

Morton's City-Wide Clean-Up Drive Date Set for June 6

Cooperation Necessary In 'Clean-Up'

On Friday, June 6, Morton will undertake a whirlwind one-day clean-up campaign, Lion clean-up chairman, E. A. Miller, announced Tuesday.

The drive is designed to clean up every section of the city to improve its appearance and to help prevent serious summer disease epidemics, which often originate from filthy, unsanitary surroundings.

Such a drive, if conducted with absolute thoroughness, might accomplish a lot in stamping out the spread of the dreaded disease polio, which always flourishes during the hot summer months.

To state that Morton is in need of a thorough "cleaning-up" is putting it mildly. The campaign as planned by Lion Committeemen should "go over the top" this time.

But to assure its success and firmly establish Morton's reputation as a clean city (which it certainly doesn't possess now), it will be necessary that the drive be accorded 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the citizenry.

Surely, residents can devote a few hours each day, starting now, to cleaning up their premises—picking up trash, gathering up old tree limbs and debris, and in general cleaning up all places where litter has accumulated. The same applies to the business section. Alleys in the rear of some business establishments could stand a lot of improvement.

But whatever residents do in the way of cleaning up between now and June 6, surely a majority of them can devote a few hours in helping to clean up their city on the day the drive is in actual progress.

Clean up your premises—be they in the residential section or the business district—and trucks will be available to haul off the trash accumulation.

A clean city means a progressive city. A clean city means a healthy city. And there's nothing like a clean city to bolster civic pride.

Some of our neighboring cities, have long taken the lead in establishing their reputations for cleanliness. It's high time that growing Morton started pointing in the same direction.

Cooperate in the city-wide clean-up drive. Clean up Morton—and then keep it clean.

Morton's New Brick City Hall On East First Street Nears Completion

The one story City Hall building, located on East First street, northeast of the square one block from the city center, is nearing completion. City officials moved into the building last Thursday.

Exterior of the building is constructed of white face brick over a concrete foundation. Interior is plaster finished with yellow knotty pine wood work. The spacious structure contains an entrance hall with ladies rest room, cloak closet and lobby, city office, storage room, private offices, council chamber, firemen's recreation room and facilities for storage of fire fighting equipment.

Off the firemen's room are located lockers, showers and sanitary facilities for exclusive use of Morton firemen.

A 30 gallon capacity hot water heater has been installed. Furniture for council and recreation rooms ordered with delivery expected in very near future.

The entire building will be heated with gas steam radiators thermostatically controlled. Lighting is furnished by semi-indirect general diffusing incandescent electric lamps.

The building has a built up composition roof on steel framing with insulation between roof and ceiling. Metal windows with bronze wire mesh screens are used throughout.

All outside doors are master keyed, the indoor vault door is insulated fire resistant.

City officials include: H. P. Arnold, Mayor; Louis Smith and T. L. McAllister, City Councilmen; W. K. Whitman, City Clerk; Tom Neal, City Marshall and Mrs. T. D. Marshall, secretary to the city clerk.

Distribution Of Poppies Set For May 30 And 31

Faced with a heavier burden of service to disabled veterans and their dependents than ever before in the organization's history the American Legion and its Auxiliary unit are making plans to distribute poppies on Friday and Saturday, May 30 and 31.

Plans are being made for conducting the poppy sales.

A window display will be arranged by the local auxiliary unit according to Mrs. Roy Hill, president. A booth will be set up in a convenient place for headquarters, and volunteer workers will be on the streets to see that everyone has an opportunity to honor the dead and aid the disabled by wearing a poppy.

Since its last poppy sale in November the local American Legion and its Auxiliary have contributed approximately one hundred dollars in aid to local needy servicemen and their dependents.

The success of the poppy sale is largely dependent upon the public's generosity in purchasing the little crimson flower, emblems of the Flanders poppy that blow over the graves of the dead who were buried on foreign soil.

The poppies are made by disabled veterans in hospitals. These men are paid by the Legion Auxiliary for this work and the money they earn supplements their meager income.

House Committee Approves Bill To Cut Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON—The House agriculture committee decided on May 14 that federal crop insurance should be cut down to an experimental basis in 1948 in an effort to devise a program both financially sound and attractive to farmers.

Legislation which it approved and sent to the House would not affect insurance the government already has written on 1947 crops. Rep. Hill (R-Colo.) is author of the bill.

