US Awaits Red's Word On UN Debt

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States has delayed its policy speech to the U.N. General Assembly for another week in hopes the Soviet Union will give some clue by then to what it intends to do about its peace-keeping debt.

The postponement — second in a week — disappointed many delegates anxious to learn the Johnson administration's position on U.N. issues.

The United States also is awaiting the return of ailing Secretary-General U Thant, who took over the financial negotiations shortly before he went to the hospital with a gastric ailment last Friday.

A U.N. spokesman announced late Monday that Thant will be back on the job by the middle of next week. A U.S. source said the United States will speak in the assembly about then.

The United States wants to confer with Thant on the progress of his financial negotiations before deciding how hard a line to take in the policy debate.

The State Department said it was giving close study to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's speech to the assembly Monday in which he charged that U.S. policy in Europe, Asia and Africa imperils world peace.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson issued a statement denouncing Gromyko's speech as "harsh cold-war talk" and expressing hope that it was "more propaganda than policy."

State Department officials in Washington said privately that the Soviet foreign minister offered little new and that Moscow seems to be marking time on major issues.

Gromyko made no direct reference to formulas being advanced to solve the U.N. financial crisis created by Soviet refusal to pay peace-keeping assessments.

The Goodfellows deserve the thanks of every Snyder Citizen, both those who give and those who receive.

For without the Goodfellows, those who want to do their part to see that everyone has a Merry Christmas, wouldn't have any way to help, especially if the amount the person felt he could give was small. But with the Goodfellows organization, many small contributions add up to something worthwhile.

The Snyder Ministerial Alliance voted yesterday to give $100 to help folks at Christmas. Half they gave to the Goodfellows, and half to the Salvation Army to help transients who will be in our city during the holiday season and need help.

The Jaycees, who make most of their money a nickel at a time selling hot dogs at the rodeo, voted to give 2,000 of their nickles, or $100, to help make Christmas a happier time for those who need help this year.

Reds Claim Bullseye On 8 US Aircraft

TOKYO (AP) — Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces have claimed they have shot down or damaged "eight aircraft of the U.S and its lackeys in the past few days," a Red Chinese news dispatch said today.

The New China News Agency, quoting a broadcast by the rebel Voice of Laos at Khang Khay, said an F100 jet was shot down while on a strafing mission Dec. 1 over the city of Xieng Khouang. The agency said the jet was one of three planes on a reconnaissance mission.

Mob Storms US Library

By ANTOINE YARED

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A mob protesting America's policies toward the Congo and Malaysia stormed the U.S. Information Service library in the East Java capital of Surabaja Monday night, burning books, furniture, a mobile unit and a car.

It was the second U.S. library attacked by Indonesian demonstrators in four days. A mob stoned and sacked the American cultural center in Jakarta and its library last Friday, destroying about a fourth of the library's 15,000 books.

The Communist-led demonstrators are protesting America's participation with Belgium in the rescue of white hostages from Congolese rebels and U.S. support of Malaysia, which Indonesian President Sukarno has threatened to crush.

USIS Director Paul Neilson told a news conference a mob of about 1,000 banner-waving demonstrators smashed windows to enter the Surabaja library, which had been closed and locked in anticipation of trouble.

The mob hauled down the American flag and raised the Indonesian flag, wrecked the interior of the library, then threw furniture and books outside and built a bonfire with them.

The director of the library, James McHale, informed Neilson about a fourth of the library's 16,000 books were destroyed.

No American staff members were in the building, and Indonesian employes in the building were not hurt.

Neilson said Allan McLean, American consul at Surabaja, reported the "lightning raid" lasted half an hour.

An embassy spokesman said seven policemen were on duty in front of the library but could not cope with the mob. He said reinforcements arrived after the demonstrators had wrecked the library and were about to leave.

National Bank Charter Enters Baker Picture

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's investigators of Bobby Baker were told today that a group of Californians was granted a national bank charter very shortly after it retained a Washington lobbyist and friend of Baker's for $5,000.

Soon after completion of that phase of its inquiry, the Senate Rules Committee planned a private session for a probable decision on how much further to carry its sometimes stormy study of Baker's affairs.

Maurice Hughett, now a Falls Church, Va., businessman, identified the lobbyist as Wayne Bromley, a former Senate employe. He said that at Bromley's request, he delivered the $5,000 check to Baker.

Hughett told the committee he learned later that Baker, resigned secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, had cashed the check for Bromley in the Senate disbursing office.

Asked if he knew the reason, Hughett said Bromley told him he was buying a house at the time and also owed some money and was "taking care of his obligations."

Bromley, now a coal industry lobbyist who used to work under Baker in the Senate, was sitting by in the big Senate caucus room waiting to be called for questioning.

Hughett testified that he received a telephone call from Bromley recommended to Sherman Leland, summer of 1962 that the organizers of the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael, Calif., after applying for a national charter, they hadn't made much progress.

Hughett said he told Leland it would be a good idea to retain someone in Washington to pursue the application and suggested the employment of Bromley. He added that he suggested that $5,000 would be reasonable fee.

Lennox P. McLendon, the committee's special counsel asked Hughett if he had any conversation with Bromley "as to what Baker did to help with the charter."

"No," Hughett replied.

Later, in answer to other questions, Hughett said he "assumed Bromley would contact Baker on the matter, but we didn't discuss it."

"Did you also assume that Baker could be of assistance?" asked Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

"I thought that was entirely possible," replied Hughett.

McLendon said the $5,000 check, dated March 4, 1963, was endorse by both Bromley and Baker and showed it was cashed in the Senate disbursing office.

Hughett's testimony was given the committee in its reopened investigation of the far-ranging outside business of Baker before he resigned under fire in October of last year from his $19,600-a-year Senate post.

Council In Brief Session Here Monday

The Snyder City Council took action on a brief, routine business agenda Monday night at their regular December meeting.

Most of the discussion at the short session centered upon a request for a zoning change for property selected as a site for the Scurry County Coliseum. The Planning and Zoning Board has recommended that the zoning be changed from R-2 residential to C-2 commercial on the coliseum site and some adjoining property. The request for the change had been made by the county and owners of adjoining property.

City councilmen expressed some concern over the prospect of a commercial zone for the portion adjacent to the East Elementary School. However, all action was delayed until Jan. 4 when the council will hold its public hearing on the proposal. They indicated that they wanted to accommodate the county in its request, but would like to confer further on the property adjacent to the school before final action is taken. No question was raised concerning other property involved, which includes a 100 foot strip joining a 200 foot commercial zone along the East Highway. Request for a zoning change on that portion had been made by N. R. Clements, who was represented at the council session by Robert R. Patterson, local attorney.

The council reappointed Dr. Wilton N. Jones as city health officer, and Mayor J. Mark McLaughlin appointed Councilmen M. L. Broman and Jack Lawrence as a committee to submit nominees for a vacancy on the Planning and Zoning Board.

The city manager was instructed to prepare a resolution clarifying qualifications for firms participating in the city's insurance program.

Students Suspend Campus Picketing

By ROY ROBERTS

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A peace offer spurned by the University of California's rebel student group comes under the scrutiny of 1,200 faculty members on the Berkeley campus today with a return to order of continued demonstrations for unrestricted politico-social campaigning in the balance.

The Academic Senate — all faculty members with tenure — set a meeting for 3 p.m. to review the squelched peace proposal, listen to alternative plans and announce their opinion.

Insurgent students temporarily suspended until 8 a.m. Wednesday their strike and picketing of university entrances and classroom buildings in an effort to promote a general strike. They said whether or not they resume depends on the Academic Senate's report on the peace plan turned down Monday.

Rebel student leaders went to Sacramento saying they would place their protests before Gov. Edmund G. Brown today.

A minority of the 27,400-member student body is demanding the right to recruit volunteers and solicit funds anywhere on campus for off-campus politico-social activities, including civil rights work.

Their protests led to a loosening of regulations by the university Board of Regents last month. The regents gave permission for on-campus solicitation and recruitment in three designated areas for lawful off-campus activity.

A spokesman for the insurgent group, called Free Speech Movement, said the movement's prime demand is for removal of the word "lawful" from the regulations. He said students want to participate in such activities as civil rights demonstrations in the South because they feel they are worthy though unlawful.

Only the regents can change the regulations.

Three Americans Die As Viet Cong Takes Outpost

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas overran a small outpost at the southern tip of Viet Nam today, killing three American soldiers and nine South Vietnamese.

Ten Vietnamese soldiers were wounded in the surprise attack by about 50 Communists.

The casualties brought the total of Americans killed in action in South Viet Nam to 229 since December 1961.

Two of the Americans killed today were infantry officers and the third was an enlisted man. Their outpost, 125 miles from Saigon apparently was being used as the command post on an operation. The Viet Cong force, small by usual standards, probably infiltrated the post before opening fire, a U.S. source said.

The An Lap outpost was 30 miles northeast of Saigon. Viet Cong guerrillas were making a determined attempt to overrun a district headquarters. The battle was still going on tonight, a U.S. spokesman said.

American helicopter pilots reported the Viet Cong moving openly across the valley.

"We have been shooting at them in the open and running across roads and at automatic-weapons positions in the trees," said Maj. Clement A. Wyllie, of Chattanooga, Tenn., commander of an armed helicopter unit.

The Viet Cong blew up the only bridge leading to the tiny valley. Military sources reported three armored personnel carriers moving to the battle area. Two were hit and were in flames.

Vehicles around the battered fort at the district headquarters were burning, Wyllie reported. He said there were many dead and wounded Vietnamese inside the fort.

A relentless fire from Communist heavy weapons poured into the fort, and helicopters were being continually fired on.

One helicopter piloted by Capt. Peter R. Coggins of Manchester, N.H., made a hazardous flight into the fort to pick up nine wounded. It was hit by mortar fragments on the way out.

Troops airlifted into the area were being dropped on a 2,000-foot mountain because all other areas were under heavy fire, Wyllie said.

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor continued high-level discussions following his trip to Washington last week.

Taylor met today with Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and members of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's legislature.

