Winners named in logo contest
Winners have been named in the logo contest for the Desert Storm Welcome Home Celebration to be held July 4 in Hereford. Winners, from left, are Louis Mungia, Bobby Sims, Kathleen Brockman and Kate Denison. Brockman's design will be used for the celebration. Prizes for the contest were awarded by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Winners named in logo contest

A logo designed by Kathleen Brockman of Hereford has been judged the overall winner in a contest for a logo for the Desert Storm Welcome Home Celebration planned for July 4 in Hereford.

The design, featuring a dove carrying a yellow ribbon sitting atop a stars-and-stripes-filled heart, was selected by volunteer organizers for the celebration. Also picked from a large field were the logos submitted by Louis Mungia, Bobby Sims and Kate Denison.

The logo will be used on billboards and other signs, t-shirts and ribbons for the celebration, designed to honor local soldiers who participated in Operation Desert Storm, and to honor veterans of past wars. Organizers are still making plans for the event and will release details in the next few weeks about the celebration.

Logo winner
This logo designed by Kathleen Brockman of Hereford will be used to help promote the July 4th celebration here. The logo will be used on signs, t-shirts and ribbons to commemorate the special events.

Quake strikes Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) - Stricken areas remained cut off today and the Carribbean city of Puerto Limon was devastated after a major earthquake struck Costa Rica and Panama, killing at least 19 people and injuring more than 100.

Scores of people were feared trapped under the rubble of collapsed buildings after the quake, which registered 7.4 on the Richter scale, and thousands were left homeless.

In Puerto Limon, home to 130,000 people, the three-story International Hotel, an office building and dozens of houses collapsed. Firefighters struggled with major fires well into Monday night and water and power were out.

When the quake hit, the sea receded 100 feet and people fled for higher ground, fearing a tidal wave.

San Jose, the capital, suffered extensive damage and throughout the countryside bridges were destroyed, roads blocked by landslides and power lines severed.

"This place looks like one of these Hollywood apocalyptic movies. It felt like the world was coming to an end as everything moved and heaved," Rigoberto Perez, a resident of Puerto Limon, said by telephone.

At least 11 people died in the collapse of the two big buildings in Puerto Limon, Red Cross officials said.

Authorities said eight people died and 15 were injured in the Panamanian provinces of Bocas del Toro and Chiriqui, near the Costa Rican border.

The quake was centered 70 miles southeast of San Jose, said Willis Jacobs of the National Earthquake Information Center in Golden, Colo. The first jolt, which was followed by more than 20 aftershocks, five of them serious, struck at 3:58 p.m. Monday (5:58 p.m. EDT).

President Rafael Angel Calderon appealed to President Bush and Latin American governments for medicine and other humanitarian aid. He said a first planeload of U.S. aid was arriving today.

Nicaragua was also sending helicopters to evacuate some of the injured and Mexico and Venezuela also promised help.

"Let us all embrace (each other) and may God help us so that we can help our brothers in Limon," Calderon said in a nationwide radio broadcast. He said he planned to tour stricken areas today.

In Puerto Limon, dozens of houses fell apart with the first jolt, since virtually all the city's homes are old and wooden.

Alberto Lee, a Red Cross official, told a news conference that a preliminary survey showed that 11 people died and 24 were injured in the collapse of the International Hotel and the office building.

The Customs House was also destroyed.

At a government-owned refinery on the outskirts of the port, a gasoline tank exploded, sending up a huge fireball, and an electrical short-circuit set a factory ablaze, the fire department said.

The local hospital was so badly damaged that all 28 patients had to be moved out, including 12 newborn babies who were flown to San Jose.

But dozens more injured, some seriously, could not be evacuated to San Jose because of blocked roads, hospital spokesman Antonio Matarrita said in a telephone interview.

In Panama, meanwhile, eight people were killed and 15 people in the town of Changuinola, Red Cross volunteer Gilberto Cano said in a telephone interview with Radio RPC. The town's mayor, Simon Abadi, estimated that more than 1,000 people were left homeless in Bocas del Toro province.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude.

Quakes over 7 can cause widespread heavy damage. The Oct. 17, 1989 earthquake in San Francisco measured 7.1 on the Richter scale.

Ceremony is Saturday

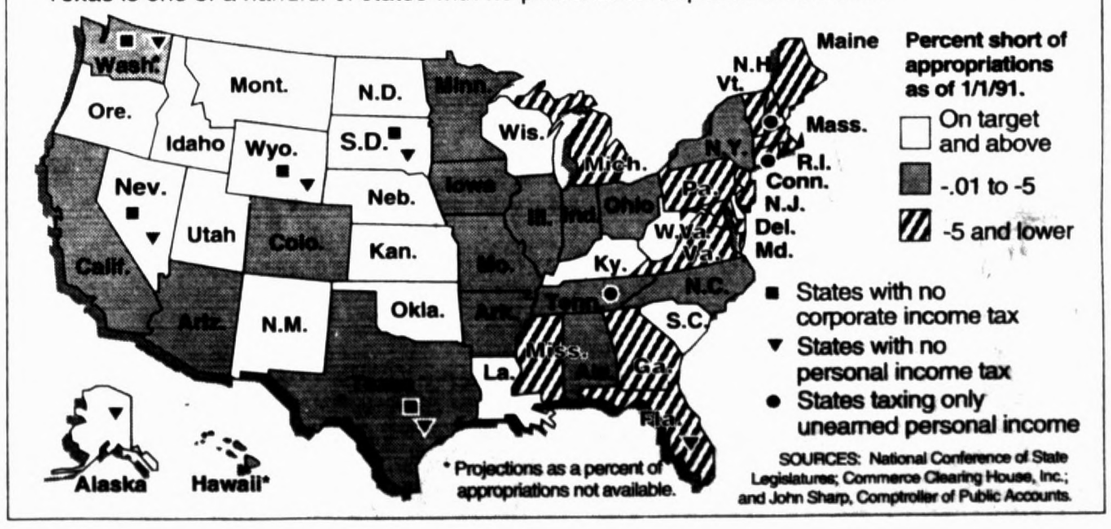

A welcome home cermony for six Hereford soldiers who served in Operation Desert Storm will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Sugarland Mall in Hereford.

Alfredo Arras, Raul Dominguez, Walter Joslin, Abel Rodriguez, Armando Tijerina and Feris Zepeda will be honored at the event. The program will include special music, a presentation from Operation Heartshield and from the Sugarland Mall Association, and a presentation to Rodriguez from the Charro Camp Fire group, which "adopted" him.

The ceremony is open to the public.

Budget woes plague many states

As of January 1, 1991, Texas was among 30 states walking a budget tightrope for fiscal 1991. Texas is one of a handful of states with no personal or corporate income tax.

SOURCES: National Conference of State Legislatures; Commerce Clearing House, Inc.; and John Sharp, Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Texas not alone in budget woes

The state of Texas, facing a $4.7 billion budget shortfall in the funds necessary to keep the state government operating at the same level for the next two years, is not alone in its budget woes, according to State Comptroller John Sharp.

Some states face shortfalls even more serious than Texas.

"We are certainly not the only state walking a budget tightrope," said Sharp. "California projects a $12.6 billion shortfall for its next fiscal year, amounting to 23 percent of that state's projected general revenue. Equally as hard hit (as Texas) are New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Virginia. As of January, 30 states, including Texas, faced budget deficits or shortfalls."

Sharp explained there is a difference between deficit and shortfall. A shortfall is the gap between estimated revenues and possible spending before a budget has been adopted; a deficit is when the gap occurs after budget adoption.

Many states have taken action to cut the spending gap, while others are considering steps. Rhode Island state offices are closing one day every two weeks to eliminate a $200 million deficit.

Voting is underway

Absentee voting is underway for the May 4 elections for the city, school and hospital board races.

