Downtown Parade To Open Junior Rodeo Here Friday

A downtown parade at 5 p.m. Friday will get Ozona's annual junior rodeo under way. The first show in the two-day event will begin Friday night at 7:30 at the rodeo arena. The rodeo is sponsored by the Ozona Lions Club.

Weldon Maness is parade chairman and he has notified the Stockman that the parade will make up at 4:30 at the vacant lot north of South Texas Lumber Company. Everyone who wishes to be in the parade should be on hand at that time to form up. Max Schroeder, president of the 4-H Horse Club, and Lynn Maness, Lions Club sweetheart, will lead the parade as flag bearers. Reining rodeo queen Dawn Burns will be the featured rider, followed by contestants for this year's title. The five queen contestants are Helen Bunger, Becky Everett, Karen Kirby, Janice Janes and Lucy Perner.

The rodeo is sponsored each year by the Ozona

Lions Club and club members will man the concession stand and handle ticket sales. The concession stand will be open early each night.

Bearing the 4-H banner will be Regina Everett and Lori Clayton, both active 4-H members and district winners.

Entries for the rodeo were coming in at a fast clip at mid-week and officials expect a record number of contestants from Ozona and surrounding counties. The show will be a one-go round event performing Saturday night. Also the rodeo queen for the coming year will be selected and crowned during the Saturday night show.

A dance will be held at the platform following the show each night. The Westemers from San Angelo will furnish the music this year.

REIGNING RODEO QUEEN -- Miss Dawn Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burns was crowned rodeo queen during ceremonies on the final night of the 1975 junior rodeo. She will reign as queen throughout the festivities this year and will crown the new queen Saturday night during the performances.

Scottie Houston Ends 41-Yr Career

A forty-one year career with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation drew to a close July 31 as Maintenance Construction Supervisor Scottie A. Houston of Ozona retired.

vere flooding of the Crockett County area in October 1974, Scottie received a letter of commendation from District Engineer D.R. Watson of San Angelo. The letter expressed the wish that the "public could know of the long hours and hard work" that go into providing roads and keeping them safe during such extreme conditions. "Thanks for a job well done. I am proud to be associated with such dedicated people" the letter closed.

Scottie's new-found leisure time will be filled with a number of activities, extending from community activities in the Lion's Club, Masonic Lodge and First Baptist Church, to those times of personal relaxation and enjoyment found with his wife, sons and grandchildren. Fishing, motorcycle trips and deer hunting on a Pecos River lease are among Scottie's hobbies.

Employees at the District Office in San Angelo honored Scottie with a luncheon at the Old Coach Inn Friday, July 30. His fellow workers and other friends met over cake and coffee Wednesday afternoon from 4:30-5:00 at the Ozona Maintenance Office to wish him a happy retirement.

SCOTTIE HOUSTON ...retires

Scottie's career, which began in Bamhart in 1935, has seen West Texas highways go from graded soil or caliche roads with few all-weather surfaces into the modern Farm to Market system with State and U.S. highways culminating in modern Interstate Highway 10 through the Ozona area.

Scottie and his wife, Mozelle, moved to Ozona in 1947, shortly after he became supervisor of maintenance activities in this area. Emergency conditions have found Scottie and his men forgetting the clock as they work to insure the lives and safety of the travelling public. Following the se-

Parthood Center Is 1 Year Old

Ozona's Planned Parenthood Center is celebrating its first anniversary, and in a report made by the center to date, total patients number 91. Of this number, there have been 87 general physicals, counseling has been given to 4, pregnancy testing numbers 15, and three women and one man have come for voluntary sterilization.

For the past year Planned Parenthood of San Angelo has funded the local center. Feeling that Ozona would like to take this obligation, letters have gone out from the local center soliciting funds. Contributions may be sent to Ozona Planned Parenthood Clinic, Doctors Office Building, 908 First St. in Ozona.

The local clinic is manned by volunteers and is open each Wednesday and Thursday from 9 to 12 noon and from 2 until 5 p.m.

Clinics have been held on a bi-monthly basis with services administered by Ozona physicians, a registered nurse, a social worker from the San Angelo office and the local volunteers.

No one is turned away. Patients requesting free services are screened according to Department of Public Welfare standards and those who do not qualify must pay according to their ability to pay.