NATO, Asia Top Conference List

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Prime Minister Harold Wilson continue their talks today with two main subjects expected on the agenda: the nuclear future of the Atlantic Alliance and the situation in Southeast Asia.

Wilson began to spell out his ideas on how to organize a nuclear weapons force within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization at a midafternoon session with Johnson Monday. their second of the day. The prime minister will conclude his presentation today and then, presumably, Johnson will present a defense of the multilateral force as conceived by the United States.

Wilson is cool to the idea. Instead, the Labor government is understood to propose the formation of a new NATO nuclear command, to include Britain's nuclear bombers and submarines and all or most of the nuclear tactical weapons already in Europe.

The U.S.-suggested nuclear fleet, drastically reduced from the proposed 25 ships with 200 Polaris missiles, also would be part of the new command.

The two leaders will seek no decisions on this delicate and complex issue, observers on both sides cautioned Monday night. The word that no blueprint will emerge from the two-day conference was stressed repeatedly, with American and British officials using the same word.

What should be achieved in the talks is a mutual understanding on how to shape the West's nuclear defense, before the issue is taken up with the Allies in NATO, the officials said.

The Johnson-Wilson talks are going far beyond the NATO problem, it was emphasized after the first day. The aim is to formulate a joint philosophy on the role in the world of the only two Western powers with world-wide responsibilities.

While the mixed-manned nuclear missile fleet is at the heart of the NATO problem, it is but one factor, the British are saying. American observers are hopeful that this means Wilson would not rigidly oppose the fleet concept, if it can be submerged in a broader Atlantic force.

Monday night Johnson gave a dinner at the White House for Wilson.

India, US Open Talks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The United States and Cambodia began talks today aimed at settling their differences. The outcome may determine whether the Southeast Asian kingdom drops behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Officials on both sides declined comment. The talks will last a week or longer in this neutral capital selected by Cambodia.

Chief negotiators Son Sann of Cambodia and Philip W. Bonsal of the United States shook hands and chatted as they posed for photographers.

The discussions come at times when Cambodia has been threatening to expel U.S. Embassy personnel from Phnom Penh, Sihanouk denouncing the U.S. as an aggressive nation, deepening "drawing closer to Red China."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 15 years of marriage, my husband and I separated because of his interest in another woman. We lived apart for two months and then he asked to come home again, so I let him. Although we are living together, he is not the same any more. We are married in name only and I think the only reason he came back was because it is cheaper than living separately. He comes and goes as he pleases and I'm alone most of the time anyway. I think he still has this woman on his mind. I am depressed and upset all the time. Do I have to put up with this? Don't advise me to see a lawyer because my husband is one.

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: Just because a woman has a lawyer for a husband doesn't make her ineligible for legal redress. If you want to know what your legal rights are, ask a lawyer. But first, see a doctor. Going along with an "in-name-only" type marriage may be cheaper for the husband, but it's very expensive (emotionally) for the wife.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have a very dear friend, who was widowed after 18 years of marriage to a truly wonderful man. He was loved and respected in the community. He provided well for his wife during his lifetime and left her with no money worries. She recently married again. She claims her second husband is "her age," but he looks younger. She tells everyone she meets that her second husband is soooooo much better than her first, this is the first time she has ever really been "in love," she never dreamed such happiness could be hers, and on and on and on. It is so unbecoming, Abby. How can I, her oldest and dearest friend, let her know how foolish she sounds?

NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: You probably can't. But if you are willing to test your friendship, go ahead and try.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Why do people who are honest in every other respect think nothing of cheating the telephone company? I refer to those person-to-person calls to signal someone that you have arrived safely. I was recently visiting a friend when her son, who had driven himself to college, telephoned and asked for "Fritz" McGuire person-to-person. ("Fritz" is the DOG!) She laughed and said he always did that to let them know he got there all right. Isn't there some way the telephone company can put a stop to that?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: If there were, they would have put a stop to it long ago. But if you (or anyone else) can come up with a solution, I am sure the telephone company would like your number.

Escape For Astronauts Is Tested

By JAKE BOOHER JR.

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP)—A Little Joe 2 rocket hurled a dummy moonship skyward today in an apparently successful test of the launch escape system for proposed moonflight astronauts.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials termed the test a milestone in this nation's bid to put men on the moon by 1970.

The 340,000-pound-thrust rocket was knocked off course by a ground signal about 37 seconds after launch, at an altitude of about 31,000 feet.

The 155,000-pound thrust escape motors then ignited and pulled the dummy moonship vehicle away in the mock emergency.

Range officials set out to recover the spaceship, which was to descend about 6½ miles from the launch pad.

Little Joe is being used to economically imitate the 3,000-ton Saturn 5, the moonflight launch rocket which is to hurl the first U.S. astronauts toward a lunar landing.

Today's test was the fourth in the launch escape system series at White Sands. All have been largely successful.

Cotton Crop Estimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, in a semi-final report, estimated the cotton crop today at 15,356,000 bales.

Last year's production was 15,334,000. The five-year 1958-62 average is 13,905,000.

The crop was grown under a new control program which required growers to put plantings at the lowest level permitted by law and which offered farmers payments for underplanting their allotments.

A reserve and surplus supply of 12.1 million bales has been accumulated from past crops.

The government predicted that domestic and foreign demands from this year's supply will total about 14.8 million bales.

The Cesnsus Bureau said 12,396,462 bales had been ginned to Dec. 1, compared with 12,826,984 last year.

Navy Jet Hits Japanese Farm House

ATSUGI, Japan (AP) — A U.S. Navy jet crashed into a Japanese farmer's house today, burning it to the ground.

No Japanese were hurt, police said. The pilot, Lt. (j.g.) Caleb W. Clark, ejected when his engine failed. He was reported in good condition.

Clark's jet crashed near the town of Kamichi, about eight miles north of the Atsugi Naval Air Station.

Cuban Minister Attempts Suicide

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Labor Minister Augusto Martinez Sanchez, notified that he was being dismissed from his post, shot himself in the head today, Havana Radio said.

A broadcast heard in Miami said his condition was reported as serious. The shooting occurred at 1 a.m., the radio said, but gave no further details.

Martinez Sanchez, 46, was Fidel Castro's first defense minister.

He was considered close to the Prime Minister's brother, Raul, now Minister of Armed Forces.

Martinez Sanchez, a lawyer, joined the Castro revolution against Fulgencio Batista in the Sierra Maestra in 1958, and became judge advocate of the revolutionary general staff.

Martinez Sanchez was acting prime minister when Fidel Castro visited the United States in May 1959.

Five months later, he became labor minister, replacing Manuel Fernandez, now in exile.

The Martinez Sanchez incident coincided with reports of a struggle for power within Cuba's Communist party by old guard and newer Communists. Martinez Sanchez was not a member of the old guard.

There were reports last week that three Castro cabinet ministers had been arrested, but they were not named. There had been no previous indication that Martinez Sanchez was in official trouble.

CHAIRMAN BURCH

Plans Appeal To Nat'l Committee

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Dean Burch, beset by critics within his party, plans to take his case to the GOP National Committee with a letter spelling out his views on leadership and party issues.

Burch said in an interview Monday night that he would draft a detailed summary of his own views and send it to the 132 National Committee members who meet in Chicago Jan. 22 and 23 to decide, among other things, whether to retain Burch, chosen last July for his post by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

Earlier, Burch said both he and Goldwater could accept and endorse a policy statement issued Saturday at Denver by Republican governors calling for GOP "leadership which clearly represents a broad view of Republicanism." Some governors described the statement as a call for Burch's ouster.

Burch commented after he announced the resignation of John Grenier, his right-hand man since July, as executive director of the National Committee.

The national chairman's statement brought an immediate response from Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie, chairman of the GOP governors group, who denounced it as "a hollow and shallow promise" and "a desperate reaction to the very apparent fact that the Republican National Committee is swinging heavily against him and his leadership."

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon said he thought "it would be very difficult to carry on in a more inclusive manner . . . until some very specific acts have been made which would demonstrate more than just words — actions as well as words." He declined to specify what actions he meant.

But Colorado Gov. John A. Love, who expressed the hope last week that Burch would be replaced, said he was "more than pleased" with the national chairman's statement. "I hope this will lead the way toward a greater unification of the party than we presently have," he said.

Burch said he expects to send his letter to the members of the National Committee on Thursday.

"It will deal with my attitude toward this squabble that has broken out," he said. "I want to put this whole thing into perspective."

The 36-year-old party chairman said he will also take up questions that will face the National Committee at its Chicago meeting. "I want to outline what I think the real issues are," he said.

In their resolution the governors said:

"We strongly recommend to the National Committee that in determining its leadership at the forthcoming meeting in January it adopt leadership which clearly represents a broad view of Republicanism and practices a policy of inclusion rather than exclusion."

Burch said he emphatically disagrees with any interpretation that I have observed a policy of exclusion" in serving as national chairman. "Nothing could be further from the truth as the cooperation with the National Committee compiled during the 1964 campaign will show," he said.

Burch added: "Sen. Goldwater and I have discussed the statement in detail, and I can report that he concurs in the aims, goals and needs for a broadly based Republican party dedicated to winning elections and serving the American people."

"I pledge," he added, "that as long as I am privileged to serve as chairman of the Republican National Committee, I will make every effort to assure the Republican party of the broadest possible base of support, participation and leadership by Republicans of every philosophy."

Burch added a call for party unity, saying all Republicans should seek strength that way, "not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and disunity."

Grenier, a Birmingham lawyer, was Goldwater's Southern regional director during the battle for the nomination. He said he plans to resume his post as Alabama Republican chairman.

Burch said he accepted Grenier's resignation with deep regret and added the Alabama Republican would be available to the party, "for consultation and special assignments as the need arises."

Hearing On Farm Labor Is Begun

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A domestic farm labor leader said at a Labor Department hearing Monday that growers tried to run his group out of the labor market by making them do stoop labor in an unproductive area.

Bennett Mann, director of the West Oakland Farm Workers Association, made the statement during the first day of the hearing in San Francisco.

The Labor Department's chief examiner, Clifford Grant of Washington, said the hearing probably will continue through Wednesday.

Generally grower groups contend a shortage of domestic farm workers necessitates extension of the bracero program — the importation of foreign farm laborers.

