West Texas Is Given Hearing By Committee

Houston Harte, Wilbur C. Hawk And D. A. Bandeen Appear In Austin Friday Representing West Texas C. Of C.

Proposal Is Made

Balancing Of State Budget By Curtailment And Uniformity In Valuing Property Sought With Recommendations

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 13.—Proceedings of the legislative committee making a survey of the state's system of taxation was nearly disrupted today when Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio threatened to withdraw as a member unless the committee adhered strictly to purposes for which it was formed.

Considerable discussion had been had concerning advisibility of a tax on incomes when Williamson warned the committee it had been appointed to make a survey of the tax system and not to consider feasibility of a tax on incomes. If the committee had advocation of an income tax as its object, instead of an inquiry into the general subject of taxation, Williamson said he would leave the session.

Another At Work

The committee expressed a desire to make recommendations to the legislature that would equalize taxation rather than find new sources of revenue.

While the tax survey committee was wrestling with the taxation problem, a committee appointed to inject greater efficiency into government also was at work. Known as the efficiency committee, it was approved to investigate the practicability of combining certain state governmental boards, commissions and bureaus and abolition of other agencies.

A composite proposal embodying recommendations of 65 local communities in West Texas styled the West Texas federation of public expenditure and tax committees, was presented to the tax survey

Five Persons Draw Jail Terms In Trials In 99th District Court; Three-Year Term Is Given Suspension

Five persons, defendants in nine cases in 99th district court Friday, were convicted and jail terms totaling 17 years and 90 days were assessed them. One three-year term was suspended and two two-year sentences are to run concurrently.

Convictions were: Chester LaFitte and Conway Jones, two years in each of three cases charging forgery and passing a forged instrument; Elmer Mudd, Tulia, three years suspended, for forgery; D. E. Dildey, two years for perjury, and Albert Holcomb, 90 days for chicken theft.

Run Concurrently

Two sentences of LaFitte and Jones will run concurrently, causing them to face four years. Jones, LaFitte and Dildey waived jury trial and were sentenced by Judge Clark M. Mullican.

At a previous term Dildey, alias A. B. Mallow, was convicted of forgery and a two-year sentence imposed on him. At that trial he testified he never had been convicted of a felony. The perjury charge was filed after it was learned he had been committed to the Texas penitentiary and had escaped from the Louisiana state prison. Jones and LaFitte were arrested in Clovis, N. M., after allegedly passing worthless checks here.

GALVESTON CHOSEN

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 13 (AP)—Galveston was chosen the 1932 convention city of the Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher associations by the executive committee in session here today which concluded this year's convention of the group.

United States Stands By For League Parley

Ambassador Charles Dawes Is In Paris For Conference On Manchurian Crisis; Not To Attend Sessions

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 13.—American Ambassador Charles G. Dawes came to Paris tonight to stand by at the meeting of the League council Monday and stated in succinct terms his mission in deliberations over the Manchurian conflict.

"I am here to confer with the council members individually with regard to problems which are of common concern and involve mutual treaty interests," he said. "I hope to make every contact which is essential to the exercise of any influence we may have in properly supporting the League's effort to avert war and to make effective the Kellogg pact."

Is Not Member

He emphasized the fact that the United States was not a member of the League of Nations and said "the methods which have been followed on occasions when matters of mutual concern to the League and ourselves were under consideration, have varied.

"On this occasion there is no anticipation on the part of the government or myself that it will be found necessary for me to attend the meetings of the council.

Relate To Pact

"The council is considering the Manchurian situation is dealing with matters which presumably affect not only the treaty rights and general interests of the United States under the nine-power pact, but relate to the Kellogg pact as well."

Sir John Simon, Great Britain's new foreign secretary, is coming from London Sunday to replace Lord Reading as the British representative on the council.

Donley Judge Is Awaiting Verdict

CLARENDON, Nov. 13. (AP)—The jury deliberating the case of J. J. Alexander, county judge of Donley county, charged with extortion, retired tonight without reaching a verdict. The case was given to the jury in district court shortly after completion of testimony at noon.

The charges arose from the alleged keeping of illegal court fees amounting to approximately $117.

Denying the accusations, Judge Alexander, a resident of this district for more than 30 years, defended himself on the stand today. Several county officers testified against him under the prosecution of James Mahan, district attorney.

Subpoena Is Served Friday On Governor Ross Sterling

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Subpoena was served today on Governor R. S. Sterling requiring his presence at the Travis county court house November 18 to make a deposition in the suit filed by the Brock-Lee Oil company against the Texas railroad commission and others attacking the right of the state and Governor Sterling to continue its present method of enforcement of the oil conservation program.

The case is pending in federal court, the oil company having obtained an injunction restraining military authorities from enforcing the allowable set by the governor. Brig. General Jacob F. Wolters, commander in the martial law area in East Texas, has been cited for contempt of court for refusal to recognize the injunction.

South Plains Lashed By Rains And Winds Friday

Delayed Assault Of Winter Believed To Be Nearby

HARBINGERS of wintry weather—chilly winds and rain from the north and west—were lasting the South Plains Friday night, and early Saturday morning. The blasts were accompanied in most sections by falling temperatures.

The rains were believed to be forerunners of winter's delayed assault on this section. Indications last night were that the disturbance would be followed by a cold wave. Clouds covered this section most of Friday, with light mist reported in some areas.

Heavy rains were reported in Littlefield, Sudan, Muleshoe and Levelland, north and west of Lubbock, early last evening. Early this morning rain was falling in Brownfield, Ralls, Crosbyton and Floydada.

Strikes Here Early

Rain, accompanied by heavy wind and an electrical display, struck Lubbock shortly after 9 o'clock. The precipitation here was estimated at from three-quarters to an inch.

No check of damage to ungathered cotton was available last night, but it was generally believed the loss would not be heavy. Various estimates indicate the cotton crop is from one-half to two-thirds harvested.

Forecast for Saturday calls for partly cloudy to unsettled weather, with possible showers. Maximum temperature yesterday was 69 degrees, as compared with a low of 53 early Friday morning. Don L. Jones of the state experiment station said the mercury was falling early in the evening.

Other Reports

Weather reports telephoned Friday night to the Morning Avalanche were:

Littlefield—Approximately an inch of rain fell here early this evening, blown in sheets by heavy winds from the northwest. Temperatures were reported falling steadily.

Sudan—This section was drenched with a heavy rain, starting at 8 o'clock. An electrical display and heavy wind accompanied the rain. It is somewhat cooler tonight.

Muleshoe—a light rain was falling here late tonight, after a heavy

Widow To Fill Senate Office

Mrs. Hattie Caraway To Take Chair In Congress Through Appointment Announced By Governor Parnell

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13. — Mrs. Hattie Caraway was appointed by Governor Harvey Parnell today as temporary successor of her husband, the late Senator Thaddeus H. Caraway, who died last week. She will become the second woman in history to sit as a member of the senate.

She will occupy the seat until a successor for the unexpired term is chosen at a special election January 12. The governor said he also would seek her election for remainder of the term, which ends March, 1933.

To Make Statement

Informed of her appointment at her home at Jonesboro, Mrs. Caraway, who is 54 years old, said she would make a statement later.

She will take her seat when congress convenes December 7, and thus, even if she is not elected for the remainder of the term, she will serve more than a month. Her colleague is the senate Democratic leader, Senator Joe T. Robinson.

American Deported Without Announcement Of A Reason

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13. (AP) — The newspaper El Universal Grafico today printed a Nuevo Laredo dispatch saying Claude Humphreys, an American, had been deported from Ciudad Victoria under provisions of article 33 of the constitution. This article allows deportation proceedings without explanation of the reason.

Canary Placed On Witness Stand Sings Woman Out Of Court Charges To Freedom

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A canary placed on the witness stand in Judge Edward B. Casey's court warbled a song and thereby freed its former mistress of a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Mrs. Dorothy McGarry, the defendant, was accused by Mrs. Susan Hlawatz, of selling her a bird that wouldn't sing. Judge Casey called for the bird. Mrs. McGarry approached and pleaded for a song. Suddenly the bird began to sing.

"The bird wins and so do you," Judge Casey said to Mrs. McGarry.

Pastors Given Heroic Praise At Conference

Membership Gains Revealed In Methodist Districts Though Finances And Privation Have Made Going Hard

By ROBERT WEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

VERNON, Nov. 13.—Membership gains in the face of financial stringency and privation were praised by Bishop Hiram A. Boaz as reflecting the heroism of pastors as the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, today heard reports on the church year just closed.

Rev. G. S. Slover, presiding elder from the Stamford district, reported that 12 of 22 salaries in his district received less than $400 each in salaries last year and could not have obtained food for their families if assistance had not been given.

Net Gain Revealed

Tabulation of figures for the conference revealed a net membership gain between 2,000 and 2,500. Although the Abilene and Stamford districts reported losses.

The salaries of preachers and presiding eleders were reported to have been about 65 per cent paid. The average payments on benevolences approximated one-third.

Bishop Boaz said he had no criticism of the shortages because he understood conditions and knew the preachers and their parshoners had done the best they could.

Simpson Speaks

The conference board of Christian education was in charge of tonight's program. J. F. Simpson of the general board of Christian education at Nashville, Tenn., was the principal speaker.

Children from the Methodist orphanage at Waco will have charge of the program tomorrow afternoon. The board of temperance and social service at night will present a dramatized sermon, with Rev. Atticus Webb, superintendent of the Texas Anti-Saloon League, in charge.

Bishop Boaz will ordain deacons tomorrow and the conference will choose a meeting place for next year. Abilene was the only city bidding for the 1932 conference.

Public Health Association To Meet In Dallas In 1932

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—Dallas was selected late today as the 1932 convention city for the Texas State Public Health association. Dr. Allen C. Hutcheson of Houston was elected the new president.

Other officers elected were Dr. B. M. Primer of Amarillo, first vice president; Edward Roberts, Dallas, second vice president; Dr. H. Cardona, Fort Worth, third vice president; C. F. Browning, Houston, secretary; Mrs. M. Pierson, Austin, treasurer.

Budget Slash Will Curtail BCD Activity

Reduction Of $10,000 Ordered By Directors Friday After Investigation Report Made By Committee

Discontinue "Hub"

Estimated Expenditures For 1932 Less Than $20,000 And Saving Of $36,000 Will Be Made To Taxpayers

A $10,000 reduction of the 1932 budget was ordered by directors of the Lubbock Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce Friday.