BUSINESS TELLS A STORY

Time was when it was fashionable for everyone to talk about big business and count over the gross and net sins of corporations. Of course, there were mighty good stories even then about our steadily rising standards of living. But the busybodies then didn't bother with those success stories, big or little. I have said that America is now beginning to assume her task in public relations, that of selling her ways and her freedoms and her institutions to people everywhere.

I should like to say that some of our groups and institutions have special responsibilities in this job. I think that labor does, as well as business. The task is important to agriculture, to tradesmen, to education, to the professions, and to civic minded folks in every walk. Certainly, labor and industry are each so important in our economic system, that they must be interested in reawakening the people to an appreciation of America.

A Report To Workers

I would like to tell you about a company that is doing its part, thereby shouldering its responsibility for this kind of public re-education. Somebody sent me a copy of a report this company makes to its employees. The report answers questions employees want to know. The answers are frank, fair, and simply stated. There is no doubt the report has made its readers better informed Americans. It did so to me.

The company describes its shareholders. "The American 'Big Business' that you read about is really the combined business of millions of Americans, most of them working people. . . . They largely own it and, through the directors they elect, they manage it. Business in the United States is big because this is a big country with tremendous needs that require big companies to satisfy them. And it is big because, as nowhere else on earth, millions of working people can each be part owner in the Big Business of America, help it grow and share in the profits it earns."

It takes $7,507 worth of capital to give a person a job in this company. Naturally, there would be no jobs for their 3,951 people if it were not for this $29,660,626. Shareholders who put up this money out of what they earn and save, hope to get "a fair rental" for their money. These folks, the report tells us, are capitalists—"and so are you!" Because we own our possessions, we are "capitalists" and this is a "capitalist" country!

"We have a 'capitalist' industry in the United States because millions . . . use part of their 'capital' to own and operate the most productive farms, stores, mines, and factories on this earth. And that is the reason why we, as a people, have the highest standard of living of any nation in the world. No other system in any country, at any time, by any other means has ever produced so much for so many at such little cost as our 'capitalistic' business does in America."

The company says frankly that it made money in 1946—about seven and one half cents on every dollar's worth of products sold. While this record is termed a narrow margin that calls for economy along the line, the report expects to keep on making money. All this, amidst healthy competitors that cause them to keep putting out better products for less money. Tribute is paid to the keen competition they meet as an effective price regulator.

"A company that can't make money is like a ship that can't float. Neither is safe for you and your family. A company may lose money for a short time, just as a ship may spring a leak and take in water for a short time, but if the losses and the leak can't be stopped soon, the ship sinks and the company goes out of business. Passengers on the ship that sinks and employees of the company that fails are victims of disaster."

BOYCE HOUSE 'Gives You Texas'

A bill has passed the House almost unanimously to appropriate $1,500,000 to create a new four-year technological college. Whose idea is this? Had you heard anything about it? Texas Tech at Lubbock is a great school; so is Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville. Why not send tech students to one of these highly successful colleges?

Just a few weeks ago, this columnist visited A. and I. and it is a fine school but is greatly in need of buildings for the excellent technological equipment it has—electrical, aviation, oil and gas equipment.

Instead of starting a new four-year college, why don't we first provide the buildings and other needs of the colleges already in existence? The University of Texas, A. and M. and other state schools have largely gone without new buildings since 1941. They are bursting at the seams. They are crowded with veterans enrolled under the GI

Bill of Rights.

Another thing: This legislature already has appropriated $2,000,000 for a new university for the negroes. Isn't one big school in one year enough for the state to start?

And that $1,500,000 for the proposed new technological college will only be a starter. Don't doubt it; give 'em that and it won't be long till they'll be back for more.

The Governor warns that the state treasury is not going to have enough money to pay for all the things the legislature is voting. Which do the people of Texas want: a new technological college—or more pay for our public school teachers?

A new technological college—or some farm-to-market roads? Do the people want another four-year state college—or doing something for the elderly who are having to get by on 80 cents a day when the cost of living has gone up 75 per cent in the last few years?

The United States exported the equivalent of about ten million cases of eggs in 1946.

Troy Fort and Toots Mansfield Matched Roping To Be Held June 1 At Levelland

If you look at it one way, Troy Fort has the edge, but when you reconsider Toots Mansfield is slightly favored.

Actually, according to the facts, the championship match calf roping contest between Mansfield of Big Spring and Fort of Lovington, N. M., to be held in the Levelland Rodeo Arena Sunday, June 1, it's a toss-up.

