On The Rocks, Unceremoniously...

CROSS OVER THE BRIDGE!

The "Old Guard," soldiers from Ft. Meyer, Va., provide military glitter for the Washington scene in their smart dress blues and polished brass. But they take rough training like other soldiers as well. At left, members rappel their way down a cliff at Great Falls Park on the Potomac north of Washington. Top to bottom are Sgt. 1/C Arthur Bailey, Lt. Donald Hilbert and Capt. Paul Lawrence. At right, Captain Lawrence, who acted as instructor because of previous Ranger training, demonstrates one method of crossing a rope bridge. The river churns far below him. "Everyone thinks the Old Guard does nothing but march at funerals and parade at the airport when the President goes away," one guardsman said. "Actually, this is the second year we've gone into the field." Later the men prepared for another funeral.

Khrushchev Accepts West Invitation For Conference, May 11

Wants German Peace, He Says

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev today accepted the West's invitation to a foreign ministers conference on Germany May 11. But he urged full scale talks by all World War II Allies to write a final peace treaty with Germany.

Khrushchev made it known at an unusual Kremlin news conference that the Soviet Union will be represented in the Big Four negotiations urged by President Eisenhower in a radio-television address Monday.

The Russian leader signified acceptance even before the invitation had been received officially.

The Western powers still are drafting a new round of diplomatic notes to Moscow.

Press reports said May 11 was the date the West had in mind.

The notes were expected to name Geneva as the site for foreign ministers gathering.

Will Accept May 11

The Soviet premier put main emphasis, however, on a plea for a final peace treaty with East and West Germany and the ending of the occupation of West Berlin by British, French and U.S. troops.

In notes March 2 the Soviet Union agreed in principle to a foreign ministers conference but it was implied that a summit meeting must follow. On Monday Eisenhower agreed to the idea of a summit meeting if the foreign ministers talks go well.

After reading a statement calling for an all-German peace treaty, Khrushchev was asked by a correspondent if May 11 would be an acceptable date if the West proposed it.

Khrushchev replied that although the Western powers have not yet replied to the Soviet note of March 2, it had been reported they intended to suggest May 11.

"We are awaiting the reply and

Train Kills Ten Ohio Scouters

XENIA, Ohio (UPI)—This city mourned today for eight Girl Scouts and two advisers who were killed when a train struck their station wagon in one of the worst grade crossing accidents in Ohio's history.

A minister whose car was following the station wagon when the accident happened Wednesday said "the car was split open like a tin can and people were strewn all over the field." All the scout victims were 11 years old and the dead advisers were mothers of two of the girls.

The girls had checked out of the Greene County Library only a short time before, where they were studying for merit badges, and were returning home.

Seemed To Pause

Bill Murray, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad freight train, speeding from Columbus to Richmond, Ind., said the station wagon "seemed to pause on the track as if going to stop, then continued across the track."

The double-track crossing at the outskirts of Alpha, a small community three and a half miles west of this southwestern Ohio city, is unprotected except for a crossarm sign.

The Rev. Alvin Klotz, of the Beaver Creek Church of the Brethren, where the Girl Scouts held their meetings, was following the ill-fated station wagon, but he didn't know who was in it.

After the train struck, the minister said "there were two or three bodies close to the car but the others were scattered in the field.

"Curiously, even though members of four families of my church were killed, it was only when I found a billfold that I recognized one of my girls.

"I started to take off my coat to cover a body but there were so many I couldn't do it. It was the most frustrating experience I have ever known as I went from person to person, knowing they probably all were dead."

ABOUT WAR THREAT

Ike-Macmillan To Confer Today

By STEWART HENSLEY
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrives today for critical talks with President Eisenhower on Allied tactics and strategy to deal with the threat of war in Europe.

The British leader was scheduled to reach here by air from Canada sometime after noon.

The President plans to take him by helicopter Friday to secluded and Marine-guarded Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

There, away from press and protocol, they will hold intimate conferences in preparation for negotiations with Russia expected to culminate in a summer summit conference with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Report On Talks

Macmillan is expected to give the President a comprehensive report on his recent Moscow talks with Khrushchev which led the British prime minister to believe that summit negotiations were imperative to avoid the danger of nuclear conflict.

He also is expected to relay the latest views of French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, with whom he conferred after his Moscow visit.

The first task facing Eisenhower and Macmillan, officials said, is to make certain that there are no cracks in the Western alliance which could be exploited by the Russians in their current effort to force the Allies out of Berlin.

Appear In Agreement

So far the four Western powers appear in virtually complete agreement in their determination to resist these Soviet pressures, although there are reported to be some differences on how tough to get under specific tactical situations.

The second and more difficult job facing the two leaders is that of agreeing on long-range strategy covering not only the Berlin and German crises but broad questions of European security and disarmament.

They must decide on a united position and how to handle themselves when they and de Gaulle meet with the ebullient Soviet leader.

Ed Vicars, City Secretary said Tooley's name will be the 15th on the list of Charter Commission candidates. The Commission will be made up of 15 men.

Crazed Ex-Con In Bargain For 'Life'

By JERRY GOULD
United Press International

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W.Va. (UPI)—A crazed ex-convict bargained today with the governor of West Virginia — the life of his worst enemy in exchange for the lives of a kidnaped mother and her three small children.

In a letter delivered today to Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, ex-convict Richard I. Payne, 23, explained his "screwball" scheme for vengeance on his worst enemy, whom he identified as "Burton Junior Post, better known as Junion Starcher," a convict of West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville.

Payne, released last week from Moundsville, kidnaped Mrs. Elma Baldwin, 29, and her three children, Kenneth, 10, Danny, 7, and Susan, 5, from their South Charleston home at gunpoint Wednesday.

Scores of police, aided by FBI agents from Pittsburgh, joined in the hunt for Payne, described by State Police Capt. W.R. Callaghan as "extremely dangerous in view of his apparent mental condition." Roadblocks were set up throughout the southwestern portion of West Virginia.

"I Hate Him"

Payne, in the letter to Underwood, said, "I have kidnaped some children who are citizens of West Virginia...which you govern. Only you have the power to save them from certain death by granting my demands. I don't want money—I want VENGEANCE.

"My purpose is to kill and take the head of my worst enemy who is now out of reach. He is in West Virginia Penitentiary at Moundsville.

"I demand that you cause the convict whose name is Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher, to cooperate with me. I HATE him with all my existence. Now I must kill him or go mad. I am honorable. Do as I say and I will prove my honor."

Payne then elaborated on a scheme for what he termed "the death circuit" which, he said, was between Spencer and Salem. He apparently intended that Post drive in this area, and then Payne would exact his "vengeance" at some point to be determined by himself.

Payne gave the governor few alternatives.

Three-Day Deadline

"If you (Underwood) succeed, then I will release half the kids as soon as I can. I release the rest at the time I get Post. If Post refuses despite all I can do, I will release half the kids anyway but will torture the others to death," Payne threatened.

At another point the five-page letter said, "If Post refuses because you just want him to die ...then all my captives will be tortured to death. I have spoken."

A three-day deadline was imposed by Payne.

"By the night of the 21st, I should have his head," Payne said.

He specified that only the FBI could join in on the investigation and that Underwood, an FBI agent and a "parent" of the Baldwin's must broadcast their assent to the plan from a local television station in South Charleston.

Callaghan was questioning John R. Baldwin, 31.

Baldwin said the ex-convict gained entrance to the Baldwin home on the pretext of using the telephone. He then drew the pistol and threatened to kill the family.

Payne stripped sash cord from venetian blinds to bind Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, then he herded her, still bound, and the children into the family car and fled. Baldwin worked himself loose and called police.

In a state of shock, Baldwin told police that he had known Payne's father for two years, but had met his son "only two or three times." The Paynes live three doors down the street from Baldwin's five-room frame home. Baldwin said he had "no idea" why Payne chose his family.

2,000 Acres Are Burned In Area

SHAMROCK, Tex. (UPI) — A wind-whipped prairie fire caused by a careless camper burned 2,000 acres of ranchland Wednesday in a four-mile strip.

It destroyed 5,000 bales of hay at one farm home, threatened the house itself, and gave a bad scare to the crew of a broken-down fire truck.

Fire officials said the blaze was apparently caused by a tourist who stopped along U.S. 66 to cook a meal. It raced along a wide strip whipped by winds gusting up to 35 miles per hour.

It was not brought under control until nightfall when the wind died down.

A firetruck from Shamrock got stuck in the sand and its axle broke. Suddenly the flames flared up and turned on the crew. The truck carried a 500 gallon water tank and its crew managed to beat the flames, which shot 20 feet high, back and repair the truck.

City Hopes For Over 20 Per Cent On Land Lease

The City Commission's proposals in regard to the leasing of Reeves airfield were clarified Wednesday by City Manager John Koontz.

Tuesday, it was reported the 640-acre field would be leased for "around 20 percent of the profits made from the land."

Koontz said a 80-20 percent division of revenue from the land "had been talked about," but the city takes the stand that its portion of the revenue should exceed 20 percent.

It is felt the land is of more than normal value and that 20 percent of the revenue could barely take care of the paper work involved.

For this reason, Koontz said, the city will seek the best possible tentative lease. The land has ample water for agricultural purposes and an agricultural lease of some sort is desired.

Five PHS Teachers Offered Science, Math Stipends

Five Pampa High School teachers have been offered stipends for institutes designed to strengthen subject matter competence of science and mathematics teachers.

The teachers, with names of institutions offering the stipends are: Wendell Watson, biology, Texas Technological College, Lubbock; J. D. Webb, physics and mathematics, West Texas State College, Canyon; Mary Ruetman, mathematics, Oregon State College, Corvallis.

Elaine Ledbetter, chemistry, Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Perry Sikes, mathematics, has been offered an academic year fellowship at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque.

The Summer Institute Program of the National Science Foundation was created in recognition of the important role of high school and college teachers in the development of our scientific manpower potential.

Three hundred fifty Institutes are scheduled for the summer of 1959. Funds are available to provide financial assistance for about 18,000 teachers of science and mathematics. The Foundation grant to each Institute covers the cost of tuition, fees, stipends and allowances.

The Institute, in turn, selects the teacher participants and determines amounts of stipends and allowances. The maximum stipend is $75 per week. Travel allowances for one round trip and from the Institute up to a maximum of $80 are also available.

Mrs. Ledbetter participated in the chemistry program at the Institute conducted by the University of Arizona last summer.

I don't want to hasten replying to our unanswered notes," Khrushchev said. "If they suggest May 11, we will accept."

Khrushchev also made the following points:

—Eisenhower's address Monday was an attempt to calm the American people, whom he had frightened earlier with threats of war. But now, Khrushchev said, the President's willingness to negotiate at the summit "contains seeds of health and reason although the President has many reservations."

—As to the question of whether the Western powers had rights and obligations in Berlin, "Yes, we recognize the rights and obligations arising from the German capitulation. But since 14 years have elapsed after the war it is time to conclude a peace treaty to invalidate those rights."

—The May 27 date he set for ending the occupation status of West Berlin "was certainly not intended as an ultimatum but as an approximate time limit. But if we can solve the Berlin problem in seven months we will be satisfied."

—Soviet troops will remain in East Germany even if Russia signs a peace treaty with the East German regime. Their removal would depend on agreement between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact Powers.

Khrushchev said he was "confident that the controversial problems can be solved by peaceful means and peace will prevail."

"We are striving toward just one thing—to see to it that the dark clouds of a new war should forever disappear from the international horizon," Khrushchev said.

"We appeal to the governments of all countries which took part in the war against Hitlerite Germany to set down at the table of negotiations and settle problems (and) to conclude a peace treaty with Germany," he said.

"We would like the Western governments, having cast aside the mad threats of their generals and admirals against our country, to sit down at the table of negotiations with us.

