Pampa's POW Arrives On West Coast

A happy reunion took place today in San Francisco when Mrs. Hilda Williams, wife of the returned prisoner of war, M. Sgt. Eugene Williams, of Pampa, greeted her husband after a three-year separation.

Mrs. Williams and her two small daughters, Phyllis and Vickie Lynn, left by plane from Amarillo Wednesday at 8:25 p.m., for the California city. They were taken to Amarillo by family friends, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Briden.

A call was received from her husband by Mrs. Williams Wednesday afternoon shortly after he disembarked from the S. S. General R. L. Howze. He asked that she catch the first plane for San Francisco.

Her husband gave no indication during their 30-minute telephone conversation how long he intends to remain on the West Coast, before returning to their home at 833 N. Main here, she said. "He said he thought we would just vacation for awhile," she added.

Mrs. Williams said her three-year-old son will be forwarded to them from Pampa, where it is being sent by the government. They will visit at the home of Auden Williams in North Hollywood, Calif.

She said her husband joked about his experiences in the Chinese prison of war camp.

Neighbors assisted Mrs. Williams in making preparations for the short-notice long trip. Among

Top Advisors Study U.S. H-Bomb Defense

URGES DISARMAMENT

Peril To Mankind Cited By Dulles

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday renewed a call for world disarmament efforts and warned that the Communists may possess new weapons which "threaten the survival of civilization as we know it."

In an address prepared for delivery before the 122nd annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, Dulles said the United States is "gravely preoccupied with the problem of new weapons."

His remarks were along the theme he developed a week ago before the United Nations General Assembly.

Civilization Threatened

"The forces of destruction, largely in terms of atom and hydrogen bombs, are being developed on a scale which threatens the survival of civilization as we know it," Dulles said gravely. "Furthermore, the possibility of setting these destructive forces into motion may be possessed by Communist rulers who openly repudiate the restraints of moral law."

"That is an ultimatum peril which mankind has never had to face before."

The AFL called a brief respite in its quarrel with the Eisenhower administration over the Taft-Hartley act to hear Dulles on foreign policy.

Dulles said the free world must not "cringe or become panicky" in the face of the atomic peril. He said the situation calls for a hardening of resolve to dispose "of the present wars and present cause of war and to inaugurate an effective control of armament."

Dulles said the United States and its Korean war allies are "now united" in their determination to overcome Chinese Red delaying tactics and to bring about the proposed Korean peace conference.

Consider Cost Of Air-Tight Defense Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—President Eisenhower summoned his top defense advisors to the White House Thursday to discuss the momentous problem of what the nation can do to meet a possible Soviet H-bomb attack.

Members of the National Security Council, secretaries of the armed forces, the deputy civil defense director, defense mobilization and special consultants on continental defense were ordered to the top-secret meeting.

On the agenda were various proposals advanced during the past few months for establishing a strong air defense network to blunt any massive Russian air attack against U.S. cities and at the same time to unleash a decisive counter-blow.

The conferees had the heavy task of weighing the almost prohibitive cost of an airtight system against the administration drive to slash government spending to balance the budget and cut taxes. Lending particular urgency to the conference is the awesome knowledge that Russia now has exploded a hydrogen bomb device that presumably will give it the power to launch a devastating attack against the United States.

One item on the agenda, it was believed, was the amount of money that should be set aside for continental defenses as opposed to funds for a strong bombing force to retaliate immediately against any aggressor.

It also was the task of the group, it was understood, to figure out how much the nation can afford to build a reasonable defense system. This will have an all-important bearing on over-all federal spending and the administration's tax plans for the coming year.

Progressives Chant Commie Slogans

PANMUNJOM, Sept. 24—UP—Twenty-three Americans rode into neutral custody in three Russian-made trucks Thursday, chanting Communist slogans and predicting the success of a world-wide Red revolution.

The Americans — 20 whites and three Negroes — vowed they would never return to the United States while the present system of government exists but professed love for "our country and people."

Allied soldiers, newsmen and observers were shocked by the behavior of the war prisoners as the Communists turned them over to Indian guards for the next three months.

Sing 'The Internationale'

As the trucks rolled down the dirt road from nearby Keasong, along the same route taken by more than 3,300 other Americans who chose freedom over communism in "Operation Big Switch," the prisoners sang the Communist anthem, "The Internationale."

When the trucks halted, an American cheerleader whipped the prisoners into a pro-Communist frenzy. "Are we going south?" he shouted.

"No!" the prisoners roared. "Are we going north?" "Yes!" they screamed.

"Like To Get Him Alone"

An American Negro watching the demonstration became angry when he saw one of the three pro-Communist Negroes climb down from a truck.

"Look at that colored boy," he said. "Boy, would I like to get that S.O.B. alone."

The prisoners obviously relished the stunned look on the faces of the onlooking, bewildered American observers.

"Tomorrow the International Soviet union the human race," a prisoner shouted.

When the prisoners, including more than 300 pro-Communist South Koreans, were handed over to the Indians, Wilfrid Burchett, correspondent for the Communist French newspaper "L'Humanite," handed

Cattleman Selling Out

CANYON, Tex., Sept. 24—UP—Some 2,000 cattlemen from 41 states were on hand Thursday for the second day of a three-day dispersion sale at the George Nance Hereford Ranch near Canyon.

Nance, one of the country's foremost Hereford breeders, is going out of business after 30 years because of his health, and three years of drought. About 1,200 head of prime Hereford cattle will be auctioned.

Top price at Wednesday's sale was $13,500 for a two-year-old bull, N.H.R. Zato Heir, bought by E. L. Cord of the Circle L Ranch at Dyer, Nev.

There were 175 lots of animals sold Wednesday for a total of $187,635, an average of $900 per lot. The first 40 animals that went on the auction ring sold for $88,240, for an average of $2,206 per head. The top 10 bulls sold for $54,000.

Nance held an annual sale at the ranch in past years. Last year he sold 103 head for an average of $854 per head.

However, checks with Defense Department lists issued in the past show the following names corresponding to those given by Peiping radio. There is no guarantee that the men are the same. There could be mistakes.

Forest Crews Defeat Blaze In Missouri

VAN BUREN, Mo., Sept. 24—UP—Exhausted and smudged forestry crews Thursday beat out the smoldering fringes of Missouri's biggest forest fire of the year which blackened 2,000 acres of virgin timber in 24 hours.

Radio reports from the fire front, in the heart of southeast Missouri's Ozark woods, said the blaze was under control shortly before dawn.

Some 100 trained forestry crews, local residents and college students, joined to fight the flames which spread a smoke plume sighted as far as 100 miles north.

Four push units and a bulldozer were plowed in to cut off the fire in the state's drought-ravaged timber area on the fringes of Clark National Forest. With darkness came a drop in the 32-mile-an-hour wind and a slight rise in the humidity to aid the fighters.

As the forestry crews controlled the blaze, three state conservation agents pressed a search for the "person or persons" who touched off the fire early Wednesday. The agents said the blaze was definitely of incendiary origin.

William E. Towell, assistant state forester, estimated that 90 per cent of the trees, mostly oaks, in the blackened area known as Peck Ranch were killed. The ranch was used by the state as a public hunting area, but commission agents recently announced plans to fence in the woods as a wild turkey refuge.

Demoted, Fired, Promoted? Help!

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—A civilian employee in the Army's Office of Public Information waited for the chain of command to become unsnarled Thursday.

Two weeks ago his superior recommended him for promotion on the basis of his outstanding work.

Last week a management survey team came through his office and recommended he be demoted.

Wednesday he received notice from the Civil Service Commission he was being fired to make room for a civil servant of permanent status.

The worker said he would hide his title to see which recommendation prevails.

Reporter Ordered To Spain To Verify Rumors On Beria

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 24—UP—The San Diego Union said Thursday one of its reporters is in Spain trying to check reports that deposed Communist intelligence chief Lavrenti P. Beria has been parachuted there.

The newspaper said the reporter, Gene Fuson, was meeting with an "intermediary" who has reported contacting "four Communists" in a little seaport town in Spain as a result of information he received in Mexico City.

Rumors that Beria may have escaped from Russia have said he accompanied by three men, one of them Russia's top atomic energy expert.

Washington officials doubt the rumors are true.

The newspaper, one of the first to receive reports about Beria, said the decision to send Fuson to Spain was reached "after sufficient time had been given for the government to begin its own probe of the strange story."

"Fuson has met with the intermediary in this town and was to determine whether this man's story had any elements of fact. Fuson is making progress in his own investigation of the man's bizarre story," the union said, adding that the intermediary's full name and identity are being withheld for the time.

The union, which said it has been investigating the Beria escape reports for weeks, earlier communicated its information to the State Department and Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Senate investigating committee.

Lone Bandit Totes Gun, Lifts $40,000

MARMADUKE, Ark., Sept. 24—UP—A lone pistol-toting bandit dressed in brown coveralls robbed the Security Bank and Trust Co. bank here Thursday of an estimated $40,000 in currency.

Bank officials said the robber, a man in his late 30s or early 40s, was wearing a dark suit and tie, and was armed with a .38 Smith & Wesson revolver.

He forced Taylor to open the vault and locked the official inside as he made his escape.

Taylor was freed by two customers who walked into the bank and heard a thumping noise inside the vault. Taylor shouted the combination out to Adam Carpenter and R. E. Jordan.

Taylor said the bandit wore dark glasses but was not masked.

The money taken was in several different denominations of currency.

The bank actually is a "window" for the Security Bank and Trust Co., of Paragould, 13 miles south of here. Marmaduke had a 1950 population of 643, and is in the heart of the rich cotton-producing section of deep northeast Arkansas.

Scott Noel, assistant cashier, said the sum taken by the robber was "about the average" kept on hand in the bank.

BROWNFIELD, Tex., Sept. 24—UP—A coroner ruled that a couple identified as Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Jones, both 47, of Carlsbad, N. M., died as the result of murder and suicide.

Their bodies were found Wednesday in an automobile two miles south of Brownfield on a farm road. The verdict was returned by County Judge Herbert Chesing, acting for Justice of the Peace J. W. Hogue.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved to Carlsbad from Brownfield 10 years ago. Jones went to Reno, Nev., two months ago and Mrs. Jones went to Snyder, Tex., to visit relatives. She came to Brownfield a week ago and had been staying with relatives.

Army Probing Mortar Blast

EL PASO, Sept. 24—UP—Fort Bliss ordnance experts investigated Thursday cause of the premature explosion of an 88-mm mortar shell Wednesday that injured five men, one seriously.

The shell exploded almost immediately after leaving the mortar tube. All the injured were members of Battery A, 59th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battalion.

Seriously hurt was Sgt. Marvin D. Schilling, 31, of Fredericksburg, Tex., who received chest wounds.

Other wounded men were Lt. James V. Dean, 24, Houston; Pvt. Franklin R. Adams, 21, Columbus, Miss.; Cpl. Don Chachere, 22, Opelousas, La., and Pvt. Clifford Bennett, 20, Mayetta, Kan.

Customs Agents Seize Tanker

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—Custom agents seizure of the 10,000-ton tanker Republic at Port Arthur, Tex., has been announced by the Justice Department.

The department contends the tanker's owners, Trafalgar Steamship Co. of New York, is alien-controlled. The Republic, which the government claims is controlled by Greek shipping interests, is the 33rd ship seized since the department started taking over American flag vessels it contends are alien controlled.

Speaker Attacks Soviet Malignancy

The only way world-wide Communism will be defeated is "from within," admittedly a slow process, Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) thundered this Wednesday night before an estimated 250-300 members of the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club and backed it up with extended remarks on world history during the past decades.

A medical missionary in China for a number of years, Dr. Judd insisted that China is the key to the entire Asian political problem and that Asia is no less important than Europe in world affairs.

Title of his talk was "Our Foreign Policy — Toward War or Peace." It was the first meeting of the 1953-54 session of the Knife and Fork Club.

"In a war for survival," Dr. Judd said, "we must find a means of weakening those who are against you and standing by those who are for you." And that, he claimed, is what we have not done in the past—especially in China.

The first objective of a nation's foreign policy is to "give the nation security," the Minnesota congressman began, adding that the more one has to spend for defense, the less domestic gains can be made and kept.

"Our foreign policy has not been successful," Dr. Judd declared, insisting that that was an observation, a fact. And he contrasted the American position in the eyes of the world in 1945 and today to prove his point.

