Settlement Will Cost Public

By CHERYL DEBES
Associated Press Writer

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP)—Teamsters union truck drivers returned to the roads today, but trucking industry leaders say the settlement that ended their three-day nation-wide strike is going to cost the public money.

The agreement, reached Saturday night, now goes to the rank-and-file for ratification. It was recommended unanimously by union negotiators. A simple majority is needed for approval, a Teamsters spokesman said, and results of the mail balloting will be available in two to three weeks.

Meanwhile, officials at union locals throughout the country reported their members returning to work. Plans by General Motors Corp. and other auto manufacturers to shut down several plants today if the strike continued were canceled, although one GM plant will remain closed because of a shortage of parts.

The settlement, reached after nearly four months of negotiations between industry officials and union leaders, was "in the best interests of the nation," said Secretary of Labor W.J. Usery Jr.

But Usery declined to say whether the agreement would have an inflationary impact on the nation's economy. He did say it would affect upcoming contract talks in the rubber, auto manufacturing, electrical appliance and construction industries.

Some trucking employers were unhappy with what they viewed as an inflationary settlement. John Murphy, chairman of Gateway Transportation Co., one of the nation's largest carriers, said the industry would seek rate increases from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In Charlotte, N.C., W.L. Nahrgang, president of Johnson Motor Lines which operates 73 terminals in 21 states, said wage and benefits hikes in the contract must "be passed along to the public."

The tentative settlement contained nearly all the economic terms union negotiators sought and reportedly included new stipulations for three days' sick leave, air conditioned trucks by 1978 and separate rooms for long-haul drivers.

Prior to Saturday's announcement, two-thirds of the 400,000 Teamsters' drivers and warehousemen covered by the National Master Freight Agreement were on the job under interim agreements with individual trucking concerns and a tentative settlement with two employers' groups reached a day earlier.

That settlement with the Motor Carriers Labor Advisory Council and the Irregular Route Carriers provided an additional $1.65 in wages and $17 more a week in fringe benefits over 36 months, sources said. Teamsters earned from $7.18 to $7.33 and received $44 in weekly benefits under the old contract which expired April 1.

Other provisions reportedly included unlimited cost-of-living hikes, probably the toughest issue in the talks, and for long-haul drivers who are paid by mileage, 3½ cents a mile in the next three years added to the existing 18-cent rate.

Trucking Employers Inc., the largest industry group representing 2,000 trucking concerns, settled for terms "almost identical" to those agreed upon by the two smaller groups, sources said.

Calley Conviction Stands

Review Of Case Denied

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today refused to review the conviction of former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. for the murder of civilians in the Vietnamese hamlet of My Lai in March, 1968.

An attorney for Calley said he has been told by the secretary of the Army that Calley will be placed on immediate parole.

"The secretary of the Army has stated and I have been assured by the counsel for the secretary of the Army, the general counsel, that Calley will be placed upon parole and will continue to live the life that he is presently living," said the attorney, J. Houston Gordon, contacted in Covington, Tenn. "He (Calley) will not be returned to prison, for which we are quite grateful. He will be placed on immediate parole."

The justices let stand an 8-5 decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans reinstating Calley's 1971 court martial conviction.

Calley, 32, who is free on bail, appealed his conviction on two principal grounds:

—That he was denied a fair trial because of "worldwide and all-pervasive" publicity in which he was "labeled ... as a ghoul who had wantonly massacred hundreds of innocent civilians."

—That Congress should have been compelled to release confidential information for use in his trial just as former President Nixon was required to do in the Watergate scandal.

Calley has been living as a civilian in Columbus, Ga., since his conviction was overturned on Sept. 25, 1974, by U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott of Columbus.

Although the circuit court reversed this decision the Army released Calley on bail in 1974 and has said it does not plan to return him to prison.

Calley was accused of killing 102 Vietnamese civilians in a sweep through My Lai. He was convicted of murdering at least 22 and was sentenced to a life term. Subsequent appeals reduced the term to 10 years before he was freed on bail.

J. Houston Gordon of Covington, Tenn., Calley's attorney, told the justices that Congress denied Calley his constitutional rights by withholding potential evidence.

The House Armed Services Committee refused to let the defense look at the results of its My Lai hearings, comprising 3,045 pages of testimony by 151 witnesses.

The government asked the high court to let the conviction stand, saying Calley "was not tried in an atmosphere of persecution" and release of the Congressional data would not have affected the outcome of his trial.

Gordon argued that the privilege claimed by Congress was similar to Nixon's claim of executive privilege to withhold tapes and documents wanted by the prosecution in the Watergate cover-up trial. The Supreme Court, by an 8-0 vote, ordered Nixon to yield the material.

On the issue of publicity, Gordon argued that "legal trials are to determine guilt or innocence, not popularity."

"Never before in American history has an accused encountered such intense and continuous prejudicial publicity" as Calley did, Gordon told the court.

He also argued that Calley should have been granted the right to call high Defense Department officials, including then Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird as a witness. He said their testimony was needed to rebut denials by Army officers that they had been influenced by their superiors to press charges against Calley.

Callaghan Succeeds Wilson

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary James Callaghan was named to succeed Harold Wilson today as prime minister and leader of Britain's ruling Labor party. He is a strong advocate of improved relations between Western Europe and the United States.

"There will be no insiders and no outsiders and no cliques in my administration," he told fellow Laborites after he was chosen. "So far as the past is concerned I shall wipe the slate clean and I ask everyone else to do the same."

Callaghan, 64, who represented his party's center-right majority, defeated Employment Secretary Michael Foot, 62, a left-winger, in a vote by Labor members of Parliament. He got 176 votes to 137 for Foot.

The new Labor party leader was assured of an early evening summons to Buckingham Palace from Queen Elizabeth II. Her royal assent, a formality, is needed to make him prime minister.

Wilson, 60, announced his resignation March 16, saying he wanted to retire at that age. He said he also wanted to give his successor at last two years in office before the next election, which must come by 1979.

Wilson said in an interview today that he feels 20 years younger now that he is stepping down but that he has two great disappointments — his failure to settle the Rhodesian problem and the strife in Northern Ireland.

Wilson was due to go to Buckingham Palace shortly to recommend that the queen name Callaghan as his successor. Callaghan was due to arrive an hour later and kiss the queen's hand on being asked to form a government.

