War Rocket Is Installed For Flight Of Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—A converted war-rocket expected to send a U. S. astronaut on America's first manned orbital flight within a few weeks was installed on its launching pad Saturday.

The silvery Atlas booster was carefully raised to a vertical position on firing pad No. 14, the spot where a similar rocket hurled U. S. space chimp Enos into the sky on the start of a two-orbit trip around earth last Wednesday.

Scientists on the $400 million Mercury man-into-space program already have selected John H. Glenn Jr., a 40-year-old Marine lieutenant colonel, to follow in the space trails of Enos and a pair of Russian cosmonauts, Yuri Gagarin and Gherman Titov.

Gagarin circled earth once aboard the "Vostok" spaceship last April 1 and Titov was whirled through 17 orbits last August. Enos made two trips around before troubles in his bell-shaped Mercury capsule forced scientists to bring him back to an Atlantic Ocean landing.

Glenn, oldest of the nation's seven astronauts, is in the final stages of training for a flight designed to carry him three times around earth—about 81,000 miles—to a landing about 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

Mercury officials were going ahead with an all-out drive to send Glenn into orbit before the end of the year, even though the already small mathematical chances were getting slimmer by the day.

The schedule is extremely tight and delicate. Immediately after the chimp flight, missile workers began cleaning off launching pad No. 14 for the new Atlas booster. The next step is the installation of a Mercury capsule atop the Atlas. The mating has to be completed within seven days if the end-of-the-year "crash" program is to stay on time.

The capsule, which Mercury scientists numbered "13" in defiance of any superstition, has been undergoing check-outs in a hangar here for more than a month. "The capsule's in fine shape right now," a space agency spokesman said Saturday.

After the capsule and booster are hooked together, scientists must spend at least 11 days checking out the entire combination.

Pampan Elected Head Panhandle Chapter Of API

Paul M. Wiley, Pampa, was elected chairman of the Panhandle Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute at the chapter's annual banquet in Borger Saturday night.

Wiley, assistant district superintendent of Texaco, will succeed outgoing chairman Martin L. Ludeman, of Pampa.

Other officers elected last night included:

First vice chairman, A. S. Knox Gulf Oil Co., Pampa; second vice chairman, Stanley Betzer, Phillips Petroleum Co., Borger, and third vice chairman, Nathan Turnbo, Kewanee Oil Co., Pampa.

Leonard L. White, of the West Pampa Repressuring Assn., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The annual election of officers banquet was held in the Buena Vista Cafeteria and some 400 oil men from all areas of the Panhandle were in attendance.

The entertainment program featured The Yellowjackets Quartet, one of the Southwest's outstanding barbershop quartets.

Chairman Ludeman presided at the business meeting and conducted the election of officers. The banquet followed a social hour which began at 7 p.m.

Four Arrested And Jailed In Hot Check Case

Two teenage girls, a 24-year-old woman, and an AWOL Army soldier from Ft. Ord, Calif., were being held in county jail Saturday night in conection with a hot check ring operating in the Panhandle.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said three of the suspects had forged signatures of local citizens on several checks in Pampa, Amarillo and Borger.

Officers said the soldier was arrested Friday night when he tried to cash a $12.50 check at Malone's Pharmacy, made out to him and signed "M. K. Brown," Pampa. A clerk at the store called the sheriff's office to check the identification and Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols picked up the suspect for questioning. Upon investigation, officers said, the youth admitted writing several checks in the Panhandle area and named three others connected with writing forged checks. One of those named by the soldier was his 18-year-old wife.

The four suspects, now living in Pampa, are formerly from California, officers said.

The 24-year-old woman, officers said, was not named in writing any of the forged checks, but she will be charged as an accomplice in the ring for her part in furnishing transportation.

The only member of the check trio who had been filed upon so far, was the 18-year-old soldier. A complaint was signed Saturday by an official of the First National bank of Pampa. Charges will be brought against the group sometime Monday, officers said.

The suspects after being charged with the crimes will again be questioned by District Attorney Bill Waters and Sheriff Jordan.

The sheriff said Pampa residents whose names were forged on the checks included M. K. Brown, S. T. Cowan, J. R. Burrs, and M. A. Jones.

Officers notified the Pampa Retail Merchants Association and business firms to be on the lookout for other bogus checks.

Special Session Of Legislature Scheduled Jan. 3

AUSTIN (UPI) — The 57th Texas Legislature will begin its third special session at 10 a.m. Jan. 3 with the primary purpose as set by Gov. Price Daniel to put banks under abandoned property laws.

Daniel called the 30-day session Friday, listing also as "emergency matters" in his proclamation small loan legislation and a farm-to-market road maintenance appropriation.

The session is expected to be a political battleground. Candidates for the 1962 elections have to file for office by Feb. 5, and Daniel is not expected to announce his intentions for a fourth term until near the deadline.

Other subjects Daniel may broaden the special session to include are a larger juvenile parole system, municipal annexation controls, improvement of state law enforcement, advertising by the state to attract tourists, and a seashore area for Padre Island.

Pampan Injured In Hunt Mishap

Gordon Pursley, 1901 N. Christy, was reported in good condition at Highland General Hospital where he was recovering Saturday night from gun shot wounds he received in a hunting accident Friday afternoon near Wheeler.

Pursley was hunting quail with J. T. Richardson, Pampa, and Bill Gill, Miami, when the accident occurred.

He was shot when a flock of quail flew up and his hunting companions were unable to see him because of the thick brush in the area. He was struck in the left shoulder and arm.

Pursley is district superintendent of the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company.

Russians Cool To Four Power Talks On Berlin

GENEVA (UPI)—Russia is cool to four-power talks on Berlin and would prefer to settle the issue through direct Soviet-American talks—possibly a new Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting, Russian sources said Saturday.

The Soviet sources said President Kennedy's interview with Izvestia Editor Alexei Adzhubei constituted an "opening move" toward a wider policy exchange between the White House and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

They gave strong indications Khrushchev himself might reply to the interview and that the Kremlin might put out feelers for new top level exchanges of views. The Communist diplomats said they felt chances of direct Moscow-Washington contacts were promising.

The Russian sources said above all the Kremlin did not want a four power foreign ministers conference to try to resolve the Berlin crisis but would prefer any direct U. S.-Soviet talks follow an "advance understanding" reached through diplomatic channels in Moscow or Washington.

Western firmness on Berlin and known differences among the Allies on whether and what to negotiate appear to have caused second thoughts in the Kremlin. Previously the Russians have wanted four-power negotiations.

One factor appeared to be the fact the United States and Britain appeared willing to negotiate but President Charles de Gaulle has stated repeatedly he would not negotiate under pressure. The Kremlin feeling now appeared to be that if the West fails to reconcile Allied policy differences, then the United States backed by Britain would agree to talk directly with Moscow before broader four-power talks are held.

The Communist sources said it was increasingly clear that unless "some basic understanding" is reached between Moscow, and Washington on the broad aspects of East-West relations then the chances of accord on a nuclear test ban, Berlin or other major cold war issues are extremely slim.

Singer Dinah Shore To Ask For Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Dinah Shore said Saturday she will seek a divorce from her actor-husband George Montgomery who already has moved out of the couple's Beverly Hills mansion.

Immediately after making the announcement Miss Shore went into seclusion, refusing to discuss her broken marriage with anyone.

The couple would have celebrated their 18th wedding anniversary next Tuesday.

Friends of the Montgomerys were not surprised by news of the impending divorce. The couple had grown apart during the past year.

However, the break-up was not disclosed publicly until Saturday.

A friend of both Montgomery and Miss Shore said, "marriage was so sacred to Dinah and she is such a moral person she could have made her decision to get a divorce only after long deliberation. It would take something earth-shattering for Dinah to make such a drastic step."

Montgomery's name had been linked romantically with other parties in recent months.

Other friends said Dinah's enormously successful career had over-shadowed that of her husband. When they first met the blonde TV star was a recording artist and Montgomery a promising movie hero. In the past 10 years Dinah's popularity continued to grow while Montgomery's

Reds Tell U.S. To Halt Army's Berlin Convoys

BERLIN (UPI)—The East German Communists Saturday rejected President Kennedy's suggestion the highway route to West Berlin be placed under international controls and bluntly told the U. S. Army to halt its "dangerous convoys" to Berlin.

Allied sources predicted possible trouble—and even a showdown with the Communists—next week troops and 500 vehicles over the 110-mile autobahn in its largest postwar movement between West Germany and West Berlin.

The rejection of Kennedy's Berlin proposal was made by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht in a speech made Friday at an East Berlin meeting of the Communist Party and reported Saturday by the Communist ADN news service.

Ulbricht said it was useless speculation to talk about safeguarding Western Allied freedom of access to Berlin by giving control of traffic to some international authority.

"The German democratic republic is no colonial possession of the Western powers," Ulbricht said. "It is no colony of the United States.

"There must be complete clarity about this. Those who make such statements should save their breath. There is no point in such speculation."

Ulbricht said the American convoys heated up the cold war and hurt chances of East-West negotiations on Berlin and Germany. He said East Germany could control traffic but that East German controls would not result in harassment of traffic.

Ulbricht again demanded conversion of West Berlin into what the Communists call a "free, demilitarized city." He said the Western Allies would have to negotiate to get a new legal basis for their presence in West Berlin because they had lost their rights under four-power agreements.

His speech apparently was touched off by Kennedy's statement at a Wednesday news conference that any future negotiations with the Russians might deal with internationalization of the highway to Berlin.

Dictator Says Cuba To Become 'Commie' State

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro settled once and for all Saturday the question of his politics: He is dedicated to the principles of communism and has been since his college days.

"I'm a Marxist-Leninist and I'll remain one till I die," he shouted during a five-hour television address early Saturday in which he announced the merging of his 26th of July movement with the Communist Party.

Castro explained he had hidden his belief in communism from the Cuban people and his American friends for years and other forces which we knew we would eventually have to fight."

His speech, stripping away the last veneer of democratic trappings, was in sharp contrast to his statement he made six months after he overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1, 1959: "Ours is not a Communist revolution."

Saturday in his post-midnight television marathon he said that when his tiny band of rebels made its first abortive attack on the Moncado barracks at Santiago on July 26, 1953, "the revolutionary thinking was completely formed."

Castro followed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in rejecting the idea of the cult of the personality and said he had discarded the probability of himself becoming a "caudillo" (boss)..."for which renunciation I congratulate myself."

The premier said he was "politically illiterate" when he attended high school "but today I'm a convinced revolutionary."

"In college I had my first contacts with bourgeois economic policies and right then I began to dissent," he said. "Thereafter I read the Communist Manifesto and other Marxist books."

Castro said his 26th of July movement and the Popular Socialist (Communist) Party would be fused into the "integrated revolutionary organization" to be known as "the united party of Cuba's socialist revolution."

He said the one party would have a Marxist-Leninist platform adjusted to the conditions of the Cuban revolution and those of the Cuban nation.

"Every honest Cuban will have a place in its rank and file," he said. He emphasized that the most important thing were the schools for Marxist training now operating in Cuba.

Castro traced the process of the Cuban revolution and encouraged other Latin American nations to follow his example.

The Cuban experience proved that "just a handful of men can be launched into a fight wherever there are objectives to be reached...and that movement, we are sure, will be the spark that will set afire the whole haystack."

Castro outlined two aims of the revolutionary Marxist movement —to seize power by the masses and the destruction of the military apparatus of those who would exploit the workers.

Thousands Watch As Santa Rides On Annual Visit

Thousands of persons lined downtown streets in Pampa Friday afternoon to watch the colorful Santa Day parade.

More than two dozen floats were entered in the three divisions which featured religious, Santa Claus and commercial Christmas themes.

The parade also featured four school bands including the crack High School band from Wheeler which shared plaudits from parade watchers with The Harvester, Robert E. Lee and Pampa junior high bands.

The Robert E. Lee band, under direction of Joe DiCosimo, also played Christmas music for the Santa Claus children's party held on the Gray County Courthouse lawn immediately following the parade.

Santa Claus and his helpers distributed some 4,000 candy canes to the children. Another feature of the courthouse lawn program was the appearance of the Anderson Western Wear square dancers who entertained with square dancing atop the Anderson float.

Santa Claus rode in the parade atop Pampa's new fire truck and waved yuletide greetings to his young friends who were out in force.

SANTA DAY PARADE WINNERS — The Pampa Youth and Community Center's decorated float, shown on the right, won first place in the religious entries in Friday's Santa Day parade. Central Baptist Church and the B & P W Club won second and third, respectively, in that division. Winners in floats with the Christmas theme were Las Cresas Club, Blue Flame and the Pampa Boat & Ski Club. Commercial winners were Western Auto, Anderson's Western Wear and Pampa Auto Center. Florida Ad Man Wages Economic War With Fidel

MIAMI (UPI) — About 250 exiled Cuban businessmen, all victims of Fidel Castro's nationalization program, held a testimonial dinner here recently for the man who, according to one observer, "has caused more damage to the Castro economy than any other American, or the American government, or any Cuban."

The guest of honor was Miami advertising executive Erwin Harris, 40, who obtained a Florida court judgment against the Castro government, enabling him to seize 10 Cuban airplanes, 3.5 million pounds of lard, 42 Diesel engines and other property of the Cuban government to satisfy a debt.

And Harris says he is "only about half through."

"We are going to continue to look (for other Cuban assets to attach) extremely diligently," he said. 'We are dedicated to making Castro honor his debt."

The debt was incurred when Harris' firm received a $1.6 million advertising contract from the Cuban Tourist Commission shortly after Castro's triumph in 1959.

"The campaign was based on, of all things, the beauties of Cuba and the conviviality of Cuban people," the curly haired adman said wryly as he looked out his office window at Biscayne Bay.

After Ernesto "Che" Guevara was named national bank president and Cuba apepared to be going communist, Harris canceled the contract in January, 1960. But he already owed U.S. magazines and newspapers around $300,000 for the ads.

He flew to Havana, saw Castro, who referred him to "Che," and that was when Harris got mad. Guevara kept him waiting several hours, then laughed at Harris' suggestion he pay.

"Why should we pay you so you can give money to the lying American press?" Guevara asked.

Harris first tried to attach Cuban government bank accounts in the United States. Finally, a Florida appellate court granted him a judgment of $429,000, which included court costs.

The Cuban Government had maintained that as a sovereign government it could not be sued and had prudently transferred its dollar accounts to Canadian banks.

The appellate court decision was based on the contention that tourism was a commercial rather han a governmental function and that the sovereign state immunity did not apply.

Armed with the court ruling, Harris seized the planes and then went after bigger game.

"We seek to apply an embargo of sorts," he said, expressing anger at U.S. businessmen who continue to trade with Castro.

He heard Castro had made a large lard purchase to be shipped from West Palm Beach, where four ferries a week still plied the Cuban trade despite irate public opinion.

Harris sent an aide in an airplane looking for the tank - cars of lard. The Harris man spotted them about 50 miles north of West Palm Beach on a siding and the papers were served.

The sixty carloads brought Harris about $180,000 in resale. But more important to Harris, they caused Castro to cancel lard imports from the United States, (which were all prepaid), started rationing of cooking oils in Cuba and caused Cuban housewives to riot in disgust at rationing queues.

The ferries, operated under a foreign flag, soon went out of business.

Castro will stay in control as long as American big businessmn give him U.S. dollars," Harris said. "They are keeping him alive." He is particularly perturbed by continuing imports of pineapple and the $40 million worth of tobacco per year which continue to come in.

He tried to attach a leaf-tobacco shipment, but found it had been prepaid by the American importer and thus did not belong to the Cuban Government.

In a television harangue, Castro said the lard rationing was caused by "the criminal, imperialist blockade." Harris replied on a Voice of America broadcast in Spanish, beamed at Cuba, in which he told of the legality of the procedure, and explained that the United States government had nothing to do with it.

Harris, a twice - wounded combat intelligence officer in the European theater in World War II, is a native of Yonkers, N.Y., who has lived in Miami since 1947. He is a volunteer boy scout executive and recently was elected president of the Greater Miami Advertising Agency Association.

Washington Window

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is a certain element of bamboozlement in the administration's brush-off of the latest hike in the high cost of living.

HCL is a grouping of letters that will be familiar to Americans old enough to remember World War I. And to remember the sky-high prices that came along thereafter as the United States entered upon a binge of currency inflation.

Everyone was blasting the high cost of living back there in the early 1920s and demanding that something be done about it. The depression came along and did plenty. Apples were back to two-for-a-nickel and you could buy them from the jobless on any street corner.

Now we are in another high cost of living cycle. The Labor Department's consumer price index rose to a record high in October. Ewan Clague is the commissioner of labor statistics. He frosted the bad news with some sweet talk but he didn't talk long enough to tell the whole story.

Commissioner Clague said the October index hike was only one-tenth of one per cent. That isn't much, although the new price index figure was a record-breaker. Moreover, the commissioner said the price increase in a whole year had been only nine-tenths of one per cent. That isn't much either, but it is progress in the wrong direction.

Through his rose-colored glasses, Commissioner Clague spied some real good news in the shameful situation which finds the U. S. dollar steadily being rotted of its purchasing power toward a vanishing point where someday it won't buy a five-cent cigar, good or bad. What pleased the commissioner was that the spendable income of factory workers—and their buying power—had increased in October to record levels.

The typical production worker—with three dependents — earned $84.12 in take-home pay in October, up $1.80 since September. Clague said:

"This represents a real rise in the standard of living of the average factory worker."

This is mighty nice for the factory worker, but what of the commissioner's other fellow citizens? What about the working stiff who does something else? What about the thrifty fellow who has been saving his money in the bank and must watch it shrink in value month by month as the rotting of the dollar continues.

Offers Complete Appliance Lines

A complete line of new and used appliances including television sets and high fidelity record players are available at Crossman Appliance Company, newly located at 523 W. Foster.

After serving Pampa for eight years on N. Russell, Crossman Appliance has moved into a spacious building, formerly occupied by Cecil Shirley's grocery store. The building has been completely remodeled.

Paul Crossman, owner, has been in the appliance business for 21 years. Crossman said the display area of the new store is 4,500 square feet, which nearly triples the old location. The building has a fireproof basement for storage, and a balcony which is being used for offices and parts center.

Crossman Appliance company has the only complete sealed unit repair shop in the city, which enables them to do repair work themselves without sending it out-of-town, in return giving the customer faster service.

The new location is equipped with a spacious parking lot.

British Interest Again Aroused In Abdication Of The Duke Of Wales

By HARRY FERGUSON

LONDON (UPI)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor came quietly into London the other day and on the platform at Victoria Station there took place another little scene in the drama of the uncrowned king.

A reporter asked themw hether they would call on Princess Margaret to see her new son. The duke hesitated and then said he did not know. What he meant was that he did not know whether he would be invited. The duchess did not hesitate at all: "Oh, I don't think so. I am just hee for my Christmas shopping spree."

She knows only too well that the gates of every royal residence, from Buckingham Palace to the smallest hunting lodge, are forever slammed and locked against her. She has never been received by any member of the royal farmily. The duke and duchess are staying in a suite at Claridge's Hotel.

It will be 25 years next month since Edward VIII abdicated before he was crowned because he "found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility without the help and support of the woman I love."

There has been a sudden resurgence of interest on this island in the drama of how for a few weeks the slim, well-manicured hand of the lady from Baltimore shook the foundations of an empire. The Sunday Telegraph is serializing Prof. Robert Sencourt's book "The Reign of Edward VIII," and another one, "The Abdication Twenty - Five Years After," by Lewis Broad, is selling well.

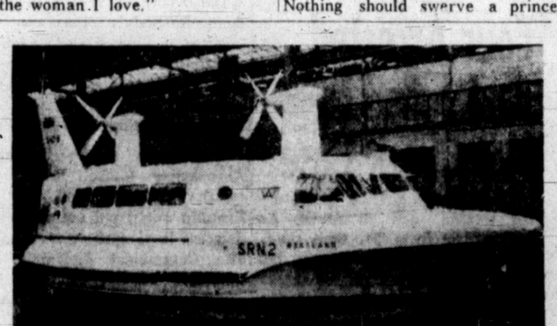

Most of it is familiar stuff to any middle-aged person, but there are two interesting facts that have emerged from years of research. One is that the duke made a bad miscalculation at the height of the crisis when he decided the masses of the British people favoed his marriage to the American divorcee. He even considered going over the head of the British government and making a direct radio appeal to the people, and Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin had difficulty talking him out of it. Every government in the empire was against it and the British people themselves would not have tolerated it. The motto on the crest of the Prince of Wales, heir to the throne, is "Ich Dien" (I Serve) and the British people believed it meant what it said. Nothing should swerve a prince or a king from his duty.

The other fact is that the duke never got along well with his stern father and never developed much sense of parental obligation. Sencourt writes that a close friend once diplomatically tried to persuade George V to improve his relationship with the Prince of Wales and his other sons. The king replied: "My father was frightened of his mother. I was frightened of him and I am going to be damned well sure that they are frightened of me."

The passing of years has restored some of the affection that the British lavished on the duke when he was a carefree, fair-haired prince falling off horses and giving women everywhere cardiac palpitations. As he goes through the London streets people frequently shout "Merry Christmas, Sir!"

And persons in their thirties fondly recall how their parents roused them out of bed at 10 o'clock on the night of Dec. 10, 1936, to hear the Voice from Windsor Castle saying:

"And now we all have a new king I wish him, and you this people, happiness and prosperity with all my heart. God bless you all. God save the king!"

