The Rockport Pilot will be among those places closed and since Monday and Tuesday are the two busiest days at the newspaper, the Labor Day closing will pose some problems.

It would be greatly appreciated if people would bring in news items and ad material today, Friday or Saturday morning for next week's paper.

Man Arrested In Burglary

Deputy Sheriff Daniel F. Vargas reports that he has made one arrest in connection with the August 21 burglary of the Bob McGinnis residence in Fulton.

Paul Douglas, 18, of Corpus Christi was arrested by Corpus Christi police August 23 after it was confirmed that some articles found in his possession were the same as reported taken in the McGinnis break-in.

Douglas was charged in Corpus Christi with carrying a pistol and placed in the Nueces County Jail on that charge. Deputy Vargas has placed a detainer on Douglas for Aransas County Sheriff's Department on the local charge. The case is still under investigation. Deputy Vargas stated that additional persons may also be charged in the case.

VFW Aids Lamar Fire Department

V.F.W. Stewart-Wendell Post No. 3904 in Rockport presented a first aid kit to the Lamar Volunteer Fire Department at its regular meeting, August 16. Presentation was made by Commander James W. Hunt and Senior Vice-Commander B.R. Agee.

Fire Chief Roy Latham, in accepting, expressed appreciation for the gift and commended the V.F.W. on its community support.

"First aid equipment is like insurance, you hope you never have to use it, but when you need it, it's indispensable," he said.

Detection of Glaucoma Explained

How to detect glaucoma, one of the most common causes of blindness among adults, was described and demonstrated by Dr. J. Martin Shaw at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club August 22 at Corky's Restaurant.

He said this disease occurs in about 2 per cent of all people over 35 and its incidence increases with age, adding that more than a million Americans have glaucoma and don't know it.

Described in simple terms, glaucoma results from increased pressure in the fluid inside the eyeball. When this pressure exceeds the normal blood pressure, nerve endings die, eventually causing blindness, Shaw explained.

Detected in its early stages, glaucoma usually yields readily to medical or surgical treatment. However, if neglected, the disease results in irreparable damage to the optic nerve, he said.

Unfortunately, there are little if any symptoms in the early stages of the disease. There is no pain and vision remains unimpaired. However, after the nerve endings are destroyed there is a loss of vision which eventually leads to total blindness, according to Shaw.

The only way to detect presence of the disease in its early stages is by measuring internal pressure in the eyes. For years this was done with a mechanical device placed on the surface of the eyeball. A more recent development is an electronic measuring device called a tonometer. It was developed at the University of California and is now widely used. Eye pressure measured by the tonometer is registered on a tape, providing a permanent record which can be compared with earlier or later pressure measurement, Shaw explained.

At Shaw's invitation, 17 Rotarians submitted to eye pressure examinations with the tonometer, which is a portable instrument. Each examination was completed in seconds and results will be forwarded to those who took the test after Shaw has examined the taped records.

Man Arrested for F.B.I.

Deputies Daniel Vargas and Joe Williams arrested a 57 year old Fulton man Monday after being notified by the F.B.I. that he was wanted by that agency on a conditional release violation.

George E. Adams was taken into custody Monday morning and turned over to F.B.I. agents from Corpus Christi. It was reported that Adams may have been armed and dangerous. However, the deputies encountered no problems with the arrest.

Four Thousand Auto Dealers Publicizing Rockport Area

Four thousand franchised automobile dealers in the states of Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas are being informed about the enchantment and beauty of the Texas Coastal Bend, and about Rockport in particular, in a most unique way, according to Mrs. Loyce Landrum, manager of the Rockport Chamber of Commerce.

Currently, the 4,000 dealers in the 4-state area are being mailed the '73-'74 Automotive Advertising Catalogs issued annually by Bob Barclay and Associates, a 23-year-old advertising specialty firm which moved to Rockport from Austin last year. On the blue cover of the catalog is a golden arrow encompassing the four states and focusing on Corpus Christi and Rockport, Mrs. Landrum pointed out.

"Much to our delight," Mrs. Landrum said, "the big splash at the top of the cover of this 94-page, 4-color catalog says--WIN A TRIP TO THE ENCHANTING TEXAS COASTAL BEND WITH 4 DAYS & 3 NIGHTS IN KEY ALLEGRO INN AT ROCKPORT -- and on the inside of the front cover are two beautiful views of Key Allegro and Key Allegro Inn with copy which, we are confident, will bring more and more visitors to our area."

"I am happy to say," Mrs. Landrum added, "that all of this terrific publicity going out to 4,000 automobile dealers in a 4-state area did not cost the City of Rockport, the Rockport-Fulton Tourist Bureau, or the Rockport Chamber of Commerce one penny. In fact, I consider this 'free ride' on a company catalog to be so unusual I am sending a copy of the Bob Barclay & Associates Catalog to the office of the Texas Tourist Bureau in Austin."

