A view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Ah, it's gonna be a better year in 1992. We not only believe that, we have to believe that.

1991 wasn't as bad as it is being made out, but still it wasn't one of our best years. Overall the economy was pretty flat. Some sectors actually saw declines. The weather had a great deal to do with economic activity here on the South Plains, as it always does, but we too were impacted by economic conditions elsewhere.

Actually there were areas of growth during 1991, tremendous growth. The size and cost of government went up, way up. Taxes went up, way up. Congressmen, viewing their handiwork and the difficulty of their job, decided they needed to see growth in their own income, so they increased their own salary. State politicial leaders, seeing growth in the clamor for increased spending, increased taxes to take care of the clamoring.

The welfare rolls continued to grow. So did the murder rate in many cities. Foreign aid, at least for selected client states, continued its pace.

And, lest we forget, 1991 was a year of fast growth in the realm of political rhetoric, as a multitude of Congressmen, many of whom voted to cause the problems we now face, came forth with vocal solutions to the problems they have caused. (We are told the only way to solve our problems is to send them back to Washington, or to Austin).

So we can't actually say it was a year of no growth in America. It was only among the producers where real difficulty appeared. Among those who produce the goods and services that make the wheels of commerce and business turn it was not a period of much growth. Indeed, it was a period of much dificulty.

But 1992 is going to be better. It appears we may have Spring moisture in the soil, if we can get usual rains between now and then. Spring grazing should be in better shape than was the case last year. Interest rates are cheaper than they have been in many years. There's always a chance, albeit a slim one, that Congress will come to its senses. There's a chance, again a very slim one, that the President's efforts to open Japanese markets to American goods may succeed. There's a chance the European Common Market may take a more realistic position on agricultural export subsidies, bringing theirs a little more in line with our own.

Having said all that, we would also have to say we believe there are areas in which little hope exists for any meaningful change. Given the fact that we now live under Reconstruction II, otherwise known as the Voting Rights Act,

Caprock Hospital District free of debts for first time in 27 years

By Alice Gilroy

Caprock Hospital District is debt free for the first time since 1965, Hospital Administrator Terry Keltz announced this week. All debts owed by the hospital have been paid.

"In retrospect it appears that the board's worst fears back in May (when the hospital was closed temporarily) proved to be valid," said Keltz. "Now that the fiscal year has ended we can see that the acquisition of a third qualified physician was probably not possible during the last five months of the fiscal year. It is most likely that we would have ended the fiscal year with the hospital district owing approximately $678,000. That figure is based on the losses being experienced at the time of closing and considering the hospital's liability at that time."

A frequent question posed to Keltz is, "What are we getting for our tax dollars now that the hospital is closed?"

The first utilization of tax revenue served to pay past due bills owed by the hospital district. When the hospital closed in May, these liabilities were estimated to be around $278,000 with some bills dating back to the early 1980s.

Currently tax dollars are being used for building and property maintenance, repair and improvements, ongoing physician recruitment efforts, collection of accounts receivables and bad debts. Caprock Hospital also supports Floydada EMS ambulance operations and provides the EMS Director with office space and equipment.

"When the hospital closed in May," said Keltz, "our accounts receivable balance was approximately $155,000. Our collection activity has reduced this to a current level of $31,000. We are also concentrating on collecting bad debts which total over $900,000; however, we expect to collect only a minimal amount of this figure due to the age of these accounts.

"Numerous repairs to the building and property that were not possible previously, due to the financial condition of the hospital, have also been undertaken. The hospital has received a new roof, a broken sewage system has been repaired, and Cogdell Clinic has undergone repair and reconstruction. This morning was the first time since I have been here that we have not had to remove buckets of water from the recovery room following a rain."

A tour of the clinic shows a larger patient seating area, a children's area, larger passageways allowing for wheelchairs, a centralized receptionist area, a minor treatment room, and offices and treatment rooms for four doctors.

Before we can re-open the hospital we need a cash reserve of approximately $500,000 to fund the first quarter of hospital operations," said Keltz. "The accumulation of tax revenue and collection of accounts receivables during the fiscal year will account for more than half of this amount."