THE HOVER-BUS — Britain's first passenger-carrying air-cushion vehicle is the 70-seat Saunders Roe Hovercraft N2, which is undergoing tests at Cowes on the Isle of Wight. The SRN2, which rides at 80 m.p.h. on a downward blast of air, is the first such craft designed to carry passengers. Four 815-h.p. gas turbines provide the air cushion, while propellers mounted atop the body give it forward thrust.

Adlai Stevenson May Seek Senatorial Seat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, revealed Saturday he is thinking about running for the Senate from Illinois against Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

He told reporters that Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago had asked if he were "interested in running." He said he would need time to give an answer but hoped to make a decision before Jan. 1.

Stevenson, former governor of Illinois and twice unsuccessful Democratic nominee for President, reported his conversation with Daley after conferring with President Kennedy about U. N. affairs.

He told the President, he said, that he believed the United States would win the current round in its fight to defend Nationalist China's seat in the U. N. and to bar the Chinese Communist regime from the organization.

Stevenson said he also had "casually" mentioned the possibility of the Illinois Senate race to Kennedy. He declined to tell newsmen of the President's reaction but the fact that he made clear he was still considering the contest indicated that Kennedy did not object.

He first was asked about a report published in Chicago that he might make the race. He replied that he had no such plan and had given the proposal no attention.

Stevenson added, however, that Daley, the most powerful Democratic figure in Illinois, had telephoned him Thursday to ask if he were interested. He said the question was one that needed some time for an answer and that he would be guided by the attitude of his party and the President.

He said he also had discussed the possibility with his son, Adlai Jr., whom he jokingly called his "political adviser." Asked if his son favored his making another try for elective office, he answered, "I don't think he does."

Dirksen, who was elected to the Senate in 1950 by defeating then Senate Democratic leader Scott W. Lucas, completes his second six-year term next year. He already has announced his candidacy for reelection.

Faculty Member Warned Not To Assist In Suit

AUSTIN (UPI) — Regents of the University of Texas officially warned a member of the law school faculty Saturday that he will be subject to dismissal if he assists in a suit by three Negro students against the school to integrate dormitories.

Chairman Thorton Hardie of El Paso was unanimously authorized at a Board of Regents meeting to state:

"Any member of the law faculty of the University who directly or indirectly legally assists the plaintiffs in this suit would be guilty of disloyalty to his employer and subject to dismissal or to other disciplinary action."

The advice was considered aimed at Prof. Ernest Goldstein of the law school faculty. He said however that he had not encouraged the three Negro students to file the lawsuit.

Only classes at the 20,000 student state university are now integrated, and Negro enrollment is about 300.

When the state was admitted to the Union in 1803, Chillicothe was the capital of Ohio.

Burglars Break In, Go Lootless

Burglars broke into the Steer Drive Inn, 716 W. Brown, Friday night, but failed in an attempt to pry open the cash register and cigarette machine.

D. D. Davis, owner of the Inn told police the burglars gained entrance by breaking a hole in the wall near the restrooms where the inside door was open.

SWEETHEARTS IN THREE-WAY TIE—Pampa Junior High School Band concluded its current marching season with its annual Band Dance on Friday night in the Pampa Optimist Club. Highlighting the affair was the crowning of the Band Sweetheart for 1961-62. A three-way tie resulted in naming three Band Sweethearts, who were presented with corsages. Pictured above are the three Sweethearts and their escorts left to right, Sam Bryan, Donna Conner, Donna Rath, John Mann, Patricia Lambright and George Henderson. Pampa Junior High Band is directed by Homer Krueger. Approximately 100 band students and their escorts attended. (Photo by Kenneth Butler)

Military Takeover In Dominican Republic Ruled Out By Army Head

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—The chief of the Dominican armed forces Saturday ruled out any military takover of the Caribbean republic despite a general strike aimed at overthrowing the government of President Joaquin Balaguer.

At the same time, leaders of 20 labor and professional organizations appealed for renewal of negotiations between the government and opposition to avoid further bloodshed. The talks were reported to have resumed in secret Saturday morning.

Troops were forced to hurl noise bombs and fire over the heads of demonstrators in Santo Domingo and Santiago Friday. At least 14 women and a male spectator were wounded by bomb fragments here and 18 women were reported to have suffered similar injuries in Santiago.

The government denied published reports that the troops had fired into the crowds of women demonstrators here or in Santiago, the republic's second city.

The possibility of a military coup during the current crisis was denied emphatically by Maj. Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria whom Balaguer named chief of armed forces after the flight of Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo Jr.

"We are sufficiently strong to take over, but we do not have political ambitions," said the 37-year-old general, and air force pilot.

Talks between government and opposition leaders which were broken off Monday triggering the general strike, were resumed at committee level in the national palace.

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — The central Congolese government Saturday resumed diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Poland, ending a 15-month break that followed military overthrow of leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Relations with Ghana and Guinea—which also had supported the late Lumumba—are expected to be renewed shortly.

Two Youths Found Slain By Roadside

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N. C. (UPI) — The bullet-pierced bodies of two young men, with their hands stuffed in their pockets, were found lying along roadways near the South Carolina state line Saturday.

They were identified as Wade Bagwell, 22, and Peter Samuel Gunnells, 24, both of Kings Mountain, a community of about 3,000, five miles north of the state line.

Police were unable to suggest any motive for the killings.

Coroner Ollie Harris said preliminary investigation indicated the victims were driven to the death scene, ordered out of the car, and told to stand with their hands in their pockets while they were shot.

REACHES 15 MILLION

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. population will pass the 185 million mark today and about one person every 10.5 seconds until it reaches 250 million in 1980. Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges planned to commemorate the occasion in ceremonies near the census clock, an electric counter used to estimate U.S. population growth.

Mrs. John Payton Ad-Rime Winner

Mrs. Johnny Payton, 532 S. Gillespie St., housewife, is the winner of the final $10 Ad - Rime prize. The hidden slogan was. "Be thankful for independence through awareness of interdependence." Her completed jingle was "Our liberty we celebrate, shop in Pampa, the bargains are great."

Congratulations. Our check for $10 is being mailed to you Monday.

Contest judges said Saturday night the overall winner in the Ad - Rime Contest will be picked from the 26 weekly winners and the name of the winner of the $50 grand prize will be announced in next Sunday's Daily News.

By United Press International

Clouds and fog gave way to clearing skies over Texas Saturday, with mild temperatures.

Pampa's high Saturday was 71.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said mild temperatures and humid conditions would continue through Sunday.

No rain was reported in Texas, although heavy clouds and fog socked in areas of East and South Texas during the morning hours Saturday.

Morning low temperatures ranged from 30 degrees at Dalhart to 65 at Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

The Weather Bureau said the pattern of clouds, breaking up in the afternoon and forming again at night, would continue over the weekend.

Two Men Jailed On Theft Charges

Two Pampa men were being held in county jail late Saturday night on $2,000 bond each on charges of theft.

William T. Pierce and L. E. Blackwell, each was charged with the November 28 theft of $300 worth of oil field equipment owned by Charlie Chrisly, Pampa.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said the men are being held for grand jury action.

Scandal Hinted In New Charges Motion To Delay

BOSTON (UPI) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine, now serving a one-year federal jail term, and his secretary Mildred Paperman go before the U. S. District Court here next Monday on new charges.

The latest chapter in the long case came amid growing reports in Washington that the Justice Department was studying new information supplied by Goldfine and Miss Paperman.

One commentator said the information could result in the "biggest political scandal" since the Teapot Dome incident.

However, Justice Department officials declined to confirm or deny that they were receiving any new disclosures from Goldfine and his blonde secretary.

Kiwanis To Plan For Coming Year

Pampa Kiwanians are planning for 1962 and Dr. Weldon Adair, incoming president, announced Saturday that a two-hour breakfast program will be held at 7 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 16, in the Starlight Room of Coronado Inn.

The breakfast meeting will feature a Kiwanis educational clinic at which new committee chairman will be briefed in their work activities for the coming year.

Sam Groom, Pampa, entertained the downtown club at its regular meeting Friday in First Methodist Church with a program of "Country Music."

Postmaster Asks For Cooperation In Yule Mailings

Stressing the need for everyone to cooperate on the 1961 "Mail Early For Christmas" campaign, Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said today early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all mail deliveded before Christmas.

"The Post Office Department plans to expand its facilities and to provide extra help during Christmas Day: wrap Christmas the Christmas rush," Gaylor said, "but in the final analysis, if you'll follow these three simple rules, you can be certain not to disappoint friends and loves ones on Christmas Day:: wrap Christmas gifts securely, be sure they are addressed clearly and correctly, and mail all gifts and cards early.

The postmaster said further: "I hate to see folks take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Despite careful handling every year, too many packages break open in transit and too often we have to puzzle over names and addresses which are incomplete or simply cannot be read at all."

Those having articles of unusual size or bulk, should check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them, the postmaster warned. The limits on size and weight of packages varies, depending on where they are mailed from.

As an extra precaution against loss, Postmaster Gaylor advised placing both return address and the recipient's address inside the carton or package before it is wrapped.

If Christmas stickers or seals are used, put them on the back of Christmas cards and packages so they will not conflict with the address on the front. Make sure that correct postage is firmly affixed to each card and package. When mailing gifts, it's a good idea to place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the address portion of the label to prevent defacing it in transit. And always be sure, of course, to include the recipients' full name, street address, city, zone and state.

Gaylor said because the entire Christmas mailing period is primarily a battle against time, "do it now" is the slogan from here on in. Don't put off Christmas mailings while there is still ample time because this means that dreaded pile-ups will occur at the Post Office, causing unavoidable slowdowns in deliveries as the holiday approaches.

The Postmaster asked the cooperation of business firms to delay mailing circulars and catalogs until after December 25, to keep the mails clear for the Christmas rush.

The Postmaster said he is most appreciative of the interest and cooperation shown by the mailing public so far, and stated that all mail going long distances should be sent by December 10. Christmas packages for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 15, and be sure to mail Christmas cards for nearby destinations at least a week before Christmas.

Double Value

COOPER, Tex. (UPI — One good thing about training a hog to do tricks, says trainer Tab Evans, is that when he retires he has a ready market value.

Evans, whose hog Pork Chop won national attention through his tricks, was retired recently after he became old and was shipped off to the packing house.

Federal Agency Shifts Might Not Be Good

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What every American city needs to pep up its cultural and intellectual life is a permanent colony of government workers.

Or so says Rep. Henry S. Reuss, a Wisconsin Democrat who is sponsoring a bill that would spread to other regions some of the advantages that Washington enjoys by being the seat of government.

The measure also would, I fear, spread around some of the disadvantages. But Reuss seems to feel the good would outweigh the bad.

As he explained it to a House subcommittee this week the purpose of th elegislation would be to keep the national capital from becoming so cluttered with federal agencies as to make it unfit to live in.

Reuss noted that such things as traffic, water supply and sewage disposal already have become major problems here. If federal agencies continue to build in this area, he said, they could spoil the historical and aesthetic values of the city.

His plan, then, would be to locate all future government offices in other parts of the country unless there was an overriding need to place them in the capital.

This undoubtedly would ease the strain on traffic, water and sewage facilities here. But by the same token, it would add to the strain on traffic, water and sewage facilities elsewhere.

Reuss, however, pointed out that other cities in which the agencies would be located would benefit in a cultural way from the influx of the agency employees.

Civil servants in Washington have a habit of attending concerts, art exhibits, theaters and the like, he said.

"Such people are an asset to any community," he added. "It is wrong to concentrate them in one place.

"No one expects an American cultural renaissance to issue from the decentralization of federal agencies. But it does seem clear that cultural efforts in other cities will find things a little easier going."

That being the case, it seems to me it might be a good idea to go a step further and move out some of the agencies that already have ensconced themselves in the capital.

I, for one, would be willing to make do with a little less culture if it would eliminate some of the traffic jams.

However, there is one aspect of the Reuss proposal which in a way would make it self-defeating.

In order to carry out the plan, Congress would have to create another new government agency to supervise it. Presumably, the new agency would be located in Washington.

If so, the odds are it would spawn more culture and traffic than it would ever disperse.

Traffic Jam

DENVER (UPI) — The Police Department has announced it will have to begin holding more frequent sales of unclaimed, impounded automobiles because its auto pound lot no longer is able to hold those on hand.

Authorities blamed Denver's increase in population over recent years as reason for the upswing in unclaimed vehicles.

Tower Points To Recent Election Gains As Omen Of New GOP Victories

By SEN. JOHN G. TOWER
Written for UPI

I am convinced that the cause of conservatism can be advanced by the election of several Republicans in the congressional contests in Texas. And I am confident that effective work by volunteers, particularly by our young people and the housewives who believe that they are campaigning for the future of their own families can bring this about.

I am encouraged by the result of the recent elections, and believe that with hard work and organization at the grass roots level, the 1962 congressional elections can result in a Republican majority for the House of Representatives and substantial gains in the Senate.

In the national elections of recent days, the results in Louisville, Ky., where a Democratic organization in office 28 years was swept out by the Republicans, provided a victory in the South for the cause of conservatism. A GOP two to one victory in Tucson, Ariz., did the same.

In New Jersey, a traditional swing state, the Democratic candidate, state Sen. Hughes, eked out a narrow win over former Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, and the results there were a tossup, with a narrow 39,000 vote margin in a total vote of more than two million. The Democratic margin was 280,000, four years ago, in 1957.

Republicans scored victories in several New York cities, notably Syracuse, Buffalo and Utica, and they showed generally a resurgence of strength there, even where defeated.

The congressional results in Texas, in the special election in Bexar County, recorded a very strong showing for the Republican conservative, John Doode, who polled some 44 per cent of the vote, although he was the first Republican candidate to contest forthe seat in 28 years.

By their own claims; the Democrats outnumber the Republicans for the seat in 28 years. Democrats certainly cannot claim the election of Henry Gonzalez as much of a victory.

In this election, it should be noted, many Democrats were carried to the polls by the truckload. It is remarkable we came within 10,000 votes of winning, in the more than 95,000 cast.

In Amarillo recently, Republican Keneth Kohler led the field of four in a special election to win a seat in the Texas Legislature, as an historic precedent breaker in the Panhandle.

With these optimistic election indications in 1961, all off year elections, we must and we can win the national House of Representatives next year and pick up six or eight Senate seats, but we must do more than that. We must win more state Houses and carry our cause successfully to the local official level.

We can do this, becaus our people are enthusiastic and determined. Their morale is high, and they have the conviction that our cause is right.

In Texas, I am delighted with the calibre, qualifications and background of those who have already announced they will seek nominations for state and congressional offices in the Republican primary next year.

The Democratic party has become a tool of the liberal establishment whose members conceive of themselves as the prophets, the planners, and the administrators of a brave new order in which they will be the ruling elite.

I submit that those in command of the Democratic party and the administration are dedicated to the concept that the people do not have sense enough to make their own decisions.

It is a myth that the Democrats champion the common man. If their concept prevails, all men will be common and will never be able to achieve or even aspire to anything better.

It is the Republican belief that there are no common men in our classless society.

The Democrats have shown that they do not have faith in man's ability to discipline himself to provide for his individual and community needs.

In its wisdom, what the electorate does in its choice between candidates and parties in 1962, as a prelude to the 1964 presidential elections, may well determine the future course of our society, and I am confident of the wisdom and the outcome of that decision.

No Punishment

PINOLE, Calif. (UPI — Mark Ferreira, 5, is told to stay in bed even though he awakes an hour before his parents. He disobeyed these orders recently whn he awoke to find the home was burning.

He called his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ferreira, who managed to get Mark and two other children, Nancy, 3, and David, 11, to safety. Twenty-three firemen put out the blaze, caused by a smoldering carton near a garage wall.

A GROWING NATION—Americans are not only growing in numbers but in size, as well. If trends of the past half-century continue—and advances in diet and nutrition make this likely—the average male in the year 2000 will be four inches taller and nearly 20 pounds heavier than his counterpart today. Newschart, based on statistics and predictions by a men's knitwear maker and a foundation garment manufacturer, shows how both women and men have grown taller and heavier since 1900 and 1917, respectively. Figures on men's waistlines show the same trend: 1917—28 inches; 1960—35 inches; 2000—42 inches.

Milk Producers Get Top Ratings

Milk producers, processors and distributors from other areas selling milk in Pampa continue to hold top ratings in the U.S. Public Health Service standards, according to A. N. Thorne of the Pampa Health Department.

The continued Grade A rating is based on inspections and analysis of plants; processors, and producers during the past six months. Companies cited in the semiannual report include:

Sealtest of Amarillo, Bordens of Amarillo, Goldsmith of Amarillo and Borger; Kelly Creamery of Elk City, Okla.; Hazelwood Dairy of Canyon; Ideal Fairmont Plant of Dodge City, Kan.; and Safeway Lucerne Milk Plant of Oklahoma City, Okla.

All producers processors and distributors listed hold Grade A ratings and have obtained them by meeting government health standards and over all have an honor roll rating, Thorne stated.

Two School Jobs Open At Lefors

LEFORS (Spl) — Jerry Jacobs, school superintendent, stated Saturday that applications are being accepted for a business manager for the school and a junior high school Science teacher. The science teaching vacancy was created when Harley Lewis was called into the active reserve.

Mrs. Eddy Clemmons is helping Mrs. Howard Archer in the business office one-half day each week. The business manager's job was vacated by David Robison, who moved to Dumas earlier in the year.

Soviet Economy Figures Puzzle America Aides

By EDWARD COWAN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "Growthmanship" is a tricky and important part of the Cold War.

It is a progapanda game played with numbers. Its object is to show a superior economy.

The Russians boast their economy is superior because it is growing faster than that of the United States. But they admit that, at present, the U.S. economy produces more.

American economists say it is difficult to draw any reliable conclusions from the economic data published by the Soviet Union. The Russians are sparing in their explanation of their statistics — how they are compiled, what they include, what is adjusted, what is guesswork.

Where an official U.S. economic publication, such as the census of manufacturers, has dozens of pages of introductory notes on "method," a Soviet volume may have only a page of two. Lately, however, the Russians have shown signs of being more generous in publication of explanatory material. Also, American officials have cleared up certain points by asking questions during cultural exchange visits.

Despite known instances of outright falsification of Soviet farm statistics — a practice which recently incurred the public wrath of Premier Khurshchev—U.S. experts feel there is more confusion than deliberate dishonesty in the Soviet numbers game.

"Except for agriculture, they've been accurate," commented one U.S. government economist. "The trouble is they're not overly generous in telling you how it's calculated."

For example, the Soviet definition of meat is broader than the U. S. definition. Aggregate Soviet figures on meat production include deer, reindeer, buffalo, rabbit and other game animals which are more commonly eaten in the Soviet Union than in this country. Also included are waste portions such as fat and intestines, which are not part of U. S. figures. Thus direct comparisons of meat output figures are meaningless.

The Soviet Union has claimed higher milk production than the United States. But Department of Agriculture experts report that the Russians are counting milk suckled by calves in their dairy output figures. Soviet output is 90 per cent of the U. S. figure if that factor is omitted.

Another problem stems from soviet use of "biological yields" —the amount of grain or corn standing in the field rather than the amount harvested.

Pressures to meet production standards, and to show continuing growth, have led to some oddities in Soviet industrial statistics. Soviet affairs experts tell of the manager of a nail factory who showed considerable sensitivity to pleasing higher authority. When his production goals were set in metric tons, his factory turned out thick, heavy nails. When the planning authority switched the goal to units, the manager switched to thin, lightweight nails.

Despite the possibility that Soviet output figures are exaggerated either by use of unusual definitions or deliberate prodding by goal - conscious managers — experts in this country have no doubt that the Soviet economy has been growing faster in recent years than the far larger U. S. economy.

The best intelligent estimates available here are that the Soviet economy has expanded by more than 6 per cent a year for the past five years. A decade ago it was 35 to 40 per cent the size of the U. S. economy. Now it is nearly half as big — and the American economy has grown considerably in the meantime.

North America has more than 400 species of mammals, of which about one-fourth are mice.

Troops Doubtful Of World Crisis, Ask For Release

FORT POLK, La. (UPI) — About 100 soldiers of the 49th Armored Division of Texas have signed a letter asking that they be released from active duty, a Fort Polk information officer said today.

Maj. James E. Vance, information officer for the Texas National Guard outfit which recently was called to active duty, said he had seen a copy of the soldiers' letter.

"Anytime you get 20,000 or 25,000 men on any army post there are bound to be complaints," Vance said. "It's the soldiers' prerogative."

"Some of the complaints in the letter were that there is no emergency. They say the draft call was lowered, so why are they being kept here.

"Some said they had prior service, including foreign duty, while back home there are some who have not been called for any duty just because they are married and able to escape the draft."

Vance said he did not know who the letter was to be sent to or if it yet had been sent off the base.

He said the letter also included criticism of the post.

"However, visiting press and military officials have found conditions generally adequate," he said.

Next Congress Faces Birth Control Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Congress, which serves as a city council for the District of Columbia, may find itself embroiled in religious controversy next year over a plan to provide birth control services to needy families in the nation's capital.

The Distict Commissioners, who are the city's managers, have announced that funds specifically earmarked for this purpose will be requested in the municipal budget for the coming fiscal year.

Proposals to make birth control services available to patients at Public Health Department clinics have been under discussion here for several years.

The plan has received public support from a number of civic goups, including the League of Women Voters, the Planned Parenthood Association, the Public Health Advisory Council and the National Capital Area Council of Churches (Protestant).

There has been no formal, public expression of opposition from the Roman Catholic Church. But its well - known stand against contraception has been, and continues to be, a major factor in the situation.

