Park gains new cottages

Construction is expected to begin by June 1 on 11 new cottages in Dorn Creek Cove in north-central Colorado City State Park, west of town.

Park Manager Mark Fambro said surveying has been completed and Wallace Unit prison trustees stand ready to start work.

He said the 12-by-15-foot cottages on the south side of the cove will add to the park's appeal and open up a previously little-used but scenic area to campers.

It will be the fruition of Fambro's long-held ambition to modernize the park and make it more attractive to visitors, who have become less content with outdoor, non-electrical campsites.

He said $240,000 has been appropriated for the project, which would cost from $600,000 to $750,000 if it were not being accomplished primarily by the Texas Department of Parks & Wildlife and the Department of Criminal Justice.

A little over a year ago, the park project received the support of the Colorado City Kiwanis Club and the C-City Area Chamber of Commerce.

Then last Oct. 19, Parks & Wildlife Director Andrew Sansom of Austin and State Rep. Rob Junell of San Angelo attended a departmental 75th anniversary ceremony at the park and promised that it would go through.

Director Sansom outlined a plan to use prison labor and materials supplied by the parks department to upgrade Dorn Creek Cove, which has been previously opened to camping for five weekends a year because it has only non-electrical campsites.

Rep. Junell threw his support behind the project, saying it must be a priority for the state to modernize its parks.

Each cottage will have a rock veneer exterior with a fully enclosed porch and picnic table, four single beds, lockable doors, two windows that can be raised on each long wall, a corner closet, heating and air conditioning.

The current plan is to rent them for $20 to $25 a night.

"The difference between cottages and cabins is that cottages are just cabins without bathrooms and kitchens," Fambro said. "They are just one big room for sleeping."

Running water, restrooms and showers will be available at a nearby building that is already in operation.

Sixteen covered picnic tables in the area have been demolished and removed, and Pct. 3 County Commissioner Wendy Inman has promised to have his road and bridge crew remove the old concrete slabs they were on.

"The cottages are not from a kit," Fambro said. "They will involve some wood framing, and the Wallace Unit may build the frames at the unit."

"Labor is a high dollar item anymore. We're just fortunate we can tap into the TDCJ labor."

Pancake supper Friday

Programs about Texas' independence will spice the annual Colorado City Kiwanis Club's Pancake Supper Friday in the Colorado Middle School Cafeteria at 312 E. 12th St.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children and are on sale with club members and at all local banks in the county.

The menu is buttermilk pancakes, bacon, sausage, coffee, tea and milk.

Going from 5 to 7:30 p.m., the supper will begin with a 30-minute presentation by Kelley Elementary School students, reciting the Pledge to Texas and singing "Texas, Our Texas."

Hutchinson Elementary students will read Alamo Commander William Barrett Travis' letter to Gen. Sam Houston and excerpts from the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Then Marsha Moore's Colorado High School drama students will perform a scene from their March 27 entry in the district one-act play contest, "The Wake of Jamey Foster" by Beth Henley.

The CMS Stage Band will play from 6:30 to 7.

Elections are lacking candidates

With only two exceptions, prospective Mitchell County school board, city council and hospital board candidates were still holding their cards close to their vests on Tuesday.

Loraine City Councilman Carl Graham had filed for reelection to an additional two-year term, as had Colorado School Board President Larry Blassingame for another three years.

