An insurance company has come up with some observations that should be of interest to those who look with favor on current women's fashions.

For one thing, they say, wearing a mini-skirt could lower a girl's chances of having a traffic accident. There's nothing like the leg freedom of a short skirt for easy braking and accelerating, it was pointed out. And another thing, high skirts usually demand low heels, and the insurance people say this is fine, because, unlike the stiletto heels of yesterday, today's square heels are less likely to catch in the car's floor covering or on the accelerator—a couple of situations likely to produce accidents.

In the other hand, long hair, gloves, bracelets, etc., are potential hazards to the woman driver because they are likely to restrict movement and vision, or hamper the grip on the steering wheel.

Hal Boyle, the Associated Press columnist, probably would attribute it to middle age. Anyway, I was puzzled the other evening to find something unexpected on Channel 2 of my television set. Then I remembered that the UHF station in Dallas, which occupied that channel on the local cable system, lost its tower last week during a thunderstorm.

In fact, Mel Gilbert had informed me that the station would be off the air for sometime, although they hope to get it back in service in about two weeks. Meanwhile, the SCAT cable system has substituted another station in that slot. But Gilbert assured that KDTV would be back on the local cable as soon as it gets back on the air. That's the one that shows a lot of old movies, and Boyle probably would say that those who miss it most are the middle-aged, and who am I to argue the point?

Chamber of Commrece Manager Karl Mawhorter has been assembling some information to submit in an effort to get Snyder added to one of the Texas Travel Trails. The trails were the brainchild of former Gov. John Connally and they were first charted to guide motorists along scenic and historic routes off the beaten path during San Antonio's HemisFair. They likely will be permanent instruments in the state's tourist promotion activities, however. —WACIL McNAIR

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, May 13, the 133rd day of 1969. There are 232 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1607, the first permanent English settlement in America, Jamestown, Va., was founded.

On this date:

In 1803, Napolean Boneparte captured Vienna.

In 1846, the U. S. Congress declared that a state of war existed between the United States and Mexico.

In 1865, the last engagement of the Civil War took place at Palo Pinto, Tex.

In 1915, the United States protested to Germany against the sinking of the British liner Lusitania.

In 1940, Queen Wilhelmina and Crown Princess Julianna of the Netherlands fled to London ahead of Nazi invaders.

In 1958, Vice President Richard M. Nixon's limousine was battered by rocks thrown by anti-U. S. demonstrators in Caracas, Venezula.

Ten years ago— French colonials in Algeria boycotted ceremonies marking their unsuccessful uprising against the Paris government one year earlier.

Five years ago— Cuban exiles reported they had attacked the eastern Cuban port of Pilon and demolished a sugar mill.

One year ago— Resurrection City was dedicated in Washington by the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy to house marchers in a Poor People's Campaign.

WIN STATE RECOGNITION — Bobby Raborn holds the third place trophy that the Snyder High School industrial arts team won at the state contest in Austin last weekend while Jennifer Godair displays the plaque awarded her for being chosen second runnerup at the state sweetheart contest. She was elected industrial arts sweetheart of West Texas in Seminole last January. Bobby, an officer of the local chapter for the past two years, was elected president of the Texas Industrial Arts Students Association this past weekend. He served as secretary of the Association during the past year. Both students are juniors. The state organization has 98 chapters and over 1,000 members.

Nixon Requests Change In Draft

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked Congress today to set up a random, lottery system for the military draft.

Nixon recommended that 19-year-olds be subject to the first call but that they remain vulnerable to the draft for only one year rather than seven as under the existing system.

"It is my conviction," Nixon said in a message to Congress, "that the disruptive impact of the military draft on individual lives should be minimized as much as possible, consistent with the national security. For this reason I am today asking the Congress for authority to implement important draft reforms."

The President repeated his stand that ideally there should be an all-volunteer armed force for the nation. He said he continued to believe that this ideal can be reached under more stable world conditions.

He added: "Under present conditions, however, some kind of draft will be needed for the immediate future. As long as that is the case, we must do everything we can to limit the disruption caused by the system and to make it as fair as possible."

The chief executive offered a six-point recommendation, topped by changing from an oldest-first to a youngest-first order of call so a young man would become less rather than more vulnerable to selection as he grows older.

The random system—a lottery—would be applied to all those who are vulnerable during a given year rather than to those whose birthdays fall at certain times of the year or 9onth.

A young man normally would enter the stage of maximum vulnerability during his 19th year and leave it during his 20th year.

Undergraduate students would continue to be deferred and their year of maximum vulnerability would begin with the expiration of the deferment.

Graduate students would be allowed to complete the full academic year during which they were ordered up for induction, rather than just one term.

The National Security Council and the Selective Service director are being directed to review the whole policy of deferments and exemptions and give the President their findings and recommendations.

Nixon said the random draft plan would be established nationally but be applied locally by each draft board to meet its local quota.

Summing up, Nixon told Congress:

"I believe these reforms are essential. I hope they can be implemented quickly."

The President had gone over high points of his message with Republican congressional leaders earlier in the day. One of them, House Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said he thought the prospects of congressional approval were good.

The President said that ultimately the draft should be abolished. Only in 1948, he said, did a peacetime draft become a relatively permanent fact of life for the nation, and now a full generation has grown up under a system of compulsory military service.

Nixon set out the mechanics of his draft plan in considerable detail.

He said the government plans to designate a "prime age group" every year. This would provide a different pool of persons eligible for the draft for each consecutive 12-month period. This period would be called a Selective Service year, since it would not necessarily start Jan. 1.

The prime age group for any Selective Service year would be made up of those who are 19 at the start of the year. Young men with deferments or exemptions would rejoin this group upon expiration of deferments or exemptions.

In the first year of operation nobody would escape vulnerability to the draft merely because of a change from one system to another. This would be assured by a system under which all eligible men from 19 to 26 who are not deferred or exempt would go into the prime age group.

Each individual would have maximum vulnerability to the draft only in the year he is in the prime group: After that, normally during his 20th year, he would move down progressively to less vulnerable categories while an entirely new set of young men would be coming up into the new prime age group.

Nixon said this would mean a young man would receive an earlier, more decisive answer to his question of where he stands with the draft and thus could plan his life accordingly.

Man Hurt Critically By Gunshot

Gerald Battenfield, 38, an employee of Johnston Testers, sustained critical gunshot wounds in the stomach in an accidential shooting near his house trailer at the Trailertopia on the Lamesa Highway at 7:15 a. m. today.

He was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance. A surgical operation was performed this morning, but his condition following the surgery was not immediately available.

Sheriff's Authorities, who investigated the incident, said Battenfield accidentially fell forward as he was entering his pickup parked near the trailer. His hand hit a .22 caliber pistol that was in a case lying on the seat, officers said, and the weapon discharged accidentally. A slug struck him in the stomach.

Eye Transplant Patient Has No Vision Yet

CONROE, Tex. (AP) — John Madden has come home with a bandage covering the right eye that was partially replaced three weeks ago.

