Affidavits Seeking Recall Filed On Three Councilmen

(AP WIREPHOTO)

ENTERS PLEA — Claude E. Vealey, escorted by Washington County Sheriff Alex Debreczeni, left, and other policemen, is taken to Washington County Courthouse today where he entered a plea of guilty in the Joseph Yablonski murder case.

Affidavits setting out five arguments supporting an allegation of "dereliction of duty" against three members of the City Commission had gone to the City Secretary's office today.

These affidavits requested the issuance of recall petitions against Commissioners Wade Choate, Jack Watkins and Eddie Acri.

Action against Choate and Watkins was taken Tuesday afternoon, an affidavit against Acri was filed late this morning.

The affiant against Choate was John Currie, vice president of the State National Bank; signer of the affidavit against Watkins was D. G. Whitten, district manager of production for American Petrofina Company of Texas; and the document naming Acri was signed by Cecil Guthrie, independent oil operator.

The affidavits were identical in wording, with name changed as to the commissioner and the affiant (these are the blank lines in the full text of the affidavits presented on this page)

FIRST IN HISTORY

The granting of the petitions marks the first in the history of Big Spring that such action comes before the people.

The affidavits, in brief, allege that "acts and omissions" of the commissioner, "have been detrimental to the effective administration of municipal government;" that acts of the commissioner have been "instrumental in vacating of the principal administrative offices of the city", that the commissioner has "violated laws of the state and the city charter in conducting a closed meeting for the purpose of discharging certain personnel"; that the charter has been violated in the discharge of personnel; and that the charter and state laws have been violated in "formulation of official action to be taken at a later date, without notice to the public."

Filing the affidavits comes as a climax to prolonged and bitter division between elements of the city dating back to resignations of key employes early in the year. The resignations to date have included those of Bo Anderson, director of public utilities; Larry Crow, city manager; Nolen Chafin, director of public works, and Herb Prouty, city attorney.

CHIEF FIRED

A climactic episode occurred in the dismissal of Jay Banks as police chief, on a 3-2 vote — Choate, Watkins and Acri favoring, and Mayor Arnold Marshall and Commissioner M. R. Koger opposing.

A public hearing on the Banks matter was held at the chief's request, and sharp partisanship was drawn. The commission subsequently declared the chief fired.

Mayor Marshall has opined that this action was illegal, and reports are that this particular issue (separate and apart from the recall move) could be taken into court.

Reports also ranged the city today that recall action might be taken against Marshall and Koger, although The Herald could find no confirmation from any available source.

A statement from Commissioner Eddie Acri on the city controversy appears on Page 5-A of today's Herald. Commissioner Jack Watkins said he would issue a statement Thursday; Commissioner Wade Choate was absent from the city.

Also on Page 5-A is a statement from 13 of the city's ministers, calling for "and end to this strife" and appealing to citizens to "proceed prayerfully and soberly."

TO BALLINGER

Judge Grants Murder Trial Site Change

By LINDA CROSS

GARDEN CITY — In a sudden move shortly after noon today 118th District Judge R. W. Caton granted a change of venue to Whitmer Jean Ballard and Orville Davis, on trial for the Dec. 2 murder of Steve Currie, 71, a prominent Glasscock County rancher.

Judge Caton named Ballinger as the new site of the trial and said he will preside over the trial, relieving 119th District Judge Glenn R. Lewis of all responsibility concerning the case.

Attorneys began questioning prospective jurors Monday morning here, and by noon today 30 prospective jurors had been rejected, four by peremptory challenges by defense attorney Bobby Bearden.

Bearden had asked for a change of venue Friday, and Judge Caton said he would consider the motion during jury selection. This morning Bearden reiterated his motion, naming Midland as an alternate site.

Judge Caton refused to transfer the trial to Midland, saying that in his motion Friday Bearden had cited the publicity given in Midland (as well as Big Spring and San Angelo) to the case as a reason for a change of venue.

A date for the trial will be set at a later time after the judge and attorneys have been able to confer on their schedule.

Ballard was ordered returned to Howard County jail and Davis to Martin County jail pending relocation of the trial.

PAID FOR MURDERS BY MAN NAMED 'TONY'

Admits Killing Union Official

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Claude E. Vealey, co-defendant in the slayings 1½ years ago of United Mine Workers insurgent Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and his wife and daughter, pleaded guilty to murder today and said the killings were paid for by a man named "Tony."

Vealey, 27, a laborer, made his surprise disclosure in a sordid step-by-step statement that told of how he and two other men stalked Yablonski weeks before the killings, of how they broke into the Yablonski home before dawn the morning of Dec. 31, 1969, crept upstairs and pumped bullet after bullet into their victims—and of how, in a moment of uncertainty, the job nearly was bungled.

$50,000 REWARD

The statement, which Vealey said he gave of his own free will and without promises of leniency, mentioned the man "Tony" repeatedly, but never identified him further. The statement was read in open court after Vealey's guilty plea.

The Yablonskis were slain the same month the raspy-voiced 59-year-old union insurgent lost his bid to depose UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

From the beginning, Boyle and other key UMW officials denied any involvement in the slayings, and ultimately the union offered a $50,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the murders.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

"This is a terrible tragedy," Boyle said initially. "I do not know at this time what or who caused the deaths of brother Yablonski and his wife and daughter. But whatever the cause, the violent deaths of three members of the Yablonski family can only be called a tragedy."

Vealey's rambling, 15-page statement was read into the record by FBI Agent Joseph Masterson of Cleveland, where Vealey and the four other defendants in the case were arrested last year several weeks after the slayings.

Vealey said he first was approached about killing someone—at the time he didn't know it would be Yablonski—in the summer of 1969, five months before the election that saw Boyle defeat Yablonski for the presidency of the 200,000-member UMW.

FROM CLEVELAND

Vealey identified the two men who he said took part in the killings as Aubran W. "Buddy" Martin, 22, also a laborer; and Paul Gilly, 37, a house painter. All three are from the Cleveland area.

Vealey said Gilly was the go-between in the slayings, making all the arrangements with the man "Tony." Vealey quoted Gilly as saying "Tony" was willing "to pay $4,200 to have this person (Yablonski) killed."

Kenneth and Joseph Yablonski, the union official's sons, sat in the courtroom as the statement was being read.

Nearly two dozen federal, state and local officers were scattered throughout the courtroom, and more lined the streets outside.

In the statement, Vealey said he and Martin were picked up by Gilly shortly after noon in Cleveland the day of the killings, and that they drove to Clarksville, where the Yablonskis' stately flagstone home stood off a lonely road nearly hidden by trees. The tiny community is in the heart of western Pennsylvania's rich soft coal country about 25 miles southeast of here.

GULPED ALCOHOL

For a time, Vealey said, the three sat in their car on a hill behind the house and drank beer and whiskey.

"Paul came up with all kinds of ideas on how to get in the house and shoot Yablonski," the statement said. "He said it would be best to go ahead and kill Yablonski and anyone else in the house and get it over with. Buddy Martin agreed to this and so did I, so we could get it over with."

Their beer bottles and cans, tossed from the car, later were found by police.

Vealey then continued his first-person account of the murders. It contained a few errors in fact. For instance, Vealey called the Yablonski daughter "Margaret." Actually, her name was Charlotte; the wife's name was Margaret.

CUT PHONE WIRES

"At about 1 a.m.," Vealey said, "we drove from our vantage point to a road in close proximity to Yablonski's house and driveway."

There they flattened the tires on two cars, one belonging to the Yablonskis, the other to their daughter.

Gilly cut the telephone wires leading into the house, Vealey said, then the three made their way inside by unscrewing the frame of an aluminum storm door in the back of the house. The inside door was unlocked, Vealey said.

"We entered, walked up the hallway, removed our shoes . . . and we proceeded up the stairway, which is circular.

"There is a short hallway to the right that we walked down and at the end of the hallway are two doors.

"The door on the left was open and led into Mr. and Mrs. Yablonski's bedroom. The door on the right was closed and led into the daughter's bedroom. I stood at Joseph Yablonski's bedroom door with the carbine; Paul Gilly was standing behind me."

KILL HER

Meanwhile, said Vealey, Martin was opening the door to the daughter's bedroom. His assignment was to kill her, Vealey said.

Link Ex-Cops To 'Funny Money'

DALLAS (AP) — Authorities have charged two Dallas men, one of them a former city detective, with passing counterfeit $20 bills in Louisiana.

They said another former detective here is being sought.

Officers arrested former police detective Sgt. Thomas W. Bullock and Thomas C. Waggoner, who identified himself as a Dallas salesman, at a grocery store in Oak Grove, La., last Sunday.

They reported a third man fled on foot with two paper sacks in his hand. A search behind the store later turned up a sack filled with more than $16,000 in bogus $20 bills.

U.S. Secret Service agents said the counterfeit bills bore the same numbers as about $3,000 in the same phony money found to have been passed elsewhere in Louisiana. The numerals also matched those on two fake $20 bills given a Dallas theater Sunday.

Bullock retired in February after 21 years with the Dallas police department.

Justice In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A chicken thief drew a three-year prison term and a bank embezzler received a suspended sentence in federal court Tuesday.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe E. Estes ordered John M. Lawrence, 44, of West Memphis, Ark., to serve the three years.

Officers arrested Lawrence at a suburban truck stop in February while he was trying to sell boxes of frozen chicken. They said he made off with 101 boxes in a shipment from Tupelo, Miss., to Houston while working as a substitute truck driver.

Robert E. Wilson, 41, of Dallas received the suspended sentence after he pleaded guilty to embezzling $1,500 last January at the Exchange Bank & Trust Co., where he was a vault teller.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Cecil Emerson said Wilson altered his balance sheet to cover the shortage.

SS-Welfare Reform Wins House Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare reform, including the first federally guaranteed minimum family income, has won House approval along with far-reaching Social Security changes.

The massive legislative package, touching in one way or another the lives of most Americans, now goes to the Senate where its fate won't be decided until at least late this year.

The House Tuesday turned back, 234 to 187 an unusual conservative-liberal coalition's attempt to eliminate the bill's welfare section. Then the measure was passed unchanged, 288 to 132.

The winners, like the losers, represented an extraordinary combination: President Nixon's emissaries working closely with Democratic leaders.

The bill would sweep away the present state welfare system, with its 54 different sets of benefit levels, eligibility rules and procedures, and substitute a federally administered plan.

It would assure a minimum annual income of $2,400 for a family of four and include the working poor, possibly adding as many as 10 million persons to the current 15 million welfare recipients.

States could supplement the federal payments—many already pay more—but would not be required to do so.

Welfare reform would cost the federal government an estimated $5.5 billion and save states $1.6 billion at present support levels.

The Social Security provisions would boost benefits for more than 27 million recipients and hike payroll taxes, although persons still working would receive even greater benefits at retirement.

A 5 per cent across-the-board benefit increase would be effective in June, 1972, and benefits, and taxes, would go up in future years to keep pace with living costs and average wage levels.

Benefits would be liberalized also for widows, persons continuing to earn money after retirement, men retiring early and low-earning couples. Medicare, now available only to those over 65, would be extended to persons retired for disability.

Riders, Ropers Gathering For Annual Big Spring Rodeo

The 38th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo kicks off at 8 p.m. today with the largest number of entries in recent years: a total of 59 calf ropers, 59 bull riders, 32 bulldoggers, 35 bareback bronc riders and 32 barrel racers, according to E. P. Driver, secretary of the rodeo association.

Driver said ticket sales for tonight's performance have been good.

"I expect a large crowd for the show, which will include a complete go-round of ropers and riders because of the large number of entries," Driver said.

Another reason to expect a good crowd could be the appearance of Ken Curtis, Festus on the long-running television series "Gunsmoke." Curtis arrived in Big Spring Monday and spent Tuesday giving interviews to local news media and visiting patients in local hospitals.