When interviewed about this Bob Barclay said, "well, we were going to get the catalogs out anyway, and so we decided that in addition to promoting our own merchandise we would also promote this area, which we have grown to love."

When asked if he had any difficulty in lining up motel accommodations, meals, boat trips, etc., for the Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas dealers who win trips to Rockport, his answer was simple and short, "No sweat."

Barclay went on to say that there are 6 serially numbered order cards in each of the 4,000 catalogs going out and that the prizes will be awarded by a drawing of the order cards mailed back to Rockport. One couple from an automobile dealership in each of the four states will win a trip to Rockport.

In addition to their stay at the Key Allegro Inn, each couple

City Adopts Budget Of $780,920 for 73-74

The City Council Monday adopted a budget of $780,920 for the fiscal year, October 1, 1973 to September 30, 1974, with no increase in taxes. The budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year was $691,109.

Estimated revenues for the new budget include the following: general fund, $137,477; general obligation bonds, $37,913; certificates of obligation, $5,950; street maintenance and drainage fund, $70,960; water and sewer revenue account, $463,653; and sanitation account, $64,967, for a total of $780,920.

The report on general fund ad valorem tax listed the following: assessed valuation 1973: real property, $6,311,760, and personal property, $1,719,174 for a total assessed valuation of $8,030,934. One-hundred per cent collection would yield $120,464; 95 per cent collections would produce $108,418.

Current tax collections for 1972 (October 1, 1972 through August 1973) total $104,981.85, representing 95 per cent collection. Total delinquent taxes receivable were placed at $9,485.30. The Council voted to file delinquent tax suits against four persons.

In other actions the Council concurred with recommendations of the Planning and Zoning Commission and approved the following:

--Application of William N. Brown, Jr., for a special use permit to construct a 990 foot by 4 foot private fishing pier in Aransas Bay.

--Application of Robert Marx for a special use permit to construct a 990 by 4 foot private fishing pier in Aransas Bay.

--Final plat for Unit 2 of Harbor Oaks Subdivision.

Cable TV Firm Seeks Franchise

William Cunningham, Corpus Christi, president of Coastal Bend Cablevision, Inc., appeared before the City Council Monday night and described the services cable television could provide for the Rockport area. He said that if the city granted his firm a franchise, his company would have to spend about $250,000 to construct a system to serve this area.

Once installed, he said, cable television would offer programs on a total of 12 channels including two San Antonio stations, one from Houston, all Corpus Christi stations, and also educational services available for use in local schools.

Cost for customers, Cunningham explained, would be $6 per month, plus $10 installation charge. The city's income would range between 3 and 5 per cent of the gross received by Coastal Bend Cablevision.

The Council members told Cunningham they would like to know more about the services his firm would offer and suggested that he submit a written proposal requesting a franchise. He agreed to do so.

Gomez Transferred To Prison

Virgilio Gomez, who was found guilty in Aransas County of the December robbery of H.E.B. Store, was transferred to Texas Dept. of Corrections on Monday. Gomez was sentenced to thirty years in T.D.C.

His case is now on appeal, but under the new laws that took effect August 27th, persons who are awaiting appeal may be transferred to T.D.C. pending the Appellate Court decision. Gomez was transferred to T.D.C. by Sheriff Hewes and Deputy Mike Webb.

United Fund Directors to Meet

Members of the board of directors of the United Fund of Aransas County will meet Friday noon, August 31 at Corky's Restaurant. Officers and directors will be elected and plans will be discussed for the forthcoming fund raising campaign.

Man Stabbed

Deputy Mike Webb is currently investigating a stabbing incident which occurred on August 24 at a local night spot. Theodore Tippin, Sr. was victim of a cutting incident which followed an argument there. That case is still under investigation.

Sewer Plant Grant Increased

It was announced at the City Council meeting Monday night that the Federal government has approved a substantial increase in a grant to help the city double the capacity of its sewage treatment plant.

Originally, the Federal government has approved a grant of $193,950 for the construction of facilities to increase the plant's daily capacity from 500,000 to 1 million gallons per day. Total cost of the project had been estimated at about $355,000.

Now, the Federal government has approved an additional grant of $64,800 which brings the total to be supplied by the government to $258,750.

BREATH OF LIFE CAMPAIGN

A handful of people started the fight against cystic fibrosis eighteen years ago, but the fight itself has expanded, and so has the need for more people to finish it.

"That little group of concerned parents founded the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation to conquer what they mistakenly believed was a rare disease," explained Mrs. Jean Connery, Chairman, Breath of Life Campaign.

Mrs. Connery said that their fight has grown to include not only the needs of thousands of C/F children, but the five million American children suffering lung-damaging diseases. "The overwhelming numbers of children affected, each demand the attention of many, many more concerned people."

