UNDERMINED—The Al Crump family of Nashville, Tenn., woke to thundering sounds, looked ouside and found 30 feet of their Cumberland riverbank front yard gone and their house teetering. The landslide is believed caused by paddlewheel action of a ferry which lands near the house. A housemoving company is attempting to pull the house to safer ground. (AP Wirephoto)

Demos Seek To Close Ranks Behind Blakley

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Democratic leaders sought Thursday to rally their divided forces and prevent election of the state's first Republican U. S. senator since reconstruction days.

Two conservatives — the GOP's John G. Tower and interim Sen. William A. Blakley — will vie for the Senate seat formerly held by Vice President Lyndon Johnson in a runoff tentatively set for June 3.

Vote totals in a special election Tuesday afforded clear evidence of a historic split between conservative and liberal factions among Texas Democrats.

Tower, 35, 5-foot-5½ former professor of government at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, led a bulky field with a sizeable 31.50 per cent of the slightly more than one million votes cast.

Blakley, 62, a rancher, lawyer and financier, rated one of the richest men in the United States, forged into a runoff with 18.32 per cent of the ballots.

Four other Democrats — two of moderate views and a pair of liberals — collected 47.6 per cent. The rest of the 71 men and women on the ballot divided the remaining 2.55 per cent. It took a majority to win without a runoff.

National Democratic committeeman Byron Skelton of Temple called on fellow party members to unite in support of Blakley.

"Sen. Blakley's election is assured," Skelton asserted, "because the Democratic majority in this state is not going to support a Republican for this high office.

"It is not surprising that the Republican candidate got slightly over 300,000 votes in this race, because that just about represents the Republican voting strength in Texas. Republicans voted for Tower in a solid block, which again is not surprising.

"The Democrats had so many in the race they cut each other up with a badly divided vote. But the fact remains that the great majority of votes were cast for Democrats. This makes the election of Sen. Blakley a certainty."

Skelton challenged Republicans to prove statements made in the past about wanting to convert nominally Democratic Texas into a two-party state.

"If they are sincere in this," the national committeeman said, "I challenge them to join me in urging all Republicans to vote for Tower and all Democrats to vote for Blakley."

State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio, a liberal who ran sixth in the U. S. Senate race, promised to back Blakley in the runoff. Gonzalez said it was "impossible and unthinkable" for him to support a Republican.

U. S. Rep. Jim Wright of Fort Worth, who finished third in the contest, rejected a suggestion from some liberal spokesman for a write-in campaign in his behalf, declaring "we should accept the verdict of the people of Texas with good grace."

State Agriculture Commissioner John White was another who urged fellow Democrats to support Blakley.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., identified with the liberal wing, noted that Tower and Blakley together received a little more than half the total vote.

"Each candidate has the opportunity to win," Yarborough said. "The one who can best appeal to the other 50 per cent of the voters with his platform will win."

In answer to a reporter who asked if Yarborough would support Blakley actively in the runoff, the senator said:

"I have taken no part in the campaign so far, and a question of that nature is premature."

Dag Leaves Fate In Assembly Hands

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold left his fate in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly today with a standing offer to resign, but there seemed no prospect that a majority of the members would accept.

Hammarskjold made his showdown move during the assembly's Congo debate Wednesday in an obvious maneuver to take the sting out of repeated Soviet bloc demands that he step down. Judging from the applause he received at the close of his unscheduled address, most delegates want him to stay on.

Hammarskjold, who has been under mounting Coommunist attack since Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded his resignation last fall, stood by his previous vow not to yield to the Red demand unless the assembly asks him to quit.

The U.N. executive also made clear he would consider silence from the assembly to mean he should remain in office.

He told the delegates: "I do not consider that I am entitled to present the General Assembly with a fait accompli by resigning because I have been requested to do so by a big power and its likeminded supporters.

"On the other hand, I regard the will of the General Assembly in this respect as my law, and the General Assembly may thus consider itself as seized with a standing offer of resignation were it to find it to be in the interest of the organization that I leave."

But, he added, if the assembly does not ask for his resignation, he must conclude that "you neither expect me to proceed on the basis of that offer, nor desire in any other way to avail yourselves of the possibility it opens."

Hammarskjold's term of office does not expire until April 1963.

Elsewhere in the U.N. Yugoslavia and 14 Asian-African nations proposed that the General Assembly threaten Belgium with punitive action if she does not pull all Belgian military men and political advisers out of the Congo within three weeks.

Under the U.N. charter the punitive action could take the form of economic boycott, diplomatic quarantine or even force.

The proposal was submitted despite the fact that the U.N. announced earlier Wednesday Belgium had agreed to carry out a Feb. 21 resolution of the Security Council calling for immediate withdrawl of Belgian military and political personnel from the Congo.

The Belgian government made clear once again, however, that it referred only to Belgians under its immediate control and not to the chief targets of the new proposal: The Belgian officers and political advisers Katanga President Moise Tshombe has hired.

Cold Brings Snow, Rain Into State

Torrential downpours drenched parts of South Texas near the coast Thursday and cold air billowed across the state behind a cold front which brought up to 3½ inches of snow in the Panhandle.

The late norther also sent a tornado dancing harmlessly over an open stretch of the lower Rio Grande Valley late Wednesday.

At Harlingen Air Force Base in South Texas, 4½ inches of rain fell within six hours. Brownsville measured 2 inches and more than one inch dampened the Corpus Christi and Palacios areas.

Another hard rain contributed to an auto accident which killed three youths Wednesday night at Schulenburg in South Texas. Their car skidded and smashed into a culvert during the storm. Jimmie Hajovski Jr. of Schulenburg and Lawrence Bartosh and Herbert Zimmerman Jr. of Weimar, all 16, died in the crash.

W. A. Stafford of La Joya sighted the tornado funnel north of Sullivan City in the west edge of Hidalgo County. It did not touch ground. Light hail pelted the McAllen area as showers moistened the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Gruver, 100 miles north of Amarillo in the Panhandle, received 3½ inches of snow which melted as it fell late Wednesday. Smaller amounts of snow, sleet or rain fell across the north part of the Texas Panhandle.

A few snowflakes fluttered down at Lubbock on the South Plains of West Texas around daybreak Thursday.

Rain continued Thursday morning along most of the Texas coast and over parts of Northeast Texas. It was mostly cloudy everywhere in the state.

Temperaturss before dawn ranged from a chilly 32 degrees at Dalhart up to 63 at Brownsville. At the same hour the readings were 34 in Amarillo and 37 in Lubbock.

Small craft warnings flew along the coast from Brownsville to Port Arthur.

Kennedy, Mac Charting Policy In Asian Crisis

Cruiser Trip Slated Today

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan focused their allied policy charting on the crisis in southeast Asia today, planning particularly for negotiations with Russia and Red China on a permanent settlement in Laos.

While the two leaders worked separately at the White House and the British Embassy, their foreign policy chiefs met at the State Department to review the progress of the British-American talks so far and get ready for the final rounds this afternoon and Saturday morning.