Labor groups contend there is no shortage of workers but low wages and poor working conditions drive workers from the market.

Representatives of the Santa Clara Council of Churches claimed migrant farm families earn about half the income needed to maintain the recognized minimum standard of living in the United States.

Gov. Edmund Brown proposed a plan that would gradually phase out the bracero program in California over five years.

Most representatives of organized labor, churches and Latin American organizations criticized the plan. Spokesmen for Imperial Valley Farmers, the State Board of Agriculture, a large corporate farm and the International Teamsters Union gave it conditional support.

Leo Hobbs, vice president of a corporation which farms extensively in the Salinas, Calif., and Imperial Valley areas, said his corporation "would welcome complete immediate abolition of the importation of foreign farm workers."

Hobbs said, however, that a $1.25 minimum farm wage should be the test of whether domestic labor needs to be supplemented by foreign farm workers.

The corporation, Bud Antel, Inc., has a contract with the Teamsters Union for its farm workers.

Testimony is being taken here in the last of four Labor Department hearings across the country. The purpose is to determine what should be done when the bracero program expires Dec. 31.

Cranberries were first used by the Pilgrims in Massachusetts and even today the berries are grown only in North America.

You Think Old Santa Has An Easy Life?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Think it's easy to be Santa Claus?

John J. Ford, new head of the Volunteers of America, recruiters of sidewalk Santas for Philadelphia's needy, says training Santa "is a very expensive and involved project.

"They must learn to handle people and how to talk to children.

"They must never promise a child that he will get any particular present.

"If asked directly if they are the real Santa Claus, they must say that they are Santa's helpers.

"They must also remember never to eat garlic or onions before they go onto the street corners."

Johnsons Receive New Female Beagle

SEDALIA, Mo. (AP) — A female beagle has been sent to Washington as a gift for President Johnson, whose 5-year-old Beagle Her died recently.

The Rev. William Freeman, Baptist minister who raises beagles as a hobby, said the dog was sent at the instructions of E. D. Hollstein, a lawyer from Rushville, Neb.

The minister said the dog was shipped by air Monday, along with a card carrying the compliments of Hollstein's four daughters — May, Linda, Susan and Irene.

Proposal For Dam To Draw Protesis

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will make its bid next Monday to secure a permit for a second lake on the Colorado River, and protests are expected from at least two sources.

At issue in a hearing before the Texas Water Commission in Austin Dec. 14 will be the location of a prospective dam immediately northwest of Robert Lee in Coke County. The CRMWD previously had been granted a permit for a lake in southern Mitchell County, conditioned on demonstrating an ability to control saline pollution.

Plans to seek a change in location, which CRMWD officials said was prompted by engineering studies, has drawn a protest from Mitchell County interests. Far downstream, the Lower Colorado River Authority has given notice it will formally protest construction of the dam near Robert Lee.

Sam Gideon, LCRA general manager, said an LCRA survey showed that the dam would stop an average of 50,000 acre feet of water per year from flowing directly into Lake Buchanan. Buchanan waters are released into six other highland lakes, and it subsequently would affect their levels, Gideon claimed.

Also, the Upper Colorado River Authority, which embraces Coke, Runnels, Sterling and Tom Green Counties is expected to file statements concerning its position with reference to assurance of salt water disposal, care of Coke and Runnels needs and availability of surplus water.

Possibly a dozen and a half representatives from the CRMWD and member cities will be on hand for the hearing, E. V. Spence, general manager of the CRMWD said. Mayor Hank Avery and members of the Midland city council, also are expected to appear in support of the amended application. Several cities and communities within a 11-county area to be served by the project have made their anticipated needs known to CRMWD.

The district also is asking for permission to erect pollution control structures up river to trap highly saline normal flow of the river. This will be utilized in meeting waterflood contracts, which furnish an economical means of disposal. Without this, said Spence, the water to be impounded would be of marginal quality, and this was one factor upon which the original permit was granted but not issued.

Under the amended application, the district is seeking to impound a lake with a maximum capacity of 488,000 acre feet, which engineers estimate would supply a safe yield of 48,000,000 gallons per day. Engineers reported that the Robert Lee site offered a more certain foundation picture, together with prospect of some additional water which would help reduce the chlorides to still more tolerable limits.

10 Going Into Grid Hall Of Fame

NEW YORK (AP) — Football stars, coaches and fans and notables from business and government will be among the capacity crowd of 1,500 honoring former All-America Donald B. Lourie and 10 new members to the Football Foundation's Hall of Fame tonight.

Lourie, an All-America quarterback at Princeton in 1920 and now chairman of the board of Quaker Oats, will be presented with the Foundation's gold medal award at the organization's annual dinner at the Waldorf Astoria.

Notre Dame, which lost its final game to Southern California after winning its first nine, will receive the MacArthur Bowl as the Foundation's outstanding college team of 1964.

The gold medal award is presented to "distinguished Americans who have by their interest, spirit and conduct rendered distinguished service to the game and spirit of American football."

The 10 Hall of Fame inductees include one coach—Col. Earl H. (Red) Blaik, famed for his teams at Dartmouth and Army. He now is an executive of Avco Corp.

Savage Ice Storm Permits No Rest For Weary Crews

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — New York's savage ice storm meant no school for delighted children, no heat for their parents' cold homes, no rest for weary work crews.

Today it also meant hopes that winds would not snap more power lines or topple more trees bowed under tons of ice in east-central New York and parts of Vermont and Massachusetts.

The ice accumulated during a weekend of freezing rain and snow. Effects of the storm and below-zero temperatures early this week have forced hundreds of families to live in emergency centers — such as the Lake Avenue Armory here.

The armory atmosphere is one of good spirits and helpfulness. Families share belongings and talents as they shared hardships in an ice storm that, at its peak, took electricity and heat from 75,000 homes and businesses in eastern upstate New York. About 4,000 homes in the Pittsfield, Mass., area also lost power.

Monday night, officials of the Niagara-Mohawk Power Corp. said the number of customers without electric power was down to 27,000 — representing more than 50,000 persons.

More than 900 men, coming from power companies as far away as Philadelphia, are working 16-hour days to free an area of more than 1,000 square miles of downed power lines and to restore service.

There was no estimate of damages, except that they would be in the hundreds of thousands of dollars. One company official said the storm in his section was "the most destructive I've seen. We aren't repairing in many areas. We're rebuilding."

Cold weather clung to wide areas in New England and upstate New York and northern sections of the Midwest. The wintry air also dipped into the Southeast with freezing weather covering areas southward into northern Florida.

However, a warming trend was indicated from the Rockies to New England and the Middle Atlantic States and temperatures were expected to reach near normal.

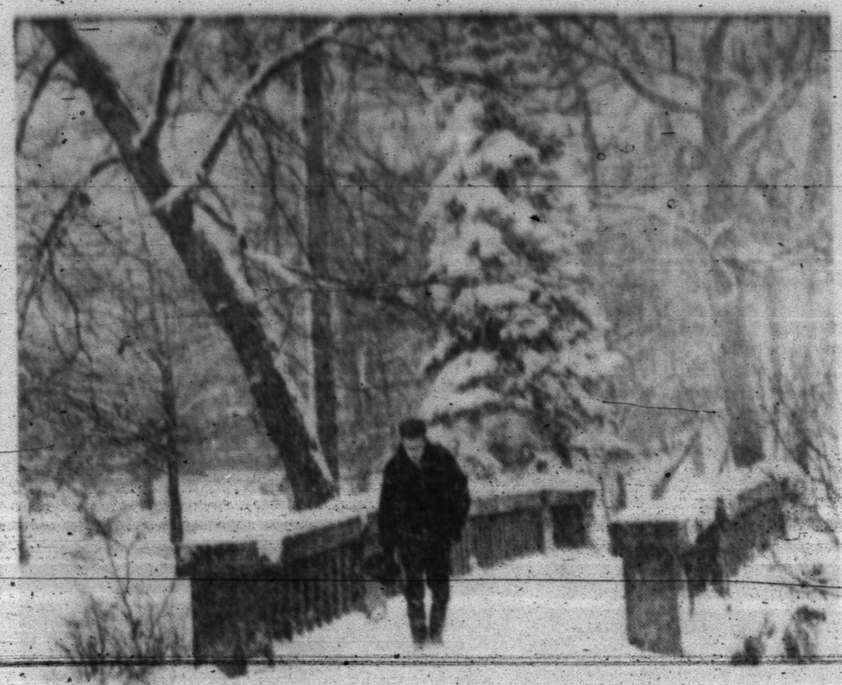

It was below zero this morning in many sections of New England. Lowest marks were in Maine, including —15 in Greenville and —11 in Old Town and Millinocket. The mercury edged near zero in northern sections of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

More light snow fell in the Great Lakes region and the upper Mississippi Valley. Rain and drizzle dampened the Pacific Northwest but generally fair weather prevailed in most other parts of the nationa.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

SAN JUAN TEOTIHUACAN, Mexico — Sitting in the establishment of Mr. Frank Lowenstein, the jewelry gentleman, today when it clouded up and a bit of weather commenced.

This is the sign for relaxation. And with the first clap of thunder some startled tourists in the dining room looked fearfully out to see what the rainy season does.

I will tell you what it does. It rains for awhile. And it is very nice and cozy if you are on the inside.

It is extremely nice and cozy if you are sitting in Frank's inn looking out at the forces of nature. Mr. Lowenstein did a decoration job on his ancient hacienda which once was a mule stop (before his time, however).

Glassed in the antique, arched porch and made it the view section of his eateria. Waitresses in stiffly starched uniforms crackle past with trays of tasty nourishment.

A white - coated waiter started a roaring fire in the huge old fireplace and just looking at it, you could feel the slight chill turning warm.

Nothing like a fireplace in the rainy season. This is one reason Mr. Lowenstein's hostelry is a favorite spot with me. When traffic gets too thick in the city and people start shoving, I drift out to settle back near the fireplace and watch some stormy weather. Cigars last twice as long here where things are slo-o-ow and pleasant.

If the entire day is sunny and warm, it is loused up as far as I am concerned. You need a fireplace and rain to relax properly.

