Virtually all of its dead buried without benefit of clergy in graves dynamited out of solid rock by United States soldiers, its injured either in hospitals in San Antonio or in temporary quarters hope and the curious who crowded through the morgues and about the ruins departed, what is left of the citizenry turned today to the task of rebuilding Rock Springs, torn from its mountain seat by a tornado Tuesday night.

"The number of dead here is 47, with eight known to be dead in San Antonio and other cities, making a total of 55."

With the first terrible excitement over, the keenest sorrow merged into the cruel necessities of the present and the pathetic picture of destruction on every side, the town tried to show a brave countenance through its mask of death.

Town To Rebuild.

Standing amid the ruins of his grocery and feed store, Mayor J. N. Lockley asked the Associated Press to convey the thanks of the citizens to the whole outside world for their offers of help and their promises of aid.

"No one will know who has not seen it how complete has been our annaihilation," he said. "But business will go on to Rock Springs. I have been here since 1896.

"I am going to stay.

"I have lost much—almost all—but Rock Springs was built because there was a need for a town in this section. I believe it will be rebuilt and rebuilt better than ever before."

Texas Fires Back As State Bulletin In Minnesota Condemns This Section

"Take It Back" Says Texas Agricultural Head In Note Denouncing Pamphlet Libelling This State

AUSTIN, April 14.—The Rio Grande Valley was rocking under the impact of a bulletin issued by the division of immigration of the Minnesota state government which warns farmers of that state to "keep away from sultry Texas with its hot and destructive winds, its droughts, its boll weevils, corn borers and other destructive insects.

The bulletin, copies of which have been received here, also attacked the land values of Texas, the agriculture conditions and charge that the population of the state consists of "heterogeneous hordes, composed largely of Mexicans, negroes and mixed blood which predominates in many parts of the state."

"This bulletin wittingly slanders Texas and her people, and requires that I should take notice of the charges," Agricultural Commissioner George B. Terrell heatedly declared today.

Terrell's Letter.

In his letter to N. J. Helmberg, agricultural commissioner of Minnesota, Commissioner Terrell said:

"We do not have the corn borer in Texas as they have in other states, and we did not ask congress to appropriate $10,000,000 to exterminate him. We have the boll weevil, but we are still able to produce 6,000,000 bales of cotton a year to help clothe the world, and we produce 2,000 car loads of fruits and vegetables to feed the people of the northern states who cannot grow them. Most of the land in the lower Rio Grande valley produces from $500 to $1000 worth of farm products per acre each year and other land in the state is ideal for the raising of wheat, oats and other grains."

Prominent citizens in the valley flooded Governor Moody's desk with telegrams today asking him to demand of Minnesota a public apology, "in behalf of the good people of Texas."

RIO GRANDE VALLEY ROUSED OVER BULLETIN.

BROWNSVILLE, April 14. (AP)—Requests that Gov. Don Moody demand retraction from the state of Minnesota for an alleged slander of the state of Texas have been telegraphed to Moody from San Benito, Brownsville and other south Texas cities.

The alleged slander is contained in an official bulletin issued by O. H. Smith, Minnesota commissioner of immigration. Under the caption, "gamblers preparing to boom Texas lands," the bulletin states that "northern farmers are permitting themselves to be stampeded," to the state where the stage is being set for an "artificial boom" and where the farmers will be compelled to "mix with the heterogeneous hordes consisting largely of Mexicans, negroes and mingled bloods which predominate in many parts of the state."

Valley Protests.

J. E. Bell of San Benito, president of the Lower Rio Grande valley chamber of commerce secretaries, in a telegram to Governor Moody stated: "We appeal to you to ask in behalf of the state of Texas that the statement made by the Minnesota official be proved or that a public apology be made to the good people of the state of Texas."

A communication received today from Porter Whaley, manager of San Antonio Chamber of Commerce stated that the bulletin issued by the Minnesota commissioner is libelous in its tenor and that the matter probably would be taken up with the United States postal department.

19 SAVED IN FLOODED MINE

Disaster Narrowly Averted In Oklahoma

HENRYETTA, Okla., April 14. (AP)—After being trapped for eight hours by flood waters, 96 feet below ground, 19 men were led to safety late today by John Cameron, a veteran miner.

While two holes were being dug into the ground to reach the men, Cameron, vaguely recalled there was a connection between the abandoned shaft of the Duncan McKay mine and the Old Wise mine in which the men were imprisoned. The old shaft was a mile away but Cameron went down into the dark passageways and wandered around with a flashlight to guide him. Hearing the voice of the 19 men, he called to them to stand by. Finally he made his way to them.

With the habits of a veteran miner, he had no trouble in retracing his steps through the abandoned corridors, rescuing the men and averting what threatened to be another mine disaster for Oklahoma.

General Rejoicing.

There was general rejoicing about the mine when Cameron appeared with the miners.

Already frantic efforts had been started to reach the men, who had made known through a two-inch cable hole that they were still alive. Two holes were being sunk, one a shaft in which men were working in 15 minute shifts to rush along the work; the other, a 20-inch drill hole.

The 19 men were working this morning in the Old Wise mine near here when Coal creek, swollen out of its banks by recent rains, poured into the shaft of an old abandoned mine nearby. The water quickly found its way through the subterranean chambers, which honey comb this district, into the mine where the men were working.

The 19 men were thought to have been drowned until just before noon when communication was established. Andy Gouyer of Henryetta went to a hill some three-quarters of a mile northeast of the mine shaft where he knew there was a cable shaft. He found a two-inch hole and puled on the cable. There was an answering jerk.

Cable Is Cut.

"Cut the cable," he shouted down the hole. When it was cut he pulled the cable from hole and was able to communicate by shouts with the men. Attempts at rescue started and dams were built to keep more water from entering the mine. The fire engines from Henryetta pumped all afternoon. These, with improved bailers, had removed much of the water from the mine when Cameron made his rescue.

The mine is 20 years old.

SENSATION IN U. S. QUIZ INTO NOTE FORGERY

Diplomatic Papers Declared To Have Been Stolen And Amended

BUT MEXICO DOUBTS

U. S. Explanation Not Quite Satisfactory, Report From Mexico

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The mystery of the alleged theft of secret documents from the American embassy in Mexico City took a sensational turn today when the state department placed responsibility on the war department.

This was co-incidental with the return to Washington of Lieut. Col. Edward Davis, military attache at Mexico City, who was recalled to explain the incident.

It was emphasized that Colonel Davis is considered entirely blameless except for the fact that one of his employes is supposed to have rifled the embassy files.

Mystery Intensified.

The mystery was intensified, however, when it was learned that Colonel Davis was placed under the strictest orders not to discuss the case.

The state department announced that Secretary Kellogg had not discussed the matter with Davis, and did not contemplate so doing. Only the war department is concerned at this time, it was stated.

This seemed to "close the incident" so far as the state department is concerned, but it was learned that the government is really deeply concerned.

This is explained by a report current in diplomatic quarters that Mexico is not quite satisfied with the explanation that the secret documents, which found their way into the hands of President Calles, are forgeries.

It was significantly pointed out that the American embassy in Mexico City has taken no steps to prosecute any one for "stealing" documents from the embassy, or for selling "forged" documents, or obtaining money under false pretenses.

There is no longer any doubt that documents were turned over to the Mexicon government by an employe of the embassy in Mexico City.

This, it was learned, had been going on for several months, but the documents were said to be unimportant until quite recently. Then some letters supposed to be secret instructions to Ambassador James R. Sheffield were turned over to President Calles. These proved extremely offensive and responsibility for them was denied by this government.

Employe Goes Out.

At this time an employe of the office of the military attache left the service quite unexpectedly. However, no effort was made in Mexico City to connect him with the alleged theft through arrest or prosecution. No effort has been made to prosecute him here. The Mexican government took no action to do so, which diplomats say indicates that Mexico does not feel that a hoax was practiced when they bought the documents. The employe was understood to have left the employ of the embassy when complaint was made that he was seen too frequently with high Mexican officials.

In the meantime the state department is doing everything possible to remedy any harm which may have been done by the documents falling into the hands of President Calles.

U. S. Fliers Set New Record For Air Endurance With Fifty-Hour Flight

MINEOLA, N. Y., April 14. (AP)—Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlin, civilian aviators, landed at 12:42 o'clock after setting a new record for endurance flying by remaining in the air for 51 hours, 12 minutes. For the half hour before the landing the plane hung above the field at an altitude of about 3000 feet, coursing slowly backward and forward. At 12:25 it dropped toward earth and the spectators cheered as they thought a landing was about to be made. The plane banked off, however, and climbed again, repeating this performance a second time before the actual landing was made. The plane landed without apparent shock on the runway and glided to a graceful stop.

The record breaking performance eclipsed by six hours the previous world's record of 45 hours, 11 minutes and 59 seconds.

WASHINGTON GRATIFIED OVER FLIGHT RESULT

WASHINGTON, April 14. (AP)—The highest gratification was expressed here today by Washington aviation officials over the feat of Bert Acosta and Clarence D. Chamberlin, American civilian aviators, in breaking the world's airplane endurance record.

Officials were particularly pleased they said, because the achievement had been made possible without government aid. This fact, they said showed the advancement of civilian aviation.

"I'm simply delighted," said Edward P. Warner, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of navi aviation.

Admiral William A. Moffett of the navy bureau of aeronautics, joined with his chief in complimenting the two aviators and in expressing the hope that American manufacturers would follow the example set by these civilian airmen.

Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air corps, said the air corps was greatly pleased to "know that American pilots in American-built planes that have shown they can bring the record back to America."

Vaudeville Bill Closes Season

"Tiptoe Revue" Is Headline Attraction Here

A record crowd attended the closing vaudeville bill of the season Thursday night at the Majestic theatre, with the "Tiptoe Revue" featuring the program. The revue is composed of dancing, singing, and jokes, with beautiful scenery and costumes, and the numbers are unusually attractive and well presented.

Coscia and Verdi in "Stringed Comedy" present a well balanced act, with just enough fun mixed in with the music to make it interesting and entertaining.

"The Seven Collegians" was a musical comedy act in which boys took feminine parts, and performed their act so well that it was difficult to tell them from real chorus girls."

Art Frank impersonated an old rube with young ideas. Mr. Frank, assisted by Miss Margie Barron, presented a skit called "The Hick and the Chick," in which the old man goes to the city for the first time, and this, of course, always goes over big.

Marguerite Padula featured in "Ivory Novelties," and played and sang her own accompaniments. Mildred Lloyd Davis and Lloyd Hughes were on the screen in "Too Many Crooks."

Millions Of Gold Buried By Villa Is Discovered

SAN ANTONIO, April 14.—After months of secret search and of back-breaking labor, the famous $1,500,000 treasure trove belonging to General Tomas G. Urbina, notorious Mexican bandit and henchman of Pancho Villa, late terror of Mexico, has been found.

The treasure that cost its other owner's life, when he, becoming involved in a quarrel with Villa, was shot at the latter's orders, was unearthed near the Hacienda Del Amolar in the state of Durango, according to San Antonio travelers arriving from Torreon today. Near it were found human bones and maps of Chihuahua, believed to reveal the hiding place of the millions of dollars worth of gold and jewels which Villa buried during his career as Mexico's most notorious bandit.

Vast Trove Found.

The travellers quote Jesus Diaz, well-known Torreon engineer, as assuring that six men who searched for the treasure half a year found it by torchlight and at once conveyed it on muleback to the Amolar estate, where it now lies concealed from the curious.

The gold and silver alone in the treasure are estimated to be worth $1,000,000. These precious metals disappeared when Urbina sacked Torreon, Leon and San Luis Potosi. Priceless gems, stolen from churches in San Luis Potosi and Durango are included in the loot.

Tomas Urbina and Pancho Villa were the two names most feared during the Mexican revolutionary epoch of the Huerta and Carranza regime.

Only Villa could exceed Urbina in the number of persons he killed and the latter was reported to be far crueller than is boon companion. After Villa was routed by the government forces a few years ago and had to flee to his natal mountains, he appealed to his former companion in arms and life long friend, for help.

Chief Burns Tells Ideals For Police Department—Service To City First

Police Chief Frank Burns, who has been out of the city since his appointment Monday night, returned here Thursday night and was at the city hall familiarizing himself with the police department.

Chief Burns stated that he had completed arrangements for moving his family to Wichita Falls from the KMA field where he has been in charge of the Sibley-Taylor properties for the past nine years.

FRANK BURNS

Friday will be the new chief's first day on duty, he stated. Within a few days he expects to have his personal affairs in shape to give his entire time to the police department.

When asked if he had determined any of the changes announced Monday night as probable in the department personnel, Chief Burns declared that he had not. It will be several days before a decision can be made as to what steps will be taken in re-organizing the force, he stated.

"At present I have just one definite idea in mind and that is to give service to the citizenship. I desire a police department, composed of men who will work together and I intend to have just that," Chief Burns declared.

"While the police department is under my leadership it is going to be clean and I hope that law abiding citizens will lend me their cooperation in enforcing the laws," he said.

Police Quiet Fears of Northern Lady Who Believed Frogs Were Rattlers

Near-pandemonium among residents at a Pearl street apartment house who thought that countless rattlesnakes were presenting a concert under the building was quelled by city officers called to the address shortly after midnight Thursday.

