Countdown Continues

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The space agency reported today it no longer had a fuel pressure problem in Apollo 13's moon-landing craft and the countdown moved ahead toward Saturday's launching of man's third lunar landing mission.

The bothersome helium system, which pressurizes fuel tanks in the lunar lander, recorded excessive pressure during a test Sunday. Specialists monitored the potential problem throughout the night and said today the pressure had stabilized.

A NASA announcement said the operation of the system is "satisfactory and well within perimeters." It said there was no plan to replace the helium tank.

The three astronauts who are to fly the mission—James A. Lovell Jr., Thomas K. Mattingly II and Fred W. Haise Jr. — wakened early today for their final major physical examination.

The exam not only determines if the spacemen are healthy, but also provides heart rate, respiration and other baseline data for comparison during and after the 10-day flight.

Later in the day, the satronauts planned several hours in a command ship simulator, practicing launch procedures and possible abort maneuvers in case of rocket trouble.

Launch Director Walter Kapryan had ordered the long countdown to begin on schedule at 10 p.m. Sunday while experts wrestled with the pressure problem. But he delayed installation of heavy ordnance on the rocket and spaceships until the trouble cleared.

This work began today, which resulted in some portions of the countdown being seven hours behind schedule. The launch team said it would have no trouble making up this time.

Patrol Officers' Killers Hunted

By MIKE RUBIN
Associated Press Writer

SAUGUS, Calif. (AP) — Four young California Highway Patrol officers were shot to death late Sunday night as they checked out the car of two men who had been driving along a mountain freeway pointing guns at motorists.

Sheriff's deputies searching for the assailants surrounded a small house about five hours later and were engaged in a gun battle with persons inside, believed to be the assailants.

Officers said one suspect was believed severely wounded in the original shootout. With two patrolmen dead and one mortally wounded, the last officer had held off the two gunmen alone for five minutes until he was hit by a shot in the face, a witness said.

The men fled in their red, late-model sedan as 40 customers in a nearby coffee house huddled on the floor. A car of that description was found about 10 minutes later on a dead-end street about a block from the shooting scene.

Three helicopters and more than 100 law enforcement officers on foot and in four-wheel-drive vehicles scoured the rugged, brush-covered hill and canyon area in search of the assailants.

A highway patrol spokesman said the men apparently were armed with a shotgun and a 44-caliber magnum pistol and fled with the four officers' service revolvers.

"We're not sure if the officers even got off a shot," the spokesman said. However, one of the mortally wounded officers had muttered "11-99"—a code phrase meaning "officer needs assistance"—over his car radio and other patrol cars sped to the scene.

Two of the officers were dead. Another died en route to the hospital about 15 miles away, and the fourth died after reaching the hospital.

The patrol cars were riddled with bullets.

The Highway Patrol spokesman said the two fleeing men might have hitched a ride with a passing motorist if the car found nearby was theirs.

About 40 customers were in the all-night J's coffee Shop, including some 30 young church group members taking a breather from a charter bus trip.

"I just heard the shots and saw some guys running around the cars in the parking lot. It's real bright out there," said coffee shop manager Al Sims, 49.

"I told everyone to lay on the floor next to the counter. They were real cooperative," he added.

While crouched behind the counter, he said, he called the Highway Patrol, which sent more cars immediately.

He said none of the customers he talked to actually saw the shootings.

Crucial Vote On Carswell Set Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Senate neared a crucial vote today on the nomination of G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it looks as though the judge will be confirmed.

The Montana Democrat, still declining to say how he will vote, had previously rated the outcome of the hard-fought battle over the Tallahassee, Fla., jurist's nomination a toss-up.

But today's vote was not on confirmation but on whether to send the nomination back to the Judiciary Committee, and Carswell supporters appeared to have victory on that important issue within their grasp.

City Election Set Tuesday

Snyder voters will elect a mayor and three councilmen tomorrow to serve for the next two years.

The polls will open in the city hall at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

There are contested races for two council posts, while Mayor Bobby McCormick is unopposed in his race for re-election and Bill Seale is unopposed in the race for Place 6 Councilman. Seale is seeking the post now held by Rayburn Burgess, who is not asking re-election.

Joe W. Seritell, incumbent, is opposed by Winifred Poyner in the race for Place 2 Councilman.

There also are two candidates for Place 4 Councilman, although the incumbent councilman, Jim Kincaid, is not seeking re-election. The Place 4 candidates are Lon B. Faver and William A. Vestal.

Holdover members of the council are John Thomas, Place 1; John Boren, Place 3; and Herbert Reed, Place 5.

The city council's regular April meeting, which was scheduled for this evening, has been postponed until 7:30 p.m. Tuesday so that the council may canvass returns from the election.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Tie At Hermleigh Highlights Voting

School trustee elections were mostly uneventful Saturday in Scurry County, except for an apparent tie vote for one of the posts at Hermleigh.

Jack Nacklinger and Olen Culp Jr. each had 57 votes in the unofficial count at Hermleigh. If the tie is confirmed after returns are canvassed by the board, a decision will be made on procedure to break the tie. In previous tie votes the issue has been determined by flip of a coin, which is permitted if both candidates agree.

Donald Tate, incumbent, led the field at Hermleigh with 73 votes, while T. C. Herrera won the other spot on the board with 71 votes. Others included Julius Roemisch, incumbent, 49 votes, and Guy Joyce Adams, 55 votes. Edwin Kuss received 51 write-in votes.

Harold Lacik and Max von Roeder, unopposed incumbents, were re-elected to the Snyder School Board. Lacik received 111 votes at the West Elementary box, 26 at East Elementary, 17 at City hall and 46 absentee votes, for a total of 200. Von Roeder had 114 at West, 31 at East, 17 at City hall and 47 absentee votes for a total of 209. Bill Wilson and Carlos Mijares received one write-in vote each.

Tommy Clements with 58 votes and Jake Autry with 38 votes were re-elected to the Ira School Board. C. M. Kruse received 25 votes and Lyndon Solomon 9 in the Ira election, which drew a total of 66 voters to the polls.

Fluvanna re-elected W. S. Bruner and R. L. Drum with 61 and 62 votes, respectively, and Clinton Gregory also was named to the Fluvanna board with 50 votes. Gilbert Merritt received 47 votes and Royce Summers 45, while Jeptha Landrum got one write-in vote.

Kopechne Case Reopens

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The Dukes County grand jury went into secret session today to take its own look at Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident last July 18 in which a woman secretary drowned.

The jury retired after hearing a charge from Judge Wilfred J. Paquet which lasted more than an hour and a quarter, and during which he prescribed some narrow limits within which the grand jury must operate.

He told the grand jurors that they could consider only matters which:

1. Were brought to their attention by the court or by the district attorney or prosecutor.

2. Other matters which might be brought to their attention because of cases which they are hearing.

3. Matters which would develop such as evidence of a second crime while the grand jury was hearing testimony in one case.

4. Matters which are made known to the jurors by one of their associates who had personal knowledge of a crime.

Paquet in his long charge also told the jury, "Control of a grand jury by the judge is complete, and neither the grand jury nor the prosecutor can seek review by another court."

Train Derails In Mexia

MEXIA, Tex. (AP) — A Southern Pacific freight train derailed in a southern section of town Sunday, piling 24 cars of the 104-car train along the right of way.

No one was injured.

The tracks should be open to traffic by today, a railroad official said as wreckers moved in to clear the scattered cars.

The derailment was believed caused by a hot-box that burned out an axle on a car, causing the others to pile up.

The train's engineer was J. T. Harrison of Ennis.

Court Upholds Power Of States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, on a 5-3 vote, upheld today the power of states to set a maximum limit on the amount of welfare assistance that goes to one family.

Justice Potter Stewart, giving the decision in a Maryland case, said: "The Constitution does not empower this court to second-guess state officials charged with the difficult responsibility of allocating limited public welfare funds among the myriad of potential recipients."

The ruling is a setback for advocates of the poor, who have been uniformly victorious in the high court in recent years.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, the court's liberal core, dissented from the majority decision.

Stewart said federal Social Security law gives each state great latitude in dispensing its available funds.

"So long as some aid is provided to all eligible families and all eligible children, the statute itself is not violated," he said.

US Consul Foils Kidnap Attempt

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — The U.S. consul in Porto Alegre was recovering today from a slight wound suffered in thwarting a kidnap attempt. He used his car to run down one of his would-be kidnapers, and they let loose a hail of bullets as he escaped.

Curtis C. Cutter, a 41-year-old Korean War veteran, became the first diplomat in Latin America to personally defy a kidnap attempt since the wave of political abductions started last September. There have been eight previous kidnapings or attempted kidnapings in Latin American countries.

Cutter was driving home late Saturday night with his wife, Catherine, and a former State Department official, Hovey Clark, when a gang in a car intercepted them. Several men wearing dark glasses and carrying machine guns jumped out and headed toward Cutter's station wagon.

