A few years ago most Americans would have strongly maintained that this country had advanced beyond the stage of assassinations, riots, etc., but the generations now alive are witnessing a tragic era.

Apparently, emotions run the range from stark disbelief to bitter hatred, and one of the real tragedies may very well be that many glib - tongued experts are anxious to point authoritatively to any handy scapegoat.

When President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, the favorite charge was "Dallas is a sick city." Some broadened the scope to make it a "sick nation."

Self - appointed intellectuals apparently are the first to leap at the naive platitudes. The dictionary defines "intellectualism" as the doctrine that knowledge is derived from pure reason. But there appears to be little reason involved in many of the happenings today, or in the reactions to them.

I doubt if the term "Sickness" truly applies. Irresponsibility, or even stupidity, might be more accurate.

The strange reactions that can evolve from the assassination of a public figure of national stature were encountered by Texans who happened to be traveling in other states when President Kennedy was slain 4½ years ago. There were many reports of people being denied service in public business establishments, even gasoline for their cars, simply because they had Texas license plates and the President had been shot in Dallas.

Since then, Dr. Martin Luther King has been slain in Memphis, Tenn., and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has been gunned down in Los Angeles, that great seat of justice, wisdom and brotherly love.

I doubt that Los Angeles could have done any more to prevent the Wednesday morning shooting than Dallas could to prevent the one that occurred there. All should think carefully before casting stones. That's a good idea for individuals as well as cities and states.

PLEA DUE JUNE 28

Sirhan Indicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan has been arraigned on a charge of murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in a hearing held behind an unprecedented wall of security.

Sirhan, 24, calm and composed, sat Friday in the chapel of Los Angeles County men's jail as a deputy district attorney read the murder indictment, returned an hour and two minutes earlier by the county grand jury.

The indictment said the slight olive-complexioned native of Jordan did "wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and with malice aforethought murder Robert Francis Kennedy."

The judge ordered Sirhan to return to court June 28 to enter a plea and agreed to a defense request that he be examind by two psychiatrists bfore that date.

Superior Court Judge Arthur L. Alarcon, using the blonde hardwood chapel altar as a temporary court bench, spelled out for Sirhan his constitutional right to a fair, speedy trial.

Then, Alarcon ordered all police, attorneys, court officials and witnesses to say nothing about the case or release any evidence that might in any way jeopardize Sirhan's right to a fair trial.

Any violation, he warned, will result in "swift action" in the form of a contempt of court citation.

Alarcon himself, the 19 unarmed deputy sheriffs who stood watch during the 40-minute arraignment and others among the approximately 200 persons admitted to the arraignment, most of them newsmen, were searched thoroughly before they were taken past a maze of security checkpoints to the third-floor jail chapel.

A card handed to them read "No cameras, potential weapons or electronic devices of any description will be permitted in the spectators section of the courtroom." The order came from the judge.

Dignitaries At Funeral Mass

By ARTHUR EVERETT
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The President, four men seeking that office, world and national figures and leaders from all fields gathered in the splendor of St. Patrick's Cathedral today for a solemn Requiem for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, slain as he sought the presidency once held by his assassinated brother.

President Johnson, accompanied by his wife, flew from Washington to join mourners at the funeral Mass celebrated by Archbishop Terence J. Cooke of New York.

Four men who sought the presidency with Kennedy were seated in the great cathedral—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

From the centuries-old grandeur of the Roman Catholic Requiem, the body of the slain senator will be borne to Washington in a 21-car train carrying about 1,000 persons. The mahogany casket will rest on a foot-high platform, draped in red velvet.

The mourners rose as the President and his wife entered the church. The Johnsons were escorted to a pew just to the left of the casket and they knelt in a brief prayer before sitting.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy, widow of the assassinated president and sister-in-law of the senator, wearing a black lace mantilla, arrived moments later and knelt by the coffin before taking her seat. She was accompanied by her children, John Jr. and Caroline.

The mourners rose again as the widow of the slain senator, her face covered by a black veil, was escorted by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the last survivor of the four Kennedy sons. Her lips moved silently, as though in prayer.

After the family was seated, voices of the choir filled the vaulted cathedral and the clerical procession entered with Archbishop Cooke, majestic in conical hat, walking somberly down the aisle.

Saigon Shelled For Fifth Straight Day

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Light, scattered fighting flared in two sections of Saigon today and a fifth day of enemy shelling sent the civilian toll to 196 killed and 672 wounded in the five weeks of the enemy "peace talks" offensive.

A member of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives, Ngo Cong Duc, called for a halt in the U.S.-North Vietnamese negotiations in Paris if the Viet Cong continues shelling civilian areas.

The civilian casualties have resulted both from shellings and street fighting, government officials said.

In today's clashes, South Vietnamese army casualties were reported extremely light. The government troops reported killing 12 Viet Cong soldiers and capturing 13 in Cholon, the Chinese district in southwestern Saigon.

Government spokesmen said five Viet Cong soldiers surrendered in the northeastern suburb of Gia Dinh and one told interrogators that government troops had wounded a regimental commander and a deputy battalion commander in the Cholon fighting. The deputy battalion commander had been reported killed in today's fighting.

The enemy battalion commander was reported killed earlier in the week and at one point, government military spokesmen said the enemy had been crushed in Cholon and apparently was withdrawing.

But the guerrillas, holed up in buildings, popped up again and reports from Cholon today said said about 30 Viet Cong were fighting police in a residential area two blocks from a Roman Catholic church. Government tanks again were blasting guerrilla firing positions.

The new fighting suggested that fresh Viet Cong troops may be surfacing. The Cholon area is reported infested with cells of Viet Cong being held in reserve.

In central Saigon, two gunmen on a motorbike, believed to be Viet Cong assassins, killed a South Vietnamese army lieutenant today half a block from the house of U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. They escaped.

The latest enemy shelling—25 rocket and mortar rounds—hit the dock area, central Saigon and a residential area just northwest of the capital. Initial reports listed two Vietnamese civilians and a policemen killed and 12 civilians wounded.

FLEEING THE FIGHTING — Clutching a few belongings and leading or carrying children, residents of the Cholon sector of Saigon run down a street seeking safety from cross fire between the Viet Cong and government troops. The house in background has been set on fire and smoke and flames rise from its roof. Fighting began when the Viet Cong infiltrated the area and fired on government troops. (AP Wirephoto)

Suspect In King's Death Arrested

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Earl Ray, chief suspect in the slaying of Martin Luther King Jr., has been arrested in London, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark announced today.

Ray, object of an intensive manhunt for two months, was arrested by Scotland Yard detectives as he passed through British immigration offices for a flight to Brussels, Clark said.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Ray is being held under maximum security conditions on a passport violation.

Hoover said Ray was armed with a fully loaded pistol when taken into custody at 11:15 a.m. London time, today.

He was traveling under the name of Ramon George Sneyd and had two Canadian passports in that name n his possession, Hoover said.

Hoover said the search for Ray, named in an FBI complaint as having entered into a conspiracy to shoot King, covered all 50 states, Canada, Mexico, Portugal,England and other countries.

King, 39, and a 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner, was standing on the balcony of the Lorraine Motel April 4 in Memphis, Tenn., when the fatal shot was fired apparently from a cheap roominghouse 205 feet away. He died of a bullet wound of the neck less than an hour later at St. Joseph Hospital.

Death Claims Film Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With a sneer, Dan Duryea shot other actors on the screen and slapped women around. But at home he led a Cub Scout pack and opened his home to his sons' friends.

Duryea, who died Friday of cancer at 61, said he didn't want his sons to remember him as "the guy who took the pot shots at Gary Cooper."

In his long career Duryea played more than 150 roles on the stage, in television and in motion pictures.

In almost all, he was a Western character or a villain.

Transplant Fails For Dallas Woman

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The first heart to be transplanted in a woman recipient functioned satisfactorily for an hour and a half Friday night at Dallas' Parkland Hospital before it failed for "unknown reasons."

Mrs. Esther Matthews, a 41-year-old Dallas Negro mother of five, died at 9:30 p.m. CDT, four hours and 45 minutes after the transplant was begun by a team of surgeons from the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School.

Poor People's Plan Fizzling?

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The month-old Poor People's Campaign, showing signs of withering, has lost the chief organizer for its planned massive June 19 rally in the nation's capital.

Although a new coordinator was named, his acceptance of the job was still in doubt today.

Bayard Rustin, who built the 1963 Washington civil rights demonstration by 200,000 persons, bowed out as organizer Friday in a dispute over campaign aims.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, heading the campaign, said the New York civil rights leader would be replaced by Sterling Tucker, executive director of the Washington chapter of the Urban League.

