Voters To Select Legislator Saturday

Howard County — and the six other West Texas counties which comprise the 78th Legislative District — will elect a member to the state legislature Saturday.

The election is a special one — called by the governor to fill a vacancy in the lower house caused by the death of Ed J. Carpenter, who was serving his second term.

THREE IN RACE
Polls open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. Three candidates, all Big Spring men, are in the field. Their chief worry as the eve of the election rolls around is the high probability of an extremely small turnout of voters.

The candidates are Frank Hardesty, who operates a drug store here and who has been county Democratic chairman for many years, Roger Brown, young attorney, who acted successfully as campaign manager in this county for Gov. John Connally in the last election, and Harold Hall, a Republican who operates an auto parts store and who made his political debut last year as an unsuccessful candidate for county commissioner.

The three candidates have waged exceptionally intensive campaigns in the 30 days they have had at their command. All have ranged over the seven county district again and again. The campaign, outwardly, has been the most enterprising in a long time.

UNUSUAL
In view of the fact that the tenure sought is but the unexpired portion of Mr. Carpenter's second term, and that after the present term ends, Howard County will be separated from its sister counties in the 78th, and placed in a new district, the intensity of the drive for votes has been unusual.

There is a possibility, for instance, that the successful candidate may never get a chance to sit in a formal session of the house in the period left for him to serve. A special session, of course, would alter this picture.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, Howard County clerk, said that most of the precinct judges have picked up their election boxes and supplies and that all is ready for voting to start at 8 a. m. She said she will keep her office open Saturday night to tabulate election returns as they are reported by the 20 precincts.

The other counties in the 78th Legislative District are Martin, Glasscock, Reagan, Coke, Irion and Sterling. All are small population counties and, according to the candidates, are displaying little interest in the election. If this is the case, even though the vote anticipated in this county will probably be relatively light, the election could be decided by the way Howard Countians turn out.

3,000 ESTIMATE
Election observers, who have watched voting in the county for years, are speculating there will be 2,500 to 3,000 votes cast in this county. This, they point out, is indicated by the absentee votes cast. The total absentee votes is 271 — generally over the years, the absentee vote is about one-tenth of the total vote.

Last Tuesday the county voted on a $600,000 road bond proposal. There were about 140 absentee votes — the total vote was a little over 1,500.

All 20 of the county's voting precincts, with full crews of election workers, will be on the job Saturday. The candidates and civic leaders generally are urging that all qualified voters go to the polls and vote.

Terrorists' Blasts Kill Americans

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Two big terrorist explosions ripped through a crowded floating restaurant on the Saigon River almost simultaneously tonight and witnesses said they believed 40 or 50 persons, including many Americans, were killed.

The first police count showed 17 dead and 24 wounded. Officials expected this tally to go higher. Decks of the restaurant, the My Canh, and pavement on the riverside were slick with blood.

WORST TRAGEDY
This incident is possibly the worst in terms of lives lost in South Viet Nam's capital in many years.

The riverfront normally is thronged with strollers seeking cool breezes in evening. Mothers and their children were among the casualties.

The explosions cut into the floating restaurant about 8:15 p. m.—7:15 a. m. EST. One was caused by a powerful shaped charge—possibly an American-made Claymore electric mine—planted in the bank of the river. The Claymore explodes in the direction it is pointed.

HAS GANGPLANK
The restaurant, which is moored about 25 feet from the bank, has an entry over a gangplank leading from the waterfront street. It is patronized mostly by Americans and wealthy Vietnamese.

A second blast, which investigators believed was caused by a bomb mounted on a bicycle, went off at a tobacco stall on the bank next to the restaurant. Investigators assumed they were planted in advance and timed to explode at the peak of the dinner hour on a weekend night. The restaurant was crowded to capacity and its glass walls were crushed under the hail of fragments.

Last year a bomb was set off across the street from the waterfront and several Vietnamese were killed.

FLEE SCENE
Authorities reported no arrests after the bombing. The terrorists were believed to have escaped before the explosions.

Meanwhile, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky threw a brick into a political hornet's nest when he ordered all 36 of Saigon's Vietnamese-language newspapers to close on July 1.

For sheer political audacity, the new military premier's action Thursday was unequalled, even under President Ngo Dinh Diem's dictatorship.

Each newspaper is essentially the organ of a political faction or pressure group. Most publishers are also leading political figures.

CATHOLIC, BUDDHIST
The Roman Catholics, the Buddhists, the Cao Daiists and the Hoa Haos also have their own newspapers.

Since Diem's overthrow in 1963, the Saigon government has changed five times. Each time, the press has played a big role. The bulk of the newspapers opposed each government.

This was probably the major factor in Ky's decision to play rough. By closing all papers for one month, until they can be reorganized along lines satisfactory to the government, he avoids the risk of showing partiality to any faction.

36 LICENSED
While the government has licensed 36 Vietnamese-language newspapers, nearly double that number have sought licenses. None has a circulation of more than about 4,000 daily. Under law, they can have only four pages, to conserve expensive newsprint.

Each edition of each newspaper is closely censored by the National Psychological Warfare Ministry. Offensive stories, headlines and photographs are cut.

No effort is made to conceal censorship. Even front pages appear with columns or spots of white space. The government has mainly censored items it regarded as distortions or inaccuracies.

Some newspapers became little more than scandal sheets and means of extortion.

Others seemed to be making a conscientious effort to cover the political and military news of the country.

Ky was nearly mobbed by an angry group of newsmen when he announced his action.

Troop Jet Crash Dead Set At 84

Toll Includes U.S. Marines, AF Crewmen

EL TORO, Calif. (AP) — An Air Force jet transport loaded with Marines headed for Okinawa via Hawaii crashed today shortly after take off from the Marine air base here. A spokesman said all 84 aboard were killed.

The big C135 smashed into the low, rolling hills about 4 1/2 miles north of this Southern California base at about 2:45 a. m. The wreckage was spotted soon after dawn.

AF CREW
A base spokesman said the 72 Marines aboard were from Camp Pendleton, Calif., near San Diego south of here. The plane and presumably the crew of 12 Air Force men aboard were from McGuire Air Force Base, N. J.

There was no indication what went wrong aboard the plane. There were low clouds and light mist in the area at the time. The plane is a military version of the Boeing 707 jet.

A base spokesman said, "There is expectation that the Marines on board were on their way to Viet Nam but this plane was scheduled only for Honolulu."

STAGING AREA
In Washington, the Defense Department gave Okinawa as the destination. Okinawa is a staging area for movements to Viet Nam.

El Toro is 40 miles southeast of Los Angeles, just inland from the sea. The plane took off to the north. Planes doing so normally then bank left, away from the low-lying Santa Ana Mountains that border the field area. The wreckage was found in the hills almost due north of the strip.

The area is sparsely populated brushland. Because it is isolated, with few roads, search and rescue parties went to the scene in helicopters.

Camp Pendleton officers said it probably would be tonight before a kin of all the dead could be identified. Release of names of the victims is held up until then.

Officer Guilty In Viet Balk

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A U.S. Army general court-martial board today convicted Lt. Richard B. Steinke, 27, of Milwaukee, Wis., of refusing to join a Special Forces counterintelligence unit in South Viet Nam last January.

The argument of the lieutenant, who was graduated 55th in the 600-man West Point class of 1962, was that he disagreed with U.S. policy in Viet Nam and that the war there "is not worth one American life."

The board, headed by Col. John Beebe of Los Angeles, deliberated less than an hour.

The court will reconvene Saturday when defense counsel, Capt. Conrad Courtney, of Oak Park, Ill., will plead for leniency.

When the board retires to consider sentence, expected sometime Saturday, it could sentence the young officer to dismissal from the service, forfeiture of all pay and allowances and five years at hard labor as the maximum.

Subpanel Okays Housing Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's bill to create a new Cabinet Department of Housing and Urban Development has been approved by a Senate Government Operations subcommittee.

It now is referred to the full committee for action. The House already has passed similar legislation.

Cong Execute U.S. Sergeant In 'Act Of Wanton Murder'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong has executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett in reprisal for the execution of several Red terrorists by the South Vietnamese government, Hanoi Radio announced today. It warned that other Americans might suffer the same fate.

"This is obviously a wanton act of murder if this is confirmed," the U.S. Embassy said after hearing the report of Bennett's execution.

On the battlefronts, three more Americans were killed over the past 24 hours, a fourth was missing and six were wounded.

CAPTURED DEC. 29
Bennett, son of Pauline H. Bennett of Perryville, Ark., was captured Dec. 29 during the battle of Binh Gia, which cost an estimated 200 South Vietnamese lives.

Bennett was taken when the 33rd Ranger Battalion, to which he was attached as radio operator with the American advisory team, was attempting to retake Binh Gia from the Viet Cong.

Another American on Bennett's advisory team, Pvt. Charles E. Crafts of North Jay, Maine, was missing after the same action.

Hanoi did not say where the execution took place.

"OUR WARNING"
It quoted the Viet Cong as saying: "The punishment of Harold George Bennett, an American aggressor who had committed many crimes against the South Vietnamese people, serves to warn the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen who have committed acts of utmost barbarity in killing prisoners of war that the murderers must pay for their blood debts."

"The fascist acts of utmost barbarity taken by the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen must be duly punished. The crimes of the bloodthirsty devils are intolerable."

Hanoi said that "in defiance of severe warnings" by the Viet Cong, the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments "have arrogantly shot numerous liberation (Viet Cong) fighters and other patriots in South Viet Nam who fell into their hands."

IN REPRISAL
The broadcast said Bennett was executed in reprisal for the deaths of Viet Cong "patriots Nguyen Van Troi, Le Dau, Tran Van Dang and others."

Although Saigon authorities have put hundreds of terrorists to death in recent years, the three named by Hanoi and Le Van Khuyen are the only four whose executions have been carried out publicly or officially announced.

Tran Van Dang, 25, died before a firing squad in Saigon Tuesday for trying to blow up an American billet in a Saigon suburb in March.

Nguyen Van Troi, 19, was shot last October for trying to plant a bomb under a bridge over which U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was scheduled to pass.

Le Van Khuyen, 20, was shot in January for carrying explosives near the Buddhist national headquarters.

Le Dau, 24, was executed in April for carrying a radio filled with plastic explosive into a hotel in Da Nang patronized mostly by U.S. military personnel.

U.S.: 'Justice To Be Dealt'
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. authorities today announced as a cold-blooded murder the reported Viet Cong execution of a captured American serviceman.

According to U.S. government sources, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are holding about a score of Americans prisoner at this time. This includes 14 American servicemen, a U.S. aid official and 5 non-government civilians.

Screwworm Battle Pushed
MISSION, Tex. (AP) — The heaviest screwworm infestation in a year and a half has caused a 50 per cent step-up in sterile fly production at the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Center here.

Officials said sterile fly production is being increased from 100 million to 150 million a week.

The center has recorded 180 cases in Texas this year, 113 of them this month. There had been only 81 detected cases at this time last year.

The screwworm once caused an estimated $125 million in livestock losses every year. Sexually sterile flies produced at the center are released to breed with normal flies. No offspring result.

Promote Viet Peace, Johnson Advises U.N.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Johnson marked the 20th birthday of the United Nations today, calling on the U.N. to help promote peace in Viet Nam and establish an "alliance for man" to fight poverty, the arms race and the population explosion around the globe.

Addressing a special U.N. Convocation in the city where the organizations charter was signed in June 1945, Johnson said "clear and present dangers in southeast Asia cast their shadow across the path of all mankind." He added:

"I call upon this gathering of the nations of the world to use their influence, individually and collectively to bring to the tables those who seem determined to make war. We will support your efforts as we will support effective action by any agent or agency of these United Nations." Aides said this did not represent a formal presentation of the Viet Nam issue to the U.N. but rather was a suggestion that any effective peace-seeking initiative by the world organization would have American support.

Johnson flew to San Francisco via Kansas City where he had a relaxed, good-humored breakfast meeting with Harry S. Truman, who was present when the U.N. was created. Truman addressed the founding session of the U.N. here.

In addressing the U.N., Johnson said the processes of peaceful settlement in Viet Nam "are blocked by willful aggressors contemptuous of the opinion and the will of mankind." He asserted:

"We must restrain by joint and effective action any who place their ambitions or their dogma or their prestige above the peace of the world. We must find a way to do that. It is the most profound and urgent imperative of our time."

Movies Draw Dollars To U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — While Washington frets about American tourists spending Yankee dollars abroad, one industry confidently predicts it will be pulling back more of these dollars this year than ever.