Reductions include: Cut of fifty per cent in salary expenditures, reduction of office staff by three persons, and discontinuance of "The Hub," a monthly publication of the chamber of commerce.

$36,000 Saved

Estimated expenditures for 1932 will be less than $20,000, or less than one-half of the 1930 expenditures or two-thirds of the 1931 expenses. Through the board's action yesterday, more than $36,000 will be saved taxpayers in the B. C. D. operations for 1931 and 1932, it was pointed out, and pave the way for reduction of 1932 city taxes.

Continue Agriculture

The board voted to continue all phases of agriculture development, maintaining the appropriations in several phases of the work and allowing only minor reductions in others. Sponsorship of the meat show, first bale movement, county agent work, and other programs was voted continued.

Action of the board followed careful study of the situation by members of a committee named by President C. E. Maedgen. Members of Maedgen's committee were: F. R. Friend, J. A. Hodges, R. C. Smith, S. C. Arnett, Chas. A. Guy, B. Sherrod and Spencer Wells.

Gave Considerable Thought

In their report it was pointed out that the committee "gave considerable thought to work that should be done by the Board of City Development under present conditions, as well as to work that could be and should be done under normal conditions."

Special Election Set November 24

AUSTIN, Nov. 13. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling late today set Nov. 24 as the date to hold an election in the 14th Texas district to fill the vacancy in congress caused by the death of Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin.

Wurzbach was the only Republican member of the Texas congressional delegation.

The election date was set early enough to permit the returns to be canvassed and the successful candidate seated by the time congress opened December 7. It was generally regarded as certain the 14th district would elect a Democrat to fill the vacancy.

Desperate Battle Rages For Possession Of Nonni Bridge

LONDON, Nov. 14. (Saturday) (AP) —A desperate battle for capture of the Nonni bridge in Manchuria is in progress, a Harbin dispatch to the Daily Herald said this morning.

The dispatch, sent Friday midnight, stated the Japanese started the attack with an aerial bombing and then employed cavalry in a flanking movement. Aided by a Russian brigade, the Chinese repulsed the attackers and hurled their own infantry into the enemy lines, the Herald correspondent said. He reported the Japanese right wing was gravely imperiled.

Principals In Suitor Slaying

Because he continued to pay attentions to Rose Allen (left), after he had been warned by her family that he was unwelcome, Francis A. Donaldson (lower right), was fatally shot during a quarrel with Edward H. B. Allen (top right), brother of the lady in the case. All the principals in the case are prominent in Philadelphia society. Police say that young Allen admitted killing Donaldson with a shotgun after the latter had made an unbidden visit to his apartment and struck him.

Young Society Girl Works At Puzzle As Her Brother Faces Charge Of Slaying Her Lover

Only Witness Of Killing On Stand; Misconduct Toward Girl Told; Youth Is Held For Grand Jury

(By The Associated Press)

MORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 13. — Edwin H. B. Allen, young society man who shot to death Francis A. Donaldson, 3d, also socially well known, today was ordered held by a coroner's jury on a charge of murder for action of the grand jury.

"There has been testimony," said Coroner George R. Huff, before the jury retired, "that Allen shot young Donaldson, and testimony that there was no justification."

The only witness of the killing, Albert Gallatin H. Lucas, friend and confidant of the slain man, was the central figure in the inquest and told of the shooting in the Allen apartment last Monday night.

Girl Not Present

The prisoner was not present. Nor was Rose E. W. Allen, his 18-year-old sister, present to hear Lucas say Donaldson had admitted to him he had been guilty of misconduct with her.

Instead, dressed in black, she was in the sun parlor of the home of friends, working on a jig-saw puzzle. Her father, Horace Allen, lay seriously ill in a bedroom in the same house having suffered a nervous breakdown last night.

Lucas said he had been summoned to the Bellevue Stratford hotel by Miss Allen. Donaldson was in the hotel room. There were three

Two Football Players Hurt In Night Game Here Friday

Two football players, members of the Canyon and Texas Tech freshmen teams which met at Tech field Friday night, were treated at West Texas hospital for minor injuries last night. They probably will be dismissed Saturday.

The boys were Alvin Morgan, Canyon, quarterback, and Roy Curfman, Tech guard. Morgan was unconscious a short time after he was brought to the hospital, but an X-ray examination showed no broken bones. Curfman suffered a knee injury.

And Then The Bears Dropped To The Tigers

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. — Nine high school students, a girl and eight boys, had to rub out today with paint remover an inspirational public message to the San Jacinto high school to "get out there and fight, fight, fight."

Desirous of urging before all the stern necessity of a victory by the San Jacinto eleven over the Sam Houston high eleven, the nine said it with paint, in letters four feet high on the walls and corridors of the Sam Houston school buildings:

"Yea, Bears." "Smear Central." "Beat Tigers."

School officials issued their orders and while the nine rubbed with the paint remover a watching group of students from Sam Houston stood about, ever ready to offer suggestions, and jeering:

"Yea, Tigers."

Good old San Jacinto lost to good old Sam Houston this afternoon, 20 to 19.

Plainview Man Is Believed Found Dead In Hotel Room

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 13. (AP)—The body of a man tentatively identified as James M. Carpenter of Plainview, Texas., was found here today in a gas-filled hotel room. A note found in the room asked that a sister living at 1846 Kentucky street, El Paso, be notified. It failed to mention her name.

Records at Whipple barracks, Prescott, said that Carpenter was a patient there last August and September. While there he said his wife lived at Clovis, N. M., and asked that in case of emergency, Mrs. Phil S. O'Connell, 2414 San Diego street, El Paso, be notified. He did not give his kinship to Mrs. O'Connell.

Discord Seen In Ranks Of Republicans; Plan Caucus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP) — Discord among house Republicans over the party's speakership nomination today produced confusing claims of superior support for two outstanding candidates.

Backers of Representative Snell, New York, called his nomination assured. Supporters of Representative Tilson, Connecticut, claimed votes of approximately half the party membership. A caucus November 30, will settle the question.

Fiery Texas Attorney General Takes Pot Shot At Approval Accorded "Code Of Ethics" In Oil Controversy

Says This Is Not First Time "That Bunch Of Republicans Have Given Approval To Violations Of Law"

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 13.—Attorney General James V. Allred today took a pot shot at the federal trade commission and its approval of the "code of ethics," of the oil industry, claimed by Allred to be a blind behind which major oil companies in Texas conspired to throttle competition in the marketing end of the business.

Allred yesterday filed suit against 15 oil companies to oust them from the state. He charged violation of the anti-trust laws in that the companies were operating under an agreement that was in restraint of trade and claimed the American Petroleum Institute was the medium through which the code gained the sanction of the federal trade commission. The institute was named a defendant in the suit.

Code Confirmed

E. B. Reeser of Tulsa, retiring president of the institute, said yesterday the code had been "baptised and confirmed," by the trade commission.

Claiming the federal trade commission had no authority to approve or authorize any violations of the law, Allred declared it was "not the first time that bunch of Republicans in high federal office have approved of violations of the law," adding that "the looting of Teapot Dome was accomplished with the approval of federal authorities."

Watching Courts

"Mussolini or the King of England would have as much power to authorize the violations of laws in Texas as the federal trade commission would," Allred stated.

Meanwhile the attorney general's department was watching the federal court closely for the defendant oil companies to make the next move. It was anticipated the de-

Reporters Upheld By Indiana Chief

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13. (AP) — The motion picture idea of a reporter, as portrayed in the current cycle of newspaper films, goes back 30 to 40 years to dig up a character who doesn't exist, E. H. Harris, publisher of the Richmond, Ind., Palladium, said in an interview at the American Newspaper publishers convention today.

"The movie industry," he said, "goes back 30 or 40 years to produce the hard drinking, cursing, swaggering newspaper reporter. The newspaper reporter of today must be just as much of a gentleman and as sober and efficient as any bank clerk. The movie characterization of the reporter who curses and bullies everyone with whom he comes in contact, absorbs a drink each five minutes and prides himself upon his disreputable appearance is a reflection upon the point of view in Hollywood." It might, he added, be true of some newspaper men in Hollywood "but it certainly doesn't apply to Indiana."

October, 1931, Payment Of Taxes Doubles That For Same Period Last Year In Lubbock County

COUNTY, state and common school tax collections in Lubbock county for October were twice the amount paid October, 1930.

Collections last month amounted to $24,668.76, as compared with $12,271.32 for the same month one year ago.

The new installment plan of paying taxes had nothing to do with the increase. This law was passed by the 42nd legislature and permits taxpayers to pay one-half their taxes by November 30 and the remainder by June 30, without penalty. Only three Lubbock county residents took advantage of the law in October.

The others made payments as follows:

County, $11,876.38; state, $12,148.08; common school, $644.30.

The same divisions one year ago: County taxes, $6,042.76; state, $5,754.27; common school, $447.39.

W. H. Carpenter, deputy in the office of Collector A. J. Clark, who released the figures, also had a warning to those wishing to pay taxes on the installment plan.

Taxpayers who wish to reap the benefits of the new system must pay their first installment by November 30. If the first half of an invidual's taxes are not paid by that rate the entire amount comes due by January 31.

After paying his installment before December 1, the taxpayer has until July 1 to pay the remainder. After that date, if the final installment is unpaid, a penalty of ten per cent and interest at six per cent will be charged.

Music Club Is To Meet Today

Party For Sans Souci Club Is Feature Of Afternoon Society Here; Many Will Attend Dance

One of the outstanding features of society in college circles this evening will be the Engineering society dance given by students of Texas Technological college in the Uptown Dance Palace. This is an annual occasion. The Lubbock Music club is to meet this afternoon at the Hilton hotel at 3 o'clock and Miss Annie Lou Bennett will be hostess to the Sans Souci club at 3 o'clock in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stiles, 3002 22nd street.

Women's activities which have centered largely around the Texas Federation of Women's clubs during the last few days returned to normalcy Friday. Representatives from the seven federated clubs, who have been engaged in arranging dinners and luncheons, paging, and attending meetings, will return to regular club meetings, parties and other events.

Social events and visits centering around the Armistice Day activities, teas for visitors, exhibits and usual parties for those whose interests were outside the federation have made this a busy week. There were not many large parties other than convention events, but numerous small affairs marked every day.

Thursday Bridge club members played bridge Thursday afternoon as guests of Mrs. Ray Henson at 1411 Avenue O. Mrs. L. A. Howard scored high in the games and Mrs. Joe Telford was high in a cut. Others attending were Mesdames T. C. Meinecke George Brewer, Dewey McClellan, R. E. Dick, I. F. Kennedy and W. H. Wright.

