Recon Losses Heavy

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist troops inflicted heavy casualties early today on a reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 1st Marine Division near the central coast 25 miles south of Quang Ngai, spokesmen said.

Word of the fight came in as explosions and fire, believed touched off by Viet Cong saboteurs, did heavy damage to sections of a huge U.S. Army ammunition depot at Long Binh, 14 miles north of Saigon.

Eleven Marines made up the patrol. Advices from the scene said a lance corporal, David E. Verhyn, 20, of Lenox Dale, Mass., took command shortly after midnight when the patrol leader and his assistant were killed.

The Leathernecks had been lifted into the area by helicopter. They were spotted by a Communist detachment estimated at 60 men just before midnight. The Red force struck hard for an hour.

The patrol's radio was ruined early in the fight, making it impossible for the Marines to call for bomb strikes or artillery fire.

An aerial search began after the loss of radio contact.

At dawn, planes and armed helicopters moved in to suppress enemy fire. Other choppers picked up the Marines and flew them to a hospital in the Marine base at Chu Lai. Heavy casualties means the unit will not be fit for normal deployment until the dead and wounded troops can be replaced. There was no estimate of enemy losses.

The blasts at the munitions depot marked the fourth destructive incident there in little more than three months.

FREAK ACCIDENT — Larry Devers, 23, 2807 Avenue T, received minor head injuries and body lacerations when he was thrown through the windshield of this 1966 International truck. Larry, an employe of Devers Transporting Co. owned by his father, was going west on the Lamesa Highway and attempted a right turn north onto a road near the Eagle Motel when the truck rolled over on its right side. The 120-barrel capacity tank on the truck ruptured and salt water spilled onto the ground. Ray Devers, owner of the firm on the Clairemont Highway, estimated damage to the tank at $3,000. Larry was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service. His condition is good. The mishap occurred about 1 p.m. Saturday. Firemen were called to the scene.

Crash Kills Student Pilot

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP)—An F9T Cougar Jet airplane, practicing a spin stall maneuver at 30,000 feet, plunged to the ground Friday, killing a student pilot.

Lt. J. G. James Harold Wendt, 23, of Owen, Wisc., got out of the airplane but his parachute failed to open. The other occupant of the plane, Marine Capt. Bobby G. Downing, 29, of Goldsmith, Tex., suffered minor injuries.

Downing was a flight instructor.

A spokesman for Chase Field, home base for the plane, said the crash happened about two miles from State 185, two miles from Bloomington, Tex. and 12 miles south of this South Texas city.

Shriver, Connally To Address Counsel

AUSTIN (AP)— Big business leaders, community leaders and educators who contract with the government to run job corps centers across the United States will hear Sargent Shriver, head of the poverty war, and Gov. John Connally in an Austin meeting Monday night.

The speeches open a two-day conference of the operators.

Shriver said the counsel of the operators "will assist us in the operation of job corps centers."

Connally said the meeting will provide the contractors with an "unequalled opportunity to share mutual problems and concerns."

New Strife In Red China

TOKYO (AP)—A yelling crowd was reported today to have humiliated Communist China's President Liu Shao-chi by forcing him to recite a paragraph from a book by Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Japanese reports quoting wall posters said Liu and his wife, Wang Kuang-mei, were "dragged" before a curbside kangaroo court in Chung Nan Hai Park in Peking Jan. 26 and Liu was denounced as a "bourgeois reactionary."

Other reports said Mao's followers were quarreling among themselves and that their claims of victory over forces loyal to Liu in two major cities appeared premature.

The wall poster said the 69-year-old Liu faltered through the first paragraph from Mao's red-covered book of quotations.

"The force at the core leading our cause forward is the Chinese Communist party. The theoretical basis guiding our thinking is Marxism-Leninism," the first paragraph says.

Liu's wife, herself a target of Mao's Red Guards, repeatedly tried to help him, the reports said. They said she assured the crowd that he could recite what they demanded and hurriedly corrected him when he omitted the words "force at the core."

The posters, unconfirmed by other sources and dated Jan. 31, were the first recent indication of Liu's whereabouts.

In Tokyo, Japanese China watchers treated the development as significant. They said it appears it is only a matter of time now before Liu is stripped of the presidency.

East Germany Frees Americans

BERLIN (AP) — Four tired but jubilant Americans shouted "Freiheit!" — freedom!" as they crossed into West Berlin Friday night after being released from prison in Communist East Germany.

They were Mary Hellen Battle, 26, Oak Ridge, Tenn.; William W. Lovett, 26, San Francisco, Calif.; Moses Reese Herrin, 26, Akron, Ohio; and Frederick Matthews, 24, Ellwood City, Pa.

All had been imprisoned more than a year, but were released before their sentences were over. Lovett had been charged in connection with a traffic accident in Leipzig and the other three with attempting to aid East Germans escape to the West.

Officials in Washington said they knew of secret talks prior to the Americans' release, but that "no swap arrangement" was involved in this case.

Before talking with newsmen, the four were given a meal and had a short time to relax. Lovett had a pizza and the others steak and apple pie.

Miss Battle, arrested in November 1965 and sentenced last April to four years, appeared tired, but in good health. At times she spoke in German, saying, "I can't think anymore in English."

She said she was treated "like any other German prisoner" and had to perform manual labor and housework. Only two days ago she was informed when she would be released and said, "You can't believe my anticipation."

Diplomats Probe Hanoi's Intentions

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential adviser Walt W. Rostow said today that "an extremely interesting and delicate phase" of diplomatic probes is now under way to determine whether North Vietnam is seriously interested in peace talks.

Whether this "might turn out to be a negotating process, I'm not clear," Rostow said during a foreign policy panel discussion at a conference of college editors.

Nothing yet has happened to warrant thinking that Hanoi is making a serious effort to get into negotiations, he said.

Because publicity could destroy the effectiveness of behind-the-scenes efforts to ascertain Hanoi's intent, he added, "this is a bad time to talk about any particular stand which might turn out to be a negotiating situation."

Disputing Rostow on some points was Richard N. Goodwin, a White House aide during both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations who left last year to join Wesleyan University's staff.

Goodwin charged that up to six months ago — the last point at which he had inside working knowledge of the administration's policy making — the U.S. government had no plan concerning what it would negotiate about with the Reds if there were a Vietnam peace conference.

If the Communists suddenly agreed to negotiate tomorrow, Goodwin said, "then we are trapped in a situation which would be very damaging to us."

Rostow disagreed with the former presidential aide:

"If Hanoi wished to negotiate seriously, your government would not be embarrassed — it would be delighted," Rostow said.

Soviets Issue Warning Over Peking Incidents

By FRED COLEMAN

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union informed Communist China today the restraint and patience of the Soviet people are wearing thin over demonstrations outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking. It said the Soviet government reserves the right to take steps to protect its citizens in China.

At the same time a feud raged in Moscow between the Red Chinese Embassy and the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

The Chinese charged that 31 members of the embassy staff, including three women and the acting ambassador, were beaten Friday night by 170 "goons and youths" who ripped down a Chinese display on embassy grounds.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry denied the charges and said the Chinese started fights with Soviet citizens, beat up school children and threw snowballs packed with broken glass.

The Chinese Embassy and the Soviet Foreign Ministry called rival news conferences to exchange charges.

The official protest to Peking was stern sounding but it did not spell out what action the Kremlin might take to counter further anti-Soviet actions in China. The note contained a strong hint, however, that the two Communist giants were nearing a diplomatic break.

At the Soviet news conference, Leonid Zamyatin, head of the Foreign Ministry's press department, disclosed that 200 wives and children of Soviet officials in Peking are being called home because of the anti-Soviet demonstrations. He said 60 men would remain at their Peking posts.

In its protest to Peking, the Soviet government said:

"The government of the People's Republic of China bears the entire responsibility for possible consequences of the actions of lawlessness against the Soviet Embassy and citizens of the U.S.S.R. on the terriory of the People's Republic of China.

"The Soviet Union reserves the right to take steps which will be prompted by the situation for the protection of the safety of its citizens and its lawful interests."

At their news conference, the Chinese said the Soviets carried out "a barbaric, Fascist act" in the incident Friday night at the embassy.

5 Missing In Gulf Rig Blaze

LAKE CHARLES, La. AP) — Five workers were missing after a spectacular fire swept a drilling platform in the Gulf of Mexico about 35 miles southeast of Cameron, La., Friday night.

Boats waited for daylight to make a search of surrounding waters. Intense heat kept salvage crews off the platform during the night.

One of the 10 workers on the platform who escaped, R.E. Campbell of Alleyton, Tex., said, "We heard a spewing sound and then an explosion.

"Everything on the platform was on fire and the diesel fuel was running down onto the deck below and it was on fire."

The platform and its drilling rig, are each valued at about 500,000.

Four gas wells had been previously completed from the platform for the CATCO group, a joint venture of Continental, Atlantic-Richfield, Tidewater and Cities Service companies.

The wells had been shut down but one was being reworked by employes of Crown Drilling Co., a New Orleans firm. Also on the rig were employes of other oil field service firms.