The House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles the District of Columbia budget is headed by Rep. Louis Rabaut, D-Mich. Rabaut is a Catholic, and an outspoken foe of birth control.

Last year, the district commissioners decided to establish birth control services at municipal clinics, and requested an appropriation of $77, 000 for additional staff members to handle the program. No secret was made of the purpose of the appropriation item, Congress did not say in so many words, that the money would be used for birth control services.

Congress voted the money, but the birth control progam did not come into being. After persistent inquiry by local newspapers, District officials explained that Rabaut had warned against using the money for birth control services, since that purpose was not spelled out in the budget.

It will be spelled out in the budget which goes to Congress next year, thus placing the issue squarely before the lawmakers.

Birth control services are readily available in Washington to patients who can afford to consult private physicians Charity patients at D. C. General Hospital are given cards advising them that they can obtain birth control advice from the Planned Parenthood Association, a private agency. About 9,000 persons a year show up at the Association's clinic.

The Association has long contended that public health clinics should also dispense birth control information and devices to needy patients, as a public responsibility.

Supporters of this position have noted that Washington has the the nation's highest illegitimate rate, and its second highest infant mortality rate. They have said birth rate is disproportionately high in lower income groups and that large numbers of unwanted children are born annually to to families which are already receiving public welfare support.

The Catholic Chuch opposes any use of public funds to promote contraception on the grounds that artificial interference with the act of procreation is contrary to natual law, and therefore immoral not only for Catholics, but for all human beings.

The District Commissioners have not announced whether their new budget request will provide for dispensing birth control devices, as well as information, at municipal clinics.

Informed sources report, however, that the Commssioners, probably will try to minimize controversy by stipulating that only information, not contraceptive devices, will be given out through public clinics.

PARIS (UPI)—The body of slain Dominican Republic dictator Rafael Trujillo was taken from Orly Airport Friday night to Paris Pere Lachaise Cemetery to await burial. Dominican sources said Rafael, Jr., would erect a monument to mark the grave.

Berlin Declared Not Only Danger Zone In Mounting 'Cold War'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Just how great is the danger of a nuclear war? Is it greater than a year ago — and if so how much, and why? In this dispatch the United Press International's chief European diplomatic correspondent sums up the views on these questions by authoritative observers around the world as gathered by UPI reporters.

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—The cold war is hotter today than at any time since World War II, and more dangerous than during the grim days of the 1948-49 Berlin blockade.

For the second time in less than 15 years Berlin is the focal center of East-West tensions, but it is not the only danger point. The potential flashpoints extend from Europe to Southeast Asia, and from Africa to Latin America.

Despite the war fears, there appears general agreement among competent observers in all major capitals that war will not come from any deliberate act of either East or West. The concern is for a war by "misstep or miscalculation."

The present situation began building about 18 months ago when Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev broke up, in searing anger, the 1960 Four-Power summit meeting in Paris following the U2 incident. Since then the cold war has warmed up month by month.

Nowhere has the danger of an international explosion been more alarmingly demonstrated than in Berlin, at the Communist-built city-dividing wall where Russian and American tanks have faced each other nose to nose, and armed men face each other daily across a few yards of no-man's land on either side of the barrier.

Until now, Khrushchev has avoided overstepping the brink to which both sides in the cold war conflict have moved several times in the nervous weeks since the Berlin wall went up on Aug. 13. Just how do things stand now?

A United Press International poll of authoritative diplomatic opinion around the world produced the following assessment:

Washington: The danger of a "deliberate" war is slight and no greater now than a year ago. But the possible outbreak of a nuclear war by "ignorance, mistake or miscalculation" is greater today. The Washington observers give as reason for their fears the danger of incidents in Berlin getting out of hand. They also are apprehensive that growing Communist guerrilla activity in Southeast Asia, and especially in Laos, could spark a major conflict.

London: Observers here also fear more a war by "misstep" than by calculation. As British observers see it, Khrushchev is determined on a showdown with the West over Berlin and other European problems largely because he is stronger now than he might be a year or two hence. The British believe Khrushchev — unless he suffers from or develops a Hitler-type megalomania — will shy away from a war showdown. In their view Khrushchev can afford to walk up to the brink and back away from it without risking his position at home. The British believe his recent triumph over party adversaries at the 22nd party congress has enhanced his prestige and power at home enough so that he can operate—for a time, anyway — with a fairly free hand.

Far East: Observers in this part of the world hold much the same opinion as Western experts —that the main war danger is a war by mistake. But they agree this danger is a grave one, more so than a year ago. They also have misgivings about the situation in Laos and elsewhere in Southeast Asia, but that the worst flashpoint — from the standpoint of possible outbreak of a nuclear war—is Berlin.

Although there is general agreement that Berlin provides the biggest challenge at this stage to world peace, there also is agreement that it is not the only area of dangerous tension. Communist efforts to extend control to South Viet Nam and the embattled kingdom of Laos pose real dangers. In southern Europe, Turkey and even more so, Iran, are under pressure from Moscow. Most recently the Kremlin has been maneuvering in the direction of Scandinavia, with a major diplomatic offensive against Norway, Denmark and Sweden and Finland called upon for "defense" consultations. In Latin America Moscow looks to Cuba as an operative foothold in that hemisphere and a jumping-off place for infiltration of the United States' "backyard."

There there's Africa. Temporary setbacks in this continent have by no means ended Russia's activities there. In the Black Continent the cold war is fought on the economic plane, laced with Soviet arms and heavy doses of "anti-imperialist" propaganda to undermine the Western position with the newly emerging nations.

There is a wide feeling that Khrushchev wants now to consolidate what he's got and feels he can do this by pushing the cold war to the limit.

During and since World War II Russia, in one of the most imperialistic expansions in history, has annexed outright areas totalling 182,000 square miles of territory with populations totalling some 25,000,000. These areas include parts of Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and German East Prussia, plus all of Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia. In addition the Soviet Union has extended control to the satellites in Europe, taking in 393,000 square miles of territory with populations of more than 90,000,000.

It is formal recognition of this booty that Moscow means when it talks about wanting the West to recognize the "status quo," extending the Iron Curtain to Russia's boundaries in Europe.

To make this empire watertight, the Kremlin feels it must remove Western influence from Berlin.

Why is Khrushchev suddenly pushing so hard now? He may feel time is running out for him. First, he is now at the peak of his power. Second, Russia is at a peak of strength. Khrushchev appears to feel that at this point Russia has the edge on the United States in rocketry and "nuclear delivery." It could be he calculates that in another year or two Allied strength, and especially that of the United States, will be too great.

These are only suppositions, but they are suppositions by persons in a position to assess international affairs at the highest diplomatic levels.

There are many other factors, not the least of them economic. Russia is worried, for example, by the growing movement toward European unification through the Common Market. It looks uneasily upon increasing Western European political ties, along with the military. Today, communism in Europe is on the decline. An economic boom, full employment and to some degree political disillusionment within the Communist bloc countries themselves all are working to the Kremlin's disadvantage.

If the bewildering complexities of the cold war can be summed up in a few words it might be said that the Soviet Union wants to keep what it has, extend its power wherever it can—and give up nothing. The West, which already has given up so much, is determined to give no more.

Neither side wants war. But either side would fight if it felt the time had come when it had to. And that is the danger that confronts the world today.

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea — (UPI)—The government said Saturday the murder of a Dutch official and two Papuan policemen last month in the remote village of Djadam was committed by villagers protesting an order to demolish slum dwellings.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE — This automotive garage owned by Ross Cornelius, Pampa, was destroyed by fire Friday afternoon. Pampa firemen were called to the garage located at 701 W. Foster, at 3:35 p.m. The aluminum frame building also was used for storing lumber and auto parts. Firemen said everything in the building was a total loss. The garage was leased by Wayne Worley, Pampa, who was present when the fire broke out. He told firemen he did not know what started the blaze.

Foreign Commentary

UPI Foreign News Analyst

First results of the United States' limited return to gunboat diplomacy were good.

The brothers Hector Bienvenido and Jose Arismendi Trgujillo, reported planning a coup to restore their Dominican fortunes, packed up and left.

President Joaquin Balaguer, a Trujillo holdover but proving himself remarkably tough, went on the air to appeal for national support.

Backing him were the Dominican armed forces.

Celebrating crowds surged into the streets shouting, "Liberty!"

But this week the inevitable reaction set in.

Balaguer resisted opposition demands that he step down to erase the last vestige of Trujillosim. The opposition reportedly sought to establish a junta which would rule without a congress until elections which would be put off until May, 1964.

Balaguer, on the other hand, wanted to remain in office until elections could be held in May, 1962.

And when the crowds surged into the streets again in answer to a general strike call by the opposition National Civic Union, the holiday spirit had given way to a more threatening mood.

Outside Dominican waters but plainly visible from shore stood units of the United States Navy.

Forty years ago U.S. forces had occupied the Dominican Republic, and the newspaper of the National Civic Union referred bitterly to that period, calling it "eight years of military dictatorship imposed by naval forces of the United States of America."

Thus enflamed, encouraged by pro-Castroites and leftists, the streets took on an anti-American tinge.

When the United States sent two aircraft carriers and other naval units to patrol off Dominican shores, it took a calculated risk.

Another disaster such as the ill-fated Cuban invasion of last spring could further damage U.S. prestige around the world.

In Latin America the feeling against intervention, particularly U.S. intervention, is strong. It has been strong enough to prevent hemispheric action against Cuba.

Despite its early success, the U.S. calculated risk in the Dominican republic has not yet been resolved wholly. Balaguer is certain of remaining in office only so long as the army supports him. What does the United States do if a group, including pro-Castroites and leftists supplants him?

Bob Hope Gets Home Every Now And Then

By RALPH H. COSHAM

LONDON (UPI) — Bob Hope said he used to get home so rarely that when he did show up "my kids used to think I'd been booked there on a personal appearance."

He was referring to the 20 years to 1958, when he never spent more than three months a year at his Hollywood home with his wife Dolores and their four children Tony, Linda, Kelly and Nora.

Bob says his happy personal life has helped him a great deal in his career. "But I can't take any credit for that. When it comes to keeping the home together and raising four great kids, I've got to hand all the bows to Dolores."

Comedian Jerry Colonna was with Bob throughout the hectic years of those tours.

"It was great fun working with Bob. Tiring, but always fun," Colonna said.

"Bob never seemed to need rest like other people. We used to be tired and weary but he always wanted to be doing something."

This was before Hope's illness in 1958. Now, Hope says, he's slowed up. He doesn't talk much about the illness. When he does, he refers to it simply as "my little setback."

But, he says, "I've slowed down a lot in my thinking now. I used to enjoy flying off all over the place but now I kind of enjoy slowing down a little. I'm turning down a lot of things.

"I have a lot of time for golf and things and I enjoy myself and make sure I'm not working too hard. I try to relax as much as I can.

"Why, I may even take a vacation."

"Nonsense," snorted Monty Brice, his friend and gag writer, "this guy still moves like lightning. He's geared himself so that it would take him three years to low down.

"He's going like mad the whole time and doesn't realize it. Mind you, he only does things he likes, and enjoys every minute of it but sometimes he calls me at 3:30 or 4 a.m. to tell me something. And I know that the last I saw of him he was tired and ready for bed.

"It's just as though he gives himself a quick recharge — like a battery."

He does like to relax though, Brice said, and has a tremendous faculty for doing so.

"I've seen him get on a plane in the middle of a storm, with thunder and lightning and everything else and he'll go right to sleep. He just turns himself off like you turn off a radio.

"But his real idea of a rest is to go out and play an extra 18 holes of golf," he added.

"I don't know anyone who loves golf the way he does. Even professionals. You watch him during a break in filming or a television rehearsal and you can bet he'll be standing there simulating a golf swing.

"To Bob Hope, golf is his doctor, his psychiatrist and everything else.

Hope is 58 now, so I asked him if he planned to retire any time.

"I guess I'll go on as long as I can," he said "Why I've even got a few jokes for the box.

"And I'll tell them if they lift the lid on the way to the last hole."

He would, too'

Actress Likes Bad Girl Role And Tells Why

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Angelic looking Myrna Fahey, star of CBS - TV's "Father of the Bride" series, says she likes to let loose as a bad girl on film and she even has a psychological explanation.

"There's supposed to be an extreme ambivalence in everyone," the dark - haired beauty said. "If you're extremely nice, you want to be bad. And vice versa.

"I'm kind of in the middle of the road."

Miss Fahey, who says she is 22, explained that her problem is "I have moral overtones."

"What I like is a part like that of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind,' " she said. "She had spirit, temper - but I won't say what she was."

Miss Fahey is something of a cross between a conservative New Englander — her home town is South West Harbor, Maine- and a sultry look - alike of Elizabeth Taylor.

Miss Fahey is the latest actress to take a part created by Miss Taylor and turn it into a TV role.

Lori Martin took on the "National Velvet" role Miss Taylor originated in the movie of the same name. Miss Taylor also starred in the movie "Father of the Bride," with Spencer Tracy. Miss Fahey's TV papa is Leon Ames.

Miss Fahey, you may remember, is the young lady who was romanced so ardently on her 21st birthday last year that it made headlines.

So moved was her suitor that he called at her door with two violinists and an armful of flowers. That was just the beginning.

Miss Fahey and her suitor hopped into a limousine — and the violinists came along and serenaded her all the way to the airport.

From there they flew to Palm Springs, Calif., in a chartered plane with the violinists serenading all the way. The plane was light blue. Miss Fahey had told her admirer it was her favorite color.

The actress was born the daughter of a shipbuilder and began acting at the Pasadena Playhouse near here after being stage-struck on a vacation trip with her parents. A photographer noticed her and convinced her to enter a beauty contest for a beer company.

She lost, and it was just as well, because she admits now, "I was too young to drink beer, but they didn't know." At any rate, the publicity gave her career a shot in the arm.

Group Reveals Yule Decorations Contest Districts

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce and representatives from the Pampa Garden Club met last week to formulate plans for the annual Christmas Home Decoration Contest, which is sponsored each year by the two organizations.

This year the city will be divided into 10 districts and one award and two honorable mentions will be given in each district regardless of theme used. An award will also be given to the best decorated church, regardless of district.

Judging will be on the evening of Dec. 21. No entry blanks are needed to enter the contest — any decorated home or church will be judged. Awards will be presented at a coffee to be held at the Coronado Inn at 10 o'clock January 4.

The districts are as follows:

Dist. 1. All territory west of Hobart St. and north of Harvester.

Dist. 2. All territory between Hobart and Duncan and north of Harvester.

Dist. 3. All territory east of Duncan and north of Harvester.

Dist. 4. West of Hobart — between Santa Fe R. R. and Harvester.

Dist. 5. All of territory east of Hobart between RR. and Harvester to Duncan and Starkweather.

Dist. 6. Territory east of Starkweather and Duncan between Harvester and R. R.

Dist. 7. Territory south of R. R. and west of Hobart.

Dist. 8. South of R. R. between S. Hobart and Barnes (except colored section.)

Dist. 9. Colored section.

Dist. 10. Territory south of R.R. and east of Barnes.

Old-Fashioned 'R's' Helpful To Students

By BERT JARNAGIN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An elementary school founded here a year ago is turning out brighter than average pupils by using methods so old they're new — the three R's — and "the sweat of their brows."

The school is named Amidon Dr. Carl F. Hansen, District of Columbia Superindent of Schools, conceived the idea after becoming disillusioned by modern teaching methods. He describes his system, as "more sensible use of what has been learned about child develment."

Reading and 'riting and 'rithmetic, as in the days of yore, must have primary attention, Hansen said, adding that "pupils and teachers now enjoy clear responsibilities and goals."

"It is not a return to horse and buggy days," Hansen said, "although much good education was available in those days."

The out - of - the - ordinary at Amidon is its concentration on the old time elementary subjects — the three R's.

A new school building in a new community offered Hansen his chance, in September, 1960, to test his principles, which before then had received "slow response." So Amidon became, in effect, a pilot project to show parents and District of Columbia teachers what hard work by the students can accomplish.

The system proved so successful that this year every District elementary school is using Amidon principles.

Last June Amidon pupils, from the first through the sixth grades, were given two-day tests which also were a test of Hansen's principles. The results were compared with scores from the same tests in elementary schools across the country.

Here is how Amidon pupils compared with the national norms for the Metropolitan Achievement Test battery and the Otis quick-scoring test of mental ability:

First grade — Three fourths of the 64 Amidon pupils scored at or above the national norm in reading and arithmetic. Only one first grader missed beating the norm in word discrimination.

Second grade — This class of 56 pupils scored above the national norm.

Third grade — Different forms of the test were given to a special class for retarded, slow readers. This group fell below the national average. However, with credit to a phonovisual program, even the retarded met the national average for third graders in word discrimination.

The "regular" third graders scored above the norm in all seven test areas.

Fourth grade — The 54 fourth graders scored above the national norm in spelling and language, and fell below in other areas. But the scores were not in the national cellar and at the top of the Amidon fourth-grade scores were 10 which were almost eighth grade level in spelling, language and reading.

Fifth grade — the 61 pupils beat the national norm in six test areas and were equal in the other.

Sixth grade — Amidon's 59 sixth graders scored above the national norms in everything tested. In spelling they were almost three school grades ahead of themselves. Four spelling and two language study skills scores were better than the national norm for high school seniors.

In summary, 76 per cent of Amidon's scores were above national norms, seven per cent were equal and 18 per cent were below. Eighty-two per cent of the scores were equal or above the national scores.

"We have done well," Hansen said, "but we can do better."

Gold Medallion Home fulfills every expectation

The Naylor's home was chosen by them for the efficient use of home-building space giving them the value they wanted for their buying dollar. This Gold Medallion home, as a result of careful planning, is completely comfortable inside with plenty of "people space" . . . even to an electric organ in the living room. And, always, the home is just the right temperature, thanks to the electric heat pump that cools when it's hot and heats when it's cold.

Mrs. Naylor, a registered nurse, who frequently works with allergy patients, is deeply impressed with the lack of dust in her electric heat pump home. This, she knows from experience, is helpful to those who are affected by allergies. And, Mrs. Naylor, being a homemaker, as well as a practicing registered nurse, is also pleasantly impressed with her electric appliances in her delightfully-designed kitchen. Yes, the Naylors are happy in their Gold Medallion home — you will be, too, when you get in yours.

Owls Go To Bluebonnet Bowl...

Rice Raps Baylor, 26-14

HOUSTON (UPI)—Senior Butch Blume scored two touchdowns and kicked 27 and 33 yard field goals Saturday to guide the Rice University Owls to a 26-14 victory over Baylor University and a host spot in the Bluebonnet Bowl on Dec. 16.

Rice had been promised the bowl bid against Kansas by bowl officials, and Blume, whose 20 points Saturday gave him the 1961 Southwest Conference scoring leadership, accounted for more than enough to assure the victory.

Rice coach Jess Neely accepted the Bluebonnet Bowl bid just as the gun sounded to end the game and made it official that the Owls will play the Kansas Jayhawks here in the post season classic.

Baylor, which already had accepted a bid to play Utah State next Saturday in the Gotham Bowl in New York, gave the Owls a real race through the first three quarters.

After Blume had kicked a 27-yard field goal in the first period, and scored on a 50-yard break-through in the first play of the second quarter, Baylor quarterback Don Trull threw a scoring pass to end Ted Plumb from the 28 to leave Rice with a 10-7 half time lead.

Blume scored again in the third period, but on the next series Baylor quarterback Bobby Ply passed to Plumb again from the 25 for a Baylor score, leaving Rice with a narrow 16-14 third period lead.

But the Owls, never letting up, drove 61 yards for another touchdown in the opening minutes of the fourth period with fullback Roland Jackson going over from the four.

Blume wound up his regular season play with Rice by making good a 33-yard field goal late in Saturday's game, giving him 20 points for the day and 74 for the season for the top scorer in the SWC this year

Rice played one of its most inspiring games of the season, and it was obvious from the start that the Owls wanted to win the Bluebonnet Bowl bid. They ran up 195 yards on the ground while holding Baylor to a net of 25, and passed to 142 while giving up 179 yards to the Bears in passing.

Inside The Huddle
By Joe Lee Smith

The proposal by veteran sports editor of the Houston Press, Bob Rule, to play a series of round-robin playoff games in college to determine the national champion and "fight the growing popularity of pro football" is a good idea for the NCAA to consider.

Rule's proposal would have the top eight teams in the country meet in mid-December "quarter-finals" with the winners of these games advancing to semi - final contests.

The semi - final winners would advance to the finals on New Year's Day to play for the national championship.

He set Miami, Jacksonville (Fla.), Houston and San Francisco as sites for the first round. The Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl were selected as semi-final games site with the championship tilt being played in the Rose Bowl.

In other words, the system would work much like the playoff system used by the Texas Interscholastic League in schoolboy playoffs.

There are six major conferences in the United States now with another conference being formed next year by Arizona, Wyoming, etc. And there are numerous independent clubs.

The only question we have about the proposal is how would the teams be chosen. Would they come from the conference champions or from the national grid ratings. And the schools involved in the playoffs would have anywhere from one to three extra games to play during the season.

But never-the-less we like the idea.

Taking the 1961 season as an example we would pick one team each from the east, midwest, south, southwest, west coast, the top independent and two at-large elevens.