But a Tucker aide said afterward there would be no decision on whether to take the post until late today. The aide said Tucker had other commitments and "has not given Mr. Abernathy any answer yet."

The June 19 demonstration on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial is considered crucial to reviving momentum in the campaign.

Protest marches have been announced and canceled frequently in recent days.

On Friday, leaders halted demonstrations over the weekend in mourning for the slain Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The antipoverty rally at Lincoln Memorial will come three days after the scheduled expiration of the campground permit, but Abernathy said again Friday, 'We are not going to be run out."

Rustin's resignation was triggered when he issued a set of goals for the campaign less sweeping than those originally listed by Abernathy and his aides.

When one of Abernathy's assistants ridiculed the statement and dismissed Rustin as a public relations man, Rustin wired Abernathy asking reassurance of his authority over the rally. He set a noon deadline Friday for a reply and resigned when it expired.

Abernathy told a news conference he talked with Rustin by telephone and asked him to continue. But, Abernathy said, 'He decided he wanted out and he resigned."

Labor Hostile To DeGaulle's Plan

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Labor and opposition political leaders are using epithets ranging from "hollow" to "outrageous" to denounce the reform plan President Charles de Gaulle proposed Friday as better than capitalism or communism.

Thousands of French auto and metallurgy workers still were other workers were preparing to go back to their jobs at substantially higher wages won in the general strike that paralyzed France.

De Gaulle's "third solution," offered in a nationwide broadcast, was "participation," presumably meaning workers and managers would share in the businesses.

This, he said, was better than the "moral and material constraint" and perpetual dictatorship of communism, and the "alienation" of the capitalist system.

De Gaulle appealed for massive public support of his proposals in the June 23-30 elections and said everything depends on the voting results—"the republic, liberty, progress, independence and peace.

"If the (election) results are bad, all is lost," the 77-year-old president delcared.

Robert Lee Dam Still Progressing

Work on the Colorado River Municipal Water District's dam above Robert Lee is rated at 73.87 per cent of completion.

Latest estimates by Clement Bros. of Hickory, N.C., prime contractors, shows over 9½ million cubic yards of materials moved in connection with the dam. The big spillway job, which will cost $2,875,000, has been running behind the dam in percentage, but it is fast catching up. At the end of May the per cent of completion stood at 69.44.

The conractor has excavated 2,004,699 cubic yards of common and shale core trench and backfilled with select materials. This exceeds the original estimates for this work by nearly half a million yards because of a deeper cut required at one point to sell off gyp lenses.

On the dam proper, 7,459,534 cubic yards of wetted rolled embankment have been put in place, faced with 97,995 yards of rip rap and 42,490 yards of blanket, a grand total of 7,600,019 yards in the dam. When finished the structure will have 13,327,000 cubic yards.

Thus far the contractor has been paid $6,224,821 on a nine million dollar job.

Meanwhile, work on oil well mounds, being done by Roland Scherer, is going well with dirt work. So far 371,000 cubic yards have been put in place out of a total estimate of 626,000. Covering with gravel blanket and gravel rip rap has not begun, however.

Work on the terminal side storage, designed as a quality control, just above Colorado City started recently and only about 10 per cent of the work has been done by Lyles & Lyles, Ballinger, contractor.

Of the 33-mile 36-inch pipeline between Big Spring and the Martin County pump station, 13 miles have been laid. Panhandle Construction of Amarillo is the contractor.

TROUBLES IN VIETNAM

Mountbatten Reveals Secrets

By GRANVILLE WATTS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—Lord Mountbatten, the top World War II allied commander in Southeast sia, says President Harry S. Truman and Prime Minister Clement Attlee stopped him sending troops into Hanoi at the end of World War II to set up firm control there.

"I sent a division into Saigon and intended sending another into Hanoi. But just before I could do this I was told that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, who was officially the supreme commander China, would take over the north. And you know what happened then. It was swamped by Ho Chi Minh," he said.

Mountbatten, 67-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II and former British Defense chief, lifted the lid on some of his secrets in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

"The troubles in Vietnam stem from the arbitrary division of the country by the allied powers," Mountbatten said. "After the Japanese surrender I was ordered to send my forces into the countries they had occupied in Southeast Asia and President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee stopped me going north of the 16th parallel, otherwise we could have done something there.

"It's not for me to comment on the Vietnam war. But I can say that the Vietnam troubles semmed from the fact that here was an arbitrary division made at the 16th parallel following the allied decision at Potsdam.

'So the north of French Indochina was hived off. I suppose it was a question of face. Chiang was supposed to run the area to the north. That's where the trouble stems from."

Mountbatten, confidant of Britain's royal family and prime ministers, was viceroy at the handover of India in 1947.

Mountbatten said the real cold war is going on in Asia— between democracy in India and communism in China, the world's two most populous nations.

"These two systems are now going forward in the eyes of the world. If either of them break down it will be a great defeat," he added. "If India fails it will be the worst defeat for democracy. If China falls down it will be the worst for communism.

"It seems to me this is where the cold war is being fought. This is a matter of the greatest importance for the rest of the world. If India goes down to communism, I don't need to prophesy the results."

Mountbatten, spry and looking fit, paced the floor of his London home as he spoke.

His life has been crammed with action and glamor, spanning the years from the time he was held in the arms of Queen Victoria at his christening at Windsor in 1900.

Lord Louis has been reliving these years in preparing a series of 12 television progrms in color called "The Life and Times of Lord Mountbatten," to be screened in Britain later this year.

"I have had 19 requests to write my biography and refused 19 times," he said. "But all my life I have been a tremendous movie fan. I even appeared in a film once, a one-reeler by Charlie Chaplin called 'Nice and Friendly,' which appears in the series.

'I have kept in very close touch with the film and TV world ever since. I was unable to resist the temptation when my son-in-law, film producer Lord Brabourne, put the idea of a TV series to me."

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic transquility — shoot one another. People of the United States, "Wake up." Let us do something about the decay of our great country. We can not do it with just a more strict control of firearms. We can not do it with more harsh punishment of those convicted of these horrible crimes.

Some lay the blame on the violence we see in television and in movies houses. Don't, you are to blame. You, me and every mother, father, grandmother and grandfather. Yes, we are to blame for not having, or taking the time to spend with our children and grandchildren to teach them the difference of right from wrong and black from white. We who say: "Sorry son, I can't answer you now I'm to busy," or "Go ask Daddy I don't know and I'm trying to cook dinner," or "Your not old enough to understand if I did tell you, wait awhile," wake yourself up. These children are trying to learn but we, their mothers and fathers, keep pushing them back into darkness. If your child has a question, answer it, no matter what the subject is, politics, world affairs, baseball, football, sex, just answer it the best you can and we will be placing our country in far better hands in the future.

We the parents of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice and insure domestic tranquility — must help our children and our children's children, teach them the meaning of freedom, democracy, and why we live so very much better than those of many other countries. We have many fine ways in which children may learn of these things, in scouts, school, church, to mention a few, but it is still our responsibility as parents to see that they do learn of these things. I cried when President Kennedy was assassinated, when Doctor King was assassinated and I am crying now that Senator Kennedy has been assassinated, but not for them, for the people of the United States. May God have mercy on our souls.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son called me on the phone, and I was totally unprepared for the bawling out I got.

It seems that my 4 - year old grandson had been crying all day. He was afraid to go outside alone and play for fear the "boogie man" or "trash man" would carry him off.

My son said he asked the boy who had told him a story like that, and he said, "Granny did!"

Abby, I have not been over to their house in 2 weeks. Besides, I would never think of telling my grandson such a frightening tale. (I never told my own children anything like that, so why would I tell it to my grandson?)

When I tried to explain that I was completely innocent, my son refused to listen. All he said was, "The child couldn't have made it up, and you MUST have told him."

I can't tell you how much this hurt me, to get the blame for something I didn't do. And then to be practically called a liar by my own son. What would you do in my place, Abby?

M. C.

DEAR M. C.: Your son should be made to understand that young children very often confuse fantasy with reality (and even dreams!) and are not always accurate in their reporting. If your son doesn't believe this, HIS son might grow up before he does.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is being married soon, and I have had so many phone calls from friends asking, "What does Nancy need?" This puts me on the spot because Nance "needs" a lot of things, but I haven't the faintest idea of how much these people want to spend, so what can I say?

Yesterday, one of my dearest friends called and asked if Nancy "needed" sheets and pillow cases. I replied, "Yes, she does." Then I thought I had better mention that Nancy was going to have a king - sized bed, so my friend blurted out, "KING - SIZED? Good heavens, I can't afford sheets for a bed that size!" I felt like two cents, so I quickly added, "But she could also use some tea towels."