Early ballots may be cast Monday through April 30 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the county clerk's office in the courthouse in the elections.

Hereford voters will elect a new mayor and two councilpersons in the city election; three members for the board of the Deaf Smith County Hospital District; and, four trustees to the Hereford school board.

County faces budget shortfall

By DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners reviewed the preliminary 1991-92 budget at the Monday meeting.

Commissioners are faced with a $161,000 short fall in trying to balance the 1991-92 budget's general fund.

"The shortfall comes from the lower tax rate," said Alex Schroeter, county auditor. "When we paid off the jail, our tax rate automatically fell back eight percent."

The projected budget posts $80,000 in increases. The bulk of the $80,000 comes from increases in printing records and supplies, up $10,010; legal fees, up $18,000; equipment and maintenance, up $11,666 and computer data, up $4048.

"What we're going to have to do is balance the budget," Commissioner Troy Don Moore said. "We make the budget up and hope the carryover and income will even out with the expenses."

"I agree," Judge Tom Simons said. "When the $577,007 carryover is spent, that's when it will hit the fan."

"That's why we need to get it right, now," said Moore.

"The expenditures are in line," Schroeter added, "it's the revenue that's not in line."

The department heads will be asked to attend the next meeting for final trimming of the budget.

Commissioners approved a grant application for the juvenile probation department. The PRPC grant needed the commissioners' approval before submission.

District Attorney Roland Saul asked the commissioners to approve a darkroom facility to be built in a storage area in the district attorney's office.

"We have been reading about ultra-violet photography and would like to set up a place where we can take ultra-violet photos and develop them," Saul said. "These photographs pick up detail, such as bruises and other markings, not visible to the naked eye."

Commissioners approved the facility that will be funded by the district attorney's office.

Nomination of an enterprise zone was tabled until more information became available. It will appear on the May 13 agenda.

The commission broke for executive session to discuss real estate. No action was taken on the matter when the commission reconvened in regular session.

Simons reported to the commission that insurance for chemical spraying would cost the county $2,500. Commissioners agreed that it was needed.

Simons also thanked the precincts that helped Kids Inc. prepare and repair the baseball fields. "The fields really look nice and I appreciate all the help."

Police issued 33 citations over the weekend and investigated four minor accidents.

Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputies arrested 15 persons over the weekend, including a man, 20 on a warrant for sexual assault of a child; a man, 25, on a warrant for second offense no liability insurance; two persons, age 17, for minor in consumption of alcohol; two persons, ages 24 and 40, on bench warrants; three persons, ages 23, 25 and 31, for public intoxication; and seven persons, ages 22, 53, 19, 29, 54, 29 and 40 for driving while intoxicated.

On Tuesday, police arrested two juveniles atop the roof of Gibson's Discount Center. The youths are alleged to have earlier burglarized a storage building near the store. They are in the custody of juvenile officials.

Police also arrested a man, 35, for public intoxication, and sheriff's deputies arrested a man, 18, on a warrant for surrender of principal.

Reports on Tuesday included a lost or stolen ring in the 400 block of Jack Griffin Ave.; criminal mischief in the 200 block of Ave. H, 200 block of E. Sixth, 300 block of Stadium, 300 block of E. Sixth, 1500 block of Blevins and in the 100 block of W. Sixth; threatening telephone calls; and disorderly conduct.

Sheriff's deputies on Monday recovered a car stolen from Amarillo. The vehicle was found north of Hereford.

World, National

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica - Buildings and bridges collapse and at least 11 people are killed as a powerful earthquake strikes Costa Rica and Panama, hitting the Caribbean coastal city of Puerto Limon especially hard.

ANKARA, Turkey - The government of Turkey is a driving force behind the U.S. plan to set up Kurdish refugee camps in Iraq. It is wary of its own Kurdish problem and of getting stuck with shouldering the cost of caring for the hundreds of thousands who have besieged its borders.

WASHINGTON - The third biggest item in the $1.45 trillion federal budget next year won't buy a single missile, cover one elderly person's Social Security check or pay any bureaucrat's salary.

DAMASCUS, Syria - Secretary of State James A Baker III is completing a round of Mideast peace talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad without any clear indication whether the mission will succeed or fail.

WASHINGTON - Freddie Bailey misses the cozy atmosphere and the remote controlled cable TV at the Devils Lake, N.D., jail. The catered food wasn't bad either - he gained 31 pounds. But Bailey is glad to be back in the familiar surroundings of the District of Columbia prison, he says.

WASHINGTON - U.S. officials are studying possible successors to Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev and trying to broaden their contacts with officials at various levels in the belief that Gorbachev may not remain in power, administration sources say.

PALM BEACH, Fla. - The lawyer representing the woman who said she was raped by William Kennedy Smith at the Kennedy family estate says the headline-making events that have unfolded in recent weeks have only strengthened her resolve to pursue the case.

Texas

WASHINGTON - The drive toward a high-tech, information-age economy in Texas is being held back by the state's failure to develop enough skilled and educated workers, says a study released today.

EAGLE PASS - Attorneys for the Texas AFL-CIO said they will call doctors, lawyers and labor experts to court in their attempt to prove the new Texas workers' compensation law unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON - A Hispanic rights organization is joining the debate over free trade with Mexico, saying it will support negotiations if Hispanics share in the economic benefits of expanding commerce along the Rio Grande.

AUSTIN - A bill to regulate currency exchange houses should curb laundering of illegal drug profits, a lawmaker said after the House tentatively approved the measure.

AUSTIN - A senator with the largest coastal district in Texas said he felt he made his point after talking for 10 hours and 38 minutes in an unsuccessful effort to block a bill he said could ruin the coast.

LOS ANGELES - The Dallas-area school that claimed its fifth National Academic Decathlon title faces millions of dollars in cutbacks to education programs under a new Texas education plan.

WASHINGTON - The Bush administration and civil rights attorneys say a key provision of the federal Voting Rights Act - one aimed at even unintentional bias - applies to the election of state and local judges.

EASTLAND - Thirteen arrested in a Monday bust are accused of working within a methamphetamine ring that reportedly was protected by the former Eastland County sheriff and a state trooper.

AUSTIN - As Texans held a memorial to observe National Crime Victims' Right Week, backers of legislation to help crime victims said they were anxious to get the bills before the full House for debate.

AUSTIN - Celebrants of Earth Day 1991 urged their lawmakers to pass a spate of environmental bills Gov. Ann Richards called the most progressive ever seen in the Texas Legislature - and defeat several they like less.

AUSTIN - As congressional redistricting is mapped out in the Legislature, it could be good news for Democrats and minorities but bad news for Republicans.

GREATER BURGAN OIL FIELDS, Kuwait - International firefighters are combating mounting equipment shortages, bureaucratic delays and inadequate water supplies that are hampering their efforts to extinguish Kuwait's 500 blazing oil wells.

Condom bill draws criticism

AUSTIN (AP) - A bill that would require state colleges and universities to provide condoms to students that want them drew criticism from people who say distributing free condoms promotes sexual activity.

But health and family planning officials supported the measure during a public hearing Monday.

