JFK Offers Plan To Hike Employment

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today handed Congress a sweeping anti-recession program built on faster federal spending, higher old age pensions and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Kennedy's tightly-packed 7,500-word special message brought the point of joblessness rose by 900,000 in January to a total of 5.4 million.

The President said he would submit further proposals to Congress within 75 days if business does not improve.

His message spoke of the general expectation that there will be "minor improvements" in business this year. But he added "speaking out of realism, not pessimism, we cannot rule out the possibility of further deterioration if we fail to act."

Kennedy predicted his economic proposals would "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and "restore momentum to the American economy." He said they would not, by themselves, unbalance the $69-billion budget unveiled last month by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Yet Kennedy did not provide Congress with cost estimates of any of his proposals today as he:

1. Called for quick approval of Higher Social Security benefits for about 4½ million Americans, including a $10 boost in the minimum monthly pension; a two-step, two-year increase in the $1 minimum wage to $1.15 and then $1.25 an hour; a speedup in federal contract-letting and construction; government aid to depressed areas; federal relief payments for the children of jobless fathers.
2. Announced executive actions — besides those disclosed in his news conference Wednesday — to stimulate credit, release $724 million of highway funds to the states at once, and start a quick expansion of urban renewal, local public works and college housing.
3. Disclosed he shortly will send Congress tax reform proposals to spur business investment and close tax loopholes; and another message demanding permanent measures to "revise and strengthen" the unemployment compensation system — presumably by setting some form of federal standards for the states — and to extend the coverage to "several million" more workers in the retail and other trades.
4. Announced he will create a "President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy" with 21 members drawn from labor, management and the public. This body, whose chairmanship will be alternated annually between the secretary of commerce and secretary of labor, will advise on wage and price policies essential to the curbing of inflation, as well as such problems as automation and economy-crippling strikes.
5. Spelled out details of the moves announced Wednesday — cutting the interest on government-insured mortgages from 5½ to 5¼ per cent; making early payment within the next 30 to 60 days — of the $253 million of veterans' life insurance dividends due in 1961; and starting pilot food stamp plans in several areas.

The use of food stamps by needy families will be tested "as rapidly as possible" in localities in six areas — West Virginia, Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky, northern Minnesota, southern Illinois, and the Detroit area, he said. (Wednesday, Kennedy said the food stamp plan would be tried in five areas; a sixth area was added.)

Kennedy held out the hope to veterans that they might get another insurance dividend check later on.

He said, "If sound insurance practices justify it, as I hope further study will show, an additional dividend will be paid this year from the substantial funds that have been accumulated."

Kennedy's promise that he would come back to Congress in 75 days "if these measures prove to be inadequate" could imply a request for a temporary income tax reduction.

His task force on economic policy, headed by Dr. Paul Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, urged such a course in unemployment reached 7.5 per cent of the labor force.

The January unemployment figure released today represented 5.6 per cent, after allowance for seasonal factors. This was a slight improvement from December's 6.6 per cent, and Kennedy has stated that conditions do not now warrant tax reduction as an economic pump-primer.

Speakership Limit Sought

AUSTIN (AP)—A bill to limit the speaker of the Texas House to one term and impose strict curbs on the frequently hard-fought speakership races has been filed by Reps. W. T. Dungan of McKinney and Ben Lewis of Dallas.

The measure would prohibit written pledges of support from members. This practice in the recent speakership battle between Reps. Wade Spilman and Speaker James Turman resulted in accusations that some members had signed pledge cards for both candidates.

Campaigning by or in behalf of any speakership candidate in the house chamber would be forbidden.

The bill would require reporting of all contributions and expenditures during a speakership campaign.

A maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and six months could be levied.

TRUE TEXANS TRUST NO GROUNDHOG—Although the groundhog saw his shadow at 7:30 a.m. today in Snyder, these Texas twins, knowing unpredictable West Texas, are ready for anything. Gogging it up a bit are Jan, in shorts, and Judy, in parka, the 7-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Shelburne of 202 Thirty-second Street.

Revamping Of Court System Is Proposed

BY ED OVERHOLSER
AUSTIN (AP)—A proposal to revamp completely Texas' highest courts of appeal was introduced in the Senate today. The House received two new multimillion dollar tax measures.

Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo offered a constitutional amendment to abolish the Court of Criminal Appeals and establish a 15-member Supreme Court to handle both civil and criminal appeals.

Under the present system, the court of last resort in criminal matters is the three member Court of Criminal Appeals, and in civil matters the nine member Supreme Court. The amendment would require a two-thirds majority passage in the legislature before it could be submitted to the voters in 1962.