On the credit side of the ledger for Fort in the seven major shows of 1947. He has piled up three first place victories and four seconds, while Mansfield chalked up two first place wins and one second, but failed to place in the other four contests. Then there is Fort's victory over Mansfield in the Levelland arena March 23. These facts indicate that Fort is sitting in the driver's seat this year for the world's championship title with little possibility of losing it. Since it is based on the all year average.

Then when you consider the fact that Mansfield uses a bigger loop which was a disadvantage in the March 23 contest because of the wind, that the twelve calves to be roped will be wild Brahmas fresh from their mamas and never roped before, and his record for the past eight years, the contest takes on a different light. Mansfield has been the world's champion roper five out of the last eight years and beat Fort in Levelland last August 11th.

Any way you look at it this match roping contest which will be the last of a series of three to determine the winner of the Levelland series promises to be one of the best ever held any place.

Thirty head of wild Brahmas and calves are to arrive in Levelland this week from South Texas, for the show. These calves have never been weaned and Storing the stoves and our enter clothes seems to have been a little premature with the weather Morton has had the last few days.

Heard Mrs. T. D. Marshall say they had cotton up on their face. Hope the hail Monday evening didn't beat it down.

Sunday we enjoyed a grand dinner, courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williamson.

Mrs. Louis Smith looking unusually pretty at the tea Sunday. She returned from a visit in El Paso especially for the party.

There was such a crowd at the tea we could hardly see the guests but everything was lovely.

Mrs. Jack Rice was wearing a beautiful hat, a sort of halo affair with pale pink roses. Her small son, Bill Ed, had a grand time helping Carol with the gifts.

Mrs. Hume Russell looking mighty nice in a black dress with bright figures, her hat was a gorgeous black straw lace.

The rodent control men have been working on the building occupied by the Morton Tribune this week. Mr. Johnson told us that they had just about finished proofing buildings on the north and west sides of square.

Mrs. R. C. Ross, daughter, Ray and son, David were out Sunday morning in their pretty new car. Little David had just come from the barber shop and was all teary eyed. He has had a trouble lately and presumed ably the hair clippers were not at all pleasant.

Incidentally the Rosses have some beautiful snapdragons and roses now blooming in their yard.

Our friend, Jake Smyth, editor of the Liberty Vindicator, flattered this column tremendously in last week's Vindicator by reprinting a portion we had written on the progress of Morton.

Jake probably doesn't know it but we liked that better than we would the gift of a ten dollar bill.

And we do not mind admitting that the first thing we look for on Sunday is Wayne Seller's column in the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

It doesn't cost a thing to give a cheery word of encouragement to a fellow now and then. Surely the one on the receiving end is not the only benefactor—is there not a feeling of satisfaction when one knows he has made some one else happy by just a few words?

People are nice. Of course you run into a few cussed ones, some who measure life only in terms of what it gives them.

We little realize how greatly we are influenced by those with whom we come in contact. The chronic grouchers and "aginners" help to lower our morale; while those whom you run into from day to day, who always have a cheerful smile or a friendly greeting affect you in just the opposite way—they lift you up.

What a shame it is that people have to live so many years before they become truly tolerant and what a tragedy it is when the years fail to bring them increased understanding.

Thousands of persons are going about with chips on their shoulders and with preconceived ideas on which they never allow the light of a new viewpoint.

Every human soul has elements of nobility. Maybe there are a few stinkers but most of us

Republic Pictures' Laugh Hit of the Year! "RENDEZVOUS WITH ANNIE"

Corporal Jeff Dolan (Eddie Albert), stationed in London, gets a three day pass. Two happy-go-lucky pilots smuggle him aboard their plane so he can secretly meet his wife, Annie (Faye Marlowe) that night in Woodville, New Jersey. At daybreak she drives him to the train.

Jeff's pilot friends return him to London. Less than a year later, he comes home a civilian—to find that Annie has just had a baby. But no one will believe he's the father! And if he can't prove it in a week, his infant son will lose a great-uncle's fortune!

The Sprightly Story of An Unexpected Stork! Starring EDDIE ALBERT • FAYE MARLOWE • GAIL PATRICK Showing Saturday Prevue At Wallace Theatre

Jeff locates the pilots. But they are remaining in the Army and can't talk. Woodville's banker, whom Jeff saw with a blonde at the Bongo Club, won't admit it. Dolores Starr (Gail Patrick), singer, advises Jeff to find the club's photographer. Her suspicious husband (Eddie Albert) stands by.