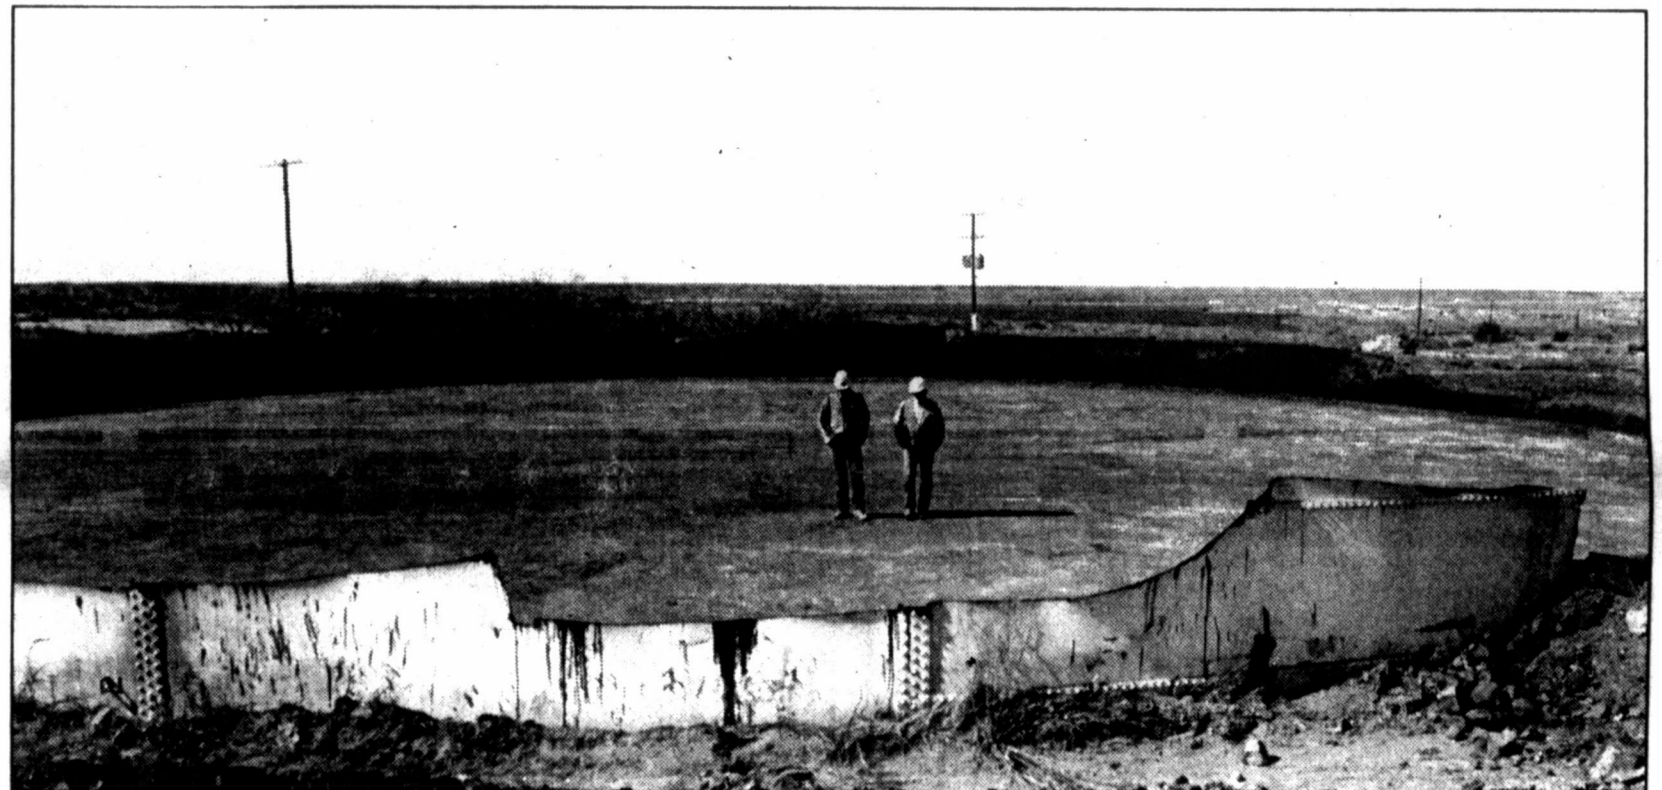

The elections will be held on Saturday, May 1, and the filing deadline is March 17 for everyone except the Westbrook School Board, whose deadline is March 12.

Write-in candidates may file as late as March 22.

Councilman Graham is among three Loraine City Council members whose terms will expire this spring.

Blassingame and two other CISD school board members are up for re-election.

There are three seats each coming open on the Westbrook and Loraine school boards and four each on the Colorado City City Council and Mitchell County Hospital Board.

OIL STORAGE was done on a big scale in the 1930's, when this tank was built to store up to 100,000 gallons as a pipeline surge tank. Safety officer Blaine Lemons, left, and consulting engineer Dennis Patton walk its concrete floor. It is being demolished as part of the Col-Tex Refinery cleanup. Its walls were 30 feet high.

Col-Tex cleanup expands

Following a successful pilot project on the old Col-Tex Refinery site alongside the Colorado River last year, the cleanup effort by Fina and Chevron oil companies is moving into high gear this spring.

The pilot project produced 15,000 tons of hard-packing roadbase from three ponds, or asphalt-soaked areas, in work that began last spring and ran into the fall.

Now the work has moved across the river to the elevated "Tank Farm" area to the south, where plans are to produce 600,000 to 700,000 tons of roadbase and 60,000 to 70,000 tons of asphalt emulsion, or liquid asphalt, over the next four or five years.

The massive project began on Jan. 22 with the bulldozing and grading of 7 1/2 miles of dirt roads to allow workmen access to the 33 ponds they will dig out and clean up on 95 acres of land.

There are 14 men working there, including employees of Arcadis, Geraghty & Miller consulting engineers of Midland, Environmental Resources Inc. of Tyler and Big D Construction Co. of Midland.

Dennis Patton of Arcadis, Geraghty & Miller said he expects to have the roadbase mill constructed and operating by June 1, when a ceremony will be held to mark the occasion.

Patton said Big D Construction will be held to mark the occasion. See FINA, page 4

New hospital discussed

Mitchell County Hospital board members are moving forward with their plans to build a new hospital and nursing home, tentatively setting a Thursday, March 11, called meeting to discuss the project with their Waco auditing company.

The project is expected to cost between $7 million and $12 million, depending on how much of the hospital district's current operation is put into new quarters.

In an hour and 15-minute meeting, the directors decided to see if representatives of the Parrish, Moody & Fikes auditing firm could be here on March 11.

The district operates the county hospital at 1543 Chestnut St. and Valley Fair Lodge nursing home next door and, scattered around the city, the Specialty Clinic, Home Health Center, Health Styles and Well-ness Center and Family Medical Associates offices.

A $7-million project would build a new hospital and physicians' offices only.

The board is considering either a lease-purchase agreement for an outside company to build and lease the complex until the district gets it paid for in 20 to 25 years or the issuance of revenue bonds, which would not entail a property tax increase.

Companies in Houston and Austin have been contacted about a lease-purchase plan.

Construction sites are being considered alongside Interstate 20 in northeastern and northwestern Colorado City.

Other business in the 6 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 23, meeting included setting Saturday, May 1, for a hospital board election to coincide with county school board and city council elec-

Wreck victims improve

Two young Colorado City women have improved since being seriously injured in a Feb. 18 automobile accident on a county road west of Loraine.

Both are scheduled for rehabilitation for their injuries, however.

A spokesman for Covenant Medical Center, formerly Methodist Hospital, in Lubbock said Tuesday afternoon that Crystal Costabile's condition had improved to "stable" after she was listed in "critical" and then "serious but stable" condition last week.

Renea Lewis was released from the hospital to begin rehabilitation last Thursday after being listed in critical and then stable condition, the spokesman said.

Ms. Costabile, 18, of Route 2 had severe head and facial injuries and a fractured pelvis while Ms. Lewis, 19, of Route 3 suffered a broken neck and other injuries.

The other occupant of the 1990 Ford Probe in which they were riding, 17-year-old Philip Molina of 530 Vine St., was treated and released at Mitchell County Hospital following the 11 p.m. crash into a telephone pole at County Road 404 and Lucas Road.

Department of Public Safety Trooper Donald Wilks said the car was westbound with the two young women in the front seat when it went off the south side of 404 and hit the pole.

Woman is abandoned at highway rest area

A husband's inattention or possibly peevishness led to an all night effort by law enforcement officers to reunite him with his wife after he left her at a highway rest area near Westbrook.

The woman called 911 from the public telephone at the rest area alongside Interstate 20.

City police notified the sheriff's office, and a deputy was dispatched.

The Howard County Sheriff's Office was asked to intercept the van the husband was driving when the incident was first reported at 1 a.m. Saturday.

He got through Big Spring and Howard County without being stopped, however, leading the local deputy to take the woman to Coahoma to meet a deputy from the neighboring county.

Sheriff Patrick Toombs said she was transported through Martin County and then taken by a Midland County officer to the Midland hospital where the couple was to visit a relative.

Midland police had found the van parked outside the hospital by then, but they reported that it had been left running with no driver in sight.

Sheriff Toombs said his deputy met a Howard County officer at a convenience store in Coahoma about 2:45 a.m., so the episode probably ended up taking most of the night before the woman and her husband were reunited, however unharmoniously.

The couple's hometown was not reported.

DENNIS PATTON, left, and Blaine Lemons of the Col-Tex Refinery cleanup staff survey one of the dry ponds where liquid asphalt is being collected preparatory to its conversion into asphalt emulsion. The project is expected to be completed in four to five years.

Abstinence program offered

Mitchell County Hospital in conjunction with all three school districts in Mitchell County is pleased to announce that Aim for Success will preview the first of two sexual abstinence education program for all interested parents and adults on March 11 at 5:30-7:00 p.m. at the Colorado Middle School Cafeteria. An additional parents program is tentatively scheduled for March 16 in Loraine.