The motion picture industry says it gets 55 per cent of its gross income from showing its flickers abroad. And it claims this is a higher percentage than can be boasted by any other large American industry.

This year it expects to bring back $10 million more than last year's $260 million.

Movie makers also insist that they inspire demand throughout the world for American products and thus help boost U.S. exports of goods. This is the nation's biggest source of dollars when it tries to balance its international monetary payments.

And Washington is beating the bushes to get American businessmen to try to sell more abroad.

TAKE CREDIT The American products that movies popularize run all the way from blue jeans in Algiers to electric guitars in Stockholm, from goats in Bern, Switzerland, to home furnishings in Caracas, Venezuela.

Movie makers also take credit for stimulating interest of foreigners in visiting the United States. They can't prove it, but they feel sure that pictures of American scenes and particularly of American ways of life make Europeans curious to see for themselves.

With an eye on gleaming still more dollars abroad, the Motion Picture Export Association of America is urging the government to get its foreign service to put more emphasis on stimulating such trade. It says its return flow of dollars would be increased if Washington could get some nations with blocked funds to ease their restrictions, and others to lower discriminatory trade barriers.

BUYING BARRIER Such barriers also work against the buying of American goods that foreigners see and admire in movies. A survey of U.S. consular posts shows that this is the case in such places as Pakistan, Egypt, Brazil, Israel and the countries behind the Iron Curtain.

But in many lands American movies have inspired consumer demands that local manufacturers have been inspired to satisfy. Consulates note this affect in Baghdad and Buenos Aires, in Madrid and Cairo.

Sweden reports its younger set goes heavily for pop records, sportswear, cosmetics and auto decorations such as are featured in the American flickers. The older set is influenced by appliances and home interiors.

Comsat Gets FCC Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has given the Communications Satellite Corp. the go-ahead to start commercial operation of the Early Bird communications satellite next week.

The FCC ordered an investigation of rates proposed by Comsat—$5,245 an hour during peak usage hours—but said the rates would stand for now. Revenues are to be put into a special account until the rate problem is solved.

The three American television networks have complained the proposed rates are too high.

Trench Digger Wins Acquittal

LITTLE FALLS, Minn. (AP) — A Municipal Court jury here has acquitted Raymond Wilczek who dug a trench across a township road to siphon off water flooding his farm fields.

He said he had complained for 15 years that two culverts under the road were too small, but had gotten no relief from public officials.

Base Veterinarian Inspects Not Horses But Food Now

By ROY WILLIAMS The veterinarian at Webb Air Force Base hardly ever — actually never — gets a call to deliver a colt.

This is because the concern and concentration of today's base (or post) veterinarian has shifted considerably in the past 100 years. This nation's military man has climbed down off the horse.

FOOD CHECKS So, today's military vet is charged primarily with the food inspection phase of military public health — rather than the yesteryear horse phase of military public transportation.

Webb's veterinarian, since Oct. 30, 1963 — Capt. Ronald E. Loose — has graphic proof that the shift has been complete. His office records show that he and his staff inspect 1,400,000 pounds of food — valued at $125,000 — a month. In the past two years, 33,600,000 pounds of food — worth $3,000,000 — have been inspected. The number of colts delivered comes to none.

Whoa, though. The Air Force may manage without the horse but today's vet is up on them still. It still takes six solid university years to become a doctor of veterinary medicine.

Capt. Loose, a graduate of Colorado State University, has the degrees — bachelor of biological science and doctor of veterinary medicine (D.V.M.) — which qualify him in (large animal) surgery, dentistry and medicine.

BETTER HORSES "But don't count out the horse," he says. "Counting pleasure, race and the cowboy's working horses, there are more horses now than there were 100 years ago. What's more, thanks to breeders and veterinarians, they are much better horses."

It isn't all sanitary inspections of foods for Capt. Loose and his staff in its concern for the military public health. Preventive medicine is practiced in their Zoonosis Clinic for diseases which might be communicable to base personnel, such as rabies and leptospirosis. Immunizations are available too for diseases which might constitute a menace, such as canine distemper, hepatitis and feline distemper.

Pets suffering from worms, ring worm and mange are diagnosed and treated. However, treatment is limited to that. By regulations, the clinic is limited to only diseases which are menacing or contagious. Regulations limit also the hours of the clinic to four per week. Webb's Zoonosis Clinic is held on Tuesday and Friday, from 8 to 10 a.m.

FOOD QUALITY A perhaps little-known service provided by the base veterianian, in conjunction with food inspections, is food quality control. In other words, if the commissary has a load of No. 1 potatoes coming in and they turn out to be No. 2 grade, either they are returned, or there must be an invoice adjustment. Food inspection includes the handling, storage and preparation on base. Area suppliers and processors are subject to rigorous checks by the veterinarian at points of origin. That means he, or his people, go to the dairy supplying Webb with milk, for instance, and inspect milk quality and the sanitary conditions and procedures, as well. The vet, by the way, is concerned with all food products and produce, not just foods of animal origins.

Assisting Capt. Loose are T. Sgt. Donald G. Williams, non-commissioned officer in charge; S. Sgt. Frances J. Sharon Jr.; and Airman 3.C. Lawrence W. Simms.

It takes a lot of "outside" help to get this year's big telephone job done...

This year Southwestern Bell is investing nearly $1 million a day in an intensified construction effort to make your telephone service (already the most modern and reliable in the world) even better.

These construction dollars, pouring into communities large and small, account for some 17,500 jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

These jobs mean more paydays for secretaries, accountants, architects, brickmasons, carpenters, engineers, truck drivers, bulldozer operators, ditch diggers—thousands of people who aren't telephone company employees.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because hundreds of individual projects affect virtually every telephone exchange we serve, the economic impact in these communities will be significant and widespread.

That's how Southwestern Bell's construction program works to help build a more prosperous America. You, personally, will benefit through even better telephone service. "Your Town, USA" benefits from a surge of new dollars into the local economy.

A Devotional For The Day

In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him. (I John 4:9)

PRAYER: Thou art loving indeed, Lord. Grant me Thy love, its warmth and self-renewing power and force to love others and to live the best for Thee, as I do my work every day. In the name of the Master, who taught His disciples to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From the 'Upper Room')

Voters Have Call To Duty

Voters have another call to duty Saturday.

We hope that the response will be far better than the inadequate showing made Tuesday on the roadway bond issue. Only about one in every six voters bothered them to go to the polls.

Perhaps the fact that there are three men offering for a place in the Texas Legislature will stimulate more interest. Absentee vote totals would indicate so. But, then we have a Saturday—a semi-holiday for many people—to contend with, and a lot of people may neglect a civic obligation in their haste to take off on a jaunt or go to the lake.

Choosing a legislator is an important matter. We have just had a lesson, when we were without representation following the death of Ed J. Carpenter, of what can happen when we do not have someone there to look out for our interests. Howard County was switched, contrary to all promises and previous plans, from one congressional district to another. Furthermore, it makes no difference whether there is a session going—there are scores of things which a representative can and should look after for his constituents. Who knows—there may be special sessions.

The first decision is to go to the polls and do your duty.

The second decision is to pick the man that you feel will be able to discharge the duties of the office most capably and most effectively for the district.

Public Is The Gainer

It may seem a little late for commencement, but for vocational programs anytime is a good time for graduation.

Two such groups are completing their course of study here today. One is the third session of the Southwestern Law Academy, a specialized and intensive period of training designed primarily for beginning officers. The other is the second class in automotive mechanics which is offered under the Manpower Development Training Act to give individuals new skills which have demand in the market place.

There is no doubt about it, both will contribute to better quality service in their fields. Police departments sending men to the academy will be repaid many fold in the potentiality of the officers. In this, the public will be the beneficiary.

The men who have found little demand for unskilled situations now have good prospects of jobs as trained auto mechanics. They have spent a year in tackling about every automotive mechanical problem confronting a shop man, and now they are equipped to become productive citizens. Again, the public is the beneficiary.

David Lawrence Our True Economic Situation

WASHINGTON—This may become known in history as "the brainwashing era." A seemingly endless stream of optimistic statements is pouring out from administration sources about how wonderful business conditions are and what a great prosperity lies ahead.

President Johnson himself exudes the optimism transmitted to him by his speech writers, who, in turn, accept as gospel the rosy estimates of the economic theorists.

THE PRESIDENT made some very pointed statements when he signed the law granting reductions in excise taxes. He said that there would immediately be a removal of $1.75 billion "of onerous taxes from the American economy," and that next January the tax burden will be eased by another $1.75 billion. All this, he predicted, will pay "big dividends in lower prices, more jobs, more sales, and more production, not just in 1965 and 1966, but for years to come."

But Mr. Johnson did not mention that lower prices do not usually accompany waves of prosperity. They are noted only in times of deflation and recession.

ing method. This usually results in a pressure to raise wages to make up for the reduction in the amounts received in the pay envelopes each week.

"When we cut taxes last year," said the President, "there were some who doubted that lower taxes could renew an expansion already old by all past standards. They were wrong."

But there is no substantial proof that a tax reduction alone was responsible for the increased sales or the expansion of business. A temporary stimulus to business comes when government spending is increased. It is the constant rise in federal appropriations which is producing the artificial boom of today.

THE PRESIDENT added that many people feared that "we were squandering the federal revenues needed to reduce our deficit," but "they, too, were wrong." He insists that the "budget has fared even better than we had hoped."

But does a budget which is constantly in the red produce a healthy situation and strengthen confidence in the future? Doesn't it inevitably create inflation? The President's optimism on the budget is related to how much smaller the deficits are than he had expected. He said that in January 1964 the anticipated deficit for the following fiscal year was $10 billion and turned out to be $8.2 billion. Is this a cause for optimism? Is a deficit of $8.2 billion anything that can be contemplated with enthusiasm?

Billy Graham

My neighbor tells everyone that he is a leading member of his church. However, he constantly irritates and mistreats his neighbors. Is that Christianity? M. R. Unfortunately, since the days when our Lord was born on earth, Christianity has been plagued by those who professed to be His followers and yet showed no evidence of sincerity. Like Judas Iscariot, there are those who profess but do not possess. There are those who talk loudly about their Christianity, but do not back it up by walking with Christ. The Bible says, "As ye have received Christ, so walk ye in Him." We need to allow our walk to catch up with our talk. A man's Christianity is not to be determined by how loud he can shout nor how much he can talk, but by the life he lives before his fellow man. Genuine Christianity was best expressed by the Apostle Paul who said, "For to me to live is Christ." The Bible teaches unmistakably that if a man does not live it, he does not have it.

Alibi Fails

LONDON (AP)—Reginald Griffiths, 48, a truck driver, told a judge he was unsteady on his feet in a police station because of fallen arches and corns.

The judge, however, accepted the police doctor's testimony that Griffiths was drunk when arrested recently.

The judge fined him 50 pounds ($140) and costs of 40 pounds ($112) after finding him guilty of driving while unfit because of drink. Griffiths was also barred from driving for 18 months.

James Marlow Tide Runs Against AMA—Finally

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Medical Association ran up against City Hall and then occurred one of the strange coincidences of history.

For 15 years the AMA and its presidents successfully fought passage of a federal medicare program which would provide health care for the aged through a Social Security tax.

tion to a government medicare program in countries around the world with government health care, doctors have protested against such systems, or certain conditions within the systems.

BUT MOST of the fighting was lost motion, which is what the AMA may be thinking now.

Bills to add hospitalization benefits to Social Security were introduced in Congress as early as 1942, only six years after the retirement system itself began.

And it decided to look over the situation again when, and if, the medicare plan becomes law.

As a medical organization, the AMA is not unique in its opposition to a government medicare program in countries around the world with government health care, doctors have protested against such systems, or certain conditions within the systems.

Hal Boyle The Indispensable Capt. Loc

KHE SANH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Capt. Nguyen Xuan Loc is a man who doesn't like his job but is so good at it they can't let him go on to something bigger.

He has won a kind of "Lawrence of Arabia" reputation in the mountainous northwest corner of this country and military victory if it comes depends on men like Capt. Loc.

the Montagnards as illiterate savages.

BUT THERE are several hundred thousands of these tribespeople and how they go can have an important effect on this war.

To counter the initial distrust he knew he would meet, Loc appointed a Montagnard as his deputy and put others in important civic and military positions.

LOC'S ASSIGNMENT was a rough one. It was to win over and protect Montagnard tribespeople scattered in a thinly populated area of about 1,800 square miles. It is bordered on the west by Laos and on the north by the demilitarized zone along the 17th Parallel.