Terrys Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Terry entertained the Coo Coo club in their home Thursday evening. Four tables were arranged for bridge. Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Huckabee were special guests. High scores in the games were made by Mrs. E. C. Henley and Mr. Huckabee.

Several contests and games preceded games of forty-two Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Frazier McCrummen entertained members of the Maggie and Jiggs club in their home. Special guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Renford Taylor and J. D. Henson. Club members attending were Messrs. and Mesdames W. H. Trice, O. C. Moore, D. Williford, A. T. Cocanougher and E. G. White.

And doesn't this weather suggest coffee?

This reminds me of a need I think some one should meet. That is the discovery of a substitute for coffee. Something with the aroma that coffee has in cooking, something with the heat that it imparts and yet something that will not give a person the heebie-jeebies. Ordinarily, I believe all the things I read in an advertisement, but I'm convinced that the coffee makers are wrong. Two cups of the beverage in one day and I'm a wreck. I've hung over these pictures of people enjoying coffee at all hours and places and then tried the different brands. But, so far, they all have the same effect. Some of these prize offering organizations should put out a worthwhile one for a coffee substitute that don't give one the jitters.

LACE GOWNS are common enough; in fact, they are rare favorites for formal wear. Cotton suede lace is a new fabric, however. As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . .

a little at a time

. . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . a little at a time.

Controlled Roasting prevents variation in flavor . . .

Roasting coffee in small quantities, under exact heat-control, is the secret of a perfect, unvarying flavor. Hills Bros. invented and patented the only process that permits this sort of roasting. It is called Controlled Roasting. It's a process by which Hills Bros. Coffee passes through the roasters evenly, continuously—a little at a time. Every berry in the blend receives a perfect, unvarying roast. Naturally, then, every bracing cupful of Hills Bros. Coffee has the same marvelous flavor. And it is a flavor no other coffee has, because no other coffee is roasted this way.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh too. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of Hills Bros.' vacuum cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is always as fresh as when it comes from the roasters.

The fragrant wisps of steam floating up from a cup of Hills Bros. forecast a coffee flavor you never dreamed of. Drink a cupful and see! Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Patented process roasts Hills Bros Coffee the same always Colvin's next throw was incomplete and the ball went over on downs to Tech. Crittenden picked up two yards at left tackle and Poole got off a surprise kick that rolled over the Canyon goal line. Colvin passed to Boyd for five yards and then to Davis for ten making it first down on their own 35-yard line. Turner intercepted next Canyon throw and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Curfman's kick was blocked. Score: Tech 40; Canyon 0.

Curfman kicked to Clark who returned 22 yards to 30-yard line. Colvin's first pass was incomplete but his second to Boyd was good for 19 yards and a first down in midfield. Turner intercepts next toss and returned to Canyon's 40-yard line. Crittenden made two yards through the line. Rowe lost 7 on end play and a pass, Rowe to Larson was intercepted by Clark on his 25-yard line. Colvin passed to Boyd for five yards as the third quarter ended.

Rain Starts

It began to drizzle as the last period opened. Colvin's next pass to Davis gained a yard. Colvin kicked 35 yards to Tech and Rowe fumbled, a Canyon player recovering. On the next play Colvin fumbled and Tech recovered. Rowe failed to gain at right end, made two yards at left tackle and failed to pass to Turner before McElroy kicked out of bounds in midfield.

Colvin passed on the first play and Rowe intercepted on Canyon's 45-yard line. McElroy made 12 yards around right end and Dowell scampered 27 yards around the other side on the next play. Dowell fumbled and recovered and the lights went out for a moment. Rowe made two yards at left tackle and Dowell added another. Tuck made six on a reverse around right end and Morris added the extra 2 yards needed for the down. Tech was penalized five yards due offside and on the next play Rowe was tackle behind the line 17 yards while attempting to pass. It was Canyon's ball on their own 25-yard line. Colvin's pass to Boyd was incomplete. By this time, the downpour had started and officials called the game.

Stanford's Grid Team Of '94 Changes To Medicine Ball With Hoover Friday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov 13.—The football team of Leland Stanford, '94, switched its game to medicine ball today and joined President Hoover in his morning exercise on the south lawn of the White House.

So thoroughly did the president and the team he helped manage enjoy their reunion last night, that Mr. Hoover's parting words were an invitation to return. And most of them did, within eight hours after they departed near midnight.

The president's gridiron dinner turned out to be a quiet but pleasant affair. There were no cheers or songs.

But its keynote was a turning back of music and conversation to the college days of the 90's, and those who attended said Mr. Hoover made a "good listener" and seemed to "particularly enjoy" the whole affair.

In all, 12 members of the team returned to sit about an oval table in the state dining room of the executive mansion, decorated with Stanford's colors of red and white, and swap tales of their football days.

The men, now bankers, doctors, lawyers, engineer, author and rancher, but who won for Stanford in 1894 the football championship of the west, came from east, west and south to attend. During the evening, all members of the team greeted Mrs. Hoover. She had been a classmate of some of them, while others had attended Stanford a few years before her.

Those attending the dinner were Paul Downing, of San Francisco, captain of the old team; William C. Hazzard, of Buhl, Idaho; Joel Y. Field, of Dallas; Dr. Guy Cochran, of Los Angeles; W. H. Harrelson and Dr. J. B. Frankenheimer, of San Francisco; Jackson E. Reynolds, of New York; Martin H. Kennedy, of London, England; W. W. Orcutt, of Los Angeles, and State Senator Herbert Hicks of Illinois, in addition to Will Irwin.

Brooklyn Club Management May Buy Jersey City Team

NEW YORK, ov. 13. (AP) — The Sun today says the Brooklyn ball club has received a proposition from Samuel Colacurcio, president and treasurer of the Jersey City International league club, who is prepared to sell a half interest in his baseball property.

In view of yesterday's announcement the Yankees had purchased the Newark Bears, says the Sun, Brooklyn officials have taken the offer under advisement and may accept.

Seven lettermen are available for the University of Minnesota's basketball team this year.

Wayland Loses To N. M. Aggies, 20-6

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Nov. 13 (AP).—The New Mexico Aggies defeated Wayland college of Plainview, Tex., 20-6 today.

Wayland jumped into the lead early in the first period on a series of passes, Mayfield, Halfback, going over for a touchdown. The try for extra point failed.

The Aggies scored their three touchdowns in the third period.

Both teams battled up and down the field in the fourth quarter but all scoring attempts were thwarted.

Corsicana Swamps Temple, 34 To 0

CORSICANA, Nov. 13. (AP)—Corsicana smothered Temple high school under an avalanche of touchdowns today to win its fourth district nine football game, 34-0. Today's victory ran Corsicana's points for the season to 407.

Harvard Bars Air Announcer

Ted Husing Of Columbia Radio System Will Be Prohibited From Further Broadcasts For Criticising Players

(By The Associated Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 13.—Ted Husing, radio announcer, who termed the play of Barry Wood "putrid" in his broadcast of the Harvard-Portmouth football game last Saturday, was barred by Harvard today from further broadcasts at the stadium.

Numerous complaints were received at Harvard regarding broadcast of the game. The complaints were that Husing had been too critical of the general play of the Harvard team and had been especially critical of the work of Jack Crickard and Wood. Today William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, announced the official action of the university.

Wood has been considered All-American timber for two years because of his general quarterback play. With Crickard, the outstanding ball carrier for the Crimson this year, Wood generally was credited with pulling the Army game out of the fire with a 14 to 13 victory after the West Point team had scored 13 points in the first quarter. Wood is considered one of the best forward passers in football today. He is a Phi Beta Kappa student and president of his class at Harvard.

Husing has admitted the use of the word "putrid," but said he used it comparatively when referring to Wood's play of last Saturday and to his work against Army at West Point. Although Wood threw a long pass for a touchdown with only four minutes to play and then kicked the point which gave the Crimson a 7-6 victory over Dartmouth his all-around play, including his selection of plays, failed to meet with approval of the broadcaster.

The Columbia Broadcasting company, by which Husing is employed, expressed surprise at action of the Harvard authorities.

"It is as surprising for Harvard to take the announced action as it would be for Harvard to ban the representative of a newspaper or a press association because it disagreed with that representative's report of a sports event," the company statement said.

Premier Clash Of Season Is To Determine If Frogs Will Battle Methodists For Title

Christians, Undefeated, Face Severest Test; Longhorns Are Powerful; Rice Battles Aggies; Bears In Dallas

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Inspired and eager for action but uneasy concerning the eventual outcome, the Texas Christian Frogs embarked for Austin today where tomorrow they battle the University of Texas Longhorns. This will be one of three Southwest Conference combats tomorrow and the only one to which championship importance is attached. In other games, Baylor plays Southern Methodist at Dallas and Texas A. and M. meets Rice at Houston. Arkansas remains idle.

Undefeated in three conference games, tied for the conference pinnacle with Southern Methodist, Texas Christian must beat Texas tomorrow to retain an undefeated record and a chance to play Southern Methodist November 28 for the conference crown. If Texas Christian wallops Texas, the Frogs will be favored to beat Baylor next week and go into the conference finals with Southern Methodist with an undefeated record. If they lose tomorrow, the best they can hope for is a tie. Texas is out of the race with two conference defeats. The Longhorns hit their stride last week with a 25-0 victory over Baylor.

Will Be Power Battle

The Texas Christian and Texas game will be a combat between two teams who rely on power for their offensive. Both backfields drive low and hard. Texas Christian's yardage gainers are Hinton, Green, Spearman and Brannon. The Elkins-Koy-Stafford combination at Texas is one of the most powerful in the conference when clicking.

Thousand of Texas A. and M. Cadets will swarm the streets of Houston tomorrow, and in the afternoon will cheer their Aggies as they march against the Rice Owls. It will be the annual corps trip for A. and M. Cadets. The Aggies and Owls are out of the conference championship race but are tied with Texas and Baylor for third place.

Game Is Toss-up

This game is a toss-up. It will be a clash between two light lines of near equal weight and two backfields employing a variety of offensive tricks. Both clubs have injuries. Captain Carl Moulden will be out of the Aggies lineup with a hurt knee. "Red" Dickey and Jack Frye may not play for Rice due to injuries received in the Texas Christian game last week.

