Old Civil War Cannon Misfires And Injures 41

SOMERSET, Mich. (UPI)—When they shoot the Civil War cannons, they pack the powder in with a wad of paper or cloth. When the shell leaves the cannon the wadding is supposed to go with it and disintegrate.

Usually it does.

Sunday it didn't.

A bit of flaming cloth fluttered in the air after a cannon was fired. It hung a second, then dropped into an open keg of gunpowder. The keg exploded. Flames shot in all directions. People stampeded. Some lay where they had fallen, their faces bloody masks.

The Heritage Muzzle Loaders Association Sunday was demonstrating the old instruments of Civil War destruction when the cloth wadding wafted lazily into the powder keg. It was the close of the two-day national cannon and carbine team matches. It was very nearly a disaster.

Some 20 cannons were set up along a quarter-mile line, and members were firing round after round at makeshift forts. The curious stood around the cannons. Among them was Diane Korb, 8, Ferndale, Mich.,

Bailey Studies Demo Convention Phone Problem

CHICAGO (UPI)—Democratic National Chairman John Bailey comes to Chicago today to see whether the party's national convention could be held in the city.

A strike by electrical workers of the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. was in its 75th day today. It has prevented the installation of communications facilities at the amphiheater, where the Democratic National Convention is scheduled to open Aug. 26.

Bailey has said the Democratic party will have to take "another look" at the situation if the strike kept the facilities from being installed. The convention needs 6,000 telephones, 400 teletype machines, 40 switchboards and 58 television channels.

The striking International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers said Sunday that Illinois Bell's latest wage offer—which the IBEW earlier rejected as inadequate—would be submitted to members for a vote if the company agreed to accept binding arbitration in the event the membership rejected it.

Bailey said a week ago that if the strike were not settled by this past weekend, the Democratic National Committee "might have to take another look at Chicago" as the site of the convention. Interests from Miami Beach, Fla., have urged Bailey to move the Democratic convention there, where the Republican National Convention opens Aug. 5.

Kid Pony Show Tomorrow

Entries Pour In For Rodeo Here

Entries are coming in fast for the Top O' Texas Rodeo and Kid Pony Show which get inderway here this week.

The deadline for entries in the Kid Pony Show is Tuesday at 11 a.m. Registration headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce will be busy today and Tuesday with details of the Rodeo therefore people were asked to enter as early as possible.

The first performance of the Kids Rodeo will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday and the second performance will be at 7:30 p.m. in the main arena at Recreation Park.

Registration of the RCA professional rodeo will take place on Tuesday with the books closing at 6 p.m. Top cowboys and cowgirls from throughout the United States are expected to be on hand for this, the 24th annual rodeo.

Judy Lynn and her show troupe will start arriving in Pampa today in preparation for their part of the program. The Judy Lynn Show, one of the top attractions in the western field, comes to Pampa direct from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

Reserved seats went on sale at the Rodeo Office in The Chamber of Commerce this morning at 9.

The demand for tickets this year is better than it has been in many years, according to rodeo officials. A few box seats are still available as well as several hundred excellent seats in the reserved section. A line was formed when the ticket office opened this morning.

The Pampa High School Rodeo Band will again be on hand to cue every jump and step of the rodeo performances.

Speciality acts including "Quail" Dobbs and his "bag full of comedy tricks" will balance the rodeo program.

Announcing this year's rodeo will be a newcomer to this area, Senator Clem McSpadden of Claremore, Okla., one of the best known rodeo announcers in the business. The Stock Producers are Elra and Jiggs Beutler of Elk City, Okla.

The parade will move through downtown Pampa at 4 p. m. Wednesday with the Coronado Shopping Center parking lot being the assembly point at 3:30 p.m. Several outstanding features will be in the parade line-up including the Santa Rosa Palomino Riding Club from Vernon. The Khiva Motorcycle Escort, numerous Riding Clubs, antique cars, western entries, floats and other units. Anyone wishing to enter the parade should be on hand at 3 p.m Wednesday.

The stands, pens and grounds have been put in top shape for this year's rodeo which is expected to be the best in the history of the organization, according to Rex McAnelly, president of the rodeo association.

School Board Session Set For Tonight

School trustees will meet with school officials and Dr. James F. Malone, superintendent, at 7:30 p.m. today to discuss the needs of Carver School students, and possible uses for Carver Elementary School.

The meeting, open to news media representatives for "background information" is closed to the public since no action is to be taken on any matters, Dr. Malone said.

"We hope this to be the first of several (talk) sessions for me and school trustees because we need to understand each other's thinking on all school matters to run the district efficiently," Dr. Malone said.

Since Carver School is to be closed as a school in the 1968-69 term, the board, Dr. Malone and other district supervisors have considered using the building as a special services center for Pampa school administrators, he said.

Terrorists Kill 20 In Saigon

By JACK WALSH

SAIGON (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas bombed four public gatherings in a weekend wave of terror that killed 20 persons and injured 120 others, South Vietnamese spokesmen said today.

Terrorists bombed three theaters and exploded hand genades at a Buddhist pagoda and in the midst of government troops watching a propaganda skit—all in the Saigon area.

Communists shot down a U.S. Army helicopter gunship near Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, in a fight that killed eight Americans. U.S. Marines killed 34 Communists in two engagements in the nation's northernmost province.

The worst bombing incident killed five persons and wounded 55 in an arcade next to a crowded theater in Saigon. Two other theaters in Truc Giang, 40 miles south of Saigon, also were bombed, killing three persons, including a U.S. soldier.

Soldiers Killed

In Phu Cuong, 15 miles north of Saigon, Viet Cong set off a grenade in a propaganda show, killing four South Viet soldiers and injuring 23 others including two performers.

In nine other weekend incidents throughout Vietnam, terrorists killed seven persons and wounded 26 others.

U.S. intelligence officers said they had been told the Communists would unleash a weekend of terror to coincide with the 14th anniversary of the signing of the Geneva Accords, which partitioned Vietnam.

Allied troops in the past week found several caches of Communist arms and munitions, including more than 500 pounds of TNT and 1,300 grenades in the Saigon area alone. It gave the impression a new offensive against the cities might be planned.

Three South Vietnamese civilians were killed and 12 wounded Saturday night when a hand grenade exploded outside a downtown Saigon temple. The blast was attributed to a dispute between two factions of the Hoa Hano religious sect.

Civilian Victims

The wounded in the Saigon theater bombing were all Vietnamese.

The terror produced the most Vietnamese civilians killed in a single attack since the Viet Cong heavy rocket siege a month ago.

The bomb, a 25-pound charge concealed in a suitcase, was placed against a table in a cafe next to the theater during the intermission of the play "The Millionaire."

The blast killed a policeman, a youth inside the theater, the owner of the cafe where the bomb was planted and two customers at the cafe.

Mail Service On Saturdays To Be Halted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Residential mail service on Saturdays will be halted in the fall and home deliveries will be further cut back to four days a week later under a congressionally ordered reduction in postal employment, Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson said today.

Watson, testifying before the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, urged elimination of the Post Office Department from personnel ceilings Congress placed on all federal agencies in passing President Johnson's bill to raise income taxes.

Plans for elimination of Saturday residential service are to be completed by Sept. 1, Watson said. He said in some communities the cutback would take effect in October and in others in November.

Complete elimination of Saturday parcel post deliveries also will take place about October, he said.

He said a reduction of home deliveries by another full day also would be necessary later

'Mystery' About Pueblo's Skipper Growing Deeper

By Robert S. Allen and John A. Goldsmith

WASHINGTON (Spl) — Military and diplomatic circles in the capital are buzzing with a sensational report about Commander Lloyd Bucher, skipper of the USS Pueblo, seized by North Korea in January of this year.

Extensive inquiries have produced no confirmation of any kind of this disturbing report.

In fact, after persistent querying, an anonymous State Department source finally stated that "official" word has been received categorically denying the Bucher story. No further enlightenment could be gained from this informant. He flatly declined to comment on the identity and nature of the "official" disclaimer.

Despite this denial, the report persists.

It is credited to various sources, chief among them France and Japan. Both have diplomatic missions in North Korea, also large Communist parties with extensive ties in Red quarters.

A factor unquestionably playing a role in lending substance to the disquieting report is the Administration's repeated statements, both private and public, that it has no knowledge of the whereabouts and treatment of the 82 Pueblo crewmen. Their Communist captors have stated they are receiving "humane treatment." The White House, State Department and Pentagon admit they know nothing as to just what that constitutes.

As a result, there are growing apprehensions over the fate

'Armed Intervention Is Threatened Again

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovakia's Communist reform leaders today demanded the Soviet Union stop its "uncomradely interference" in this country's affairs.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of the Czech Communist liberals who ousted Stalinist Antonin Novotny, told the Russians in an article in the party newspaper Rude Pravo that the reformers are true Communists.

"We therefore demand calmly, deliberately but absolutely definitely — from our best friends too that they respect our rights and stands that exclude any kind of uncomradely interference," he said.

In Moscow, underlining the Soviet - Czech crisis rocking Eastern Europe, the Soviet Communist party warned that the Czechoslovakian situation threatens the security of the East Bloc and the military balance of power in Europe.