Rep. Jack Connell Jr. of Wichita Falls introduced a bill levying two per cent on retail sales of tangible property costing more than $50 an item. He figured it would raise $72 million in a two year fiscal period.

Rep. Lloyd Guffey of El Campo proposed to boost the state tax on insurance companies to 19.25 per cent of gross premium receipts. He estimated his bill would bring in $76 million every two years. The present rate is about 4.5 per cent of gross premium receipts.

A bill to limit U.S. Senate campaign expenditures moved today to the senate calendar.

Several bills won committee approval Wednesday and were added to the calendar in the Senate. House committees have not passed out any bills. Both houses started brief sessions at 10:30 a.m. before weekend adjournment.

Interest in the House mounts on the apparently widening split between supporters of Speaker James Turman and those who voted for Rep. Wade Spilman.

Some committees are stacked with pro-Turman men and others are overladen with pro-Spilman men. In a few others, such as decisions and liquor regulations, a fairly even division could bring on a fight for control.

Seminole Man Is Killed In Road Mishap

Two traffic accidents resulted in the death of a Seminole man and injuries to three Snyder residents in the past 24 hours.

William Strapp Gowdy, 41, of Seminole was killed Wednesday at 10:30 p.m. when his car smashed into the Monroe Creek bridge 1½ miles west of Snyder on U.S. Highway 180, throwing him out and down an embankment. The car was impaled on the railing.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was taken by a Bell Funeral Home ambulance. The body was taken over to Seminole where funeral arrangements are pending at Singleton Funeral Home.

At 7 a.m. today two cars collided at the intersection of Avenue E and Twenty-sixth Street with all three persons involved injured and taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Bolger Funeral Home ambulances.

Both drivers, Harold Wilson Jr. of 102 Thirty-fifth Street, and Florene Lambert of 1812 Avenue E, were treated and released while Mylisse Rose, a passenger in the Lambert car, was hospitalized for observation.

Damage was estimated at $500 for each vehicle.

Kennedy, Macmillan Slate Washington Parley April 2

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will confer here the week of April 2.

Announcing this today, the White House said a round of informal talks is planned.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement:

"The President has invited Prime Minister Macmillan, who is making a trip to the Federation of the West Indies, accompanied by Lady Dorothy Macmillan, to stop in Washington during the week of April 2 for informal talks."

"The prime minister has accepted the invitation."

"The President is pleased that an opportunity has presented itself to become acquainted with Mr. Macmillan and for a general discussion of world problems."

Salinger said details regarding the meeting will be announced later.

This will be Kennedy's first round of talks with another head of government since he took office.

Among subjects likely to be discussed is the possibility of a summit conference of Western leaders with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

The administration has indicated a go-slow approach on this matter. However, Macmillan in the past has been an advocate of summit conferences.

Earlier reports from London had indicated Macmillan planned to fly here late next month, or a little earlier than the schedule first set.

Ethiopia's date, however, would preclude a Kennedy-Macmillan conference in advance of the possible visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United Nations session opening in New York March 7.

There had been speculation the two might want to get together before meeting the Soviet leader.

Nightmare At Sea Is Ended For 600

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Their captivity ended, the passengers of the hijacked liner Santa Maria came ashore today with thanksgiving for deliverance from a nightmare at sea.

The 20,000-ton Portuguese ship steamed into Recife at noon, anchoring just off a dock. An hour later the nearly 600 passengers began loading onto tugs for the last 500 yards of a detour that had taken them virtually the distance of a trip across the United States.

For the time being at least the odyssey of the Portuguese liner was ended—12 days after she was seized 2,000 miles away in the Caribbean, by Portuguese rebels headed by Capt. Henrique Galvao.

The Brazilian government had not announced what was to be done about the ship after the landing of the nearly 600 passengers.

The liner moved into shore after several tense sessions of bargaining between Galvao and Brazilian authorities.

The 610-foot ship sailed slowly to within 500 yards of a dock. Passengers jammed the rails, waving and shouting. Some cried with emotion at the end of their captivity.

For more than 24 hours the passengers had been within tempting sight of land—about three miles offshore—as negotiations for the landing went on. Some of the passengers were wearing orange life jackets as rations ran short while the hot equatorial sun beat down upon the ship.

Galvao refused to tie the ship at the dock. Tugs went out to be taking off the passengers.

Busies were brought up to take passengers to the Portuguese Club where they could await arrangements for their return home. U.S. citizens in Recife threw open their homes for the 45 or so Americans aboard.