"At this time he does not have vision from the eye," said Mrs. Ophelia Madden, his wife. "But he does have perfect movement and he does have feeling in it."

Madden, 54, was discharged Monday from Methodist hospital in Houston, where Dr. Conard D. Moore performed the operation April 22.

Big Trade Deficits Announced In Paris

LONDON (AP) — Britain and France today announced big foreign trade deficits—a record high in Paris—for April, raising fears for the stability of their currencies and the possibility of renewed crisis in Europe's money markets.

The Board of Trade announced that Britain's monthly deficit climbed $16.8 million, further dimming the country's hopes of getting out of the red this year.

Provisional figures announced in Paris put April's record deficit at $272 million.

In the London foreign exchange market, the pound immediately skittered off 18.5 points to a fraction below $2.38½, the official rate is $2.40.

The Board of Trade blamed higher imports and lower exports on the tail end of the American dock strike. Exports were still delayed in April but pent-up imports from the United States were flooding in.

The worsening of the British trade deficit appeared due to a $19.2-million increase in imports, a trend that has plagued Britain's balance of payments for years.

Viet Attacks Heavy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops made their heaviest coordinated rocket and mortar attacks from inside the demilitarized zone since American planes quit bombing North Vietnam last Nov. 1, military spokesmen reported today.

U.S. headquarters said 11 positions in the southern half of the DMZ fired more than 45 rounds of rockets and mortars Monday into allied positions stretching halfway along the 40-mile zone. But there were no reported allied casualties since the U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops were well dug in.

Marine artillery and the big guns of the U.S. heavy cruiser St. Paul in Tonkin Gulf blasted the enemy gun positions. All of the guns were silenced and forward observers reported 10 secondary explosions, indicating direct hits on ammunition stores, U.S. headquarters said.

U.S. headquarters keeps a close watch on the DMZ, since American officials say North Vietnam agreed to keep it free of military action in return for the bombing halt. Hanoi denies this, saying the bombing halt was unconditional.

Farther south along the Laotian border near the A Shau Valley, other North Vietnamese troops made a heavy attack on American paratroopers trying to choke off infiltration routes into South Vietnam. Twenty American paratroopers were killed, 65 were wounded, and their artillery base sustained "light to moderate" damage, U.S. headquarters said. Twenty North Vietnamese troops were reported killed.

In another setback in the northern provinces, North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S. Marine force about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing 19 Marines and wounded 12. Only four enemy bodies were found. The fighting was at such close quarters that the Marines were unable to call in bombers or artillery to help them out.

At least 68 Americans were dead in the fighting and 291 wounded, but these figures were expected to rise as detailed reports came in.

South Vietnamese losses were put at 177 troops killed and 517 wounded in the sudden surge in enemy activity that began early Monday.

U.S. headquarters also reported eight American helicopters shot down during the past two days, with four Americans killed and 13 wounded. This raised the number of American helicopters lost in the war to 2,621.

Despite the hard ground fighting, the nightly enemy shelling dropped off sharply Monday night. Some 40 rocket and mortar attacks were reported, compared with 212 the night before. Saigon and Tan Son Nhut, its big air base, were hit by light shelling, while south of Da Nang mortar and ground attacks on three villages killed 15 civilians and wounded 30.

Texas Weather Causes Damage

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Torrential rains, hurricane force winds and giant hailstones dealt destruction in the Lower Rio Grande Valley while thunderstorms laced with tornado funnels assailed Texas' Panhandle-Plains sector during the night.

Rain still fell this morning around Brownsville, where the official measurement was 4.26 inches and unofficial amounts ran up to 5.60.

At the same time lines of thunderstorms were finishing another night's march across the Panhandle and parts of the South Plains into Oklahoma, leaving half a dozen areas still jittery over twisters which whirled too close for comfort.

Skies were clear, meanwhile, at some points in far West, North Central and East Texas.

The Brownsville Weather Bureau clocked winds up to 81 miles per hour and many streets filled with water.

Heavier damage was reported elsewhere in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, where hail as big as baseballs shattered windows, damaged roofs and knocked out electrical power at Harlingen.

Early reports indicated heavy crop danage in the Harlingen-San Benito area. Prior reports of heavy hail in the Lyford-Sebastian area of Willacy County told of heavy damage to cotton.

A witness said cotton in fields was beaten into the ground by the hail and tornadic winds which also ripped off parts of three houses about three miles southwest of San Benito.

The Valley's multi-million dollar citrus crop was mostly in the final stages of harvesting and very little fruit was left on the trees.

There was concern also over possibility severe damage to a big Willacy County cotton crop, tornadic winds ripped off parts of three houses about three miles southwest of San Benito.

Smith Opposes One-Year Fund Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said today "it would not be proper or possible" to decide now whether he would veto a one-year bill, which Senate-House budget writers are preparing.

But the governor told a news conference "I don't want a one-year bill and that's that. We just aren't going to have a one-year bill, I don't think."

Smith's statement was as close as he has come to threatening legislators with a veto of a one-year spending proposal. He reiterated, however, that he has not told anyone he would veto the measure.

Smith said the preparation of a one-year appropriations bill "contravenes the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution."

And he said it would not save the state money to write a one-year, instead of the customary two-year bill which Smith supports.

A conference committee of 10 started work on a one-year bill after Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher endorsed the idea.

Told of Smith's stand, Barnes said, "I don't have any comment.

Mutscher said "The only comment on that is that we are making every effort we can to exercise our responsibilities. There is no question we had a problem with his (Smith's) tax bill and its lack of support. We're trying to work this out as best we can in the interest of the people of Texas."

Barnes and Mutscher went to the speaker's office shortly after Smith's news conference finished.

Smith said he was "not inclined at this date to try to scold, cajole or whip the legislature 'into line.'" He said there were several alternatives to the one-year bill.

He said he could use line-item vetos, cutting single projects or appropriations, let a one-year bill go into law without signing it, request the legislature to recall it and make changes—"there are many alternatives."

Smith said the issue of one- or two-year budgets would be settled Aug. 5 when Texans vote on annual sessions, but the governor added: "There is nothing magic with annual sessions—they don't save money. The only way to save money is to cut appropriations and when you cut appropriations, you cut services."

The governor said a poll of House members before Mutscher came out for a one-year bill showed 74 members wanted a two-year proposal, 43 favored one-year and 34 were undecided.

Smith read a letter from Edd McLaughlin of the Security State Bank in Ralls, which asked Smith to explain his views against one-year appropriations, and Smith's replies to the letter.

Smith said to pass a one-year bill without new taxes, which at first was the expressed idea of Barnes and Mutscher, higher education appropriations would have to be cut "rather drastically," construction at state hospitals and new medical and dental schools would have to cut down, "or out," the Colson-Briscoe farm to market road allocation would have to be eliminated and school teachers would not be guaranteed the second-year pay raise most members support.