New Manager For W. T. U. Office

Pat Wester, West Texas Utilities Company local manager in Rotan has been named the new local manager of the Ozona Office according to W. K. Ramsey, WTU district manager in San Angelo.

Wester replaces Melton O. Field, local manager for the past four years in Ozona, who is being transferred to McCamey where he will become assistant district manager of WTU's McCamey District.

Wester joined WTU in 1958 as a serviceman trainee in Abilene. He was transferred to Marfa as a serviceman later that same year, and in 1961 was named local manager at Fort Davis. In 1966 he was made local manager at Eldorado, then in 1972, he was transferred to Rotan as local manager.

He was born in Brownfield in 1935, but later moved with his family to Dickens where he attended public schools. He graduated from Rule High School in 1952, then went on to attend Hardin-Simmons University and Tyler Commercial College.

Mrs. Wester is the former Nell Eakins of Rule. (CONT'D ON PAGE 8)

Election Suit Filed In SA Against County Officials

A suit filed in U. S. District Court in San Angelo, by four Mexican American men claiming to speak for the Mexican-American Community in Crockett County, asked for a restraining order to prevent the November general election from being held in Crockett County. It also asks that the results of the 1976 Democratic primary elections be set aside.

The suit grew from a long-standing controversy surrounding the redrawing of the four Precinct lines in Crockett County. The court re-drew the lines to comply with the "one man, one vote rule." Precinct 2 having almost one-half as many registered voters as the other three precincts was enlarged. This action took voters from Precincts 3 and 1, and the lines were redrawn to reflect no more than a 10 percent difference in voting strength in the four precincts. This plan was approved by the Crockett Commissioners Court in 1974, prior to the time Texas was placed under the Federal Voting Rights Act.

Wednesday U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward denied the temporary restraining order and stated that the matter would be set for hearing as soon as possible after the defendants have answered the allegations made in the suit.

The suit, filed by Hector DeHoyos, Robert Flores, Jesse Fierro and Armando Reina individually and on behalf of all others similarly situated, declares that all four are registered voters who reside in Crockett County and are United States citizens of Mexican descent and further that Fierro and Flores reside in Precinct 3 and Reina and DeHoyos in Precinct 1, all in Crockett County.

Named as defendants in the suit are County Judge Troy Williams, Jesse Marley, commissioner of Precinct 1; Bill Black, commissioner of Precinct 2; Jack Williams, commissioner of Precinct 3, and Jesus Castro, commissioner of Precinct 4; County Clerk Leta Powell, Sheriff Billy Mills, and John R. Hunnicutt, Crockett County Democratic Chairman.

Papers were served on the defendants by a U. S. Marshall here Thursday, the day following the court action in U. S. District Court in San Angelo. Defendants were ordered to expedite the preparation of the case for an early hearing and were advised that the court will give notice of a hearing as soon as practicable after receipt of the answers by the defendants.

Attorney for the plaintiffs is Luis M. Segura of San Antonio. Lucius Bunton of Odessa is attorney for the county.

The plaintiffs in the suit contend that the precinct lines set by the court in 1974 are unlawful, under the Voting Rights Act of 1965 which was extended and amended to cover the State of Texas in August of 1975. Under the act all redistricting of states and political subdivisions must be approved by the United States Attorney General, retroactive to November 1, 1972.

The suit does not mention the fact that lines were amended at a called meeting of the court in October of 1975, and both parties agreed to abide by the altered lines.

George Korbel of San Antonio was the attorney. He represented the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund, and was the attorney for the Mexican American group. Commissioner Jesus Castro acted as spokesman for the M-A group. Attorney Lucius Bunton represented the county. After an entire day of discussion, the court, along with their attorneys made a survey of the disputed line between Precincts 1 and 4. Castro acting on behalf of Precinct 4 and Marley for Precinct 1. The line was re-arranged to the satisfaction of all at that time and the meeting ended in agreement. It was this reappointment which was submitted to the U. S. Attorney General for approval.

The suit claims that the county did not provide the justice Department with the information required and that the Democratic Primary and the

"PROMISES, PROMISES . . ."

Promises of full employment surface again in this election year. During the interim between the Democratic and Republican conventions some politicians eager to get the votes of the 6, 9 million people out-of-work are promising a "solution."

Their proposed cure for unemployment is the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, named for its cosponsors Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Representative Augustus F. Hawkins (D-Calif.).