At a Potomac River dock the 92-foot presidential cabin cruiser was made ready for this afternoon's Kennedy-Macmillan meeting. The two men and their advisers were scheduled to board the cruiser "Honey Fitz" in midafternoon and spend two to three hours conferring on the Laotian crisis, the Communist threat in south Viet Nam, nuclear tests, disarmament and other issues in the cold war conflict between the Communist bloc and the Western powers.

The two Western leaders, in the second day of their Washington conference, were reported optimistic about Soviet agreement to a guaranteed cease-fire in the Laotian civil war.

They were expected to agree that once the fighting ends they should focus their efforts on unifying and neutralizing Laos, seeking that objective in a forthcoming international conference on the future of the Southeast Asian kingdom.

Kennedy and Macmillan, in fact were described as substantially agreed in their positions on a wide range of world problems—with one notable exception in the case of United Nations membership for Red China.

Their differences on this point could lead to trouble between the United States and Britain at next fall's meeting of the U.N. General Assembly. But the President and prime minister indicated a determination to do everything possible to minimize the split.

They discussed the Red China issue at the White House Wednesday in a series of meetings which began at 11 a.m. and continued until after 6 p.m. U.S. and British officials subsequently described the consultation as "most valuable and useful" in providing a basis for strengthening allied cooperation in many fields, despite the inability of either Kennedy or Macmillan to do anything to narrow the differences on Red China.

The new round of talks today was scheduled to begin with a meeting between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Secretary Lord Hume of Britain. Macmillan planned to attend a luncheon given by Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kennedy arranged to take the prime minister on a late afternoon trip down the Potomac River aboard a 92-foot presidential motor cruiser which he has named "Honey Fitz" after his maternal grandfather.

The White House said the "Honey Fitz" would be accompanied by a PT boat, a small speedy naval combat vessel, for security reasons. The Potomac cruise was scheduled to end between 6 and 8 p.m., Macmillan being due for dinner at the British Embassy at the latter hour.

The shipboard conference, U.S. officials said, was to be devoted primarily to a discussion of outstanding issues between the Western powers and the Soviet Union which so far have not been brought into the consultations. These include Laos, the current negotiations at Geneva for a nuclear weapons test ban, disarmament, Berlin and German problems and possibly such other matters as Cuba and the Congo.

House Returning To Loan Shark Debates

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — House members returned to their battle stations today in a hot loan shark regulation fight.

The Senate marked time after postponing any possibility of final action this week on the only tax bill so far approved by the House.

Both houses had a 11 a.m. date to hear U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough speak.

The Senate State Affairs Committee had been scheduled to the House-approved plan (HB334) to wipe $32.6 million from the current deficit with a new gift tax and increases in franchise and excise levies. However, the group tangled too long over another measure, spelling out annexation controls for cities, and postponed the tax hearing until 3 p.m. next Monday.

The House Tax Committee considered Wednesday night another tax plan, Rep. Ben Atwell's bill (HB700) for a broad-based excise tax. Testimony, solely by Atwell, lasted about 10 minutes. Atwell said the 2 per cent tax would raise at least $80 million a year.

The committee re-scheduled for this afternoon hearing of Rep. George Hinson's tax package (HB918) said to be favored by Gov. Price Daniel and consisting mostly of selective sales taxes. The hearing was set originally for Wednesday night but was postponed after it appeared opponents of a set of bills (HB782, 783, 784, 785) increasing the gross premiums tax on insurance companies would testify far into the night.

The House quit Wednesday in the midst of arguments over a plan (HB7) to regulate small loan firms in Texas. It would set maximum interest rates on all loans up to $3,000 and create a state consumer finance commissioner to administer the annual licensing program.

Nine amendments had been attached before the House recessed. Several were defeated, and at last half a dozen other proposed changes were carried over for today.

Much of the debate centered on an amendment offered by Rep. Eligio de la Garza of Mission.

"This amendment came from the loan sharks of Texas," said Rep. Don Kennard of Fort Worth.

"This is just a different approach to regulating the industry," said de la Garza.

The original bill would set interest rates on a percentage basis ranging from nearly 40 per cent a year on $100 loans to slightly more than 11 per cent on $3,000.

The Mission legislator proposed 5 per cent annually on all loans up to $1,000 plus a $2-a-month service charge on the first $100. The amendment lost, 77-59.

Economic War Against U. N. Continues In Elisabethville

By ERROL FRIEDMANN

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Katanga government and black and white residents of Elisabethville kept up an economic war today against United Nations troops despite President Moise Tshombe's truce with the U.N. command.

All business places, including garages and cafes, still refused to serve U.N. personnel.

The chief U.N. spokesman in Katanga, Michel Tombelaine, was ejected from a downtown hotel Wednesday night by the hotel manager and a Belgian police officer as a crowd of whites jeered.

The Belgian officer and Marcel Tignee, Belgian adviser to Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, told Tombelaine that Tshombe's order to impose economic sanctions on U.N. troops had not been rescinded.

A U.N. spokesman said Wednesday that after a conference with U.N. officials, Tshombe had agreed that sanctions would be "suppressed but not lifted." The spokesman called this terminology a face-saving device by the president. But neither the Katanga radio nor local newspapers made any mention of Tshombe's assurance.

The U.N. military commander in the Congo, Gen. Sean McKeown of Ireland, warned Tshombe during the two-hour conference he would reinforce his garrison in Elisabethville with Indian troops if there was repetition of Tuesday's mob violence against the U.N. force. Tshombe violently opposes use of Indians in Katanga.

About 300 Irish troops poured ino Elisabethville Airport Wednesday to relieve the Swedish garrison that was attacked Tuesday. There was no resistance to the arrival, and another 600 Irish were expected today.

Under the agreement with Tshombe, the Irish and Katanga police will guard the airport jointly.

Probe Panel Report Scheduled Friday

AUSTIN (AP)—The report of the 1959-60 House General Investigating Committee's inquiry into vice and law enforcement conditions in Beaumont and Port Arthur will be ready Friday, Committee Chairman Menton Murray said today.

Murray said the report will be passed out to House members when the Friday session begins.

The committee's report on its investigation of uranium promoter John Milton Addison was released last week. Still to come is the report on the committee's [illegible] Amarillo investigation.

Nation's Business News Brightens

A national survey of business developments as reported in the press this past week reveals a definite upturn, The Advertising Council reported from New York today.

Good news came from both the steel and automobile industries, bell-wethers of the national economy. Steel officials reported the recovery is continuing, with steel shipments expected to total more than 5,000,000 tons in March. That would be a gain of at least 500,000 tons from the short February month and make March the best month for shipments since last August. A top analyst predicted April will be better than March.

On the automobile front, Ford Motor Co. announced it will add 2,300 workers in the next three weeks at its parts plants around the country, while American Motor Corp. announced it would raise Rambler production by 46 per cent and add about 4,000 employes starting April 15.