People of the apartment from which the police call had come were found highly frightened by Officers W. P. Belcher and Pat Allen when they arrived. The man was armed with a shotgun, the windows were closed tight and an atmosphere of impending danger was noticeable, the officers stated later.

The woman did the explaining to the officers, telling them that a noise entirely new to her had been heard and making sure that her children were asleep and the radio disconnected she decided that a den of rattlesnakes was located beneath the floor. Having recently moved to Texas from a northern state, she had never seen a rattler, she confided to the puzzled officers.

After waiting several minutes sound was heard again and the officers declared that it was strangely familiar to them.

An answer came from the other side of the house. The officers grinned as they left the room with the explanation that frogs were celebrating a wet spring.

Contestants who made the trip are all winners of rounds of local elimination contests. Opal Longan represents the city in extempore speaking. Margaret Bone is the senior girl declaimer while Laurence Bash is the senior boy declaimer. In the debates the girls team is composed of Maurine Ulmer and Marie Ford, while the boys team is made up of John Emmett Lyle and Russell Cumley.

This year Amarillo is the host to the tri-city meet of the large district. Wichita Falls is in line for this important event next year.

Tot, 5, Crosses Atlantic Alone

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—Clutching in a tiny hand a small brown satchel, Andreas Techida, a globe trotter at the age of five, has reached the end of his unescorted journey from Austria.

Andreas, who got into the newspapers upon his arrival in this country because of trouble he put Ellis Island officials to in determining his right to enter, was met at the railroad station last night by his mother, Mrs. Amelia Goldstein, who whisked him to the home where he saw for the first time his half brothers—George, 8, and Henry, 2—children of his mother by a second marriage.

Ellis Island officers tried for three hours to induce Andreas to display his passports. The lad obeyed to the letter his grandmother's warning to hold tight to his possessions. The passport papers finally were found sewed in the lining of his coat.

EARL CARROLL SEVERELY ILL

"Nervous Breakdown" Diagnosis of His Physician

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 14. (AP) — Physicians attending Earl Carroll late today issued their first signed bulletin on his condition, definitely diagnosing his illness as a severe nervous breakdown.

ONLY SERIOUS ILLNESS CAN FREE CARROLL

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Only seriously impaired health will win freedom for Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, now ill as a federal prisoner at Greenville, S. C., it was made plain at the department of justice today.

Carroll's formal application for a pardon, submitted by his representatives and personally urged by him 24 hours before he started for Atlanta penitentiary, has been turned down by Attorney General Sargent.

This means that Carroll must serve his sentence for perjury, unless his sudden illness should continue long enough to raise the issue of his release in an altogether new form.

The department is keeping in touch with Carroll's condition through United States Marshal Hecht of New York and his representatives, who were taking Carroll to Atlanta when he sank into a coma.

POLICE FEAR SAFE BLOWING

Store Owners Warned To Take Precautions

Enough nitroglycerine, police estimate, to knock the knobs off of 25 safes was stolen by burglars who robbed a magazine belonging to the Atlas Torpedo company and located two miles west of the city limits, near the Seymour road, Wednesday night.

The burglary was discovered by employes who went to the magazine Thursday morning. Several boards had been pried off the wall and the storage room, leaving an opening large enough for a man to enter, it was reported to police.

A quart can from which the "soup" had been poured was found on the floor containing a small amount of the highly explosive liquid.

Police stated that it is probable that the nitro was poured from the can into smaller containers, presumably of such sizes that they might be carried in a pocket.

Fear that the nitro burglary may be followed by an epidemic of safe blowing in and near Wichita Falls was expressed by police, who stated that the small amount taken could hardly be utilized for any other purpose.

In shooting oil wells it is seldom that less than 10 quarts are set off to loosen oil bearing sands, it was pointed out, and nitro glycerine is said to have few other peace time uses.

While the "soup" may be intended for use in distant points from Wichita, Desk Sargeant C. B. McConnell declared that store owners would do well to take extra precautions now that thieves are known to possess the explosive.

ESCAPE DEATH

Coupe Turns Over In Ditch, Women Unhurt

Two young women narrowly escaped death when the Ford coupe in which they were riding Thursday afternoon left the pavement and turned completely over in a ditch at the side of the Fort Worth road on the eastern edge of the city, according to Deputy Sheriffs C. C. Kelrsey and Warren Belcher who witnessed the accident. The officers did not learn the names of the women.

The car overturned when the woman who was driving lost control as she started to round a curve travelling at high speed, the officers stated. Water in the ditch was about two feet deep and filled the interior of the car. The women crawled out unscathed.

Insurance Firm Will Open Soon

that have overlooked this important feature have paid very dearly. Any sound industry, whether financial or industrial, that is of a permanent nature and will furnish employment for people should be fully supported, as the history of most financial or industrial centers shows that instead of having bargained to move large industries from other points, local citizens started these various industries themselves by mutual cooperation and support. As the territory developed, so do these industries grow.

Use Local Capital.

"Wichita Falls and its surrounding territory has contributed hundredes of thousands of dollars by investment in new insurance companies, finance companies and various other enterprises located in other large Texas cities. In fact, almost 70 per cent of the original capital of insurance companies organized in such other cities has been secured on the outside. And until these enterprises have grown to a substantial size nearly 80 per cent of the business of such companies is obtained in the same manner. There is no sound reason why this local capital can not be conserved for use here in similar ventures.

"The importance of Wichita Falls as one of the best points for the home office of a life insurance company can not be better demonstrated than by the tremendous interest that is being manifested in this organization by other insurance companies. There is no doubt in my mind that if this insurance company were organized in any other territory in Texas, very little interest would be incited. It is generally recognized that when the National Security Life Insurance company starts to function as an old line insurance company, economically organized and efficiently managed, it will be an important factor at the very outset in the writing of life insurance in Western Oklahoma and in the Panhandle and Plains territory.

New Facilities

"When the Robertson insurance law was enacted, there was organized a life insurance company in practically every city in Texas. In most of these companies there were large promotion expenses; charges for raising the capital stock were any where from 30 to 40 per cent and most of the contributed surplus was in the form of notes; salesmen and promoters received the first money and the effect was that when a company was ready to start actual business it had very little money on which to operate. Some of them struggled through these handicaps; others were merged with some other company or were never able to start writing insurance. Prior to 1917 or 1918 reinsurance facilities were not adequate. Young companies writing a policy over an amount they could not afford to carry had to spend a great deal of time trying to secure reinsurance. However, today the young company can reinsure any part of its business in less than 24 hours. Their re-insurance facilities enable new companies to compete with long established companies. There are a great many other factors that enable the young company to make more rapid progress today than they were able to make prior to 1918, not least of which is the realization on the part of the general public as to the value and importance of life insurance.

"The National Security Life Insurance company is going to be one of the substantial, permanent industries of this city, and it is being so organized that it will carry, not only the good will of the people here, but of the surrounding territory as well. It will not be dominated by any individual or faction. Investors, agents and employes will be connected with a permanent business that expects to grow with the section of the country that it serves. The entire organization expenses including selling cost, actuarial advice, the incorporation fees and the like, will not exceed 5 per cent. Considering the method and manner in which stock in this company is being placed, it is safe to say that our organization will be perfected more economically than any similar institution. The company expects a permanent business and is making its plans accordingly, its purpose being to safeguard in every way possible those who invest and insure with us."

BLANTON FIRES SENATE RACE

He Asks His Friends To Urge Him to Run

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, April 14.—Thomas L. Blanton, lusty-lunged Congressman from the Texas Plains, is calling on his friends in the state to tell him whether he shall run for the United States Senate next year. Moody won't run, and Senator Earle B. Mayfield is "simply out of the running." Mr. Blanton has said in a multigraphed letter, marked "personal" which has been sent to many persons in Texas. He is considering the race, he admitted, but will defer his decision "until I hear from my friends scattered over Texas."

In the letter, the Texan lives up to his reputation of "the watchdog of the treasury." The letter, though printed on Congress stationery, has the line "I am paying this expense myself." Blanton also points out his salary as senator would be the same as it is now.

Jumps On Mayfield.

After pointed personal references to Senator Mayfield, whom he said "is simply out of the running," Mr. Blanton's letter says of Governor Moody:

"Recently here our mutual friend Dan Moody advised me that he has no more idea of running for the senate than of jumping off the dome of the capitol."

"Under the circumstances I am considering the enclosed action of my constituents to make the race," Mr. Blanton said.

He reviewed his own efforts and achievements in Congress, including his famous "points of order" which have stricken off many salary items from appropriation bills. He said if he were in the senate the items could not be restored because "were I in the senate I could knock them out of the bills and keep them knocked out."

"It would take any capable new man year of hard work to qualify himself," Mr. Blanton said.

Silent On Others.

He made no reference to Owsley, Neff, Barry Miller, Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham or other prospective candidates except Moody and Senator Mayfield.

"After ten years' faithful work in the house," his letter concluded, "I would appreciate my fellow-Texans promoting me to the senate." "Should I enter the race, may I count on your support?" his letter asks.

"I would do the rest," he adds. "I could make a campaign of Texas that would elect me. But I want you with me and behind me."

Rabbi David Lefkowitz Speaks Before Literary Department

"Literature is but the transcription of life itself," therefore we look to literature to discover the footsteps of life. And in English literature the true brotherhood is found, such as is chronicled by Milton, who was blind but saw everything, Shakespeare and others equally notable," Rabbi David Lefkowitz of Dallas, said in part Thursday afternoon when he spoke to members of the literary department of the Woman's Forum and their guests at a meeting held in the Kemp hotel ballroom.

Rabbi Lefwowitz proving a brilliant speaker, talked on "The Contribution of English Poetry to the Brotherhood of Man." Preceding his address Mrs. J. C. Berney, chairman of the department read "Abou Ben Ahem," describing it as a classic embodying all the ideals of the brotherhood of man told in English poetry. The speaker read a group of poems pertaining to his subject.

Miss Vivian Railey gave two violin selections accompanied at the piano by Erma Nala Voss.

Mrs. Berney introduced the speaker, also Mrs. Guy Raley, president of the Twentieth Century club who were hostesses for the afternoon and announced the luncheon for the department April 23, which will conclude activities for the season.

Rabbi Lefkowitz spoke at the Temple Israel Thursday evening and afterwards was guest of honor at an informal reception given by the Council of Jewish Women.

Leslie Miller, pastor of the Grace Methodist church who after reading the 34th Psalm, requested the mothers to select the best verse, which he made the subject for an interesting address. Woman's Day Of Work and Play

Who said weaker sex! Nellie T. Ross, ex-governor of Wyoming, disproves the statement that women are under a physical handicap in the game of vote getting.

"Look at my hand. It's all right," she says. "Some men in public life wince under the strain. But I suppose more people shake my hand than they do the average male politician's for you see I am something of a novelty. Yet I stand up under it.

"A woman's family need not tie her up, either. I know, because I have children. And I haven't neglected them for affairs of state one bit—or vice versa."

Like Father.

The only child of the famous huorist, Irvin S. Cobb, makes her debut as authoress, with the publication of her novel, "Falling Seeds."

Elizabeth Cobb Chapman is 25 years old, and already has to her credit several short stories. This novel, according to her publishers, "is a serious presentation of the matrimonial problems of a modern Eve, and treats of love out of wedlock with maturity of conception and freedom of flippancy which makes it one of the best first novels of the year."

Mrs. Chapman, is the wife of Frank M. Chapman, a young composer. He is the son of Frank Chapman, ornithologist of the American Museum of Natural History.

Dares to Trespass.

The striped barber pole has changed its sex. There are now barber shops, run exclusively by women, that are most successfully handled.

"Chapple," as she is called by her friends, Mrs. Maude Chapman, has such a shop in New York City. She was a manicure in a barber shop several years, where she studied shaving, hair trimming massage in the male style and every branch of the art used in beautifying men, where such a thing was possible. Then she determined to branch out for herself. She bought the barber shop and had it redecorated. When she started it she devoted it to men only. It was a big success. Now she has opened a new addition—a women's beauty parlor.

Miss Chapman is a pretty brunette, about 30 years of age. She employs 17 persons in her shop—10 barbers, four manicures, a cashier, three to cut hair. She keeps her own books, and can substitute for any of her employes.

Denishawn Dancers

"Gleamings From Buddha Field" is the title of the new program, arranged by Ruth St. Dennis, for all lovers of Oriental dance.

The theme embraces Java, Burma and Malaya as well as Japan and China, and music has been collected which is absolutely authentic for all the dances and dance-dramas on the program. Especially fascinating is a shadow dance-drama from Java, accompanied by the famous Javanese aklung and gongs.

The Denishawn dancers have just completed 18 months of continuous playing through the entire Orient, and they have spent the entire time in intelligent research for dance material.

Broad-Minded Wife Who Loves Her Husband Will Not Snub Friends

Why the Popular Girl Does Not Need to Be a Petter But a Salve-Spreader, The Wise Coward Who Is Afraid of Women—Extolling the Broad-Minded Wife Who Permits Her Husband to Have Women Friends.

Dear Dorothy Dix—The other day you published a letter from some girls who claimed that, although they were pretty and attractive, they never had any dates because they would not stand for petting. I think there may be other reasons than this for their lack of popularity, because at least half of the men respect and admire decent women and desire their companionship.

But the trouble with the non-petting girls so often is that they are snobbish and show no appreciation of anything that is done for them. They will not even thank you for taking them to a show, or on an auto ride, or giving them a good time, and act as though the men owe them such treats.