"If they have sensible proposals to make, we are ready to examine them together with our own proposals."

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had made proposals on a German peace treaty and on "normalization" of the Berlin situation.

"It is now up to the Western powers," he said. "If they are seriously ready for talks, we shall not hold up matters. We shall do everything we can to make the talks a success.

Boy Scout leaders completed a junior leader graining session, conducted by Bob Barrett. In addition to the monthly theme, "Foresters," they discussed plans for a District Camporee and Summer Camp, opening June 7.

Explorers, meeting with John Ayres, covered summer activities, including Philmont Scout Ranch and a Canadian canoe trip. Two crews from the Adobe Walls Council will paddle 100 miles into the Canadian wilds.

Dave Brown, Post 80 advisor, discussed the possibility of a social activity that would bring together Explorer Posts.

Ayres explained the procedure of cabinet meetings, which will be held every three months.

W. Va. soft drink firm, seemed "stunned" by the kidnaping, Callaghan said, but had not been otherwise injured.

Callaghan said Payne was imprisoned in August, 1952 for the attempted robbery and shooting of a motel owner west of South Charleston. Sentenced to a 10-year term, he escaped from Moundsville several years ago, was captured in Indianapolis. The circumstances of his release last week were not available.

Ironically, the search for Payne was being conducted by state police Capt. W. S. Webb who captured Payne in the 1952 holdup. A score of police cruisers joined in the hunt, but Callaghan indicated all precautions would be taken because of the danger to the four hostages.

San Angelo Man's Homes Burned 5 Times In 11 Days

SAN ANGELO (UPI) — City Commissioner G. T. Trusler said today that he has no idea who has set his homes on fire five times in 11 days, but he fears he has about run out of both homes and insurance.

Trusler owned two homes. Four fires made them both uninhabitable. He and his family moved in with his uncle, W. H. McGarr.

McGarr's home caught fire Wednesday night and Trusler moved in with his mother-in-law.

"I have no idea who is setting the fires," Trusler said wearily today. "I am at a complete loss. I just don't know who could have done it.

"I only hope we're covered by insurance."

Fires Started March 8

Trusler is the president of Cactus Oil Co., an independent company and is at least well-to-do. Police think he is being followed from home to home by a "fire-bug," who has a grudge against him.

The fires started March 8 in a new home into which the Truslers had moved. Trusler discovered fire in time for firemen to contain it in one bedroom.

He and his family went out visiting the afternoon of March 8 and fire broke out in another bedroom.

Three days later, a fire broke out in the living room of Trusler's new home. This time it damaged it so badly there was no living in it.

Trusler bought new furniture and moved back to his old home while decorators tried to patch up the new home.

Entire House Damaged

While he was at a city commissioner's meeting Tuesday, he got an emergency call to come home. When he reached home, he almost broke down. His old home was burning briskly.

The fire damaged the entire house and most of the family's personal possessions, which Mrs. Trusler hadn't had time to take out of the cartons in which they were moved from the new home.

At least four fires appear to have started in beds. That was the case in the first two fires and in the fourth and fifth fires. The fourth fire was believed to have started in a bed that deliverymen had brought in only 20 minutes before.

The fire Wednesday night seemed to have started in an empty baby's bed. It damaged the bed, curtains and window frame.

Trusler said it will take "a couple of months" to get his own two homes repaired if he has no more fires.

Rotarians View '500 Race' Film

The Pampa Rotary club yesterday viewed a film of the 500 mile Indianapolis Speedway race which took place on Labor Day of last year.

The emphasis of the film was that this classic serves the important purpose of testing automotive equipment which, in some cases, becomes standard on passenger cars as the years progress. Tom Whitely of Dallas brought the film to the club.

Club visitors and guests for the day were J. B. Maguire, Smiley Henderson, W. F. Bender, Jack Roberts and Don Wilson.

Lee Remick Expects To Be Married Only Once

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lee Remick, the girl who replaced Lana Turner in a new movie, is 16 years younger than the blonde glamour girl and a dozen light years removed from Lana's stormy way of life.

Lee, at 23, brings into sharp focus the difference between the new crop of young actresses and the established stars.

Wearing no makeup, and dressed simply, Lee admitted she is somewhat colorless when compared with the likes of Lana, Rita Hayworth, Ingrid Bergman, Ava Gardner and Hedy Lamarr.

And she intends to stay that way.

"I'm a stable, happy person," Lee said in a soft voice. "I've never had any ambition to assume colorful characteristics. I rebel instinctively against being controversial or newsworthy. It may sound paradoxical for an actress, but that's the way I feel.

"Most performers who are storm centers of public interest are basically unhappy. They don't learn from their mistakes, and they keep making them over and over again.

Quiet And Mannerly

"I believe being a capable performer is enough to insure a successful career, without having your private life exploited."

Lee, who has light brown hair and blue eyes, is quiet and mannerly, but she also is outspoken. She doesn't resent being second choice for the feminine lead in Otto Preminger's "Anatomy of a Murder."

Lana quit in a beef over her modest wardrobe, but Lee is delighted with the costumes.

"It's the best opportunity I've had in pictures," she beamed.

She went on to say that Lana Turner is extremely beautiful, adding that her merits as an actress left something to be desired.

A native of Quincy, Mass., Lee blushes like a school girl with little provocation. She is married to TV director William Colleran and is the mother of six-weeks-old Katherine Lee.

"I am very happily married," the willowy actress said. "And if it came to a choice, I'd give up my career in a minute for my family. That's one of the reasons, I'm not interested in gimmicks to promote myself as a 'personality.'

Wants No Headlines

"They'll never call me the 'ooomph girl' or 'sweater girl.' Nor do I want to make headlines.

"Maybe all the publicity helped Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor in their careers. But I wouldn't trade places with either one of them."

Lee is typical, though less dedicated, than other newcomers. Hope Lange, Joanne Woodward and Eva Marie Saint all shun splashy "Hollywood" lives in favor of concentrating on their performances.

Representative Plugs Bach, Brahms, Beethoven For Show

The Lighter Side
By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Certain and with this particular educa the members of Congress, along with a bunch of congressional wives who also dig jazz either progressive or old fashioned, felt the need recently to raise ten grand or so for sweet charity.

So they organized a big cultural event, to be rendered at the Sheraton Park Hotel here the night of March 16 at $10 a head. Many of the big names in jazz, of assorted schools, were signed as performers, and until the other day everything was swinging along great.

Then Rep. Torbert MacDonald (D-Mass.), himself a cultivated type but unfortunately not associated with this particular educational and eleemosynary group, sounded a loud sour note.

MacDonald put out a statement plugging Bach, Brahms, and Beethovan as proper musical fare, and speaking most unkindly of "rock and roll, hillbilly, bebop, boogie woogie, and jazz."

Misspelling Eases Pain

MacDonald intimated that some of the performers and devotees of these various arts were musical "illiterates." The pain suffered at this by some of his readers was eased only slightly by their joy in the fact that he misspelled it "illerates."

MacDonald's outburst, which was duly printed in the Congressional Record, was inspired by a recent post office order under which recordings now are mailed at a low rate previously set up for books. He complained that the effect is to subsidize the dissemination of such educational efforts as "Jailhouse Rock," "Pickin' On the Wrong Chicken," "Bony Moronie," and "Dinner With Dracula."

Jazz buffs like Reps. Frank Thompson Jr. (D-N.J.), Henry Reuss (D-Wis.), and Donald J. Irwin (D-Conn.), who are helping about 30 congressional ladies set up the jazz show, naturally were not pleased with MacDonald. However, they professed for him more of sadness than anger.

"Torby just doesn't know," one of his friends commented. "I bet he thinks Brahams is a bull."

Despite MacDonald's blast, tickets for next Monday's jazz jubilee are moving fast. Actually, if nobody goes but the listed patrons the affair will be quite a ball. They include Speaker Sam Rayburn, Mamie Eisenhower, Pat Nixon, and Mrs. Earl Warren, most of whom had been thought of previously as long hairs; half the ambassadors in town, cabinet members to spare, and all the top social leaders.

Of 1,500 available seats, more than 1,000 have already been sold. Mrs. Richard Bolling, general chairman of the event and wife of the Democratic House member from Missouri, said the congressional group expects to net $10,000 for a southeast Washington settlement house.

The program will open with a musical history of jazz from the Congo to Carnegie Hall. Later Dick Cary's All Stars, including people like Max Kaminsky, Pee Wee Russell, and Charlie Byrd, will try to write some jazz history of their own.

Meantime, it is understood that MacDonald's cultural error will be forgiven if he buys an appropriate number of tickets — say $30 or $40 worth.

Groucho Marx, First Of Big Quizmasters, Last Survivor

Hollywood
By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Groucho Marx delivered the first big-time quiz show to TV nine years ago and has survived to see all the others go down the drain.

His success formula: "Our program is never crooked."

Always rated in the top 20 programs, Groucho's "You Bet Your Life" took a back seat for two or three years to the spectacular "Twenty-One," "$64,000 Question" and others. But they've long since passed by the boards and Groucho is girding for his 10th season.

How does he explain this?

"The public must be drunk," he quipped.

"Seriously, people are interested in the show because we run an honest quiz. We never help anyone, and our questions can be answered by anyone of normal intelligence.

Draws Analogy

"Some of those other shows relied on geniuses as contestants, while less than 3 per cent of the audience was capable of coming up with the answers.

"The difference between 'You Bet Your Life' and the others is about the same as the difference between wrestling matches and the fights. With wrestling everything is planned out in advance, but nobody knows how a prize fight will turn out."

Groucho's had innumerable opportunities to win viewer sympathy by giving contestants a "break," but he steadfastly refuses to do so.

"It might please the public temporarily if I let a contestant win who needed the money," he said. "But in the long run it would be ruinous.

Predicts Demise Of Big Quiz

"You defeat your own purpose if you cheat. Actually, the viewers are more interested in the quiz than they are in me and my gags. The peculiar part of it is we don't give away much money.

"I predicted those big quiz giveaways would fold because a show can't survive just by giving away huge sums of money. There has to be some entertainment, too."

Groucho added his doubts about quiz shows making a comeback.

"All they have to sell basically is honesty and integrity," he said. "They failed in that. If another big quiz hits the air it will have to prove over and over again that it's not crooked — and even then a lot of viewers would never be convinced."

Doctors Change Cancer Attitude

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Surgical thought" has been drastically broadened to indict cancer as an over-all aggressor against the whole body. The common scientific thought of cancer is of a localized malignant tumor which may or may not establish colonies elsewhere in the body.

Dr. James D. Hardy, a fellow of the American College of Surgeons, who did this thought-broadening, went so far as to suggest that cancer kills because it has utterly disrupted body chemistry, particularly the chemistry of defense, rather than because a growing tumor (or tumors) finally shuts down one vital body function.

Editorializing in the college's technical journal, Hardy in effect urged other cancer thinkers to broaden their thoughts. Broadened thought could lead to some way of "reviving the defensive chemistry in the body of the cancer victim or to some way of protecting all his cells from the destructive effects of the tumor on all body systems.

Deal Closely With Cancers

Surgical thought on cancer is pertinent because surgeons deal more intimately with cancers in human being than other group. Many things broadened Hardy's thought. One was a cancer which developed in the surgical scar of a patient 15 years after a whole tumor had been cut out.

He recalled the patients whose tumors had grown ever so slowly for years, only to spread suddenly and far. It is evident that each body has a built-in chemical defense against cancer which is stronger or weaker in some bodies than in others. Then Hardy asked the big question: 'What forces have held these cancer cells dormant or at least in check for so long?"