Abby, will you please tell women who ask for suggestions on what to buy a bride to please ask like this: "Can Nancy use an electric mixer?" Or, "What color is her kitchen, I want to buy her a couple of dish clothes."

ON THE SPOT

DEAR ON: Some brides "register" with a local store and the items they "need" are listed to avoid duplications. Clew Nancy in on this. It will not only help Nancy's friends. It will relieve you of much embarrassment.

DEAR ABBY: What does a man do when he has fallen in love with a girl who is engaged to marry someone else?

I know it sounds insane, but when I met Ruth she had already accepted an engagement ring from another man. She didn't tell me she was engaged until after I was so in love with her I couldn't help myself. She said she didn't tell me because she didn't want to "lose" me.

Abby, I love Ruth and she says she loves me, but she hasn't the heart to break the engagement. She says if I will retura the ring and make the explanations for her, she will marry me. I have never met her fiance, and don't think I should involve myself in this. What do you think?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: You are not yet "in the middle" unless you put yourself there. If any one returns the ring, it should be Ruth. Furthermore, I hope you realize that you are "in love" with a girl who accepted an engagement ring from a man, was not wearing it when you met her, and didn't admit to being engaged until after she encouraged you to fall in love with her. Doesn't this spell out something to you?

Wildcatting Lags Behind

AUSTIN (AP) —Wildcat oil and gas wells are lagging behind last year's pace, the Texas Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

The commission said four wildcat oil wells and six gas wildcats were drilled during the past week, bringing the totals for the year to 123 and 206, respectively. That compares to 207 oil and 281 gas wells drilled by wildcatters by this time a year ago.

The recent wildcat oil wells included two in the Abilene district and one each in San Antonio's Dist. No. 2 and the Wichita Falls district. The wildcat gas wells included four in San Antonio's Dist. No. 2 and one each in Kilgore's Dist. No. 5 and the Abilene district.

The commission said 92 oil wells and 30 gas wells were completed during the past week. That raised the total of oil well completions for the year to 2,185 — compared to 2,886 a year ago — and gas wells to 1,026 — compared to 1,217 a year ago.

May Be Displaced

NEW YORK (AP) — Keith S. McHugh, chairman of the New York State planning committee, predicted recently that 70,000 of the state's 280,000 workers in defense plants may be displaced within 18 months after the end of the Vietnam war.

Digesting the news no longer means you are interested in the news-of-the lay, you could be a University of Pennsylvania cow. Latest research has indicated that a two-and-a-half pound newspaper dipped in molasses and supplemented with some corn silage can be nutritious feed for "Bossy."

This nutrition research on dairy animals is one of the more unusual examples of the multi-million dollar research effort of agricultural universities, government, and private business to improve agricultural products.

Year 2000?

Summing-up some of the current predictions for the year 2000, one pundit predicts: an $80 man's suit will cost $270, a man's haircut may cost $10, an average automobile will cost a little under $10 thousand and an average - sized home will cost around $125 thousand. The average salary with fringe benefits will be around $36 thousand.

THE KEEPERS OF THE OBELISK. By Howard Shaw.

Shaw's frolicsome farce piles preposterous exaggerations upon a multitude of follies and absurdities.

The scene is a crossroads village in the Sabine Hills near Rome. The inhabitants are mostly simple-minded grape growers, but one is a retired engineer capable of grandiose schemes.

The monkey business begins when the engineer, enraged at his son-in-law, a Roman politician, tries to blow him up. The blast ruptures the village water mains, and in the sea of mud an obelisk is uncovered.

A pompous archeologist from the Italian bureaucracy sneeringly pronounces the obelisk a fourth - rate and unimportant specimen. But the village tailor tries to promote the idea that it would make a good tourist attraction.

Suddenly there is a switch. Foreign experts, particularly in the Arab states, are eager to learn about the discovery. The Italian bureaucrats, equally eager to cultivate the Arabs, decide a big show must be put on. But when the archeologist goes back to excavate the obelisk, it is gone.

Another switch. The frantic digging discloses a really important ancient forum. Meanwhile the tailor and his friend the wheseller, who had spirited the obelisk away, are guarding it at the palace of an utterly daffy old princess, a friend of the engineer. The climax is more spectacular than a Roman circus.

Shaw makes use of every pyrotechnic in the comic aresnal, from droll caricature to slapstick, and comes up with a bright show.

THE FINAL JUDGMENT, Pearl Harbor to Nuremberg. By Robert G. Storey. (Naylor, $8.50)

Robert G. Storey, the distinguished Dallas lawyer, has received just about every honor a man can sustain. Now he wraps up some of the high points of his life in a new book.

The beginning is just before World War II and ends with the Nuremberg war crimes trials for which Storey was the executive trial counsel for the United States' portion of the prosecution.

But before that, Storey was an intelligence officer for the United States, operating in the European theater. His job was that of an active officer rather than one who simply evaluated material.

Storey must have a thousand adventure stories in his mind bank, all based on his experiences. But he only hints at them in his book, which is regrettable. Perhaps a professional writer or the new tape technique could make Storey a new James Bond.

Story formerly was dean of the Southern Methodist University law school, is a past president of local and international legal associations, is vice president of the commission hunting a new canal route from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was a member of the Hoover Commission and the National Crime Commission and has had scores of other honors.

About half the book is made up of descriptions of preparation for the trial of the Nazi war criminals, the prosecution and reaction to the sentences.

The final chapter is devoted to "The Rule of Law," "International Law" and "World Peace Through Law."—The AP

UP THE TRAIL IN '79, By Baylis John Fletcher, Edited by Wayne Gard (University of Oklahoma Press, $2.95)

One of the smallest shelves in the history of the West concerns the trail herding of cattle from Texas to the North and West. But a new story has come to light.

Not many of the trail herders were equipped by education or inclination to write. But Baylis John Fletcher was, although it was decades before his story came to light. It now has been published in book form by the University of Oklahoma Press, along with some other Fletcher stories.

Fletcher was only a youngster when he started helping round up cattle in South Texas and took them to Fort Worth and on up the Chisholm Trail.

He describes in selected detail the pleasures and difficulties of trail herding in 1879 when this technique of the West was dying. But plenty of adventure remained.

The narrative was submitted by Fletcher's son, Roddy W. Fletcher of Giddings, Tex., to The Cattleman. The editor, Dick WWilson, called in Wayne Gard to look at it. The book is the result.

Gard is the distinguished writer and editor formerly on the staff of the Dallas Morning News.—The AP

TWELVE YEARS A SLAVE, By Solomon Northup (Louisiana State University Press, $7.50)

Solomon Northup was a free Negro in New York. He was lured to Washington and sold into slavery, spending most of 12 years on Louisiana plantations.

He was rescued by his New York friends and wrote a book about his experiences shortly thereafter. He was aided by David Wilson, a lawyer and sometimes author.

The book sold 30,000 copies, considered commercially successful publication. But it was compared with and competed with "Uncle Tom's Cabin" which came out a little earlier and sold a million.

The editors of the new edition, Sue Eakin of Louisiana State University at Alexandria and Joseph Logsdon of LSU in New Orleans, researched the facts as to their authenticity.

As far as it was possible to check, all the basic facts are correct. Of course, some of the details described by Northup can never be authenticated although there is no real reason to doubt them.

He went to Washington on the promise of a job with a circus because he played the violin. He was a semi-skilled worker temporarily unemployed.

Northup was fed a mickey or something similar and awoke in a slave pen. He was beaten, whipped and cowed. He finally was sold to work in the Red River region of Louisiana.

His stories of cruelty to slaves run through the book. Too, he is one of the few slaves sufficiently educated to fully describe slavery from the inside.

He was freed when he persuaded a Canadian working on the plantation to write to Northup's New York friends. Slaves were not permitted to have paper, pen or ink or to mail a letter.

It is one of the most dramatic factual books written. It reads better than many novels. It is surprising that it did not receive as much acceptance as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" because it has everything a novel could have and is as fresh today as in the period before the Civil War.—The AP.

JOHN CROWE RANSOM, Edited by Thomas Daniel Young (Louisiana State University Press, $8.50)

John Crowe Ransom was one of the so-called fugitive-agrarian poets of the 1920s who affected a great deal of literary thinking. Some of the best-known held a reunion recently at the University of Dallas.

A new book about Ransom is largely a collection of literary analyses of his poetry, his literary criticisms and his impact on literature.

Virtually all are of a rarified level best comprehended by deep students of language and literature.