The captain is a native Vietnamese born in Hanoi. Giving him the district chief's job was like appointing someone named McCoy as a good-will envoy to the Hatfield family during that famous feud, for the poverty-ridden Montagnards traditionally dislike the Vietnamese and the Vietnamese look down on

Where does this leave the Republicans? They have to hold a contest of their own and since most Republicans have already been to Hawaii, it would have to have a different format.

ONE SUGGESTION might be to hold a contest on television, based on "Queen for a Day." The host would be Ray Bliss, the Republican Chairman, and it would go something like this.

"Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen, welcome to 'Republican for a Day,' brought to you by the makers of Democratic Landslides, Inc. As you know, each contestant will tell you why he wants to be 'Republican for a Day' and the studio audience will decide who needs it the most.

To Your Good Health Antihistamine Preparations Combat Hives

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. see your own physician. If his observation agrees with my guesswork, the use of an antihistamine preparation starting 10 days or so before your period might afford substantial relief.

Dear Dr. Molner: About a week before each menstrual period, bumps break out on my face, arms, chest and back. They itch terribly. I've tried different skin medications but they don't seem to help.

Can you suggest the cause and what can be done? I am not a teenager.—MRS. L. W.

This has the sign of being a form of urticaria or hives. Hives is usually a result of an excessive release of histamine from the cells of the body—the basis of allergic reactions of many kinds.

While the precise chemistry of histamine behavior is extremely complicated, we can very often combat hives with judicious use of the antihistamine preparations. Counteract the excess of histamine, and you limit or prevent the bumps, rashes, itches and other manifestations.

The cause of this release of histamine? It can be a consequence of the change in body chemistry which takes place in the course of your menstrual cycle.

Let me not be too positive about your case. After all, I am guessing still, untested, but I do think you would do well to

Dear Dr. Molner: There is so much talk about lung cancer. I wonder if you would give the symptoms? Some friends were discussing it and none of us really seems to know.—A. C.

For practical purposes there are only two signs which will give clues to early cases. One is a periodic chest X-ray, once or twice a year for people past 40 (especially for smokers). The other is a chronic cough.

Naturally there are plenty of other causes of a cough, some dangerous, some trivial. But any cough deserves investigation and correction, even if the cause isn't as deadly as lung cancer.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the chances of cancer appearing elsewhere in the body after the removal of a breast? I am 60 years old and have been in reasonably good health.—MRS. J. W.

As specific an answer as you would like can't be given. If the lesion (the cancer) was detected early, before there was any spread to the lymph glands, complete and permanent cure is possible. There are thousands of such successful cases.

However, it is important to have follow-up examinations for at least five years, with an annual chest X-ray and other studies to make sure that the cancer is not getting a hold elsewhere.

If the disease was detected early, your prospects are excellent, but it pays never to take a chance. Continue regular examinations.

Attention all women! For the pamphlet, "The Pre-Menstrual Blues," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover printing and handling. This pamphlet may help you!

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

'Obsolete' Ground Wars Still Around

A writer for "The Arizona Republic" recently began a story with the quotation of an ancient Filipino battle philosophy, "To kill a tiger, one must learn to think like a tiger."

HIS STORY concerned the Arizona National Guard's 158th Infantry Division and 600 men of the division who are being given jungle warfare training in conditions as similar to those of Viet Nam as is available outside of Southeast Asia. The training spot is the little-known Southeast Asian Warfare Training and Operations Center, situated in the jungles of the Koolau Mountain Range, about 25 miles from Waikiki Beach in Hawaii.

THE JUNGLE training center, so the writer reported, is "a carbon copy of Viet Nam. It has 100 per cent humidity that rots boot stitching in six weeks, steamy jungle air to make a man feel he is missing every other breath, boot-clogging red mud and the eerie calls of jungle Cardinal birds, Laceneck doves and wart toads."

During the summer training, the Guardsmen are being taught such topics as how to cook a stew of boiled mongoose and vegetables and how to avoid Viet Cong booby traps. One of these is an ankle pit, described as a wood frame containing rusty steel nails able to penetrate a boot.

IT WAS ONLY a few scant years ago when we heard statements that ground warfare was obsolete and no more wars would be fought by the foot soldiers in a day of push-button warfare. Yet today it is the war of the foot soldier, particularly trained in guerrilla fighting techniques, which is taking place in Southeast Asia, even though recent weeks have brought the entry as well of the Strategic Air Command's B-52's.

THE DEVELOPMENT of counter-insurgency tactics and the emphasis on guerrilla warfare has increased in tempo in the past several years, from an almost unknown element of the nation's military might to a place in the front ranks of the defense system. It seems that a cycle has been completed, from the days when ground warfare was primary, to the spotlight on heavy bombers and air fighting, again today to the ground fighting. And the training being given the National Guardsmen from Arizona brings additional reminder that the hot spot of Southeast Asia seems to become hotter week by week.

Holmes Alexander The Mark Of The Beast

WASHINGTON — "Are you Mrs. Doe whose son, John Doe Jr., is serving in Viet Nam? Did you know he'd been killed in action?"

"What? It couldn't be true! I haven't been notified."

"Well, it's true just the same. Good-bye."

This kind of phone call has recently come to several families with men serving in the Viet Nam War. Frantic messages have reached the casualty branch at the Pentagon asking, "Is my son (or husband) a casualty? Why haven't I been told?"

IN EVERY INSTANCE, I learned upon inquiry, the cruel and anonymous death notice has proved to be false. Army sources, when I checked them at the Pentagon, say that the incidents are not numerous enough, or sufficiently concentrated in localities, to form a pattern. The Army at this writing officially dubs them the work of "cranks."

That explanation would be easier to believe if it weren't for other evidence of similar ghouliness in the side ground and background. There is the case of Mrs. Christopher O'Sullivan of Queens, N. Y., whose husband, an Army captain, was killed in battle on Memorial Day. Soon afterwards the widow began getting unidentified phone calls and letters (plural) saying, "Your husband got what he deserved. He didn't belong in Viet Nam in the first place."

THE STORY filtered back to the GI's in Viet Nam that Mrs. O'Sullivan had been forced to obtain an unlisted phone number, and an AP dispatch of last Saturday stated: "A number of service men here (at Da Nang) reported their wives had done the same thing because of calls or threats to them."

As to background, we must turn to the last war we fought against Communists — the one in Korea. The Communist propaganda thrust then, as now, was at the American fondness for "peace." Then, as now, although by different methods, the Reds tried to tell anxious wives and parents in the United States that the war-mongers of Washington were sending men to needless and unwarranted death.

MAJOR WILLIAM Raymond Shadish, for 33 months a prisoner in North Korea, is one of many who later testified on the Red Methods. In 1954 he told a Congressional committee: "There was a concentrated effort by the Communists to procure letters from the prisoners with political content. . . . It was impossible to get a letter out of camp without political content. . . . In a letter to my wife (I wrote): 'Please use your influence to see that the war in Korea is settled peacefully and that all foreign troops are removed from Korea.' . . . I chose to write because I felt this was my last opportunity to talk to my wife."

FOREGROUND, side ground and background, in Viet Nam and in Korea, all show the same merciless diabolism. It would be naive for Americans not to see the identical signature — the Mark of the Beast — upon these fake death messages, upon these calls to Mrs. O'Sullivan and to other service wives and upon those pressures used to get our prisoners-of-war to send peace pleas. The purpose in every instance is to break the faith of the American people in their government, and to destroy their will to support any war against Communists.

Art Buchwald Republican For A Day

WASHINGTON—Democratic Chairman John Bailey announced this week the Democrats were holding a contest to attract money and members to the party. The Democrat who brings in the most members and the one who writes the best essay on "Why I Am a Democrat" gets a four-week trip to Hawaii with the companion of his choice (which could split up an awful lot of Democratic marriages).

Where does this leave the Republicans? They have to hold a contest of their own and since most Republicans have already been to Hawaii, it would have to have a different format.

touching. Now, our next contestant, Richard Nixon, from New York. What do you do, sir?"

"I'm a lawyer."

"Why do you want to be a Republican for a Day?"

"I feel that 90 per cent of the Montagnards are now loyal to me. Twice at the risk of their own lives the villagers have warned me of assassination attempts against me."

"I'm retired."

"WELL, SIR, why do you want to be 'Republican for a Day?'"

"I never had a chance to have much to do with politics and I'd like to see how it works."

"That certainly is a noble reason and I hope you win. Our second contestant is a man from Arizona. His name is Barry Goldwater, Sir, what do you do?"

"Nothing."

"You don't have a job?"

"I'M WRITING a book called 'My Seventh Crisis' and I thought if I could be a Republican for a Day I could at least sell it to 'LIFE' magazine."

"That's a very moving thought. Now our next contestant, Mr. John Lindsay. Mr. Lindsay, what do you do?"

"I'm a politician and I'm running for Mayor of New York."

"Well, let's give him a hand, folks. That certainly is different."

"Now tell me sir, why do you want to be Republican for a Day?"

"I DON'T WANT to be a Republican, even for a day."

"Then what are you doing on this show?"

"I PLAY AROUND with my ham radio set and occasionally I take walks in the desert."

"I wouldn't call that nothing! Now tell us, sir, why would you like to be a Republican for a Day?"

"Well, I've been accused of splitting the party, and if I was a Republican, even for a day, I think I could raise some money for the Free Society Association, which I just formed."

"That's very admirable and very

"I thought I might make another pitch on television to the Liberal party. David Dubinsky if you're watching, I'd like to say . . ."

Two ushers hurriedly escort Mr. Lindsay off the stage.

Just as Mr. Bliss is about to announce the winner, an announcer comes on and says, "We interrupt this program to bring you the President of the United States."

Mr. Bliss shouts, "He did it to us again!"

Less Crime

CHICAGO (AP) — Serious crimes have declined in all categories in Chicago except homicides and auto thefts in comparison with last year.

Police Superintendent O. W. Wilson announced the over-all decline of 10.4 per cent in serious crime with the cumulative decline for the year at 19.3 per cent.

Wilson said the principal reductions were in thefts of $50 and over. It is down 34.3 per cent. Robberies are down 13 per cent and forcible rape is down 11.4 per cent.

Serious assault is down 7.2 per cent and burglary is down 1.1 per cent.

An increase in auto theft was held to 5 per cent.

EXECS AND WIDOWS?

A Profile Presented Of U.S. Stockholder

NEW YORK (AP)—What are American stockholders like? Rich widows and corporation executives? City slickers and smalltown bankers?

We are told today that 20 million of the nation's 197.5 million people own one or more stocks. A profile can be drawn from the 1965 census of share-ownership by the New York Stock Exchange. From it emerges answers to such questions as:

Who owns stocks? What is his occupation? His education? His income? His age? How did he get his first shares? What percentage of the nation's women, of men, of minors own stocks? In what size city do shareholders live?

HOLDERS INCREASE
At 20 million, the stockholder population has gained 18 per cent over a like census in 1962 showing 17 million, and more than three times the 6.5 million tallied in 1952.

The census is based on a poll of a sampling of shareowners of 6,724 publicly owned corporations with 15 billion shares outstanding. At the market value early this year the total holdings of individuals would have brought $400 billion. The other $250 billion of these shares were held by financial institutions, trust funds, corporations and the like.

Cities in the 2,000 to 5,000 class have the largest percentage owning stocks. Of all those who live in these places 15.5 per cent own shares, up from 12.5 per cent in 1962. Second largest is the 13.9 per cent of those living in cities in the 100,000 to 500,000 class. They are closely followed by the 13.5 per cent of dwellers in 15,000 to 100,000 cities. Of all Americans living in cities larger than 500,000 some 12 per cent own stock. In rural areas and towns under 2,500 just 3.4 per cent are stockholders.

MANY "PROS"
The occupation of shareowners also has some percentages that may surprise you. There are 3-

136,000 in professional and technical work, or 37.4 per cent of all those in the country so employed. This tops the class usually thought of as stockholders—the managers and officials. There are 2,530,000 of them, or 31.1 per cent of all in this classification. Other owner types by percentage of the total in that occupation are: clerical and sales 21.8 per cent, craftsmen and foremen 10.4 per cent, service workers 5.3 per cent, operatives and laborers 4.3 per cent, and farmers and farm laborers 1.7 per cent.

Almost 60 per cent of Americans with four years or more of college education own shares—6,028,000. Of those with one to three years of college 35.4 per cent are stockholders. With four years of high school 15.2 per cent are shareowners; with three years of high school or less 5.6 per cent.

Income groups stack up this way: 60.2 per cent of those making $25,000 or more a year own stocks; 30.2 per cent of the $15,000-$25,000 group; and so on down the scale to 3 per cent with annual incomes under $3,000.