This legislation would guarantee that all adult Americans, 16 years or older, would be given "useful paid employment at fair rates of compensation," it certainly sounds like a well meaning promise and a noble goal; but what about the means by which we attain so-called full employment?

If we track the path of past promises, we find the promise of a war on poverty and the promise of a great society and a promise of a model cities program are all gone to that great graveyard of ambitious social legislation; in short, a lot of promises with no deliveries.

The promise of the bill itself is dependent upon a whole string of liberal promises. The President must promise to lower the adult unemployment rate to an arbitrary three percent in four years - a level never achieved in the post World War II era - even if the federal government must become the employer of last resort.

The President must further promise to establish yearly goals for employment, production, purchasing power, and more promises to further these goals.

If that's not enough promises to handle, the Council of Economic Advisors must promise to establish a process of "long-range economic planning" (a Soviet 5-year plan!) to ensure that all of the other promises are kept.

The unemployed do not need illusory pledges but realistic solutions. Perhaps the saddest part of all is that Americans will not even reap genuine benefits under the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. It is not so much for jobs creation as for jobs transfer; transferring employment and resources from the productive private sector of our economy to the government - with the bill passed on to the taxpayer.

And how much will the promise cost? The Department of Labor estimates that it costs them about $25, 000 to create one public service job. Clearly, the American taxpayer cannot afford the luxury of the Humphrey-Hawkins "promise."

CAMBODIAN GENOCIDE:

THE DOUBLE STANDARD

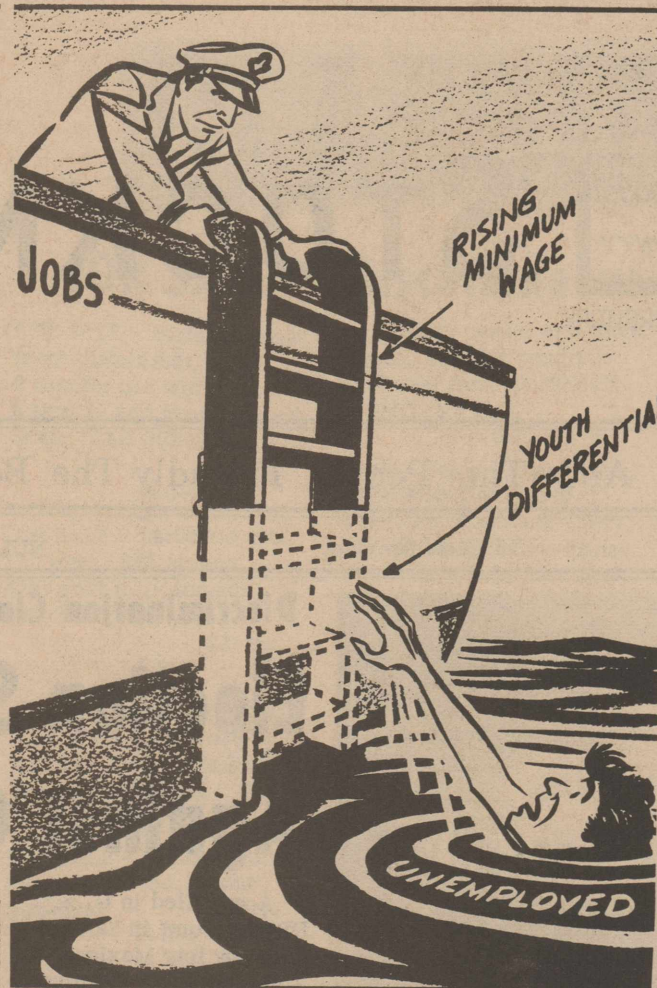

The chances are that you haven't heard or read a word about it, but the most hideous act of genocide since Hitler murdered six million Jews is now taking place in Cambodia. And while hundreds of thousands die, the Conscience of Mankind--so vocal in other areas--maintains a thundering silence.

In Cambodia, there is no army of Western newsmen, ready and eager to report every last infraction of democracy, every self-immolation by Buddhist monks, every act of protest, every possible crime of corruption or war atrocity, just so long as it was perpetrated by the anti-communist side in Indo-China. What is happening now is largely shrouded in silence, but words leak out. As Time magazine reported a few weeks ago:

"Whole families--and sometimes entire villages--have been massacred. . . (refugees) tell tales of people being clubbed to death 'to save ammunition'. Others have been bound together and buried alive by bulldozers, or suffocated by having plastic bags tied over their heads." Time estimated that 500, 000 to 600, 000 people have died so far, and the slaughter continues.