The third conference game will be at Dallas between Southern Methodist and Baylor. Southern Methodist, victorious in seven consecutive games, four of them conference combats, is an overwhelming favorite. It will be the semi-final game in the conference for Southern Methodist. Coach Ray Morrison has indicated he will play first string reserves against Baylor as much as possible. Emmet Jordan, backfield star, will not be in Southern Methodist's lineup because of an injured knee.

Sammy Mandell Is To Be Manager

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP).—Sammy Mandell has signed again—not as a fighter, but as a manager.

Within a week after his retirement from the ring, Mandell today signed Kelly Kulak, Chicago lightweight youngster, who will make his first engagement under Mandell's direction here next week, meeting Mickey O'Neil, of Milwaukee.

The former world's lightweight champion will conduct a gymnasium in Rockford, Ill., his home town.

Nation Has Eyes On The South Today

Georgia - Tulane Tilt Is Watched By All Of America Today

BY ALAN GOULD

ATLANTA, Nov. 13. (AP)—Following the swift moving drama of one of football's most spectacular seasons, the spotlight of national attention tomorrow swings from the big towns to the red clay hills, where the powerful, undefeated teams of Georgia and Tulane stake their southern and national championship aspirations in Dixie's big game of the year.

Not since Georgia's famous "dream and wonder team" of 1927 galloped unbeaten into Atlanta, only to go slithering down to defeat in the mud before Georgia Tech, has any all southern battle so keenly stirred the gridiron pulses of this sector as the affair at Athens, or, for that matter, involved such far-reaching importance.

Micks Meet Navy

This week's football slate nearly everywhere is back with engagements of sectional or traditional importance. Up in New England the unbeaten records of Cornell and Harvard are jeopardized by threats of Dartmouth and Holy Cross. Notre Dame's juggernaut menaces the Navy. The Army marches against Pittsburgh and Northwestern aims to keep up its fast pace against Indiana.

Here in the south, Tennessee's undefeated array, another contender for national honors, faces the challenge of Vanderbilt's strong outfit at Knoxville, but for the day, at least, the outcome of Tulane's charge against Georgia's scrappy array will be watched with keen interest from here to Pasadena.

Affects Rose Bowl Tilt

The battle of Athens happens to be vital enough to affect the program for the season's biggest post-season classic in Pasadena's Rose Bowl, as well as the final award of any major honor for 1931. Tulane is the favorite and Tulane, by winning can just about clinch the much prized trip to the coast to play Southern California new year's day, in addition to sewing up at least a share of the Southern conference championship and acquiring a powerful rebuttal in any argument about claims to a mythical national championship.

Georgia, on the other hand, after swift maneuvers that upset Yale and New York University, can just as quickly overthrow Tulane's ambitions by emerging on the long end of tomorrow's score. Georgia can attend strictly to this business, without contingencies to worry about. The Bulldogs already are scheduled to play Southern California Dec. 12, at Los Angeles, and have no post-season ambitions beyond that.

In the Big Ten Purdue figures to whip Iowa and Ohio State to beat Wisconsin.

There is a lull on the Pacific coast, so far as the leaders are concerned.

BUILDING INDOOR TRACK

HOUSTON, Nov. 13. (Special) — Construction on the largest indoor race track ever built in America has been begun here. The track is being built at Sam Houston Hall, scene of the 1928 Democratic convention, for the Southern Horse Show and Circus which starts November 23.

Baptists Rap Law Decision

Texas Conference Adopts Resolution Protesting Decision Against Yale University Man For Citizenship

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WACO, Nov. 13. (AP)—The Baptist general convention of Texas today adopted resolutions protesting a decision of the supreme court of the United States which declared Douglas Clyde Macintosh, a Baptist minister and professor in the divinity school of Yale university, ineligible for citizenship because he would not promise to bear arms in any war which the United States may be engaged.

Macintosh would not promise to bear arms "unless he believed the war to be morally justified," said the resolution, which was offered by Dr. J. B. Tidwell of Baylor university. The court decision was divided, five to four. The resolution expressed "solemn protest against the conscience-oppressing interpretation of the constitution involved in the decision," and stated "we repudiate the pagan doctrine of the supremacy of the state over the Christian conscience therein asserted; we insist that when we must choose between the authority of men, even men administering human government, and the authority of Christ, we are bound to say, 'we must obey God rather than man'."

The convention pledged itself to work for "the reversal of this decision with its unchristian implications, or in case we fail in this effort, to seek an amendment to the constitution of the United States which will make citizenship harmonize with Christian principles."

To Professor Macintosh "and others in the same position" the Baptists expressed "our sincere sympathy, and the hope that our country will soon admit to the full rights of citizenship all like them who have no disqualification except that they will not violate the integrity of conscience and disobey what they believe to be the will of God."

The resolution was adopted unanimously after the Rev. Jesse Yelvington of San Antonio withdrew objections he made when it first came to the floor. Dr. Tidwell and Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas spoke in advocacy of the resolution.

Oklahoma Gas, Electric Rates Are Being Slashed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13. (AP) Gas and electric rate reductions for several Northeastern Oklahoma cities were announced today. The electric rate reductions apply only to commercial consumers, however.

Governor William H. Murray announced three Cities Service companies had agreed to lower gas rates in 14 cities to $1 for the first 1,000 cubic feet and 45-cents for each additional 1,000 feet, with an industrial schedule scaling as low as 35-cents, effective this month.

Coasting Along To Health

Doing very well, thank you, is Bing, Boston terrier, seen here on his novel "crutches." This device was rigged up to enable Bing to go on chasing cats and scaring away burglars, after an automobile had struck him and dislocated his spine. His master, Dr. James Day of Philadelphia, is giving Bing osteopathic treatments until he recovers from his injury.

Scout Totem Pole Contest Is Of Interest In Lubbock

Details of a national Boy Scout totem pole carving contest, approved by the United States department of the interior, are given in a letter mailed recently to scoutmasters of troops in the South Plains Area council by Executive D. T. Jennings of Lubbock.

Three American Boy Scouts will receive trips from their homes to the Alaskan interior and return as prizes in the wood carving contests, the object of which is to stimulate interest in Indian lore, especially that of Alaskan tribes as embodied in their totem poles.

It is the suggestion of Executive Jennings that each troop display all its totem poles in a downtown show window where they would be judged. These local displays should be held between January 31 and February 6, as the nation-wide contest will be held at Washington February 15.

MAN FOUND DEAD

RICHMOND, Nov. 13. (AP)—Fritz Rosenberg, 70, prominent real estate dealer, was found dead today in an automobile parked on his farm south of Richmond. An empty bottle which had contained an anaesthetic was found in the car.

Churchmen in Midland recently shipped a car of fifty-one beef cattle to an orphans home.

The City Council of Dallas recently issued a twenty-five year gas franchise to a New York concern.

Methodists Favor Judicial Council

FORT WORTH, Nov. 13. (AP) — Creation of a judicial council which will serve as a "supreme court" for the Methodist Episcopal church, south, was overwhelmingly favored in a vote taken today by the Central Texas Methodist conference.

The judicial council proposal, recommended by the church's general conference in 1930, must receive a three-fourths vote of all the annual conferences to become effective.

The council would supplant the judicial power now vested in the college of bishops and the general conference committee on appeals.

The judicial council would be composed of nine members, five ministers and four laymen. The college of bishops would name 20 ministers and 16 laymen from whom the general conference would elect the nine councilmen. Nine alternate members also would be elected.

ILLNESS FATAL

GREENVILLE, Nov. 13. (AP)—Mrs. Amelia Uptergrove Vaughan, 56, died at her home today after a brief illness. She was the wife of B. F. Vaughan, Hunt county representative to the state legislature. Other survivors were one son, B. F. Vaughan, Jr., who arrived from Dallas by plane ten minutes after her death; and Mrs. Harvie Branscomb, Durham, N. C., a daughter.

What makes BRAN SO GOOD FOR YOU

BRAN supplies two things that help prevent ordinary constipation. "Bulk" which gently exercises the intestines, Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is bran at its best. For ten years, millions have used it—with entire satisfaction.

Constipation may bring serious results. Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow skins, pimples.

Yet it can be overcome so simply. Try two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN can be enjoyed as a cereal, or in cooking. This is far more pleasant than taking pills and drugs that are so often habit-forming.

ALL-BRAN supplies iron which builds up the blood. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Sugar should be judged by the amount of sweetening it does

Imperial is the largest-selling sugar in Texas because it is expertly refined, cleaner and sweeter. Less non-sweetening matter is left in Imperial. This is the reason why so many women find Imperial more economical and satisfactory to use. We invite you to try Imperial Sugar in this new recipe for

Fruit Cake

1 lb. raisins, ½ lb. each—candied pineapple, cherries, citron, orange peel, almonds and pecans. 1 tablespoon each—allspice, cloves, cinnamon and 2 grated nutmegs. Cream 1 lb. butter with 2 cups Imperial Sugar, add 1 cup molasses. Add 6 eggs beaten together, 1 cup grape juice. Sift 1 quart of flour 3 times—the last time add 3 teaspoons baking powder. Mix all fruits and nuts in flour and stir into liquid mixture. Bake in slow oven about 3 hours.

IMPERIAL SUGAR
Used by more food manufacturers and by more housewives than any other brand in Texas.

AC COLLEGE COLUMN

By LOIS JACQUES, TECH CORRESPONDENT

OFFER PRIZES

The Associated General Contractors, Texas highway branch, is conducting a contest among several Texas colleges, and Tech has been invited to compete, according to Dean W. J. Miller of the engineering school, who has announced the contest plans to his students.

A prize of $50 is offered for the best paper on "Pre-qualifications of Contractors," and the winner will also be given a free trip to College Station, where he will read his paper before the Highway Short Course. First and second best papers in each school will be awarded prizes of $25 and $10 each. The article is to be from 2,000 to 4,000 words in length.

Other colleges who will enter are Texas A. and M., Texas university, S. M. U., and Rice Institute.

TO GIVE STUNTS

The next meeting of Sock and Buskin club, which is Tuesday, November 17, has been designated stunt night, according to the president, Graydon Ausmus.

All members are requested to come prepared to give some sort of stunt as a part of the program.

TEAL IMPROVING

Bill Teal, football player whose leg was broken recently in the game between Tech and the Haskell Indians at Dallas, has been moved from the West Texas hospital to Cheri Casa.

JUDGES LEAVE

Four members of the grain judging team, accompanied by their coach, H. J. Bower, left Friday morning for Kansas City where they will compete in a national crop judging contest. They will return the latter part of next week.