A House member said conferees were about $5 million "over where we ought to be" to pass an appropriations bill and a teacher pay raise without new taxes. Barnes raised the possibility Monday that a "small tax bill" around $15 million to $20 million was being discussed but no decision had been made.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who demands that his wife let him stay with another woman on week-ends? He claims he is "indebted" to her because she was "good" to him when he was down in the dumps and having trouble at home.

That man is my husband. He is 60, and so is this other woman. He claims there is no sex involved — just friendship. When he and I had a fight three months ago he left for a short time and admitted staying with her. Now he's back home again with a proposition. Week-ends with her and week days with me.

What do you think?

ALSO SIXTY

DEAR ALSO: If you go for this proposition, your week end is your head. Tell your husband that marriage is a full-time deal, and there's no time off for good behavior. Or "bad."

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Will you settle an argument for us? When somebody ASKS you for whom you voted, what should you say? My friend says the person who is proud of his choice will come right out and say for whom he voted. I say if you prefer not to tell, it doesn't necessarily mean you are ASHAMED of your choice. What do YOU say?

JUST VOTED

DEAR JUST: I say that ones choice in voting is a personal matter, and he should not feel obliged to disclose it. It has nothing to do with being "proud" or "ashamed" — it's a matter of privacy.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a pick-up truck. It's my only means of transportation. I keep it nice and clean and polished and attempt to use it for dates. I said "attempt" to use it because I've had several dates broken because I was going to use the truck. Two girls broke the date standing right beside it, before I could even open the door.

The odd part is that not one of these girls asked about my transportation when they accepted the date.

I dress well, and behave like a gentleman. I make a good salary, but instead of paying out for a new car I am saving for a mobile home.

Should I quit dating until I can afford to take a taxi or buy a new car? The truth is, my batting average was much better when I was wearing the sailor blues and using the old "shoe leather express."

Where are all those nice girls who would prefer a date in a pick-up truck to sitting at home? Are they back on the farm?

CAPE KENNEDY, FLA.

DEAR CAPE: Your problem isn't wheels. It's your choice of girls. There are still plenty of girls around who would like to date a well-dressed fellow who behaves as a gentleman. And they wouldn't mind being picked up in a pick-up truck either.

Ask around.

Tourists Aid Texans On State Tax

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith said today that tourists to Texas last year paid $126 million in direct state taxes—"taxes that you and I were spared."

Smith told the fourth annual Tourist Development Conference that continued strong cooperation between the state's public and private sectors would benefit Texas in many ways.

"The 22.5 million visitors whom we hosted last year were more than half again as many as came our way five years ago. Their $1.5 billion spending was more than double our five-year-go visitors spending.

"As our tourist harvest grows more bountiful, the people of Texas will benefit in many ways, that $126 million (in direct taxes) represented a return of $108 for every $1 that state government invested in travel development last year," he said.

H. B. Zachary, San Antonio, who served as chief executive officer of HemisFair '68, was presented the governor's tourist development award at a conference luncheon.

Smith said that Zachary "has been such an integral part of HemisFair from its outset that he has richly earned a special honor."

W. J. Newell, president of the Newell Oil Co. Alpine, was honored for writing, publishing and distributing special road guides for visitors traveling through the Trans-Pecos area of Texas.

The second special hospitality citation went to Mrs. A. C. (Cissy) McCampbell, manager of the historic Excelsior House in Jefferson.

Farmers Reminded Of Labor Rules

Summer is almost here and many farmers and ranchers will be hiring boys and girls to fill in for the critical labor shortage during the summer months. But before employing such youth, certain requirements must be met under the Fair Labor Standard Act as amended in 1966.

Employers must abide by the Agriculture and Child Labor Requirements when hiring youth under 16 years of age other than the owner's or operator's own children; points out Ed Garnett, Extension area farm management specialist, Amarillo.

This law, according to Garnett, states briefly that youngsters under 16 cannot be hired to operate or ride on tractors (over 20 belt horsepower) or self-unloading wagons or hoist wagons; operate or unclog combines, field balers, hay conditioners, forage harvesters, corn pickers, roughage blowers or crop dryers; operate post-hole diggers or power driven saws; or work inside a gas-tight forage or grain enclosure or in a yard, pen or stall occupied by a dairy bull, boar or stud horse.

These standards do not apply when a youngster under 16 is employed by his parent on a farm owned or operated by such parent, explains Garnett. Also, those youth under 16 who have completed a bona fide cooperative vocational training program are exempt from the provisions of the act.

Many county agricultural agents in the area are conducting such training programs at the present in order to prepare youngsters between the ages of 14 and 16 for summer employment, says the specialist.

This training mainly involves the safe operation of tractors and farm machinery. Identification cards are issued after successful completion of the training program, and employers should make sure that youngsters have these cards before hiring them, emphasized Garnett. An employer can be fined up to $10,000 for willful violation of the Labor Act.

Check with your county agricultural agent for additional information on Child Labor if you have plans to employ youngsters on your farm or ranch this summer, urges Garnett.

Play Draws Applause

Snyder High School's one-act play drew warm applause Monday night as they presented their UIL contest play, "A Man for All Seasons," in a public performance in the SHS auditorium.

Monday night's presentation was preceded by folk music by Brad Maule, and presentations by Joe Wilson and Otis Archie who placed second in informative speaking and poetry reading at the UIL state meet at Austin recently.

Maude and Wilson had major roles in the play also.

Controversy May Boost New Bill

By JACK KNEECE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senators hope their bill demanding full financial disclosure by congressmen will ride to passage on the crest of controversy over the Justice Abe Fortas fee incident.

Sens. Philip Hart, D-Mich., and Clifford Case, R-N.J., said they decided Monday to add federal judges to the bill's disclosure provisions in an effort to pick up support from senators concerned about Fortas' financial dealings.

Hart and Case have tried for several years to require House and Senate members to make public all outside income and holdings. Last session their bill came within four votes of passing the Senate.

But they said they didn't become optimistic about passage this year until the Fortas affair —the cyclone of criticism that whirled in after Life magazine charged the Supreme Court justice received and kept for 11 months $20,000 from the family of since-imprisoned financier Louis E. Wolfson.

Fortas said a check was "tendered" but returned without acceptance. He denied ever trying to influence the situation involving Wolfson.

Amid the controversy Case decided to offer an amendment to extend their bill's provisions to the federal judiciary.

Thieves Active

Thieves burglarized the Von Roeder Seed Farms west of town sometime over the weekend and took an undetermined amount of change from two soft drink machines, according to Sheriff's Authorities who said there was a forced entry into the building. They estimated the loss at $4 to $5.

Rockefeller On Visit To Guatemala

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer

GUATEMALA (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller brings his fact-finding mission for President Nixon to Guatemala for three and a half hours today, and local newspapers blasted him for spending so little time in their troubled country.

La Hora, published by Vice President Clemente Marroquin Rojas, called the visit by the New York governor and his team of more than 20 experts "useless."