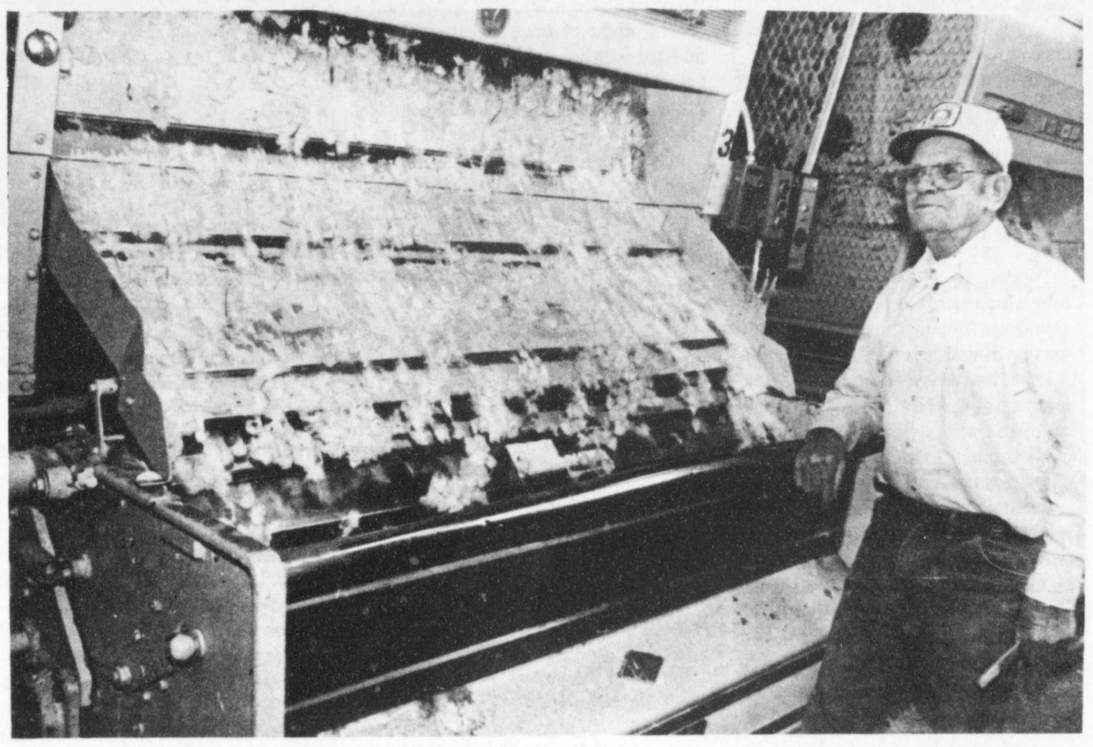

Keltz believes that it is necessary to continue to improve the clinic facilities to enhance physician recruitment. "At this time our number one priority is physician recruitment," said Keltz. "Opening Cogdell Clinic is the first step in returning primary care to Floydada.

"Methodist Hospital is committed to assisting our hospital in physician recruitment with promises of providing for physicians salary guarantees for two doctors when they are found.

"Methodist Hospital has been very helpful to Caprock Hospital during the past fiscal year by not only writing off over $8,000 in payables due them, but also by paying the administrator's salary for the year. Methodist also wrote off the first 12 months of management fees assessed in 1990 to Caprock Hospital, in the amount of $44,844.00.

"I am committed to finding qualified physicians who are willing to provide the health care services that our community is in need of. I have just completed communications with 24 family practice residence training programs in the state of Texas, requesting an audience to present our unique opportunity to their residents.

"Hopefully I will be given an opportunity to address all 24 of these programs this year. Texas Tech Family Medicine Program was the first to respond and I will make a presentation to their residents in March."

HILLERY POLVADORE, 83, has been reporting for work at Floydada Coop for the past 39 years. --Staff photo

Polvadore sees changes in ginning throughout 39 years

By Alice Gilroy

When you start looking for valued employees, Floydada Coop need look no further than the #2 gin where 83-year-old Hillery Polvadore still works. The Coop has been at the ginning business since 1961, and Polvadore has been at his station longer than that.

Born in Madison County May 11,1908, Polvadore moved to the Mt. Blanco Community in 1920. "I moved to Bob Smith's place," said Polvadore. "Bob was the son of one of the earliest pioneers, Hank Smith."

Polvadore farmed until 1928 and then went to work for N.A. Armstrong until 1945. "I did a little farming with Armstrong, but I mostly worked cattle," said Polvadore. "After he sold out to Dot and Gus Hammonds in '45, I leased a farm in Lakeview. In my spare time I helped Charlie Lewis work cattle."

Then in his extra-extra spare time, Polvadore began ginning. "I would gin in the fall. In 1952 I got 75¢ an hour working at the gin in 16 hour shifts. The other shifts were handled by Marvin Rape and Eddie Muniz.

Even though the gin has changed hands and appearance, Polvadore has stood his same ground since 1952. "When I started to work here it was Bohanna Gin. The Bonhanna's owned it and W.W. Trapp managed it. The press was made of wood then and we burned the cotton burrs in a big boiler for the power to make steam and run the gin. Trapp changed it to diesel and then it was changed to electricity."

Thirty-nine years of gin work might lead some to worry over Polvadore's health, but the active and humorous Hillery appears in great shape. "I started smoking when I has 13," said Hillery. "I would get paid $1.00 a week and would spend it on cigarettes and keep a dime to go to the movies.

"Several years ago I had to go get a lung X-ray. I didn't tell the doctor that I had been smoking since I was 13 years old and ginning since 1952. He took a look at my X-ray and said I had the lungs of a teen-ager and probably hadn't worked a day in my life.

"There were two other fellows with me that were supposed to have their chest's X-rayed. After the doctor said that, they decided he didn't know what he was talking about and they didn't need any X-rays, so they left."