"There is at least one factor by which the tumor begins to overpower the patient, namely, the aggressive 'biologic activity' of the tumor breaks through the immunity of the host," he said.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Mrs. June Puckett Van Wie, 73, on learning that the man she has sued for divorce, Francis Van Wie, 72, is the 17-times-married "ding dong daddy of the 'D' line":

"Why I had no idea. He led me to believe he had married only once before."

JUNEAU, Alaska—Acting Alaskan Gov. Hugh J. Wade, remembering that Hawaiian territorial delegate Jack Burns voluntarily stepped aside last year so the Alaskan statehood bill could be pushed through Congress without competition:

"Only by the unselfish action of the people of Hawaii was the way paved for us to attain our cherished goal. Now we, the 49th state, welcome them as Hawaii enters the portals of statehood."

CHICAGO — Novelist Fannie Hurst, charging that there has been a degeneration in the rugged American spirit:

"Look at the popularity of the autobiographies of sick persons. Why, when I finished my autobiography, friends warned me that it wouldn't sell because I hadn't been sick."

SHOOT-'EM-UP — Apparently there is no off-season on Wyoming's highway signs in the minds of trigger-happy hunters. Natrona County Highway Supervisor Tom Duncan looks over a sign perforated by some 50 holes after a bombardment from weapons ranging from revolvers to high-powered rifles. This new sign, near Casper, had a lifetime of just three weeks.

Tradition And Popular Acclaim Proves Easter Ham As Favorite For Dinner

Ham is the choice for Easter dinner both by tradition and popular acclaim. With whole hams, half hams or slices from which to choose, the Easter feast is practical for large and small families alike. Good eating is in store for diners when a tender, juicy, brown sugar cured ham is surrounded by fancy fixings. Honey spiced peach halves, fresh asparagus and sweet potato rosettes are favorite foods dressed up a bit for the occasion.

There are many terms used to describe various types of ham. Some cause puzzled moments for the shopper at the meat counter. Two hints should be of help. First, by selecting ham which carries a well-known brand name she is assured of the high quality and eating enjoyment of her meat purchase. Easy-to-follow directions carefully developed in the Martha Logan test kitchens are on the label to help her serve it right as well. Secondly, by looking at her plans for the day, she can decide whether a fully cooked or a cook-before-eating ham best suits her needs.

A fully cooked ham is a time saver for the hostess because it does not need further cooking. It may be sliced and served cold just as it was purchased, or heated through in the oven and glazed to serve hot. A cook-before-eating ham should be baked to an internal temperature of 160 degrees F. to develop its flavor and texture. When time allows, it is an excellent choice.

To heat a fully cooked ham, place it fat side up on a rack in an open pan. Heat in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) according to the heating schedule. If a roast meat thermometer is used, heat to 130 degrees F. internal temperature. Remove all skin. Serve.

To glaze the ham, remove it from the oven one half hour before end of heating time indicated on the schedule. Pour off drippings. Remove any skin. Cover with brown sugar and return to oven to brown glaze and complete heating.

HEATING SCHEDULE

Oven temperature: 325 degrees F.

Wt. of Ham	Apprx. Heating Time
6 pound piece	2¼ hrs.
8 to 10 pounds	2¼ to 2½ hrs.
10 to 12 pounds	2½ to 3 hrs.
12 to 15 pounds	3 to 3½ hrs.
15 to 18 pounds	3½ to 4 hrs.
18 to 22 pounds	4 to 4¾ hrs.

HONEY SPICED PEACH HALVES

Yield: 6 peach halves

10 to 12 pound ham
2-3 cup honey
1-3 cup fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
8 to 10 whole cloves
1 pound, 13 ounce can peach halves

Combine honey, lemon juice, lemon peel and whole cloves in a small saucepan. Heat about 5 minutes to blend flavors. Cool. Cover peach halves with the syrup. Let stand in the refrigerator overnight.

APPLE NUT FILLING

1 small apple, pared and chopped into small cubes
¼ teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon finely chopped nuts
1 teaspoon mayonnaise
Maraschino cherries

Mix together apple, lemon juice, sugar, nuts, and mayonnaise. Remove peach halves and whole cloves from the oney syrup. Drain the peaches. Fill the center of each half with apple filling. Place one clove in the center of each cherry. Top the apple filled peach halves with cherries. Serve with Easter Ham.

These suggestions were developed for use with Swift's Premium Ham.

Cookies-In-A-Basket Are Engaging Easter Fare

Engaging little baskets of cookies in the shapes of bunnies, chicks and Easter eggs are sure to enchant the children on Easter. Grownups enjoy these cookies, too, when you serve them with coffee, with ice cream or fruit desserts this Easter season.

Use your favorite rolled cookie dough, shaped into chicks, bunnies, and Easter eggs. The Chocolate Dip frosting is made quickly with a package of semi-sweet chocolate morsels that melt faster because they are already in little pieces. Their candy-like flavor makes it unnecessary to make an elaborate frosting.

Easter Cookies

Prepare rolled cookies according to your favorite recipe. Roll out ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut out dough with chicken, bunny and oval cutters. For small eggs, use a 2 inch round cutter; bend to make an ovel shape. For large eggs, remove both ends from a No. 2 can; bend to make an oval shape. Before baking, sprinkle chickens with yellow tinted sugar; use silver candies for eyes. Bake according to recipe directions. Dip bunny and egg shaped cookies into *Chocolate Dip to frost them; use silver candies for eyes of bunnies. Place on waxed paper to harden. With cake decorator, decorate egg shaped cookies with Ornamental Frosting in frilly lines across "egg" or around edge, or inscribe with names, as shown in photograph, or make own designs.

Yield: 4 dozen medium size cookies.

Chocolate Dip

1 6 oz. package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1 tablespoon shortening
⅓ cup evaporated milk
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling, water. Remove from heat; mix in evaporated milk and confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth. Place in deep cup or bowl; keep over warm water and stir occasionally while dipping.

Orientale Is Dish With A Difference

Ordinary vegetables and tuna take on a prepared with loving care air when combined with juicy, tangy pineapple chunks in a savory oriental sauce. And take a cue from the orientals, too, be sure the vegetables are almost crisp — and fresh-bright; not overcooked.

TUNA-PINEAPPLE ORIENTALE

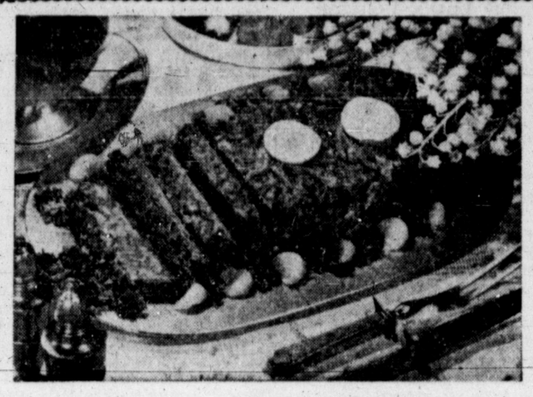

1 can (13½-oz.) DOLE Pineapple Chunks
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup sugar
2 teaspoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ cup water
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 medium onion, cut in thin wedges
1 medium greem pepper, seeded and cut in strips.
1 can (6½-oz.) tuna chunks, drained
1 tomato, cut in wedges

Drain syrup from pineapple into a 2-quart saucepan. Add vinegar, sugar, soy sauce and monosodium glutamate. Blend water with cornstarch and add to liquids. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently until mixture is thick and clear. Shortly before serving, gently stir in drained pineapple, onion, green pepper, tuna, and tomato. Cover and continue cooking on low for 5-7 minutes to heat through. Serve over rice. Makes 4 servings.

KNOW YOURSELF

Through research it has been established that many of the senior citizens of our society consume a high carbohydrate, low protein diet. Protein requirements do not vary that greatly between the younger and older person even though calorie needs will differ. Therfore, senior citizens should probably be more aware of the value of meat in the diet . . . meat being one of the main sources of high-quality portein.

Homemaker's Imagination Wears Thin As Lenten Menus Approach Easter

Meatless main dishes often present a problem to the homemaker during Lent. The problem becomes even more difficult as the Lenten period nears Easter and the homemaker's imagination wears thin.

Comet Rice Mills of Dallas turned the problem over to its home economics department. One recipe which has met with considerable popularity — even outside the Lenten period — is a meatless rice roast, according to Donald L. Rogers, Comet vice president.

Mr. Rogers said Comet's home economics department's version of meatless rice roast was as follows:

MEATLESS RICE ROAST

2 cups cooked Comet Regular or Brown Rice
2 cups ground whole wheat toast
1 cup ground nuts (peanuts or pecans)
4 tablespoons chopped pimiento
¼ teaspoon sage
2 tablespoons ground onion
2 tablespoons ground green pepper
2 cups canned tomatoes
4 beaten eggs
1 teaspoon salt

Simple to prepare, just mix ingredients thoroughly; form into a loaf and bake for one hour in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve hot with this sauce.

1-½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon ground onion
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup tomato juice

Melt the butter or margarine, add the onion, and cook gently for a few seconds. Then stir in the flour and continue stirring until the mixture is well browned. Pour in the tomato juice, cook until thick, and season with salt and pepper. Serves eight.

A garnish of sliced boiled eggs, chopped pimiento, parsley and mandarin orange segments will make this a favorite with your family.

Broccoli Pie Simple As Simple Simon

Simple Simon's pieman could have boosted business with Broccoli Colonial Pie. To make the crust, press the following mixture into a 9-inch pie pan: 1 egg white (beaten until foamy), 1½ cups dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup melted shortening. Reserve ¼ cup mixture for top of pie. Bake crust in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 15 minutes. Cook 6 broccoli stalks (split in half, lengthwise). On the crumb crust, radiate the 12 stalks with tops at edge of crust. For the filling: Combine 1 cup each of cream sauce (seasoned with thyme and bay leaf), diced cooked ham and grated process cheese. Pour mixture into crust between broccoli "wheel spokes." Top with remaining crumb mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before cutting into wedges for serving.

Rise And Shine With Fruit French Toast

First call to breakfast and all will come a'running for sandwich-styled Orange - Apple French Toast. For the filling: Combine 2½ cups chopped apples, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind and ½ teaspoon cinnamon in a saucepan. Simmer slowly until apples are almost transparent and tender. Cool. Spread between enriched bread slices and dip sandwiches in an egg-milk French toast mixture. Place on a well-greased baking sheet. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 7 minutes on each side, or until nicely browned. Top with orange marmalade or orange sauce.

ORANGE SAUCE

In a saucepan, blend together 2 tablespoons each of butter (melted) and sugar, 2 teaspoons cornstarch and ½ teaspoon grated orange rind. Add ½ cup water and bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue to cook for an additional 3 minutes. Remove from heat and blend in ¼ cup orange juice. Serve over Orange-Apple French Toast.

Matzoh Pudding For Tea Feast

Have you ever wanted to try some of the unusual foods that appear on supermarket shelves during the Passover Holidays? Matzohs, for instance?

A typical and versatile dish mde with matzohs is a Matzoh Pudding. It's wonderful — served hot and plump at a late breakfast, light luncheon, or Sunday night supper. The usual beverage, of course, a robust cup of tea served piping hot.

And while we're on the subject of tea — medical authorities say tea helps pick you up and at the same time relieves tension. There's nothing either bracing or relaxing about wishy-washy tea, however. To get the good "out of" tea your tea - making technique must also be good. Fortunately, the rules are simple: Use bubbly, boiling water, and one teaspoonful of tea or one teabag for every cup of tea, and a brewing period of three to five minutes.

To go with your perfectly brewed tea here's the recipe for:

MATZOH PUDDING

(Makes 6-8 servings)

3 matzohs
4 eggs
2 cups milk
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup seedless raisins
1 cup apples, sliced thin

Break matzohs into small pieces; soak in cold water 5 minutes. Drain. Beat eggs; add milk, sugar, cinnamon, salt, raisins, apple slices and matzohs. Mix well. Pour into buttered 1½ quart casserole. Set casserole in shallow pan of water; bake in moderate even, 350 degrees F. 1 to 1½ hours, or until knife inserted comes out clean.