The National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation now sponsors 115 C/F Centers across the country, where children suffering from lung damaging diseases are diagnosed and treated. It also supports continuous research into the causes and eventual control of the hereditary disease, C/F, and the development of new techniques to make possible practical test to determine carriers of the C/F gene. It is believed that one in twenty persons is a C/F carrier--or about 10 million people in the United States. Approximately one of every 1,500 children born is a C/F child, resulting from both parents carrying the recessive gene.

Money contributed through the Breath of Life Campaign over the years has made possible research and care which has significantly increased the life span of C/F children. Magy

New Owner of Natural Food Center

The Natural Food Center, 118 North Austin, has been purchased by Irving R. McMahan from Mary Lou McGlathery. A retired chiropractor, he has been a resident of Rockport since 1971. His interest and knowledge of proper nutrition and health care go back to 1923 when he attended college in Chicago. He studied under the famous Dr. Ball & Dr. Wiggelsworth who, at that time were developing concentrated food in capsules, and at the same time it was discovered that vitamins could be isolated and placed in capsules also.

Assisting Dr. McMahan will be his son Bruce, who retired July 1, 1973 from the Air Force as a system analyst and computer programmer. His wife, Betty, was born and raised in London, England. They have 3 children and reside in Little Bay Shores.

They are all looking forward to meeting lots of people and working in the Health Food Store. The store is presently closed for redecorating and restocking with a complete line of new name brand vitamins and nutritional foods. The new opening date is scheduled for September.

Nuncio is the official title of the envoy of the Pope in foreign countries. Nuncios are sent by the church to many countries which are largely Catholic. They are accredited as temporal ambassadors.

Garcia Attends Cancer Meeting

Gene A. Garcia represented Aransas County as one of the approximately 350 delegates who attended the 28th Annual Division Meeting of the American Cancer Society August 22, 23 at the Shamrock Hilton, Houston.

The guest speaker at the meeting of the membership was the American Cancer Society's Miss Hope of Pennsylvania, Cecelia R. Evans, for 1973, who captured everyone's attention with her talk on Life, Love and Hope. Marvella Bayh, wife of Senator Birch Bayh, the Indiana Democrat, spoke at the Board of Directors Luncheon expressing encouragement for those women faced with mastectomies, surgery for removal of the breast. Mrs. Bayh, National Crusade Chairman for '74, underwent a mastectomy last October, and since that time has given many American women the courage to face the reality of breast cancer.

Garcia said, "Outstanding accomplishments for the American Cancer Society in the past year included a Professorship on Oncology, the first in Texas, awarded to Dr. Eugene Frenkel of Dallas along with other research grants totaling over $1,700,000 in Texas."

Also, Garcia said, "Service and rehabilitation, in addition to research, also reached a new program high with 17,777 patients being served by volunteers out of a potential 48,145 cancer patients in Texas. Public Education Programs reached nearly 1,000,000 students and a total of 1,400,000 people in Texas in the past year."

"We are very pleased with this program," Garcia said. "And we are all committed here in Rockport to wipe out cancer in your lifetime."

Garcia became involved as Aransas County representative in three specific areas of the Society: Early detection, Public Education, and Youth involvement. For any further information contact either Garcia at 729-6690 or Mrs. Jim Fowler at 729-4190.

are feeling fine, keeping most of your bills paid up, and enjoying life, it seems easy to just take all this for granted and not take time to thank God for taking good care of you. But then, all of a sudden, you hear about some friend who has received some shocking news from his doctor and then you pray that he will get well, and you also offer a prayer of gratitude for your own well being.

I don't know what this proves, but it makes me realize that I should not let a day pass without offering a prayer of gratitude, and also I should do a better job of thanking those who help make my life a happy existence.

The Kinsey Report

It's ironic that the average person has to hear some sad news about a friend or relative to be reminded of how fortunate he himself is to have so many blessings.

In recent weeks I have heard several men and women say, "How lucky I am," after they learned of the fatal illness of various friends and the tragic situations in the homes of two families they all know.

The Obion River glides quietly along a broad floodplain through bottomland forests in western Tennessee. It is only a fragment of what it once was but it flows through, and helps maintain, some of the nearest thing to wilderness that Tennessee has left.

The Alcovey River in Georgia is a lovely, unspoiled stream that flows through one of the finest remaining river swamps in the Southeast. The river starts within 25 miles of the heart of downtown Atlanta in a dense wilderness of gum trees. Along its banks, in the swamps, live the great swamp deer, the swamp rabbits that are almost twice as large as cottontails, and all kinds of ducks and other waterfowl. Fish thrive in its slow, rich waters.