Aim for Success is a nationally acclaimed educational organization that promotes sexual abstinence among young people. They have received local, state and national recognition including Focus on the Family's Citizen Magazine, and letters of commendation from Former First Lady Nancy Reagan and Texas Governor George W. Bush.

This year over 100,000 students and their parents will hear these powerful programs. Aim for Success believes parents should be their children's primary source of sex education, but they realize sex is an awkward subject for parents and their children to discuss, and there are few role models to follow in this day and age. The adult program offered by Aim for Success will provide parents with the tools and information needed to start a dialogue with their children.

The parent presentation includes a preview of the student program that will be given to all 6-12 graders in Mitchell County throughout the month of March. The following topics will be discussed in the program: Pregnancy, Sexually Transmitted Diseases, Emotional Scars, "Safe Sex", and How Far is Too Far. The unique teaching techniques and medically factual information offered in this program will also help parents know why, when and how to talk to their children, toddlers to teens, about sex. Creative ideas will be given to help parents talk openly with their children and encourage family values without embarrassment.

Call Windi Fuller, the Abstinence Education Director at (915)728-3431 ext 245 or any of the Mitchell County schools for more information.

Franchise tax cut is passed

AUSTIN -- State Sen. Troy Fraser says the corporate franchise tax exemption he promised to small businesses prior to the current legislative session is well on its way to Gov. George W. Bush's signature.

It passed the Texas Senate unanimously Thursday -- a rare feat for any bill -- and a similar bill written by Rep. Tony Goolsby of Dallas is pending in the House.

It will eliminate franchise taxes for 28,000 incorporated businesses and excuse another 203,000 from an annual reporting requirement.

"This bill exempts small businesses with annual gross receipts of less than $100,000 from what is essentially a business income tax," Sen. Fraser said.

"Because these operations have such small profit margins, every dollar counts."

"It will allow some businesses to redirect those dollars to expand or hire more employees. I really believe this bill is about job growth."

Sen. Fraser, of Horseshoe Bay, represents Mitchell County.

"Pray Texas" comes to C-City

THE POWER OF PRAYER was Alice Patterson's topic at an area "Pray Texas" meeting at the Charles Thompson Room, where 50 church members and members from numerous denominations gathered to plan more organized prayer as part of a statewide effort to build more unity among Christians.

The adage that a cause is hopeless because it "doesn't have a prayer" runs counter to the confidence given Christians in the Bible, said leaders of a new organization called Pray Texas here Thursday.

In fact, they said, the power of prayer is a mostly untapped source of spiritual and social healing.

Prayer Texas State Director Alice Patterson of Odessa said at a luncheon at the Charles C. Thompson Room downtown that no more than 10 to 15 percent of the population in a typical West Texas county like Mitchell regularly attend a church.

A cross section of more than 50 local and area church ministers and members attended, including 13 pastors from Snyder, Hermleigh and Big Spring.

"We are one people, one holy race," Ms. Patterson said. "The hardest city in Texas to reach is the one where you live."

She said taking religion outside churches is constructive because many pastors grow discouraged by the apathy of their members and the public.

Ms. Patterson, a Southern Baptist, said more than 70 towns and cities are now involved in her organization, which stems from Houses of Prayer Everywhere in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The group is organizing "Pray USA '99" Feb. 17-March 28 to ask God for a national Christian revival and spiritual awakening.

Ms. Patterson said the effort is needed to inspire new Christians and give established ones new confidence.

She said the power of prayer was demonstrated by a House of Prayer group in Bakersfield, Calif., where a few members moved into two troubled housing projects and began a concentrated effort to bring more peace and social order.

The local police chief later reported that three weeks had gone by without a single disturbance when police officers had previously been going to the projects "only to take out the dead bodies."

She said the organization believes prayer is more effective when groups pray for the same things at the same times.

"The time has come for the people of this city to become servants of Jesus Christ," she said.

"The workers are in the barn, and they are praying that the wind will blow the wheat into the barn," she said, meaning that church members are praying people will come to church instead of seeking them out.

Organizer Dee Dee Morris of Colorado City said supporters should be undaunted by the prospect of reaching all of the county's 3,800 households because the Postal Service does so daily with only eight carriers.

Local residents Chris Foster, Linda Chambers and Margaret Bodine are also involved.

Ms. Patterson, a native of Earth, in the Panhandle, accompanied by her husband John, introduced four Odessa ministers -- Terry Pierce of the Church of the Nazarene, independent Humberto Porras, charismatic Don Palmer and Southern Baptist Bruce Troy.

The Rev. Pierce said 40 Odessa ministers are involved, reaching across racial lines to involve as many people as possible.

"We want to see God do something in our city that only God can explain," he said.

"My dream is that I will be part of a great revival, not just in a local church but in a city, a state and a nation.

"That can't happen if we just stay in our little box."

The Rev. Porras said he grew up alongside the Rio Grande, on the border, and returned there recently.

"You don't see the poverty, the nakedness, the shame," he said. "But I see it."

"There is a need for humility, to bow down before God and realize that without Him, we are nothing."

"We have sent missionaries out to every nation, and now we need those countries to send missionaries to us."

The Rev. Palmer said organized prayer has been used to reduce the crime rate and improve school TAAS Test scores.

"God is not ruled by the West Texas economy," he said. "God uses tough times to bring people together."

The Rev. Troy said many Christians fall into a progression of "ritual, rut and rot" when they "must cross barriers and build bridges."

He challenged "each and every person here to go out and make a difference."

"When man works, he accomplishes what he can accomplish, but when he prays, God works," he said.

"The presence of the Lord brings unity."

tion has a long familiarity with Mitchell County, having maintained a lakehouse at Lake Colorado City for the past 30 years, and many of the project's staff are local men.

They include abatement system manager, or groundwater treatment plant operator, and equipment operator C. D. Trotter, water truck driver and equipment operator Randy McPhaul, equipment operator Jose Perales, water truck driver and backhoe operator John Preston and four employees of the local Lariat Drilling Co. Blaine Lemons of Environmental Resources, a 1987 Colorado High School graduate, has returned to his home town to work as the project's safety officer.

Its water and natural gas is being supplied by Mitchell County Utility Co. as part of what Patton said was an effort to use local men and companies to the greatest possible extent.

He said a well that dates to 1928 has been retapped in the pilot project area to pump water to the top of the hill.

The water is too salty to drink, however.

Big D has been demolishing a huge crude oil storage tank on top of the hill that was constructed in 1936.