Approximately 200 riders were scheduled to trek though downtown Big Spring at 4 p.m. today in the annual rodeo parade. Beginning at 5 p.m. to help keep the rodeo spirit alive. Kiwanis are serving barbecue at the Old Settlers Pavilion in Comanche Trail Park for $1.25 a plate. Parade participants will be fed at the rodeo arena prior to marching in the grand entry.

One of the rodeo features will be Charro Gomez, with his dancing horse El Catel, as well as performance by Curtis and his band The Frontiersmen.

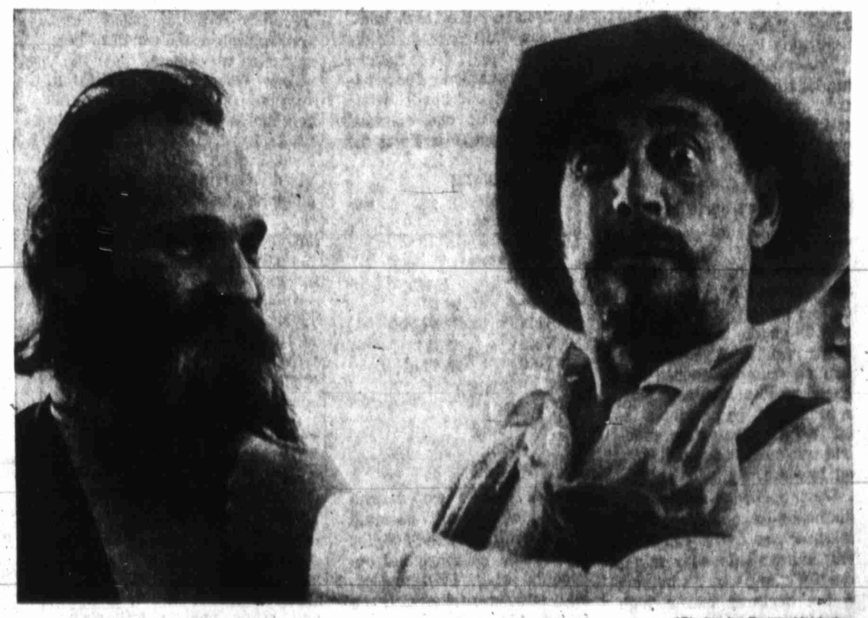

In conjunction with Rodeo Week the Heritage Museum, 510 Scurry, has on display a collection of western art valued at a quarter of a million dollars. The paintings were hung Tuesday and will be on display for four days beginning today.

A collection of the work of Bart W. Mann, the San Angelo industrial contractor who turned a hobby into international fame as a goldsmith, will be displayed Friday and Saturday in the museum.

Among the 220 entries who have registered for the rodeo events with Mrs. Mildred Farris, rodeo secretary for the Rodeo Cowboys Association, are Phil Lyne of George West, who is leading in All-Around competition with $19,456 winnings; Clyde Vamvoras, Devol, Okla., fourth in bareback bronc riding with $7,168 winnings; Gary Tucker, Carlsbad, N.M., eighth in bareback bronc riding with $6,769; Paul Mayo, Fort Worth, second in All-Around with $16,475; Shawn Davis, Whitehall, Mont., seventh in saddle bronc riding with $5,394; and John Holman, Kaycee, Wyo., eighth in saddle bronc riding with $5,078.

Livestock is being furnished by Tommy Steiner of Austin, top rodeo producer who has held shows in Madison Square Garden at other top rodeos. Ken Curtis, the "Festus" of Gunsmoke, is the featured performer at the rodeo.

The rodeo will continue through Saturday night.

ATTORNEY SAYS ORDINANCE AGAINST SELF-SERVICE STATIONS REPEALED

City Commissioners Again Postpone Action

By BRIAN PEAY

Action concerning the establishment of self-service gasoline stations in the city was again delayed in the regular session of the city commission Tuesday at city hall.

In the last regular session June 8 the question was brought up by concerned citizens about the legality of the stations' establishment in the city due to an ordinance approved in the 50's prohibiting the self-service business.

The city attorney was then directed by the commission to study the question and bring a report on guidelines the commission could follow.

"It is my opinion that the earlier ordinance has been repealed by the passage of a new ordinance in 1965 adopting the city fire code. I believe that the new ordinance repealed the old ordinance by implication," Herb Prouty, city attorney, said in the Tuesday night meeting.

R. H. Weaver, attorney for those business representatives supporting the establishment of the self - service stations, explained to the commission the operation of the 7-Eleven Store self-service station that already has been constructed on West U.S. 80 and Willa.

"The only question I have on the issue is one of the safety of the self - service operation," said Commissioner Eddie Acri.

"I have conferred with the city fire marshal and according to him the 7-Eleven system does not create a fire hazard," said Prouty.

Following more discussion and argument on the floor by those against and in favor of the self-service stations, Jack Watkins, commissioner, suggested that those on each side of the question meet with the city attorney in the next two weeks and come to an agreement to be presented at the next regular session.

"We are undecided on the steps we should take concerning the matter. I think we should study the question for another two weeks and come up with some guidelines for action," said Frog Koger, commissioner.

The commission then acted on the suggestion of Commissioner Watkins.

Truett Thomas, president of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center board of directors, came before the commission in the regular session presenting a plan to enlarge the facilities at the center.

The center will be enlarged approximately 3,600 square feet, and additional parking space for employes will be provided just off the alley on the property where the center is now located between Third and Second streets, Thomas explained.

"There will be an additional cost of $222 per month to the city in utilities, etc., with the erection of the new facilities," said Thomas.

The commission approved the additional cost and the building plan and directed that the cost should be allocated in the 1971-72 budget.

Also approved by the commission was the minutes of the planning and zoning commission special meeting June 8.

A policy that a minimum of $35, non-refundable, be charged on each application for zone change or specific use permit and that there be a 90-day waiting period before an application on the same property can be submitted to the board was a portion of the minutes that was approved by the commission.

In other business the commission:

—Denied to honor a sewage backup claim by D. P. Thompson. Thompson claimed the city was liable for the damage done to the carpet and drapes in one of his rent houses during a rain storm. Thompson told the commission he would pursue the matter further.

—Approved a low bid and awarded a contract to Gulf Oil Company for a six-months supply of gasoline for city vehicles.

—Appointed L. D. Bender, Leonard Saint and James S. Smelser regular police officers on the local force and Eli Guinn a reserve police officer.

—Approved a request by Mrs. W. O. Hendrick for a zone change from "SF-2," Single Family Dwelling, to "SF-3," Single Family Dwelling with a specific use permit, for the purpose of placing a mobile home as fixed dwelling on lot 9, block 7, Ceder Crest Addition, (822 W. 9th).

—Approved vouchers paid by the city through June 22.

—Approved portions of the Parks and Recreation Board recommendations. The commission directed that funds for the enlarging of golf cart stalls at the municipal golf course should be allocated in the 1971-72 budget. The cost will be $1,500 in materials.

The commission also directed the city attorney to study possible amendments to current ordinances to regulate vehicles and horses on the golf course and on un-designated places in the city parks.

The commission suggested that the teenage baseball and slow-pitch softball leagues clear their own problems in the management of the city ball parks, however, the commission did approve the priority of the slow-pitch softball league on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights at the ball park on FM 700 and the Eleventh Place Extension.

CRMWD Lakes' Catch Complete

Both Lake E. V. Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoirs, had about completed their latest catch Wednesday, and it added up to about 16,000 acre-feet of water.

Within the past few weeks, the reservoirs have caught around 40,000 acre-feet of water, which has greatly changed the water supply outlook. Lake Spence was at elevation 1833.78 (which is .45 more than the previous high for the lake in May, 1969). It has gained 16,000 acre-feet from rains this week, and the vertical increase in lake level has been 6.79 feet.

Lake Thomas is at elevation 2,212.56, which is 1.02 more than it had, and the increase in volume was nearly 1,250 acre-feet.

One by-product of the rains has been the diversion of low quality water at the works just above Colorado City.

O. H. Ivie, general manager, said that pumps were withdrawing 80,000,000 gallons per day from the low flow of the river. The river was still flowing about that rate, catching the last run-down from Deep Creek.

Ivie said that the district now has something like 47,000 acre-feet of water in storage, not including that held in the Moss Creek Lake intermediary reservoir.

At Lake Spence, the CRMWD was restoring the plug in the channel so that boosting water back to the Big Spring intake can be resumed promptly. Quality of the water has been vastly improved there, said Ivie.

Architects Warn About Pollution

AUSTIN — The Texas Society of Architects (TSA) has announced a massive statewide public education campaign to motivate active citizen participation in protecting the environment of the states.

TSA President Tom Bullock, Houston, said Texas architects will, during the next 12 months, use all the resources available to "unite Texans and encourage them to adopt a positive protective attitude toward our state's many environmental opportunities." He said the campaign will be waged under the theme, "Texas: Handle With Care." Perhaps this will create an atmosphere in which solutions may be reached, he added.

MAN STABBED 80 TIMES

Torture Slaying

ATHENS, Tex. (AP)—A couple entering their trailer home late Tuesday found the body of a Dallas man who had been stabbed 80 times in what some law officers said appeared a torture murder.

The victim was identified tentatively today as Martin Rios, 40, an employe of the Pendley Paint and Body Shop of Dallas. Officers said he had not been seen by friends since last Friday.

The trailer home is at Esquire Estates subdivision near Payne Springs on Cedar Creek Lake.

Dr. V. V. Gonzzales, Tyler pathologist, said three were approximately 80 stab wounds, some of them inflicted after death.

He said a stab wound in the back of the neck apparently was the fatal blow.

His autopsy showed that all wounds were about the upper part of the body and the face and neck.

Officers did not discount the possibility that the murder was of the gangland variety.

They said the murder was committed elsewhere, probably in Dallas County, and that the body was brought to this county for disposal.

The man was wearing a rented uniform

Deputy Sheriff Tom Goodell said the body was found in the hallway of a trailer home of Arlice and Syble Davis of Dallas. It was lying on the floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis had not been in the home since Monday about noon, officers said.

Mrs. Davis had been under doctor's care and Davis was wounded when he was shot during an armed robbery about a year ago.

There was no evidence of a struggle in the house, nor were there signs on the body that would give evidence of a struggle.

Sources said some of the wounds appeared to have been inflicted as torture.

Goodell said the body was found about 11 p.m. Tuesday and that Chief of Police Choice Lovelady of Caney City was the first to arrive at the trailer house.

He was joined by Sheriff J. W. Brownlow, Deputy Sheriff Pat Glasgow, Highway Patrolman Jim Billings and Chief of Police Truman Whitehead of Malakoff.

Dist. Atty. Mack Wallace conferred at the Hassell and Foster Funeral Home with Dr. Gonzalez. Wallace said officers had been informed that Rios—presuming that is his real identity—had not been seen since last Friday.

Wallace said the kind of instrument used had not been determined and a search was being made for it.

The body was being held at the funeral home.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	2 NT	Pass
4 NT	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ◇

The blind lead of a singleton against a six no trump contract is seldom recommended and today we have a case in point where such a play guided declarer into a somewhat unnatural line of play that salvaged his contract.

The bidding requires little comment. North's jump to four no trump is a natural call—a raise requesting partner to go on if he has any extra values. Altho South's two no trump response was based on 13 points, ostensibly a minimum, he promoted his holding because of the excellent five card suit and carried on to slam.

West opened the eight of diamonds—a dubious choice inasmuch as dummy had bid that suit and the play might readily trap partner's holding if the declarer has a high card in the suit. The nine was played from dummy, East covered with the ten and South won the trick with the ace.

The opening lead made it perfectly clear to South that the diamond finesse would not succeed. He had 11 top tricks—five clubs, two diamonds and four hearts. He could try leading toward the king of spades for a 12th—in the hope that East held the ace, but he spotted another route that offered complete assurance of success provided that East held either the ace or queen of spades. By cashing his winners, he could force East to discard virtually everything to protect his queen of diamonds.