Recently I escorted a girl of this type to a dance and after we arrived there she forgot me and treated me as if I had been her chauffeur. Of course, when a girl treats a man like this he tells it, and the other fellows are afraid of her and let her alone. I don't approve of many things the modern girls do, but as a general thing the petter is bigger hearted and appreciates little favors more than the so-called "old-fashioned girl."

JACK.

Answer—Perhaps you are right, Jack. Perhaps the girl who isn't willing to pay for being taken to a movie by kissing her escort goes to the other extreme and doesn't pay at all by even saying "thank you." Perhaps it takes more worldly experience than the average young woman possesses to know how to draw the line between prudery and prudence, and that when she tries not to be too generous she becomes too stingy.

A man is a cheap skate and a poor sport who demands $5 worth of familiarities for taking a girl to a 50-cent show, but, on the other hand, he is entitled to a run for his money and he certainly does not get a fair deal when the girl that he has taken out and tried to give a good time does not show a proper appreciation and gratitude.

There are plenty of girls of the type to which you refer. Girls that will let a man take them to a dance, and give every turn to somebody else. Girls who will eat a man's food at a restaurant, and spend the whole evening talking and flirting with some other man. Girls who will go to places with a man and sit up and look bored to death without making the slightest effort to entertain him, or make themselves pleasant and agreeable. Girls who will go out riding in a flivver with a man and monologue the entire time about what a wonderful imported car some other man has. Girls who are glad enough to let some man buy coffee and sandwiches for them, but who flavor the feast by discoursing about what a grand feast they had at some ritzy place with young Croesus.

And these selfish, impolite, ill-mannered, snobbish young women, who make conveniences of the man at hand and who are always pretending to be used to something so much better than he can offer, wonder why he never comes back a second time, and why other young men pass them by and that they never have any dates.

Now, no worthwhile man wants a girl to get out a brass band and beat upon the cymbals every time he shows her little attentions, but he does feel that she should appreciate his attentions and at least say "thank you" after he has spent his time and his money in entertaining her. He feels that she should pretend to be enjoying herself when he takes her out to any place of amusement as the least return she can make for his courtesies, and inasmuch as he is the gentleman who is paying the freight, that he has a mortgage for the time being on her attentions and her time.

In this he is right, and the girl who defaults on her obligations to her escort makes a very great mistake, because there is a free masonry among men, and it soon gets known what kind of a companion a girl is. And if she doesn't make herself pleasant and agreeable and isn't appreciative, she is dropped off the list of young women who are nice to play with.

Not all popular girls are neckers and petters, but they are all salve-spreaders who know how to make a man feel warm and purry and pleased with himself because he has been so kind and generous and thoughtful as to give a poor little girl such a wonderful time.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—There is only one earthly thing I am afraid of. That's woman. Boy, how scared I am of them! I am young, more than six feet tall and weigh 190 pounds, but any hundred pound woman can make me run. I have had my share of fights and never came off second best. I have whipped my job to a frazzle and could look into a bandit's gun without a qualm. But when a woman gets sarcastic and starts handing out verbal knockouts I take the count. I fear them when they are angry; I fear them when they are amiable, so how will I ever get enough courage to get close enough to a woman to propose?

COWARD.

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB Says—

FABLES OF EVERYDAY FOLK

Wives Who Are Playmates Only

Once upon a time there was a rich man. He had two sons. Unlike the father in the fables of old, he loved them both. He had no favorite.

The father was a good citizen and he wanted to bring his sons up to be good citizens. He had married a good woman who had been a real partner; in fact, the keynote of his success.

He had worked hard for his riches, and although he did not wish his sons to go through the hardships and pioneer work that had been his experience, yet he was anxious for them to develop so that each could put his hand to the plough if necessary. He wanted to give them the right start, and hoped that his riches would be an advantage to them.

When the boys were ready for college he spoke to them something like this:

"Now, here is your first chance to show self-reliance. College very often makes or breaks a man. Don't imagine that because your father has money that you will always have it, too. You never can tell. The fortunes of yesterday are the misfortunes of tomorrow.

"Live modestly, be kind, and above all, while in your heydey of youth, should you fall in love, be sure that that love is the real thing. There is nothing like love in all the wide world.

"Perhaps you think it is difficult for a man to find the right woman. It is not. If he is not blinded by infatuation he will see the real qualities of the woman if they are there.

"You can almost take a chance with anything but the w ong woman. That is one of the hardest mistakes to overcome."

One day shortly after, father was called away to the land from which there was no return. He left his riches to both boys, equally.

Up to this time they had followed his advice to the letter. But now freedom and an open purse made a difference.

John went on in the day, as had been his wont, studying hard with a view of perchance some day needing to plough his own way, while Jim saw the advantage of money and its fun-giving qualities. It almost seemed that the death of his father opened his eyes only to the pleasures of life.

One day Jim fell in love — or thought he did. He remembered his father's words as to choosing a wife. But, pshaw! hadn't he enough money for a dozen wives? And what mattered it if she hadn't a grain of sense, when she had such baby-blue eyes? So he took her for his very own.

In the meantime John, too, had the call of the little blind god, but he refused to accept only the "surface value." He passed many by, and found one whom he knew had a heart of gold, and brains to think with, even though her eyes were not large and wonderful. Besides, she loved him—the man.

To make a long fable short, a catastrophe occurred and the fortune was swept away. John and his wife immediately put their shoulders to the wheel and were able to save something and go on.

But Jim's blue-eyed doll did not know the value of money, and now that the money was gone she did not want the man who did not have it. The quality of stick-to-itiveness was not hers.

Jim came to his brother in final despair. Of course John helped him; but the words of his father came back to him with their truth, and he learned this moral:

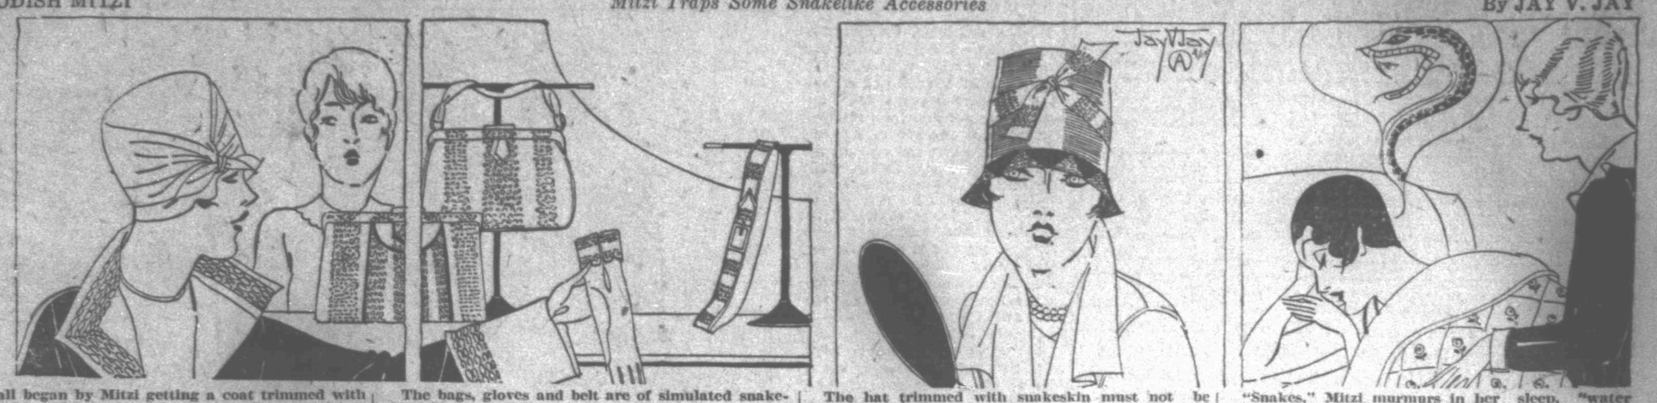

In choosing a wife, find one who can be a helpmate as well as a play-mate.

Something New

From now on opportunity will knock not once but again and again. A noted woman educator has started "The Opportunity School" in Denver, Colo. It stands as a monument to the lifetime efforts of Miss Emily Griffith, whose work as an educator has carried her name abroad. Miss Griffith was requested by Great Britain to visit England and start a similar school.

The Opportunity school is a day and night school where pupils ranging in age from "14" to a "century" if they want to enroll, can learn those trades and professions not requiring a university education.

MODISH MITZI — Mitzi Traps Some Snakelike Accessories — By JAY V. JAY

It all began by Mitzi getting a coat trimmed with snake skin. The snake skin suggested harmonizing accessories, which necessitate shopping. They aren't hard to find, because they are new, smart and destined for a fashionable existence. Notice the hat Mitzi wears, with the crown creased on one side.

The bags, gloves and belt are of simulated snakeskin. You can find them in any shade so that they will match or, as the most popular fashion term is, "harmonize." For her coat, trimmed in snakeskin, she will add the gloves, the pocketbook and even a little cigarette case.

The hat trimmed with snakeskin must not be over-looked. The one Mitzi has acquired is of straw trimmed with snake on the crown and the brim. It is easier, far easier, to find snakes in the shops than to find them in the grass, since this new mode was introduced.

"Snakes," Mitzi murmurs in her sleep, "water snakes," which greatly distrubs Aunt Sophia. "Dear me, is the child going to be delirious again," she wonders. It's not that kind of a dream though. It's really quite pleasant, because, as Mitzi says, when she wakes up, "they all harmonized."

WHAT to WEAR and HOW to WEAR IT

By LUCY CLAIRE.
Special Fashion Adviser for the Smart Set.

I can not talk about shoes without taking into consideration the length of skirts. The edict of Paris is that skirts will continue short but not shorter. This means, then, that shoes will be the most important single item of the costume because they are the most conspicuous, and upon the correct selection of shoes depends the success or failure of the entire costume.

To be really smart, the shoes must match the costume, and this means that they will be of kidskin because kid leather can always be found in a complete range of the season's colors. The French women always wear kid shoes and I am beginning to feel that kidskin has become an institution here as well.

I like the model in the lower right-hand corner for it is of gleaming ebony kidskin—just the proper complement for the early Spring costumes of black and white. Its high spike heel and narrow strap which ties in the very center of the instep have been made of white kid, and for those who favor one costume of black and white, this is just the right shoe to select.

The sandal pattern to the left of this is in navy blue kid and I would wish to see this worn with a street tailleur of navy blue. Of course, many of the lighter toned kidskin shoes—such as beige or grey—will be worn with blue around the Easter season—but for those who prefer a dark shoe for cool and cloudy days, I join the Parisiénes in sponsoring this vogue for slippers of navy blue kid.

It is the light colors of kidskin that make one think of the soft petals of a flower, that I find so delightful. And you can not invest in too many pairs of shoes, for they can be worn with many different costumes and by simply changing the slippers, the entire costume can be made to change in appearance. I find one of the most pleasing patterns on the foot, both from the standpoint of comfort and appearance, is the one-strap model at the top which is made of rose-blush kidskin with a heel and banded trimming of a deeper tone.

The slippers at the left are of shell grey kid—cut high across the instep and trimmed with a simple leather buckle of deeper grey kid.

The slipper below this illustrates the mode of center fastenings rather than buttons at the extreme side and for one who does not have too high an instep, it is a beautiful cut. But the chief importance of this slipper is because it is made of pastel parchment kidskin—one of the loveliest tints I have ever seen and its simple trimming is confined to a heel and applique of lizard.

I would tell you to economize on anything save your shoes but these must be of good quality and selection and in the proper tints of kidskin to complement your frocks.

She directs the prosecution of liquor law violations, and is a firm believer in the possibilities of prohibition. Miss Willebrandt puts to flight the old theories that business women are of a masculine type. She is uncommonly attractive and upholds the tradition of our mothers. In a recent interview she says: "Work, love and children must be combined i nmodern feminie life."

WHAT MAY HAPPEN IN MEXICO

NOTICE of the abrogation of the one-year agreement between the United States and Mexico with respect to smuggling has been given by our government and Washington correspondents forecast a commercial treaty eventually which will adjust the pending dispute on the confiscation of oil lands and lands that are not oil bearing owned by American nationalists.

It is said that treasury and labor officials used their influence to prevent the abrogation of the treaty. Their influence counted for naught.

Americans have investments in Mexico totalling $1,500,000,000. There are thousands of acres held by American farmers and cattle raisers. They acquired the properties legitimately. They did not violate treaty rights.

Now the Coolidge administration holds the whip hand. It is possible for the president and his under officials to lift the embargo on arms on the Rio Grande border. Should this happen the Calles administration will go out of business, the confiscatory policies or laws of Mexico will be thrown into the discard.

Uncle Sam is not going to back down. He is for justice for Mexico and the Mexican, but he demands justice for American citizens who live under the flag of the Aztec.

HEATHEN CHINEE IS READY

CHINA is holding the center of the stage. Chinese Nationalists appear to be in full control of the situation. They have captured the treaty ports. They insist, at the point of the bayonet, that China should be ruled by Chinese and that the treaties forced upon China by European governments should be abrogated.

China has been the fat oyster of Europeans for 75 years. It has been a history of spoilation on the part of the Nationals of other nations of the Occident. This is the record and the intelligent and justice loving men of the world admit it.