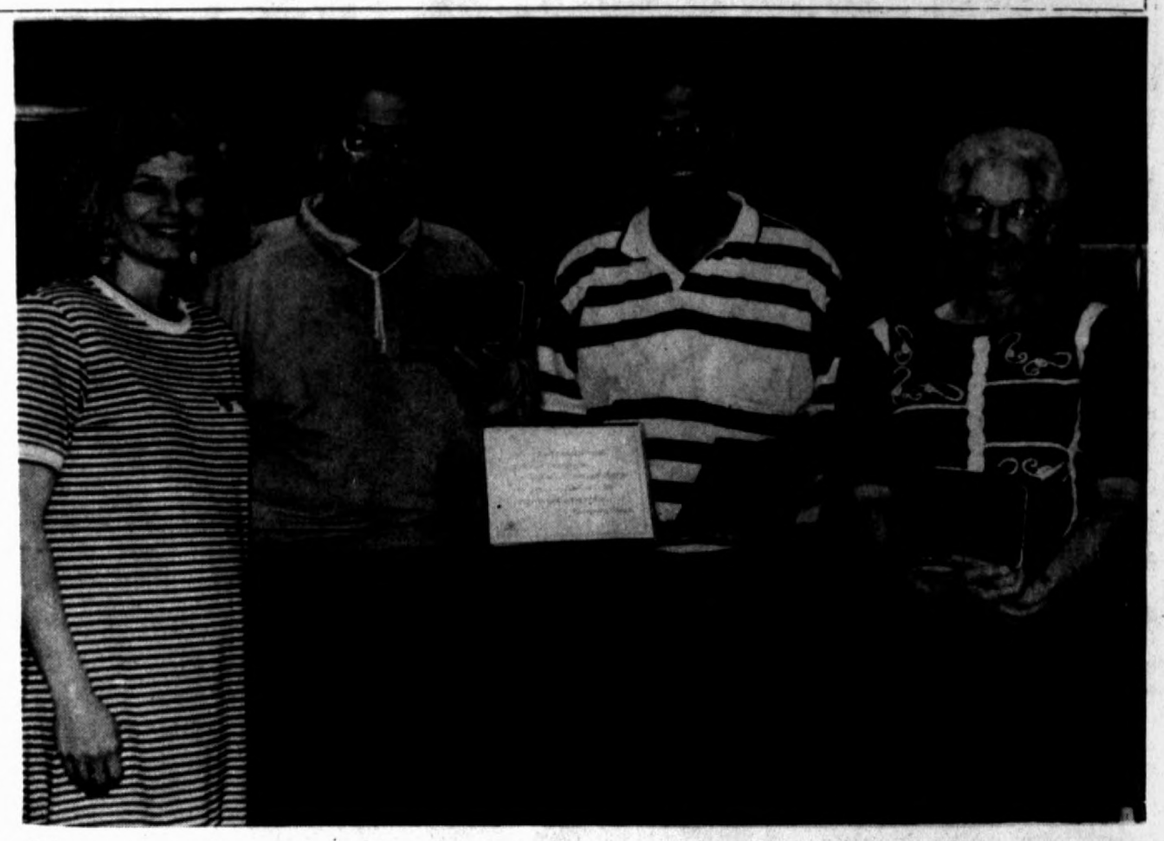

The bill was sent to a subcommittee of the House Public Health Committee.

State Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, said his bill would help prevent the spread of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases, and reduce the number of unwanted pregnancies.

But Susan Carter of Austin said that "condom purveyors" were trying to "stir up sexual activity" among young people through the bill.

"Teaching them the use of condoms is simply enticing them to promiscuity," said David Muralt of Austin.

He quoted the Bible as he criticized "fornicators," adding, "Let's teach the kids you have to save sex for marriage. Please don't make us as Christians subsidize sin."

Honors given by Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence Center

When dieting goes too far

"Thin-is-in." Or so the hype goes. Unfortunately, however, many of today's young women and teens take this message much too seriously and become obsessed with "getting thin." What begins as normal dieting can spin into a dangerous pattern of severely restricted eating, extreme weight loss, and behavioral changes. This condition is known as anorexia nervosa.

Anorexia and other eating disorders are a growing problem. Experts estimate that up to seven million females in the United States are anorexia or bulimic, a condition that involves eating enormous amounts of food and then inducing vomiting to get rid of it. Many other go through temporary phases of obsessive and dangerous dieting.

Most often, eating disorders are seen in white females under the age of 25. Experts do not know exactly what brings on these conditions, but most believe that they may be related to growing up in an environment in which expectations are high and a child feels pressured to meet certain standards.

Another factor may be an unwillingness to accept the normal physical changes of puberty and a desire to retain an adolescent figure.

The first sign of an eating disorder is a noticeable change in eating habits and a severe preoccupation with food. An anorexia usually avoids any food with a high calorie content and consumes large quantities of raw vegetables and diet sodas. She frequently also becomes addicted to long bouts of strenuous exercise.

A bulimic goes on eating binges, gobbling huge amounts of a particular food, and then vomiting shortly thereafter. Body image distortion is common with both disorders, with the young woman seeing herself as fat even if she has become emaciated.

Weight loss that is profound and long-lasting can pose serious health threats. Common problems include menstrual irregularities that may continue well beyond puberty, dehydration, erratic heartbeat, cardiac arrest and sometimes death. Bulimia, although less severe than anorexia, can result in eroded tooth enamel from vomiting, bleeding of the esophagus, diabetes, and swollen face.

People with recognizable eating disorders should get immediate help. Early diagnosis and treatment can help prevent long-term medical and psychological problems. If someone you know is dieting excessively and has a distorted image of herself as fat, help get her to a doctor without delay.

Sorority rituals held

Members of Hereford's three chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met Thursday night at the Community Center to conduct spring rituals. Progressing to higher degrees were, from left, Ruby Lee, Exemplar Degree; Mary Bob Ward and Dalene Burns, Ritual of Jewels Degree; and Gerry Taylor, Exemplar Degree. Ward represented Alpha Iota Mu Chapter and Lee progressed from there into Xi Epsilon Alpha (XEA) Chapter. Burns represented XEA while Taylor was from Alpha Alpha Chapter. Pledges completing a study of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority are eligible for Ritual of Jewels Degree. The Exemplar Degree is conferred upon members who are in good standing for four years of Ritual of Jewels membership, including participation in regular chapter activities and required cultural programs.

DSGH holds in-service educational classes

In-service education is a regular element of the health care profession. As medical research determines new treatment methods and procedures, doctors and nurses must stay current through continuing education.

A case in point is the recent pediatric in-service class for the nursing staff of Deaf Smith General Hospital with 21 R.N.'s, L.V.N.'s and graduate nurses in attendance. The class was taught by Chris Scott Johnson R.N., B.S.N., instructor for pediatric staff development at University Medical Center in Lubbock.

The purpose of the class was for participants to learn the difference between body fluid compartments of an infant and a child and to know the water balances in children and infants. In addition, they were taught the difference between extracellular fluid and intracellular fluid and how to tell the different degrees of dehydration in infants and children.

In-service classes are held each month at DSGH on a variety of topics, according to Renee Hammock R.N. Director of Nursing. "We do like to let the community know we are constantly learning more about giving the best possible care," said Hammock, "even though in-service education is so much a part of our profession that we don't always think of it as being newsworthy."

Of the 29 R.N.s on the DSGH staff, 26 are certified in Advanced Life Support and 11 are certified in neonatal resuscitation (NR). Three of those 11 are qualified NR instructors.

A nursing education committee was formed in June of 90 to oversee the continuing education that is encouraged and/or required by the hospital. The committee, comprised of a nurse from each department, sets the direction and emphasis of the overall course of training. Chair of the committee is Rosa Marquez, R.N., emergency room supervisor.

Gary Moore, hospital administrator, said, "Quality health care involves both personal skill and advanced technologies. We are committed to providing both to the community we serve."

Harder presents program

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent Beverly Harder presented a program on Middle East customs to members of the Wyche Extension Homemakers Club when they met recently in the home of Ethel Logan.

Harder spoke on the religion, dress code and dedication of the Middle East.

President Carol Odom opened the meeting with a prayer for peace. Logan read a poem, written by her aunt, called "The Builders."

Roll call was answered by stating a fact about the Middle East customs.

Jo Lee gave a report on the district meeting stating that Johnnie Messer was elected district director for a two-year term and that Moore County won the traveling trophy. The next district meeting will be held in Amarillo.