"Even if he were some sort of god, Rockefeller could not learn on a lightning trip all the things the provinces need," the newspaper said in an editorial.

Local businessmen called the visit a "show," but many said they will turn out to "see what this is all about."

The governor, who is visiting 23 Latin American countries as Nixon's special envoy, spent two days in Mexico City, his first stop. He told newsmen there "the typical Guatemalan weather would not permit us to leave that country late in the evening."

With the exception of one paper known for its support of the United States, the Guatemalan press has been leveling daily editorial jabs at the Rockefeller visit. In addition to the complaints about the brevity of the stay, the papers have been charging unfair treatment from their big customer to the north.

Jaycees Are In Session

A program on Americanism and reports on awards won at the state convention highlighted Monday night's meeting of the Snyder Jaycees.

Fourth grade pupils of Mrs. Jeanne Liner of Stanfield Elementary School, presented the patriotic program.

Reports on the awards, which included the outstanding club award in Division III, were made by the delegation attending the state Jaycee convention in San Antonio last weekend. Also it was announced that Nunley received the outstanding president's award in that division.

Nunley presided over the session which was held at the Scurry County Coliseum. The Rev. John Bollinger gave the invocation and the Jaycee creed was led by Truman Bryan.

Uncle Charlie is very concerned about world problems...

We're very concerned about Uncle Charlie!

You see, being concerned is about as far as Uncle Charlie ever goes. He worries about this...he gripes about that...but actually getting out and doing something to solve some of those problems...well...that never occurs to him. So, the problems remain...some get worse...new ones arise...and good old Uncle Charlie always has plenty to voice concern about.

At Lone Star Gas, we believe in concern plus action. And we put that belief to work in the communities we serve, and for our more than one million customers. There are over 6000 of us at Lone Star Gas, and we like to think there isn't an "Uncle Charlie" among us!

On a reducing diet? Here's something to keep in mind: Milk is a good investment of those precious calories. For the calories, milk supplies more needed nutrients than most other foods.

Milk is the main source of calcium in our daily diets and it is difficult to get enough of this mineral without using milk in some form in the day's meals.

For successful cheese fondue, don't overcook. And when you serve, keep dunking! Fondue should be constantly stirred, either by the cook or the "dunkers."

Jaycee-ettes In Session

The Snyder Jaycee-ettes met in the home of Karen Burkett for their first board meeting of the new club year.

All members were present to discuss the year's program. The ways and means portfolio was discussed in detail. New projects were considered and members were appointed to look into them more completely.

The board agreed to ask incoming Jaycee President Bob Harlin to present an orientation for new members at the regular meet set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 15, at the Snyder Savings and Loan Association Community Room. All interested Jaycee wives are invited to attend.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR THE WRONG MAN

AMONG REALTORS

Equity Kicking Up Fuss

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The equity or income kicker, which gives mortgage lenders on income properties some of the profits as well as interest, is kicking up a fuss among some real estate people.

Just months ago the big money lenders were content to earn interest on their loans. Now, however, they are seeking additional income by sharing in the profits or the increased value of the properties they finance.

Inflation is said to be the cause of the situation, but a lot of real estate dealers are betting that even if economic stability returns the common mortgage on income properties is never again going to be a relatively simply document.

They reason that once the big lenders such as savings banks and insurance companies taste a piece of the action, as several real estate men put it, they won't be satisfied to earn their return on interest alone.

The development is a tacit admission that the fixed dollar return on investments, so long preached by life insurers in selling policies, is inadequate in today's inflated economy.

The situation began developing more than two years ago but seems to have gained momentum in the past six months as interest rates rose and inflation continued at an annual rate of four to five per cent.

If a company lends money on a conventional mortgage of 8.5 per cent for 25 years and does not include a kicker, it faces two dangers:

First, interest rates might continue to rise but the lender would be locked in at lower rates; second, inflation might dilute the return on the investment.

Faced with such instability, life insurers such as John Hancock and Metropolitan reasoned that a hedge was needed and came up with the solution of seeking profits that would float with inflation.

Among the various deals now being transacted are these:

—One to even 3 per cent of gross profits from rents.

—Ten to 15 per cent of future increases in gross income.

—Actual partial ownership of the building.

—A per cent of net income, as much as 20 to 30 per cent of what remains after stipulated expenses such as taxes and maintenance are paid.

There is now a definite trend to participation by lenders, although opinions differ as to how widespread the practice is.

"There's more talk than action," says James Latta, senior vice president of Associated Mortgage Cos., Inc., of New York, but he concedes that the practice will spread "as long as the inflation trend continues."

John Wetmore, research director of the Mortgage Bankers Association, feels the practice has mushroomed in recent months. He tells of one case which he terms the triple threat, in which:

The lender obtained a percentage of the gross profits, a percentage of the net income, and the right to purchase the property at a depreciated price at the termination of the loan.

A Junior Editors Quiz About LIZARDS

QUESTION: There are many lizards here in Louisiana. Are there any poisonous ones?

* * *

ANSWER: To those interested in natural history, Louisiana is a fascinating state. There are rare and beautiful birds, and many attractive and lively little lizards, whisking in and out of crevices, climbing trees or walls. We show some of the most common of the lizards. Number (2) is one of the large group called swifts. You can recognize them by their rough scales. The American chameleon or anole (3) is the attractive lizard so often seen in captivity. It can change its color completely, sometimes being all green, sometimes brown. Skinks (4) form a large and important group, with glossy shining scales. They are difficult to catch and spend a good deal of time in hiding. We show the five-lined skink, the young of which has a brilliant blue tail. Whiptail lizards (5) have very long tails. The strange little glass snake (6), whose tail breaks off easily, looks much more like a snake than a lizard. All these are quite harmless. Actually, the Gila monster (1), the only poisonous lizard, lives far to the west of Louisiana.

Remarks College Heads Tire Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that make a college president wish he were running a nursery school:

"They've got the dean of men locked in the men's washroom and thrown away the key."

"Guess what the latest student demand is, sir. They demand parking facilities equal to those allotted to the faculty. Now they're really going too far!"

"Fifty per cent of the faculty voted to go on strike themselves unless you take a firmer hand with the students, and 50 per cent voted to go on strike if you do."

"Do you think it would be of any help if we simply called in the student leaders and asked them to engage in a meaningful dialogue?"

"Except for the fact the Veterinary Building is still on fire, sir, the rest of the campus is relatively quiet."

"You may think you're having your troubles running the university, Dr. Rutherford Romulus Frothingham, but let me tell you as your wife I'm having trouble running your home, too. Our part-time maid has just quit and is carrying a picket sign outside our house. She says she's in sympathy with your student strikers."

"Well, whatever we do, we have to do it soon. The legislature meets next week—and you know what their attitude is toward student revolts."

"As a loyal alumnus of Popinjay U., I find your inaction in the present crisis deeply disturbing. Therefore, I am dropping my plans to contribute $100,000 toward a new student dormitory. However, I'll contribute $200,000 if you'll use it to build a student jail."