Receiving a tour of Floydada Coop #2 from Hillery Polvadore is an education in ginning history. Explaining the machinery and the ginning process, Polvadore said, "We can put out one bale every four minutes. We used to make five bales an hour.

"Everything used to be done by manual labor, but now a lot of machines do the work. Last year was the best year for cotton that I ever saw, and this year is about normal. The cotton is much dirtier this year though."

A tour of the gin also leaves one wondering how anyone leaves at the end of the day without some kind of hearing impairment. When asked if he goes home shouting to be heard, Hillery laughs and said, "No, we get pretty quiet after we leave here.

"We learn how to shout at each other to be heard, and after you work here awhile you can pick up the sound of one loose belt squeaking a little bit over the roar of the machines."

Working six days a week, Polvadore spends his spare time attending horse sales and auctions. He also owns four lots, just outside the city limits, which houses horses, hogs and rabbits. "The hogs and rabbits are for my grandson," said Hillery.

Work seems to be Hillery's hobby. When the ginning stops, Hillery carrys his work to the Floydada Sale Barn where he works two days a week in the summer.

Hillery is a widower now, since his wife of 56 years, Mary Aleen Brock, died April 27, 1989. "We married November 27, 1935, in the home of Jes Richardson," said Hillery. "We raised two boys and two girls. My oldest son Harold lives in Amarillo, and my oldest daughter Nell is married to Babe Jones in Floydada. Another son, Eddie Lee, lives in Amarillo, and the last daughter Judy Rogers lives in Crosbyton."

Hillery is also the grandfather to eight boys and great-grandfather to four boys.

When asked if he was going to work forever, Hillery asked, "Why not?There's no reason to retire. I'm going to keep on working until the good Lord tells me to quit."

Did you see who won the $10,000 on last week's America's Funniest People?

It wasn't any of the people who did impressions or thought up funny routines. The guy that won probably worked real hard at his routine. It took a lot of practice and a lot of talent.

He had someone in the audience videotaping his commencement. After he got his diploma, he turned to the audience, unzipped his graduation gown and exposed himself. He looked completely naked, but I've heard he was wearing a G-string. He was dubbed by the producers and hosts as "The Class Clown."

I'm sure the families sitting out there waiting to see their children graduate thought he was real funny. Why not? The audience of America's Funniest People and the producers thought he was real funny.

I guess I've lost my sense of humor.

I want to give my opinion on a subject over which there has been much discussion. Hopefully there will be more discussion after this is printed.

I have heard complaints from parents, teachers and school boards about the basketball season and the continuation of games and tournaments during the Christmas holidays.

Parents complain to the school administration that they can't go anywhere over the Christmas holidays with their children if their kids are involved in basketball. If the basketball player misses a game or tournament, which continues to be played during the Christmas break, he or she is kicked out of the program. So, of course, Mom and Dad continue to run back and forth to games and cancel family Christmas plans.

I have no idea what I'm going to do when Brandon gets older and he is faced with the decision to join basketball, but the way I feel about these rules I would discourage him.

Parents spend several days a week running their kids to games throughout the basketball season. Many times the children do not get home from out of town basketball games until 1:00 a.m. Then they are expected to have their homework done and show up in class bright eyed, busy-tailed and ready to learn something early the next morning.

Night after night, parents, brothers and sisters, attend the players games. Some of them start to feel like zombies and have to work at their enthusiasm.

The holidays come along and are supposed to be a time of rest and togetherness with the family. But first—we have to go to tournaments and we can't leave town to visit grandma or anyone else.

Parents complain to the school board and the coaches, but nothing can be done.

I asked around and here is a step you parents, teachers and administrators can take.

Floydada ISD and Lockney ISD cannot stop participating in the basketball program. The scheduling is not their fault. Until the state mandates that all schools will not sponsor basketball during the holiday breaks, the practice will continue. As long as some schools continue to play basketball during the holidays, all schools will compete.

One administrator told me that he saw no reason not to have basketball played one night a week just like football, but the state legislature would not consider it.

A principal told me that the argument against one night a week games was that the other states would continue to play several nights a week and then Texas athletes may not be able to fairly compete for the athletic scholarships. But he agreed that there should be some changes.

In my opinion, if you just absolutely have to play that many games and that many tournaments, the state should prohibit basketball and other athletic events during school holidays. Family and academics are supposed to come first. At least they used to.

If you agree and you want to do something about it write your state legislator. I would tell you who that is, but I'm not sure who it is going to be yet.

You should also write the state UIL director: Dr. Bailey Marshall, Box 8028, University Station, Austin, TX 78713-8020.

Good Luck!

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Thought you would like to hear a Christmas story that expresses the true meaning of Christmas of giving and sharing.

Sudy Cochran saw a need and did something about it. She realized that a large number of the elderly, shut-ins, and people living alone would not have a Christmas dinner. So, she got a group of her friends together and cooked a lovely turkey dinner, serving approximately 200 people on Christmas Day.