Tough-built Chevy truck bulls its way deep into the woods for mammoth loads

This big Series 60 Chevy bulls its way as far as 8 miles into the Louisiana woods, fights over ruts and jagged stumps . . . then grinds back out with towering loads of logs! The Sabine Lumber Company attests to the truck's ability to take it: "Chevrolet makes the best truck for our type of operation."

Out where a truck is known for the beating it can take, Chevy's making friends fast. Truckers like the way these toughies hold up; the way they wade right in, take their lumps, yet stay in shape.

Today, it's grit that Chevy's showing the trucking industry. Real toughness that pays off in job-after-job dependability . . . in ability to get work done at least expense. You can match Chevy muscle against any tough light-, medium- or heavy-duty job and know you've got it beat!

Your Chevrolet dealer's ready right now to meet your special work requirements. Stop by and see him soon.

INHABITED SPACE STATION NOW DISTINCT POSSIBILITY

This is the second of two articles in which one of the world's leading experts on space missiles relates how the present exploratory invasion of the universe—by America's sun-orbiting Pioneer IV and other satellites—is carrying us steadily toward the goal of placing man in outer space.

By DR. HERMANN OBERTH
Written for UPI

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Even today, on the basis of space explorations to date, we know that putting an inhabited station in space is possible. The method is already before us.

Two space ships will go up, and the pilot of one will bring it close to the other. Both pilots, then, clad in space suits which will allow them to move about in space, will take steel cables attached to their respective ships and, using jet power pistols for propulsion, move toward one another.

It seems a dreadful leap, at a speed of five miles per second, hundreds of miles above earth.

The fact is, though, that it will be a simple occurrence—centrifugal force keeps everything floating.

The cables are joined, and the pilots return to their ships and put them in motion so they circle each other.

The circling motion will produce centrifugal force so that the occupants of the ships will have the illusion of feeling the earth's gravity—a very important point, for the lack of this feeling, prolonged, could have serious effects on their physical and mental health.

Electric Space Ships

Conditions in the center of the linking cable will be utterly weightless, and here we will build a hollow ball of wire grating material.

This ball will serve as the mooring station for other space ships which bring tools and machine parts with them—and from these in turn we build, inside the ball, the actual mechanisms which will make the flights among the heavenly bodies.

The process will be carried out in this way because our kinds of rockets, with their chemical propellants, are really not very well adapted to that kind of flight because their bases exhaust too slowly.

Instead, we will build "electric space ships" inside the ball. They will be run on electricity produced with the aid of solar energy or atomic piles and which will be used to accelerate them.

When the first such electric space ship has made its satisfactory flight near the space station, the next step will be a flight to the moon.

It is from the moon that the building materials for further building materials for further space projects will come. It will be a lot easier to do it that way than to bring them from earth, because transportation costs will be about 1,000 times cheaper that way.

Industry on Moon

I think it probable that many of us will live to see living accomondations for poeple on the moon — and coal mines, iron works and other factories as well. More than that, I think that a second springboard station will be orbiting the moon and this springboard station will be the transshipmeat point from the moon, with electric space ships bringing the goods from the moon for delivery to earth.

In my book, "Man Into Space," I described my idea of a series of such constructions in space. I would like to describe just one of them now—the fixed orbit station.

If such a station orbited the earth at a height of 36,000 kilometers (22,068 miles), it would take one full day for it to orbit. If the orbit were from west to east, it would be, in effect, always standing still over the same spot on earth—because the earth itself turns on its axis.

The station would have a view of 3-7ths of the earth's surface. Three of them, therefore, properly spaced, would have among them a full, permanent view of this planet on which we live.

Such a station could, among other things, receive television signals from a single point on earth, strengthen them, and beam them back to earth, either directly or by way of one of its neighbor stations.

It would be possible, under such a system, to have a single transmitter whose pictures would be received everywhere on earth.

In contrast to this wide diffusion, it would be possible to focus signals very hsarply at the receiving end on the fixed orbit station and at the receiving end from the station back on earth.

These signals could be read only in a small area around transmitter and receiver and the privacy of a telegram sent that way would be as safe as a thrice-sealed letter.

Some Travel Expenses Are Not Deductible

Whether to or not to claim tax deductions for taxi fares while traveling on business sometimes baffles the businessman.

Wiley E. Davis of Internal Revenue Service, Pampa, said today that taxi fares or other costs of transportation between the place where you obtain your meals and lodging and the business location where you work — at the temporary assignment — are considered commuting expenses by IRS and are not allowable deductions.

There's a bright side, however. Transportation costs of getting from one customer to another are deductible. Traveling men may also deduct the cost of taxis and other transportation from depot or airport to the hotel and from the hotel to depot or airport.

"Here's how it works," Mr. Davis explains: "Suppose you ordinarily live and work in Pampa but during 1958 you were sent to Dallas by your employer to visit his branch outlets in that city. Daily, while in Dallas, you called on four or five stores. You may deduct the transportation costs of going from one store to another."

However, the IRS representative added, if you had spent the full day in a single store, you could not deduct the cost of commuting to the store.

Internal Revenue Service Tells How To Itemize Deductions

"If you itemize deductions on that Federal tax Form 1040, you can deduct most state and local taxes. However, Federal taxes are never deductible except for those paid in connection with a business or profession," Administrative Officer, Wiley E. Davis, of Internal Revenue Sefvice, Pampa, said today.

Other deductible taxes include those on personal property, state income, real estate, state or local sales, state gasoline, state capitation or poll taxes, and auto license fees.

Non-deductible taxes include Federal excise taxes paid on your personal expenditures, such as taxes on theater admissions, furs, jewelry, cosmetics, transportation, telephone, etc., Federal social security, water taxes, hunting licenses, dog licenses, auto inspection fees, and taxes paid for another person.

Davis said, that if you had state income taxes withheld from your salary, or if you made estimated state income tax payments under a pay-as-you-go plan, you can deduct such amounts.

Real Estate Taxes

Whenever real estate is sold, the decuction for real estate taxes is apportioned between the buyer and the seller according to the number of days in the real property tax year that each held the property. The tax is apportioned to the seller up to but not including the date of sale and to the buyer beginning with the date of sale, regardless of the accrual or lien dates under local law.

If you are a tenant-stockholder in a cooperative housing or apartment corporation you can deduct your proportinate share of the real estate taxes paid by the cooperative. In most cases, you are not permitted to deduct taxes assessed for pavements or other local improvements, including front - foot benefits, which tend to increase the value of your property.

Social Security Taxes

Social Security taxes paid on the wages of your maid or other domestic help are not deductible. Neither can you deduct Social Security or Railroad Retirement taxes withheld from your wages by your employer, nor may you deduct any self-employment tax you may pay on your earnings from self-employment.

Davis advised taxpayers with questions regarding the deduction of taxes paid, or any other matter of thier Federal income tax return for 1958, to telephone or visit the local office of Internal Revenue. Taxpayer Assistance Day, every Monday morning, is the best day to get such help. The local IRS office telephone number is MO 4-2131. The office is located at 120 W. Kingsmill, Pampa.

Mrs. Blue Bird Finds Ideal Housing In Festive Eastertime Arrangement

Busily concerned with house hunting, Mrs. Bluebird views the pretty topiary tree with mixed emotions. Gay and intriguing, the tree is made of brightly colored Easter Eggs and ribbon. Hardly suitable for nesting but then Mrs. Bluebird is made from an Easter Egg, too! The arrangement will make a festive decoration for you at Eastertime and, what's more, it's easy to do.

You will need:

About 24 eggs — blown and dyed
3" plastic foam ball
Pipe cleaners
Duco cement
Sequins
12 yds. green ribbon
¼" dowel stick 15" long
Flower pot
Modeling clay

Just the egg shells are used — and these may be accumulated for several weeks before Easter. The raw egg is removed by piercing a small hole with a skewer or other sharp-pointed object in each end and blowing with the lips through one hole until the contents come out the other.

Dye the shells in assorted colors with Easter Egg Dyes being sure to drain them well. Reserve one pretty blue egg for the bird.

The rest of the eggs are for the tree. Bend a pipe cleaner in half, cover the folded end with Duco cement and insert in the hole in one end of the egg leaving abeut ½" remaining outside to attach the egg to the foam ball. Glue a sequin over the hole at the other end and put aside until thoroughly dry.

Then using tweezers, push the pipe cleaner stems on each egg into the ball spacing the eggs about 1½" apart. Do not push the egg — it may break. Fill in the spaces between the eggs with green ribbon bows tied with pipe cleaners, again leaving about ½" for attaching each bow to the ball.

Now assemble the tree by wrapping the dowel stick with ribbon, sticking it into the top and "planting" it in the flower pot which has been filled with modeling clay. Tie a ribbon around the outside of the flower pot and add a touch of green Easter grass to cover the clay.

Use blue gummed crepe paper, shelf paper or light weight construction paper for Mrs. Bluebird's head, wings and tail — all cut double. Attach to the blue egg with Duco cement. The legs are made from a pipe cleaner also cemented to the egg and then twisted around a twig or small branch and anchored into a small base of modeling clay or styrofoam. Add a touch of artificial flowers and ribbon, or finish in any way you wish.

All the material needed to dye the eggs is available in Paas Easter Egg Decorating Kits on sale at grocery, drug, department and five and ten cent stores.

RUTH MILLETT

Her father was seriously ill in the hospital, too ill to see guests, and it was her job to meet her father's friends in the hospital corridor talk to them a few minutes and explain that he couldn't have "these older people would come to looking well and chipper but the moment I asked, 'How are you?' I'd get a 15-minute account of their aches and pains.

"It seldom failed. So after the second day I got smart and didn't ask the fatal question. Instead, I asked them about their children and grandchildren and their special interests. It was amazing what a difference it made.

"Instead of getting a tale of woe about aches and pains and bouts with this and that disability, I had a chance to hear some happy talk."

I mention this incident to impress my older readers with the necessity for making a real effort not to make conversation out of their aches and pains and physical disabilities.

It's awfully easy for an older person whose aches and pains are real and nagging to grab any sympathetic ear and talk about his troubles.

It's depressing conversation to others, and it should be avoided.

The older people who are a joy to have around, who make young people think, "I hope I can be like that when I'm that age," are the ones who never dwell on their sufferings.

Instead of talking about their troubles they talk about their pleasures their interests, their plans. When asked "How are you?" they say that they are fine.

It may be a small deception but it's a gallant one.

Reading Groups Formed By WMS

A reading group has been organized by the Women's Missionary Union of Central Baptist Church for the purpose of promoting more reading among the members.

The group held an initial meeting recently in the home of Mrs. M. O. Burns at which time Mrs. Charley Thomas reviewed "Flamingo Feather"; Mrs. Dale Gallaher presented "The Lady."

A list of books to be read were selected by the group, which plans to meet the second Thursday of each month.

Each member of the WMS is invited to participate in the reading groups.

Five members were present for the first meeting.

Leona Ragland Circle In Bible Study Meet

Leona Ragland Circle of Highland Baptist Church met Tuesday for Bible study. Mrs. Leroy Allen opened the meeting with prayer and devotional, which was followed by a short business meeting.

Meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Jimmy Fowler.

Five members present were Mmes. Jimmy Fowler, Leroy Allen, Don Lea, Jack Crownover and Gene Winegeart.

Brownies Make Jewel Boxes

Brownie Troop 45 held an arts and craft session recently in Rotary Scout House with their leaders, Mmes. Don Haynes, J. L. Hampton, C. E. Hammons, and Arthur Baker.