Included is a bibliography of Ransom's works.

Ransom zoomed upward in the field of poetry until he was 40 years old and then simply quit writing. This was about 1925. He went into editing and literary criticism, where he received as much notice as he did for his poetry.

Thomas Daniel Young, the editor, is chairman of the English Department at Vanderbilt University, a center for the fugitive-agrarians.—The AP.

Many Find Hope In Uganda

By C.C. MINICLIER
Associated Press Writer

AGAGO, Uganda (AP) — "Uganda Uhuru" is branded into each of the small wooden seats Salome Askima makes in his mud hut in this refugee settlement in the north of Uganda.

Askima, a refugee from the Congo who has lived here since 1965 with his wife Farausu, has found Uhuru—freedom—from fear and want. They were among the early arrivals and were allotted farmland and space for a house and grain storage shed.

But Agago, designed for 2,000 refugees, now has 4,000 inhabitants. More than 500 of the newest arrivals live in four long mud-walled, windowless, thatched roof structures built four years ago as the reception center. There is no land for them to build on. Two thousand acres of the site are unusable because of rocks.

New arrivals, mostly from the Sudan 60 miles to the north, often have spent days or weeks in the bush en route and arrive frequently with only the clothing on their backs, or around their waists. They have no blankets or cooking utensils and often sleep on the bare ground with no covering but the roof over their heads.

Officials need 1,800 blankets.

The rains have come to Agago, bringing life to freshly planted seeds, growing crops and malaria bearing mosquitoes and bringing teeth-rattling cold to those without adequate shelter or clothing.

There are 165,000 refugees in Uganda, fewer than half of whom live in the 12 government-run, U.N.-aided settlement camps. Before the Nigerian civil war the U.N. High Commission for Refugees estimated there were 650,000 refugees in Africa. Now they say there may be three million more.

Uganda's refugees come primarily from neighboring Rwanda, the Congo and the Sudan. The borders of all four countries fluctuated during the colonial perod and border inhabitants frequently have family as well as tribal ties. All three neighboring countries have been torn by strife.

Two hundred miles to the southwest of Agago, on a high plateau five miles from Lake Albert, the Congolese border, is the newer, less crowded, more fertile settlement of Kyangwali. It is frequently cut off from the outside during the rainy season when the 30-mile dirt access road is flooded.

Nyiranse Kuye, a woman in her 50s, is a typical resident. She has been a refugee since 1959, when she fled Rwanda and entered the Congo with most of the other 5,476 Kyangwali refugees. Five years later she fled the terror of the warring eastern Congo and entered Uganda. Many of her friends and family died of malaria and other diseases at the first settlement in Uganda.

The present inhabitants were moved to Kyangwali over 18 months ago and spent the first year clearing virgin forest for their farmland.

The land outside her hut was tilled by a settlement tractor donated by a private relief agency but no seed was planted as the April rains began. Kyangwali's residents remember last December when their seed sprouted and died because the rains failed.

Eager refugee volunteers teach school-age children under the shade of big trees at Kyangwali and U.N.—financed schools and a dispensary are being built.

There is hope, tempered by years of disappointment.

SDS Group Loose-Knit In Texas

Editor's Note: The Students for a Democratic Society, an activist group recently given more national attention by its sit-in at Columbia University, also claims some Texas chapters. But the organization here, though vocal, is small and loosely knit.

By ANGELA PENNA
Associated Press Writer

Texas members of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), a group which has attempted to turn some college campuses upside down with protest, admit they draw more strength from their ideologies than from numbers.

The loosely organized Texas group is often vocal but sometimes fuzzy on just what it's trying to say.

Members agree SDS exists for a purpose, but they admit they're a little confused as to what that purpose may be.

'SDS is more a state of mind than anything else," says one SDS leader, David Ciscel of the University of Houston.

On most campuses, SDS is still caught in a flux of organization or reorganization—striving for administration recognition—and then acceptance.

The most active state chapters exist at the University of Texas, Southern Methodist University and the University of Houston. Smaller chapters have been organized at North Texas State University in Denton and East Texas State University at Commerce but have not received administration recognition. Smaller groups, which are made up of SDS sympathizers, exist on other campuses.

Membership in the Texas SDS is actually quite small. The University of Texas estimates SDS membership at 30 to 50. The University of Houston claims 30 to 40 active members and SMU, eight actives and "twenty others who can be called on."

SDS members acknowledge the group has lost a lot of people.

At the University of Texas, for example, a dwindling number of students have been participating in SDS campus protest movements.

But demonstrations continue as usual. One of the most recent protested the alleged "racism" of a gas station owner fined for striking a Negro musician at a night spot near the university April 27.

SDS also sponsored "Ten Days in April," a program of education and activity against what it called "imperialism and racism," on the university's main mall.

Both events attracted significantly fewer participants than previous campus protests.

IT STARTED WITH LOLITA

Youth Is Busy Taking Over

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Youth IS taking over the world. Even teen-age girls are replacing the maturer maids as the sex symbols of the sixties.

Or at least that's what the movie industry would have us believe.

It was 'Lolita" that apparently started the trend on the screen, with Sue Lyon—then 16 — playing the sweet seductress in Stanley Kubrick's toned-down 1962 film version of the Vladmir Nabokov book.

Kubrick faced a good deal of pressure, particularly from religious organizations, before "Lolita" came to the screen with her sunglasses and lollipop. He has said he would make the film a lot differently now, in this age of a more liberal movie code and a generally freer moral climate within the industry.

Lolita was 12 in the book; an indefinite 14 in the film, which concerns the relationship between a middle-aged man and the teen mistress of his fate.

The film scene today is filled with nubile nymphets. The child-woman, with her intriguing combination of sensuality and innocence, is the screen's current sex symbol.

Gone is the lush sexuality associated with the Monroes and the Mansfields. Going the way of the flesh nowadays are the sweet sixteens, the under-20s.

George Bernard Shaw recognized the advantage of making Cleopatra a teen-ager in his play, "Caesar and Cleopatra." Juliet, the classic romantic figure, is supposed to be 14 when she meets Romeo. But, Shakespeare's great heroine has not been played on the screen by any girl that young—until now.

Two previous film versions starred Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard—both in their 40s at the time—in a 1935 entry, and Laurence Harvey and Susan Shentall in a 1953 production.

In Franco Zeffirelli's new youth-oriented film version of the tale of the star-crossed lovers, Juliet is played by 15-year-old Olivia Hussey. (She's 16 now.) The wedding night scene shows Romeo, 17-year-old Leonard Whiting, completely nude and Juliet "skimpily draped," as they say, at least in the European version.

Ironically, British censors gave the film an "A" certificate —youngsters under 16 cannot see it unless accompanied by their parents.

"Candy," the story of the sexual misadventures of a naive 16-year-old girl, has Ewa Aulin —Miss Teen International at 15—in the title role. The part calls for her to be oft-chased and oft-caught, in a series of comic "romantic" frolics with top-name costars.

In "Here We Go Round the Mulberry Bush," a mad and merry English entry about a young boy's sexual education, there is Judy Geeson, 19, playing the free-love-thinking apple of the hero's eye.

The same Miss Geeson raids her mom's supply of birth control tablets in "Prudence and the Pill."

And when producers went looking for a girl to play the part of an English hippie who seduces a policeman—the ubiquitous bath scene is back, this time with both gal and guy awash—and gets unwittingly involved in the sale of lurid films in the appropriately-titled 'The Strange Affair," they chose 17-year-old Susan George, an attractive, bright-eyed brunette, for the role.

It's enough to make me almost forget that the Academy Award for best actress this year went to 58-year-old Katharine Hepburn. And does anyone still remember the "aging" Elizabeth Taylor?

Whatever the underlying motives, the movie treatment reflects the "cool," the complete detachment of the new female film figure. There's no real sense of emotional involvement; no actual sense to being sexy; no flaunting of the feminine. These youthful lasses accept—and portray—the roles in a matter-of-fact style, as just the way things are.

Miss Aulin, a blonde, blue-eyed Swedish parfait, hinted at this in her description of the character of Candy: 'Feminine, sexy, funny—but unconscious of it. So innocent."

Miss George, who appears partially nude in several scenes in "The Strange Affair," pictures the character she plays as a 'wide-eyed innocent." But she combines that "charm-like innocence" with woman-like sensuality, says Miss George.

In her next role, incidentally, Miss George will play a 19-year-old pregnant girl. It's a fantasy.

A Junior Editors Quiz About VOLCANOES

QUESTION: How are volcanoes formed, and are there any in the U.S.?