South started with four rounds of hearts, East giving up a club and declarer a diamond on the last heart. Next came the club suit, declarer overtaking dummy's queen to play five rounds. North discarded two diamonds and one spade, while East gave up one diamond and two spades. Here was the situation at trick 11:

South calmly exited with the five of spades. West could not afford to play the ace, for that would establish his opponent's king. East accordingly won the trick with the queen of spades and his forced return of a diamond presented dummy with the last two tricks and the contract.

Women See Film On Cuba

Tom Henry, principal of Cedar Crest Elementary School, showed a documentary film on Cuba to the Women's Society of Christian Service, Tuesday morning at the First United Methodist Church.

The film spoke about the Cuban government under Fidel Castro, and particularly illustrated the operation of youth schools in the country. The schools are set up by the government, and students attend a long daily schedule of classes designed to suit them to a particular vocation. The people of the country hope to enlarge the amount of exported products, and more effective means of production are being studied.

Henry said that 1,000 people are allowed to leave Cuba each week for refuge in the U.S., but that once they leave they are not allowed to return.

According to the film, the people who choose to remain in the country are enthusiastic and in full support of Castro. The future of Cuba is dependent on Castro and Cuban-U.S. relations, and Castro is dependent on the country's youth.

The film was obtained for presentation by Mrs. Dale Vaughan, who introduced Henry to the group. Any organization wishing to use the film may contact Mrs. Vaughan at 267-2322 for more information. Mrs. H. C. Ernsting presided. The next meeting is at 9:30 a.m., June 22 at the church.

Legislative Reform Needed

Sentiment over Texas seems to be that Speaker Gus Mutscher faces tough sledding in trying for a third term as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Names of several challengers have been mentioned, but a firm candidate is State Rep. Price Daniel Jr., an attorney from Liberty, a two-term member of the House who classifies himself as a "moderate" Democrat. Daniel said he will run on a platform for reform of the present operation of the House of Representatives.

Regardless of the individual candidates, the House of Representatives does need to push forward with organizational reform. The Speaker carries too much power in his authority to name all committee chairmen and members. A special committee within the House ought to do this.

And certainly the joint conferences in the legislature should come under more control. A bill sent to such conferences quite frequently emerges with providions that neither House nor Senate had voted, and members have no final say. This is not within the democratic process. Prerequisites of the Speaker ought to be defined, regardless of who holds this position.

Blessed Miracle

The system of thundershowers which has blessed our area for the past several days has been an agricultural lifesaver.

Less than a month ago, our situation appeared to be mighty bleak. There were a few spotted areas which had managed to get crops up on the strength of widely separated showers, but the vast bulk of the area simply was bone dry. One Thunderstorm covered much of the county and made it possible for most farmers to get seed into the ground.

Coming up to the past weekend, it was touch and go. A few sectors simply had not been able to sprout cotton, and several which had crops up to erratic stands were apprehensive lest the crop perish from the drouth. Some producer reckoned the time of grace days.

And while not all parts of the area have received the same amount of rain, all have enough for a new lease on crop life. Most have enough to sustain cotton and feed for a couple of months, and a few have enough moisture reserve now to make some sort of a crop.

Instead of a picture of despair, we now suddenly — miraculously — have a chance for a good crop, perhaps even better. And ranchers, faced with the prospect of costly if not ruinous feeding, have an outlook for grass with a reasonable among of stock water.

These have not been the flood-type rains, but they have added something like 10,000 acre-feet to our lake reserves. Put with that of three weeks ago, this means we have gained some 10 billion gallons of water insurance and have averted what could been a tight situation.

We All Make Mistakes

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

We all make mistakes, and sometimes they come back to haunt you.

ONCE UPON a time I made the mistake of thinking that milking a cow was simple, easy and somehow exciting. So I talked my father into bringing home a cow he had taken in on an account from one of his farmer-customers. He wasn't anxious to have the cow delivered, in fact he let another party keep her for a time until we (mostly me) badgered him into fixing a lot so we could have our fresh milk supply right at our doorstep. And so I learned to milk, which was a mistake.

He made a mistake, too, which was listening to me, but more about that later.

WHEN IT CAME TIME to milk that first evening, I could hardly wait. In fact, since the folks had gone to the Chautauqua, I didn't wait, but procured a bucket, put out a dab of feed and prepared to make the pail sing — as I had oft heard others do. I grabbed those appendages and yanked, and squeezed and pulled, but nothing happened. It was nearly an hour later that, quite by accident. I discovered that the trick was to shut off the flow at the top and then squeeze the contents of the handy handle.

FOR DAYS IT was fun, and then the fun began to fade. I discovered that between milkings (as I discovered later in life about car payments) that there is precious little time. Also, I learned that if there is one possibility of soiling the udder so as to complicate the milking preliminaries, a cow will find it. If there is a precise moment when she can kick and spill the milk, she will sense it. If there is a particular angle from which to lash you with her tail, she will do so. And if it rains, she will insist on being milked in the muddiest spot, and if the ground is covered with ice and you are numb with cold. she will get on your little toe and pivot.

THUS, YOU CAN appreciate what a mistake it is to learn to milk. Now for Pop's mistake in listening to me. Late one Sunday evening, after repeated proddings, I had gone to the lot to perform my milking chores. I let in the calf to get the top milk, finally succeeded in working a rope around its neck. Pop, dressed in his Sunday best, walked by the lot and sensed I was letting the calf get too much of the milk, especially when I couldn't pull it off.

"Give me that rope," he commanded. and with a quick jerk had the calf separated, and promptly drug him off to the side of the lot. "Here," he said, handing me the rope. "Hold him."

WITH THAT HE snatched up the bucket, which caused me in a way to think he was getting a little impatient. He put down the pail, sank to his haunches and began ting, tinging the milk against the sides and bottom. Soon the crown of foam crept to the top. My mind wandered, and so did my grip on the rope. The calf must have possessed perfect intuition, for he lunged. I grasped the rope, then released as it burned through my hands.

Like a streak the calf bounded for the cow, only Pop was in between. He caught Pop in the middle of the back, sent him and the cow reeling and the milk cascading over them both.

IN HORROR and disbelief, I watched — but only for a split second. With all the speed that God had endowed me, I fled, hoping that by late night Pop would forget. That also was a mistake.

'Shotgun For Hire'

Robert E. Ford

The sight in Dallas the other day of the federals destroying more than a hundred exotic weapons was enough to make a gun buff cry.

The shooting irons were of the machinegun type mostly, pretty obviously war souvenirs and from many lands.

Spotted among them was at least one old U. S. water-cooled gun about as useless in these days of mobile warfare as a second shell on an egg.

The machineguns were confiscated from arrested persons. It is one of the mysteries of the criminal mind why anyone wanted them.

IN THE 1930s in the Prohibition gang wars the Thompson sub-machine gun, a shoulder weapon, was a favorite assassination tool.

Then World War II came along, and killing became more sophisticated, and men found that fully automatic weapons are best only against masses.

So killers returned to the pistol and rifle and no one has heard of a Tommygun killing in a long time.

An old Texas boy would have none of these exotic guns, either, while becoming one of the most dangerous men the United States ever produced.

Oh, Deacon Jim Miller carried a pistol now and then. But when he got down to business, he preferred the shotgun, that despised weapon of the nester and other non-romantic types.

The first time anyone goes to the Southwestern Wax Museum, now on the State Fair of Texas grounds in Dallas, and presses a light button and sees four men hanging from the rafters in a barn, they are liable to believe this is some legendary story phoneyed up for dramatic effect.

NOT SO. That is Jim on the north side.

His fellow victims are Berry B. Burrell and the brothers-in-law, Joe Allen and Jesse West.

The deacon is the one wearing the black broadcloth coat. The coat — the way it is draped — is the only questionable bit of history, and the Wax Museum may be as correct as anyone else.

Deacon Jim was born, an unfortunate event, in 1866. The place was Van Buren, Ark., but his family emigrated to Franklin, Tex., when he was a mere toddler.

HIS PARENTS soon died and he went to live in Evant in Coryell County. He was eight years old when he murdered his guardians — his grandmother and grandfather.

So his brother-in-law, John Coop, took over his rearing and was shortly murdered with a shotgun — first known use by Jim of this weapon for this purpose since his method of doing in his grandparents is not a part of the record.

Coop made the mistake of taking a nap and that was when Jim shot him, setting a sort of pattern for Miller's later murders. He was a sneaky killer.

Jim, his baby-blue eyes sparkling merrily, roamed Texas after that, always wearing a black broadcloth coat even in blistering heat.

OUT AT Pecos, when some character hit him about six times with slugs from a .44, people found the reason for the coat. It hid a protective steel plate.

He became a deputy in Pecos. He ran into a little trouble there. He killed his sheriff.

After that, his shotgun was for hire. Minimum $150. Maximum $2,000. Among others, Deacon Jim assassinated Pat Garrett, killer of Billy the Kid.

Then came the trouble in Ada, Okla. A pretty good gunman who also was a respectable rancher ran Joe Allen and Jesse West out of town — clear to Canadian, Tex. He was Angus A. "Gus" Bobbitt.

Then, says a recent book by Glenn Shirley published by the University of Oklahoma Press called "Shotgun for Hire," Allen and West hired Deacon Jim to kill Bobbitt.

MILLER ambushed Bobbitt as the rancher was returning home in a wagon. Used his trusty shotgun, of course.

The trail led to Miller, West, Allen and Burrell.

The judge made the same error some are making now. He ordered the newspapers not to print anything. Miller hired Moman Pruiett of Pauls Valley as his lawyer. Pruiett never lost a client in 342 murder trials.

This was too much. About 40 men at 2 a.m. April 19, 1909, broke into the jail and strung the four up in an abandoned livery barn.

MILLER WAS the last to go. One of his final statements was, "Just let the record show that I've killed 51 men."

Shirley says Miller asked for his lucky broadcloth coat, feeling that somehow, mystically, it would save him. The book's version is that he was refused.

Shortly thereafter, says Shirley, one of the mob draped the coat over Deacon Jim's shoulders, declaring, "It won't help him now."

A photograph of the scene leaves this point somewhat inconclusive for you can't really tell whether Jim is wearing the coat or has it draped on him.

The Wax Museum is pondering which way to depict Miller, possibly making a change when it moves to larger quarters on Thornton Expressway early next year.

Miller, historical accuracy or not, probably would insist on being shown wearing the coat. He always was a fussy dresser clear up to the time he lost his only murder case. He was 43.

CENSORSHIP

What Others Say

Rennie Davis will have done this country a very great service if his abuse of bail bond freedoms produces a basic change in the laws and judicial practice of this country.

He is making it clear just how absurd it is to pursue the notion that bond must be given in all cases unless there is reason to believe the fellow will "skip bond" and fail to show up in court when called.

When that is the only basis for bond denial, we see this ridiculous situation where a court is obliged to set Davis free on bond on a charge of conspiracy to violate civil rights under conditions where he promptly announces he will use that freedom to do precisely the same thing again!

As it now stands, in many states and courts, a man arrested for violent assault can stand up in court and promise to kill the arresting officer (or the judge) as soon as he is free — and still have to be freed on bond!

Davis organized the worst of this whole Washington mess while a convicted man, free on appeal bond from Chicago — a bond supposedly in force only on the basis of "good behavior!" in the first place.

The notion that society cannot protect itself from characters who postpone legal accounting for past acts and use the time and freedom openly to purse the same illegal acts has got to go. — Journal Star, Peoria, Ill.

Like Christmas

LONDON (AP) — A London toy-making firm has engaged six children as a junior consumers' council to test its toys.

"We get new toys every fortnight and report on faults and suggest changes," said 11-year-old Julian Boon, chief tester. "We are allowed to keep the toys we test. For us it's just like Christmas all the time."

Trash Doesn't Lie

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — "For U.S. entrepreneurs going to strange foreign countries, junk studies can be very suggestive. Junk tends to be a leading economic indicator," said the professor.

At first it appeared to be a joke. But as the story unfolded. the listener realized the professor had developed a system of junk analysis and that it actually could reveal the status of a nation's economy, and perhaps its future.