Argen Draper, program chairman, announced that the May 2 meeting will be held in the home of Louise Axe and the program will be presented by Margaret Perez. The May 16 meeting will be in the home of Draper and the topic will be facts about 911. Also, an auction will be held.

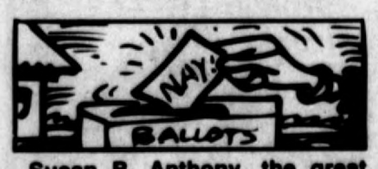

Those attending were Mary Lou Aven, Virgie Duncan, Jo Lee, Audrey Rusher, Brenda Rusher, Clara Trowbridge, Shirley Brown, Camellia Jones, Pet Ott, Helen Bell, Coreen Odom, Draper, Axe, Odom, Logan, and Juanita Coker.

Kearns inducted recently

Caroline F. Kearns, a senior from Hereford, and a student at Methodist College in Fayetteville, N.C, was inducted into the North Carolina Mu Chapter of Alpha Chi April 8.

Alpha Chi is a national academic honorary. Admission is limited to the top three percent of the junior class and the top five percent of the senior class in a given year.

Methodist College is a four-year co-educational college of liberal arts and sciences with a full-time enrollment of 1,200 students.

Military Muster

Marine Pfc. William B. Harguess, son of Tomas R. and Carol L. Harguess of 228 Hickory, recently completed the motor transport school and was promoted to his present rank.

During the course, conducted with Schools Battalion, Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif., Harguess received both classroom and hands-on instruction on the operation of the M-151 jeep, five-ton truck and the new M-293 automatic five-ton truck. He was taught the proper procedure for traveling in convoys, blackout condition driving and rough terrain driving.

A 1989 graduate of Hereford High School, Harguess joined the Marine Corps in May 1990.

Reinauer wins, gets state berth

Brenna Reinauer won her semi-final match this morning at the Region 1-4A tennis tournament in San Angelo, assuring her of a berth in the state tournament May 10-11 in Austin.

Reinauer dropped the first set 2-6 to Melody Lowery of Brownwood, but she came back and won the next two 6-3,6-3. She is scheduled to play Carrie Helbing of Wichita Falls today in the girls' singles finals. Helbing beat Borger's Danette Jordan to advance to the finals.

Reinauer was the only member of the Hereford High School tennis team to advance to the region semi-finals. The other nine team members who played in San Angelo were eliminated Monday. At least part of the reason was that Hereford did not get very good seeding, Coach Ed Coplen said from the tournament.

As well as the team did at the district tournament, none of the Hereford players were seeded, Coplen said, and all their opponents were seeded.

Girl golfers 3rd after one round

The Hereford High School girls' golf team finished Monday's first round of the Region 1-4A golf tournament in third place, Coach Stacey Bixler said from San Angelo. The tournament is being played at Bentwood Country Club in San Angelo. The final round was to be played today.

Andrews' varsity is way ahead of the field at 341, so the battle is apparently for second place and the final berth in the state tournament.

Burkburnett is second at 394 after one round, and Hereford is close behind at 400. Several schools are within striking distance of second place: Pampa at 404, Justin Northwest in Fort Worth at 406, and Snyder and Andrews' second team each at 412.

The Lady Whitefaces were led Monday by the 94 of Paula Britten and the 96 of Dusty Saul. Those scores put Britten in eighth in the medalist race, 10 strokes out of second, and Saul in twelth and 12 strokes out of second, Bixler said.

The team also got 105s from Cecelia Albracht and Stephanie Walls, and Jennifer Prater shot 111.

Herd falls to Borger, out of playoff race

The Hereford High School baseball team fell 8-1 to Borger Saturday at Whiteface Field. The Bulldogs took a 4-0 lead after two innings and never looked back.

The loss wiped out the Herd's already slim playoff chances. Going into Saturday's game, Hereford was 2-4 but had a two game winning streak. Hereford probably needed to win all its remaining games to have a shot at the playoffs. Now Borger (5-2), Pampa (5-2 after beating Dumas 6-2) and Randall (4-3 after a 12-5 victory over Caprock) will fight for the two playoff spots, though Dumas at 3-4 is still alive with three games to go.

Saturday's game in Hereford started with some controversy. The home plate umpire was Owen Haney, an umpire whom Borger coach Mike Montgomery had scratched, meaning the umpire's association was not supposed to assign Haney to any of Borger's games. Somehow, Haney was behind the plate Saturday, and it didn't take much to set Montgomery off. One pitch to Borger's James McGregor, appeared a little low and outside, and when Haney called it a strike, Montgomery started to protest loudly.

An argument followed which held up the game for several minutes, culminating in the ejection of Borger assistant coach Todd Durham.

The rest of the game went just a little smoother. Montgomery had a few more words for Haney, and Haney had to warn Durham away from the dugout once. The large contingent of Bulldog boosters who made the trip followed Montgomery's lead, riding Haney and voicing displeasure over nearly every close call that went against the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs managed well enough without Durham on the field. They hammered 12 hits off Hereford starting pitcher Amado Lopez, who pitched the complete game.

The Bulldogs scored half their runs in the second inning. It started with Hereford third baseman Tab Hathaway's throwing error, allowing Jeff Isom to reach. After one out, Travis Huffine hit a one-hopper to Lopez. It was a tailor-made double play ball, but when Lopez threw it to second base, it went right between shortstop Rene Cano and second baseman Max Mungia, each of whom looked like he thought the other was going to catch it.

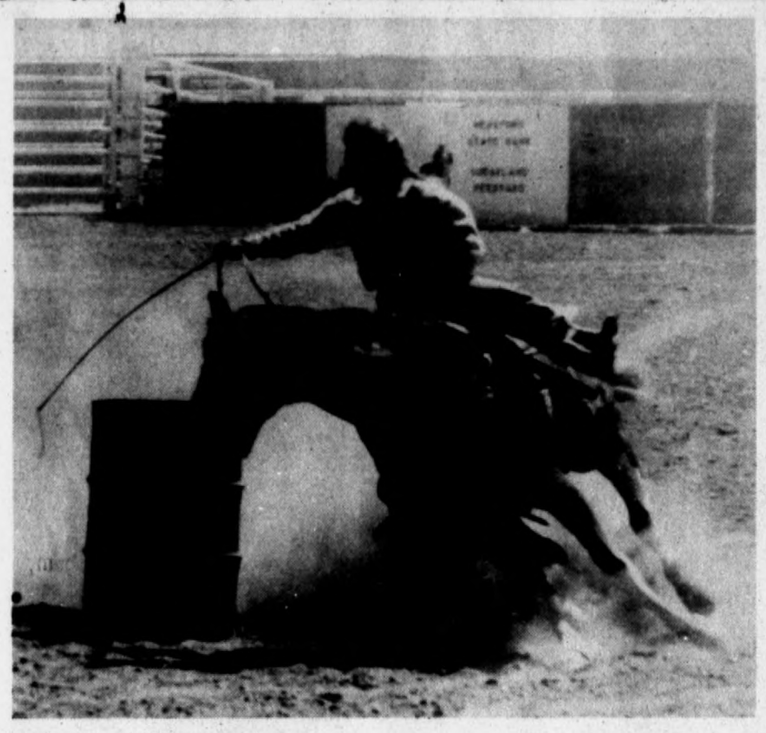

Isom and Huffine ended up on third and second, and after Tommy Miller walked, Steven Pearce and Brad Cryer had consecutive two-run singles.

They got another run in the third on three consecutive singles, but Lopez picked Huffine off second to end the inning.

The Herd's lone run came in the bottom of the third, when with two outs Matt Bromlow blasted a double into the left field power alley. After Amado Lopez walked, Max Mungia hit a sharp grounder which Bulldog stortstop Jason Owen booted, allowing Bromlow to score. That made the score 5-1.