Callaghan is a personal friend of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. The two men consult regularly by telexphone. As prime minister he is expected to urge closer ties between the United States and the nine-nation European Common Market.

Callaghan will come to No. 10 Downing Street with more experience in office than many of his predecessors. He has already held the three top cabinet posts besides prime minister — foreign secretary, home scretary and chancellor of the exchequer.

Under the British system, when the prime minister resigns, the party with the most seats in the House of Commons, in this case Labor, chooses a new leader and he automatically becomes prime minister.

A total of 313 Labor members of Parliament voted today out of 317 eligible to cast ballots.

Six candidates took part, all of them cabinet ministers. One was knocked out after the first ballot — Environment Secretary Anthony Crosland. Two others — Home Secretary Roy Jenkins and Energy Secretary Tony Benn — withdrew.

The second ballot eliminated Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey, leaving a straight fight in the decisive third round between Callaghan and Foot.

Rain Falls Over Most Of Texas

Thundershowers teased the Snyder area over the weekend and a few areas got good showers.

The better showers were east and southwest of Snyder, according to reports. Rainfall ranging from around half an inch to over an inch was reported to the southeast, with one unofficial report of 1.7 inches near Inadale.

Light showers were reported toward Fluvanna, and a good shower was reported in the southwest part of the county.

For the most part, however, the rainfall was little more than a drizzle. The official gauge at the Snyder water plant measure a total of .21 inch over the weekend, including .02 Saturday night and .19 on Sunday. Heavier showers were reported in the east part of town.

More rains were falling over much of the state this morning, but heavy thunderstorms that plagued South and Central Texas over the weekend were diminishing.

Skies were clear in the Panhandle and west of the Pecos River.

Wisps of morning fog rolled over a wide area of Central and South Texas from south of Dallas to San Antonio to Brownsville and east to Houston.

Tornado warnings were issued Sunday for Reeves County in West Texas when the Department of Public Safety reported a funnel cloud in a thunderstorms that dropped one-inch hail near Pecos. Tornadoes also were sited Sunday by Central Texas residents east of Austin. No damage was reported.

There were unofficial reports of nearly 8 inches of rain since Saturday at Thompsonville near Gonzales in South Central Texas. Gonzales received about 4 inches.

The National Weather Service reported rainfall totals of 1.5 inches to 3.5 inches in Central Texas, with 3.94 inches at Utopia, 3.75 at Kingsville in South Texas and 3.16 at Junction in the southwest.

Alaska Jet Carrying 41 Crashes

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — An Alaska Airlines jetliner carring 41 persons overran the end of the runway at Ketchikan Airport in light rain and snow today, slid down the sloping side of a 60-foot ravine and caught fire, authorities said.

Several injuries were reported but Alaska State Trooper Sgt. John Shover said "it doesn't look like any fatalities."

Shover said passengers were evacuated from the aircraft after fire broke out in the cabin following the crash. The Coast Guard said the plane broke into three parts on impact.

Shover said the aircraft came to rest 300 to 500 yards from the edge of Tongass Narrows.

Airline spokesman Duayne Trecker said the Boeing 727 jetliner was Flight 60 from Juneau to Seattle, Wash., with an intermediate stop at Ketchikan's airport on Gravina Island at the southeastern tip of Alaska.

Lo-Vaca Banking Costs Customers

AUSTIN (AP) — A Houston accountant testified today that "banking" arrangements of natural gas made by Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. has cost Texas customers $42.8 million over a 26-month period.

Robert Rose was the first witness at a Railroad Commission hearing to go into the banking arrangements in depth.

Commission candidate Terence O'Rourke, Democrat, submitted a motion to rebate $50 million to consumers and to terminate the gas banking arrangements but hearing examiner Frank Youngblood said he would not accept the motion until later.

Youngblood indicated that the numerous phases in the hearing, punctuated with recesses, would carry the issue on into the summer.

In the late 1960s, Lo-Vaca "borrowed" billions of cubic feet of gas, then selling at about 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, from Amoco, Dow Chemical and a subsidiary of Kerr-McGee Oil. It agreed then to repay the gas several years later at the same price.

Lo-Vaca has been including the difference between that 20 cents and what it must pay now for gas—an amount approaching $2 per mcf—when it calculates it "weighted price" of gas. That price is passed through directly to consumers.

Rose said an audit revealed that in January Amoco has purchased over 1.5 million mcf of gas from Lo-Vaca at 19.75 cents per mcf. At the same time however, Lo-Vaca was charging its customers nearly $1.83 per mcf.

On March 25 the commission ordered Lo-Vaca to stop raising prices to consumers to cover its losses from repayment of the "banked" gas obtained years ago.

The order was temporary and a hearing set today to pursue the issue.

Little Interest In Voting Here

School and city elections attracted little voter interest Saturday in Snyder and Scurry County as there were few contested races.

There was some write-in activity in the Snyder School Board race, but the two incumbents were re-elected by substantial margins.

Mrs. W.B. McSpadden and Max von Roeder both were re-elected to three-year terms on the board. However, Lawana Vincent received 64 write-in votes for Place 1, the post held by Mrs. McSpadden. Others receiving write-in votes for Place 1 on the Snyder board included Ricardo Corrales with 7, Arel Faver 2, Guy Sullivan 1, Rosa Lee Walker 1 and Roy Carter 1. Mrs. McSpadden won the post with 222 votes.

For Place 2 on the Snyder School Board, Von Roeder received 243 votes and his lone opponent on the ballot, Pearline Selmon, received 35. Write-in votes for Place 2 included Kin Elkins 16, Arel Faver 12, Guy Sullivan 3, Lillie Archie 1, James Vincent 1 and Mrs. James Vincent 1.

In the city election, Mayor W.A. Vestal, who was unopposed on the ballot, received 144 votes, while Ricardo Corrales received three write-in votes. For Place 2 on the council, incumbent Jack Cummins receive 148 votes and Jack Chastain got one write-in vote; for Place 4, incumbent John Fagin received 146 votes and Jerry Rice got one write-in vote; and for Place 6, Vernon Ranneflied received 146 votes and Herbert Reed got one write-in vote.

In the Scurry County Junior College District trustee election, all three incumbents were unopposed for re-election. Edwin Parks received 244 votes for Place 5, R.C. Patton received 238 votes for Place 6, and W.A. (Bill) Jones received 240 votes for Place 7.