Jeff's photo is blurred. Maybe General "Good Conduct" Trent, who was on the plane, can help. Trent thinks he's crazy! Jeff fights a gossip columnist (Wallace Ford) and is jailed for attempted assault on a diplomat (Sir C. Aubrey Smith). But an old friend, and surprise twist save all.

Suspected Communicable Diseases Should Be Visited Promptly By Doctor

AUSTIN—If every case of suspected communicable disease could be promptly visited either by the family physician or the local health officer, thousands of susceptible persons would be protected from disabling illnesses, according to the State Health Officer.

To quote Dr. Geo. W. Cox, "The old fashioned theory that it is a good thing for children to have a number of the catching diseases and get them over with, has long since been known to be a serious and sometime fatal error. The long a child can keep from having these diseases, the better it is for him. Every child should be completely protected by vaccination or inoculation against any such diseases where an immunity can be produced."

Prompt diagnosis, isolation, good medical and nursing care give the patient the best chance for a satisfactory recovery without the serious complications that sometimes accompany even the mild forms of communicable diseases. Dr. Cox emphasized that obeying the public health laws regarding isolation and quarantine of communicable diseases protects not only the patient, but helps prevent others from contracting the illness.

"The State Health Department," Dr. Cox said, "is doing everything in its power to protect the health of the people of Texas. The cooperation of every individual in protecting his own health, and that of his community, will do more than anything else to help check the spread of communicable diseases."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

When Ed's Crops Failed

Three years ago Ed Smith's luck went bad. His crops failed, and it wasn't long before Ed's home and furnishings were up for auction.

Half the town turned out, and Ed must have thought his neighbors were a bunch of hungry vultures—buying up all his precious possessions for a song.

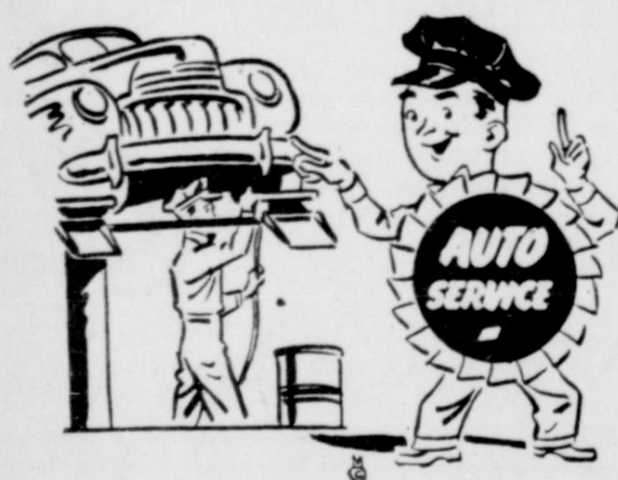

When it was over, and the auctioneer had left, Sam Abernathy turns to the crowd and says: "All right, folks, let's take time out for a glass of beer, and then put this stuff back where it belongs!"

Two hours later, Ed was in possession of his home and furnishings; and the folks who'd paid for them were sitting around Ed's fire enjoying a neighborly glass of beer—to show their friendship and their confidence in Ed.

Today, Ed's back on his feet—another constructive member of the community. And from where I sit, we've all been well repaid—a good investment in a good man.

Joe Marsh

Sidelights From Washington

By George Mahon

West Texans will be interested in the annual appropriations bill for the Department of Agriculture which will be reported to the House of Representatives on Monday, May 19th. There will be a storm of protest over the provisions of the bill, and I shall join with others who are interested in agriculture in seeking to prevent unwarranted reductions in certain programs for agriculture.

Funds for agricultural research have been slashed. This seems to me to be false economy at its worst. Research and development in weapons and airplanes played a major part in our military victory. Agricultural research should play a major part in promoting peace-time agricultural prosperity.

Funds for soil conservation and cooperation with soil conservation districts have also been greatly reduced. This does not make sense to me. I think we need greater emphasis on soil conservation, and I shall support an amendment for the expansion of this activity.

The bill drastically reduces the funds for the AAA payment program. The President requested three hundred million dollars for this purpose in 1947 and producers have proceeded with the 1947 crop on that basis. As I see it, Congress in fairness is bound to follow through on this program for the 1947 crop, and any changes proposed for the 1947 crop could not be made to apply before the 1948 crop year. However, the bill as now written slashes funds for the 1947 AAA program. The bill provides for drastic and to my way of thinking, unjustifiable cuts in the Farm Home Administration program. Certain economies of administration are contained throughout the bill, and these savings, of course, should be made.