Publishing also joined in the growing volume of favorable news. Editor & Publisher, trade magazine of the newspaper industry, published a special issue March 25 to report the many ways run-of-paper color advertising is adding effectiveness to advertising, helping both business and the newspapers in the process.

The New York Times is giving serious consideration to expanding its publishing operations to the Pacific Coast, its publisher announced, and on the magazine side the nation's largest publishing company, Time, Inc., announced new highs in revenues, earnings and circulation. The company created a book division at the turn of the year and is considering expanding into other fields of book publishing—a clear demonstration of faith in the future of the American economy.

Lever Brothers, a major national advertiser, announced it will back its confidence with a large increase in its advertising over the normally slack summer months.

The magazine "Electrical World" in its management newsletter for March 27 reported that the stock market, generally regarded as being three to six months ahead of movements in the economy, started moving upward late in 1960 and has continued its rally throughout the first quarter of 1961.

"Some economists look at business performance in 1960 and see in it signs of great underlying strength," the newsletter added. "Business has gone through its biggest post-war swing in inventories with less damage to other economic indicators than we've witnessed in the past. This, they say, shows the diversity of the economy and its resistance to slumps in any one area. They talk of a new boom beginning in the second half of 1961."

The Federal Reserve Board made the talk of confidence official with an announcement that February brought a halt in the six-month drop in over-all industrial production. Bright spots were noted in higher retail sales volume, increased commercial bank credit and money supply, higher stock market prices, and an upturn in iron and steel output and in pro-

Highway 180 Assn. Annual Meet Sunday

Business representatives in Snyder who should be interested in the U. S. Highway 180 Association are invited to attend the annual meeting of the association in Breckenridge on Sunday and Monday.

M. A. Naylor, president of the association, stated "It is a distinct honor that we will have as guest speaker at the noon luncheon on Monday Mr. Hal Woodward from Coleman, member of the Texas State Highway Commission, who will speak on "Promoting Tourist Travel Over U. S. Highway 180."

Since this year's meeting is built around the theme "Promoting Travel Over U. S. Highway 180," highway engineers from every section of Highway 180 have been invited to take part in a panel discussion covering the following subjects: "Improvement Reports and Plans on U. S. Highway 180," plus "Extension of U. S. Highway 180 to Holbrook, Arizona."

Charles Cotten, representing the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, will moderate the program.

The engineers already indicating that they would attend include John Sudderth from Hobbs, N. M.; R. A. Bossy, District 2, Fort Worth; E. M. Pritchard, District 23, Brownwood; and J. C. Roberts, District 8, Abilene. Reports will be read from O. L. Crain, District 5, Lubbock and E. W. Mars, District 24, El Paso, who indicated that they could not attend.

The annual meeting will get underway Sunday evening when members of the association will gather in the new Town Club in the Burch Hotel for a social hour and dinner. A breakfast get-together will be held at Stewart & Peeks Cafeteria where a mural depicting travel over U. S. Highway 180 from Fort Worth to El Paso will be unveiled. The business session beginning at 9 a. m. on Monday will be held in the Elks Building basement, preceded by the presentation of highway officials from New Mexico and the panel discussion. The luncheon will begin at 12:15 p.m. to be presided over by the new association president.

Another important indication of confidence in the future came from the chairman of the American Bankers Association's installment credit committee. He predicted an increase of 16 to 20 billion dollars in installment credit outstanding over the next 10 or 12 years. Edward J. Frey, the chairman, related the prospects for those gains to a trend to a skilled type of employment from unskilled, coupled with a relatively high rate of economic activity.

Dr. J. Philip Wernette of the University of Michigan added, "The present year will witness renewed expansion, which will carry business to new high levels. This growth will continue into the indefinite future and will outstrip past growth. Productivity, as well as the average income of Americans, will rise about 25 per cent by 1970."

Two rival New Jersey automobile dealers decided to stop fighting each other and try a new gimmick. They jointly advertised, "Shop our two lines, then compare." It worked. The trial marriage in print boosted sales for both makes!

Says SAC Is Still Potent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee says the U.S. Strategic Air Command is still "the most destructive striking force now in operation."

Russell, a Georgia Democrat, made the comment Wednesday after his committee held a top-secret briefing on Soviet military might.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and defense intelligence leaders presented what Russell called "a highly classified briefing on our strength and their best estimates of any potential enemy strength."

The briefings continue today with Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr., and Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff, scheduled to outline details of army procurement under military budget revisions by President Kennedy.

Russell made no mention of the "missile gap" controversy which was an issue of the last political campaign.

Masters Meet Blasting Off

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Golf's most pedigreed practitioners, 88 strong, today storm the treacherous Augusta National course in the opening round of the silver anniversary Masters tournament.

Amidst the flowery splendor of dogwood and azaleas comes a relentless 72-hole stalking of the coveted title (not to mention a $17,000-plus top swag) which Arnold Palmer is favored to capture an unprecedented second straight time.

The field handpicked for this tourney rivaling the U. S. Open as a blue ribbon event—54 top American pros, 14 foreign pros and 20 fine amateurs—began teeing off at approximately 9:30 a.m., in cool cloudy weather.

Freddie McLeod, 78 and the 1908 U. S. Open winner, and Jock Hutchison, 77 and the 1920 PGA champion, led the teeing off in traditional fashion.

Last year, it took a birdie-birdie finish for Palmer to wrap up his second Masters with 282, on rounds of 67-73-72-70 over the par 72 wide sloping fairways and deeply-contoured greens.

However, the way practice rounds went over the lush 6,980-yard-course against stronger than usual winds, sunny and calm weather could bring a rare sub-280 winning total and perhaps the first triumph by a foreigner or an amateur. Ben Hogan's victorious 274 in 1953 is the record.

By Sunday afternoon's nationally televised windup, South African Gary Player, 1961's leading PGA money-winner, or an amateur like Jack Nicklaus, the amazing Ohio State strong boy; current simon-pure champion Dean Beman; or Billy Joe Patton, who gave fits to the 1954 Masters field, may have dethroned Palmer.

The same goes for such masters "bridesmaids" as Ken Venturi, last year's one-stroke-behind runner-up, or Dow Finsterwald, Billy Casper and Julius Boros, who finished in that order behind Palmer and Venturi.

Only three of the Masters' 16 champions are missing from the starting field, retired Ralph Guldahl (1939), injury-hexed Art Wall (1959), and Henry Picard (1938) whose wife is ill.

Trader Lane Picture Of Frustration

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., (AP)—Frank Lane, general manager of the Kansas City Athletics, says "I've never been so frustrated in my life."

Lane, baseball's busiest trader in past seasons, said Wednesday repeated attempts to get additional pitchers have failed. He said there's no chance of a trade before opening day.

"I thought we were close a couple of times," he said, "but nothing worked out. There's no point in kidding ourselves. We need pitching help and we're willing to give up front line ball players to get it."