ACCOLADES to Sudy for a job well done! and God Bless. I'm sure her thoughtfulness brought a warm feeling of Cheer to Many.

Sincerely,

Jackie Walls

Gray featured as bank artist

The artist of the month at Floydada's First National Bank is Mrs. Goldie Gray. Her current exhibit of oil portraits, including those of several local subjects, may be viewed during regular banking hours throughout the month of January.

Following an eventful and colorful career as a musician, dancer and entertainer, Mrs. Gray moved to Floydada from Corpus Christi in 1985 with her late husband, Erman Gray (a former band director at Floydada High School in the 1940s). The Grays owned and operated Coronado School Assembly Service until their retirement in 1985.

Although traveling extensively in show business for 40 years, Goldie managed to continue painting, and participated in numerous clinics, seminars and exhibits in the Southwest.

Mrs. Gray received early art instruction at the Incarnate Word Academy in Corpus Christi. She later studied with Susannah Cosgrove, a well-known San Antonio calendar artist whose works featured South Texas bluebonnets and shrub country landscapes.

Goldie was one of the founding members of the San Antonio Art Association, and exhibited several years at shows and clinics sponsored by the Black Range Art Association of El Paso. While exhibiting with the Black Range group, she studied under several artists at Kingston and Hillsboro, New Mexico, including the noted Austrian artist Lervis Krupp.

One of her recent works was of legendary Ringling Brothers' Circus bandmaster Merle Evans. The portrait is part of the permanent collection at the museum of the Society for Preservation of Tent, Folk and Repertory Theater in Mount Pleasant, Iowa. A smaller version of this work is included in Mrs. Gray's showing at the First National Bank.

JANUARY BANK ARTIST--Goldie Gray of Floydada has been selected as January's Artist of the Month at the First National Bank in Floydada. Her display may be viewed during regular banking hours throughout the month of January.

Grace Fellowship pastor begins counseling service

Ted Samples, pastor of Grace Fellowship Church in Lockney, announced this week that he will be available to provide Christian counseling service to any individuals in the community in the areas of drugs, alcohol, family, youth and marriage.

There is no charge for the service. "This is a ministry for our community from Grace Fellowship Church," said Samples. "I believe that it is something that is needed and I hope that I can be of help to anyone who needs it."

Samples holds a bachelor's degree in social work and has had many years of experience in Christian counseling.

Anyone who is in need of counseling may call Rev. Samples at 652-2332 for an appointment.

pushed through an obedient Congress by the sainted Lyndon Johnson, we see absolutely no chance that the Texas Legislature will come up with anything resembling fairness and equity in the Redistricting process. Nor do we see any real change in the way the Legislature has operated, despite the new Ethics sham concocted during the new Governor's first session of the Legislature. In all probability special interest politics will still rule.

So why are we hopeful that 1992 will be better? And why do we worry that it might not be better?

It's an election year, that's why. The potential is there for people to get their own licks in. In a democracy that's the key. And it's all we can ask for.

So Happy New Year. It's gonna be a good year, perhaps even a great year.

Dear Friend,

First of all, thank you for your visit to Hotel Turkey! (If you have not visited our facility, we hope you will take the opportunity to stop by soon.) Your interest helps this facility continue to serve guests. Your interest also allows on-going restoration as evidenced by the Hotel's listing in the National Register of Historic Places October 24, 1991, by the U.S. Department of Interior, Washington D.C. Our thanks to you and may this season bring joy and happiness to you and your family.

We take this moment to introduce you to Hotel Turkey's publication Heritage Tymes. This is a quarterly newspaper (8 pages) which speaks of a by-gone era in hope that we can all learn from the past to make a better and brighter future. The Heritage Tymes tells about our heritage and specifically its beginning. Other "news" will keep you up-to-date on current and future Hotel events, programs, & restoration progress. Advertising is courtesy of newspapers from the late 1800's through the 1930's. All in all, we believe you will enjoy and benefit from receiving Heritage Tymes.

Proceeds assist in publication and distribution of the paper and in the continued restoration of Hotel Turkey and the Heritage Trail Park under development on the hotel grounds. With your annual subscription, Heritage Tymes will be mailed to you each quarter beginning with the first issue, scheduled to be mailed by March 1992. If for any reason you are not satisfied with this publication, your full payment will be refunded promptly and cheerfully. We are really excited to be able to share the continued growth of our family with all our special friends. Thank you for your support in our dream of preserving what was a wonderful time in our country's heritage.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

Hi! Long time no see! It was so busy over the holidays and with them falling on Wednesday, I missed the deadline to get the news in on time.

Do hope this finds all wel and happy and all going on a diet

We have had all kinds of parties, visiting and refreshments. Now it is time to get back to the routine of things. My daughter, Paula, her husband, Dave and son, Jesse visited 10 days with me from Brainerd, Minnesota. They thought that the weather here was so warm.

January 1 started the year with a parade on T.V., football games all day and snacks.

There was a Resident Council meeting. Ottis Johnson called the meeting to order. Mrs. Lennie Miller and Ellen Galloway are officers on the council. They discussed Residents Rights, all enjoyed popcorn.