Over in one corner a group of tourist ladies and gentleman sat stiffly at attention the way they probably have heard one should do in a foreign country. One pale gentleman looked like he could use a transfusion of martinis.

So up came this waiter and said to Mr. Lowenstein, "Mr. Peter Celliers of New York is here." And we leaped up and rushed out shouting, "Hey Pete, where'd you come from?"

Mr. Celliers, the press relations gentleman, informed us he was here to visit his friends.

"They have all moved to Mexico," he said. "Everyone I once wept in my beer with now lives down here. I must escape the rigors of civilized extremeties at times and visit them. Otherwise, I'm merely a lonely soul saddled with oppression in eight million people."

This is Mr. Celliers' highly educated way of saying he has to blow out once in a while to keep from blowing up.

Then Mr. Lowenstein scratched his whiskers and asked Pete how about an appetizer like maybe a 2 - inch - thick fillet mignon and some trummings 'Ground it.

Mr. Celliers rolled his eye balls skyward and nodded like he had just been offered a set of wings and a place like this to flap 'em.

And this, oh cheerful ones sitting before a one - ton air conditioner, is life at Mr. Lowenstein's. Old friends from the tiny world appear unexpectedly.

And everyone settles back by the fireplace in the chill of the good old summertime with a cuppa coffee to watch the rain. And live a little while before hitting the rut again.

Sex-Slayer Granted Reprive

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers won a 15th stay of execution Monday for Condemned sex slayer Joe Edward Smith.

The 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Houston granted the reprieve nine and one-half hours before the 22-year-old was due to die in the electric chair. It was his closest margin in three years on the state prison's death row.

He was chewing a mouthful of fried liver when chaplain Joe O'Brien brought the news to Smith in his cell.

Smith was found guilty in 1960 of helping murder William Bodenheimer III, 12, on July 20, 1959. The Houston boy was sexually attacked and his body stuffed into an old refrigerator in an abandoned shack.

Defense lawyers, James Hippard took his request to the higher court after U. S. Judge James Noel denied a stay at 9:30 a. m.

An appeals court panel has set a hearing on the merits of Smith's appeal for Jan. 12 in Atlanta, Ga.

Gov. John Connally followed up by setting a new Feb. 6 execution date. This was a routine move to keep a definite date of execution. Should the appeal fail, Smith will not have to be returned to the trial court for resentencing.

He was taking the first bite of what was to be his last meal when Fr. O'Brien told him the news.

Charged In Shooting Of Twin Brother

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP) —A wealthy 22-year-old Phoenix, Ariz., man was booked on suspicion of murder today in the fatal shooting of his twin brother.

Timothy Micholson told sheriff's homicide detectives he accidentally shot his brother, Todd F. Micholson, with a .22-caliber rifle in the brothers' $400,000 apartment house Monday night in this Los Angeles suburb.

Officers said, however, two shots had been fired from the rifle and that Timothy was unable to give them a clear account of the incident.

Officers said the shooting occurred about 7:10 p.m. They said Timothy went to the apartment house manager, Shuey Greenberg, and told him that he had shot his brother.

Todd was dead on arrival at Arcadia Methodist Hospital.

The death was listed as accidental until officers learned the rifle had been fired twice and that, according to them, Timothy's story of the incident was not clear.

As officers questioned the suspect, his mother, Mrs. Roberta [illegible] arrived at the sheriff's station.

Catholic Priests Robbed In Amarillo

AMARILLO (AP) — Bandits robbed two Roman Catholic priests Monday night.

Police said two gunmen wearing nylon stockings forced their way into the St. Laurence Catholic Church rectory just before midnight.

They took $80 and watches owned by the Rev. Norbert Kuehler, 35, the pastor, and the Rev. Orville Blum, 27, assistant pastor. The thugs bound the priests with strips of a bed sheet and fled.

Proves Driving Experience Not Needed On Freeway

By ROBERT COOKE

WESTMINSTER, Calif. (AP) — Whoever said experience is the best teacher had it all wrong — at least in young Stephen Dugmanies' case.

Stephen, 10, took his first driving lesson — solo — Monday. He drove to his aunt's home in Pacoima, Calif., 62 miles away, police said.

That, by itself, is a considerable accomplishment, as any veteran truck-driver would admit. Stephen, however, took the trip during the peak traffic hour, navigating a long stretch of the San Diego Freeway.

The freeway speed limit is 65 miles an hour. Stephen's speed was not determined.

Police learned of the trip from a neighbor who reported at 8:15 a.m. he had seen the boy driving around the neighborhood.

Police contacted his mother, Mrs. Joseph Dugmanies, who said that she didn't know what had gotten into the boy.

Two hours later, officers said, Stephen showed up at his aunt's home. Bernice Watts, after she recovered from the shock, called Westminster, then had her 17-year-old son drive Stephen home — to a severe greeting.

Stephen, who stands only 4 feet 9 inches, sits considerably less, and can barely peep out of the windshield of his parents' 1964 compact car, officers said.

Police said apparently no one paid any attention to the boy as he drove through the heavy traffic, but Southern California traffic is like that — everyone is intent on one thing, getting there and fast.

Investigators said Stephen's mother was told to bring him to the station, probably for a lecture. They said Stephen had no [illegible] one seeing him, apparently one [illegible] see he's quite amazing over.

Tigers Rip Ponies; Indians Here Tonight

The Snyder Tigers bombed the Andrews Mustangs, 91-66, Monday night to capture their fourth victory in five starts in the young 1964-65 cage season.

Starting fast with a running game, the Bengals leaped out to an early lead, saw the edge taken off briefly in the second period and then turned on the steam in the second half to win with relative ease. With a 27-point lead early in the fourth period, Coach Ned Underwood turned to his bench and used reserves for most of the remainder of the contest.

The Andrews B team avenged an earlier defeat by nipping Snyder B, 64-62. Snyder B had won over the Andrews team by a similar score in the local B Team Tournament last weekend.

The Tigers, who had four men scoring in double figures, saw their shooting percentage soar again. They connected on 31 of 53 tries from the field for an average of about 58½ per cent.

Drew Bullard paced the scoring with 21 points, while Leslie Brown had 18, Jerry Vestal 15 and Leslie Anderson 13.

The Bengals get a chance tonight to avenge their only defeat of the season when the Seminole Indians pull into Tiger Gym for an exhibition game. The Indians inflicted the only Tiger loss, 81-67, last Saturday night in the finals of the Seminole Tournament. Tonight's activity will begin at 6:15 p.m. when the two B teams tangle.

Snyder leaped out to a 25-14 lead in the first quarter against Andrews. In the second period, the Bengals slowed their pace, but Andrews didn't. The Mustangs had cut their deficit to 8 points at half-time when Snyder led by 43-35.

The Tigers came out running again in the second half, and by the end of the third period had hiked their lead to 63-45. Early in the fourth, with the score at 80-53, Underwood began flooding the game with reserves. Eleven men saw action for the Tigers, some of them for the first time in a varsity game.

Joe Emmons was Andrews' top scorer with 10 points.

The Tigers controlled the boards, getting 43 rebounds compared to 28 for Andrews. Steve Crowell pulled in 11 for the locals, while Phillip Floyd had 10 and Brown 6.

In the B game, Sandy Wellborn roped 16 points to pace Snyder, while Smith had 19 for Andrews. Two other Snyder B team members were in double figures, Rob Golden with 13 and Gordon Stokes with 12.

Poll Dominated By Wolverines

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's powerful, veteran Wolverines, who have romped through three games without major difficulty, dominated The Associated Press' first regular season basketball poll today and confirmed their pre-season selection as the nation's best collegiate crew.

The Wolverines, who lost only one regular from the team that finished third in the nation last year, gained 32 of the 34 first-place votes cast and had a whopping 100-point margin over second-place Wichita.

Michigan, which already has survived two major tests, gained 337 points in the balloting on the basis of 10 points for first, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. Wichita, winner of its only start this season, moved up from third in the pre-season poll to second with 236 points.

A flock of upsets and surprises in the first week prompted a major shuffling of the first weekly ratings from the pre-season poll, with only top-ranking Michigan and 10th ranked St. John's of New York holding on to the same spots.

Three of the pre-season elite, fourth-ranked Davidson, No. 7 Syracuse and No. 8 Kansas State, split their two first-week starts and dropped from the top ten. UCLA, the defending national champion and No. 2 in the pre-season picks, also split, and plummeted to No. 7 after an opening loss to Illinois, 110-83.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points:

1. Michigan (32)	337
2. Wichita	236
3. Vanderbilt	189
4. St. Louis	170
5. San Francisco	140
6. Minnesota (1)	133
7. UCLA	86
8. Duke	83
9. Kentucky	62
10. St. John's, N.Y.	59

Cappelletti Sets Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Gino Cappelletti, Boston's top pass catcher and field-goal kicker, has bettered his own American Football League scoring record with 155 points. He set the old mark of 147 in 1961.

The 30-year-old pride of the Patriots scored a touchdown on a pass from Babe Parilli, kicked a 12-yard field goal and added four conversions in Boston's 31-24 victory over Kansas City Sunday.

Cookie Gilchrist, Buffalo fullback, leads Matt Snell, the New York rookie, by 71 yards in their battle for the rushing lead. Each player has two games to go. Gilchrist has gained 862 yards in 193 attempts, Snell 791 in 178. Each has a 4.4 average.

Chance Has Best Mark In 21 Years

BOSTON (AP) — Dean Chance, 23-year-old Los Angeles Angels' right-hander, posted the lowest average in 21 years in winning the American League's earned-run championship last season, the official figures disclosed today.

Chance yielded only 51 earned runs in 278 innings for a 1.65 mark, the best since Spud Chandler of the New York Yankees finished with 1.64 in 1943. Chance was named winner of the Cy Young as the majors' outstanding pitcher in 1964 last month.

The Angels' star also pitched the most innings, 278, the most complete games, 15, and the most shutouts, 11. Five of his 20 victories were by 1-0 scores, tying a major league record.