Scouts, directed by Mrs. Hampton, co-leader, painted jewel boxes and decorated them with glitter. The jewel boxes will be displayed in Brownie Troop 45 booth, which will be set up for the Girl Scout Open House to be held in Woodrow Wilson School.

Mrs. Haynes, leader, announced that at the next meeting, the girls will be eligible to become Brownies as all requirements made by the Girl Scouts have been met.

Games were played during the social period. Mrs. Hammons and Mrs. Baker, song leaders, led the girls in the dismissal song.

Brownies attending were Misses Linda Baker, Neva Bowles, Diane Daniels, Suzanne Edwards, Linda Engle, Barbara Farnsworth, Sandra Gambill, Marion Graves, Janie Hammons, Karmon Hampton, Donna Kay Haynes, Sandy Ann Kenner, Sharon Patterson, Vonda Faye Richardson, Jackie Rippetoe, Linda Steele, Jacquette Vance and Ann Wright.

Noise does little for the nerves. Homes with children especially need some form of soundproofing to cushion the daily racket. In heavy-traffic rooms, rubber tiled floors help cut noise as does acoustical tile. Also, draperies will cut indoor sounds and keep out street noises.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This has been on my mind for seven months and I am determined to get it off. I have been taking money from the office where I work. I've done this for the past two years but I've always put it back before the end of the month. I am now so far behind I will never catch up. It would be difficult to catch me but that is not my problem. I would like to make a confession to my boss and make arrangements to pay it back if it takes me the rest of my life. I can't live like this any longer. I am half-loaded right now or I wouldn't have the nerve enough to mail this. Please put a confidential in your column and tell me if you think I should take a chance on going to jail. My boss has been wonderful to me and I think he would understand.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE

DEAR GUILTY: You'll have no peace of mind until you settle this matter. Talk to your boss before he talks to you.

DEAR ABBY: I love my family dearly but they get me terribly embarrassed. Especially my mother who uses imoroper grammar. She says "SHE DON'T" instead of "SHE DOESN'T and "YOU WAS" instead of "YOU WERE." Should I correct her or leave her say what she pleases?

RITA

DEAR RITA: Correct her in private . . . but don't LEAVE her say what she pleases in public . . . LET her say what she pleases.

DEAR ABBY: I am a very well-to-do widow who is quite lonely and would like to meet some gentleman who isn't a gold-digger. My husband left me with three apartment buildings and six four-plex dwellings. I own one square block of commercial property in the center of town and have a 50-50 interest in a Used Car business. I have not touched my capital and don't intend to. How can I get a man?

LONESOME

A lot of baseball parks are installing moving stairs. What some of them need is moving players.

DEAR LONESOME: Don't put the cheese out where the rats can smell it. What else have you got to offer?

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and a Senior in High School. I worked last summer and have a serious problem. I fell in love with my boss. He's single and lives with his mother. He is considerate and very sensible. He doesn't want to see me hurt so he never takes me out in public although he says he loves me. You see he is 34 (twice my age) and it's gotten so that I can't sleep nights thinking about the next time we'll see each other. We've been dating secretly. Nobody (but you) knows about us. Is there any future in this for me? Please by honest.

LOVESICK

DEAR LOVESICK: Face the facts. He's too old for you, and if he were thoroughly decent he wouldn't be dating you secretly. Break off right now before you get into serious trouble. It only hurts for a little while.

Rick Pezdirtz ★ purely paydirt

Oh, for goodness sake, let's somebody make up his mind or stop pulling the peoples' legs and all that kind of jazz.

Very few citizens were giving Clifton McNeely much of a shake for leaving Pampa after Monday night's tricky announcement by gagster Fred Neslage. It stated, in not-so-simple terms, that the Pampa High cage boss would stay tightly glued to his Harvester job.

The message, read at the annual Basketball Appreciation Banquet, brought an immediate standing ovation and had Harvester hardwood fans going happily beserk.

Then along came Warren Hasse and Ralph McKinney yesterday hollaring, King's X and Nix, Nix, and we were only kidding all the time folks. Mac never really signed any statement he was staying.

It was kind of like city population figures the Chamber of Commerce boys sometimes dish out . . . . not really factual, but valuable as a lure to draw in outside people and industry. The announcement must have been meant as a sort of gimmick to let Mac know he's wanted here, and shouldn't harbor any ideas of leaving.

The Telephone Rings . . .

It has, however, come to surface now that only this writer and maybe one or two others received the announcement as a "serious thing."

It would appear to old buster here the citizens who developed the tasteless and hookwinking idea in the first place are trying to pass the buck, so to speak, for their own faux pas. They would have you believe everybody realized immediately the announcement was only a gag.

We have, however, been avalanched with telephone calls from eager Harvester fans, wanting to know, what's what. Is he leaving, or isn't he. To be truthful gentle readers, we're right back where we started when the rumors Mac was going into college coaching began flying over the horizon months ago.

We were told by two fairly reliable sources yesterday, Mac is wanting out. The grapevine, bitter thing that it is, says he's wanting back in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. Last fall before the season opened Mac told us he would like someday to return to that section of the state, and that Tug Boat Jones, who resigned his athletic director's post last week at Highland Park High School in Dallas, had offered him more money to come there as basketball coach than he receives here.

Also the Wednesday rumors made mention that Mac is being considered for the head coaching post at Rice Institute, not yet even vacant.

It's just like the renowned philosopher, Jayne Mansfield, said in her recent paper on South America: Something's gotta give. Either he stays, or leaves.

Concerning the 'Kettle'

Our head scratching is still centered on how come a statement was ever read in the first place saying McNeely had decided to stay.

If it was only a ruse, and "everybody" understood it as such as we were told yesterday in a round - about-manner by the "joke" originators, why was a standing ovation given by the banquet crowd.

It would appear that had the populace understood it as a jest, they would have rocked back on their chairs and laughed loudly.

A standing ovation — or rising to the feet — is something this writer holds sacred, something we reverently reserve for the National Anthem or the Pledge of Allegiance, or a prayer . . . not for a gag. If we were the only citizen at the banquet to swallow the "bait," what were those other 399 people doing on their feet smacking their hands a lobster-red. Why did a teacher, and later a high school coach exclaim they were "shocked when they heard it was all only a joke," and that Texas A&M coach Bob Rogers got only eight minutes to talk after a 450-mile trip from College Station because of the lolly-gagging around.

No sir, gents, while we're not upset with anybody, you'll have to look elsewhere for your scapegoat or patsy or whatever it is you're hoping will smooth over the unpleasant kettle of fish you've worked your selves into. Phew!

Pee Wee Meet Starts Tonite

The Kiwanis-Optimist pee wee league's post-season tournament gets underway tonight, with opening round games in both the sixth grade and fifth grade divisions. Sixth grade games will be played at Harvester Field House and fifth grade games at Robert E. Lee Gymnasium.

Tonight's sixth grade schedule is Woodrow Wilson vs. Lamar, 6 p.m.; Stephen F. Austin vs. Baker, 7 p.m.; and Sam Houston vs. Horace Mann, 8 p.m.

The fifth grade schedule is Sam Houston vs. Horace Mann, 6 p.m.; Lamar vs. Woodrow Wilson, 7 p.m., and Stephen F. Austin vs. Baker, 8 p.m.

Consolation and championship semi-finals will be played Friday night, and the consolation and championship finals will be played Saturday night — all in Harvester Field House.

OSU RIPS RICE

HOUSTON (UPI) — Oklahoma State clobbered Rice 9-3 Wednesday behind the booming bat of Bin Bancroft.

Bancroft drove in four runs with a homer, triple and single.

Roy Peterson started for the Cowboys and pitched shutout ball for six innings. He left the game with a 3-0 lead.

EARLY TRAINING—Cincinnati's Ed Bailey put his son, Jeff, four, into catching tools for a workout at the Reds' Tampa, Fla., base—as much for the future as for the photographers. A catcher is a commodity major league clubs are looking for.

PHS Track Team Enters Two Meets

Pampa track coach Dwain Lyon will split his squad Friday and Saturday sending 11 of them to the Clayton relays in Clayton, N.M., and four to the Odessa relays.

Only the Odessa Relays were on the original schedule, but Lyon decided to split the squad because the Odessa meet is made up mostly of relay races, and he wanted to enter his team in a variety of events.

Entering the Odessa Friday are weight man Paul Brown, hurlers Rex Williams and Charles Warren, and miler John Gross.

Going to Clayton Saturday will be pole vaulter Cooper; hurdler Roy Don Stephens; weight man Rowland Stone; mile relay man Steve Dobbin; Charles Giese, shot put, 880-relay, and 440-relay.

Tommy Locke, mile and 880 relays, and 220 or 440-yard dash; Buddy Rawls, 880 and mile relays and broad jump; Dwain Urbanczyk, 880 and mile relays and 440-yard dash; Dickie Watkins, shot put, discus, and 440 and 880 relays; Harold Stokes, 440 relay and shot put.

"One of the best performances this week was turned in by miler John Gross," said Lyon in describing this week's workouts. "He ran a 5:09, which isn't bad for the dirt track we run on."

Gross turned in his mile in a practice meet here Tuesday against White Deer. Some of the other Pampa clockings in that meet were Tommy Locke, 24.0 in the 220 around a curve, and 55.0 in the 440.

Charles Warren had a 21.4 clocking in the low hurdles, and Rex Williams turned in a 15.7 in the high hurdles. Paul Brown put the shot 49 feet, 1 inch.

Work on Specialties

"We've been working on specialties quite a bit this week," Lyon said today. "This is about the first we've been able to specialize. Mostly, before this, we just ran until it got too cold, then went in."

Lyon emphasized, though, that the main emphasis is still on conditioning. His inexperienced squad has had less than two weeks of real running weather.

The Pampa tracksters have had tough sledding this year, scoring one point at Fort Stockton, 10 at Graham, and four at Snyder.

However, the competition at Snyder last week was extremely rugged (one state and four meet records were broken). Lyon said that his squad was much improved in the Snyder meet over the first two weeks of the season.

Celtics Win East Opener

Boston's "terrific trio" of Tommy Heinsohn, Bob Cousy and Bill Russell gave advance notice today that the Celtics are bent on regaining the National Basketball Association championship.

Heinsohn scored 28 points, Cousy counted 22 plus 15 assists, and Russell grabbed 32 rebounds and 19 points Wednesday night as the Celtics routed the Syracuse Nationals, 131-109, in the opener of their best-of-seven Eastern Division final playoffs.

Minneapolis reached the Western Division finals against defending St. Louis Wednesday night by defeating Detroit, 129-102, in the deciding game of their semi-final series.

Experts expect Boston and St. Louis to meet in the title round for the third straight year. The Western Division finals open in St. Louis on Saturday.

Upset-minded Syracuse, conqueror of New York in a two-game sweep, had all it could do to stay on the court as the red-hot Celtics bombarded the basket from all angles.

The second game of the series will be held in Syracuse Saturday, with the teams returning to Boston Sunday.

Rookie Elgin Baylor, pivotal figure in the Laker spurt to a playoff berth this year, scored 30 points to eliminate the Pistons from the post-season classic. Minneapolis, however, will have to be a "Cinderella" team to knock off the Hawks, who beat the Lakers in 8 of 12 games during the campaign.

Junior Highs End Grid Work Friday

The two Pampa junior high schools end their spring football practice Friday — Lee with a pair of scrimmages and Pampa Junior High with business as usual.

The Lee Rebels will have intra-squad scrimmages for both the ninth and eighth grade candidates. Norman Phillips and Lester Ramsey will coach the ninth graders, and John Dobson and John Hale will pilot the eighth grade squads.

"They'll be regulation games, except that there'll be no kickoff," Phillips said today.