• • • •

ANSWER: A volcano is formed around an opening in the earth's crust which reaches down to where there is hot, melted rock called magma. Gases in the magma expand and create tremendous pressure. Since the gases can't go down or sideways, they push up. When they find weak spots in the earth's crust, they blow violently out, hurling molten rock into the air. Cooling, this turns to lava and is dropped to the sides; so, a cone is built up, such as the one at upper left. Volcanoes may relieve the pressures below and cool down or they may go on erupting. Most of them are located in belts close to mountain ranges where there is weakness in the earth's crust. Our map shows one such chain. Notice that the map locates three important active volcanoes in U.S. territory: Katmai in Alaska (shown erupting in upper picture), Lassen in California, and Kilauea in Hawaii, lying on the slopes of Mauna Loa, another volcano which erupts occasionally. We illustrate an old Hawaiian legend that Pele, goddess of fire, sometimes bursts out in the guise of a young woman.

CARDS, YANKS ROUT FOES

The Cardinals blasted the Cubs 12-2 and the Yankees pulverized the White Sox 13-3 in two decisive Little League contests staged in Towle Park Friday night.

That Cardinal - Cub affray was close until the last frame when the Cards, leading 5-2, turned the game into a rout with a 7 - run outburst.

Larry Beard scattered three hits over the first four innings for the Cards, then gave up two hits and two runs in the 5th.

The Cubs tallied on singles by Jim Browning and Bobby Wall, aided by an error. Also hitting safely for the losers were Ricky Howell, Ricky Ator and Win Bunch. None of the Cub batters got more than one hit.

Stan Patchell got the ball to rolling for the Cards. The lead-off hitter singled, then Kerry Rogers reached first on an error. Beard's double brought both runners in, and Beard scored himself on a subsequent bobble to give the Cards a commanding 3-0 lead in the 1st frame.

A double by Jeff Richardson and singles by Morris Hearne and David Watlington accounted for two more Card tallies in the 3rd.

Rogers, Beard and Richardson all singled and Randy Potts clouted a 2-bagger in the 5th inning outburst.

Trailing 2-3 going into the 4th, the Yankees took charge, getting five runs on a single by Ted Vasquez, four walks, one error and a passed ball. Vasquez doubled and scored again in the 5th. Five more runs in the 6th removed all doubt about the outcome as Joe Hardin, Clay Bishop, Mark Harless and Sandy Norwood all came through with ringing singles.

Bishop also got two hits, including a double.

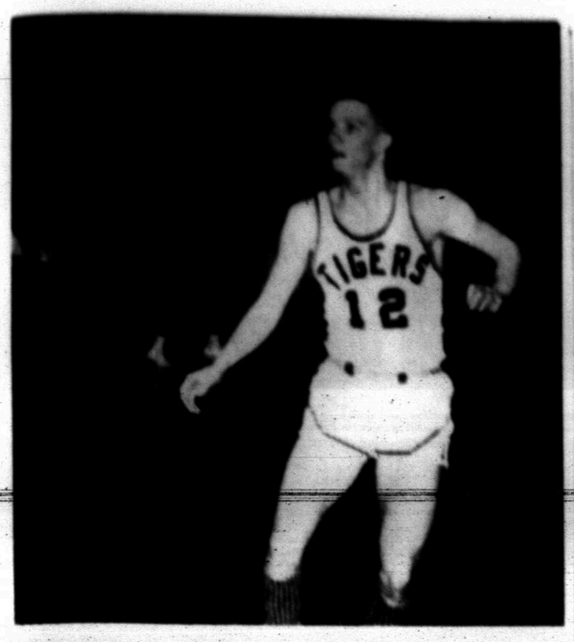

Widgeon Emerson, the winning pitcher for the Yanks, scattered seven hits over six frames.

Overjoyed With Draft

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Atlanta Braves in the National League are getting some competition from the Baltimore Orioles in the American League for the services of Derk Hoving, a standout catcher at Amarillo Junior College.

Baltimore picked Hoving in Friday's secondary phase of baseball's free agent draft, for players drafted previously but still unsigned.

Hoving, the only Texan selected by a major league team in Friday's draft, was chosen by Atlanta in last year's draft but decided to attend college.

But the lure of the big leagues might be too great this year.

"I'll sign if the money's right," Hoving said. "I was happy to learn that I had been picked by Baltimore. I was very impressed with them."

Crampton Holds Lead

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Bruce Crampton of Australia took a two-stroke lead into today's third round in the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament.

Crampton fired a 70 Friday for a six-under-par 138.

Tied for second with 140 were Sam Snead, Mike Hill and Lou Graham, who used only 27 putts Friday in firing a record-tying six-under-par 66.

Billy Casper, leading PGA money-winner, played with Crampton and was tied with him after 27 holes. But Casper shot a two-over 38 on the back nine for 71 and a 141 total.

Snead, who turned 56 last week, used his finely turned iron game to keep the putts short most of the round. But he missed a chance for a third straight biride and sole possession of second place when he took three putts on the last hole to finish with 69.

Sox, Cards Win Farm Loop Tilts

The White Sox smashed the Yankees 14-4 and the Cardinals clipped the Cubs 11-7 in two exciting Farm League tussles held Friday night in Towle Park.

Charles Cobb of the White Sox was in good form as he allowed only three singles to the Yanks — hits by Henry Hernandez, Robert Harbin and Richard Krueger.

The Sox scored enough runs in the first inning to claim the contest, then they added three in the 2nd and five more in the 4th for good measure.

The 6 - run uprising in the first resulted from doubles by Donnie Ingraham and George Willis, a triple by Charles Stansell and singles by David James and Randy Wilson.

Stansell and James each collected three hits. One of James' blasts was a two - bagger. Welson rapped out two singles. Bobby Riggins also singled for the victors.

Oddly enough, the Cubs outhit the Cards 8-6, but they were behind where it counts — 7-11 in the run department. Five runs in the third and three in the 5th turned the tide in favor of the Cards after they scored once in the opening frame and twice in the 2nd.

Six Cards each collected one hit — Line, Eckert, Cornett, Rhodes, Kruge and Ellard. Eckert and Rhodes each slammed doubles.

For the Cubs, four boys each collected two hits — E. Rollins, J. Rollins, Collier and Duck. J. Rollins knocked a home run in the 1st frame and the others all stroked two-baggers.

Nall was credited with the win.

U.S. Netmen Go Ahead

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Arthur Ashe and Clark Graebner, never losing service or double faulting, have power-stroked the United States to a 2-0 lead over Ecuador in the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals.

Ashe defeated Pancho Guzman 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 and Graebner also won in straight sets Friday night, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 over Miguel Olvera.

For Ashe, it was the first step toward avenging defeats by Guzman and Olvera in the zone finals last year in Guayaquil, when Ecuador won 3-2.

The U.S. combination will be announced shortly before the match for tonight's doubles against Guzman and Olvera. Bob Lutz will be one player, but Stan Smith, who was to have teamed with him, was injured in a match in Sacramento, Calif., last Sunday. Graebner probably will replace him if he is not able to play. At Guayaquil, Ecuador, last year, Olvera and Guzman defeated Graebner and Marty Riessen.

Cottons are mercerized for added strength and luster.

El Campo Blanks Tors

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A couple of stingy pitchers is the main reason San Antonio Highlands and El Campo are wearing state high school baseball championship crowns today.

Alan Olson had the first act, hurling a two-hitter to blank Lamesa 3-0 and lead El Campo to the Class AAA title Friday night.

Then Glenn Harris did the encore, stopping Pasadena with a one-hitter to give Highlands a 3-1 victory over Pasadena and the state Class AAAA championship.

Olson, winning his fifth game against two losses, held Lamesa hitless until the fourth inning when Paul Russell smacked a double to left field.

Kenny Martin got an infield single in the seventh for Lamesa's only other hit.

Wayne Zaskoda provided bat power for El Campo, driving in two runs on a triple and single. El Campo got its third run when Roland Lundy stole home in the fifth inning.

Harris hooked up with Pasadena's Lanny White for a pitching duel in the Class AAAA title game.

Reds, Clippers Take Sr. Tilts

Boy Howdy! Those games in the Senior Teenage Loop Friday night were as different as night and day.

The Colorado City Reds, playing at home, parlayed singles by Randy Parker and Albert Lujan and a couple of errors by the Snyder Jets in the 5th inning to take a close 1-0 verdict. In Snyder, the game was called after the 5th inning because the Snyder Clippers were ahead of the Colorado City Blacks 10-0.

That run by Parker was the only one of the clash between the Jets and Reds. Until that point, Brad Morgan had allowed only a single to Parker in the 2nd. He gave up only four hits in all while fanning nine. The other safety was a single in the 5th by Kenny Key, who died on second. Parker was never able to get beyond 1st after his 2nd inning single.