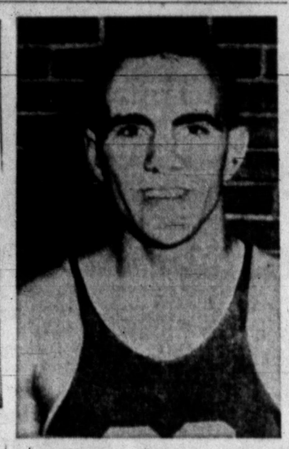

In the first round we might find these pairings: Syracuse vs. Ohio State; Alabama vs Texas; UCLA vs LSU and Mississippi vs Penn. State.

Our reasoning here would be that Syracuse is the top eastern grid eleven although an independent team; LSU and Ole Miss would be the at-large schools and Penn State would represent the independents.

Of course this would leave out such fine teams as Arkansas, Kansas, Colorado, Michigan State, Minnesota and others.

Therefore we would suggest a 16-team playoff. We believe it would extend interest in post-season play.

We hope Mr. Rule pushes the proposal. Maybe the NCAA would consider it with enough backing by the sports world.

RED-HOT HANDS — Wayne Kries, junior guard for the Pampa Harvesters, had red-hot hands Friday night as he banged in eight points in the first period and garnared 16 for the evening in setting off the spark that enabled the locals to plaster Lamar, Colo. 58-31 in the first of two games.

Kreis Sparkles In Pampa Wins

LAMAR, Colo.—Hot shooting Wayne Kreis poured on the coal Friday and Saturday nights to spark the Pampa Harvesters to a two game sweep of the Lamar Savages.

Kreis popped the nets for 19 points Saturday night—15 of them coming in the first half—and 16 Friday night as the Harvesters rolled to convincing 48-31 and 58-31 victories over the defending Colo. AA state cage champions.

The Pampa victories extended its winning skein to six games—five in a row this season. The Pampa Shockers continued to roll along undefeated also by blasting the Lamar B team 46 — 28 and 56 - 34 in their two contests.

Lamar, however, was at a great disadvantage since the Savages had worked out just three days prior to playing the Harvesters due to an extended football season in which they won the state AA championship.

And Pampa enjoyed a distinct height advantages with 6-5 Randy Matson, 6 - 3 Bobby Neslage and 6 - 1 Lloyd Balch controlling the backboards over the shorter Savages, whose tallest man was 6-1 Homer Strain.

Matson was the big gun Friday night as he canned 25 points to go with 11 Saturday for a two game total of 36.

Pampa jumped into a quick 7-2 lead in the opening period Saturday night on the sharp-shooting Kreis, who chalked up six points. Lamar battled back, to narrow the count to 10 - 8 as the quarter closed.

Kreis pumped in eight points in a torrid second period exehibition to 27 — 16 at intermission.

Bobby Neslage led the Harvesters in the last half with an outstanding performance as he garnered 11 points to finish the evening with a total of 12.

Lamar cut the count to 29 - 25 early in the second half but Neslage and Matson combined for 10 quick points and Pampa held a 39 - 29 third period advantage.

Kreis topped the Pampa scorers in the Saturday tilt; Neslage followed him with Matson a close third, Gordon Balch, L. Balch and Keith Swanson each had two points to round out the Harvester scoring.

In Friday night's opener, Pampa fell quickly behind by an 8 - 1 count as the Savages connected on four of their first five shots while only Kreis could scratch the score - board for the Harvesters with a free point.

But the red - hot Kreis kept banging in the points — eight in the first period — and Pampa surged back to grab a 15 - 10 lead as the quarter ended.

Matson took over in the second quarter and pumped in six points while the Savages went as cold as ice and could muster just four points and the Harvesters went to the dressing room at intermission leading 28 - 14.

Kreis and Matson teamed together in the third period to score all the Pampa points — 10 of them. The 6 - 5 Harvester post man got four and Wayne hit four straight free tosses and field goal for the other six.

In the final frame, Matson had a field goal. The big guy swished the nets for 11 points in that period as the Harvesters pulled away to a 30 point margin on two occasions.

Pampa pulled ahead of Lamar 11 - 10 just before the end of the opening period and the Harvesters slammed in 14 consecutive points before the Savages could count again.

Lamar lost two players via the foul route Friday night including Homer Strain, the team's top scorer last year and their tallest player this season.

Others Pampans breaking into the scoring column Friday evening were Lloyd Balch with five points; Bobby Neslage with three; Gordon Balch chipped in two, C. E. Cantrell bucketed four; Keith Swanson got one and Gerald Sikes picked up two.

Froggies And Mustangs Battle To 28-28 Score

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI — Southern Methodist blew a 20 point first half lead Saturday, then stormed back in the closing seconds to tie up and-down Texas Christian 28-28 in a wild and woolly offensive show.

SMU jumped off to a 20-0 lead early in the game when the Ponies turned a pair of fumble recoveries and a pass interception into quick touchdowns.

The giant Frog quarterback Sonny Gibbs sent his mates on touchdown drives of 86, 86, 34 and 84 yards to put the Frogs out in front 28-20 with a minute and a half to play.

The Mustangs, with quarterbacks Roger Braugh, Jerry Rhome and Harold Morgan throwing, took the following kickoff and drove 68 yards in four plays for a touchdown. With only 38 seconds left in the game, Braugh hit halfback Don Campbell in the left flat for the tying two-point conversion.

SMU got its early touchdowns the easy way. They took over the ball when guard Bobby Hunt intercepted a Gibbs pass on the Frog 35 on the fourth play of the game, and seven plays later Rhome tossed eight yards to halfback Tommy Brenan for the score.

SMU scored again only minutes later after end Buddy Nichols recovered a fumble on the Frog 19 on the first play from scrimmage following the kickoff. Seven plays later halfback Billy Gannon punched it over from the one.

Early in the second period, the Ponies again got a break when Garry Thomas bobbled a punt on the Frog 33. Guard Ray Schoenke picked that one up to set up the third SMU score. Fullback John Clarke got the touchdown when he banged the middle, spun loose and raced the last 11 yards.

Gibbs then ignited the fuse under the TCU offense, driving them 86 yards for a touchdown by hitting six of eight pass attempts for 65 yards. Fullback Tommy Crutcher scored from the one.

Gibbs himself capped the third quarter, TCU drive of 86 yards with a 1-yard keeper, while half back Marvin Chipman capped the other two Frog scoring drives with runs of 13 and 6 yards.

Mississippi Will Meet Texas In Cotton Bowl

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Fifth - ranked Mississippi overwelmed Mississippi State 37-7 Saturday and officially accepted an invitation to play fourth-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1.

The victory was the ninth easy win of the season for Ole Miss, which lost only to Louisiana State, 10-7. Texas, the Southwest Conference champion, also scored nine wins in decisive fashion with only a 6-0 loss to Texas Christian University marring its record.

Among the 34,500 fans watchng the game was Texas coach Darrell Royal. "This is as good an Ole Miss team as any I have seen," said Royal whose Longhorns lost to Ole Miss 39-7 in the 1958 Sugar Bowl.

Billy Ray Adams, a 210-pound fullback, and reserve quarterback Glynn Griffing led the Rebel offense, which finished the season as the nation's best. Ole Miss gained 420 yards against State for a season total of 4,185 yards, well ahead of runner-up New Mexico state with 4,009 yards.

Adams scored two touchdowns on runs of 1 and 18 yards, Griffing passed 58 yards to end Ralph Smith for a touchdown and set up two more.

The Rebels were in control from the start. The first time they got the ball was on the state 35. Adams scored a few moments later from the one.

Griffing then directed the Rebels 61 yards to the State 12. Starting quarterback Doug Elmore took over at that point and passed to halfback Art Doty in the end zone. Wes Sullivan, who later booted a 28-yard field goal, kicked the first of four conversions.

State came back with its only long drive of the game, going 63 yards in 12 plays with quarterback Billy Hill scoring from the nine on a fake pass and run. Sammy Dantone kicked the conversion.

McLean Tigers, Spearman Grab Tourney Titles

Coach Derral Davis' tall and talented McLean Tigers walked off with the boy's bracket of the three-day Miami cage tournament by breezing through four games undefeated.

The Spearman Lynx girl's team captured their bracket with a 43—32 lacing of the Miami girl's team in the championship finals Saturday night.

McLean finished the tourney with a perfect 4-0 mark; Miami and Canadian wound with 2-2 logs and Allison and Spearman turned in 1-3 records.

Spearman had a perfect mark also of 4-0; Miami finished 3-1; Allison chalked up a 2-2 log; McLean stood 1-3 and Canadian dropped all four contests.

In the final round starting Saturday afternoon, Canadian was upset by Spearman 53-34, McLean bounced Allison 54-20 and Canadian bounced back to upset Miami 56-53 in boy's action.

Allison trimmed the McLean girl's 38-35 in the lone game in that bracket.

Jo Ann Green led the Spearman girls past the Miami five in the championship game by pumping in 17 points. Jacque Gill paced the losers with 13 points.

Wendell Parker pumped in 16 points and Eldon Vernon added 11 as the Spearman Lynx dumped Canadian. High point men for the Wildcats were Jerry Cole with 11 and Frank Muir with 10.

Muir and Cole were the stars as Canadian bounced back to nip Miami with 19 and 14 points respectively. Mark Arrington popped in 20 for the Warriors and Scotty Daugherty chipped in 16.

Ken Willingham scored 13 points in the McLean win over class B Allison.

Cynthia Rice's 25-point effort went to waste as the McLean girl's were defeated by Allison.

The high scorer in the tourney was Sharon Petree of Canadian's girls team who racked up 116 points in the four games.

Saturday morning games found Miami tripping Allison 41 - 39 and Spearman rapping Canadian 47 - 35 in girl's games.

Marilyn Murphy led the Miami cagers with 15 points, Jacque Gill chipped in 11 and Dona Byrum added 10. For Allison, Betty Childress garnared 16 points, Phyllis Giddings had 12 and Diana Dukes poured in 10.

Miami held a 21 - 17 halftime lead and was ahead 32 - 24 at the end of the third period before Allison put on a last quarter comeback.

Caron Rhea and Nancy Owenby paced the Spearman girls with 18 and 12 points respectively. Sharon Petree, the high scorer in the tourney, poured in a 24 points for Canadian.

In Friday's girl's action, Miami nipped McLean 54 - 40; Spearman drubbed Allison 47 - 29; Allison edged Canadian 54 - 50 and McLean ripped Canadian 44-32.

Misses Murphy and Gill led the Miami win over McLean with 25 and 18 points respectively. Cynthia Rice was high point getter for the Tigeress with 17 and Helen Smith had 15.

Allison was spearheaded by Miss Giddings in their narrow victory over Canadian. She popped the nets for 28 points while Misses Childress and Dukes chipped in with 16 and 10 points respectively.

The high - scoring Miss Petree paced Canadian with 37 points against Allison and fired in 21 against McLean. Miss Rice led the McLean Tigeress with 19 points against Canadian.

Jo Ann Green and Miss Rhea hit 18 and 12 points in that order in the Spearman verdict over Allison. Miss Childress and Miss Giddings were top scorers for the losers with 12 and 11 points.

Mark Arrington was the big gun in the boy's bracket as he led the Miami Warriors to 51-38 and 41 - 32 wins over Spearman and Allison respectively.

Arrington chunked in a whopping 26 points against Spearman and Daugherty added 13. Wendell Parker was high for the Lynx with 17.

Against Allison, Arrington slammed in 16 points and Daugherty added 15. Lonnie and Mickey Richardson led Allison with six points each.

Canadian's Wildcats, smarting from a 66 - 48 loss to McLean, threw up a rugged defense and smeared Allison 51 - 22 in the other boy's game Friday.

Jerry Cole and Franklin Muir led the winners - with 15 and 14 points in that order. Cole Donaldson paced Allison with seven points.

District Cage Teams Suffer Two Setbacks

District 3-AAAA teams had their worst night of the youthful cage season Friday even though only two teams suffered defeat.

Monterey met its first defeat at the hands of Midland 39-38 and Amarillo High was smashed by Odessa High 71-56

Otherwise the district came out on top as usual. Pampa clubbed Lamar, Colo. 58-31; Borger trampled Clayton, N.M. 84-31; Tascosa toppled Odessa Ector 47-37; Plainview clipped Dimmitt 60-52 and defending champion Palo Duro overran Odessa Permian 86-71.

BORGER—District 3-AAAA title favorite Borger slaughtered visiting Clayton, N.M. 84-31 here Friday night for its second win of the 1961-62 season.

Gail Simpson and Jim Stephenson, a former Pampan, led the rout with 20 points each. Simpson had pumped in 24 points as Borger whipped Dimmitt 69-52 in the season opener.

Against Clayton, the Bulldogs romped to a 20-4 first period advantage and built the margin to 37-19 by intermission time.

The Bulldogs scored at will in the last half. Borger also won the B game by a 69-43 count.

Plainview Dumps Dimmitt Bobcats

PLAINVIEW — The Plainview Bulldogs captured win No. two of the young cage season Friday night by dumping the class AA Dimmitt Bobcats 60-53.

Joe Childers pumped in 15 points to lead the Bulldgos while Mike Calvert netted 25 points for Dimmitt, runner-up in the class AA state race last year.

Plainview opened the season Tuesday night by beating AAA Hereford 65-46 while Dimmitt was losing 69-52 to Borger.

Shamrock Cagers Top Lefors Teams

SHAMROCK — Jerry Hernshire and Diane Gregg starred for Shamrock Friday night in leading the Irish's boys and girls team to a pair of cage wins over Lefors.

Hernshire popped in 19 points as the Shamrock boys stunned the Pirates 54 - 30 and Miss Gregg canned 20 points as the Irish girls tripped the Lefors team 44 - 25.

Anthony McCole led the Lefors boys with nine points and Shari Archer led the girls with nine points.

The loss was the second in a row for the Lefors boys.

Monterey Beaten By Midland High

MIDLAND—Monterey's Plainsmen were dropped from the undefeated ranks here Friday night by Midland 39 - 38.

Midland had to fight off a last period comeback by Monterey before ekeing out the triumph. The loss was the first in four games for the Plainsmen.

Midland led 11 - 6 at the end of the first period, 21 - 16 at halftime and 32 - 28 at the close of the third stanza.

Russ Wilkinson was high point man for Monterey with 13.

Yellowjackets Stomp Georgia Bulldogs 22-7

ATLANTA (UPI)—Halfback Bill Williamson, alternating blinding speed with sheer power, led Georgia Tech's Gator Bowl-bound Yellow Jackets to a 22-7 victory here Saturday over the Georgia Bulldogs.

A record crowd of 47,098 saw Williamson turn on his speed for two touchdowns and furnish vital yardage in between to enable the yellow Jackets to beat the Bulldogs for the first time since 1956.

The Jackets snapped that four-game losing streak with a vengeance. Except for one drive in the third period that gave them their only touchdown, the Bulldogs never had a chance against the hard-charging Tech line that stopped Georgia's rushing game cold and kept pressure on the passers all afternoon.

Williamson scored his first touchdown, midway through the second period when he took a pitchout from quarterback Billy Lothridge and tight-roped 30 yards down the sideline stripe.

His second tally came late in the fourth period when he turned Georgia's right end and ou ran a host of would-be tacklers on a six-yard jaunt into the end zone.

Georgia Tech, which now has a record of 7-3 for its best showing since 1956, got its first touchdown midway through the first period when quarterback Stan Gann climaxed a 56-yard march by foxing a Georgia defender on an option play and going unimpeded from eight yards out to score.

A few minutes later Tech got a break it did not need when Georgia quarterback Jake Saye had to fall on a bobbled punt attempt on his own 21. Lothridge, who had converted after Gann's touchdown, kicked a 26-yard field goal and Tech went ahead 10 - 0.

Georgia Tech marched 81 yards early in the second period with the last 30 yards coming on Williamson's run and was down on the Georgia 11-yard line late in the half, but was deprived of another score when Georgia halfback Don Blackburn intercepted a Gann pass in his own end zone.

Georgia's lone moment came midway through the third period when Saye found halfback Billy Knowles wide open and connected for a 30-yard touchdown pass. Durwood Pennington converted what was to be the Bulldogs' final point.

Oklahoma Romps Over OSU 21-13

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — The surging Oklahoma Sooners which lost its first five games, completed its big comeback Saturday by chalking up its fifth straight victory with a hard - fought 21 - 13 conquest of determined Oklahoma State.

The Sooners, in taking their 16th in a row from their traditional rival, before a crowd of 53,000, recovered two fumbles and one of their own kickoffs, scoring each time.

Quarterback Bob Page scored twice for Oklahoma and threw a vicious block that sprang left half Jimmy Carpenter loose for the third score.

Oklahoma State, a decided underdog and also bidding for a 5-5 season, struck first when fullback Bob Adcock tackled Carpenter in the end zone for a safety. Stung by that turn of events, reserve Sooner right end Jim McCoy recovered Oklahoma's kickoff on the Oklahoma State 43 and paved the way for the go - ahead touchdown, collected on a 2-yard burst by Page.

Oklahoma State, which gobbled up a Carpenter fumble of a Cowboy kick on the Oklahoma 21, moved goalward in the second quarter, but had to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Ted Davis.

Oklahoma State drove from the Oklahoma 43 in a fourth quarter for its only touchdown. Fullback Bill McFarland scored from the 4, and quarterback Jim Elliott hit right end Tommy Ward for the 2-point conversion.

Bill Meek Out As SMU Grid Coach

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) —Southern Methodist University announced Saturday it will not renew head football coach Bill Meek's contract at the end of the present season.

President Willis M. Tate expressed admiration for Meek as "a proven footbal lcoach and as a person" but said SMU officials felt "we must change our attack on our football problem."

"We feel the best way to do that is to obtain a new coach and to ask him, with Athletic Director Matty Bell, to lay careful plans to produce successful teams for SMU in the years ahead."

Meek became the second Southwest Conference football coach within a week to lose his job. Texas A&M announced last week it was not rehiring coach Jim Myers.

The executive committee of the SMU board of trustees took the action on Meek, and said the decision was reached Friday, before Saturday's season finale in which SMU tied Texas Christian 28-28.

"Meek has served under a five-year contract with the option resting with the university to renew the contract for an additional five years," the executive committee said. "Meek will remain on the staff of the university in a position assigned by SMU President Willis M. Tate. The nature of this appointment has not yet been determined."

Meek came to SMU in 1957 after serving as head coach at Kansas State and the University of Houston. In his five seasons, the Mustangs have compiled a record of 17-29-4. The 1960 edition was winless and this season's mark was 2-7-1.

The executive committee directed Bell to recommend candidates for the coaching post.

Speculation on a successor centered around two former SMU gridiron greats, Doak Walker and Kyle Rote, the latter now a professional with the New York Giants; and Bo Hagen, backfield coach at Rice University.

There had been weeklong speculation that Meek was on the way out. Signs appeared on the SMU campus Friday with the inscriptions, "Bye, Bye Bill and Bell," "Vote for Rote," and "We Want Walker."

Meek was told of the decision after Saturday's SMU-TCU game in Fort Worth. There was no indication whether he would accept the offer to remain on the SMU staff in another position.

Tate said in a statement:

"The fact that SMU, playing in the nation's most competitive football conference, has had two disappointing seasons in football does not lead us to the conclusion that we should de-emphasize football, which has always been a major sport on our campus.

Dumas Blasts Breckenridge

CHILDRESS (UPI) — All-state quarterback Mike Boxwell ran for three touchdowns and passed for a fourth Saturday in leading Dumas to a 34-8 victory over Breckenridge in Class AAA quarterfinal action.

The Demons held a 14-0 halftime lead and ran it to 20-0 in the third quarter before the Buckaroos scored on Troy Kennedy's one yard smash. Kennedy ran for the two point conversion.

Flanker Kelly Baker, Dumas all-state end, intercepted a Breckenridge pass in the final quarter on the 12 yard line and ran for the final touchdown.

Dumas held Breckenridge to a minus one yard in the air while rolling up 103 yards itself, and outgained the Buckaroos 339 to 157 overall.

Ray Turns Back Jefferson 26-7

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI)—Corpus Christi Ray turned three pass interceptions into touchdowns Saturday to roll past San Antonio Jefferson, 26-7, in a Class AAAA quarterfinals playoff.

Ray's Texans play Galena Park next Saturday in a semi-finals match at Galena Park.

Corpus Christi was outgained on the ground and in the air, but the Mustangs sent too many passes astray. Ray changed two stolen aerials into touchdowns in the first four minutes of action and played a conservative game the rest of the way.

Howard Crisp snagged the first interception on Jefferson's first play from scrimmmage and returned it to the San Antonio 15 yard line. Three plays later, Ray quarterback Kent Nix hit David Lyons on a 31-yard scoring pass.

A minute later, Jim Roach intercepted another pass from Mustang quarterback Donny Oefinger and returned it 35 yards for a touchdown.

2-A All-District Eleven...

Tigers Put 7 On Honor Team

District champion McLean landed seven players on the 2-A all - district grid eleven selected by the loop's coaches.

Four of them — Clyde Windom, Jim Watson, Kenny Willingham and Donnie Woods—were repeaters from the 1960 squad.

The seven players named to the honor team formed the nucleus of the Tiger club that recorded a 9-2 season record and swept throughout the 2-A race with an unblemished mark.

McLean lost only to White Deer 20 - 6 in regular season play and was beaten in bi-district by Gruver 13 - 0.

Other Tigers named to starting berths were sophomore defensive middle guard Bob Patton; Jim McCarty, sophomore defensive cornerbacker; and Joel Meacham at offensive tackle.

Willingham was named to the quarterback slot; Watson at offensive halfback; Woods gained honorable mention at offensive end and Windom was named to both the offensive and defensive teams — guard on offense and linebacker on defense.