Far to the north in North Dakota is an area called the "Starkweather Watershed". Here are 50,000 acres of the finest waterfowl habitat left in North America.

Far apart and completely different, these three places, along with hundreds of other streams, swamps, and marshes, are either dead, dying, or in danger of being sentenced to death. The judge, jury, and executioners in every case is either the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S., Department of Agriculture or the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. This destruction of natural, unspoiled places is done in the name of flood control by a process known as "channel improvement". This involves deepening, straightening, and clearing a natural waterway to speed up drainage. It creates new farmland at the expense of natural, free-flowing streams and wetlands, and the problem of flooding is just transferred further downstream.

Much of the Obion is a sterile ditch and its broad bottomland forests are disappearing. The Alcovey is being looked at long and hard and may soon be doomed, and the Starkweather is being turned into wheat fields and pasture lands. Two years ago, 18,000 acres of the Starkweather Watershed produced about 75,000 ducklings. Now, an SCS channelization project threatens to drain as much as 40,000 acres. That could add up to an annual loss of over 150,000 ducklings.

In a prairie region, such as Starkweather, landowners can dig lateral ditches and drain lowlands for a mile or more on each side of the main drainage canal. In the South, lowland forests are drained, then comes the cuttings. About 75 percent of the floodplain forests of western Tennessee have been wiped out like this and Louisiana loses 111,000 acres of bottomland forests each year. Arkansas loses 150,000 acres of bottomland timber and wetlands every year and about 90 percent of this cleared land goes into the production of soy beans. Only about two million acres of bottomland hardwood remain in eastern Arkansas of the more than 10 million acres originally found there. Game management personnel in Iowa, Missouri, and Illinois are deeply concerned as channelization in farm country destroys the bottomlands of small creeks and rivers. This bottomland is the best, and sometimes the only, remaining habitat for pheasants, quail, deer, rabbits, and other forms of wildlife.

Cactus country, humid farmland, grassy prairie, and desert all suffer from channelization. In Arizona the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation are stripping the river banks of cover and ditching the channels. In doing this they destroy prime habitat for javelina, deer, turkey, and other wildlife. Along the Santa Cruz River it is estimated that 33 species of birds will be eliminated or drastically reduced in number.

In spite of all this, the SCS tells Congress that "channel improvement" has "very little or no adverse impact" on recreation along a watershed and that it can actually benefit fishing, hunting, boating, and canoeing. This must take a great deal of imagination when so many state and federal wildlife agencies are fighting tooth and toenail to prevent most of this channelization, but lack the political weight to do the job.

There is plenty of physical evidence that most of this "stream improvement" not only has an "adverse impact" on the wildlife habitat along the stream - it actually destroys it.

Next week lets go into how such wholesale destruction was allowed to creep into our American way of life.

In the last 10 years the number of telephones in use has increased 90 per cent with the total being 255 million.

STATE FAIR OF TEXAS

OCTOBER 5-21, 1973

World Gateways Exposition

The eyes of the world will be focused on Dallas in October when two important events transpire: the opening of the world's largest and most modern airport, and the State Fair's 88th production, titled "World Gateways Exposition", Oct. 6-21. Exhibits, entertainment and products from nations 'round the globe will parade before the more than three million Fair-goers who keep the turnstiles clicking every year for the two weeks run of the Fair. New automobiles and fashions, furniture and appliances and cookery, along with livestock and roller coasters will make up the 1973 Fair. The well-loved, romantic operetta, Sigmund Romberg's Student Prince will open Oct. 5 for 20 performances in the plush Music Hall in Fair Park.

A.A.R.P. Meet At VFW Hall

Fifty-three members of the Rockport chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons and 17 guests were present at the V.F.W. Hall August 22 to hear the Rev. Tom McClung, pastor of First United Methodist Church, speak.

He gave an interesting and informative report on a Conference for the Aging held recently in Galveston, sponsored by Texas Conference of Churches. Members voted unanimously to elect Rev. McClung as an associate member of A.A.R.P., and to serve as Chaplain.

Business meeting was presided over by President Zollie Glass. John Leslie, legislative chairman, reported on recent Workshop on Legislation which he and others from local organizations attended in San Antonio. Members assisted Coastal Bend Chapter of Multiple Sclerosis in processing a part of the 6,000 brochures for mailing to area residents.

The next meeting will be at 10 a.m. September 12 in the V.F.W. Hall. Mr. Ed Fickett of the Potpourri Shop in Encina Plaza will present a program on handcrafts. Games will also be enjoyed, followed by covered dish luncheon.

Anyone who is 55 years or older is eligible to join the A.A.R.P. and visitors are always welcome.

Food Labels Will Be Improved

U. S. RDA is one set of initials which should become familiar to every consumer interested in nutrition and good health.

U. S. RDA stands for "United States Recommended Daily Allowances." These are the amounts of vitamins, minerals, and other essential nutrients that the average healthy person needs to stay healthy.