Where, then, are the breast-beating senators who raged against the "corrupt regime of Lon Nol"? Where are the indignant moralists who denied the anti-communist Vietnamese and Cambodians even the weapons with which to defend themselves? By and large these gentlemen are now busy fulminating against "repression in Chili" or denouncing "apartheid in South Africa."

Perhaps it is embarrassment. Who wants to admit that the "alternative" to Lon Nol was, after all, even worse? Perhaps it is a sense of futility. Why bother to complain about something you can't do anything about? But mostly, we suspect, it is the grisly double standard that prevails everywhere among "liberals" The basis for it is the idea that the "enemy" is always to the right, never to the left. Never mind the atrocities, the murders, committed by Stalin, Brezhnev, Castro, or Mao. These are understandable adjuncts to the remaking of corrupt societies into socialist paradises. The idea is to concentrate one's wrath, instead, on the regimes of the right - the Greek colonels, the Chilean junta, Franco's Spain, the whites of Rhodesia and South Africa. These are all fair targets for the wrath of "world opinion."

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - More than 29,000 miles of Texas roads and 2,564 bridges are hazardous because they were designed for traffic conditions of 40 years ago.

This is the conclusion of The Road Information Program (TRIP) nationwide study just completed. TRIP found 56,000 accidents were caused in Texas last year by road hazards. The accidents cost $173 million in hospital fees, property damage and payments to accident victims and survivors.

The Washington, D. C.-based research and information agency estimated nearly 17,000 miles of roads and streets are too narrow for safe passing by large trucks, school buses and other bulky vehicles at posted speeds. Another 12,606 miles contain sharp curves, soft shoulders, steep rises and dips, roadside obstructions, restricted sight distances and inadequate warning signs.

TRIP acknowledged that human error was a factor in almost all the 468,596 Texas highway accidents in 1975, but one accident in eight reportedly would not have occurred if road design and engineering had been adequate. Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association also noted 20-year-old portions of the Interstate System are now obsolete and in need of modernization.

AG Opinions
Any service-connected disability entitles a qualified veteran to an additional five point credit on a competitive Merit System or Civil Service exam, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

More Revenue
A Federal Power Commission increase in ceiling prices for interstate gas sales may mean millions of dollars in additional Texas state government income. However, the U. S. Court of Appeals has temporarily blocked the raise.

Mutscher Appointed
Former House Speaker Gus Mutscher was named to an $11,398 a year post of Washington County judge after being released from probation on his 1972 bribery conspiracy conviction.

New Industries
Seventeen new industries - ranging from cheesecakes to sewage treatment - will bring an extra $40.7 million to the Texas economy, Texas Industrial Commission reports.

The concerns which began operating during June will employ nearly 800 new workers, and the jobs will generate, in turn, another 700 additional job slots.

New industries are located in San Antonio, Dallas, Longview, Marble Falls, Stephenville, Marshall, Yoakum, Port Arthur, Wichita Falls and Austin.

Rates Rising
State Insurance Board actuaries laid out recommendations for an auto coverage increase of about 20 per cent.

Companies asked a 27.9 per cent boost. The board August 4 resumed the statewide car insurance hearing which recessed July 14.

Courts Speak
Third Court of Civil Appeals upheld lower court rulings against a permanent injunction sought by State Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso to stop a Texas Legislative Council property tax revision study through an inter-agency contract signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

The legislature appropriated $5 million last year for a study to determine the ability of a school district to support its public schools. U. S. District Judge Jack Roberts turned down a Temple school district plan to alter boundaries of city schools.

TOWER TALKS
by U.S. Senator for Texas
JOHN TOWER

Tax Reform

WASHINGTON—We are well launched into this election year, and once again the rafters are ringing with cries for tax reform.

Most political issues come and go, but some are perennial. Tax reform is the hardest issue of all. It stirred passions at the time of the Boston Tea Party, and it is stirring them yet today.

The scenario hasn't changed much in 200 years. Each election the politicians of both parties shout for tax reform. Each election the voters cast their ballots for the politicians who shouted the loudest. And after each election, the tax code grows more confused, more unwieldy, and more unfair.

Today we have a federal tax code that is nearly 2,000 pages long—an entire shelf of bulky books printed in an arcane language hardly anybody can understand.