The Lefors Pirates, who finished second behind McLean, placed two men each on the offensive and defensive eleven. Fullback Scott Dunham and halfback Rodney Airington were named to the offense with end Jerry Nichols and halfback Mickey Archer making the defense alignment.

Cellar dwelling Canadian only placed one player on the all - star selection and he was senior end Tom Waters.

Clarendon landed six players and Memphis put five on the all-district selection to round out the 22 berths.

The all - district team:

OFFENSE

CENTER—Ronald Ables, Memphis senior

GUARDS —Clyde Windom, McLean senior; Don Gailey, Memphis senior.

TACKLES —Joel Meacham, McLean junior; Charles Stout, Clarendon junior.

AFL Opens Draft Meet With Heated Disputes

Alabama In Sugar Bowl; Rips Auburn

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — The Alabama Crimson Tide, masterfully directed by all-conference quarterback Pat Trammell, brushed past arch rival Auburn, 34-0, here Saturday to wrap up its first perfect season since 1945. The powerful, second - ranked Crimson Tide, en route to the Sugar Bowl date New Year's Day with Arkansas, erupted for 17 points in the second period to tuck the annual intrastate battle swiftly away before 54,000 fans, the largest crowd ever to witness an athletic event in this state.

Alabama, which won its first Southeastern Conference championship in eight years, announced officially shortly after the game that it had accepted an invitation to play in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans Jan. 1. Arkansas was invited a week ago and accepted.

Trammell scored one touchdown himself on a one-yard buck and passed 11 yards to end Dick Williamson for another. Halfback Billy Richardson ran 11 and six yards for a pair of touchdowns and specialist Tim Davis booted field goals of 34 and 35 yards and added four conversions.

Alabama's gang - tackling defense, best in the country, played a major role in swamping the Tigers, setting up the first touchdown with a fumble recovery and turning back Auburn in four tries from the two-yard line in the last period.

Trammell's superb passing blended with a fierce running attack, spearheaded by fullbacks Mike Fracchia and Dink Wall along with Richardson.

In the second period scoring spree, with Auburn but a touchdown behind, Trammell guided an 80-yard touchdown march in 12 plays capped by his one-yard dive, then completed passes of 12 and nine yards to Red Wilkins before throwing to Williamson for the score in a 44-yard drive.

Alabama took the second half kickoff and, with Wall rushing for much of the yardage, pounded 67 yards before Richardson took a pitchout from Trammell to go over.

Auburn's only threat came with the game already sewed up. Against Alabama's reserves, the Tigers went from their own 15 to the Alabama two, 45 of those yards on a pass from quarterback Bobby Hunt to halfback, Don Machen.

Coach Paul Bryant, whose Tide had not been scored on in four games, rushed in his first string and three cracks at the Alabama line gained only one yard. A fourth down pass was batted down.

Bull Selected By Dallas Club

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—The American Football League, all above board and official this time, worked through its third annual draft Saturday while the last college football games were being played.

Sparks flew during the opening round when New York claimed Buffalo had "stolen" its first choice-All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse-and Commissioner Joe Foss refused to do anything about it.

The Titans had picked Davis as its first choice in a secret draft conducted by telephone several weeks ago and New York wanted Foss to honor it.

Foss declared the secret draft "null and void" and said he was standing by his decision. He ordered representatives of the teams to continue Saturday's official draft.

Harry Wismer, owner of the Titans, said in New York that he had not given up trying to sign Davis. But it appeared he will not only have to deal with the Bills, but with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League, which has indicated it plans to draft the Syracuse scatback when the NFL draft opens Monday.

After the opening round "tiff" between Steve Sebo, general manager of the Titans, and the Buffalo delegation and Foss, the team representatives settled down to work with little controversy.

They were trying to finish by a 5 p.m. (cst) deadline to give them time to leave Dallas in time to make it to Sunday afternoon games.

Sebo protested twice to Foss (once before the draft actually got underway) that the secret draft should be allowed to stand and that Davis rightfully belonged to New York.

"That is impossible," Foss said curtly. "Davis has been drafted by Buffalo."

That settled, New York took as its first round choice Sandy Stephens, quarterback from Minnesota.

Oakland, which as last place team in the standings got first pick, selected Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback. Denver picked tackle Merlin Olsen of Utah State, Dallas chose Baylor halfback Ronnie Bull, Boston selected Gary Collins, Maryland end; Houston took Ray Jacobs, a tackle from Howard (Tex.) Payne College and San Diego picked fullback Bob Ferguson of Ohio State.

Actually, through the first six rounds of Saturday's draft, there was considerable deviation from the secret draft that caused such a fuss because Foss had promised the NCAA the draft would not be conducted until the college schedule had been completed.

Out of the 48 players on the earlier draft, the same club got their secret draft picks 22 times and the rest either went to other clubs or were not picked at all. There were 11 new names out of the first 48.

In the second round, Oakland took Arkansas halfback Lance Alworth, Dallas took end Bill Miller of Miami (Fla.), Denver got Jerry Hillebrand of Colorado, Buffalo chose Glenn Glass, Tennessee halfback; New York picked Alex Kroll, a center from Rutgers, Boston chose Western Illinois halfback Leroy Jackson, Houston took Earl Gros, a fullback from Louisiana State, and San Diego picked Richard Smith Hudson, a Memphis (Tenn.) State tackle.

Backfield talent and flankers were at a premium in the earlier rounds, and the biggest premium appeared to be on Davis.

Wismer said he would do "everything possible" to get Davis under contract.

He said he planed to talk with Ralph Wilson, owner of the Bulls, about making a deal for Davis. Buffalo coach Buster Ramsey and general manager Dick Gallagher, in Dallas for the draft, refused to make any comment about dealing with the Titans.

Wismer said in New York that he had offered Davis a $25,000 bonus and that Davis was anxious to sign.

Groom Places Three On All-District '11'

Champion Groom and Texline grabbed three berths each on the district 1-B all-district first team selection released Saturday.

Quarterback Wes Cornett, halfback Eldred James and tackle John Koetting represented the Groom Tigers of coach Dwain Currie on the first team selection.

Currie's Tigers romped to their sixth straight district title this season and rolled past Bovina 12-6 and Anton 31-20 to hang up the regional 1 grid championship.

Cornett, a 6-2 senior, was the field general for the Tigers and his sharp passing blended with the brilliant running of James enabled Groom to chalk up seven consecutive wins at the season end.

James was the hero in the Tigers revenge victory over Anton in the regional clash. The 142-pound scatback tallied three times on runs of 35 and 12 yards and on a 60-yard pass from Cornett.

End David Sheets, tackle Ricky Waide and guard Bob Bleikner were the Texline representatives.

Texline's Tornadoes won one, lost seven and tied one this season.

Rounding out the first team at end Gerald Cagle, Claude; Larry Levit, Wheeler, tackle; Herlin Summers, Fritch, center; Larry Root, Texline, fullback; G. C. Baker, Wheeler and Ed Bartley, Claude at halfbacks.

There are 12 positions on the team due to a tie for the halfback slot. All of the selections are seniors with the exception of three sophomores — Roots, Summers and Bleiker.

Follett's Panthers placed five players on the second team and Groom landed four others on this unit.

Groom players receiving second team recognition were junior end Bill Ruthardt; senior tackle Wayne Kotara; senior halfback Lynn Barker and senior fullback Leroy Littlefield.

The Follett players gaining second team berths are end Jimmy Frazell, tackle Freddie Buxman, guard Tracy Ehrlich, center Steve Wilhite and quarterback Glen Love.

Other players on the second unit are tackle Bobby Meadows, Wheeler; guard Dickie Goodin, Claude; and halfback Jim Jolly Wheeler.

Johnny London, a Groom guard, received honorable mention.

Navy Trips Army On Soph's Score

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) President Kennedy, an old P-T boat skipper, saw Navy torpedo favored Army 13-7 Saturday on the destroyer running of speedy Bill Ulrich and the radar kicking of Gunner Greg Mather.

With Navy trailing, 7-3, Ulrich slashed 13 yards for the touchdown which put Navy ahead to stay before 101,000 persons headed by the brass and the braid. Mather booted the extra point and later followed up with his second field goal of the game to stow away the Middies' third straight triumph over the Cadets. There had been speculation that the winning team would be invited to oppose U.C.L.A. in the Rose Bowl. Later in the day, however, it was announced that the invitation had been given to the University of Minnesota.

Al Rushatz swept Army from behind in the third quarter this cold grey day at Philadelphia Stadium when he smashed over from the one - yard line. Dick Heydt added the point from placement to make it 7-3 but then the Navy took over again.

The Middies — always high and tricky for the big one—came up with something new again. The gimmick this time was equipping all of its eligible receivers in bright orange helmets while the remainder of the team wore regular Navy gold headgear.

The President, first chief executive to see the classic since President Truman in 1948, flipped the coin which started it all off and had to be secretly rooting for the arm of the service in which he had served.

But the Army had its inspirational heroes on hand as rooters, too, in men like Gen. Tony McAuliffe who told the Germans "nuts" when they demanded his surrender at Bastogne and Major Felix (Doc) Blanchard, one of their all-time grid greats now a bomber pilot just home from Europe.

The Middies cracked through in the second quarter when on the impetus of a 15 yard piling - on penalty they roared 58 yards to the Army 7. Klemick, whose passes accounted for 35 of those yards, was thrown back on the Army 14, but Mather stepped back and booted a 32 - yard field goal.

As the second half started, the grim Army team scored the first time it laid its hands on the ball —blasting 69 yards on six plays— and the piece de resistance to roaring Cadet corps was a 55-yard pass from Eckert to Tom Culver on the 13 yard line where he was hauled down by Navy's John Sai.

Rushatz slammed into the five, Eckert made it first down on the two and then Rushatz packed it over in two head-down charges.

But Navy wasn't sunk. The Middies bounced right back by throwing Eckert for a 15 - yard loss on the Army 14. Army booted out to Navy's 49 and the Navy scored in two dramatic plays.

Bob Hecht fired a pass to Jim Stewart on the Cadet 13, and then it was Ulrich, running like a frightened jack rabbit, bursting through tackle to go all the way. Mather's point put the middies in front, 10-7.

Late in the final period, gambling Army failed to come up with a first down on the 50 yard line. Navy took quick advantage of this break, battering to the 18 and then sending Mather back into kicking action again for a 36-yard-pointer that finished the scoring.

Duke Gridders Trample Notre Dame Irish 37-13

DURHAM, N.C., (UPI) Duke dazzled Notre Dame with a brilliant passing attack and dizzying catches that all blasted the Irish 37-13 before 35,000 fans Saturday.

Quarterbacks Walt Rappold and Gil Garner threw four touchdown passes—to swing ends who made basketball catches, plucked the balls from defenders' hands and even caught one sitting down.

Garner and Rappold passes sparked two other Duke marches that led to a fifth touchdown and set up a 31-yard field goal by halfback Bill Reynolds.

The Atlantic Coast champions snapped back smartly from the sting of a 54-yard scoring run by Irish halfback Angelo Dabiero on the game's fifth play from scrimmage. They tied the score before the first period ended and rolled up a total of 440 yards for the game—261 yards through the air.

Quarterback Frank Budka set up Notre Dame's second score by completing passes for 19 and 20 yards and running for eight on a 62-yard second period drive. Fullback Mike Lind scored it on a one-yard smash but a Budka pass for a two-point conversion was intercepted, and left Notre Dame first half.

It took Rappold just 40 seconds and three plays after the kickoff to post a third Duke touchdown. He lifted a 43-yard pass to swing end Pete Widener who took it over the hands of Dabiero on the Irish 16. On the next play Rappold rifled to Widener in the end zone.

Garner, a junior from Augusta, Ga., got Duke rolling in the first period, teaming with the swing end Stan Crisson and a 22-yard screen toss to Reynolds that went 59 yards in 11 plays with Garner sneaking for the score.

Duke captain Jack Wilson intercepted an Irish pass on the 9 in the second period and ran to the 32. Duke marched to the Notre Dame 21, aided by a nine-yard gain on interference call against Dabiero. Garner then threw to Crisson who knocked the ball high in the end zone and end Zoph Potts caught it for the touchdown.

Crisson caught a 10 yard pass from Rappold while sitting in the end zone in the fourth period, and moments later after a Garner interception, Garner passed 12 yards to swing end Jay Wilkinson who took the ball out of Lind's hands at the goal line for a final Duke touchdown.

Garner and Rappold completed 18 of 28 passes, a Duke record for passing in a single game. The touchdowns by passing in a season, breaking by one a record of 10 set in 1951.

Reynolds' eighth field goal today tied a 1938-40 Duke field goal record held by Ton Ruffa.

Miami Nudges Rugged Florida

GAINSVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Miami parlayed a George Mira pass for one score and a brilliant 93 - yard kickoff return by halfback John Bahen for another to beat gritty Florida 15-6 Saturday.

Mira, a free-throwing quarterback who was stalled by an alert Gator defense in the first half, hit halfback Nick Spinelli from seven yards out for the deciding score soon after halftime.

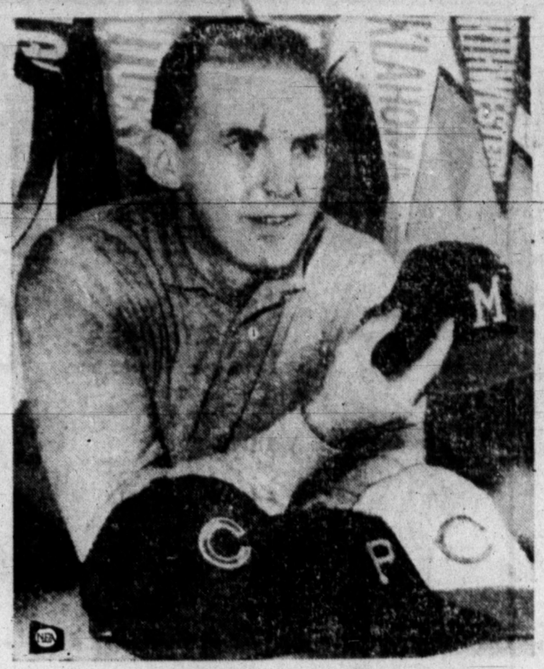

Bahen was nearly the goat of the game when he fumbled a punt in the second period which set up a one-yard scoring plunge by Florida fullback Don Goodman. It was Goodman's first touchdown of the season.

But 14 seconds later, Bahen took the kickoff and behind beautiful downfield blocking, raced down the left sideline for 93 yards to tie the score 6-6.

Miami's Bobby Wilson put the game on ice with a 19-yard field goal with eight and a half minutes left in the contest after the Gators had held the Hurricanes for three downs on their own three.

The Liberty Bowl-bound Hurricanes got their second score after moving 41 yards in four plays. The touchdown was set up by end Bill Miller who caught a Mira pass on the Gator 35 and tightroped down the sideline marker to the Florida 14.

Pampa Grid Banquet To Be Held Tuesday

The annual Pampa High School football banquet honoring the Harvesters and the Shockers will be held Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Robert Lee Junior High cafeteria with Texas Tech coach Berl Huffman appearing as the guest speaker.

Tickets for the banquet are still on sale at Malone Pharmacy and Richard Drug and will be on sale through Tuesday.

Huffman is the freshman grid mentor and varsity baseball coach at Texas Tech, where he has been affilitated for 10 years as a coach.

He formerly coached at White Deer in the early 1930's before going to Tech in 1935 where he served in various capacities through 1947 except for four years in the Air Force.

The Raiders lured Huffman back to the campus this fall after he had left coaching in 1952 to go into business. Huffman coached at New Mexico University from 1947-52.

Athletic director and interim coach Weldon Trice and coaches Dwaine Lyon, Eural Ramsey, Norman Phillips and Deck Woldt will select the player who will get the "Fighting Heart" award, and he will be presented at the banquet.

The football sweetheart and the candidates will also be presented at the banquet.

Raiders Eke Past Buffs, 16-14

LUBBOCK Tex. (UPI) —Texas Tech rode the magic kicking toe of reserve fullback H. L. Daniels to a come-from-behind 16-14 victory over West Texas State in a neighborhood battle aturday.

Tech managed an 80-yard scoring drive in the second quarter but had to call on Daniels for three field goals to punch out the hard fought win. Daniels hit on two attempts from the 23 yard line and added the third from the nine yard line.

Pete Pedro, with 22 touchdowns for the season, failed to score, but set up both State scores in the first quarter on end sweeps.

Fumbles by Tech led to both Buffalo touchdowns, after Tech had scored a field goal after recovering a fumble on the State 15.

Quarterback Jim Dawson scored on a keeper from the four, and junior college transfer Ollie Ross raced over tackle from eight yards out to give State an early 14-3 lead.

From then on it was Tech and Daniels, with the sophomore running his scoring total for the season to 26 points.

Tech's win boosted it's record to 4-6, while the Buffaloes ended with a 6-4 mark.

A crowd of 25,000 watched the backyard battle in 70-degree weather.

Tech mounted an 80-yard march late in the second quarter for its only touchdown.

Quarterback John Lovelace hit to the State 47 on two keepers and then fired a 29-yard pass to end Bob Witucki on the Buffalo 29.

Erickson HAIR and SCALP SPECIALISTS
World's Largest Home Treatment System

Will Be In Borger, Texas
Tomorrow, Monday Only

The Erickson Hair and Scalp Specialists' Staff Director R. J. Webber on his regularly scheduled visit will be at the Borger Hotel Borger, Texas, Monday, December 4. Every hair - worried person should take advantage of this great opportunity.

The Erickson method is known all over the United States. You can have a conference with the Erickson representative regarding your hair and scalp problems at no cost to you whatsoever, learn how the scalp treatmens work, and the results you can expect in a short period of time.

Results guaranteed by the Erickson organization. We don't ask you to take our word. You will be given a written guarantee from the beginning to end on a pro-rated basis.

The Erickson scalp method, or any other method, is of no value against excessive hair loss due to male pattern baldness. The person shown above does not have male pattern baldness. If you are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss the Erickson scalp method can not help you.

If you have dandruff, excessive hair fall, thinning hair, excessive oiliness or dryness, itchy scalp, or if your scalp is still creating hair you should take 20 minutes of your time to see what you can do.

Thousands have reported satisfaction from the Erickson Scalp Method. Why burden yourself with unhealthy hair and scalp? Anyway it costs you nothing to come in and learn how thousands have been helped by the years of Erickson experience plus the wonderful opportunity for help it offers. Just go to the Borger Hotel in Borger, Texas on Thursday, December 4 only between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Ask the Hotel Desk Clerk for R. J. Webber, he will do the rest.

Interviews are given in private. You will not be embarrassed in any way.

Kit Kat Klub's Ball

KIT KAT KLUB presented 12 pledges from the 1961 Rush Season at a formal ball on November 24 in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn.
Ballroom decorations carried out a "Roses In November" theme. For a related story see Page 18. Photos on this page by Clarence Qualls Studio.

CIRCLE PHOTO — Miss Janna Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Conner, 1165 Neel Rd., was selected by Kit Kat Klub members as Best Pledge from the 1961 rush season. Miss Conner, escorted by James Nanney, wore a floor-length gown of aqua net over aqua taffeta fashioned with multi-tiers of tiny ruffles encircling the bouffant skirt. She was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Miss Janie Thompson, who was Best Pledge for 1960.

UPPER LEFT PHOTO — Standing, left, Miss Sandra Tomson, niece of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Fain, 2140 Chestnut, wore a floor-length formal of Powder Puff Blue satin brocade fashioned with a strapless, fitted bodice enjoined to a bell-shaped skirt complemented with elbow-length white gloves. She was escorted by Bill Vandover.
Standing, center, Miss Mary Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Davidson, 2020 Alcock, was escorted by Teddy Malone. She was gowned in a floor-length yellow net with the bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, encircled with deep ruffles of net lace. A yellow satin cummerbund accented the lace bodice.
Standing, right, Miss Marylin Davenport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Davenport, 2520 Christine, wore a floor-length gown of embossed white satin with opera-length gloves. She was escorted by Bill Hughes.

Seated, center, Miss Ann Qualls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Qualls, 2145 Aspen, was escorted by Richard Rexroat. Her floor-length gown was of lavendar net over matching taffeta fashioned with a shirred net bodice and multi-tiered bouffant skirt encircled with tiny ruffles.
Seated, right, Miss Elaine Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hawkins, 2317 Duncan, wore a floor-length formal of pink net over pink taffeta. Rows of tiny ruffles encircled the neckline and formed a cope-effect on the shoulders. The bouffant skirt, tiered with double ruffles, was enjoined to a bodice of shirred pink net. She was escorted by Bobby Ashby.

Seated right, Miss Betty Enright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Enright, 2520 Christine, wore a floor-length formal of white net over white taffeta accented with a pearl bodice. She was escorted by Jimmy Hayler.

Seated, center, Miss Linda Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller, 2408 Christine, wore a white, floor-length formal designed with multi-tiers of ruffled chiffon and lace. She was escorted by Gordie Schultz.
Seated, right, Miss Linda Francis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Francis, 2230 Duncan, wore a floor-length formal of white Chantilly lace designed with tiers of ruffled net edged with Chantilly lace. The strapless bodice was encircled at the waistline with a red satin cummerbund. She was escorted by Delbert Graves.

Miss Kenney Becomes Bride Of J. R. Nunn

SKELLYTOWN (Spl) — Miss Yvonne Kenney became the bride of James Ross Nunn at 6:30 p.m. on November 22 with vows solemnized in the First Baptist Church of Skellytown by Reverend W. M. Hall.