And there were all the credentials, as checked in an interview: Dr. Richard N. Farmer, 43, author of eight books, professor at the Graduate School of Business, Indiana University, Bloomington, Ind.

"Most economic data is erroneous for reasons beyond the control of statisticians," he wrote in the international management magazine, "Worldwide P and I Planning." P is for project, I for industry.

In quest of knowledge, Farmer has roamed the junkyards of at least 10 countries.

"Every country," he maintains, "is in at least one of five-level junk and trash development cycles," which he labels:

1. Nothing Gets Used. Mainly because the natives don't have to skill to make use of junk. Characteristic of primitive and remote tribes of desert nomads. Per capita income of less than $50 a year.

2. Everything Gets Used. Indicative of rudimentary skills in reusing old materials. Nothing is thrown away for good. Ingenuity develops. Autos are totally stripped. Per capita income up to $200.

3. Piling Up Phase. Low grade materials show up in junkyards and about the countryside: broken bottles, cement fragments, occasional tires, leaking bottles and autos almost, but not quite totally, stripped.

"Labor, particularly skilled labor, is being drawn off into more productive pursuits, so cars begin to have bits and pieces of hard to get things left on them." The junkyard "comes into its own."

4. The Age of Affluence. Usable trash accumulates. Lots of bottles, cans, tires, occasional abandoned cars. Useful stuff appears such as copper piping, two by fours, wire. Per capita income up to $1,200. Influential people talk about ecology. Trash no longer an asset but a costly burden.

5. Total Affluence. Per capita income up to $2,500 or more. Trash becomes a major public issue. Abandoned cars, throw-away containers, piles of paper become problems.

Proper analysis, says Farmer, can tell an awful lot about a country's wealth. skills, needs, initiative, morality, imagination and future.

"Instead of hanging around local luxury hotels, businessmen interested in what is really going on in a country should get out to see what's being done with the local junk.

"It beats drinking politely with local officials, and trash doesn't lie."

Nixon And Hoover

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — If J. Edgar Hoover knows what's going on in this town, and he usually does, he must find it ironically distasteful that some of his friends are saying things privately and publicly that undermine his position as chief of the FBI.

For example, practically everybody in the Nixon administration claims to have heard Atty. Gen. John Mitchell remark that the President was all set to arrange Hoover's "graceful" retirement until the FBI director's critics made a political football of the issue. The clear implication is that Nixon is not about to capitulate to Hoover's enemies.

THERE IS ALSO Rep. John Rooney, D-N.Y., and his astonishing comment on a r ecent segment of NBC's TV program, "First Tuesday." Asked about statements that the FBI bugged some private conversations of the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Rooney replied, "I happen to know all about Martin Luther King, but I have never told anybody." Rooney claimed he got his information from the FBI itself.

I suggest both Mitchell and Rooney are creating a tough situation for Hoover. The FBI boss can handle his enemies, which include both the Ku Klux Klan and the Angela Davis-Black Panther crowd (he must be doing something right). But how does he deal with his pals?

HOOVER WILL be 77 next Jan. 1. His service to the country has been so vast as to be virtually immeasurable. If there is some reason now why he should be eased into retirement, then the job should be done cleanly, not through the mills of rumor. The country owes Hoover at least that much. His continuing tenure should not depend on the political climate.

Meanwhile, Richard Nixon's position vis a vis J. Edgar Hoover could become politically untenable as time passes. The President naturally is determined to appoint Hoover's successor when and if Mr. FBI steps down. This he may find impossible.

FORGET FOR the moment that Nixon's reelection next year is far from assured. The fly in the Nixon ointment is the Omnibus Crime Law of 1968 which states that henceforth the FBI director shall be appointed by the President, but must be confirmed by the Senate.

Thus, even if Hoover were to retire tomorrow, the Democratically controlled Senate could make Nixon's job of appointing a successor a miserable one. As one Democratic leader — and Hoover critic — put it: "Hell, we could filibuster that appointment for two years, or forever." Then, with a sly grin, "After all, it's a very important appointment."

THIS IS, to be sure, politics as usual, but the Democrats would be less than human if they resisted the temptation to give a Republican President a hard time on his choice of a new FBI director. Indeed. Nixon eventually may find himself faced with the alternative of naming a card-carrying Democrat.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I wouldn't like to criticize the Christians with whom I work, but I don't approve of their conduct. Please tell me what to do.. J. C.

You have asked a most difficult question, for it is always easier to see the evil in our friends than in ourselves. Before you allow yourself to become overly critical, remember that Jesus said, "Why do you see the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log in your own eye?" I do not believe that this means we should be blind to the faults of Christians, but rather that we should first consider ourselves carefully. "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone."

At the same time, I realize you do have a real problem. If you have first examined yourself with the same standard, you are then in a better position to see the other fellow. If then his life is a definite hindrance to the gospel, you may in love speak kindly to him. The Bible says: "Brethren, if a man is overtaken in any trespass, you who are spiritual should restore him in a spirit of genileness. Look to yourself lest you too be tempted." Perhaps you may in this way win him both to yourself and to the Lord. A sincere, but mistaken, Christian will always appreciate any suggestion that would make his life more acceptable to the Lord. Do not think your correction will avail anything if you cannot yourself take correction.

Texan Digs Wine Sauce

Hal Boyle

By LOUISE VOOK
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Five years ago, my husband the Texan thought a fancy meal was one where you served barbecued ribs and chili.

Today, he wants to know whether the pate is rough or smooth, he complains if there isn't a cheese course and he prefers at least two kinds of wine with any meal.

It's not my cooking that's improved. Just his taste buds.

The making of a gourmet actually started because of my lack of culinary ability. We had to eat out a lot and sooner or later it was bound to happen.

Texas discovered French cooking.

At first he sneered at snails and frowned at frogs' legs, demanding with a drawl, "Just a steak, please."

Then he discovered the steak tasted better with a sauce. When barbecue sauce wasn't available he was induced to try bernaise.

Next came duck and veal, then pate — a rough pate, please, with Dijon mustard on the side.

Along with the experiments in food came adventures in wine.

Beer went by the wayside. He was induced to try rose wine—a safe choice with just about anything.

Then he was talked into a white wine and a friendly headwaiter supplied a book about the grape. Other tomes followed and soon he was sniffing bouquets appreciatively.

His vocabulary became sprinkled with strange terms—vintage, cru and sommelier. He read wine labels the way some people read the fine print in legal contracts.

By this time we had acquired a wine rack, several corkscrews—including one filched from the refrigerator in a small French hotel, a serving basket, a book to collect labels in and assorted cases of wine.

The same man who used to say, "I eat when I'm hungry. I don't care about food," now spends 20 minutes deciding whether a Marsala or a wine sauce would be better on the veal and weighing the merits of a grand marnier souffle as opposed to floating island.

We still eat out a lot. My culinary talents are still pretty meager. But I'm learning to cover up my failures—with wine sauce, of course.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"The King will answer them, 'Truly I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me.' " (Matthew 25:40, RESV)

PRAYER: O Christ, of all love, help me realize that "the least of these" can include the least cooperative, the least intelligent, even the least compassionate. Fill me with Your ceaseless love that I may meet the tasks I see. Amen.

Ministers' Statement Says 'No One Can Be The Winner'

A group of Big Spring ministers today submitted a public statement calling for an "end to strife" in the city, and beseeching sober and prayerful action. "The issue is larger than one or a dozen individuals; the life and health of this community is at stake."

The statement follows:

We, the undersigned Ministers of the Gospel, view with growing dismay the present turmoil in this community. We make this statement out of our own anguish and in the effort to begin, now, the process of healing and reconciliation. We recogonize that wrongs have been committed and we all share the blame. We further believe that unless charges and countercharges, rumors and counter-rumors do not stop immediately there can only be grievous consequences for everyone in this community. There can be no winners; everyone loses unless one counts as gain vindictiveness, further alienation of friend and friend, neighbor and neighbor, employer and employe.

Documents seeking petitions to effect the recall of two City Commissioners have been presented to the City Secretary. We understand that there now may be an effort made to recall the other City Commissioners. We neither endorse nor condemn the City Commission but enough is enough. In the name of God, we ask the citizens to proceed prayerfully and soberly. Enough harm has been done, too many people have already been hurt and many city employes live in a general state of insecurity. And, we question whether the recall of one or all the Commissioners would serve any useful purpose. There must be an end to this strife and we ask the citizens of Big Spring to consider, rationally, the ramifications; to reflect cooly upon what they are doing and what is being done to them. The issue is much larger than one or a dozen individuals: The life and health of this community is at stake.

The Psalmist said it well:

"Except the Lord build the house, their labour is but lost that build it. Except the Lord keep the city, the watchman waketh but in vain."

We believe it is time, past time, that the Lord be considered in the keeping of this city.

Acri Points Need For City Manager

Commissioner Eddie Acri today issued a statement concerning the recall action, noting that the city should employ a well-qualified city manager and let him make his selection in filling other vacancies. A recall election, he said, will further divide the city and prolong selection of the manager.

His complete statement:

It is my understanding that petitions are being circulated, asking for a recall election to remove myself and City Commissioners Wade Choate and Jack Watkins from office. I sincerely regret this action, for several reasons, and hope that those circulating the petitions will reconsider their action. The City is presently badly in need of a well-qualified City Manager, and my feeling is that the new City Manager should make his own selection to fill the vacancies now existing in the City administration, with the approval of the Commission. As soon as a City Manager can be selected, the job of moving Big Spring forward can begin anew, hopefully with a sense of unity among all the citizens of our fine community. A recall election will not only divide our community further, but will undoubtedly prolong selection of a City Manager until after the election, which will probably mean several months, because it will be difficult if not impossible for the present Commission to employ a good City Manager because of the uncertainty which will continue to exist until after any recall election.

I realize that many citizens are concerned and disturbed about the recent dismissal of Chief of Police E. J. Banks, especially when it followed and preceded so closely the resignation of a number of other City personnel. I respect the feelings of those who supported and continue to support Chief Banks, and I can only hope that they also respect the decision of myself and the other commissioners who voted to dismiss Chief Banks. I can assure the people of Big Spring that I did not take office with the intention of dismissing or asking for the resignation of anyone, and I'm sure the same is true of all other members of the Commission. I can also assure you that there has been no attempt on the part of myself and Commissioners Choate and Watkins to vote as a "block" in order to gain control of the Commission, although I am aware that many feel this is the case. I can only say that I vote on each issue which comes before the Commission as I see the particular issue, and it is of no concern to me which Commissioners vote with or against me.

Although many of our decisions have not been unanimous, I have always respected the positions of the other commissioners and feel that they have voted their convictions, even when we have disagreed. I have heard of a possible recall election to remove Commissioner Koger and Mayor Marshall from office, and I would be just as much against a recall of those two Commissioners as I am against the recall of Commissioners Choate, Watkins, and myself. I sincerely regret that the dismissal of Chief Banks was necessary, but I felt at the time of the decision and still feel that the action was necessary, and voted accordingly. I know that the other commissioners voted their convictions also, either for or against the dismissal. My hope now is that we can begin to rebuild, and that will require the cooperation and unity of all our citizens. The recall petitions being circulated will not promote the unity we desperately need at this time, but will only add to the bitterness between various factions in our city which now exists.

Sick Girl Is Reported In Satisfactory Condition

Genese Garza, 12, is reported to be in satisfactory condition by Medical Center Memorial Hospital officials following a court injunction issued Tuesday morning that allowed doctors to treat her.

The child was found by ambulance drivers on the floor of a house at 3308 W. Highway 80 after a telephone call by an unidentified boy had alerted them.

She was rushed to the hospital, but since no parents or family could be reached, could not be admitted. Police were called into the case early Tuesday, but were unsuccessful in locating parents or guardians of the girl.

Hospital officials agreed to keep the girl until at least Tuesday evening while the search for the parents went on. Her mother reportedly was contacted Tuesday afternoon.