"Basic reasons for our peril to day," he continued, are the "skill with which the Kremlin has pursued a never-changing objective" (See SPEAKER, Page 2)

Fire In Dallas Costs $150,000

DALLAS, Sept. 24—UP—A $150,000 general alarm fire Wednesday destroyed most of the Groves Lumber Co. and damaged buildings surrounding the business.

There were no injuries, but five fire companies fought the fire more than an hour before it was controlled.

Chief Inspector L. W. Moore of the fire department estimated damage at $150,000. Also damaged were a shoe shop, a tax expert's office and a grocery.

J. L. Alford, purchasing agent for the lumber company, saw a truck burning and sounded the alarm, but he said the fire spread through most of the yards and buildings in minutes. Some 750,000 feet of lumber were destroyed.

U.S. To Return MIG

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—The United States Thursday offered to return to the "rightful owner" the MIG fighter flown to freedom in Korea, and withdrew future awards to Red pilots for delivery of such planes.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, Far Eastern command, announced the action here and in Tokyo. The United States, however, will pay $100,000 tax-free to a young North Korean who flew the MIG jet to the United Nations side this week in a daring flight.

As the first pilot to deliver the Russian-made warcraft to the Allies, he will receive $100,000, but the offer of $50,000 for subsequent deliveries was withdrawn.

To Study Craft

Although Clark said the United States will offer to return the MIG to its rightful owner, the United States first will have ample opportunity to study it.

Clark said the offer of $50,000 has been withdrawn while the armistice negotiations with the Communists are underway.

The offer, originally made last April 27, was done to encourage Red pilots to defect, create a morale problem, and enable the United States to get an undamaged jet fighter for detailed study.

Clark said that when "the rightful ownership of the MIG that recently landed at Kimp'o has been established we will offer to turn it over to that owner."

Plane Dismantled

The MIG already has been dismantled and put aboard a giant C-124 transport plane to be taken to the United States for study.

Clark said that although the offer to pay $50,000 for enemy MIGs has been withdrawn the United States will follow its traditional policy of giving asylum to those seeking freedom.

Clark's statement said: "The traditional policy of the United States of America to grant asylum to those seeking freedom remains unchanged."

The MIG which young Lt. Noh Keun Suk of the North Korean air force flew to the UN side is expected to be tested at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at Dayton, Ohio. Engineers particularly want to know about its spinning characteristics.

When the charges were dismissed, Miss Garrison commented: "Suits me fine. I won't even ask for any GI benefits."

Bar Fighting Unauthorized Law Practice

GREENVIEW, Tex., Sept. 24 —UP—The State Bar of Texas was scheduled to hold its second of a series of 21 meetings in the state Thursday in a state-wide campaign to eliminate practicing of law by unauthorized persons.

One hundred attorneys from the Williams Falls area met there Wednesday in the opening drive of the bar to "stamp out such illegal practices."

Principal speaker at Wichita Falls was Robert A. Kilpatrick of Cleburne, chairman of the state bar's unauthorized practice committee, who told the group that "more law is being practiced in smaller communities of Texas by non-lawyers than by licensed attorneys."

He told the group that steps were being taken to eliminate this illegal practice, and that "further steps are being planned."

Kilpatrick listed the chief offenders as real estate brokers, banks, notary publics, insurance firms and abstractors.

"Many of these unauthorized people draw up wills, deeds and contracts even though the law specifically prohibits this," he said.

"The public is being hurt by this practice. Most of the documents are improperly drawn, and often lead to expensive and unnecessary legal action."

Other speakers Wednesday included R. V. Nichols of Fort Worth, vice president of the state bar; Gordon R. Carpenter and Clarence A. Gultard of Dallas; Texas Supreme Court Justice W. St. John Garwood; Vernon E. Hill of Mission, chairman of the state bar board of directors; and Melvin F. Adler of Fort Worth.

The third meeting of the series will be held Friday in Texarkana.

Reds Name Stubborn PWs

TOKYO, Sept. 24 —UP—Peiping radio released Thursday the names of the 23 American war prisoners and one British POW who have refused repatriation.

American authorities refused to release the names of the men involved and cautioned that there is no verification for the Peiping reports, except the word of the Communists.

The Chinese Communist broadcast listed the men as:

F. C. Adams, Howard G. Adams, Claude J. Batchelor, Albert G. Belhomme, Otho G. Bell, Richard D. Gordon, William A. Cowart, Edward S. Dickenson, Rufus E. Douglas, John R. Condon was believed to be the lone British soldier.

The Communist broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, did not list the home towns or rank of the prisoners. They were reported to be sergeants or below.

The names of the prisoners were given to UN newsclips Monday, when they were turned over to Indian custodial troops, but UN officials refused to let them pass censorship.

A UN spokesman said only the names of those who changed their minds and returned home could be released for publication.

newsmen a long statement purportedly signed by the 23 Americans. United Nations authorities quickly forbade newsmen to identify any of the men, unless the prisoners change their minds about going home.

The statement released by Bur-chell, identified by the United Nations as a frequent lecturer at their camps, echoed views voiced by Communist propagandists throughout the world.

"They said they loved 'our country' and our people," he said, "and would return 'while the voices that shouted the loudest and get the most publicity are those of (Sen. Joseph R.) McCarthy, the book burners and those who demand 'preventive war.'"

Charges Listed

The statement also contained the following charges:

1. The United States government "murdered Julius and Ethel Rosenberg (Americans who betrayed atomic secrets to the Soviets) when it executed them."

2. U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles urged American "intervention" in the Indo-China war.

3. The government rapidly is silencing voices of citizens "who speak out for real freedom."

Twice-Captured POW Says Germans are More Humane

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 24 —UP—Capt. R. C. White captured by the enemy in both World War II and the Korean conflict, said Thursday he considered the Germans more humane than the Chinese.

White, 33, of Monroe, La., returned to the United States Wednesday on the transport General Howze among the last shipload of war prisoners repatriated in "Operation Big Switch."

The good-natured young Army officer was believed to be the only American to have had the misfortune of being a prisoner of both the Nazis and the Communists, although at least two other Korean war repatriates had been captives of the Japanese.

White was captured by the Germans in 1944 at Anzio, Italy, while serving as a second lieutenant with Co. B of the 168th Infantry, the hard-luck 34th Division regiment that almost was wiped out in the Kasserine Pass during the Tunisian campaign.

He spent 11 months in Oflag No. 64 in Poland as the "guest" of the Germans.

White came out of his first prison camp without any feeling of bitterness toward the people who had been subjected to Nazi rule.

Elected to Legislature

When he returned to Louisiana, one of his first projects was organizing a campaign to clothe and feed the people of a German town.

SPEAKER

to destroy free peoples' and the "lack of skill with which we've dealt with this objective."

The United States, the congressman of 12 years pointed out, has "insisted on nourishing several illusions that are not yet completely dispelled." They include the ideas that the Soviet Union is "Some sort of a democracy"; the independence of Europe is more important for U. S. security than that of Asia; and "perimeter defense" around Asia is sufficient.

Describing the Soviet Union as a "malignancy with steady encroachment," Dr. Judd emphatically insisted that the U. S. security is at all possible with the Communists. Russia's constitution and Stalin's remarks over the years dispel that idea, he said.

"There'll be no peace—make no mistake about that," he maintained, insisting that help to guerrilla groups and underground movements is the main way to beat the Reds.

The Republican brought club members up in their seats when he declared that the Communists have the greatest Army and Air Force in the world and the largest tank and submarine force. Only places where the United States is tops are its Navy and strategic Air Force, he claimed.

"Never underestimate the disease," Dr. Judd warned. "If you overestimate, you're just accused of undue caution."

Stalin's greatest conquest, the congressman figured, has been the "conquest of the American mind" and his greatest mistake, "the invasion of Korea." The first lulled the American people; the second woke them up and gave the Asian people a two-year chance to look at communism.

Dr. Judd blasted previous U. S. administrations for taking away aid from Chiang Kai-shek "who was loyal to us and kept his soldiers in the field"; for permitting Alger Hiss to remain in the State Department for five years as head of Far Eastern affairs; and for letting the American people think that Mao Tse-tung might turn into another Tito.

"We did not win the war in Korea," he said, "scribbling it as the only error in history 'in which we tried to please the enemy.' Best hope for the United States right now, he went on, is the anti-Communists on Formosa.

He was optimistic, though, the present administration, he said, is being "friendly-firm" in its political dealings and the Red movement over the world "is cracking."

With a half - chuckle, he concluded: "Korea is the place where we double-crossed Stalin when we went in to fight."

In Russia, non-political prisoners get a vacation of one or two weeks a year, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Commies Pass Berlin Mayor

BERLIN, Sept. 24 —UP—West Berlin Mayor Ernst Reuter Thursday was passed into West Germany by Communist border police at the same zonal control point where he was turned back Wednesday night.

Western border police at the Lauenburg crossing point on the East-West German border said Reuter passed through in his automobile without difficulty. The anti-Communist mayor of West Berlin was en route to Hamburg to attend the West German mayors conference.

Wednesday night Communist police at Lauenburg barred his way because they said his inter-zonal passes did not have his street address on it. Germans need inter-zonal passes to travel between East and West Germany.

Reuter made the 125-mile trip through the Soviet zone by automobile instead of flying although he faced the possibility of being turned back again.

"I am going to show the Communists that we have the right to drive to the West and I will not be stopped by harassment," he said.

Reuter was refused passage and had to return to Berlin Wednesday night because his pass listed his office address instead of his home address. He was passed through a checkpoint outside of Berlin by Red police earlier.

Released Sept. 6

He remained a captive of the Communists until Sept. 6, when he was released in "Big Switch."

In explaining his "preference" for German prisons, White said the Germans observed conditions of the Geneva Treaty while the Chinese used the pact "whenever it suited most for their purposes."

"Although the Chinese were always talking 'leniency policy,' you saw very little of it," White said.

White said he did not know whether he would reenter politics after his discharge from the Army in January.

Lange to be Honored

UPLAND, Ind., Sept. 24 —UP—Fred M. Lange, vice president and executive director of the Dallas, Tex., Community Chest, will receive a doctor of humane letters degree at the annual Taylor University matriculation convocation here Friday.

Torso-Tossing Tilt Looms For King's New, Old Loves

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 —UP—Sheppard W. (Abdullah) King, the Texas oil heir who became a Moslem to marry an Egyptian belly dancer and now wants to divorce her to marry a Turkish belly dancer, said Thursday he and his new love have accepted a challenge hurled by his old love.

King said Samia Gamal, his estranged wife in Egypt, was "burned up" over his remark her dance is "commercial" while that of his new girl friend, Nejla Ates, is "classical."

"Samia challenged us," King said. "She wants a contest. Well, I've been discussing that with Nejla. Maybe I could put both girls on the same show, in competition, with equal billing."

King said he plans to move from Houston to New York and become a theatrical billing agent.

King said his Houston attorney, who has filed a mental cruelty divorce action against Samia in Houston, had sent papers to the American embassy in Cairo to be served on her. He said they should be served by the end of this week, and if Samia fails to appear in court in Texas next month he will win a divorce by default.

Nejla, to whom King has given a

Asked if he knew how to say the "three words in Arabic, he replied: "I can darn well soon learn."

Wilson Assigns Public Relations To Newspaperman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 —UP—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has assigned public relations activities from his own immediate supervision and placed them under Assistant Secretary Fred A. Seaton, an experienced newspaperman.

Seaton, Hastings, Neb., publisher who took office last week, also has "direction and control" of the department's relations with Congress. Seaton last year served out the "unexpired term" of Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry (R-Nebr.) who died in late 1951. He did not seek election at the end of his appointed term.

Defense Department spokesmen said the move was not intended to shunt supervision of news to a lower echelon or make Wilson less accessible to the press.

Expectant Mother Injured By Shell

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 24—UP—An expectant mother fled suit for $5,250 Wednesday because an artillery shell from the Army's atomic cannon at Fort Sill, Okla., went off course and a fragment hit her in the leg.

The shell was not exploded by an atomic charge, although fired from the 280-mm atomic cannon. The federal court suit was filed by Mrs. Leatrice Nodan Banks, 25, the wife of a Fort Sill employee. She said she was lying in bed with a small daughter at her side when the shell burst last June. The girl was not hurt.

Mrs. Banks asked $5,000 for her leg injury and $250 for damages to furnishings in her home.