At Hermleigh, two incumbents, Douglas Foster and Olin Culp were re-elected to the school board with 57 and 51 votes, respectively. Also elected was J.W. Kimzey with 56 votes. The fourth candidate in the race, Mrs. Max Peterson, received 13 votes.

J.B. Autry, incumbent, and Leon Sterling were elected to the Ira School Board. Autry received 64 votes and Sterling received 45 votes. Others in the race at Ira included Jim R. Brown with 38 votes, Floyd (Bud) House 38, Bill Murphy 27 and Mrs. Carolyn Barbee 24. Leon Huddleston received one write-in vote at Ira.

At Fluvanna, Clinton Gregory and Sam Bruner were re-elected to the school board with 35 and 31 votes, respectively. They were unopposed.

JACKSON CONCENTRATES ON NY

Carter, Udall Scramble For Votes In Wisconsin

By The Associated Press

Democrats Jimmy Carter and Morris K. Udall, each predicting victory in Wisconsin's presidential primary, scrambled for support there today, while Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson concentrated on New York.

Voters in both states decide Tuesday on distribution of 274 delegates to this summer's Democratic National Convention — 206 in New York and 68 in Wisconsin.

Jackson has spent less time in Wisconsin than Carter or Udall, concentrating his efforts in New York. He has said he will win more than half the New York delegates, although his campaign manager in the state, Donald Manes, predicted recently that the senator would get only 35 to 40 per cent of the vote.

President Ford is expected to get a large share of the Republican delegates at stake Tuesday in both states. Ronald Reagan, the former California governor challenging Ford for the GOP nomination, spent little time in Wisconsin and listed delegate slates in only four of New York's 39 congressional districts.

Reagan was due in Texas today for a 72-hour visit aimed at rounding up backing for the state's May 1 primary. He scheduled appearances in Dallas today and Tuesday, followed by stops in Wichita Falls, Abilene, Lubbock and Longview.

The White House said Ford would visit Texas at week's end.

Strong showings in Wisconsin and New York are considered crucial to Udall, yet to win a primary election, and the Arizona congressman didn't hedge Sunday when asked for a forecast.

"Mo Udall's going to win in Wisconsin and we're going to give Scoop Jackson a real run for his money in New York," he said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

Carter, speaking Sunday at the University of Wisconsin's LaCrosse campus, said flatly he would win the state — and that his only rival for the Democratic nomination after Tuesday would be Jackson.

The last-minute campaigning was only a part of the political activity Sunday:

—Jackson won all 11 delegates up for grabs in Puerto Rico, while Carter picked up four more, for a total of 12, in Oklahoma.

Carter was the early favorite of Democrats in Virginia and Kansas, who met over the weekend to begin selecting their convention delegations.

—Participants in a private meeting of Republicans quoted Ford's campaign manager, Rogers C.B. Morton, as saying he does not expect Secretary of State Henry M. Kissinger to stay in office beyond this year.

Morton wasn't available to comment on the report from San Jose, Calif., but an aide said the statement about Kissinger's future was no more than an "educated guess."

—Carter said in Washington — before heading for Wisconsin — that "it's disgraceful" that Congress has not restored the Federal Election Commission, which distributes matching funds to presidential candidates.

Hike In Cotton Production Seen

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government analysts say that prospects continue to look bright for a substantial increase in world cotton production during 1976-77 to help relieve short supplies caused by last season's small harvest.

A substantial increase is expected in U.S. production. Part of that is related to soybean output and, to some extent, the production of corn and other feed grains. Last year, for example, cotton farmers turned heavily to more soybeans because of the bleak outlook for cotton.

But now cotton prices have improved significantly, while soybean prices have declined. Thus, producers in 1976 are expected to boost cotton plantings and cut back on soybeans.

As of mid-March the average farm price for upland cotton was 50.4 cents a pound against 33.5 cents on March 15, 1975. Soybeans, on the other hand, were $4.46 a bushel last month, compared with $5.31 a year earlier.

A report last week by the International Cotton Advisory Committee, which represents cotton producing and consuming countries, said that world production in 1975-76 was about 55 million bales against a record of 63.6 million the previous year.

Total cotton supplies, meaning the new crop plus what was left over from previous years' harvest, amounted to 84.8 million bales for 1975-76, down nearly four million bales from the previous year's record of 88.7 million.

With cotton use picking up in recent months, the report said that world reserves will be drawn down and that those may total about 23.5 million bales this Aug. 1, substantially less than industry experts say is desirable.

"In these circumstances, there is a clear need for cotton production to rise significantly in 1976-77 if adequate supplies of the various desired grades and staples are to be assured," the report said.

Not only have cotton prices improved, but supplies of fertilizer and other chemicals are "reported to be adequate in most countries," the report said.

Prince Sihanouk Resigns Forever

By NEAL ULEVICH
Associated Press Writer

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk has resigned "forever" as Cambodia's chief of state, saying he was fulfilling an old vow.

In a recording broadcast today by the Communist government in Phnom Penh, the 53-year-old prince and former king said that following the 1970 coup which ousted him, he swore "that after I accompanied my countrymen to complete victory over U.S. imperialism and the traitorous clique, and after the opening of the new revolutionary era, I would retire completely and forever from the political scene because my role would logically then end."

He gave no indication of his future plans, but it was assumed he would live in France or in Peking.

The Khmer Rouge Communists made Sihanouk their figurehead chief of state after they defeated the U.S.-backed Lon Nol government last spring. During a visit to North Korea last November, the prince told reporters his country was being ruled by a collective leadership of 10 officials of equal position.

"It appears that the new regime is so confident that they don't need him any more," one Western diplomat commented after the broadcast. "At one time they were probably worried about his lingering support among the peasants."

Sihanouk, made Cambodia's king by the Fench in 1941 when he was 19, was his country's dominant figure as king, premier or chief of state from 1953, when it got its independence, until his overthrow 17 years later while he was in Europe. He kept the Vietnam war out of most of his country by adroit diplomacy, but the American and South Vietnamese invasion soon after his overthrow set off a civil war that ended in victory for the Communists and destruction of the old Cambodia he had ruled.

After the coup, Sihanouk found refuge in Peking and formed a government-in-exile there. But he exercised no power over the forces in Cambodia fighting the men that deposed him.