Senior Pete Chudy set a Syracuse University single game scoring record this season when he tallied 41 points against Alfred.

DEFENDING CHAMP TUNES UP—Arnold Palmer takes a long look down the fairway after hitting a drive from the 18th tee during a practice round for the Masters Golf Tournament at Augusta, Georgia. Cousy High On Celtics

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy, the old master of pressure play, says no collection of all stars could beat the Boston Celtics when they play their top game.

"We played as a team in the second half," the weary Cousy said Wednesday night after his 26 points and 14 assists keyed a 116-108 victory over St. Louis.

Though Boston leads the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship playoff series 2-0, the players are unanimous in the feeling they will not be able to win in four straight. The next two games are in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday afternoons and will be televised nationally.

"We'll be lucky to win one out here because St. Louis is playing such good ball," said Tommy Heinsohn.

"It's a long way from being over," chimed in Bill Sharman.

"We were hurting without the big guy," was the opening utterance of Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour referring to center Clyde Lovellette who is sidelined by a back injury. Though there is a chance Lovellette can play this weekend "I won't dress him unless he's 100 per cent okay," Seymour said.

Known for peak performances in the "big ones" throughout his 11 year NBA career, Cousy had never been a more spectacular playmaker.

"It's pride," Cousy explained. "The playoffs are like a command performance before royalty. Not many get the chance and here it is facing you. So you stuff up with pride and get yourself fired up to a pitch. Yeah, it's still a great challenge".

Cousy was taken out of the game with 2½ minutes to play and slumped over on the bench while the 13,909 Boston Garden spectators roared a tribute to his performance.

"I was choked up with a chest congestion and couldn't breathe," Cousy said. "I was making frantic signals to the bench to get me out. The crowd? It was more of a eulogy than an ovation—they probably thought I was going to die," he added with a laugh.

Herman Will Scout California Territory

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd "Babe" Herman, who gained fame with the old Brooklyn Dodgers, has been signed as a scout by the National League's New York baseball club, General Manager Charlie Hurth announced today.

Herman, now 57, will cover the Los Angeles and Southern California territory.

Reggie Root, former Yale assistant football coach, is the new dean of men at the University of Washington. He's a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Yale.

DASHING DAMSELS—The annual Little Olympic Track and Field Meet will be staged this evening on the Tiger Stadium oval beginning at 4:30, and this grouping of Northeast Elementary girls plan to be in the thick of things at that time in the race for the laurels. From left are Brenda Ashley, Dora Felan, Gaynell Prince, Kathy Stokes, Linda Ramirez, and Doris Jean Everts. Boys and girls from all six grade schools within the city will be competing against each other on an individual rather than school affiliation basis. (Photo by Jackson)

FROM SOX TO SENS

Donovan Hits Stride

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a great spring for Dick Donovan, the one-time Chicago White Sox ace who gained a chance for a new life with the new Washington Senators. And at the moment, it must feel like the greatest spring ever for the big righthander.

Dropped out of the starting rotation by the White Sox a year ago, and then grabbed by the Senators for $75,000 in the American League's player pool, Donovan pitched a full nine innings for Washington Wednesday and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2 with a seven-hitter.

The victory padded the spring exhibition record, tops among American League clubs, to 14-8 for the Senators, who debut at home against the White Sox Monday.

Elsewhere Wednesday, the Detroit Tigers made it two in a row over Pittsburgh, whipping the world champion Pirates 12-8; the New York Yankees beat St. Louis on the fifth try, 5-4 in 11 innings; Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 5-4. San Francisco stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0; the Boston Red Sox beat Chicago's Cubs 4-3, the White Sox defeated Kansas City 3-1, the Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 5-3 and Minnesota and Baltimore split a doubleheader, the Twins winning 7-4, then losing 5-4 in seven innings.

The Senators backed Donovan with a dozen hits, but needed only one while scoring five runs in the sixth inning against a wild Johnny Buzhardt.

Jim Bunning went nine innings for the second time this spring for the Tigers, although allowing 13 hits. Rookie Bubba Morton, Dick Gernert and Rocky Colavito hit home runs off loser Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bobby Shantz.

After Bill Skowron kept the Yankees in the game, driving in the first four runs with a double and three-run homer, slumping Roger Maris singled home the winning run off Ronnie Kline.

Southpaw Mike McCormick and Stu Miller combined for a six-hit job that handed the Dodgers their first shutout of the spring. Don Blasingame produced the run the Giants needed in the fifth inning with his first home run of the spring, off Stan Williams.

Don Buddin, back after a two-week bout with an allergy, hammered a home run and drove in another run with a single for the Red Sox.

The White Sox made fine pitching by Early Wynn and Gerry Staley pay off when Ed Rakow walked in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Jerry Casale and Ron Moeller allowed Cleveland just six hits, and Casale opened a clinching three-run fifth for the Angels with a double.

Hawks 13-10 Playoff Pick

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings tonight open the final series of the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoffs in Chicago Stadium—and it will be quite a family affair.

James D. Norris is co-owner and chairman of the board of the Hawks. The Red Wings are owned by his brother, Bruce, and sister, Margaret Norrsi Riker. They are heirs of the late James Norris, founder of hockey's richest dynasty.

The Hawks, who eliminated the world champion Montreal Canadiens in six games with 3-0 back-to-back victories, have been installed 13-10 favorites to win the opener of the best-of-seven series. The Hawks have won the cup twice, in 1934 and 1938. The Red Wings have won it seven times, the last time in 1955.

The Hawks, who finished the regular season in third, and the Red Wings who barely struggled home in fourth and then whipped the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs in five games, will make up the first all-United States Stanley Cup showdown since Detroit defeated New York in 1950.

Victory for the Hawks in the series—which would bring a $54,000 split of the winner's share—would mark the first time Chicago has had a world championship in any sport since the Chicago Cardinals (now moved to St. Louis) took the National Football League crown in 1947.

After tonight's game, with a capacity crowd of 16,666 assured, the series will shift to Detroit Saturday, return to Chicago Monday and then back to Detroit for the fourth game Wednesday.

VERSATILITY PLUS — Snyder Tiger trackster Bax Callaway has been a consistent point producer the season long, and will be depended upon heavily to garner some more of the same Saturday when the team takes part in the district meet being run in Sweetwater. Callaway's specialty is the high jump, in which he has placed on four occasions this year, his 5' 10" leap the past Friday earning him a tie for first place in the event in the San Angelo Relays. He's also a sprint relay stalwart and a 100-yard dashman. (Photo by Jackson)

Queens Whip Omaha, 58-31

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — The National Women's AAU Basketball Tournament enters the quarter-finals tonight with the favored teams still in the running.

The top four seeded teams scored victories Wednesday night.

Defending champion Nashville outclassed Rosendale, No., 69-30. The second - seeded Wayland Queens, seeking their fifth championship in the last seven years, defeated the Omaha Wrights 58-31.