Phillips and Ramsey have a total of 42 ninth grade candidates in the fold, and the Rebels have almost as many eighth grade candidates.

The preview showing of the 1959 Rebels will take place Friday at Lee practice football field, at approximately 3 p.m.

For the Reapers, there'll be no scrimmage, for a very good reason. Gene Chance and Frank Craig don't have enough men out to field two teams.

"About 22 are out for the combined eighth and ninth grade squads," Chance said, "but we always have two or three men absent because of illness and other reasons."

Chance explained that he and Craig had to use defensive teams which were short of men, in scrimmages. But the scrimmages have been few and far between.

"We've been working mostly on the fundamentals, blocking and tackling," Chance said. "We've run only a few simple play patterns."

The Reapers have been holding their practice sessions in Harvester Park.

Lee, as well as the Reapers, has been concentrating heavily on blocking and tackling. "We had a little scrimmage Wednesday," Phillips said, "but otherwise we haven't even spent much time running plays."

"After all," the Rebel pilot added, "if the boys don't know their blocking and tackling, the rest of it won't do them much good."

Intra-Squad Game Slated

The Harvester baseball team will play an intra-squad game Friday, starting at approximately 4 p.m. The game will be a warmup for Saturday's game at Vernon.

Pampa coach Deck Woldt will probably use two pitchers in the intra-squad game, and save two for the Vernon twin bill. Woldt said that the pitchers may be ready to go five innings. They have been limited to three-inning stretches so far.

FOR FEATHERWEIGHT TITLE

MOORE KAYOES BASSEY

By ALEX KAHN
United Press International

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Triumphant Davey Moore, the world's featherweight crown perched on his head, today received the plaudits of the fight world for his 13th round knockout victory over Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria Wednesday night in a bruising title bout.

In one round, the sixth, the former national amateur bantamweight champion turned the tide of battle as he sent the champion reeling into the ropes with a wild flurry of blows that left Bassey dazed and an easy target.

The Springfield, Ohio, challenger followed up his advantage in the next round to cut up the champion even more. He then piled up a big margin of points through the 13th round when Bassey's manager, George Biddles, stopped the fight because the champion could not see from the blood flowing into his eyes.

Moore weighed 125½ and Bassey 125 for the bout.

Given Tremendous Ovation

The crowd of 10,000 persons which paid $65,602.98 to see the title bout in Olympic Auditorium gave both fighters a tremendous ovation when they left the ring after their nationally - televised bout.

"I knew at the end of the sixth round that I was going to win the title," Moore said happily as he received congratulations in his dressing room.

"I was tense in the early rounds and Bassey's left hooks were stinging although I was never in real trouble or hurt.

"It feels great to be champion. Next time I'll be more confident. I would like the return bout to be here in Los Angeles, but London or Liverpool is all right with me."

The fight agreement called for a return match within 90 days—if the champion lost.

Bassey Staggers Moore

For the first few rounds Bassey had command as Moore took the majority of the champion's best punches and once in the second round was staggered by a left to the head that bobbed him on his heels. But Moore, who has never been knocked out and only once downed in his pro career, recovered quickly.

But it was not until the sixth round that Moore unleashed his barrage of lefts and rights to the head and body that so dazed Bassey he couldn't find his corner for a moment. And the follow-up in the seventh clinched it for Moore, barring a reversal of the trend of battle that never materialized.

Plechas, Myaki Grapple Saturday

Two of the meanest, most unpopular grapplers in the business tangle on Saturday's wrestling card at the Top O' Texas Sportsman's Club. First match begins at 8:30 p.m.

Taro Myaki, who has set Japanese - American relations back five years single - handed, will climb into the ring against Bulldog Plechas, who has never exactly qualified for a good conduct medal, himself.

This main event will be two out of three falls, one hour time limit. In another feature match, the tag team of Dory Funk and Sonny Myers goes against Iron Mike and Tommy Phelps.

The tag team event will also be a best of three falls, one - hour time limit affair. Int the opening 20 - minute special event, Iron Mike will wrestle with Myers.

Main eventer Myaki has disproved the old saying that crime does not pay. He makes it pay off in victories — sometimes. At other times, though justice catches up, and he takes the short end of the count.

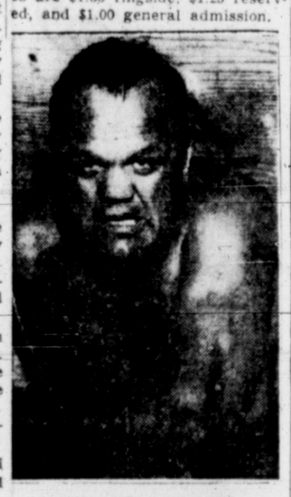

Last week was one time when the yellow man took his medicine. He put his "claw hold" to the midsection on Myers from outside the ring, and was disqualified. (Any type hold is illegal when applied outside the ring.)

In an earlier bout, though, Myaki got away with the rough stuff and took a decision over Myers.

Plechas is not exactly the all-American boy type either. He has done such things as interfere in a match where he wasn't entered, wrestle outside the ring, etc.

He has caused such bad feelings, in fact, that promoter Bob Geigel twice broke an unwritten rule and wrestled on his own card, to get back at the Bulldog.

Saturday's matches are sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club and promoted by Geigel. Advance tickets to the matches are on sale at Levine's Department Store. Prices are $1.50 ringside, $1.25 reserved, and $1.00 general admission.

YANKS AND SENATORS

BIG TRADE IMMINENT

By FRED DOWN
United Press International

The long-awaited deal between the New York Yankees and Washington Senators appears ready to "pop" — with a bang that would bring back memories of George Weiss' famous Bob Turley - Don Larsen deal five years ago.

United Press International sources in St. Petersburg, Fla., and Tampa, Fla., reported that Yankee general manager is now pressing to include two pitchers in the deal. These most likely would be right-handers Pedro Ramos and Dick Hyde. The Yankees originally were dickering only for Hyde.

Both Weiss and President Cal Griffith of the Senators confirmed that the negotiations were expanding into a possible multi - player transaction after a two-hour confab in St. Petersburg Wednesday.

Plan Another Confab

"Yes," nodded Weiss when asked if he was seeking a pitcher, and he nodded "yes" a second time when asked if more than one pitcher might be involved.

Griffith said he and Weiss started "with a list of 15 players and worked down." He said the two officials would get together in another week and added, "a deal could be made at any time."

Weiss made one of the most sensational deals of the decade five years ago when he acquired Turley and Larsen from the Baltimore Orioles in a 17-man transaction. Indications are that he is trying to build another such deal in an attempt to land Ramos and Hyde, one a dependable starter and the other the American League's No. 1 relief pitcher last season.

Speculation On Kubek

Griffith hinted at a big deal when he told the UPI in Tampa: "There's a key name involved that hasn't ever been mentioned in the papers." There was speculation he meant Tony Kubek, the Yankees' regular shortstop last season who is expendable because second-baseman Gil McDougald easily could be shifted to that spot. Senator Manager Cookie Lavagetto concedes his No. 1 need is for a shortstop.

The entire Florida exhibition schedule was rained out again Wednesday and the San Francisco Giants beat the Chicago Cubs, 11-8, at Phoenix, Ariz., and the Boston Red Sox downed the Cleveland Indians, 14-7, at Tucson, Ariz., in the only grapefruit activity.

Patterson, London To Clash April 21

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI)—Floyd Patterson, the inactive world heavyweight champion, is going back to work in earnest.

Cus D'Amato, the champ's manager, announced Wednesday night that Patterson will defend his title against former British Empire titleholder Brian London at Las Vegas, Nev., April 21.

Nine weeks later, Patterson will place his title on the line—if he still owns it — against European champion Engemar Johansson at Yankee Stadium.

What happens if Patterson loses to London, an inept brawler who is ranked ninth in the heavyweight division? Apparently neither D'Amato nor Bill Rosensohn, who will promote the June 23rd Patterson-Johansson fight, anticipate such an upset.

"I think Floyd Patterson is the greatest fighter in the world and I assume he will win every fight," D'Amato confidently declared. He added that in his opinion "no risk is involved" in the champion engaging in a "tuneup" before his fight with Johansson.

Rosensohn shares D'Amato's feelings — and optimism — although he admitted ticket sales for the June fight might be delayed until after April 21.

"I think the mere fact that Patterson wants to engage in a tuneup first is a testimonial to Johansson and the threat he poses for the champion," Rosensohn added.

The Patterson-London fight will be promoted by Cecil Rhodes, vice president of a Bayonne, N. J., steel company, who has guaranteed Patterson a purse of $250,000. D'Amato revealed that London's expenses and his share of the purse will be deducted from Patterson's guarantee.

FOR 1ST DIVISION BERTH

SOLLY HEMUS HOPEFUL

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Solly Hemus, the most inexperienced manager in the major leagues, believes the St. Louis Cardinals have "a fighting chance for the first division."

"We could even win the pennant," he said with a straight face.

He won't find many baseball men who will agree with him. Not because Hemus, a journeyman second baseman during his major league career, is managing for the first time, but because it doesn't look like he has the horses.

"We could fool 'em," he predicted. But he didn't add what with.

He likes his infield of either Joe Cunningham or George Crowe at first base, Don Blasingame at second, Alex Grammas at short and Ken Boyer at third.

"I wouldn't trade them for any other infield in the league," he claims.

He thinks his catching is tops, too, with Gene Green, on account of his big bat, getting the call over Hal Smith, one of the best defensive receivers in the business.

Has Outfield Problem

Hemus admits, however, he has an outfield problem and that either Cunningham or Green may be called upon to take over right field. That is the one spot the Cardinals are trying to plug, being willing even to give up Sad Sam Jones, one of their starting pitchers to do it.

"I'm happy about our pitching," says Hemus, who will be the only playing manager in the majors this season. It's doubtful whether any other manager would be happy about it, though.

He has for starters Larry Jackson (13-13), Vinegar Bend Mizell (10-14) and Jones (14-13). In relief there will be the veterans Alex Kellner (7-5 overall with Kansas City and the Cincinnati Reds), Marv Grissom (7-5 with the San Francisco Giants) and Jim Brosnan, who won eight while losing only four for the Cards after a 3-4 record with the Chicago Cubs.

"That leaves me needing four more pitchers," Hemus said, "I have plenty of prospects."

Counting On Broglio

They include rookie Ernie Broglio, who won 17 while losing four with Phoenix and Toronto last season. He's the hurler Hemus is counting on most as his No. 4 starter.

Then there is Lindy McDaniel, who was 5-7 with the Cardinals last season; Gary Blaylock, 14-10 with Rochester; Dick Ricketts, 15-1, also with Rochester; the veteran Sal Maglie, 3-7 with the Giants and Cardinals, and Bob Bob Miller, the ex-Phillie who spent last season in the minors. McDaniel's brother, Von, is not figuring in the Cardinal picture for 1959. Phil Clark, 10-6 at Omaha, has a chance to stick.

Hemus will carry only two catchers. But Ray Katt will be with the club as a coach and the veteran would be put on the active list if anything happened to Green or Smith.

Lee Tate, a rookie who hit .292 at Omaha, may win an infield reserve berth along with shortstop Julio Gotay, a .323 hitter with Winnipeg. Hemus will be available for pinch-hitting chores and also to take over second if something should happen to Blasingame.

Musial In Leftfield

The Cardinals' big-gun, Stan Musial, will be in left with Gino Cimoli, obtained from the Los Angeles Dodgers in the Wally Moon deal, in center. Righthfiel sidu for grabs, however.

Hemus is taking a long look at Bob Boyer, who hit .292 at Albany, Chuck Essegian, obtained from Philadelphia where he batted .246 is another possibility. Essegian has been hitting well this spring and Hemus would like to keep him to spell Musial in, left, for at 38 Stan the Man doesn't figure to go 154 games.