In a related matter, two members of the Citizens Advisory Panel (CAP) that has been working with Fina and Chevron for several years to help oversee the cleanup have left or will soon be leaving C-City and must be replaced.

They are CAP Chairman Walt Staats, a retiring high school teacher who is moving to Florida, and Nancy Sullivan of the County Board of Economic Development, who has moved to El Paso.

Green will lead Calvary revival

A Fort Worth minister who is a singer, songwriter and preacher will lead a revival Sunday through Wednesday at Calvary Baptist Church at 1025 E. 15th St.

The Rev. Tierce Green will teach a Sunday school class at 9:45 a.m. Sunday and preach in services at 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m., after which a pie and coffee fellowship will be held.

Preaching on the theme of "Outside These Walls," he will conduct noon and 7 p.m. services Monday through Wednesday.

Meals will be served at the noonday meetings.

A youth pizza party will begin at 6 p.m. Monday at the church, "pack-a-pew" night will be Tuesday, and a children's pizza party will be at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

"It is unusual to find a person who can capture the attention of multiple levels of a church like Tierce Green," a church spokesman said.

"His heart and ability to communicate truth clearly to youth and adults has made Tierce one of the most sought after resources for youth ministers, singles ministers and pastors today."

The Rev. Green said modern Americans "are looking for something significant in their lives, something that is not only worth their time but something worth dying for."

"We are in the strategic position to fill that void by showing them the reality of a relationship with Jesus Christ."

The Rev. Green operates Fresh Bread Music, a publishing company, in Fort Worth.

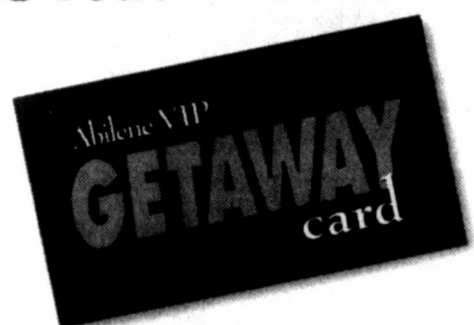

He has recorded music albums and two acclaimed musical dramas for young people.

He will be accompanied here by his wife Dana. They are members of the First Baptist Church in Euless.

Lightning dangers are real

This is "Severe Weather Awareness Week" in Texas, and state officials say you need to be as attentive to the danger of lightning as you are to the possibility of a tornado.

"On the average, six people die each year in Texas from lightning strikes," a spokesman for the Division of Emergency Management said.

"If you are outside in a thunderstorm, get inside a building," said Jo Schweikhard of the Texas Department of Public Safety agency in Austin.

"If you have to stay outside, keep away from metal objects. Stay below ground level and away from hilltops, open beaches or fields.

"And most importantly, stay away from open water and tall trees. Both are great lightning conductors."

Ms. Schweikhard said lightning kills more Americans each year than tornadoes and hurricanes combined.

"Being inside a building or even a car during a thunderstorm can decrease the chances of being struck by lightning," she said.

"Stay up to date on weather conditions when you plan camping trips, swimming, fishing, golf or other outdoor activities."

Ms. Schweikhard said Texas has the most tornadoes of any state in the Union, prompting agencies to urge vigilance each spring when tornado season begins.

"You may think Texans would be prepared for such occurrences, but the majority of people in the state are not ready," she said.

"If you are at home when a tornado threatens, go to the innermost part of the house, on the lowest floor and away from windows, such as a bathroom or closet.

"If you live in a mobile home, go outside and lie down in a ditch or ravine."

Motorists who drive into a thunderstorm should be aware that it could hide a tornado and it is unwise to try to outrun one because they can be moving at more than 100 mph.

"If you are on the road and you see a tornado, leave your car immediately," she said. "Do not try to drive away from the storm.

"If you have time, get inside a building. If not, lie flat in a ditch or ravine and cover your head with your arms.

"Do not take cover under the car."

Ms. Schweikhard said people should know the difference between a tornado watch and a tornado warning.

"A watch means, 'Watch the sky,'" she said. "Weather conditions are right for tornadoes to form.

"A warning means a tornado has been sighted or identified on weather radar. Take cover immediately."

Russia is still dangerous

By Bob Campbell

Like most men, Ronald Reagan left a mixed legacy.

On the one hand, we had "trickle-down" economics.

By the time we finally saw the last of it, most of the money was collecting at the top and very little trickling down to the average folks.

On the other hand, President Reagan was the dominant player in creating our modern military, and he combined with Pope John Paul II and Polish labor leader Lech Walesa to destroy Soviet-style Communism.

His threat of a "Star Wars" anti-missile system was probably the most brilliant political initiative of the entire Cold War -- a stroke of genius because the Russians are chess players and they knew it was a check-mate.

Of course, their fiasco in Afghanistan didn't hurt anything, either.

Now China and India are on the way up while the old Soviet Union has been dismantled -- destitute, disheveled and allegedly rendered harmless.

But there are a lot of things about it that bother me yet.

Russia still has its military, which hasn't been paid in a while, and its nuclear weapons, which it still maintains.

We count on Boris Yeltsin to maintain stability and not sell their nukes to the highest bidder, but he is an alcoholic and in fragile health.

It's not like the United States, where we know the next man will be a Democrat or a Republican and we know about what we'll be getting.

Waiting behind Yeltsin are a Stalinist, a neo-Nazi, an ex-general from the old Red Army and who knows what else?

European politics are not comparable to American, running much more to extremes.

The most worrisome aspect of modern Russia is its poverty-level economy and the chaos it has wrought.

These people are just getting hungrier and more desperate, and you have to ask yourself at what point they might decide they don't have anything else to lose.

They could bomb the U.S., but our nuclear submarines would wipe them out, if not our land-based missiles.

However, a war has always been the best way to revive an economy.

It would make a lot of sense for the next man to activate that big army and move -- maybe through Iran to give Russia that warm water seaport it has always wanted.

If Russia couldn't subjugate Afghanistan in the 1970's, it probably could not defeat the increasingly powerful Iran with conventional forces.

Iran is considered likely to have nuclear weapons of its own these days, but how many and with what ability to deliver them before they're knocked out?

There is also the Russian alliance with Iraq to consider and Iraq's failed attempt to defeat Iran in the 1980's.

What if Russia attacked Iran and claimed those oilfields to go with the large fields it already has?

Would the U.S. have to get involved?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

To all coaches who have a part in the everyday lives of our kids, you must be made aware that some of these kids are Type 1 Insulin Dependent Diabetics. They must monitor their blood sugar levels in order to live their lives as normally as possible.

Most of these kids learn to check their own blood, give their own injections and they must be allowed to do so without fear of being yelled at or hurried to participate.