China is not a Christian land. China had a civilization thousands of years ago. China has been in a trance for centuries. Now the 20th century Chinese have thrown off the yoke of foreign bondage and declared themselves the masters of their own country. Moreover, the leaders of the victorious armies are for peace based on justice. This is the message to the world told to the League of Nations by the Chinese delegate, "China is ready to accept total disarmament provided all the other nations do likewise. If this plan is not acceptable, China will build a navy to protect her extensive coast and develop her aerial fleet once the Civil war is ended and unification of China achieved."

All the nations of Europe and the Orient are talking peace and pushing war preparation and yet, in the face of this, China is ready for total disarmament.

THIS IS THE LAW

THIS is the law: One who commits a felony in the presence or view of an officer may be arrested without warrant. Thus, held the court of criminal appeals in affirming the case of Jack Moore, convicted in Erath county on a charge of possessing liquor for sale. Moore contended that information against him was obtained through an illegal search and its receipt in evidence was inhibited by the search and seizure statute.

Now the facts are the sheriff saw Moore in his store put a quart bottle in a paper sack and walk to the street with it in his possession. He arrested Moore and took from him a quart bottle of beer; then he obtained the search warrant and searched the store, resulting in the discovery of other bottles of beer.

The court of criminal appeals ruled that the arrest was justified and the search likewise was legal; that the constitution on the subject of search and seizure protects citizens from an arrest on mere suspicion, but in the Moore case, "probable cause was clear."

A person caught in the act of violating the prohibition law or any other criminal statute, must pay the penalty.

This is the law in Texas. It tracks a ruling made by the court of last resort in an opinion by Chief Justice William Howard Taft.

REID HAS A PLAN

SENATOR J. W. REID hails from away out in the west. He represents a district which stretches from the North Panhandle section away to the southwestern border.

Texas has a ranger force of 30. Senator Reid would increase the number to 50. He would employ the rangers in the oil districts of the west and along the Rio Grande border.

Senator Reid started his career as a teacher. He owned a tract of land. He held the land. Oil gushed one day at the bidding of a drill and wealth rolled into the lap of Reid. Affluence crowned him.

Now he is the servant of the people in the halls of legislation and he is ambitious that criminals should be run out of the state or placed behind stone walls.

TARIFF FOR ONION GROWERS

TEXAS' onion growers demand the imposition of a 50 per cent tariff duty. Their competitors are Bermuda and Egyptian growers and the Egyptian competition is the most strenuous.

It costs most Texas growers $1.66 a hundredweight to carry his onions to the Atlantic seaboard. This is the railroad charge.

It costs an Egyptian grower 40 cents to 50 cents a hundred pounds to get his onions from Alexandria to the cities of New York and Boston.

If protection is a good thing for the steel makers why isn't it a good thing for the Texas onion grower?

A STORY OF MYSTERY, SUSPENSE AND LOVE

"THE SOB-SISTER"

By CLIFFORD WEBB AND ROSE ELO

ILLUSTRATED BY R. J. SCOTT

© JOHNSON FEATURES, INC., 1927

"Would it satisfy you to know I loved another man?"

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

DIANA BROOKS, beautiful daughter of ROGER BROOKS, owner and publisher of the CATAWBA CITY TIMES and a chain of nine other newspapers, had been kidnapped and then released. Her father is engaged in a persistent fight against the corrupt administration of CATAWBA CITY and through the medium of the TIMES, redoubles his scathing attacks on politicians of the RING and UNDERWORLD.

Brooks himself is kidnaped and in five days released. On his return he finds that his newspaper stock is being manipulated and suspects JOHN W. WALDEN, who he determines to fight.

Brooks' closest friend is DONALD KEENE, his literary editor, who is the guardian of TEDDY FARRELL, reporter and SOB SISTER. Teddy is in love with Don. He, however, believes himself in love with LOLA MANTELL, Diana's cousin.

One day Teddy suddenly notices that Don and Diana are attracted to each other and are themselves unconscious of it. The Sob Sister goes to a picnic with DINNY MORRISON a young reporter who loves her. Dinny proposes to Teddy, but she cannot help taking his declarations of love lightly, and evades a direct reply.

NOW READ ON

CHAPTER XXXV.

He was hopping around on feet that were finely arched, attached to limbs gracefully tapered. As she looked him over in not too impersonal a way Teddy decided she was right in her first casual estimate; Dinny certainly was a right nice built boy, but. . . . Don, oh, Don!

And Dinny in his turn was giving the girl of his hopes and dreams his first "real once over." It was the first time he had seen Teddy in a bathing suit.

"She is a DREAM," he told himself, his affectionate gaze taking in the sweet loveliness of the beautiful young animal. The exquisite charm, the sweet beauty and wholesomeness of her, thought the enraptured Dinny. Where, he asked himself, could any picture he had ever seen compare with that perfection of contour, the pulsating, throbbing vitality that lived and breathed and glowed with every beat of the young heart, every movement of that splendid young body?

"Dinny does look nice," was the thought that was agitating Teddy, "But," she told herself, and had to swallow hard to keep down a lump that persisted in coming up into her throat, "not as nice as—as Don!"

"Race you!" cried the intrepid Teddy as Dinny joined her.

"Righto—let's go!" came the ready answer and they took the plunge together, forgetful in the mad joy of the moment the coldness of the water.

Teddy knew very shortly that she would be outclassed. Dinny had both speed and technique while she had no special stroke save for the regulation "crawl!" Dinny defined her stroke as "the frog kick."

"Got nough?" he asked "gurglefully" pulling up and swimming about a yard parallel with her.

"Uh huh," she gurgled back at him, her face all wet and her brown eyes shining. He swam in close and drew her cool bare arm over his shoulder, thus bringing her body to rest. The "rest" was all too brief for the willing Dinny.

They floated, dived, swam together and "raced" some more. Perhaps Dinny's arms lingered at times needlessly long around the girl's waist or shoulders, but she was enjoying herself too much to chide him. Besides she had always been a little mean and stingy about caresses and so felt she rather owed him this much at least if he could find any pleasure in it.

Later they lay at full length under the trees, resting. The sky, a clear bright blue, spread its limitless panoply above them. Between was the lacy roof of the leaves. When Teddy moved restlessly—and it was impossible for her to remain still for any length of time—a stray sunbeam would catch in the limpid brown eyes and glisten on the tiny flecks of gold imbedded there.

"Do you know, Teddy, you have th' prettiest eyes in th' world?" Dinny put the query as an assertion—with a crude gallantly.

"When do you want your reply on that?" she teased.

Dinny hunched up his legs and looked at her, frank ardor in his own blue optics.

"I wish," he said, his tone querulously complain, "I wish that you'd take me a little more seriously. I'm not joking when I tell you—er—well, these things."

"I'm hungry, let's eat," said Teddy, changing the subject as usual whenever it began to get personal.

"All right, we'll eat, then."

He set his lips in a morose line and started to unpack the lunch basket. He was chagrined that she had so quickly and baldly reverted to her previous lightness. Last night—when he had knocked the drunken Walden down—this little sob sister had seemed to think pretty well of him, to regret her previous harshness. Maybe—it wasn't a very sentimental thought, but—maybe she would "warm up" to him a trifle after she had eaten.

"Deviled ham—and salad—and cake, such nice light fluffy cake—is it home-made, Dinny?" she asked, licking her lips in joyous freedom from all table proprieties.

He nodded, pleased at the implied compliment to his mother's baking.

"My mother does all her own cooking," he told her pridefully. "And I'll say she's some bakeress!" he appended with an only boy's justifiable boastfulness.

She made answer with her eyes, munching her food with an avid appetite bred and nurtured by a body in perfect health.

With the luncheon done Teddy decided on catching "thirty-seven winks." No longer, she cautioned the worshipful Dinny. He mustn't let her sleep all the beautiful afternoon away. She folded her arms behind her head and stretched out full length. "Now," she commanded him, "don't bother me for—for awhile."

He complied with her "command." And that, he communed rather bitterly, was what he was always doing—complying with her demands. Maybe — maybe if he were to use some cave-man tactics he'd gain her respect. Sometimes he might try it. . . .

But when as he thought it he knew he never would.

"Teddy," he said suddenly.

Her lids fluttered open and again the brown orbs, catching the stray sunbeams, threw off the glint of little gold specks that studded the iris and pupils.

"Yes, Dinny?" she said, waiting.

"I'm asking you again, dear. Will you marry me?"

"No, Dinny, I can't," she replied gently.

"Be honest—do you love some other man?" he pleaded.

The girl did not answer. Her face was dreamy. Some mysterious inner light made her all at once beautiful. Dinny, watching her, gasped.

"Tell me," he pursued a bit hoarsely, "do you love some other man, Teddy?"

"You shouldn't ask me that, Dinny," she answered softly, making use of her woman's argument that it was, to put it bluntly, none of his business.

"But it IS my 'business'," he came back, promptly replying to the unspoken thought in her mind. "It's 'my business' by right of the fact that I love you." He emphasized the pronouns. "If you love another man," he went on, his voice just on the verge of breaking, "tell me. It's my right to know."

"I don't see why—" she began falling back once more on her woman's prerogative, "I don't see—"

"Well, I see why!" he burst out savagely. "It's Donald Keene! I didn't notice until lately, but you have a way of looking at him! I don't know—but I'm jealous of every man you look at, I guess," he finished limply.

She was silent, looking out on the lake with eyes that saw no lake; she had heard but vaguely the harrangue of the boy sitting on the sand near her.

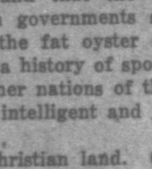

"If you'll at least give me th' satisfaction of knowing whether there is somebody else or not," he was saying when she finally caught the drift of his talk. She looked into his stormy eyes and in the answer she gave him he might have read—but he didn't— the answer to his question.

"Would it satisfy you, Dinny, to know I loved another man?" she asked very softly and smiled. And it was the smile that misled him, just as it was intended. Then, before he could frame an answer, she added:

"Let's just be good friends, you and I, as we've always been. We can't foresee what th' future holds for us, Dinnly. Perhaps some day—who knows? . . ."

"All right," he assented, "I won't harp on it again, but you know, Teddy."

(To Be Continued)

Many will intreat the favor of the prince; and every man is a friend to him that giveth gifts.

All the brethern of the poor do hate him: how much more do his friends go far from him? He pursueth them with words, yet they are wanting to him.

He that getteth wisdom loveth his own soul; he that keepeth understanding shall find good—Proverbs, 19:6-8.

Only after years of bad habits will a definite disease develop, and "Acidosis" is a name used by physicians to describe the general toxemia present in these destructive ailments. Elimination of toxins is retarted and the cure of all disease depends mainly upon increased elimination of poisons from the body. I have never found found a method superior to the fasting regime to accomplish this purpose, and the best results usually occur when fruit is used to the exclusion of all other foods. The best of all fruits for this purpose are the citrus fruits, such as the orange, lemon and grapefruit. When no other food is used, the elimination of toxic material proceeds with the greatest rapidity and, in a short time, the blood has regained its normal balance and is again alkaline in reaction. The peculiar odor to the breath of a diabetic patient is from the acetone thrown out through the lungs and, when a case is curable, this will disappear after a few days of the fruit regime.

After enough elimination has taken place, the patient is placed on a diet consisting mostly of the vegetables rich in alkaline salts, such as the so-called non-starchy vegetables, spinach, celery, lettuce, chard, summer squash, etc. At the same time the patient is warned not to use the foods rich in starch and sugar as these foods easily ferment and produce an acid stomach. To insure enough elimination of the ordinary bodily toxins, it is advisable to make at least one meal of the day of fruit and the best fruit for this purpose is either orange, lemon or grapefruit. Other fruits are not as good for this purpose as they often create flatulence which does not take place when the citrus fruits are used. The tendency to the formation of uric acid crystals, as in rheumatism, is counteracted by those fruit juices and this disease rapidly disappears. If rashes appear on the skin when using citrus fruits, its because of the poisons coming out through the skins in such large quantities that, temporarily, some pores are blocked and rashed and irritation results. This will disappear in a short time, even in such skin diseases as eczema and psoriasis and nothing should be done to retard the skin elimination by ointments which repress the poisons in the body.

I do not know of any food which has such a definitely beneficial effect in the system as the citrus fruits and in no case can it be said that they produce acidosis. Of course, it is not wise to mix different fruits together which are incompatible any more than it is to combine any other foods which are inharmonious with each other. The safe rule is to always use the fruits by themselves, and, if you do this, there is no disease where fruits are contra-indicated. Acidity of the body will always decrease, day by day, until the normal is reached. Thousands of laboratory tests have confirmed this opinion and there has not been a single exception to this rule.

In these days, when there are so many devitalized foodstuffs in the markets, it is well to know that fruits contain a wealth of vital elements in a readily assimilable form and the intensive cultivation has increased their beneficial qualities, which has not always been the case with vegetables.

Remember! Orange juice every day chases acidosis away.

QUESTION: A reader writes: "Please tell us through your daily columns what salad dressing is best to use, mayonnaise, or French dressing made with olive oil and lemon juice."

ANSWER: If you have been reading my columns for some time you will know that I do not recommend salad dressings of the ordinary kind, which are made with oil and vinegar, or lemon. I have a special article written on the subject of salad dressing, explaining how you can make certain ones, which will be at least harmless. If you will write for this, giving your name and address, I will be glad to send it to you.

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

NEW YORK, April 14. (EFS)—Yesterday I put in a long-distance call from the phone on my desk to a guest in a hotel in Los Angeles. The connection was established in a few seconds less than five minutes.