Based on years of study by the National Academy of Sciences, this new system represents the best scientific data available at this time. The U. S. RDA measurement is also flexible enough to incorporate changes as new scientific discoveries in the field of nutrition develop.

Within the next few years an increasing number of foods will have nutrition information on the label. At the top, the nutrition labeling panel will be identified as "Nutrition Information," which tells the size of a serving, number of servings in the container, the number of calories and the amounts of protein, carbohydrates, and fat in a serving.

The lower part of the nutrition label gives the percentages of the U. S. RDA of protein and seven vitamins and minerals in a serving of the product. A label may indicate, for example: "Percentage of U. S. Recommended Daily Allowances (U. S. RDA):"

Protein	30
Vitamin A	35
Vitamin C	10
Thiamine	15
Riboflavin	15
Niacin	25
Calcium	2
Iron	25

This means that one serving of that food contains 30 percent of the U. S. Recommended Daily Allowance for protein, 35 percent of the U. S. RDA for vitamin A, 10 percent of the U. S. RDA for vitamin C, and so on.

Some labels will list other vitamins and minerals as well as polyunsaturated and saturated fats, cholesterol, and sodium.

Major Coastal and Beach Achievements Of 63rd Legislature

The Coastal Resources Management Program identified devegetation of the dunes as a major coastal zone problem, and the 63rd Legislature responded by passing a law designed to protect this delicately balanced natural environment. With the passage of S. B. No. 268, Texas became only the second state (North Carolina is the other) to provide legislative protection for sand dunes on barrier islands and peninsulas.

The Dune Protection Act institutes a program of state-local cooperation with primary responsibility resting on the commissioners courts of counties bordering on the Gulf of Mexico. The county may establish a dune protection line to protect dunes within 1,000 feet of the line of mean high tide on barrier islands and peninsulas. If the line is established, any destruction of a dune or of the vegetation on a dune located seaward of the dune protection line requires a permit from the commissioners court. A permit may be issued only if the proposed activity will not materially weaken the dune or reduce its effectiveness against storms and erosion, and no permit may be issued for the operation of dune buggies or other recreational vehicles, which are strictly prohibited from operating between the dune protection line and the public beach.

Meanwhile, the General Land Office will identify the critical dune areas which are essential to the protection of state-owned lands, shores, and submerged lands in the coastal zone. After locating these areas, the Land Office will notify commissioners courts of the existence of critical dunes within their county. Any application for a permit involving a critical dune area must be sent to the Land Office for review and comment.

Furthermore, if the Land Commissioner, as trustee of the public lands of this state, determines that the commissioners court has granted a permit in violation of the policies stated in the Act, he may contest the county's action in court.

The Dune Protection Act does not apply to the portion of the Texas coast south of the Mansfield Ship Channel, where the dunes are neither vegetated nor stabilized, and offer little protection against storms or erosion. Special standards are applicable to the coastline between the Aransas Ship Channel and the Mansfield Ship Channel, where the foredune area is characterized by both stable and unstable dunes.

IV. PUBLIC BEACHES

Extending for approximately 400 miles along the Texas Gulf Coast, the beaches are the state's foremost recreational resource, enjoyed by millions of visitors every year. The state owns and holds in trust for the public the beach area covered by the ebb and flow of the tides. In addition, almost one-fourth of the entire seashore has been set aside as public park land, including the Padre Island National Seashore and state beach parks in Jefferson, Galveston, Nueces, and Cameron counties with another park planned for Brazoria County.

The remaining 300 miles of beaches between the state-owned beach and the line of vegetation are privately owned; but continued public use from time immemorial has created an overriding public right of access to and use of these beaches, which is recognized by the Legislature and the courts of Texas.

With the passage of the Open Beaches Act in 1959, Texas became the first state in the nation to establish a state policy in favor of preserving its beaches for the use and benefit of the public. Ten years later, the Legislature enacted a package of laws proposed by Senator A. R. Schwartz's Beach Study Committee, providing state matching funds to local governments for beach cleaning and maintenance; restricting commercial activity on public beaches; prohibiting the removal of sand from public beaches; and banning the display of signs stating that the beach is private property.

The 63rd Legislature added to the 1969 package, making several changes which will enhance public enjoyment of Texas beaches.