The consul stepped on the gas and pulled around the car blocking his path, hitting one of the men and dragging him on the bumper for several yards. The other kidnapers opened fire, wounding the consul slightly in the back, but he was able to drive to his home a few blocks away.

Police said the assailants, members of the leftist Armed Revolutionary Vanguard, picked up their injured comrade and escaped.

Rubinstein Would Be Good Comedian

NEW YORK (AP) — If Arthur Rubinstein ever should decide to give up the concert stage, he probably could make it as a comedian.

As Rubinstein tells it, at a Hollywood VIP reception after a screening of the French—made documentary about the pianist, "Love of Life," Groucho Marx, armed with cigar and leer, came up to Rubinstein and said: "Had I known you were a comedian, I wouldn't have come."

Some of the footage in "Love of Life," up for an Academy Award as the best long documentary of last year, is in the television profile, "Arthur Rubinstein," to be repeated on NBC on April 26.

Officials Divided On Meat Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials are divided over whether meat import regulations should be relaxed to provide a break for consumers, particularly low income families.

On one side is the Agriculture Department, which argues that present rising prices are an indication of the cost of raising and marketing livestock. Import restrictions are needed to sustain domestic farm production, the department says.

Arguing on behalf of opening the way for more cheap imported meat to deflate current prices are the Council of Economic Advisers and presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer.

The Agriculture Department says the price increases should slacken soon.

But economists outside the department, mindful of the sharp meat price increases which surprised USDA analysts last year, aren't so sure.

Agriculture forecast a 2 to 2.4 per cent increase in all retail food prices last year. But the whopping 10 per cent increase in meat prices carried the real annual increase to 5.2 per cent.

For this year, the USDA says all food prices will increase 3.5 to 4 per cent, with the meat price spiral stalling by late summer or early fall.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department continues to counsel against any action to ease imports of foreign meat, which is used almost exclusively in cheap manufactured products like hamburger.

The economic advisers and Mrs. Knauer's office are arguing that increasing imports would have a significant impact only on prices of low-cost meats and offer relief primarily to the low-income families that spend a proportionately larger share of their salaries on food.

"It's either hamburger, or chicken or something like that," said one official in favor of eased import restrictions. "For them it's not either hamburger or steak or chops." Low meat prices would also be helpful in combatting inflation, said another.

Agriculture, however, challenges whether retail price dips would come only in the low-cost meat area.

Foreign producers have plenty of meat available for U.S. markets.

Labor Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The administration's efforts to end the air controllers walkout showed slow progress today but its proposal to finance the postal workers pay hike appeared doomed. Wildcat strikes threatened a national trucking contract.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported that 82 per cent of the controllers were back on the job but the "sick-out" continued to cripple operations in cities including New York, Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco.

Generally favorable weather Sunday helped ease the movement of end of vacation air traffic although airlines remained on curtailed schedules ordered by the FAA.

Scattered wildcat walkouts by truck drivers continued today in cities including Los Angeles, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minn., and Richfield, Ohio.

In Chicago businesses stockpiled supplies against a possible strike by the city's 50,000 truck drivers. In 1967 when Chicago truckers rejected a national pact they walked out and took drivers in other cities with them.

The national agreement reached last week between the Teamsters Union and trucking industry called for an increase of $1.19 an hour over three years.

Chicago drivers demanded $1.70 over the period. In Cleveland the men wanted a $2 an hour increase over the three year span.

Sam Sheppard Dies Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Sam Sheppard, a former osteopath convicted in a controversial trial of the slaying of his first wife and then acquitted after nearly 10 years in prison, died at his home today.

F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard's lawyer during his fight for freedom, said Sheppard told him in confidence earlier this year that he had cancer.

He had been ill three days with what he said was the flu. Cause of death was not immediately announced. An autopsy was scheduled.

Colleen Sheppard, third wife of the neurosurgeon turned wrestler, said Sheppard would not allow anyone to call a physician to check him.

Bailey said in Boston, "Sam told me three months ago in confidence that he had cancer and was taking pills for it. And he had no desire to have one of those protracted illnesses. He figured to just let it run its course."

"Apparently it was more than the flu. But we didn't know this," Mrs. Sheppard said.

She said no doctor had seen Sheppard during the illness. "He wouldn't let us call anyone," she said. "He got sick two days. . . no really three days ago. We have no idea what caused the death."

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County Coroner, said Sheppard had been treating himself for flu. He would not comment on the cause of death. Sheppard, 45, had been living at the residence of his father- in-law, B. L. Strickland since last summer.

Sheppard started about a year ago wrestling for charitable events and Strickland was his manager and wrestling partner.

He married Strickland's daughter, Colleen, 20, on Oct. 21 in Mexico.

Sheppard first made national news on July 4, 1954 when his pregnant first wife, Marilyn, was found brutally beaten to death in their plush Bay Village, Ohio, home just west of Cleveland.

Sheppard was convicted of second-degree murder in a widely publicized and controversial trial and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Sheppard spent nearly 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary while fighting his conviction. A U.S. District Court ordered his release on July 16, 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered him freed on June 6, 1966 and ruled the state could try him again within a reasonable time.

At his second trial in Cleveland, defended by attorney F. Lee Bailey, Sheppard was acquitted on Nov. 16, 1966.

Sheppard married his second wife, Ariane Tebbenjohanns, an attractive blonde German divorcee, in Chicago on July 18, 1964. He had corresponded with her while in prison and first met her during a parole hearing here in 1963. She sued him for divorce in December, 1968.

The state medical board returned Sheppard's license to practice osteopathic medicine and surgery on Dec. 14, 1967. A few months later he went to work at a Youngstown hospital.

Both Sheppard and the hospital were named in two civil wrongful death suits in September, 1968 and Sheppard resigned from the hospital in December 1968 without giving any reason.

ON DESEGREGATION PLAN

Gov. Kirk Issues Executive Order

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk, directing pupils and teachers to ignore desegregation transfer approved by the U.S. Supreme Court, today personally assumed "custodial supervision" of the Manatee County public school system.

Kirk called his action "in the best interest of the children."

In an executive order Sunday, Kirk acted 14 hours before the desegregation plan was to be implemented in Manatee, a coastal county on the Gulf of Mexico 50 miles south of Tampa.

On the scene before classes opened, Kirk huddled briefly behind closed doors with Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne and two assistant superintendents, Col. Philip Doyle and Dr. William Bashaw.

Then addressing some 150 administrative staff members, Kirk said: "We have exercised every legal opportunity possible with the Manatee County School Board. We will now exercise our rights as governor.

"Our job is to educate children."

He added that the federal judges who ordered desegregation were not concerned with this.

"There will be no changes," Kirk said. "I see no problems. I see a great staff."

"We have come this way reluctantly. We have not been given our day in court. We imagine we will be given our day in court now."

Doyle said results of Kirk's action wouldn't be known until midmorning.

Outside the meeting room at the county school board offices, parents flooded telephones with questions about what their children were to do.

A secretary told them to send their children to the schools they attended last week.

Kirk suspended the county school board and Supt. Jack Davidson Sunday but said they would be reinstated "at such time as they shall be free to administer the school system consistent with sound education principles and the law of the land."

U.S. District Court Judge Ben Krentzman of Tampa, who issued the desegregation order, upheld by the Supreme Court, said he planned to give Kirk's action "my prompt attention today."

"Anyone who interferes with that order and continues to do so would be in contempt," Krentzman said.

The integration order required the busing of an additional 2,600 pupils and the transfer of 107 teachers to achieve a ratio of 80 per cent white to 20 per cent black in classrooms. Manatee's white schools were integrated in September but four all-black schools were left intact.

A petition for a delay in implementing the plan was turned down without comment by the high court last Friday.

Osborne, who delivered Kirk's executive order to the school board, said the governor acted to force a review of Krentzman's plan by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Man Delivers Son In Truck

SAN ANTONIO (AP) —"Send an ambulance quick," a man told the police dispatcher. "I've just delivered my own son in the back of my pickup truck!"

A police car and an ambulance raced to the scene and found Daniel Perales, his wife, Mary Lynn, 28, and their newborn son in the bed of the parked truck.

Top Kremlin Leaders Ill

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman confirmed today that at least four top Kremlin leaders are sick in bed.

He said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is hospitalized in a special Kremlin medical center while President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Plitburo members Mikhail A. Suslov and Alexander N. Shelepin are at home suffering from colds.

It was the first official confirmation of the illnesses of Kosygin, Shelepin and Suslov. The Communist party newspaper Pravda reported Sunday that Podgorny's cold forced him to cancel plans to fly to Japan today for an official visit to Expo 70.

The spokesman refused to comment on the nature of Kosygin's illness or his condition. Diplomatic sources had reported Saturday the premier suffered complications resulting from a cold.