Shortly after that conversation I tried to get Plaza 8795.

After a wait of several minutes I got Trafalgar 8795.

Then, after another long wait, I got Plaza 8755.

Then I got a busy signal.

Then I got word that the number did not answer.

Then I blew up and said that a moment ago I had got a busy signal so the party was obviously there.

Then I got my number.

* * *

But I rarely lose my temper when I have difficulty in getting a telephone number. To me it is absolutely magical that, with the millions of telephoes in the city, it is possible to get a number at all.

And, although I have had it explained to me, I still can not understand how incoming calls are received by an operator and how, without her leaving her seat and searching all over a board for a number, she is able to make it possible for me to talk to somebody in another office building.

Some of the writing crowd of New York have just got hep to a trick that has been quietly played upon members of their craft by Hollywood movie producers. The trick is used in the spirit of revenge.

Hollywood impresarios, it seems, resent any criticism of their artistic endeavors and have been greatly pained at the wise cracks made at their expense about the culture and literacy of the film industry.

So, whenever any of the bright boys of the press spring a nifty in print about pants-cutters in the new art, and about movies for morons, the fact is carefully made note of. Just about the time the author thinks that what he wrote has been forgotten, he gets a sudden, very flattering and wholly unexpected offer to come out to Hollywood and write captions or scenarios at $1,000 a week.

The proposition sounds authentic, because it is accompanied by an offer to pay all expenses for the railroad trip, and on acceptance money for the fare is wired the sucker. The bright wordman quits his job and goes about swelling out his chest and casually mentioning that he has just accepted an offer to go out to Hollywood to work for the movies at $1,000 a week. Sometimes he doubles it, saying $2,000.

Then he goes out to Hollywood. He is put to work at once. The cards are stacked against him from the first. No matter how hard he tries, or how original or bright his ideas, everybody from the president down makes him feel like an idiot. They prevent him from learning anything. They squelch his self-esteem. They make it so hard and so miserable for him that at the end of the first week, when they tell him his work is unsatisfactory, he is glad enough to take the first, last and only check for $1,000 and beat it back to New York at his own expense.

Little is left out of the $1,000 after he gets back, and since he gave up his job before leaving, he is out of work. And he has the humiliation of explaining that he could not make good in the movies.

Wiseheads among the writing craft now look through files of their stuff when they get an offer from the movies, to see whether they have ever said anything that might offend anyone in Hollywood, and if so, they do not get on the train until half a dozen lawyers have examined a contract specifying a definite number of weeks at a definite salary.

"THE TRIUMPHANT SPIRIT"
Good Friday
"Love Conquers Agony"

Scripture: Read—Luke 23:26-49.

"Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise" (Lk. 23:43). "Woman behold thy son!" (Jn. 19:26). "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mt. 27:46). "I thirst." (Jn. 19:28). "It is finished" (Jn. 19:30). "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit" (Lk. 23:46).

See—Acts 2:36; Romans 5:8; I. Corinthians 2:2.

Meditation: With awe we contemplate the Cross of Christ; with shuddering we survey the curious crowd; subdued we listen to the words ever so weighty? Here is the triumph of love. That is the spirit of love with which we are "born from above."

"Thou shalt share the exaltation of thy Lord when thou has carried his cross for a while; when thou hast bowed thy head and given up thy spirit, the Spirit of the Highest shall be given unto thee."

Hymn:

Beneath the cross of Jesus
I fain would tak my stand,—
The shadow of a mighty rock
With a weary land.
A home within the wilderness,
A rest upon the way,
From the burning of the noontide heat,
And the burden of the day.

I take, O cross, thy shadow
For my abiding place;
I ask no other sunshine than
The sunshine of His face,—
Content to let the world go by,
To know no gain nor loss,
My sinful self my only shame
My glory all the cross.

—Elizabeth C. Clephane.
(1830-1869.)

Prayer: Pray for—the forgiving spirit: Christian assurance; scoffers; our country.

Collect—Heavenly Father, whose tender mercies compel our love, we thank Thee for the gift of Christ our Saviour. In Him our shortcomings are filled up; our sicknesses of soul are healed; our rebellions of spirit are quelled. For salvation full and free we bless Thee. In the presence of thy outpouring of love our selfishness stands revealed. Breathe into us of Thy spirit that we may be strong to forsake sin, to overcome temptation and to live in the light which Christ sur[illegible]s. O our Father, grant us to know something of Thy passion [illegible] love. Help us to proclaim the gospel to all mankind. Record our pledge before Thee that we will exalt the things of the spirit. Amen.

And then Grandma Danced

"WE were quite alarmed about mother. She wouldn't eat, was terribly constipated, bilious, and seemed to be fading fast. We thought it due entirely to her 86 years of age. But a neighbor brought over a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and it was really remarkable how she picked right up, and now she can even dance around with her grandchildren. Now we are never without Syrup Pepsin in the house." (Name and address furnished upon request.)

Mother! Now You Know How To Help Your Puny, Weak Child

It's Your Duty to Aid Him to Grow Strong, Active and Sound In Body and Mind.

That little boy or girl of yours—that doesn't weigh enough—that isn't strong—has no appetite—lacks vigor and is perhaps backward, listless and timid.

What are you going to do with him?

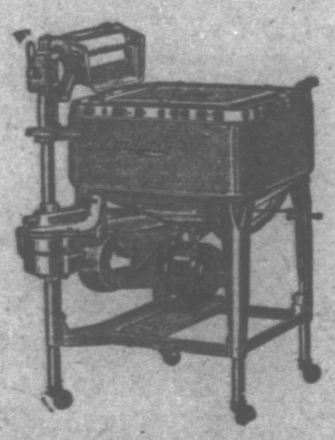

Have you ever heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, sugar coated and as easy for ailing children to take as candy?

Every druggist in America sells them—60 tablets, 60 cents—and the supremely good combination of upbuilding agents surely does help the sickly, run down, puny, frail little ones.

No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamines, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother, and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at Renfro's Drug stores or any druggist, and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.—Adv.

THE POOR FISH.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Police found George Failey, a laborer, with a stick of dynamite in his apartment on the crowded East Side. The explosive George had stolen from his employers. He hadn't intended to blow anyone up with it, he explained, but merely to explode it on a deep sea fishing trip, that he could get a big catch. Now George isn't going fishing for a long time, and more than that, his fiancee resigned her engagement when she heard of George's arrest.

KID DUGAN By Dick Dorgan

Dear Al:—

It ain't often I get sad, but listen, old pal, I think I must be slipping because here I bean Ty Cobb with my fast one, and he laughs at me, and then Kid Dugan tells me to sock him to see if he can take it and sticks his chin out. Well, I let him have it and I would've thought it would fell an oxen but he says he don't even know I hit him. I guess I'm just a brother of a lily-of-the-valley and maybe will try to get a job as a piano teacher at a girl's school. But I'm wrapping my right in tire tape and plaster Paris bandages today, and if I tap this Dugan, they'll need an alarm clock in time to wake him up for the fight.

Your old pal,
Jack Keefe.

The Spudders Have Set Their Opening Day Attendance Mark at 8000—Let's Gang Up and Help Wichita Falls Win Its First Texas League Trophy of Any Kind

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

SWIMMING SEASON NIGH

Just too much water in Shre-e-espo't Thursday, so our nine didn't get any batting practice. They're up and at 'em, let us hope, again today before the rest of the league runs off too far ahead of 'em.

* * *

And it doesn't take the thought of water to remind that the swimming season draws nigh. Little by little we get natural again. Pretty soon we'll be clean. Having inaugurated the baseball season, there remains only the return of the aquatic era, bath beaut contests and the like, then normalcy once more.

* * *

Westmoreland, Texas' greatest swimming pool, however, isn't going to throw ajar its gates so soon, says Leonard Grayson, the mgr. "We lost jack on the early opener last year," chirruped he, "and hate to take the risk again. But we'll be ready any time on 20 minutes notice. So look out for us the first hot day. That may be around the first of the month. Then it may not be until the fifteenth."

* * *

Goofy guy 'phoned up and inquired as to the difference between winning an opening day trophy and winning an opening game. There are saps in this world and then there are more saps.

* * *

That cracker is about as wise as these wrassle fans who take their wrassling so seriously they would try to whip the enemy grappler instead of letting other wrestler do it.

* * *

POWER TO PETE

We meant in referring to Pete Turgeon to pull that wheeze about how much better it is to be in a batting slump during the spring and save up all your base blops for the regular span, but forgot about it until the season opened. Well, anyhow, Pete has done it. Failed to connect with anything like a solid smack in the exhibition melees, then busted out the first day of the money play and whammed Shreveport pitchers for a cool 1000, just three safety slams in three official trips up.

* * *

The Spudders have had the hitting before and looked like chumps instead of champs. That's the way Dallas did Wednesday and the way Fort Worth looked yesterday, like chumps. Whenever you've got the pitching, you're going somewhere. But if you're the heaviest clouting club in the loop, you look like a tail-ender when confronted by real pitching while your own chunkers are faltering.

* * *

Good pitching is 75 per cent of the pennant-winner's strength. Take the Spudders of '22. Drove the ball all over the lot. No consistant mound corps, no flag. The Spudders last summer composed the top-hitting club in the league. Yet finished in lower seven.

* * *

Williams, it appears, has stuck together a ball-murdering machine that will equal the one of 1922. Allow us to offer up prayer for his throwers. We need 'em. Yus, yus, and on paper we GOT 'em, but——.

SHAKE, BILL

Wichita Falls amateur baseball climbs out of the small town class this summer, thanks to the goodwill of the M. K. & T. locally, the perseverence and farsightedness of such men as Bill Hoehn, Doc Landon, Doc Kelly and a number of other willing-workers who have pulled for a faster league. Wichita Falls, at last, is to have a top-rate amateur baseball park of its own.

Coyotes Stack Up Pretty Spry

Electra Trackmen Brook Stiff Opposition in Meet

The Coyote track team is getting down to business under the watchful eyes of Coaches Bud McCallum and J. N. Hall. The lads begin to loom as strong contenders for the district championship despite the reports that the Electra Tigers will win in a walk.

Babe Anderson and Bill Miller are boosting the class of hurdle men on the team and with Walter Pinney and Aneel Kouri as their aces they stand a great chance to win the hurdles.

Truman McCoy and Raymond Mitchell still rank as about the best bets on the short dashes and will be a pair that is hard to stop.

Filmore Meredith is one of the best prospects that they have on the middle distance runs while Churchwell and Allred loom as much power in the long runs.

Roy Porter looms as almost a cinch in the field events to bring home some points.

All the way around it looks like another great year for the Coyotes in track. They have the stuff to win with and there should be no reason for them losing.

NET CHAMP READY

Maurice Allred, Wichita Falls high school tennis champion, is ready to give the other men at the district meet the battle of their lives, he says.

There is only one man Allred is holding any real fear of and he is the bullet-driving Vic Davis from Burkburnett. Allred says he played Davis recently in a practice game and beat him, but still holds a great respect for the ability of the Burkburnett lad.

JUPITER BALKS FRED FUSSELL

But Star Portsider Ready For Today's Battle

"Fussell is ready for the next game here if it ever stops raining," wired Manager Carl Williams from Shreveport Thursday where the Spudders were knocked out of playing the second game of the series with the Sports when Jupe Pluve got gay and squirted up the town.

"After Fussell, Estell, myself and Steengrafe are all ready," said the pilot.

"Tobin's finger is doing fine and he expects to be in the game by the time we return to Wichita Falls.

"Give regards to Wichita Falls fans."

Frank Tobin, Spudder, catcher, hurt a digit in the final exhibition game here, Fort Worth turned over Minatree to chug up any possible breach such as one that would be made should Lapan get hurt, too.

Lockhart Sets 171-Mile Pace

Los Angeles Pilot Tries To Better World Mark

LOS ANGELES, April 14. (AP)—Race officials here announced today that Frank Lockhart, 24-year-old Los Angeles pilot, attained a speed of 171.02 miles an hour, the greatest ever made by an American driver in a "baby" 91.5 cubic inch displacement car on a dry lake bed at Muroc, Cal., north of here, last Monday.

Lockhart hung up the mark while attempting to better the world's record of 207.79 miles an hour made March 29 at Dayton Beach, Fla., by Major J. O. D. Seagrave, British driver, in his "Mystery Sunbeam."

Racing north across the hard packed sands of Muroc lake Lockhart was timed for one mile in 21.09 seconds or a speed of 171.02 miles an hour. Piloting his car in a southerly direction against a slight breeze the youthful driver ripped off a mile at the rate of 167.05 miles per hour. The attempts were timed by Fred J. Warner, official automobile association race starter.

The best recognized speed made by an American driver was that of Tommy Milton, 156.4 miles an hour, set by the veteran pilot, now retired, in 1919 at Daytona Beach. Milton, piloting a 183 cubic inch displacement motor car, made 151.3 miles an hour on the Muroc lake course in 1924.

Yanks Fight Macks Three-Hour Draw

NEW YORK, April 14. (AP)—The Yankees and Athletics battled three hours to a draw in their third American League game here today, darkness ending the conflict in the tenth with the teams deadlocked at 9 to 9.

Eight pitchers were bombarded for 26 hits, the Yankees coming from behind three times with furious batting assaults to tie the count.