Those making the trip are: Carlton Carmicheal, Lubbock; Mashall Howard, Lubbock; Hugo Mika, Ballenger, and G. L. Beene, Roby. Beene was taken in the place of Haskell Beard, who was prevented from making the trip because of illness.

TRIBBLE INJURED

Lester "Terrible" Tribble of Sherman returned from the game in El Paso with an injured shoulder. He is meeting classes.

SNYDER RANKS TENTH

B. E. Snyder, Moran, placed tenth in individual ranking in the national stock judging contest at the Kansas Livestock show, a telegram from Ray C. Mowery said. Snyder is a member of the Tech team of judges who left Monday to compete in three contests. He competed with 40 or more entrants.

Standing of the teams entered in the Kansas City contest is as follows: Kansas, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Minnesota, Colorado, Ames, Texas Tech.

HOLD OPEN HOUSE

An informal open house is held each Saturday evening at 7:30 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyd, where small groups of students meet to discuss questions they are interested in.

The first meeting of the Y. M. C. A., plans to continue them. They were begun, he said, in answer to requests from the students.

REPORTS ISSUED

Mid-term reports to all students were issued Friday afternoon from the registrar's office, and will be given out this morning again. Copies of the reports, which show whether the student is doing satisfactory or unsatisfactory work, or failing, are also mailed parents.

ELECT CLEMENTS PREXY

Election of officers for the year was the feature of the meeting of the Math club Thursday night.

Milton Clements, Kirkland, was chosen president; W. C. Morgan, Hereford, vice-president; and Warren Richeson, Pampa, secretary-treasurer. Dr. F. W. Sparks is to be faculty sponsor.

Miss Margaret Williams of the Math department gave a talk on "Early Forms of Time-keeping," and Bob Parker, also a math instructor, discussed possible and probable changes in the calendar.

The next meeting of the club, which will be December 11, will be a social one, and initiation will also be held. A committee was appointed to make plans for it, and Canon Clements was appointed to head the program committee.

CALL RIFLE CLUB MEET

L. W. Chapman, president of the rifle club, announces a called session for next Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Members are asked to wear old clothes and meet in the basement of the administration building. Important business will be discussed, according to the president.

ENGINEERS DANCE TONIGHT

The fifth annual engineers' ball is to be held tonight in the Dance Palace, with Frank Stone's orchestra playing.

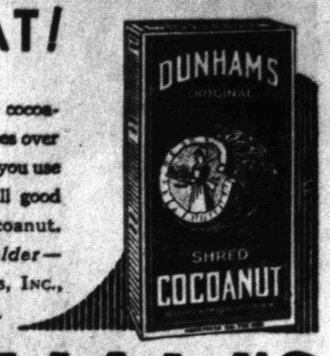

Bids have been on sale during the past week, and a large attendance is expected, according to Frank Maddox, president of the Engineers' society, which is sponsoring the dance.

West Texas counties won the first three places in county exhibits at the State Fair of Texas this year. They were Eastland, Randall, and Hartley in the order named.

A fat stock show is to be held in San Angelo from February 29, to March 2, 1932, sponsored by the San Angelo Board of City Development.

(FOLGER PHOTOS)

2,571 Physicians Approve This Rare Central American Coffee That Nature Grows Without Rank, Noxious Oils*

THERE'S nothing to fear in coffee—if you drink the right kind. In fact doctors now say it's not only good—but good for you.

2,571 physicians* who recently tested Folger's rare Central American coffee tell us that in their opinion it is not only free from all harmful after-effect, but actually beneficial.

From Central America

Folger's coffee is not just another "brand," it is an entirely different kind of coffee. It is grown in tiny mountain districts along the west coast of Central America. A region where nature gives coffee a far richer, smoother flavor—and leaves out the rough offensive oils that abound in cheap and doubtful coffees.

It is nature's gift that her finest flavored, most invigorating coffee can be enjoyed with all of its "kick" and without a "kick-back."

Folger brings you this unique Central American coffee packed in key-opening vacuum tins that keep it always as fresh as it was 30 minutes after it left the roaster.

Why not try it for a week. Note its finer flavor. Note its wonderful invigoration. Note its after-effects. Then you'll see why this coffee which is the choice of coffee experts is also endorsed by physicians.

Signed statements to this effect, from 2,571 physicians who have actually tested Folger's Coffee, are on file in our offices.*

Guilty Of Lese Majesty?

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Library of Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Odds of almost any large number to one are obtainable in Washington in favor of the proposition that President William Howard Gardiner of the Navy League of the U. S. A. will be found guilty of lese majesty.

What's more, it is the overwhelming consensus, even among Mr. Gardiner's friends, that he IS guilty, considering:

1. That lese majesty includes, among other things, any disrespectful reference to a sovereign power.

2. That if President Hoover does not represent the sovereign power of the United States, who does?

3. That Mr. Gardiner unquestionably referred in print to Mr. Hoover as "abysmally ignorant."

4. That "abysmal ignorance" is mighty hard to impute to the head of Uncle Sam's government with the air of deference which he is entitled to claim as his right.

IT IS INTERPRETED in Washington as to Mr. Gardiner's disadvantage that he is not to be allowed to plead that Mr. Hoover is "abysmally ignorant" as a matter of fact. Proof (and there is plenty of it) having been submitted that that is what Mr. Gardiner said, the court's verdict that it was disrespectful in him to say so will follow as a necessary corallary, regardless of all else.

The conclusion being thus foregone, it is of small consequence that Mr. Hoover himself appointed the tribunal to try Mr. Gardiner for speaking of him (Mr. Hoover) as "abysmally ignorant."

Still, perhaps there is something slightly misleading in the emphasis laid upon the circumstance that three of the five individuals chosen by Mr. Hoover to hear the case are members of the Navy League of which Mr. Gardiner is president.

To be sure, it is true; they are. Nevertheless, Navy Leaguer though he is, one of the trio, Eliot Wadsworth, also is an official of Mr. Hoover's emergency unemployment organization; another, John Hays Hammond, is his close personal friend; the third, Ernest Lee Jahncke, is his assistant secretary of the navy.

Of the remaining twain, William R. Castle may not, of course, be influenced by his position as Mr. Hoover's undersecretary of state; but, on the opposite hand, he may be, too. As to the fifth, Admiral Hugh Rodman, it is known definitely only that he was closeted with the president for some time before his appointment was announced. By all reasoning he should be a big navy-ite, but not necessarily an upholder of the doctrine of "abysmal ignorance," as proclaimed by Mr. Gardiner.

ASIDE from the question of "abysmal ignorance," there will be presented to the five investigators two main problems to solve:

1. Is it true, as charged by Mr. Gardiner, that President Hoover and Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England, at their famous chat on the Rapidan, reached agreements that never have been officially divulged in their entirety?—"which suggests," adds Mr. Gardiner, "why the administration refused to allow even an executive session of the senate committee on foreign relations to see the full record of its negotiations and possible commitments preparatory to the London naval conference of 1930."

2. Is Mr. Hoover, as Mr. Gardiner puts it, trying to "starve" the navy?

THE RAPIDAN PUZZLE is easy enough to answer. Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, who was one of President Hoover's plenipotentiaries at the 1930 conference, had in his possession for some time "the full record" of the administration's "negotiations and commitments" there, and repeatedly offered, in the whole senate's presence, to let the foreign relations committee members peek at them—on condition that they would not tell a soul, after seeing them, what they had seen.

And, naturally, the committee members refused to look on those terms, saying they were not personally curious, but wanted to broadcast the information to the country if they discerned anything they disliked the looks of.

AS TO NAVAL "STARVATION":

The original estimates for the navy department's current fiscal year's expenses totaled $401,000,000 and President Hoover demanded a $61,000,000 reduction.

Whether or not the United States navy would starve to death on $340,000,000 is a matter of opinion.

THE OVER-TAXED AUTO

A dispatch from Washington says:

"Motor vehicles, it was claimed (by the treasury department), pay an inadequate tax return to the states for the highways they use, and, in order to even up competition with the railroads, should be taxed to reimburse the federal government also for its expenditures under the federal aid highway act."

There is a ruddy humor about this statement.

For a number of years the federal government distributed $75,000,000 annually among the states, to be spent on road construction. The last congress increased this amount to $125,000,000 annually for three years.

In 1929 the gasoline tax brought in $431,000,000 to the states. Registration and license fees totaled $348,000,000. Personal property taxes, levied in some states, netted $130,000,000. Special municipal taxes brought in an additional $20,000,000. Total taxation on the ownership and use of automobiles in this country in one year, $929,000,000. Nearly all of it was spent on road construction and maintenance. And the government wants to be "reimbursed" for its $125,000,000 through more taxes on automobiles!

"An inadequate tax return to the states for the highways" the automobiles use! Why, the automobiles built those highways! The motor-buying, motor-operating public is being sweated to the extent of nearly a billion dollars a year for them! And the treasury department claims "an adequate return!"

We have never seen a sillier statement by any department of any government.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Old MRS. JUPITER, wife of the millionaire automobile manufacturer, gives an engagement dinner and dance for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS, who is to marry DIRK RUYTHER, blueblooded young lawyer.

Mary receives a telephone call from her scrapegrace brother, EDDIE, saying he is in trouble and must see her. The house is strictly guarded against "gate-crashers" because Mrs. Jupiter is wearing the famous Jupiter rubies.

Mary arranges for Eddie to be admitted secretly. When she goes upstairs to meet him she finds Mrs. Jupiter robbed and murdered in her room. Seeking Dirk, she finds him with CORNELIA TABOR, his childhood sweetheart. Dirk advises her to keep silent about Eddie until he can locate the boy. BOWEN, reporter for the Star, shows unusual interest in the case.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VI

"What do you know about telephone calls?" Kane asked.

"I don't know a thing, Inspector. I just asked!" the Star reporter replied. The reporter, whose name was Bowen, turned away toward the stairs. "Well, I'll just run up and see how Bill's making out. I'd like to get a look at that necklace myself. No objection?"

"Go ahead."

They had all gone and Mary found herself alone with Mr. Jupiter in the library. A fire crackled in the great fireplace. A dim haze of cigaret smoke filled the air. It was very quiet. The tick of a grand father clock sounded in her ears like the voice of conscience, pushing her forward.

She got up and went over and sat down beside Mr. Jupiter in front of the fire.

"Mr. Jupiter, there's something I must tell you—"

Her hands were cold and her throat so dry she could hardly get the words out but she was resolved to go on. She could not bear the sight of that bowed figure without doing something to help.