Warnings to West

The Soviet party organ Pravda aimed a flurry of warnings at the American-led West which it calls imperialist. Pravda said the Soviets and their allies would never allow imperialism to "breach the socialist system and thus change the relation of forces in Europe in their favor."

Pravda's warning more than attacked the Czech Communist reform drive for more democracy and independence. It raised once more the threat of Soviet armed intervention in Czechoslovakia.

The exchange of demands and MOSCOW (UPI)—The Czech reform regime has agreed in principle to bi-lateral talks with Soviet leaders, informed sources said tonight. The reported agreement followed a strong Russian warning the Communist world cannot tolerate the overthrow of communism in Czechoslovakia.

PRAGUE (UPI) — Russian troops were reported streamers out of Czechoslovakia by the thousands today in the wake of a demand by the nation's Communist leaders that the Soviet Union end its "uncomradely interference" in Czechoslovakia's reform movement.

Top News In Brief

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Two New England Democratic governors said today they suggested to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that he resign from office as a "dramatic gesture" to create his own image in the presidential campaign.

Humphrey immediately rejected the proposal advanced by Govs. Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine and Philip H. Hoff of Vermont.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Gov. John McKeithen of Louisiana said today he believed that George C. Wallace as the candidate of the American Independent party could carry more states, if the presidential election were now, than Republican Barry M. Goldwater carried in 1964.

TYLER (UPI)—"Rest" will be the key word for a time now for Shirley Diane Huggins, but for a while in the recent past, the words were "poise" and "talent" and "beauty". She is the new Miss Texas.

She put together those attributes Saturday night in Fort Worth to take the 1968 Miss Texas title, representing Nacogdoches although her home is Tyler.

National Guardsmen kept Akron, Ohio, quiet today after fresh outbreaks of violence Sunday. Calm also was restored to two Michigan towns troubled by roaming youths who threw rocks, bottles and firebombs.

Republican 'Sons' To Keep Votes Neutral

By United Press International

A coalition of Republican "favorite sons," which opponents of Richard M. Nixon had hoped might block his presidential nomination, has fizzled.

Instead, the three key Republican governors who had discussed the coalition, and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California who had not, have decided to remain neutral in a final attempt to keep the GOP race open.

The three governors were George Romney of Michigan, James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

The coalition, proposed by Romney, collapsed when Rhodes said he could not commit Ohio to any unified course of action at next month's GOP Convention in Miami Beach.

Rhodes told the governors he would remain uncommitted at least until the start of the August 5th Convention and it was understood that Agnew and Romney, at a meeting with Rhodes Sunday morning, decided on the same stand.

They, along with Reagan, intend to remain favorite son candidates until the convention, withholding their support from Nixon or any other candidate until then.

Reagan meanwhile arrived at the governors' conference at Cincinnati acting very much like a candidate but still withholding any definite announcement.

He said convention delegates should have a "free and open mind" and not make a decision until they look over all factors at the convention.

In other Political developments:

Debates—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy Sunday invited Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to join him in three nationally televised debates prior to the Democratic National Convention, instead of one. A Humphrey aide said the vice president would consider it. Both candidates have agreed to debate Vietnam and other issues but details still were to be worked out.

Price Introduces Bill To Establish A New 'Hoover Type' Commission

WASHINGTON (Spl)—A bill to establish a new Hoover type commission has been introduced in the house by Panhandle Congressman Bob Price and more than 100 other members, both Democrats and Republicans.

As earlier bill introduced by Rep. William N. Roth of Delaware after an 8-months research and study of the Federal establishment would catalogue all Federal assistance programs and pave the way for the commission.

Roth said his study revealed 1,571 identifiable Federal programs but his questionnaire to the various agencies drew a spotty response. "We found that no one, anywhere, knows exactly how many Federal programs there are," Roth said. "Our investigation also reveals that the government does not know who is spending how much for what."

Price's bill would establish a commission for the Improvement of Government Management and Organization—a 12-man independent bi-partisian group drawn from the top ranks of American leadership outside of government.

"The commission would be set up to go over Federal programs periodically," Price said, "and to determine whether our tax dollars are being well spent.

"Our country is facing a serious economic crisis," Price said. "Huge budget deficits and massive borrowing to pay Federal bills are threatening to drive prices into a further inflationary spiral that could rob all of us of our savings and earnings if not stopped soon."

Liquor Board 'Shakeup' Is About Complete

By ANN WATSON

AUSTIN (UPI)—The personnel shakeup of the much-criticized Texas Liquor Control Board appeared finished today with the departure of enforcement chief Aubrey R. Cartlidge.

Cartlidge began an extended vacation today that will end in his retirement Aug. 31.

Only the naming of a permanent chief for the state agency remains. O. N. Humphreys Jr. is acting administrator.

Humphreys named Don Fishel to take over Cartlidge's duties.

Cartlidge was last of the TLCB officials criticized in Atty. Gen. Crawford's Martin's report on gift-taking and influence-peddling in the state agency to leave the office.

Reports Criticized

Martin's report quoted findings of a Smith County grand jury report saying Cartlidge "has time and again filed incomplete, misleading and false reports on investigations which he made of complaints regarding misconduct of liquor control board personnel."

Humphreys said he found "no proof that he did that" or that Cartlidge had been "inefficient."

In a letter to board members, Cartlidge said "I am quite sure that there have been many mistakes made by me during my employment but none of them have been dishonest. There have never been any false or misleading statements made by me.

"I was named chief of the enforcement division only last July 1st and . . most of the problems were inherited by me," he said.

Cartlidge said he feels "capable of continuing my duties in an efficient and satisfactory manner," but "due to circumstances beyond my control, I think it best for everyone concerned that I leave the department."

Quits Under Fire

Cartlidge's former boss—Coke Stevenson Jr.—resigned under fire in February after 18 years at the head of the agency.

Martin's report said Stevenson "very frequently" dismissed charges without giving reasons, "unduly restricted the travel of undercover agents," ordered agents to "go easy" in certain areas, accepted expensive gifts from liquor lobbyists and allowed the state agency to be "in a large measure, controlled by the very industry it was designed to regulate."

The attorney general also criticized Stevenson's secretary, Miss Bernice Clifton, for "alleged high-handed tactics." Martin said employes told him she signed Stevenson's name on "so many administrative orders that she could sign the administrator's name better than he could."

Judges Name Gray County Winners In Annual 4-H Club Fashion Revue

Judges viewing the annual Gray County 4-H dress revue here Saturday awarded plaques to three first place winners and a sewing box to the top model out of 17 girls entered. Elaine Webb, Cindy Youngblood and Marva Rowan, all first place winners, will represent the county in the district event Aug. 1. Best model was Melinda Spearman.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Webb, Mobeetie; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Youngblood, Lefors; Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Rowan, 1045 S. Wells, and Mr. and Mrs. John Spearman of Pampa.

Second place winners were Regina Atwood, of Pampa, 9-11 age group, and Melinda Spearman, 12-13 group; third place winners were Cheryle McKnight, 324 Lefors, 9-11 group, and Brenda Winters, of Pampa, 12-13 group. All second and third place winners received gift certificates from Pampa stores.

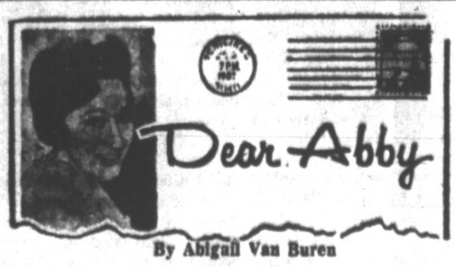

Mistress of ceremonies was Mignon Nickel, 4-H council chairman. Dress revue narrators were Miss Nickel and Miss Youngblood. After presentation of winners by Miss Cathy Wilkie and Mrs. Ray Robertson, Home Demonstration Council chairman, the home demonstration council sponsored a tea in Lovett Memorial Library.

Theme for the revue was "HemisFair" Fashions." The three first place winners will enter the district event in Amarillo Aug. 1, Miss Jeannie Ford, Gray County assistant home demonstration agent, said.

The models, judged by Mrs. Robertson and Miss Wilkie, a former Gray County 4-H member, were judged on four basic factors, the girl herself, her outfit, its construction and her 4-H record.

Judges considered the girls' posture, poise, grooming and attude. In judging their costumes, they looked for neatness, becomingness, suitability of fabric, style and color, fit, and accessories.

The 4-H record considered includes project and activities, leadership and personal development.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sweet little 6-year-old daughter I will call Molly, and I am "expecting" again in a few months.

Molly plays with two neighbor girls who are 6 and 9. The mother of these girls has been instructing them in sex education, which has become a problem to me. The neighbor girls told Molly that "her Mummy has a baby in her tummy, and it's growing like a watermelon and Daddy planted the seed!"

Now, what in the world am I going to tell Molly when she asks me about this "planting" procedure?

I went over to have a talk with my neighbor, and I asked her to please tell her girls not to discuss such things with Molly because I intend to answer all her questions in my own way when the time comes, but right now she is too young to understand these things. I said this all in a very friendly way, and the mother agreed to cooperate. Twice since that time, Molly has asked me some shocking questions as a result of something these girls have told her. It seems that their mother has shown the girls a book with pictures in it showing how a baby is born! Now my Molly wants to see the book. Can you help me?