The right field situation is such that even Curt Flood and Bobby Gene Smith, good glove men but weak hitters, have a shot at it.

If none of them come through—and no deal is made—it could be Cunningham, whom Hemus wants to play every day, or Green will play right. But that would weaken whatever little maneuverability the Cardinals have.

That lack of a bench and despite Hemus' declarations pitching could keep the Cardinals in the second division.

St. Petersburg Open Begins

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., leading money-winner of the 1958 pro golf season, begins defense of his St. Petersburg Open tournament title today in a field of 150 players.

Palmer used this event last year as a stepping stone to his triumph in the Masters tournament at Augusta. He shot a four-round 276 when the tournament was played at the Pasadena Country Club. This year's event is being held at the 6,519-yard, par 72 Lakewood Country Club course.

So far this season, Palmer has not won a tournament. He finished in a tie for seventh place in the Pensacola Open last week end.

FOOTLOOSE—Gene Green, St. Louis Cardinal catcher, was knocked into the air by Yankee Jerry Lumpe's slide, which came as Green was in the act of taking the throw. This action, which took place during a recent Yankee-Cardinal exhibition game in St. Petersburg, Fla., took place as the result of a squeeze play.

SENATOR HUMPHREY COULD BE DEMOCRAT PRESIDENT CHOICE

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty-seven-year-old Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey looks like the Democrat whom the party leftwingers will plug next year for president.

Americans for Democratic Action seems to be especially sweet on Humphrey. Humphrey will be the keynote speaker at the 12th annual ADA convention which meets here in May. The other principal orator on that occasion will be Tom Mboya, a Negro native of Kenya, who is among the important politicians in all Africa.

Humphrey is a national vice chairman of ADA. The organization is the leftwing spiritual heir of FDR's New Deal. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is national honorary chairman. Robert R. Nathan, a labor economist who came to the top under FDR, is the top active official of ADA. Vice chairmen include former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N.Y.), Sen. Wayne L. Morse (D-Ore.), AFL-CIO's Walter P. Reuther and Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr.

ADA Important Influence

Selection of ADA's keynote speaker is meaningful in a year preceding a presidential election, especially since the field of Democratic hopefuls is numerous. Humphrey is making his pitch very much on the issue of foreign relations. ADA is cooperating in that. Nathan is circulating a pamphlet containing Humphrey's views on disarmament.

In Humphrey's corner is judged to be Mrs. Roosevelt, a political second of skill and experience gained in her close participation in FDR's campaigns and political life. Last December Mrs. R. seemed to favor Humphrey above all others for the Democratic presidential nomination. She said the senator came closest to possessing the spark of greatness needed in the White House.

On that occasion Mrs. Roosevelt found an opportunity to continue her sustained attack on Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). He understands courage, Mrs. Roosevelt said of Kennedy, but does not have the independence to have it. Mrs. R has had at Kennedy many times before this.

No 'McCarthyism' Stand

She contends that Kennedy has avoided taking a stand on an issue which she defines as "McCarthyism." She also has told it around that Kennedy's very rich father, Joe, has been spending oodles of money country-wide in behalf of the senator's political fortunes. Oodles is Mrs. Roosevelt's word. Kennedy and his friends deny this, but there is no denying that a very powerful Democratic politico, in the person of Mrs. R, is determined to prevent Kennedy's nomination for president.

Nomination for vice president would be different. Mrs. Roosevelt has indicated that she might go along with Kennedy on that. She ruled Adlai E. Stevenson out of the 1960 contest the other day. Mrs. R said Stevenson was best qualified but must be eliminated because he already was a two-time loser. But she okayed Stevenson for secretary of state and, who knows, may suggest such to Humphrey, just in case.

Mrs. Roosevelt does not control the Democratic Party, of course. She is a powerful political personality with a big following. Could be that her support would be Humphrey's greatest asset and her opposition Kennedy's greatest disadvantage next year. Kennedy's managers will have to consider what to do about it.

New Pope, Man Of Limitless Energy, Curiosity And Spirit

Foreign News Commentary

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — A wave of sound rolls through the Vatican's Hall of Benedictions.

An American woman's mink cape slips from her shoulders to the floor as she leans far forward for a better view. A nun dabs at her eyes with a handkerchief.

The hand-clapping which had begun far back in the vast hall, now rolls forward, the wave advancing with the gestatorial chair borne by eight sturdy bearers.

Ahead are the noble guards, with glittering gold helmets.

At the side are the palentine guards, gold epaulets on their shoulders and gold trim on their uniforms. Along the route are the chamberlains in crimson tail coats and knee breeches.

Near the papal throne, the Swiss pikemen draw stiffly to attention.

Different From Predecessor

This is homage to a portly man of 77 elected to assume the mantle previously worn by Pope Pius XII.

This is a man of seemingly boundless energy, impatient with tradition, possessed of limitless curiosity which already has startled more than one Vatican attendant.

From the papal throne, he welcomes the more than 7,000 Romans and pilgrims jamming the Hall of Benedictions to standing room only.

It is the regular weekly audience.

As he begins his welcome, his hands rest relaxed against the armrest of the throne.

Uses Vigorous Gestures

But as he continues, he gestures and finally the gestures are continuous and vigorous. His voice booms through the two microphones before him and he half rises to make his point.

His message in Italian and French is a simple one of faith, but Pope John XXIII pours energy into every act.

Already he has confounded the prophets who had predicted he would be an "interim" pope, content to consolidate rather than to institute new policies such as his predecessors who plunged the church into international diplomacy.

One announcement already portends far-reaching consequences for the Roman Catholic church.

That was his call for an ecumenical congress, one of the highest level of all church councils whose decrees by church law are infallible. It will aim at bringing back to the Roman church some 50 million Eastern Catholics not now under Vatican jurisdiction.

Smashes Tradition

Meanwhile, he continues to smash tradition.

A helicopter landed inside the Vatican walls the other day, and there are predictions Pope John will not hesitate to use air travel.

He visits prisons and hospitals. He disappears from the Vatican confines without warning.

As opposed to Pope Piux XII, Pope John delegates authority widely. He has named a Vatican secretary of state, whereas Pius XII insisted on acting as his own foreign secretary.

Abilene Begins Salute To Norway

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — Abilene, a Texas city of 70,000 persons, undertook last week to expand its understanding of Oslo, Norway.

The plan is to spread as much information about Oslo, its people and culture, to as many Abilene residents as possible. Sponsors of the week-long program hope Oslo will return the favor by learning about the people of Abilene and the United States.

Walter Charles, conductor of Abilene's symphony orchestra, is chairman of the salute to Norway. The city plans to continue the learn-and-earn-friendship program and eventually salute other "free peoples of the world."

Many In Act

The salute began with a concert by his orchestra featuring music of Norwegian composers. Ushers in the symphony hall dressed in native costumes of Norway and school children sang a song in the Norwegian language.

The program didn't stop with music. Almost everyone in town is getting in on the act.

The schools are devoting time to study Norway. The Abilene newspaper has exchanged stories with the paper in Oslo — comparing the two cities.

Both Girl and Boy Scouts are earning extra merit badges by corresponding with the youth of Norway.

Salute To Freedom

Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene is in direct contact with the university in Oslo and even the Abilene library has set up a display about the "re-discovered" friendly country.

Abilene's mayor sent a proclamation about the salute to Oslo's lord mayor.

"We hope to have this whole city speaking love and understanding of another whole city on the other side of the world," Charles said, "a true salute to freedom and peace."

"Multiply that by the number of American cities and answer me," he demanded, "could the Iron Curtain stand up under such a blow?"

Revolutionary Technique May Save Stroke Victims

Science Today
By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Because of too many timid medical hearts, a scientific revolution in what to do about "strokes" is not moving fast enough, complained a leader of that revolution.

It used to be there was very little to do for "stroke" victims. But the revolution has made it possible to locate quickly the precise point where the blood flowing through the brain is being disrupted, causing the affliction.

That is extremely useful information if you get it fast enough, said Dr. Robert A. Kuhn of Morristown, N.J. It can make the difference between life and death or even more often, it can be used to save the victim from a vegetable-like existence.

Inject Dye Into Arteries

The revolutionary technique is to inject a dye into one of the arteries carrying blood from the heart into the brain. The dye spreads through the brain's blood vessels. It can be photographed on an X-ray plate whereas blood alone can't be. So the dye permits a clear picture of the cerebral "tree" of blood vessels, easily spotted.

Kuhn assumed this technique is being used relatively little because many medical minds still consider it dangerous. When it was being developed, it "occasionally led to serious complications and even death," he granted. But now it has been perfected and has been used thousands of times in the past few years, "often in desperately ill patients," without in any way harming them, he said.

Difficult To Locate

Just by an outside examination of the one-sided paralysis, disrupted nervous responses, and mumble speech of a "stroke" victim, you can't know where in the brain, blood flow is being slowed or entirely blocked. He said the technique had revealed that probably as many as one out of every four persons stricken with one-sided paralysis, have no block of any kind in the brain.

The block is in one of the two neck arteries leading from the heart to the brain. The surgeon can get to such a blockage and if he can't remove it, he can divert the blood flow around it. But he has to act with dispatch. A delay leads to a block in the brain or to irreversible damage to brain tissue and blood vessels.

Brain hemorrhage, which is the fourth most common cause of death and which killed President Franklin D. Roosevelt, especially calls for a quick application of the technique, he said. For many years the death rate for brain hemorrhage was 95 per cent.

Cut Death Rate

But in a recently reported series of aged people with massive brain hemorrhage, the death was 50 per cent, due to the technique showing the surgeon quickly where and how he could intervene helpfully.

"While this could hardly be termed a low death rate, still it is incomparably better than the former almost universal fatality, and is a giant step toward improved treatment," he said in his report to the Medical Society of New Jersey.

Yet there is "medical inertia" which "has effectively blocked widespread use of cerebral angiography," which is the formal name of the technique. His purpose was to end the inertia and get the revolution moving faster.

Solid, Defensive Wall Bars Soviets In Mediterranean

Foreign News Commentary
By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

ROME, Italy (UPI) — A solid defensive wall bars Soviet expansion in the Mediterranean. As late as a month ago, the same could not be said.

Two developments were decisive.

One was settlement of the Cyprus dispute which had turned Greece and Turkey against each other, thus threatening NATO's East Mediterranean defense line. The other was formation of a strong Italian government under Premier Antonio Segni.

Unlike the two governments which preceded him, Segni rules with a solid majority expected to keep him in power as long as any politician here can foresee. As measured in United States terms, that may not be long. But he should have at least a year.

Support For Firm Stand

Meanwhile, the present Berlin crisis, with its deadline of May 27 — or June 27 or July 27, or whatever Nikita Khrushchev finally makes it — will have become history.

There is solid support here for a firm stand against Khrushchev's attempt to drive the Western Allies from Berlin, although it is a source of injury to Italian pride that Italy is not consulted more often on major decisions.

Italians point out that their 280,000-man army is the largest currently in Western Europe. The French army is large, but most of it is in North Africa.

They have consented to establishment of U.S. missle bases here.

Italy Holds Defensive

Strategically, Italy holds the defensive flank on the Adriatic. Without Italy, Russian submarines operating out of Albania would have a clear run into the Mediterranean.

These factors, Italians believe, entitle them to a high place in Allied councils.

Italy also is a strong and enthusiastic member of the European common market.

After World War II, she received some three and a half billion dollars in U.S. aid. But she has received none since—February, 1957.

Her financial position is strong, with hundreds of millions of dollars in reserve. Her currency also is strong and suffered not the slightest tremble when the common market nations, along with Britain, declared their currencies convertible.

Has Internal Problems

Which is not to say that Italy does not have her internal problems.