UNDER $10,000
But the census stresses that 11 million shareowners, or 55 per cent of the total, have incomes under $10,000 a year, even if most people in this classification aren't stockholders.

The census also shows that one out of every five women shareowners got her first stock as a gift or inheritance, while one out of every 13 men did.

It also shows that 16 per cent of the adult female population of the nation owns one or more shares, and 17 per cent of the adult male population.

MINORS INCLUDED
There are 705,000 males under 21 who own shares—1.8 per cent of the total—and 575,000 young females—1.5 per cent. These youngsters make up 6.5 per cent of the 28 million shareowners. The 3,347,000 owners who are 65 or over make up 16.9 per cent of the total.

The number of minors nearly tripled since 1962; the increase among senior citizens was the second largest, 28 per cent.

The biggest group continues to be the 35 to 54 range with 8.9 million owners, or 45 per cent of the total.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Thankful For Donors, Candidate Answers

To The Editor:

I would like to say how proud and grateful I am to all the wonderful people who donated blood at the mobil unit Wednesday at the State Hospital. Only last year, we had an emergency in our family and had to ask for donors. With the help of our good neighbors at Webb and wonderful friends, we had our supply within two hours. We should all be thankful for the wonderful people who make our city a place to be proud of and to call home.

MRS. J. C. EUDY

To The Editor:

I have been asked the question—Do I want to be your representative or do I want to be elected for this special "Lame Duck Term," in which I may never have a chance to vote, on legislation or is it just for prestige?

Yes, Barbara, and the people of the 78th district, I do want to be your representative.

I have not worked as hard as I have in the hot June sun just to play some sort of game. This is serious business. If elected I would use the kind of energy toward fulfilling the duties of my office as I have shown and demonstrated in my campaign. To be your legislator requires more than just going to Austin. It requires preparation and planning on bills which I might want to introduce and of course there are 149 other members who have bills which they would probably write or talk to me about. So you see, regardless of whether or not I may never vote in the legislature during the remaining balance of the term, I should be ready if a special election is called. I most certainly should know how to express myself by knowing the procedural rules and that would require a certain amount of time. In my opinion, knowing the parliamentary rules of the House of Representatives should be my first task if elected for the reason that if a special session is called, I would be ready to express myself in the House of Representatives.

In answer to your second question, "why we have to have a representative to fill the unexpired term," this is easy to answer. Article 3, Section 13 of the Texas Constitution requires it.

Further in answering your letter, I would like to say I am not using this election, if I am elected, as any stepping stone to any political appointment in the future, and my plans at this time, if elected, are to run next year for a regular term.

I am most happy there are people interested enough to seek the information I have tried to convey.

LBJ, Truman At Breakfast

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—President Johnson met here today with Harry S. Truman who was President when the United Nations was born.

Johnson told reporters he and Truman "talked about our problems in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic." He said they also reminisced about some of Truman's historic acts as chief executive.

Truman, beaming, said that "in my historic memory" no president ever made a greater impact than Johnson during his first months in the White House.

Johnson and Truman, both early risers, arranged a 7 a.m. breakfast conference at the Muehlebach Hotel. It was their first chance to talk face to face since the President visited Truman at a research hospital here last Oct. 21, while Truman was recovering from a fall.

FRISCO-BOUND
Duplicating a journey Truman made 20 years ago, Johnson was bound for San Francisco to address the U.N. on its 20th anniversary. Truman made the trip in June 1945 when the Charter of the world organization was signed in San Francisco.

The White House earlier had announced that Johnson had invited Truman to go to San Francisco but the 81-year-old former president declined. Truman's travels outside the city have been greatly curtailed since his fall while preparing for a bath at his home.

U Thant, U.N. secretary-general, said Thursday he and Johnson would confer after the President's speech and "exchange views on common issues of the United States and the United Nations."

Asked if this would include Viet Nam, the U.N. official said, "naturally."

"WAIT, SEE"
The White House put a somewhat different light on the prospect of a Johnson-U Thant session. George E. Reedy, press secretary, said the two men naturally would meet on the speaker's platform but beyond that "we'll just wait and see."

Johnson got a welcome in Kansas City that was reminiscent of last fall's presidential campaign. He stopped his limousine once en route to the hotel so he could shake hands with bystanders. And, outside the Muehlebach, he greeted a crowd of several hundred who cheered, clapped and whistled.

Johnson planned to fly to his ranch near Johnson City, Tex., later in the day for a weekend stay.

Coal Interests Renew Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coal interests have renewed on two fronts their campaign against imports of residual oil, a fuel used for industrial and other big heating jobs.

The National Coal Policy Conference, the National Coal Association and the United Mine Workers joined in a plea to the Office of Emergency Planning, the federal agency concerned with civilian preparedness.

On another front, representatives of coal interests asked the House Government Operations Committee to approve a bill that would require the President's council of economic advisers to make a study of the effects of oil imports on employment in the United States.

Rep. James Kee, D-W.Va., author of the bill, said an impartial and thorough study by the council would show that imports of residual oil are having a "disastrous effect" on employment in numerous sections of the country.

Support for the bill came also from Reps. Tom Steed, D-Okl., Arch Moore Jr., R-W.Va., and John Saylor, R-Pa., and the United Mine Workers.

Legion Post Picks Officers Thursday

Big Spring's American Legion Post 355 named Carl Knappe, member of a pioneer Big Spring family and a consistent member of the organization since World War II, as the post's new commander Thursday night.

Some 60 members were present for the election of officers. The post also honored the long-time services of C. A. Walker, World War I veteran and a Legion mainstay for more than 40 years.

Other officers elected were Sgt. Foster Kemp, second vice commander; Sgt. Ervin Vetter, third vice commander; and Sgt. Herb Smith, sergeant at arms, all of Webb AFB. M. C. Grigsby was again the unanimous choice as service-welfare officer. He has held this post since it was established in 1946.

Named finance officer was W. H. Wharton and chaplain was Clarence Daves. Daves is a past commander and chaplain of the post and is also now chaplain for the 19th District. H. J. Morrison was named historian.

The executive committee will be composed of George Zachariah, Jack Pearson, Dallas Roby and Joe Maenner. Tim Jones will head the group.

Knappe, the new commander, is a son of A. Knappe, who settled in Big Spring in 1886. He has operated a meat market in the city for many years and supervised barbecues annually for the old settlers' reunion. He saw combat service in the Navy during World War II and received a Purple Heart. He has been active in the Disabled American Veterans organization for almost 20 years.

Knappe expressed interest in reviewing proposed limitation and curtailment of some medical care for veterans in the closing of some hospital and service facilities. He will present the local post's views at the department convention at El Paso July 22-24. About a dozen delegates are to be named to the convention and the post may also send a color guard.

In other business, Roscoe Cone reported on Americanism activities, including the Boys State group, who will be guests of Dick Pfeiffer and the post next week for a dinner. Jack Pearson told the members that the baseball team, aged 15-18 years, showed a 3-1 record and hopes were high for a district victory. Next game will be at the Teen-Age Park Saturday night.

Detectives Hunting Son In Aged Couple's Deaths

HOUSTON (AP) — Detectives pressed a search today for a man whose elderly parents were beaten to death and the bodies dismembered and placed in a refrigerator.

Police discovered the butchered bodies of Fred Rogers, 81, and his wife Edwina, 79, at their home late Wednesday night.

A nationwide police pickup order went out for Charles Rogers, 43, their only son. He lived with his parents in the 1 1/2-story house.

The son, a graduate of the University of Houston and a former seismologist for an oil company, was described by neighbors and relatives as a recluse.

NO CHARGES No charges had been filed. Homicide Capt. L. D. Morrison said the son was wanted for questioning.

"No one seems to know much about him," Morrison said. "Relatives tell us he didn't even speak much with his mother and father."

The son was described as 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 140 pounds, balding with dark brown hair. He is a Navy veteran of World War II.

FIND HAMMER Officers found a claw hammer which they believed to be the death weapon. They also found a keyhole saw, a knife and scissors which may have been used in dismembering the bodies.

Detective J. P. Paul said he believed the hammer was used to beat the victims unconscious "or kill them."

Awards To Be Offered By GFWC

An expanded awards program recognizing the work of women's clubs in stimulating better education for young people in their communities has been announced by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Shell Oil Company.

The 1965-1966 GFWC-Shell Education Program will now give a total of 150 awards—three in each state—to women's clubs judged to be conducting the best educational programs. All entries will be judged on merit—without regard to the population of the community or size of membership of the club.

Any women's club affiliated with the GFWC is eligible to enter the education awards program.

Looking For An Easy Way To Save Money?

Dear Gals:
I had so many complaints about knots appearing on stretch slacks that I finally bought a pair.

They are nice and cuddly, but they do have their faults, just like you said. They do get knots or snags, and some will shrink.

I found that most knots were on the seat of the britches, and tried to figure out why. Then it dawned on me that I had sat on rough redwood benches, and neighbors' front steps (concrete, of course).

The answer is not to sit on these things!

But, you can always avoid them?

Anyway, last night while watching TV, I got my husband's SAFETY razor and just laid the slacks on a cushion, and literally shaved off the knots. Worked like a charm. They look new again.

If you get a snag, don't CORRUPTIGATE (where I come from, that used to mean go-to-pieces, but now it probably means go see a psychiatrist). Just cut off the pulled thread and PULL on the material. All the snag will leave beautifully.

If your slacks have shrunk (mine did) and are too short, cut off the underneath strap, hem them up about three inches, and make comfortable pedal pushers. Darling! . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I kill the weeds and grass along the edge of our walks by filling my teakettle with water and setting it come to a boil. I then stir two or three handfuls of plain table salt into the hot water.

I pour the hot salty water on any grass I want killed. There will be no fumes to drift and kill surrounding flowers, and the salt can be rinsed from the teakettle without having done any harm . . . Brazil

This is an especially good method to use next to curbs, along driveways, etc. Be sure to pour a NARROW stream of the hot salty water. . . . Heloise

"Heathen Rage," a 30-minute technical film, will be shown Saturday at 7:30 p.m., at the First Assembly of God Church, West Fourth and Lancaster, the Rev. Homer Rich, pastor, announced today.

Snake charming, pagan worship, cuttings, "cupping", and heathen dances are part of this vivid description of life in the heart of Africa. A missionary of 25 years ministry in Nigeria, West Africa, says, "This is Africa!"

"Filmed in French Equatorial Africa and Nigeria, this film depicts Africa untouched by Christianity. It is a challenge to the Christian church to fulfill the commandment of Christ — the evangelization of the world," Rev. Rich said.

The showing of the film, "Heathen Rage," is sponsored by the Men's Fellowship of the church and the public is invited.

Rev. Barrera Takes New Mexico Post

The Rev. Sinforsosa Barrera, who has served as pastor of the Big Spring Baptist Mission La Fe, at Northeast Tenth and Scurry Streets, left this week to take over the mission work of the Spanish Baptist Mission in Lovington, N. M. The mission is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Lovington.

Rev. Barrera came here March 8, 1964 from Alvin where he was pastor of the Northside Baptist chapel two years. He has served other churches and missions at Alpine, Georgetown and Texas City.

"I have enjoyed my work in Big Spring very much," the minister said this week, "but I feel that my call to Lovington is putting me in a larger and more fertile field. The people of Big Spring have been good to us and we look forward to seeing them occasionally."

Rev. Barrera is married. His wife, Marie, and children, Vicky and Hector, moved with him this week.

He was graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in Brownsville, Edinburg Junior College, and Southwestern University in Georgetown. The First Mexican Baptist Church in Edinburg licensed him to preach, and he was ordained by the First Mexican Baptist Mission in Alpine, in 1947. He has since been connected with the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

La Fe is sponsored by Crestview Baptist Church in Big Spring.

SINFORSOSA BARRERA

SOLOMON IS AN EXAMPLE OF LEARNING, NOT WISDOM

Learning involves the collection of information; wisdom involves its use. Solomon had plenty of learning, but his often-praised and mis-named wisdom did not stand up under pressure.

"Seeds of Disunity," title of the Sunday School lesson for June 27, shows that Solomon, in his older years, had let a desire to be the "biggest" in everything, coupled with the persuasion of his 1,000 wives and concubines, lead him away from God.

Solomon, as recorded in I Kings 9:15, 20:21; 10:21-22, and 11:3-4, wanted to have, not only the biggest, but the most luxurious temples, walls, cities, and furnishings. He had a huge navy, a part of which brought gold, silver, ivory, and apes and peacocks every year from all over the then-known world. As his treasury became exhausted he enslaved those people of non-Jewish extraction remaining in the land, levied exorbitant taxes, and brought rebellion among his own people.