CLEAN-MINDED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think your neighbor's approach to teaching her daughters what every girl must know sooner or later (and the sooner the better) is healthier than yours. Have another talk with her. You can benefit greatly. You say that you will answer your child's questions when she asks. She is asking now, so tell her. Don't worry about whether she understands or not.

If she doesn't, it won't harm her, but it will make sense when she does reach the age of understanding.

When mothers become embarrassed and evasive when sex is mentioned, the child gets the idea that something is wrong (or "dirty") with the whole business. You desperately need to educate yourself before you can educate Molly properly.

DEAR ABBY: My brother collects motel keys. That is, he keeps the key to motels where he stays on business.

I chided him about being a "thief," and he huffily informed me that the room rent included the price of the key. Who is right and if I am, what is wrong with his?

LINCOLN, NEBR.

DEAR LINCOLN: The room rent does not include the price of the key. The key belongs to the establishment. I don't know what else is wrong with him, but so far, I'd say he is light-fingered and ill-informed.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

(FOR TUESDAY, JULY 23)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are very restless and you want to run about in many directions even though you feel tired. Take it easy. Get at those unfinished tasks today and show you can get everything about you in perfect working order for the future. Think out any problem as your mind is working fine, so listen to it.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) — Get an early-morning start on that shopping today and keeping the right appointments since you have been procrastinating too long on this. This is not a good day to reach important conclusions, but talk is all right.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) —Don't go off on a tiny somewhere. You can handle those financial matters very expediently now. Use your intuition for best results. Don't feel that you have to foot the whole bill for some pleasurable association.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) —You can concentrate now on ideal way to get ahead socially without feeling that kin will be annoyed or neglected. If you get rid of whatever is obsolete, you see the future in brighter tones. Be alive, interested in all that you do.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Sit down with expert and then follow the advice given. You fare much better as well as gain their approval. The path to success is open to you. Don't hesitate and ruin your chances.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — Ideal day to be with persons who have done you many a favor in the past, but be sure you drive with both hands on the wheel. Don't permit a blunt-spoken person confuse you. Let a smile be your olive branch.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — Philanthropy and public duties are your best outlet today, so gain prestige, the love of others. An executive is having troubles, so don't add to his woes. Be as helpful as you can instead.

LIBRAS (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — You quire more data, be it for scientific or business outlets, so get out and get it and forget about going off on some tangent. Get in touch with that wise person you know who is influential. Make this a day for big activity.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — You can handle your problems very wisely if you rely on those hunches that assail you instead of getting all worked up. Show that you are a conscientious person. Do whatever pleases mate in p.m.

AGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)— Many duties need your immediate attention now and you can get the aid of good allies if you just go to them or pick up the telephone. Don't go it alone or some big problem arises with a partner who is very suspicious. Be clever.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan.20) — If you get right at all that work ahead of you, you need not impose on others, especially partners who are very busy. Something should be done about that health problem. Take care of it before it gets worse.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Provided you do not injure the feelings of one who thinks a great deal of you, this can be a most happy day for you. Think twice before you speak. Show ingenuity if you want to gain prestige where newcomers are concerned.

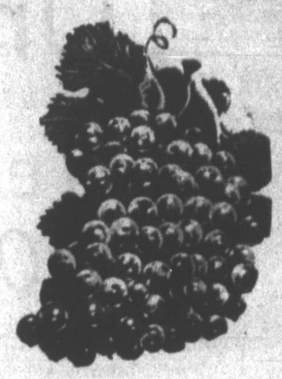

PISCE (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) —Doing what is expected of you by own kin is best. Then you can be with those persons you like, and vice versa in the outside world. Put plans in motion for greater security in the days ahead. Don't fall for any forceful tactics from others.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he, or she, will be one of those clever young people with many a clever idea and who will want to have everything around in spic and span order, and one who will like to travel, but only on short trips, whether for business or otherwise, or for some concentrated project. The field of selling would be very fine here.

New Joint Recruiting Offices Are Officially Opened Here

Formal ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the opening of the new joint Army-Navy recruiting offices at 115 N. Cuyler were held at 10:30 this morning.

City manager Charles Hill, Chamber of Commerce President Harold Barrett, Col. Jack Baugh, deputy commander of the Fourth Recruiting District and Commander Ray Fannin, commanding officer of the recruiting office in Albuququerque, N.M., presided at the opening ceremonies.

The two stations have a common entrance but separate offices. The building, which is adjacent to Tarpley's Music Store, is approximately 14 by 48 feet. It is wood-paneled and air-conditioned.

Other Army officials on hand for the ceremony were Capt. Grant Woodbury of the Army Recruiting Main Station in Amarillo, Staff Sergeant George Cullins, Pampa Recruiter; Master Sergeant Gene Jeters, Amarillo Area supervisor; and Specialist 5 Betty K. Meador, Women's Army Corps counselor.

Other Navy personnel on hand were three men from the Pampa recruiting office: J. D. Brown, Engineman Chief Senior; Bobby Batson, Aviation Structural Mechanic Equipment First Class, and Leonel Ford, Interior Communications Electrician First Class. Also on hand was Airman Barbara Vance, a local Navy Wave presently home on leave from her duty station at Washington, D.C.

Refreshments were served to about 30 people who attended the opening.

York governor, in the latest of a series of position papers on campaign issues, called for a broad program for the planning and development of new cities by private developers with the help of government.

Nixon—Sen. John Tower, a key Nixon adviser, said Nixon is skeptical about chances the Vietnam talks in Paris would lead to peace. Nixon meanwhile returned to his native California for the first time since announcing his candidacy. He called Reagan a "major contender" for the GOP nomination.

Humphrey—The vice president over the weekend emphatically rejected the support of antiwar Democrats who want him to say President Johnson and his Vietnam policy were wrong.

Pact—Two congressmen Sunday asked all announced presidential contenders — including George Wallace—to endorse a plan to deny Wallace a voice in the selection of the next president if the election is thrown into the House. Wallace himself said the election "will not go into the House" but would not elaborate.

Poll—About a third of Rockefeller's supporters and a third of McCarthy's would rather vote for each other's candidates than for either Nixon or Humphrey, the latest Gallup poll indicated.

Reception For Judy Lynn Set

A reception for Judy Lynn and her troupe will be held from 5:30-6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Cibola Room of the Coronado Inn, according to Rex McAnelly, president of the Top-O' Texas Rodeo Assn.

"This informal social hour will be our way of saying to Judy, 'We're glad to have you back in Pampa,' " McAnelly said.

The reception will be attended by directors of the Rodeo Assn. and their wives and representatives of the press.

Sheriff Is Expected To Attend Meet

Gray County Sheriff R. H. (Rufe) Jordan will be one of an estimated 550 law enforcement officers who are expected to attend the annual conference and crime seminar of the Sheriffs Assn. of Texas in Amarillo from July 28-31.

Sheriff Jordan will also act as master of ceremonies at the association's annual banquet.

Sheriffs from throughout the state, officers from the Texas Dept. of Public Safety, FBI men and private investigators are expected to be at the meeting.

Featured on the program will be a special panel program by Texas-based FBI agents, and seminars on robbery and burglary, confidence games, auto thefts and counterfeiting.

The meeting will conclude with association business meetings and election and installation of new officers.

● Czech

threats flared here and in Moscow as Soviet forces still dawdled en route to their long promised pullout from this country. Cezch Communist leaders in turn kept silent about a Kremlin request for a face-to-face showdown meeting between leaders of both Red nations.

President Ludvik Svoboda, the only Czech party presidium member to surface over the weekend, told a rally at Javornia Sunday night that this nation will remain loyal to the East Bloc. But he said, "The Russians must learn to tolerate those who do not toe the Moscow line."

However, Svoboda — whose name means "freedom" in Slavic and Russian—said nothing about the Kremlin's call for a Czech-Soviet summit today or Tuesday in either of the Soviet cities of Kiev or Lvov.

In Moscow, authoritative sources said Dubcek was waiting for the last Russian troops to leave his country before meeting the Soviets.

The Soviet troops, estimated by Czechs at more than 27,000, came for East Bloc war games in June. They were to have left by June 30. But their departure has been at a snail's pace—causing alarm among Czechs fearful the Kremlin might use force to halt Dubcek's democratic reforms.

There was talk that possibly the Czech-Soviet facedown would come in some "neutral" city such as the Hungarian capital of Budapest. It would make the meeting easier since both the Soviets and the Czechs have said they did not want to go to each other's nation for the talks.

Break-In, Theft Reported Here

One theft and a break-in were reported to Pampa police yesterday, but it was otherwise a quiet day—except for a number of persons who complained of the barking and baying of dogs and neighborhood domestic squabbles.

The theft occurred in the 1900 block of Fir. A man told police that an auto stereo and tapes valued at $125 and an electric drill valued at $45 had been stolen from his auto while it was parked near his residence.

The break-in was reported at a house in the 2200 block of N. Sumner. The owner said he returned from vacation to discover the entry. He told police some damage had been done but he believed nothing had been burglarized.

Tragedy Averted When Tent Falls On Music Fans

By THOMAS DROLSHAGEN

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—A sudden gust of wind collapsed a large tent on more than 2,000 rock 'n' roll fans Sunday night. Authorities said a tragedy was averted because the young people refused to panic.