The 100-by-70 foot platform stands about 70 feet above the water.

Grass Fires Keep Firemen On Run

City Firemen answered calls to four grass fires Friday.

They occurred at 11:50 a.m. on railroad right-of-way south of Ezell-Key Feed Co., at 6 p.m. in a pasture southeast of Ballard's Cafe, at 7 p.m. in an alley behind the 2300 block of Forty-first Street, and at 10:32 p.m. on railroad right-of-way north of Hermleigh.

NO PLACE TO PUT IT — John Scholtes sits atop a pile of snow he shoveled as several inches of fresh snow arrived to add to woes of Chicagoans who hadn't got rid of previous two-foot fall. YOUNG FARMER MEET

Snyder To Host Jaycee Confab

The Snyder Jaycees made a notable civic contribution to the town Saturday by securing the 1967 Outstanding Young Farmer Convention. It will be held in early 1968—either January or February—in Snyder.

Herb Reed, president of the Jaycees, and a delegation which included Jay Thompson, John Reed, Bill Massey, Jay Thompson and Derrell Raines went to Tyler Friday afternoon to submit their bid for Snyder as a site for the annual state convention.

"This is the first time in several years that a West Texas city secured the Outstanding Young Farmer Convention," said a spokesman for the Jaycees in a telephone call from Tyler Saturday morning. "Our pride in the selection is our pride in our town," he added.

The Snyder delegation was headquartered in the Hotel Blackstone in downtown Tyler. They submitted the bid Saturday morning, and it was accepted by officials of the Young Farmers group. Several other cities from across the state had been under consideration.

"This convention will bring 200 to 300 persons to Snyder for a two-day convention," observed Jay Thompson, one of the delegates. Snyder stands to benefit, not only from a material point of view, but also from the standpoint of favorable publicity, Jaycee spokesmen said.

The selection of Snyder as the site for a state convention with the attendant favorable publicity could help to secure other conventions here when the County Coliseum is completed, it was stated.

Wounds Fatal To Fort Worth Man

FORT WORTH (AP)—Grady Ira Pullen, 35, of Fort Worth was found Saturday shot three times and run over by an automobile. He died four hours after being discovered.

Homicide Lt. Oliver Ball said Pullen had been shot at close range.

Wet Weather May Spread

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Drizzly weather set in near the south tip of Texas today and promised to spread over much of the state's south central and southeast sections.

It turned damp around Brownsville and McAllen during the night. Forecasts called for light rain or drizzle to edge slowly toward the north and to continue into Sunday over some areas.

A mild northeast breeze fanned the middle and lower Texas coast in early morning, while rather weak south to southeast winds blew in other areas.

Skies were generally clear over the west part of the state and early morning temperatures dipped to around freezing in places. The readings before dawn ranged up to the 50s in the extreme south.

Aside from a little warming in all sections, little change was forecast through the weekend.

Big Spring Girl Dies Of Injuries

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Vicki Ann Garrison, 13, of Big Spring died at the Lackland Air Force Base hospital Friday night of injuries suffered when a car struck her.

She and a sister, Betty Sue Garrison, 12, were flown here after first being taken to the Webb Air Force Base hospital at Big Spring. Attendants said Betty Sue was in critical condition.

Policeman Mickey Meek in Big Spring said a car driven by Mrs. Lela Maye Littleton, 60, of Odessa struck the sisters while they were waiting for a school bus. They are the daughters of Airman 1.C. and Mrs. Carl Garrison of Big Spring. The father is stationed at Webb AFB.

Meek said Mrs. Littleton was treated at a hospital for shock.

"I saw a car veer off the road and then a flurry of objects flew into the air," Meek said. "At first I didn't know what the car had hit. Then I saw the girls lying in the road."

Now Officers Know Where To Look

DETROIT (AP) — Two gunmen held up a branch of the City National Bank Friday and fled with $18,000.

As they ran out, one of the bandits yelled: "See you in church."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 40's and have been married 20 years. For some unknown reason my husband has stopped treating me as a wife. Recently when I told him I had missed his love and attentions he said that he had his work and I had mine, and he was all thru with "that kind of stuff." We have two children away at school and two at home.

He has been acting rather peculiar lately. I am 99 per cent certain there is no other woman involved yet I just can't understand his indifference. I keep myself neat and clean and I always bow to his wishes. I would like to keep my marriage intact for the sake of the children, but if this is any sample of what life will be like after all the children are gone, it won't be worth living.

BUTTERFLY

DEAR BUTTLEFLY: Please read the following letter.

DEAR ABBY: How do you convince your husband that you still love him but you aren't as young as you used to be, if you get what I mean?

After 20 years and 5 children, shouldn't there be more to marriage than sex? If I am not as affectionate as he is, he pouts and says I don't "love" him anymore.

Am I abnormal or is he? I always thought a man got less passionate after 40. Mine is unbelievable.

Please help me, Abby. I do love him, but I think he is expecting too much from a 41-year-old woman.

TIRED

DEAR BUTTERFLY AND TIRED: I don't know what's "Normal" and neither does anyone else. Each person has his own emotional temperature, and what is "normal" for one could break someone else's thermometer.

Communication is the most important factor in marriage. As long as a man and wife are able to express their feelings, desires, frustrations, likes and dislikes frankly, their problems will be little ones.

Both of you, "TIRED" and "Butterfly," should take your husbands to a doctor, and all four of you should have physical examinations to rule out the possiblity of physical deficiencies. Then hopefully the doctors will give you some helpful tips on how to adjust to what ails you.

Too bad "TIRED" isn't married to "BUTTERFLY'S" husband, and vice versa. But that is just another of life's inequities.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a wonderful fellow. He is kind, considerate and polite. He is almost perfect. Ours is a long distance romance, as he travels, but when we get together with other people I find that he has one fault that is very irriating.

He likes to do more than his share of the talking. With me alone this is not true. I am a rather quiet person and seeing him dominate every conversation in public irritates me. should I mention this to him, or let it go? I am afraid that after we marry this may be a sore spot with us.

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: Yes, tell him in as kind a why as you can. Not in criticism, but in "love." If you let it go, the irritation will grow, and the first time he leaves the cap off the toothpaste you're apt to clout him with a skillet.

Asks Board Be Created

LUBBOCK (AP)—The executive director of the Texas Water Development Board says a master regional district with wide power must be created if West Texas is to get desperately needed water from other areas.

Joe G. Moore Jr., of the board spoke Friday to the West Texas Water Institute's annual meeting.

"No construction can begin and no water can move to West Texas until there is a firm commitment on the part of a responsible political entity to contract for the repayment of the project costs allocated to the area," Moore said.

He said West Texas must have a contracting agency with the power to make commitments on repayment before Congress can authorize construction of needed facilities.

US Defends Viet Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department says U.S. bombing of North Vietnam has not "interfered in any way with prospects for the discussion of a peace settlement."

The comment Friday followed reports from East European sources at the United Nations that December bombings near Hanoi had wrecked prospects for peace talks which were then being promoted.

State Department spokesman Carl Bartch said, "We have sought from the other side some indication of a reciprocal response which would justify the cessation of bombing of military targets as a step towards peace.

"At no time have we received any indication, direct or indirect, from North Vietnam that it was prepared to make such a response."

President Johnson said Thursday in a news conference that "just almost any step" toward peace from North Vietnam could lead to a halt in the bombings.

Meanwhile at the United Nations, Secretary-General U Thant was reported by a spokesman to be continuing "in his own quiet way" efforts at peace.

Teacher's Methods Blamed For Probation

HOUSTON AP) — A former superintendent of Texas City schools, E. E. Bittick, testified Friday that teacher Winfred Bonner's classroom methods caused the system to place him on probation.

Bonner, a Negro, is suing the schools for $50,000, alleging they dropped his contract for racial reasons.

Bittick, now with the U. S. Office of Education, was the first defense witness. He testified before U.S. Dist. Judge James Noel that students were inattentive to Bonner's lecture method of teaching and there was friction between Bonner and school administrators.

Trial of the case was recessed until Tuesday.

Plant To Auction Frozen Pachyderm

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A frozen elephant in a cold storage plant is scheduled to be auctioned Monday.

"One way or another, we have to get rid of her," said Rol Mercereau, a plant employe.

Circus operator Stan Kramien had her put on ice after she died in 1962 as evidence in a planned legal action against the animal dealer who sold it to him.

The plant hasn't heard from Kramien in two years and there is $50 due in storage fees.

The auction will be held in the storage plant.

"But, when you think about it, there probably aren't too many people who would want a frozen elephant," Mercereau said.

Commission Reports Texas Completions

AUSTIN AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday that 142 oil wells and 54 gas wells were completed during the past week in Texas.

That raised the total oil-well completions for the year to 686, compared to 818 a year ago, and gas - well completions to 324 compared to 200 at this time in 1966.

Business To Continue Slowdown

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas Business Research Bureau says 1967 will see a slowdown of the rate of Texas business growth, continuing a trend that began in September.