He looked up vaguely, as if becoming aware of her for the first time. Seeing the suffering in that lined face, Mary's heart failed her. She remembered with a stab of fright Dr. Jordan's warning of a few hours ago. "He must not be allowed to brood if we can help it. If he does, his mind will go."

Mr. Jupiter's devotion to his wife, the doctor had reminded Mary, was unique even among happily married couples. He told her why; at least, he told what he had heard — that Mrs. Jupiter had turned down the richest man in their small upstate village to marry Ji mJupiter, a penniless mechanic, and live in poverty. That was why he had lived just to to give her everything. Now she was gone, his reason for living was taken from him. Brooding on the tragedy might shake his sanity, and no wonder, since it was the very jewels he had delighted to deck her in that had brought about her death.

"Come and see me soon," Dr. Jordan had said to Mary, earnestly "I want to talk to you about what we must do to save him." Odd that she should be the one he talked to about this. But she did not have time to wonder what he meant.

"Mr. Jupiter, I've something to tell you—" she repeated.

"Eh? Oh, yes." He smiled and roused himself. "I know—you're going to leave us. Well, we expected that. But we didn't think it would be so soon. You and Dirk going to get married right off?"

"No, no!" Mary assured him emphatically, much to her own surprise. "Not for a long time yet." He looked utterly bereft; what else could she have said?

He was staring into the fire again. His face was working, like that of a child who is trying hard not to cry. Sick with pty, Mary looked away.

"It's not the same without her, is it, child?" he said sadly.

Dr. Jordan's words flashed into her mind. Taking a deep breath, she plunged ahead.

"Mr. Jupiter, last night my — I had a telephone call from my brother. I haven't seen him for quite a long time. He called me up during the party, and—"

His face was turned politely toward her, but she knew he was not listening.

"That so? How's he getting on?" He was making an effort to be interested. But to her own ears she sounded like a fearfulfool, chattering of her own affairs at such a time.

"I'm afraid he's in trouble, Mr. Jupiter. I don't know what, but I'm afraid it's pretty bad." ("An amateur—a bungler!" She must not think about that!)

"Well," the flat old voice replied lifeless, "nothing that a few dollars won't fix, I guess. He'll come out all right. Few things in the world that a few dollars won't fix."

"Oh, it isn't that! But I asked him here—and he hasn't come. I don't know where he is. I've been—pretty worried—" How to tell him! Here she was going 'round and 'round the subject, and not saying what she meant to say at all.

"Don't do it!" he barked at her. "Don't do it! It's not a woman's place to worry about a man. Man's place to worry about a woman. Let him do that!"

"I will. But he's so young. He isn't 21 yet." She hadn't thought of it before but now it came to her that whatever Eddie had been up to, his punishment would be tempered for him—he was still a minor in the eyes of the law.

"I'm sorry to see you go, now more than ever," Mr. Jupiter resumed. Eddie did not interest him much; he was of a diffierent stripe from his sister, and he had never cared much about the boy. "I'll tell you, if it wasn't for this Dirk of yours—we had plans about you, Mama and I. I don't know but she'd like them carried out anyway, now she's gone and can't attend to it herself."

Mary had no idea of what was

Body Is Revealed By Shallow Grave

WOODSTOCK, Ill., Nov. 13. (AP)—The body of a woman found in a shallow grave by two hiking boys was today believed by Stanley Stelmanchowski, 27, a sheet metal worker of Chicago, to be that of his wife, Mary, 24. She disappeared October 8.

Stelmanchowski's sister-in-law, Harriet Engling, expressed the same belief, saying a patch on the princess slip found in the shallow grave was similar to that made by the woman before her disappearance.

Because of the dismembered condition of the body, little other means of identification seemed possible.

Stelmanchowski said his wife had formerly associated with gangsters. He gave authorities the description of a man named "Steve" whom he accused of threatening her.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: PAUL IN JERUSALEM

Scripture Lesson: Acts 21:27-39

International Sunday school lesson for Nov. 15.

Acts 21:27. And when the seven days were almost completed, the Jews from Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the multitude and laid hands on him,

28. Crying out, Men of Israel help; this is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people, and the law, and this place: and moreover he brought Greeks also into the temple, and hath defiled this holy place.

29. For they had before seen with him in the city Trophimus the Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.

30. And all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they laid hold on Paul, and dragged him out of the temple: and straightway the doors were shut.

31. And as they were seeking to kill him, tidings came up to the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in confusion.

32. And forthwith he took soldiers and centurions, and ran down upon them: and they, when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, left off beating Paul.

33. Then the chief captain came near, and laid hold on him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and inquired who he was, and what he had done.

34. And some shouted one thing, some another, among the crowd: and when he could not know the certainty for the uproar, he commanded him to be brought into the castle.

35. And when he came upon the stairs, so it was that he was borne of the soldiers for the violence of the crowd;

36. For the multitude of the people followed after, crying out, away with him.

37. And as Paul was about to be brought into the castle, he saith unto the chief captain, May I say something unto thee? And he said, Dost thou know Greek.

38. Art thou not then the Egyptian, who before these days stirred up to sedition and led out into wilderness the four hundred men of the Assassins?

39. But Paul said, I am a Jew, of Tarsus in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city; and I beseech thee, give men leave to speak unto the people.

Golden Text: Thou shalt be a witness for him unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.—Acts 22:15.

Time: A. D. 57.

Place: Jerusalem, Castle Antonia. The Hall of the Sanhedrin.

LESSON CONNECTION

The incidents of the last lesson, Acts 19, were not only followed by a great turning to Christ in Ephesus, but also by a violent outbreak of opposition led by Demetrius, a silversmith, whose traffic in images became less profitable.—Acts 19:23-41. Already Paul had planned to leave Ephesus (Acts 19:21, 22) for another visit to the cities of Macedonia and Achaia, and afterwards to Jerusalem. Accordingly, after the riot, he departed. Luke tells us of his itinerary. He passed through Macedonia giving the churches "much exhortation"; he spent three months in Greece (Achaia); his purpose to sail from there directly to Syria (Palestine) was thwarted by a plot of some Jews, and he went again through Macedonia and thence to Troas, where he remained a week; thence he made his way toward Jerusalem, which he hoped to reach by the day of Pentecost. He touched at several points, the most important of which were Miletus (where he met the Ephesian elders and made that wonderful address which is found in Acts 20: 18-35, Tyre (where he stayed a week, the disciples begging him not to go to Jerusalem), and Caesarea.

PAUL IN CAESAREA, Acts 21: 8-15

An incident which occurred at Caesarea shows with what spirit and expectation Paul went to Jerusalem. A certain prophet, Agabus, from Jerusalem, dramatically took Paul's girdle and bound his own feet and hands with it, explaining that the owner of the girdle would be so bound in Jerusalem and delivered to the Gentiles. Already there was a feeling among the disciples that it would be dangerous for Paul to go, and when Agabus spoke with such certainty, they besought the apostle with tears to change his plans. But he would not be persuaded. He answered, "What do ye, weeping and breaking my heart? For I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus."

A WELCOME AND A WARNING, Acts 21: 17-21

It was quite a company that entered Jerusalem with Paul. Sopater, Aristarchus, Secundus, Gaius, Timothy, Tychicus, Trophimus, Manson and Luke are named, besides certain of disciples from Caesarea. They carried with them gifts from the Gentile churches for the poor saints there, a wonderful story of the triumphs of the gospel.

The leaders, however, felt that Paul ought to be warned and prepared to meet the situation which would surely arise when his presence in Jerusalem was made known.

PAUL'S EFFORT TOWARD PEACE, Acts 21: 22-26

Already the elders, greatly perturbed, had conceived a plan by which Paul, without argument, might prove to all that he had not done what had been reported. Four men of the church were under a vow which made it necessary for them to appear in the Temple for certain ceremonies of purification. And if Paul would join these brethren in their ceremonies and himself pay the expenses of the offerings, he would show that he himself observed the law and could not therefore have taught against it. To this plan Paul consented. There was no reason why he should not. He had made no objection to Jewish Christians continuing in their customs, and saw no reason for rejecting them as long as they were not made an essential to salvation.

ACCUSED BY JEWS FROM ASIA, Verses 27-30

All went well, at least inward resentment of him found no opportunity for expression, until some Jews from Asia saw him in the Temple. Immediately they raised a cry, "Men of Israel, help," as if some atrocious enemy of the nation had been found in the holy place. Holding on to Paul, they shouted forth their accusations. They were four: that he was an enemy of the Jews, speaking against them everywhere to everybody; that he taught against the law; and against the Temple; and that he had profaned the Temple by bringing Greeks into it, all four charges being false. Paul was dragged out of the Temple, and the doors were shut, worship was adjourned, until they could cool their anger in blood.

SAVED BY THE ROMANS, vs. 31-36

No doubt Paul would have been killed by the mob had it not been for the Roman soldiers. Garrisoned in the adjoining tower of Antonia, they were at hand for quick interference when tidings came up to the chief captain that "all Jerusalem was in confusion." Paul was taken from the crowd and bound with two chains, under the excusable impression that he was some desperado.

So the Roman power saved Paul's life. He will appeal to that power again. The part here played by the Roman authority is that which it performs throughout the Acts. It shields infant Christianity from Jewish assailants, like the wolf which, according to legend, suckled Romulus. The good and the bad features of Roman rule were both valuable for that purpose. Rome's military discipline, its justice, which, though often tainted, was yet better than the partisan violence which it coerced, all helped to make it the defender of the first Christians. Strange that Rome should shelter and Jerusalem prosecute!" (Maclaren).

PAUL ADDRESSES THE MOB, Acts 22: 1-29

Speaking not in Greek but in Aramaic, the form of Hebrew which was the language of most of his hearers, the apostle emphatically declared that he was born and reared a Jew and zealous for the Jewish faith. When he told how he was converted, adding Christianity to his Judaism, and finally he declared that his mission to the Gentiles had been undertaken at the direct command of Christ.

"The main interest of the speech, apart from its supreme value as an autobiography, consists in the manner in which it illustrates the tact and conciliatory attitude of the apostle. In this connection the following details may be mentioned: (1) The use of Aramaic. (2) The appeal to kinship in the speech. (3) The compliment to the zeal of his audience in Acts 22: 3. (4) The reference to Ananias in verse 12, and the emphasis laid on his reputation among the Jews. (5) He carefully avoids the use of terms that would cause unnecessary offence, never speaks of 'Christ,' and, on the other hand, introduces conceptions which would appeal to a Jewish audience, such as 'the Righteous One' and 'the Way'."