Parker pitched superbly for the hosts, giving up only a single to Morgan in the 6th and a double to David McGinnis in the 7th. No other Jets were able to get on base as Parker cut down 13 of them on strike outs.

The Clippers got in their licks early and continued the onslaught until the tilt was called under the 10-run rule after the 5th.

Jim Patrick and Tony Suttle shared the mound chores for the Clippers, giving up only three hits — a triple to Morris in the 1st, a single to Hoyle in the 4th and another one baser to Maddox in the 5th. Morris and Maddox both died on third and Hoyle never got off first.

The Blacks' Rocha and Haggerton were touched for only four hits, but the Clippers made the most of four stolen bases and a Black miscue to turn the game into a blitz. Nine walks also contributed to the downfall of the visitors.

The Clippers also made the most of their hits, driving in runs with each one of them.

Randy Levens socked a double and single in three trips while Steve Holder smashed a triple in two trys. Mickey Almound, who also went 1 for 2, picked up the other safety — a single.

Fans Flock To Paris

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

PARIS (AP) — No wonder Jean Borotra, nearing 70, looks so happy as he hurries off in white flannels for tennis practice these evenings at the Roland Garros Stadium.

He has to push his way through the thickest crowds this famed tennis center has seen since Borotra was in his heyday as a player, leading France to Davis Cup triumphs more than 40 years ago.

That is what open tennis has done for the French championships. A sellout crowd of 12,000 watched Friday's all-professional men's singles semifinals on the center court.

Seek Place In Sun?

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Albuquerque Dodgers might be getting the idea that EL Paso is after their western division lead in the Texas League—especially after Friday night's 14-3 dunking at the hands of the Sun Kings.

The Dodgers have been in the driver's seat much of the campaign and had been the most consistent winner in either division before starting its current six-game losing skein.

El Paso's victory moved it within one game of the Dodgers and there are still three games left in the current series.

In other games Friday night Amarillo blanked San Antonio, 2-0, Arkansas shut out Memphis 2-0 and Dallas-Fort Worth teed off Shreveport, 7-1.

El Paso put together an 18-hit attack to bury the faltering Dodgers. Relif pitcher Ken Tatum swatted a bases-loaded triple in the sixth inning to trigger a six-run Sun King outburst and sew it up.

Tom Silverio whacked two homers to add to Albuquerque's misery.

Arkansas got good milage out of pitcher Phil Knuckles, who turned in a three-hitter in only his third appearance of the season. Knuckles, now 1-2, has been recovering from a spike injury.

Knuckles walked the lead-off batter then retired 12 stright batters before Joe Mock spoiled a no-hitter with a hit in the fifth. Rod Gaspar and Glenn Ezell got the only other hits off Knuckles.

Luis Penalver, with a no-hitter to his credit this season, won his third game against three losses but gave up 10 hits against Shreveport.

Buffs Overcome Dodger Power

The long ball is a valuable weapon, but a bunch of singles can beat you as the Dodgers found out Friday night in their 4-8 fall to the Buffs in a Junior Teenage League encounter.

The Dodgers picked up only three hits — all triples — by Glen Rambin, Albert Hernandez and Scotty Sullivan. If the hits had gone a little father it might have been a different story.

But, the Buffs socked eight singles and a double by Bobby Thompson to claim the verdict. Stewart Sims, David Thompson and Jerry Hardin each cracked two singles. Bobby Thompson also had a single to go with his two-bagger, and Jim Province was credited with a single.

Put together, the Buff hits spelled doom for the Dodgers. The Buffs tallied thrice in the 1st frame, thrice in the 3rd 3rd frame and twice in the 4th. All of the Dodgers smashes occurred in the 3rd stanza and accounted for all of their runs. Had they been scattered, it also could have made a difference.

David Thompson and Stewart Sims shared pitching honors for the victors while Butch Buchanan and Tim Holder appeared on the mound for the Dodgers.

Osteen Blanks Phils

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax might be gone but it's business as usual on the mound for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Picked by many to finish in the second division in the National League, the Dodgers have moved only 2½ games from the lead with the kind of pitching that won them pennants in 1963, 1965 and 1966.

Claude Osteen showed the way Friday night, hurling a four-hitter that downed the Philadelphia Phillies 2-0 for Los Angeles' fifth consecutive complete game triumph.

Osteen started the spree with a seven-hit 2-0 shutout. Don Drysdale followed with his record-breaking sixth shutout in a row, a three-hitter; Bill Singer added a six-hit 2-1 decision in 10 innings, and Don Sutton turned in another six-hitter for a 4-2 victory.

That's 26 hits and three runs in the last 46 innings by Dodgers' pitching. Not bad, without the retired Koufax.

The New York Mets, who also have shown fine pitching although with less success, rode the combined four-hit efforts of Nolan Ryan and Cal Koonce to a 4-0 decision over San Francisco.

In other National League night games, Steve Blass handcuffed Houston on five hits in Pittsburgh's 5-0 victory and Jim Maloney put an end to league-leading St. Louis' nine-game winning streak with a 4-2 triumph.

In the American League, Boston tumbled the Chicago White Sox 3-2, Detroit shaded Cleveland 5-4, Oakland swept a doubleheader from Baltimore 6-1 and 6-0, California bombed New York 8-4 after the Yankees won the first game of their twin bill 4-1 and Washington tripped Minnesota 3-2 in 10 innings after losing 5-3 in the opener of the twi-nighter.

The good-pitch, little-hit Dodgers managed two runs off Chris Short, 3-7, on Bob Bailey's triple and Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly in the fourth inning and Ted Savage's run-scoring double in the seventh. It was enough for Osteen to end a personal string of nine losses in a row to the Phillies and raise his record to 5-7.

Ryan, who pitched out of a bases loaded, none out jam in the seventh inning, led 1-0 on Cleon Jones' run-scoring single in the eighth before he walked the first man in the bottom of the inning and Koonce relieved.

Ryan, 5-4, allowd only four hits in besting Ray Sadecki, 6-7, who was knocked out in the ninth when Ron Swoboda and Tommie Agee homered. Sadecki thus was shut out for the fourth straight time as the Mets won their fourth game in a row.

Blass, 2-2, turned in his first complete game since June 30, 1967, and it ended Pittsburgh's five-game losing streak, pulling the Pirates out of last place and dropping Houston in.

Roberto Clemente, who set up one run with a single, homered for two more and Gary Kolb added another homer for the Pirates.

Maloney, 6-3, had his troubles early, giving up a run-scoring double to Orlando Cepeda in the first inning and Curt Flood's fifth homer in the third, but from then on he had command and finished with a six-hitter.

Pete Rose settled the verdict with a two-run single off loser Hal Gilson, p-2 in the fourth.

Atlanta overcame a 6-4 deficit in the sixth inning with three runs, the last two on Felipe Alou's homer. The Cubs had trailed 4-0 earlier, but two runs in the fourth and four in the fifth put them ahead.

Parma Pork Pummelers Are Dedicated Specialists

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Writer

PARMA, Italy (AP) — The Parma pork pummelers are 1,000 dedicated men who massage the tenderness into three million of the world's most famous hams each year.

They are among the last of the world's most specialized food handlers. The fine art of ham massage often is handed down from father to son, sometimes from grandfather to grandson.

"It's hard work," says 42-year-old Giacomo Alinovi whose father was a ham massager before him. "Some hams have to be massaged 30 or 40 times in their 10 to 15 months of curing."

"It takes experience," says 39-year-old Giovanni Maini whose father and grandfather were ham massagers. "And it takes common sense, too, to know how much to squeeze to get out the salt and leave in enough juice to keep the meat sweet."

The trick of ham massaging, and the cold winter and dry, hot summer climate of the Po Valley hills here, are credited with giving Parma's famous hams their light pink color and tender texture.

They are among the most prized hams in the world. Production has almost quadrupled in the past 10 years. The value of Parma hams is estimated at $80 million a year, much of it in export earnings.

To preserve the fine quality and delicate flavor which goes back in Roman times described as divine, the Parma chamber of commerce has imposed these rigid rules:

Every ham bearing the name of Parma must be from a one year old pig of roughly 188 kilograms of weight raised in the north Italian region around Parma. It must have been fed exclusively on maize—American corn—oats, and rinds from Parma's equally famous Parmesan cheese. No slop-fed hogs qualify.

From the feed to the sandwich, the ham goes through a lot.

It starts out with 24 hours hardening in deep freeze, then is pared of its outer fat into a children drumstick shape. It is salted, seasoned and frozen for eight days.