Friday, Evelyn Latta came and played the piano for us. We shared Eph. 1:7-10, "God gives us grace to stay in His will and to know His plan for us." Dairy Queen treated the residents to ice cream. Grace Gomez drove the bus to Matador. It was a nice day for the ride. Some of the residents got to see some old friends.

Charles Breeding picked the meal of the month for January, spaghetti, meatballs, green beans, pineapple salad, bread, plum cobbler, tea/coffee.

We want to welcome two new residents, Mrs. LaVerne Norris of Matador and Neva Calahan of Lockney.

Our love, sympathy go out to the family and friends of Charlie Warren.

We want to thank all those who bought tickets for the raffles and also those who helped make our Christmas party a success.

Until next time, take care and come see us.

A Thought:

Touch My Heart

Touch my heart and I'll touch yours,
With a gentle word or two.
For kindness bears the sweetest fruit,
That makes our dreams come true.

Take my hand as I grow old,
And lead me when I'm blind.
Show me that you really care,
Good friends are hard to find.

Touch my heart and I'll touch yours,
A little more each day.

Until we both find happiness,
Somewhere along the way.

Morren and Holcombe marry

Susan Denise Morren and Gaylon Rex Holcombe exchanged wedding vows in the home of the bride's parents with Bill Smith, former minister of music of Floydada's First Baptist Church, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Morren and Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Holcombe of Ruidoso, New Mexico. Maternal grandmothers are Mrs. Verna Morren of Floydada and Mrs. Hazel Jones of Plainview.

The vows were exchanged before two white candelabra accented by mauve lilies and emerald green bows laced with baby's breath.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a winter white two piece suit designed with a scalloped front opening accented by large pearl gold trimmed buttons. The fitted jacket featured a papillion that fit over a slim fit skirt.

The bride's bouquet was fashioned of burgundy silk roses with white and burgundy silk lilies.

Mrs. Melissa McCain of League City, Texas, served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a navy and beige suit. She carried a bouquet fashioned similar to the bride's of silk burgundy roses and lilies.

R.C. Holcombe served his son as best man.

The bride's traditional "something old" was the wedding bands of her two grandmothers; "new" was her dress which was a gift from her parents; "borrowed" was a heart shaped diamond drop belonging to Mrs. Cathy Vick and a diamond bracelet belonging to Mrs. Melissa McCain; "blue" was her garter made for her by her Granny Morren.

The traditional Wedding March was recorded by Miss Pam Lockwood and musical selections of "Themes from Ice Castles" and "We've Only Just Begun" were presented by Mrs. Angel Morren, sister-in-law of the bride.

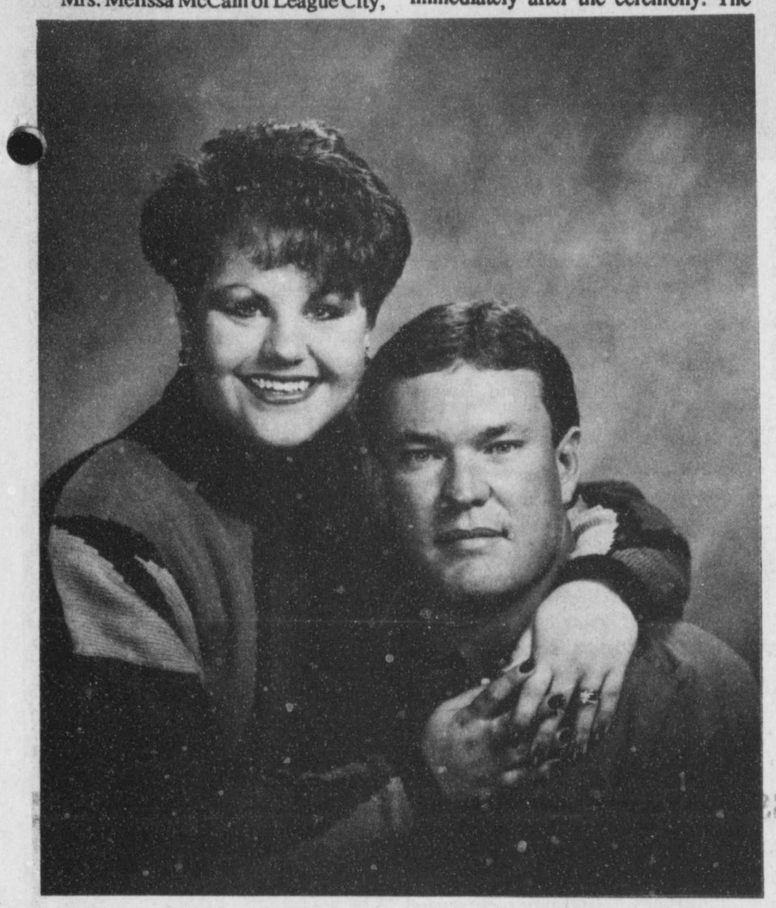

A dinner and reception were held immediately after the ceremony. The groom's parents were hosts of the dinner, catered by Neil and Charlene Langley.