Borger kept the pressure on, though, getting another run in the fourth and two more in the sixth.

They also wouldn't let the Herd look at the same pitcher for long. The Bulldogs used three diferent pitchers, even though none were ever in much trouble. They gave up four hits to the Herd: two by Bromlow and one each by George Jowell and Roy Cantu.

Brown reinjures knee, will be ready Saturday

The news from the regiona. qualifiers' track meet Saturday at Randall High School was good for the girls, but not so good for the boys.

First the bad news. Leo Brown, who qualified in the long jump, triple jump and 110 high hurdles, re-injured his knee during the triple jump and scratched from that event and the hurdles. He had already finished fifth in the long jump with a jump of 21-6.

However, Coach Ron Young said Monday that Brown's knee is better and, though he won't try the triple jump until the Region 1-4A track meet Saturday and Sunday in San Angelo, his knee should be fine by Saturday.

In addition, Stephen Banner didn't place high in his event, the 400-meter run. Young said it was not a good performance by Banner.

Mark Daniel did do well, finishing fourth in the discus with a throw of 149-2.

For the girls, Teresa Castillo won the 1,600-meter run and the 3,200 run, and Christie Burkhart won the discus event with a throw of 119-6 1/2--six feet further than her previous best, Coach Martha Emerson said.

Castillo's times were 5:44.7 in the 1,600 and 12:02.72 in the 3,200.

Jeannie Barrientez beat her personal best in the 100 hurdles, finishing fifth in 16.45 seconds.

Jayme Moore was third in the 300 hurdles in 49.5, and helped Barrientez, Castillo and Minerva Salazar to fourth in the 1,600 relay, in 4:18.5 seconds.

White JV falls 15-1

Hereford's White junior varsity baseball team dropped a 15-1 bomb to Borger's JV Monday at Whiteface Field.

The Whitefaces committed six errors, plus several mental errors, which resulted in most of the runs.

The Bulldogs scored once in the first, but Hereford answered when Kyle Hansen led off bottom of the first by being hit by a pitch. He scored from first on the Borger right fielder's error after Jake Head's single.

Borger scored another run in the second, and Hereford couldn't answer. They also couldn't answer Borger four runs in the third, four in the fourth or five in the fifth.

The 10-run rule was enforced after the fifth inning.

Andrew Tijerina started on the mound for Hereford, and starting catcher Vince Castillo relieved, getting his second pitching appearance of the year.

JENNIFER SMITH

Smith named rodeo queen

Jennifer Smith, a freshman at Hereford High School, was named queen of the HHS Rodeo Team. She is the daughter of Becky and Barry Smith.

Lewis gets rodeo's reserve all-around

Hereford's Regina Lewis captured the girls' reserve all-around title at the Tri-State rodeos held Saturday and Sunday in Hereford. The all-around title was won by Snyder's Lorissa Edmondson, with 37 points to Lewis' 32.

Lewis was the all-around girl Saturday on the strength of first places in the poles and goat tying, but Edmondson came on strong Sunday with victories in the barrels and breakaway roping to claim the saddle.

Alex Brown of Wellington received the saddle as the boys' all-around champion, with K.C. Overturf of Floydada getting the reserve jacket.

Hereford High School team members Lewis, Jennifer Smith and Chasity Rickman each won events on two-day average.

Lewis won the poles Saturday with a time of 21.063 seconds and was third Sunday in 21.050, giving her a first-place total of 42.113.

Smith won the two-day breakaway roping by finishing third both days. She had times of 5.3 Saturday and 3.679 Sunday.

Rickman won the two-day goat-tying. She won the event Sunday in 8.905 and was second Saturday in 9.520.

Apart from those listed above, several Hereford team members placed in individual events either Saturday or Sunday. Smith won Sunday's poles with a time of 20.940, and Amber Bruce, who lives in Clovis but competes for the HHS team, won Saturday's barrel race in 16.342.

Samantha Winters finished third in Saturday's goat tying at 10.230, and Lewis finished third in Sunday's goat-tying at 10.200. Lewis, Rickman and Smith came in fifth, sixth and seventh in Saturday's barrel racing in times of 16.702, 16.817 and 16.825, respectively. Besides her goat-tying win, Rickman placed in two other events Sunday: fifth in the poles (21.490) and seventh in breakaway roping (9.285).

Following are the winners of each event, with the two-day average winner, Saturday's winner and Sunday's winner.

Welty finds Mantle card

John Welty received a surprise Friday that many baseball card collectors have dreamed about this year; he opened a pack of cards Friday and found an autographed Mickey Mantle card worth $1,000-$1,500.

Welty bought the lucky pack at Hereford Comics and Cards, located inside Winn's, where he was opening packs of Score Series 2 cards with Chris Hart and Ryan Caperton. At one point, he said, he had to go home, and took a few packs with him.

"The first pack I opened up when I got home--the card was right in the center of it," Welty, who has collected cards for about 10 years, said.

He said he was surprised, and he recognized the card for what it was--though he may not have believed his eyes.

"I had to look at it twice to make sure. I kind of went into shock when I first saw it," he said.

The amount Welty thinks the card is worth is based on an appraisal done by an Amarillo man when a similar card was found there. The cards are too new and too rare to be listed in Beckett's Baseball Card Monthly Price Guide, the hobby's accepted source of card values.

Score designed seven cards depicting Mantle in different stages of his career. They produced 38,500 of the cards, of which 2,500 were hand-signed by Mantle.

The card Welty found has "Speed and Grace" printed on the front and shows the Hall of Fame center fielder starting to run after a swing of the bat. By holding the card at different angles to the light, you can see that the signature is not stamped on the card. The autographed cards are numbered, and Welty's card is No. 1923.

Score's Mantle promotion is one of several launched by card companies in 1991. Since 1980, when Topps basically had the market to itself, other companies have begun producing cards on a large scale. Fleer, Donruss, Score, Upper Deck, Leaf and Bowman have joined the ranks of major card companies. Most collectors can't or won't buy all the brands, so with more companies comes more competition.

Several companies have tried, particularly this year, to capture the attention and allegiance of the card-buying public by inserting cards or certificates for cards worth hundreds of dollars randomly into packs.

Topps, for example, is celebrating its fortieth anniversary by giving away one of each card it has ever produced. Certificates are distributed in place of the older, more valuable cards--including the 1952 Mantle rookie card which is now valued at $8,000.

Welty said he is going to keep his card for a while and see what happens with its value.

Valuable card

John Welty opened a pack of Score baseball cards and found this card autographed by Mickey Mantle--valued between $1,000 and $1,500.

Several NBA stars injured for playoffs

By BILL BARNARD
AP Basketball Writer

Injuries, which played a key role in the NBA regular season, are likely to affect the playoffs as well, with a handful of stars attempting to shake off nagging problems this week.

Isiah Thomas, Larry Bird, Charles Barkley, Tom Chambers, Kevin Johnson, Dan Majerle and Gerald Wilkins among those recently hobbled who are attempting to return.

Portland, which snapped the Los Angeles Lakers' nine-year hold on the Pacific Division title, is the No. 1 seed in the Western Conference. Chicago, which won 60 games for the first time in franchise history, is the top seed in the East.

Both of the No. 1 seeds have been relatively injury-free.

The two-time defending champion Detroit Pistons are the No. 3 seed in the East and will have homecourt advantage against No. 6 Atlanta in the first round, in which all series are best-of-5.

In Thursday's openers, it's Utah at Phoenix, Golden State at San Antonio, New York at Chicago, Philadelphia at Milwaukee and Houston at the Lakers. On Friday, it's Indiana at Boston, Atlanta at Detroit and Seattle at Portland.