Eduadorian Consul Hearing Scheduled

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A hearing has been set for Wednesday for Alfred J. Giler, Eduadorian consul here, on charges he smuggled seven pounds of cocaine into the United State's.

Giler, 38, denied the charges Sunday. He was arrested Saturday by the U. S. Customs agents who estimated the worth of the uncut cocaine at $1 million. Agents said they watched Giler leave a freighter, Republic Del Ecuador, with a small package that he put in the trunk of his automobile.

Ecuadorian Ambassador Carlos Mantilla said Giler telephoned him in Washington and said he was innocent.

Candidates Try To Liven Campaigns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the May 2 primaries less then four weeks away, candidates for statewide political offices are trying to put life into generally lackluster campaigns.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Paul Eggers said Sunday he is "in pretty good shape" against Gov. Preston Smith, but conceded that President Nixon's popularity in November will be important.

Eggers said a recent poll for him showed Smith with 40 per cent, Eggers with 37 per cent and 23 per cent of the voters undecided.

"The President's popularity has a definite effect on campaign," Eggers said. "There are factors I have no control over, like the battle against inflation, if things would turn wrong in Vietnam."

"I think if the President was in trouble with the general public in the state of Texas this fall, it's going to make my battle a lot harder," the Republican said.

Lloyd Bentsen Jr., the Houston businessman challenging Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., in the Democratic primary, also pointed to a poll. The poll did not mention Bentsen but said Yarborough is not as popular as Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who is not up for re-election.

Bentsen said Yarborough's popularity had diminished and it was "understandable why he is making such a poor showing."

"He takes positions that aren't acceptable to the people of Texas," Bentsen said.

Yarborough told a Fort Worth union group Saturday night the Nixon administration is responsible for "runaway inflation and a recession, all at the same time."

The incumbent said GOP policies "have driven the prices up, up up. We have the highest interest rates in the nation's history," he said, adding that almost a million workers have lost their jobs since the Republicans entered the White House.

Rep. George Bush, R-Tex., vying for the GOP senatorial candidacy, criticized in a Dallas speech what he called Democratic spending.

"A lot of what this Senate race is all about is a change in direction," Bush told supporters. "A lot of what it is all about is a reaffirmation of values."

Robert Morris, Bush's opponent in the Republican primary, said the United States cannot afford to let Southeast Asian countries fall to the communists.

The only solution for the Vietnam war, he added, was for the United States to build "an all-Asia standby ground force to be available when new aggressions arise."

Dutch Painter Art Tour Ends

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A three-city U.S. tour of works by the late Dutch painter Vincent Van Gogh ended here Sunday after record attendance and a promise by the Dutch government to return the exhibition to the states next fall.

An estimated 400,000 persons viewed the painting here. It was to have been the last tour in this country of the priceless art collection before permanent housing in an Amsterdam museum under construction.

Instead, Dutch officials have announced plans to reopen the show in Baltimore, Md., in October after a summer exhibit in Amsterdam.

Helicopter Mail Service Inaugurated

CHANDIGARH, India (AP) — India has inaugurated its first helicopter mail service between Chandigarh in northern Punjab state and remote Keylong in the Himalayan mountains to the north. The service will help provide regular mail delivery to the area which is often inaccessible because of heavy snows.

Girls' Killer Might Be Same Person

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Authorities are working on the theory that the same person who killed Donna Marie Golish, 7, in September may be the same one who killed 11-year-old Laurie Stevens.

Police said Sunday that an autopsy revealed that the Stevens girl had not been raped although her body was mutilated. The body was returned to Denison Sunday following the autopsy in Dallas.

Both the Golish Child, of nearby Sherman, and the Steven's girl were en route to their homes when they were apparently enticed or forced into automobiles.

Laurie Stevens had been missing since Wednesday while on her way home from school. Searchers found her body hidden in heavy undergrowth near a dam. She had been shot three times.

The Sherman girl, although she had been run over by an automobile, was also found in a rural setting.

The Stevens child was reported missing by M. Sgt. David Grayson, whose wife the little girl was to stay with after school until her mother and stepfather returned from work.

Her mother is employed by Texas Instruments, near Sherman, and her stepfather, Jerry Morgan, is a truck driver for a Denison distributor.

Sgt. Grayson was with the party of searchers which discovered the nude body lying face down.

Her books and purse were found near her home in an eastern section of Denison. Her clothing was found Thursday in a northwestern part of Denison near the M-K-T Railroad yards.

She had last been seen with a girl classmate who watched her walk up the muddy road toward the Morgan home, meaning she disappeared in broad daylight.

THE SHINY LOOK — Vinyl coated cotton interprets the important longuette look in any weather gear. By Addenda, the contemporary outfit features a stylish battle jacket belted on either side to snug the waist.

ANY-WEATHER KNIT—Aquanaia designs a coat that keeps its fashion cool in any clime. String-colored cotton knit with wide thick ribs is shaped into a jaunty cardigan style with tie belt.

Cottons In Any Weather

Fashion's dictionary for spring '70 drops the word "rainwear" and replaces it with "any-weather gear."

The term refers to a whole new range of on-the-go outfits that keep their fashion cool in any clime. Styles include coats, dresses, skirts with jackets, and tunics with pants.

Seasonless fabrics that perform well in a variety of environments are essential to this new breed of fashions. And cotton answers the need, showing up in many different fabrications and patterns.

Headlining the look are the cotton knits — in ribbed or cabled heavyweights and in flat double knits. Translated into clingy, sweatery designs, all have natural comfort builtin.

Sharing the spotlight are dramatic cotton prints, immersed in color and graphically patterned in flowers, lions, or tigers.

Cotton canvas is slicked up for any-weather wearing with a polyurethane coating that's slightly crinkled to mimic crushed patent. Developed to shed the hardest downpour, these outfits come in a shower of bright, clear colors.

Weather-geared accessories include rain and stain repellent boots of cotton canvas or vinyl-coated cotton in vivid hues.

Study Indicates Diet Not A Cause Of Acne

Eating lots of chocolate does not make an acne condition worsen, according to the results of a recent study, which should gladden the hearts of many a teenager. It has been estimated that over 75 per cent of all adolescents have acne at some time.

Three sympathetic dermatologists associated with the University of Pennsyvania, who conducted the study, state in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association that acne itself is enough of a curse without the additional misery of food restriction.

"All of the blacklisted items," they write, "are delicious and delectable to the adilescent taste." And in addition to chocolate, they include nuts, candy, carbonated beverages, shellfish, cheese, and malted milk. Controlled investigation to evaluate these foods is "entirely lacking," the Philadelphia team states.

In an earlier study, a San Francisco, California, physician told a group of acne patients to follow the customary dietary advice, with particular stress being placed upon "the need for shunning sweet shops." Those with secondary infection or deep pitting, scarring and abscesses were given special treatment.

All patients were instructed to cleanse the affected areas four times a day with an antibacterial skin cleanser. They were also told to leave a lather of suds in place about 5 minutes before thorough rinsing. A pore-closing cold water rinse was then used. The patients carried a small plastic squeeze bottle of the cleanser with them to avoid skipping a midday wash.

Welfare Plan To Aid Rural Poor

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm organization official says the Nixon administration's welfare reform plan now in Congress could help clear the air for future farm legislation.

Kenneth D. Naden, executive vice president of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, said in a newsletter enactment of the welfare plan could result in congressional debate on farm programs focusing on pertinent issues.

"Farm payments will be considered in the light of their original purpose—as a means to bring production into line with national needs without destroying economic well-being of commercial farmers," Naden said.

"Too often in the past," he said, "farm program debate has been caught up in a jumble of confusion because many thought its main purpose was to aid the rural poor.

"True, it won support from some urban lawmakers on the basis if such confusion. But we'd rather see the legislation considered on its own merits and in the light of its valid purpose."

Naden said the welfare plan, expected to pass Congress later this year, would pump about $500 million extra into helping half a million rural needy families.

"The rural poor will get 10 times more benefits from the President's proposed welfare program than they now get from farm program payments," Naden said.

Under existing farm law, government payments—last year totaling about $3.7 billion—are made on the basis of a farmer's production capacity. The larger the operation, the more money an individual can get.

Green Gate Closes Forever

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — "Closed Forever" read the sign on the door of The Green Gate, a striptease club here for 17 years.

Owner Guy Linton said he had "changed over to the Lord's side" and will close up for good.

Linton said he made his decision after the Rev. Bob Harrington, the "Chaplain of Bourbon Street," spoke to a standing-room-only crowd last week. The Rev. Mr. Harrington is a Southern Baptist evangelist from New Orleans. He and Linton have been friends for several years.

Linton said he plans to devote himself fulltime to his import business.