Judge A. G. Mitchell was notified by hospital officials Tuesday morning that the girl was ill and needed immediate treatment, but that a phone call, supposedly by a sister of the sick girl, had been received by doctors, telling them not to touch her.

Judge Mitchell then issued a court injunction allowing doctors to treat the girl.

The girl at first was reported to have pneumonia, but officials at Medical Center said today that tests are still being run.

TIGHT SECURITY — Handcuffed, manacled, and heavily guarded, Renee Adolfo Guzman, 33, left, and Leonardo Rames Lopez, 24, arrive at Bell County courthouse from the county jail, just a block away. Jury selection in their trial went into its third day today. The state is seeking the death penalty for the two, charged with the shooting deaths last February of three deputy sheriffs near the Trinity River in West Dallas.

Rival Lawyers Accept Four Members Of Jury

BELTON, Tex. (AP) — Eight jurors remained to be chosen at the start of today's session in the trial of two Dallas men charged in the shooting deaths of three sheriff's deputies.

Rival lawyers accepted four members of the jury Tuesday before exhausting the first panel if 100 veniremen.

Rene Adolfo Guzman, 33, and Leonardo Rafos Lopez, 24, are accused in the Feb. 18 killings of the officers beside the Trinity River in West Dallas.

Mrs. Elsie Seely of Temple, a Veterans Administration hospital employe, was the first juror selected Tuesday.

She said she could vote for the death penalty "without equivocation" if the circumstances warranted, and she would vote for a minimum sentence "if the evidence warrants."

Others impaneled were John E. Massey of Temple, an insurance salesman; Norman A. Burton of Killeen, a refrigeration engineer at Ft. Hood, and William James Carlbert of Killeen, a civil service employe at Ft. Hood.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade of Dallas seeks the death penalty for the defendants, who are accused of shooting deputies Safuel Infante and W. D. Reese of Dallas County and A. J. Robertson of Ellis County.

Dist. Atty. Stanley Kacir of Bell County, who is assisting Wade, said a jury in this county has not sentenced anyone to the electric chair since 1957, when a Temple man was convicted of raping a woman who was eight months pregnant.

Wade remained hopeful that the jury could be completed by Saturday.

Guzman and Lopez appeared bored during Thursday's proceedings. Both smoked an occasional cigarette.

Lawyers averaged 30 to 40 minutes questioning each prospective juror Monday—the trial's first day—and Tuesday. Most were rejected because they said they were against the death penalty or a minimum murder with malice sentence of two years, or already had formed an opinion about the case.

Prosecutors said they will attempt to prove Guzman and Lopez held the three deputies captive at a West Dallas residence, then forced them to drive to a dump ground where they were killed.

Nome Will Bury Its Winter Dead

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Nome will have all its winter dead buried by Thorsday, undertaker Bobby Morse said Tuesday. The burials have been hampered by frozen ground, called permafrost, and digging has been slow, he said.

The bodies are stored in winter and cannot be buried until break-up time in the North Country. Twelve of 17 bodies already have been buried, Morse said.

The other five will be buried by Thursday afternoon.

Ex-VFW Chief Calls Times 'Rag'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A past commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has attacked the New York Times and the Washington Post for their publication of secret Pentagon documents about the war in Southeast Asia.

Raymond Gallagher, speaking to the veterans' convention, said the two newspapersshould have gone through proper channels to gain clearance for publication of the documents, but instead ignored those channels.

He called the Times "a rag," and said the newspaper has gotten so large it wants to be the system instead of a part of it.

REP. GONZALEZ OF TEXAS CLAIMS:

Fed Agency Trying To Hide Sharp-Wilson Relationship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Tex., has accused the Justice Department of arranging to hide the relationship between Frank Sharp and Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson by not prosecuting Sharp fully.

Wilson in a statement acknowledged that as a private attorney he had in the past represented Sharp but said he took no part in the decision to grant Sharp immunity.

FALSE ENTRIES

That decision he said was made by Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst on the basis of information presented to him.

In a House speech Monday, Gonzalez said the department arranged for Sharp, former board chairman of the now-defunct Sharpstown State Bank, to plead guilty to lesser charges of making false entries in a bank and selling unregistered securities.

STOCK FRAUDS

"By not prosecuting Sharp vigorously, the Department of Justice hopes to keep the public from ever learning the relationship that its own assistant attorney general had with Sharp," Gonzalez said.

He said it was Wilson who helped Sharp acquire 518,000 shares of the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. in June, 1968.

"It was this same National Bankers Life stock that subsequently was apparently used in various frauds and schemes attributed to Sharp and his friends during which the stock of the company went from $9 a share to $29 a share; it sells today for $3 a share," Gonzalez said.

Sharp was accused by the Securities and Exchange Commission of making deals with high state political figures to get banking legislation passed, but was given three years probation and a $5,000 fine after pleading guilty to the lesser violations.

"It seems that Mr. Sharp is to be given immunity in exchange for his help in securing indictments and convictions of a number of Texas officials he dealt with," Gonzalez said. "In other words, it looks as if the federal government wants to hang these who might have been corrupted but let the corrupter go free."

Wilson, a chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, has already disqualified himself in the case because, he said, of his past associations with Sharp.

Wilson responded to Gonzalez' allegations,saying:

LEFT TEXAS

"As a private attorney in Texas I did negotiate for Mr. Sharp to acquire an interest in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. The transactions that are the basis of the SEC charges against Mr. Sharp arose out of actions that took place after I left Texas to become assistant attorney general.

"As a private citizen I did own shares in National Bankers Life Insurance Co. I sold all of this stock when I left Texas to come to Washington to take this job.

"As a member of the Texas State Bankers Commission in the early 1960s, I did vote for the charter of the Sharpstown State Bank because it was a good application of the merits.

"I took no part in the decision to grant immunity to Mr. Sharp because I have formerly represented him.

"The decision to grant immunity was made by Mr. Kleindienst solely on the basis of evidence presented to him.

"As far as the sentencing of Mr. Sharp is concerned, that was entirely under the jurisdiction of Judge John V. Singleton in Houston. It is the practice of the federal judge in Houston not to seek a recommendation on the sentencing from the U.S. attorney. In this case Judge Singleton made it clear that he did not have a recommendation on the sentence and would not permit one. There was no agreement with the Justice Department on the sentence. This was solely the responsibility of the federal judge.

"I regret that Congressman Gonzales chose to make statements and innuendos which are entirely false."

Disease Threatens Horse Industry

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — The Lower Rio Grande Valley may become a battleground in the fight to stop the northward spread of a horse disease which threatens the horse industry in the United States.

A task force of animal and human health authorities, both state and federal, began assembling at Harlingen Tuesday to formulate plans to halt the spread of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (Vee).

Although no case of the disease has been confirmed in the United States, there has been a confirmed case within 200 miles of the Texas-Mexico border near Tampico, officials said. Another case, described as "clinically observed," but not confirmed, has been noted within 50 miles of the border. This case was reported between San Fernando and San Teresa, Mexico, in Northern Tamaulipas state.

TASK FORCE

Agencies represented in the task force being assembled at Harlingen were the Texas Animal Health Commission, U. S. Agriculture Department, Texas Health Department, and the U.S. Public Health Service.

Top officials in the task force included Dr. P. R. Henry of the animal health division of the U. S. Agriculture Department from Colorado Springs, Dr. Roy Chamberlin of the center for disease control of the U.S. Public Health Service and Dr. H. Q. Sibley, a state veterinarian with the Texas Animal Health Commission.

One portion of the plan to combat the disease would call for aerial spraying for mosquitoes, the main carrier of the disease. Other plans call for working with county agents and local veterinarians in spreading information about the disease. Local veterinarians would also be asked to watch for symptoms of the disease which is a form of "sleeping sickness."

The disease can spread to humans, but it is not as serious, according to Dr. Chamberlin. The disease, he said, can be fatal to horses. The spread of the disease from South and Central America to Southern Mexico last year resulted in the death of about 6,000 horses.

SHOTS APLENTY

Mexican officials are working on a mass immunization program to vaccinate some 200,000 horses and mules in Northern Mexico. The vaccine is being furnished by the U. S. Agriculture Department. The work of the immunization team is being observed by a U. S. technician.

A spokesman said that experimental vaccine is ready for use in the event a case is confirmed in the United States. The experimental vaccine was developed by the U.S. Army for humans and has been used in horses in South and Central America as well as in Mexico.

Symptoms of the disease in horses, officials say, include fever, ignoring feed and water, walking in circles, lack of coordination, standing in abnormal positions with legs crossed or head pressed against a wall. Task force officials urged horse owners to immediately report any sick horses.

The spokesman also said horse owners should protect their animals against insect bites, particularly from mosquitoes. ....

NIXON ACCUSED TRUMAN ADMINISTRATION

There's Been A Change In Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty years ago, when the shoe was on the other foot, Richard M. Nixon accused the Truman administration of holding back classified documents for political reasons.

"The new test for classifying secret documents now seems to be not whether the publication of a document would affect the security of the nation," Nixon said at the time, "but whether it would affect the political security of the administration."

Nixon demanded that Truman release the complete report on which the New York Times had based a story about Gen. Douglas MacArthur's alleged misguessing in Korea.

Currently the Nixon administration is struggling in court to keep the Times and other newspapers from printing information obtained from classified documents on the Vietnam war.

A few days after Truman fired MacArthur as the allied commander in Korea, the Times published an article on April 21, 1951, based on secret records of talks between MacArthur and Truman on Wake Island Oct. 15, 1950.

Drawing from the classified papers, the Times said MacArthur had predicted the Chinese would not intervene in the war and boasted they would be "slaughtered" if they did.

The Times story also said MacArthur told Truman and others victory would be obtained by Thanksgiving, 1950, and the Eighth Army would be back in Japan by Christmas.

The next day Nixon responded that "one of the most vicious smear campaigns in history" had been planned against MacArthur.

LITTLE CHANCE

Nixon, then a senator from California, said the leaked documents were "obviously selected to spotlight every action of the general which might reflect on him unfavorably."

"Certainly," Nixon said then in a statement released in Washington, "if classified documents are now to be made public, the committees of Congress and the American people should be entitled to see not only those documents which might reflect against MacArthur, but also those which might reflect in his favor."

On May 3 the Truman administration released the collection of documents, entitled "Substance of Statements Made at Wake Island," to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Affairs committees, which then made most of them public.

The released documents backed up the Times story, quoting MacArthur as saying at the conference there was "very little" chance of Chinese intervention.

CAST OF CHARACTERS IN 1963 DRAMA — Roger Hilsman, left, assistant secretary of state to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, recommended that South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem, right, be overthrown if he entered into negotiations with North Vietnam, The Chicago Sun-Times said Wednesday. Hilsman's memo, dated Aug. 30, 1963, and top-secret Pentagon documents show that the late President John F. Kennedy and his leading advisers were intimately involved in events which led to Diem's downfall, the paper said. Diem and his brother-in-law, Ngo Dinh Nhu, second from right, died in a November, 1963, coup.

PROVIDED ALL AMERICAN PRISONERS ARE FREED

Senate Urges Troop Pullout In Nine Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has gone on record favoring withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Indochina in nine months provided all American prisoners of war are freed.

But the White House says Tuesday's 57-42 passage of the non-binding pullout amendment won't affect war policy. And House Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., indicated the measure would die in a House-Senate conference anyway.

The amendment originally was drafted by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. It was attached to a bill to extend the military draft.

SHOUTED DOWN

The Mansfield amendment was adopted after stronger measures foundered. It "urges and requests the President to begin immediate negotiations of a ceasefire in North Vietnam, as well as mutual troop withdrawals and prisoner releases over a nine-month period from the date the measure is enacted.

The withdrawals and releases would come in stages until there are no more American prisoners in enemy hands.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler dismissed the amendment as merely "what 57 senators think our policy should be.

"It is not the view of the Congress as a whole," he added.

As if to underscore that, Hebert said he, as leader of House conferees on the draft bill, would refuse to tack any end-the-war proposal onto it.