The seasonally adjusted index of state business activity dropped 2 per cent in December to close the year at 172.2 per cent above the 957-59 base.

During 1966, the index of Texas business activity rose from 168 per cent in January to an all-time peak of 183.1 per cent in August, the bureau said. The 1966 monthly average increased 9 per cent over 1965, due to the strong rise from January to August.

The bureau said December was the 70th month of a long period of general prosperity. "Despite the outlook for a slower rate of growth during 1967, the current upswing seems to have a good chance of becoming the longest in history," the bureau said.

Glancing at selected barometers of Texas business, the bureau noted:

—Crude oil production rose during 1966, closing the year at 104 per cent of the 1957-59 average montly rate.

—Total electric power use climbed 9 per cent in 1966 from the 1965 figure.

—Urban building permits issued declined 2 per cent, but nonresidential permits rose 14 per cent over 1965.

—Miscellaneous freight carloadings averaged 4 per cent above 1965.

—Total industrial production was up 8 per cent.

—Bank debits increased 12 per cent in 1966 over 1965.

—Unemployment in 1966 declined 17 per cent from the previous year.

The bureau said average weekly earnings in manufacturing last year were 4 per cent higher than in 1965. A rise in the cost of living consumed 3 per cent of the income gain, the bureau said.

Business activity in 20 Texas cities shows that the average values of the indexes were above 1965 in 18 of them. Only two — El Paso with minus 1 per cent, and Galveston, minus 2 per cent — showed declines.

Gains included 12 per cent at Dallas and Texarkana, 9 per cent at Beaumont and 8 per cent at Houston and Laredo.

The bureau predicts that total demand for petroleum products in 1967 will be at least 3 per cent higher than last year.

Navy Men Found To Be Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Navy men listed as killed in Vietnam action have turned up as Communist prisoners, says the Pentagon.

A spokesman refused to say how the Pentagon learned the three men were alive. He said they went down in two planes apparently hit by North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire and were listed as dead on a basis of fellow pilots' reports He did not say which two were together.

The three were listed Friday as Lt. j.g. Porter A. Halyburton, Decatur, Ga.; Lt. Cmdr. Robert B. Doremus, Wilmington, Del.; and Cmdr. Fred A.W. Franke Jr., San Diego, Calif.

Power Plants Are Warned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city's warriors on smog have labeled the gas and oil industries as the enemy and warned them to find new fuels to power their plants.

"We can allow no further increases in the number of power plant boilers within the Los Angeles basin," county smog chief Louis J. Fuller said Friday.

"All future increases must come either from nuclear generation or from sources outside the basin."

Fuller, director of the Air Pollution Control District, issued the ultimatum in a report to a special air pollution task force established recently by John W. Gardner, secretary of health, education and welfare.

"Unless improved controls are installed," Fuller said, "we will never get rid of smog."

JODI AND BECKI HALL, music students of Mrs. E. L. Kubala, are pictured as they put up posters reminding citizens that February is "American Music Month". Each group of music students carried out a different era of American music, as did the adults, singing folk songs and spirituals.

February Is "American Music Month"

The Martha Ann Woman's Club vibrated with music Thursday evening when the Musical Coterie held a special program in observing "American Music Month."

All phases of American music through the years was presented by a large group of participants including the Club Chorus, Central Elementary Students, students of Mrs. Lucille Kubala, the four Junior Music Clubs, Mr. Jim Casey, James Davis, Mrs. J. M. Kayser, Mrs. W. A. Vestal, Mrs. Patsy Elliott, and even the audience.

The progress of American Music was traced from the beginning of folk music to our modern jazz. The truest folk music grows up in the language of the people — telling a story, telling of joys and sorrows. We should think about and listen to some of the beginnings which have influenced music in America; Negro songs of the South, songs of the western prairies, mountain songs and minstrel and plantation songs.

MRS. PATSY ELLIOTT
Director

The lives of early and late American composers were briefly sketched. Stephen C. Foster left a legacy of "tunes" to cheer countless millions. His contact with the Negro influence really proved to be a vital experience as shown in songs like "Oh! "Suzanna," "Camptown Races," and "Old Folks At Home."

Many songs were inspired by the Civil War. Perhaps the best known is "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Julia Ward Howe wrote the words to the tune written by a Southerner in 1856. Bandmaster Patrick Gilmore is well remembered for his song "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

During the Civil War, John Philip Sousa, the "March King" was studying music seriously. His best known compositions are his marches. At present the United States Navy Band, The United States Army Band, and The United States Marine Band regularly tour the USA playing most of Sousas' famous marches in their concerts.

In the classic field there are several famous miniaturists, (composers of short pieces). Among these are Edward MacDowell and Ethelbert Nevin. Their love of nature gave us such tunes as "To A Wild Rose," "From An Indian Lodge," "Narcissus" and "Mighty Like A Rose."

We must follow a chain of relationship from the minstrel shows through the rise of ragtime, blues singing and jazz. Remember, the first minstrel shows were white people imitating the plantation Negros singing and talking. After the Negro gained freedom, many took part in the minstrels. As a result the shows and dances came alive with "hot" rhythm. The banjo was often used as the accompaniment instrument of the Negro singing and dancing. He called his dancing "ragging." The rhythm was a syncopated beat. Soon ragtime piano playing became a fad. New Orleans was a center of ragtime.

Somewhere in the South, a kind of folk song was born known as the "blues." Probably the blues described the feeling of the person singing — usually a kind of lament. The blues singer wavers between the flat and natural third of the scale. W. C. Handy was the best known composer of the blues.

After ragtime and blues came jazz, of which New Orleans was the first home. There were many Negro bands as well as white ones. Soon the Negro bands began "ragging" the music and adding extra notes. This was the beginning of jazz. Some have said that jazz was the way playing was done rather than any definite pieces.

Last of all came the "hit tunes" and the American show tunes. Irving Berlin, Paul Whiteman, George Gershwin, Jerome Kern and Rogers and Hammerstein are all famous composers of popular music.

MRS. JIM CASEY
Narrator

AMERICAN PATRIOTISM EXPRESSED THROUGH MUSIC — was the part of the program the Vivace Junior Music Club presented. Those participating are pictured above. Seated is Gail Harber, chairman, standing are Lecia Harber, Cheri Hollis, Candy Stokes and Retha Patterson.

METRONOME Junior Music Club was well represented on the program. Some of the members on the program are pictured above. Seated on floor, Susan Ferrel, Charlene Yoast, and Patricia Mahood. On couch, Christi Meynig, Waynann Monroney, Wendy Monroney, Cynthia Ferrell and Lou Alice Mathis, who is working a recorder for the group.

Comedy Should Fade

BALLOONS ARE AVAILABLE. By Jordan Crittenden.

Yes, my little chickadee, this small novel is somewhere on the edge of black comedy (maybe gray, maybe striped), which is supposed to be the fashionable technique these days for blasting our social order — or is it disorder?

This isn't really a story. It's a series of quips and happenings along a zig-zag line. Sort of a dark revival of vaudeville.

It has to do with a guy named Howard Ormsby. Howard flops around through the scenario and finds himself in such bits as the repairman-and-housewife routine (a modern variant of the travelling salesman-farmer's daughter routine) and then moves up to the executive-and-secretary routine. So Howard, en route to business eminence through a maze of females addicted to removing their clothing, struggles fitfully toward the upperechelons of corporation bureaucracy.

The corporation world is a fanciful place in which anyone who manages to acquire a paper hat marked "Executive" is open game for raids from other corporations, seeking to crown him with their own paper hat. (Could the author be giving us a message about job-swapping in the paperwork jungle?)

Writing-wise, this is choppy stuff. Plot-wise, it is an intentional mishmash of non sequiturs. Comedy-wise, it is acidulous. Book-wise, why don't we wander off somewhere else?

Peanut Mix

½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon each salt, celery salt and onion powder
6 cups whole bite-size shredded rice biscuits (omit crumbs)
1-3 cup finely grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup salted peanuts

Melt the butter in a jellyroll pan (15 by 10 by 1 inch) in a 350-degree oven; stir in the seasonings; add rice buscuits and gently coat with the seasoned butter. Bake until top layer browns lightly — 8 to 0 minutes; turn biscuits with a wide spatula; continue baking 4 to 5 minutes. emove from Roven. At once sprinkle with Parmesan, minutes. Remove from oven. At Cool in pan. Mix in peanuts. Store in tightly covered container.

Wood, Holland Marriage Solemnized In Baytown

Miss Velma Dean Wood of Baytown, became the bride of Mr. Charles Lewis Holland in double ring services held in the Missouri Street Church of Christ of Baytown, Tex., on Feburary 1, at 6 p.m. Billy Balke, minister, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Wood, Baytown, and Mrs. O. L. Holland of Venezuela, South America and Mrs. M. L. Holland of College Station, Tex. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wood, 101 North Birch, Snyder, and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Bennett House, Big Spring.

The altar of the church was adorned with a pair of candelabras and flowers of white gladiolus, white mums and English ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin street length gown designed with round neckline, long sleeves ending in points over than hands, fitted bodice and full skirt. The bride designed and made her costume. She wore white satin shoes. A pearl tiara held her tiered veil of silk illusion.