Police kept crowds back from the dock. Other spectators lined surrounding roads.

Galvao has been holding out for freeing the passengers on his own terms.

The price was that his band of self-styled revolutionists be allowed to keep the ship they seized at sea and be given fuel, food and water to carry on their fight against Portugal's dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Brazil's new President Janio Quadros has guaranteed his "old friend" Galvao and his 70 odd insurgents political asylum. But Quadros indicated international law might prevent his letting the rebels keep their $16.6-million prize.

Negotiations with the rebels were being directed by Quadros, an unpredictable independent and no friend of Salazar, from Brazil's new jungle capital Brasilia 1,000 miles away.

There were indications that Quadros, 44, might be searching for a loophole in the law to enable him to accommodate Galvao and at the same time fulfill his technical obligations to Portugal.

One suggestion was that he recognize a "state of belligerency" between Galvao's band and the Portuguese government, a maneuver some sources said would give Galvao 72 hours in port to refuel, then permit him to strike out on the high seas again.

Humberto Deigado, the Portuguese rebels' titular leader who stayed in Brazil while Galvao and his band in 70 seized the ship, reportedly went out to the Santa Maria in a private boat Wednesday night. There was speculation he might be carrying a new offer from the Brazilian government or mapping the insurgents' next move with Galvao.

With land in sight, some of the passengers were reported at the point of unmaned rebellion against their captors. Cmdr. Helio Lello, captain of the Port of Recife, after a visit to the ship said several women were becoming hysterical and screamed at the armed rebels patrolling the cruise ship.

The situation was described as "extremely bad" by one source in close touch with shipboard developments, with food strictly rationed and fresh water running short. The air conditioning has broken down and daytime temperatures are above 90 degrees.

But Hammarskjold's request appeared headed for rough sledding from the Soviet Union, which has been assailing the secretary-general for months and has refused to vote him new powers even in less controversial fields.

The council scheduled a morning session to continue its latest debate, which is likely to take up the rest of the week.

Without giving up his policy of neutrality for the U.N. force in Congo domestic affairs, Hammarskjold insisted that he must be allowed to reorganize the Congo army, which he said has been taking sides in the warfare between President Joseph Kasavubu and forces supporting deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The council also heard a statement from the United Arab Republic that Lumumba be freed from jail and that Belgian military men alleged to be in the Congo be ousted.

Hammarskjold's policy of not allowing the U.N. force to interfere in the domestic affairs of the Congo is under attack from the pro-Lumumba group from the Belgians, from Kasavubu and from provincial representatives. Each group has the U.N. force to take action against the other.

Most of the initial session was given over to statements welcoming Stevenson.

Stevenson pledged U.S. efforts in cooperation and conciliation with the U.N. force to assist the United States in the Congo through the secretary-general.

"The efforts of this council to assist the orderly transition in the Congo through the secretary-general."

Germany Proposes To Pay $1 Billion

By JACK KOEHLER
BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany today the United States today it would pay about a billion dollars in a single payment toward easing the drain on American dollar and gold reserves.

The payment proposal was made by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard to U.S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling. Neither would say officially what the proposal contained but informed sources said the amount would be about a billion dollars.

Informed sources said the Germans proposed to pay $567 million as prepayment of their postwar debt, which now totals $787 million. They asked that the remaining $200 million be canceled as settlement for German assets seized in the United States during World War II, informants said.

The West Germans reportedly offered to increase arms purchases in the United States from

GROUNDING SKY KING—This golden eagle, with a wingspread of 77 inches was plucked from the sky with a 30.06 rifle as it soared near a field of lambs in the Flavanna community Wednesday. Joe Landrum's single shot was hailed by neighbors as most unusual as most birds are brought down with a shotgun. Landrum himself killed an eagle about 10 years ago with a shotgun. Tufts of wool on the huge talons led Landrum to believe he had killed the culprit that had been making off with his neighbor's lambs. Above, Mike and Gwen Landrum hold their father's prize.