About 65 persons were injured.

It was the second such incident in the past two weeks. On July 9 at Auburn, N.Y., a large tent of the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus fell on 1,400 of 2,000 persons under the Big Top. Eighty-five persons were hurt, 24 seriously.

Forty persons, many of them teen-agers, were treated at three Milwaukee hospitals, Sunday night, and officials estimated another 25 were treated for cuts and bruises at a Red Cross station near the scene of the tent collapse on the shores of Lake Michigan. No one was seriously injured.

"Nobody panicked—that was a big help. It was pretty orderly," said Fire Department Lt. William Walker.

"Summerfest is proud of the way the young people acted. They kept their cool," said Edward Ball, director of "Summerfest 68," of which the lakefront music show was a part. Thousands of persons had been in the area during the course of the day for the festival-type events.

Deputy Fire Chief William Stamm said the 320-by-80-foot canvas tent was filled to near capacity of 2,800 about 8:30 p.m., shortly before the performance.

The U.S. Weather Bureau had issued a severe thunderstorm warning. Suddenly winds gusting from the west lifted the west side of the tent up and over. It collapsed on the east side.

Witnesses said the poles were uprooted, and beams and canvas tumbled on about half the audience. All but about 100 persons were out within 15 minutes, climbing through debris and folding chairs.

Witnesses said the accident knocked out some power and sparks were seen.

"I didn't believe what I saw," said Mike Mead, 23, Milwaukee. "The tent just went up and the poles came down and that was it. It was a minor miracle there was no fire."

Observers said the young people made an orderly evacuation, although encumbered by a snow fence around the tent and thousands of persons who had swarmed to the scene from a nearby water show.

Suddenly the flaming cloth fluttered into the air instead of whizzing off with the shell. The keg exploded.

Forty-one persons were injured, seven of them burned critically.

"I just heard a big noise and then all this smoke. I started running away," sobbed Diane.

"My hair was burning while I was running and my little sister Karen fell down. My brother had to carry her, but then he had to help another girl," she said.

Diane's father, Thomas Korb, a member of the Heritage Muzzle Loaders, explained.

but gave no estimate when.

Besides stopping Saturday service to homes, Watson said the post office is closing 500 third and fourth class post offices this month and in August.

"We have already issued orders to close 314 offices where vacancies exist," he said. "We will shortly issue orders to close another 186."

Among further actions that must "of necessity" be taken, he said, are:

—Reduction of multi-trip business deliveries to one a day.

—Reduction of business trips from six to five a week.

"I sincerely believe that Congress was not aware of the effect personnel limitations would have on the Post Office Department," Watson said. ". . .They can only result in a slower processing of the river of mail which is truly such a main stream of our economic and social life."

The post office, third largest civilian employer in the world, currently has 731,000 employes. The congressionally ordered cutbacks would reduce its work force by 83,238 persons in 1973 when Watson said volume would hit a peak of 93 billion pieces of mail.

Watson testified that the post office plan of service curtailment for 1970 showed that all 7,039 fourth class post offices and 5,000 third class post offices would have to be closed ultimately.

Saturday collection service will be converted to the less frequent Sunday schedule on the same day.

of the imprisoned crewmen. As this column recently reported, "'No one goes so far as to say there is a possibility that casualties may have occurred among them. But this dire likelihood is left dangling."

Also pointed out in that column was a highly significant comment by Senator Robert Byrd, W. Va., deputy Democratic floor leader, in a broadcast to his state. Following was his reply to a question about the Pueblo:

"I know of nothing new. The Joint Chiefs of Staff have turned thumbs down to any military moves because in their opinion these would result in the death of the men and the opening of a second front in Asia. Our government is continuing efforts to bring about the release of the men through direct negotiations and diplomatic channels. I imagine the North Koreans will hold the men until such time as they feel they have milked all of the propaganda value out of this affair."

"Do we know anything about the present health of the men?"

"I cannot say that we do."

"Are they all living, do we know that?"

"I cannot say that they are with certainty," replied Byrd obviously choosing his words with care, "and I doubt that anyone knows for sure that they are."

A recent intelligence report indicated the 82 crewmen have been split up into groups and are held in different prison camps. Also that some mail is getting to them through the International Red Cross.

'Daniel Boone' US Postage Stamp Design Is Discussed

Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson has made public the design of the Daniel Boone postage stamp, according to R. W. McPhillips, postmaster.

The 6-cent stamp in the American Folklore Series will be issued with first day ceremonies Sept. 26 at Frankfort, Ky., where the frontiersman of legendary exploits is buried.

Louis MrCouillard of San Francisco designed the horizontal stamp, which will be printed in two yellow inks by offset with black and red applied by the Giori press. Red mingles with yellow to produce light brown.

It is a non-portrait stamp. attached to a wall of roughly-hewn boards are the tools of Boone's trade — a Pennsylvania rifle, a powder horn and a knife. So is a pipe tomahawk a historical reminder t h a t Boone had been adopted by the Shawnees "Daniel Boone" and his birthdate "1724" are carved on the wall. A poster tacked to the wall reads "United states 6 cents postage." The denomination is black; all other elements are combinations of yellows and red.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed to the Postmaster, Frankfurt, Kentucky 40601. A close-fitting enclosure of postal card thickness should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers 6 cents Daniel Boone Stamp." Requests must be postmarked no later than Sept. 26, 1968.

WRONG SUBJECT

San Jose, Calif. (UPI) — "The professor" and his young accomplices got all the information they needed from television. But they had to go to school to use it.

"The professor," a 17-year-old science and electronics whiz, and three companions—aged 14, 15 and 16—were arrested leaving school with stolen lab equipment and a public address system worth $200. Police said the arrests ended a series of school burglaries.

The youngsters told Sgt. Lawrence Demkowski t h e y learned their technique—smuggling tools into school inside a hollowed out book—from a popular television show.

Television In Review

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Habits are often comforting. When I was a boy, my father and I would have late-night ice cream sodas t Scrafft's on 57th Street in New York. To this day, I have a soda at home before going to bed, and the nostalgic memory helps make it my tranquilizer. I tried sleeping pill twice, but stayed up all night waiting for them to take effect.

Hazits can also be a hangup. I was thinking of that this past weekend in realtion to baseball after watching and listening to some games on television and radio. I've always bee n a traditionalist about the sport every time somebody in television tried to mess around with it, and basically I still am. But there's no question baseball needs some new zip.

Dull Picture

The sports writers have been making suggestions about how to enliven the actual playing of the game, and many of the recommendations make sense—especially those that would result in more runs being scored. But most of us are connected in to baseball either through the television picture or the sound of radio broadcasts. That's where we get our impression of the sport, and it's not a flattering one. It's dull for the most part, regardless of how many runs are scored.

We've living in a more visually oriented age, with the vividness of colors impressing us in clothes and other basic items. But baseball remains gray and flat, with hardly any flair—and most game broadcasts help create this image.

I know it's a small point, but I like to watch the Oakland Athletics on television because of their uniquely flashy and colorful uniforms. They remind me of the uniforms I remembered since childhood—the ones worn by softball teams who played under the lights at MacWilliam Stadium in Perth Amboy, N.J., where my grandfather had a hot dog and soda stand. What great colors! I wish more major league baseball teams got rid of their drab costumes. I think many younger people wish that too.

Times Past

Most of the game announcers seem to be living in a time calsule. Across the country, their general outlook seems to be rigidly middleaged, locked in the same verbal motions, the same cliches, dull statistics, hoary anecdotes, well-known explanations of strategy—usually delivered with an oleaginous smugness and confidence that their listeners are in the same time capsule.

What baseball broadcasting needs is—in the new vernacular—a little soul. It needs a little cool 1960s style. It needs to try once more with feeling.

Maybe what baseball really needs is for a team or two to be bought by some very young people, and for them to shake up the business the way kid executives have done to the record industry. I'd like to see that. I'd like to hear their announcers, and watch the whole scene .If baseball doesn't turn on a little bit in the near future, it may find itself with a number of viewers and listeners tuning out. Th e year is 1968, even in baseball.

CASKET UNCLAIMED

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—Authorities say they will not open a casked found by workmen digging a sewerline a week ago.

The casket resembles a "mummy casket from ancient Egypt," and is estimated to be 200 years old, St. Clair County Coroner C.C. Kane said.

He said the casket will be reburied "if no relatives are found soon.

FOOD TALKS

NIAMEY, Niger (UPI) — Nigerian federal government and secessionist Eastern Region negotiators discussed Sunday proposals for getting food and medical supplies to civilians of the Eastern Region, cut off by the 13-month-old civil war.

DIVIDED HOUSE

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (UPI) —Former Gov. Edward Breathitt will lead Christian County's delegation to the state Democratic convention July 27 open a casket found by Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

His daughter, Mary Fran Breathitt, 18, has joined the delegation backing Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy.

WRONG SPECIALIST

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Donald Claypool of Pleasant Plain was rushing his wife, Velma, about to give birth to their fifth child, to Memorial Hospital at 5 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Claypool suddenly said she was about to give birth. Claypool rushed into a funeral home where a mortician delivered the child.