The lesson in temperance portrays the slavery of appetite in Solomon. Such appetite has slain his thousands in the past, and the lust of power to appease the appetite will slay thousands in the future unless the lesson is heeded. The king, who drank from vessels of pure gold, developed his intellect at the expense and to the neglect of his spiritual life.

Opposes Ties

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A student association is campaigning for separation of the Church of Sweden from the government, maintaining that it is wrong for a state to be "allied with a confession" and for a church to be "subordinate to the state." In Finland, an atheist free-thinkers group also is seeking to have church and state separated.

AMERICAN FOLK MASS

Church Rites Sound Like A Hootenanny

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — It was Sunday morning at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Salt Lake City. But it sounded more like a Friday night hootenanny.

The American folk song mass was being strummed before more than 600 toe-tapping, head-bobbing Christians. And its composer, the Rev. Ian Douglas Mitchell, 38—who speaks more like a jazz musician than a priest—was leading the whole unorthodox service with his guitar.

CHANGE
"Man," says Father Mitchell, "the winds of change are ripping through the church." And he's right in the middle of it, strumming his new style folk music hymns or pouring out an updated version of the feeding of the five thousand.

"The church must use contemporary forms if she is to be contemporary and speak to the time at any age," he declares. "Folk music is the music of the people reflecting their lives and loves, joys and sorrows, hopes and fears."

"It expresses the deep things of life as it is lived with an underlying acceptance of its realities, but with the hope of better things to come." And it was a deep and hopeful service at St. Mark's—not a revival.

their instruments alongside a choir of college and church singers—all but hiding a silent organ near the altar.

People looked at each other and smiled as they were caught up in the tempo of Father Mitchell's version of "The Lord's Prayer" and "Gloria in Excelsis."

NO SNOOZERS
And no one settled back for a snooze during his sermon either. What might seem like the folksinger's answer to jazz in the church began as an experiment.

Canadian-born Father Mitchell says he didn't compose the American folk song mass as a "gimmick to draw people to church. It was not a revolt against the traditional music of the church. This work began in 1958 as an experiment to study the use of the folk song idiom in the liturgy of the church."

It was during his last year at Nashotah House Theological Seminary, Nashotah, Wis., that he got the idea. Music had always meant much to him. He played trombone professionally during his student days at Butler University.

the guitar at the seminary it wasn't long before he was using it to entertain his fellow students.

He started changing a few hymns to folk music. And then he got an idea to change the music of the mass.

"I was toying with the idea and my friends said, 'Do it—that's something worthwhile. So I decided to try it—just as an experiment.'"

It took him a year—working on and off. He completed it while he was curate at Trinity Church in Anderson, Ind.

Although many churches in which it was first played were in college towns, both old and young were enthusiastic. Father Mitchell would hold a Saturday night session to explain the folk song mass—followed by a hootenanny. And Sunday morning he would see many of the same faces at the service.

In 1962, the music was recorded and sold commercially. The score was published in book form, and Father Mitchell became a recognized rebel in church music circles.

ASSISTANT
In August 1964, he arrived at Bluff, in the southeast corner of Utah, to serve as assistant priest at St. Christopher's Mission to the Navajo Indians.

Father Mitchell lives with his wife, Caroline, and four children in a trailer house on the reservation.

W STILL WATERS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Who would guess that just out of sight there's a six-lane turnpike! Thousands of people drive past this peaceful place every day, and never know it exists. Occasionally, through a break in the sheltering trees, someone glimpses shining water and green pasture-land in the distance... then the road curves, and the lovely scene is forgotten.

Many travellers hurry along life's road with empty hearts and unseeing eyes, never realizing what the transforming beauty of the Christian faith could mean to them. Because they always expect to find happiness around the next bend, they overlook the still waters of spiritual peace.

In the quiet, hallowed atmosphere of the Church, God answers man's deepest needs. Through prayer and worship, our souls are strengthened and restored. And when we continue our journey, we are not alone. God is with us.

Coahoma Horse Show Saturday

COAHOMA (SC) — Coahoma's second annual Quarter Horse Show will begin at 9 a. m. Saturday, sponsored by the Coahoma Future Farmers of America chapter.

A noon barbecue will be served by a Midland catering service, at $1.50 per plate. Concession stands will also be open and no admission charge is set for the show itself.

Judge for the show will be Don Smith, registered quarter horse breeder from Talpa. Judging will begin with the halter classes, followed during the afternoon by the performance classes.

New classes this year will be 1965 foals, both mares and stallions, in the halter class. In the youth division, new classes are pole bending, roping and showmanship at halter. The new youth division classes were added to provide qualifications for the Youth All-Around Trophy which will be awarded by the American Quarter Horse Association to the youth who wins the most points. A youth must compete in at least three classes of the division, but may compete on different horses. Horses used must be registered, although non-registered horses of any breed may compete for regular first place trophies and ribbons in the youth division.

The performance division will include a new class, for novice cutting horses and open to all horses which can be classified as novice, not necessarily registered.

The show is approved by the American Quarter Horse Association and points earned in the open show will count toward yearly honors.

Women's Job Center Called A Costly Flop

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Pinellas County School Board has voted unanimously to cancel a $2.4-million contract connected with the first Women's Job Corps training center established under President Johnson's antipoverty program.

School Supt. Floyd T. Christian said the program "has not been a success, has been mislocated and has not improved the board's image in any way."

Christian recommended cancellation of the contract with the Office of Economic Opportunity — OEO.

The center, housed in St. Petersburg's Huntington Hotel, enrolls high school dropouts and trains them with skills to find jobs.

EXCESSIVE NOISE
The board said neighboring residents, mostly retired elderly persons, have complained about excessive noise. The board also complained that a staff of 130 for an anticipated 280 to 300 girls amounted to nearly one instructor for every two girls.

In a series of articles, the St. Petersburg Times said costs amounted to between $6,000 to $7,000 to train one girl a year.

One point brought up was the annual salary of $8,160 for a swimming instructor.

The Times said the monthly pay for the staff was about the same as county teachers. Many of the county's top teachers were leaving their posts to take jobs with the center, the paper said.

HIGH RENT
The rent paid for the center at the downtown hotel for 18 months was reported by the Times as $250,000, close to the valuation of the building for tax purposes.

The Times quoted Milton Fogelman, chief contracting officer for the OEO in Washington, as saying that the $2.4-million contract runs through July 31, 1968 "and one does not lightly walk away from a public contract."

Christian wants the board to end the contract within 18 months "or sooner if possible."

German Reds Threaten To Tie Up Barges And Trains

BERLIN (AP) — The East German Communists threatened today to tie up barge and rail shipments to West Berlin. They also suggested that the four occupation powers give them control of air traffic to West Berlin.

The threat to barge and rail shipments was made by Transport Minister Edwin Kramer in a speech to the Communist party Central Committee published by Neues Deutschland, the party newspaper.

DEADLINE SET
Kramer said permits for barge traffic between West Germany and West Berlin issued by the four occupation powers would not be acceptable after June 30.

He warned that East Germany would take necessary measures if the West German government does not reach agreement with the East German regime by then to establish new procedures.

This could mean that all barge traffic, averaging between 100 and 200 barges a day, would be stopped on July 1.

RATE INCREASES
Concerning rail traffic, the East Germans want to increase freight rates by about 20 percent, contrary to four-power rules. Kramer said if no agreement on this is reached between the Bonn and East German governments, all freight shipments will be issued new transit documents at the border stations instead of allowing shipments through on a single document as has been the practice.

This could lead to mammoth tie-ups of rail shipments at the various border crossing points.

The threat of the air corridors came from East Germany's new foreign minister, Otto Winzer, who told the Central Committee the Berlin Air Safety Center which controls the air routes lost its basis of operation when the Allied Control Council for Berlin ceased to function in 1948.

After the council ceased to operate, the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union continued to operate the Air Safety Center. Winzer said international law gives East Germany rights over the Berlin air space and corridors and the four powers should get the East German government's permission to continue the center's operations.

Winzer said he was making "suggestions" but only those "who want to stir up the cold war" would not accept them.

There was no immediate Allied reaction to the East German statements.

The new Communist threats came after unusual Communist military activity along the Berlin Autobahn.

Truck Driver 'Strike' Ends

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The five-day wildcat strike of Teamster drivers began breaking up today as chain store food trucks, driven by Local 107 members, threatened with loss of their jobs, delivered tons of fresh fruit, vegetables, fish and meat.

In the first hours after dawn more than 100 trucks of Food Fair, Acme, A. & P. and Penn Fruit left warehouses for supply - exhausted stores in the Greater Philadelphia area.

The drivers of Local 107, which had called the unauthorized "holiday" Monday in defiance of national Teamster leaders, reported for work after receiving warning telegrams from their chain store employers that they will be "considered to have quit" if they didn't come in this morning.

Emissaries of Teamster Pre-

James R. Hoffa, national president of the Teamsters, termed the strike illegal and said it was engineered by insurgents affiliated with a group within the local which has been fighting his policies for several years.

He called the strike issue the "phoniest dispute that ever took place."

PROTEST FIRINGS

The walkout began Monday in support of four Teamsters' members fired by Roadway Express Inc. for refusing to perform work they considered hazardous. Roadway drivers have been on strike since June 11.

Mayor James Tate issued priority orders for a police escort of drug supplies for the remainder of the strike. A number of manufacturers had said they were finding it increasingly difficult to obtain drivers, even though there were police escorts.

Nearly 2,000 police escorts had been provided since the strike began, the mayor's office said. Policemen are working 12-hour shifts and all leaves have been canceled.

Panhandle Under Flood Warnings

By The Associated Press

Flood warnings were issued for low areas of the Panhandle today as torrential downpours of up to 11 inches continued to soak sections of Texas.

Hardest hit was Channing, in the northwest corner of the Panhandle, where an unofficial 11 inches was recorded. The cloudburst there was accompanied by hail as big as hen eggs.

MORE EXPECTED

The U.S. Weather Bureau said that the heavy rains were continuing and that more rain can be expected during the day.

In its warning, the bureau said that flooding will occur in streams, streets and low lying places. All residents were warned to take special precautions and travelers were advised to be alert to high water conditions.

Quick rising water blocked US 385 at a point 5 miles south of Channing and also halted a Burlington Railroad train near there. Rita Blanca Creek halted traffic on Texas 767 east of Channing.

Kress, 60 miles south of Amarillo, measured 3.25 inches of rain in an hour. Water seeped into some stores and at least one road in the area was impassable.

1.93 INCHES

Amarillo itself gauged 1.93 inches, mostly before midnight as hail pounded areas to the north toward Channing during a heavy thunderstorm. Similarly hard rains drenched the countryside around Hereford and Ureshoe.

Underpasses filled in Amarillo, almost paralyzing traffic in parts of the city for a time.

Water covered most highways around Muleshoe and police closed US 214 and FM 1760 in that vicinity for several hours.

Borger area residents applauded as runoff poured into Lake Meredith, a big new reservoir.

The storms, generating winds up to 40 miles per hour, subsided into slow, steady rainfall through the night and early morning in an area bounded by lines linking Childress, Dalhart and Tucumcari, N.M.

OTHER AREAS

As the turbulence waned in the Panhandle, light to moderate thunderstorms developed around Wichita Falls and eastward past the Denton, Fort Worth - Dallas and Sherman areas.

The severe weather capped another warm day for most of the state, during which showers played across the central and northeast sections while a pilot spotted a tornado whirling in the air southwest of Fort Stockton in West Texas.

Top afternoon temperatures Wednesday ranged from 103 degrees at Presidio, the top mark in the nation, down to 88 at Amarillo and Galveston.

In contrast to the clouds over Northwest and North Central Texas early today, skies were clear throughout East and South Texas.

Forecasts promised at least another day of the same mixed weather pattern in all parts of the state.

Over 75 At Rally For Hall

State Rep. Frank Cahoon of Midland and Harold Hall, candidate for the Legislature in the 78th District, joined as keynote speakers for a political rally in the City Park Amphitheatre Thursday night.

Rep. Cahoon called for election of conservative businessmen to public office and emphasized the need for the Republican party in Texas to offer effective opposition to the Democratic party now in power.

Cahoon spoke out for the election of Hall, praising him as a businessman concerned with good government.

Hall detailed his platform in running for the legislative post, stressing that regardless of who was elected, a representative would have one vote in the legislature. Hall stated his opposition to the current re-districting bill, and termed it a political product.

the rally. Cahoon arrived at Webb AFB and was escorted through the city to the park by an auto cavalcade. Winston Wrinkle was master of ceremonies.