Iowa Wesleyan, seeded third, had a tough time with St. Louis before downing the Missourians 49-36.

Sandra Fiete scored 18 points to lead fourth-seeded St. Joseph, Mo., to a 56-34 victory over Toledo, Ohio.

It took five overtimes before Topeka, Kan., finally defeated Silverton, Tex., 46-44. Rita Horky hit a layup with 3 seconds left to pull out the victory. The five overtimes was a record for the tournament.

Tonight's schedule

Omaha Comets vs. Iowa Wesleyans
St. Joseph vs. Sioux City
Topeka vs. Nashville
Wayland vs. Salt Lake City

Element Of Surprise No Longer Exists

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP)—Baltimore's bold bid for the American League pennant, halted only by the Yankees' climactic 15-game winning streak, took everybody by surprise last year. A similar Oriole effort won't astonish anybody this year.

Manager Paul Richards thinks his young Birds are capable of winning their first major league pennant since John McGroaw's Orioles captured the National League championship in 1896. Cautiously, he adds a couple of "ifs".

"We're good enough to win under certain conditions," Richards said. "First, we have to have good luck.

"Second, you hope for the normal development of your young talented players. I look for Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile, Marv Breeding, Steve Barber and Chuck Estrada to be better because of the year's experience.

"I think our new outfielders, Whitey Herzog, Russ Snyder, Earl Robinson and Chuck Essegian, will help us. I think Brooks Robinson is not only the best third baseman in the league, but one of the greatest all-around players in baseball."

The Orioles' biggest weakeness last year was in the outfield where their only punch came from Gene Woodling and Jackie Brandt. Woodling has since been drafted by the new Washington club.

"I feel we have more than taken up the slack by Woodling's departure," said Richards. "I feel Herzog and Snyder will help us more than people realize. They're good hitters. Herzog was a rough hitter last year until he got hurt and he has a chance to be better."

Richards plans to two-platoon his outfield, using Brandt, Herzog and either Snyder or Gene Stephens against right-handed pitching, and team up Earl Robinson and Essegian with Brandt against left-handed pitching.

The Baltimore infield is set with Robinson at third, Hansen at short, Breeding at second and Gentile alternating with veteran Walt Dropo at first. Jerry Adair, who has been impressive this spring, is sure to be kept, along with utility infielder Ronnie Samford.

Richards plans to keep 10 pitchers and three catchers. Gus Triandos again will handle the brunt of the catching, with Hank Foiles and rookie Frank Zupo assisting.

Champ Eyes Contenders

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will face either England's Henry Cooper or Eddie Machen next while Sonny Liston settles for Sweden's Ingemar Johansson.

That appeared to be the picture for boxing's big boys today with both bouts ticketed for September. The title go probably will be held in New York's Yankee Stadium and the Lison-Johansson international special in Ingemars' home town of Goteborg, Sweden.

Cooper, the British and British Empire heavyweight king from London, has the inside track for Patterson, it is understood, although Machen's hopes were raised by a promoter's statement Tuesday.

Tom Bolan, recently appointed executive director of Feature Sports Inc., said the contenders' field for the Patterson plum had narrowed down to Machen and Cooper. That leaves out Liston, the No. 1 contender from Philadelphia.

Machen, the No. 2 contender from Portland, Ore., will have to show impressively against Mike DeJohn, No. 6 contender from Syracuse, N.Y., in their Monday night clash at San Francisco to merit a look-in.

"Patterson told me he will fight in September against a top challenger," said Bolan. "He asked me to talk with two or three proposed challengers. He said he felt Machen, because of his high ranking, should be given serious consideration. So it looks like either Machen or Cooper in September."

Cooper is ranked third by the NBA and fourth by Ring magazine. Johansson was dropped to fifth by both the NBA and Ring following his sixth-round knockout loss to Patterson in their third title fight at Miami Beach, Fla., March 13.

Johansson himself passed on the latest word on the proposed fight with Liston. Visiting Oslo where the movie of the March 13th fight was being shown, Ingo said negotiations were underway for the fight with Lison in Goteborg.

Liston, unbeaten in 6½ years, has been offered a $125,000 guarantee to meet Johansson.

Tourist Never Has Time To See All Treasures Of Land

BY INEZ ROBB

ATHENS, Greece. — The world is so full of a number of things that tourists should all be as happy as kings. There is never quite time enough to see all the treasures in any land, a happy circumstance that nags the determined traveler to start saving for the next trip even before he has finished paying for the current one.

I long to return to Israel to visit the Sea of Galilee and to spend more time in Jerusalem. And I must come back to Greece for a tour of her beautiful islands. Not even the Greek government is certain how many islands it rules. The official guesses range between 2,000 and 4,000. But I would judge that the latter figure includes even the little rocky cones that pierce the turquoise waters around Greece.

There is a rare satisfaction in visiting, one after another, these two small nations from which sprang the religion and the political, philosophic and artistic mores that have guided and dominated Western thought and civilization for more than 2,000 years. One is the gateway to the East; the other, the portal to the West. Their combined influence on the world is inestimable.

Yet much in both countries remains unchanged, which is one of the joys of traveling in them. In Israel there are communities in which the 20th Century impinges on the First Century. That incomparable jewel, the Parthenon, glowing above modern Athens, is by far the most beautiful reminder of Greece's Golden Age, the Fifth Century, B. C. But it is only one of many great ruins that glorify the nation.

It is a joy to travel through Israel with a Bible as a guide. But next time I shall have sense enough to bring a concordance, too. It is a comparable joy to travel through Greece with a good translation of Thucydides and Edith Hamilton's "Mythology."

Yesterday, as I walked in the ruins of old Corinth, the past of the two small nations merged for a moment in the realization that here, in broad daylight, Diogenes astounded the populace by coming with a lighted lantern, in search of an honest man, and here St. Paul thundered at Corinthians to reform their sinful ways.

I hope both men, in their zeal for reform, occasionally lifted their eyes to the great Gulf of Corinth, sparkling like a sapphire, at their feets. One of the most beautiful drives in Europe is along and above this bay from Petras to Corinth. There is an equally lovely drive above the Saronic Gulf, after one crosses the Corinth Canal, on the way back to Athens.

The Greek government is spending large sums on excellent roads to take the tourist to its historic sites, invariably in the midst of great scenic beauty. It is also building a series of tourist hotels, where the traveler will find a good bed, bath and food. A double room with bath costs from $5 to $6 per day, and a three-course luncheon or dinner is pegged at $2.

My husband and I stayed at three of these government hotels, at Delphi, Olympia and Corinth, and found them always not only excellent but so situated as to give the traveler a glorious panorama of the country. I could hardly tear myself away from the Amfitryon Hotel in Corinth, set high on a hill and commanding a wonderful view of the gulf and the mountains beyond.

One of the most pleasant parts of this trip to, first, Parnassus and Delphi, and then the Peloponnesus, was the four-hour ferryboat ride across the Gulf of Corinth. On the northern shore of the gulf we found a small Yugoslav steamer-cargo boat, the Mostar, tied up at the pier, her tourist-passenger already having left by bus to explore Delphi.