People interested in rural electrification will be pleased to know that at this writing the bill contains the full amount requested by the President for the expansion of the REA program.

Non-operating railroad unions are demanding still another raise of $568,000,000.00

a year

MR. & MRS. CONSUMER

MR. SHIPPER & MR. FARMER

MR. & MRS. PASSENGER

You would foot the bill!

Look out! There's another big railroad wage demand headed your way!

The non-operating unions alone—whose members do not actually operate trains—are demanding a flat increase of 20 cents an hour. These demands would cost the railroads of the country five hundred sixty-eight million dollars a year!

Last year these employees had an increase of 18½ cents an hour. This was their third major wage increase since 1939. Their average weekly pay has gone up 75%, as against a cost-of-living rise of 54%.

Since 1939, railroad wage and material costs have gone up more than three times as much as freight rates, and five times as much as passenger fares. That is why in 1946, with the largest peacetime traffic in history, the net income of railroads went down to the equivalent of only 24% of the net property investment.

What About 1947?

Even with the recent freight rate increase, preliminary figures indicate that the railroads will make only about the same low return in 1947 as in 1946. This will be because:—the wage increase made in 1946 will be in effect for all of 1947;

—special payroll taxes on railroads have recently been increased;

—and passenger traffic has declined.

Where Would the Money Come From?

We can't pay out what we don't take in. And we are not taking in enough now to meet present costs and to complete the improvements in service that you need and that we want to give you.

You Would Foot the Bill!

Wasting Irrigation Water Is Biggest Mistake Make By Suburban Gardeners

Wasting irrigation water in an effort to save it is one of the biggest mistakes many city and suburban gardeners make, according to George Elie, assistant professor of plant industry at Texas Technological College. Water is wasted by shallow irrigation, by sprinkling, particularly in the daytime, by permitting weeds to grow, and curious gardens may be irrigated more frequently by thorough soaking to a depth of 18 or more inches than five to 10 days or longer, and by daily sprinkling, he declared. Evaporation in West Texas disposes of surface moisture to a depth of two and sometimes three inches within 24 hours. Roots of even small vegetables extend at least 18 inches into the earth, with some plants penetrating as much as four feet. Therefore, when water soaks only a few inches, it reaches only the shallow roots, missing the large masses of feeder roots below the surface.

Daytime sprinkling is inefficient because 25 to 50 per cent of the water evaporates before it soaks in. Skimming the surface with a hoe is the best way to dispose of weeds, because cultivation to a depth of even two inches will damage shallow vegetable roots, and stirring up the soil excessively causes undue evaporation. Hot days are best for hoeing weeds, as they wilt and die rapidly.

Elie suggested that irrigation take place at night with a board under the hose nozzle or a gunny sack around it to break the force of the water and prevent erosion. Plant leaves should not be wet when it can be avoided, as such dampness encourages the spread of certain plant diseases.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Beyond control the years turned like the pages of a book left open in a storm and the haughty woman who would turn them back, found dust and the wrinkled cover in her hands. Because selfish pleasure had been her creed, she cried and beat with clinched fists on the robust chest of destiny without avail. It was like a beached wave begging to go back to the sea. Love of self is a solvent which destroys its own danger to the future; its memory to the past.

We had talked on the street a few hours previously and the big man's words and laughter were pleasant. But I later remembered the depth of his eyes, clouded with a strange uncertainty of what they beheld. Perhaps he had seen sunlight glisten on the reaper's sickle or heard the rustle of a shroud. He died quickly with a smile still on his lips. His last words and the music of his laughter still hang suspended from the past's ceiling like an unfinished picture awaiting the artist's return.

In company of actors on life's bewildering stage we are trained to conceal pain with a smile; to remember the words without betraying our hearts.

Sometimes I hear the golden trumpets of ambition when the wind is low and each blade of grass wears its solitary of morning dew, but as the day advances the sound is less distinct. It is unfortunate that so many trees provide cool shade; that so many comfortable chairs have been scattered along my path.

Humility is born in the temple of nature's splendor and it is with a vast disgust that I must appraise my entire existence without sufficient worth to justify God's sublime gift of one rain washed spring morning.

Pain is but a vase to hold the bright buds of happiness upright on the mantle of our heart's appreciation.