Most diabetics eat a snack after their insulin injection to give them the added energy to keep their sugar levels in the normal range during strenuous exercising. Exercising causes levels to drop rapidly and, if not treated quickly, diabetic coma could result.

Please be aware of these symptoms: shaking, fast heartbeat, profuse sweating, anxiety, dizziness, extreme hunger, impaired vision, weakness, fatigue, numbing of limbs and headache. If a diabetic feels this coming on, they can treat themselves fairly quickly.

They usually have hard candy, sugar packets or glucose tablets to bring their sugar level back up quickly. Please pay attention and read up on diabetes. It could save a life.

On Tuesday, February 23, my daughter, who has been a diabetic for about a year and a half, was eating her snack after her insulin injection but wasn't allowed to finish because she had to get up and participate. While she was participating, she checked her sugar level and it had dropped rapidly to 40. The Danger Zone for low blood sugar is 30.

I just want everyone to be aware. If she has to walk away to take care of herself, she has my permission. There won't be any reprimand by the coaches. Her life is in your hands until she arrives back home, and we expect you to take care of all our kids.

Then, on February 24th, another coach threw her weight around and treated my daughter with unjust punishment in front of her peers, telling her what she shouldn't be eating as a diabetic. You shouldn't talk when you don't know what you are talking about. My daughter has her own doctor that tells her about her diet habits.

My daughter wasn't feeling well after running and was sitting by the wall drawing stars with a rock, like chalk. The coach yelled at her, after she had confessed, and told her to clean it up. A little water would have helped, but by the time some was brought, my daughter had used her fingertips and scrubbed it up until her fingers were bleeding. A diabetic takes longer to heal, risking infection and possible amputation.

On the way back to middle school, the coach said, "You will not go with me to the out of town game tomorrow!" She then proceeded to tell her that she may get kicked off the 7th and 8th grade tennis team. All for a few stars.

I want all of Colorado City to know how our kids are treated. Everyone I talked to, including our doctor, said this was carried too far. And these coaches want respect - you have to earn that and I don't see that happening.

To Mrs. Costabile, she's the example of the coach we want for our kids! She wants to drop the sport because of the attitude these coaches have. Please don't let this happen.

Humble, Texas

By Tumbleweed Smith

I had a Humble credit card when I was in high school and college and have pleasant memories of all the places I went with Humble. I was in Humble, Texas the other day and it felt good to be in the place where the big oil company started in 1909.

A man named J.H. Slaughter noticed bubbles coming from a San Jacinto riverbank just outside of Humble in 1887 and made the world aware that gas and oil were underground. Humble was a new town then, named for Pleasant Smith Humble, a fisherman and ferry operator who became the city's first postmaster.

By 1904 and 5, the boom was on and the Humble oil field was the greatest oil field in Texas. Moonshine Hill was a little hell raising tent city near Humble with 40 saloons and 25 thousand roughnecks. It became known as the roughest place in Texas and soon the Texas Rangers were called in to quieten things down.

A fire in 1912 destroyed Humble and by 1915, the boom was over. The tents at Moonshine Hill were gone and the provisional city government of Humble was dissolved. The city was quiet for 17 years.

In the 1930's something special happened in Humble. Residents decided they liked where they lived, so they banded together and built a strong city. Humble, Texas was reborn.

Now the Humble area is new and exciting, one of the fastest growing parts of the state. Humble developed from a quiet river town into a boom town, into a ghost town and now is experiencing its greatest period of solid growth. The Humble area, which includes Kingwood, Atascocita and Spring, has become the marketplace for the northern Houston metro area. It is a part of the state worth exploring.

It is a land of oak and pine and sparkling lakes. It is in the most dynamic part of the state, where people walk tall and with purpose. It is a place where you can play golf every day on some of the best courses in the country.

Humble has Kingwood College just up the road. There are ample cultural opportunities sprinkled all through the area. Around Humble you can get excellent medical care and shop for everything.

I have been impressed with some of the things the Humble Chamber of Commerce does. Every information packet given to new residents contains a voter registration form. That encourages good citizenship.

Eighty-three percent of high school graduates in Humble go to college. That says a lot for youngsters and their parents in Humble. The number of volunteers is nearly equal to the population of the area. That indicates caring and responsibility. The median age around Humble is 31.

Humble is near Houston's Intercontinental Airport. The city of Houston has annexed all the land around Humble, so the city has no room to expand. Humble has decided to concentrate on making what it has better. That's a good plan.

DPS TROOPER CARLOS DIAZ is the newest member of Mitchell County's law enforcement community. He is a native of San Angelo and a former member of the Big Spring Police Department.

DPS station bolstered

Newly commissioned Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Carlos Diaz is a San Angelo native who is more seasoned than many new graduates of the DPS Academy in Austin.

However, he considers himself still to have a lot to learn because being a highway patrolman is much different than his previous law enforcement work as a police corporal in Big Spring.

"I look forward to serving the people of Colorado City and Mitchell County," Trooper Diaz said in a Tuesday morning interview at the C-City Record.

"I was doing a good job when I left Big Spring, and I want to do even better here."

He will be riding with Trooper Shane Johnson for six months.

Trooper Diaz, 32, is a 1985 graduate of San Angelo Lake View High School who joined the Navy and became a communications officer with the admiralty staff in Jacksonville, Fla.

He cruised the Mediterranean on the U.S.S. Eisenhower, an aircraft carrier, in 1988 and mustered out of the Navy two years later.

After working for two years as a data processor in the finance department for the City of Big Spring, he was a correctional officer in the city's Correctional Center until being accepted into the Permian Basin Regional Police Academy at the Midland-Odessa Airport in August 1992.

He joined the Big Spring Police Department that October while still attending the academy.

He became a corporal and was a member of the Big Spring PD's Special Operations Response Team, or SWAT Team.

He was also the department's honor guard commander and field training officer.

Diaz was coordinator of the city's "Adopt-a-Cop" program, and he taught college credit courses in criminal justice and criminal investigation to sophomore, junior and senior students at Big Spring High School.

He earned an associate's degree in criminal justice at Howard College in December 1997.

Diaz said he was attracted to the DPS by its good pay scale and benefits, and he looks forward to being able to visit his parents, Carlos and Maria, and a sister and her family in San Angelo.

He and his wife, the former Martha Cano of Kermit, have a 4-year-old daughter, Victoria.

"I'm really pleased to be here, this close to home," he said. "We have got everything we need within the city."

He replaces Trooper Russell Conkling, who accepted an assignment to the Quanah area, in the eastern Panhandle near Childress, last August.

Trooper Johnson said he and Trooper Donald Wilks are glad that Trooper Diaz has arrived because they had been spread somewhat thin with each man being on call every other day.