As for The Green Gate, it will be put to a different use now. Linton said the Rev. Mr. Harrington will use the building for a religious bookstore.

LBJ Attends White House Services

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We have been thinking of you in these services. We want you to know we are very happy you have returned in good health. You have been in our thoughts and prayers."

With these words President Nixon welcomed former President Lyndon B. Johnson back to the White House for Sunday worship services.

The former President, looking fit with a ruddy color, stood with Nixon after the service to receive the 300 guests. He and Ladybird smiled, chatted, and appeared to be thoroughly enjoying themselves.

Johnson attended the wedding of columnist William S. White's daughter Saturday and had dinner that night at the home of his former White House assistant, Jack Valenti. Johnson was scheduled to return to the White House this morning for breakfast with Nixon and an informal talk about national affairs.

In the service itself, John Cardinal Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, attacked crime and communism.

"As we seek more and more to cure the ills of society with merely material remedies," Krol said, "we run the danger of adopting, certainly not by design but by default, the false principles of the totalitarian societies whose actions we abhor. . . . government cannot exist without God . . . and absolute power will result in absolute corruption."

Cardinal Krol said that, despite some heroic efforts and notable progress, the nation is losing ground in some domestic areas. He mentioned specifically a dramatic increase in violence and violent crime and said there are no instant cures, and it is in vain to look for a miracle solution.

Rice Fire Is Probed

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators today are checking a Sunday fire at Rice University which caused $50,000 damage to the office of the dean of students.

Dr. Frank Vandiver, acting Rice president, said the fire which apparently started in the private office of Dean Fred Wierum, destroyed "irreplacable student records."

Two students discovered the early morning fire and students and security officers battled the blaze until firemen arrived.

A can which had contained gasoline was found near the scene, arson investigators said.

Arson is also suspected in a fire last Wednesday which caused minor damage to the campus Naval ROTC building.

Vandiver said if the fire was started by arsonists, he will press for criminal charges against those involved.

Bob Parks, student body president, pledged the student association will pay a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the Sunday blaze.

Tigers Take Third Place At Seminole

SEMINOLE — Snyder's Tigers came up against stiff competition at the Track Meet here Saturday, but they scored 55 points with one first place and several second places to capture third in the Meet.

Crane's Cranes wracked up 77 points to win the team trophy and Seminole, the host team, was runnerup with only one point less. Snyder edged Sweetwater by only one point and Stamford was fifth with 37 points. Scores of other teams: Levelland 35, Colorado City 32, Brownfield 30, Tulia 24, Denver City 23, Pecos 20, Little field 15, Fort Stockton 14, Lamesa 2.

Mark Gilstrap was the only Tiger to grab a blue ribbon. He won the pole vault with a heighth of 12-6. The second place boy, Mike Walker of Seminole, also cleared 12-6, but Mark had fewer misses.

The Tiger sprint relay foursome of Gary Shields, Steve Pierce, Larry Allen and Willis Harrison was second behind Sweetwater in its event. However, the Ponies, the Tigers and the third place Seminole sprint relay unit all were timed in 44 flat.

Herbert Hodges heaved the discus 145-8, and his distance was only eight inches off the winning pace set by Mike Warren of Crane.

Willis Harrison pushed Colorado City's Stan Bracy to a new 22.0 record in the 220 yard dash. Willis' time of 22.4 was one-tenth of a second better than the old record of 22.5 that had been set by Snyder's Paul Tidwell in 1965. The third place lad, Melvin Hall of Seminole, tied the old mark.

Larry Allen was clocked at 41.6 in the intermediate hurdles, and he was only four-tenths of a second off the winning pace set by Littlefield's Steve Owens.

Snyder also picked up points in the high jump and in the 100 yard dash. Jeff Stewart cleared 5-8 to tie for fourth in the high jump, and Gary Shields took fifth in the century.

Other first place winners: Bruce Foreman of Sweetwater, 4:49.4, mile run; Crane, 3:23.5, mile relay; Buddy Ward of Crane, 6-2, high jump; Bobby Boggs of Levelland, 2:06.0, 880 yard run; Craig Haterius of Stamford, 15.7, high hurdles; Stan Bracy of Colorado City, 10.3, 100 yard dash; Carl Devorve of Colorado City, 57-2, shot put (new record); Jerry Thomas of Seminole, 50.9, 440 yard dash; and, John Brown of Brownfield, 21-5, long jump.

The Tigers will enter the Distfict 3-AAA Meet next Saturday at Lubbock Estacado.

Aggies Face Acid Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The way head coach Tom Chandler sees it, his Texas Aggies get the acid test this week in their quest to unseat Texas from its perennial Southwest Conference baseball throne.

"We should know by this weekend what kind of team we will have," Changler said after the Aggies swept a three-game series from SMU to pull into a tie with the Longhorns for the SWC lead with a 5-0 record.

"Rice has one of its finest teams in years," Chandler said. "We're young and inexperienced right now but we've been getting a lot of balance."

"Great pitching and timely hitting" is Chandlers' explanation for A&M's 12-4 season record and a share of the SWC lead.

An example of the great pitching came Saturday when sophomore Bruce Katt, who was a first baseman on the freshman team last season, shutout SMU with a four-hitter and set a conference strikeout record by whiffing 19 Mustangs.

Katt's feat erased the old record of 17 set in 1967 by Texas' Larry Hardy against Rice.

Although the Aggies currently appear to have the best chance of overtaking the streaking Longhorns, Chandler isn't looking that far ahead.

"We've got a long way to go before any showdown," he said. "We're going to have a good race before that." The Aggies and Texas won't meet until the final three games of the regular season in May.

The Rice Owls, picked as a second division team, are off to a surprising start with a 5-1 SWC record. TCU is picking up steam with a 5-4 record followed by Baylor at 1-4, SMU 1-8 and Texas Tech 0-5.

Other weekend series this week include SMU at Baylor and Texas Tech at TCU. Baylor and A&M play a makeup game Tuesday.

The Aggies gave Katt plenty of support in Saturday's 11-0 victory over SMU. Billy Hodge, Mike Hadaway and Chris Sans led the parade by knocking in a total of seven runs.

In other games Saturday, TCU defeated Baylor 3-1, Rice split with Sam Houston, winning 9-2 and losing 8-2.

LA, Yanks Looked Good In Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees, second division finishers in last year's pennant races, will go into the 1970 baseball season as front-runners on the Citrus-Cactus circuit.

The Dodgers capitalized on nine walks and four California errors Sunday to whip the Angels 10-4 for 17-8 finish best among National League clubs in exhibition play.

American League laurels went to the Yankees, who bombed Houston 10-1 in their final tuneup for an 18-9 record, best for the club in 15 years.

Billy Grabarkewitz delivered three runs with a pair of doubles as the Dodgers beat the Angels for the third day in succession and Pete Ward, acquired by the Yankees from the Chicago White Sox in a winter trade, socked Houston with a single, double and triple, good for three RBI.

The Chicago Cubs, meanwhile, completed a sweep of their three-game series with the White Sox and wound up 19-10 for the spring by shelling Joe Horlen on the way to a 10-8 victory. Horlen was tagged for 15 hits and all 10 Cub runs in the five innings he pitched.

Ninth inning doubles by Ron Swoboda and Duffy Dyer around a throwing error by Minnesota shortstop Leo Cardenas gave the New York Mets two unearned runs and a 4-2 verdict over the Twins, who finished at the bottom of the exhibition standings at 7-20.

Tony Horton lashed four hits and Cleveland smacked Milwaukee 11-4 behind a seven-run sixth inning explosion. Oakland topped San Diego 6-2 with the help of five errors by the Padres, three of them in the A's three-run sixth. Frank Howard homered for Washington as the Senators played Montreal to a 3-3 10-inning standoff.

American Gals Lead The Way

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The United States, drawing heavily in the women's competition, beat Europe 25-19 Sunday to take the first of their new twice-a-year diving series.

The United States finished 1-2 in both of the women's events as European divers took the men's competition.

Debbie Lipman of Long Beach, Calif., took the 10-meter women's platform title with 325.15 points and the runnerup spot went to Lanie Loken of Ann Arbor, Mich. Cynthia Potter of Houston, Tex. scored 394.80 to win the three-meter springboard event, with Jerrie Adair of Cyprus, Calif., in second.

JUNIOR TENNIS TEAM SHINES AT LUBBOCK

In a dual meet played in Lubbock Saturday, Snyder's Junior High tennis team defeated Mackenzie Junior High 23-13 in pro and regular matches.

Bryant Young was outstanding in boys' singles, defeating Threadgill, 6-2, 6-3; Johnston, 8-6; and Hickman, 8-0. Barry Runnels defeated Carruth, 8-6, and Green, 8-5. Robert Braziel won over Holder, 13-11, and Thrailkill, 8-4. Stephen Hurst defeated Templeton 6-4, 6-4, and Jones 8-2. Joe Dale Price bested Ginsberg, 6-2, 6-0. Steve Wittie defeated Jones 6-1, 6-4 and was then defeated by Taylor, 10-12. Bobby Christian won over Barton 8-4, and was defeated by Taylor, 11-13. Charles Anderson lost to Kay, 3-6, 3-6.