The Communists brought him back to Phnom Penh in September 1975. He remained only three weeks, then traveled extensively abroad as a spokesman for the new regime.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "How about a discussion of the principles of restricted choice?"

Oswald: "It is a pretty tough subject, but it will be well worth the time of any of our readers who want to learn about it."

Jim: "Today's hand is simple enough. South is in three notrump and is going to make three, four or five depending on how the spade suit works out for him. He wins the heart lead and plays a spade at trick two."

Oswald: "West plays low and obviously South start proceedings by playing the jack from dummy, losing to East's king. A heart comes back and South leads a second spade. Again West plays low. As you can see the winning play is the queen. It is also the correct play."

Jim: "The reason for the play is that if East had held both the ace and the king, he might well have won the first spade with the ace. In other words, the king was an automatic play from king-10. It wouldn't have been automatic from ace-king."

LUNCHBOX SPECIAL
Meat and Slaw Sandwiches
New Prune Bars Beverage

NEW PRUNE BARS

½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 large eggs
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup packaged pitted prunes, thinly sliced (see Note)
1 cup walnuts, chopped medium-fine
Confectioners' sugar

Stir together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs slightly; gradually beat in brown sugar and vanilla until extremely thick and a pale beige color. Gradually fold in flour, then prunes mixed with nuts. Turn into an 8 by 8 by 2-inch cake pan lined with wax paper and the paper greased. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — 30 minutes. Turn out on wire rack; remove paper; with another rack turn right side up; cool. Slice into bars. Roll in confectioners' sugar.

Note: If you freeze packaged pitted prunes overnight (they never get rock-hard or stick to one another) in a tightly closed plastic bag, they are easy to slice thin with a sharp knife or in one of the new French food processors — the latter slicing will be noisy but takes only seconds. — C.B.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Texas, with its worldwide reputation as an oil and gas producer, recently has attracted a number of unscrupulous operators who have tried to cash in on that reputation by defrauding thousands of investors across the country.

The method they have used to take in about $100 million from 47,000 investors in a two-year period from January 1973 to October 1975 has been the fraudulent "Schedule D" offering to potential investors in oil and gas well drilling ventures.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Insurance, Banking, and Securities divisions have worked closely with the State Securities Commissioner to halt these fraudulent operations, and to keep the market safe for legitimate operators and their investors.

Schedule D operators often raise money for drilling ventures from investors such as doctors, dentists, small businessmen, executives, and others by using a sales brochure called a Schedule D offering sheet. Such an offering sheet is an alternative to registering oil and gas interests with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. When used by legitimate Schedule D operators, such offerings can bring in money which the offeror uses to finance oil or gas exploration. If the drilling venture is successful, investors will share in the profits.

Unfortunately, as our attorneys and the Securities Commissioner have learned, many offerings are made by operators who have no intention of making a serious effort to find oil or gas. Once the investors' money is obtained, some operators may dig a two-foot hole, report a "dry well," and pocket the money.

While our office and the Securities Commissioner are working to see that such fraudulent operations are stopped, it's important that consumers safeguard their own interests by: (1) Being wary of phone calls from strangers soliciting money for an oil or gas drilling venture. (2) Being suspicious of promises of spectacular profits on such investments. Wildcat oil and gas drillings are speculative ventures, and there's no certainty you will make a profit on your investment. (3) Never allowing yourself to be pressured into making a quick decision about an investment of any kind.

If you are contacted by such operators, find out if their offering is registered with the S.E.C. and the State Securities Board. In Texas, it's a felony to sell interests to residents without such registration. You should also find out if the salesman is licensed to sell securities.

Ask about the qualifications of the company's employees. We've discovered many companies have only persons with sales experience, not drilling experience, on their payrolls. Find out about the company's track record, too. How many wells have they drilled, and how many are commercial producers? How much money have they obtained from investors, and how much have investors received back?

If you believe you have been contacted, or victimized, by a fraudulent Schedule D operator, contact an attorney, the Attorney General's Office, the State Securities Commissioner, or the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Search For Suspect

SEALY, Tex. (AP) — Dozens of law enforcement officers, aided by dogs and a helicopter, combed an area southwest of here today for a bearded man suspected of killing a highway patrolman Sunday night.

State Trooper Mark Frederick, 25, was shot and killed by a gunman with a pistol after his Department of Public Safety patrol car stopped an automobile with Alabama license plates, officers said.

DPS Sgt. Gilbert Kiel said 75 to 100 officers from various law enforcement agencies were concentrating their search in a 5-mile radius about 3 miles southwest of here. Sealey is 51 miles west of Houston in South Texas.

"We have the suspect's car and he was on foot some three miles west of Highway 36 (Texas) on Farm Road 3013," said Sealy Police Chief G. R. Kaufman.

Kaufman said Frederick and fellow Trooper John Richert stopped the car on an exit ramp in Sealy.

"The suspect fired one shot from a pistol and Richert returned fire, hitting the automobile six times as it sped away," said Kaufman.

Kaufman described the man sought as white and of medium build with a beard.

Seminar Set By Counseling Center Here

The Pastoral Care and Counseling Center of Snyder will sponsor a workshop on "I'm OK, You're, OK", on Saturday, May 1. The workshop will deal with Transactional Analysis, a recent psychological development which is useable by anyone. It is designed to help one find answers to such questions as: Why do I do what I do? Why do other people do what they do? and, How can I get along with other people better than I do? Why do I get along with them as well as I do?

Rev. John Gaston, Executive Director of the PC&CC, has obtained the services of Foy C. Richey, Associate Chaplain at the Big Spring State Hospital, who will conduct the seminar. Richey is the Director of Clinical Pastoral Education at the hospital. He is ordained as a minister in the Church of Christ. He graduated from Abilene Christian University in 1965, and Hartford Seminary Foundation in 1969. He is teaching chaplain of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. He is a member of the American Association of Pastoral Counselors, and is a Provisional Teaching Member of the International Transactional Analysis Association. Richey is married, and has two children.

The workshop-seminar will be held at the First Methodist Church from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday May 1. The cost will be $15 per person, with a limitation of 25 persons. For reservations, call the Pastoral Care and Counseling Center, Rev. Gaston, at 573-8222, or Rev. Henry Jo Hartman at 573-2916.

Geiberger Is First

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — "I knew I was in trouble on the eighth hole," a weary Al Geiberger said. "When I missed the green, the gallery cheered."