Joe Dugan, veteran Yankee infielder, injured his knee in trying to trap Hale off third base in the first inning and had to be removed from the game. The score:

The Opening Bell: Ty In Mack Togs, First Hit of Sox Series

This telephoto picture shows what happened when Ty Cobb made his bow in the Yankee stadium, wearing for the first time in a league game the elephant decorated trappings of Connie Mack's Athletics. The A's took a fine pasting from Babe Ruth's little playmates, and the story of Ty's first appearance as a Mackman reads, sorrowfully: "Out to Gehrig, unassisted." Behind the plate is Grabowski. The umps is Evans.

Willie Kamm, Chicago White Sox third baseman, gets the first hit in the opener with the Cleveland Indians at Cleveland. Luke Sewell catching and Umpire Connolly behind the plate.

NEW TWILIGHT PLANT ASSURED

Construction On Modern Amateur Baseball Park To Begin Immediately, Says Landon

Wichita Falls amateur baseballers Thursday were assured a brand, spanking new baseball park of the ultra-modern and up-to-date variety or what would you.

Construction is to begin immediately, said L. O. Landon, twilight league president.

The announcement came as result of several weeks' hard work and planning by twilight league heads toward putting Wichita Falls amateur baseball on the same high plane with the Fort Worth amateurs and leagues of other larger Texas cities not only in playing ability but facilities.

Wichita Falls boasts as strong amateur baseball as any city in Texas, but where other cities have worked out a "helping-hand" basis for their leagues, the local amateurs have had to struggle along almost unaided.

At instigation of Bill Hoehn, manager of the Panhandle team, a drive for construction funds was started several days ago. Sufficient money on sale of fence advertisement has been raised to handle a goodly portion of the building expenses. The four league club members will underwrite the balance, it is understood, with the league paying out the bill from cash taken in at league games.

The new plant with first class diamond and outfield, grandstand and club house including lockers and showers is to be situated on the M. K. and T. land just north of the Continental refinery and just south of the Panhandle refinery on the Burkburnett highway. It is to be fenced in. Okeh for use of the land by the twilighters was received from Katy headquarters yesterday.

Twilight officials expect to have the park in shape for games within the next few days after which the 1927 campaign is to begin. The league is composed of Panhandle, Continental, American refiners and the Texas Electric Service company teams.

SECOND AMATEUR LOOP LOOMS

Iowa Park, Scotland Plumbers, Muny Gassers and Jackson Tire Crew Would Organize League

Organization of a second amateur baseball league in Wichita Falls practically was assured Thursday, according to announcement by L. O. Landon, president of the twilight league.

Four teams have signified intention of joining the league and a meeting more than likely will be called for Monday night at which time organization details are to be taken care of, Landon said.

O'Donohue's Iowa Park Independents are the real instigators of the new league project. This team several weeks ago sought entrance to the twilight but was told organization of this circuit had been completed. O'Donohue then declared that if any other teams cared to band together in another loop the Iowa Parkers would like to enter, too. The proposition was talked over with Landon and twilight league officials.

Today, O'Donohue's wish appears fulfilled, for the Jackson Tire company, Scotland Plumbing company and Municipal Gas company teams, in the process of formation, have urged formation of a second league independent of the twilight but willing to co-operate toward playing facilities for both leagues.

There is talk, also, to effect the Wichita Falls lodge of the Woodmen of the World may desire entering a team in the proposed second league. If all goes well, it is quite possible a six-team organization may be formed.

Teams wishing entry in the proposed league can make known their desire to either Landon at Landon-Hill sporting goods company or the sports editor of The Record News.

Coyote Baseballers Plan Barnstorm In Panhandle Section

Wichita Falls high school will have a baseball team after all the early reports that none would be formed at the school this year. The team is fast rounding into shape and is looking good for a great year.

Coyal Francis has been elected captain and Bill Habern manager. Coach Ben Henderson has been on the lookout for games for his team this year.

A tour of the Panhandle is planned for the near future. This tour will take in Amarillo, Floydada and Hamlin. It was first announced that the team would play all of their games o nthe home lot, but this is not so.

The team had a game with Olney at Olney for last Saturday but the rain and bad roads forced them to postpone the game.

The team has a very promising line-up at the present and with a little more work should develop into a winner. They have a nice conching staff composed of Pal Nantz and Jack Leggett.

Nantz is a holdover from last year and looks like the pick for the first string job. He has improved greatly over his work last season and looks like a sure fire receiver.

Harrold Leslie will be at first base, Coyal Francis at second, Maurice Bullard at short and Ed. Howell at third are the best looking bets fo rthe infield. They have plenty of outfield material to pick a winner from and should have a well oiled machine in the outer works.

Matsuda and Jones Win Mat Imbroglios

LOS ANGELES, April 14. (AP)—Paul Jones, Texas grappler, disposed of Tommy Drask, 220-pound Hollander, with less than 40 minutes of wrestling in their best two out of three falls match here Wednesday night. Jones won in straight falls.

Matty Matsuda successfully defended his claim to the world's welterweight championship in defeating Jack Vargo, Chicago challenger, in straight falls. Matsuda dropped Vargo twice in 50 minutes.

Scott Turns Back McGraw Clan, 9-6

PHILADELPHIA, April 14. (AP)—Jack Scott, former Giant pitcher, brought down his old teammates today by effective pitching and timely hitting for the Phillies. The score was 9 to 6.

Starting early with a heavy batting attack which drove Burleigh Grimes from the box in the third, the Phillies piled up sixteen hits, belting Cheeves, Greenfield and Bentley, after Burleigh had been yanked. The score:

Scotland Plumbers Get Away Quickly

The Scotland Plumbers are getting off to a flying start with their baseball practice. The team is lining up fast and should they gain entrance into the City leagues they may prove hard to stop.

Hall and Walsh have been doing their hurling and both men are looking good. Paul Welborn looms as their first string receiver, Welborn is small, but a great scrapper and a good receiver.

The loss of Fuzzy Beers in the infield came as a hard blow to the team, but with Tom Witherspoon showing up great at short and Jack Kneisel cutting up around third base, the infield looks ready for any kind of baseball.

It looks like "Bert's Pets" are in for a very successful season if one can judge them well from their early practice sessions.

Tribesmen Hook With Panhandle

The Junior College Indians will clash with the Panhandle Longhorns on the Panhandle diamond this afternoon. The Indians took a stiff infield workout Thursday afternoon in preparation and are all set for the battle.

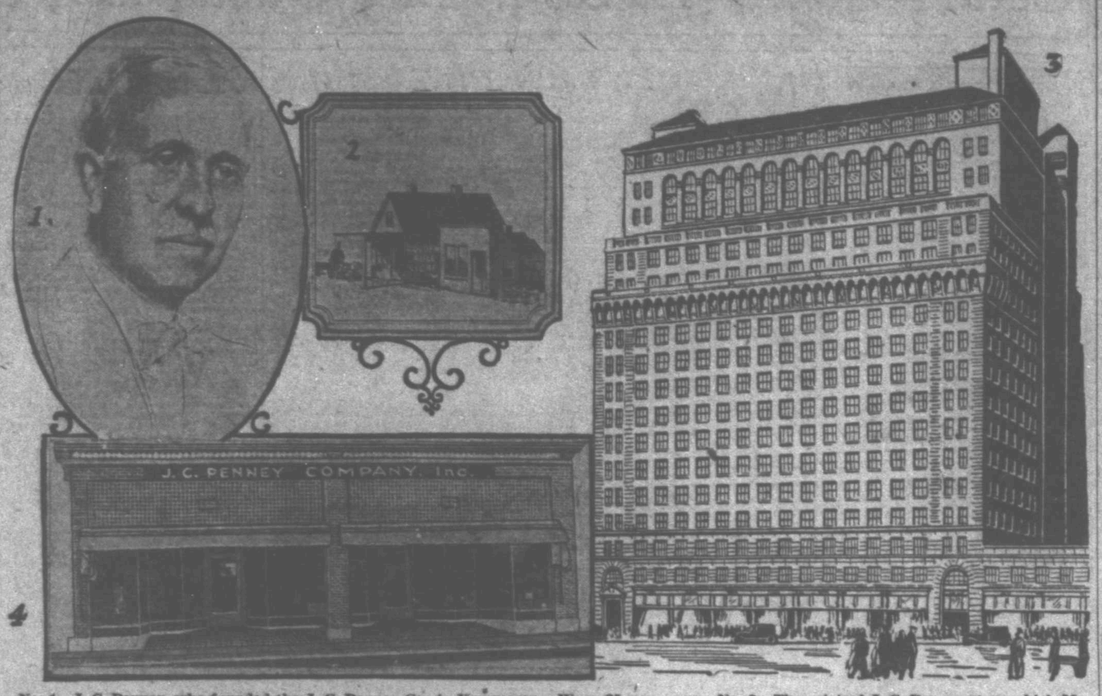

Coach Ludgate was absent, but Captain Homer Doke sent them through the paces and announced his probable starter for the game as Smooty Thompson with Riesner behind the bat.

The infield will be composed of Stephenson on first base, Rundell at second base, Harvey at short and Peachy Bland on third base. This crew looked mighty good in their workout Thursday and should be able to hold their own with the Oilers.

Manager Bill Hohen, of the Panhandle Longhorns, announced last night that Snipe Connally, ace of the Longhorn staff, would face the Junior College Indians this afternoon on the Panhandle diamond. Red Hicks, scrappy little catcher, will be on the receiving end of Connally's shants.

Using their ace today will mean that Randolph and Majors will draw the ticket to face the Electra All Stars next Sunday. Majors is a left hander that looks very promising. The shortness of southpaw pitchers in the league should give Majors a great chance to shine.

Picture Story of Penney's Progress In 25-Year Period

No. 1—J. C. Penney, who founded the J. C. Penney Co., in Kemmerer, Wyo., 25 years ago. No. 2—The original J. C. Penney store which Mr. Penney started with a personal investment of $500. No. 3—The J. C. Penney company building, executive and buying headquarters in New York City. This entire building is occupied by its office and warehouse facilities. From $500 Store To $120,000,000 Firm J. C. Penney's Record In 25 Years

By GEORGE BRUCE

"Success is entirely a matter of moral fibre. The opportunity for achievement is greater today than ever before."

When asked to comment on the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the founding of the original J. C. Penney store, Mr. Penney made this remark. Upon his firm belief in the truth of it rests the foundation of the system of department stores bearing his name, which now covers the entire country.

These stores are not chain stores in the ordinary acceptance of the name. They are a closely knit group of individual community stores, contributing to the welfare of the community in the same manner as other local stores but with the added advantage afforded by co-operation with other Penney stores.

They have all been developed on the theory and practice of partnership. They have all contributed in a purely local manner to the development of the towns where they are located. The strength of the group has been used to serve the welfare of the local community.

The original J. C. Penney store was founded in Kemmerer, Wyo., on April 14, 1902. Today there are 778 J. C. Penney stores and plans are already under way to increase this number to more than 800 before the close of this year.

In 1902 the "mother store" in Kemmerer did a business of $28,893.11. At the close of 1926 the 745 stores operating at that time did a total business $115,-682,773 in sales for the year.

The $500 which was the original investment of J. C. Penney in the little store at Kemmerer was turned better than 230,000 times last year.

The original $500 invested in the Kemmerer store has grown to $30,000,000 of invested capital. This growth has been brought about inside the group of stores. No outside capital is invested in the J. C. Penney company, and the only time that outside help was asked for was in 1919 when an issue of preferred stock was offered to furnish funds for tax purposes. This preferred stock has since been retired.

Based on the statement of the founder of the business, that "success is entirely a matter of moral fibre," this achievement has been without equal in the business annals of the country.

Surpasses Ford Record.

The growth of the Ford Motor company was founded on an original $28,000 and was continued without the use of further outside capital. But this $28,000 has not grown in the same percentage ratio as the growth of the Penney $500 investment. And giving Ford a total turnover of $1,000,000,000 for 1926, the turnover is but 35,-000 times the original investment which has been working approximately the same time as the Penney investment.

A still greater difference is shown in the fact that today, J. C. Penney has more than 1000 partners, each one of whom has started in exactly the same manner as he started, with the same future ahead and the same factors to contend with and to turn into personal success.

The success of the J. C. Penney company has been founded on the structure of moral fibre and the stern suff which turns opportunity into achievement. It has been maintained through the spirit of co-operation and the desire to help men profit in proportion to their willingness to work for a profit.

"Look at Edison, Ford, Rockefeller. Study the history of the senior Morgan," Mr. Penney said. "They are examples of the will to work, once a sound basis of business morals has been established."

He might well have said, "Look at the men in the Penney organization, more than two score of whom have grown from clerks to an affluence which places their present financial rating of a half-million dollars."

And he might have added that these men have worked with a smaller margin between cost and selling price than any other of the other local companies with which they were in competition.

The Penney investment has been in men and the Penney policy has been to teach these men how to turn their investment of time, energy, personal interest and earnings into greater profits for themselves through the application of service to the people of the community where they are located.

Opportunity for All.

The only way in which ownership of stock in the J. C. Penney company can be acquired is through work. There is no limit to the amount that any working individual can acquire. It has been made entirely a matter of personal application.

Today the 773 stores which operate under the Penney name, and in the home organization, the 1600 partners are doing exactly what J. C. Penney did and still does and each one has the same potential success ahead of him that the founder had.

At the start, 25 years ago, Penney owned a third interest in the original store in Kemmerer. He acquired the balance through earnings made by that store.