What a kind of Esperanto of our own, my husband and I asked if we might come aboard and look about the Mostar. We were hailed aboard with great hospitality, permitted to sniff the delicious stew in the galley and inspect the "first-class lounge" with its big picture of Tito. We were fascinated to find all the signs in two languages, Yugoslav and English, and no nonsense whatsoever about rigid first-class and tourist-class accommodations.

But what we shall remember longest are the Greek villages alive with neon signs, and old ladies sitting in sunny country doorways, spinning yarn on distaff and spindle, as in the long, long ago of Greece's ancient glory.

Eisenhowers To End Vacation April 14

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Eisenhower will end their desert vacation April 1.

A spokesman said Wednesday that the couple will then go to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm, where Mr. Eisenhower will spend much of his time writing.

The couple came here Feb. 8 and took up residence near the Eldorado Country Club.

No Life Full Without Turn In Politics

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — No one's education in life is quite complete until he seeks to be elected something or other.

It isn't necessary to seek high public office—to aspire to be a senator or a governor or a tenant of the White House.

Running for the presidency of a private club or organization of any kind can be equally enlightening as to the vital dynamics of democracy.

A man learns the same basic facts of politics whether he runs for the presidency of the United States, or for the chairmanship of the local branch of the International Society for the Betterment of the Petunia.

As a matter of pure truth, the infighting in amateur politics is probably more intense than it is in the field of professional politics which is, to some extent, affected by traditional rules.

You are an ordinary man reasonably content with an ordinary job, a wife and two ordinary children. You rather unwillingly join P-TA because—well, you feel you ought to.

You sit silent through the first few meetings. Then, one night, when the audience is asked for suggestions as to how to improve the school, you get up.

"Why don't we get the gym mats cleaned? They look pretty dirty," you say.

Later Joe Doakes, one of the king makers of the organization, approaches you.

"That was a mighty constructive proposal you made. This outfit needs fresh minds and new blood. How about you running for president?" he says.

So you launch your campaign for the presidency on a liberal platform: "Let's get the gym mats cleaned—and hang the expense."

A week later a second faction appears with a candidate whose slogan is, "Why imperil our children's safety with used gum mats? Let's buy new gym mats!"

A third candidate then arises with the cry, "Let's build a new gym." Then a fourth candidate emerges with an even hotter issue: "What our community deserves is a brand new school."

The whole situation has changed. Instead of being a forward-looking liberal, you are now tagged as a foot-dragging old fossil with his mind in the past, a real drag on the community.

Rumors spread that you are a wife beater, a tax dodger and a man who starves his kids on stale bread and water in order to keep up sumptuous love nests in two neighboring suburbs.

Well, on the advice of Joe Doakes, you rent a mimeograph and start grinding out campaign literature. You and your supporters hold endless caucuses far into the morning, and soon you are spending more time and effort trying to be president of the P-TA than you are in earning a living.

Old enemies suddenly become warm friends, and old friends unexpectedly become new enemies. You have a strange sense of unreality. You don't feel you have changed, but the world around you has.

Comes election night and you are badly swamped. The P-TA overwhelmingly votes in as president the guy who plumped for a $3-million bond issue to build a new school.

Junior Editors Quiz on SIGNALS

QUESTION: Why are the Stars and Stripes sometimes flown upside down?

• • •

ANSWER: There are right ways and wrong ways to fly the American flag. We would hardly ever display the flag with the field of blue and stars down, as we see in this drawing. But in extraordinary situations, this can be done. When the flag is upside down, it is a distress signal. This is a call for help that would be understood by anyone seeing the flag. These boys are using the flag in such a way to attract the attention of a ship off-shore. They have been stranded on a deserted island, and are in distress. So, in this case, it is proper for them to put the flag upside down.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn more about the use of other flags in signaling—and also become acquainted with the proper display of the American flag.

Castro Indicted By 'White Paper'

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration this week released a brilliant, 36-page indictment of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution. But what it adds up to is this: Castro's tough to handle.

This indictment, called a State Department White Paper, says Cuba is under Communist control, accuses Castro of betraying his revolutionary promises of freedom and social justice, and calls Cuba a menace.

Copies of the White Paper will be distributed widely in Latin America where Castro has support, particularly among the landless masses who applaud his taking land from the rich in Cuba.

But it doesn't offer any solutions for getting rid of Castro unless you want to read into it a veiled suggestion this country would help a new revolution against him.

Here are some examples of why he's tough to handle:

1. He has the active support of Russia and Red China. Last Aug. 9 Premier Khrushchev threatened to intervene with rockets if this country was responsible for an attack on Cuba.

2. Other Latin-American governments—some of them shaky—are hesitant about even criticizing Castro because of his popularity among left-wing groups and the masses in their own countries.

While there is no talk in this country of attacking Cuba—which has become a Russian spearhead in the Western world—other steps short of armed force might be used but the consequences could be unpleasant:

1. For instance, the White paper says Russia has been pouring arms into Cuba. Suppose, because of this or for some other reason, this country tried to blockade Cuba.

Russia might retaliate at once by trying to blocade West Berlin to shut it off from the Western allies with whom it has all its ties.

2. While this country broke off diplomatic relations with Castro and put some restrictions on sugar dealings with him, it still has economic dealings with Cuba. Suppose this country now tried tough economic sanctions.

The result might be increased ill-will toward the United States throughout Latin America at the very moment when President Kennedy is trying to improve relations.

3. As for American military action — that probably would set back this country's relations with the rest of Latin America by many years.

The time may come when the United States feels compelled to take far harsher action than any tried so far. If that time arrives it almost surely will be preceded by worse tensions than now and perhaps even a crisis.

What happened last August in Costa Rica is a good example of what this country is up against in trying to win over other Latin-American nations against Castro's Cuba.

The then Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, meeting in Costa Rica with the foreign ministers of 20 other Latin republics, wanted them to call on Castro to reject Communist intervention in Cuba and at the same time blast Khrushchev for his rocket threat.

The ministers finally put together a declaration which not only didn't bang Castro but, while in this hemisphere, was so wishy-washy that the ministers disagreed among themselves on what it meant.

Last April President Eisenhower accused Castro of betraying the ideals of freedom and equal rights in his Cuban revolution. And in Costa Rica Herter talked about Cuba's coming under Red influence.

But neither man directly called Castro a Communist himself. Neither did this week's White Paper. But it did pile evidence upon evidence to show Cuba is run by Communists now. There is one nice irony in all this:

If the volatile and unpredictable Castro is not a Communist, because he refuses to accept party discipline, then it's possible, though unlikely, some day he may turn on the Communists in Cuba and destroy them.

Therefore, at this moment they may wish they could knock him to prevent any turn-around by him later, now that he's served their purpose which was to get control.