Miss Kenney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kenney, Skelly Schafer Camp, Skellytown. Mr. Nunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nunn of Dumas.

The double-ring service was performed against a background of greenery, baskets of white gladioli and branched candelabra.

Miss Judith Riddell of Amarillo, organist, provided the prenuptial airs, the traditional processional and recessional. Miss Joyce Smith of Canyon, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Bridal Prayer". The bridegroom sang "Whither Thou Goest" as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

BRIDE

The bride was gowned in a ballerina-length white chiffon velvet, fashioned with a scalloped neckline, fitted tapered sleeves and full skirt. Her shoulder - length veil of Silk Illusion fell from a rhinestone studded tiara. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carolyn Gray of Bowie and former college roommate of the bride, attended as maid of honor. She wore a royal blue sheath with small matching hat and slippers. Her corsage was white carnations.

Larry Oglesby, nephew of the bride, carried the rings to the bridal pair. Ralph and Vicki Oglesby, nephew and niece of the bride, lighted the candles.

J. A. Nunn, bridegroom's father, was best man. Seating the guests were Bob Oglesby of Canyon and John Nash of Amarillo, brothers-in-law of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kenney wore a beige lace, over matching taffeta dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Nunn, chose a dusty rose lace over taffeta dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Skelly Schafer Club House with the bride's table appointed with a white net cloth over white satin centered with an arrangement of carnations in a crystal compote, flanked with white tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. John Nash and Mrs. Bob Oglesby, sisters of the bride, presided at the cake and punch service. Miss Virginia Andrews of Canyon registered the guests.

For a brief wedding trip, the bride traveled in a Royal Blue sheath with Winter White accessories complemented with a white rosebud corsage from the wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Nunn was graduated from White Deer High School and attended West Texas State College, Canyon for two years. She is presently employed at Pioneer Natural Gas Company in Amarillo.

Mr. Nunn is a senior student at West Texas State College, Canyon. He is employed with Piggly Wiggly Stores in Amarillo. They will make their home at 1534 E. 5th, Amarillo.

Kit Kat Klub Presents Pledges At Formal Ball Held In Coronado Inn

(See pictures on Page 17)

Kit Kat Klub honored its 12 pledges at a formal Presentation Ball held November 24 in the Starlight Room of the Coronado Inn with Charlie Rhyne's orchestra playing for dancing.

Pledges from the 1961 rush season presented were Misses Sandra Tomson, Ann Qualls, Martha Patillo, Marilyn Davenport, Betty Enright, Linda Miller, Nancy Nutting, Rhona Walker, Linda Francis, Elaine Hawkins, Janna Conner, and Mary Davidson.

The ballroom carried out the Presentation theme "Roses In November."

A garden setting with white wrought - iron furniture, a birdbath accented with roses, trees draped with Angel Hair trimmed with roses and artificial birds sitting in the branches, flanked with candelabra formed the setting for the presentation.

Pledges were escorted down a red carpeted path to an archway entwined with roses with candelabra branches, where they were presented by Miss Carol Jean Wilson, Kit Kat Klub president. Each new member was presented with a red satin pillow trimmed with lace holding a single, white long - stemmed rose.

Miss Janna Conner was named Best Pledge from the 1961 rush season and was presented with a bouquet of red roses by the Best Pledge of 1960, Miss Janie Thompson.

Preceding the ball, pledges and their escorts were guests at a Punch Party given in the home of Miss Linda Miller, 2408 Christine. Following the ball, the new members were guests for a breakfast and slumber party in the home of Miss Nancy Nutting, 1600 Williston.

Adult sponsors attending the ball were Mrs. Doyle Ward and Mrs. Clay Crossland. They were assisted by Mmes. Glen Maxey, Don Cole, James Culpepper and Mr. Doyle Ward.

Pamoa Poet Reads For El Progresso

Aubra Nooncaster presented excerpts from his book of poetry "Interim Days" at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of El Progresso Club held in the home of Mrs. V. J. Drew, 2124 Chestnut.

Mr. Nooncaster prefaced the reading of his poems with a background of each and what prompted him to write about a particular subject.

The afternoon's guest was introduced by Mrs. Elmer Fisher.

Mrs. Jess Clay, president, presided during a brief business meeting.

Members attending, not previously mentioned were Mmes. J. F. Curtis, W. R. Ewing, John Gill, Verl Hagaman, George Hrdlicka, Charles Lanehart, Kermit Lawson, Bob McCoy, Tom Perkins, Glen Radcliff, George Walstad, and Harold Wright.

Dinner And Dance Planned By Rho Eta

Plans for a Progressive Dinner to be held Dec. 12 and a Christmas Dance to be held Dec. 9 were discussed at a meeting of the Rho Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held in the home of Mrs. Haldane Suttle, 2134 Beech on Tuesday evening.

A program on "Christmas Decorations and Ideas" was presented by Mrs. Bill Duncan.

A Christmas motif was carried out in the refreshment table decorations.

Mrs. Doug McBride and Mrs. Duncan assisted Mrs. Suttle with hostess duties.

It was announced that the next meeting will be held with Mrs. Mack White on Dec 12 at 8 p.m. in her home, 605 Magnolia.

"Flavor Of France" Topic For Meeting

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Paul Bryant was hostess to the Woman's Club Tuesday evening.

The program for the evening "Flavor of France" was presented by Mrs. H. S. Wilbur, who spoke on Paris as a center of fashion, food and follies, on the French vineyards and roses and a visit to Versailles.

Slides of their recent trip to France were shown by Mr. Wilbur with a commentary by Mrs. Wilbur.

The Wilburs also showed slides taken of the decorations designed and executed by Maurice Bernson for a recent banquet in the geodesic dome at Borger.

A musical selection, "I Love Paris" was sung by Mrs. C. H. Lansdown, Mrs. Hugh Wilson and Mrs. Ben Ezzell, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Dillman.

During the business meeting, with Mrs. George E. Tubb, presiding, the group voted to contribute to the Texas Tuberculosis Society and to Girls Town and to send a box of Christmas gifts to the State Hospital at Wichita Falls.

The hostess served refreshments to one guest, Mrs. Jack King, and to the members present, Mmes. C. W. Allen, Morris Bennett, Erbin Crowell, Robert Dillman, Ben Ezzell, R. M. Hobdy, G. F. Hoover, A. S. Jackson, John H. Jones, C. H. Lansdown, J. B. Lindley, H. H. Marks, E. H. Morris, James Price, George E. Tubb, Charles Vignal, H. S. Wilbur, Hugh Wilson, J. L. Yokley and Miss Daisy Childers. Seasonal favors were presented to the guests.

Hobby Club With Mrs. Gwaltney

CANADIAN (Spl) — The Hobby Club met Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Pascal Gwaltney. Mrs. John Ball presided at the business meeting during which plans were made for a Christmas sale to be held December 9 in the Abraham building. Christmas centerpieces, corsages and other seasonal items will be sold. Also during the day, Santa Claus pictures will be made for 75 cents each.

Also during the business session, plans were made for the annual Christmas party to be held in the home of Mrs. Ball on Dec. 18 at 6:30. A covered dish supper and gift exchange will be featured.

An election of officers was held with Mrs. Warren Pickens elected president for the coming year. Vice-president elect is Mrs. Coy Holman, secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Joe Cullender and reporter, Mrs. Don Schaef.

A workshop followed the business meeting, with members working on Christmas centerpieces.

The hostess served refreshments to Mmes. John Ball, Dwayne Dallas, Carrol Carr, Warren Pickens, Coy Holman, Pat Roberts, Bill Popham and Joe Cullender.

Long-Bichsel Solemnize Vows In Church Rites

Miss Marjorie Joyce Long and Robert Emil Bichsel were united in marriage with wedding vows solemnized on Nov. 4 at seven o'clock in St. Vincent dePaul Catholic Church. The Rev. Fr. Ronald Ramson officiated for the double-ring service.

Miss Long is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Long, 210 W. Harvester. Mr. Bichsel is the son of Mr. and Mrs L. M. Bischel of White Deer.

Tracy Cary, at the organ, provided the traditional wedding music and as soloist sang "Ave Maria."

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length white Chantilly lace and tulle over white satin designed with a Sweetheart yoke extending in tulle to a Chantilly lace Peter Pan Collar. Tapered sleeves of Chantilly lace extended to petal points over the hands. The bouffant skirt of tulle was fashioned with a Chantilly lace peplum with an inset panel of lace extending down the front of the skirt to the hemline.

Her fingertip Veil of French Illusion was held to a Queen's Crown of pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade of red roses.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Beverly Cooper was maid of honor and the bride's sister, Miss Mary Ann Long was bridesmaid. They were dressed identically in blue peau de soie frocks complemented with white carnation bouquets accented with blue.

Gerald Bichsel served his brother as best man. Jerry Long, bride's brother, was groomsman. Ushers were Lewis Meers, bride's nephew and Willy Bichsel Jr. of Panhandle, bridegroom's nephew.

Altar boys were Nicky and Chuck Albus, nephews of the bridegroom.

Ringbearers were Vicky Long and Ronnie Meers, nephews of the bride. Miss Margaret Bichsel, bridegroom's niece, was flower girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emil Bichsel
. . . nee Marjorie Joyce Long

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Long chose a light blue wool dress with a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Bichsel, bridegroom's mother, wore a blue wool dress with a white carnation corsage.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was appointed with a white lace cloth centered with a floral arrangement of white carnations accented with blue to carry out the bride's chosen colors of blue and white.

Mrs. Carolyn Montgomery and Mrs. Joe Gayden presided at the punch service. Mrs. Geraldine Brummett served from the three-tiered cake, which was decorated with blue and white roses and topped with a bridal couple.

Mrs. Ella Long was guest registrar.

Other members of the house-party were Mmes. H. L. Meers Mrs. Loretta Long, Mrs. Robert Mauldin.

For a wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride traveled in a white wool dress complemented with black accessories and the red roses corsage taken from her bridal bouquet.

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School in 1961 and the bridegroom from White Deer High School in 1958.

GS Troop 63 Plans Party

LEFORS (Spl) — Dec. 12 is the date set for the Christmas Party of the Girl Scout Troop 63 of Lefors. Party Plans were made at the regular meeting of the troop with their leaders, Mrs. F. M. Cos and Mrs. Don Robison, in the scout house recently.

Mrs. Mary Duncan, president, presided at the business meeting.

Following adjournment of the business meeting, the girls worked on multi - colored pillows for Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Sheila Collins, hostess, served refreshments of ice cream.

Visitors were Peggy and June Cox. Members present were Terri Bryant, Candy Cox, Bennie White, Larry Sue Glick, Betty Barnett, Janice James, Patsy McDowell and Margaret Robison.

For the girl who has everything, a police whistle might come in handy.

Cook-Whitener Repeat Marriage Vows In Afternoon Rites In Bride's Home

CANADIAN (Spl) — Miss Ada Leen Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cook of Gem Community, and William Arthur Whitener of Wheeler were united in marriage on Thanksgiving Day at 5:30 in the afternoon in the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Whitener of Wheeler.

Vows for the informal ceremony were read by the Rev. Joe Snead, pastor of the Victory Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of white brocade cotton with a short two-tiered veil of white tulle falling from a feathered bandeau. She carried a bouquet of white roses with cascades of white satin streamers.

Attending her sister as matron-of-honor was Mrs. Reta Chumbley of Perryton, who chose a dress of gold brocade. Miss Nancy Whitener, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and wore a dress of off-white brocade. Both attendants carried bouquets of bronze Fugii mums.

David Cook, brother of the bride, was the best man. The usher was Tom Chumbley of Perryton, Winfred Nowlin served as groomsman. The candlelighter was Billy Snead.

Clyde Ray Cain sang "Whither Thou Goest," accompanied by Mrs. Cain, who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Two seven - candle candelabra tied with greenery and bronze ribbons served as background for the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature figures of a bridal couple, was served by Mrs. Cain. Golden punch was served by Miss Linda Henderson.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, Austin and Denison, the bride wore a beige suit with brown accessories.

After Dec. 11, the couple will be at home at Wheeler.

Mrs. Whitener was graduated from Canadian High School and has been employed for several months in Amarillo. Mr. Whitener was graduated from Wheeler High School and Howard Payne Baptist University. He is the pastor of the Gem Baptist Church.

Brownies Name New Officers

LEFORS (Spl) — Brownie Troop 66 met recently in the Scout House for election of officers.

New officers are Dandra Cain, president; Paula Beck, vice president; Elaine Foshee, secretary; Susan Cain, treasurer; Peggy Cox, parliamentarian; Debra Boyd, scrap - book; Margie Chastina, reporter.

It was announced the next meeting will be on Dec 1.

Miss Cain was hostess during the social hour.

Present were, Mrs. Leonard Cain, Mrs. F. M. Cox, leaders; Marsha Brewer, Vickie Cochran, Diane Hughes, Patricia Moxson, Gaylene Swenn Evelyn Cullon and Rose Ann Cunningham.

Take It From Kathy

. . . . by kathy peterson

Dear Kathy: When I am near a girl, my face gets red and I don't know what to say. All the other boys in school date and they want me to join them.

They like me to go along because my dad gives me a bigger allowance and I have more money to spend. They think I am an awful creep because I don't go.

Some of the girls in the crowd have made fun of me after I tried to talk to them.

When I tell my dad, he just says, "You'll have your day, don't rush it." That doesn't help. I'm very unhappy right now.—Jimmy.

Dear Jimmy: The demonstrative people in a group occupy center stage. Shy ones become satellites. You'll find it easier to talk to girls one by one, without a group of buddies listening.

Don't pick the most popular girl for a start. You'll have too much competition.

Choose one who seems quiet and understanding, then look for opportunities to chat.

Just a "hello" at school with a comment about the history exam will do for a start. Find out as much as you can about the things she likes so you can work them into conversations.

Each time you make the effort, it should be a little easier. When you feel brave enough, suggest a snack after school or ask if you can walk her home.

A couple of "No, thank you" answers just mean that you should make the effort with a different girl.

Social ease comes gradually. It takes times and practice to feel at ease socially. Keep trying!

The boys haven't helped to build your self - confidence. Friends don't ridicule you, nor do they expect you to pay for their fun. So don't make the mistake of trying to buy friendship.

A BRAND NEW MONTH that leads to a brand new year . . . already the flourish of the holidays is beginning to make an appearance around town . . . the silver, gold, and red street decorations are up . . . store windows are adding a dash of color and to beckon to shoppers who are beginning to crowd the streets . . . school windows are becoming murals with religious connotations . . . on Ballard Street, parking meters are entwined with greenery and tied with large red bows . . . Treble Clef Club organists members and the Madrigal Singers, directed by Rosemary Lawlor are inaugurating the Yule season with a Christmas Concert on Tuesday evening in St. Matthews Episcopal Church to which the public is invited . . . a crashing thought is, what would Christmas be without the beautiful music that is so much a part of it and the happiest link to our childhood memories of Christmas???

IN OUR MAIL this week, a note from a friend and some thoughts for your consideration entitled "TEN COMMANDMENTS:"

I. THOU SHALT do honor to Christ, the Lord, on Christmas.
II. THOU SHALT not spend and be spent before Christmas until thy money is all gone, and thy strength is all gone, and thou comest to the day, bowed-in weariness, debts and regrets.
III. THOU SHALT not take the Christ out of Christmas.
IV. THOU SHALT remember Christmas Day and keep it holy.
V. THOU SHALT make Christmas Day, a home day, when thy family gather and rest together and family fellowship takes precedence over all; when father and mother, sister and brother, are more closely bound to Christian love.
VI. THOU SHALT not fuss and stew.
VII. THOU SHALT not give to anyone more than thou art able.
VIII. THOU SHALT not forget the needy.
IX. THOU SHALT declare "Merry Christmas" to thy neighbor and mean it.
X. THOU SHALT conduct thy life during Christmas that there will be no hangover, either mental or physical, moral or spiritual, or financial. For the Lord will not hold him guiltless, who lives this day in vain.

Maryland Traditions Described At Forum

Twentieth Century Forum Club met in the home of Mrs. Arthur Teed on Tuesday afternoon.

Following the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. W. L. Ellis, president, Mrs. Jack McCrery presented a program on the state of Maryland.

Mrs. McCrery opened her discussion with the interesting statement that "each state has its own personality in temperament and physique" and expressed the hope that "should she ever visit the state of Maryland that she would seem an old friend rather than a stranger."

"Maryland has a very irregular shape," Mrs. McCrery said in a desciption of the geography of the state. "It is almost bi - sected by Chesapeake Bay; the Eastern Shore and the Western Shore or Maryland Main, as it is sometimes called."

Maryland," she said, "is one of the original thirteen colonies and was admitted to the Union in 1788. It is known as the Old Line state or the Free State and it's northern boundary is a part of the Mason - Dixon Line."

"Some of the things we think of when we hear the name Maryland are the Baltimore Orioles or the Colts; the United States Naval Academy and John Hopkins Hospital. Edgar Allan Poe lived in Baltimore, died and was buried there. The Preakness, a race for three - year - old colts, was started in Mary land in 1873 and is still run annually."

"The first white explorer in that region was Captain John Smith in 1607. The first white settlement was established in 1634 and was called Maryland in honor of Henrietta Maria, wife of the royal granter, Charles I."

"Washington, D. C. became the capitol of the United States in 1800," Mrs. McCrery continued. "Its area was originally 100 square miles taken from the sovereignty of Maryland and Virginia."

"There have been three towns in Maryland bearing the name of Baltimore. The first two failed and were annulled. The third on the Patpsco River "took" in 1729. The commission bought from Charles and Daniel Carroll, a tract of 60 acres, which is now the heart of down - town Baltimore. The price of the land was 40 shillings an acre in money or in tobacco at the rate of a penny a pound."

"On September 12, 1814, British Troops marched on Baltimore and on the 13th the British fleet bombarded Fort McHenry well into the night. On the 14th, "by the dawn's early light", Francis Scott Key saw "that our flag was still there".

"Maryland is a state with great traditions. Long ago, when George Washington was in residence at Mt. Vernon, it was to nearby Annapolis that he was accustomed to resort when he felt the need of a break in the placid serenity of country life; for at Annapolis, he could count on a good dinner, a good wine, a good horse race, and, especially in the winter, a ball graced by the presence of pretty women."

In concluding remarks, Mrs. McCrery said, "If George were to return to earth today he could resume his routine with no trouble. The dinners are not as stupendous, but the cooking has improved, the wines are better, the tracks and horses are faster, the balls are somewhat less formal, but many say the women are more beautiful."

Nowadays housebroke refers to the financial condition of the fellow who has just built a new home.

Meaning Of Christmas Civic Culture Program

"The Meaning of Christmas", was presented as the program theme for the Civic Culture Club held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. A. C. Houchin, 1542 Williston.

The program was comprised of "The Real Meaning of Christmas" given by Mrs. C. F. Pennington and Mrs. Axelson, who read the story "Stop Over At Bethlehem."

In discussing "The Real Meaning of Christmas," Mrs. Pennington said "As the Christmas season draws near, we feel the surge of joy in our hearts. No other day holds so much fascination for the people of the Christian faith as does the birthday of Jesus. Let us not forget the real meaning of Christmas."

"Christmas is many things. It is the wonder of a child at the first snowflake, the tenderness of a mother rocking her baby to sleep; the quiet strength of a father reading a story to his children. . .all cuddled close and warm in front of the fire."

"Christmas is the love that knits together a family across distance and time."

"Christmas is the shining hope of peace that can unite the world, the faith that has endured since Christmas began. It is the remembrance of the child of Bethlehem."

Mrs. Pennington read scripture from Luke 1:46-55. Mary's song and from Luke 2:1-20 the birth of Jesus.

She continued, "We live in a far different hour and a far different world than hour and world that saw Joseph and Mary trudging down the dustry road to Bethlehem to pay their taxes. Today, armed with the miracle and magic of science and technology, men are looking enviously at distant planets, envisioning their own eventual triumph over the whole universe. Yet despite all that science and technology has taught us, man must still turn to the teachings of a simple nazarene, a carpenter by trade who lived centuries ago, to gain his own soul."

"Christmas is still above all else, the festival of the birth of Christ, Mrs. Pennington said in closing remarks. "At Christmastime, we realize that Christ in our hearts and Christ in our lives is Gods supreme gift to us. . .to guide our lives, to provide a solution to our problems, to show us the real meaning of Love and Peace and Good-Will.

- Members attending were Mmes. R. E. Dauer, A. D. Hills, W. C. Scott, Katie Vincent, C. F. Pennington, Carl E. Axelson, K. A. Sorenson, Stanley Brandt, Irvin Cole, W. J. Morris, George Neef, Emmett Osborne, J. B. Townsend and H. W. Waters.

Pioneer Club With Mrs. Ike Simpson

CANADIAN (Spl) — Mrs. Ike Simpson was hostess to the Pioneer Club Monday afternoon.

Those present were Mmes. J. B. Lindley, Charles Teas, F. D. Teas, Tom Hext, Ben Beard and John H. Jones.

Mrs. Jones presided at the business meeting.

The devotion on "Sharing" was brought by Mrs. Charles Teas and the program on the United Nations by Mrs. F. D. Teas.

The group voted to give money at Christmas time to three organizations.

Refreshments were served during the social hour.

Foreign Mission Week Of Prayer Noted By Central Baptist Missionary Society

The Foreign Mission Week of Prayer was observed by the Womans Missionary Society of Central Baptist Church this week. "Good Tidings. . .to all People was the general program topic.