When Penney decided to start a second store he gave E. C. Sams an opportunity to acquire an interest in the new place of business. Penney had started a group with the Kremmerer store as a foundation. Sams soon started a group with the second store as a foundation.

Each trained managers for stores to follow. This was the birth of the Penney system.

Sams, like Penney, was entirely dependent upon what he earned out of the stores and what he made the stores earn for him, through his own efforts, for any accumulation for the future.

Now, Mr. Sams is president of the J. C. Penney company, and Mr. Penney is chairman of the board of directors.

The system which started 25 years ago has brought other men along with it and today there is a new Penney, a new Sams, a new any one of the many who have stepped up through the organization, starting a new store in some section if the country. This store and others like it will be moulded along the same lines as the original store in Kemmerer.

The following episode is illustrative of the manner in which Mr. Penney has kept his original idea intact. In April 1924 he opened his 500th store. It was located in Hamilton, Mo., his birth place. On that day, he attended to customers in the new store in the same manner in which he clerked at the original Kemmerer store. He has never lost sight of the original merchandising instinct.

Managers of J. C. Penney stores and these are his active partners, are men who are active in local affairs. They are members of local organizations, contributors to local charities and movements to develop local interests. As through the Penney plan, they have extended their business relations to other cities and towns, they have increased their personal activities until they have become men who are serving the states in which they operate.

Any J. C. Penney store in any community utilized the backing and purchasing strength of the nation-wide organization to serve the local customers to greater advantage. In this, the local stores enjoy the advantages of a business handling well over $100,-000,000 a year with the prediction freely made that this volume will increase in 1927 to well over $150,000,000.

It took from 1902 until 1908 to build the J. C. Penney system up to 5 units. In the next six years there were 71 stores. In 1920 there were 321 and the volume of yearly business had grown to $42,800,000.

Service and Economy.

The original J. C. Penney store was built upon the spirit of service and upon the policy of reducing prices by a constant build-up on the rate of turnover. The substance of the present operations of all the stores is that of the original one.

Definite policies have been established and adhered to nationally. These policies have been the outgrowth of the opinions and experiences of the steadily increasing group of store managers. There are never any bargain sales or "sale" days. There are never any purchases of "seconds" or of inferior merchandise. When goods are marked down they are re-priced at what has been determined to be their lowest price based on the market of the day.

Low prices have been helped by quantity purchases. They have been helped by the ability to ship in carload lots and to break up these carload shipments at points convenient to local stores. They have been helped by shipments by boat and during the Christmas season of 1926 thousands of dollars were saved to customers of J. C. Penney stores, especially on the Pacific coast, through savings in freight rates made by shipping through the Panama canal.

The savings made by quantity buying are exemplified by a recent order for 100,000 sets of table silver to be used in connection with the silver anniversary activities of the organization. This was the largest individual order ever placed for table silver. This set ordinarily retails for $16. It is being sold by the J. C. Penney stores for $6.90.

A single order for women's silk hosiery, recently placed, totalled $4,000,000, the largest individual hosiery order ever placed. Other items are bought in the same manner and the manufacturers are allowed to ship their products at times when heavy volume business means much to them in savings in overhead. In this manner the P. C. Penney stores are able to buy at a great saving. This method of buying helps the manufacturer.

This week there will be more than $2,500,000 spent by wage earners and their wives in J. C. Penney stores. The prices they will pay will represent savings to them in excess of $125,000.

M'LEAN LOOMS AS OIL FIELD

Empire Test Finds Show Of Oil in Test

AMARILLO, April 14.—The McLean oil field of southeastern Gray county may soon be opened.

With all of the drilling and prospective drilling in that area it promises to become one of the Panhandle field's best pools.

The Empire Gas and Fuel company's No. 1 Webb, in section 59, block 25, of H. & G. N. survey, looked like it was the discovery well of the McLean pool on Monday and Tuesday, but Wednesday its immediate prospects dwindled away. However, it is still drilling and may yet uncover the pool believed to exist thereabouts.

The Empire has a good show of oil in granite wash from 2866 feet. At 2891 feet the steel line measurement was taken but the oil showing had disappeared. Drilling was then resumed. Sea level elevation of this most interesting wildcat, and the most southeasterly in Gray county, and which would also prove a connecting link between Gray and Wheeler counties, is 2561 feet.

Skelly Oil company, Humble Oil company, Delmar Oil company, Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company, Roxana Petroleum corporation and adjacent acreage and a well in the Empire-Webb would be the signal for a brisk development program there and McLean is on her toes waiting for the strike.

STOCK-A-DAY

CROCKER WHEELER ELECTRIC MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

Five-Year Record.

The business of the Crocker Wheeler Manufacturing company, which was chartered in 1925, grew out of the co-partnership Crocker and Wheeler established in 1888. The company manufacturers motors, generators, transformers and electrical machinery and specializes in equipping factories, railways and hotels with motors and dynamos for driving their machinery. The company has a large business in small motors and many large customers including the United States government.

The plant of the company consists of about 30 buildings covering about 25 acres at Ampere, N. J. The corporation maintains district and service offices at New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, San Francisco, Buffalo, Detroit and Birmingham.

The company has no founded debt and the capital stock outstanding consists of $863,200 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred shares of $100 par and 20,518 shares of no par common. The preferred has full voting power with the common. Dividends were paid on the preferred from 1891 to 1924 at the regular 7 per cent rate. On April 15, 1925 1 3-4 per cent was paid. Since then none has been distributed. On the common, dividends have ranged as high as 8 per cent with stock extras. In 1923, 1 per cent was paid and in 1925 3 1-2 per cent. Since that year no payments have been made. As of Jan. 1, 1927, accumulated unpaid preferred dividends amounted to 12 1-4 per cent.

In 1926, net income before federal taxes amounted to ...163,361 or $5.02 on the common stock. As of Dec. 31, 1926 total current assets were $1,221,648, current liabilities $345,708, net working capital $875,940 and book value $127.70 per share on the common. The stock is very closely held.

MARKET GOSSIP

J. H. Baldwin and Co., brokers, basement Bob Waggoner building, today received the following from New York, New Orleans and Chicago connections:

Cotton: According to the government domestic mills consumed 694,183 bales during March, a new high record for one month. The weather map again showed considerable rain in the belt and in the Mississippi basin generally. The market maintained a steady tone and gained a few points during the session. Some evening up over the holiday was under way.

Wheat: Prices held within a narrow range today, but at times there was a large volume of trade. Some scattered selling in the nature of liquidation was in evidence at periods, but the recessions developed a good class of support and market closed at about the best point of the day. Some of the buying was said to be removal of hedges against export sales which the seaboard reported as being 700,000 to 800,000 bushels in all positions. Hard wheat premiums remain very firm but red wheat shows little change, with territory east of us underselling this market. New crop futures were well supported, with further inquiries reported from abroad for new crop wheat. Continued rains in the west and southwest, along with prospect of freezing temperatures, created some bullish sentiment locally, even though rains were reported in sections that have not received sufficient moisture. Some comment was again received from the northwest and Canada about unfavorable weather interfering with farm work and dry and warmer weather will be highly beneficial. Foreign markets were about unchanged, although a firm tone was shown in Liverpool on forecast of much smaller world shipments. Markets abroad will be closed until next Tuesday. Recent decline in price and our better competitive basis, has established a firmer tone in the market and the feeling prevails that our wheat will be taken in fairly liberal quantities on all recessions in price. We, therefore, feel that purchases on breaks are advisable, at least for moderate turns, but would not overlook quick upturns on which to accept profits.

Corn: During the early part of the session market firmed up considerably but it was principally the result of local short covering. Towards the close liquidation was again in evidence and the May future declined quite sharply as support is still lacking. The May-July difference widened out to better than 5½c at one time, with cash interests changing some hedges on that basis. Eastern shipping demand continues very slow. Some comment was heard about wet weather delaying field work but there still is ample time for planting. We feel that lower prices will result until there is a better consumptive demand at this market.

Oats: Market was firm, although some liquidation developed toward the close. Wet weather is still interferring with seeding. What promised to be an early season is now developing into a somewhat late one. Fair cash demand prevails, with moderate receipts.

Rye: Seaboard reported around 100,000 bushels sold for export and market generally showed a firm undertone with some of the buying credited to cash interests removing hedges.

Stocks: The stock market was generally firm today with strength in a number of the high priced rails and industrials. Oils were again a weak feature. Volume was curtailed on account of tomorrow's holiday. We continue bullish on the rails and other high grade stocks on setbacks.

PRICES STIFF ON EXCHANGE

Tone Hardens After Early Irregular Market

BY BROADAN WALL.
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Prices stiffened a little today following a period of irregularity the greater part of the session on the stock exchange. The irregularity was due to traders evening-up their accounts for over the holidays. Good selling was also noticeable in some of the second-hand stocks which have been inactive recently.

Rails were inactive although the freight business for March was equal to that for the same month last year, which set a new high record. Passenger business, however, showed a decline of approximately 10 per cent because of the automobile competition. In the week ended April 2, however, car loadings increased nearly 64,500 cars over the same period a year ago.

Money renewed at 4½ per cent. The Italian lira crossed the 5-cent level to the highest price in five years. Commodities were higher.

Allied Chemical was the strong feature, since the company acquired the large block of its stock held by foreigners, which nearly carried control. Allied shares are becoming scarce in Wall Street. Foreign bankers with German connections have been selling the stock short on the belief that the British-German syndicate in an endeavor to buy the big block of stock was forcing the price down to acquire it more cheaply. The American interests had to buy it as a partiotic move. If this block of stock had landed in the possession of this German Cartel, Allied Chemical might have turned up in possession of the Germans in time of war. The stock was owned by the Solvay company of Belgium.

Burns Bros., was weak. Since the withdrawal of the Burns family and others identified with the coal business of this city, these interests entering other companies, Burns Bros., has been losing its political connections at a time when competition for the coal business has become keener. On account of the small capital of other companies, the latter are able to undersell and acquire dock privileges in which Burns, up to within four years ago, was supreme.

Power stocks, under leadership of Montana power, went higher, including General Electric. Consolidated Gas was active. Development taking place in this company will surprise both Wall Street and the supposedly insiders. These developments have to do with acquisition of a large block of Consolidated Gas stock which has been gathered up within the last year. Certain interests also have acquired a block of Union Gas and Brooklyn Edison at private sale.

Western Maryland was active among the rails. The deal involving the company will be announced soon. In relation to this deal a new line will tap ned territory and open up a new area which in no way will interfere with existing lines. This will put Western Maryland common and preferred stocks in line for dividends to reimburse the B. and O. for the purchase.

Oils continued under pressure. Marland went lower on rumors that the company did not earn its dividend in the first quarter. International Nickel sold off despite reports that the company had discovered a large body of high grade copper ore underlying its nickel deposits. Canada is said to be a heavy buyer of the stock and one of the big banking houses here has taken an interest in it. News is expected next week regarding the property.

Underwood Typewriter and International Business Machines were strong. Announcement is expected May 1 which is likely to mean higher prices for Underwood Typewriter stock. There will be organized within the next few months two or three large office equipment companies into one corporation which within two or three years may rival some of the big business concerns of America. As all of the office equipment is of the American type and manufacture, the United States should continue to control the world market in this line of business.

Eastman Kodak was inactive but firm. The company will announce important news soon regarding its foreign companies. The company recently made a slight price reduction in its stock of raw film. Eastman controls approximately 90 per cent of the Movie Picture Film business. A movie magnate stated recently that after from one-half to a million dollars for the making of a picture, he would not risk buying any other raw film stock than Eastman's.

Pan-American Petroleum was sold on rumors that the company would have to return shortly approximately $8,000,000 to the government because of oil taken out of the Elk Hills and Pearl Harbor developments. Coppers failed to reflect plans in the industry to curtail production among mine operators in order to stabilize red metal prices.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 14. (AP)—Liquidation for the triple Easter holiday trimmed down early gains on the cotton market today until the close was steady, unchanged to two points up. The realizing and liquidation movements counteracted the upward move under the impetus of a record-breaking mill consumption report for March.

First trades, disregarding Liverpool cables, showed gains of three to four points on the strength of the 694,193 bale census bureau report of mill consumption and the market continued to climber upward until May traded for 14.27, July for 14.47 and October 14.62, six to seven ponts above the previous close.

Later, however, liquidation set in and under its influence May edged down to 14.21, July to 14.41 and October to 14.55, six to seven points below the highs and even with yesterday's close.

An afternoon rally gained four to five points of the loss but late trading absorbed this also and the close was near the bottom. Exports totalled 7129 bales.

The exchange will be closed tomorrow and Saturday for the Easter holidays.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, April 14. (AP)—Record-breaking domestic consumption figures for March and unfavorable early weather news were followed by advances in the cotton market early today, but after selling up to 14.47, July reacted to 14.40 under pre-holiday realizing and closed at the lowest. The general market closed steady, net unchaged to four points higher.

The market opened steady at an advance of four to seven points, active months showing net gains of seven to eight points after the call on covering, foreign and local buying, evidently stimulated by reports of further rains in the central and western belts, and the report of the census bureau on supply and distribution for March. The latter placed the March consumption in this country at 694,193 bales, compared with 625,985 for March last year, and was considerably above expectations, and a new high record.

Brokers with both Liverpool and continental connections were among the buyers on the advance, and the market sagged off later, when a disposition to take profits on long cotton was probably increased by the outlook for improving conditions over the Easter holidays.