Biting Cold Hits Northeast Today

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Biting cold stung the northeast quarter of the nation today as winter's longest siege of severe weather showed no signs of a general break.
Record low readings for the date were reported in some eastern cities as the cold wave moved into the third week in some sections.
The frigid belt extended over most of the North Atlantic Coast states, most of Pennsylvania, northern Lower Michigan, eastern Upper Michigan, northern Minnesota and North Dakota.
The mercury plunged to more than 30 degrees below zero in western New York and New York City shivered in zero weather, the coldest day in more than four years. It was the first zero weather for the nation's biggest city since Jan. 15, 1957, when the mercury also touched zero.
It also was zero in Newark, N.J., a record low for the date, and Boston's -3 was the lowest mark in the city in some two years. It was below zero in most of northern New England. The region, now in the 15th day of the cold spell, had a record cold wave of 16 days in 1917-1918.
In the Midwest, the icy air dropped thermometers to 19 below in Traverse City, Mich., -15 in Pellston, Mich., and -13 in International Falls, Minn. The -8 in Lansing, Mich., was a record for Feb. 2. It was zero in Detroit.
Skies were clear in New England and most of the Atlantic Coast areas but snow was a possibility in New York City.
Snow fell in most of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Iowa, with

Seizure Of Liner Believed Harmful To Galvao's Cause

EDITOR'S NOTE—Louis Nevin has been chief of The Associated Press bureau in Madrid for 12 years, a post from which he has closely followed political developments in the Iberian Peninsula. Here he discusses the likely effect of Henrique Galvao's seizure of the Santa Maria on the Salazar dictatorship that has ruled Portugal with an iron hand for 32 years.
By LOUIS NEVIN
LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Henrique Galvao's seizure of the liner Santa Maria has done the opposition to Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar great and perhaps irreparable harm, reliable political observers in the Portuguese capital say.
Reaction against those who seized the ship has been strong both in Portugal and in her overseas territories.
The government apparently feels its case is so strong it can sit back and let the United States or Brazil handle the affair.
Dr. Ramiro Valadao, chief of the government's press services, told a news conference Portugal would let any intervening power handle the case under its own laws.

He said his government would not even demand extradition of Galvao and his 70 rebels, even though an officer of the ship was killed in the fray.
Thirty-nine opposition leaders saw fit a few days ago to write President Americo Thomas divorcing themselves from the seizure, which they called an "unequivocally serious act."
Humberto Delgado, the unsuccessful presidential candidate in the 1958 elections who has been living in exile in Brazil, hurt his position gravely at home, observers believe, by assuming responsibility for the seizure, and even more so by publicly predicting the seizure would lead to uprisings in Portugal and her territories.
Not the slightest disorder of a political nature has been reported. Delgado's association with Galvao was never close in the past. Galvao was pretty much of an extremist, both while an ardent supporter of Salazar and after going into the opposition. Delgado was considered more moderate and measured.

Their present apparently close association has surprised many here and disillusioned others.
The facts of the seizure, as published here, disgusted many. The reported international character of the Galvao men—only six Portuguese, the rest Spaniards, Cubans and persons of other nationality—gave a Communist tinge to the whole affair in the eyes of the man in the Lisbon streets.
Avidly awaiting news of the Santa Maria, lines of people buy newspapers as fast as they appear on the streets. Large crowds stand in front of newspaper offices reading the latest news as it is chalked on bulletin boards.
Portugal is a maritime nation, and when something happens to one of her ships, especially the pride of her passenger fleet, it is a personal matter to all of her citizens, whether they approve of the government or not.

Weatherman Set For Retirement

By JULES LOH
NEW YORK (AP) — "There probably will be a million people glad to see me retire," said Ernest J. Christie, "if I leave the weather with my honest try do."
The appraisal was more in the nature of reflection than a forecast. Christie was in a reflective mood.

He retires Friday after 12 years of predicting the weather in the New York metropolitan area — a choice meteorological puzzle where a 10th of the country's population is prepared to regard a faulty forecast as a personal affront.
Christie feels most people just expect too much of the weatherman—especially in this ballbuck which he calls a breeding ground for low pressure systems.
He says nearly every weatherman, because of some quirk in his particular area, feels he has the country's toughest forecasting job.
"Our own problem is that you don't have a chance to watch a new system developing," he says. "It develops right on top of you." This year they have been developing fast and furiously—one of the most severe winters New Yorkers can recall.
Of greater concern to Christie, however, has been the responsibility of calling the weather shots for the biggest U.S. city. He said he had contemplated it long and often over the past dozen years.
"I don't think we take any greater care in our computations than meteorologists any place else," he says, "but we do take extreme caution in phrasing our forecasts so they include everything we know but won't be misinterpreted."
Christie has been predicting the weather in a lot of places in his 30 years with the Weather Bureau—South Dakota, Missouri, Connecticut—and has heard all the tired wisecracks.
He winces when sports announcers say, "The weatherman wasn't kind today." He smiles weakly at the horselaughs when he is caught in a downpour on the golf course. He responds dutifully when acquaintances say, "Yes, but just between us, how much snow do you personally think we're going to get?"
At 58, he "still has some good years left" and plans to devote them to applied meteorology — helping businessmen solve problems involving the weather.