On the ninth day it comes out to the kneading bench for the first of its many massages to squeeze out the salty juice and tenderize the meat.

It is salted again, put in deep freeze for 18 days, hauled out into the fresh air for a day or two, then has 30 days chill at exactly the freezing point, and three months in the drying chamber.

Then it is scrubbed with warm water, sandpapered to an attractive outer finish and put into ventilated storage until time to sell.

At almost every stage along the way the ham massager gives it another quick rubdown. An experienced ham handler counts on being able to massage up to 50 hams an hour.

Modern Hospital Opens In Amarillo

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—High Plains Hospital, the first major general medical facility in the 400-acre Amarillo Medical Center, has become Texas Baptists' newest institution.

The ultra-modern five-story hospital was constructed at a cost of $6.35 million and was designed to handle over 200 patients.

A shortage of registered nurses caused hospital officials to open the hospital without a functioning obstetrical department or emergency room.

Innovation Overcomes Texas U Tradition

AUSTIN (AP) — Innovation has caught up with tradition at the University of Texas at Austin: Diplomas have a new look.

The lettering is still Old English and the gold seal of the university is still used, but the name of the institution has been updated.

"At Austin" has been added to the nameplate to conform with the systemwide series of name changes authorized by the 1967 Legislature.

Innovation slowed the wheels of distribution, however. The January diplomas are about six months late.

Says RFK Was Doomed By Bullet

By HOWARD F. ANGIONE
Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Almost from the instant an assassin's bullet pierced his skull, Sen Robert F. Kennedy was doomed to death, says the Boston neuro surgeon summoned to Kennedy's side in Los Angeles by the family.

"There has been no survival in any patient that had any injury like the one Sen. Kennedy received," Dr. James L. Poppen of the Lahey Clinic said Friday.

"I saw him at about 10 a.m., an hour or so after the operation," the doctor said. "I knew it was fatal then and I prayed he would die."

He said some who were close to Kennedy when he was shot early Wednesday say they heard him say, "Water," but "I'm surprised he was even able to say that."

The senator died more than 25 hours after being shot, Poppen said, from "overwhelming, irreversible damage to the pons and midbrain," two narrow but vital communications pathways next to each other deep in the center of the brain.

All the vital information exchanged between major parts of the brain must pass through them, including the data that specialists in brain research believe is linked with controlling consciousness, heart rate, blood pressure, and all the body's automatic processes.

By 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, about 18 hours after he was shot in a narrow passageway at a Los Angeles hotel, Kennedy met the legal requirement for death —his brain waves could not be recorded on a special machine, Poppen said.

He said a slim hope remained however, because the waves 'sometimes fade out and come back," and shortly afterwards Kennedy's 'pulse and heart rate actually improved for a time."

But the brain waves did not revive, the senator's kidneys and other vital organs shut down, and finally his heart stopped beating, Poppen said.

Flip Wilson TV's Hot, New Comic

by CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The first law of humor is that things can be funny only when we are in fun," wrote Max Eastman in his 1936 book, "The Enjoyment of Laughter."

Eastman's first law of humor, plus the second, third and fourth, are the building blocks of the career of Flip Wilson, a thoughtful fellow now in his mid-thirties who constructs his comedy routines with the precision of an engineer blueprinting a bridge.

At the moment, Flip is one of the hotest comics to surface in the past couple of television seasons. His datebook is loaded with appointments to visit Ed Sullivan, Dean Martin, the Smothers Brothers and Carol Burnett on their respective variety hours. He is a welcome guest on the late evening shows —Carson's, Griffin's and Bishop's. He has been almost a regular on Rowan and Martin's "Laugh-In," and most recently, NBC put him under a long-term contract and is planning to develop a program around his very distinctive personality and style.

But while Wilson may be a fresh face on television, the round-faced Negro with a penchant for study and research has been learning his business for a long time—13 years, precisely, and mostly in the grubby obscurity of small nightclubs.

"No one can really say what's funny," Wilson said. "There are laws of humor, and the element of surprise, of course, is important. But mostly, when you choose a piece, you must pick one that you yourself think is funny.

"Then you go to work and analyze what you've got, and work it up with gestures and voice changes and shifts of words. It took me three years to get my Columbus story the way I wanted it."

Wilson's Columbus story, one of his most popular, explains how Columbus went to Queen Isabella for permission to go to America and discover Ray Charles. It falls squarely within Eastman's dictum about being "in fun."

His "Cowboys and Colored People" involves Eastman's second law of humor: "Disagreeable things, so long as they are not disagreeable enough to 'spoil the fun' tend to acquire a pleasant emotional flavor and provoke a laugh."

This sketch is a dialogue between a black man and an Indian with the Negro commiserating with the redskin because he has no Willie Mays to brag about. It winds up with the Indian coming in with the snapper —"Did you ever hear of anyone playing 'cowboys and colored people?'"

Of course, such a piece, unless honed smooth with Wilson's finesse and manner could be, rather than funny, downright offensive.

Wilson, whose frst name is Clerow, was born and grew up in Jersey City. He made his theatrical debut at age 9, as Clara Barton in a school play in an emergency: the feminine lead got measles and little Clerow was the only other person who knew the lines.

He enlisted in the Air Force at 16, picked up his nickname, "Flip" because of his attitude toward life and the military. His commanding officer persuaded him to take grammar lessons and to learn to type. When he got out of the service he worked as a bellhop in a San Francisco hotel and somehow got a walk-on role in a comedy as a drunk. He never looked back.

Today Wilson says that his big break came when he finally made the "Tonight Show" followed by a booking on the Ed Sullivan show.

Pastor Says America Not To Blame

HOUSTON AP) — The new president of the Southern Baptist Convention said Thursday it is not right to charge America with the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"America is not like that," said Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas. "The assassin is like that, but he is only one of 200 million persons."

Criswell was one of eight religious leaders who appeared at a news conference to discuss the death of Senator Kennedy and the causes and effects of violence.

Others on the panel were H. Franklin Paschall, Nashville, outgoing president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dr. porter Routh, Nashville, executive secretary of the convention's executive committee; the Rev. Msgr. Bernard J. Ganter, chancellor of the Galveston-Houston Diocese, Roman Catholice Church; Rabbi Moshe Cahana, spiritual leader of Congregation Brith Shalom, Houston; the Rev. Robert Hayes, executive secretary of former Central Jurisdiction, Methodist Church; Bishop Paul E. Martin, resident bishop, Texas Conference, United Methodist Church; and the Very Rev. Robert T. Gibson, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, Houston.

"We are abusing our freedom in America," Paschall said. "There is a general of disregard of God."

"Freedom does not mean doing what you want to do," said Gibson. "Freedom means one must have responsibility."

"We must have a confrontation on the real issues of the day," said Hayes, a Negro. "Non-violent protests is good."

"A man has to be changed on the inside if he is to be changed at all," Criswell said.

Jaycees To Work Again At Rodeo

The Snyder Jaycees voted to work a the Rodeo again this year as in the past, at the regular weekly meeting, held at noon Friday in the Steak House.

President Mickey Nunley, who presided over the meeting, reported on a President's Conference that was held recently in San Angelo. He also announced that there will be a board meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Boy's Club.

Jaycees divided into two groups with each group acting as a committee to discuss the possibility of forming another Jaycee Club for members who work during the day but could attend night meetings. The possibility of alternating regular meetings in the day time and at night also was discussed.

Les Francis gave a report on the Jaycee Track Meet that was to be held Saturday night. Gerald Pullig told of the membership drive. The goat (for not bringing in a new member) has been delivered to the home of David Burkett. After that, it will be sent to Les Francis and then to Pullig. Eight new members have joined the Club during the current membership drive. Two of them, Don Grant and Dennis Paul, were introduced at the meeting.

Invocation was given by Eddie Peterson. Ken Minyard led in the Pledge of Allegiance, and Les Francis led in the Creed.

Anonymous Donation

DALLAS (AP) — An anonymous donor has given Dallas Baptist College $250,000 toward its development fund. At that point, the contribution put the $2.5 million drive past the halfway mark. Carr P. Collins, Dallas, earlier gave $250,000.

THIS IS a scene from the ribald new Columbia Pictures release, "The Taming of the Shrew," in Panavision and Technicolor. After being chased through her home, court and barn, Elizabeth Taylor as shrewish Kate finds Richard Burton as lusty Petruchio still determined to woo and wed her. Franco Zeffirelli directed the Burton-Zeffirelli production.

Film Shown To Rotary

Karl Brawner, manager of the Trade Winds Airport at Amarillo, presented the program at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Snyder Rotary Club, held at noon Thursday in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church.