"It was a stampede," his pretty wife, Lynn, said. "I couldn't see anything. After a while I just came in and watched on TV."

"The way the gallery was acting, I felt like I was one shot behind instead of one ahead," Geiberger said. "I had to stop and have a little talk with myself, say, 'Hey, you're one in front with four to play; just go on and take it home'"

He did.

It was a disappointment to the jostling, unruly, beer-drinking, loudly pro-Lee Trevino gallery, but Geiberger brought home a two-stroke victory Sunday in the Greater Greensboro Open. He turned back the bid of Trevino with a two-iron shot that missed by a couple of inches of being a hole in one.

"Wouldn't that have been something?" Lynn asked. "If he'd made it, they wouldn't have been able to talk for a month. I know the gallery is always for the underdog and that Lee is a real personality, but this was a little much."

"That's golf," the quiet Geiberger said, then flashed a gentle, shy, boyish smile. "I had some fans out there. They were the quiet ones. His were the noisy ones."

The noisy ones were all but silenced by the magnificent shot on the 217-yard, par-three 16th hole. Geiberger had a one-stroke lead at that point, the on-rushing Trevino having chopped four shots off his once-commanding lead, and was making a determined charge.

The ball trickled past the cup, a couple of inches to the right, and stopped a few feet away. Trevino had to work hard to save par and Geiberger rolled in the birdie putt. It put him two in front with two holes to play and it was all but over.

"Lee really put a round to me," said the skinny, 38-year-old veteran who turned his career around 18 months ago with a victory in the Sahara Open. "I'm real proud of the way I made the clutch putts."

Geiberger had a three-under-par 68 and a 72-hole total of 268.

NEW YORK (AP) — Moderation is the thing, the economists say, that will keep the recovery from overheating and scorching our fabric all over again. Play it cool, they say, and we'll all gain. Easy does it.

This of late has become the earnest preachment of the numbers men; it is written into their newsletters, discussed in seminars and executive meetings, orated before almost any group that will listen.

And it is true that if you look at the numbers, compiled in tables or depicted in graphs and charts, you can become convinced of the need, the logic, the sanity of moderation. Numerically demonstrated, the dangers of excess are obvious.

Unfortunately, what can be demonstrated by the numbers cannot always be accomplished by and with people. To illustrate:

—This is an election year, and there has been a tradition in such years for the party in power to dress up the economy for the presidential and congressional campaigns.

You might consider this to be overtly unethical, but it isn't quite so brazen.

The dressing up might be so subtle as to be almost hidden from the person responsible. Of 11 considerations that might go into a certain spending decision, personal ambition might be the one that breaks the tie.

—This is a make-up year for business, which has been complaining during much of the past decade about declining returns on investment. Some price increases already are being hatched.

There is no certainty about these pricing decisions, but some early indications suggest a fairly brief gestation period. That is, some businesses already have indicated they intend to raise prices, recession or not.

—This is a make-up year for labor, which feels wages have fallen behind prices as a result of the recession.

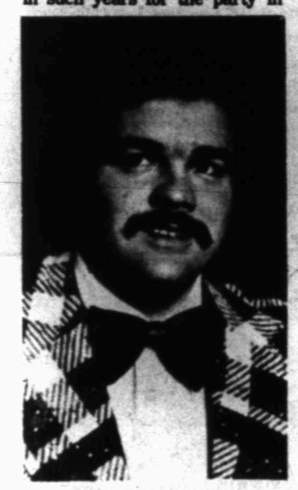

This is a year in which the unions can do something about catching up. About 4.5 million workers under major agreements covering 1,000 or more workers will be negotiating new contracts, one of the biggest figures ever.

Many of these negotiations will involve the pattern-setters, or agreements that set the goals for workers in other industries.

Agreements with Goodyear, B. F. Goodrich, Firestone and Uniroyal expire April 21. General Electric agreements will be renegotiated in June. And the automotive industry contracts expire late this summer.

Many major contracts that are to be renegotiated this year were products of negotiations in 1973. Since then, union members say, inflation has deprived them of a large portion of the gains they thought they had made.

With government, business and labor all pursuing their own goals, it should be clear to everyone that the benefits of moderation are easier to prove on a computer console than in a live, competitive economy.

Vorster Will Visit Israel

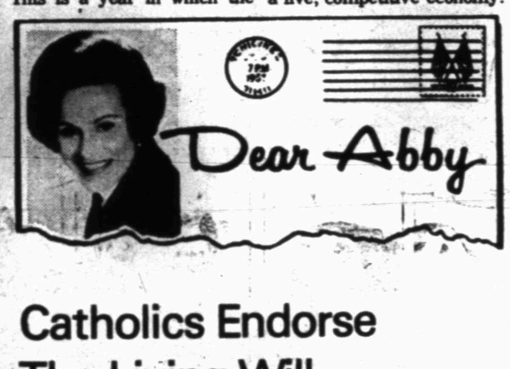

JERUSALEM (AP) — South African Prime Minister John Vorster will visit Israel as guest of Premier Yitzhak Rabin.

Details of the visit are being kept secret for security reasons, officials said, and no date was given when it was announced on Sunday.

The announcement did not say who initiated the state visit, but government officials said its wording could be taken to mean the invitation came from Israel.

Informed sources said Israel wants to keep the visit low-key because of possible damage to its prestige abroad for hosting the leader of a white supremacist country.

Vorster's visit here will be the first by a South African prime minister since soon after the creation of Israel in 1948.

Catholics Endorse The Living Will

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR READERS: As I have stated in a previous column, I have signed The Living Will. It is simply a document that a person signs stating that he does not want to have his life prolonged artificially after his physician decides that there is no reasonable hope for recovery. I have given copies of this document to my physician, lawyer, clergyman and to members of my family.

On February 23rd I published the official Jewish view on the right to die with dignity submitted by Rabbi Bernard S. Raskas. On March 15th I published a statement from the Rev. Norman Vincent Peale concerning the Protestant view.

The following letter was received from the Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen:

My dear Abby:

What a joy it was to hear from you, having not had the pleasure of seeing you for such a long while!

In answer to your question, "What is the official Catholic view on the right to die with dignity?" it is not necessary to use extraordinary, artificial means to keep a person alive.