Monday morning, the program was "tidings of Great Joy." "Silent Night" was sung by the group. Mrs. Charles Terrell, prayer chairman, read the calendar of prayer and made the announcements for the weeks programs. Mrs. J. B. Hilbun led in prayer.

Scripture was read by Mrs. Norris Hail. Program parts on mission work in Southern Rhodesia were given by Mmes. R. C. Brown, Jack Cullison, and B. J. Fulcher. Directed prayer time was led by Mrs. A. R. Newman, with Mmes. T. O. Upshaw, Leon Brown, and Newman offering prayer.

The program was closed with a solo by Mrs. Don Turner.

Tuesday and Thursday mornings the circles met in members homes for program and prayer.

On Wednesday night, at the church, the film, "Lottie Moon Story" was shown. Miss Lottie Moon was a pioneer Baptist missionary to China, whose life has been the inspiration for the annual foreign mission offering at Christmas.

Friday morning, the women met again at the church for business meeting, program, and prayer. Mrs. L. R. Tyson, vice-president, presided over the business.

The program followed the singing of Christmas carols and scripture reading.

Mrs. Charles Terrell read the calendar of prayer and Mrs. R. E. Warren led in prayer.

Program parts were presented by Mmes. Leon Brown, Claude Turner, Fred Clark, Jr., Gene McClendon, Ralph Prock, Wayne Cobb, and T. O. Upshaw. Mrs. Don Turner sang a solo, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The meeting was closed as the women brought offerings for foreign missions.

If you take up a salesperson's time, be gracious enough to thank her.

Facets Of Creative Mind Discussed By Twentieth Century Club Speaker

Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Albert Knox, 2112 Chestnut.

Mrs. R. W. Stowers, president, in a brief business meeting preceding the meeting announced that the Pampa Key Club will present the program for the Christmas meeting.

"Strengthening the Link Of Expression Through Creative Writing," the program topic, was discussed by Mrs. Lorene Locke, past president of Panhandle Pen Women and writer of historical and hobby features for the Pampa Daily News, Miami Chief, Amarillo Globe News and the Denver Post.

In introducing the program and Mrs. Locke, Mrs. Paul Harbaugh stated that "producing any art is self expression."

In opening remarks, Mrs. Locke said, "Of all creation only man has the power of self expression through creative thinking. Writers operate under a private necessity to put things down on paper that they hope for all the world to see. But with this dream goes the hope that the unseen author, by power of pen and clarity of mind and clearness of observation, may light up for somebody in the unseen audience some tiny corner of the world in which we live."

"Writing is a craft, which takes talent, time, desire, perserverance, inventiveness and work," Mrs. Locke continued. "There must be communication between the ardtist and the reader." The speaker concluded that "writing is the most arduous and disciplined work in the world for it is pure creation coming solely from the heart and soul of man. It absorbs you utterly; you are a slave to it. But what can a writer do? He must write. That is his destiny and his curse. There is nothing like it!"

Members present were Mmes. Bob Andis, G. F. Branson, W. R. Campbell, F. M. Culberson, Jack Foster, Paul Harbaugh, Raymond Harrah, L. M. Hicks, Albert Knox, Lorene Locke, R. E. McKernan, Fred Neslage, Bill Roots, Tom Rose, R. H. Sanford, H. E. Stanfield, R. W Stowers and H. R. Thompson.

Dear Abby....

Woman Overdoes Children Commercials

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am positively going out of my mind over a situation that has developed at my place of work. A woman who works with me constantly brags about her children. Abby, no matter what the topic of conversation is, she turns it back to her children. Their honors, their brilliance, their popularity, their superiority!!!

It is affecting my work. Other people in the office feel the same way about her, but no one wants to tell her what a bore she is for fear of hurting her feelings. Is there a solution?

FED UP TO HERE

DEAR FED UP: You can (1) avoid her as much as possible. (2) Level with her in a "friendly" way by telling her that she is overdoing the "commercials" on her children and, unless she wants to be entirely without friends, she should cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: I gave my boy friend a big colored picture of myself for Christmas last year. Now we have broken up and I would like to have my picture back. Would it be all right for me to write to him and ask him to send it back? He has no use for it. He lives 150 miles away.

JUDI

DEAR JUDI: It was more than a "picture" — it was a Christmas present. Let him keep it.

DEAR ABBY: We live in a small town and my problem is becoming so serious I think I will not have any peace of mind unless we move. We have four children (I will not mention their ages, but they are now all in school). There are four other children in the same school who look so much like my children that the teachers and students are forever getting them mixed up. Two of these children (not mine) were "adopted" and the other two are children of two families with whom my husband and I have had friendships of long standing.

People laugh and joke and gossip about this "coincidence." My husband laughs, too. But to tell you the truth, Miss Van Buren, I can't hold up my head any more.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN DOUBT: I don't know what your husband does for a living, but whatever he does, he can do it in another town. Ask him to quit laughing and start thinking about relocating.

Espaliered Plants Form Geometric Patterns

SOLUTION FOR SMALL GARDEN — Mrs. Loyse Caldwell, 1310 Hamilton, is shown administering the necessary pruning to a young nectarine tree, which she is training in an espaliered form.

By R. L. STUDEBAKER
Horticulturist

Espaliered plants are plants which have been trained, usually in symetric geometric patterns against or to a means of support such as a fence, wall, or trellis, and due to their man-made form, espaliers remain different in relation to other plants.

The origin of these trained plants was a result of sheer necessity. European gardeners have gardened centuries longer than gardeners of the North American continent; however, due to heavy population, most European gardeners are limited as to the space, which can be alloted to large, woody plants.

Everyone is conscious of the large size that fruit trees attain if not continually pruned. Also, a fact well known is that all gardeners strive to grow fruit-bearing trees.

The European's love for growing fruit trees is no different from that of the Americans, but the Europeans have developed training trees to fences and trellises because of the limited space which they have to garden. In this respect these gardeners can have their fruit bearing trees in attractive forms but grown in a much less amount of space.

Originally fruit trees were espaliered, but gradually other types of plants were trained as espaliers. Currently in the United States, plants such as honeysuckle, pyracantha, English ivy, and even oaks are being used as espaliers. Evergreen and berried plants trained in diamond patterns on brick or concrete block fences are attractive eye-catchers throughout the year.

Southern Magnolia is sometimes espaliered, but because of its large, coarse leaves in relation to the size of the plant, the overall effect of this plant is less desirable. Less coarse plants with smaller leaves are available for use, and with the advent of the many varieties of dwarf fruit trees espaliered plants are gaining in popularity.

Espaliered plants are trained into almost any geometric pattern. The more common forms seen are those of diamonds, triangles, U's, V's, double U's, Y's, fans, and candlelabras.

Pruning and training of the plants are preformances, which require considerable time and knowledge. The branches must be tied with a material that will not girdle the branches, and branches must gradually be forced into the position desired. It is best to form such a plant on a wire trellis for the first few years until the plant's framework has been established, and then remove the trellis. Obviously, because of limited space of this article, only a few principals can be related.

Experience in this art is invaluable. Gardeners desiring to create such a tree can do so by applying their own experience and research.

If one expects to produce fruits or berries on their plants, they must know the flowering characteristics of the particular plant to be trained. Since pruning occurs to the plant practically the year around, one must know if the plant produces flowers on new growth made the previous growing season) or on old wood.

Except for peach, nectarine, and apricots, most fruit trees produce flowers on short growths of 2 year or older wood which is called fruit spurs. If branches are removed which contain these fruit spurs, little or no flowers will be produced, resulting in a quantity reduction of fruit or berries.

Altrusa Members Complete Plans For Chili Supper To Be Held Dec. 11

Plans for a Chili Supper were announced at a meeting of the Altrusa Club of Pampa dinner meeting held Monday night in the Coronado Inn.

The Chili Supper will be held Dec. 11 in St. Matthews Episcopal Parish Hall, 727 W. Browning, with serving from 5:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. Chili, homemade pies, Coffee and Cokes will be served for the price of a $1 ticket. Door prizes will also be given. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used for the club's Senior Center project.

Plans were also discussed for the Old-Fashioned Christmas Party at Senior Center to be held Dec. 14 in Lovett Memorial Library.

William Gray, Pampa High School senior, announced presentation of the Senior Class play, which was held Dec. 1-2 in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Irl Smith, information chairman, introduced Mrs. Mary D. Wilson as a new member. Mrs. Wilson is business manager at the Medical and Surgical Clinic and a member of the Pampa Madrigal Singers.

Mrs. Rufe Jordan introduced the Altrusa Girl of the Month for November as Miss Sandra Whelchel. Door prize was won by Mrs. F. A. Hukill.

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, vocation information chairman, presented the program. In prefacing remarks, Miss Patterson pointed out that the vocational information committee's main function is the Career Clinic, sponsors of the Junior High charm program and the Founders' Fund.

"But the main objective," she said, "is to assist the older woman worker in a highly competitive job market to fortify herself with new skills, refresher training and a more confident self-concept."

"Statistics point up the critical need of employment opportunities for the older woman. Today, 48 per cent of all women between 45 and 54 are in the labor force; 55 per cent of women in this age group will be working or seeking work by 1970.

"The increased number will be primarily wives or mothers whose children are in high school, or college, or have embarked on their own careers. It is important to the economy that the best use be made of this soon-to-be most available segment in a growing labor force. There must be increased interest, responsibility and action at the community level in the area of jobs for older women."

SS Classes Have Installation Banquet

The Lydia and Dorcas Classes of Central Baptist Church met recently in Fellowship Hall for a banquet and installation of class officers.

Mrs. Bob Callahan conducted the installation service for the teachers, Mrs. G. C. Stark, Dorcas Class teacher, Mrs. Holligan Lydia Class teacher and the officers for both groups.

A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Callahan.

Mrs. Stark dismissed the 33 members present with prayer.

Your Family Will Gobble Up Salad

After the Big Bird has been the center of attention on a big platter in the center of your dining room table, and when it becomes necessary to begin picking its bones, why not give it the final flourish in a delicious salad.'

PICTURE NEWS
AROUND THE WORLD

TWO SIDES OF A STORY—The photographer and the wide-angle lens on his camera captured painters on both sides of New York City's Brooklyn Bridge. The famous landmark was getting a new coat of paint by several sets of painters.

MANTLE PIECE—A "mantle" of plum-colored wool frames the neat lines of a slightly paler plum wool dress by Enzo of Milan, Italy. The dramatic cape, lined in beige wool and finished with a barrel collar, buttons to the yoke of the dress.

CAUGHT ON THE HOOK—Trapped in shallow water at the Hook of Holland, The Netherlands, the German freighter Levante sat high, dry and helpless after being stranded during a North Sea gale. Two Dutch children were on hand to observe.

OUT OF THE PAST—A 35-year-old urn from the Czechoslovakia area of Europe is displayed by antiquarian Mats Malmer at the Historical Museum in Stockholm. The Swedish museum has items that are 20,000 years old.

POLICE PYRAMID—Seventeen West Berlin policemen form an impressive pyramid atop three heavy-duty motorcycles at West Berlin's Olympic Stadium. They were taking part in the Police Show for a large and enthusiastic audience. The man in the direct center would like to know what's going on up there; this isn't a picnic, you know.

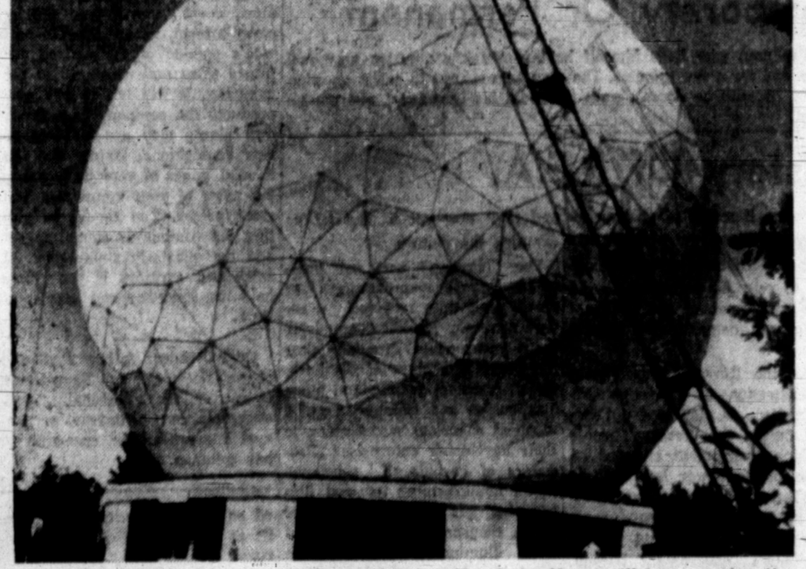

BILL COLLECTING—Making a speech like the fellows at Hyde Park, this pelican at London's St. James's Park Zoo insists that his mind is as open as his mouth. He was hoping the visitors would throw some snacks.

CAMERA QUEEN—Using her snap judgment, Queen Ratna of Nepal takes snapshots like any other tourist during a visit to the Khyber Pass at Torkham, Pakistan. She toured the area with her husband, King Mahendra.

BIRTHDAY GOODIES — Veteran singer-actor Maurice Chevalier takes a bite of his surprise birthday cake on a London movie set. The 73-year-old Frenchman is ably assisted by a wide-eyed, 15-year-old Britisher, Haley Mills.

SPACE PROGRAM—A hollow shell completed in Tyngboro, Mass., will house a gigantic new radio antenna to aid American scientists in solving some of the mysteries of space. The 150-foot-high sphere made of 12-foot triangular plastics was built by the Air Force Electronic Systems Division and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

IN DUTCH—Styled like the prim, starched cap of a Dutch maiden, this pert plush bonnet hugs the head and curls outward at ear level. The London creation of popular fake fur was designed for the simple hairdo.

AUTUMN GOLD—The brilliant red and gold of autumn leaves make a startling combination in Guy Laroche's demure Paris formal. The fitted bodice and underskirt are done in rusty red silk, encrusted with red and gold beaded embroidery. The curving overskirt is saffron yellow faille.

YOUTH MOVES—The red flag of communism is dwarfed by a huge banner bearing the likeness of East German chief Walter Ulbricht near the barbed wire fence between East and West Berlin. The flag was placed on the border by members of the German Free Democratic Youth Movement.

'OPERATION CHANG FENG'—Nationalist Chinese soldiers release 35 giant plastic balloons, each carrying 10½ pounds of food and medicine. They are bound for people on the Chinese mainland who have been stricken by famine and cholera. The balloons fly at an altitude of 10,000 feet for 10 to 20 hours, then automatically drop relief bundles.

AN INDEPENDENT FREEDOM NEWSPAPER

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by any government, with the gift of freedom, and that it is every man's duty to God to preserve his own liberty and respect the liberty of others. Freedom is self-control, no more, no less.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guides expressed in the Ten Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands Freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilites in harmony with the above moral principles.

Carbon Monoxide Deadly

"Age or sex are not respected when carbon monoxide comes calling. No screeching of brakes, oncoming lights or any other human driving error can forewarn men or women of any age about this insidious killer," according to Dr. Noah H. Sloan, medical director of a large insuance company.

This winter there will be many unexplained automobile accidents on roads clear of ice and snow. Perhaps lack of scientific investigation will prevent these accidents from being explained, but the real cause could be an odorless lethal gas, carbon monoxide, produced by the incomplete burning of a fuel.

"Most of us are now aware that with the simple turn of a key in today's automobile we are initiating the operation of a complete chemical plant," Dr. Sloan points out. "The motor is capable of mixing air and gasoline in proper proportions to propel an auto and also produces deadly acids and gases in the process.

"Most motorists are unfamiliar with carbon monoxide because it cannot be seen or smelled. This becomes more of a danger during cold weather, when car windows are kept closed and heaters are in use. This gas is capable in a short time of reducing mental functions to the point where coordination of muscles and one's ability to react properly to maintain the normal operation of a car is well below the minimum standards of safe driving. Adequate ventilation is the best safeguard against this killer without a calling card."

There must be care while driving some compact cars which have air cooled engines," the medical director declares. "Here is an example of where a liquid coolant is not present, and heating in the passenger compartment is attempted by using heat from the exhaust system. Extreme caution and immediate inspection should be utilized when any irregularities are noticed in the heating system.

"Warming cars up in closed garages is almost sure to make you a victim of carbon monoxide," Dr. Sloan adds. "Other likely victims of this lethal gas could be persons who drive with faulty exhaust systems."

"Warning symptoms that could prevent a tragedy from occurring are a headache, dizziness, faintness, nausea, burning of the eyes, watering of the eyes or irritability."

To avoid carbon monoxide hazards from appearing, the insurance company urges motorists to observe the following safety rules:

1. Check your automobile's exhaust system periodically, especially before winter.
2. Always open garage doors before starting your car's engine.
3. Open a window if you have to stay in a stationary car with the motor running.
4. In closely-spaced traffic keep front air vents closed to prevent CO seepage from the exhaust fumes of other automobiles.
5. Stop, get out and breathe some fresh air if you or any of your passengers feel drowsy.

Temporary Or Permanent

The man who finds himself having to ask a question may feel like a fool for a few minutes. The man who refuses to ask a question simply because he doesn't want to reveal his ignorance, will remain a fool.

History Of R.E.A.

So often it seems to us that socialism is a mark of a man's impatience with man; his unwillingness to rely on principles and the working out of the laws of supply and demand by natural order.

Take the Rural Electrification Administration as a precise example. Here was an idea put forward during the Roosevelt years in which government intruded into the public power business in an effort to bring low cost electric power to rural areas.

Before making this bid for another huge government bureau, the government explored the field. It inquired of private power managers whether a willingness existed on their parts to string the lines and to make the capital investment entailed to electrify rural America.

Elecric management took a look at the vast distances involved and at the sparsity of customers and shook its head. The cause was too dubious: the chances of making back the invested capital, plus a return, looked hopeless.

Whether the electric people were frightened a bit by the looming giantism of government is not known, but it is conceivable. Now that government was gazing at this field of endeavor with a lustful eye, many a brave man might well have drawn back. For what would happen to the daring firm which made a capital outlay of millions, only to find that the government had moved in as a competitor, can well be imagined.

In any case, wisely or foolishly, the private power companies stayed out. And this was the cue on which the government pounced for a major exploitation. REA became a going concern and millions of the taxpayers' dollars were channeled into the project.

There are some who would say that this was as it should be. Rural America wanted electricity and they now got it. But let us examine the picture.

The "blessing" was not unalloyed. Private manufacturers of small generators received a severe set-back. Market demand for these instruments dropped thru the floor. Marketers of distillate, diesel, propane, butane and other inexpensive and reliable fuels received a serious curtailment to their developing enterprises. Producers of carbide, a substance which manufactures its own illuminating gas and by means of which thousands of farms had been illuminated prior to the great invasion, received a potent near-mortal wound. These industries suffered and employment fell.

Worse, major developments in the field of private lighting and private power received a setback. Had market demand continued, who can say but what at the moment a generator might have been devised which would run on some easily accessible power and which right now might be invading the urban field in fierce competition with centralized power suppliers.

For example, if a generator could be made that would operate on ten gallons of gasoline a month, and which would furnish adequate light and power for the average household, how many city residents, as well as country folk, would have availed themselves of this cheap and handy source of energy?

Alas, man's impatience to have everything RIGHT NOW in spite of debts, in spite of human rights, in spite of principles, won the day. So, as it stands, REA dominates the field and there are many who still call it "good."

But we do not. The millions of dollars looted from the taxpayers have never been returned. The nation is poorer by this act of spoliation even tho farms now twinkle with electricity in ten thousand unlikely places. The principles of freedom were violated so that a minority could benefit at the expense of the majority.

REA turned out to be a financial success, in spite of the general foreboding. But to make it a success, the government had to subsidize the farmer and to underwrite his purchases of every conceivable kind of electrical equipment. Rural demand for electricity, thus far outran the prognostication of the experts.

But view the farm picture in America today. No longer do we find the yeoman farmer, lifting his head on high as a symbol of rugged individualism. The farmer is now geared to government production, government subsidy, government marketing, government quotas, and even tied to government-distributed electricity.

We gained the forty-watt lamp in the farm. And we lost our freedom, our property rights, our money and our independence.

And the grim joke is that had we waited and relied on the market to do the job, today we might have 100-watt lamps for every 40 watt and new and less costly ways of providing ourselves with what we want.

Impatience and speed will never be a proper substitute for patience, moral rectitude and a recognition of the rights of others.

'SURVIVORSHIP' STOCKS SUBJECT ONLY TO TAXES

Q — Is a stock registered for "survivorship" transferred to the survivor without going into the estate?—C. H. L.

A — Dear C. H. L.: For tax purposes such shares form part of the estate. For probate purposes they do not. Here's what I'm told: Any jointly owned securities (those marked survivorship are included) form part of the estate of the first to die and are taxed accordingly unless it can be proven that the living spouse was the purchaser. However, such shares go to tht survivor outright and are not included in the estate for distribution to various heirs.

Q — What are the advantages of owning a co - operative apartment over leasing a rental apartment? — S. B.

Dear S. B: Usually the carrying charges for a co - op apartment are lower than rental prices for a similar apartment in a simila location. In addition, since the co-opmember owns an interest in real estate, he receives income tax benefits. That is, he may deduct his share of the inferest on the co-op's mortgage and his share of the real estate taxes the co-op pays. The reason for the maintenance charges being lower is that co-operatives are nonprofit organizations, whereas in a rental unit there is a landlord seeking to make a profit.