The bride's table featured a three tiered cake with each tier on a separate crystal tier. The red velvet cake with a cream icing was decorated with silk burgundy and mauve flowers. Strawberry punch was served from a silver punch service. The bride and groom atop the wedding cake was used on the bride's parents wedding cake and her sister's wedding cake. The bride's table also featured silk mauve lilies carried by the bride at Mrs. Sharon Craig's wedding.

Mrs. Holcombe is a 1988 graduate of Floydada High School and a 1990 graduate of South Plains College. She is associated with Dr. S.A. Hale of Lubbock.

Holcombe is a 1980 graduate of Sanderson High School and graduated from Angelo State University in December of 1985, he is now currently employed with the Floydada school system as a teacher/coach.

Lockney Girl Scouts gear up for cookie sales

Lockney Brownies and Girl Scouts will be making their annual cookie selling trek starting Saturday, Jan. 11. As most everyone probably already knows, these cookies are great and the only place in the world they can be obtained is from a Brownie or Girl Scout and only during this time of year. These cookies contain no preservatives and freeze very well for later use.

This project is the only fund-raising activity the Lockney Brownies and Girl Scouts will be participating in this year. Each troop will receive a percentage from each box of cookies they sell. The girls will also receive individual prizes according to the number of boxes they sell. The money earned by each troop will be used for troop projects, activities and trips.

The girls from the Lockney troops, 1st grade through 5th grade will be asking their friends, neighbors and families to indulge in some great cookies. Leaders ask that residents be generous when the girls come by.

If you would like to purchase cookies and are not contacted please call one of the troop leaders: Tammi Ray, 652-2167; Vicky Schaeffer 652-3795; Carol Huggins, 652-3115, or Martha Torrez, 652-2537.

Patients can dictate their own treatment

A new Federal law effective December 1, 1991 will inform all adults of their rights to make decisions about their own medical care.

The new law concerns "advance directives", which is government wording for what is commonly known as "Living Wills" and "Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care." An advance directive is generally a written statement that a person completes (most often while that person is in good health), and that details how medical decisions should be made on his/her behalf should that person become unable to make decisions for him/herself. The written statement may also name a representative or proxy to make the person's wishes know to providers of health care services.

The new law requires most hospitals, nursing facilities, hospices, home care programs, and health maintenance organizations to give information on State law covering advance statements and on their policy toward honoring them. The decision to develop a written statement to control medical treatment is strictly voluntary. If someone make an advance statement, that document can be changed or cancelled at any time. The important thing to remember is that the advance directive allows a person to say yes to treatment wanted and no to treatment not wanted. The new Federal law does not require that States enact any particular legislation. The actual substance of the state laws concerning advance directives remains a matter for the states and will differ.

People who need more information on advance statements should contact their personal physicians or the care facility where they will be treated. People eligible for medical assistance should contact the State Medicaid Agency for further information.

Coming Through in '92

By Christy Benjamin

The first senior for this week is Pete Martinez, son of Alfredo and Maria Martinez. He has 4 brothers and 5 sisters. He has attended school in Floydada all of his life. He has been an active member in the Pep Squad, where he cheered fans on at the pep rallies as the Energizer Bunny. He is also on the senior leadership committee.

To earn extra money, Pete worked at an onion shed last summer. His favorites include: Married With Children, Steven Segal movies, black, red, and white, spicy Mexican food. In his spare time he likes to sing and listen to Metallica, Slayer and Garth Brooks.

Pete has pet dogs and he attends the Catholic Church. If he could travel to any place in the world, he would go to the Virgin Islands. He wants to find a good-paying job and someone special to settle down with. Pete describes himself as being "a normal guy," but says he is also "chilled out."

Our next senior is Gilbert Carillo, son of Juan and Viviana Carillo. He has 2 brothers, Juan Jr. and Lupe, and a sister, Betty. He is 17 years old, has attended school in Floydada for 6 years and has also attended Plainview High School. He worked at the onion shed last summer.

His favorite TV show is the Simpsons and his favorite music groups are Metallica and Slayer. His favorite color is black and he likes Mexican food the best. He has a Pit Bull for a pet and he attends the Catholic Church. If Gilbert could travel to any country in the world, he would choose the Virgin Islands.

He admires his father the most. He collects baseballs. When asked what type of gifts would most please him, Gilbert said he would like money, clothes or a new car. In the future, he hopes to find a good job and settle down.

Over the past six years working with the Floyd County Sheriff's Office I have met many of you, and there are many that I haven't met.

I came to work for Sheriff Cardinal on January 1, 1985. I had previously been employed by the Petersburg Police Department.

I am married to the former Teresa Holbert of Floydada and we have one son, Trent. We are members of the Bible Baptist Church in Floydada.

I was raised in Petersburg, attending twelve years of school there and graduating from Petersburg High School in 1972.