Joel Horlen of the Chicago White Sox was second in the ERA competition with 1.88. He was followed by Whitey Ford of the Yankees, a two-time earned-run king, 2.13; Gary Peters of the White Sox 2.50, Juan Pizarro, another Chicago left-hander, 2.56, and rookie Wally Bunker of Baltimore, 2.69.

Bunker had the highest winning percentage, .792, on a record of 19 victories and only five defeats.

Al Downing, the Yanks' southpaw fireballer, was the strikeout leader with 217. He also issued the most bases on balls, 120.

Baltimore reliever Stu Miller gave up the most intentional bases on balls, 14, while Bill Monbouquette of Boston allowed the most hits, 258. Orlando Pena, veteran Kansas City right-hander, permitted the most runs, 126, and home runs, 40.

'I Played Lousy,' Palmer Declares

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

HONOLULU (AP)—Has Arnold Palmer lost his fabled finishing kick? Is age catching up with the [illegible] greatest money-winning golfer? Is he developing a Jack Nicklaus complex?

"Ridiculous" says Palmer himself to such suggestions raised after he blew the Canada Cup Individual Trophy last Sunday in one of the most unbelievable collapses in bigtime golf.

"I just had a miserable round—I played lousy. It's as simple as that. That's all there is to it."

Palmer, after firing successive rounds of 65-66-67-67 with the first of these in the preliminary pro-am, wilted to a 78 on the final day and allowed his teammate, Nicklaus, to walk away with his second successive individual crown.

The American team of Palmer and Nicklaus won easily, the fifth triumph in a row for the United States.

The individual duel between Palmer and Nicklaus, recognized as the world's two best pro golfers, overshadowed the one-sided team competition, although both Jack and Arnie resented the emphasis on the individual play.

Palmer led through the first two days. After 36 holes, he had an eight-stroke bulge on his partner. After 54 holes, although Nicklaus fired a record-tying 65 in the third round, Arnie still led Jack by six shots.

Even with his record for fabulous comebacks, Nicklaus wasn't conceded a chance of making up six strokes on the redhot Palmer.

But Sunday evening, there was Nicklaus the champion with a 72-hole score of 276. Palmer was second with 278. Jack had gained eight strokes in 18 holes.

Was he beginning to feel the weight of his 34 years? Nicklaus is 10 years younger.

"Not at all, I felt better for this tournament than I have in a long time," Palmer said. "There can't be an excuse there."

Were the greens bumpy?

"They were the same greens that I was one-putting the three days before," he said.

Is Nicklaus' success beginning to wear on his nerves and perhaps jar his confidence?

"Jack is young and strong, a fine golfer," Arnold said. "He's going to win a lot of tournaments. I hope I win a lot more.

"It's true I'm not as young as I was, and I plan to cut down on my tournament schedule — maybe 15 a year — but I'm not ready for the old people's home yet."

Palmer, who lost out to Nicklaus in the money-winning race and who finished second five times in a row this past season, showed no sign of discouragement.

It seemed a bit strange to see the charger, who has built up a reputation for miracle finishes, go into reverse and blow a tournament on the last day.

"For three days I played as good a golf as I've ever played in my life," he explained. "It happens I had a bad one. The law of averages and all. I'm not going to let it bug me. A new year is coming up."

Exhibition Record Of SWC Sags

By The Associated Press

Texas Tech's Red Raiders took their second straight intersectional loss Monday night, falling to Arizona 77-75, and it gave another jolt to those who might have been rating the Red Raiders tops in the Southwest Conference.

In another shocker Texas succumbed to Louisiana State 83-75—the same Louisiana State team that Baylor walloped 84-72 last week.

That left Baylor the only undefeated team in the league.

Meanwhile Texas Christian's young men showed off again as they strapped Arlington State 95-71 for their second victory in three starts.

The Tech and Texas losses pushed the conference's intersectional record down to 5-11, which is about as poor as they come.

Southern Methodist will try to gain a little lost ground tonight when the Methodists play Tulsa at Dallas. Texas A&M takes on Sam Houston State of the Lone Star Conference at Huntsville.

Arizona led Texas Tech most of the way and fought off several surges in the last half as Bob Hansen paced the Wildcats with 21 points and 11 rebounds. But the high man of the night was Dub Malaise, who pitched in 27 points for Texas Tech.

Louisiana State came from behind a 43-42 intermission deficit to beat a Texas team that had been averaging 99 points per game. Bill Wilson and Harry Heroman pitched in 21 and 20 points, respectively. The only 20-pointer for Texas was Paul Olivier.

Rich Sauer and Gary Turner bombarded Arlington State with 25 and 22 points, respectively, and the Frogs never had much to worry about. Turner grabbed 19 rebounds to help TCU dominate the boards. The Frogs shot at a 50.7 per cent pace.

Sam Houston Faces Concordia Saturday

MOOREHEAD, Minn. (AP) — The Concordia Cobbers fly off to Augusta, Ga., today, bidding to return the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football crown to Minnesota a second straight year.

The Cobbers, unbeaten in nine games, meet Sam Houston State of Huntsville, Tex., in the NAIA title game Saturday in Augusta.

Jake Christiansen, Concordia coach, said he planned passing and kicking drills as soon as the team arrives in the Georgia warmth. Cold weather has kept the team indoors here.

St. John's of Minnesota won the NAIA crown last year.

Aggies Pin Their Hopes On One Of Bear's Star Pupils

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M remembered how Paul (Bear) Bryant rebuilt its football fortunes, so it got a man from Bryant's championship team to coach it back to greatness.

From Alabama, where he has been assistant head coach to Bryant, comes Texan Gene Stallings to take over the sagging fortunes of the Aggies.

Stallings was named head coach of A&M Monday while Henry (Hank) Foldberg, who has been athletic director and head coach for three years, becomes full-time athletic director.

Stallings was recommended by Foldberg to succeed him as coach with the statement that "we are fortunate to get a real outstanding young coach like Gene Stallings to head our football program."

Stallings was an end on the 1956 Texas A&M team which went undefeated and won the Southwest Conference championship under Bryant.

Bryant quit at A&M in 1957, however, and went to Alabama, his alma mater, which was looking for somebody to drag it out of the doldrums. Bryant did that—he has had two national champions at Alabama.

Stalling was freshman coach in 1957 but went to Alabama with Bryant in 1958.

He was a member of Bryant's first team at Aggieland in 1958—the year Bryant took his unlikely squad to Junction, Tex., to train.

It was rough and tough and several of the players quit but from this rigorous grind came the hard core of one of the great Aggie teams—the 1956 outfit that among its many accomplishments beat arch enemy Texas in Memorial Stadium at Austin—the first time it had ever been done.

They speak of the Junction Boys with reverence at Texas A&M.

The 1956 team couldn't participate in a bowl game because the school was on probation for recruiting violations. But the next year it was off probation and Bryant's team, which had an 8-2 record, played in the Gator Bowl.

Since then A&M hasn't had a winning team. This past season it won only one game, bringing the record of Foldberg in three years to 6-23-1.

Stallings and Foldberg both were given four-year contracts and will begin their official duties next Monday. Stallings returned to Alabama Monday to wind up his affairs.

"I'm thrilled at the challenge to coach at A&M," said Stallings. "I appreciate the confidence that Hank Foldberg and the board has shown in me."

The college board acted after Dr. Chris H. Groneman, chairman of the A&M athletic council, recommended Foldberg because "a full-time athletic director is a necessity at Texas A&M," and Foldberg, in turn, recommended Stallings as his successor.

Stallings, 29, is a native of Paris, Tex.

Bryant has called him "the top young collegiate coaching prospect in America."

Optimism Grows In Shipping Rift

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Sun reports there is optimism in shipping circles that a threatened longshoremen's strike from Maine to Texas will be averted.

"Today rumors were ripe in shipping circles—including responsible sources—that a settlement could be reached within 48 hours," Sun maritime editor Helen Bentley wrote in a story from Washington.

She reported that longshore management and labor in New York "are engaged in all-out effort to reach an agreement before Thursday—the day voting is scheduled to begin on the so-called 'final offer' under the Taft-Hartley Act."

Dockworkers went on strike after a prolonged stalemate continued through the Sept. 30 contract expiration. They returned to work within 43 hours, however, under a federal court injunction after President Johnson invoked the Taft-Hartley Act.

The injunction expires Dec. 20.

Mrs. Bentley wrote that New York area vice presidents of the International Longshoremen's Association met with the labor policy committee of the New York Shipping Association Monday.

"The only statement they would issue publicly was to admit that they had an informal meeting," she wrote, "but no negotiations were attempted."

"However, the management committee remained in conference long afterwards working on the details sought by the union," the story added concerning hatch checkers and clerks who would be affected by the shippers' demand that steamship companies be permitted to eliminate these men when not needed.

"The checkers and clerks issue has held up all bargaining since Sept. 29, when that became the foremost point of contention."

At a meeting of Local 1 in New York Monday night, Mrs. Bentley wrote, the checkers and clerks rejected "final offer" terms but they were due to meet today with the labor policy committee in an effor to iron out the issue.

Marxist Loses Ground In Election

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan's chief opposition took an anticipated early lead today in British Guiana's general election, but Jagan's party narrowed the gap as returns from rural areas began to come in.

With about a third of the vote tabulated, official results from 13 of the British colony's 35 districts gave Forbes Burnham's People's National Congress 46,328 votes to 33,846 for Jagan's People's Progressive party.

The ultra-conservative United Force had only 10,726 votes.

Allocation of the assembly's seats will be made under a new system of proportional representation, with each party getting seats according to its total vote.

Although Jagan's Progressive party was still expected to get the largest vote, the expectation before the election was that it wouldn't get the majority necessary to give Jagan control of the assembly and another term as premier. Instead, the Congress party and the United Force were expected to join forces to make Burnham premier. The British — and the U.S. government — hoped this would result in a pro-Western government, and that Britain eventually could give the colony independence.

46 Million Trees To Be Decorated

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 46 million Christmas trees will add glitter to the American holiday season this year, the Agriculture Department predicts.

Most of the trees will come from domestic forests and plantations, but about 850,000 will be cut in national forests.

The department said a six-foot tree may take as much as a quart of water daily to keep it fresh and fire-resistant after it is first brought indoors.