In boys' doubles Price and Anderson defeated Key and Anderson, 6-3, 3-5, 12-10; Holder and Jones, 6-2, and Green and Thrailkill, 6-0. Braziel and Runnels teamed up to win over Barton and Ginsberg, 6-7, 6-4, 6-1.

In girls' singles Leslie Bilberry defeated Vicki Vincente, 8-2. Pam Smith won over Valerie Vincente, 8-3. Kathy Atkinson bested Tevis, 8-4, and was defeated by Knight, 1-8. Susanne Peek won over Ross, 8-4, and lost to Wright, 2-8. Carla Hicks defeated Wyatt, 8-5, and lost to Hufstedler, 1-8. Janna Stuard bested Curlee, 8-2, and was defeated by Jones, 0-8. Vickie Smith lost to Marple, 1-8, and Carolyn Wood was defeated by Salem, 3-8.

In girls' doubles Pam Smith and Leslie Bilberry defeated Vicki Vincente and Carpenter, 6-3, 6-1. Peek and Hicks lost to Ross and Wyatt, 2-8, and Vicki Smith and Wood were defeated by Fisher and Evans, 2-6.

The girls' doubles team from Evans Junior High School in [illegible] also participated in the meet, defeating Pam Smith and Bilberry of Snyder, 6-2, 4-6, 3-6.

Player Pleased With Greensboro Victory

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Look out Masters, the little man is ready. "It's a nice thing, winning the week before the Masters," Gary Player said Sunday after charging out of a closely bunched pack with a final round 65 and taking the title in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I feel I have it going well.

"I'm thrilled to get this form, to win so soon after coming over to this country. I've only been over four weeks. It's a nice surprise. I usually don't play quite this well this early.

"Those first two rounds I played, 70 and 63, I can't remember ever playing two consecutive rounds that well. I can't remember ever hitting so many irons right at the flag, anything from a two to a six I was right on it.

Player, who won the Masters in 1961, left for Augusta, Ga., only a couple of hours after holing out. He said he would play a practice round Monday in preparation for the Masters, which opens Thursday.

Player, who has only been in this country for five weeks on his current tour, finished with a 271, 13 under par on the rolling Sedgefield County Club Curse.

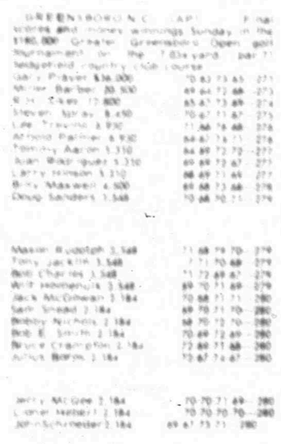
He held a two-stroke advantage over Miller Barber, who closed with a 68 and took second at 273. He was followed by R. H. Sikes, 69 for 274, Steve Spray 67 for 275 with Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Tommy Aaron tied at 276.

Trevino, the season's leading money winner, closed with a 68. Aaron had a 71 and Palmer, who led the first two days of the rain-delayed tournament, also had a 71.

The little South African, the subject of some threats because of his nation's apartheid policies, was guarded by a sprinkling of plainclothes policemen at the huge gallery that followed him and his playing partners, Palmer and Aaron.

Player called it the biggest gallery he has ever seen.

The $36,000 first place check was his biggest payday ever and boosted his earnings to more than $43,000 in only four starts.



Bengals Split 2 At Eunice, N.M.

EUNICE, N.M. — Snyder's Tigers and Eunice hooked up in two close and exciting baseball contests here Saturday and fought to a stalemate. Eunice pushed across an unearned run in the 11th inning of the opener to claim a 3-2 decision, then saw victory go out the window in the 7th frame of the second contest when Snyder catcher Larry Wall cracked a grand slam home run to give the Bengals a 4-3 triumph.

Eunice pitcher Dickie Hayes had put the Tigers down in 1-2-3 order in five of the first six innings in the contest and was working on a 2-hit shutout when Snyder loaded the bases in the 7th on two errors and a single by Butch Buchanan. Then, the muscular catcher strode to the plate and smashed an 0-2 pitch over the right centerfield fence. The blast scored Larry Braziel, who was pinch-running for Albert Hernendez, Buchanan, and Merce Hernendez, pinch-runner for James Hood, ahead of Wall.

Eunice threatened to tie it up in its half of the 7th, but Jim Patrick, who relieved Bobby Schrader in the last inning, fanned the last batter after Eunice had put a runner on second.

Schrader had pitched a good game for Snyder. Whitaker hit a home run off him in the 3rd and singles by Criswell, Webb and Harvey combined with an error accounted for Eunice's other two runs in the 4th.

David Thompson stroked two hits, including a double, and Randy Levens cracked a single for other Snyder safeties in the second contest.

That first tilt was a pitcher's duel between David Jones of Eunice, who went the distance for the hosts, and Jackie Murray and Merce Hernandez for Snyder. Jackie, who yielded only one unearned run in the 1st, gave way to Merce in the 8th.

Snyder tied it up in the 3rd when Buchanan took first on a stray pitch that hit him, advanced on a single by Levens, and scored on an error. The Tigers went ahead 2-1 in the 4th when Jim Patrick smashed a towering home run over the centerfield fence.

Eunice tied it at 2-2 in the 6th with Hughes singling in Webb, who reached first on an error and advanced on another muscue.

Jones, the winning pitcher, scored the winning run in the 11th. He walked, moved to second on a sacrifice, took third on Webb's single, and scored on a passed ball.

Each team rapped out five hits in the first contest.

Coach Speedy Moffett's Tigers open District 3-AAA action at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Lamesa.

Baseball Begins Its 2nd Century Of Play

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball attention shifted from the courtroom to the ball field today as the problem-plagued sport began its second century with traditional openers at Washington and Cincinnati while the champion New York Mets and transplanted Milwaukee Brewers waited to be trumpeted onstage.

The American League began play at Washington with the Detroit Tigers, sans the suspended Denny McLain, sending left-hander Mickey Lolich against the Senators' Dick Bosman after young David Eisenhower threw out the first ball as a stand-in for President Nixon.

At Cincinnati, meanwhile, the usual holiday atmosphere prevailed as the National League got underway with the Montreal Expos sending Joe Sparma out to pitch against Jim Merritt of the Reds in the last opening day at ancient Crosley Field.

Monday's opening program, however, was overshadowed by the potential in Tuesday's 11 game schedule in which the Mets will begin defense of their world championship at Pittsburgh and the Brewers will provide Milwaukee with a home team to root for against the California Angels.

Besides the California-Milwaukee opener, Tuesday's American League schedule shows Detroit at Washington, Oakland at Kansas City, Minnesota at Chicago, Baltimore at Cleveland and Boston at New York.

In the National League, Chicago is at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Los Angeles, Atlanta at San Diego and Houston at San Francisco in addition to the New York-Pittsburgh curtain raiser. The St. Louis Cardinals move into action for the first time Wednesday in a game at Montreal.

Emphasis on the 1970 season so far has rested largely on off-the-field problems, the most important among them Curt Flood's suit testing the reserve system, the Denny McLain investigation that led to his suspension until July 1 and the shift of the Seattle franchise to Milwaukee.

The latter, while accomplished, has left baseball facing an $82 million antitrust suit by the State of Washington and the threat of action in the U.S. Senate to remove baseball's immunity from antitrust laws. That, however, will be forgotten for a day at least.

The transplanted Brewers received an airport welcome Sunday night when they arrived in Milwaukee from their Tempe, Ariz., training base and are expected to be greeted Tuesday afternoon by a crowd of 30,000 at County Stadium.

Milwaukee has not had a home team to root for since the Braves moved south to Atlanta following the 1965 season, although the Chicago White Sox have given the city a peek at American League baseball by playing some of their home games there every season.

Manager Dave Bristol, one of eight new managers in the majors, has named Lew Krausse, 7-7 last season, to start for the Brewers while the Angels counter with Andy Messersmith, 16-11.

At Pittsburgh, the Mets, whose credentials still remain suspect to a considerable group of skeptics, will send 25-game winner Tom Seaver out against the Pirates' Steve Blass, 16-10.

Besides Bristol, new AL managers are Bill Rigney at Minnesota, Eddie Kasko at Boston, John McNamara at Oakland and Charlie Metro at Kansas City. In the NL, Spark Anderson has taken over at Cincinnati, Frank Lucchesi at Pittsburgh and Danny Murtaugh at Pittsburgh.