I am currently employed as Chief Deputy with the Sheriff's Office and feel that I have the experience to serve the citizens of Floyd County well as Sheriff.

Texas counties eligible for loans

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has announced that farmers in seven Texas counties are eligible to apply for low-interest emergency loans to help recover from damages and losses to crops due to drought, hail and excessive rainfall which plagued much of Texas during 1991.

Due to drought and hailstorms between Jan. 1 and July 19 of last year, farmers in Crosby County are eligible for the loan assistance.

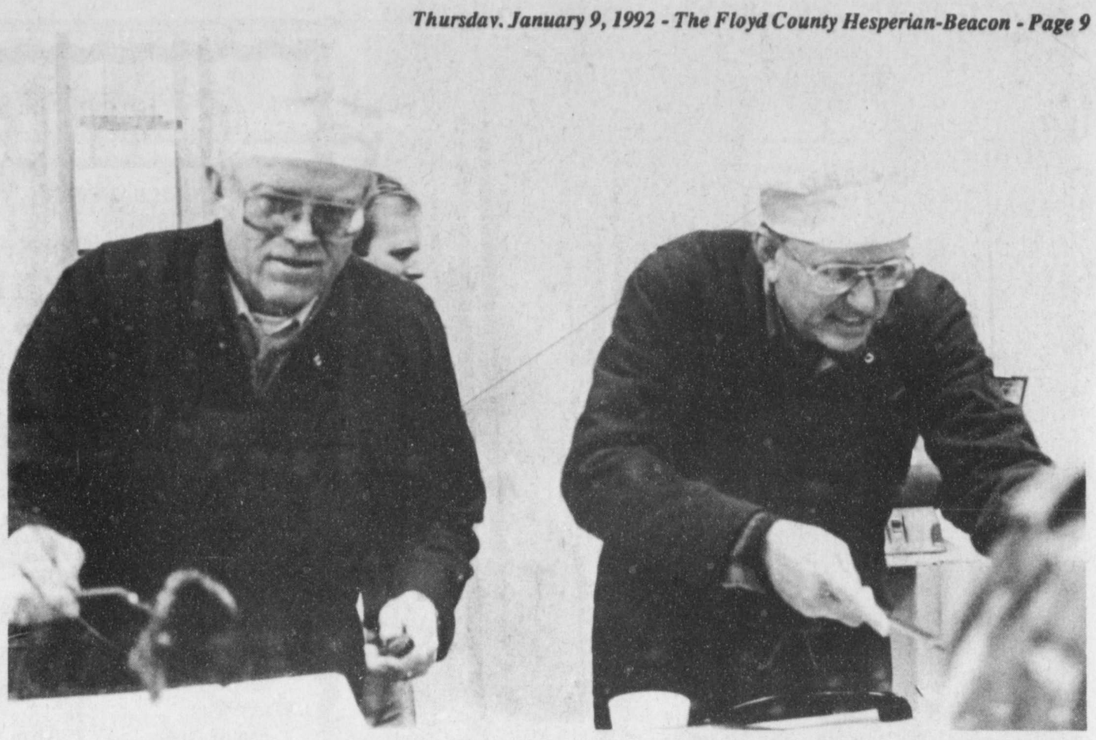

Due to drought between Jan. 1 and July 19 of last year, farmers in Andrews, Dawson, Dickens and Duval Counties are eligible for the loan assistance.

Due to excessive rainfall between Jan. 1 and July 19 of last year, farmers in Bowie and Liberty Counties are eligible for the loan assistance.

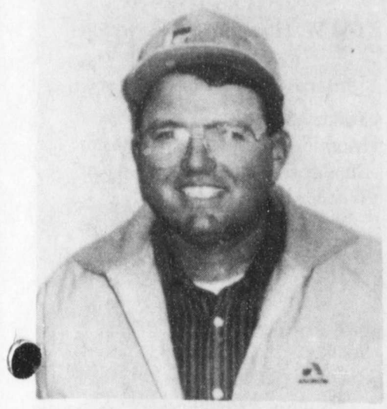

For those who cannot obtain credit through normal channels, the U.S. Farmers Home Administration will make loans available at below-market interest rates to family farmers.

In addition to the above counties, 43 other Texas counties have been named as contiguous counties and therefore eligible for assistance. The counties affected by drought and hailstorms are Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Kent, Lynn, Lubbock and Motley. The counties affected by drought are Borden, Brooks, Cottle, Crosby, Ector, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Howard, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kent, King, La Salle, Live Oak, Lynn, Martin, McMullen, Midland, Motley, Stonewall, Terry, Webb, Wheeler and Winkler. The counties affected by excessive rainfall are Cass, Chambers, Hardin, Harris, Montgomery, Morris, Polk, Red River and San Jacinto.

The FmHA, which will supervise the loan program, is charged with providing aid to the farmers and ranchers in order to assist their economic recovery from natural disasters.