Trooper Johnson said Mitchell County is actually a four-man station and the local troopers are hoping that another man will be assigned here when the next DPS Academy graduates are commissioned in April.

They are supervised by DPS Sgt. Donald Graham of Sweetwater.

Telephone services are expanded here

Effective February 16, 1999, Southwestern Bell telephone customers in Roscoe are able to call Abilene, Rotan, Hermleigh, Snyder and Colorado City toll free. These cities are also able to call Roscoe toll free. There will be a $3.50 charge to Roscoe residential customers and a $7 charge to Roscoe businesses for this new service for each number billed separately.

The new service is a result of the cooperation and hard work of several Roscoe citizens who tabulated surveys, circulated petitions, disseminated information, encouraged voters, and voted for each city instead of assuming it was a package deal.

The process started in mid-1998, when a group of citizens decided they needed to be able to make calls to several cities in the area where they conducted business. An application was sent to the Public Utilities Commission for Expanded Local Calling.

A survey was conducted to determine where the majority of the citizens needed the calls directed. When the survey was tabulated, the cities of Abilene, Rotan, Hermleigh, Snyder and Colorado City received the most votes. Loraine, Roby, Sweetwater and Trent were already local calls.

After the survey was completed, petitions were circulated to obtain official signatures of patrons who desired ELC. These petitions, along with statements explaining the need for local calling to these cities, were forwarded to the PUC for staff evaluation.

Upon the decision by PUC staffers and legal experts that the need existed for expanded local calling for the citizens in the Roscoe telephone exchange, ballots were sent to each telephone customer. A total of 70% of returned ballots with a positive vote was needed for the issue to pass. Each city was a separate entity and had to be voted upon separately from the other cities. With varying percentages, each of the five cities received a positive vote.

After the vote by the citizens, Southwestern Bell was informed of the proceedings and was required by the State of Texas law to post fee structures and schedules and to advertise implementation schedules.

"Had we not had that available to us, we would probably not be fortunate enough to be getting these facilities."

Wallace Unit inmates have already cleared the cove of heavy brush and made it ready for such an improvement.

Fambro said Dorn Creek Cove "is one of the more popular areas because of its accessibility to the water."

"It's a deep cove and a no-wake cove, which means that boats have to slow down to headway speed and can't create a wake."

With the chamber, the Kiwanis Club, county commissioners and County Economic Development Board supporting it, the project has been a community effort, Fambro said, adding that the City of Colorado City has also been invited to get involved in whatever way it wishes.

"We look at this as a community project because that's basically who's going to benefit," he said.

Board President Tom Carroll and directors Shirley Clifton, Kent Boyd and Kenneth Rogers are up for re-election to two-year terms.

Two Wallace Unit prison clinic staff members were recognized as "Employees of the Month," registered nurse B. Cogburn and licensed vocational nurse E. Levins, along with hospital accounts payable clerk Shirley McMahan.

The full names of the nurses were withheld for security purposes.

Service pins were given to nursing home staff members Delma Rocha for 20 years' service and Yolanda Marquez for 10 years.

The board approved a $750 donation to the American Cancer Society for its June 4-5 "Relay for Life" fundraising run in Wolf Stadium, said hospital administrator Rick Rickard.

Policy manuals were approved for the radiology, labor, delivery, nursery, swing-bed and housekeeping departments.

COOK'S CORNER

By Sheila Plagens

Most people will tell you they are not bread bakers, myself included. But I have come up with some recipes that you can enjoy without spending hours in the kitchen.

Each recipe promises fresh-from-the-oven flavor without all the work traditional yeast breads require. Hope you enjoy them!

MINI CHEDDAR LOAVES
3 1/2 cups biscuit/baking mix
2 1/2 cups (10 oz.) shredded sharp cheddar cheese

2 eggs
1 1/4 cups milk

In a large bowl, combine biscuit mix and cheese. Beat eggs and milk; stir into cheese mixture just until moistened. Pour into four greased and floured 6x3 inch loaf pans. Bake at 350° for 35-40 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool for 10 minutes. Remove from pans; slice and serve warm.

CHEESY FLAT BREAD

1 loaf (1 lb.) frozen bread

dough, thawed

3 Tbs. butter or margarine, softened

2 Tbs. finely chopped onion

2 to 3 tsp. paprika

1/2 tsp. dried oregano or basil

1/2 tsp. garlic powder

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar

cheese

Pat dough onto the bottom and up the sides of a greased 14 inch pizza pan or 15x10 inch baking pan, forming a crust. Spread with butter. Sprinkle with onion, paprika, oregano and garlic powder. Prick the crust several times with a fork; sprinkle with cheese. Cover and let rise in a warm place for 30 minutes. Bake at 375° for 20-25 minutes or until golden brown.

PECAN PEAR BREAD

1 cup sugar

1/2 cup vegetable oil

2 eggs

1/4 cup sour cream

1 tsp. vanilla

2 cups all-purpose flour

1 tsp. baking soda

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 to 1/2 tsp. ground cardamom

1/4 to 1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon

1 1/2 cups chopped peeled pears

2/3 cup chopped pecans

1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel

In a mixing bowl, combine sugar and oil. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add sour cream and vanilla; mix well. Combine dry ingredients; add to sour cream mixture and mix well. Stir in pears, pecans and lemon peel. Spread into a greased 8x4 loaf pan. Bake at 350° for 65-75 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool for 10 minutes; remove from pan to a wire rack to cool completely.

RANCH GARLIC BREAD

1 cup butter or margarine, softened

2 to 3 Tbs. ranch salad dressing mix

2 tsp. garlic powder

1 loaf (1 lb.) French bread, halved lengthwise

In a small mixing bowl, combine butter, dressing mix and garlic powder; beat until combined. Spread over cut sides of bread. Place on a baking sheet. Broil 4 to 6 inches from the heat for 3-4 minutes or until golden brown.

Study lists causes of death in women

By Mary McMullen, CEA-FCS

In 1995 the death rate of Texas women ages 25-64 stood at 12,249. The leading causes of death in descending order were cancer, heart disease, accidents, HIV infection, suicide, diabetes, stroke and chronic lung disease.

In Mitchell County there are 1,750 women between the ages of 25-65 and in 1995 there were 9 deaths in the 25-64 year old age group. Cancer was the leading cause of death for Mitchell County women of this age group claiming 6 of these 9 lives. Heart disease, cirrhosis of the liver and one other unidentified cause of death accounted for the other three deaths in that year.

With the help of the Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Vital Statistics and the Mitchell County Clerk of Court, a review of the leading causes of death among Mitchell County women ages 25-65 was conducted for the eight year period of 1990-97.