PAUL'S ROMAN CITIZENSHIP, Acts 22: 25-29

The tribune, not understanding what Paul had been saying, thought it must have been something especially atrocious or it would not so have enraged the mob. And had him brought hastily into the castle that the truth might be drawn from him by the cruel process of scourging. But when Paul was tied securely and a brawny soldier was ready to lash his back with the leaded thong, the apostle quietly asked the centurion in charge of the scourging whether it was lawful to scourge a Roman uncondemned by a court. To do this would expose all concerned to severe penalties, and at once the tribune was sent for. He had himself bought his Roman citizenship with a great sum. The situation reminds us of that in Philippi, Acts 16: 35-39.

"BE OF GOOD CHEER," Acts 23: 11

That night Paul had one of the visions that are granted him from time to time when his lot seemed the most desperate. He saw the Lord standing by him, promising that, as he had given loyal testimony to him in Jerusalem, the great desire of his heart would be vouchsafed to him, and he would be permitted to bear the same witness in Rome, the heart of the Empire. A Jewish plot seemed likely to prevent this, for the Sanhedrin was to request Paul's presence again for a more careful trial(which was certainly needed), and on his way to the Hall of the Sanhedrin the apostle was to be assassinated; but Paul had a nephew in the city, a wide-awake young man who learned what villainy was on foot, and told first his uncle and then Colonel Lysias. The tribune acted with commendable promptness, sending Paul under a strong guard to Caesarea, on the seacoast northwest of Jerusalem, the Roman capital of Palestine, with a letter to the Roman governor, Felix, stating all the circumstances, asking him to keep the prisoner safe and to judge the case when Paul's accusers should come from Jerusalem. Thus was Paul, by all these perils, advanced one step nearer to his missionary goal, Rome, then the central city of the world.

Young Man Receives Award For Good Radio Announcing

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—John W. Holbrook, 26, who wanted to be a great ski jumper and got switched to radio announcing, today was presented the third annual gold medal award of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for good radio diction.

The ceremonies were broadcast over WEAF-WJZ chain for which Holbrook is a program announcer.

David Ross of WABC, William Abernathy of Washington, and Sen Kaney of Chicago, received honorable mention.

"B-C" Will Stop Any Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no one drug can conquer all headaches as they come from so many causes two North Carolina druggists developed a combination of several ingredients which function together giving three-minute, safe relief for any kind of headache, neuralgia sciatic or rheumatic pain, quiets the nerves and leaves you normally buoyant, without depression or bad after effects.

This combination of pain relieving ingredients, so efficient for women also at special times, may be found at any drug store or soda fount under the name "B-C" (10c and 25c) ready for use in easing pains and quieting nerves in three minutes. "B-C" is the most amazing preparation of its kind ever discovered and is guaranteed harmless. (Adv.)

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13. (AP)—Trading in cotton today was decidedly moderate with narrow fluctuations and slight trend until near the close when cotton weakened along with stocks and wheat and prices dropped to new lows with net declines for the day of 8 to 11 points.

After a slight early gain due to better cables than due, prices eased off on hedge selling and week end liquidation. Silver was also easier and stocks developed some weakness. Weekly statistics were disappointing as mill takings were less than the previous week. Prices gradually dropped to levels 8 to 9 points down from the early highs and 3 to 4 points under the previous close. The market improved slightly early in the afternoon, recovering 3 points, but weakened sharply in the late trading with declines in stocks and wheat and made new lows at the end 13 to 14 points down from the highs.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP) — A slight opening advance in cotton today was followed by declines under some southern and local selling.

The New York selling became more active in the late trading owing to weakness in wheat and the stock market and January contracts, which had sold at 6.69 early, closed at 6.55. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 8 to 9 points.

The opening was steady 2 to 6 points higher in response to steadiness of Liverpool. The demand was soon supplied and the market worked gradually lower during the balance of the day. December declined to 6.48 and March to 6.71 and closing quotations were the lowest of the day.

Stock Market Observes Anniversary Of 1929 Lows With Value Declines

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13. (AP)—The stock market observed the second anniversary of the 1929 lows today with a decline in values. There was little activity until the last hour, but then the turnover increased and the reaction was extended.

Weakness in the rail group coincident with the executives' acceptance in principle of the I. C. C. freight rate proposal, and a 2 cent break in wheat exerted an unfavorable influence on the general list. Some commission houses were looking for stiffer grain prices, if only on technical grounds, and the pit's action was probably disappointing.

Heavy selling of New York Central, which Wall street feels is facing further unfavorable dividend action, broke the stock to a new low, although its net loss of 3 3-4 was exceeded by a few other carrier issues, notably Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific preferred.

fendants would ask the federal court for an injunction to restrain the state from pressing the suits on the ground the state's anti-trust law was unconstitutional in that it did not apply equally and uniformly since it exempted farm cooperative organizations from its provisions.

Commission Denies Frank Allegations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. (AP) — Members of the federal trade commission denied today the allegation of Attorney General Allred of Texas that it acted unlawfully in approving trade practices for the oil industry.

Commissioner March asserted the commission was wholly within its legal rights approving the practice rules. Other members joined him in asserting there was nothing in the code that would justify unlawful practices by the oil companies. The attorney general's attack came in anti-trust complaints against fifteen companies selling gasoline and oil in Texas.

At the same time there was a definite hint that the trade commission now is investigating certain practices of oil companies in relation to the leasing-license system of operating filling stations.

Budget Slash

fire prevention work and the securing of lower insurance rates, maintaining and developing the city's trade territory, publicity work, the development of agriculture, highway development, railroad activities, aviation development and collation work were pointed out as phases of the board and chamber of commerce's work which should be continued at all times.

"There are many other projects and activities that should have the attention and work of the chamber of commerce, such as industrial and civic development, and many other things that would make Lubbock a better place in which to live, because that is a fundamental essential before we can develop commercially and industrially," the report of the committee said. "There are so many more things that can be done for the safe development of the community that we can do, that one cannot help having a desire to attempt more than is practical."

Must Gear Work

"In fact, we must gear our work to the wants of the citizenship," the report continued. "No matter how valuable a project or activity may be, we cannot attempt it unless the citizens understand the need therefor and want it."

"Approaching the 1932 budget from that angle, the committee felt that because of present conditions that the thing to do was to determine the amount we can afford to expend rather than going at the matter from the value of the work that might be done, to the community," it said. "From this standpoint, the committee decided the budget for the Board of City Development for 1932 should be approximately $20,000. Without question, if we had a dues supported organization we would raise that much money and spend it to the satisfaction of dues paying members. The same yardstick was applied to the operations of the Board of City Development. While such a curtailed budget will, without question, cripple the activities of the organization and prevent it working on projects of real value, at the same time this budget will allow us to maintain those activities which are absolutely essential if the Board of City Development is to be maintained and serve at all in an efficient manner."

Taxes of utilities, foreign corporations and firms and non-resident property owners that would ordinarily not pay dues to a chamber of commerce will approximately pay the 1932 budget of the board, it was pointed out.

The $20,000 budget for a town the size of Lubbock is slightly under chamber of commerce budgets even where they are supported by dues all over the country, it was pointed out, while in this section the average is above this figure.

Reports Of Club Activities Made

Reports of the City Line home demonstration club of Slaton of work carried on last year were given at the achievement day program Thursday night at the community club house there. Several Lubbock residents, including Dr. and Mrs. I. E. Barr, District Attorney Durwood H. Bradley, Miss Margie Taylor, Campfire Girls' executive, County Judge E. L. Pitts and Miss Ruth Stockton, county home demonstration agent, attended.

Mrs. E. E. Wilson, club president, presided. Reports of the secretary show that club members had prepared 28 spring gardens and had canned 9,400 cans of fruits, vegetables, preserves and relishes and that 700 berry vines and fruit trees had been set out. Every club member's family was adequately supplied with milk. There are 28 club members. Reports of Mrs. Grady Wilson, the yard demonstrator, was given by Mrs. J. J. Garland, and Mrs. E. E. Wilson gave the Four-H club pantry report. A program of readings and musical selections were given. Pop corn balls were served.

Mrs. V. L. Cade of the Union club also attended the program.

Police Run Around In Circles With New Ruling By Superior Court Judge

BOSTON, Nov. 13. (AP)—As a result of a ruling by superior court Judge Ernest E. Hobson that the Boston police tagging system could result in conviction only when officers could identify drivers who parked their machines illegally, policemen today were walking around in circles, awaiting the return of offenders to their parked cars.

One traffic officer reported to his superiors he spent more than seven hours yesterday before he was able to catch the driver of one machine, the last 45 minutes being on his own time.

Judge Hobson, in reversing 46 lower court convictions against John A. Kelley of Dorchester, ruled that merely tagging a parked machine was not evidence; that the officer must see the driver, or produce a witness who had seen him park the machine.

Grid Injuries Prove Fatal To Millsaps College Man Friday

DELAND, Fla., Nov. 13 (AP).—Injuries received in a football game against Stetson here Armistice Day proved fatal today to C. V. Smith, Millsaps college tackle.

He died in a hospital of a fractured neck vertebrae after having been unconscious for several hours.

Smith was injured in the game in which Millsaps defeated Stetson 19 to 7. He was seen to break through the latter's line and was almost alone in the backfield when he suddenly collapsed and was carried from the field.

TOTAL IS ELEVEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP).—The death early today of C. V. Smith, Millsaps college tackle, of injuries received in a game Armistice Day against Stetson brought the list of football fatalities over the country to at least 11 since October 1, a survey by the Associated Press revealed.

handbags in the room. "I was told to do as Edwin said or get out of the house, and here I am," Lucas testified she said.

Return Sought

She had been told by her brother not to bring Donaldson into their apartment in the Green Hill Farms hotel.

It was decided that Donaldson and he should go to the Allens and "see if Rose could not come home again."

When they arrived at the Allen apartment young Allen was lying on a couch and the father was sitting in a chair.

"Eddie jumped up and said: 'get the ——— out of here.'" Lucas testified. "With that Eddie made a pass at Skinny—I should say, Mr. Donaldson. Then there was a sort of scuffle and Francis let him have one in the mouth."

"Finally," Lucas testified, "Eddie said: 'If you don't go out, I'll get the police.' I said 'that's probably the best thing to do.'"