Mother and daughter later were doing fine—at the hospital.

EXCAVATES BONES — Gary Doke, right, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Doke, 121 N. Starkweather, was among the crew which helped evacate the bones of a prehistoric elephant on a ranch south of Guymon, Okla. The elephant is believed to have lived between 10,000 and 50,000 years ago. The bones, found by oil company employes while checking wells, were in a fine river sand with a clay deposit. They have been placed in the Panhandle No Man's Land Historical Museum at Goodwell. Pictured with Doke are Bernard Cooksey of Goodwell and Bill Regan of Texline. Doke is a student at Panhandle State College in Goodwill.

How's Business

The Favorable Influence Of Fiscal Restraint Is Emerging

By The Babson Staff

When the surtax was first proposed in 1967, this column discussed the favorable implications of such a levy as an aid to restrain inflationary pressures. But it was also pointed out then that the surtax by itself could no do the entire job, and that an effective remedy would require a concurrent curbing of federal spending. Unfortunately, there ensued more than a year of political haranguing as to which of the two would be less painful to economic activity, and as to whether either or both could be avoided.

The net result of this stalemate was acceleration of the inflationary spiral at a time when the economy could ill afford to undergo such a development. Now, however, the combination tax hike and federal spending cut is a reality. The decision to exercise fiscal restraint was long overdue; hence, with the momentum already generated by inflationary forces, it is not likely that the wage-price spiral can be checked immediately. But at least a more devastating degree of inflation may have been blunted.

To the extent that a sep has been taken toward more reasonable f i s c a l management, concern over the solvency of the dollar has lessened for a while. More recently, the announcement that South African gold producers would sell gold on the open market has put a damper on speculative hoarding of the metal abroad, thus easing the danger of a massive further run on the precariously small remaining gold reserve of the United States. The pledge of assistance to bolster the French franc also pospotnes a possible world money crisis.

Now that the tax hike and federal spending cut are in force, the threat of a further upward climb in interest rates appears to have been diminished. As an example, the huge Standard Oil of New Jersey bond offering earlier this month met good reception at a slightly lower cost than immediately prior offerings.

TERRITORIAL DISPUTE

MANILA (UPI) — President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines said Sunday his nation wanted peace in the dispute with Malaysia over the territory of Sabah but "the Filipino people will not stand meekly...while their rights and honor are trampled."

Both nations claim the former British Crown colony of North Borneo.

'Hotline' Used Five Times During 1967 Arab-Israeli War

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin used the Moscow-Washington hot line five times during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war to demand that President Johnson do something to halt Israel's advance, the Reader's Digest said today.

The two leaders waged a "war of nerves and of wills" on the hot line calls that brought their countries "perilously close to the nuclear precipice," the magazine said in a copyrighted article.

The article, "Countdown in the Holy Land," was written by Reader's Digest roving editor Lester Velie and based on interviews with participants in the hot-line confrontation. The hot line is a Teletype between Moscow and Washington.

The article said Kosygin used the hot line "for the first time in anger" on Tuesday, June 6, the second day of the six-day war. In the call, the article said, Kosygin demanded that Johnson persuade the Israelis to halt their advance in the Sinai Desert and withdraw, hinting that otherwise the Soviet Union would intervene.

Johnson replied that the United States would not act unilaterally toward Israel and that the matter should be referred to the United Nations.

Kosygin called a second time on June 6 again demanding that the United States force an Israeli withdrawal.

The article said Kosygin indicated that "the Soviets would have to make perilous decisions . . . with dire consequences."

Johnson's second reply to Kosygin was the same as the first, the article said, and there were no more calls until Saturday, June 10, the final day of the war.

On that day, the article said, Kosygin called three times to demand that the United States halt the Israeli advance immediately. Johnson replied that he could do no more to control the Israelis than Kosygin could do to control the Arabs.

After Kosygin's third call of June 10, the article said, Johnson made the decision to send units of the 6th Fleet toward the Syrian coast. At about the same time, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan with the Syrians that took effect the same day.

There were no further calls from Kosygin, the article said.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Air pollution came to Petropaviovsk Saturday. The Soviet news agency Tass said the eastern city of 120,000 on the Kamchatak Peninsula was completely blanketed with smog at noon Saturday. Scientists said the smog was likely caused by charred particles from a big Siberian forest fire rising into the atmosphere and collecting water vapor as they drifted over the peninsula.

Mantle Will Continue Working For Yankees

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Yankees have finally ended all speculation about Mickey Mantle.

He will not be on their expansion list 12 weeks from now. He's not going to Seattle or Kansas City, the American League's two expansion clubs. He isn't going anywhere.

He'll be back with the Yankees next year. He'll be back with them as a player even though he'll be 37 by then, or he'll be back with them in some other "official" capacity, which is more likely.

No matter what, his name positively won't be among those the Yankees will make available for the league's 11th and 12th clubs in mid-October. Mike Burne, the think young, progressive-minded president of the Yankees, guarantees it.

Stay With Yankees

"We'd never let Mickey go to another ball club," says Burke, one of those refreshingly rare individuals who invariably sticks to his word once he gives it.

"He'll finish his playing career with the Yankees and when that time comes he'll continue to be an official member of the family. In one capacity or another. But we certainly aren't going to offer him to any other club. It's unthinkable for Mickey to be anything else but a Yankee."

Now that Mike Burke has made it official, the Yankees' last remaining star from their bygone days of wine and roses needn't bother this head about expansion lists anymore.

But when you're putting in your 18th season like Mickey Mantle is and you're hitting .237 like he is, you sill have to bother your head about the future.

"There's a rumor going around that you've signed a three-year contract with CBS to do TV and radio work for them starting next year," someone said to Mickey.

"Not true," he said.

"Would you like to do that kind of work when you're through playing?"

Other Business Ventures

"It depends on how my other stuff goes," he said.

The other stuff includes a substantial financial interest in an insurance company plus his most recent venture, the franchising of a restaurant chain known as Mickey Mantle's Country Kitchen.

Up to now, Mantle hasn't done as well as J. Paul Getty or Howard Hughes in financial investments. The painful truth is he hasn't come close.

And then there's the immediacy of his daily job, playing first base for the Yankees.

Mickey said not long ago he wouldn't play anymore next year if the last half of this season turns out as poorly for him as the first half.

But Mickey Mantle loves the game and it's going to be hard for him to quit.

The Yankees have fixed things so he readily doesn't have to.

TRAFFIC JAMS at sea may be imminent if these German volksboats achieve the mass popularity of their auto counterparts. The "poor man's windjammers" turned out for a regatta in Kiel Bay off the Baltic coast.

Tigers' Lead Cut By Surging Orioles

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles stole a hotel banner in Détroit Sunday and then all but hijacked the league-leading Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers, who led the American League by 9½ games at the All-Star break 10 days ago, had the lead sliced to 5½ games as they were whipped twice by the Orioles 5-2 and 4-1 before 48,568 disappointed fans in Tiger Staadium.

The sweep gave the Orioles three victories in their four game weekend series and left them tied for second place with Cleveland as they look forward to next weekend's three-game set with Detroit in Baltimore.

Steal Serious Banner

The Orioles plan to have their newly acquired banner displayed in their clubhouse in Baltimore. Ripped from the front of the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit where the Orioles and most of the American League clubs stay, it reads: "'Welcome AL teams and Cardinals in October."

The hotel is already planning to host the Cardinals for the World Series. But while the Cardinals, leading by 10½, are a good bet to make it, the Orioles hope the Cardinals have to go to Baltimore for the series.

Cleveland blew a chance to move within 4½ games of the Tigers when they lost to New York 8-4 in the second game after running their winning streak to six straight with a 4-1 victory in the opener.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston beat Washington 4-3 but lost the second game by an identical 4-3 margin, Minnesota swept a doubleheader from Oakland 7-5 and 10-0 and Chicago beat California 5-1 but lost the second game 7-0.

Cards, Mets Split

In the National League, St. Louis blanked New York 2-0 but lost the second game 1-0, Pittsburgh blanked Atlanta 6-0, Chicago drubbed Los Angeles 7-2, Cincinnati routed Philadephia 12-6 and Houston nipped San Francisco 2-1 but lost the second game 6-1.

Dave Johnson led the Orioles to their key sweep as he collected three hits including a homer in the first game and two run-producing doubles in the second game. Frank Robinson collected two hits and drove in a run in the first game to back Jim Hardin, who allowed just seven hits, including a two-run homer by Tom Matchick.

Gene Brabender bailed Tom Phoebux out of a bases-loaded jam in the sixth inning of the second game and retired 11 straight batters to preserve the victory.

The Yanks scored four runs on bases-loaded walks to beat Cleveland in the second game. Steve Hargan allowed six walks in 2 2-3 innings and the Yanks drew a total of 10 walks. Steve Barber went 5 2-3 innings and then Lindy McDaniel came on to preserve the victory.

McDowell Gains Win

In the first game, Sam McDowell singled in the first run of the game in the three-run fifth inning but needed relief help from Vincente Romo over the last 3 2-3innings to gain his 10th win.

Bob Allison and Tony Oliva homered in the first game and Allison collected a homer, triple and double in the second game as the Twins swept the Oakland A's. The Twins got 24 hits in the two games to win it for Jim Kaat, with relief help from Al Worthington, and Jim Perry.