The House reaffirmed its stand against such proposals last week, shouting down an amendment similar to Mansfield's by voice vote and rejecting a Dec. 31 pullout date 254 to 158.

NO COMMENT

In Paris, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations to the peace talks had no immediate comment on the Senate vote.

The long-standing Communist position has been that discussions on the release of U.S. prisoners could begin only after the United States agrees to a pullout by a reasonable date.

Mansfield said his measure passed even though many senators were reluctant to invade the authority the President claims in time of war.

Inclusion of end-the-war sentiment in the draft bill casts more doubt on whether it can be passed before the present Selective Service law expires midnight June 30.

VOTE REQUIRED

Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Alan Cranston, D-Calif., leaders of a filibuster against the draft bill, have predicted flatly they have the votes to beat back any move to shut off debate before the draft law expires.

The Senate set a vote late today on a leadership move to limit debate. A two-thirds vote is required.

Mansfield and his followers saw the success of his amendment as filling a national policy gap they say has existed since the Congress last year repealed the Gulf of Tonkin resolution.

Will British Public 'Buy' Common Market?

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Britain and the six Common Market nations came to terms early today on Britain's admission to the European Economic Community. Now Prime Minister Edward Heath has to sell it to the British Parliament.

"We have broken the back of the negotiations. It is an historic day for Europe," Geoffrey Rippon, Britain's negotiator, told newsmen after an all-night bargaining session with the six Continental foreign ministers ended with champagne toasts at 4 a.m.

MAJOR ISSUES

The agreement also cleared the way for negotiations with Norway, Denmark and Ireland on their applications to join the customs union formed in 1958 by France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The remaining major issues in Britain's 10-year bid for membership were resolved when the negotiators put together a package that included concessions to Britain's trade with New Zealand, the amount of Britain's first contributions to the joint Common Market budget and help for British coastal fishermen and hill farmers.

But with polls showing 60 per cent of the British public opposed to Market membership and members of both the Labor and Conservatives parties divided on the issue, Heath faces a stiff battle selling the terms in Parliament in the fall. His target is membership by Jan. 1, 1973.

'FREE' VOTE

Political sources in London estimate that if the vote is "free," with a member permitted to vote his convictions and not as the party majority decides, Heath could win by a comfortable 70 or 80 votes. But if the opposition Labor party decides against Market membership and party discipline is enforced, abstentions by anti-Market Conservatives might be too much for Heath.

Former Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the leader of the Labor party, is likely to hold the key. He has said repeatedly he would be in favor of joining Europe "if the terms are right," but he has shown signs recently of moving into the anti-Market camp.

Opponents of Market membership fear Britain will lose some of its national sovereignty and face an even higher cost of living because food prices will be geared to the higher prices charged by continental farmers.

JESUIT ORDER DEFAULTED

Bank Sues Frank Sharp Over $500,000 Loan

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Houston bank Tuesday filed a half-million dollar law suit against Houston developer Frank Sharp, 65, who pleaded guilty earlier this month to violations of federal laws.

The Fidelity Bank and Trust Co. named Sharp in a state court suit over a Dec. 15, 1970, loan for $500,000 made to the Jesuit Fathers of Houston, Inc. The bank claimed Sharp signed a guarantee of payment of the note.

The suit says the note became payable Jan. 14, 1971, and the Jesuit Fathers failed to pay it.

The Securities and Exchange Commission filed a civil suit against Sharp and 27 other individuals and institutions Jan. 18, 1971, in Dallas charging they manipulated the stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co.

The SEC suit claimed that Sharp used the Jesuit Fathers, who operate the Strake Jesuit Preparatory School here in his manipulations. They were not named as a defendant in the SEC suit.

HUNT SHELTER

The Jesuit Fathers have since sought shelter under federal bankruptcy laws, claiming they lost over $8 million by relying on Sharp's financial advice.

Sharp pleaded guilty earlier this month to two counts on violations of federal stock and banking regulations and was given a three-year probated sentence. He also agreed to testify as a government witness in return for further immunity from prosecution.

The SEC suit and supporting depositions filed in federal court in Dallas claimed that Sharp helped prominent state officials make quick profits on National Bankers Life Stock at the same time the legislature was passing laws that would have exempted Sharp's Sharpstown State Bank —which has since folded—from regulation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

GOVERNOR NAMED

Among those named in the depositions were Gov. Preston Smith, state Democratic Chairman Dr. Elmer Baum, Speaker of the House Gus Mutscher, and Reps. W. W. Heatly of Paducah and Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth. They were not named as defendants in the SEC suit.

The suit filed here Tuesday by the Fidelity Bank does not name the Jesuit Fathers as a defendant, pointing out that they are unreachable by the courts because of federal bankruptcy proceedings.

Also Tuesday the SEC resumed here the taking of depositions in preparation for its suit against Sharp and the others which is scheduled for August in Dallas.

Interviewed was Betty Jordan, who was secretary for Joe Novotny when he was president of the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank. Mrs. Jordan had appeared before the SEC team in April but they said some questions remained to be answered.

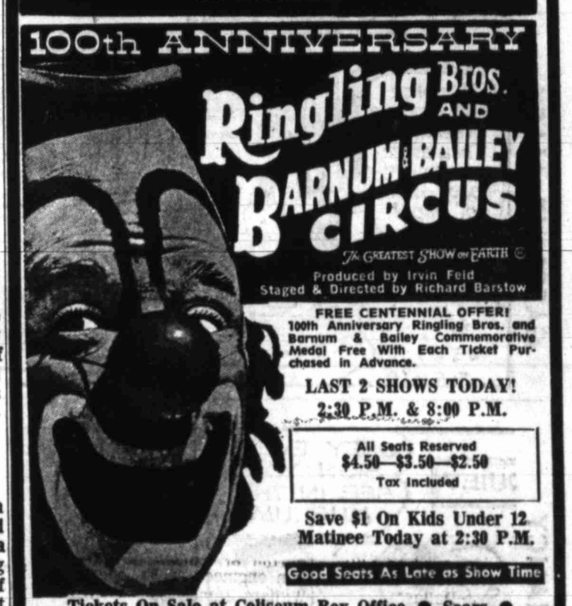

The next major round of deposition taking by the SEC is scheduled for July 6-9 in Austin, agency officials said.

Scheduled to be interviewed are Gov. Smith, Mutscher, Heatley, Dr. Baum, and Rush McGinty, a Mutscher aide.

Blind Newscaster 'Hands' Out News

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — When you first watch Paul Caputo reading the news over WWLP-TV, you wonder why he is wearing dark glasses.

If you watch carefully, you see his arms are moving back and forth and then you realize why—he is reading the news in Braille.

WWLP believes Caputo is the first blind newsmen on U.S. television.

Blind since birth, Caputo, 26, joined the station's news staff this month, with a helping hand from modern technology and his seeing eye dog, Lupo.

"I have the feeling more people are watching me than are listening to me," he said in an interview. Viewers have accepted him and congratulated the station for taking the gamble.

Caputo takes notes by tape recording interviews on a pocket-sized recorder. For on-the-air material, he uses a braille typewriter.

Caputo was a 1969 graduate of American International College, where he was a disc jockey on its FM station, Caputo has been a ham radio operator for 11 years.

He telephoned WWLP owner William L. Putnam last November and asked if there were any openings.

"I didn't mention my visual status to him, since so many people tend to stereotype blind people and not give them a chance," Caputo said.

But Putnam was not put off by Caputo's blindness when he came for an interview and promised him a try at a job.

It was contingent on research at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, where a team was developing a high - speed Braille embossing machine, known as "Braillemboss," which can be connected to newswire teleprinters to produce instant reports in Braille.

Caputo reads the Braille copy with one hand while finding the next line with the other.

"The first time, I couldn't read, I couldn't think, and I couldn't talk," he said.

"Then one day, Bill Putnam told me, 'You're going on the air tonight.'"

Caputo came across cool and calm, and has been on the air Tuesday and Thursday nights ever since.

Coke County Wins In Soil Contest

Three Texas conservation districts are first place winners in the annual Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards competition.

Coke County Soil Conservation District won top honors in the southwestern section of the state; Marion-Cass Soil and Water Conservation District is the eastern area winner, and Ochiltree Soil Conservation District is No. 1 among the north Texas districts.

The winning districts were selected by a committee of conservation leaders on the basis of planning, leadership and accomplishments in resource development last year. The contest, now in its 25th year, is sponsored by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in cooperation with the National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD).

Two representatives of each winning district will be guests of the rubber company in December on a four-day visit to the 10,000-acre Goodyear Farms and The Wigwam, a desert resort, at Litchfield Park, Ariz. They will join representatives of other first-place districts for the vacation-study tour.

Coke County district's representatives will be N. C. Pentecost, Sanco, who was named the district's outstanding landowner-cooperator, and D. K. Glenn, Bronte, member of the governing board.

'Dear God, We Won' Baby Lenore

MIAMI (AP) — A Florida judge has ruled that Nicholas and Jean DeMartino, who abandoned their Brooklyn home after New York courts said they had to return their adopted daughter Lenore, may keep custody of her.

"Dear God, we won," Nicholas DeMartino cried when Dade County Circuit Judge Ralph Cullen ruled Tuesday that the DeMartinos could keep Lenore.

Jean DeMartino hugged their Miami attorney, William Colson. She and her husband wept openly with joy.

Sitting just a few feet away Olga Scarpetta also broke into tears. Her child was not her own.

Miss Scarpetta, 33, put the child up for adoption with a New York agency four days after Lenore's birth on May 18, 1970. The DeMartinos, then living in Brooklyn, took custody of the infant four weeks later.

Miss Scarpetta, a Colombian native now working as a secretary in New York, later tried to get Lenore back. The adoption agency refused but lost the fight in court.

The DeMartinos fled to Florida with Lenore and their 4-year-old adopted daughter, Linda, last month. They said they plan to stay.

Miss Scarpetta's attorneys said they would appeal Cullen's decision even though the DeMartinos said if Lenore were to demonstrate she wanted to see her natural mother, they would agree to it.

Cullen said he decided to deny Miss Scarpetta's Florida suit "in view of all the time, evidence and the DeMartinos' good reputation."

DeMartino, an attorney, and his wife still face contempt of court charges in New York.

June Christmas

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our next door neighbors still have their Christmas decorations up! It's not just a wreath or a Christmas tree. They have a huge Noel sign across the front of their house, and on the lawn there's a life-sized Santa Claus in a sleigh with a woodcut of reindeers.

The flowers have begun to bloom and the grass is green already, and this Santa in his sleigh makes the whole neighborhood look ridiculous. What should we do?

THE FOLKS NEXT DOOR

DEAR FOLKS: In the first place, your neighbors make only themselves look ridiculous, so don't do anything. Besides, it could be to your advantage. When giving directions on how to get to your home, just say, "It's the house next to the one with the Noel across the front and the Santa on the lawn. You can't miss it!"

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where someone said if a girl in a small town proved to be "easy" for the guys, if she wanted to get married, she had better leave town because guys talk.

Well, girls talk about guys who take them out for only one thing, and if the guys don't have to leave town, why should the girls? JUST ACTING

DEAR JUST: Because in spite of all the women's "lib-bing it up" — it's still a man's world.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have two very close girl friends. I'll call them "Blondie" and "Red." My problem is that these girls are not speaking to each other. It's not just a little spat that might blow over soon, they have been bitter enemies for a long time. I am going to be married soon and I want them both in my wedding party. (I was maid of honor for both of them.)

Blondie says if Red is in the wedding party, I can count HER out. On the other hand, Red says she doesn't care if Blondie is in the wedding party or not, but she'll ignore her if she is. Abby, I hate to leave either one of my friends out, so what should I do?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Don't let Blondie force you to make a decision. Tell her that you want her in your wedding party, but you intend to invite whomever else you want, and if she chooses to accept or decline, the decision is HERS

• • •

DEAR ABBY: It's a cinch that bachelor who would like to marry a woman with children doesn't live in Phoenix! I am a divorcee with three school-age children, a pretty good job and not quite enough support money, but I don't feel that my children need a live-in father, and I am not suffering for need of a husband.