He showed a color travel film, "Bonanza West," that was produced by Beechcraft Aviation.

Members were reminded of the Ladies Night and Installation Banquet to be held Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

John Thomas, president of the Club, commended Miss Barbara Carter, Rotary Sweetheart, for providing piano music for the Club during the past year.

Guests included Buck Elliott of Sweetwater, Steve Clark, Mrs. Evelyn Thomas and Miss Carter, all of Snyder.

Bayanihan Dancers To Perform At HemisFair

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Bayanihan Dance Co. of the Philippine Women's University —a select troup of aristocratic beauties who are not paid for their dancing—are scheduled for six days of performances at the HemisFair theater.

Thirty or 40 women are selected each year from the 16,000 students at the university. Most are daughters of senators, governors, ambassadors and other Philippine dignitaries.

The Bayanihan Dancers are presently on a tour of South America. From their July 8-13 date at HemisFair they will go to the west coast and then to New York, Europe and Moscow.

The dancers performed at the New York World's Fair and at the Seattle World's Fair.

Does Bit To Ease Coin Shortage

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — A retired Paris resident, C. E. Wright, did his bit to solve the nation's coin shortage recently.

He bought a stove from Texas Furniture here and paid for it with buffalo nickels—3,300 of them.

Wright, who began collecting the nickels as a hobby in 1955, dumped 40 pounds of the coins on the counter.

Wet Fields Delay Farming

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The most critical need of Texas farmers is hot, open weather.

The small grain and hay harvests are on a catch - as - catch-can basis and planting and replanting are still going on from the Upper Gulf Coast to the Panhandle, say the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Wet fields continue to delay the cultivation of crops which are up and the cool temperatures along with the moisture have delayed plant growth, the Service added Wednesday. On the other hand, except in far West Texas where general rain is needed, pastures and ranges continue to furnish abundant grazing, and livestock are listed as in good to excellent condition.

High winds, hail and heavy rains late last week on the South and Rolling Plains caused further replanting of crops, and damaged small grains and further delayed haying, small grain harvesting and planting and replanting.

Army beetworms became more widespread in cotton fields in western and northwest counties. Damage from insects to cotton in other areas is light to moderate.

Corn generally is making good growth with some at the tassel stage in the Upper Gulf Coast area. Pecan prospects continue good.

The vegetable harvest was active in South Texas until heavy rains hit parts of the Coastal Bend and lighter showers fell in other counties. Some movement of watermelons and cantaloupes was reported from the South Texas area. Cantaloupes in far West Texas were making good progress. The onion harvest in that area is in full-swing.

Wheat on the High Plains is maturing rapidly but harvesting on the Rolling Plains and in North Central Texas was delayed by this week's rains.

Cotton planting ranged from 10 to 90 percent complete and heavy rains made replanting necessary in some counties. Grain sorghum planting ranges from 20 to 80 percent complete.

Most of North Central Texas needs lot of sunshine and open weather for drying small grain fields, hay harvesting, completing planting. Pastures, ranges and livestock are in good condition.

Soil moisture in Northeast Texas continues fully adequate to surplus. Pastures are above average. Planting and replanting of peas, cotton, corn and grain sorghums is continuing. The first cutting of hay is underway. Some early peaches are being harvested.

A general rain is needed in far West Texas for range improvement. The hot, dry weather has been good on cotton and all crops are making good growth. Cotton insects are becoming a serious problem in several areas. Livestock generally are in good condition and some early lambs are being marketed and sheep shearing is about over. The onion harvest is in full-swing and cantaloupes as making good growth.

Soil moisture in West Central Texas continues adequate except in Kimble, Sterling and Tom Green counties where shortages are being noted. The small grain harvest has started and yields are good. Most cotton is now planted and some fields are up. Grain sorghum growth is excellent. Peanut planting has started in Llano and Mason counties. The condition of livestock, pastures and ranges as good to excellent. Labor is generally adequate.

Rains continue to plague farmers in Central Texas where heavy damage to small grains from wind and rain has occurred in Bell County. Small grains are being harvested. Cotton planting is complete in Bell and Williamson counties; 85 percent complete in Hill and Milam countes and 75 per cent complete in Falls. Livestock and grazing conditions are excellent.

Rains have kept soil moisture in East Texas fully adequate to surplus. Corn growh is good and the pea crop is showing improvement. Pasturs are average to above and livestock in good conditon. Cotton prospects are only fair.

Wet fields in the Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast to slow field work and delay the growh of most crops. From 60-100 per cent of the oats has been harvested mostly for hay; cotton planting ranged from 80-100 per cent complete; and peanuts from 30-60 per cent complete. From 10 to 60 per cent of the expected soybean acreage has been planted and some rice acreage is yet to be seeded. Pastures good and livestock are very good.

Soil moisture in South Central Texas is adequate except in the southwest corner.

More Cash Required To Buy Stocks

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board, moving to slow speculation in stocks, now requires that persons buying stocks and convertible bonds on credit make bigger down payments.

The board raised the down payment to 80 per cent of the purchase price on stocks and 60 per cent on bonds which can later be converted into stock. The action was announced Friday.

The old margin requirements were 70 per cent on stocks and 50 per cent on bonds.

Although the new requirements went into effect today the first practical effect will come Monday when the stock exchanges reopen.

The new credit restrictions apply only to new loans by brokers, banks and other lenders to buy or carry stocks and convertible bonds listed on national stock exchanges.

In New York, Robert W. Hack, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said the move appears to be cautionary to prevent excessive speculation. He called it constructive.

The American Stock Exchange said the board acted in the interests of the economy.

Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the board has power to fix margin requirements to prevent excessive use of credit in stock buying.

It said margin credit of brokerage customers jumped $200 million during April, raising the total outstanding credit at brokerage firms to $6.4 billion. There were indications of a further rise in May.

Recent increases in credit, the board said, mark a resumption of a trend observed in 1967 when credit rose 29 per cent at brokerage houses and 19 per cent at commercial banks.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Astronomers Study the Sea Of Space

The Houston Post and Miss Lain award a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Company, to Tom Bickley, Houston, Tex., for his question:

"Can you please tell me about the careers possible in the field of Astronomy?"

A. — Astronomy, formerly considered the most theoretical of all sciences, is now eyed as a dramatically useful profession. And, as you might expect, there's a shortage of astronomers.

Scientific Stargazing: Studying the sea of space "offers unlimited opportunities for investigation to solve some of the most fundamental problems of all science: the stupendous extent of the universe and its time scale, the evolution of stars and galaxies, the origin of chemical elements, the operation of physical laws on a cosmic scale, the problem of space travel and and the origin of life in the universe," are some of the possibilities for research according to the American Astronomical Society.

Career Choices: Teaching and -or research at the university level (this covers about 75 per cent of astronomers) . . . observational research at an observatory . . . astronomical education at a planetarium or museum . . . technical design and execution in electronics, optics, mechanical engineering and space technology.

Astronomers are employed by colleges and universities, observatories, government, planetariums and industry; industry demand is expected to increase. Some 15 per cent of astronomers are women.

Specializations: Astrophysics — application of physics to the atmospheres and interiors of stars. Celestial Mechanics deals partially with the motions of objects in the solar system; this is important to calculate orbits of spacecraft, artificial earth satellites and paths of ballistic missiles.

Radio Astronomy — the study of radio waves from galaxies and other celestial sources using radio telescopes. Astrometry — measurement of positions, movements of heavenly bodies (mapping the sky). Photometry — measurement of intensity of light from stars. Spectroscopy — wave length analyses of radiation from stars. Statistical Astonomy — studies of large numbers of celestial objects to determine average properties.

Education. This, too, is a field where a graduate college degree is the passport to the best jobs. In fact, it is difficult to find a professional position without a Ph.D. While in high school, your college prep course should include algebra, geometry, trig, physics chem., and German, French or Russian. For a free (in single copies) new career brochure, write to the American Astronomical Society, 211 FitzRandolph Rd., Princeton, N. J. 08540.

Telescope Jobscope. Astronomers work with telescopes and other mechanical, optical and electronic apparatus. Beginners (with a Ph.D.) can earn $10,000 yearly — experienced astronomers make in the $20-30,000 range. You may work alone or with others. Some positions call for night work in an open - to - the - air observatory dome, on a sometimes cold and windy hill. Part of the work may be tedious and routine.

Unique Opportunity of Discovery. On the other hand, the thrill of discovery is hard to equal, and this is a field where you could really add to the store of human knowledge as you studied the stars, and the beauty and wonder beyond them.