She was the only person injured by the projectile, which landed in an open field and knocked holes in roofs of a number of homes. Fragments flew over a square mile area.

Authorities at the artillery center said the shell went astray because it held too big a charge.

Caught By Radio

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—UP—Two night club "B" girls were foiled by a vest-pocket radio transmitter. Two detectives posing as customers entered the club and the girls made their usual approach. They asked the men to buy them some drinks.

A tiny microphone concealed in a pocket of one of the detectives relayed the conversation to Police Lt. Joseph Morris in a car outside. He then walked in to make the arrests.

Stocks Climb As Volume Decreases

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—UP—Stocks rose to new highs since Sept. 10 on sharply reduced volume Wednesday.

The rise was an extension of one that developed sizeable volume in the previous session and brought up the industrial average to its best gain in nearly a year.

Several bullish interpretations of the current market situation helped stay selling. The small volume of buying easily lifted prices. A few failed to hold gains, notably Texas Pacific Land Trust, at one time up two points.

Railroad issues again featured the advance. Gains in this group ran to more than a point with several leading issues among the strong spots. Oils generally were higher. Steels, except Bethlehem, held small gains. Motors improved with Studebaker the most active. First National Stores rose more than two points to feature the mercantiles.

Televisions were better with gains running to a point in Admiral. General Foods stood out by setting a new high. The glass stocks rose in response to estimates of big business for the glass makers. Johns-Manville featured a rise in building issues.

American Woolen issues, recently weak, rebounded sharply. The common rose a point and the preferreds had gains ranging to more than four points. Numerous other special issues were up fractions to more than a point.

Safecrackers Lose Time And Big Loot

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—Safecrackers who broke into the Garden Villas Food Market last week and took a safe containing $15,000 went to a lot of trouble and "probably never got a dime" for it.

Tuesday Larry, 13, Sidney, 10, and Deanna, 9, children of city fireman S. R. Durbin, were fishing in Greens Bayou when they saw what they thought was a bicycle basket floating in the water.

They retrieved it and found some pieces of dollar bills in it. They searched farther and found the blast-proof safe and "the water was full of money," Deanna said.

Their mother called sheriff's officers who identified the safe as the one from the Garden Villas store.

But Capt. J. D. Walters said the safecrackers apparently used too heavy a charge of nitroglycerine in blowing the safe open and they blew up the money as well as the safe. Some of the money can be salvaged, he thought.

NEW LIQUID KILLS ROACHES AND ANTS
Scientists Discover Easy Way to Kill Crawling Insects

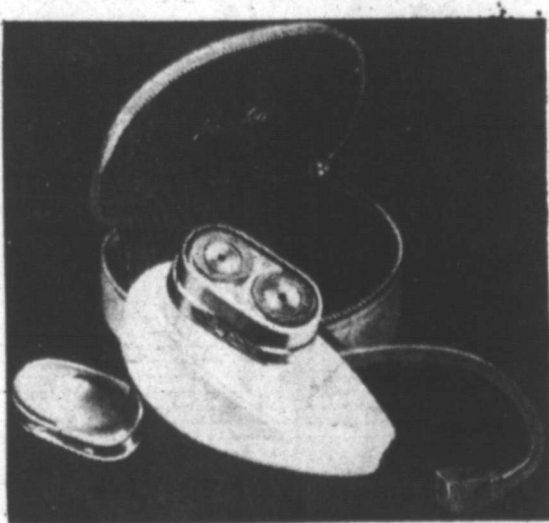

ROACHES and ants are the most difficult household pests to control and they can be brought into the home at any time. Science has recently discovered a colorless brush-on insecticide that not only kills, but controls crawling pests. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH. Developed after years of research, NO-ROACH is an invisible, odorless, stainless liquid, so powerful that one application remains effective for months. Best of all, NO-ROACH may be brushed on, without having to move your pots and pans. It is not a contaminating spray or messy powder, contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorus. Effective for Months. Simply brush Johnston's NO-ROACH wherever roaches, ants, silverfish or waterbugs are found, around kitchen cabinets and sink woodwork, on baseboards, window sills and door sills. Insects that walk over the coating become paralyzed and die within two or three hours. The coating will continue to kill all insects that walk over it for months to come. Guard against crawling insects this modern NO-ROACH way.

Ex-Convict's Wife Claims He's Insane

HOUSTON, Sept. 24—UP—County psychiatrist C. A. Dwyer planned an extended observation of Alton C. Franks after the ex-convict's 15-year-old wife asked in court that her husband be declared insane. Franks, whom a fellow prisoner gave $19,000 to go straight, has been in and out of trouble since his release from Texas state prison three months ago. His latest scrape with the law was in Arizona, but he made his way to Texas, was arrested and now is in jail at Houston. He was to have been tried Tuesday on charges of assaulting a movie usher in Arizona and on three traffic violations. Franks also is charged with two armed robberies in Houston and indicted for making false statements on his drivers license. Judge John Snell set Oct. 27 as hearing date on the sanity motion after Dwyer said he would have to observe the youth for two or three weeks before he could make a decision or offer an opinion.

Shivers Addresses Education Group

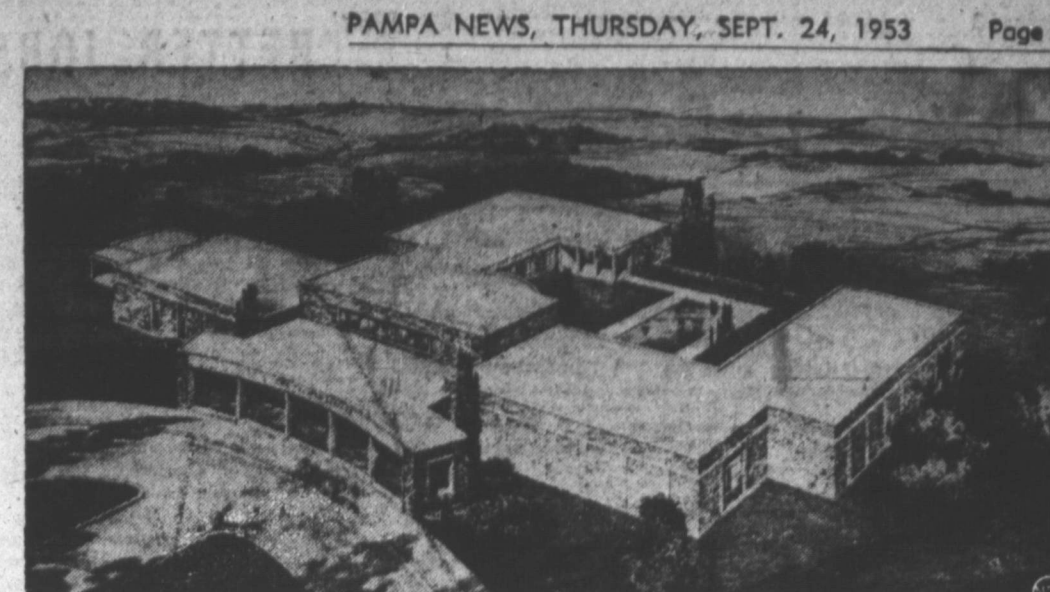

AUSTIN, Sept. 24—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers told the newly-created 31-member Texas Commission on Higher Education Wednesday it faces a task which "might be both bitter and sweet." The commission at its opening session elected Ruel Walker, Cleburne attorney, as chairman, and A. R. Bivins of Amarillo, a member of the State Board of Education, as vice-chairman. Shivers, in opening remarks to the commission, created by the 53rd Legislature this year, said the job facing the group was one that "has gone begging for a long time." The governor expressed hope the commission "will be able to rise above sectional and other differences to help in the molding — and holding — of a first-class educational system worthy of Texas and of the unlimited mental resources of our students."

Mission Is Positive
Shivers told the commission, "your mission is positive rather than negative."
"It will not surprise me if you discover that, by reason of Texas' growing population, changing economy, and increasing technical specialization, we need more facilities for higher education rather than fewer."
The higher education system, Shivers added, must meet the needs of educating highly-trained minds "to direct our state and nation toward realization of the finest human and religious values."
Husband Our Resources
"To make education of this extent and quality possible," the governor pointed out, "we must husband every one of our resources."
"Nothing can be wasted in the realm of money, personnel, time, or buildings and equipment. No one institution could handle such a job alone."
"What we must demand and get is an outstanding, well-coordinated, mutually reinforcing system of higher education, composed of relatively independent state colleges and universities," he added.
The governor said the commission was created to re-examine the role of higher education and the efficiency and economy of a "complete" plan for higher education.

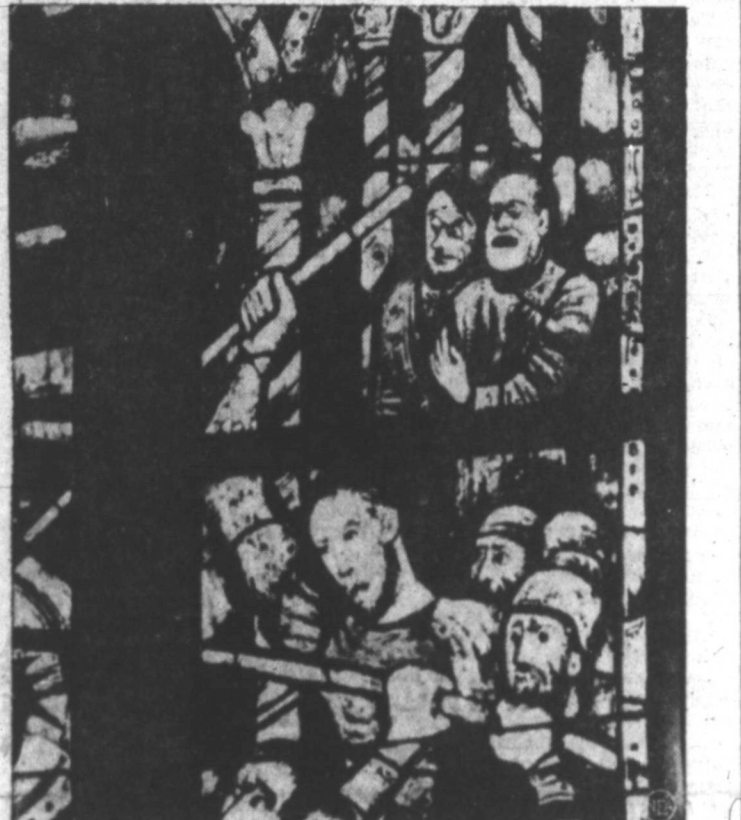

Oil Executive Dies
NEW YORK, Sept. 24 —UP—Charles L. Harding, 47, of Manhasset, N. Y., vice president of Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. in charge of Middle East affairs, died Wednesday at Memorial Hospital after an illness of several months.

Oilman's Murder Remains Unsolved

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24—UP—The murder of wealthy Fort Worth oilman William P. Clark appears destined Wednesday to join other unsolved Tarrant county crimes unless an unexpected clew turns up, investigators admitted Wednesday. Body of the 61-year-old buman, shot through the head with a powerful hunting rifle, was found sprawled face down in a pool of blood at his 23-room mansion last May. Texas rangers and city and county authorities admitted that they were no closer to a solution than when they began their investigation four months ago. Clark was estranged from his wife, Mary Clark, who told investigators she was at Lake Texoma at the time the oilman was shot. The historic United States Marine Band has played for every President except George Washington.

TRUMAN MEMORIAL LIBRARY—Here is an artist's conception of the proposed Truman Library in Grand View, Mo. The library, which will hold most of President Truman's writings executed while he was in public office, is located on the old Truman farm, five miles south of Kansas City. President Truman donated 50 acres of land as the library site.

HAUNTING FACES IN THE GLASS—Keen-sighted worshippers at the Graz Roman Catholic Church in Vienna, Austria, noticed that the stained glass window had the likenesses of Hitler and Mussolini, center, staring down at the figure of Christ dying on the cross. Painted by a German artist in 1951, the two faces have started a huge controversy, but church authorities say they have no intention of removing them.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE 'Finessomania' Can Ruin You

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
One of the worst diseases that can attack a healthy bridge player is finessomania. Everybody has seen the symptoms. The player is unable to resist a finesse even if it means jeopardizing (or losing) his contract. In today's hand we see a very sad case of this ailment. West opened the ten of hearts, and declarer carefully won the trick in dummy with the queen of spades. This play may have been successful, but it was far from sensible. West won with the queen of spades and brilliantly returned a club. South won with the ace of clubs and returned the ten of spades, but West was not to be deceived. West promptly put up the ace of spades and led another club, forcing out dummy's king. South still had the king of spades in his hand and was never able to get back to dummy to cash the nine of spades. He thus succeeded in making only one spade trick, three hearts, and two tricks in each of the minor suits.