One thing we can remember is how much we have to pay in taxes. The amount goes up each year. At present, a wage-earner who earns $15,000 a year pays 36 per cent of his income in direct taxes of all kinds, and another 8 per cent in indirect taxes, bringing his total contribution to Uncle Sam to 44 per cent of his salary.

If the people are for tax reform, and all the politicians say they are for it, then why is it so difficult to achieve this desirable goal?

Part of the problem is in deciding what a tax "reform" is, and part of it is the false promises that irresponsible politicians make.

Most of the debate over tax reform concerns tax differentials, which are called "incentives" by those who get them, and "loopholes" by those who don't.

Tax differentials exist because our tax system is used for more than one purpose. In addition to raising revenue to pay for government spending programs, the tax system is used to encourage those activities which Congress considers socially desirable, such as homeowning, and to discourage activities which Congress considers socially undesirable.

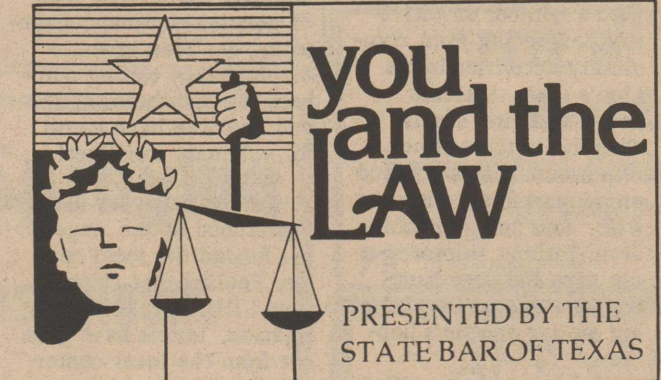

Many people think that most tax differentials benefit the wealthy. But the truth is that roughly two-thirds of all tax free income is in the lower brackets. The middle-income wage-earner rather than the wealthy businessman or socialite would be hurt most by removing them.

Another favorite target of tax "reformers" are the taxes on business, which occupy about nine-tenths of the tax code.

But taxes on business are really indirect taxes on us, since we pay for them in the form of higher prices for the products we buy. They are very regressive taxes, too, because people with lower incomes have to pay a greater portion of their salary in corporate taxes than wealthier people do.

High business taxes also cause unemployment. Since taxes on business are taxes on capital, the higher the taxes are, the harder it is for businesses to raise the money they need to expand and create jobs.

What all this means is that if we are ever to have a tax reform whereby you pay less, we will have to cut government spending. There is no other way to do it. The politicians know this. Which is one reason why you don't hear much about tax reform once an election campaign is over.

Q: A friend of mine wants to have a will prepared leaving all of his property to their grandchildren and leaving his daughter nothing. Could his daughter break a will like that?

A: In Texas, a person can disinherit any relative, including children, by leaving property to someone else. Grounds for contesting a will include: lack of mental capacity, failure to observe some legal requirement in the execution of the will, or fraud. However, disinheritance alone is not a ground for challenging a will.

Q: I lived with a seaman and we had a joint checking account in both of our names; he bought me a wedding ring set, but he moved out before we held our marriage ceremony; I drew the money out of the joint bank account and kept the wedding rings. Can he make me give the money back? Can he take the rings back?

A: If your living together did not constitute a common-law marriage, then the use of the bank account would be determined by the intent of the man and woman. If the intent was to share the bank account funds equally, the person withdrawing all of the funds may be liable for half of the amount withdrawn. If the wedding rings were a gift, the women would be free to keep them unless the gift was conditioned on performance of the marriage ceremony.

A LIFT FOR THE WEEK
It is far better to forgive and forget than to hate and remember.

Q: My volunteer group is going to hold a fund-raising banquet for charitable purposes. Do we need to charge the sales tax on the tickets to the banquet, or on the food when we serve it?

A: If your organization is non-profit and the function is not a regularly scheduled one; and, if the function is not being held in an established restaurant or other eating place; and, if it's all volunteer—you most likely will not have to collect any sales tax. To be absolutely certain, however, you may wish to check with the nearest district office of the State Comptroller.

Q: What happens if the house I want to buy is damaged or destroyed by fire before the deal is closed?