Wishing you every blessing, and with the warmest of personal greetings, I am,

Sincerely yours in our Lord,
FULTON J. SHEEN

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and considered very pretty. I am going steady with a great guy who is 32. We really love each other, and he wants to marry me. The problem is, he is very bald and my mother told me that bald men are always unfaithful to their wives.

HEIDI

DEAR HEIDI: If you love him—marry him. Most bald men started fooling around when they HAD hair.

DEAR ABBY: Last weekend I was a bridesmaid at the wedding of a close friend.

When it came time for the bride to throw her bouquet, the photographer lined up all the bridesmaids for a picture of the memorable moment. Well, the bride threw her bouquet directly to her younger sister (the maid of honor), and dumb me reached in front of her and intercepted it! Everyone was horrified—especially the bride and her sister.

I suppose I should have known better, but I honestly did it without thinking.

Abby, if the bride wants a certain person to have the bouquet, why bother tossing it? Why not just hand it to her?

I've been severely criticized for what I did, but I honestly did it without thinking. Was I wrong?

SORRY IN ALABAMA

DEAR SORRY: Forget it. You acted on impulse.

DEAR ABBY: I have a suggestion for the mother of that nut who is suing her for $100,000 for his circumcision. She should countersue for back womb rent.

Rightists Win Thai Election

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two conservative parties have won a majority in the election of Thailand's second post-dictatorship National Assembly.

Observers attributed the swing to the right to dissatisfaction with former Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj's failure to quell leftist violence and his decision to force the withdrawal of most U.S. troops from the country.

Kukrit, 65, lost his own seat in the assembly in the voting Sunday. It appeared that his older brother, Seni Pramoj, would be the next prime minister.

Final returns gave Seni's right-of-center Democrat party 114 of the 279 assembly seats, a gain of 42, while the rightist, military-backed Thai Nation party was second with 56, double its previous holding. There were strong indications that the two parties would form a coalition government.

The other 63 seats will be divided among some of the other 36 parties. Left-wing groups lost heavily. The Socialist party, for example, dropped from 15 seats to two.

Seni, 70, said he would assume the prime minister's post and seek a coalition with one or two other parties. He did not rule out new negotiations with the United States to increase the 270-man force of American military advisers that is to remain in the country after July, but he said it was a delicate issue.

Military leaders have been lobbying for a 4,000-man American force because of the Communist governments in neighboring Cambodia and Laos.

Seni told reporters his priorities would be to reduce unemployment, help the farmers and restore law and order. He said his foreign policy would be based on neutrality but with emphasis on "close relations with the United States."

A pre-World War II ambassador to the United States, Seni was prime minister for four and a half months shortly after the war.

France Has Signs Of Recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — France, the leading farm producer in Western Europe, suffered a setback last year because of bad weather but is showing signs of a major recovery now, the Agriculture Department said today.

"At the same time, France will continue to hold forth as both a leading importer of U.S. farm products and a tough U.S. competitor in the agricultural export market," the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

American farm exports to France last year were worth $412 million, down from a record $492 million in 1974. France also is the world's second largest exporter of farm products, selling $8 billion overseas last year, ranking behind U.S. sales of $21.9 billion.

The report said that a strong recovery could be in the making this year, "given the French farmers' interests in maximizing profits" and the French government's "determination to assist and protect its farmers wherever possible."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to be very interprising today, and accumulate some surprising gains. However, reluctant associates could slow you down.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Large or unusual projects should be your forte today. Don't let the size of a venture intimidate you before trying.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Opportunities may come your way today through a chain of unique events. They must be handled wisely to make anything of them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You'll function better with a group than in one-to-one relationships today. Select an activity where you can lose yourself in a crowd.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your hunches regarding ways to achieve your goals today might prove rather helpful. Don't ignore impelling insights.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) When socializing today, don't turn the gathering into a business meeting. Just have fun. Make your deals at a later date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is one of those days when your industriousness can earn you extra dividends. Concentrate on situations worth developing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you have a serious matter to discuss today, do it in a frank and open manner. Be sure the other party does likewise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nvo. 23-Dec. 21) The affairs of others are apt to monopolize much of your time today. However, you'll enjoy participating.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your ambitions are more likely to be advanced today if you think in terms of "we" instead of "me." Cooperation produces results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Take pride in what you set your hand to today. The rewards for a job well done could turn out to be larger than you anticipated.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You may meet someone new today socially who could prove to be a valuable contact. Be friendly to all. Impressions are important.

Texas Violence Claims 25 Lives

By The Associated Press

At least 25 persons died violently in Texas during the weekend, 14 of them in traffic accidents.

The death toll also included the shooting of a state trooper and a plane crash that killed four.

The weekend fatality count by The Associated Press began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

C.B. Minter, 63, and James Falkner, 53, both of Franklin, were killed when their pickup truck and a tractor-trailer rig collided near the Central Texas community of Milano.

In Bell County, Bobby Terrell, 14, of Rogers was killed when struck by lightning.

State Trooper Mark Frederick, 25, was fatally shot Sunday by a man in a car stopped by the officer and his partner near Sealy in South Texas.

A private plane crash near Bryan killed four Purcell, Okla., residents Sunday. The pilot, Odus Daniel West, 43, and Carlene Nan West, 42, W. A. West, 55, and Minnie Ermine D. West, 50, died when the Cessna crashed near a farm house 3½ miles south of Bryan.

An elderly San Antonio man who lived at the Waco Veterans Administration hospital was struck and killed by a car in Waco Sunday night. Police identified the victim as Robert Priestly.

Amado Cadena, 16, of Edinburg was killed Saturday night when struck by a car as he walked a horse along U.S. 281 in Edinburg.

Police say a high-speed auto chase in Edinburg Sunday ended in the death of Mark Allen Whitford, 18, of Donna. Officers said Pharr police were pursuing the youth in connection with an alleged traffic violation when his car went out of control and hit a tree on U.S. 281 in Edinburg.

Michael Wayne Barrow, 19, of Dallas was killed early Sunday when his car went out of control and struck a utility pole on an expressway, police said.

Durwood Holt, 56, of Irving was killed Sunday afternoon when hit by a car in Dallas, officers said.

Police said the body of Walter G. Knowlton of Houston was found in a Houston vacant lot Sunday. Officers said Knowlton apparently had been stabbed.