The first-round playoff pairings, seedings and predictions:

EASTERN CONFERENCE

No. 8 New York at No. 1 Chicago - The Bulls swept the Knicks in four games during the season, and Chicago needed less than 12 minutes to wipe out a 24-point deficit in their final meeting two weeks ago at Madison Square Garden. Bulls in 3.

No. 7 Indiana at No. 2 Boston - Despite the disparity in seedings, the Pacers are going into this series with some reason for confidence. The Celtics split four games between the teams during the season. Celtics in 4.

No. 6 Atlanta at No. 3 Detroit - Thomas came to the rescue just in time for the Pistons, making them reappear as a formidable team just when it started to look like the championship magic was gone. Pistons in 5.

No. 5 Philadelphia at No. 4 Milwaukee - Injuries also are a big factor in this series, with Charles Barkley returning only last week for the 76ers. Dale Ellis is out for Milwaukee, having been replaced by a rusty Adrian Dantley. 76ers in 4.

WESTERN CONFERENCE

No. 8 Seattle at No. 1 Portland - The Trail Blazers finished with the NBA's best record and had 16 consecutive victories before a loss to Phoenix on Sunday. Trail Blazers in 3.

No. 7 Golden State at No. 2 San Antonio - The Warriors' victory over Utah on Sunday brought about this matchup, which looks much tougher for Golden State than the Jazz would have been. Spurs in 5.

No. 6 Houston at No. 3 Los Angeles Lakers - The Rockets scared everyone at the beginning of the month when they were concluding a 17-1, 29-5 stretch drive. But Los Angeles has won 11 of its last 14 and appears primed to make another Western Conference run after a second-round upset last year. Lakers in 4.

No. 5 Utah at No. 4 Phoenix - The Jazz are emotionally volatile, with first-round playoff upset losses the last two years, then blowing the Midwest title on the final day of the regular season. But the Suns have problems of their own, with Kevin Johnson, Chambers and Dan Majerle returning from injuries. Jazz in 5.

Thompson's cycle not enough to best Padres

By The Associated Press

As Robby Thompson found out, sometimes hitting for the cycle just isn't enough.

The San Diego Padres beat the San Francisco Giants 7-5 Monday night despite losing starter Greg Harris one pitch into the game and having three runners thrown out at home plate. Tony Gwynn had four hits and Benito Santiago and Jerald Clark hit consecutive two-out, run-scoring singles in the seventh to break a 4-4 tie.

Thompson, who came in with a .146 average, tripled in the first, homered in the third, singled in the sixth and doubled in the ninth. It was the first time Thompson hit for the cycle in his career and the first cycle for the Giants since Chris Speier against St. Louis on July 9, 1988.

Gwynn went 4-for-4 with a double and a triple as the Padres snapped the Giants' three-game winning streak and improved their road record to 4-0.

After Santiago and Clark gave the Padres a 6-4 lead, Gwynn's RBI double in the eighth made it 7-4. Clark hit an run-scoring groundout in the ninth.

"It was a wacky-type game," Gwynn said. "We were scratching for runs early, but then we got some clutch hits and all of a sudden we're up a couple of runs. But we stayed aggressive the whole way."

In other games, Houston beat Cincinnati 2-1, St. Louis beat Chicago 3-2 and Atlanta beat Los Angeles 7-1.

Pat Clements (1-0), the third Padres pitcher, gave up two hits and one run in two innings and Craig Lefferts pitched the ninth inning for his fourth save.

Astros 2, Reds 1

Houston snapped a streak of 31 consecutive scoreless innings with two runs in the ninth off Randy Myers.

After Norm Charlton and Myers had shut out the Astros through eight innings at the Astrodome, Ken Caminiti singled, pinch-hitter Mark Davidson walked and Luis Gonzalez singled to score pinch-runner Mark McLemore with the tying run.

Myers (0-1) walked Casey Candaele on four pitches before Karl Rhodes drove a single to right field, scoring Davidson.

Dwayne Henry (1-0) pitched 2 2-3 innings of one-hit relief for the victory as the Astros ended a three-game losing streak.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 2

Felix Jose hit a two-run homer off Dave Smith with one out in ninth inning.

Ray Lankford lined out to open the ninth, but Dave Smith (0-2) walked Pedro Guerrero on five pitches. Jose followed with his second home run of the season, giving Smith his third blown save in seven opportunities.

Juan Agosto (1-0), the third St. Louis pitcher, pitched a perfect ninth to finish a four-hitter. Jamie Moyer (0-3), pitching against his former team for the first time, allowed three hits in six innings, walked four and struck out two.

AL West upside down

By The Associated Press

The American League West has flipped upside down. The Oakland Athletics have a five-game losing streak and the Seattle Mariners have a seven-game winning streak.

While Oakland lost to Minnesota 3-2 in the Metrodome, Seattle rallied for three runs in the eighth inning to beat the California Angels 4-3.

"We've shown an ability to bounce back," pitcher Brian Holman said. "I don't think getting behind is going to bother anyone too much. We just keep plugging away."

Seattle, which lost its first six games of the season, has rebounded from that start for the second-longest winning streak in club history. Only an eight-game streak from June 20-29, 1985, is longer.

With Seattle trailing 2-1, Tracy Jones singled home the tying run and scored on Edgar Martinez's double. Pete O'Brien's RBI groundout gave the Mariners a two-run lead, which they needed when Wally Joyner homered in the eighth off Brian Holman (2-1).

Holman allowed six hits and four walks in 7 2-3 innings before Mike Jackson retired all four men he faced for his first save.

In other games, Chicago beat Oakland 8-7, Boston beat Toronto 6-4, Cleveland beat Kansas City 10-4 and Detroit beat New York 10-5.

Harold Reynolds led off the eighth with an infield single off Jim Abbott (0-3). Reynolds took second on Henry Cotto's infield grounder, stole third and scored on Jones' single. Mark Eichhorn relieved and Martinez looped a double down the left-field line.

White Sox 8, Orioles 7

Frank Thomas hit the first home run for the White Sox in the new Comiskey Park as Chicago beat Ben McDonald.

McDonald made his first appearance after opening the season on the disabled list with a strained muscle in his right elbow. He allowed six runs and six hits in 4 2-3 innings as the Orioles lost for the fourth time in five games. McDonald walked four and struck out three.

Botkin, Gage take Hereford scramble

Rick Botkin and Chris Gage teamed up to win the championship flight of the two-man scramble tournament played Saturday and Sunday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

Botkin and Gage totalled 129 for two days, edging two teams which were tied at 130. The twosomes of Bobby Valdez and Arthur Valdez, and James Salinas and Rick Hopping were tied for second.

Wayne Walker and Alan Pohlmeir won the first flight by shooting 133. They were followed by a pair of pairs at 135: Joe Browning and M. Miller and Todd Preston and Frank Shankle.

The second flight was won by James Alexander and R. Biggers, who combined for 138. Right behind them at 139 were Malcolm Rea and Wayne Burgin. Then there was a four-way tie for third. All at 142 were Earl Stagner and John Stagner; Mark Noble and W. Smith; B.J. Gililian and Robert Strange; and Mike O'Rand and Jeff O'Rand.

Jerry Osborne and Randy Kneirom won the third flight with a 142. Second at 143 were Phillip Setzer and Raymond Lichtie. Two twosomes were tied for third at 147: Bob Smith and Dana Duke, and Les Giles and Harold Whitacre.

The fourth flight was won by Robert Agguire and Jesse Hernandez, who totalled 152. Scott Sheffy and Terry Mixson were second at 157.

Hereford women win golf tourney

A pair of Hereford women won the first flight of the Ladies Early Bird Golf Tournament played Saturday at the Farwell Country Club.

Pat Goforth and Teresa Albracht defeated Sandy Townsend and Faye Sumners of Clovis on the first playoff hole. Goforth and Albracht shot a 77 to reach the playoff.