She is a prosperous nation, but the south of Italy still is poor. Some sections of it, miserably so.

Taxes here are higher than in the United States and fall heaviest on the low income groups. Most taxes here are collected on purchases. Income taxes either are not collected at all or are slow.

There also are peculiar quirks in the tax laws. For instance, the Italian air force pays the government 80 cents in tax on every dollar it spends for gasoline.

Another disturbing factor is the still strong Communist Party. In case of trouble with Russia, Communist unions might paralyze communications, including railroads, telephones and telegraphs.

Commie Politics

Pigs is pigs and politics is politics; and politicians sound pretty much the same in all languages. We offer, herewith, in proof the statements of that eminent politician N. S. Khrushchev on the 21st Congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, Feb. 5.

It might be added, parenthetically, that the congress unanimously adopted Comrade Khrushchev's statement as party law for the next seven years, or that portion thereof that N. S. remains alive and in good standing.

Comrade Khrushchev was giving the Party chapter and verse on the latest Seven Year plan. Here is what he said:

"In order to achieve high rates in extended socialist production, the Congress considers it necessary to implement important measures in the sphere of capital construction in the forthcoming seven years. The volume of capital investment by the state will rise 80 per cent as compared with the previous seven years."

There are several aspects of this statement that are worth remarking. First, notice that Khrushchev said the volume of capital investments "will rise 80 per cent." He didn't say they should rise; or they might rise; or he hoped they would rise. He said they would rise. And either they will rise . . . or somebody will fall, probably headlessly.

The second interesting thing about his statement is that he was twice obliged to use the word "capital," a kin to the hated word capitalism, because there simply isn't any other word for capital except capital!

And third — this master politician of Soviet duplicity and Communism knows full well that there is no way of increasing production and raising living standards unless the profits of the economy are ploughed back into the tools of production. The government of the United States seizes up to 92 per cent of the income of its citizens, and not for the purpose of building capitalist industries, for we are a non-socialist nation, it says in the textbooks. But the result is a scarcity of risk capital among the private owners of American industry. The Soviet proposes to put more money in expansion of industry; our government seizes wealth so that industry cannot expand rapidly or orderly.

But getting back to this business of political claptrap. Listen what Nikita tells the Russian people is going to happen in seven years:

"In the course of seven years, the productivity of labor is to rise 45-50 per cent in industry, 60-65 per cent in building, 34-37 per cent in railway transport, 60-65 per cent on the state farms, and 100 per cent on the collective farm . . .

"It is necessary to reduce production expenditures . . . of not less than 11.5 per cent . . .

"A 62-65 per cent increase in national income . . . the volume of consumption is to rise 60 - 63 per cent in the next seven years . . . A rise during the seven years of the real income of industrial and office workers by an average of 40 per cent and a rise of the real income of collective farmers also by not less than 40 per cent . . .

"Raise the wages of the lower-paid brackets of industrial and office workers . . . An increase in the minimum old-age pensions and also an increase in the minimum disability pensions . . . 15 million apartments will be built . . ."

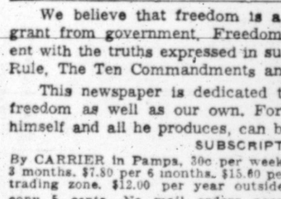

And here is the payoff:

While all this is going on, the work-week and work-day is going to be shortened.

"The shift of factory and office workers with a seven-hour work-day to a 40-hour work-week must be completed in 1962 . . . Those engaged in dangerous occupations to a 35-hour work-week with two days off a week . . ."

It's the same old malarky that our politicians hand out at election time; Less work, more money, lower taxes, more fun, less worry, more security and put your X beside the magic name on the ballot.

It's the old Indian Snake Oil pitch from the back of the wagon and with a Russian accent. When you come down to it, the winds on Capitol Hill and the gusts from the Kremlin are, at least, kissin' cousins.

There's a law that says you can get 10 years if they catch you riding a moose in Siberia. But Khrushchev didn't pass it. This law goes clear back to Catherine the Great. She sent a lot of people to Siberia. But a lot of them kept getting out. And, no kidding, they got out on moose-back. It seems a young calf moose is easy to tame and, once you've got his confidence, you can jump on his back and ride off (splash! splash!) through the swamps. The moose has something very close to web feet which keep him from kinking. Cossacks, on horses, trying to feet which keep him from sinking, bogs up to their necks. Therefore, it's still against the law to ride a moose in Siberia.

Employer Answers 15-Year Union Members Questions On Economic And Moral Subjects

No 6

Editor's note: This is the sixth of a series of a question and answer discussion on economic and moral issues between R. C. Hoiles, conductor of this column, and Frank Buck, long time member of the Carpenters Union.

B: Can you think of anything in our economic system that will tend more to increase a man's ability to satisfy his needs to consume than to raise his wages.

H: Certainly. Get him to produce more. You might increase his wages artificially, give him a gift wage, but you'd spoil him and retard production. You'd retard something. You'd raise prices to somebody else and lower his real wages. Get him to produce more.

31. B: Isn't it logical to assume that any reduction in wages of workers tends to reduce the amount they will buy, in the long run?

H: That individual worker. But some other worker might buy the other things. It won't reduce the total if the man is getting more than he's producing. Measure it by a free market, or an approach to it.

32. B: Doesn't it logically follow that if workers buy less manufacturers must eventually curtail their operations, which will in turn throw employes out of work or cut down the amount of employment available?

H: If all workers, including employers and former workers, buy less, it will. But if prices go down, some will buy more. That will take up the unemployed.

B: If the worker doesn't consume what is produced, wouldn't somebody else buy it anyway? But if he consumes it, they've got to buy someplace else, which creates work, doesn't it?

H: It isn't work we want. It's consumption. We want to satisfy a want with less work. We don't want work.

B: That is true, but we have to work in order to produce, and we must produce to consume.

H: Yes, I know, but we want to get it so that we can get more with a given amount of work.

B: You are absolutely right.

H: There was a man in here the other day telling that the Chicago Sun-Times just bought the Chicago News. They have a whole room, they call bogus, in which they have men setting up ads and matter that's already been run in the paper, and paying for it, and that raises the cost of the newspaper and the advertising to the consumer. And that's a wicked thing, to waste human energy. The greatest waste in the world is the waste of human energy, just to create fictitious jobs and fictitious wages. That keeps total real wages down.

B: Well, then, your position is that people don't have to buy to create a vacuum for production? If people buy less won't there eventually be less production? And that's what I'm trying to get at.

H: I don't think there's any danger of people buying less. They buy before they've got anything to buy with. Some will buy more if prices go down, and all who produce something can buy some.

B: No, I want an answer to that question. I want an answer yes or no to that question. Does that create a vacuum in goods and services when people buy, so that there will be, eventually, more production?

H: Buy or invest, which? You mean investing is buying?

B: Buying for consumption.

H: Production must come before consumption. People only produce what they think people will consume. Human nature has a desire to have more and more things. There's no worry about people spending what they get. No, there is no question but what people will work to consume if they believe they cannot get it otherwise. That is the only reason people work—to consume, for themselves or to give it to somebody else.

B: You still haven't answered my question, so let's take the question from a little different angle, word it a little different. If people consume less, if babies consume less milk, won't there be less milk manufactured in the long run?

H: Yes, in the long run there would be less milk. They might divert their consumption to something else.

B: Well, then, if there's less milk manufactured, won't there be less employment?

H: In that particular line. There would be plenty of jobs for everybody because everybody has more wants than can be satisfied, than can be supplied, and they will work as much as they want to satisfy these various wants.

Robert Allen Reports:

Intelligence Report Influences Joint Chiefs

WASHINGTON — A strongly impelling factor behind the mounting congressional clamor for more defense spending is one of the grimmest Intelligence reports in years regarding Russian military might.

This stark Intelligence report is also definitely known to have importantly influenced the four members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff who recently voiced "strong reservations" concerning the adequacy of President Eisenhower's controversial $40 billion defense budget.

As revealed in this column several weeks ago, Army General Maxwell Taylor, Air General Thomas White, Marine General Randolph Pate and Admiral Arleigh Burke did this in a memorandum to the Senate Preparedness Investigating Committee.

Most startling disclosures in this profoundly disturbing Intelligence report, which deals primarily with Soviet anti-aircraft defenses, are:

Three "separate immense and massive rings of missile bases" now safeguard Moscow from bomber attacks. Manned by an estimated 65 battalions of specially-trained troops, these three rings of anti-aircraft defenses in great depth are capable of firing more than 1,000 ground-to-air missiles.

In addition to this vast array of missiles, Moscow's defenses also include upwards of 250 supersonic jet interceptors.

Air Force authorities estimate that, at a minimum, only one out of 25 bombers could hope to penetrate this fearful three-tiered citadel of missiles and jet interceptors.

Some Strategic Air Command veterans figure the cost would be even greater — only one out of more than 100 attacking bombers. Current SAC strength is approximately 1,500 planes.

The Intelligence survey puts the cost of Moscow's stupendous anti-aircraft defenses at an astounding $25 to $50 billion (correct).

That would be more than the U.S. has spent on all of its continental air defenses, both planes and missiles, plus the various early-warning systems — since 1950.

Other major Soviet cities and industrial centers also have massive anti-aircraft defenses. But they are not comparable to Moscow's in extent and size.

This is primarily due, the Intelligence report states, to the colossal cost of Moscow's incredible armaments. The Reds found they simply could not afford to duplicate them elsewhere.

In fact, according to the Intelligence study, Moscow's gigantic anti-aircraft defenses proved so expensive as to seriously strain the entire Russian economy.

The report warns this very factor could be a sinister menace.

It is pointed out that ground-based anti-aircraft defenses are steadily approaching obsolescence as intermediate range and intercontinenal ballistic missiles become operational. Armed with nuclear warheads and speeding at thousands of miles an hour, these missiles could easily penetrate even Moscow's fabulous defenses.

Now holding the lead in IRBM and ICBM development, the Kremlin rulers might decide this is the time when the chances favor their winning an armed showdown.

The Intelligence report stresses this is what happened in the surprise Communist attack in Korea in 1950. The U.S. had withdrawn most of its forces from South Korea, and the latter's army was ill-equipped and poorly trained and led.

Stalin considered the situation ripe for a sudden stunning blow — and he almost got away with it.

The terrifying possibility of a repetition of this kind of Communist thinking was emphasized in a Pentagon discussion by General Omar Bradley, retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He also cited the following grim item:

Since 1953, more than 20 percent of Russia's immense military budget has gone for missile development and production.

Also that Marshal Birlusov, commander of the Soviet Air Defense Command, has repeatedly stated no "enemy bomber" can penetrate Moscow's rings of protective armaments, and "only a few" bombers could hit other important centers.

With such assurances, General Bradley pointed out, the Kremlin rulers may figure the odds favor them and now is their time to strike.

MOTEL for sale or trade for home in Pampa. MO 5-9018

YOU COULD BE YOUR OWN BOSS

OPERATE A RETAIL DISTRIBUTING COMPANY OF YOUR OWN

If you were one of our distributors, you would be a successful small business man, enjoying the profits of your own hard work.

You would have a better home, a better car, and could afford to send the kids to college.

What's more, you would, as your own boss of such a company, get the kind of satisfaction that you could not find working for somebody else.

You'd be selling to home owners—people much like yourself. You'd be handling a nationally advertised line of equipment which your customers both need and want.

For people like you who have seriously thought about running their own business, this will offer you the product and exclusive rights in your territory and put you in the $12,000 income bracket.

If you are not afraid of hard work and can make a small investment, you may get a chance to become one of these distributors with a "protected" territory.

If we select you, you will be thoroughly trained until you are well on your way to a substantial and secure income.

To learn more about his opportunity write Box C8, c/o Pampa News.