As I have hinted, the spade finesse was just so much nonsense. South should have won the first trick in his own hand with the king or ace (thus making sure that he could get to dummy later by means of the queen of hearts). South's next step is to lead the king of spades, deliberately giving up any chance of finessing in that suit. South doesn't care who takes the ace of spades, since he still has two stoppers in each of the side suits. If the defenders switch to clubs, South will take the ace of clubs and lead the jack of spades. Assuming that the defenders promptly win again and force out dummy's king of club, South can unblock the offending ten of spades and still get back to dummy thru the queen of hearts in order to cash the nine of spades. South is thus quite sure to make nine tricks no matter how the defenders wriggle or squirm.

Shirt Recipe Given
OTTAWA, Sept. 24 —UP—An election bet loser who asked a National Research Council chemist host to eat his shirt got the following recipe Thursday: Take one cotton shirt; grill one large steak; burn shirt to a crisp in a very hot oven; recover ashes of shirt; sprinkle liberally on steak; smother with onions; eat shirt, steak and all.

Morse Addresses Students At A&M

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 24—UP—Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse told students at Texas A&M that farmers who do a good job will continue to profit and need have no fear of the future. Morse said the parity ratio for farmers has held at 93 and 94 since last spring and the price decline for farm products the past two years has been checked. He told a Grain & Feed Dealers Association convention in Galveston earlier Tuesday that farm price support laws retarded the flow of farm products and have been a "detraction to farmers and the American economy."

The Undersecretary said drawbacks to current laws include high hog prices that have not attracted the usual increase in pork production. Also many farmers are producing corn for the government instead of growing it for feed, and cattlemen were forced to pay high support prices for feed on a declining cattle market last spring.

Morse said in College Station that the 16.6 million acres of land that laws and the wheat referendum vote will force out of wheat production are a big problem facing agriculture. And he said cotton farmers face a similar prospect of what to do with the big acreage of crop land if a referendum vote is called and approved.

Korea Seizes Japanese Boat
SEOUL, Sept. 24 —UP—Korean patrol boats have seized another Japanese vessel for violating the so-called "Rhee Line," the defense ministry announced Thursday. It was the fifth seizure this month of Japanese craft in waters from which they are barred by orders of President Syngman Rhee.

Story From Luke

A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom, and to return.

And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds and said unto them, Occupy till I come.

And it came to pass, that when he was returned, having received the kingdom, then he commanded these servants to be called unto him, to whom he had given the money, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.

Then came the first saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds.

And he said unto him, Well, thou good servant: because thou hast been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities.

And the second came, saying, Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds.

And he said likewise to him, Be thou also over five cities.

And another came, saying, Lord, behold, here is thy pound, which I have kept laid up in a napkin:

For I feared thee, because thou art an austere man: thou takest up that thou layest not down, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

And he saith unto him, Out of thine own mouth wilt thou judge thee, thou wicked servant. Thou knowest that I was an austere man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not sow.

Wherefore then gavest not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required mine own with usury?

And he said unto them, that stood by, Take from him the pound, and give it to him that hath ten pounds.

For I say unto you, That unto every one which hath shall be given; and from him that hath not, even that he hath shall be taken away from him.

—Luke 19:12.

The above is a tale from the New Testament by the Apostle Luke, and it is interesting to note that the judgment of the employer reverses the popular economic thinking of our times.

In this day and age, the government would have taken most of the profit of the first two men and shared it with the third. To be successful today is to invite trouble. There is no automatic reward for acuteness, thrift and energy. To work and plan to get ahead brings multiple penalties.

We call this story to your attention to offset some of the ideas that are promulgated and promoted by that special group who limit the definition of "labor" to those who are organized or who fall in that category glibly described as the "masses."

No Entangling Allies

"It is completely forgotten that it is not alliances per se that our first President warned against, but entangling alliances. As a result, we now have entanglements without allies," said the lead editorial in the September 7 issue of The Freeman, a fortnightly journal of opinion. The editorial went on to say that we got into "our present unrealistic and absurd 'foreign policy' mainly by trying to please our friends, instead of thinking out a foreign policy for ourselves."

In Korea, for example, "where we have secured a humiliating and uneasy truce, we are given to understand that we are not going to have too much to say about the terms of settlement. These will be largely discussed and determined not only by fourteen 'allies' who assumed one-twentieth of the burden of battle, but of some of them suggest, by nations which assumed no burden whatever."

To extricate ourselves, The Freeman maintained, "We should insist that no nation that failed to contribute to the war should have anything to say about the conditions of an armistice or of a settlement; and that those who have contributed to the war should have a voice only in proportion to their contribution... that we do not consider American lives more expendable than other lives, and that if our allies really wish the United Nations to be a fighting organization for punishing aggressors, no other formula but that of a proportional contribution of manpower is either just or workable. If our allies reject this proposal, we can point out to them in a polite and friendly way that however pleasant it was on sentimental grounds to have them as token allies, the military value of their token contribution has certainly not been great enough to make it worth our while, in exchange, to continue to surrender our independence of policy and action..."

"Communist Propaganda in Churches and Schools"

II

I want to continue to quote and comment on the folder issued by the American Council of Christian Churches of California under the heading of "Communist Propaganda in Churches and Schools."

It can be had for 15 cents a copy or eight for $1 from the American Council of Christian Churches of California, 42 N. Raymond, Pasadena 1, California.

Rev. Claude Bunzel, author of the article, explains how Karl Marx and Frederick Engels, who wrote the "Manifesto of the Communist Party" in 1848, did not believe that the fear (reverence) of the Lord was the beginning of wisdom. He writes:

"Instead, the institution of the church was pictured as one of the greatest drawbacks to the material progress of mankind that could possibly be imagined."

"They likewise turned against the home, as being under the supposed influence of the 'bourgeoisie,' as being the source of many of the anti-social notions which children imbibed in the process of growing to maturity."

"Let us see what they had to say about the education of children back in 1848:"

"Do you charge us with wanting to stop the exploitation of children by their parents? To this crime we plead guilty. But, you will say, we destroy the most hallowed of relations, when we replace home education by social education."

"And your education? Is not that also social, and determined by the social conditions under which you educate, by the intervention of society, direct or indirect, by means of schools, etc.? The Communists have not invented the intervention of society in education; they do but seek to alter the character of that intervention, and to rescue education from the influence of the ruling class."

"That is plain enough! The Communists want home education to be replaced by social education. They want to take children out from under the harmful(?) influence of their parents, and place them under the helpful(?) influence of the Communist-dominated society. They seek to 'rescue' education itself from the influence of the ruling class, which, so far as America is concerned, is held to be the capitalist class."

"Most Americans seem to have forgotten that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, but the Communist Party has not forgotten that, daily work is the price of conspiracy. In fact, we have such a statement from Pettis Perry, in his Report to the National Election Conference of the Communist Party, held in New York City, September 6, 1952: 'We are not a political machine like the Republican and Democratic parties. We are a party active 365 days a year.'

Young People Their Target
"Chief among their targets is the young people of America, for the Communist Party is placing great reliance upon them. In 1920 Lenin addressed the Third All Russian Congress of the Russian Young Communist League. He spoke of 'The Tasks of the Youth League' as follows:

"We can build communism only from the sun of knowledge, organizations and institutions, only with the stock of human forces and means that were bequeathed to us by the old society. Only by radically recasting the teaching, organizations and training of youth shall we be able to ensure that the result of the efforts of the younger generation will be the creation of a society that will be unlike the old society, i.e., a communist society."

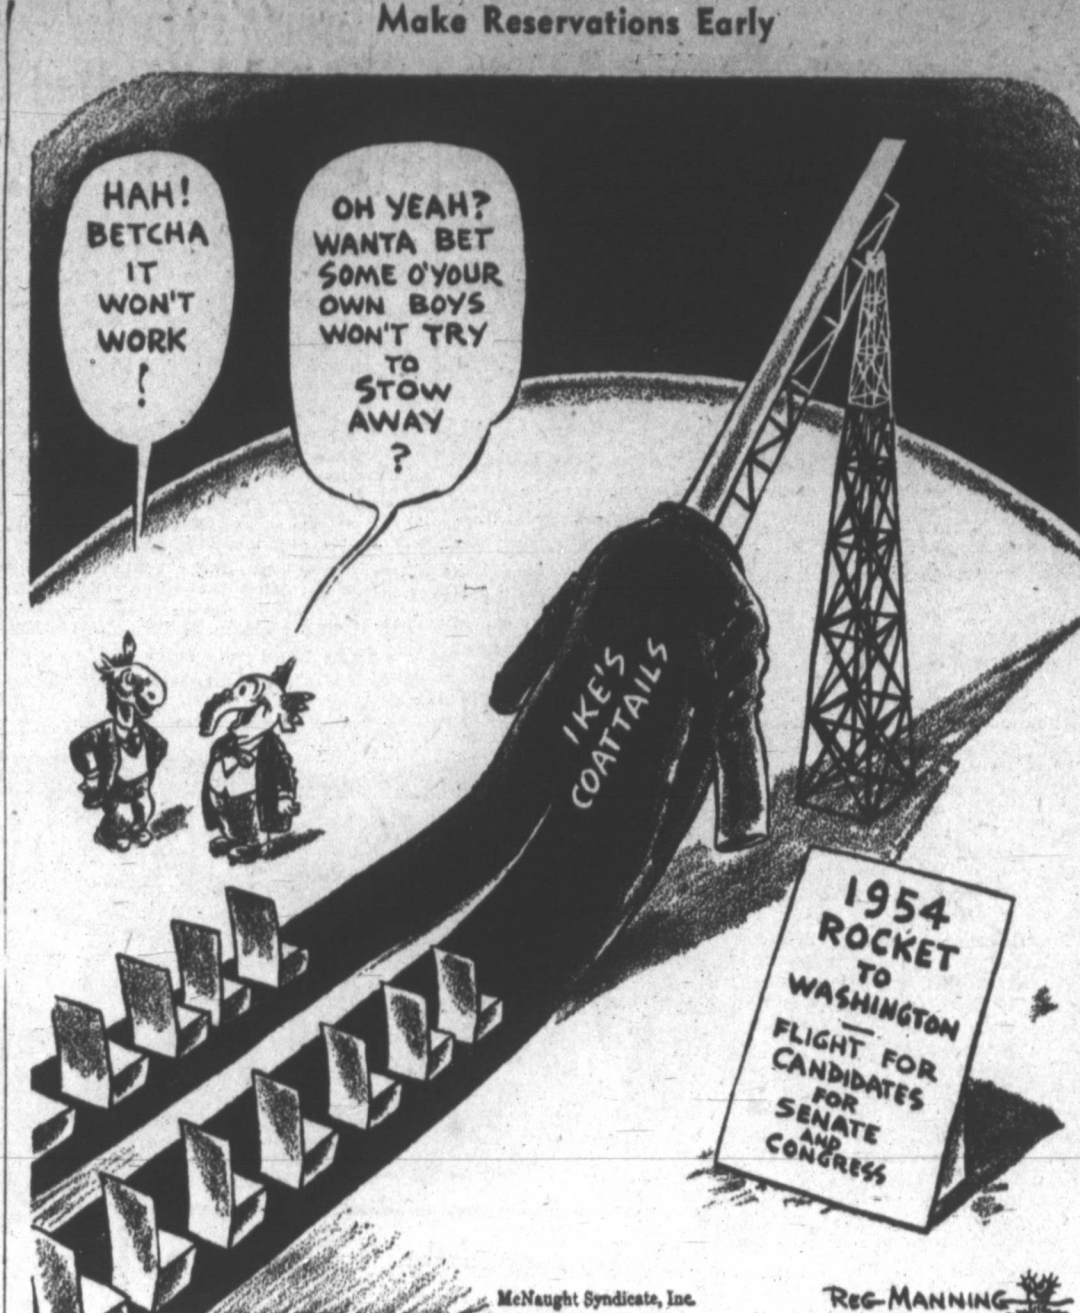

If you do not believe that they are making an effort to do just that, I would like any individual to produce any textbook in sociology used in any coeducational school in the United States that really stands for a definite limited government as set forth by the Declaration of Independence. More and more people are beginning to realize the kind of textbooks that must be used in coeducational schools."