An amusement park accident in Houston Saturday killed Tara Michelle Briggs, 2, of Houston. Police said she fell from the cup-like Maypole ride at Astroworld amusement park. The child was caught in the base of the cup in which she was riding. She was dragged and suffered fatal head and chest injuries, officers said.

Jack Harold Hawley Jr., 22, of Beaumont drowned Saturday near Dodge in Southeast Texas as he attempted to rescue a cow from a pond. Witnesses said Hawley became entangled in heavy moss.

Galveston fire officials said a space heater ignited a stuffed chair in the home of Jerado Rodriguez, 20, Saturday, resulting in a fire that claimed his life.

Sees The Light

KANSAS CITY (AP) — After 42 years in a dark storeroom, a gigantic 1,200-year-old Buddha has seen the light.

The nine-foot Japanese statue is now permanently installed in the new Frank Grant Crowell Wing of Kansas City's Nelson Gallery-Atkins Museum. The 300-pound Amida Buddha, purchased in Kyoto in 1932, had been relegated to virtual solitude since 1934 because of space limitations.

The new Crowell wing completes the Nelson nearly 42 years after it was first opened to the public.

Brooks Fights Trips Paid Out Of Revenue Sharing

By JAMES GERSTENZANG
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Should the nation's mayors, county officials and governors be allowed to use revenue-sharing money to visit Washington, meet with congressmen and lobby for more revenue-sharing money?

Rep. Jack Brooks, chairman of the House Government Operations Committee and a vociferous opponent of revenue-sharing, insists that they should not, and he is pushing an amendment to revenue-sharing legislation to insure that they do not.

Whether money allocated to the nation's states, counties and municipalities under the five-year-old program is actually used to fund trips by public officials to Washington is difficult to determine. The money is distributed with few federal instructions on how it should be spent, and in most cases it goes directly into a general fund.

But Brooks suspects that cities and states have, in some way, used the money to pressure Congress into giving them more money.

The revenue-sharing program has become extremely popular with the local and state officials, returning to their jurisdictions approximately $30 billion from the federal treasury since it was started in 1972.

The officials have been pressuring their congressmen and members of the House Government Operations Committee, particularly Brooks, for passage of a renewed program.

Since November, three organizations representing mayors, governors and county officials have had large meetings in Washington. Their primary goal has been to let Congress know they want the revenue-sharing program continued beyond its Dec. 31 expiration. Most officials at these meetings had their expenses paid by their governments.

The legislation to renew the program is pending in Congress.

In March, the U.S. Conference of Mayors-National League of Cities held a series of rallies that brought about 2,000 mayors and 1,500 other persons to Washington, by Brooks' count, to talk about revenue-sharing. He estimated $500 was spent by each visitor.

This, said Brooks, a Texas Democrat, amounted to a $1.75 million investment in securing passage of revenue-sharing, worth at least $6.5 billion a year in federal allocations.

"The states and cities spent millions of dollars lobbying for this, and they're in dire financial straits," he said. A spokesman for the group said he did not know how much was spent.

"There's been some implication they used revenue-sharing money to come up here," Brooks said of the mayors. But, he asked, "How can you tell how much is revenue-sharing money, how much is salary and how much is money their granddaddies left them?"

Spokesmen for the mayors' group, the National Governors Conference and the National Association of Counties each defended the public officials' recent visits and criticized Brooks' proposed amendment.

"It's an absurd proposal," said Tim Honey, a staff member for the mayors' group who has followed the legislation. "Obviously, state and local officials have a right to come to Washington to lobby for the program. And many of the people who come to town come to town for other business. How can you monitor it?"

Immediate benefits for new nonsmoker

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Having smoked since I was 16 (I am now 59) and having quit since reading your advice in the paper, I am really rather deflated.

My doctor tells me that I have incurred no damage through smoking, but if I have my giving up smoking at my age cannot undo it. I hope you can encourage me in my endeavor to quit.

He stresses that I may become very nervous and that is not good. Any comments?

DEAR READER—If, and I stress the word if, you are quoting your doctor correctly, he must be a cigarette smoker. No other well-informed doctor would give out such bad advice unless he has an emotional blind spot.

It is true that a certain amount of lung damage which has developed in smoking is not reversible. It is totally, completely, 100 per cent wrong to say that you cannot benefit from stopping smoking just because you smoked for many years.

The marked increase in the risk of having a heart attack or stroke associated with cigarette smoking is decreased at once as soon as a person quits smoking. To put it another way, a person who has been smoking two packs of cigarettes a day for years has three times the likelihood of dropping dead or having a heart attack than the non-smoker. If that person quits smoking, within a week his risk factor of having a heart attack and dropping dead is decreased to the same level as the non-smoker.

Considering the high incidence of heart attacks and dropping dead suddenly associated with vascular disease this is a very significant improvement. Your doctor either doesn't know this and is restricting his comments to the lungs, and then only to some cases, or else you must have misunderstood what he said. The facts as I have stated them here are well known to the leading medical scientists in the country and most competent practicing physicians.

For more information on different health problems associated with smoking send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 2-6, Tobacco: Cigarettes, Cigars, Pipes. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care os this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

One of the problems that patients have in dealing with physicians is that the advice a physician gives is sometimes related to his own personal situation. So it is that doctors who smoke cigarettes tend to be permissive and not very successful in getting their patients to stop this unhealthy habit. It is also true that the overweight physician is less inclined to do what should be done in the best interest of the health of his patients in the diet and weight reducing area.

Having said this, I would like to point with some pride to the fact that no other occupation or profession has the excellent record of stopping smoking that physicians have. Doctors have quit in masses. You can go to major medical meetings today and walk through the hall where hundreds of physicians will be gathered around scientific exhibits and not see a single whiff of cigarette smoke. There is a reason for this. Physicians as a group know how harmful smoking can be, and as a group the vast majority have had the willpower to stop.

CELEBRITIES ON THE COUCH

By Dick Maurice

Rita Moreno, the Puerto Rican bombshell, lights up Broadway with her Tony Award winning performance in the hit show "The Ritz". Whether she's performing in night clubs or on the big screen or in the theatre her talents have brought many an audience to their feet cheering after one of her performances. After visiting her in her dressing room I felt the same way.

MAURICE: You started so young. I read that you started at 17.

MORENO: I was five!

MAURICE: When you went to Hollywood?