Prelaunch tests given to Nimbus, the weather satellite, included shaking it vigorously, freezing it and roasting it to a turn.

Student Dies Of Burns

GALVESTON (AP) — A college student who police say poured gasoline over his body and ignited it died today in a burns treatment center here.

He was Alton Wade Crook, 18, a freshman basketball player on scholarship at West Texas State University in Canyon.

Officers said Crook, after a quarrel with his parents over remaining in school, bought three gallons of gasoline at a service station in Canyon about 1:30 a.m. Nov. 3. He disappeared down an alley.

Moments later he came running back aflame. A service station attendant and an officer in a nearby police car snuffed the boy's burning clothes with a blanket.

Lewis Crook, the victim's father, said the boy had wanted to quit school and work in California.

Meet Originator Of Rudolph's Red Nose

By JAMES E. DWYER

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — Robert L. May turned the tables on Santa Claus 25 years ago. He gave Santa — and children all over the world — a Christmas gift called "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer." It happened almost by accident.

It started in 1938 when May, an advertising copywriter for Montgomery Ward, wrote some parodies to liven up the company Christmas party.

The parodies went over so well that the sales manager called May into his office a few months later and asked him to create a give-away item for the 1939 Christmas season.

"My idea is a little animal story like 'Ferdinand the Bull,'" the sales manager told May.

"Ferdinand was very popular at the time," May recalled Monday, "but I thought then the only animal for Christmas was a reindeer."

He continued: "The idea for Rudolph was no flash in the night. I kept thinking that my reindeer had to be an Ugly-Duckling type and that the reason for his ugliness would also have to be the reason for his eventual popularity with the other reindeer.

"Speed and strength hardly seemed qualities which made for an under-dog, but flying in all sorts of weather seemed to have possibilities.

"I first thought of some kind of light coming from the reindeer's eyes, like the reflected light from a cat's eyes.

"As I thought of how to portray the lighted eyes, my thoughts went from eyes to nose, and then I knew I had it. A bright, red nose to light Santa's way in fog, mist and snow."

Wards made copies of Rudolph's story available to their retail and catalogue stores. Total orders in 1939 reached 2.4 million.

In 1949 songwriter Johnny Marks wrote the famous Rudolph song, sung by Gene Autry, which fostered a boom lasting through 1952.

Asked how much money had been made from the sale of millions of Rudolph records and books, May, 59, now a catalogue editor for Wards, would only say that the extra earnings had taken the strain off the family budget. Royalties still roll into his home in Skokie, a suburb of Chicago.

Rich or not, the end of the Rudolph song could aptly be applied to May for creating a Christmas standard: "You'll go down in history."

US Crude Production Climbs Last Week

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Daily production of crude oil and lease condensate in the United States averaged 7,744,740 barrels last week, up 67,100 barrels from the week before, the Oil & Gas Journal said today.

For the week ending Dec. 5, Texas production was 2,669,550 barrels daily, up 20,850 barrels. Oklahoma produced 573,700, up 35,800; New Mexico 311,850, up 5,650, and Louisiana 1,635,300, a gain of 6,300.

There are more than 8,000 automobile wrecking companies in the United States. During 1962, nearly 4,700,000 vehicles were scrapped in this country.

Brando's Ex-Wife Is Booked

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Marlon Brando's ex-wife, Anna Kashfi, ran screaming and fighting through a hotel lobby late Monday night, climaxing a day-long scramble for physical possession of their son.

The son, Christian Devi, 6, passed back and forth between them three times Monday.

Investigators said Miss Kashfi, arrested in the lobby of a hotel in the fashionable Brentwood district, was clad only in a sheer nightgown and light robe when she raced through the lobby.

She was alarmed, they said, because of Brando's ultimate victory in the custody fight — he had taken Christian from her room.

She was handcuffed and taken to the West Los Angeles station after she allegedly slapped a police sergeant. She was booked on suspicion of battery on a policeman.

Judge Edward R. Brand ruled that Brando, 40, could have full custody of Christian pending a full hearing Dec. 17.

Under a previous court order, Miss Kashfi, 30, had custody with Brando allowed specified visits with the boy.

At Monday's hearing, Brando also complained of Miss Kashfi:

"She keeps a fully loaded revolver in her home and carries it around and plays with it while under the influence of barbiturates. She is capable of doing great physical harm to herself and to our son."

Miss Kashfi and Brando were married in suburban Eagle Rock Oct. 11, 1957. She obtained a divorce April 22, 1959, charging the actor with extreme cruelty.

Republican Push For Unity Takes Some Strange Turns

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Somebody mention unity?

There are about a dozen dictionary definitions of unity and this may explain the lack of it among Republicans who want their defeated party to unite.

Dean Burch says he wants unity although over the weekend some Republican governors said they want him fired as chairman of the Republican National Committee, a job he got through Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The governors in Denver issued a statement calling for party unity and, among other things, suggesting the national committee take a good look at its leadership.

Some of them said this wasn't aimed at Burch; some said it definitely was. Particularly Govs. George Romney of Michigan, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said they want Burch out.

Burch, whether or not he was a good chairman, was a terrible prophet for on election night, Nov. 3, with the roof falling in on Goldwater, he cheerfully predicted: "This picture is going to brighten considerably as the sun moves toward the West."

The final news from the West was even worse. Goldwater lost every Western state except his own Arizona.

But Monday, in a statement which some interpreted as a move to soothe his critics and keep his job, Burch called for unity.

"It now remains for all of us, governors, senators, congressmen, state chairmen, national committee members and workers, to demonstrate that the Republican party seeks strength through unity — not weakness and even impotence through needless quarreling and disunity."

At the same time his right-hand man — John Grenier, executive director of the national committee — quit with a statement which could hardly be considered a unifier or a pacifier.

Grenier, a fervent Goldwaterite, had been under criticism, too. His sudden departure, so soon after the governors' statement, could be considered an effort to cool off attacks on Burch and the committee.

But Grenier didn't seem obsessed by unity when he called in newsmen to announce he was leaving.

He said he will defend Burch and blamed a big part of Goldwater's defeat on "so-called Republicans": Romney, Rockefeller and Scranton. He said he was leaving to resume his law practice in Alabama.

The urge toward unity among Republicans is not new although it has taken strange turns. It began right after the election.

Richard M. Nixon, former vice president who campaigned for Goldwater, said the party needs unifiers, not dividers, and then attacked Rockefeller, who didn't campaign for Goldwater, as one of the principal dividers. He called Rockefeller, a "Spoilsport" and Rockefeller called him "peevish."

About the same time former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was saying he thought Nixon would play a great role in unifying the party. But Robert E. Smylie, Republican governor of Idaho, was just then calling for Burch's ouster.

Goldwater after the election suggested it might be a good idea to realign the Democratic and Republican parties into "two new teams" under "liberal" and "conservative" banners.

But Henry Cabot Lodge, who had been a senator and ambassador to South Viet Nam, thought this was such a bad idea he called it "totally abhorrent to the American two-party system."

While Goldwater said he intends to retain the party leadership, he also said the real source of the leadership is in Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican Senate leader, and Indiana's Charles A. Halleck, Republican House leader. But Dirksen apparently doesn't want to get into any fights. He said: "I intend to stand still. I intend to do a lot of thinking and get a new perspective."

Junior Editors Quiz on EARTH

QUESTION: If the world is round, what is meant by going to the ends or the four corners of the earth?

* * *

ANSWER: To the ancient peoples, the world seemed obviously flat. They invented many strange conceptions to suggest what might lie beyond the small area of the world they knew. In India, the Hindus thought of the world as having a slight upcurve, as shown in our illustration, taken from an old woodcut. What was underneath? An enormous turtle, said the Hindus; on his back, four strong elephants holding up the earth — and these represented the four directions, north, east, south, west. These, perhaps, may have suggested the four corners of the earth. In the circle below, we look down on the earth as a flat disc, as imagined by many ancient peoples. Around the outside flows the ocean river, Oceanus. When a man went "to the ends of the earth," he had gone as far as he could in any direction. The philosopher Plato (left) thought of the earth as a cube with a square flat top. Centuries before, the Egyptians had conceived of the earth as box-like, encircled by a river. Since a box has four corners, this is perhaps another source of the "four corners of the earth" saying. The four corners meant the most remote places on earth one might imagine.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: All the ancient peoples thought of the solid earth as the center of the universe. Now we know the earth is a planet revolving around the sun. See if you can find the name of the man who first set us straight about this. His name begins with C.

Are Yuletide Office Parties Really Passe?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane.

It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party.

"What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. The memories of the survivors of office Christmas parties are as undependable as those of the veterans of any other war, and a tendency to gory up the picture develops as the years pass.

Actually, in the old days — say a quarter of a century ago — many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not one member of the staff wound up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration — at least as it is fondly recalled by many — was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalping raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

Some, or all, of the following events might happen:

Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler.

At least 15 employes went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him — and the boss made a mental note to start off the New Year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

In attempts to break up one fist fight, four more would start.

Six middle-aged married men suffered ankle sprains chasing the girls from the stenographic pool from desktop to desktop.

By 10 p.m. — the party was supposed to end by 7 o'clock — the place looked like it had been hit by a hurricane, and the office boy was sent out for four more bottles.

By midnight, the boss was wearing mistletoe in his hair, had his arm around the janitor, and was promoting him to executive assistant.

At least five husbands didn't get home until Christmas morning.

One fellow had to be dissuaded from trying to cool off by hanging from the windowsill by his fingertips.

Campaign Against Waste Completely Buckled Down

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON AP) — Three years ago today, the chief of the newly created Defense Supply Agency beamed at reporters and announced his first victory in a campaign to end wasteful buying practices by the armed services.

Folding his arms contentedly, Lt. Gen. Andrew T. McNamara said he had decreed that all the armed services should standardize on a single belt buckle design and that it would be made of black coated metal.

As it turned out, McNamara's victory claim was a bit premature.

Since then, the general has retired from the Army, his place in DSA has been taken by a Navy admiral — and the all-service belt buckle still isn't a reality.

There are those who believe it may never be.