May liquidation also was a factor and near months were relatively easy late in the afternoon, May selling off to 14.18 or back to yesterday's closing quotation. October declined from 14.74, the high point of the morning to 14.48 and closed at 14.69.

Liverpool cables reported hedge selling and local liquidation in the market there in advance of the holidays, but said there was improved demand for cotton cloths from Hongkong.

Exports today 4693, making 9,309,843 sof ar this season. The port receipts 16,010. U. S. port stocks 2,280,469 bales.

TRIAL POSTPONED

Sinclair-Fall Conspiracy Case Delayed For Month.

WASHINGTON, April 14.(AP)—Trial of Harry F. Sinclair and Albert B. Fall on an indictment charging conspiracy in connection with the Teapot Dome naval oil lease, was postponed today by Justice Hitz in the District of Columbia supreme court from April 25 to May 23.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 14. (AP)—Price movements in today's stock market again lacked uniformity, due to the extensive pre-holiday readjustment of speculative accounts, but generally the industrials tended upward while the rails lost ground. Bullish confidence was not disturbed by the calling of about $20,000,000 in loans, incidental to mid-month settlements. Total sales crossed the 2,000,000 mark for the eighth full session this month. The exchange will be closed tomorrow but will be open for two hours on Saturday.

Steel stocks were well supported on the theory that the United States Steel corporation's dividend policy on the new stock will be revealed following the ratification of the 40 per cent stock dividend at the annual meeting on Monday. U. S. Steel common closed a point higher at 172, or within a point of the record high. Central Alloy was run up over two points to a new peak at 31 despite of official denials of an early merger with Republic and Trumbull.

Colorado Fuel and Iron crossed 79 to a new top.

Renewed weakness of the oil shares was in anticipation of disappointing first quarter earnings reports. Marland, Texas corporation, Shell Union, Simms and Mexican seaboard touched new low prices for the year, or longer.

Motors displayed a relatively strong undertone with General Motors duplicating its recent record high at 186 and Mack Trucks, Chrysler and Paige Detroit recording substantial gains.

General Motors is expected to make an unusually favorable first quarter report.

Atchison crossed 183 to a new record high in response to the publication of a favorable 1926 earnings statement.

Call money held firm at 4½ per cent.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Italian lira crossed five cents to the highest level in four years but it later rearted to around 4.97½c. French francs held steady at 3.91 cents despite the reduction in the Bank of France rediscount rate and demand sterling was firm around $4.85 and 5-16.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—Broader export demand counted as a bullish factor in wheat today, and so too did predictions of freezing temperatures tonight in western Kansas. Domestic milling demand was also improved.

Largely as a result, wheat closed from ⅜ to ⅝c net higher. Corn finished unchanged to ⅝c off, oats ⅛c to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20c.

Buying of North American wheat today for shipment to Europe was estimated at 800,000 bushels, and premiums were very firm for hard winter grades. The effect of these circumstances accentuated also by contract with smallness of shipments from the southern hemisphere. A decided falling off in the outgo both from Argentina and Australia was shown, the exports of the two countries for the last week amounting together to only 6,852,000 bushels compared with 12,176,000 bushels in the week previous.

EXPORT SALES BOOST WHEAT

Firm Tone Prevalent On Dull Market

BY CHARLES J. LEYDEN,
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Liberal export sales of the past two days found reflection in a firmer wheat market here today. From a speculative standpoint the market was a rather dull affair, as the interest was almost entirely local in character and the general disposition was to go slow until after the holiday.

Corn ruled firm much of the day but met with local pressure in latter part of the session and finished lower for the day. Oats were firm in tone and rye made a good advance.

May wheat opened at $1.32¼@1.32⅝, declined to $1.32, rallied to $1.32⅝ and closed at $1.32⅝@1.32⅝. July opened at $1.28@1.28⅝, eased off to $1.27⅝, advanced to $1.28⅝ and closed at $1.28⅝@1.28⅛.

Export sales of wheat at the seaboard were reported at 800,000 bushels of which about half was said to be American, largely durum.

Liverpool wheat at the close was ⅜@⅝ pence higher. The Buenos Aires market was closed.

Locally, wheat closed ½c higher for the day, corn was unchanged to ⅝c lower, oats ⅜@½c higher and rye ⅜@⅝c higher.

May corn broke more than a cent from the high point and the deferred deliveries also sustained sharp reactions in the latter part of the session. This was due to some active selling which was generally credited to one of the big local operators. Some short lines of corn were covered during the morning and the effect was to advance prices and bring on selling against indemnities.

Oats were firm most of the day. Some buying was done by houses with export connections and there was covering by shorts.

Rye trade light but market strong.

BUTTER AND EGGS.

CHICAGO, April 14. (AP)—Butter, lower; receipts 6192 tubs; creamery extras 49½c; standards 49½c; extra firsts 48¾ @49½c; firsts 47½@48c; seconds 43½@46c.

Eggs, higher; receipts 24,122 cases; firsts 23@23½c; ordinary firsts 22½c; storage packed extras 26@26xc; storage packed firsts 25¾c.

HOSPITAL TO CUT EXPENSE

Hartsook Tells of Changes At Institution

New plans of operation recently inaugurated in the city-county General hospital will materially reduce the maintenance cost, Dr. Charles R. Hartsook, chairman of the hospital board of directors, said Thursday.

Soon after March 1, Dr. Hartsook said, a new plan of operation was installed in the hospital. The results from the new plan will not materialize for a considerable length of time.

Careful Check

The hospital has been operating at a loss of approximately $2,000 a month, the deficiency being paid by the city and county governments.

One of the features of the new plan is the careful defining of chairity and pay cases, said Dr. Hartsook.

"Heretofore," said Dr. Hartsook, "many patients have been placed in the 'pay patient' wards, then paid one week's expenses in advance and that is all the money the hospital has ever received, even though the patient stayed in the hospital for many weeks. Under the new plan, when it becomes evident that a patient placed in the 'pay wards' will not be able to pay for the accommodation then the patient is placed in the charity ward."

Reduce Deficiency

The hospital will probably never be able to "pay its way," Dr. Hartsook said. Due to the large number of charity cases the revenue derived from the "pay cases" will not be sufficient to cover the entire cost of maintenance.

However, according to Dr. Hartsook, the present amount of deficiency will be materially decreased.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd asserted that he was willing to allow the board of directors to work out the new plan of operation and that he believed it would be a success while E. H. Nicholson, county judge, declared that it was "up to" the board of directors to "work out" the situation.

BANK DEBITS DROP

Increase of $1,068,321 in bank debits in Wichita Falls during the past week from the debits for the corresponding week in 1926 was reported Thursday by the Wichita Falls Clearing house.

The debits during the past week totalled $6,237,794. For the same week in 1926 the amount was $7,306,115.

Business Methods Still Tinged With Jealousy, Talbert Tells Rotarians

"Business Methods" furnished the subject for an interesting talk given by J. Wilkie Talbert to members of the Rotary club at their weekly luncheon Thursday at the Kemp hotel.

Mr. Talbert read answers sent in by 19 members of the club on a questionnaire which was sent out by the Better Business bureau in regard to the relation of the buyer to the seller and of professional association. The speaker scored business men who are jealous of each other, and remarked that almost all of the answers on professional association were marked by the "green-eyed monster" of jealousy.

He also stated that a medal would not be gained by merely performing duty, but by going above the line of duty, and if the business men of Wichita Falls would follow that rule it would be a better city and a better Rotary club.

Adolph Boldt, of St. Louis, secretary of the southern district of the United States Chamber of Commerce, talked briefly on tax relief and tax reform, and also on the business and commercial opportunities for 1928.

Mr. Boldt told of the tax collecting system in Europe, and expressed an optimistic view for the coming year. He praised the splendid spirit of co-operation between the clubs of Wichita Falls and the chamber of commerce.

Dr. J. T. Kimbrough led a sing-song, accompanied at the piano by J. S. Pitman.

Balky Witness Testifies When Allred Trips Him In Own Trap

The man with an ace in the hole generally cops the dough in a game of wits—

Ben Allred, district attorney, played his "ace" Thursday and walked off with the honors in one of those "wit games" with a man, who did not want to be a witness in a criminal trial.

There was a time when the new district attorney was rated as one of the best court reporters in Texas and among the three fastest shorthand writers in the state. Mr. Allred won his honors as reporter in the federal district and 90th district courts in Fort Worth.

Mr. Allred was attempting Thursday to obtain a written statement from the proposed witness, who claimed he could not write and would only sign a statement with his exact words attached. The man delivered his ultimatum after looking around the district attorney's office and discovering that there was nothing that looked like a stenographer present.

The witness thought he was as safe from making a statement as a match without a head, but—

Mr. Allred obtained a pencil, a sheet of paper and said:

"Go ahead. Say what you want to say."

The proposed witness nonpulsed started talking and noted that Mr. Allred was always a fraction of a second ahead of him.

"That's gotta be right, before I sign it," said the man.

"It'll be right," replied the district attorney.

And it was, so the proposed witness signed on the dotted line.

AMBUSH DEATH

Roy Sommerville, East Texas Farmer, Murder Victim

BEAUMONT, April 14. (AP)—Roy Sommerville, 22, farmer, living a few miles north of Vidor, Texas, was shot from ambush with a shotgun and instantly killed near his home this morning. He was on his way to Beaumont at the time of his death. Recently Somerville was a witness in a Tyler county case against a man charged with receiving stolen goods. The sheriff's department in Orange county is working on the case.

C-C TO PUSH BOND CAMPAIGN

Road Needs to Be Explained If Election Is Called

Two months must elapse before a bond election can be held after the presentation of a petition from the chamber of commerce to the county commissioners court requiring a $1,000,000 bond issue for the construction of 57.9 miles of concrete, asphalt and gravelled roads in Wichita county, Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce said Thursday.

Two Months' Wait

The petition will be presented Monday to the county commissioners, Mr. Harrison said. At the present time there are four petitions being circulated in the county for sufficient signatures to warrant the commissioners calling a hearing on the proposed project.

If the county commissioners are satisfied that there is a certain demand for the construction of the roads, a hearing will be called. The hearing, according to law, is held within one month after the call.

If the commissioners act favorably on calling the election after the hearing, it will be necessary for the county to advertise for 30 days preceding the date of election, that the election will be held.

Plan Campaign

If the commissioners call the election the chamber of commerce will conduct a campaign in the county to advise the citizens of the advantages to be derived from the construction of the roads, Mr. Harrison said.

The campaign will consist of addresses, made by men in Wichita county, familiar with the situation, and articles to be published in the newspapers.

BUSINESS COUNCIL

National C-C Representative And County Agent to Speak

Principal address at the business council luncheon to be held Friday in the Kemp hotel will be made by Adolph Boldt, secretary of the southern division of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Boldt will talk on the coming convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce to be held in Washington. He is in Wichita Falls endeavoring to obtain new members for the organization, which he represents.

An address on county home demonstration work will be made by Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county home demonstration agent. Miss Webb will also discuss her coming trip to Europe. She was recently awarded the trip by the extension department of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college and the United States department of agriculture for her excellent record as home demonstration agent in Wichita county. While in Europe she will study the methods used in the homes of European farmers.

Majestic: Five acts Interstate vaudeville; on the screen, "Too Many Crooks," with Mildred Davis; comedy and Pathe News.

Olympic: Richard Dix in "Knockout Riley," "The Collegians," and Fox News.

Strand: Rod La Rocque in "Red Dice," comedy and news reel.

Mission: "The Overland Stage," with Ken Maynard and chapter 7 of "On Guard."

Gem: Fred Thompson in "Lone Hand Saunders," also Educational comedy.

Garden: "The Man From Hardpan," a Leo Maloney western; final episode of "The Firefighters," and Fables comedy.

One of those fast moving comedy dramas with which Richard Dix has carved for himself cinema fame, opened Thursday at the Olympic theater, when "Knockout Reilly," his latest starring effort for Paramount had its initial showing.

The athletic ability which won him such acclamation in "The Quarterback," stands him again in good stead in this saga of a young steel puddler whose hard fists win him a pugilistic championship after many vicissitudes.

Motivating it all are two very human passions of revenge and love, with an ample sprinkling of the delightful Dix brand of humor.

Mary Brian as the cabaret entertainer is extremely easy to look at. She is one of the chief motivators of the action. Things hum from the very first, when Dix arrives on a Saturday night at the cabaret looking for recreation.

"Knockout Reilly may well be classed as the best thing Dix has done in pictures to date. Adapted from the story, "The Hunch" by Albert Payson Terhune, it is engrossing in all its aspects and exceptionally well handled down to the last small detail.

Malcolm St. Clair, director of "The Popular Sin," and other screen successes, has here blended deft comedy with swift action that abounds in dramatic punches.

There is a "joker" in the "cheap" paint can!
"Cheap" paint looks like paint and smells like paint—and the low price seems to be attractive. But here is the two-sided "joker."
A gallon covers only about half the area covered by SWP House Paint—a strictly quality paint. Nearly twice as many gallons of "cheap" paint are needed. Figure that out and the low price isn't low at all.
Then, it lasts only about half as long on the house—needs to be renewed oftener—costs over twice as much per year as SWP.
Come in. Let us tell you the whole story about real paint economy. We will save you money.

SWP House Paint is guaranteed to look better, last longer, cost less per job and less per year than any house paint on the market.