The Cardinals, who will open with Bob Gibson, 20-13, on the mound Wednesday, have been installed as 7-2 favorites to win the National League pennant with the Mets no better than a second choice with the Giants at 9-2.

Baltimore is a 9-5 favorite in the American League with the two leading Western Division contenders, Minnesota and Oakland, rated at 7-2.

For the second year, each league is split into two divisions of six teams each, the division winners in each league meeting in a five-game playoff and the survivors, advancing to the World Series.

Three new ball parks are scheduled to open before the season ends—at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

Dawson Dies At Age 22

HOUSTON (AP) — The 1968 starting quarterback for the University of Texas at El Paso, Brooks Dawson, 22, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack.

Dawson also was second string quarterback for the Miners in 1966 and 1967 and in 1968 played in the East-West Shrine Bowl game in San Francisco.

He graduated from college in 1969 and was employed as an accountant with a Houston firm at the time of his death.

Funeral services will be Wednesday in San Marcos, his parents' home, with burial in El Paso.

Paschal Is Golf Champ At Abilene

ABILENE — Snyder's Tigers faded in the second round of the Invitational Golf Tournament here Saturday and finished well down the pack with a 643 total.

Paschal High School of Fort Worth won the team trophy with a closing round 605. Scores of other teams: Arlington Heights 613, Southwest 614, O. D. Wyatt, 626, Cooper 628, Eastern Hills 631, Cleburne 636, Sweetwater 634, Abilene 640, Lubbock 642, Snyder 643, Western Hills 658, Del Rio 658, Graham 676, Merkel 676, San Felipe 706, and Poly 772.

John Granger of Southwest won medalist honors in a "sudden death" playoff with Mike Martin of Arlington Heights after both boys had tied 70-46-146 in regulation play. Thus Martin was the second medalist.

Scores of the Snyder boys for both days:

Phil Ator	76-79—155
Glen Rambin	80-80—160
Sammy Baker	78-82—160
Ronald Ward	85-84—169

TO UPDATE ECONOMIC INDICATORS

Dollar Base Year Changed

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — After five years of reporting a steady decline in the power of the dollar we are, mercifully, going to start afresh with figures that won't hurt nearly as much.

We are, that is, going to declare the dollar of 1967 as being worth 100 cents. During the past 10 years we have measured the value of our dollar in terms of the period 1957-1959 equalling 100 per cent. That made things look real bad.

For example, some distressing calculations reveal that at the close of 1969 the dollar was equal to only a bit more than 78 cents in terms of 1957-1959. But in terms of 1967 it was worth more than 90 cents.

What can be said of the rose —a rose is a rose is a rose—cannot be said of the dollar. A dollar is as good as the base against which it is measured. And since inflation is a fact of life, there is a tendency for the dollar to be worth less as it is measured against a more distant base.

The government isn't changing the base period simply to get a fresh start or to disguise the deterioration in buying power, although inevitably those will be among the effects.

The real reason, it explained, is that statistics must remain pertinent for its economic indicators, such as the consumer price index and the index of industrial production. The base, therefore, is updated every decade.

A good thing perhaps. How would you feel if the government used 1939 as the base period and you were constantly reminded that the Federal Reserve Note in your pocket was worth less than 38 cents?

The fact of the matter is that inflation is rarely absent from the economy in times of expansion. During recessions, of course, the dollar tends to hold its value, but the problem then is that too few people have enough of them.

As an economy expands it demands more workers and raw materials, and that usually means higher prices. More money gets into circulation also, and that permits customers to bid up prices.

The result is that while an economy booms, the value of its money sometimes slips. This often goes unnoticed while the purchasing power of workers continues to grow, the result of earning enough dollars to offset the erosion.

The question that more and more economists are wrestling with today is: Can inflation and dollar erosion be avoided?

Theoretically, inflation isn't inevitable. In practice, however, an inflation-free economy appears very difficult to obtain. In the past decade it was received only from early 1961 to late 1964. Then prices took off.

The surest way to control the upward spiral of prices would be to toss the country into a depression. But that, of course, is not only impractical but unthinkable madness.

Nevertheless, the dangers of continued inflation are considered so great that the Nixon administration did turn the country in that direction by forcing reductions in spending and demand.

Naturally it never intended to bring the economy all the way to its knees, but it clearly was willing to risk a recession, and by some measures the nation has been in one for several months now.

If recessions bring dollar stability, however, they also bring unemployment, which cannot be tolerated for long. The Employment Act of 1946 commits this country to a so-called full employment policy.

Moreover, if any administration is willing to trade too many jobs for price stability in this day and age it is bound not only to be run out of office but to see its eviction attended by violent social disturbances.

You can bet on it: If the decision is between a little inflation and a little recession, almost any administration of the future will accept inflation—and dollar erosion.

In the year 2000 it is entirely possible that the 100-cent dollar of 1970 will be worth about 65 cents. You won't necessarily be aware of it though, because it will be measured in terms of the 1990 dollar.

A Junior Editors Quiz About FABRICS

QUESTION: How do manufacturers make printed fabrics?

• • •

ANSWER: Before a printed fabric can appear, an artist must have dreamed up the pattern and made a little painted square of it (1). The sides of this square, and the top and bottom, must exactly match. This is so that a number of such squares, when transferred to a large copper roller, will give a continuous pattern, both across and along. The pattern is etched on the roller (2) so that it is slightly below the smooth surface. It picks up color from a trough and transfers it to the cloth rolling over it (3). Passing through a large machine with a roller for each color, the cloth emerges as a beautiful finished print (4). This writer was once a textile designer and knows how fascinating such work can be. Inspiration for textiles can come from many sources — the things you see in your garden, some rare old fabric in a museum. And there is always that thrill when you see the finished cloth. Its almost as good as the moment when you see the first proofs of a set of Junior Editors articles and pictures.

Navy Develops Underwater Gun

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In strict secrecy, the Navy has developed a new underwater gun to arm its combat swimmers against enemy frogmen and sea creatures.

Brief mention of "a hand gun for self-defense against hostile swimmers and marine life" appears in Navy testimony asking Congress for authority to buy a variety of weapons.

The Navy requested $410,000 to purchase underwater defense guns and waterproofed 40mm grenade launchers for its combat swimmers.

When asked for details on the underwater handgun, the Navy refused on grounds "all additional information is classified."

Navy sources seemed surprised that reference to the new weapon had appeared in the testimony, indicating it may have skipped past the censor.

The new gun is intended for the Navy's commando-like units for sea, air and land teams and its underwater demolition units.

The Seals are known to have operated in Vietnam, setting ambushes in Mekong Delta streams among other things, sources said. But whether the Seals ever engaged in fights with Viet Cong swimmers is not known.

However, nearly four years ago U.S. Navy leaders in Vietnam expressed concern over evidence that several hundred Viet Cong frogmen had been trained to mine ships and bridges in Vietnamese rivers and harbors.

The Seal teams were established by the Navy in January 1962, when the idea of special warfare units like the Army's Green Berets caught the fancy of the late President John F. Kennedy.

The Seals are trained to conduct unconventional and paramilitary operations with little outside support after leaving surface vessels or submarines, or parachuting into a target area.

Murrow's Library Given To Center

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — The papers and personal library of the late newsman broadcaster Edward R. Murrow have been given to a center named for him at the Tuft University Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

Dr. Robert F. Delaney, director of the Murrow Center of Public Diplomacy, said the donation came from Murrow's widow, Janet.

The library includes correspondence between Murrow and Winston Churchill and Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Gilda Rome Wins Annual Met Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Final competition in the Metropolitan Opera National Council's annual auditions for young singers, postponed from last October when the Met was closed and finally held Sunday night, was won by a soprano from Mexico, Gilda Cruz-Rome, 30.

The winner, who lives in Fort Worth, Tex., with her husband, Robert B. Rome, a federal soil conservationist, won a contract to the Met and $2,500. She sang "La Mamma Morta" from "Andrea Chenier" and joined in a duet from "Il Trovatore."

Each of the nine contestants sang an aria and participated in a duet on the stage of the opera house.

James Johnson, 24, bass-baritone from Los Angeles, who attended Louisiana State University, Curtis Institute of Music and Music Academy of the West, was given $2,000. He is in the U.S. Army Chorus.

Also awarded a $2,000 prize was soprano Eugenie Chopin Watson, 23, from Natchitoches, La. She attended Newcomb College, Aspen School of Music and Louisiana State University and will sing at the Santa Fe, N.M., Opera this summer, in its apprentice program.

A prize of $500 went to soprano Elaine Cormany, 25, of New York, who is a graduate of North Texas State University and is contracted to the State Theater of Saarbrucken, Germany, beginning in the fall.

Scientists Agree That More Moon Trips Are Necessary

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Again and again and again—seven more times in all—the United States plans to send men on Apollo missions to explore the moon's dusty surface.