The author quotes Dr. Bella V. Dodd's testimony before a Subcommittee of the Committee on the Judiciary of the U.S. Senate. He writes:

"Dr. Dodd, it should be explained, taught school in the State of New York, and rose fairly high in the ranks of the Communist Party. In the report 'Subversive Influence in the Educational Process,' Part 3, page 535, Senator McCarran asks Dr. Dodd this question: 'Doctor, from your observation, is there any more fertile field for the implanting of doctrine for conspiracy than in the minds of the youth?' Here is her answer: 'The youth are a very special target of the Communists. They want the youth because the youth are the government of tomorrow. The people of today are pretty well through, as far as they are concerned. They want to indoctrinate and teach the people with whom they will take over tomorrow.'"

"An earlier question Senator McCarran had asked was this: 'To get back at it, Dr. Dodd, the object of all this movement in the schools is to build up over a long period of time, if necessary, the tearing down of the American way of life?' Her answer was 'To establish a Soviet America.'"

"Dr. Dodd has broken with the Communist Party. She is now giving invaluable testimony about her former connections and activities. The same report describes her break with the party in these words:

National Whirligig... Opinion Of Experts Differs On Economic Health Of Nation

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Economic bears now warn of hard times ahead because of a 4,400. The figure may be slightly lower, for fewer failures usually occur in the last quarter. March business bankruptcies and the current weakness of the Wall Street market. Responding to these conventional alarms, they believe that the bottom is beginning to fall out of the 12-year-old boom. By all the ordinary signs, they should be right.

But Washington's detailed analysis of both movements does not bear out the worst of these fears. Although showing a slight gain, the number, kind of losses involved in voluntary or involuntary foreclosures follow the pattern of recent, prosperous years. Few large firms have been affected.

INEXPERIENCED INVESTORS—Moreover, many sure-to-fail companies were organized during the war, and the postwar period. Inexperienced people thought they saw a chance to get rich quick. Marginal enterprises, especially in the mining, and manufacturing fields, were started, only to go broke when government orders and aid were withdrawn. Thousands of ill-advised G.I.'s used Bill of Rights loans to gamble without sufficient know-how or reserves.

Now that business conditions are returning to normal, with a buyers' market replacing a sellers' market in every line, the bankruptcy figures merely reflect the inevitable shakeout. The same phenomenon has been observed after previous cycles of war and wild investing.

WALL STREET NO BAROMETER—As to Wall Street, it is no longer the sensitive economic barometer that it used to be. In view of a more cautious dividend policy and resultant accumulation of reserves, corporations are financing expansion with their own funds or by bond issues rather than by the sale of common or preferred stock.

They once obtained 90 per cent of new money from stock issues and only 10 per cent from bond sales. Now it is one-third from bonds, two-thirds from bonds.

Thus, Wall Street's gyrations do not frighten President Eisenhower and Secretary Humphrey as they panicked Coolidge, Hoover and Mellon.

BANKRUPTCY FIGURES—If

Fair Enough... Organized Baseball Is In A Bad Fix Despite Braves' Comeback

By WESTBROOK FEGLER (Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BOSTON — Organized baseball is in a bad jam, notwithstanding the dramatic success of the urchin Boston Braves in Milwaukee and their deceptive victory from the first change in a major league circuit in 50 years. Baseball has come to a crisis before. There were the Federal League raid of 1914-15 and the fake World Series of 1919 between the White Sox and the Reds. The trouble in the Federal League was easy money. A batch of loud millionaires seduced underpaid athletes with petty ruses and slapped together a circuit of Tom Thumb ball-parks in a grim pretense of competitive purposes.

Finally they sold out. The magnates cured the fake series crisis by a raw revolt to syndicate ball whereby Babe Ruth and the rest of the great Red Sox were transferred to the Yankees. In private session they also juiced up the ball so that the home run record rose from 12 to 60 in a few years. The truth was that the club owners were as ready as the infidel White Sox, being stingy, high-handed and not above throwing ball-games themselves by sales of players. The White Sox of 1919 were the best team in the history of the game even down to now but were paid peanuts and treated as coolies.

The new troubles spring from new causes. Money is so hard to come by that it takes a "syndicate" of local contractors, doctors, real estate men and automobile agents to start negotiations. Half of them get chills when the papers are ready.

The supply of millionaires willing to stipe money into baseball without hope of profit is running out. Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox, Phil Wrigley of the Cubs and Los Angeles in the past League, Gus Busch of the Cardinals are the last of that class. Dan Topping of the Yankees may be another such, but his altruism has never been tested. His Yankees are a marvel of big business. Their very success is partly responsible for the weakness of the industry as a whole. They can summon new power at any position by a phone call to one of their farms. Other clubs can't give them serious competition. However, this is only a small figure in a large design of difficulty.

Though the nation regards baseball vaguely as a precious moral phenomenon, hardly one in a hundred of the same people buys a ticket to any ball-park, major or minor. Like those Christians who patronize the church only as a place to get buried from, the typical "fan" thinks he is entitled to tickets to the World Series, when he hasn't set foot in a park all year. He scolds the local management for frugality in desire for new players, he can't be bothered to watch a good home club lick a bad visiting team.

So baseball might go the way of the theatre, which died of movie competition and public apathy and some nastier ills peculiar to its own nature. Golf, going places by car and racing have hurt baseball very badly. Radio and television have paid a profit to the majors but starved the minors. The Braves lost their draw in Boston for impalpable reasons, but Connie Mack's old champions, the Philadelphia Athletics, had played in solitude so long that he had to sell off his hands and give the public the kind of baseball it was willing to pay for. In three years up and including '52 the Braves lost $1,000,000 so their profit of $500,000 in Milwaukee this year is only an instalment on their deficit. Lou Perini, their owner, seems to have left Boston not only to stop losses but to enjoy a little appreciation.

Cigarette, automobile, oil and tire companies, which are among the advertising, could move into this situation and really save baseball by using it as many of them now use television and at less expense. Comparative results cannot be foreseen, but the cigarette copy on radio and television is so insipid that the competition is negative. A fair to good major league team named after some well-known person might show big returns as a fraction of the cost. Only giants of commerce can afford this. Henry Kaiser spent $2,000,000 in one year on the Winchell broadcast once a week. He had borrowed $1,000,000 from the R.F.C. and was returning to him when he picked up the nut. A hot ball club in Pittsburgh ought to sell more cars for less outlay.

Thus far the major league owners with gum and beer to sell have politely refrained from using their athletes as sandwich men. However, there is neither legal nor sentimental objection to this. It has been done for years in a small way by local patrons of girls' softball leagues. Of the 16 major league clubs today, only three are run by old baseball families. Clark Griffith and Connie Mack are baseball men of historic stature, although Mack is inactive now. The family of Charlie Comiskey, a pioneer player who founded the White Sox, are still in charge. These are all in the American League.

let in a National League club because he already owns the Cubs and can't have two in the same league.

Mrs. John McGraw's biography of his husband, "The Real McGraw," reveals for the first time the "dirty" mercenary political throat-slitting which was the controlling phase of baseball in New York at the turn of the century. Grafters blocked out potential park sites at the stations of the new subway, and other likely spots. The Dodgers were allowed far from the nearest subway exit and the Highlanders, forerunners of the Yankees, were chased up to the rocks at 168th and Broadway. The owners are more decent men today but most of them are business men nevertheless, determined to maintain their legal property rights to their exclusive territorial franchises. But for a piece of paper Kansas City is a major league town. New cities must come in and the minors must be revived. And the red hot World Series fan has got to go once a week at least or take the blame for the passing of organized baseball. After all, it isn't the sun of the moon.

LOOKING SIDWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

This is going to be a story about a girl I have seen exactly twice in my life, each time from a distance of maybe 50 feet, and all I am going to talk about in connection with her is that each time I see her I think less of the so-called showmanship and sagacity of the producing gentry of Broadway — from the Messrs. Rodgers and Hammerstein up or down. It begins to look as though they do not know what they are doing.

It is a common wall among many of these boys that it is almost impossible to find top talent these days and it is not for me. Mary Martin and Ethel Merman, the musical theater would go to the dogs. The implication across a luncheon table is that except for Mary Martin and Ethel Merman it is pretty much in the hands of the dogs already. Since I have never had to scurry up $300,000 to pay for a modern musical show, nor have I ever written one or directed one or done anything else but go to the First Night of one, I am in a small position to debate talents and sagacity and who deal in it daily. Nonetheless, I am compelled to wonder how a girl named Dolores Gray has been allowed to distinguish these inferior shows in a row — and nothing else.

Her current assignment, which may not even exist when this reaches print, is a heavy, crashing bore called "Carnival in Flanders." It has magnificent settings, beautiful costumes and Miss Gray. She carries it around for better than two hours as though she had it in a hod. Prior to that she delivered a Bert Lahr unappetizing called "Two on the Aisle," and prior even to that my memory is that she set a light a wan item called "Are You With It?" In each case her personal notes were the kinds of prose you usually find etched on parchment of testimonial dinners to aldermen.

In the current show, not likely to live long, Miss Gray took hold in the first five minutes and kept the event going through a sheer force of vivid personality, attractiveness, the talent for singing a mediocre song as though it were the greatest number in years and that special, hard-to-define thing called "authority." She has tremendous authority. Difficult, cantankerous, annoyed critics went back to their typewriters and wrote the kind of words about her that you read once in a decade on Broadway.

Fine. She deserved all of them. She makes you believe what she says when she speaks a line, how ever moronic the line may be. She can sing a song at you as though it were a bullet. She does subtle, amazing things with her hands and her speaking voice, and she is alive with talent and professional smoothness.

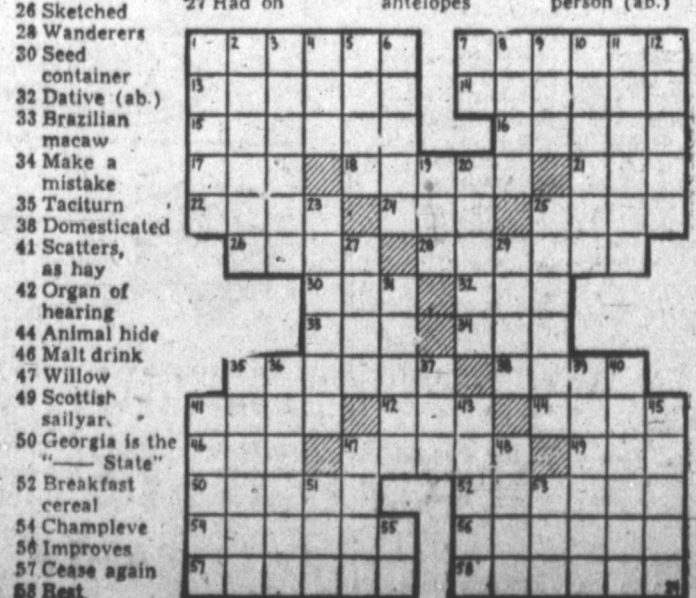

It is so almost impossible to find a musical comedy talent of proportion why have Rodgers and Hammerstein, Herman Levin, Julie Styne, Leland Hayman and their kind neglected her? I find it a sensible question: What shows current on Broadway could she have done? She could have done almost any of them. She could do "Wonderful Town" in the Rosalind Russell role. She could do Lilo's role in "Can-Can." She could do almost any task assigned to her and send the critics out cheering.

I keep mentioning Rodgers and Hammerstein because they are the present figures. They run a sane, modern and enlightened office. One of the strict rules of that office is that anybody — yes, anybody — who wants to audition is to receive one. This does not mean that everyone gets a job with them. It simply means that they never overlook a bet, however humble and unknown, and that every boy or girl, man or woman who auditions gets a courteous hearing and the results get into a file which E. & H. consult frequently when putting a show together. For that they deserve a plause.

They do not deserve applause for claiming that it is a tough, puzzling thing to cast a musical up to when a talent like Dolores Gray is in town and available.

States Still Hurl By Lack Of Moisture

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24—UP—Large areas of Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas still are hard hit by lack of soil moisture, even in many spots receiving recent rains, a federal expert said Wednesday. Louis P. Merrill, regional chief of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, said a series of general, slow, soil-soaking rains is needed now.