Q — What percentage of one's assets should be in liquid form at the savings bank? — C. B. M.

Dear C. B. M.: Just enough to meet an emergency. If you depend upon your earnings for your livelihood and you are generally steadily employed, keep two or three months earnings in a savings bank. If you have no health insurance, add say another $500. If you live on income from a pension, social security and investments, keep just enough in the bank to meet an emergency and invest the remainder to increase your income. The pitch today in handling your money should be to make it grow to compensate any decline in buying power.

Q — How can I find out how the companies I have stock in are doing?—D. S.

Dear D. S.: Go to a bank or brokerage house and ask for a report on the company. This report probably will be a single sheet from one of the investment services like Standard & Poor's. It will show the latest sales and earnings of your company, the most recent dividend paid and, in capsule form, summarize the service's opinion of the outlook for future sales and earnings of the company. It will tell of any new products the company is making, new plants they are building or new acquisitions. Watch the financial pages of your daily paper for news of your companies and stock prices. You should be getting the company's annual report and the quarterly statements of sales and earnings if you have held the stock for any length of time.

Dear Reader: A heavy volume of mail doesn't permit Faye Henle to answer letters personally. However, questions of unusual or general interest will be answered in her columns.

The Third Man

Allen - Scott Report:

Albania, Red China Want to Buy Surplus Grain From U.S.; President's Advisers Split

WASHINGTON — Red China and satellite Albania, in the grip of steadily worsening food shortages due to prolonged droughts and bureaucratic bungling, are now definitely putting out feelers to buy huge quantities of U.S. surplus grain.

Peiping is talking in terms of six million tons of wheat and barley — approximately 200 million bushels, of which 80 to 90 percent would be wheat.

Albania wants 300,000 tons of wheat, to replace grain ordered from Russia but which Khrushchev is refusing to ship because of his bitter vendetta with Albanian dictator Enver Hoxha. The latter is aligned with Mao Tse-tung in his seemingly intensified feud with the Kremlin.

Both Communist countries propose to pay for the U.S. grain with small down payments of gold and credits extending over five or more years.

Their overtures are being made through Britain, which has diplomatic and trade relations with both. Currently, Britain is negotiating for the sale of six jet transports to Red China to replace planes withdrawn by Russia.

U.S. surplus grain stores include 1,403,928,000 bushels of corn; 1,110,225,000 bushels of wheat; 33,420,000 bushels of barley.

Earlier this year, Red China bought some six million tons of grain and other foods from Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Some of these supplies have been shipped to Albania. Meat and other food also has been sent to Cuba.

Peiping is paying Canada, Austria and New Zeland with gold and long - term credits. The food deliveries extend into 1962.

FATEFUL DEBATE — What President Kennedy does about these far -reaching backstage proposals depends in a large measure on the outcome of a sharp policy clash in his inner councils.

Under existing statutes, the President must personally authorize such grain sales before they can be negotiated. Congress enacted this law as an anti - communist security measure.

The President's advisers are split three ways over selling surplus grain to Red China and Albania.

Favoring limited sales for humanitarian and propaganda purposes is a group, headed by Secretary Rusk, that includes Agriculture Secretary Freeman, McGeorge Bundy, special White House assistant for international affairs, and Dr. Walt Whitman Rostow, new head of the State Department's Policy Planning Council.

Opposing any shipments is a State Department and Pentagon group of which Walter McConaughy, Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs, is the most vigorous spokesman. A career diplomat and strong Chiang Kai - shek supporter, McConaughy is being shifted to a still - unannounced ambassadorship. The grain sale controversy is not involved in this change.

Between these groups is Food for Peace Administrator George McGovern. He holds a study should first be made of the total demands for U.S. grain surpluses before deciding whether any should be made available to Red China and Albania.

Such a survey has never been undertaken. McGovern contends it's long overdue.

Main argument of Secretary Rusk's group is that U.S. refusal to sell surplus grain to the famine - threatened Communists would have widespread adverse repercussions, particularly in Asia and Africa. It's their view some wheat and barley should be sold to Red China and Albania on condition they fully inform their people of its source.

McConaughy and his State Department and Pentagon group assert that if famine becomes pronounced in China, uprisings are certain with far - reaching consequences. It is their belief the military would join the peasants in such upheavals.

FOREIGN FLASHES — The Peace Corps is looking for a bartender — to send to Ghana. President Kwame Nkhrumah, who is playing footsie with the Soviet bloc, has put in a request for a bartender to train natives how to mix drinks for the steady growing number of tourists to Ghana. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver is frankly stumped by this inquiry, as the agency has no bartenders and no plans to acquire any. However, he is open to suggestions! . . Real logs burn in the large fireplace of the handsome executive dining room of the $57 milion new State Department building, but no provision was made for storing the logs. Somehow, the architects overlooked that little detail, with the result that the logs are stored in the Department's big vault for secret documents. So far, none of the documents have been mistakenly burned. But anything may happen.

Attorney General Robert Kennedy, increasingly active behind the scenes in foreign affairs, is being briefed on Russia and the satellites by veteran career diplomat Charles Bohlen, former Ambassador to Moscow and now special adviser to Secretary Rusk on the Iron Curtain. . . Japan and Egypt are negotiating an airline agreement . . .A special Danish - Swedish commission will shortly report on the construction of a bridge to span the channel between them. The bridge would carry both trains and motor vehicles.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, Dec. 3, the 337th day of the year with 28 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1818, Illinois entered the Union as the 21st state.

In 1833, Oberlin College, the first truly co-educational institution of higher learning in the U.S. opened its doors.

In 1929, despite the collapse of the stock market, Ford Motors raised the daily wage of its employes from six to seven dollars.

In 1948, the nation learned that microfilm copies of secret U.S. documents had been discovered hidden in a hollow pumpkin on the farm of Whittaker Chambers.

Hankerings

By HENRY McLEMORE

If all the calendars in the world were destroyed, would a man be able to tell how old he was?

Yes, and he wouldn't have to resort to any such uncomfortable and messy measure as cutting off a leg and counting the rings.

This is especially true of a man who has reached the slightly shady side of fifty, which I did a few days ago. There are just as definite signs of onrushing age as there are robins to herald spring, and aches and pains to announce the arrival of rheumatism.

One of these signs are sudden twinges that hit a fellow from nowhere, and for no apparent reason. One second all will be well with one's back or leg or shoulder; the next, one or all of these localities will feel as if a rancher had thrown one down for branding.

What causes these sudden pains? Where do they come from? Where do they go in a second or two? I know not, but I do know they are the sole property of middle age and beyond. No one wearing a freshman cap is ever struck by them.

Dislike of noise is another sure sign that Father Time has been walking by your side for quite a spell. There was a time when I could have lived in a boiler factory, and enjoyed it, even joining in the noise - making. But now I find that too much noise sharpens my temper, frays my nerves, and makes me want to lower a rocking chair into a well.

A man's Reminder book is also a fairly sound indicator of his age. The names of good jazz places are replaced by the names and addresses of worthy oculists and dentists, and the names to call are those of old friends, not new and giddy acquaintances.

The Reminder book will also contain the birthdays of nieces, nephews, godchildren and the like.

With age comes an appreciation of nothing to do at night. One welcomes no social engagements, and looks forward to a quiet evening of reading, dozing, curling up, writing a few letters, and doing absolutely nothing. The thought of dressing and tearing out to a night club sends a shiver along the middle - aged - and-beyond spinal column.

One loses one's taste for roughing it, too. There is no longing — ever — to hit the woods in summer and pitch a tent, gather wood, sleep on the ground, bathe in a rushing, rocky steam and rustle up breakfast and eat it while straddling a log.

Coffee in the morning smells best when coming from a percolator in the kitchen, not high on a mountain top and a contour mattress has infinitely more appeal than a pile of leaves, an air mattress, or a cot.

One's feet ache a bit more, too. They become as much a subject of conversation as a means of travel.

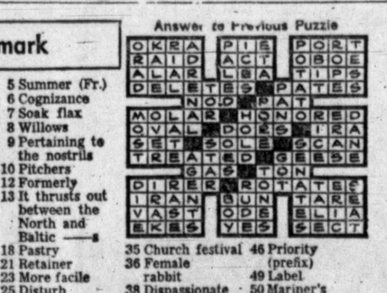

Washing the family car isn't quite the fun it once was, and one begins to hope that the grass in the yard won't grow so fast, and one begins to have a vast tolerance for weeds in the garden.

One discovers, too, that the chains on phone books in phone booths aren't quite long enough, and that buses leave stops faster than they used to, and that one begins to refer to men in their thirties as kids.

Wonder what it will be like at 100?

Berlin Parley Not Seen Before Early Next Year

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Earliest date at which negotiations might be held with the Russians on the Berlin situation is still two months or more away.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is rounding out his United States-Britain - France visits.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers meet in Paris Dec. 11.

Then come the Christmas holidays. And right after New Year's, Congress opens with the State of the Union, Budget and Economic messages which will keep President Kennedy busy till the end of January.

What negotiations between western powers and the Russians will cover was been clarified a little, but there are still fuzzy areas. The wall which the East Germans have built around their sector of East Berlin was not mentioned in the communique after Adenauer's Washington visit.

About half the German delegation that accompanied Adenauer went home feeling that they had given too much ground to the President and Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The other half left feeling that they had gained American concessions strengthening Bonn's position.

The Germans came to Washington feeling that in recent weeks there had been too much "give" in the Washington position toward Moscow. This was interpreted as too much willingness to concede points just to reach an agreement.

Close reading of the communique plus interviews with American and German officials in Washington fail to reveal any grounds for giving the Russians an idea that the West will be easy to deal with. On the contrary, the line now seems much harder and more unyielding. This is borne out by the fact that first Moscow reactions to the communique are unfavorable.

U.S. Ambassador to Moscow Llewellyn Thompson has been told to do no more exploring of Kremlin attitudes until after the NATO foreign ministers meet. Similarly, Bonn's ambassador to Moscow, Hans Kroll, has been told to lay off.

It is explained that Kroll was returned to his post after his indiscretion in trying to reach an understanding with the Russians because his recall would have meant Russian recall of its ambassador to Bonn thus rupturing diplomatic relations. Bonn apparently still wants an open line to the Kremlin and the Russians will talk to Kroll.

Actually, the Bonn Government's position on negotiating with the Russians seems to have changed in one respect. Three years ago, before the Big Four foreign ministers met in Geneva Adenauer maintained that the Berlin situation should not be considered separately, as something not connected with the whole German question.

Now the position seems to be to settle the Berlin situation by itself. This is to relieve tensions and make further negotiations possible.

In negotiating on Berlin, however, it is made clear that nothing else is being given up, such as West Germany's demand for unification with East Germany or its alliances with the West through NATO.

The approach to future negotiations with Berlin is therefore in the context of the existing American, British and French positions in Germany and in Berlin, by right of conquest.

Whats left to negotiate in the implementation of those rights. This could be by supplementary agreements on existing practices. If agreement could be reached on Western rights of access to Berlin there might even be acceptance of East German administration of those rights, so long as protest and appeal to the Soviet Union remain open under the original Big Four occupation agreement by right of conquest.

Room must be left in which to negotiate further. But if the Russians are not "reasonable," as the communique puts it, and if they refuse to talk on these terms, then there may not be any negotiations at all.

The American Way

Our Star of Hope in the current conflict against communism appears to be the Lone Star State of Texas. As long as Texas does not secede from the Union — thoroughly disgusted with the puerile policies of the Washington administration — and decide to take on the task single handed, we may survive as a free nation.

Two men from Texas, Gen. Edwin A. Walker and Maj. H. C. Knickerbocker, USAF Reserve, have done more to expose the real dangers to our country from the Red menace, than the bevy of Harvard policy makers that has infiltrated those many bureaus on the banks of the Potomac.

Gen. Walker's resignation from the Army and his accompanying statement is an indictment of the "little minds" in Washington. Maj. Knickerbocker touched off a nationwide wave of protest rallies when he exposed the traning of communist pilots from Yugoslavia at Perrin Air Force base in Texas. These two have done most to arouse our people. The voice of the people can and will be heard, insists Gen. Walker, and from their fury constitutional power will prevail.

Maj. Knickerbocker brought cheers from an audience of over 2,000 when he pointed the need to "revitalize the House, the Senate and the presidency. Not even the Supreme Court can halt the return of this country to its past greatness — and that task does not tolerate treason." Those are "fightin' words" worthy of a Texan.

These experienced military men are not concerned with the policies and machinations of Khrushchev and the communist caliphs in countries abroad. Our danger, they rightly assert, is in Washington. They are supported in that bald assertion by Dr. Robert Morris, president of the University of Dallas. He had ten years experience in U.S. Naval Intelligence and for a long time was counsel for a Senate committee sifting subversion in this country. He speaks the same language as the native born Texans. It is not policies and programs of the communist chieftains in Moscow that we should seek to counteract, insist these pro-Americans from Texas, it is the persons in and out of government who are influenced by agents of the Communist conspiracy. Persons who must be named as aides to the enemy. They can no longer remain anonymous.

There is still a fighting chance that we can hold our own and even defeat the enemy that seeks to destroy us, if we can keep on our team such forthright, unintimidated men as Texas produced in the past and has today. Now if we can only prevail upon Texas not to secede and take on the crusade for God and Christian precepts — single handed. We should enlist the services of Walker, Knickerbocker, Morris and other fearless Texans to spearhead the campaign against collusionists with communism. They might take up the fight where the late Sen. Joe McCarthy was crucified by his enemies because he indicted persons and demanded answers to such simple questions as "who promoted peress?"

RODING, England (UPI)—Part time fireman Michael Cater, 18, admitted in court Friday he set three small fires because he was short of money and needed the extra fireman's pay.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) —Emperor Haile Selassie Saturday formally opened the new Red Sea port of Assab, which is expected to have an annual traffic load of 800,000 tons. It was built with Yugoslav aid.

IN MEMORY OF MR. SAM—Texas newspapers have launched a campaign for a permanent endowment of the Sam Rayburn Library at Bonham, Tex. The exhibit room is shown above. Here many historic mementos are on display. The library also contains a matchless collection of documents related to American government, rooms where they may be studied and even a replica of the speaker's Washington office. The endowment suggestion was made by Rhea Howard, editor and publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News. Sam Rayburn Foundation at Bonham will be legal caretaker of the funds.

Longer Life Predicted

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sammy Baugh, coach of the New York Titans and for 15 years star passer for the Washington Redskins, says a good pro football quarterback should last 20 years in this day of platoons and the T-formation.

During the early part of his career, Baugh had to play defense as well as offense and was a single-wing halfback.

Chemical Engineers Invite Students To Borger Meet

The December meeting of the Texas Panhandle Chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers will be the Annual Career Guidance Program. The meeting will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at the Sam Houston Junior High School, 300 W. 6th, Borger.

The program will be a panel discussion on "What Management Expects of Young Technical Graduates." Mr. C. A. Ray, manager of the Philtex Plant, Phillips Chemical Company, will be the moderator. Panel members are Jim Atwood, Celanese Corporation; Curt Beck, Cabot Carbon Company; H. R. Harris, Phillips Petroleum Company; P. C. Husen, Phillips Chemical Company; and R. H. Roberts, J. M. Huber Corporation.

The program is designed to be of help to students who are interested in science or engineering as a career. It will provide a unique opportunity for high school and college students to find what management will expect from them after graduation.

A special invitation is extended to students, parents, teachers and anyone interested in scientific careers.

Senator Tower Will Be Speaker At Gas Meeting

CHICAGO — Senator John G. Tower, the Republican who upset Texas tradition when he won his U.S. Senate seat last May, will be the principal speaker at the opening session of the 1962 convention of the Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association.

Senator Tower's acceptance of the engagement to speak at a luncheon in Chicago next April 30 was announced recently by C. J. McAllister of Waldorf, Md., convention chairman.

This address and the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the first installation of liquefied petroleum gas will be two highlights of the four-day meeting opening April 29 (Sunday) and closing May 2 (Wednesday). Meetings and a trade show will be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

A political science professor turned politician, Tower has been hailed as the only GOP member to win a popular vote for the Senate from any of the former Confederate states. His election has also been noted by political observers as strengthening the conservative wing of the Republican party in Congress.

Tower will speak on a program which will include the official report of LPGA president, E. Otto N. Williams of Richmond, Va. and presentation of the LPGA Distinguished Service Life membership and the accompanying Seley Award.

Sunday's activities will include opening of the trade show, a board of directors session and the annual meeting of LPGA members.

Other Monday activities include trade show visiting in the morning, a series of forums for marketers and section meetings for suppliers following the luncheon.

The Tuesday daytime hours will be devoted to the exhibits with a reception and banquet in the evening replacing the customary LPGA cocktail party. This dinner will be LPGA's chief observance of the 50th birthday of the initial installation at the John Gahring home near Waterford, Pa. This pioneer hook-up was made on May 17, 1912 by Dr. Walter O. Snelling who now resides at Allenfown, Pa.

The Wednesday program will include a luncheon meeting and sectional sessions followed by the annual banquet and Gas Flame Gaieties floor show. The noon program will feature installation of new national officers and presentation of the second H. Emerson Thomas Safety Contest winner.

'H-Oil' Process Plant Scheduled

NEW YORK — The first hydrocracking plant in the free world designed to convert residual oils with a high sulfur content into a synthetic sweet crude oil equivalent will be built at the Cities Service refinery at Lake Charles, La., Burl S. Watson, chairman of Cities Service Company, announced today.

The process plant, known as an "H-oil" unit, will have an initial capacity of 2,500 barrels daily It is scheduled for completion next fall.

It will be the first commercial plant to employ the H-oil process. Hydrocarbon Research, Inc., has been awarded a contract for the design, engineering and construction of the Cities Service unit.

"The use of this technique," Watson said, "will enable Cities Service to upgrade low - value, sour residual oil, which sells for less than the price of crude oil, into a raw material for processing into higher-value petroleum products."

In the H-oil process, the heavy, high boiling point residuum is reacted with hydrogen in the presence of an active catalyst to remove sulfur, nitrogen, and organometallic compounds, simultaneously upgrading the stocks treated.

The end material from the H-oil unit will be a crude oil equivalent of middle gravity available as feed stocks for further processing into lighter petroleum products, such as gasolenes, heating oils and diesel fuel.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

THE CASE OF THE MESSY TENANT

Joe Dogood and his wife rented their home to Joe's cousin, John Messmaker. The Dogoods were planning to be out of town for several months, and since Mr. Messmaker was temporarily out of work and in need of a place to house his family, Joe rented their home at a very reasonable figure. The Messmakers were very grateful and promised someday to pay back Joe and his wife.

When the Messmakers finally moved out, they left the house in a shambles. There were holes in the walls, the furniture was torn and broken, windows were broken, doors were off their hinges, and the house looked as if it had never been cleaned.

The Dogoods asked the Messmakers to clean and repair the house and furniture, but they refused. They said that they were only tenants, and such repairs were the responsibility of the property owners.

Can the Messmakers be made to pay for the damage they caused?

The courts have generally held that the tenants can be made to pay for damages in such a case. A tenant, even though bound by no express agreement as to the condition in which he is to leave the premises at the end of his tenancy, is nevertheless under a certain implied obligation. He is impliedly obligated to so use the rented premises that it will be returned to the landlord in the same general condition in which it was rented, subject to such general deterioration as is caused by a reasonable amount of use and lapse of time.

If, by the negligence of a tenant, the rented property is materially injured, he is liable to the landlord for the resulting damages. An implied contract binds the tenant to make good any loss that results from the want of reasonable care. However, he is not liable for depreciation resulting from normal use of the property.

Gulf Completes The Deepest Oil Well In Texas

MIDLAND — Gulf Oil Corporation has completed the deepest producing well in Texas at its No. 2 R. Cleveland wildcat in Reeves County, approximately 13 miles southeast of Pecos.

The wildcat was tested in the Ellenburger formation for a calculated open flow potential of 37 million cubic feet of gas per day through perforations bottomed at 17,200 ft.

Besides being the deepest producer in Texas, the well represents the first Ellenburger production in the Delaware Basin of far West Texas. The wildcat was drilled to a total depth of 17,720 ft., and casing is set at 17,716 ft.

Parker Drilling Co. of Tulsa was the drilling contractor.

Natives of the Fore tribe of New Guinea "die laughing"—and it's no joke. Among them, a fatal disease is on the rampage. Symptoms are paralysis and peculiar fits of giggling. The disease is transmitted only by inheritance. To control it, Fore tribesmen are prevented from marrying outsiders. Authorities have fenced off the whole tribe in one of history's strangest quarantines.

Emergency Calls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Our Animals, publication of the San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said its agents were summoned during two months to help:

A hamster caught in a furnace, a snake caught under a refrigerator, an abandoned goldfish, a sick goose, a crow caught in a washing machine, a parakeet trapped in a light well, three pigeons caught in a scarecrow and a skunk with its head in a can.

First cookstoves were marketed in 1830. Built to burn wood, they had built-in ovens and a tank at the end for heating water.

Increase Your Power with this new power-packed IH Fire Crater Package

Pack extra horsepower into your tractor. Let us install an IH Fire Crater Power Package, complete with matched pistons, rings, and sleeves. See how much more work you can do-in a day . . . how much you save on fuel costs. IH Fire Crater pistons have exclusive crater dome that increases compression . . . improves combustion. Famous IH chrome rings add hundreds of hours of service. Power package includes carburetor and distributor parts where needed. Schedule your tractor with us for Fire Crater service now.