Why?

Will repeated trips really be worth it in dollars, in the risk to the lives of the astronauts, in the scientific rewards that may come from an apparently dead planet?

On the eve of the third U.S. moon landing attempt the consensus among scientists interviewed by The Associated Press tends generally to be "yes" in answer to these questions, but not often enthusiastically so. The majority interviewed have no connection with the moon program or the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

As regards money, some point out that the bulk of dollars involved has already been spent. The Saturn rockets already exist, for example. The cost of shooting them is peanuts, relatively.

NASA says it has spent $23.9 billion so far on the whole space program. It says the operational cost to carry out a single Apollo mission is $70 million.

So even if five of the remaining seven Apollo shots were cancelled, by this accounting the savings would be $350 million, about 1½ per cent of the sums already spent.

Yet that is one-third of a billion dollars which might otherwise be spent against air pollution, to pay teachers or build schools, for medical research, or others of a host of terrestrial crises or needs.

From this saving, one would have to deduct the cost of winding up contracts, and doing something with the rockets, to store them or, by one suggestion, "run over them with a bulldozer."

Originally plans called for 10 Apollo moon landings—Nos. 11 through 20. But No. 20 was scrubbed and that rocket will be used in 1972 to put a scientific workshop in earth orbit.

Apollo 11, commanded by Neil Armstrong, landed on the moon last July, and the Apollo 12 crew landed last November. Apollo 13 is scheduled to depart April 11. While 11 and 12 both landed in flat "seas" or marias, Apollo 13 will inspect a mountainous or highland area for the first time.

Would just a few more flights be sufficient, scientifically?

Dr. Edward Anders, University of Chicago chemist, says he has been fairly jaundiced about the high cost of space exploration, but does expect scientific results from it. He is one of the principal investigators, measuring rare elements and the amount and kind of meteorites found on the moon.

"One landing is better than none, and two are better than one. But gradually there will come a point of diminishing returns," Dr. Anders says. "I can't say whether there should be three or five or six landings, but it may be something on that order. You would draw quite wrong conclusions if you inspected only one side."

"People problems" should take priority call on the nation's money, says Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, an oceanographer and president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He fears science would be set back if any astronauts lost his life and adds, "We shouldn't be hurrying to go six times in a row. We would do better to set up an orbiting community, and could use the existing rockets toward that purpose. We didn't learn everything about the earth in a hurry—our knowledge of the earth is still unfolding. So what is the point of trying to raise the curtain on the moon so rapidly?"

Dr. Wilmot Hess explains the thinking behind the planning for 10 landings. He was director of science and applications for the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, but resigned after Apollo 11 to become director of the Environmental Science Service Administration in Boulder, Colo.

Suppose, he says, flying saucers had really come from Mars and returned with pictures of the earth—like NASA's Ranger and Surveyor missions televising pictures of the moon to earth—and the Martians' problem was where to land crews on America.

"Well, to cover various kinds of regions, you might choose the Mississippi basin, the Rockies, the Southwest desert, and some large verdant area that seemed representative of the American continent.

"Likewise, on the moon you can designate four or more regions. First you might visit two maria, on the western and eastern sides, and we've done that. Then you would go to highland areas, to at least two sites, maybe more."

After exploring a few regions, Dr. Hess continues, "you would like to go to specific local features that seemed important in the sculpturing of the face of the moon."

Both regional and local targets are important, and "if you add up numbers, you get about 10. If you are going to cut them to four, say, then you have substantial problems—you must give up one major class of things to do," Dr. Hess says.

If Apollo 11 and 12 had turned up roughly the same results, "then there would be no point in repetition" of trips, says Dr. Philip Abelson, a physical chemist and editor of Science magazine. "But when there are differences, that leaves room for surprises."

As one difference, the rocks brought back by the Apollo 12 crew were found to be about one billion years younger than those from the first trip. This could mean that activity forming the moon's features extended over perhaps two billion years.

Dr. Harlan Smith, director of the McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas, thinks scientists are pleased that the remaining missions are being spaced out more, to go about six months apart instead of four months.

Scientists had complained not only that engineering seemed to be considered vastly more important than science, at least on the first missions, but also that there was insufficient time to digest the findings from one remarkable voyage before another was under way. The stretch-out provides more time to plan for a better harvest of scientific results, he explains.

Dr. Bryce Crawford, University of Minnesota chemist, puts another element into the debate.

"Science is not good science unless it is fun," he says, and NASA and the moon landings gave the public "a vicarious sense of the fun of scientific exploration, something that has been missing for darn near 100 years."

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, astronomer and past president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, suggests a "sustained and thoughtful national debate before our decisions about the next steps in space are irrevocably settled."

He proposes joint exploration of space with the Soviet Union. One benefit, Dr. Roberts says, would be a sharing of the "exorbitant and awful" money costs involved.

Luxury Liner Put Out To Pasture

By TINA C. JEFFREY
Newport News Daily Press

NEWPORT, NEWS, Va. (AP) — In the cold James River, tied to a dock at the Newport News Shipbuilding — Dry Dock Co., the mighty ship SS United States rests, and keeps on resting.

The superliner still holds the speed record for crossing the Atlantic in three days, 10 hours and 40 minutes, but she isn't going anywhere now. Cut-rate jet flights to Europe have trimmed the number of people who want to spend time and money on ocean voyages, and the proud ship has been placed in idle status for an indefinite time, maybe forever.

It's pure heartbreak for her captain, 59-year-old Commodore Leroy J. Alexanderson. He has made over 300 voyages aboard the luxury vessel, and he feels very sad about what is happening, although he won't say much except, "it's depressing, there's no question about it."

The $79.4-million ship, built in Newport News and put into service 17½ years ago, had more million-dollar voyages in 1969 than in any other previous season. However, its owner, United States Lines, says it lost money, and container cargo ships are more profitable, so the company has laid up its transatlantic passenger ships indefinitely.

Two other maritime companies have docked four luxury liners in Baltimore, and now there are no U.S. passenger ships plying the Atlantic.

Alexanderson and his chief engineer, John Logue, are the only men on the United States now. They live ashore and go each morning to the ghost ship carrying lunch and a bottle of drinking water. The ship is equipped with electricity and heat, but no water, and the men are now allowed to live aboard. Because the temperature aboard the ship is now about 60 degrees, they dress in thermal underwear and warm woolen clothes. Their dress uniforms are still in lockers on the ship, waiting for the day they may again be needed.

The men spend each day in housekeeping chores. They walk the long passageways, their footsteps echoing where just a little more than three months ago gay vacationers hurried to and from parties, dances, and sumptuous meals. A crew of 1,000 was there to serve them, and galleys could turn out as many as 9,000 meals per day. Wine cellars held 37 kinds of champagne and 134 other wines. Now the salons are deserted, the staterooms empty, with mattresses standing on end. The crew has dispersed, the captain knows not where.

Alexanderson and Logue have little to do except check the machinery, equipment, keep up the log book and reminisce over the ship's past glory. They start the emergency diesel generator and turn over the turbines occasionally to make sure they're still working, in an effort to keep the ship in condition until she goes to sea again—hopefully. But the dust mounts, and deterioration is setting in as the 990-foot ship lies idle at Dock 4.

Commodore Alexanderson, a big man with piercing blue eyes, is a New Yorker, and a 40-year man in the maritime service. He has been the commodore of the United States Lines since 1966. A member of the U.S. Naval Reserve for many years, he commanded troop transports during World War II, from 1939-1946, and is a rear admiral in the Reserve.

The United States made 400 voyages on the Atlantic. She has traveled 2,772,840 nautical miles and carried 1,025,691 passengers.

If the United States doesn't go out again—a possibility her master hates to think of—he'll probably be reassigned to command one of the fast container ships which makes more profit in one journey than the passenger ship did in her best years.

"I hope somehow we get the ship back to sea again," her master says wistfully. "I can't believe they mean to scrap her. After you've served 15 years on a ship, it becomes a part of you. Many of us had been together for years . . ."

Patrolman Sprains Back In Struggle

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A highway patrolman was laid up with a bad back after twice struggling with a 19-year-old coed who kept trying to disrobe.

Police said Trooper Richard Duke of the Florida Highway Patrol wrestled with the girl when she attempted to disrobe at a local park near the scene of an Easter rock festival.

He took her to a hospital and officials say he sprained his back in a second struggle to keep the coed clothed. The girl was admitted to the mental health unit of the hospital.

Methodist Minister Has New Plan

HUDDERSFIELD, England (AP) — The Rev. Stephen Hatcher, a 25-year-old Methodist minister, wants to close down and sell off the churches, church halls and Sunday schools in Britain and give the money raised to Christian Aid. An added advantage of his plan, he says, is that clergy of all denominations would then be free to get on with their real work instead of having to worry about organ funds and church repair accounts. He considers it "selfish, self-centered and a terrible waste of time and money" to maintain antiquated buildings that are used mainly by a handful of elderly people only once or twice a week.