She carried a white orchid surrounded by white Frenched carnations atop a white Bible, and a linen and lace handkerchief carried by her mother on her wedding day.

Miss Judy Horton of Baytown was maid of honor. She wore a pink linen sleeveless dress with A-line skirt with matching shoes and white gloves. Her flowers were white rose buds.

Hubert Hearne of College Station served as best man.

For her wedding trip the bride chose an all-wool brown two-piece suit with black shoes and bag and white gloves. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at College Station where they will attend A&M.

Mrs. Holland is a 1966 graduate of Plainview High School, attended Lamar Tech, and Beaumont Lee College, Baytown. The groom is a graduate of A&M Consolidated High School and is attending A&M University as a Vet major.

Artisans Of Florence To Receive Award In Dallas

Peacefully engaging in their everyday activities — three hours later, terror-stricken, and their shops devastated — the Artisans of Florence are now courageously battling against flood damage to reinstate their tradition of excellence in craftsmanship.

Mr. Stanley Marcus, President of Neiman-Marcus and Dallas Chairman of the American Committee of Italian Flood Relief, has designated a 1967 Award to these spirited artisans "whose craftsmanship and design abilities in the fields of leathermaking, ceramics, embroidery, knitting and dressmaking are famed as standards of quality throughout the world, and whose numbers are so great that it is impossible to single out only one recipient."

Accepting the accolade on their behalf will be Emilio Pucci, former winner, who will fly to Dallas for the Annual Spring Awards Luncheon and Fashion Presentation. The event, to benefit the American Committee for Italian Flood Relief, will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton-Dallas Hotel on February 9th. It will feature a premiere showing of the collections of the famous couturiers, furriers, jewelers and accessory makers of the world.

Also to receive awards are Fiamma Ferragamo, talented daughter of the "Shoemaker of Dreams" the late Salvatore Ferragamo. . . .Lydia de Roma, creator of Italys finest hand-embroidered playclothes. . Valentino of Rome, brilliant young coututier whose creations grace some of the world's most prominent women. . .and Giancarlo Venturini designer who revolutionized the concept of knitted sportswear.

For the first time in the 29-year history of the Annual Awards, the recipients of the accolades are internationally renowned designers from a single conutry — Italy.

On November 4, 1966, torrential rains and winds up to 90 miles per hour battered much of Italy, particularly Florence — "The City of Flowers," situated in the valley of the Arno.

With little warning, the usually sluggish river burst through its banks and flooded the entire city, the high-water mark in some areas reaching 15 feet. Muddy waters sliced through the town's mid-section invading museums, cathedrals, hotels, restaurants, residents, and thousands of small shops, leaving total destruction in its wake.

The Florentines were totally cut off from the outside and were left without drinking water or electric power. Rescue teams from Rome and Bologna were unable to reach the city. Roads were cut, there was no rail service in or out.

When the waters receded, rescue teams were able to penetrate the city, where they encountered a sea of mud. Flood waters had washed away jobs, possessions, and homes. Past achievements and future plans obliterated, the Florentines, a courageous people, confronted their misery with only a spark of hope.

There is no self-deception among the people of Florence about the magnitude of the task of rebuilding their city or the time it may take to accomplish it. The broken stores and shops display tongue-in-cheek posters saying "Moved To Temporary Quarters — Be Back Soon." At present there are no temporary quarters, and the "Be Back Soon" is for most not a calculated prediction but a hope.

Artisans are struggling to reestablish themselves, with emergency loans from American Buyers providing a desperately needed source of capital. A group of leather-goods makers obtained assurances from foreign buyers that purchasing would be modified until production in Florence could be resumed.

But there are artisans who, without such support, many never recuperate from the tragedy. According to Emilio Pucci, leader of the Florence Fashion Industry and member of the Parliament, "more than 6,000 of the shops have been destroyed. Unless we do something for the craftsmen, they could be forced to abandon the city, perhaps forever." Examples of this distressing predicament are prevalent throughout the community. An elderly Florentine who has operated the same specialty shoe shop for 45 years has nothing left now but a stained shell, a couple a broken benches and a few lasts. At the ruined Florence Flea Market, an antique dealer works every day with a hose endeavoring to wash away a little more of the encrested mud that filled up his outdoor stand. In the shoplined walkways of Ponte Vecchio — an ancient bridge build across the Arno in 996 A. D. — a jeweler desperately pans mud in hopes of recovering a few pieces of his collection.

Mayor Piero Bargellini told an emergency meeting of city officials and leading citizens, "The destruction is incalculable. Not even the war, not all of the last war, wrought so much destruction on Florence as the waters of the River Arno."

A sponge cake batter that is usually baked in a 9-inch angel-cake pan may also be baked in three oblong pans (each about 11 by 7 by 2 inches). The oblong sponge cakes will need about half the baking time required for the one large cake.

Molasses Cookies

3 cups sifted regular flour
1½ teaspoons baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
¾ cup each butter or margarine and firmly packed dark brown sugar
1 egg
2-3 cup dark molasses

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Cream butter and brown sugar; thoroughly beat in the egg and molasses. Stir in sifted ingredients until blended. Chill until stiff enough to handle. Shape into small balls and roll in granulated sugar. Place 2 inches apart on buttered cookie sheet; bake at 375 degrees about 10 minutes. Makes 9 to 10 dozen.

If dried beans never become as tender as you would like them to be, even after long cooking, it may be that the water you use is hard and this interferes. A little baking soda added to hard water in which beans are to be cooked usually makes them tender.

Well dried and cut maraschino cherries may be added to a chocolate brownie batter.

Groves, Smith Vows Read In Hermleigh Church

Betty Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Groves of Hermleigh, was married Saturday night, January 28th, to Dan Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Smith of Snyder.

Ronald Miller, minister of Wichita Falls Church of Christ, officiated at Hermleigh Church of Christ.

Music was presented by Acapella Choir of Snyder, Eastside Church of Christ.

Shiela Mason of Hermleigh was maid of honor and Mrs. Charles Deere of Dallas was the bride's matron.

David Smith of Beeville, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsman was Dennis McClure of Fort Stockton.

David Groves, brother of the bride, and Carol Raye Myers seated guests. Candlelighters were Joe McDonald and George Wallace, both of Snyder.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie and Chantilly lace gown with chapel train. A pearl tiara held her shoulder length veil of illusion. For something old she carried a penny minted on her birth, something new, a cameo, a gift of the groom, something borrowed and blue, a garter belonging to Mrs. Jimmy Roemisch of Hermleigh.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white Frenched carnations and mums atop a covered white Bible, belonging to her late grandmother, Mrs. R. Groves.

Attendants wore blue peau de soie street-length dresses featuring the Empire waist, with A-line skirts, and matching shoes. They wore headdresses of blue net and peau de soie bows and carried a red rose.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Hermleigh High School and attended Howard County Junior College the past semester.

The groom is a 1965 graduate of Snyder High School and attended San Angelo State one year.

The couple will reside in San Angelo.

A reception was held at the Hermleigh community center. The table was laid with white net and ribbon over blue satin, centered with the bride's bouquet. Silver candle holders holding white tapers, crystal and silver completed the decor.

Charlot Ince poured punch and the wedding cake was served by Janice Fargason of Dunn and Barbara Freytag.

Ginger Apples

6 large yellow Delicious apples, baked (use 1-3 to ½ cup sugar to fill core cavities)
Juice of ½ lemon
¼ cup (or more) slivered syrup-preserved ginger root

Remove any skin from baked apples, scooping pulp from skin with a teaspoon. Discard skin. Slice apples (adding scooped-out pulp) and mix with lemon juice; turn into serving dish and sprinkle with ginger slivers. Chill. Makes 12 servings when served as accompaniment to turkey.

Science Students Slated On Schools TV Program

Snyder High school's science department will be featured on Monday's "Know Your Schools" closed - circuit television program. Several students, outstanding in science classes, have been selected to show examples of experiments carried out in laboratory work. This program is planned to show the present day approach of teaching science at the high school level.

"Know Your Schools" will be on cable at the usual time Monday, from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Those wishing to view this school produced TV program should dial Channel 2, SCAT.

Four members of the Accelerated Biology class will explain two experiments in the field of bacteriology. Ross Gillum and Garry Coe will explain the purposes, procedure, results and conclusions of a bioassay, the purpose of which is to determine the effect of antibiotics on certain bacteria. Jamie Stehley and Anne Alexander will give conclusions found through a laboratory experiment as to why various kinds of bacterial populations are to be found in raw and pasteurized milk. Bob Cole instructs and supervises these students in their laboratory work.

Roy Burk, physics and chemistry instructor, will present students of both classes on Monday's TV program. Ricky Rhodes and Forrest Wemken will demonstrate the 'law of inertia' in a physics experiment. Steve Moffett, Emily Kincaid and Mike Kenner will demonstrate and explain 'clock reaction', or delayed reaction, an experiment in chemestry.