Following the speeches by Cahoon and Hall, a question-and-answer session was provided, with numerous persons in the audience asking questions of Cahoon. During the period, Cahoon said he was not in favor of a four-year term for the governor. He also called for support of U.S. Sen. John Tower, discussing possible opponents of Tower.

Keane Is Optimistic But Stars Are Ailing

By The Associated Press
Mantle is out. Maris is out. Whitey Ford pitches when the weather is right. Tony Kubek hasn't scored since May 9. The team batting average is .224, the New York Yankees are 10 1/2 games back and Johnny Keane says everything is fine and dandy.

Which should make Mr. Keane the optimist of the year. Listen. "Of course you've got an uphill struggle when you're as far back as we are, 10 or 11 games or whatever it is. But I still think we've got a very good chance."

With the M and M boys on the sidelines again — Mickey Mantle with a pulled left hamstring and Roger Maris with bruised fingers — the Yanks dropped a 6-2 decision to Kansas City Thursday, snapping a two-game winning binge and marking their eighth loss in 12 games.

TIGHTER
The leaders, meanwhile, made things even tighter. Cleveland beat Minnesota 3-1 and moved to within a half game of the leading Twins. Idle Chicago also moved to within a half game of the top. Baltimore, 4-1 victor over Boston, climbed to within one. Detroit edged Los Angeles 3-2 in the only other game scheduled.

The National Association of Yankee Haters is having its grandest time in two decades. The Yanks, everybody's choice to win their 15th pennant in 17 years and a record sixth in a row, have had problems in bunches.

There have been injuries galore, principally to Mantle, Maris and Elston Howard. Nobody is hitting much. They're losing the close ones. And the lop-sided ones.

Keane, in his first year at the job, is — at least outwardly — undistracted. "I still think we have a chance."

SALT IN WOUND
But it must have been rubbing salt into a profusion of bleeding wounds when Roland Sheldon, who went to Kansas City for Doc Edwards earlier this season, pitched a strong six-hitter against his old mates. He was supported by a three-run homer by Ken Harelson and a three-run burst in the eighth. Joe Pepton had a homer for the losers.

Ralph Terry, another ex-Yankee, won his seventh of the season in pitching the Indians past Minnesota, allowing only five hits before leaving in the eighth. Max Alvis' 13th homer and a single got the Indians all the runs they needed.

Grand Slam Paces Win
Ronnie Steen's towering grand-slam homer put ABC out of reach of McMahon's 9-2, in a Hi-Junior League baseball game Thursday evening. Steen's base-clearer came in the fifth inning with the score 4-1. Dave Mitchell, ABC pitcher, contributed a four-hit performance at the mound to stifle McMahon bats, striking out nine in the process. Billy Scott was tagged with the loss. He and Ismael Paradez, starting pitcher, gave up nine hits and struck out five batters.

B-Spring, Coahoma Gridders Find Summer Farm Work

Fifty high school boys from Big Spring and Coahoma are "working like heck" picking cucumbers on the Horace King farm near Rising Star, according to Cliff Patton, head coach at Big Spring High School. The boys, many of them athletes, are working under the A-TEAM program of the Department of Agriculture. It affords summer jobs for the nation's high school youth, and depends on the cooperation of the farmer. A-TEAM derives from "Athlete's Temporary Employment Agricultural Manpower."

Billy Herman said he fined an undisclosed number of Red Sox for missing an early morning bedcheck—couldn't handle Milt Pappas, who spaced seven hits in going the distance. A three-run homer by Brooks Robinson and a solo shot by Luis Aparicio gave him more than enough margin. Denny McLain's five-hit pitching and a two-run double by Jerry Lumpe won for Detroit. Lumpe's double capped a three-run second inning and McLain made it stand up, although allowing homers to Jim Fregosi and Willie Smith.

Pirates' Willie Slugging Into Race For Leadership

By The Associated Press
Against the Dodgers, Stargell homered with the bases empty in the first and with one on in the third against 11-game winner Don Drysdale, struck out in the fourth, then connected for his third homer against reliever John Purdin with two on in the sixth. He came up in the eighth against Mike Kekich and doubled, shooting a line drive down the left-field line that fell two feet short of the stands. While Stargell was leading a 15-hit attack, St. Louis belted Cincinnati 11-4 with a 12-hit offensive. Philadelphia downed San Francisco 3-1, the Chicago Cubs defeated Milwaukee 3-1 and Houston whipped the New York Mets 4-2. Stargell was joined in homer hitting for the Pirates by Bob Bailey and Jim Pagan. Wes Parker drove in all the Dodger runs with a sacrifice fly and a two-run homer off Don Cardwell, who got the victory for a 5-2 record with a four-hit effort. Drysdale lost his third straight and now is 11-6. The Cardinals, gaining only their eighth victory in the last 29 games, did most of the damage against Jim O'Toole, who suffered his sixth loss against only one victory.

Phil Gagliano rapped a three-run homer and Lou Brock and Bob Uecker each stroked two-run singles while Tracy Stallard brought his record to 4-2 with relief help from Don Dennis.

The Giants scored in the second inning on singles by Len Gabrielson, Tom Haller and Hal Lanier but the Phillies moved ahead to stay with a two-run sixth built on a walk and singles by Cookie Rojas, John Callison and Tony Gonzalez.

Dad-Son Tourney Sunday At Munny

It will be a nine-hole medal play event using the Callaway System of handicapping. The handicap will be computed on the combined team score. Ten trophies will be awarded. The girls have not been forgotten. A father-daughter tourney is scheduled for Sunday, July 11.

Astros Drop Mets, 4-2; Attendance Is Soaring
HOUSTON (AP)—Attendance at 1965 games of the Houston Astros may top one million tonight in the domed stadium. The Astros defeated the New York Mets 4-2 Thursday night before 22,392 fans, who boosted the season total to 973,168 in 38 dates. This put them 625,775 ahead of the 1964 pace. Houston won in the second inning when the New York defense fell apart. Bob Aspromonte doubled down the left field line and Jimmy Wynn beat out a bunt for a single, moving Aspromonte to third. Aspromonte scored on a wild pitch and Wynn went to second. Ron Brand walked and Bob Lillis grounded to pitcher Jack Fisher, who threw wildly to second base in an attempt to force Brand. Wynn scored and Brand moved to third. Astro pitcher Claude Raymond's infield hit scored Brand. Houston's other run came in the fifth inning on a triple by Joe Morgan and a single by Lee Maye.

Odessa Lass Drops Match

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Two darkhorses, Nadine Netter of Wellesley and Nancy Falkenberg of Mary Baldwin College, met today in the quarter-finals of the USLTA Women's Collegiate Tennis Championships. ## No-Hitter Sinks Lions By 5-4

Tony Burkhardt gave Lion batters fits as he hurled a no-hitter at them Thursday evening and his Angels won, 5-4, in a National Little League baseball game at Cosden Park. The Lions scored on bases on balls and an error. Burkhardt struck out three and walked seven. Danny Thornton, who was tagged with the loss, and Robert Smith gave up five walks, but struck out 12 Angels. Thornton fanned seven. The Angeles got five hits in the narrow victory.

Fox Takes Apart Favored Lundquist At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—A hucky young American celebrated his new-found fame today as a Sigmund Freud of the tennis courts — a man who analyzes his victims before disposing of them. For Chicago-born Allen Fox, playing in his third Wimbledon Championships, life was a thrill. He was still staggered by his Thursday upset of Sweden's third-seeded Jan Erik Lundquist. It was also Fox's 26th birthday. Fox lost in the first round on both his previous Wimbledon appearances — but he is as canny a player as his name implies and he is also a UCLA psychology student. This was his secret weapon as he took Lundquist apart on court. The Swede, whom everyone said could take the Wimbledon Championship this year, never really got into the game. Fox — having studied his victim closely — played on his weak points and scored an upset rivaling the first Clay-Liston affair in its immediate impact. The set scores were 7-9, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5. Fox disclaims any ambitions as a psychiatrist but always makes a searching analysis of his opponents "for points which can tell me something on court." He refused to say just what he noticed about Lundquist. Eighth ranked in the States, Fox must now be reckoned the dark horse of the tournament — even though his run could end in the next round against fellow American Eugene Scott. They have not played each other for years, but Scott is 2-1 up on previous matches. Dennis Ralston, the U.S. No. 1 and fourth seeded here, meanwhile pounded out a straight sets victory over Ramanathan Krishnan, five-times Indian champion. Fox achieved the round of 32 with four other Americans. They were Scott, of St. James, N.Y., who defeated Soviet champion Tomas Lejus 6-2, 9-7, 7-9, 4-6, 6-4; Herbert Fitzgibbon of Garden City, N.Y., who crushed Britain's John Barrett in four sets, and Marty Riessen from Evanston, Ill., winner in straight sets over Italy's Sergei Tacchini. Arthur Ashe, of Richmond, Va., the U.S. No. 3, made the third round the previous day. On the women's front, the two main U.S. hopes — Nancy Richey of Dallas, and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif. — cruised into the round of 32, given no trouble by British opponents. Both won in straight sets.

LIST KEEPS GROWING Looks Like 'Fine' Year For Major Leaguers

By The Associated Press
Baseball, 1965, likely will go into the books as a Fine Year. The Boston and Philadelphia stay-ups and the St. Louis sleepy-heads are the latest to be added to a list of fined players that already included the whistling New York Yankees and the basketball-playing New York Mets. The latest developments — all revealed within the last three weeks — came Thursday when about a half-dozen Red Sox players were fined for missing an early-morning bedcheck and it was reported that several members of the Phillies had been hit in the pocketbook for similar curfew violations. Also joining the club that is fast losing its exclusivity were Ken Boyer, the Most Valuable Player in the National League last season, and Cardinal teammate Phil Gagliano — both fined by freshman Manager Red Schoendienst for not being alert. In both the Boston and Philadelphia cases the players involved were not named. However, it was indicated that the leviathan against the Red Sox stay-ups would run about $100 each while the reported after hours activities of the Phillie players would cost them about three days pay each, under Gene March's penalty schedule. Mauch has employed the three-days-pay system for breaking curfews at various times during his six-year tenure with the Phillies. For a player making in the neighborhood of $10,000 for the six-month baseball season, that would be about $333 per man. The Yankees started the fine-binge on June 8 when they revealed that three unidentified players had been fined $250 each for breaking training. That included drinking and whistling at waitresses. Then came the revelation of the Mets' fines, with pitchers Al Jackson and Larry Bearnarth and first baseman Ed Kranepool socked $250 each for playing basketball during the winter. Cabot batters teed off on Dick Stanley for 13 hits. Stanley struck out seven, however. Winner Carlisle fanned only three Colts, but caused most of the sluggers to pop up. The game was tied in the second inning, 5-5, but Cabot batting became red-hot and 12 runs came across in the third and fourth innings, putting the game on ice.

Arnold Palmer, Laurel Valley, Pa., swings his putter for a little added oomph as he misses a 25-foot birdie putt on 18th green during yesterday's opening round of the St. Paul Open Golf Tournament. The ball stopped about 3 inches from cup. Palmer finished with a 5-under par 66. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Red Sox Spoil Angel Record

Gary Chrane singled in Red Sox third baseman Jimmy Wilson in the sixth to send the Angels down to their first defeat of the season, now at the halfway point, 6-5, Thursday in a Sophomore League baseball game.

Chrane, who got credit for the victory, also hurled a three-hitter for the Sox and was perfect at the plate with two singles and a triple. The Angels got four runs on four hits in the fourth inning, and scored their final tally on a second base error in the fifth.

But the Sox also had a four-run inning, the fifth, two of the scores coming on Chrane's triple. Steve Russell was saddled with the loss, he and Gilbert Rodriguez allowing eight hits and fanning nine batters. Chrane and Wilson together struck out 15 Angels.

Some Of Best Missing For Track, Field Tests

By The Associated Press
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Some of the world's finest are here and several of the nation's best are missing today on the eve of the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

Main targets at stake are places on the U.S. team which meets Russia in Kiev, U.S.S.R. in late July.

The first two finishers in each event ordinarily make the team. They will be decided in programs Saturday and Sunday evenings in Balboa Stadium.

Still clouding the issues, however, is the unceasing struggle between the AAU, the National Collegiate Athletic Association and its offshoot, the U.S. Track and Field Federation.

The AAU insists on sole sanctioning power. The NCAA wants recognition and has in effect banned its athletes from the meet.