Every time I meet a man and he finds out I have three children, he bolts for the nearest door. What an inflated ego he has to believe that I would want to marry HIM!

Pressure Testing

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any risk or hazard from the effects of a sphygmomanometer (blood pressure testing apparatus)? That is, can it possibly cause a rupture in the heart area, ballooning of an artery, etc.?

What actually is happening when the pressure test is being taken?—M.P.P.

No, no hazard at all. The inflatable cuff is wrapped around an arm (sometimes a leg) and inflated until it shuts off the flow of blood in the artery. The shut-off is only momentary.

As you doubtless know, blood pressure is expressed in two figures, such as 140-90, which is spoken as "140 over 90."

The first represents the pressure reached when the heart is beating, or pumping. That is called the systolic pressure.

The second figure represents the "resting pressure" which exists between beats, and is called the diastolic pressure.

Blood pressure fluctuates between these two figures; it does not do down to zero between beats.

Here is the way these figures are determined. After the cuff is inflated, the pressure is gradually released, the doctor at the same time keeping his stethoscope on the arm, below the cuff.

While the circulation is entirely cut off, he hears no pulse beat. But as the pressure is released, presently he begins to hear a thump, or pulse. That comes when the systolic pressure is sufficient to force blood past the cuff. Noting the pressure at that moment gives you the first figure, the systolic pressure.

Then, as he still further releases the pressure in the cuff, all the while listening to the thump of the pulse, there comes a point at which the thump is no longer heard.

This is the moment at which the pressure has fallen to its minimum level, and this gives us the diastolic pressure reading.

The momentary compression, shutting off flow of blood in arm or leg, is not sufficient to disturb the pressure in the heart or the rest of the arterial system.

It is much less than occurs when, for example, you sit on the edge of a hard bench and blood flow is cut off enough to make your feet and legs tingle or "go to sleep."

Leaving the cuff inflated a little longer could cause some tingling in your arm, and perhaps redness of hands and fingers, but this is still so slight as to cause no harm.

• • •

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could "the pill" be the cause of a recent seemingly uncontrollable weight problem?—Mrs. D.R.P.

The birth control pill can be associated with some gain in weight because of water retention in the body's tissues, but this is pretty much limited. If it is really an "uncontrollable" problem, you'll have to look farther for the causes.

HEY, I THOUGHT THIS WAS A BULLPEN — Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder Willie Stargell (8) ponders the winning form of New York Met pitcher Nolan Ryan during a milking contest against Pirate catcher Bob Veale. The contest, held prior to the Pirate-Mets game Tuesday night in Pittsburgh, was held to promote National Dairy Week. Ryan, incidentally, won the contest. The cow's name is Geraldine, if anyone is interested.

Pitcher-Rich Baltimore Now Has Another Starter

By The Associated Press

With a starting pitching rotation that had produced 30 complete games in 2½ months, the one thing the Baltimore Orioles didn't seem to need aws another starting pitcher.

But Earl Weaver, the dandy little manager of the Orioles, handed the baseball to a new starter Tuesday night and now Grant Jackson has given the pitching-rich Birds another wing.

Jackson and Tom Dukes combined for a seven-hit shutout Tuesday night as Baltimore blanked Washington 2-0, earning a split of their twi-night doubleheader. The Senators had taken the first game 8-6.

In other American League action Tuesday, Minnesota walloped Oakland 10-1, Chicago rapped Kansas City 11-6, Detroit split a doubleheader with New York, winning 7-4 and then losing 2-1, and Cleveland divided a pair with Boston, winning 9-3 before losing 2-0. California's game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Weaver has stuck with a rotation of Jim Palmer, Mike Cuellar, Dave McNally and Pat Dobson all season and Jackson's start in Tuesday's nightcap was the first this year for any Oriole pitcher other than those four.

Minnesota backed Jim Perry's three-hit pitching with a four home run assault that destroyed Oakland.

Rich Reese stroked two homers and Tony Oliva and Harmon Killebrew tagged one apiece as the Twins made Perry's 11th victory easy. Reggie Jackson had two of the A's three hits including his 16th homer.

Hard-Luck Gary Nolan Turns Corner For Reds

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati's Gary Nolan, who couldn't get even a little help from his friends a few weeks ago, is beginning to pick up support in double doses.

Nolan, who has pitched in bad luck for most of the season, tossed a six-hitter Tuesday night to beat Philadelphia 6-1 with the backing of timely doubles by Tony Perez, Hal McRae and George Foster.

It was the second successive complete game victory for the 23-year-old right-hander, who had lost five in a row from May 19 to June 8 as his team scored a total of three runs behind him.

In other National League action, the New York Mets topped Pittsburgh 3-2; Atlanta trimmed Montreal 4-0; San Francisco blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0; St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 6-5 and Houston beat San Diego 4-2.

Rookie Charlie Williams blanked Pittsburgh on three hits for eight innings and reliever Danny Frisella chocked off a two-run Pirate rally in the ninth as the Mets gained ground in the East Division race.

Jerry Grote's run-scoring single in the eighth proved decisive for the Mets, who trail first-place Pittsburgh by 3½ games.

Ron Reed fired a three-hitter and the Braves struck for four runs in the third to top Montreal. Reed blanked the Expos on the hit—an infield single by losing pitcher Steve Renko—until the ninth.

Left-hander John Cumberland, making his first start for the Giants after 22 relief appearances, outpitched Ferguson Jenkins, yielding just three hits before getting last-out relief help from Jerry Johnson.

Joe Torre, Lou Brock and Jerry McNertney divided nine of St. Louis' 14 hits and left-hander Steve Carlton, 11-3, stopped the Dodgers on six.

Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple made the difference for the Astros, who capitalized on errors by Dave Campbell and Garry Jestadt for all their runs.

Pirates Edge Indians, 10-5

The Pirates, now 5-3, measured the Indians by an 10-5 count in a Hi-Teen baseball game Tuesday evening.

The victory came on the wings of a six-run blast in the top of the first. Bruce Felts got the victory, but he needed relief by Nate Poss, who rationed two hits. John Munoz, who started, drew the loss, and Jerry Knoephel completed the pitching chore.

The Pirates turned in a third-inning double play Bruce Broughton to Nate Poss. For the Pirates Poss had two hits, while two Indians got a couple of safeties — Gilbert Pessina and Adam Yanez.

Roy Lee Osborne was in complete command as he yielded only two hits in blanking the Kiwanis for an Optimist 11-0 High Junior baseball victory Monday. The game was called in the sixth on the 10-run rule. Osborne faced only 21 batters. Larry Stanley was picked for the loss.

Paul Douglas got both Kiwanis hits. For the Optimists, Snickle Beal had four for five, and Gregg Crawford had three for four, Terry Shaefer two for four. Paul Douglass turned in the fielding gem of the night with a diving back hand catch in deep center.

The optimists have a 5-3 record, the Kiwanis 1-6.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Talons Rally To Shade T-Birds

The Talons started slowly but overhauled the T-Birds in the third and went on to win an International Little League contest 10-9, Tuesday evening.

The Talons scored four each in the third and fourth for a five-run lead, but the T-Birds rallied for three in the top of the last frame. J. Foster and Steve Thornton for the Talons and Bill Mashburn, Kelso and Coffee had extra-base hits for the T-Birds. Richard Thornton got the victory, Bill Mashburn was nipped for the loss. The Talons are now 8-9, the T-Birds 7-10.

Del Poss scored from second base on a passed ball in the last half of the sixth inning to give the Yankees an 8-7 win over the Braves in a National Little League game Tuesday.

It was another frustrating experience of almost for the Braves, who are 1-16, while the Yankees have won and lost eight, tying one.

Gary Tidwell had two hits in three times, and Marvin had two hits for the Yankees. Mark Poss was the winning pitcher while Tom Currie was charged with the loss. For the Braves, Steve Currie and Dale Osburn each had a pair of hits.

The Ravens put a six-run whammy on the Colts and went on to win their International Minor League game 9-3 Tuesday. This nailed down first place for the Ravens with an 11-3 record. Peter Neill held the Colts to a pair of hits, while his mates got to Lennie Smith for four hits. Tighter fielding by the Ravens turned the trick. Neill led the hitting with two safeties, while Lennie Smith had a double for the Colts.

Darrell Yancey had a great night at bat for the Rockets Monday evening in the International Little League, getting five for five, including three doubles. The Rockets won 19-8.

Also hot in the Rockets conquest of the Comets was Bobby Johnson who had four for four, three of them doubles. Chris Smith, Kirk Feichtinger, David Campbell and Jay Bosarge also hit safely twice.

Tony Vieira and Bobby Lacey pitched three innings each for the Comets while Bobby Johnson and Robert Smith split the time on the mound for the Rockets. The second-place Rockets are 10-7, while the Comets are 6-11.

Funds OK For All-Star Tilt

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — For the second straight year, Lubbock has assured the Coaches All-America game of being a financial success.

The goal of 50,000 fans remains to be realized, but both the local co-sponsors and the American Football Coaches Association have reached a point whereby a profit is a certainty, said columnist Burle Pettit of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

No announcement, official or otherwise, has been made about next year. Local officials want the game back and the next move is up to the AFCA which is expected to come out of its board of trustee's meeting here Friday.

The game reached the break-even point when the budgeted expenditures of $115,000 was met by that amount in ticket sales. It took only 16,450 of the $7.00 tickets to reach that figure and close to 25,000 of those plus a batch of the $3.00, $2.50 and $1.00 tickets have already been unloaded and the funds deposited. Up untill last year, the AFCA realized only television proceeds in way of profit—something like $100,000 and a little more this time.

Local co-sponsors get the first $50,000 above expenses. Beyond that it becomes an even split between them and the AFCA.

Local sponsors include the Lion's Club and the Chamber of Commerce.

Assuming the $115,000 budget covers the expenses, ticket income through Monday amounted to $161,278.50. This puts the game $46,278.50 in the black.

The 11th annual game was dead until a year ago when it came to Lubbock. It was dying in Atlanta and was greeted with the most success in history in Lubbock.

The success of last year had great influence on network people. Because of the turnout, the television folks moved the game to prime time and upped the ante for the AFCA.

There is more than a slight possibility that the game has run its gamut anyway Pettit reported.

Each year, because of stubborn agents and reluctant players, it becomes increasingly difficult to stock it with the type material it takes to sell the game anywhere.

Officials told Pettit at one time some six weeks ago there were thoughts of calling the 1971 games off.

Shortly afterward, however, some of the top names began to agree to play and eventually the best squad in years was assembled. Some talk—and it comes from those in a position to know—has it that the coaches who need such an item of revenue to carry on with their worthwhile activities will seek another mode of income.

ORVILLE WHO?

Moody Vows He'll Be Back

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — Orville Moody's golf fortunes have fallen to such a low estate that he would welcome hearing someone say again, "Orville who?"

"They said that a lot after I won the Open in 1969," the big, moon-faced former Army sergeant said Monday after finishing 33rd with a 289 in the championship at Merion.

"It was kind of complimentary then because I was in the limelight. Now nobody pays any attention to me at all."

The 37-year-old career soldier who spent 14 years in the Pacific theater scored one of the game's biggest surprises when he beat the world's best at Houston's Champions course two years ago.

He got a personal telephone call from President Nixon.

Later in the year, he decorated his open victory with a $50,000 triumph in the World Series of Golf and then won individual honors in theWorld Cup.

TRAP OPENS

Then the trap door opened.

Last year Moody dropped to 44th in the pro money standings, winning $50,086 but not a single tournament. The slump has continued into this year when his best finish has been a tie for third in the Colonial.

The winter tour was disastrous. He tied for 50th, 59th and 57th in respective tournaments on the West Coast. He has missed the cut four times. In his last tournament before the Open, he tied for 46th at Atlanta.