Homers by Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen enabled the Senators to gain a 4-3 victory after Boston won the first game by an identical score with the help of two homers by Reggie Smith. Smith's two homers in the opener offset Frank Howard's 27th homer, tops in the majors.

Clyde Wright pitched a six-hitter to give California the victory after the White Sox won the opener on Ken Berry's homer and Duane Josephson's two-run double. Berry's homer in the fourth inning of the first game was Chicago's first extra base hit since last Thursday after they had 25 straight singles. Hoyt Wilhelm made his 905th appearance in the opener, leaving him just one shy of Cy Young's 906 total.

Palmer Upset Over Final Golf Putt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, obviously upset after finishing one-strike behind in his drive for the PGA championship he has never won, said he could not remember when he failed to make a putt he wanted as badly as he wanted the one on the 18th green Sunday.

He compared the PGA in two ways to the frustration of the 1966 U.S. Open when he blew a seven-stroke lead and then came back to tie Billy Casper on the 72nd green and force a playoff, which he lost the next day.

He said he wanted the final putt in the PGA as much as he did in the 1966 Open. He said his failure to win the PGA was his biggest disappointment since blowing the seven-shots Open lead.

"I was deeply disappointed today, absolutely," Palmer said. "I felt so good today that I thought I was going to make something and I didn't, go thought I hit the putt good on 18. don't know why it didn't go in.

"It was just like those on 11 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17,' Palmer said.

He was being a little facetious, but he did miss a 20-foot putt by three inches on 15, a 15-footer by 16 inches and a 17-footer by three inches on 17. The eight-foot putt on 18 was about 10 inches to the left.

Palmer has never come closer to the elusive PGA championship, the only major title he has never won.

he hit into a trap, for a 73 and 283.

Also backing away was Palmer, 10 years younger than Boros but only a shadow of his former self despite a great recovery shot on the 18th. Palmer missed makeable birdie putts on 11 of the last 13 holes, and it left him shaken.

"I was deeply disappointed," he said, adding that he had wanted to birdie 18 as much as any he had ever played, but had to settle for a par and second place when his eight-foot putt missed by inches.

Arnie wound up with a 70 and 282, same as Charles, who could not catch Boros, even after the North Carolina bear bogeyed No. 17.

48-Year-Old Golfer Captures PGA Title Over Young Players

By JACK WILKINSON
UPI Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Julius Boros has been trying for weeks to beat "that one bad round."

It seemed to hit him just about every tournament this year—one bad round which nullified some nifty playing the rest of the way—"and at age 48 you know there's not many shots left."

But, you would never know big Julie was about out of shot. He withstood the challenge of several younger players, ignored the staggering summer heat and skipped the "one bad round" to win his first PGA championship Sunday.

It was a big kick for the usually poker-faced Boros, whose parents migrated from Hungary, and he admitted rathr shyly that he was excited at winning over Pecan Valley Country Club's 7,069-yard, par 35-35—70 layout. But, it marked another frustrating day for Arnold Palmer, who was trying for the 11th time to win the elusive PGA title.

Palmer saw birdie putt after birdie putt just miss, including an eight-footer on 18 that would have earned him a tie with Boros, and he wound up tied with Bob Charles, the New Zealander with the peculiar left-handed swing, for second place —one shot back of Boros.

Over Par Wins

Boros fired a closing 69 for a 72-hole total of one-over-par 281 —not normally enough to win. But it was enough in this one where no one could muster much of a charge and Boros was the first to admit, "I sort of backed into this one," which netted him $25,000.

Backing out of it yere Marty Fleckman, who had led or was tied for the leader after each of the first three rounds, and Frank Beard, who shared the top spot after the second and third rounds. Beard bogeyed himself to a 74 and 284, there shots back of Boros. Fleckman had a scrambling round, dulling two birdies with five bogeys, including one on the 18th when

Veteran Golfer Victim Of Playing Too Slowly

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Now golf star Marilynn Smith knows just how Roberto DeVicenzo felt in the Masters Tournament this year.

Like DeVienzo, she became the victim of a costly official ruling Sunday. A two-stroke penalty for playing too slowly wiped out her one-stroke victory in the Ladies Buckeye Golf Tournament and made Carol Mann a flabbergasted winner.

Miss Mann won $2,775 for first prize, while Miss Smith had to settle for the $2,120 runnerup award which still was her biggest payday this year.

Before the official decision, Miss Mann was berating herself for missing a two-foot putt on the last hole which would have tied her with Miss Smith without the two-stroke penalty. She wound up with a seven-under-par 209, compared with 210 for Miss Smith.

Miss Smith, a 39-year-old veteran, buried her head in her hands and wept bitter tears at the scorers table. It was especially heart-breaking because she had led throughout the tourney and played what she called the best golf of her career.

Booed and jeered by a large crowd around the scores table, tourney director Leonard Wirtz showed her was one man who doesn't like to be kept waiting.

"It took Marilynn's threesome four hours and 12 minutes to complete 18 holes," he said. "No other threesome took more than three hours and 55 minutes and most were much faster than thatn."

"Maryilynn's threesome was warned to speed it up on the 10th tee and they disregarded the warning. They were more than three holes behind the threesome playing ahead of them," he added.

The two-stroke penalty also was costly to Miss Smith's playing partners, Mary Mills and Judy Torluemke Rankin.

It dropped them from third place to a tie for fifth. Each carded 220. That put them behind Clifford Ann Creed and Sandra Haynie at 219.

Championship Game Tonight

Holmes won over Dixie Parts, 10-2, in youth baseball action on Saturday night.

Carmichael - Whatley downed VFW, 7-6, in another youth baseball game.

Tonight's final championship game pits Carmichael-Whatley against Holmes in American League park at 8 p.m.

Carter, Ellis Second In Amarillo Tourney

Buster Carter and Richard Ellis, Pampa golfers, placed second in the 17th annual Ross Robers Partnership Golf tournament at Amarillo Sunday.

Winners were Jim Haren and Jack Coffey, both of Borger.

Play picked up on the final 18 holes of the 36 hole event when the team began the second 18 all tied up.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News it dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Market-Place Protection

"Prevention and protection against all forms of bodily attack — burglary — hold-up — rape — arson — riots. Guidance that you, your wife — yes, and your children — must have as the crime rate continues to soar in the Great Society jungle."

The above, emphasizing a growing realization that protection of self and family, together with property thereunto belonging, is an individual responsibility that cannot be shifted to the "community," "society," or some other non-acting abstraction, is the introduction to a new book authored by George Hunter which very well may be on the way to becoming a best-seller.

Entitled, "How to Defend Yourself, Your Family, and your Home — A Complete Guide to Self-Protection," the work by Hunter is also evidence in support of a thesis this newspaper has long expounded: The market place, if not prevented from doing so by political interference (and often in spite of it), will respond to public demand.

That the demand is present and growing could probably qualify as the understatement of the year.

"Make no mistake," the introduction (carried as a full-page ad in Human Events), continued, "this is not a book for the trigger-happy, not for anyone to AVOID trouble. People who feel a growing helplessness as political vote rustlers turn every neighborhood in our country into a happy hunting ground for the thief, the rapist, the drug addict, the pervert, the arsonist, the murderer-for- kicks, the looter. It is meant to lessen the chances that you, your wife or your children may be victims — and greatly improve your chances of avoiding serious harm if you can't avoid an actual confrontation."

Running to 307 pages and 94 illustrations, "How to Defend Yourself, Your Family, and Your Home," is normally priced at $6.95. However, according to the Human Events ad, a copy will be sent "free" as an introductory bonus with a trial membership in the Conservative Book Club, 81 Central Ave., New Rochelle, New York.

While we have not completed reading the book itself its contents make it appear well worth the price, either as purchased outright or as obtained through the book club get-acquainted offer.

A few highlights are all limited space will permit:

The art of locking up — the author shows that protection of the average home can be enhanced by more adequate, and better use of, locks.

The danger of giving your full name to strangers — who may be thieves and use the information to "case" your property for later robbery.

Perils of the self-service elevator — three ways to avoid danger are provided.

Defensive techniques while in your car — safety measures are suggested for use when driving through dangerous areas.

Home protection for $12 — has to do with a simple and inexpensive device to foil prowlers in your absence.

The law is not always on your side — exposes the legal pitfalls which tend to protect the criminal, instead of you, the taxpayer.

How to use time and noise to ward off an intruder—deals in human psychology.

The home security room — how to choose, stock and secure it.

What to do if your home is burglarized — including the "one thing" you should never do.

How to hide valuables and defense devices — especially in a city apartment.

The use of ordinary household objects to defend yourself — in addition to other information on defense.

What to do if you find yourself in a dangerous neighborhood — SPECIFICALLY, if you are being followed: also, precautions to take when you use "public transportation."

Everything you need to know about locks—including extensive instructions on reinforcing outside doors, information on pick-proof locks and fallacies to avoid.

If the worst happens — a chapter on how women can protect themselves against rape.

And, finally, the technique of choosing and training watchdogs and, a simple, reliable, do-it-yourself burglar alarm for the home.