For the second semester 233 sophomore students are enrolled in nine Biology I classes which are divided equally between three teachers, Mrs. Rita Carter, Bob Carter and Cole. In addition to regular classes, Mrs. Carter has a group of ten senior students in an advanced biology lab work class; Cole instructs 25 sophomores in an accelerated biology class, and Bob Carter teaches one class of American history and is on the school's coaching staff.

Fifty - four students are taking chemistry under Burk's instruction. Sixteen seniors are enrolled in the physics class.

Biology courses in high school include the study of both plants and animals. These courses are designed to teach students scientific facts and principles in relation to problems of life itself. "This instruction helps students to think critically about biological problems, to develop an inquiring mind about these problems in order to reason logically in solving many of their own problems, and to break down age old superstitions which are never based on scientific fact," Cole emphasizes, and he continues, "In biology, our goal is to recognize a problem and investigate it in a manner similar to that used by professional scientists. By learning some of the procedures and techniques of scientists, students of today can better appreciate and understand the role scientists play in our society. We teachers do not expect all of our students to become scientists, only a very few may choose some area of science as their profession, but we do believe that in this scientific age all should know and understand the things that are going on about them."

Biology I, taught on the sophomore class level, is a laboratory science and is presented altogether through lab work. Students work with live materials. The cellular approach to biology is being stressed in the local school along with some evolution, instructors advise.

More emphasis is placed on laboratory work and living material than ever before. Text materials are up-to-date and greatly advanced by former school standards, high school teachers explain. Students are instructed to make their own findings and not merely to varify findings made by other before them. They are also encouraged to assess the value of their findings and keep record of what is learned through their own experimentation.

The old theory of teaching biology was that students learned previously proven facts by rote and duplicated experiments performed earlier by others to merely varify such findings.

The Accelerated Biology class, under Cole's direction, is designed for those sophomore students who have shown greater than average interest in science. Teachers and administrators recommend that these students should have maintained at least a "B" average during their junior high school years in order to do well in this class. Emphasis of this course is placed again on laboratory work and includes intensive study and experimentation with microorganisms, both plant and animal. Through lab work, the student discovers for himself the facts and principles of biology.

An advanced biology class is open only to students with a senior class rating who have had both Biology I and Chemistry. In this course, students experience an intensive study of a limited number of topics with extensive laboratory experience. Under Mrs. Carter's supervision, these students develop abilities to detect and state biological problems, formulate a hypotheses, design experiments, and reach valid conclusions. Living materials and field work are an integral part of the laboratory work. This is the fourth year the high school has offered its senior students this special course.

CHEM Study has supplanted the older teaching approach to Chemistry in the local high school. This new approach was adopted in the school this year. The real core of CHEM Study is the 'open-ended' approach in which students employ the same methods used by professional scientists in experimentation, according to Burk. Students attack problems by performing experiments devised by their own reasoning, and must draw their own conclusions and record their findings at the end of each venture. In any experiment the outcome remains an unknown quantity until the experiment is terminated. Burk points out that students learn from this experience that real science is a method of discovery, and that finding of fact is a product of discovery.

"This new change in our teaching pattern for Chemistry is in the method of approach to the subject. Students who enroll in Chemistry classes today are expected to have gained a good background knowledge of science before hand. It would be impossible to present the vast body of scientific knowledge known to man up to this time to any class group in the area of chemistry alone," Burk contends, "It would likewise be impossible for any one person to learn all there is to know about the various areas of science today. Therefore, students interested in pursuing a career in science are advised to select only one field for specialization."

Chemistry is a science dealing with the composition of materials and the changes in composition which these material undergo. This study involves such elements as oxygen and hydrogen, carbon and its compounds, the halogens, the phosphorous family, the structure of the atom, and atomic energy. A student must have a junior class rating before enrolling for this course.

Physics, the science which deals with matter and energy and with physical changes in matter, is offered only to seniors, and is recommended for students who may plan to study any of the advanced sciences in college. This course involves heat, light, electricity and nuclear physics. It provides many applications for complicated mathematical problems and will aid in preparing students for college calculus and other advanced mathematics courses, Burk points out.

The physics course of study now used was adopted by the high school at the beginning of the 1965-66 school term. This course was developed by the Physical Science Study committee, a government subsidized group of teachers and scientists. P.S.S.C., as the course is known, includes text, carefully coordinated films and laboratory procedures along with guides for teachers and prepared testing materials. The new CHEM Study was developed very much the same way by a group of scientists and teachers. Before being adopted for use generally by public school science departments, both new study approaches were put through trial periods in a few selected schools.

All Snyder High school graduates are required to have had at least two laboratory sciences. This requirement takes into account the General Science course offered to 9th graders in junior high school.

In the local public schools, children today begin learning an informal science at the lowest grade levels in elementary schools. As they advance from grade to grade their developing minds are gradually fed more factual scientific knowledge. By the time these children have reached the junior high school level they are ready for more sophisticated teaching methods. Junior high school students are required to take Life Science in the 7th grade; Earth Science in the 8th grade, and General Science in the 9th grade. This pyramid of scientific knowledge, gained throughout their school experience prior to entering the senior high school, gives Snyder students a firm basis for the more advanced laboratory approach to the three sciences, Biology, Chemistry and Physics.

The high school science department enters two events in the University Interscholastic League Literary Events competition. Cole and Burk are involved in aiding students to become more competitent in the areas of slide-rule and science. Cole is coaching several students at this time who will vie for three top honors to present the school in the science event. Burk is coaching students for slide-rule competition. This is an instrument which is manipulated for quick computation of complicated mathematical problems, including multiplication and division of square roots and cube roots. Burk has been working with studetns on slide-rule since the first of January in his Experimental Math class. Both instructors aver, "Snyder High school is determined to win top honors in both these events in the coming District 3-AAA UIL meet. Students are as enthusiastic as we teachers are. We all think we can do it."

Teaching science in public schools today is a very demanding profession. In order to keep up with advances in science, Snyder high school science department insturctors find it necessary to constantly strive to improve and add to knowledge in their chosen fields.

Cole, who is teaching his ninth year in the Snyder High school, has attended sessions on college or university campuses for six out of the past eight summers. He has applied for two special grants and his future plans depend upon the outcome of these applications. Cole holds an M. A. Degree in Botany.

Mrs. Carter has attended summer sessions at various colleges and universities seven out of the past ten years. She plans to attend the University of Texas for the coming summer session. Mrs. Carter has taught in the science department of the high school for the past ten years, and earned her Master's Degree in Biology at Texas Tech in 1964.

Burk has spent eight out of the past ten summers at some college or university furthering his knowledge of science, and has applied for a research institute at the University of Arizona at Phoenix for the coming summer. Burk holds a Master's Degree in Science Education. This is Burk's fourth year of teaching science in the Snyder schools, and his third year in the high school. His first year here was spent at Travis Junior High school.

Bob Carter, new to the Snyder School system this year, came here from Fort Stockton where he taught for 12 consecutive years. Prior to his tenure at Fort Stockton, Carter was employed for two school terms in the Odessa schools. He holds a B.S. Degree in Physical Education with a double minor in Social Studies and Science. His plans for this coming summer are to attend Abilene Christian college and work toward a degree in counseling.

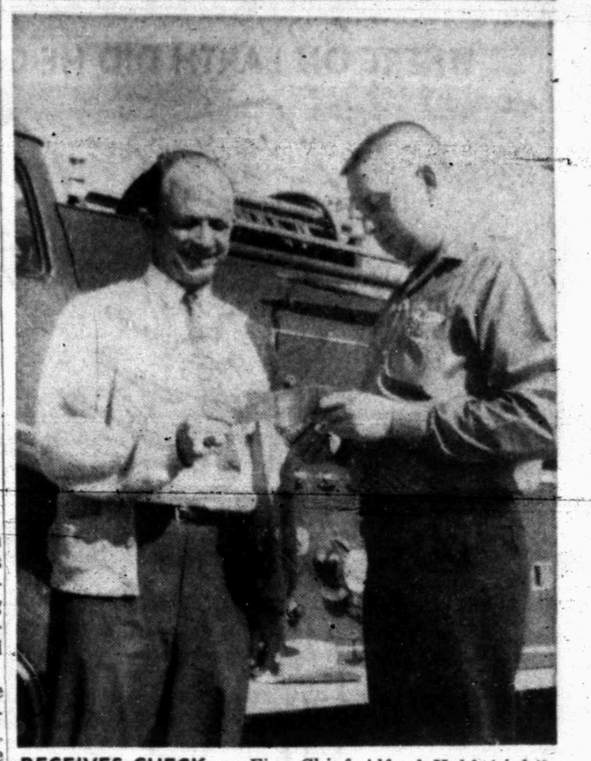

On Monday, Feb. 13, "Know Your Schools" will present a group of 6th graders from Northeast elementary in a patriotic skit accompanied by music. Charles Anderson, 6th grade teacher, assisted by Mrs. Mary Lou Scott, the school's music teacher, are planning this program which will feature pupils from Anderson's Social Studies class.