But he is the popular hero. If he disappears, a new revolution might destroy them.

Formby Raps Interference

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP)—Former State Highway Commission chairman Marshall Formby says the small businessman has made the American free enterprise system what it is, "but now he is in real trouble."

"Government regulations, tax forms and permits, increased cost of doing business and red tape are backing him against the wall," Formby said Wednesday. "There is entirely too much interference from the government, especially the federal government."

Formby spoke at a joint luncheon of lower Rio Grande Valley civic clubs. He is touring the valley prior to the dedication Sunday of the U. S. Highway 83 Expressway now under construction at an estimated cost of $24 million. It is to be named the Marshall Formby Valley Expressway.

Special Awards Going To Four April 17

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Special awards will be presented to Gary Cooper, Stan Laurel, Hayley Mills and Sol Lesser April 17.

The board of governors of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences announced the honors Wednesday. They will be bestowed in connection with the annual Oscar awards.

Cooper was cited for his many film performances and Laurel as a "creative pioneer in the field of cinema comedy." The honor for Miss Mills, 13, stems from her performance in "Pollyanna," and producer Lesser was voted the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award.

Fresh Spring Vegetables Abundant

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas food markets are loaded with fresh spring vegetables.

Abundant at attractive prices are cabbage, carrots, celery, greens and green onions, lettuce, onions, radishes, squash and turnips.

Winter supplies of potatoes and tomatoes remain strong, says the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Apples are ample. Prices have remained modest and fairly steady all winter. Banana imports have been heavy.

Orange and grapefruit seasons have passed their peaks, but Texas shipments continue in volume and prices still are of best-buy variety. Lemons also are in good supply.

Carrots, lettuce and celery are priced higher this week than last. Avocados and peppers advanced in price this week. Idaho russet potatoes average higher.

Dry onions, asparagus and yellow squash prices lowered. Tomatoes are slightly lower. Cantalups and cucumbers, while still fairly high, also dropped. Fresh spinach from Arkansas and Texas is available readily in many markets.

Strawberry prices are pretty much unchanged, as Texas supplies continue good.

Among processed fruits, watch for plentiful supplies of cran berries, freestone peaches and ripe olives. All are plentiful.

Spring lamb and other red meats are available in abundance. Turkeys continue plentiful. The spring surge in mill production is on. Dry beans and peanut products will be plentiful all month.

Negro Wins Sixth Stay

AUSTIN (AP) — Adrian Johnson, 19, Houston Negro convicted of the 1959 slaying of William Bodenheimer III, has won a sixth stay of execution.

Gov. Price Daniel postponed Johnson's execution from April 14 to May 16 Wednesday. This was done to maintain a definite execution date which will not conflict with an indefinite stay granted by the U. S. District Court in Houston.

The federal court ordered a delay until it can hold a hearing on Johnson's application for a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing is set for May 2.

Johnson was convicted of killing the 12-year-old white boy July 20, 1959. Another Negro youth, Joe Smith, also has been sentenced to die for the slaying. Several Negro boys under 17 were sent to the Gatesville State School for Boys in the same case.

Welch Backed By Cardinal

NORTH EASTON, Mass. (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing has endorsed controversial Robert Welch—founder and head of the ultra-rightist John Birch Society—as worthy of support as a dedicated foe of communism.

"Anyone who is fighting communism today on a top level and who knows the methods and teaching of communism — that man is going to suffer," the Boston prelate said in an address to business and professional men Wednesday night.

Demands recently have been made in Congress for an investigation of Welch and the society he heads, since disclosure of Welch letters in which he refers to former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower as tools of communism.

Tax Collector Has Romantic Streak

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The federal tax collector here has a romantic streak in his make-up.

C. W. Glotzbach, Internal Revenue Service director, said he plans to expedite a request from a female taxpayer who attached the following note to an income tax refund claim for $33: "Rush! Rush! Rush! This is honeymoon money."

Quick Action Needed When Cancer Strikes

By ARTHUR GODFREY
Written for The Associated Press

Like most people, I'd always thought of cancer as a disease that happens to the "other fellow" until two years ago, when it happened to me.

How did I react?

With disbelief, horror, haste. In that order.

The doctor advised surgery. He said: "The sooner, the better."

There are no two ways about cancer. Either you destroy it or it destroys you. So I didn't delay.

Unfortunately some people are not informed or are so paralyzed by fear that they permit the cancer to destroy them. They have a horror of cancer that makes them avoid the family doctor until it's too late for cure —or which even sends them on a wretched journey to quacks, charlatans and purveyors of fake remedies and home cures that can't prossibly help them.

Fear feeds on ignorance.

When it comes to cancer, what you don't know can kill you.

Ignorance, fear, delay, do, in fact, lead to needless death for 85,000 cancer patients a year in these enlightened times, in these United States.

They could be saved.

Without a single research advance, without any new developments in diagnostic and treatment methods, the doctors could, actually, save 85,000 more cancer patients a year than the 170,000 they are now saving.

The American Cancer Society tells me that those 85,000 people have the kinds of cancer that can be cured by prompt, proper treatment. Their lives depend on knowing what to do—and doing it without delay.

Improved communications could save them.

Now this is an area I know something about, after 32 years in radio and TV.

What is required is an all-out effort through all the "media" against the fear, ignorance and superstition which each year kill 85,000 people needlessly—men and women whom medical knowledge can—should—and must save.

There are barriers to overcome. One of them is a belief in black magic and mumbo jumbo that is not confined to the underdeveloped areas. It exists right here, in the U.S.A.; not in the back hills and remote areas alone, but often in our big cities, and, surprisingly enough, even among some otherwise educated and intelligent people. Some of these men and women believe that certain foods or living habits can afford protection against cancer. They think that if they "eat right," they don't have to worry about those seven warning signals of cancer.

Fake remedies, and old wives cures appeal not only to the ignorant, but also to the desperate.

Now a certain amount of fear is healthy and necessary for self-preservation. That's the kind of fear which leads a man or woman to heed a cancer warning signal and brings him or her to the doctor's office without delay. But there's another kind of morbid, neurotic fear which leads to self-destruction. It keeps people who are worried about possible cancer sysptoms away from the doctor's office.

These morbid fears wear many masks.

There's the rationalized indifference to cancer—an indifference based on terror. Some people simply refuse to have an annual health checkup or to learn the simple facts about cancer that can save their lives. That's the ostrich type, who prefers burying his head in the sand to looking facts in the eye.

There's the hale, hearty type who passes up the annual checkup because he or she "never felt better." And if symptoms should develop, this brave individual sits it out; week after week, month after month, heroically ignoring the warning signals until it's just too late for cure.

A recent house-to-house study in a large city showed that two out of five people refused a free health checkup. Forty per cent of those interviewed passed up this life-saving opportunity.

There are all sorts of excuses for avoiding an annual health checkup. The most common ones are: "I don't want to know." "It costs too much." "It's too embarrassing." "I don't really need it."