In the third flight, a pair of Hereford twosomes finished second and third. Martha Jones and Rose Marie Robinson claimed second with an 86, and Lois Jones and Avis Blakely followed at 87.

Order of the Rose bestowed

Beverly Redelsperger, at left, and Lynda Brown were honored by members of Hereford's three chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority when members met Thursday night at the Hereford Community Center. Redelsperger and Brown, both of Alpha Alpha Preceptor Chapter, were cited during the Order of the Rose ceremony "for their fidelity and loyal devotion to the sorority throughout their membership." To qualify for this honor, a member must have been active in a chapter for 15 years. Both women received a yellow rose, pin, and certificate to commemorate the occasion.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Everything Isn't OK in Oklahoma" struck a responsive chord in me. The woman who wrote said her husband worked long hours, golfed with his buddies on weekends and read the newspaper or watched TV when he was home, totally ignoring their young children.

I could have written that letter myself. My husband also ignored our four children and never had much time for me either. His idea of acknowledging my existence was a romp in the sack. He never wanted to go on family outings because the kids "made him nervous." At home he refused to lift a finger to help me with them because "that's your job."

Now those kids are teen-agers and young adults. They are pretty interesting people, productive and fun to be with. The hold down jobs, go to school and are involved in all sorts of exciting activities.

My husband still has no time for them, but they don't mind because they have no time for him either. Since no relationship was established early, he is like a stranger to them. What a pity that he has missed so much of the joy in life and there is no way to retrieve those wonderful years. -- Rockford, Ill.

DEAR ROCK: I'm sorry to say I received a huge number of letters from mothers who are saying the same thing.

When are the men out there going to wake up to the importance of being part of their children's lives? If it doesn't happen early it rarely happens at all. If any of you absentee fathers see yourselves in this column, you'd better get aboard before the train leaves the station.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I recently heard something that I found very disturbing. Will you please check around and find out if it's true.

I was told that the spouse or the immediate family of a person who donates his or her organs for transplantation is responsible for the medical bills connected with the removal of those organs.

A friend of my parents said she knows a man who was sent a $45,000 bill after his wife passed away. He had offered to donate her usable organs. If this is true, I no longer wish to be a card-carrying organ donor.

The last thing grieving family members need is a whopping hospital bill on top of everything else they have to deal with. Wouldn't you think that with the need for kidneys, eyes and other transplantable organs, hospitals would provide the service of removing them for free? I'm sure most people want to be generous but not at such terrific expense to their loved ones. -- Ellen in California

DEAR ELLEN: I contacted the Living Bank in Houston and they welcomed the opportunity to set the record straight. The person who RECEIVES the donated organ pays the bill for transplantation. The organ donor's family is never charged.

Could it be that the $45,000 bill your parents' friend mentioned was due to the high cost of trying to keep that man's wife alive? I'll bet it had nothing to do with removing her organs for transplantation.

There is a desperate need for organs. Anyone who wants to give the gift of life should write to The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77265; and the National Kidney Foundation, 30 East 33rd St., New York, N.Y. 10016.

Breast cancer screening clinic scheduled May 24

A breast cancer screening program sponsored by the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital of Amarillo will be held in Hereford on Friday, May 24, from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m. at the South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., 603 East Park.

Exams are done by appointment only. Funding is available through the Texas Cancer Council for screening mammography for Texas residents qualifying for financial assistance.

Early detection of breast cancer is the major goal of cancer control for each woman seen in the clinic. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a registered nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination, and a mammogram.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer. The guidelines are:

* Learn and perform breast self examination every month.
* Have a physical examination every year
* Have a mammogram according to the recommendations by age

Age 35-40--one baseline mammogram

Age 40-50--a mammogram every one to two years

Over 50--Yearly mammograms

For more information about the clinic or to make an appointment, call the Harrington Cancer Center at the toll free number, 1-800-274-HOPE (4673). Locally, for more information, contact the clinic at 364-7688.

Protect pups from parasites

Puppies face serious health risks from worms. The biggest danger is from roundworms and hookworms. Whipworms threaten older dogs, while heartworms threaten dogs of all ages.

Since pregnant dogs can pass roundworms to unborn pups, nearly all puppies are infected. But a pup can also pick up roundworms by nosing around the yard or park and swallowing roundworm eggs. Dr. John McCall, University of Georgia professor of parasitology, says a heavy roundworm infestation can be deadly. "They grow five to seven inches long, so they can cause major damage as they move through the pup's liver and lungs."

Hookworm infection begins when pups swallow larvae or become infected through mother's milk. These parasites pierce the intestinal lining with hooklike teeth and feed on blood and tissue. Like roundworm eggs, hookworm eggs are passed in the dog's stool.

Whipworms usually threaten dogs kept in small, outside areas. Large numbers of them can irritate the lining of a dog's intestine, causing weight loss and pain.

Heartworms are transmitted by infected mosquitoes. They live in the heart and surrounding blood vessels and can cause congestive heart failure and death.

To protect puppy health, break parasite life cycles before damage is done. Dr. McCall advises taking your puppy to the veterinarian for its first fecal exam and checkup as soon as possible. If worms are found, there are treatments to kill the parasites. But reinfection is possible so prevention or control is the next important step.

"The goal is to prevent worms from ever maturing in the intestines, producing eggs, continuing the life cycle and harming the animal, says Dr. McCall.

When choosing among available medications, consider: Not all control all four major parasites. Some monthly medications control worms by monthly removal, but worms can reinfect puppies and complete their life cycles before the next dose kills.

Class reunion scheduled

Hereford High School graduates from the class of 1961 are planning their 30th reunion Aug. 9-10 in conjunction with the annual Town and Country Jubilee Celebration.

Several former classmates have not been located. They include Johnny Welty, Wendall Wilson, Jerry Johnson, Glenna Gandy Bell, Ronnie Botkin, Eric Okseter, Martie Martin, Vera Smith and Dennis Peters.

Anyone having information on these people are asked to contact H.S. Fuller at 364-8668 or Ken Walser, 364-5497.

New arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Wearden of 509 Willow Lane are the parents of a daughter, Krista Jean, born April 16 in Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. She weighed 8 lbs. 9 oz.

The couple also has two other children, Sarah, age four, and Breanna, age two.

Maternal grandparents are Ken and Bev Matkins of Wilcox, Neb. and John and Betty Wearden of Stratford.

No Olympic Games were held in 1916, 1940 or 1944 because of World Wars I and II.

Social Security

People who work while they are getting Social Security benefits need to report their earnings by April 15, if their earning are above certain limits, Jim Talbot, Social Security manager in Amarillo, said today.

For 1990 earnings, the reports are required from beneficiaries (other than those receiving disability benefits) who were age 65069 and earned more than $9,360, or under 65 and earned more than $6,840, and received some benefits in 1990. Earnings over those amounts count in determining the amount of Social Security benefits due.

People who were 70 or older during all of 1990 do not have to file an earnings report no matter how much they earned, Talbot said.

The annual report forms were mailed automatically to anyone who indicated they would be working and earning over the exempt amounts while they were getting benefits. Anyone who needs to file a report but didn't get one in the mail should call Social Security to ask for an Annual Report of Earnings form, Talbot said.

In their earnings reports, Social Security beneficiaries show the exact amount of the past year's earnings and provide an estimate of their earnings for the current year. For 1991, earnings over $9,720 for people 65-69, and earnings over $7,080 for people under 65, count in figuring the amount of Social Security benefits that can be paid.

For more information about working while receiving Social Security, contact the Amarillo Social Security office, located at 3501-E. W45th. The telephone number is 1-800-234-5772.

KENNESAW, Ga. (AP) - A message to supporters of the Persian Gulf War: it's spelled S-C-H-W-A-R-Z-K-O-P-F.