As we have said earlier, we were impressed by the resume of "How to Protect Yourself, Your Family and Your Home," and, what really impressed us was the emphasis on real protection to PREVENT the crime from happening, rather than apprehension and punishment AFTER the fact.

Import Alien Feuds?

The wounds of the second Kennedy assassination still remain very sore.

We do not see how you can import foreign quarrels to these shores, without expecting the arrival of quarrelsome people along with them.

When this country sets itself up as the arbiter of the problems of the world, you may rest assured that the partisans of both sides will be on hand to do what they can to win the decision. Foreign politics is not a game, but a deadly contest. Violence is not completely alien to the American brand of politics, but with the Europeans and mideastern tribes, assassination is a standard instrument. What happens, then, when we intrude into these foreign feuds, but that the feuders go to work over here, and they use the tools that they are familiar with.

There is not a Senator in the United States who is beyond reach of the assassin's knife, gun or pill. That lawmaker is a marked man who becomes so prominent on any foreign issue that his demise might be expected to alter the outcome in a significant degree. The miracle is, not that several prominent Americans have been slain within the space of a few years, but rather that the number so far has been relatively few rather than numerous. As to the future, the only safety that government officials can have is to keep their part in politics, foreign and domestic, so small that the several factions involved have nothing to gain by assassination. The only security is to be too insignificant to warrant attack. The only workable strategy is to remove the motive that a would-be killer might have.

If any person knows of any method for accomplishing this objecive, except to steer this country free of foreign entanglements and domestic political strife, we would like to hear his suggestions.

We look forward to the time when decisions will be shifted from the political arena to the marketplace. Peoples who are doing a profitable business with one another have much to gain by dealing peacefully and much to lose by breaking that peace. After all, who wants to knock off a customer?

In 1904, the ice cream cone was born when Charles Menches of St. Louis called on a young lady with a bouquet of flowers and an ice cream sandwich. She fashioned one sandwich layer into a vase and this suggested a cone type container.

Pull Up A Chair

By FRANK JAY MARKEY

One of the oddest of the odd-jobs in the Hollywood TV and film industry is that of an "authenticator." He's the fellow who checks the accuracy of every detail in a TV or movie script in costumes, set decoration etc. Experience has shown that when even a small detail is wrong the movie makers hear about it. Much of the research is done at the library—of the film studios where there are large collections of old books, pamphlets, magazines, photos and catalogs. For example: old Sears, Roebuck and Montgomery Ward catalogs were valuable reference works on clothing, wagons, harnesses and a thousand other items. When the research men are stuck they consult historians or recognized authorities on the matter being researched. It's a little known part of the movie-making business, but the film moguls feel that the efforts are worth it.

Today's smile: A motorist's car stalled at a traffic light and he had difficulty getting it started again. An impatient woman was driving the car behind and honked her horn loudly. The unlucky motorist looked in the rear view mirror at his tormentor, then stuck his head out of the car window and yelled at her: "I'm awfully sorry. You see my wife taught me to drive.'

Thoughts while shaving: In London a tea merchant sells a particular blend of Formosan tea to some very particular customers, no doubt, for it retails at $11.75 per pound. We'll stick to coffee at those prices. You don't hear very much about Elvis Presley these days, but he's busy making money. Elvis makes one or two movies a year and they are profitable to him and the studio. And he also makes a few record albums the sales of which are astronomical. To date his worldwide record sales have topped 115 million LP. albums, the all-time, all-time record (no pun intended) . . . And speaking of success in the phonograph record business reminds us that the original cast album of "My Fair Lady" was among the top 10 best-selling L.P.'s for 482 consecutive weeks. That's nine years. . . Britain has some quaint contests and perhaps the oddest one of all was a piano smashing competition held there last year. The idea of this competitive gem was to smash an upright piano and pass the entire wreckage through a 10-inch ring in the shortest time. The contest was won by a seven-man team of British soldiers. They accomplished the feat in 2 minutes, 7 seconds. Smashing, eh what? . . .Although she hasn't skated in competition in more than 30 years Sonja Henie still holds the all-time record for winning titles. She won 10 of them between 1927 and 1928 along with three Olympic gold medals. No one has ever topped that record. . . . The Chicago (Ill.) SUN-TIMES headlined a story: "Chaplain in Vegas Finds It's No Dice." That must have shook him up.

County Editor speaking: "We'll bet a lot of these parents who take adult education courses wouldn't dare show their report cards to their childen.

Wit and Whimsy

A fellow got a letter appealing for funds that was addressed to "Occupant." He sat himself down, wrote a check for $10,000 and mailed it back in the enclosed postage-paid envelope. Yes, he signed the check "Occupant."

Sergeant Hill — Just hold onto it. When you get four of them, you get to ride a bicycle.

All-out Cease -Fire Peace Offer to Hanoi Studied by President, Advisors Pri to Honolulu Conference

ROBERT ALLEN JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — President Johnson and his key advisers are gingerly weighing the advisability of making a "go for broke" peace offer to Hanoi.

In exchange for the Communists' agreeing to an immediate cease-fire, the U.S. would halt all bombing in North Vietnam and freeze its ground, air and naval forces in the theatre at existing levels.

Also, in subsequent deliberations for a permanent peace, the U.S. would renew its offer of $1 billion in economic aid for all of Vietnam.

President Nguyen Van Thieu will be sounded out on this proposition in the Honolulu discussions.

Vice President Humphrey, Defense Secretary Clark Clifford and Ambassadors Harriman and Cyrus Vance strongly favor it. Humphrey, with his eye glued intently on the presidential nomination and ensuing election battle, sees a cessation of hostilities as invaluable boon to his prospects.

Privately, he has long been unhappy about the war and is ready to go to considerable lengths to end it.

, Secretary Rusk, seriously considering quitting in the fall, is far less enthusiastic. He is not against the proposal per se, but insiders credit him as having sharp misgivings.

COLD-TURKEY SPECIFICS-The Joint Chiefs of Staff are even more critical. They are said to be raising a number of challenging questions, such as:

If Hanoi did agree to a cease-fire, what assurance would there be that the Viet Cong would observe it?

If the Viet Cong did abide by a cease-fire, what assurance would there be that these Communists with or without Hanoi's secret connivance and assistance, would not revert to the terrorist and assassination tactics that were so widespread in South Vietnam in the early 1960s and which led to U.S. military intervention to avert a Red take-over. During the Communist atrocity reign, hundreds of village and local leaders and officials were murdered.

What provisions would be made to ensure the security, supply and movement of U.S. and Allied troops?

While the U.S. was barred from strengthening its combat forces, what measures would be taken to make certain that Hanoi did not add to its already considerable military might in South Vietnam?

THE PROSPECTS? — In the inner White House deliberations on this move, President Johnson has warily kept his own counsel. He has closely listened to the pros and cons and asked many questions, but given no clues to his own thinking.

However, it's no secret that he is fervently anxious to leave office as a "peace President." Eqqually significent is that the cease-fire plan is high on the list of his Honolulu agenda.

Among those consulted by the President is Justice Abe Fortas, whom he nominated for Chief Justice.

In the discussions with Ambassadors Harriman and Vance, they were questioned at length on the chances of Hanoi's accepting such a proposal. The two envoys were cautiously optimistic.

Harriman is understood to have dropped a discreet reference to the plan in his last informal "coffee break" chat with the top Hanoi representative. The latter clearly got the point but said nothing.

PUSSYFOOTING AS USUAL — The Justice Department, in effect, is doing nothing to forcefully crack down on deserters and draft dodgers fleeing to foreign countries for asylum.

That's the unmistakable implication of a letter from Assistant Attorney General Fred Vinson Jr., head of the Criminal Division, in the latest exchange with Representative Durward Hall, R-Mo., a ranking member of the Armed Services Committee.

Since early May, the plain-talking Missourian has been trying to ascertain from Attorney General Ramsey Clark what is being done to prosecute fleeing deserters and draft evaders. After long delays Hall's pointed letters have been answered by Vinson. He has yet to hear directly from Clark, although Hall has written him in each instance.

Vinson's first reply said nothing. It consisted of high-flown generalities that sought to convey the impression of enforcement of the law, but provided no details.

Hall shot back a caustic answer to Clark rebuking Vinson as "distinctly evasive and unresponsive" and again demanding to know what is being done about deserters and draft dodgers.

"Mr. Vinson expounded generalities, but carefully avoided any specifics," wrote Hall. "For example: He stated, "It is our general policy to obtain indictments against offenders even though they may be residing abroad." But the assistant attorney general did not state how many such indictments have been obtained, when and where, or an other details about such enforcement. Certainly there is no reason for secrecy about that, so why not state clearly and explicitly how many such indictments have been obtained. If there have been prosecutions, your department must have or could easily assemble a record of them from the various district attorneys.

"These are troubled and trying times, and as an American citizen and a representative in Congress, I deem it of utmost importance that the proper authorities make it unmistakably clear and explicit that treason, subversion, draft evasion and desertion, will not be countenanced and will be dealt with sternly and aggressively to the maximum extent of the law."

After some five weeks of silence, Vinson again replied—no more enlightening than before.