Allen left and the two visitors and the elder Allen discussed the girl's situation. Mr. Allen denied his daughter had been ordered out of the apartment. He said she was with friends.

When Donaldson and Lucas started out of the apartment they were confronted by young Allen with a shotgun under his arm. The next moment, Lucas said, he heard Allen say "you didn't" — or something like that. He did not catch all of the words. Then there was a shot and Donaldson fell.

"I stooped down and gave his hand a squeeze," Lucas went on, "and Donaldson said: 'are you with me?' I said, 'yes, Skinny, to the end.' He said 'you are always with me to the last.'"

They were his last words.

Clairbert-Clark Controversy Is Gaining Headway

Fame of the Madame Clairbert—Justice W. S. Clark controvery over desirability of picking four-leaf clover from the county courthouse lawn has reached Sparrow's Point, Maryland.

Justice Clark Friday received letter for Madame Clairbert from Mrs. M. Lincoln of Sparrow's Point, a branch post office of Baltimore.

The letter was placed in a file with one received some time ago from Emily S. Ryan of Newark, N. J. Madame Clairbert, the Belgian opera singer who appeared here recently, was arrested for walking on the courthouse lawn. Charges were dismissed against her by Justice Clark.

Colvin Case Is Affirmed By Criminal Appeals Body

Conviction of C. S. Colvin of Lubbock in 99th district court here of a charge of liquor possession and transportation was affirmed Friday by the court of criminal appeals at Austin. Colvin was given a three-year sentence. He was arrested with his wife here last November 15.

The criminal appeals court has accepted a brief and it will set time of oral argument in the appeal of Alvis Graves, convicted in 72nd district court of a charge of murder and given 99 years in the penitentiary.

State's brief was received in the case of another Lubbock man, A. H. Beasley who was convicted of liquor transportation and assessed a penalty of two years by a 99th district court jury.

West Texas

group by Houston Harte of San Angelo, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, D. A. Bandeen, manager, and Wilbur C. Hawk, of Amarillo late today.

Points Stressed

The recommendation stressed two main points: balancing of the state budget by curtailment of expenditures, rather than by imposition of new taxes, and uniformity in valuing property for state revenue purposes.

Recommendations also was made that the government embark on a program of retrenchment, and eliminate non-essential agencies; reorganize its board, commission and bureaus and introduce improved business methods into governmental affairs.

State costs are far beyond their proper level, beyond the increase in wealth and population of the state and taxpayers are unable to pay the present cost of government. Private citizens and business have curtailed their expenditures and have set a precedent for the state to follow, the West Texas representatives argued.

It was claimed by the West Texas group that since 1912 the taxable wealth of the state had increased only 70 per cent while the revenue exacted by the state had increased 800 per cent.

Instances Cited

The committee cited several instances where farmers and ranchmen in West Texas have cut their operating costs to less than the taxes on their land as an illustration of the campaign of retrenchment that has been carried out in that area.

High governmental cost has proved a burden on private enterprise and his hiked production costs to beyond the selling price of commodities. "With retrenchment in farming, ranching, industry, mercantile enterprises and in county and city government and with the lack of income among our citizens to pay the cost of government, it is time for the state to halt and reduce public expenditures," a prepared statement presented to the committee stated.

In addition to recommending consolidation in state offices it was urged that steps be taken to abolish needless offices in city and county government.

"Rather than put the taxpayers in a greater plight, it would be better to go without some of our roads, to cut down a little on our education and go a little slower on our welfare and eleemosynary activities," the statement read.

In arguing for equality in making property valuations for state purposes, the committee pointed out that 12 counties, by holding their valuations low, had received $2,867,186 more from the state over a four year period for school purposes than was paid the state in taxes by these counties.

It was strongly recommended that constructive effort be made to find an effective method of taxing intangible assets to the end that burdens on real estate and visible property might be lightened.

NEWS BRIEFS

Students of the high school, college and others interested are cordially invited to hear the talk, it was said.

Misconduct Is Charged To Jury; Hearing Set Today

Jurors who convicted C. A. Sheffield, manager of a local hotel, of a charge of second degree negligent homicide and fined him $1,500 will be questioned in county court this morning when defense attorneys hope to show the jury members guilty of misconduct.

Motion for a new trial, based on alleged misconduct by the jurors during the case, will be heard before Judge E. L. Pitts at 9 o'clock. The defense alleges the jurors visited or passed the scene of an accident in which Palima Kelly, 16, was fatally injured and discussed the things which they saw, receiving evidence not in the trial.

Truck Line Ruling Is Given By Railroad Commissioners

AUSTIN, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Texas railroad commission today ruled that a truck line having contracts with 33 firms at various points in the state was a common carrier truck line and not a contract carrier truck line under the new truck regulatory law.

The ruling was made at a hearing on the application of the Galveston Truck Line corporation for a contract carrier certificate.

Eleven Haggard Survivors Of Ill-Fated Ship Landed

COLON, Panama, Nov. 13. (AP)—Eleven haggard survivors of the schooner Baden-Baden, who were alternately drenched by rain and baked by the sun while their open lifeboat tossed on the stormy Caribbean for three days, arrived here tonight on the U. S. S. Swan.

Captain Hewitt Walters of Mobile, Ala., who was injured by a falling timber as he sought to escape from the sinking schooner, was taken off the Swan on a stretcher and carried to Colon hospital.

coming; as he continued, her amazement grew.

"We always wanted a daughter, and after Bruce went away, and you came, Mama used to say how nice it was to have a young girl in the house. There's something about a girl—you can buy 'em dresses and things." The Paris dress! How happy she had been in it, only yesterday. Mary shut her eyes to squeeze back the tears.

"Of course Bruce will marry some day; but then we never see as much of Bruce as we'd like to." The shadow of a very real bitterness crossed his face. "No, that might not happen anyway in our lifetime, and like as not it would be one of those foreign women he's always writing about. No, we thought we wouldn't wait for that. We had you here, and liked you, and we thought we'd just adopt you. Now, what would you have said to that?"

It was like a fairy-tale come true. She found herself laughing and crying at once.

"It would have been wonderful! Perfectly wonderful!"

"Yes—well," he said, pleased as a child, "we'll have to see about it when all this is over. Things are pretty bad right now. But you must not let it worry you, or change your plans a jot. Bruce'll be along any day now. I dare say there'll be an answer to my cable before the day's over, and when he comes he'll brighten things up a bit."

Mary tried to believe that this was so but could only reflect bitterly on what she had heard of the absent Bruce and his ways.

"Pull that bell-cord, will you?" Mr. Jupiter asked, suddenly. But Spence when he came had nothing to report. The old man sank back. "I suppose there hasn't been time."

Although she had never seen him, Mary's heart was hardened against him. It was plain to see how much his parents missed him, how puzzled they were by his continued absence. They treasured his infrequent letters, written in a patois almost unintelligible to them and sprinkled with the names of persons and places they knew nothing at all about.

Now she tried to soften the blow for the old man.

"He may be out of town."

"Well, he's no business to be!" he snapped. Instead of soothing him, the suggestion seemed to anger him. "The place for that young man is back in this country, and I'll mighty soon tell him so when I see him! If he'd been here, where he ought to be, at his mother's side, this never would have happened!"

Whether his grievance was justified or not, it was exceedingly bitter. Mary hoped for Bruce's sake he was managing to endure spring in Paris this year.

"We've taken a lot of comfort in you, Mary," Mr. Jupiter continued more gently. "You may as well have some of what we've got, along with Bruce. The Ruythers have got nothing. Never will have anything. Steve's too close. He wouldn't plant a nickle that wouldn't raise a dollar."

Mary sat stunned. They loved her enough for that—to have made her their own daughter, given her a share in the immense Jupiter fortune! But would he feel the same about it, when he knew?

"That would have been wonderful," she managed to say, "but—let's not think about it now."

The nurse Dr. Jordan had sent came in, starchily efficient, and interrupted them. "Time for Mr. Jupiter to get some rest," she told him firmly. Those were Dr. Jordan's orders. Bed, and his luncheon brought up to him.

"Faugh!" The nurse recoiled before his rejection of her. "Where's Spence? Who told Jordan to send a woman over here? You go back and tell him I said to mind his own business. I guess I've still got sense enough to know when to go to bed."

When the indignant lady had finally been persuaded that her presence was not wanted, and Mr. Jupiter had been delivered into the hands of his ancient servitor, Mary bethought herself of Bessie. It might not hurt to drop a cautious word.

Spence could not say where she was. She was a light-headed baggage and he would just like the job of discharging her if she didn't tend to business better than this.

"Oh, I wouldn't do that just yet!" Mary said hurriedly. "She's probably around somewhere."

"She'll be wherever the men are," was Spence's acid reply.

This proved true enough, for as Mary mounted the stairs to go to her own room she was surprised to hear voices on the landing, one of them the maid's.

"Don't you know any movie directors, honest?" she was saying. "Gee, I thought newspapermen knew everybody there is!"

The voice of Bowen, the Star's reporter, replied wearily, "No, I don't, and if I did, what of it? Listen, sister, I've got an edition to catch. If you've got anything to tell me, let's have it and forget the Hollywood stuff. Come on, what's it all about?"

"Will you put my picture in the paper?"

"Sure, sure. Out with it." The reporter moved down a step. Time was short and he did not believe the girl had anything of importance to reveal.

"We—ll," she lowered her voice to a whisper just as Mary hurried up the steps.

"Oh, Bessie," Mary interrupted coolly, "Spence is looking everywhere for you. Your friend will excuse you, I'm sure."

The startled maid jumped and fled past her down the stairs in precipitate haste, leaving Mary face to face with the embarrassed newspaperman.

"Have you finished your work?" she asked coldly. "Because if you have, you'd better go."

Oklahoma Claims Federal Prisoner

PAWHUSKA, Okla., Nov. 13. (AP)—Whether federal officers who hold a warrant for the arrest of Donald I. McCormick for the robbery of the Borger, Texas., postoffice of $3,300 will take him back to Texas for trial soon remained undetermined here today as county officers indicated they had a prior claim on the suspect.

At the office of Sheriff R. H. Shults it was learned McCormick and another, Paul Johnson, are held for joint robbery with firearms. They are alleged to have robbed three school teachers of their automobile and forced them to walk home from a point several miles from Pawhuska.

No date for trial of McCormick and Johnson had been set today. At Tulsa, U. S. Commissioner Hill, who issued the warrant for arrest of McCormick by federal officers for Texas, said he had learned nothing new regarding the case.