WHERE ON EARTH DID HE COME FROM?

Will Europe Win Battle But Lose Airliner Race?

Editor's Note — The SST race may be the jet story over again. Europe had the first ones but lost the market to the Americans. The British-French Concorde will be the first SST to fly, with the Soviet TU144 in the race. But the Boeing swept-wing SST may yet make the market, if any body can lick the sonic boom.

By GRANVILLE WATTS

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Swing-wing or fixed wing, is Europe about to win the SST battle and lose the war?

That jargon is not really too difficult: A British-French partnership will almost certainly be the first to fly an SST — supersonic transport — and it will have a fixed-wing. But will the United States then come along with a bigger, faster SST — and one with a swing or moveable wing — and sweep the world market?

It happened once before, with the jet airliner race. Britain was first, with the Comet, but the United States picked up the chips wih the Boeing 707 and the Douglas DC8.

In the SST race, the British joined hands with the French, because of the vast costs and knotty engineering problems. Together they settled on the Concorde, a sleek bullet of a plane that will do the London-New York trip in just over two hours.

The Concorde is a fixed-wing type, even though the swing-wing is often credited to a British inventor, Dr. Barnes Wallis. American sources attribute the swing-wing more to the experiments of John Stack, back in the 1950s

The United States hasn't even decided yet to build an SST, but has selected a Boeing swing-wing design if and when. The final decision to proceed now rests with President Johnson and Congress. The Boeing design was chosen over a Lockheed fixed-wing type because of a belief that a swing-wing offers aerodynamic advantages.

In flight the wing, gradually recedes as speed increases, presenting less air resistance.

Says a spokesman for British Aircraft Corp.: "The swing-wing in a supersonic airliner is a terrific problem. We lowered our sights and decided to build something on the knowledge we have."

The Concorde prototype is due to fly a year hence; the Boeing SST is not expected to fly before 1971. The Anglo-French ship is designed to fly at 1,450 miles per hour, the Boeing about 1,800. The Concorde will carry 136 passengers, the Boeing about 277.

If the Boeing flies, some aviation experts here believe it could be the old story over again — the Europeans getting in ahead with a small aircraft which is overtaken by a bigger U.S. type.

"It could be that the Concorde will have the 1970s but lose out to Boeing in the 80s," one observer said.

The Concorde development program was originally estimated to cost $476 million. This has rocketed to $1.4 billion, split down the middle between Britain and France.

The Concorde project, started under a Conservative party government, was almost killed when the Labor party won the general election in 1964. Harold Wilson, the new prime minister, called for a review of the program. President Charles de Gaulle warned that France would go to the World Court if the British pulled out. Britain backed down. Now the Wilson government has come around to cherish the Concorde as a winner.

To date, 15 world airlines have placed orders for a total of 69 Concordes, valued at more than $1.12 billion.

"We are working on the assumption that Concorde will make something in excess of $280 million a year for at least seven years," said Pat Burgess, British sales chief for Concord. He forecast a market by 1975 for 200 Concordes, worth $4.2 billion.

On present figures, Concorde will cost $16.8 million each without spare parts. The U.S. jet is expected to cost double this.

The French are designing and building the center fuselage and the wings at the Sud Aviation Works in Toulouse.

The British Aircraft Corp. is building the forward fuselage, nose, tail fuselage and fin, and the engine bays, with the assembly line at Bristol. The aircraft will be powered by four British Olympus engines with French modifications.

BAC has just delivered the last piece — a tail fin — for the first prototype, called 001, at Toulouse. At Bristol the rear fuselage and fin is completed on the second prototype, 002.

"There's really no difficulty in working on different pieces in Britain and France," said a BAC official.

"It's just as if the pieces were in separate hangars. We have French Liaison people working with us and there are Britons at Toulouse. The whole thing has worked out well."

BAC official John Clark admits that there will have to be a premium fare on Concordes.

"This is to protect the subsonic airliners. We anticipate a rush to get on Concorde when she first enters service," he said.

The one big problem ahead is sonic boom — caused when an aircraft breaks the sound barrier.

The problem will not affect Britain as the Concorde will be well out over the Atlantic before she becomes supersonic. But if the Concorde is to carry on westwards across the United States to San Francisco, the sonic boom will occur over land.

"People seem amazed, but we don't really know what to expect on this before Concorde flies," Clark said.

The Americans do. Sonic boom tests around Oklahoma City have shown that the sound waves can shatter windows and nerves, at the very least.

Clark said BAC is not worried about competition from Boeing's 747 jumbo jets, designed to carry an estimated 500 passengers. This plane, now being built, is not supersonic.

"They are going to appeal to a different sector of the market," Clark said. "Our first passengers will undoubtedly be businessmen who want to cross the Atlantic quickly."

"But we would draw attention to a recent survey among passengers which showed the idea of supersonic flight was 'favorable by a wide margin'" Clark said a typical comment was: "Getting there as fast as possible is the reason for flying."

The Soviets are also in the supersonic race. A model of the Soviet TU144, shown at the 1965 Paris air show, looked remarkably similar to the Concorde. Like Concorde, the TU144 has a fixed wing. It is designed to carry 121 passengers and cruise at 1,500 miles per hour. The Soviets hope to fly it in 1968, perhaps before the Concorde.

But, in the long run, will Boeing beat them all?

The Vizier of Baalbek, Syria, scored a diplomatic coup in 990 when he sent 400 miles to the Caliph of Cairo fresh cherries tied to the legs of 600 carrier pigeons.

Junior Editors Quiz on WEST INDIES

QUESTION: Just where did Columbus land when he discovered America?

* * *

ANSWER: Many historians believe that the Vikings were the first white men to land on the shores of the New World. But Columbus brought knowledge of this New World to everyone's attention and laid the foundation for the understanding of our planet which we have today. He did not, however, realize that he had discovered a new world. Our drawings should make this clear. A great deal had become known about geography, as shown by our picture of the two sides of a globe of 1492. You can see Africa and Europe on the right, and a crude map of Asia on the left. But you will notice that there is no room for America! The old map makers had made a mistake. They thought the world smaller than it actually is. Studying such old maps, Columbus reasoned that by sailing west for only about 3000 miles he would reach the East Indies off China and Japan, where he could set up a trading station. So, sailing west, he did strike a tropical island, which he named San Salvador, feeling sure it lay in the East Indies. Actually this was one of what we call the West Indies. Columbus had discovered the New World without realizing it.

January Sets Record For CRMWD

The Colorado River Municipal Water District experienced its largest January in history in water production, according to figures released Saturday by W. P. Odom, assistant to the general manager.

Production reached 900,956,708 gallons, up 13.32 per cent over January 1966. Normally the district does not have a 900-million- gallon month until March or April.

Member cities took 503,154,300 gallons, a gain of 11.42 per cent. Paced by a whopping 43.36 per cent increase by SACROC, the oil companies used 397,984,408 gallons, or a gain of 23.92 per cent.

Odessa used 245,300,000 gallons, up 9.10 per cent, Big Spring 205,479,700, up 16.60 per cent, Snyder 52,374,600 gallons up 3.75 per cent.

Blums Invited To Session

Dr. and Mrs. John Blum have been invited to attend and participate in the 27th annual Southwestern Congress of Optometry at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth on Feb. 12-13-14, where they will hear three outstanding leaders in the profession discuss "Vision as a Tool of Learning. Remembering and Understanding in the Classroom," with special emphasis on modern education and the space age.

Knowledge gained from research at the Clinic of Child Devolpment at Yale University, together with computerized statistics from much other scientific investigation, has contributed to methods of preventing visual problems in children and raising the level of their achievement in school.

This aspect of vision care will be discussed by Dr. A. M. Skeffington, Director of Education for the Optometric Extension Program Foundation, Dr. John R. Pierce, Professor at Indiana University where he has done much research, and Dr. Robert S. Arner, author, lecturer and practitioner of Rockford, Ill.

Nicaragua Struggle Reflects Ancient Colonial Feuding

AP SPOTLIGHT

By ROBERT BERELLEZ

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) —Some of the bitterest fights between Nicaraguan Liberals and Conservatives have taken place at the Luxurious Managua Country Club.

This just about sums up the ideological, social and economic differences — or lack of them — between the two major political forces in this country.

Who represents, politically, the little man, the gardner, the caddie, the cook, who work at the country club?

The Conservative and Liberal parties. They are large and flexible, roomy enough for princes and paupers.

The political struggle here, which culminates in presidential elections Sunday, is essentially a projection of an ancient family feud dating back to Spanish colonial days.

The Chamorro and Sacasa families — Conservative and Liberal respectively, in the old tradition — rank like the Cabots and Lodges in this largest of Centra-American countries. The standard bearers are Pedro Joaquin Chamorro, 45, a publisher, and Gen. Anastasio (Tachito) Somoza Jr., 41, whose father, founder of the oldest political dynasty in Latin America, married into the Sacasa family.

Gen. Somoza is the Liberal party candidate for president.