The Defense Supply Agency was one of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's earliest ideas for saving millions of dollars.

He hopes to do this by combining the purchasing of thousands of items used by all the services — clothing, foods, auto parts, and many others. The aim: to eliminate duplication of efforts, sometimes even competition among the services for the same thing.

After creating DSA in late 1961, the secretary appointed Gen. McNamara — no relative — to head the new agency. The general was once the Army's chief quartermaster.

One of the first questions to confront the general was this one: Why should the services use different kinds of belt buckles?

Army, Navy and Air Force men wore gold or silver ones. They were less expensive than the metal buckles favored by the Marines.

The Marine buckle was said to come in handy opening beer bottles, but it wasn't this feature that made it more expensive. DSA said the relatively high cost of the Marine buckle was traceable to its heavy copper content.

So Gen. McNamara stepped in and handed down his unification ruling.

The services and industry launched research and development programs. There were laboratory and field tests.

"Indications from field tests conducted by the services are that industry has been unable to produce an acceptable black buckle within reasonable cost limits," the supply agency told The AP.

Until this impasse is resolved — if ever — it appears that Army and Navy men will continue to wear the same buckle costing about 10½ cents each, airmen will support another variety costing about 13 cents and the Marines a third type costing about 35 cents.

Jury Finds Hiroshima Pilot Insane

GALVESTON (AP) — Jurors deliberated only 14 minutes before deciding Monday that Claude Eatherly, 46, who flew reconnaissance for the dropping of the first atomic bomb, is insane.

Eatherly, subject of the book "The Hiroshima Pilot," will not be tried on a charge of taking $32 from Mrs. Mario Dell'Osso on Sept. 25. The jury pronounced him insane at the time of the robbery and now.

The former Air Force Major flew the "Straight Flush," a reconnaissance plane, over Hiroshima and radioed [illegible] way was clear for the A-bomb drop.

Experts have said Eatherly's repeated troubles with the law stem from guilt feelings over taking part in the historic raid.

County Psychiatrist B. W. Henry and Dr. Wiebke Thomsen of the University of Texas medical branch testified that Eatherly suffers from chronic schizophrenia, undifferentiated type.

Defense lawyer Andrew Baker said Eatherly presumably will be committed indefinitely to the Rusk State Hospital. He said Eatherly is "more of a threat to himself than to society."

His wife and seven-month-old daughter were in the courtroom as the verdict was returned.

Eatherly claimed he suffered a blackout and remembered nothing of the Sept. 25 incident. Baker said Eartherly used a toy pistol then and for previous holdups.

H. L. Hunt Offers Newspaper Column

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas oilman-industrialist H. L. Hunt is putting out a daily newspaper column on public affairs which he said will be a five-a-week effort.

Weeklies will be offered a separate column later, he said.

Hunt said the column would run 200 to 230 words daily. He named the Houston Chronicle as one of the first papers to buy it.

Asked if a ghost writer is [illegible] Hunt answered affirmatively but said he usually ends up writing what the ghost writer writes.

Chief Orders Officers To Cut Down Calories

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Calories count, says Idaho Falls Police Chief Robert Pollock, who has ordered each officer, including uniformed female members of his department, to weigh in daily and mark the pounds on a chart.

The order is part of a weight-reduction program launched to improve physical fitness. A loss of a pound a week was ordered for overweight officers.

Tax Guide Costs More—And No Pictures!

WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember the swimming pool and oil-well towers that caused such a fuss last April?

Well, they aren't in the new "Your Federal Income Tax." But that's not all the Internal Revenue Service left out of its popular guide.

It rolled off 300,000 copies without realizing some of Acting Commissioner Bertrand M. Harding's opening statement got lost someplace on its way to the printers.

When you're in the glum business of collecting taxes, though, you take things in stride. So, the presses were stopped, the lost copy inserted, and another million or so booklets were run off.

The 300,000 offenders? They are being retained for "internal use," a spokesman said without getting terribly explicit.

The swimming pool and oil-well towers?

They got the revenue service into hot water with some oil men last spring when they were used to illustrate the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The oil men thought the illustration implied favorable tax treatment. Mortimer M. Caplin, who then was the tax commissioner, said nothing of the sort was intended, but he promised it wouldn't appear in the 1965 edition.

So the tax men explain the depletion allowance this time without any pictorial help.

A best seller, "Your Federal Income Tax" has been upped in price from 40 cents to 50 cents a copy, obtainable at district IRS offices.

For the additional dime you get additional reading matter — 160 pages instead of last year's 144. Tax changes are spotlighted in a special portion of the index.

Winter's Onslaught Fails To Cool Building Outlook

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter's first onslaughts may be putting a crimp on construction here and there but not in the industry's confidence that still another good year lies ahead.

Construction poured about $62 billion into the economy in 1963, and in the first 11 months of this year was running 6 per cent ahead of that.

Once feared as a possible drag on 1965's economic growth because of a slowdown in home building, construction in general now is billed to add at least a moderate lift next year.

Housing accounts for about one-third of the total and may be less than spectacular. Many elements in the other two-thirds continue to boom.

Census Bureau figures for November show actual construction, figured at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, running at $65.6 billion, ahead of both October 1964 and November 1963.

This helps offset the pessimism generated by the October reports of another statistic, contract awards. These had dropped 7 per cent from a year ago, largely because of the sharpest decline of this year in the residential field.

Contract awards point ahead and any drop if prolonged is disturbing. But economists point out that other forward-looking signs are good. Spending for several other forms of construction seem sure to rise.

These include new highways, school building, manufacturing plants. Plans have been announced for expansion in all three fields.

Office building has topped out in some regions, continues at a fast pace in others. For the nation as a whole, office building may stay around this year's rate — far from a drag on the economy, but still no boost.

And the utilities should spend more for expansion because Americans go right on talking more on the phone and using more electricity and gas.

Much of the slowdown has been charged to overbuilding in some communities, and largely in apartment houses where vacancy rates have been rising.

All of this is expected to change in the next few years as the many who were born in the middle and late '40s become young adults and move, first into apartments, and then into homes of their own.

But next year, if construction is to help the economy grow, the accent will be more on spending by federal, state and local governments, and expansion by industries. The climb from the $55 billion of 1961 to the current annual rate of $65 billion is expected to continue.

Ratings Give Networks 3-Way Tie

NEW YORK (AP) — The major television networks wound up in approximately a three-way tie in audience popularity, according to Nielsen ratings made public today.

Research departments of all three networks found that the final statistics based on Nielsen's sampling of television homes during two weeks in mid-November resulted in total ratings of 19.4 for both CBS and NBC, and 19.3 for ABC. Each rating point represents slightly over 500,000 homes, and usually is counted as representing slightly more than a million viewers.

The report found NBC's "Bonanza" the nation's most popular show, followed by ABC's "Bewitched" and CBS' "Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C."

ABC's "The Fugitive" and CBS's "Andy Griffith Show" were tied for fourth, followed by CBS's Red Skelton, "The Munsters," "The Lucy Show," Jackie Gleason, and ABC's Thursday night edition of "Peyton Place." These were television's 'top 10' shows for a rating period which the industry considers critical in making any schedule changes and in planning for next year's schedule.

Farm Bureau To Fight For Farm Vote

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is starting a grass roots drive designed to prevent farmers from losing voting strength in state legislatures.

Platform writers at the big farm organization's annual convention today called upon its members and leaders to campaign to set aside — through a constitutional amendment — a recent Supreme Court ruling which would reduce rural voting power in legislatures.

The ruling held that representation in state law-making bodies must be solely on the basis of population. In most states having bicameral legislatures, membership in one body has been based on other factors, mostly on areas, and the other on population.

The Farm Bureau leaders see in the court ruling a big shift of legislative seats away from rural areas to urban areas — a development which already has virtually destroyed the influence of farmers in Congress.

The farm population has been declining sharply in many states. Because of tax matters, rural zoning, highways, education and other state and local problems, Farm Bureau leaders consider it essential that farm strength be maintained in legislatures. At its recent convention in Atlantic City, N.J., the National Grange convention took a similar stand.

Both farm groups want an amendment to the Constitution which would retain the old system of appertioning legislative seats.

"Our time-tested and successful pattern of legislative representation on both an area and a population basis provides a workable system of checks and balances," said a convention resoluion.

The platform writers will ask the federation to adopt a resolution which, in effect, opposes the medical aid program of the Johnson administration. This program would provide medical insurance for all financed by Social Security taxes.

The tentative federation resolution endorses voluntary health insurance programs of the type advocated by some members of Congress and by the American Medical Association.

The policy writers also took a slap at the U.S. Supreme Court. "We are concerned," they said, "about the present tendency of the U.S. Supreme Court to invade the legislative area, to expand federal authority at the expense of state law, and to affirm executive interpretations of statutes beyond the intent of Congress."

Many Cuban 'Wetbacks' Cross River

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A new type of "wetback" is reported in action at the U.S.-Mexico Border—Cuban refugees crossing the Rio Grande.

Cubans arriving in Miami after flying to Mexico from Havana say traffic across the border river is brisk.

"They are crossing by the hundreds," said Carlos Estevez, who came this week from Cuba via Mexico.

"From Mexico City they go to the U. S. Border by any means possible, then take a boat or wade across the river."

The Cuban migration comes at a time of a U.S. threatened shutdown against the original wetbacks—Mexican farm workers who have been coming to the United States. The law permitting their entry expires Dec. 31, and their future status is in doubt.

Estevez said about 100 Cubans a week have been flying to Mexico recently from their Communist country. Mexico and Spain are the only Western airline outlets remaining from Cuba.

"U. S. Border guards question them when they come from Mexico," Esteves reported. "if they qualify, they are admitted as refugees. Many come on to Miami."

Refugees say they must turn over their property to the Fidel Castro regime before obtaining permission to leave Cuba by airlines. The only other escape route is by small boat, a hazardous undertaking.

Only four boats carrying 41 refugees made it to the United States in November.

Grenier Vows To Back Dean Bureh

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — John Grenier, a top strategist in the Republican presidential campaign, says he is going to work to keep Dean Burch as chairman of the national party although he is leaving his own post.