A: This depends upon what the contract you signed stipulates is to occur in this event. The contract should include a provision dealing with damage or destruction of the house by fire or other casualty. Some factors to be considered in drafting this provision include the extent of damage necessary before the contract would take effect, whether the seller has an obligation to repair damage to the house, and the right of either party to cancel the contract in the event of such damage.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

The recent good rains have given us a respite from daily watering, and we hope they will continue through this month and bring moisture to all of our area.

August doldrums, summer listlessness, vacations, and the recent rains may tempt us to lessen gardening activities, but this is a critical period for shrubs, trees, and other plants.

Notice bromeliads are very popular now. They love warm weather, few plants surpass them in their ability to adapt to different growing conditions, and little care. Bromeliads offer a wide variety in size, shape and color of foliage and flower. They are native to the American tropics and are mostly air plants or epiphytes, which grow on trees. Also they attach themselves to host tree branches and trunks by special root structures, but are not parasitic.

Most bromeliads grow well in a very porous organic medium, such as chopped osmunda or bark. Too, they will grow if hooked on a tree or wooden slab. While bromeliads do well in warm weather, most species cannot withstand high light levels. Most species, however, must not be exposed to direct rays of the sun. Those types with soft, green, thin leaves require moderate to heavy shade.

If you live in a new home and your foundation plants are looking yellow you may want to check around plants for discarded building materials. Broken brick, plaster, cement, or other residue may have been left on the site, and later covered over with soil. The resulting alkalinity of the soil can tie up iron needed by the plants in the photosynthetic process. Leaves of affected trees and shrubs gradually turn pale green to yellow. Otherwise the problem could be caused from soil that is naturally alkaline. Sulfur corrects alkaline soil conditions. Also, soluble forms of iron such as iron chelate, are available to correct a deficiency of available iron. These can either be sprayed on the foliage, or poured around the root system.

MRS. FRED BAKER

Miss Richey Weds Mr. Baker In Ft. Stockton

Miss Annetta Kay Richey became the bride of William Fredrick Baker in a candlelight ceremony in Northside Baptist Church in Fort Stockton Friday, July 16 at 7 o'clock in the evening. Rev. J. B. Hennigan, pastor, and Dr. Clyde Childress, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Richey of Fort Stockton and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Baker of Ozona.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional Chantilly lace gown enhanced with silk ribbon insertion and Venice lace. The princess line gown featured a deep ruffle flounce. Two folded panels flowing from the neckline formed the train. Her veil was a bouffant three-tier of lace which fell from a lace Camelot. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Mike Ross of Plano served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Clifton and Mrs. Mike Baker of Fort Stockton and Miss Christi Dillow of Monahans.

The attendants were gowned in blue dresses designed with matching blue floral overlay. They carried bouquets of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Mike Baker, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were James Hendricks, Johnny Richey, Marshall Islands and David Bean.

Ushers included Floyd Pettit, Richard Hawkins and Dennis Ables. A reception was held immediately following the wedding in the fellowship hall of the church.

Following a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn., the couple will be at home on the Baker Ranch in Fort Stockton.

The bride is a graduate of ASU. The bridegroom attended ASU and Odessa College. He is presently employed as assistant innkeeper at Holiday Inn in Fort Stockton.

Among the out of town guests were the bridegroom's grandmothers, Mrs. Alice Baker and Mrs. George Bean, both of Ozona.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

Tired of hot, messy kitchens these steamy summer days? Try cooking outdoors—a popular way of life in Texas. An outdoor meal is an easy way to entertain with minimum preparation and clean-up. Also, many charcoal grills require no electricity or gas, so they're a real energy-saver on the monthly utility bill.

An entire meal may be planned for cooking outside. Plan meals with adequate nutrition by including foods from the Basic Four Food Groups. Meal service should be simple and easy, such as buffet style. It's easy to arrange for small or large groups, and plastic utensils and cups, paper dishes and napkins make easy clean-up.

Assemble as much of the meal indoors as possible. Keep cold and perishable foods refrigerated until they are ready to eat or cook. Foods prepared in advance and left outside can be infested with organisms which multiply quickly and do not affect food taste, smell or appearance. Foodborne disease is possible when food is handled too much, improperly cooked or left exposed for several hours outside.

For more information and recipes for outdoor cooking, send 25 cents and your request for B-1069, "Outdoor Cooking" to the Department of Agricultural Communications, College Station, Texas 77843, or get a self-mailer from your local county Extension Agent.