He said a survey by field representatives showed a large part of West and Southwest Texas still lacks enough moisture for normal farm and ranch operations.

A similar area is reported in western Oklahoma, extending into the central portion of the state. Worst conditions exist in Arkansas, where only the extreme southeastern part of the state has received enough soil moisture for normal farm and ranch operations.

Merrill said 83 counties and parts of 30 more in West and Southwest Texas lack enough moisture for normal operations. In Oklahoma, the figure is 23 counties and parts of 10 others. Conditions are "quite poor" in 59 Arkansas counties and parts of six others, Merrill said.

Merrill said wind erosion is expected on some Southwest Texas sandy rangeland, because the prolonged drought has left little or no grass cover. He expressed concern also for dust blowing everywhere that range cover is sparse in Texas. Much moisture will be lost from future rains because of runoff from bare soil, he said.

Iran's Big Worry Is Still On Oil

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign Analyst

A month ago in Iran communism suffered a major defeat and the West won a major, if temporary, victory.

The victory, however, has not been clinched, despite the fact that Dr. Mohammed Mossadeq, Iran's former weeping premier, languishes in jail and the Shah, friendly to the West, has been restored to his throne.

Now, as it has been in the past, her trouble is oil.

She is the poor little rich girl of the Middle East—unable to tell friend from enemy and suspicious everyone is after her for her money.

Richest Oil Pool Stagnates
Iran floats above the world's richest known oil pool, which at the moment is stagnating because of her dispute with Britain. Prior to nationalizing her oil industry, Iran received through the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. more than $100 million a year.

Oil represented more than 10 per cent of all Iranian income and the difference between poverty and prosperity.

Chief stumbling block to settlement seemed the ailing but iron-hard Mossadeq who combined his nationalism with a burning hatred for the British.

Zahedi Wants Production
Naturally, the hope arose, with the overthrow of Mossadeq, the oil dispute would be settled.

Mexico Studies New Visitor Plan
NUEVO LAREDO, Mex., Sept. 24—UP—Authority by the Mexican government to issue multiple visas is expected shortly, it was learned here Thursday.

The permit would let U. S. tourists to visit the interior of Mexico as many times as they wish during a six-month period upon payment of the $5 fee.

Gustavo Ortiz Hernan, Mexico's national tourist director, notified Antonio I. Mortera of the Pomex Travel Club here that the Mexican congress Tuesday.

Some of the new forms for multiple entry permits have been received at the Mexican immigration office at Nuevo Laredo. The permits will be ready for issuance as soon as authorized by the Mexican congress.

quickly, and, in turn, returning prosperity would remove the fear Iran's masses would turn to communism through sheer desperation and misery.

This week, Iran's new premier, Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi, announced he hoped to get Iranian oil flowing freely to world markets soon.

But the thought is not necessarily father to the deed.

Many Difficulties Ahead
Mossadeq, despite world-wide court injunctions brought by Anglo-Iranian, managed to sell about 100,000 tons of oil annually.

However, to operate profitably, Iran must sell in the neighborhood of 10 million tons annually.

Furthermore, Iran's Agha Khan refinery—largest in the world—now has been idle for nearly two years. It has been estimated that even if work were started right now, at least a year and $100 million would be necessary before it could be overhauled and put back into full operation.

WTSC Head Is Rotary Speaker

The American people have built this nation on the idea that human life consists of living and playing hard, Dr. James C. Cornett, president of West Texas State College, told members of the Pampa Rotary club Wednesday at their luncheon meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

In speaking on the topic, "Mistakes Made in the Rearing of Young People," the educator said that "we should help them to understand that life consists of activity."

In the past few years the parents of America have begun to get the idea that they should protect their children from the things that might happen to them, he said, rather than training them to meet life's problems.

He pointed out that, in his opinion, the basic psychology of the social security system in the United States is all wrong. In illustrating the point that children should be encouraged to work, he said that under the present system, a man who has reached the age of 65 is made to feel that he should "sit down and twiddle his thumbs."

"I believe that when a man reaches that age, he should be encouraged to work and that his

Pampa Woman To Dental Meet

Mrs. E. E. McNutt was due to leave Wednesday night for Cleveland, O., to attend the National Dental Meeting. She is secretary-treasurer of the American Dental Assistants' Certification Board which holds its first session Friday night at the Hollenden Hotel in Cleveland and will give certifying examinations Saturday for all candidates.

Mrs. McNutt will return by Dallas where she will attend the convention planning meeting of the Texas Registered Dental Hygienists Association of which group she is president.

While in Dallas she will be the guest of Mrs. Katherine Gandy, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. McNutt will stop over in Chicago Thursday and visit the headquarters offices of Altrusa International, with Hazel Williams, executive secretary.

Woman Tries To Kiss Ike

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—Backstairs at the White House—cheering, demonstrating lady Republicans in Chicago last week gave the Secret Service—and President Eisenhower—a terrific pushing around.

One lady broke through all the guards and tried to kiss the President, but he ducked it with a handshake.

Motorcycle policemen were clearing traffic ahead of the President as he sped from Chicago to the Glenview Naval Air Station last Saturday and to their confrontation suddenly discovered they had forced part of a funeral procession to the side of the highway.

All police sirens were still immediately and the presidential procession was led by an unobtrusively as possible.

The Eisenhowers have a deep and abiding respect for all gifts they receive. Every present, from a crudely done child's painting to an impossible hat Mrs. Eisenhower never would wear, receives a considered acknowledgment. No gifts are thrown away. The edible ones are frozen for future consumption.

Mr. Eisenhower was not President during the last football season, but he is sure to see some of the gridiron sport this fall. In addition to the Army-Navy game, he is expected to try to work in other contests on his busy schedule.

Mr. Eisenhower told a number of his friends in Colorado he hated to think of the vast amount of work he faced this fall. In addition to high policy business duties, he faces his first formal social season.

By Christmas he will have shaken hands with at least 10,000 persons.

Incidentally, talk in Denver the Eisenhowers might return there for the Yuletide holidays is now regarded in Washington as unfounded. Friends of the family say the President and his wife will want the grandchildren in the White House for Christmas. Mrs. John S. Doud, Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, also is expected to come east from Denver for the holidays.

Woman in St. Louis wants newspaper reporters, plus radio and TV commentators, to stop referring to the President's golf. Thinks reporting and talking about the President's golf shows a lack of respect. She writes:

"It might interest you to know that we elected a President, not a golfer. If we had wanted a golf player, we would have elected Ben Hogan."

Haymes And Rita To Exchange Vows In Simple Rites

By ALINE MOSBY
LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 24—UP—Rita Haymes and Dick Haymes, nervous as beginners, make it four apiece Thursday when they exchange wedding vows amid the clicking of dice and whir of roulette wheels in a gambling hotel.

While a gay mob of tourists play their chips in a casino downstairs, the flame-haired movie beauty and the crooner will say their "I do's" in the press conference room of the plush Sands Hotel.

Rita, 34, acting like an excited bride, made this ceremony the simplest of her career.

Wedding No. 3 to Prince Aly Khan featured champagne, royal guests and lavish clothes. But for her fourth wedding, Rita chose an old dress of blue linen, a plain gold wedding band and a simple civil ceremony with no decorations and only 10 guests.

The actress, who usually dodges the press, this time invited them all—news cameras included—to the wedding in this gambling mecca.

Judge Frank MacNamee was called in to perform the ceremony, only 20 hours after Haymes won his six-week, quick Nevada divorce decree from Nora Eddington Flynn on grounds "she lost interest in the marriage."

Rumors Nora might be in town for the nuptials were circulated last night when the Sahara hotel reported she had reserved a suite there. But she failed to arrive and a friend said she had been "talked out" of appearing. Nora was not available for comment at her Hollywood home.

Dick and Rita, who started dating when both were working in Columbia Studio last February, invite only friends "who stuck by us" during their various troubles with former mates and the law.

Princess Margaret Plans Visit To U.S.

LONDON, Sept. 24—UP—Princess Margaret is planning an informal visit to the United States and Canada next summer with the warm approval of Queen Elizabeth II, palace sources said Thursday.

Margaret thinks it would be "a lovely idea" to take a transatlantic vacation in North America next August instead of joining other members of the Royal family at Balmoral in Scotland.

The 22-year-old Princess has wanted to see America and Canada for many years. She discussed the proposed trip with the late King George VI, and her father thought it was an excellent idea.

But shortly afterward, her father died. Since then court mourning, her sister's coronation and the Queen's forthcoming Commonwealth tour have postponed the visit to the Western Hemisphere.

In fact, Margaret said, her father and mother sold her on the idea of going to America and Canada some day. That was in 1939 when the King and Queen returned from their trip to the two nations.

"It sounded so perfectly wonderful," she has remarked.

Strong Farm Bureau Simmers Over Surplus Food Sale Plan

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 24—UP—The powerful American Farm Bureau Federation is beginning to simmer about the administration's delay in carrying out a multi-million dollar bargain sale of surplus food authorized by Congress last spring.

A spokesman for the federation, which sponsored the plan for selling American surplus overseas, indicated Wednesday that the big farm organization may soon issue a formal charge that the administration is "dragging its feet" to the detriment of the farmer.

"The economic fate of American agriculture depends on moving surplus food," he said. "A law on the books isn't any solution... until it's aggressively administered."

The law passed by Congress allows President Eisenhower to sell from $100 million to $250 million worth of surplus farm crops overseas in exchange for local currency instead of hard-to-get dollars.

The money would be kept in the purchasing country to finance programs of the Foreign Operations Administration.

So far, the only action on the program has been conferences between the Agriculture and State Departments—and the F.O.A.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, deputy director of the F.O.A., said he hopes sale proposals can be made to prospective buyers soon enough to permit actual shipments to begin moving about Nov. 1.

While the government is "tiddling around," the Farm Bureau spokesman said, "Russia is knocking off trade deals week after week and is going to steal more and more markets." He noted India recently signed an agreement with Russia involving 1 million tons of wheat.

More than one-half the population of the United States lives in 147 metropolitan districts.

Laugh Foils Bandit

CHICAGO, Sept. 24—UP—Mrs. Margaret Nelson, 39, cannot help laughing when gunmen tried to hold her up.

For the third time in two years, Wednesday, Mrs. Nelson laughed a robber out of the currency exchange where she works.

When she would-be robber poked a gun through her window she started to laugh. He protested "I'm not kidding," but Mrs. Nelson laughed harder.

"He ran out of the building and I was still laughing," she said.

A 30-Year Dream Coming True!

He used to stand on the curb in front of his father's house—and watch the Cadillacs sweep majestically by—carrying fine ladies and gentlemen on happy excursions.

That's when the dream started in his heart—and refused to leave.

Six times, before today, he has signed his name to an application for a motor car title—and, on every occasion, he knew it was a compromise.

But not this time! He is taking the keys to a beautiful 1953 Cadillac—and his 30-year-old dream is coming true.

And what a fulfillment it will be, as he rolls out into the highway and takes the longest way home!

First of all, he'll get those quick glances of approval which tell him the dream he dreamed for so many years is still in the hearts of others.

And then the car's great performance will begin to unfold itself.

Silence—almost complete silence—just the soft sound of the wind slipping by... the quickest, easiest response to the accelerator he has ever imagined... steadiness and roadability and handling ease that remove all but the merest effort from managing the car.

And, oh, what marvelous comfort! It's like sitting in the easiest chair conceivable—and moving smoothly and effortlessly through space.

And then, almost before he knows it, he'll be home—and in the driveway—with the family rushing out with the final voice of confirmation.

Man—this was worth waiting and working for!

And, of course, the years and the miles will add their proof as to the wisdom of his choice: dependability—long life—economy of upkeep and operation—and unusual resale value.

Yes, there is every practical reason for owning a Cadillac—as well as every personal one.

Better come in and see us today. It's probably easier than you think to make your dream of Cadillac ownership come true.

Williamson Favors 1-4A In Six Tilts

The Williamson System says 1-AAAA teams will win six of its seven games this week, according to this week's release today.

Only the Borger Bulldogs drew the negative vote. The Bulldogs, however, are taking on a power house in the Wichita Falls Coyotes.

In other games, Williamson picks Pampa over Big Spring, Abilene over Fort Worth, Midland over Austin of El Paso, and Lubbock over Highland Park of Dallas and San Angelo over Brownwood. Odessa has an open date this week.