BEACH CLEANING AND MAINTENANCE

The attractiveness of the beach as a recreational resource is dependent upon sanitary, safety, and aesthetic conditions. The Legislature in 1969 implemented a plan of state financial assistance to cities and counties for the purpose of cleaning and maintaining public beaches, to be administered by the Parks and Wildlife Department, with a view toward maximizing the recreational potential of the beach. After evaluating the effectiveness of this state-local partnership, the Coastal Resources Management Program made several recommendations to the 63rd Legislature in an effort to continue to improve recreational conditions on Texas beaches. AS adopted in Senate Bill 273, these include:

- * an increase in the ratio of state to local funds from 1:1 to 2:1;

- * removal of the $50,000 ceiling which established a maximum amount that could be received by any political subdivision;

- * authorization for supplying matching funds for the operation of beach patrols;

- * permission for the Parks and Wildlife Department to utilize a portion of the appropriated funds for an emergency pool to be used in the event of a major threat to public recreation, such as an oil spill, an influx of seaweed, or hurricane debris.

COMMERCIAL ACTIVITY ON PUBLIC BEACHES

In declaring the state's public policy in 1969 to reserve the beach for recreational use, the Legislature banned the operation of any business or commercial enterprise at a fixed or permanent location on the public beach. The Legislature did authorize the Parks and Wildlife Department to license and regulate mobile business establishments on the beach, in the belief that an unlimited number of mobile businesses actually benefit public recreational use of the beach.

The 63rd Legislature in Senate Bill 271 strengthened the Department's regulatory power over mobile business establishments, and also prohibited the sale of beverages in glass containers from mobile businesses as a public safety measure.

Ancient methods return. A Swedish obstetrician has patients deliver their babies in a sitting position. Gravity helps, he says, and sitting reduces back pain.

Hearing aid system developed by University of California scientists receives sounds in the mouth, and can be installed in a false tooth. Sound is sent through bones of the upper jaw, said to conduct sound better than bone structures behind the ear.

Doctors recommend thick wigs to protect the heads of women patients who are subject to seizures. Certainly more attractive than a helmet.

It matters to your heart HOW you carry a heavy weight. Researchers tested young men on a treadmill, each carrying 40 pounds. Strain was heaviest when entire weight was in one hand, was eased when each hand carried 20 pounds, or when weight was carried on the back.

MILORGANITE

Soil depleted of vital elements during summer months can cause grass to become tinged with yellow, generally unhealthy, and subject to brown spots caused by turf diseases. That's why it's wise to fertilize in fall with famous MILORGANITE. Nation-wide research proves it is best in producing healthy lawns. New 50 lb. bag covers 2500 sq. ft.

... and this is
What's in the BAG!
MILORGANITE

PLANT FOOD CONTENT
MILORGANITE is a unique, undiluted, natural organic fertilizer. It contains 75 per cent organic matter, or 1500 pounds per ton. A composite sample from the 70,000 tons produced annually contains these basic nutrient elements:

	Per Cent	Pounds Per Ton
Nitrogen Total	6.00	120.0
Water Soluble	0.28	5.6
Phosphoric Acid (total)	4.59	91.8
Potash (total)	0.80	16.0
Sulphur (as SO ₂)	2.69	53.8
Magnesium (as MgO)	1.68	33.6
Calcium (as CaO)	1.55	31.0
Iron (as Fe ₂ O ₃)	6.63	132.6

Dr. N. J. Volk and later Dr. C. J. Rehling, while at the University of Wisconsin, determined some of the trace elements. Rehling showed them to be available in pot culture tests. They reported the following amounts:

	Parts Per Million	Pounds Per Ton
Copper Oxide	430	0.86
Manganese Oxide	327	0.75
Zinc Oxide	163	0.33
Chromium Oxide	2,190	4.40
Lead Oxide	2,250	4.50
Titanium Oxide	830	1.60

Molybdenum, boron, iodine, nickel, chlorine, arsenic, sodium, etc. are also present.

Get involved with growing your own garden and you will harvest more than fresh vegetables. It is a satisfying involvement enjoyed by the whole family and especially when it comes time to serve really fresh vegetables straight from your own garden. Let Pearson's Garden Center assist you in growing a proper garden.

STEP 1

Prior to planting add 100% organic Milorganite at the rate of 4 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. plus 2 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. of Fertlome Gardeners Special. This will build our sandy soils with humus, all major and minor elements and the organic fertilizer will not leach from soils as fast as chemical fertilizers. Cultivate this in 8 to 10 inches and you are ready to plant.

STEP 2

We have in inventory fresh vegetable seeds that are proven performers of our area. Also tomato plants, egg plants and pepper plants. As they become available other vegetable plants are being ordered.

STEP 3

Good vegetable production is almost always related to the protection against insects and diseases followed by the home gardener. Weekly spraying or dusting is recommended for a successful garden. Fortunately there are safe, non-persistent chemicals available and, when used as directed, they ensure you a profitable return for your time and expense.

STEP 4

Fertilize with Fertlome Gardeners Special at the rate of 2 lbs. per 100 ft. of row every two or three weeks during the maturing period of your plants. Water lightly each day to maintain a moist condition around plant roots.