Here are a few recipes from this publication: TEXAS BARBECUE SAUCE
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup Worcestershire sauce

2 tablespoon prepared mustard
 2 teaspoons paprika
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 2 cloves garlic, peeled and minced
 1 1/2 cup catsup or tomato paste
 2 medium onions, chop finely
 2 teaspoons salt
 Combine ingredients and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Yield: 3 cups.

TOMATOES AND ONIONS
 Cut medium-sized, firm tomatoes in half crosswise; season with salt and pepper. Place a thin slice of onion between the halves. Fasten with a tooth pick and wrap each tomato in a square of heavy aluminum foil. Bake at edge of grill for 15 or 20 minutes.

GARLIC BREAD
 1 loaf unsliced French bread, 10-12 in. long
 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
 1/2 cup margarine or butter, melted
 1 teaspoon paprika
 Slice bread in one-inch thick slices, cutting to within one-fourth inch from the bottom of the loaf. Add garlic powder and paprika to margarine or butter and blend well. Spread between slices and over top of bread. Wrap in foil and heat on back of grill.

ROASTED CORN-INDIAN STYLE
 Pull back shucks and remove silks. Replace husks and tie ends with string. Soak in cold water to prevent excessive browning. Place ears on grill; roast 15 to 20 minutes, turning frequently until husks are dry and browned.

BOY TO LONGS
 Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Darrell Long are the parents of a daughter born July 21 in Hudspeh Memorial Hospital in Sonora. The baby weighed 7 lb. and 13 ounces and has been named Hyacinth Adelheid.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Ruthardt and Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Long.

COUNTRY CLUB BRIDGE
 Mrs. Beecher Montgomery was hostess for bridge at the country club Thursday.

Winning high was Mrs. Joe Clayton. Second high went to Mrs. Sherman Taylor, low to Mrs. Douglas Moore and bingo to Mrs. James Dockery.

All The Way

When Pat was younger, he used to think I was a superman. He's older now, and he knows that I'm not. But he still has that special kind of confidence kids have in their parents... and more than anything else, I want to merit that trust.

There was a time when I seldom went to church. Then, one day I realized that if I were going to be the kind of father Pat needed, I had to have help — God's help. I went to church, and I prayed. At first, it wasn't easy to pray. But gradually the words came stronger and clearer.

Maybe I'll never be able to give Pat everything I'd like to give him. But he can always depend upon me for the most important thing of all: truth. I found truth in the Church.

Hard work, dedication and long hours are still essential to success in farming or ranching. But they no longer assure it. Today, it takes capital. And good money management with careful attention to cash flow. That's why there are Federal Land Bank loans on so many of America's best-managed farms and ranches. Long-term Land Bank financing is a dependable way to maintain a sound operation.

Sixty years of lending gives us more faith than ever in American agriculture.

CB Radios Hot Item On Today's Crime Scene

By Sgt. Sidney Lyle
One of the hottest items on the crime scene today is the citizen band (C.B.) radio. They are being stolen from homes, cars, trucks, campers and any place else that the thief finds inviting. In fact, the theft of citizens band radios has reached epidemic proportions unheard of even at the height of 8 track stereo thefts. The theft of C.B. units has become so commonplace, it is believed that most victims do not bother to file an official police report unless an insurance claim is involved. They just replace it with another unit and hope to be able to plug the security deficiency and keep ownership of the new radio. We should all become curious about one major aspect of the stolen C.B.'s. What is happening to all the radios? The sad answer is that almost all the citizen band radios are being purchased by "good" citizens who have every reason to believe the radio is stolen. The bargain hunting man or woman who purchases a stolen C.B. radio is every bit as much a contributor to the success of criminality as the thief who steals it.

It is an misnomer to think that a thief is a thief only because he is forced into such unsavory activities. The truth of the matter is, he is a thief because he can make more money in one evening's stealing spree than most people make in a honest weeks work. He knows that the odds are 3 to 1 that he will not be caught. And if he is detected, the assessment of penalty is a rarity under the current court system.

Because it would appear that the thief has the upper hand both at the time he commits the crime and during his day in court, it becomes critically important for us to take every possible step to keep his efforts from becoming successful.