Following are Williamson's grid-iron picks in the schoolboy ranks:

By Mitchell Williamson

Explanation: Team in first (left) column is picked by the Williamson System as the WINNER. Team in second (right) column is picked as the loser. The home team is starred (*) unless both teams are from the same state. Teams are abbreviated: AN (Austin), HM (Houston), CP (Corpus Christi), EL (El Paso), FW (Fort Worth), HU (Houston), PA (Port Arthur), SA (San Antonio).

Steers Boast High Scoring Grid Machine

The Pampa Harvesters will taper off with a light workout today in their final drill for the invasion of the Big Spring Steers here tomorrow night.

Coach Tom Tipps will likely send the same starting lineup against the Steers as started the season opener with Austin last week. The lineup lists Bobby Holder as a James Phipps at ends, Bob Prigmore and Chuck Jordan at tackles, Alton Flynn and Ronnie Elliott at guards, James Hawkins at center, John Darby and Ed Dudley at halfbacks and Harold Lewis at fullback. All are returning lettermen.

Due to see lot of action in reserve are Travis Taylor, Jimmy Bond, John Watson, John Langford, Gene Beatty, Ed Strickland, John Cantrell, John McBride in the line and Bill Fulenwider, Dean Franklin, Buddy Sharp, Bobby Wilhelm, Harlan Boyle and Bill Edwards in the backfield.

A high-scoring duel may be in the offing for the local grid fans. Big Spring lost a tough 27-26 decision to the San Angelo Bobcats last week.

J. C. Armistead is the most dangerous offensive threat for the Steers although he didn't score against San Angelo last week. Armistead, a 165 pound fullback, scored 84 points last season to lead the Steers in scoring. Half of his runs were for 30 yards or more. His longest jaunt was 94 yards against Plainview.

Frosty Robinson and Brick Johnson, both halfbacks, did all the scoring for the Steers in the San Angelo game. Each scored two TD's apiece. One of Robinson's scores came on a pass from quarterback Frank Long.

Armistead is a 3-year letterman at Big Spring and is bidding for his fourth this year. The Steers fumbled away their chances to win last week's opener against San Angelo. The Steers had three potential scoring drives stopped due to fumbles.

Big Spring will use the following starting lineup tomorrow night: Wayne Medlin, 170, and Jimmy Porter, 165, at ends; Louis Stipp, 165, and J. W. Thompson, 190, tackles; Roger Brown, 155, and Dickie Milam, 170, guards; Norman Dudley, 190, center; Frank Long, quarterback; Carlisle (Frosty) Robinson, 190, and Brick Johnson, 172, halfbacks; and Armistead, 165, fullback.

Jimmy Ellison, the Steers' 265-pound tackle is on the injured list but will likely be ready for a lot of action against the Harvesters. Game time tomorrow night will be 8 p.m.

Dallas Wins Dixie Series Opener, 7-1

DALLAS, Sept. 24—UP—Wayne McLeland, who hurled the Dallas Eagles through the Texas League playoffs, will oppose Pete Modica of Nashville in the second game of the Dixie Series Thursday night.

The Eagle star racked up four victories in the post-season series after a 15-9 record in regular season play. Modica had a 9-5 mark for the Vols during the season.

The Eagles bombarded three Nashville pitchers for a 7 to 1 victory in the series starter last night. Howie Anderson turned in a neat four-hit job for the Eagles.

Anderson retired 16 men in a row through the first six innings, but weakened momentarily in the seventh allowing the Vols their lone run.

The Eagles picked up a single run in the fifth, exploded for five in the sixth, then added one for insurance in the seventh when Willie Brown hit a solo homer. Al Stringer led the Eagles' 10-hit attack with three blows.

UT-Villanova Tilt Heads SWC Card

Tuning-up sessions for week-end games monopolized Southwest Conference football action Wednesday. Three teams, which will oppose no sectional foes Saturday, began serious work on both offensive and defensive.

The Texas Longhorns divided their time equally between offense and defense for their Saturday clash with Villanova. The contest is billed as a duel between Gene Phillips and Billy Quinn. Ed Kelley, who shifted from fullback yesterday, is expected to work as the number two team's left halfback.

The Arkansas Razorbacks had an under-the-lights workout in preparation for their opener against Oklahoma A&M Saturday night in Little Rock. The well-conditioned Pikers reported no serious injuries.

Fullback John Saylor practiced some at end in an offensive scrimmage as the junior varsity at Texas A&M used University of Houston type defense. Two ends, Don Robbins and Eric Miller and Halfback Bill Huddleston are sidelined with serious injuries.

SMU began serious preparation for their opening game Oct. 3 against highly-touted Georgia Tech. Quarterback Sammy Stollenwerk and center Don Cole previously out with injuries, are in condition for Friday's scrimmage, Trainer Wayne Rudy said.

TCU's Horned Frogs spent most of the afternoon smoothing out offensive maneuvers. H. C. Knox, left halfback, did not participate because of an injured foot. The Frogs will meet Arkansas in the first Conference tilt Oct. 10.

Baylor's highly-rated Bears went through a vigorous warmup with the number two and three units getting shaped up to add reserve strength for the Miami game Oct. 10.

Coach Jess Neely sent his Rice Owls through a bruising scrimmage with Fullback Kosse Johnson and Halfback Morris Stone turning in impressive performances. Defense against Cornell plays are expected to begin today. The Owls meet Cornell Oct. 3.

Lopat In Top Form As Series Nears

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—UP—Yankee pitching was in sizzling shape Thursday for at least the first two games of the World Series, but Manager Casey Stengel thinks "all those other guys ought to be doing better."

His eyes twinkled and twinkled with pleasure to go with his grizzled grin as the old guy talked about Ed Lopat's seven steady innings in a 3 to 1 victory over the Athletics. That followed Alie Reynolds' strong two-hit work over the same team the night before.

"They looked pretty good didn't they?" he said. "Lopat said his foot didn't bother him and his control was great. He didn't walk anybody either."

Yankee Pitching Set
Steady Eddie chimed in "I hope I can do as well against Brooklyn." Stengel, who gets the final word on his hurlers from Pitching Coach Jim Turner, who in turn always says "You'll have to ask Case," finally lined up the Yankee hurling plans for the remainder of the season.

Two relief artists, who will see early action against Brooklyn if the starters get in trouble, will go Friday against the Red Sox. Lefty Bob Kuzaava and Tom Gorman will share the chores.

"On Saturday it will be either Vic Raschi or Whitley Ford, and in the first game Sunday it will be Ford or Raschi depending on who doesn't go Saturday," said Turner, who with practice could become almost as good a double talker as Stengel. "In the second game Sunday it will be Jim McDonald and Steve Kraly."

Reynolds, Lopat to Rest Up
Which means Reynolds and Lopat will see no action, unless it is brief lumbering up until those two Series games Wednesday and Thursday.

Stengel said he was glad to give his regulars a rest, thought that "some of the fellows in there like Andy Carey, Don Bolliver, and Bill Renna are hitting the ball pretty good, but the other guys had better get going again." The Yankees haven't been hitting much since they clinched the flag.

Lopat's 16th victory Wednesday added to his league leading record. He earned run average to 2.41 and with only four defeats he also has the best winning percentage.

Cleveland clinched second place by topping the White Sox 3 to 3 as Bob Lemon won his 21st game.

In the National League Cincinnati clinched sixth place by edging the Cubs 4 to 3, while Robin Roberts of the Phillies picked up his 23rd win with a 2 to 1, six-hit victory over the Giants, and Warren Spahn of the Braves gained his 22nd win with a 2 to 1, 10-hit victory over the Cards. The Cards and Phils now are tied for third place.

Wednesday's Stars: Steady Eddie Lopat of the Yankees, who won his 16th game and lowered his league leading earned run average to 2.41 with a 2 to 1 triumph over the Athletics.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24—UP—So brilliant are the catchers in the 1953 World Series that both are strong contenders for their league's most valuable player awards.

This would be nothing new for Roy Campanella of the Dodgers or Yogi Berra of the Yankees, for they were the award winners in 1951.

They are the best receivers in the game and Campanella rates a definite edge over Berra both at the bat and behind it.

Campy Best Hitting Catcher
Buxton, brawny, brainy Campanella this season compiled the best hitting record of any catcher in the history of the game, surpassing such heroes as Gabby Hartnett and Bill Dickey and Hall of Famer Mickey Cochrane. His 41 homers and 142 runs batted

15 Schoolboy Games Tonight

By UNITED PRESS
The Texas schoolboy grid grind gets under way again Thursday night on a rather lackluster note with 15 games, one of which appears to be a foregone conclusion.

Probably the top game of the program will send Houston Reagan against neighboring St. Thomas, a parochial school that more than holds its own against the city schools.

Reagan was a 25-20 winner over Lake Charles, La., last week, while the Toms beat Houston Milby 25 to 12.

In the other games involving Class AAAA schools, El Paso Bowie entertains Snyder, Fort Worth Riverside hosts Irving and Dallas Forest meets Dallas Jesuit.

In Class AA, Vidor invades Galveston for a meeting with Kirwin. Port Acres plays Bishop Byrne at Port Arthur and Winnboto travels to James Bowie.

Eight games are in Class A where Merkel entertains Abilene B. Era goes to Pilot Point, Tyler B to Elkhart, East Chambers to Anahuac, Corsicana B to Fairfield, Elgin to Taylor, San Benito B at Los Fresnos and Brownsville B at Lajolla.

But Rocky Is 4-1 Favorite

By JACK CUDDY
NEW YORK, Sept. 24—UP—Smart-boxing Roland LaStarza, bitter after a three-and-a-half-year "run-around," will try to wrest the world heavyweight championship from explosive Rocky Marciano Thursday night under the dazzling lights at the Polo Grounds.

This long-awaited return battle between the perfect-record champion from Brockton, Mass., and the New Yorker who gave him the closest fight of his career was expected to attract more than 35,000 fans and a gate of $400,000.

Promoter Jim Norris said "We have an advance of $375,000. We should go to the ball park at sundown with $300,000. And there we should pick up another $100,000 in spot sales. It's that kind of a fight."

The weather, forecast was "fair and warmer."

"I Can Do It Again!"

Ex-collegian LaStarza said at his Greenwood Lake, N. Y., camp, before driving into New York: "Marciano got a split decision on three points in our first fight, but I know I beat him. And I'll prove to the world I can do it again."

Rocky, a one-time laborer who smashed his way to the title and to 44 consecutive victories, repeated to friends at a Long Island retreat: "I hope to knock him out within seven rounds."

Chairman Robert K. Christenberry of the New York Boxing Commission emphasized none of the three ring officials who worked the first bout, a 10-rounder, March 24, 1950, would officiate.

Rocky Favored at 4 to 1

Despite the closeness of that encounter and despite LaStarza's persistent but futile attempts to get a promised return bout, the champion was favored over him at 4 to 1; it was 12 to 5 LaStarza would not last the scheduled 15 rounds and even money he would not last 10.

There will be no home television and no live broadcast in the United States of this first "all-white" heavy title fight in 15 years—the first since "Cinderella Man" Jim Braddock upset Max Baer in 1935.

If speedy, upright LaStarza upsets the crouching, bobbing-weaving champion, he will be the first college-educated heavy titleholder in history. He went nearly two years to City College of New York as a student of physical education. That was before he entered the Army.

Marciano Has Improved

In case of victory, Roland must grant Rocky—also an ex-soldier—a return title bout within six months, according to their contracts.

But most experts doubt the return bout clause ever will have to be used. They think Rocky will win because they believe the champion has improved greatly since their 1950 bout, but they are uncertain about any improvement in LaStarza.

Rocky apparently increased his punching explosiveness by shortening his hooks and by straightening his right foot. He learned to throw fast combinations of punches with power and accuracy. He developed a potent left hook. And improve, in his bob-weave tactics made him a somewhat more elusive target.

SPORTS PARADE Challenger Is Bigger Man All Around

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK, Sept. 24—UP—The most surprising feature of Thursday night's heavyweight fight between Rocky Marciano and Roland LaStarza, aside from the 4 to 1 odds against a man who never has been knocked out, is the tale of the tape revelation that the challenger is a bigger man all around.

The price is, of course, predicated on the explosive punching power which has allowed Marciano to flatten 29 of his 44 opponents. It disregards the fact LaStarza never has been kayoed in 54 fights.

But maybe it will surprise you, as it did this corner, to learn LaStarza actually is larger physically.