Some college athletes, notably Tom Farrell Jr. of St. John's University, probably the top half-miler in the nation, may defy possible NCAA penalties for themselves and their schools by competing, regardless.

Farrell is here and apparently determined to run and make the U.S. team. Other collegians who entered are still undecided and non-committal. All are praying that the power war will be settled.

A single bright note was struck in Hamilton, N.Y., Thursday when Everett D. Barnes, president of the NCAA, proposed by wire that the two organizations hold an Olympic-style tryout to select the U.S. team.

The message was addressed to Clifford H. Buck of Denver, president of the AAU, and suggested as an alternative that President Johnson be asked to arbitrate the dispute.

Buck did not immediately comment on the proposals, but he has previously rejected anything but traditional head-on competition as a means for determining top representative athletes.

Absent in San Diego are two of the brightest stars in the college ranks: world record shot putter Randy Matson of Texas A&M and little Gerry Lindgren, a freshman distance runner from Washington State.

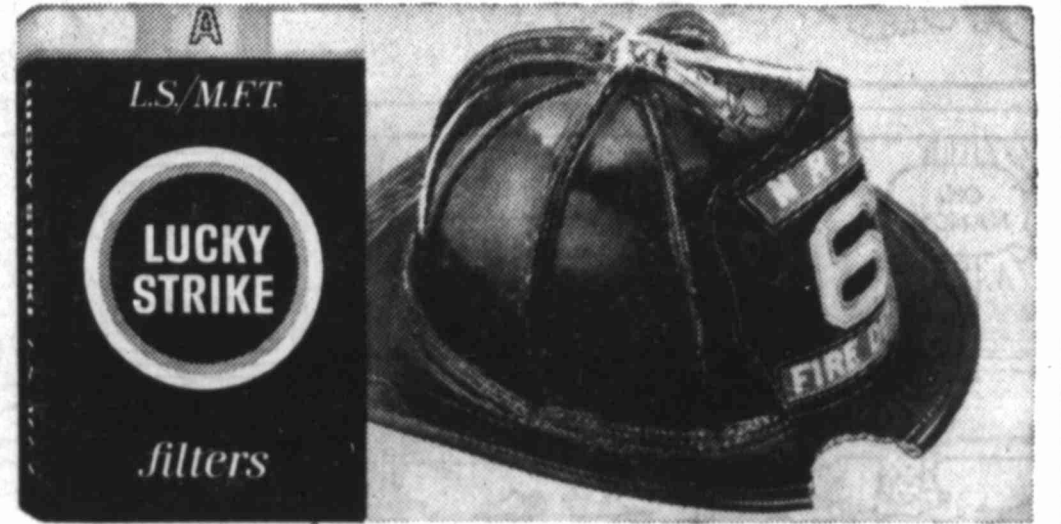

Lindgren, then only 18, astonished the track world by thoroughly whipping the Russians in the 10,000 meters last summer in Los Angeles. The likeable young chap declared he would defy any ban, expressed criticism of the alphabet war and entered himself in the six-mile run. But suddenly he announced Thursday in Spokane he would most likely be unable to appear in San Diego.

Gerry said he had stepped in a hole and didn't feel he could run his best here.

Matson has a bad left knee. He said it hurt him last May and that was the day he threw the shot 70 feet, 7 inches, the first man to break 70 feet.

"All I said was: Show me a filter that delivers the taste and I'll eat my hat."

Hebert, Mayer Lead Field Into St. Paul's 2nd Round

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Lionel Hebert and Dick Mayer, a pair of oldsters as professional golfers go, hope the aches and pains of age stay away long enough for them to repulse the assault of younger challengers in the $100,000 St. Paul Open.

Hebert and Mayer went into today's second round tied for the lead after shooting 64s in Thursday's opening round over the par 36-35-71, 6,700-yard Keller golf course in a par-busting day when 81 broke or tied par.

One stroke back were 22-year-old rookie Tom Weiskopf of Columbus, Ohio; Joe Campbell, who is 29, and Tommy Jacobs, who is 30.

And resting comfortably at 66 and giving every indication he is ready to charge after failing to make the cutoff in last week's U.S. Open was Arnold Palmer. Deadlocked with Palmer were Bob Goalby, Ray Floyd, Bert Yancey and Dean Refram.

Another 10 pros seeking the $20,000 first-place money were locked only three strokes back. This group included Doug Sanders, Gene Littler, Bobby Nichols, Johnny Pott, Cary Middlecoff and Tommy Aaron.

Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lama and another oldster, Sam Snead, were among those posting 70s Thursday, and could not be counted out so early.

In all, 52 golfers beat par and another 29 tied it.

"Did you have to ask that?" parried Hebert briefly when asked his age. "I'm 37 — good for about 15 more years; after that I won't care."

Mayer is 42 and making a comeback on the pro golf tour after laying out for seven years. But he stressed, "I played my best round in close to 16 years; maybe I'm putting all the loose ends together again."

Little Leaguers Leave On Dream Trip To Dome

Two Little Leaguers and their parents will have a dream weekend under the Astrodome in Houston starting today.

They are Don Michael (Mike) Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Murphy, 2506 Lynn, and Earl Ray Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ray Reynolds, 1201 Lamar. The five of them boarded Trans-Texas Airways today for an all-expense trip to Houston where the two lads will compete in state finals of the boys' baseball contest.

Don won the 10 to 12-year-old event sponsored through the Houston Astros and by stations in all the Astro network cities. Earl Ray was the 8-10-year bracket winner. Locally, KBYG sponsored the finals, with the assistance of all the four Little League groups.

Scoring was based on timing of base running, accuracy of throws from second to home base, and distance throwing. Both the winners happened to be from the American Little League, in whose park the finals were held.

At Houston the boys and parents will be guests for the Met-Astro game tonight, then Saturday morning will take part in the state finals under the Astrodome. The state winners will get two weeks in a baseball camp. There also will be tours of the Astrodome, lodging and dining in the Shamrock-Hilton, and a visit with the Astro players. The awards will be announced Saturday evening at the game. The local winners and parents will arrive back here Sunday at 8:33 p.m.

Celtics Sold, Stay In Boston

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, winners of seven straight National Basketball Association championships, are being sold to the Ruppert-Knickerbocker Brewing Co. of New York, but will remain in Boston and will remain the life work of Arnold (Red) Auerbach.

Announcement of the sale, "in the area of $3 million" and of the continuation of the Auerbach regime was made Thursday night by co-owner Lou Pleri and representatives of the brewing company.

Pleri said he and Mrs. Walter Brown, who became an owner on the death of her husband last September, would sign the papers today in the office of Boston attorney Charles Keene.

Jack Waldron, president of the brewing company, will be president of the Celtics and Marvin Kratter, board chairman of Kratter Realty, owners of the beer concern, will be board chairman of the Celtics.

Waldron said that Auerbach as executive vice president will continue to manage and coach the team and generally "run the show."

Pleri said both he and Mrs. Brown were very happy the team would not be moved out of Boston.

Auerbach, told newsmen "I feel Walter Brown, in a situation like this, would be happy because these are real sports people." He said "eight to ten" groups had been interested in buying the club.

Fleckman Has 4-Shot Lead

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Neither rain nor its sloshy aftermath could keep Houston's Marty Fleckman from his self-appointed round with a nine-under par, four-stroke lead at the halfway mark in the National Collegiate Golf Tournament.

Fleckman, the 1964 Texas amateur champion from Port Arthur, shot a masterful four-under par 68 Thursday to give him a 135 going into today's final 36 holes.

Within striking distance were Jim Wiechers of Santa Clara with 70-69-139; Lauren Hammer of Florida, 69-71-140; Arne Dokka of California State at Los Angeles, 68-73-141, and Steve Robbins of North Carolina, 73-69-142.

Fleckman's score led Houston to its eighth NCAA team championship in 10 years. Houston's four lowest scores in the first two rounds totaled 577.

DEAR ABBY

It's Time To Leave

DEAR ABBY: In the past, when my husband and I would go to a party, he'd get tired around 11 o'clock and want to go home. I wouldn't be ready to go home that early, but I'd have to go with him and miss the best part of the evening. Now I'm not criticizing my husband, Abby. He works hard and has to get up early in the morning. But it isn't fair to me because I can sleep until noon if I want to. Well, we solved our problem by each driving his own car to the party. Now when he's ready to go home, he goes. And I stay until I'm ready to go. Recently I was told that it didn't "look well" and I should cut it out. I'd like your opinion.

DEAR OWL: If your husband doesn't care, the criticism of others is unimportant. But I agree, it doesn't "look well" and a lady should "go home with the guy what brung her."

DEAR ABBY: I particularly enjoyed and appreciated your recent column on the need for hunting to preserve and improve many species of game. As I recall, there has been an open season on men ever since Eve opened up the fruit farm.

DEAR RED: You're confused. Eve did not open up a "fruit farm." She tempted Adam with a single apple. History is somewhat fuzzy concerning what followed, but I think Adam must have made appesance of it, because since that time, whenever a man yields to temptation, he discovers it's just a lot of appesance.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both elderly and not in the best of health. We live in a wonderful neighborhood with mostly younger married folks who are very kind. So many of the younger men have come over and offered to do odd jobs, and none of them would ever accept any pay. I am a good bread baker and have sent freshly baked bread to the various homes in appreciation of their help. Now a little "bird" has told me that I am causing some resentment because the husbands are nagging their wives to bake bread. I don't want hard feelings, and wonder what I should do. Can you give me some advice? GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Keep right on baking that bread. Those who resent it could easily bake their own... they just wanna loaf.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the person who does not like people to sit beside her on a piano bench while she's playing. I share her sentiments.

Pastor Visits Kinfolks Here

The Rev. B. A. (Buck) Rogers, Baptist pastor and evangelist, and founder of the First Southern Baptist Church in Lompoc, Calif., stopped over in Big Spring this week for a one-day visit with his brother, Sig Rogers, and his sister, Mrs. Lad Cauble, on his way to the Baptist World Alliance in Miami, Fla. He will also meet his daughter and son-in-law and family. They are on their way home on furlough from Colombia, South America where they are missionaries.

Makes Report On Leader Camp

LOMAX—Danny Fryar, president of the Lomax 4-H Club, made a report of activities at the leadership camp, held at Levelland last week, during the club meeting Tuesday. The group also elected Mr. and Mrs. Gene Terry as adult representatives to the county council.

Louisiana Hikes Daily Allowable

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana daily oil allowable production for July and August was set Thursday at 1,451,534 barrels a day. This is 16,095 a day over the May-June figure.

The best way to get rid of them is to lean over very far in their direction to reach either the very high notes, or the low notes, depending on where they are sitting — and let them know they are in your way.

DEAR SUBTLE: Subtlety is a waste of time with the denser set. I still say trade in the piano bench for a stool.

Satellite For Storm-Hunting Waits Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The hurricane-hunting Tiros 10 satellite is scheduled for launching here next Tuesday as another step toward an operational space weather forecasting system.

The satellite is the first of the Tiros series funded by the U.S. Weather Bureau. The first nine, all successful, were funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The space agency scheduled the launching during a 45-minute favorable period starting at 1:07 a.m. (EST) Tuesday. During this period the spacecraft power systems would draw maximum initial energy from the sun.

Three Tiros satellites are transmitting cloud cover pictures—but the bureau decided to launch Tiros 10 at this time to make certain it obtains coverage of the current hurricane season which extends through Oct. 15.

Area Community Center Plans Outlined Thursday

Members of the public health and safety committee of the chamber of commerce, and visitors from several other cities, heard a discussion of the procedure for asking for a Community Center for this area Thursday. Twenty-one were present.

Dr. Preston Harrison and Dr. Sam Pieper of Big Spring State Hospital presented preliminary information. The state council for mental health and mental retardation community centers will not be set up until Sept. 1, but local groups are making plans for future procedures now.

Charles Weeg, chairman of the committee, gave information to the group on providing for community centers, and said one or more cities, counties, hospital districts, school districts, rehabilitation districts, state-supported institutions of higher education, and state-supported medical schools, or any combination of these, may negotiate or contract with each other through their governing bodies to establish a center.

A community center will be eligible to receive state grants-in-aid if the population within the region served is 100,000 or more according to the last federal census, and if it qualifies according to the rules.

Present for the informational meeting were Joe Russell, Stanton; Norman Sneed and W. C. Vincent of Gail; Pat Ryan, chamber of commerce manager, and Lee Roy Olsak of Lamesa; and the Rev. Ralph Graham, Colorado City.