MORENO: Oh, Hollywood, 17, right. Do you know that my first day at M.G.M., which was the studio I was signed at, I met all of the top stars? I met - my first day - I met Gable, I met Bogart, I met Oscar Levant, I met Elizabeth Taylor, I met Esther Williams, I met Lana Turner, I met Ann Miller...the producer for whom I was doing this movie at M.G.M., Joe Pasternak, just took me around to all the different sets and introduced me.

MAURICE: How great. It must have been so exciting.

MORENO: I was pollaxed, pollaxed! Of course, what was heartbreaking was the next day none of them knew me. I'd say, "Hi-iii, Mr. Gable!!!" "Oh, Hello."

MAURICE: Why are you so thin? Because I understand you really love food?

MORENO: I do. And I love to cook. Why am I not fat? The show.

MAURICE: Not fat. But why are you so thin?

MORENO: The show. And my body uses up calories faster than most.

MAURICE: Do you regain weight when you're not working?

MORENO: I do. And I have to be very careful because I'm very tiny and I have a very Latin behind. And that's where it all goes! Isn't that wonderful?

MAURICE: What's your favorite dish?

MAURICE: Whatever kind of dish is that?

MORENO: Translated that's "oid clothes" which is the best name I've ever heard for a dish. It amounts to a stew but it's like you've never tasted. You cook the meat so much that you then shred it with two forks so it looks like old clothes. Then the meat soaks up the sauce because it's shredded - like a blotter. In the sauce is garlic, onions, green pepper, capers, olivers pumpkin...

MAURICE: Let's turn to another subject. You're making me hungry. I understand you are planning a nightclub act?

MORENO: Yes and it's going to be the biggest best act in the world.

MAURICE: Were will you do it?

MORENO: I love to do concerts as opposed to night club. Because if I do concert, I can do many different things for a long period of time. Night club you have to limit your time. And I have many, many ideas. For one thing, I want sets.

MAURICE: You could play in Las Vegas! That's where everyone is working these days.

MORENO: I could do Vegas, I could do concerts - I want sets, I'd love a million boys coming out in little white outfits. That's what I miss about Broadway, the big casts. Nowadays, they can't afford anymore than 17. Yes Vegas is where it's happening.

MAURICE: Who do you think was the most beautiful woman in Hollywood?

MORENO: Another Latin girl - Dolores Del Rio, cha, cha, cha.

The garter snake is a common reptile of the fields. It feeds on frogs, toads and earthworms. It is not poisonous.

TOP SALESMAN—Norman Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Malone, was top ticket salesman for the Lone Buffalo District Scout Exposition for the third year in a row, selling 150 tickets. He sold 100 in 1974 and 120 in 1975. A member of Cub Pack 36, sponsored by East Elementary PTA, he won a backpack and frame and a handicraft knife set as well as a considerable amount of money for his pack.

Plane Crash Probed

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — Federal Aviation Agency officials sought the reason today for no radio contact prior to a private plane crash that killed four Purcell, Okla., residents Sunday.

The dead were identified as pilot Odus Daniel West, 43, and Carlene Nan West, 42, both of Route 1, Box 367, and W. A. West, 55, and Minnie Ermine D. West, 50, both of Route 2, Box 286. All were from Purcell.

The Cessna 172 crashed in a low overcast without burning some 300 yards from where Marri Lentschke was painting a fence at her home.

"I heard a noise and saw it come out of the clouds," said Mrs. Lentschke, 18. "The plane was coming almost nose down and hit and made a big cloud of dust. I thought I saw something come off the plane before it hit."

A flight plan found in the plane showed it was en route to Bay City, Tex, the sheriff's department said.

The crash occurred at 10:45 a.m. and Mrs. Lentschke said there was no rain.

Easterwood Airport said it received no radio communication from the plane. Debris was scattered all over the six-acre field.

Runoff Set In Dallas Race

By The Associated Press

The Dallas mayor's job will be decided in a special runoff election April 20 between millionaire developer Robert Folsom and former city councilman Garry Weber.

Elsewhere around the state in Saturday's elections old party politics made a strong showing in Duval County; conservative Republican Ron Paul, a Lake Jackson physician won the 22nd Congressional District seat, and Denton voted "wet" for the first time since early this century.

Folsom got 48.4 per cent of the vote to Weber's 45.2 per cent in a mayor's race necessitated by the resignation of Wes Wise, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 5th Congressional District seat.

In the politically volatile South Texas county of Duval, candidates backed by the party built by the late George Parr swept the five seats up for grabs on the Benavides school board. The losers were backed by the Carrillo family faction.

With the two incumbent board members also being allied with the Parr faction, it gives the so-called "Old Party" complete control.

The North Texas city of Denton, home of North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University, is going to be wet a result of Saturday's wet-dry election.

The pro-liquor forces, Citizens for Change, were headed by NTSU student Steven Fogg. The anti-booze forces were organized by Citizens Against Legalized Liquor, led by Dr. L.L. Armstrong, pastor of the First Baptist Church. The vote was 4,832 to 4,250.

Citizens in San Angelo decided they still want to elect their police chief, approving such a proposal by a two-to-one margin. It is the largest Texas city which elects its top law enforcement officer. But in the same election, Police Chief James McClennan lost to Police Sgt. Wesley Smith for the top post. Residents also approved a plan to elect city commissioner from single member districts, beginning in 1978.

Meanwhile, down in the Southeast corner of the state, non-serious candidate Marion Smith lost the Beaumont mayor's race to incumbent Ken Ritter by only 26 votes. The count was 7,841 to 7,815.

Smith, who conceded the election, said afterwards he only spent $11 in his campaign and said he might have won if he had spent more-maybe $12.

Reagan Due In Area

DALLAS (AP) — Ronald Reagan's Republican presidential nomination campaign comes to Texas today for a 72-hour visit aimed at the majority of delegates in the state's May 1 primary.

The former California governor, who has won one primary—North Carolina—scheduled an afternoon news conference and a rally tonight at a bowling center in West Dallas.

Reagan will speak Tuesday morning at Southern Methodist University and then fly to Wichita Falls for a noon appearance at Midwestern University. He goes on to Abilene that afternoon and suppers with the Kiwanis Tuesday evening, leaving for Lubbock afterwards.

After his Lubbock appearance, Reagan will fly to Longview to address the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

He departs the state Wednesday afternoon for Salt Lake City.