Worn blankets of grey clouds hung from a long time in the west and rain-sweetened wind twisted them like sails of drifting ships. Riding with an ease born of the saddle, the old man topped a low range of hills and his horse became motionless. He braced himself with a wrinkled, blue-veined hand on the saddle horn and studied the landscape. With the battered hat pushed back on his head, he looked at the winding river bed to his left and the music of phantom spurs was ringing in his ears. A few grass-covered trails remained but the mold of memories would not fit the image of reality. For an instant he wished he had not sought this last visit to a remembered camp ground. He had read the letter from the hospital several times and thought of the white, barren room that awaited him. He rode on slowly and the strong wind pressed his hat brim upward. The saddle creaked with a comforting sound; laughter of old cowboys seemed to come from the swaying mesquites. At last he found a trace of the wagon road and followed it south to the big flat where roundups were once held, but a taut wire fence blocked his advance. A plowed field covered the memory like a brown tarn. He turned his horse and rode back. The wind was blowing sweet and clean; grey sage nodded to his passing like old friends who remembered him.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Oak furniture is essentially solid, substantial and masculine. Because of these qualities, large oak furniture cannot be crowded into a small room without giving the appearance of being out of scale.

Veterans Warned On Accepting Illegal Benefits

Warning that all future readjustment allowances are subject to forfeiture if they accept benefits to which they are not entitled, James E. Marshall, manager of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission office in Lubbock, has advised Texas Tech students that "GI readjustment allowances are not intended as summer vacation pay."

The TUCC administers the readjustment allowance phase of the GI Bill of Rights for the Veterans administration, and Marshall said that "even if he is otherwise qualified, a veteran is not eligible for readjustment allowances for education or training, or if he is not available for suitable work."

If, however, a veteran stops his subsistence allowance (education fund) during the summer, and can't find work but makes himself available for suitable employment, he is entitled to collect unemployment compensation, Marshall said, adding that the veteran should make sure his education subsistence payments have been discontinued before he applies for readjustment (unemployment) allowance.

He warned that the veteran who is planning to rest and play between school terms is not eligible for unemployment pay and that to be eligible he must be available for employment and seeking a suitable job during each period for which he claims unemployment pay.

In addition to the hazard to his rights to future benefits for violation of regulations, a veteran is subject to fine and prison sentence for misrepresentation and fraud, Marshall said. Many cases of this type have been uncovered by FBI investigations in Texas, he added.

Application Urged For Retirement Of Survivors Benefits

Prompt application by qualified persons for retirement of survivor's benefits that have been earned under the Federal old-age and survivors insurance program was urged today by Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Lubbock office of the Social Security Administration. Mr. Adams announced that he would be at the U. S. Post Office in Morton beginning at 11:00 a. m. on May 29, 1947, to take applications and transact other business under the program.

Things That Stand Between The Unsaved And Hell

Many today think that there is nothing that the sinner will have to over ride to plunge into hell. Such idea would advance the theory that no one is interested in the souls of men. I will frankly admit that the way some professed Christians conduct themselves they are not interested. Even at that there are some that are interested in the souls of men and there are other things that stand in the way. If only those who are away from God and on their way to hell could realize just what they have to over ride before they enter, surely they would be more concerned.

The word of God is one thing that they will have to over ride before plunging into hell. In John 20:30-31, we find that Jesus gave the word of God that men might believe; and in believing they might have life through his name. No one can be a Christian without really believing the word of God. The church is another thing that men will over ride before going to hell. The commission was given to the church. The church has the authority to preach God's word and if men go to hell they will go over the protest of the church. The Cross is another thing that stands in the way, or as a blockade on the road to hell. Christ died upon the cross that sinner men might escape hell. Brother if men go there they will not be able to say that Christ did not die for them. He said that if I be lifted up I will draw all men unto me.

to me. The Holy Spirit is still another thing that they will over ride. In John 16:7-8, Jesus tells us that he will go that the Spirit will come, and when the Spirit comes He will reprove the world (Sinner) of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgement. Brother the Spirit wills the death of no man. May we stop and think what a task it is to go to hell and what a relief it is to prepare for Heaven.

Be with us in service Sunday that we might study God's word together. Brother E. D. Keller of Dallas will preach for us Sunday night. If you miss this service you will miss a real blessing. Come and not only enjoy the good service but enjoy a real fellowship. Remember our Bible School beginning June 2nd. Be with us and learn God's word.