Within two years the auto makers will be offering a factory installed C.B. radio as optional equipment on most cars. These will be installed in such a way as to make it very difficult for the thief to remove. At the present time, C.B. units are most always attached by two small anchor bolts to a metal frame mounted under the dashboard. Such installations makes it easy for the thief to do his thing. There are two steps that a radio buff can follow that will help him keep his C.B. radio.

First, the radio should be removed from the vehicle whenever the vehicle is unoccupied. This can be accomplished by installing the citizen band radio into a "quick release" bracket. To remove the radio, you have only to pull the unit forward, disconnect the antenna cable and power cable, then put the C.B. radio in the trunk of the vehicle or other secure place. You might also consider using your cigarette lighter as a power source. To disconnect power, unplug the "lighter".

Secondly, your radio should be properly marked with your driver's license number. If your radio is stolen, your chances of recovery are much better if your citizens band radio bears your driver's license number.

Vehicle burglary is fast becoming a national disgrace. If we all do what we can to make vehicle burglary less inviting, the trend is sure to change.

Freezing Melons Is Easy

Freezing melons is easy and simple--and watermelon, cantaloupe and honeydew melons are plentiful with low prices now. Mrs. Sally Coble, foods and nutrition specialist, says,

"Consumers may find this is the best time to buy and freeze some for use the year around," she added.

Mrs. Coble is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Use only top quality fruit. Remove seeds, peel, and cut into slices, cubes or balls.

Cover with a cold sugar syrup, using two cups sugar to four cups water--or pack dry in bags using no sugar. Expel as much air as possible from the bag, seal and freeze immediately.

"When using frozen melons, serve them partially thawed, especially those frozen without sugar. Melon slices frozen in a sugar syrup will maintain their texture better and be firmer after thawing," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles Madray and children, Merideth and David, of Dallas left Monday after visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tom Davidson.

NEW MANAGER -

They were married in Rule in 1954, and have two sons; Garry of San Angelo, who serves as a WTU dispatcher trainee; Larry of Rotan; and a daughter, Marilyn, also of Rotan. The Westers are members of the Baptist Church.

Wester is active in civic work and currently serves as zone chairman of the Rotan Lions Club and chairman of the Fisher County Bicentennial Committee. He is a past president of the Chambers of Commerce in both Eldorado and Rotan. The Westers plan on moving to Ozona in the near future.

Field began working for WTU at the age of 18 as a serviceman trainee in Roby. He was transferred to Rotan where he worked as a serviceman for his father, George Field, who was then local manager and now serves as district manager in Ballinger.

In 1968 he was promoted to local manager at Rotan, and in 1972 he was transferred to Ozona.

He was born in Haskell, but was raised in Roby where he attended public schools. He graduated from Roby High School in 1958. He served in the U. S. Army and Army Reserve from 1961-1967.

ELECTION SUIT -

resulting run-off election were held illegally.

In an interview with County Judge Troy Williams Monday, Williams said the county had complied with all requests that had been made by the federal authorities, and that prior to the elections in question, no county official had received approval nor disapproval. In fact, no word was received by county officials until they were notified July 12 by their attorney that he had received a letter from the Justice Department, dated July 7, indicating that the reapportionment was not satisfactory. Judge Williams said the county was now in the process of taking a census, having nothing to do with eligible voters, to send to the Justice Department.

Another courthouse source expressed the opinion that it was peculiar the group waited until now to file a suit disagreeing with the lines. The general opinion was that if the election had turned out differently in Precinct 1 in the run-off primary, there would have been no disagreement. Sostenes De Hoyos led the ticket in the first primary over incumbent Jesse Marley and challenger Jerry Hayes. Marley won handily in the second primary.

The petition, in a nut shell, asks that the lines be put back to the 1972 position, in spite of the fact that the 1-10 right-of-way demolished dozens of houses or caused them to be moved and the residents moved to various precincts. It also objects to the outcome of the primary particularly in reference to the election of county commissioners for Precincts 1 and 3, although no objection was made until after the run-off election.

Locally, there is some question about the four plaintiffs speaking for the entire Mexican-American community. Segregation has been a dead issue in Ozona for some years, and the majority of the community, both Mexican-American and Anglo, seem to frown on any further polarization of races.

Hearing on Entex Inc.'s application for higher gas rates at Orange ended with the company offering to submit a new schedule that would produce $209,223 year in added revenue. The company originally sought more than twice that much. Rains turned what was expected to be a banner grain crop into a disaster for South Texas farmers.