Chamorro, jailed on a charge of terrorism, is the second-ranking figure in the present political opposition headed by Dr. Fernando Aguero, eye specialist and Conservative presidential candidate in the elections.

Chamorro once led an armed invasion against the Somoza dynasty, was captured, imprisoned and later released. Two weeks ago Chamorro and Aguero led a demonstration that erupted into a violent clash between national guardsmen and armed Conservative partisans.

The fight is a phase in the political evolution of this politically backward country.

There seems more opportunism than ideology in what passes for political opposition here. Personal enmity is a substantial motivating element on both sides. The gap of anger separating them seems widened by official Liberal party charges that Marxists have infiltrated the opposition. At the same time, there appears to be some justification to Conservative complaints that the government is indiscriminately applying the label of Communist to all the opposition.

To some neutral observers here, the recent political explosion was a clear manifestiation of the growing presence and pressures of liberal thought, in the modern sense, amid the old structures.

No political expression or organization alien to the traditional Liberal and Conservative sectors had been allowed to flourish here, it is said, out of a common fear of third-party challenge. Conservatives and Liberals revised and enlarged their frameworks to make room for a measure of dissidence. One view is that this sort of "filtered liberalization" alienated the old guard on both sides and filled the business community with apprehension.

On the other hand, liberalization was coming too slow for some of the younger, more aggressive generation, especially those fed up with the 30-year-control of their country by one family, the Somozas.

The political turmoil appears not to have slowed the tempo of one of the fastest growing economies in Central America. This "land of lakes and volcanos" has one of the best highway networks in the area. Its gross domestic product, $530 millilon in 1965, or $321 per capita, has been accelerating at an 8.4 per cent annual clip since 1961, well above the 3 per cent yearly birth rate.

The foreign debt, $55.8 million, is only 8 per cent of annual export receipts, making for an enviable credit position aboard. There are no currency controls and a law passed in 1956 guarantees export of profits.

On the negative side are a high illiteracy rate, 51.8 per cent; a shortage of skills and a bleak gap between the rich and poor.

Until the Somoza-backed government cracked down hard on the opposition following the Jan. 22 violence, there was little to suggest the existence of an old-fashioned dictatorship. It still seems to have a long way to go before it could be compared with the Dominican Republic under Rafael Trujillo or Cuba under Fulgencio Batista.

The sons of the dynasty's founder, Luis and Anastasio Somoza, were educated in the United States, the former at Louisiana State University, the latter at West Point.

Water Is Being Stored

Although the rate of injection has slowed temporarily while the level of Odessa's reservoirs is increased, over 266,000,000 gallons of water from Lake J. B. Thomas have been stored this season in the de-watered zones of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's well field in Martin County.

Within a few days, the injection rate in the well field will be stepped back to 2.6 million gallons per day. By the end of the winter season, the district should have put around 350,000,000 gallons of lake water in the field where it can be used readily to meet Odessa's peak demands in the summer. Last year the district had about a 200,000,000 gallon carry - over of lake water in the field.

Carmen Salvino Can Win $10,000

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Carmen Salvino is one game away from winning the $10,000 first prize in the Professional Bowlers Association's $50,000 St. Paul Open.

Salvino, the 33-year-old veteran from Chicago, hit 9,264 pins for 40 games. This included 550 bonus pins he collected for winning 11 of his 16 match games in Friday's semifinals.

As the leader, Salvino will sit out the first three games in Saturday's final, while the other four finalists shoot for the right to meet him in the championship game.

Bengals Bounce Eager Wildcats, 70 To 64

LITTLEFIELD — A 64 per cent shooting percentage by the Bengals of Snyder in the first quarter gave them sufficient cushion to hold off a determined bid for an upset by Littlefield's Wildcats here Friday night and score a 70-64 triumph in a District 3-AAA basketball tilt.

Elsewhere on the 3-AAA scene Friday night, Lamesa trounced league-leading Levelland, 59-39, and Brownfield clubbed Sweetwater, 74-61.

Frankie Grimmett, who shot with deadly accuracy throughout the tilt, notched 9 points for the Tigers in the first period to lead them into a 16-10 advantage. Grimmett, a junior and a good all-around athlete, compiled 24 points to cop high scoring honors for Snyder.

Philip Pace was perhaps the most effective man on the court. He tallied 26 points for Littlefield and grabbed more rebounds than anyone else. He and Kevin Hutson, who netted 11 points, were largely responsible for the Snyder lead falling to three points in the final quarter after Snyder had taken 10 point leads in the middle two frames.

Tommy Bullard and Mickey Almond, both Juniors, dropped in 7 points from the free throw line between them in the closing seconds when every point became crucial. Both boys are among the top 10 scorers in the district.

Tommy meshed 12 points, and Mickey posted 10. Sandy Wellborn fired in four long shots in the second quarter, and he also was credited with 10 for the distance.

Nine different Tigers were credited with rebounds, but Pace was the outstanding individual in this department. His timely grabs and great shooting kept the Wildcats in the game during the second half.

Snyder turned the "B" game into a rout in the first quarter by leaping into a 21-6 lead. The Tabbies outscored Littlefield in every quarter to win going away, 82-36.

Four Snyder boys posted twin figures in the "B" tilt: Benny Ward 18, Jodi Williamson 17, Jerry January 17, and Herman Malone 13. For Littlefield, Bryson dunked in 14 points.

Houston Astros Lead Signings

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooks Robinson is looking forward to a good season. If he has it, he could well join Baltimore's other Robinson — Frank — in the $100,000 salary class.

Last season Brooks, generally acknowledged as baseball's best third baseman, was hitting 306 with 81 runs batted in. He then went into a slump, driving in just 19 more runs and ending with a .269 average, 14 points less than he hit in 1965.

Yet Friday, the Orioles recognized the value of Brooks' hitting for the first half of the season, and signed him to a 1967 contract calling for an estimated $20,000 raise.

The club said Brooks signed for about $75,000. Last year he received about $55,000.

Another veteran who got a financial boost Friday was Felipe Alou of Atlanta. The outfielder-first baseman, who hit .327 with 31 home runs in 196, reportedly signed for about $40,000. This is believed to be about $12,000 more than he received last year.

The Houston Astros led the signing parade, coming to terms with four pitchers — colorful Bo Belinsky, Mike Cuellar, Danny Coombs and Dan Schneider.

Catcher Clay Dalrymple became the 37th Philadelphia Phillie to sign, leaving just five players out of the fold. They are infielders Richie Allen, Cookie Rojas and Tony Taylor and pitchers Jim Bunning and Chris Short.

The Chicago Cubs raised their number of signed players to 39 by signing rookie pitchers Billy Connors and Dave Dowling. This left just three players, including George Altman, unsigned.

Will Matson Lose Again?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The spotlight will be on the shot-put ring tonight where Oregon's Neal Steinhauer and Texas A&M's Randy Matson will duel in the San Diego Indoor Games.

Matson, the 6-foot-6 Texas strongboy, holds the world's outdoor record of 70-7, but Steinhauer, the 6-foot-5 "Super Duck," beat Matson in San Francisco last month.

Steinhauer has since put the 16-pound iron ball 67-10, the best ever indoors, and said that now that he has beaten Matson once, he has the confidence he lacked prevoiusly.

Meanwhile, Matson has intensified his training and said he thinks he can approach 70 feet tonight.

Many other top names are scheduled to compete in the first indoor track and field meet in San Diego's new International Sports Arena.

Title Bout Set Monday

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay and Ernie Terrell today stage what may be their last gym sessions before their heavyweight title showdown fight Monday night in the Astrodome.

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, said the consensus champ would spar two rounds and Sam Soloman, trainer of the World Boxing Association champ, said Terrell planned no boxing in today's session.

In Friday's workout, Clay took an awkward tumble through the ropes, but bounced back unhurt for a talking bout with an old foe, George Chuvalo, the Canadian he defeated last March in a 15-round decision.

Jimmy Ellis had Clay at the edge of the ring when the slack top rope sent Clay sprawling backwards, Ellis atop him.

The practice ring is elevated about four feet above a concrete floor. Ellis and bystanders kept Clay from falling off the canvas backwards.

After the sparring, Clay shouted to Chuvalo, "I want you bad. When I retire, I don't want it said that anybody stood up to me for 15 rounds."

Chuvalo told him, "Don't worry about me. You'd better worry about Monday night. You'd better take care of Terrell first."

Clay hit the big bag with a left hook, pointed a glove at Chuvalo and said, "I wish that bag was your head."

Later Chuvalo said Clay "should win, but it'll be a much tougher fight than people think."

Terrell, a man of very few words, was confident Friday when he spoke to reporters. One of the writers asked him if he was irritated by criticism that he is not a good boxer.

"There are people who say I can't fight," Terrell allowed. He added, "But I must be able to do something, because look where I am now, and I am going to beat Cassius Clay."

Tight Race In Desert Golf Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Seventeen professional golfers were jammed at the top within a spread of three strokes today as play continued in the 110,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Leading the scene going into the fourth round of the 90-hole drama, which concludes Sunday, was young Tom Weiskopf, a relative stranger to such prominence.