"I would be glad to furnish the information that you requested if it were availalbe," he told Hall, "or if it could be compiled within a reasonable period of time. . .All offenders (of the Military Selective Service act) are treated in the same manner, and we have never found any sufficiently useful purpose for keeping statistics as to the number of persons who have been prosecuted after returning to this country.

"However, I can assure you that we will continue to take prompt prosecutive action whenever it appears that the evidence will support a successful prosecution."

In other words, the Justice Department is doing little if anything to crack down on the deserters and draft dodgers who are fleeing to foreign countries where many of them are engaging in hostile, and in some instances subversive, activity against the U.S.

Sweden, where the number of U.S. deserters and draft evaders has more than doubled in the past six months to a total of around 115, in effect subsistence them.

The Swedish welfare administation gives them $20 a week for subsistence, plus low rents, free medical care, generous student allowances and other benefits. When the Swedish government first announced it would give these fugitives asylum, it was explicitly stated this was done on the clear understanding they would not engage in any political activity.

Notwithstanding this assurance a number of them are openly mailing quantities of anti-U.S. propaganda and other literature to American forces in Europe and Vietnam

Some of this stuff has a distinct communist flavor. And so does the talk of the leaders of this operation, with such pronouncements as "American economic imperialism," "the black liberation movement," "the people's fight against hunger and starvation," the revolt against the milltary rulers and the war machine.

The Swedish government is fully aware of these hostile operations against the U.S., But it is doing nothing.

And neither is the Justice Department nor State Department taking retaliatory measures. On the basis of Assistant Attorney General Vinson's letters to Representative Hall, there is no indication the Justice Department is doing anything to prosecute these lawbreakers.

And the State Department has not lifted a finger to call Sweden to account for actively countenancing within its borders subversive and traitorous activities against a friendly country.

FLASHES — Representative H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, influential member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, has written Attorney General Ramsey Clark sharply asking why nothing has been done about former Representative Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y. Said Gross, "It has been sixteen months since approximately 140 members of the House called upon you to conduct a swift investigation of the charges of alleged embezzlement and fraud by Mr. Powell, and to either clear him or indict him. . .What has happened, Mr. Clark? I am constrained to say that if this were the case of an ordinary citizen or government employ, he or she would have long since been indicted or cleared." . . . .Peru has been the beneficiary of around $1 billion in U.S. economic and other aid. But when it comes to buying from the U.S., that's another story. Peru is importing some 500 minibuses from Poland at a cost of around $4,900 each. The deal was concluded in Warsaw by a group of Peruvian businessmen and a Lima cooperative of transport workers . . . . . A number of Senator Herman Talmage's colleagues have offerd to campaign for him. The Georgian is highly regarded in the Senate on both side of the aisle as one of the oldest and most conscientious members.

WASHINGTON:

Do-It-Yourself Path Leads The Young To Self-Reliance

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

A short time back a young college student approached a friend of mine with these astounding words:

"You were lucky. You grew up in the depression. You had a challenge that we don't have."

We have concentrated on giving our children knowledge. We have made certain they have had the educational, recreational and cultural opportunities we did not have. We have given them the best medical care in history. We have sheltered them from rough knocks, struggle and defeats.

Yet a number of young people this reporter knows believe they have been cheated by these advantages their parents struggled so hard to give them.

They feel they haven't had the opportunity of fending for themselves.

This reporter's three-year-old son doesn't want people doing things for him. He wants to do everything for himself, even when he falls flat on his face in the attempt.

When he succeeds, his face lights up with a look that's wonderful to behold. When he can't make it, he cries and shouts in frustration, but keeps on trying and continues to push away impatiently, even angrily, any sympathetic adult or child who wants to help him.

He gets a great deal more satisfaction out of what he does himself, even if he does it poorly, than anything his father does for him.

This is typical of three-year olds. It is also typical of those five, eight, 10, 15, 19, 28, 35, 58 and 76-year-olds who haven't been smothered by people who wanted out of love and kindness to do things for them they could have done for themselves, in order to save them bruises, worries, heartaches and failures.

Many young people have told me they have no confidence in themselves; so much has been done for them, and their roads so cleared of bumps, that they aren't sure of what they will be able to do when they have to do it alone.

Defeats, failures, responsibilities and rough goes are crucial to men and women. Books and higher education are very important things. Without them our civilization would die. But they are no substitute for failing on your face when trying to do something on your own.

Even Mao Tse-tung has seen this on the other side of the world. The problem with Red China's youth, he says, is that they haven't had to struggle as did the young people in his revolutionary days.

Your Dental Health

Surgery Without Pain Was Slow Development

Someone once pointed out that the first operation under deep sleep anesthesia was done by the Lord. In the third chapter of Genesis, it says, ". . . .the Lord caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept; and He took one of his ribs and then closed the flesh."

Since then, relief from pain has been a profound hope of mankind. But it took many thousands of years before the next painless operation under deep sleep anesthesia was recorded, and this occurred under circumstances peculiar enough to have pleased even Dr. Tim Leary, the psychedelic dilly.

Ether was synthesized in the 12th century but not until many centuries later did some Georgians, probably sated with alcoholic hangovers and looking for new kicks, discovered its exhilirating effects.

Some very interesting parties or happenings called ether frolics were then taking place in Georgia and other parts of the South. A few sniffs of either were enough to send you to Pleasure Land.

But, as was inevitable, someone took an overdose and instead of a jag this reveler fell down "dead."

A doctor was called out but, by the time he arrived an hour later, his patient awakened, apparently none the worse for his experience.

Dr. Crawford Long in Jefferson, Ga., heard of this incident and began experimenting with ether. Once, while under the influence, he severely bruised his leg. When he sobered up, he did not remember either bruise or pain.

Thus did Dr. Long "discover" ether and come to understand its proper use. It was he who actually performed the first recorded surgical operation in the history of the world (barring the Lord's) under general anesthesia.

The year was 1842, and the operation was routine enough: lancing a boil.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: People who attempt to provide for their old age are double taxed, first on income with which they pay annuity premiums, then on a portion of the annuity when it matures. Are government officials such as Earl Warren, etc., so taxed on their pensions?

—R. T.

ANSWER: According to Marshall Weeks, chief of the pension and trust section of the Los Angeles district office of the Internal Revenue Service, Mr. Warren's income from pensions would be taxed on the same basis as that of any citizen who has been working for a non-governmental agency. Mr. Weeks says that the same rules hold for the ex-governmental employe and the ex-private enterprise employe. This is promised on a retirement program in which the employe pays a portion.

The only time I have trouble with my Blouse & Skirt is twice a day — when I'm home and when I'm not home. When I'm not home she is busy lookin thru the newspaper ads and figuring up ways to spend money. It is a full-time occupation.

Well, last nite I come home and had no sooner got my feet under the table than she made the Announcement—"Your junk room is gettin too messy. What you need is some shelves." I says, "Let's have a round of plasma before we begin this here world-shatterin discussion." So she gets the coffee pot of many moods and pours me a cup. Then I says, "What's up your sleeve besides your arm."

She moved faster than a candy pusher in a tent show and come bouncin back with a ad she had cut out of the paper. "See this. It says "Happy Home multi-purpose, sturdy-service, shelving units. We are goin out and get one." I says, "Thank you for this report."

Well, the shelves come in a box what said 'Simple assembly instructions included.' O, there was instructions alright. There was enough diagrams to build that Tosh-Myhauls Palace in India. Also a pound of nuts and bolts, all chrome plated so the screwdriver could slip off real easy and ketch a knuckle or fingernail.

She looked at the thing of Blood, Sweat and Tears and then says, "It's the coopper-tone color. It don't fit the decor."

I don't know what that is. But whether it fits or not — it's staying.

Foreign News Commentary

By RICHARD SUDHALTER

LONDON (UPI)—Hopes are high but realistic expectations low that a consultative meeting next week in Niamey, Niger, under auspices of the Organization of African Unity (OAU) will be able to find a solution to Nigeria's year-old bloody civil war.

Biafra, Nigeria's secessionist eastern region, has said it will attend. Officials in the federal capital of Lagos hold out high hopes for the results of the meeting.

But between the two sides and any real settlement stands a deep and inflexible pride. Thousands will die needlessly rather than give an inch.

At best, the meeting engineered by the OAU's Nigeria Committee may establish a forum for statement of opposing cases.

But time is running out, and death seems the only winner in this disastrous contest of wills.

Biafrans by the thousands, shriveled and barely alive, count the minutes until death releases them from the starvation of a state cut off without relief supplies.

Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, 33, leader of federal Nigeria, has stipulated that all emergency food relief supplies to Biafra be channeled through Nigeria.

The Biafrase have refused this and are insisting on an airlift.

Biafran leader Lt. Col. Odumwegu Ojukwu, a cool, articulate Oxford graduate, maintains that acceptance of the federal terms would mean tacit acknowledgement of continued Nigerian control over his fledgling state.

He contends that relief supplies must be flown directly to Biafra, to jungle airstrips constructed by widening and strengthening long, straight stretches of hardtop road.

The Niamey meeting may turn into the first confrontation between Gowon and Ojukwu since their abortive attimpt in Aburi, Ghana, 18 months ago, to solve their differences across a conference table.

The failure of those talks directly led to eastern Nigeria's secession from the federal republic May 30, 1967, and unilateral declaration of the Republic of Biafra.