A town eager to be the first to name a street after Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf, the Desert Storm commander, acted so quickly it misspelled his name, inserting a T.

A replica of the street sign unveiled Saturday read "Schwarztkopf Court."

"Our recreation people prepared the sign and wrapped it," Mayor J.O. Stephenson said after the ceremony.

Facts concerning endometrial cancer

This year, about 33,000 women in the United States will develop endometrial cancer, cancer of the lining of the uterus.

An estimated 5,500 women will die of this disease in 1991. Fortunately, the death rate from endometrial cancer has been declining steadily since the 1950s, a sign that earlier detection and better treatment are paying off.

Endometrial cancer (sometimes simply called uterine cancer) occurs most often in women between the ages of 55 and 70. Although we don't know for sure what causes this disease, a variety of factors are known to increase a woman's risk of developing it. Among these factors are obesity, a history of infertility, a history of irregular periods, diabetes, and late menopause. Although estrogen replacement therapy to relieve the symptoms of menopause is also a known risk factor, adding the hormone progestin to most formulations appears to reduce the risk.

Oral contraceptives, on the other hand, seem to protect against endometrial cancer. Studies have shown that women who use combination birth control pills containing estrogen and progesterone are half as likely to develop endometrial cancer as those who have never used the combination pill.

The first symptom of endometrial cancer is usually abnormal vaginal bleeding. Bleeding may being as a watery, slightly bloody discharge and later contains more blood. If you notice bleeding or any bleeding after menopause, you should see your doctor right away.

To diagnose endometrial cancer, the doctor usually performs a pelvic exam and a biopsy, or dilation and curetage (D&C) when a larger tissue sample is needed. A biopsy is a test involving surgical removal of a small sample of tissue for examination. Dilation and curettage is a procedure in which the cervix is stretched and tissue is gently scraped or suctioned from the lining of the uterus. A Pap test is not a reliable test for uterine cancer.

Treatment for endometrial cancer depends on a number of factors including the stage of the disease, how fast the cancer is growing and the age and general health of the woman. Surgery, radiation, hormone therapy and drug treatment (chemotheraphy) may be used, sometimes in combination.

The outlook for patients with uterine cancer is good, especially if discovered in its early stages. That's why it is important to have a regular gynecologic checkup and report any unusual bleeding to your doctor.

The apricot can be traced back to China at least four thousand years ago. The luscious fruit appeared in Greek mythology as the "golden apple."

Awards ceremony held

Pack 151 meets for banquet

Pack 151 recently held their Annual Blue and Gold Banquet at the First Christian Church with David Wagner, pack master, presiding over the festivities.

A flag ceremony presented by Den 6 members, Kasey Lomas, Carey Lyles, Mitch Wagner, Cal Wallace, Jacob Zambrano, Chip Barnett, and Dustin Brown was directed by Jeremy Lomas for the opening exercise.

Wagner gave the invocation with approximately 150 in attendance.

Winners of the pinewood derby receiving medals were Kevin Jesko, Craig Cothern, Tim Dudley, Gus Guseman, Matthew Lusk, Jay Crowford, Mitch Wagner, Dustin Brown, and Carey Lyles. Dominick Gurrero won a rod and reel and Brian Cagle won a canteen.

The Department of Commerce and Labor was established in 1903.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Recently friends of ours got married. Since we are all in college, budgets are very limited, but we wanted to do something for them. So we did what all red-blooded college kids do and called home.

The bride had already been given a shower by her family and had the housekeeping necessities, but the apartment was still awfully empty.

Mother is an avid reader of your column and suggested we throw a housewarming party. She had seen the idea in your column a couple of years ago. So we threw a huge party and invited everyone to bring used items that were still in good shape.

The decor might not win any awards for looks, but I'd give it top marks for originality. — Debbie and Barbara, Birmingham, Ala.

FAST FACTS

Uses for old pillowcases:

- Use as laundry bags.
- Use as a sheet in a cradle.
- Store out-of-season clothing.
- Make a holder for large knitted or crocheted items.
- Open one up and make it into a curtain for a small window.

OPENING LETTERS

Dear Heloise: Maybe this hint will be of help to some of the families with loved ones still in the Middle East.

When my husband was overseas, I wrote him every day. I put the date I wrote the letter on the back of the envelope. When he got several letters at a time, he could open the first one first. This way he didn't hear the end of a story before the start. — Jane Gibson, Cleveland, N.C.

Here's some sure footing ideas for "outdoor" people

The vast playground of the American outdoors attracts millions; they engage in a variety of activities as diverse as the outdoors itself.

For recreation or exercise, it affords the simple pleasures of walking, fishing, and biking, and the more rigorous pursuits of skiing, backpacking, and mountain climbing.

Many outdoors enthusiasts spend hours in the National Park system, hiking, camping, and sightseeing. They make about 300 million visits annually to the national monuments, recreation areas, seashores, and the 50 national parks.

This awesome frontier is part of our nation's protected wilderness--90.7 million acres of rugged, unfettered, pristine land.

In pursuing their recreational lifestyles, outdoors devotees spend considerable sums for equipment and clothing; more of it should be for personal safety equipment and first-aid kits, says the National Safety Council.

Rock climbing, hiking, and skiing can be hazardous. Bodily injuries, such as foot and ankle emergencies, occur frequently. In such cases, you should of course see a doctor of podiatric medicine immediately. If that's not possible, there are some things you can do to help yourself:

* Reduce activity or get off your feet.
* Elevate the foot higher than the waist.
* Use cold compresses or an ice pack.
* For cuts, cleanse, apply pressure, and cover with a dressing.
* Leave blisters unopened if they're not painful or swollen.

Before running the risk of an injury outdoors, at home or on the job:

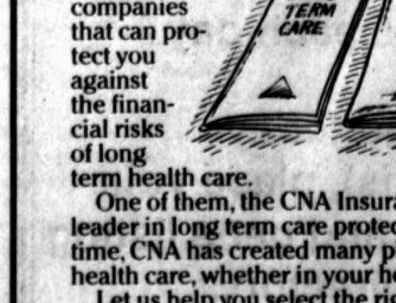

* Wear the correct shoes for each event.
* Don't wear any shoe beyond its useful life.
* Use properly fitted steel toecap shoes for jobs that threaten foot safety.
* Don't walk barefoot on paved surfaces.
* Be alert for slippery surfaces.

Butterflies topic of program

Edna Schulte gave a program on making butterflies when members of North Hereford Extension Homemakers met April 18 at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

The next meeting was planned for May 2.

Those attending included Schulte, Martha Lueb, Naomi Brisendine and Edith Higgins, who served as presiding officer.

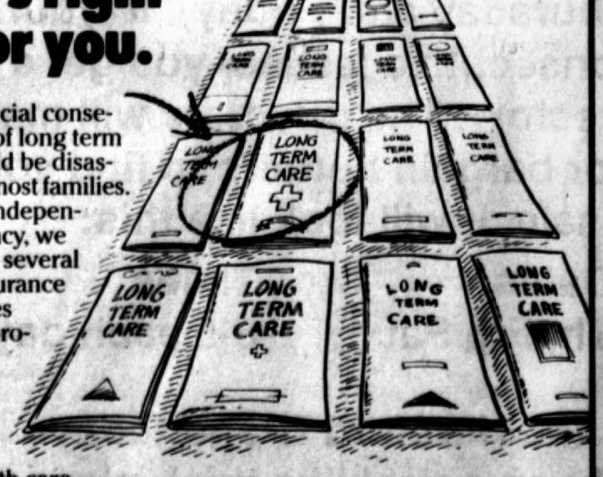

Emperor Alexander I of Russia and Napoleon I of France agreed to divide the world up between them in 1807.

In 1778, the American ship "Ranger" carried the recently adopted Stars and Stripes to a foreign port for the first time as it arrived in France.