And lurking in the wings as the plot thickens, to borrow a few cliches from the world of the theater, were such heroes—or to some, villians—as Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper, Arnold Palmer and Doug Sanders.

Weiskopf, who had a unique experience in his debut in the Hope last year, moved ahead Friday with scores of 72-70-68—210, six strokes under par for the distance.

Slender Chi Chi Rodriguez was alone at 211, with a third-round 70, and the 212 bracket included Nicklaus, who had a 67, Casper a 68, and Sanders, 69.

Also at 212 was Bob Goalby, the recent San Diego Open winner, whose 67 Friday matched Nicklaus for low scoring honors of the day.

Top Ranked Senior Golfer Is In Finals

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Curtis Person owns 84 putters, is ranked the No. 1 senior amateur in the United States and plans to cut back on his tournament golf, playing in only 20 meets this year.

The 56-year-old Memphis, Tenn., auto dealer purchased his 84th putter here Friday, then went out and shot a two under par 70 and defeated John Townsend of Houston 2 and 1.

The victory put Person into today's finals of the Life Begins at 40 tournament against A. J. Kuentsler, 53, Victoria, Tex., oilman.

It was the third meeting of the two golfers in this annual tournament.

Boston Streak Halted By Hawks

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's nothing that makes the St. Louis Hawks play better than a Boston Celtics' winning streak.

The Celtics took a string of 11 straight victories into Friday night's second game of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at the Boston Garden, and the Hawks came out of it with a 31-113 triumph.

Twice earlier this season the Hawks snapped six-game Boston winning streaks.

In the first game of the doubleheader, New York bombed Detroit 24-111, while in other action host Chicago nipped Cincinnati 118-113 and at Los Angeles the Lakers romped over San Francisco 129-80.

Player-coach Richie Guerin was the big gun for St. Louis, pouring through 41 points on 14 field goals and 13 of 15 foul shots.

St. Louis led only 28-25 after the first period but built up a 55-46 margin at intermission and coasted home in the second half.

Rookie Lou Hudson scored 22 points and Bill Bridges 20 for the Hawks. John Havlicek topped Boston with 27, and Sam Jones and Bailey Howell added 21 each.

New York outscored Detroit 26-2 in 4½-minute stretch in the first period in registering a victory which, coupled with Cincinnati's loss, put the Knickerbockers back into third place in the Eastern Division, by four percentage points.

Chicago, replacing Detroit in fourth place in the Western Division, put on a last period rally, sparked by Erwin Mueller and Bob Boozer, to edge Cincinnati.

Elgin Baylor and Tom Hawkins supplied the spark in Los Angeles' one-sided victory over San Francisco. Baylor topped the scorers with 25 points while Hawkins limited Rick Barry, the league's leading scorer, to 7 points.

New Records Expected At Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — A couple of New Zealand's finest runners and a few unsung American competitors are expected to turn in some record-breaking performances at Seattle's annual indoor track meet tonight.

With most of the country's top athletes in a similar meet at San Diego, promoters of the Seattle show have been hard pressed for name performers.

But two-milers who have covered the distance in less than four minutes outdoors will provide competition that may undo the indoor meet record here of 4:01.1, set last year by John Camien of New York.

The two are Ian Stidd of New Zealand, who has a best time of 3:58.4, and Richard Romo of the Southern California Striders, whose best time is 3:58.8. Camien is not entered this year.

In all, more than 140 athletes from this country and Canada are entered.

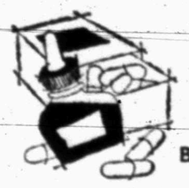

Canadian Skiier Still Dominates

MAGOG, Que. (AP) — Nancy Greene, the star of the Canadian national team, continued her early domination of international skiing when she captured the women's combined championship Friday in Canada's top meet.

Her slalom victory at Mount Orford Park, along with slalom and giant slalom triumphs last weekend at Whistler Mountain, B.C., won her the du Maurier Trophy for best all-around performance in the meet.

Men from the national teams of 10 countries ski in a giant slalom today and in a slalom Sunday.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

Mexico City — A group of ladies and gentlemen from Flint, Michigan, have written asking about the Chihuahua-Topolobsmpe train ride and want details on the trip.

This spectacular run was inaugurated four years ago and already has become one of Mexico's majestic wonders. It crosses 600 miles of the Western Sierra Madre Mountains that extend over a large section of Chihuahua State. Although the rail line officially starts at Ojinaga (across the border from Presidio, Texas) the real ride begins at Chihuahua City. From here every Tuesday and Friday a train leaves for Los Mochis on the Pacific Coast. However, this is a night train and you get no view of the towering mountains and bottomless canyons. Plus 28 bridges and 73 tunnels. I would recommend that the eager tourist take the "autovia" (a diesel-powered coach car) which makes the entire 13-hour run in technicolor daylight. These fast, self-contained coaches leave Chihuahua every Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They return from Los Mochis on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. The fare is surprisingly low— about $7.50 first class and $9.00 (US) special class, one way. Snack bar service is available on board and the only difference between first class and special is that the special provides you with reclining seats. The coach stops for 15 minutes at the famous Copper Canyon. This is a region sparcely inhabited by Tarahumara Indians, one of the most primitive tribes on the American continent. When you get to Los Mochis, you have the opportunity of catching a bus to Topolobampo, a fishing town and slowly-growing resort some 12 miles up the coast. Bus service is good and there are taxis available. Topolobampo also has a good restaurant and some scenery.

INFORMATION ON THE CARNIVAL SEASON IN MEXICO?

It's going on now. These festivals start 40 days before Lent and end when everybody is beat down for Holy Week. The better known let-goes take place in Veracruz, Mazatlan and Merida. Everything from masked balls to street dancing and float parades. Strictly uninhibited but loads of fun. The carnival shindig can be traced back as far as ancient Greece and Egypt where religious-magic festivals in honor of the gods were a yearly must. When Christianity came to Rome, the new religion adapted these pagan precedents to its own calendar. In Mexico a similar mingling of ancient rites (many of them dancing entreaties to the gods to end the dry season) with Christian traditions brought over by the Spaniards took place soon after the conquest. If you're a festival buff you'll enjoy them. But I'm afraid you'll have to wait for the pre-Lenten season next year.

DO YOU NEED A PASSPORT FOR VISITING MEXICO?

No, a tourist card does the trick. You can get these at the border when you cross but you will need a birth certificate or other evidence of your U. S. citizenship. The tourist cards used to cost $3 (US) but now are free, courtesy of the Mexican Government which is extending greater facilities to travelers. The card is good for six months in Mexico.

CAN WE BUY GOOD MATERIAL FOR SUITS IN MEXICO?

Excellent. And have your suit tailor made here for very little.

Film Shown To Jaycees

Snyder Jaycees saw the film, "The Grand Junction Story," at their luncheon meeting Friday.

The film, which shows extensive improvements made in the business district of Grand Junction, Colo., was shown by Larry Smith. J. D. Hinton, local architect, commented on the film and also presented information on a proposed downtwon improvement project in Snyder.

Following the luncheon, five members of the Snyder Jaycees left for Tyler where they planned to put in a bid for the 1967 Outstanding Young Farmer banquet. Making the trip were John Reed, Herb Reed, Bill Massey, Darrell Rains and Jay Thompson.

Guests at the luncheon, in addition to Smith and Hinton, were Donnie Newman and Don Yowell.

Officers Seek Professional Burglar

NEW ORLEANS AP)— Officers along the Gulf Coast today sought Jerry Ray James, 30, described by police as a professional burglar wanted in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

James, wanted in Texas on a charge of bank burglary, gave officers the slip in the New Orleans suburb of Harahan, La., Thursday. He gave another name and was released on $50 bond after being arrested for vagrancy.

Jefferson Parish Detective Capt. William Warner described the 220-pound James as a "pro" and said he has ranged from Florida to Texas.

Four Babies Doing Fine

NEW YORK (AP) — The four surviving Brooklyn quintuplets were reported "doing fine" today, the eve of their mother's 32nd birthday.

The quints — the fifth was still-born — were born to Mrs. Lionel Harris Wednesday night at Brooklyn Jewish Hospital.

Three of the infants became bottle babies Friday. The fourth and smallest, a girl, was being fed intravenously.

The mother, Hildarene, looked forward to Sunday, when her birthday will be celebrated with a giant four-tiered birthday cake, with four candles representing the babies.

Mrs. Harris had been treated with a fertility drug after five childless years of marriage.

The father, a 31-year-old postal clerk, makes $106 a week. He is studying at night school to be an accountant. He said he had received a number of letters offering gifts for the little ones, but had not had time to read them carefully.

The hospital said the Harrises would get no bill. The hospital's board chairman, Judge George J. Beldock, launched a fund for the babies with a $100 check.

Although the quints were full-term, they were being handled like premature babies. The largest, the only boy, weighed 4 pounds and one-half ounces at birth.

President Truman set up the White House's first and only horseshoe court. President Eisenhower's putting green still reminds visitors that he once practiced golf there.