Dignity Through A Wood Chisel

Each item is handmade for you in a self-help economic program set up on a church mission station or by a church related institution. Many different denominations and related organizations are represented. Each item is the product of the hands of a real person seeking to achieve both dignity and a better way of life.

Living in all parts of the world, these persons want to live, not on charity, but thru the honest labor of their own hands.

Mothers living on sampans (houseboats) in Hong Kong, working at home as they make dolls, pin cushions, bibs, gloves. South American Indians in Peru, Bolivia, Mexico, Guatemala, doing their unique weaving, silver work, painting, carving. Africans, sometimes entire villages, carving animals and images of their own people. Thailanders, revealing to you something of their way of life thru their tribal handicrafts.

The people of India, weaving baskets of elephant grass, embroidering for famline relief, carving trivets and boxes, inlaying intricate ivory designs.

Jordanese doing fine mother-of-pearl and silver jewelry, olive wood carvings and distinctive manger scenes. They are men, women and children in many lands, hard at work on each item they produce, sending it out with the hope that you or someone else will want to have and cherish that very one.

These church-established programs train the workers, pay salaries at good local rates, maintain quality control and insure the products into the USA. Yet each item is different, reflecting the talents of the individual artists.

Since this is not a charity, but a real business, all duties and taxes are paid. And because it is not a charity but a business, each time you buy, someone somewhere stands a little taller in self-respect and pride that his work is worth your appreciation and purchase.

So, come and browse . . . ask us questions . . . and do note the variations built into each piece by the individual craftsmen and artists.

Ask us about programs for your church or organization.

Labor Day

The first man to suggest a day be set aside in honor of labor—the working man and the spirit of industry in the nation—was probably Peter McGuire. He was President of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America in 1882 when his suggestion was adopted by the Central Labor Union in New York.

The first Labor Day, then, was observed in 1882. In 1884 the Federation or Organized Trades and Labor Unions, which later became the American Federation of Labor, adopted the suggestion and states (Oregon was the first) began to declare the first Monday in September a holiday.

By 1894, when Congress declared the day a holiday in all federal offices and territories, some thirty states had acted to make Labor Day a legal holiday.

Library News

Bob Armstrong, Commissioner of the General Land Office, has given the Aransas County Public Library a copy of "The Story of Texas Public Lands", by Gerald Sewell and Mary Beth Rogers. The book is a history of Texas land; how we got our public lands, what we did with the land and what we have left. More than ten years have passed since a publication has been made available to the public on the disposition of the Texas Public Lands.

"The Hungry Planet", by George Borgstrom, "What Computers Can't Do", by Herbert L. Dreyfus, and "The I. R. A.", by Pat Coogan have also been added to the library collection.

Children who have not yet received their summer reading certificates should come by the library and pick them up, along with a complimentary coupon from Dairy Queen.

Donations and memorials were made to the library by the following people: Cleo Smith, Mrs. Robert Sayre, Mrs. J. H. Slocum, Edith Neme, Paul J. Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Owens, Corinne Crabb, Mrs. C. C. Atchley, Mrs. Corinne Homburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Hunt. The library gratefully acknowledges these donations.

Shower Honors Mrs. David Nesloney

Mrs. David Nesloney was honored with a pink and blue shower Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of her mother, Mrs. Kenneth Harwick. Hostesses were Mrs. Vernon White and Mrs. Roy Court, Jr. The table was laid with a white lace cloth and held an arrangement of blue and white spring flowers with a stork in the center holding a baby. Refreshments of punch, coffee and cake were served. There were 35 guests invited.

Is it true that hailstones sometimes get as big as oranges? What makes big hailstones and why does hail fall during a thunderstorm?

The answer to the first question is yes. Many of the so-called tall tales one hears about big hailstones are probably closer to the truth than the listener realizes.

Hail is usually formed in thunderheads because these storm clouds contain very strong up-drafts and down-drafts. Rain droplets begin to fall, are caught by an up-draft and suddenly carried to an altitude where the temperature is below freezing. The rain droplets freeze into hail.

They fall again, picking up moisture as they reenter the rain area, but are sent aloft by another up-draft where the moisture added since the first freeze is frozen to the center core. The process of fall and ascent is sometimes carried on several times; the hailstones growing larger with each trip upward.

The stronger the up-drafts in the thunderhead, the larger hail is likely to be.

Botulism: What It Is and How to Prevent It

Lately botulism has been big news. As a result, many consumers want to know more about the organism. The Food and Drug Administration supplies these facts.

First of all, botulism poisoning is extremely rare. Although the organism is common in the environment, it is usually harmless because it cannot grow and therefore produce toxin in the presence of oxygen.

If, however, the bacteria get into an airtight container without being destroyed by proper cooking, they can multiply and become deadly.