"You've tried pampering them. Why not call in the National Guard now and try clubbing some sense into their heads?"

"In essence, sir, the Negro students want a new Center for Afro-American Studies, the Jewish students want a Hebraic Center, the Irish students want a new Institute of Gaelic Culture, the Italian students want an Italo-American Department and our lone student from Egypt is demanding a course on the history of the Arab League —to be taught in Arabic."

"Here's a telegram from the chairman of the university's board of trustees, sir. He's just found out that his son is one of the student strikers and asks that you do everything possible to talk some sense into the boy. He says he can't do a thing with him himself."

"As best we can analyze it, Dr. Frothingham, the five per cent of the student body who want you to resign belong to the Students for a Democratic Society. The five per cent who want you to stay belong to the Students for a Sane Democracy. The remaining 90 per cent apparently don't care a whoop either way. They don't care whether school keeps or not."

Fireman's Fire Causes Alarm

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) —Next time the fire department of suburban Oakland Park lights a fire it will let the public know.

Firemen put the torch to Porky's, an abandoned nightclub, Monday to get some practice fighting a large blaze.

But the boys back at headquarters got the most practice. They answered more than 100 phone calls reporting a large fire.

NFL Still Holds Edge On Tube

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football realignment for 1970 was a major step toward equalizing the television packages that Commissioner Pete Rozelle will try to peddle this summer.

The National Conference, including 13 of the current NFL teams, still will have the edge in top television markets with seven of the top 10. However, it shares two of them (New York and San Francisco-Oakland) with the new American Conference, which will be seen in five of the 10.

Of equal importance to the networks is the move of Cleveland and Baltimore into the AFL-oriented group because it provides midwest interest, which has been minimal, and also adds punch to the southern market where the Baltimore Colts once ruled the roost.

In other years, a Chicago Bear fan who was looking for a game to watch when the Bears were home and he was in the blacked out area, had little interest in most AFL offerings. Now he will be able to watch a Cleveland or Baltimore game, presumably on another network.

When Rozelle goes shopping for his new television contracts he will be asking for more money than the current deals. The AFL gets $36 million for five years or about $7.2 million a year. The NFL gets $18 million a year. All contracts expire with the end of the 1969 season.

The television proceeds per club average about $800,000 to AFL teams and $1.2 million to NFL teams. To raise all clubs to the $1.2 million level, the new contract would have to call for an additional $4 million.

Presumably the networks now holding the rights, NBC for the AFL and CBS for NFL, will be contacted by Rozelle before any other network is approached. The new Hughes Sports Network, formerly Sports Network, could be a dark horse contender.

The new alignment will find the National Conference of the NFL with these top television markets: 1, New York. 2, Los Angeles. 3, Chicago. 4, Philadelphia. 6, Detroit. 7, San Francisco-Oakland. And 10, Washington.

The American Conference will have these markets: 1, New York (shared by Jets and Giants). 5, Boston. 7, San Francisco-Oakland (shared by Raiders and 49ers). 8, Cleveland and 9, Pittsburgh.

UNUSUAL FISH — Stanley Clark, Route 1, Snyder, and a fellow classmate at Snyder High School landed this unusual bass at a stock tank near Dermott recently. The fish does not have an upper jaw. Stanley said he believes it may have been pulled loose or else the animal was hatched that way.

TIGERS VS. CUBS

3-AAA Title Up For Grabs

The moment of truth will arrive for Snyder's Tigers and Brownfield's Cubs at 4 p.m. today. The teams clash on the Cub diamond at that time with the District 3-AAA baseball championship hanging in the balance.

The Bengals have won two of three tilts with Brownfield this season, but both victories were non-district affairs. The one loss really hurt because it was the one that counted and prevented the Tigers from sacking up the crown last week. Ruben Garcia, the left-handed mound ace for Brownfield, won the tilt — a 10-inning affray here last Tuesday, and he doubtless will be on the mound again today for the Cubs.

His opponents in that last encounter were Merce Hernandez, Steve Holder and Jim Patrick with all three Tiger hurlers sharing the pitching chores. Merce started and appeared to be in command with a 4-run lead. But he sustained an arm injury during the contest and had to be removed.

"We hope he'll be ready today," said Bengal Coach Speedy Moffett, "but we'll just have to wait and see."

Although Garcia is generally considered to be the top pitcher in this neck of the woods, the Tigers knocked him out of the box in an early non-distrct tussle. They also hit him well in the early innings of the extra-inning tilt last Tuesday, but his stamina seemed to increase as the game wore on.

If Merce isn't able to start, another junior right hander — Jim Patrick — will get the assignment. Both boys are big and strong and could give Ruben a tight duel.

Coach Moffett listed probable starters for Snyder, according to batting order, as follows: Ronnie Lewis 3b or rf, Wesley Bishop 1b, Steve Holder ss, David McGinnis lf, Larry Wall c, Jim Patrick p or rf, Jodi Williamson cf, Richie Thompson or Randy Levens 3b, and Merce Hernandez, p.

Brownfield's attack will be led by senior Gary Baccus. He kept the Cubs in the game last week by driving in the tying run in the 7th frame.

Emile May Fight Nino

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Good fight, Emile," said middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

"You'll fight me, Nino?" asked Emile Griffith.

"Sure," replied Benvenuti.

So it looks like a fourth middleweight title fight is in the works between the two arch-rivals, probably for September in New York although nothing is on paper today.

Griffth earned the shot by coming from behind to beat cut-prone Stan "Kitten" Hayward of Philadelphia on a decisive, unanimous 12-round decision at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

But it took a cut over Hayward's left eye in the fifth round to open the gates for the 3-1 favored Griffith's victory.

Hayward, who had outpointed Griffith in Philadelphia last Oct. 29, had rocked the former welterweight and middleweight champion with a stunning right to the jaw in the fourth round and was outboxing th e grim New Yorker at this stage.

But when the wide cut on the Kitten's left eyebrow was opened in the fifth and blood streamed from the gash, Griffith took charge and dominated the fight from then on.

Referee Arthur Mercante and judge Tony Castellano each had Griffith the winner in rounds 8-4 while judge Johnny Dran had it 9-3 for Griffith. The Associated Press card had Griffith in front 8-4.

"It was Griffith all the way," said Benvenuti, who took the title from Emile a second time here 14 months ago. "He would have won even if Hayward was not cut. Griffith looked slower but stronger since I fought him."

Griffith bored in to work over Hayward's body and to prevent him from getting too much punching room.

"I couldn't get set for more than one punch the way he worked," said Hayward. "Then when I was cut, I couldn't see out of the eye for several rounds. I think I'll have an operation to get the scar tissue removed."

Benvenuti came down from his training camp at Grossinger, N.Y., to watch the fight. The handsome Italian is training for a nontitle 10-rounder at the Garden May 26 with Dick Tiger, the former middleweight and light heavyweight champion from Biafra.