Not that that Marciano ever has been regarded as a giant, at five feet, 11 inches being the shortest man to hold the heavyweight title since Bob Fitzsimmons. But when you see him in action he impresses you in the manner of a berserk concrete mixer. Possibly because of his shortness, he seems to be of unusual breadth and to have tremendous arms, shoulders and legs.

LaStarza, on the other hand, in mind's eye seems almost slender and too small all around ever to be much of a heavyweight.

But the tape tells a different story. In every measurement, the challenger is larger than Marciano. He is a quarter-inch taller, three pounds heavier, has a six inch longer reach and a three inches bigger in the chest, one inch on the biceps and waist, a quarter-inch in the neck, one-half inch in the wrist and fist and one-half inch in the forearm.

Not much bigger, it is true, anywhere except in reach. Pointing out once again the great similarity between the two men.

Both are of Italian descent. Each is a quiet man in private. Both played sandlot football. And each one of them is an Army veteran. Marciano having served in Wales and LaStarza having been with the Blue Devil Division in Italy.

The principal difference between them is that Marciano has developed into a man who loves to fight. It required quite a metamorphosis. For as a youngster, Marciano, like LaStarza, fought only when he had to fight. But once embarked on a fighting career, the almost gentle Marciano discovered, once inside the ropes, "it's fun to bust loose."

To Rocky, even training is a happy game. As he explains it, the conditioning which is such a chore to most fighters makes me feel good; alive all over."

With LaStarza it is different. He trains honestly but approaches the business at hand with an almost casual air. That, and his usually difficult way of battling, has earned him the title of "Reluctant Roland." To him it is a business, a way of making money. Marciano, of course, fights for money, too, but he glories in the method.

That, in the long run, is the real difference—and the Rock should only need about 10 of the 15 rounds to prove it.

Three "Aggie" eleveners are on Texas Tech's schedule—Oklahoma A&M there Oct. 8, Texas A&M here Oct. 10, and New Mexico A&M here Oct. 24.

Two centers—Don Funk of Chickasha, Okla., and Dwayne West of Fort Worth (Carter Riverside), had the best grades among Texas Tech's returning lettermen.

Pioneers Go Ahead In Series With Albuquerque Dukes, 8-2

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 24—UP—The Clovis Pioneers and Albuquerque Dukes lock horns in what would be the final lap of the West Texas—New Mexico League final playoffs Thursday night.

The Indians gained a three game to two advantage over the Dukes Wednesday night with a convincing 8 to 2 victory.

Clovis got off to a six-run lead in the first two innings, and was never in trouble. It added two runs for insurance, one in the fourth and another in the seventh.

Albuquerque's usual dynamite-filled bats were silenced to six hits.

Score by innings:
Albuquerque .. 000 010 010—5 6 5
Clovis .. 420 100 100—8 6 4
Hauhofer, Socha, Santos, Brown and Jordan, Henderson, Dial and Benites.

Both of Texas Tech's new assistant coaches, Bob (Jitterbug) Kellogg and Horace (Bud) Sherrod, were introduced early to Texas football fans. Kellogg, a tailback, galloped 76 yards on a punt return against the Texas Aggies in the 1940 Sugar Bowl, and Sherrod, an end, was the outstanding lineman in the Tennessee-Texas game in the 1950 Cotton Bowl.

OU-ND May Give Clue To 1-Platoon

By CARTEH BRADLEY
NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 24—UP—The Oklahoma-Notre Dame game Saturday should furnish a few clues, if not the complete answer, to one of the most engaging questions of the new one-platoon football season, to wit:

Does a defensive player from last year move more smoothly into half-forwarding chores than last year's offensive man takes on defensive duties? Or vice versa?

Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson admitted Thursday his strategy, in preparation for the Notre Dame conflict and the ensuing Big Seven conference season, has been to convert defensive players into ball-handlers. Wilkinson was forced into the process when he lost his star-spangled 1952 backfield through graduations.

Linemen Into Backs

Wilkinson has yanked several regular linemen into backfield positions in an effort to restore his scoring power.

Chief switch in the Oklahoma lineup, in this pattern, is that of Max Boydston, a 195-pounder who caught 13 passes for 342 yards while playing end last year.

Boydston probably will be playing at fullback Saturday, replacing Buck McPhail. But Boydston will not be entirely new at the fullback spot. He was McPhail's defensive stand-in in 1951.

Boydston A Speedy Back

Reports from behind the canvas curtain surrounding Oklahoma's practice field say Boydston is even faster than departed Sooner half-back Billy Vessels—the 1953 United Press "Player of the Year." Vessels had a big hand in keeping the Big Seven title here for the fifth straight year.

Larry Grigg, who played defensive safety in 1952, has been tagged by Wilkinson for an all-around half-back assignment this year. The same goes for Jack Gling, who was a defensive halfback last year.

Wilkinson has groomed speedy Buddy Leake, 187-pound junior, for quarterback duties in the absence of Eddie Crowder, who filled the bill so well last year. Leake was an offensive half-back until knocked out by an injury in the fourth game of the 1952 season.

Backfield Lacks Depth

Wilkinson, as good with the gloom spreader as his coaching rival Frank Leahy, said his backfield lacks depth.

"We will probably have a lot of fumbles," Wilkinson said.

Leahy's offense-laden 1952 team, which defeated Oklahoma, 27 to 21, in the first of the two-year series at South Bend, was returned almost intact this season. The Irish are seven-point favorites Saturday, when 97,855 persons will crowd into Owen Stadium for the return engagement.

Bud Sees Sooner Loss

Wilkinson said the Sooners are destined to lose, thus ending a series of home victories that started six years ago, and now extends to 25 games.

Oklahoma, he said, "has less chance against Notre Dame Saturday than in any game I've ever been around."

"The only way we could win would be for Notre Dame to beat themselves—if we could intercept three passes for touchdowns or something like that."

Celanese Tops In Industrial Loop

Celanese turned in the top team series in the Industrial Bowling League last night at the Pampa Bowl with a total of 2,428 pins.

Members of the Celanese team and their series scores last night were: Fulse, 423; Ataway, 438; Howe, 521; Callahan, 521; and Johnson, 469. Celanese thus swept a three-game series from Tom Rose Ford.

Northern Natural Gas won two out of three from Northern Natural Pipeline: Culbertson Chevrolet won two out of three from Shell Oil; and Cabot Shops swept three games from Cabot Ordnance in other games.

Three Southwest Conference teams are on Texas Tech's 1953-54 basketball schedule. Polk Robinson's Red Raiders play Baylor in Waco Dec. 15, Texas A&M at College Station Dec. 16, and University of Texas at Austin Feb. 8.

College Recruiting Reaches New Peak—Big 10 Coach Says

By ED SAINSBURY
CHICAGO, Sept. 24—UP—Recruiting of high school football stars by colleges has reached a new peak since abolition of the grid platoon system, a Big Ten football coach charged Thursday.

"The coach who wouldn't permit use of his name, said, contrary to expectations, the return to one platoon football would cut bidding by the colleges for players, the reverse was true."

"There are a lot more schools after the good players now," he said, "and with that competition for the boy, the idea of getting more has increased."

More Schools Make Offers

"I think it's because you don't need so many players now, so the smaller schools can put everything into getting fewer boys, of better ability."

"I've never seen so much competition for some players," he added. "More schools actually are making offers to boys, and they come from all over the country, both large and small schools, to get an outstanding boy."

The two platoon system was abolished by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's football rules committee last January. It was explained the abolition came because under the two platoon system there was more competition for players.

"What Is Evil?"

Each team needed more manpower and both the cost of recruiting and cost of maintenance of teams was high. The committee said such costs had forced numerous schools to quit football.

"I talked to men from one of those schools," the coach said, "and they told me that the cost of operation under the two platoon system had nothing to do with their quitting. They would have quit football anyhow."

"What is evil about football that it must be legislated against?" he asked.

"Why Football Restrictions?"

"You can have practice in track, or cross country, of swimming, or wrestling from the first day of school to the last and nobody objects. You have indoor winter seasons and outdoor spring seasons, and nobody complains that the sport is over-emphasized."

"Why is football the sport that they restrict in practice. You can have only 20 days in spring and you can't begin in the fall until a set date. You can't play later than a certain date and you can't begin before a set date."

"Players can't compete in football on any other teams, even in the off season, but in track, an athlete can run in any amateur meet, just as in swimming, or wrestling."

"What's bad about football?"

Automotive Hint
When making repairs, cylinder head gaskets can easily be broken without resorting to force, simply by utilizing the engine's compression. Leave spark plugs in place, removing all cylinder head bolts, and give the engine a few turns with the crank. The seal will be broken by the compression.

The cotton harvest was active throughout most of the blackland counties and was becoming general in the cross timbers and Trans-Pecos and was starting in scattered localities in the northwest.

Drouth Conditions Spread North And East In Texas

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 — Drouth conditions spread eastward and northward over Texas last week as scant moisture reserves rapidly disappeared, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

Only in East Texas and along the upper coast were moisture reserves "adequate to maintain growing crops and pastures."

In its weekly crop and weather bulletin, the USDA said that in the northwest, wheat-sown feed crops, early-seeded wheat and pastures "again urgently needed rain."

The peanut harvest extended into some northern commercial areas, and the rice harvest was again active with most areas reporting more than half the crop combined. Alfalfa was being cut in the Trans-Pecos and some haying was under way in Central and East Texas. "Mostly satisfactory yields" were reported as the castor bean harvest hit full swing.

Planting of winter vegetables was active, and commercial vegetable tables for fall-crop harvest made satisfactory progress, the USDA reported.

Some onion acreage was in the Coastal Bend and preparation of land for other vegetable crops made good headway.

Seeding of all types of winter vegetables was active in the lower valley and tender vegetables for fall and early winter harvest were in "good condition."

The Laredo tomato crop required some irrigation but plants continued to make "good growth." The fall-crop planting of beans, eggplant, peppers and tomatoes in the Winter Garden and Eagle Pass sections are in "good condition" and early plantings of broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower and lettuce are making "good progress."

Lettuce Movement Starts
A limited movement of lettuce in the Panhandle was started. A light harvest of citrus, largely early varieties of oranges, was expected to start in the lower valley the latter part of this month.

Fall and winter range feed prospects faded over the northwest as moisture reserves dwindled.

In South Texas, where late August rains temporarily revived prospects, lack of surface moisture was checking grass development.

In East Texas and along the upper coast, livestock continued to make satisfactory gains on the generally adequate range and pasture grass. Supplemental feeding was increasing in the west and northwest.

THE RECORD SHOP

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Ames Brothers sing in such close harmony you might even think they were real brothers. You'd be right. But they are as different as only four real brothers can be.

Joe, 32, wants to sing classics. Gene, 30, wants to dance. Vic, 28, wants to be a comedian. Ed, 26, wants to sing ballads. And so, in their night-club routine, guess what the quartet does? Joe sings classics. Gene dances. Vic is funny. Ed sings ballads.

They feel that establishing their individual characters will prolong their show business career. You can always get four guys who sing well together, but how many four-somes can you name in which each man is a distinct personality? Only the Marx Brothers, and they can't sing.

Despite their desire to be individuals, they still work pretty well together. Currently, their record, "You, You, You" for RCA is one of the top sellers. They claim they select their songs, as well as make other decisions, by majority rule.

"Most of the time," said Ed, "a song will hit all of us, and we'll know right away that we like it." "It may not be good," said Vic, "but it's unanimous."

The Ames boys, all tall, dark and handsome, come from around Boston. There is another Ames brother—Ed says he used to be a musician "but he went legit" and works in the Navy Yard—and four Ames sisters. There are also four Ames wives and six Ames children.

The Popular Side: Tony Martin is scoring the second-hand shops looking for copies of his real old records. ... Every disc the Sauter-Finegan band puts out sounds a little different, but Ed Sauter says: "We haven't even scratched the surface with this band yet."

One of the most novel releases in months is Wally Stott's "Serenade for a Tinsmith" on MGM; it's really a small, but complete, concerto for ocarina and orchestra.

On The Classics: Entre (the lower-priced Columbia label) is out with the first major symphonic works to be newly recorded especially for it. The Rochester Symphony, led by Erich Leinsdorf, plays Beethoven's Eroica on one disc, with Schubert's Unfinished coupled with Mozart's Symphony No. 40 on another. Good quality all the way through.