Slaying Reenacted By 4-Year-Old Child

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP)—Solemnly, in response to officers' questions, Darlene Goodwin, 4, pretended to load and cock a toy gun.
Then, putting it to her shoulder, she said: "Bang — he shot Mama!"
The little girl gave her demonstration to sheriff's deputies who arrested her father, James Goodwin, 26, in the shotgun slaying of his estranged wife Hazel, 22, at her farm home Wednesday night.
Darlene spent the weekend with her father and he had just returned the child to her mother. She said her parents argued over their separation which started last summer.
Officers said Goodwin admitted the shooting. They held him without immediate charge.

Gas Victims Are Improved

NEW ROADS, La. (AP) — A hospital spokesman says seven chlorine gas victims are somewhat improved, although still in critical condition.
Nine other persons, who breathed the deadly fumes that seeped from a derailed freight train Tuesday over a portion of south central Louisiana would be discharged from the hospital today.
Still on the critical list were James Harris Jr., Harris' wife, their two young sons and a daughter; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Basquaine. All are Negroes.
Harris' son, 11, was the only person killed although 451 animals died.
A chemist said the affected area is now safe.
Officials of the Kansas City Southern railroad said the journal of a railway car apparently overheated, causing the wreck.

Hermleigh Show Set

The Hermleigh FFA will hold their annual project show Saturday at the football field starting at 1:30 p.m., agriculture teacher Frank Barnes announced today.
The show of about 35 animals will be judged by Buford Browning with prize money to be from funds donated by area residents.
Those interested in donating to the fund may leave their contributions at Vernon's Service Station.

One Basic Recipe Expands Into Dozens Of Tasty Dishes

From one basic recipe, come eight, no—a dozen, no—fifty different, delicious dishes, any of which will serve as the mainstay of a family meal.

The basic recipe is as easy to remember and do as any you'll find. Just combine a can of condensed soup, undiluted with a cup of vegetables, a cup of meat, seafood or poultry, and 1-1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice. Prepare your combination in a casserole, a skillet or a saucepan, depending on your mood and your choice of service. Serve it with a salad, some heat-and-serve rolls or French bread, a 1-2-3 dessert, and you have the quickest hit in a month of Sundays. In fact, you'll have a meal that is successful enough for a Sunday!

The combinations are limitless. Just with one kind of soup—the new Cheese Soup—we can rattle off a half dozen different dishes with no effort at all.

There is the hearty combination of frankfurters or canned Vienna sausages, green beans, cheese soup and packaged pre-cooked rice or the robust dinner of ham, cabbage, cheese soup and rice.

A ladies luncheon or Friday family treat is quickly prepared with crabmeat—fresh, frozen or canned—spinach, cheese soup and rice.

A less expensive but most nourishing combination is tuna, peas, cheese soup and rice garnished with hard-cooked egg slices.

This new cheese soup is a satiny-smooth blend of cheddar cheese with just a touch of Romano, whole milk and seasonings. On the market for several months, it is already proving most popular as a sauce and cooking ingredient as well as a soup.

The same soup and packaged pre-cooked rice go well with veal or pork and chunks of red-ripe tomato (canned whole tomatoes can be substituted for the fresh). If you'd like to garnish this one, a few olive slices makes a pretty dish.

Try one of the combinations above tonight, then with a stock of condensed soup and packaged pre-cooked rice on your kitchen shelf, let your imagination be the only limit to the number of tempting dishes you can try out.

Party Pizza Made Simple With Mix

Here is a simple variation of a party favorite for Valentine's Day. Just make an Apian Way Pizza with cheese as usual! Before baking use strips of pimiento to form a heart pierced by an arrow. The pimiento is tasty and the color carries out your party theme.

1 pkg. (12 1/2 oz.) Pizza Mix and Sauce
1-4 oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, chopped
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
4 oz. sharp cheddar cheese, grated canned whole pimiento, cut into strips

Prepare pizza mix according to package directions. Spread dough on a 13 inch pizza pan, top with sauce which has been combined with Worcestershire sauce and chopped mushrooms. Sprinkle cheese over pizza and use the strips of pimiento to form the heart and arrow. Bake 425 degrees for 18-20 minutes.

For a sharper outline, add pimiento about 2 minutes before pizza is finished baking.