The young Birmingham attorney credited with delivering 271 votes to Sen. Barry Goldwater at the GOP convention, reluctantly submitted his resignation Monday as executive director of the Republican National Committee. It was accepted.

Grenier, 34, gave four reasons for resigning — and strongly emphasized the last one, to tell the "full story" of what he termed the magnificent job done by Burch.

Burch — as was Grenier — has been under fire since the national ticket of Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller lost in a landslide vote to the Democratic slate headed by President Johnson.

Grenier, at a news conference, blamed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Michigan Gov. George Romney, and Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton — in that order — for the defeat.

He said they were the causes of the defection of 7 million Republican voters.

"The three most damaging issues against Goldwater were that he was trigger-happy, against the Social Security system, and surrounded by extremists," Grenier told The Associated Press.

"These were the three charges delivered by Gov. Rockefeller and Gov. Scranton," Grenier said. "I would say much the same applied to Gov. Romney." He noted that Romney later endorsed Goldwater's candidacy, but indicated the damage had already been done.

Ellis Island, gateway for generations of immigrants to America, soon will be a national historical site.

Grenier was named executive director after the Republican convention in San Francisco. Prior to that he was active in Southern states a pro - Republican grassroots movement in Alabama and was as chairman of the Alabama Goldwater-for-President drive for 11 months.

Grenier will resume his post from a law firm, he said.

'Unlovely Specimens' Serve In Ranks Of Mercenaries

By ROBIN MANNOCK

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Some came for adventure and some for pay. Some came for a chance to serve the cause of a peaceful Africa, as they see it.

They are the men the world calls Premier Moise Tshombe's "white mercenaries" — several hundred volunteers spearheading Tshombe's drive against the Red-backed Congolese rebels.

What are they like?

Take British Lt. Jeremy Spencer, 25, a scion of a rich north of England family.

Pay meant next to nothing to him. Adventure did, and he died with a rebel bullet in his head as he sat in the front line in a deck chair, languidly directing the battle with a sword.

Grizzled and tattooed veterans of many wars, whose every second word is a curse, still go misty-eyed when they talk of him.

They miss the way this tall, slender Englishman gave orders in his aristocratic drawl. They miss, above all, his ice-cold nonchalance in the face of danger.

The last month of fighting their way 600 miles to Stanleyville, capital of the rebel "Congolese People's Republic," has thinned the mercenary ranks down to a lean, mean residue.

For almost every one of the 200 or so soldiers from South Africa or Rhodesia still in the Congo, a would-be mercenary fighter has been put aboard a southbound plane for home or has deserted without waiting for his pay.

"There were drunks, drug addicts, coffee shop cowboys, homosexuals, and cowards," says Maj. Michael Hoare, the tough chief of Tshombe's English-speaking men.

There still are some unlovely specimens among his men — killers of unarmed civilians and looters.

"Let's face it," says Hoare. "If we had only hired angels, we'd have never got together the labor force needed for this sort of job."

Hoare, 44, a veteran of war behind the Japanese lines in Burma and in Tshombe's secessionist state of Katanga, has little more than his own personality to back up his orders. The Congolese army's disciplinary code is almost nonexistent.

Said Lt. John Peters, a former British paratrooper from Leeds: "If any of my men answers back, I take him round the corner and use my fists."

Hoare's most trusted officers fought for Tshombe in his secessionist days. They formed the small nucleus who recruited the others through advertisements in South African and Rhodesian newspapers.

Men flocked to sign on for base pay of 130 pounds sterling — $364 — a month as volunteers. Officers and noncoms earn up to three times more. Mercenaries also are paid about $16 a day danger money when they are in battle.

Only half of their pay is in foreign currency sent to their banks at home. The rest is paid in Congolese francs which cannot be taken out of the country.

Each man is entitled to two weeks' paid home leave at the end of his six-month contract.

Each man also has a life insurance policy for $20,000 payable to his next of kin. Nearly 20 families of Hoare's men already have qualified.

Snow Delays Harvesting In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department reports the Texas cotton harvest, now is 65 per cent complete, was slowed last week 3 to 7 inches of snow north of the Canadian River.

In the plains area north of Lubbock, light snow, sleet and freezing rain kept cotton strippers out of the fields but gave gins a chance to catch up.

The low temperatures also slowed wheat and oat growth and temporarily retarded the Cross Timbers peanut harvest.

In its weekly crop-weather report Monday, the department said cotton harvest was 72 per cent complete at this time a year ago.

Sorghum combining neared an end last week with 99 per cent of the crop harvested.

Moisture conditions are now good throughout much of the wheat area and oat prospects remain good except in some dry areas of South Texas, the report said.

"Native ranges are in better condition than a year ago in most sections of the state with the exception of the High Plains, Trans-Pecos and sections of South Texas," it added.

Livestock remain in generally good condition but supplemental feeding increased with colder weather.

Weather was warm in the Rio Grande Valley most of the week, and green peppers, tomatoes, cucumbers, carrots, lettuce and broccoli were available.

Noted Texan Dies Monday

JACKSONVILLE, Tex. (AP) —Dr. John M. Travis, a general practitioner who also was interested in soil conservation and cattle, died Monday after a long illness.

Travis, 87, was one of the founders of the Nan Travis Memorial Hospital and Travis Clinic here. In 1952 he was named by the American Medical Association as practitioner of the year.

He was one of the main organizers of the East Texas Cattle Raisers Association and also helped set up the Sabine-Neches Soil and Water Conservation District.

The funeral service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Jacksonville Presbyterian Church.

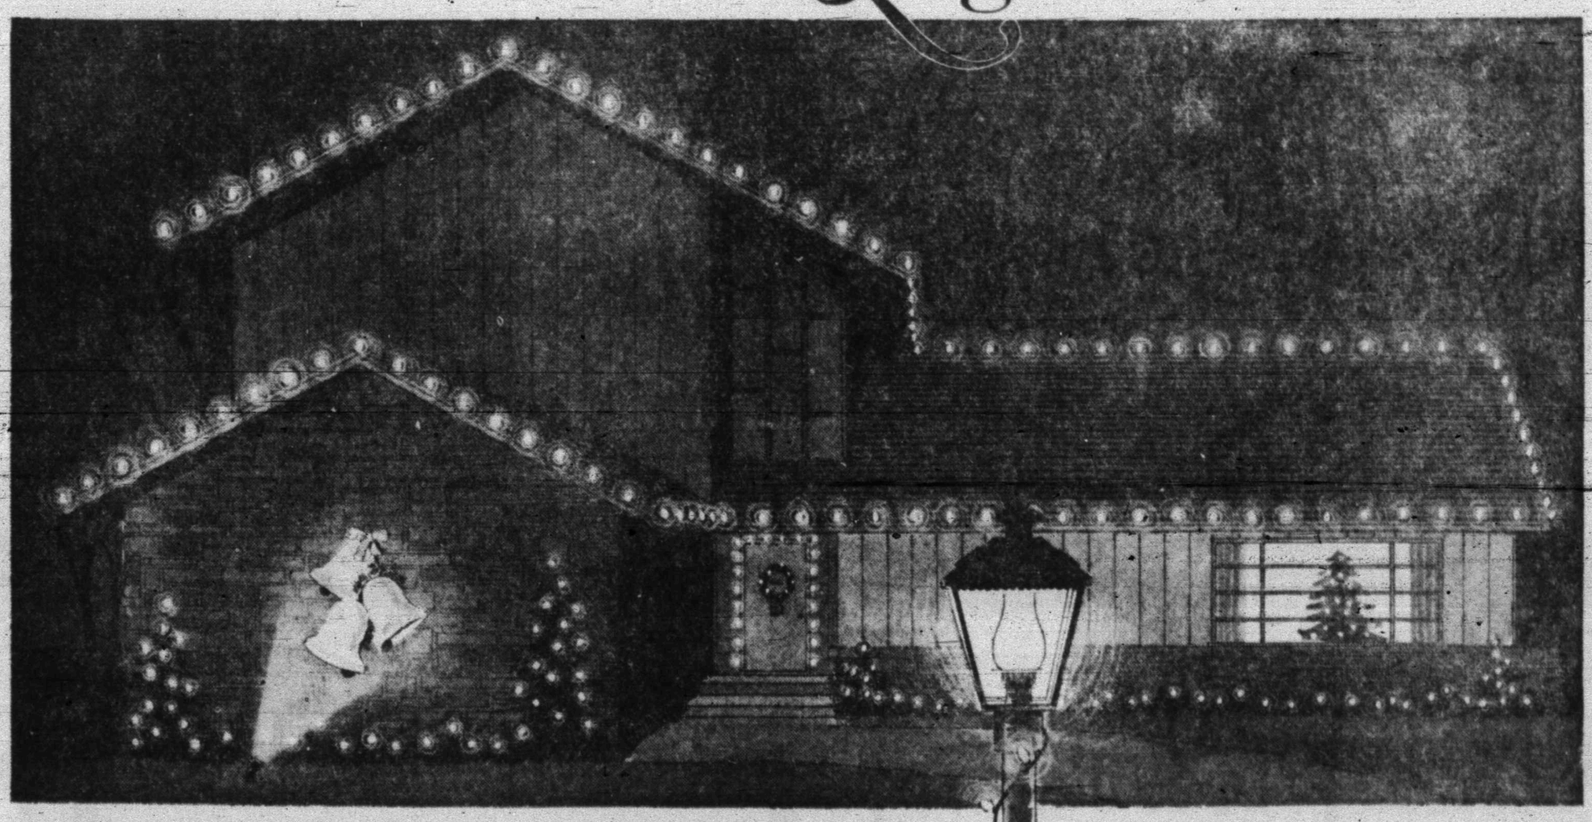

Kansas Firm Gets Contract For Bridge

GALVESTON (AP) — Massman Construction Co. of Kansas City, Mo., will build a bridge linking the west end of Galveston Island with the mainland under a $2,738,760 contract awarded Monday.

The bridge will span San Luis Pass and the opposite end will be in Brazoria County. It will be financed by $2,300,000 in county road district bonds.

County commissioners opened bids on the project last week and Massman submitted the low of 107...