From 1990-97 the total mortality rate for Mitchell County women ages 25-65 was 55 deaths. Cancer, the leading cause of death, claimed the lives of 24 women and was responsible for 44% of all deaths during this time period. Heart disease was the second most predominant killer and was responsible for the death of 12 women.

Diabetes claimed the lives of five Mitchell County women during this seven year period and was followed closely by three accidental deaths. The final eleven deaths of Mitchell County women were caused by nephritis, stroke, meningitis, cirrhosis of the liver, homicide, suicide, chronic lung disorders and three unidentified causes of death. Of the 24 cancer deaths in Mitchell County women ages 25-65 breast cancer was responsible for 12 or 50% of these cancer deaths.

With this predominance of breast cancer in our county, Mitchell County women should remember that the keys to surviving breast cancer are knowing your risks for the disease and early detection. The risk factors are increased by age, a family history of breast cancer, late menopause and delayed child birth. Annual mammograms for women most at risk could reduce deaths from breast cancer by 30%.

The three methods for early detection are breast self-exams, clinical breast exam and mammogram. The American Cancer Society recommendations for early detection of breast cancer are: Age 20-40 a breast self exam every month and clinical breast exam every three years and Age 40+ a breast self-exam every month and clinical breast exam and mammography yearly.

KEVIN WRIGHT, No. 8, slides safely across home plate in the Colorado City Wolves' Saturday game against Merkel. The Wolves, district runners-up and playoff participants last season, have gotten off to a fast start with a 3-0 record on the season so far.

C-City Wolves baseball team pounds Grape Creek, Merkel

New CHS Wolves' Head Baseball Coach Brandon Collins has the Pack at 3-0 heading into Tuesday night's tango with the Abilene Cooper JV squad.

The Wolves opened with a solid 27-2 victory over Grape Creek last Thursday (Feb. 25), at Philip's Field.

The Wolves scored five runs in the first, one in the second, eight in the third and 13 runs in the fourth inning.

Tino Silva burned Grape Creek with four homeruns, including a one-run homer, a two-run blast, a three-run shot and a grand slam.

Chase Phariss also knocked two out of the park as he and Silva combined for 11 of the Wolves' 27 runs in the game.

Keep in mind, the season is young and this team has a long way to go to prepare for district play.

Last Saturday, February 27th, the Wolves hosted Merkel in a double-header at Philips Field and won both games.

The first game started at 1 pm and the Wolves won that game 12-2 after an eight-run assault in the first inning.

The Badgers club tried to come back in the fourth, scoring two, but it wasn't enough as the Wolves added three runs in the bottom of the fourth to end the game after five innings.

In game two, Merkel made it more interesting.

Colorado had a 7-0 lead through four complete innings of play, but the Badgers scored four in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh inning to tie the game 7-7 going into the bottom of the seventh.

But Colorado City scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh to end the Badger threat by an 8-7 margin.

"The win over Merkel in game two Saturday really helped them to 'believe they can win,'" said Coach Brandon Collins.

The team is still working out the kinks and getting through some minor injuries early.

"Abel's got a hamstring bothering him, Josh and Tino both have sore quads and Chase has a hamstring bothering him," said Collins, who knows the season is young, but remains cautiously optimistic about the Pack's chances.

"Our pre-district schedule is 'average' in toughness but we play Abilene Cooper's JV tonight, and they've always got a strong club."

Coach Collins has tasted post-season play as he comes to C-City from Coahoma, where the Bulldogs went to the state tournament both years he was there.

Collins was the pitching coach in Coahoma, as well as setting up the defensive strategy for the team.

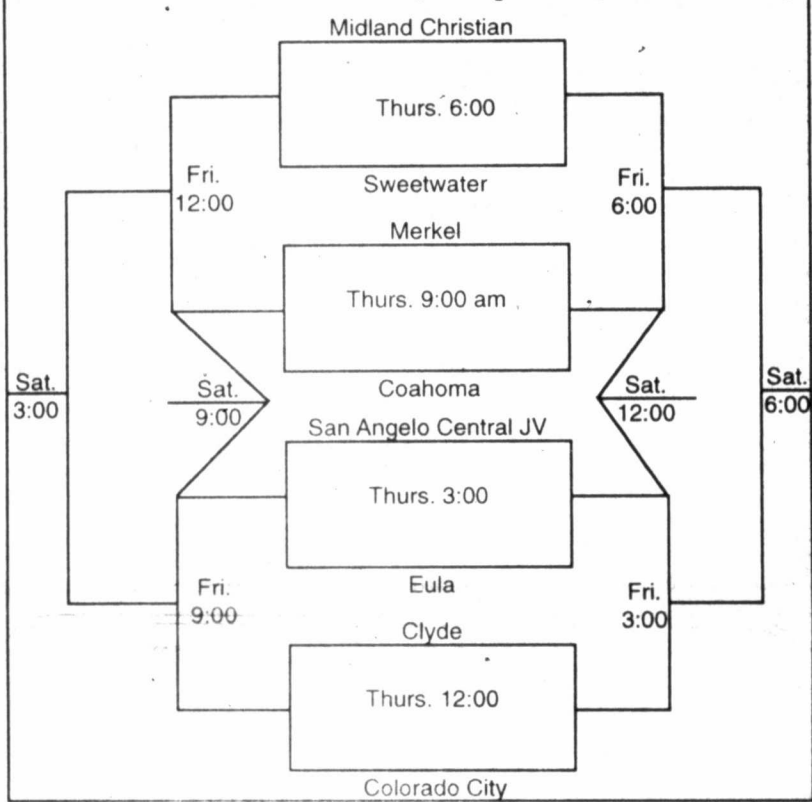

After 17 complete innings of play, Wolves' pitching looks good as the numbers indicate an 11-3 strikeout-to-walk ratio.

The team returns 10 lettermen from last year's squad and shows great promise for the '99 season.

In their first three games, the Wolves have outscored their opponents 47-11, and hold a team batting average of .586.

"Those numbers are deceiving though," said Collins, who explained that teams are still experimenting with younger players and trying players in different positions.

Ornelas pitched all six innings and had 12 strikeouts with four walks.

Several strong young ladies from CHS will participate in the Powerlifting Regional Meet in Cisco this weekend, March 6.

In fact, four girls, Jamie Mason, Shanti Ross, Ann Marie Scott and Michelle Guelker all made the Regional meet by placing in the top-ten in qualifying meets thus far.

The meet will be held at Cisco High School, beginning at 9 am Saturday.

The girls must place in the top three at Cisco to go to the state meet in Killeen on March 26.

Lifters qualify for regional Wolves' Powerlifters David Hernandez and Julian Macedo traveled to Floydada for the season's last qualifying meet before Regionals in two weeks.