OFFICERS FEED EMPLOYEES--The forty seven employees of Caprock Industries were fed steak dinners for achieving their goal of six months without a loss time accident at the feed yard. 4-H makes difference in lives

From Mike Mallett

A study by Barry Boyd, Extension associate in agricultural chemicals and past president of the Texas Association of Extension 4-H Agents, shows that TAEX's 4-H program does indeed make a difference in the lives of youths. The study to assess the development of leadership skills in youths between the ages of 13 and 19 showed that those involved in 4-H possess far superior leadership skills than non-4-H youths.

A Leadership Life Skills Inventory was used to collect data to determine the perceived level of leadership development. Also, information reflected the youths' level of involvement in school and community activities.

Overall, 4-H members perceived themselves as having developed significantly greater levels of leadership skills in all measurement scales in the study. In addition, 4-H'ers were significantly more active in school and community activities, including career-related clubs, subject matter clubs, student government and church youth groups.

Synchronization pays for ranchers

From Mike Mallett

Estrous synchronization pays dividends for cattle herds, according to a beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In a four-year study in Central Texas, cattle were artificially inseminated following estrous synchronization with Syncromate B. This practice actually gave cattle ranchers a 2-to-1 return over the cost of estrous synchronization at today's cattle prices.

Cows were implanted 11 days prior to the start of breeding and mass mated by artificial insemination 48 hours after the implant was removed.

Conception during synchrony ranged from 20 percent to 54 percent, averaging 36 percent. The conception rate from one breeding, whether it is artificial insemination or with a bull, averages 50 percent. However, poor semen, disease or improper nutrition can lower breeding averages. Additionally, in pasture conditions, a bull may breed a cow more than once and the probability of pregnancy increases.

Even though the average conception from synchrony was quite low, the synchronization still paid. The synchronized breeding resulted in 158 calves from 440 matings. These calves were conceived at an average of 26 days earlier than any other calf.

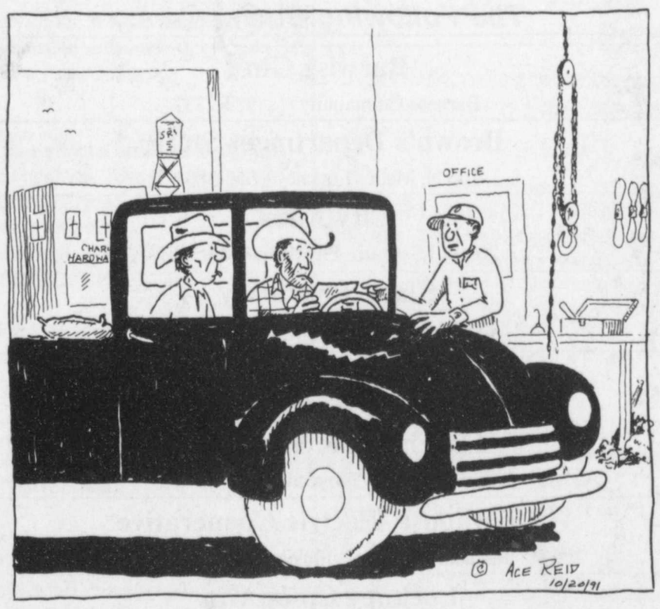

Because these calves were conceived at the time of synchrony, the additional weight is attributed to the practice. Calves typically gain 1.8 pounds or more per day from birth to weaning.

At that rate of gain, and due to their 26-day age advantage, the offspring from synchrony were about 47 pounds heavier per head at weaning than any of their herdmates. As a result, the calves contributed an additional 7,394 pounds of calf to the four herds.

From 440 attempts, there were an additional 16.8 pounds of calf per artificially inseminated mating.

At today's prices, 16.8 pounds of calf translates into approximately $15.50 per mating. In this particular study, the cost of estrous synchronization would still be covered even if calf prices were as low as 47 cents per pound.

Floydada Ambulance Report

By Ted Porter

The Floydada EMS would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every member of this community for it's support. We are encouraged by the fact that there is so much support in the community for it's ambulance service and it's staff. We hope that this attitude will continue to grow, and we can continue to serve this community and county with the best pre-hospital care that we can.

We are still needing funds to help keep the ambulance rolling. We need your prayers always, and hope that you continue to support the ambulance service with your donations and memorials.

This past year the ambulance responded to 221 calls. Since Oct. 1, 1991, we have had 60 emergency calls, of various injuries and illnesses.

As of Oct. 1, 1991 we have had the advantage of running as a MICU (Mobile Intensive Care Unit). While being supported by the South Plains Emergency Medical Services (SPEMS) which provides our medical protocols, medical director, and continuing education programs.

From the board of directors and the staff of Floydada EMS it has been a privilege and honor to serve this community and its citizens in 1991 and we look forward to serving you in 1992. We hope that our dedication and skills are used for the betterment of the community.

We are also in need of additional volunteers for the ambulance service. To end this, Floydada EMS is sponsoring an ECA Class beginning Jan. 9, from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the Caprock Hospital lobby. If you are interested, please call the EMS office 983-2875 between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, class space will be limited. This class is being offered free of charge by the EMS.