Those are four different ways of saying, "I'm running scared."

The facts are that an annual health checkup saves money and anxiety in the long run. Early detection can save your life as well as your savings. A clean bill of health, which is what the vast majority of people get from their doctors, brings peace of mind and an end to nagging fears. False modesty is just one more excuse. It does not belong in a doctor's office.

The problem, again, is communications. As I see it, the major problem in cancer control today is to convince millions of Americans that, first of all, the outlook for today's cancer patient is hopeful. This is a drastic change from the situation only 20 years ago. Today there are over one million Americans cured of cancer. In 1941, there were 200,000. Quite a difference.

One-third of all cancer patients are now being saved. One-half could be saved by earlier detection and prompt, proper treatment.

Convincing people of these facts isn't easy. People tend to cling to ingrained thought habits.

That's where the mass media comes in. They can help save lives. They can take this message into every American home. They can help wipe out the barriers of misinformation and let the new, optimistic knowledge about cancer grip the minds and hearts of Mr. and Mrs. America.

Much has been done. But so long as 85,000 people a year die needlessly of cancer, much more remains to be done.

Kiwanis Club Meets At Boys Club Here

Members of the Snyder Kiwanis Club got a first-hand view of the Scurry County Boys Club when they held their Wednesday meeting in the Boys Club building.

Michie Brous, executive director of the Boys Club, presented the program. He outlined the activities of the club and conducted Kiwanis Club members on a tour of facilities.

A group from the Big Spring Kiwanis Club was present for the occasion on an inter-club visit.

Frank Stephenson, Kiwanis president, presided at the meeting, and the program was introduced by Roy Meador.

The Seminole Indians of the Florida Everglades are the descendants of about 150 members of the tribe who refused to be removed to Oklahoma in 1841 and took refuge in the swamps.

Finch, Carole Get Life Sentences

By PAT McNULTY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We'll fight it, darling, we're still alive."

Wet-eyed and grateful a jury had spared their lives, Dr. R. Bernard Finch so consoled Carole Tregoff Wednesday after a third murder trial jury decreed life imprisonment for the once wealthy surgeon and his red-haired mistress.

Finch and Carole—convicted of murdering the playboy doctor's socialite wife — broke into sobs when the 10 men and 2 women of the jury decided after a dozen suspenseful hours to send the lovers to prison and not to the gas chamber.

Carole, at 24 no longer the tawny beauty she was two years ago as Finch's pampered mistress, cried at the verdict: "No, no, I'll be an old woman when I get out."

Finch, 43, dropped his head on his folded arms and cried until the counsel table in the packed courtroom was wet with tears. Then he said to his attorney: "Thank God, thank God."

Thus after three trials, a year and a half of suspense and an estimated $750,000 of taxpayers' money, did one of the most publicized murder cases of recent years come to a dramatic conclusion.

Under California law, Finch and his now plumpish paramour will be eligible for parole, depending on their prison record, in seven years—1968.

The case was front page news from the chilly morning of July 19, 1959, when the body of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

In the three trials—the first two ended in jury deadlocks—Finch testified that he went to see his wife to plead for a divorce, not to kill her. He said she pulled a gun, they struggled — and the weapon accidentally went off.

Her dying words—according to Finch: "I'm sorry, darling, please take care of the kids."

The death weapon has never been found.

The verdict brought a smile of relief to attorney Maxwell Keith who replaced courtly Grant Cooper as Finch's counsel in the third trial.

New USCC Chief Battled Way Up

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Wagner, the new president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, is "a pot-bellied, sawed-off little man with a big voice."

If the description seems unflattering, it is Wagner's assessment of his own image on the occasion of his election as the chamber's 34th president.

Wagner, 64, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Champlin Oil and Refining Co., Chicago. He said today he may have to revise part of the title because his one-year stand as chamber president, which begins May 2, will leave him little time for company affairs.

The chamber job carries no salary. Champlin pays Wagner $70,000 a year, a large jump from his first earnings—12 cents an hour for a 60-hour week — as a bank runner in Chicago's Loop in 1910.

Wagner was 14 at the time and went to work because of necessity. His family was poor. His father was a professional singer who tried to piece out the family income through sales jobs and waiting table.

"Don't play up the Horatio Alger bit," Wagner said. "It's not false modesty, believe me. It's just that in my day a lot of fellows started with nothing and got somewhere. It wasn't unusual."

Wagner wasn't content as a bank runner and studied a shorthand book in his spare time. Within a year he was assistant secretary to the bank's president.

Further promotions meant shorter hours and an opportunity to attend night classes. He got a high school diploma and took some courses at Northwestern University and the American Institute of Banking.

By 1929, he was vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co., the institution that originally paid him $5 a week.

The stock market crash that year led to a new career as an entrepreneur. Continental Illinois had an interest in the Chicago Corp., an investment trust badly shaken in the market collapse. Wagner was assigned to look after this interest.

He became president of the Chicago Corp. in 1958 and turned it into a company supplying risk capital for businesses and ideas with neglected potential. The firm financed many ventures and finally concentrated on oil. In 1954 it purchased the Champlin company, a family owned business, and adopted the Champlin name.

Wagner says his success in business was achieved through "the spur of necessity; the only direction to go was up." He says he has more admiration for the man born to wealth who achieves success in his own right.

The Wagners have a daughter, three sons and 12 grandchildren.

Wagner has many hobbies, including geology, golf, fishing, mountain climbing, music and poetry.

His politics: "I'm a Republican. Let's say I'm a conservative."

Riding Academy Has New Customer

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—The riding academy here has a new customer.

The mounts—four of them—will be used in the Kentucky Derby parade at Louisville next month when the 6th Armored Cavalry Regiment celebrates its 100th birthday.

The order activating the unit was signed May 4, 1861, by President Abraham Lincoln.

The Army deactivated mounted cavalry units in 1941, but one unit was caught on Bataan by the Jpanese before it could disband and was the last horse soldiers to see action.

Golf Course Looks Like A Farmyard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Redlands Golf Course looked like a farmyard after a collision of trucks southwest of Miami.

One truck, loaded with potatoes strewed its cargo several hundred feet along the links. The other turned over, and its load of spray equipment littered one of the greens.

Molly Pitcher, the heroine of the American Revolution, is buried in Carlisle, Pa.

Airmen Join Bed Rolling

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Eight airmen stationed here proposed to give college boys a mark to shoot at today in the current fad of rolling a bed on wheels from town to town.

The Carswell Air Force Base crew set out to push a bed carrying a 1,200-pound car to Denton, 36 miles northeast of Fort Worth. They hoped to complete the trek by Saturday afternoon.

"We've got to make it," said Robert Shriner, one of the airmen. "They're planning a reception for us at Texas Woman's University and giving a dance that night."

If the airmen succeed, they plan to turn the bed over to a fraternity at North Texas State College in Denton—which recently rolled a bed minus car to Dallas—with a challenge to beat their record.