Hayward weighed the agreed limit of 161 pounds after sweating off 1½pounds within two hours after the first weighin. Griffith weighed 155.

A crowd of 8,126 paid $39,509.

Sooners Sign Joe

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — Henderson's Joe Wylie, one of the most-sought after schoolboy football stars ever to come out of East Texas, officially becomes a Boomer Sooner today.

Oklahoma signs the 180-pound Wylie to a pre-enrollment application at 3:30 p.m. in the home of the boy's father—Al Wylie, a Henderson banker.

At least that's the latest word on the subject.

For a while Monday, it looked as though the whole deal might be off. The story broke prematurely that Wylie had decided on Oklahoma after giving consideration to Arkansas and Texas.

"The news wasn't supposed to get out until we could contact the other schools," Al Wylie said. "It was a real disappointment to us.

"I told all three schools I'd call them and I wasn't able to keep my word."

Wylie and his father showed up in Longview Monday night where young Wylie was presented a plaque as Texas Schoolboy Athlete of the Year by the Elks Lodge.

Young Wylie was wearing a dark, red OU blazer. The elder Wylie said he wanted to apologize for any misunderstanding on his part against Oklahoma.

Young Wylie said he became so confused at one point Monday "I didn't know what was going on. I just went down to the stadium and sort of hid. I just ran around the track."

He said "I just suddenly felt like Oklahoma was the place for me to go. Just the sum total of everything added up in Oklahoma's favor."

Wylie said Oklahoma coach Chuck Fairbanks would be on hand for the signing which will occur "just as soon as Mom gets in from school about 3:30 or so."

The 6-foot-1 Wylie scored 34 touchdowns and rushed for 2,032 yards his senior year. He was named to the Texas Sportswriters' Association Class AAA all-state first team and was named one of the top 10 schoolboy football players in the nation.

Assistant Oklahoma coach Jerry Pettibone was on hand in Henderson Monday night to be near the prospect he has visited 21 times since the schoolboy recruiting race started.

Pettibone said by the time Wylie is a sophomore in college he should weigh about 210 pounds.

"He will be great," said Pettibone.

Jr. Golf Tourney Set Wednesday

Tee off in the 9th annual Junior High Golf Tournament will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the Snyder Country Club. There will be nine holes of play each day through Friday with the 4 p.m starting time for each day.

There will be separate divisions for the 7th grade, 8th grade and 9th grade. Winners will be determined by the low medal score over the 27 holes.

Entry fee is $1. Registrations will be accepted by Coach Geral Greene at Travis, Coach John Gary at Lamar and Coach J. P. Ward at the Country Club.

Ribbons will be presented to the top three shooters in each division. Seventh graders will tee off from the women's tees. Eighth and ninth graders will play from the red, blue and red tees in this order.

Mitch Rambin, a member of the state finalist high school team, holds both the 8th and 9th grade records. He fired a 127 in 1965 to set the 8th grade record, then he carded a 112 the next year to establish the 9th grade record. Mark Hargrove holds the 7th grade record with a 125 which he carded in 1968.

Officials were expecting some 30 entries. Boys were reminded to furnish their own clubs and balls.

Bass Lands Star

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Texas Tech's new head basketball coach likes those Kentucklans.

Bob Bass signed his third Kentucky schoolboy star to a pre-enrollment application Monday night—Everett Taylor, a 6-foot guard from Ohio County High School in Hartford, Ky.

Taylor averaged 18 points per game in leading his team to the Kentucky state finals. He was selected to the all-state tournament team.

Carolyn Rogers Wins Blue Ribbon

Carolyn Rogers of Ira ran a 12.2 in the finals to capture first place in the hurdles event at the girls State Track Meet in Abilene over the weekend.

Earlier, Carolyn recorded a 12.3 in the prelims, and another girl posted a 12.2 in the prelims. The old standard of 12.5 was erased.

Carolyn also turned in a distance of 33-9 in the triple jump to take a fifth place.

Ruthless, a filly, won the first Belmont Stakes in 1867.

Winningest 'Horns Stick Houston

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — In its 75 years of baseball, the current Texas Longhorn team is the school's winningest.

Texas beat Houston Baptist 11-0 and 7-1 Monday to run its season record to 31-4. The 1914 Longhorn team won 30 games.

The doubleheader was a warmup for the best-of-three series beginning Thursday with Trinity to determine the NCAA Dist. 6 representative at the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

The opening game will be played 4 p.m. Thursday at Clark Field in Austin. The second game will be played Friday at 4 p.m. in San Antonio. If a third game is necessary, it will be played at 3 p.m. Saturday in Austin.

Trinity has a 20-11 record.

Larry Horton pitched two hit ball in the opener and Nati Salazar turned in a nifty relief job to spur Texas to the twin victories Monday.

ON TRANSIT PROBLEMS

Strong Arguments Expected

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The blueprint for a multibillion dollar attack on mass transit problems Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe is expected to send to the White House in two weeks is certain to stir strong debate within the administration.

One issue will involve the financing Volpe has indicated he will use for the program. Another problem could arise because the plan is expected to lack specific proposals for action.

But, Volpe says, "I'm a fighter and I exect to see this through.

Volpe admits his researchers have not been able to come up with a cheap, practical way to move masses of people into, out of and arond the nation's cities.

But a Volpe aide says this doesn't mean there is any doubt about the need for money.

"You've got to have the money should the answer be found," an aide said. "You've got to be ready to go with this situation because the problem becomes more severe each and every day. "It should have been grappled with 110 years ago."

The financing is expected to involve a trust fund concept used in the federal highway construction program and advocated by Volpe in a recently proposed airport construction bill.

Opposition to this financing by some administration economists has resulted in the temorary halt to the airport bill, which the White House returned to Volpe for further study.

Although the trust fund approach has proved highly successful in building highways, some government economists oppose extending it to other areas because it commits funds in advance, making them immune to budget cutters.

"If you don't like a trust fund, then you suggest an alternative that will get the job done," Volpe says he has told opponents of the concept.

The new administration's position on mass transit has been somewhat unclear although President Nixon made solving congestion in the cities one of 10 major goals.

The Johnson administration gave mass transit No. 1 priority among transportation problems and Volpe vehemently denies the Republicans have downgraded it, although the first two bills pushed out of his department were aviation measures.

The secretary mentioned the billion dollar figure for mass transit for the first time at a New York news conference Friday, saying the program being worked on would grow to "about $1 billion in two or three years." Volpe also said the program ultimately would amount to a billion dollars a year.

He declined to say how much money would be sought initially and when, but presumably nothing would be requested until fiscal 1971. The Nixon administration canceled a request for an additional $25 million for new research money in the 1970 fiscal year starting July 1.

The White House noted that $39 million already was available for research and demonstration and said that amount "is probably about all that could be effectively used."

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers.

• • •

Q — I made a mistake on my return and failed to claim a deduction to which I am entitled. Can I file for a refund on this even though I have not received the refund I requested on my original return?