Hernandez lifted a total of 885 pounds for first place and Macedo totaled 875 for second in the meet.

Their performances clinch eligibility for the Boys' Regional, to be held in C-City March 13 at the Pit.

Garcia excited about upcoming season

By Carl Graham
Loraine Head Baseball Coach Victor Garcia enters his second year as head mentor for the "Dogs" and is excited and anxious to get the new season started.

"We have about 14 kids out but we are young and it will take a while to get everybody situated where they should be," stated Coach Garcia. "We will be ready when district opens."

Leading the team this year will be junior three-year starters Mike Rico and Rene Garcia. Rico will be the starting shortstop when not getting the pitching nod, while Garcia will be patrolling centerfield as well as getting in some pitching time.

Garcia thinks his pitching corps will be three or four deep, once everything is settled. "We'll look at several different people early on in the season before establishing a rotation," said Garcia.

Coach Garcia also feels confident about the teams' ability to hit. "I was really pleased with our hitting in our season opener against Snyder. We scored 22 runs against them after only having a few work-outs, so it was a pleasant surprise to see them hit so well," Garcia concluded.

Others getting early praise from Coach Garcia are sophomore third baseman Jacob Smith, Sophomore second baseman/pitcher, Luis Rico, and junior pitcher/outfielder Roman Martinez.

Freshman first baseman Robert Sanchez also received high praise and is expected to push junior Edward Carrington for the starting nod.

"Aspermont and Rotan will probably be the favorites in district which leaves us to play the spoiler role," said Garcia. "Without any pressure on the kids, I am hoping they just will go out, play hard, and have fun. If they do everything else, winning will take care of itself."

Loraine is entered in the Hamlin Pied Piper tournament this Thursday, Friday and Saturday and will be pitted against the Class 2A Pied Pipers in their first game Thursday.

"This will be our first competition against a varsity squad and we usually match up well against them. We should come away with a better idea on the make up of our squad," Garcia concluded.

Tennis players win in Midland

The Wolves' tennis team traveled to Midland for a tournament and made good strides toward improvement. Mandy Strain enjoyed a first-round bye and then won three straight matches before losing in the quarterfinals. Cristy Hull also drew a bye from match one, then proceeded to win two in a row before losing to a Midland High competitor. "Mandy lost in the quarters after playing some great tennis," said Coach Carolyn Walker. "Cristy played hard and faced some stiff competition at the end." In girls' doubles, Becky Luera and Shawna Wilking lost to Midland's Hughes and Williams 4-6, 4-6. "Luera and Wilking are getting better as a team and should be much stronger by mid-April," said Walker. Shamica Lewis and Tasha Wryosdick won three in a row before losing to Madden and Walker. "Lewis and Wryosdick played well and have shown a lot of improvement as a doubles team," added Coach Walker. In boys' doubles, Josh Silva and Oscar Rodriguez won four matches before losing by default to Wolves' doubles team Patrick Bell and Jeremy Raymond. Bell and Raymond had a first-match bye, then won three in a row before the default by Silva/Rodriguez. In the Championship doubles match, Bell and Raymond lost 6-3, 6-2 to Gibson and Haggerton from Grady, a doubles team C-City is familiar with. "Both my boys' doubles wound up on the bottom side of the bracket which made them play each other before the finals," said Walker. "Josh Silva had to play a baseball game, so they defaulted to Bell and Raymond." "The Grady team has gone to state the past two years. Silva and Rodriguez beat them in last year's C-City tournament in March." Bell and Raymond won second place after the close loss to the Grady duo.

Greetings. It will rain again. It will be a welcome sight. Reflect on all your blessings instead of on all your fears and doubts.

"Some pearls of wisdom" by J.A. Sadler
"I'd rather be 5 feet over than 5 feet under."

What intellect - what a wise comment! Don't ask me what brought this into focus, but I did feel like anything of this stature and intelligence should be shared.

Charlene Walker is now in her own home once again, after having had surgery in Lubbock.

She is doing well at this time and we wish her a continued speedy recovery.

I'm very pleased to let you know that we have two new families moving into town.

Moving into the former Hart house, we have Travis and Debbie Massingill of Colorado City. Also, moving into the former Narrell home, we welcome J.F. Wheeler.

Mr. Wheeler is moving over from Sweetwater. We hope they all like living here. We will love having them here.

We have concerns for Top Lucas, Charlene Walker and Sally Parker.

Our well wishes and a speedy recovery to each one.

Please remember to mark your calendar for a singing of large proportions, March 28 at 6 p.m.

Everyone is welcome, young and old, no matter the color of your skin. Groups are also welcome.

If you love music and singing, make an effort to be at United Methodist Church, Palm Sunday evening, March 28, 6 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lucas were guests in the home of Ida Baird recently. The Lucases are from Midland.

Paul and Dawn Kropp of Abilene visited in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Butler, over the weekend.

Marcy Prentice and her daughter, Mrs. Angie Lawrence of San Angelo brought Pearl Prentice to spend some time with a sister, Eva Wells, last week.

Joining the sisters was a brother, Bob Smith and his wife, Neda of Groesbeck and another sister, Lessie Coker of Abilene.

Modene Porter, a cousin of theirs, visited the group one afternoon.

John Prentice came for his mother on Saturday.

Katrina and Cecil Robinson of Abilene with their grandbaby, Bailey Robinson of San Angelo, spent last Saturday night with Eva.

Floy McNaughton of San Angelo visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Green Jr. last week.

The ladies visited, dined out and had a great time.

Minnie Briseno reported from Lorraine Manor that Top Lucas and Sally Parker were both in the hospital at this time.

We send our get-well wishes to them.

The residents will be involved in regular activities this coming week.

We will list birthdays next week.

"Senior Center"
Last Friday, Denise Williams came to the center to introduce some moderate but effective exercises for seniors.

Almost everyone in attendance took part and said they enjoyed the class.

Visitors last week included Lester Richburg, Don Richburg and his wife, Francis, Angie Harris, Bessie and Bill Culwell.

In last week's drawing, the vest was won by Bessie Culwell and the throw was won by Lupe Leija.

Nancy Patton of Big Spring was at the Center on Monday, March 1st to talk about Social Security and answer questions.

Also on the same morning, Sheila Cunningham of Dallas was at the Center to talk with Seniors about medicare.

These programs were very informative and helpful to one and all.

Staring Monday, March 8, Aubrey Wilson and his band will entertain us.

On March 10, the Norwoods with Gus and Charles will be here.

March 12, Rev. Chase Addington will delight us on the piano.

The month of March is filled with entertainment. Come over and pick up an activity calendar and have lunch with us.