Now they're putting him in the category with Sam Parks Jr., and Jack Fleck, dark horse winners who have been labelled the Open's "biggest accidents."

B Cagers Lead Loop

Team B preserved its first-place lead in the Summer Recreation program basketball senior league by turning back Team C by a 78-65 count.

Gamboa led the victors with 21 points, but Wallace and Pineda each had 15. For the C-ees it was Robert Evans with 23, followed by Tom Sorley with 16 and Mike Randall with 10.

Team D beat Team A by an 85-77 count, with Bullard hooping 23 and Pierce and Ditmore 18 each. Carter led the A's with 21, and Davis with 17 and Tom with 13 were other top scorers.

The thriller was an overtime victory for Team F over Team E, 95-93. Beall had 43 points for F squad, while Smith hooped 28. For the E-boys it was Shafer with 22 and Fallon with 37.

In the junior high division, which plays at 10 a.m, Tuesday at the Runnels gym, there were 16 boys who reported, twice the number for the week before, and Ben Neal, in charge of the program, urged other boys of this age to report Tuesday morning.

Tiny Tot Swim Classes Slated

The YMCA tiny tot learn-to-swim class which will start July 5 still has some openings. This is for youngsters from 3-5 years of age and will continue through Friday until July 16. Classes are 30 minutes long — from 1-1:30 p.m. and from 1:30-2 p.m. There is no charge for families who are Y members, and non-members may enroll their children for $10.

Goodyear And Morton Win

Goodyear over-powered Intech 12-0 and Morton's pummeled Merchants 21-2 in a pair of high-scoring City Softball League games Monday evening.

For Goodyear Clendenin had three for three and Johns two for three. Roy New led the Morton's hitting with four for five, while Oldfather. McMahan and Roger had three hits each for Morton's. Cox and S. New contributed a pair for the Chippers.

Giant-Killer Tom Gordon Faces New Challenge Today

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Tom Gorman, American tennis star and Wimbledon giant-killer, faced his second match today—with the turf drying out in the sun and his confidence sky-high.

The 25-year-old player from Seattle, Wash., was paired against Ezio Di Matteo, Italy's fourth-ranked man. Gorman appeared to have a much easier task than in the first round, when he eliminated eight-seeded Cliff Drysdale of South Africa.

"Every hour of play and practice on English grass makes me more confident," Gorman said after playing in a men's doubles on the center court last night.

Tuesday as the sun shone and the wind dropped, the ball began to bounce for the big servers. It looked like the weather to help Stan Smith, the 6-foot-4 giant from Pasadena, Calif., who is rated by many experts as the main challenger to the top ranking Australians.

Smith, the No. 4 seed, had to meet young John Paish of Britain in the second round.

Other seeded Americans in the second round are Arthur Ashe, of Gum Spring, Va., who faced Patrick Proisy of France, and Cliff Richey of Sarasota, Fla., who had to play British contract professional Roger Taylor.

Most of the leading women stars got through their first round matches Tuesday without trouble.

Margaret Court of Australia, the defending champion, didn't drop a game against Mrs. Lorraine Robinson, another Australian.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Mrs. Nancy Richey Gunter, of San Angelo, Tex., both won.

But Mrs. Billie Jean Kingo of Long Beach, Calif., who is trying to win back the Wimbledon crown she lost two years ago, drew a bye into the second round against Wendy Gilchrist of Australia today.

In Tuesday's action, defending champion John Newcombe and third-seeded Ken Rosewall, both of Australia, advanced in men's singles while all eight seeded players advanced in the women's division.

Newcombe defeated Ian Fletcher of Australia 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 and Rosewall outlasted Bob Carmichael, another Aussie, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

Leading the women who advanced were top-seeded Margaret Scott, the defending champion from Australia, who defeated Mrs. Lorraine Robinson 6-0, 6-0.

Williams Depressed But Plans To Stay With Sens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Manager Ted Williams said Tuesday he has no plans to quit the lowly Washington Senators even though the fish are biting at his fishing camp.

"It's a good time to leave," he said. "I called up to my camp and they told me the fish are biting. Ordinarily, this is not a good time.

"I always think about leaving," he continued. "But it's safe to say that unless I get fired I will finish out the year. I'm going to stick it out."

The Senators are mired in last place in the American League East, 18 games behind the league leading Orioles.

Williams, one of the game's finest hitters, was lured out of retirement three years ago by Washington owner Bob Short to manage the Senators.

Prior to the doubleheader with Baltimore the Senators had lost 40 games while winning only 23 for a .365 average.

Williams said he enjoyed his first season back in baseball in 1969 after being out of the game 10 years but has been finding it difficult lately.

"Last year, I was up in the clouds because I thought we could do better but we didn't."

The Senators finished fourth during Williams' first year but dropped to sixth last season.

Magers Pitches A One-Hitter

The Cubs nosed the Rebels 2-1 on the strength of a one-hit performance on the mound by Jake Magers in a Sophomore League game Tuesday evening.

Sharp, the losing hurler, had noting to be ashamed of, for he parcelled out only four hits, two of them to Magers. Noel Hull got a double for the lone Reb run, but he died on second. The Cubs are now with a robust 6-2 record.

Have Good Catch On White Bass

If Lake E. V. Spence patrolmen are looking for fishing testimonials, Bob Rogers and his son, Mike, and Jackie Touchstone and his son, Rusty, can supply it. They went fishing there over the weekend and got into a school of white bass. When they finally broke off the engagement, they had landed 58 weighing from a pound to a pound and a half generally.

Cloud Seeders Trying To Trigger More Rain

Big Spring area weather modifiers flew three seeding flights in the last two days to seek to trigger rainfall and runoff that has further increased the volume of water in area lakes.

A total of five seeding flights have been flown since June 15, officials said Tuesday, and the Atmospheric Inc. members were planning to make more flights Tuesday afternoon.

"We are now in a particularly good period for the chances of moisture and we have been in the period for approximately a week now," said Bob Munn, meteorologist for the group.

According to the rain gauge network of the Atmospheric group the area has already received the average rainfall for the month of June. Nine gauges of the 40 in the network are below the normal two-inch level, 17 gauges have caught between two and three inches, 11 gauges have registered between three and four inches of rain, three gauges have recorded between four and five inches and one gauge has caught between five and six inches for the month.

"In the first 15 days of June there was hardly any rain and most of the runoff has been produced from the last week of rainfall activity and seeding operations," said Munn.

The rainfall for the month has varied from .80 to 3.50 inches with half of the rain gauges having more than two inches, according to the group's calculations.

Lake Spence has benefited greatly from the last two days of rain. A total of 15,000 acre-feet of water was expected by Colorado River Municipal Water District officials to run into the lake at the conclusion of the runoff period.

Official reports of up to five inches of rain at Lake Spence and the results of rains Sunday in Scurry County were the boosting factors in the runoff to the lake, according to O. H. Ivie, general manager of the CRMWD.

Lake J. B. Thomas increased some 1,200 acre-feet from the rains Sunday also.

"I am very excited about the over-all project this month and the outlook on activity this month, especially when you remember there are still eight days left to work in the month of June," said Munn.

Creeks that have been dry for a long period of time before last month's rains were flowing Monday and Tuesday, including Bull Creek, Gavett Creek, Deep Creek, Silver Creek, in addition to the Colorado River.

The weather modifiers had predicted from the area statistics that the months of May and June would be likely months for rain.

Collector's Delight: State To Auction Variety of Items

AUSTIN — Bargains in air conditioners, lawn mowers, tape recorders, projectors and more than 100 automobiles will be the highlight of the sixth public auction sponsored by the State of Texas at 9 a.m. June 26 in Austin's City Coliseum, H. A. Foerster, executive director, State Board of Control, announced.

For the June auction twelve state agencies are offering to the highest bidder a collector's Utopia. For example: The Texas Senate will have filing cabinets, fluorescent lamps, air conditioners and postal scales. The Board of Public Surveyors will sell a tape recorder and a copying machine. The Texas Water Development Board offers two station wagons and the Department of Agriculture will sell six station wagons.

The Parks and Wildlife Department should attract several bids on boats, motors, trailers and seven automobiles. The Texas Employment Commission could help one outfit an office with such things as desks, chairs, file cabinets and typewriters. An additional number of typewriters, adding machines, calculators, computer card files and a famous brand accounting machine will go on the block by the Comptroller's Department.

Slide projectors, mimeograph machines and a small pick-up and late model van type truck should find many bidders for the Health Department.

The Texas Department of Public Safety will feature 120 automobiles. The State's Board of Control will offer air conditioners and lawn mowers. The Highway Department will offer a large list of mowers, radio equipment, office machines, electrical supplies and automobiles.

An unusual feature of this public auction will be items of historic furniture. This offering will include tables, chairs, bookcases, dinette sets and wardrobes. A spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections said most of these items had been refinished and reupholstered.

Foerster said the five other State auctions had grossed over $381,000.

Registration for the auction and inspection of the items for the auction will begin at 7:30 a.m. and continue until 9 a.m. at which time the auction will begin. The Nelson International Company will act as auctioneers for the Sate of Texas.

Terms of the auction are cash on the day of the sale. Items must be removed on the day of the sale because the space is not available the following day and special protection will not be available.

Hughes' Wife Granted Divorce

HAWTHORNE, Nev. (AP) — After 14 years of marriage, billionaire Howard Hughes has been divorced by former actress Jean Peters.

Miss Peters, 44, won the divorce from the 65-year-old recluse simply by saying she had not lived with him for the past year, legal grounds for divorce in Nevada.

Although people close to Hughes said he tried to talk her out of the divorce, he provided her with an attorney and did not contest it.

They were married under assumed names in Tonopah, Nev., in January, 1957. At that time a Hollywood actress, Miss Peters began living a life almost as secret as her husband's.

Since their separation, she has been seen occasionally in public, showing up at Academy Award ceremonies and taking classes at the University of California at Los Angeles.

San Diego Slated To Nab GOP Meet

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A committee of city, county and GOP officials has agreed in principle to make a $1.5 million bid to host the Republican party's 1972 national convention.

"With a bid like this, the chances are very good that San Diego will get the convention," Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke said Tuesday after a two-hour, closed-door session.

Recruits Must 'Hit The Books'

AMARILLO (AP) — Starting Sept. 1, state police recruits must be better educated or promise to become bettered educated, the deparment director said.

Col. Wilson Speir spoke to the Texas Police Association.

Speir said, "We are raising the educational standard to require trainees either to have 15 hours of college or university credits, or to agree, as a requisite to employment, to acquire that many hours credit within two years."

Fifteen hours is standard for a full-time student in one semester.

"I realize," Speir said, "that just because a man has a degree it does not in itself make him a good peace officer. But I do feel that education and training will make him a better officer than he might have been otherwise."

SECRETS OF 'CRASH PADS' BARED BY UNDERCOVER MAN

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A young ex-Marine who spent two years as an unpaid undercover informer in the drug world says he is trading in his hippie attire.

Earl Manning, 26, says his appearance wherever there happened to be a drug crackdown was beginning to be regarded as more than a coincidence by the drug users and pushers. And, he and his wife are expecting a baby.

His undercover work led to almost 300 arrests in North Carolina.

The clean-cut Vietnam veteran says he got into undercover work after seeing a friend who "was doing drugs."

Manning's work took him into "crash pads," places where persons get together to try drugs.

"Girls come in there," he said. "They're 13 to 21. Some of them buy dope—a lot of them can afford it. But most of the time the guys will turn on the chicks for what they can get out of it.

"Some of them are from out of town. I honestly think their parents don't give a damn where they are. Some just come at night. They live in town and crash the pad and stay until late and then go home.

"I saw a 13-year-old boy crawling around the sidewalk one night groping for his needle he had lost and crying because he didn't have any money to get another one."

Manning says he was harassed by police, looked on with hatred and disgust by middleclass Americans and even fired from some jobs because of his life style. Sometimes he was arrested in drug raids by policemen who didn't know him