Modern methods of commercial canning have greatly reduced the threat of botulism from those products. Since 1925, there have been only four reported botulism deaths in this country associated with commercially canned foods.

In recent years, most instances of botulism have been found in home canning when the preparer doesn't cook the food a long enough time or at a high enough temperature to destroy the organism. Since 1925, about 700 deaths from botulism have resulted from home canned foods.

Whenever botulism is found in commercial foods, there are precautions which you can take. Any canned product should be examined before opening. Danger signals: bulged or heavedup lid, leakage of contents, or bubbling or boiling of the contents, when the can is opened. If you notice any of these characteristics, return the product to the store. Never taste the contents and don't throw it away. The FDA will need it to test for contamination. You can contact the Agency by phone or in writing at its nearest field office or resident inspection station.

24-Hour Help For Accidental Poisoning

Are you familiar with your local Poison Control Center? Open 24 hours a day, it will provide ingredient and first aid information on thousands of potentially harmful household products to consumers as well as to physicians.

For the phone number of the Center nearest you, look in the yellow pages or under the listing for your local hospital. Poison Control Centers are usually located in hospital emergency rooms.

Fall Classes Set For Art Workshop

Fall art classes are scheduled to start September 8 at The Art Workshop, located at 406 South Austin in what was once the old Sorenson's hardware building. Evening classes are scheduled to start September 11 at 7 p.m. These classes are designed for the beginning student as well as those seeking a career in the fine arts.

The area of instruction will cover painting, two-dimensional design, and an introduction to art history. The school has recently acquired a modest library of 70 art books, dealing with the Renaissance, Impressionism, Expressionism, Cubism, abstract art, Popart, and the hard edge painters of the 60's and 70's.

It is hoped that the student's learning experience will be effected by a combination of painting exercises, the study of two dimensional design, and the growth of his or her personal understanding of our cultural heritage.

The director, Irwin Tuttle, believes that art on its highest level is personal, spiritual, and created as a means of communicating an idea that can be said no other way.

Irwin Tuttle attended The New School For Social Research, The National Academe and spent 5 years at the Art Students League, finishing there in 1955. He served as an assistant teacher under George Grosz at The Art Students League in 1954. Tuttle taught art at The University of Vermont during the academic year of 64-65.

He joined the Faculty at Goddard College in Plainfield, Vt. in 1967 and served at that school through the academic year of 1971. He taught and counseled primarily with undergraduate students, participating in the Adult Degree Program and acting as the director of Goddard in Mexico at San Miguel Gto. He also taught in summer school at Norwich University.

Tuttle was program director of The Bundy Art Gallery, a museum in Vermont, and acted as a special assistant to the director of the Lamont Gallery of Philip Exeter school at Exeter, N.H. More recently Tuttle developed The Irwin Tuttle Gallery of Dallas and exhibited many works of an experimental nature, created by artists teaching at leading universities in Texas and Oklahoma.

Tuttle has had many one man exhibitions including two at museums and several at universities. His most recent painting "Homage to The Last Supper" is in Dallas and consists of 13 panels extending to a length of 76 feet in height. For information concerning enrollment in this art program, please contact Mr. Irwin Tuttle at 729-7693, or just drop in at The Art Workshop, open Monday through Saturday, 9-5.

Concerned Women Rummage Sales

In these days of high living costs, there are women of this community who would like to help ease the pocketbook strain. One such group of ladies are those who strive to maintain a rummage sale every Thursday and Saturday morning from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. in the Methodist Youth Building in Rockport, and in the Sacred Heart Convent Building in Rockport (across from the Catholic Church). These ladies have named their operation "The Castaways", which is a project of the organized group called "The Concerned Women of Aransas County".

The Concerned Women's group is comprised of women from the various churches -- Baptist, Episcopal, Methodist, Catholic, Lutheran, Presbyterian, and those of other faiths.

Contributions to the rummage sales are received from various sources -- left-overs from private rummage sales, private garage sales and from individual contributions. Clothing contributions are sorted into winter and summer groups; that which is not wearable is torn for rag sales after the removal of buttons and zippers, which are marked for sale also; some of the soiled clothing is laundered by the ladies before being marked for sale; clothing that does not sell within a reasonable time is designated for the "Mission Boxes" which are sent deep into Mexico, where needs are very great, where the church Missions are unable to completely meet the needs. These Mission Boxes include clothing for all ages and include some items for art work in which these people are very clever. Mr. E. B. Billings, of our community, transports our Mission Boxes. He had done this sort of thing before the Castaways operation and his work has truly been a blessing in that the Castaways are able to pass along garments to the needy, free.

The ladies who work in the Castaways contribute their time and they pay cash for their purchases as do the drop-in customers.

The Concerned Women are here to help in whatever way God leads them to minister to His people.