A — Yes, you can correct this filing error now even though the refund on your original return has not arrived. Obtain a copy of Form 1040X from your local IRS office and follow the instructions on this form for correcting the mistake. You will receive a separate refund for the additional amount claimed.

Q — Should I keep the extra forms you sent me for estimated tax? I only needed one to make my declaration.

A — Yes, the other three preaddressed voucher forms in the estimated tax package should be used for your remaining estimated tax payments. Be sure to keep your estimated tax worksheet since the figures on it will be used to determine your payments.

A reminder notice will be sent to taxpayers in advance of the quarterly payment due in June.

Q — I mailed my return just before the deadline. When should my refund come?

A — The increased volume of returns received by IRS offices during April should extend slightly the 5-6 week processing cycle for refund returns that are accurately and completely prepared.

You should have your refund within 10 weeks from the date you filed or, in any event, a letter from IRS explaining why it is delayed.

Q — What's the rate I should pay when I report my maid's Social Security taxes this quarter?

A — The rate is 4.8 percent for the employee and 4.8 percent for the employer making the combined rate of 9.6 percent. Employers who paid a household employee $50 or more in total cash wages during January, February and March should pay 9.6 percent of the total wages to IRS using Form 942.

The deadline for paying these taxes was April 30.

Court Asked To Study Riot Laws

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Eleven persons charged after a March 17 outburst at the University of Houston have asked a federal court to strike out the state's riot laws.

The defendants, in a suit filed Monday, claim the statutes are vague and unconstitutional in that they prevent the right of freedom of speech.

The suit was filed before U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham, who also was asked to issue a permanent injunction against the university.

The 11 persons, members or supporters of Afro-Americans for Black Liberation (AABL), were charged after a campus book store and cafeteria were damaged. The AABL is a university student organization.

The suit alleges that university and state officials conspired to deprive the defendants of their civil rights.

The 11 asked for a special three-judge panel to hear arguments about the validity of the riot statutes.

Judge Wallace C. Moore of County Criminal Court ruled Monday that only one of the persons charged in the disurbance will be tried alone.

"There is a conspiracy on the part of the establishment to prosecute political dissidents in this area," defense attorney Bobby Caldwell said. "A man who exercises freedom of speech never knows what effect his words will have on another."

Capitol's Lighted Star May Come Down

AUSTIN (AP) — The familiar lighted star at the "front" or south entrance to the Capitol seems unpopular with legislators and probably will soon come down.

The House State Affairs Committee approved a Senate-passed resolution Monday night directing its removal. The Full House still must vote on it.

"The lighted star above the front entrance to the Texas Capitol symbolizes the 'Lone Star State', but to the casual visitor it has more the appearance of Christmas ornamentation that has not been removed long after the holiday season is over," states the Senate resolution by Sen. O. H. Harris, Dallas.

"It's a little gaudy," said Rep. Joe Shannon, Fort Worth. "At Christmas time it might be cute, but it should be taken down. . ."

Armed Milkman Defends Truck

By STRATTON L. DOUTHAT
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — When two milk company delivery men were killed in separate holdups in Miami's Liberty City section last year, Lewis Wilhite Sr. decided to arm his truck.

Wilhite, 58, fired [illegible] shots from a carbine Monday into a man police said was trying to force his way into Wilhite's delivery truck.

"He had to do it," the elder Wilhite said later. "We'd been hit three times before and there just aren't enough police to protect people like us. You have to protect yourself."

Wilhite operates a small wholesale candy and tobacco company serving hotel and drugstore tobacco counters. He said he and his competitors are constantly harassed by holdup men in the slum areas.

Police said the younger Wilhite pumped four M1 carbine bullets into Willie Gordon, a 21-year-old ex-convict.

Gordon was described by a hospital spokesman as in satisfactory condition.

The younger Wilhite, 25, told police that Gordon, pistol in hand, was trying to force his way into the back of the truck. Wilhite said he warned the man he was armed and would shoot if necessary.

"But he wouldn't go away and my boy fired through the back of the truck," Wilhite Sr. said. "I don't think my boy would shoot anybody if he didn't have to."

Police said they found a pistol [illegible] and that an accomplice in a rented car fled after the shooting.

Patrolman Brian McCabe said Gordon was on the pavement awaiting an ambulance when the funeral procession of a Miami policeman slain in the area last week by a holdup man passed by.

The younger Wilhite was released after making a statement to police and returned to his delivery route.

"I was more nervous about this than he was," said his father. "He doesn't shake up easy."

Three persons, including a city patrolman, have been shot to death in Miami robberies since April 17.

Jockeys born in Puerto Rico, Panama, Mexico, Peru, France, Italy, Canada, Ireland and Japan competed at New York Racing Association tracks in 1968.

Miss Averitt Top Student

Janet Averitt, daughter of Supt. and Mrs. Ted Averitt, has been identified as the top scholar in this year's senior class at Hart High School, it was announced recently.

Miss Averitt transferred to Hart last year from Hermleigh when her father became superintendent at Hart. She posted a grade average of 94.18 throughout her high school career.

She plans to major in elementary education at West Texas State University. She has been a student teacher four years, participating in junior and senior plays and in University Interscholastic League one-act play competition, is a member of the National Honor Society, Future Homemakers, Future Teachers, Beta Club, Pep Club and the girls track team.

The Royal Purse Feeling A Pinch

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The royal families of the seven remaining monarchies in Europe are costing their countries upward of $1 million a year support money.

Their subjects generally appear satisfied they've got a bargain. Whether the sovereigns feel the same way is something else. Some of them have been feeling the pinch with rising costs in every field. Without private fortune, they clearly would be pleading poverty.

The subject of whether a king or a queen is worth the expense is coming up again here and there. Britain's Queen Elizabeth II hasn't had a raise since she was crowned 16 years ago. Members of Parliament have started to talk about an adjustment.

The queen's "privy purse" still is at its 1952 level of 475,000 pounds. With her husband Prince Philip, her son Prince Charles, the Queen Mother, the Duke of Gloucester and Princess Margaret, the family take-home pay comes to 725,000 pounds or $1.74 million.

They run half a dozen palaces and even have to pay special tax on each employe out of these sums, but much of the daily running expense can be dealt with through government channels.

The queen is reputed to have a private fortune of about $15 million plus such valuables as 500 Leonardo da Vinci cartoons, pints of gems, and fantastic art objects—but clearly none ever could be offered for sale in the public market.