Weeg pointed out that Lubbock, San Angelo, and Midland-Odessa would qualify with the 100,000 population, and that cities around Big Spring, to bring in the population requirements, would be Snyder, Colorado City, Stanton, Lamesa, Garden City and Sterling City. Requirements also call for transportation of patients to the center over not more than 50 miles. He also said that the center would not necessarily have to be located in Big Spring, but that the city is a feasible location because it is more or less in the center of the population area, and would have the services of personnel at Big Spring State Hospital available.

The community center would not be classed as a hospital, but a minimum of 25 beds would be required for patients who might have to remain overnight for two or three days. "The purpose is to take mentally retarded or ill persons in preliminary stages and, through visiting teams of doctors, nurses and psychiatrists, treat them at home as far as possible," Weeg said. "These teams would make weekly trips. With this procedure the population of the Big Spring State Hospital and others like it would eventually be lessened, since they would not be 'dumping grounds' for patients who did not require early treatment."

Weeg also said a doctor from Austin would be in Big Spring for a July meeting, and that he would present information for setting up an organization to make plans when the state council is named Sept. 1.

Candidates Voice Confidence Today

The three candidates seeking the post of state legislator from the 78th Legislative District, voiced confidence today in the outcome of the election.

One, Harold Hall, who actually represents the Republican party but who in this election is running with his fellows on a non-partisan footing, predicted a victory for himself.

Frank Hardesty and Roger Brown, the other two contenders in the race, said they were "confident" and both urged all voters to go to the polls.

"I have traveled over this district and talked to voters in every county," said Hall.

"People are concerned about the unjust Congressional redistricting of this area, and they know I am the only candidate who can go to Austin during a special session of the legislature and do something about it. Furthermore, I am pledged to work for better schools, higher education and industrial expansion."

"Water is also on the list of priority projects for this area. We need the water here in this district for drinking purposes and the people in the lower section of Texas want it for recreation purposes."

"I am a conservative who believes in wise and prudent government that is careful with the taxpayer's dollar. I will go to Austin as a representative of all the people, not beholden to labor bosses or special interest groups."

"I want to express my appreciation to the hundreds of friends who have worked so diligently in my behalf. Without their help, the victory we are going to achieve Saturday would never have been possible."

Hardesty predicted a good turnout of votes in the election. He also bluntly stated that in his opinion, this election is a contest between the Democratic and Republican parties.

"The ballot will not list the political affiliation of the candidates. However, the Democratic Club has been working diligently in behalf of Hardesty and the Howard County Republican organization has turned out 100 per cent in helping Hall."

Hardesty explained his entry into the race and his hopes in the following words: "I've been greatly encouraged by the fine reception I have enjoyed in visiting voters in Howard County and throughout the 78th District in my campaign."

"The people have been most courteous and friendly and eager to discuss issues.

"I make this race because I feel my active interest in legislative matters for the past 20 years has given me a keener insight into the needs of this district and the problems of our people. I honestly feel that I am more responsive to these needs than my opponents, for my interest has not started just recently, but has been of 20 years duration."

"I think the voters of this district realize that a Democrat can more effectively serve the interest of the people of this district than a Republican. There are 148 Democrats in the House and one lone Republican. I feel that my past experience as an active worker in the Democratic party will make me more effective in serving our district in this Democratic House of Representatives."

"I urge everyone to vote, regardless which candidate you support. I sincerely solicit the support of every voter, but I feel that I have 'won' no matter how the election comes out. The courtesy and friendliness shown me in my campaign travels has been most rewarding."

"LACK OF INTEREST Brown, who is making his political race debut, thanked all of the voters he has contacted for their courtesy.

"It has been wonderful," he said, "and the most disappointing thing I have encountered is the lack of interest in the other counties. They have good reason to feel disinterested—after all their representative elected from Big Spring will serve them only for the unexpired portion of Mr. Carpenter's term."

"In reply to those who ask what our representative do for the people in this unexpired term? Let me say, there are many things such as committee assignments which could possibly entail a certain amount of hearings and things of that nature. Also, people interested in legislation confer with the representatives trying to sell their ideas to the representatives many months prior to an actual legislative session."

"PLANS "What some people don't realize is, that a representative doesn't just go to Austin in January every two years and dream up laws to pass. Legislation should be planned and bills drawn and studied long before the representative goes to Austin."

"Another very important thing a new representative should do is to familiarize himself with the rules of procedure used by the representatives on the floor of the House of Representatives because he would never know when, in the next 18 months he would be called upon to attend a special session."

"I want to thank all of the many friends who have helped me in this campaign. They have given me both moral and financial support, which without them I could not have carried out this campaign in the past six weeks."

"I would like to close in saying thanks to the news media for assisting the candidates in creating the interest in this election."

Immoral Teen Club Exposed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Automobile thefts and sexual intimacies are apparently part of the initiation rites of a large teenage club uncovered in suburban Madison, a police official says.

Lt. Charles Stoner, head of the Youth Aid Bureau for the metropolitan area, said the group apparently started two years ago "as just a kids' game. But the older the youngsters got, the worse they got. They got away with a few things and, before they knew it, they were in trouble over their heads."

Stoner said Thursday night the club seemingly has a large membership among students at Madison High School serving the suburb east of Nashville. Most families living in the area are considered middle class but the officer said many of the club members came from well-to-do homes.

The club's activities came to light when a 15-year-old boy was questioned in connection with several automobile thefts. He admitted being a club member.

"The youth said he had been involved in some things and stated he wanted to get all his troubles cleared up," Stoner said. "He told us he had not advanced far enough in the club to be required to commit acts of sexual indiscretion."

The officer said another boy "told us that teenagers were required to commit sexual intimacies in the presence of the club's leader before being accepted as a member."

Preview On Voting Rights Fight Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two old antagonists on civil rights legislation have given the House a preview of the battle it can expect when it takes up the voting rights bill shortly.

If there is an argument on either side that Reps. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., and Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., didn't come up with Thursday, it's probably not worth using.

Smith, for instance, complaining that the bill would require Alaskan officials to come to court in the District of Columbia for relief, inquired: "How far are those folks from Alaska going to have to come through ice and snow to get here?"

CONTRADICT SELF

And Celler, reminded by Smith that he had changed his position on the authority of Congress to ban poll taxes, replied: "As Shakespeare said: 'Do I contradict myself? I am large. I contain multitudes. I can contradict myself.' Sometimes you have to contradict yourself to effect a compromise."

The verbal duel was waged at 25 feet, with Smith and Celler at opposite ends of a long, narrow table. Smith, hunched over a pile of documents, peered from under shaggy eyebrows as he drew his questions. Celler, the light from a chandelier gleaming on his bald head, responded calmly through a constant haze of cigarette smoke. Ten other Rules Committee members sat silently at either side of the table during the 80-minute exchange.

To several of Smith's questions, Celler had long, written answers. "You see, Howard," he said. "We've been associated so long I can read your mind. I knew you'd ask me that."

HOUSE DEAN

Celler, with 42 years of service, is the dean of the House. Smith, who came to Congress in 1931, is fifth in point of service. "Hand me my ammunition," said Smith, turning to an aide for a brief case full of papers as he started questioning Celler.

He said the bill, which would strike down literacy tests in states where less than 50 per cent of the adults either voted or were registered last year was "a device to begin the regimentation of voters, as in Russia."

"Now Howard," said Celler. "I can't accept that. You can't correlate that with Russia."

As Smith whacked away at the bill, Celler said, "I agree this is a strong dose of medicine. But the malady is serious."

"Did you say malady, or malice?" asked Smith.

STILL RAGING

"This is the fever of the old Confederacy that is still raging," said Celler. "That's why the law has a good deal of strength."

"A good deal of unconstitutional strength," said Smith.

Helen Keller Enjoys Quiet, Gentle Life

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — As Helen Keller approaches her 85th birthday, she's enjoying a quiet and gentle life.

She has her flowers, her garden, her dog Tinker, and the birds.

"All of the birds are her friends," says a close companion of the blind and deaf author.

"Miss Helen is living in retirement," a friend says. "That covers it."

The world still beats a path to her country home at Arcan Ridge, only to find the doors politely, but firmly, shut.

But close friends and neighbors stop in occasionally for tea, and there will be cake and champagne when she observes her birthday Sunday at home.

Miss Keller's traveling days are just about over. She still receives awards, but doesn't make the trips to pick them up.

Requests come from throughout the world to the American Foundation for the Blind for visits with Miss Keller, who has devoted most of her lifetime to helping the handicapped. The requests are turned down.

A friend says Miss Keller is in the best of health for a woman of 85, although her vitality is waning.

In the past two or three years she has given up most of her writing and all public speaking. She takes frequent rests and devotes much of her time to reading and re-reading books she enjoyed in her youth.

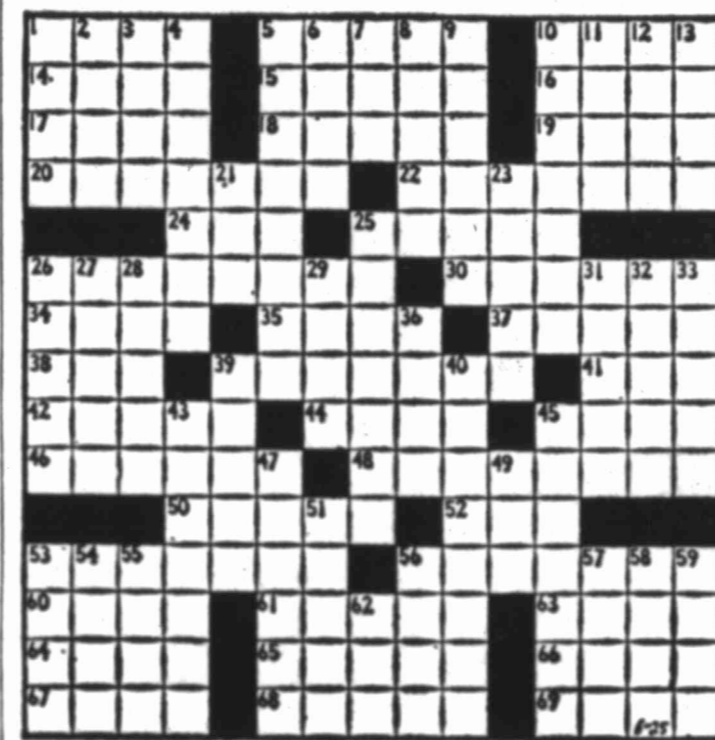

Sunday's celebration will be more or less a family affair. Miss Keller's brother, Phillips Brooks Keller of Dallas, Tex., will be on hand. Her sister, Mrs. L. Warren Tyson of Montgomery, Ala., plans a visit later in the summer.

An illness 19 months after Miss Keller's birth in Tuscumbia, Ala., left her blind and deaf. Through the efforts of her teacher, Anne Sullivan, Miss Keller was transported from a world of silence and dark rage to one of communication and faith.

Movies Selznick Left Have A Timelessness

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The pursuit of excellence marked the film-making career of David O. Selznick, and "Gone With The Wind" remains as monumental evidence of how well he achieved his purpose.

Selznick died this week. Though first released a quarter-century ago when theater admissions were half what they are today, "Gone With The Wind" is still the top money-making film of all time. Its evergreen quality is such that MGM can re-release it every three years and collect another $5 million in rentals.

A TIMELESSNESS Most of the great Selznick films had the same timelessness. Each was hand-fashioned by months of meticulous planning, mountains of memos and dogged attention to every aspect of filming.

The result was a panorama of screen achievements. His films at RKO helped put the studio in the bigtime: "A Bill of Divorcement," which introduced Katharine Hepburn; "King Kong," still the best of the science fiction thrillers; "Of Human Bondage," which established Bette Davis as a dramatic star.

Moving to MGM, he put his personal stamp on such films as "David Copperfield," "A Tale of Two Cities," "Dinner at Eight," "Anna Karenina" and "Viva Villa."

INDEPENDENT PATH Selznick wearied of the big-studio operation. "It is impossible for 40 or 50 productions to go through one man's hands and emerge with any degree of quality," he reasoned. And so he began the independent course that continued until his death this week of a heart attack.

His success as an independent was dazzling. He produced the best film ever made about Hollywood, "A Star Is Born"; a great wacky comedy with Carole Lombard and Fredric March, "Nothing Sacred"; a fine swashbuckling romance with Ronald Colman, "The Prisoner of Zenda." All were subsequently remade by other producers with scant success.

And then, "Gone With The Wind."

NEW YORK (AP)—Mary Boland, 80, a leading actress of stage and screen for more than 50 years, died this week. Miss Boland, who starred both in dramatic and comedy roles, started her career in 1901 and one of her last featured roles was in 1954.