A woman in Britain who has reached her 65th birthday may expect to live to the age of 80.7 years and a man of 65 may look forward to living until he is 76 years old. These expectations are based on life tables for England and Wales released by the Registrar General in his annual report.

Demonstration Planned By Clark Farm Service Center

Lindy Clark Farm Service Center, 1607 Twenty-fifth Street, has arranged a rather unique demonstration to be held at Union Tuesday, April 14.

Lindy Clark made arrangements for the demonstration with Tommy Pate, a Union farmer, and representatives of the Geigy Chemical Company and Wylie Tank Company. The headquarters for the demonstration will be at the Union Community Center, but the actual demonstration will be at Lindy Clark's farm north of the Center. Pate will operate the tractor.

"This is something Tommy and I have been planning for a long time, and now we're finally going to get to do it," said Clark.

The demonstration — a weed and insect control demonstration — will feature the chemical, Caparol, that is manufactured by the Geigy Company and tanks made by the Wylie firm. Caparol is a chemical herbicide that prevents weeds from growing for several weeks. It can be used prior to planting, during planting or afterwards.

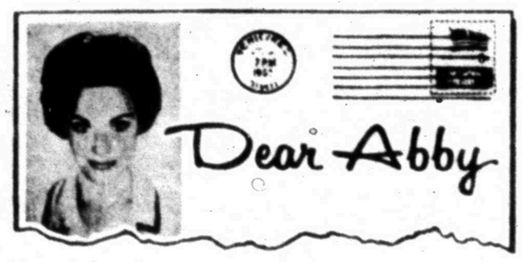
The chemical is sprayed onto the land from tractors that are equipped with special tanks. Different nozzles are used for insect and weed control. Spray boom rigs are available in many different sizes. However, the type of rig used to fit the tanks to the tractor depends on the type of tractor the farmer uses.

"Tommy has an International tractor, so we'll use a form that fits the tank to it," Clark explained.

Whatever type of tractor you have, the Lindy Clark Farm Service Center can fix you up with applicator tanks for spraying the herbicide, fill your order for a spray boom, and get you the Caparol chemical itself.

"Anyone who would like to see the demonstration is welcome to come out to the Union Community Center," said Clark. "We'll probably meet there about 10 o'clock on the morning of the 14th and begin the demonstration shortly thereafter."

The Lindy Clark Farm Service Center has just about any type of feed, seed, fertilizer, garden tool or equipment that the farmer or gardener could want. Just dial 573-3516 for prompt, courteous service or visit the Center at 1607 Twenty-fifth Street.



Readers answer critics of charities

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: May God love you for the answer you gave that person who objected to sending contributions to a "cause" in memory of a loved one.

I am a retiree, after 38 years with "A T & T," and I'm one of those nuts who loved every minute of it. On retirement, to keep out of mischief, I took a volunteer job with the American Cancer society. My job is filling in those "printed cards" advising the recipient that a donation to the "Rinky-dink charitable organization" has been made in memory of a deceased loved one. And may I say, in all those years I worked for "Ma Bell" (as we called "A T & T")—and she paid me well, never did I get the soul-satisfaction I get out of writing memorials for The American Cancer society, who I feel certain will one day wipe out that dread disease thru research—made possible by donations.

My prayers are with that woman who cannot see the value in making such a donation. May she never die of cancer.

CLARA IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: This is for "LONELY" who resented having to write "thank you" notes to friends who made tax-deductible donations to a charity in memory of her deceased loved one.

Recently our son was killed in Viet Nam. My husband and I and his young widow agreed that a donation to a Vietnamese orphanage in our son's memory would be appreciated. The response from friends, relatives (and even strangers!) was heartwarming.

I have some advice for you who are experiencing the pain of bereavement: Don't sit around, waiting for someone to come to you and console you in your grief. Get out. Take a walk. Go to church. Talk to strangers. See a movie. Drive to the country. Read. No one wants to seek out unhappiness.

SYMPATHETIC IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I want to reply to "LONELY" who voiced her displeasure with those who made charitable (tax-deductible) contributions in the name of her deceased loved one.

My beloved father recently died at a very early age of a coronary attack. While many lovely floral tributes were sent from friends, we were extremely grateful for the many contributions made to the Heart Association in memory of Dad.

It made us feel that perhaps these contributions to research of the cardio-vascular system may well someday allow another heart as fine as his to go on beating to a ripe old age.

I cannot help feel that somewhere my wonderful father smiles his benediction on these thoughtful people who honored him so that others may live.

GRATEFUL DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: To the person who felt that contributions to a "Rink-A-Dink" charity organization was a cheap and easy way to express sympathy: My mother, age 47, died of cancer last month. My family asked that all remembrances be made to the American Cancer society. My mother lived three years with cancer only because previous donations made research possible. Flowers die. Research doesn't. Knowing that contributions made in my mother's name will help someone else to live in the future makes the heartache easier to bear.

TEALA IN CINCINNATI

CONFIDENTIAL TO "YOUR FRIEND AT DEMMLER'S IN EAU CLAIRE": Of course, I remember you. And no, I did not suggest that my readers send contributions "in lieu of" flowers. Flowers say something that money can't say, but how I wish more people would remember their loved ones with flowers while they are living and able to enjoy them.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Tankers Join Forces For Test

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — The U.S. Super Tanker Manhattan and the Canadian icebreaker Louis S. St. Laurent joined forces early today for the Tanker's second test of the pack ice in the Northwest Passage. the St. Laurent, Canada's newest and biggest icebreaker, joined Humble Oil's Manhattan about 75 miles out of Halifax and the two ships headed for the southwest tip of Newfoundland.

Last summer the 110,000-ton Manhattan attempted to crack through the ice packs above the Arctic Circle in company with the Canadian icebreaker John A. Mcdonald, but had to turn from it's primary course, covered with a solid ice cover, to more open course.

This voyage is the earliest trip ever attempted into the passage by large ships but the 10,400-ton St. Laurent, is 60 per cent more powerful than the icebreaker on last year's voyage.

The object of the trip is to test the feasibility of using giant tankers new-found oil out of Alaska and the Yukon rather than having to build expensive pipelines over the treacherous northern permafrost.

US Troop Strength Dropping

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in Vietnam dropped another 9,200 men last week, to 439,400. It is the lowest level in three years and results from continuance of President Nixon's third-phase withdrawal now nearing its final week.

The U.S. Command also announced that a detachment representing the 1st Infantry Division will fly Tuesday from Bien Hoa Air Base to the United States, completing the division's departure from Vietnam.

Pearl Harbor Smoke Is Explained

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — The black smoke billowing from Pearl Harbor was chillingly reminiscent of Dec. 7, 1941.

But it was only a county bulldozer shoving tons of burning garbage into the famed harbor, which entombs the USS Arizona and other ships sunk in the Japanese attack in 1941.

"When there's a wind, boy, the stink comes right into our homes," Joseph K. Whaley complained Tuesday.

Whaley and a dozen other residents are protesting the garbage disposal methods of the nearby Waipahu Dump, saying each tide brings debris to their doorsteps.

Whaley and a neighbor, Benjamin Kekona, whose homes and docking piers are threatened by the burning rubbish, say the situation is getting out of hand.

"The other night I had to take a hose and run over to Kekona's house and put out a fire next to his boat pier," said Whaley. "A piece of wood that washed across was still burning."

Kekona, who once owned a popular fish pond in an area now encroached upon by the dump, claims the whole area is now polluted.

"The fish die and the oysters are no good," he said. "You've got to dig down for the oysters below the silt to get any you can eat."

Graham Doesn't Discuss Politics

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham says despite his hobnobbing with U.S. presidents he has not discussed politics for more than 15 years.

Dr. Graham, holding a week's crusade in Dortmund, told the news magazine Der Spiegel: "I also refuse to talk about (John) Kennedy, (Lyndon) Johnson, and (Richard) Nixon, who all were or are my friends."

Graham was asked how he felt the political-religious problems in Northern Ireland could be solved.

"I would in any case consider a spiritual awakening a contribution to the solution of the problems, if not a complete one," he said. I have refused to speak about politics for more than 15 years."

Asked if he had remained anti-Communist, Dr. Graham answered:

"That is a difficult question. For years I have not spoken about that. I can not go around the world and say who is right and who is not right."

Second Nuclear Explosion Set

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A second nuclear explosion, more powerful than the first of one megaton, will be set off on Amchitka Island in Alaska's Aleution chain in the fall of 1971, officials said Saturday.

Dr. Harry Reynolds of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif., and William D. Smith of the Atomic Energy Commission's Navada Operations Office, told of the plans at a meeting of the legislature's House State Affairs Committee.