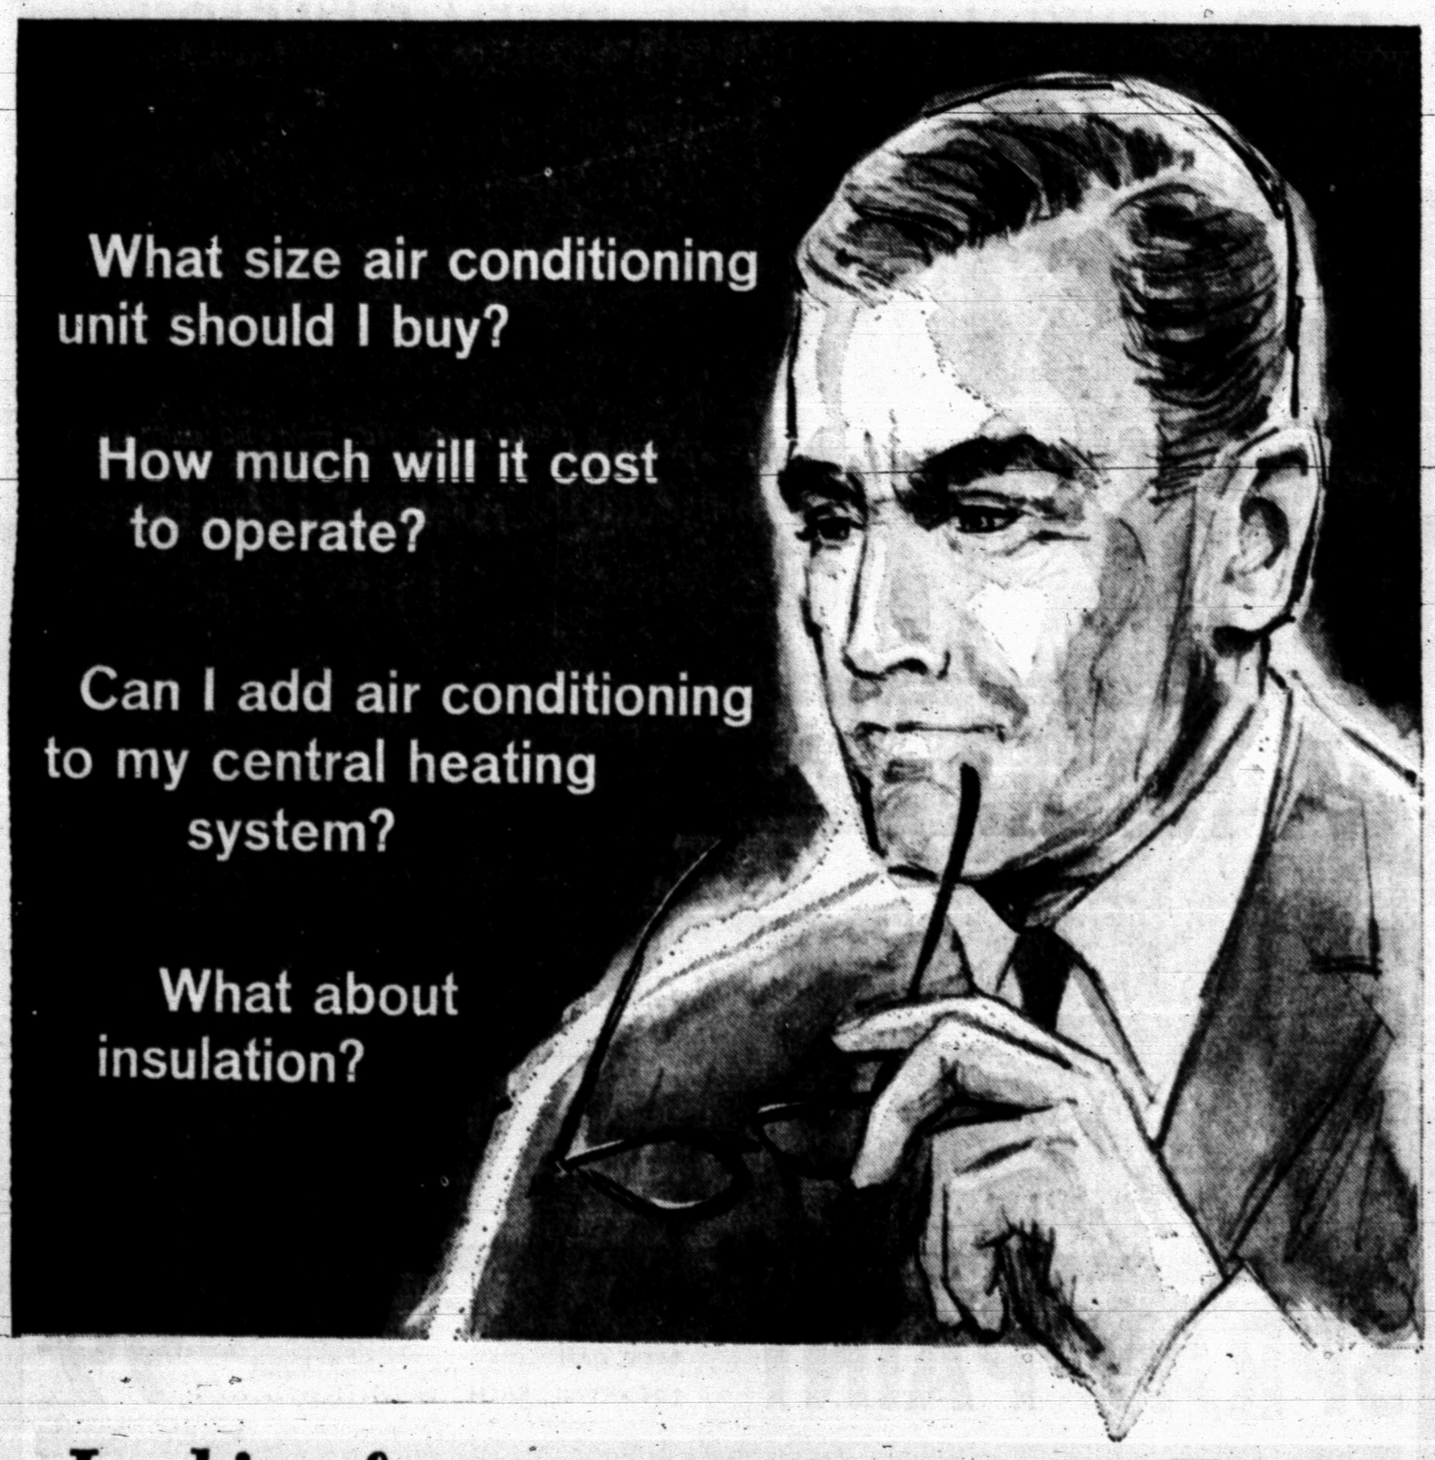

Proponents of a pay hike for the royal family argue that the queen is making ends meet only by dipping into her private purse.

Income of about $7 million from crown property is distributed by the government for royall occasions. None of this money ever finds its way to the queen's pocketbook.

The crown land deal goes back 250 years when the Hanoverian monarchs were constantly in hock. The crown property was surrendered to Parliament in a deal which established the "privy purse" system.

Other monarchs in Europe have had pay increases over recent years.

King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola of Belgium are paid $1.46 million in Belgian francs. Holland sets aside $1.44 million worth of Dutch Guilders for Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard even though Juliana is rated one of the richest persons in the world.