Women Steal Money-Love

"THESE UNLUCKY DEEDS."

By Richard Martin Stern, MAR 22

Two men write in these novels of suspense about two women, one of them unable to keep her hands off other people's money, one unable to keep her hands off other women's men.

Marnie, who is the English contribution to this week's thrills and chills, is a secretary and stenographer nightfingered at the typewriter and the cashbox. She gets a job, causes the new office personnel and routine, walks off with a few hundred pounds and moves to another hunting ground, adopts a new name, and sets her trap again. Her mother, who also has an interesting history as you will find out, keeps warning her not to let her supposedly rich employer take advantage of her supposed innocence, but she is against men. Her deliberately dowdy dress is her armor against amour. But this can't go on forever, men being predatory, so when she makes the mistake of working for Rutland, Mark and Terry, rivals in business, become rivals in love, too—despite what they discover about her thievery.

Author Stern's Roz, the American partner in crime, lives in a town up the Hudson where all husbands — painters, writers, publishers or businessmen — find her utterly irresistible. The story begins when, after a six months' disappearance, Roz returns with a baby. Hmmm, say all the wives, wondering which of their husbands the brat looks like, it worries the men even more. A welcoming party is arranged, and in the few hours preceding it, the men and women visit Roz, openly or secretly, so there are few alibis left when a murderer strikes.

Graham is more sentimental than Stern, neither will give you nightmares, but they knowingly whip up a tension that'll keep you on the edge of your chair till love finds a way, with Graham, and hate finds a way, with Stern.

Chiefs Here Tomorrow

Lake View Next Up For Tigers

Lake View's Chiefs, still looking for somebody to scalp, will be eyeing Tiger Gym as a possible happy hunting ground tomorrow night, as they come to town for a District 3-A cage contest against the Snyder Tigers.

Coach Don Abbott's Chiefs have found the trail a little rocky in the current campaign, with only 4 victories to show in 25 attempts. Over the district span they are 0-5 and the cellar occupants.

On the other side of the fence, the Tigers of Coach J. P. Ward possess an 11-9 season record and are 3-2 in the 3-A chase. They are presently running third behind Lamesa and Sweetwater, while Colorado City, the remaining member of the district, is in fourth place.

Following Tuesday's games, Snyder's Weldon Ware has moved into the number two slot in the area of district scoring, with 92 points in the five games played, or an average of 18.4 points per contest. Sweetwater's big center, Billy Belew, continues to be the top scorer in the 3-A family circle with 109, which figures out at an average of 21.8 per game.

Tomorrow's game here will get underway at 8 o'clock, with a "B" game preceding the varsity fray, it having a starting time of 6:15. Coach V. Stewart's Tiger "B" boys are at present prospering with five victories in a row over district foes. Their season mark is now 7-5.

The other 3-A contest of tomorrow night will see Colorado City in Lamesa to take on the loquacious Tornados.

Lamar 8th, 7th In Home Tilts Tonight

Lamar junior high cage teams hold the local spotlight here this evening, as Travis takes a night off from the basketball wars.

The Texan 7th will get the ball rolling in the Lamar Gym this afternoon at 5 o'clock, as they play host to Big Spring Runnels. The local quintet, coached by Roy Carter, is 5-4 for the season, and will be seeking its third victory in a row against Runnels following recent consecutive triumphs over Big Spring Goliad and Colorado City. The Texans have met Runnels once to date, and were powdered, 44-18.

Coach Ace Amos' Lamar 8th crew will follow up at 6:30 against Runnels 8th in hopes of repeating a previous 18-15 win over that team. Also, the locals will embark with the aim of climbing up over the 500 mark for the season, as their record now reads 7-7.

Lamar 9th is idle tonight, as a previously scheduled tilt against Runnels 9th has been called off due to a recent full slate of 9th grade tournament activity.

Travis 9th, 7-5 for the year and runner-up in the Snyder Ninth Grade Tournament which was completed Tuesday, has its sights set on the Stamford 9th Grade Tourney of tomorrow and Saturday. The Blue Devils will see their first action there at 5:30 tomorrow evening against Haskell.

Area games of tomorrow night include those of Lorraine and Harnleigh, Westbrook at Fluvanna, and Hobbs at Ira.

Hopkins Gets Nod At Sundown High

PERRYTON, Tex. (AP)—Ray Hopkins, football coach at Sundown High School, will become athletic director and head football coach at Perryton High School.

Supl. Gilbert Mize announced Tuesday the appointment of Hopkins to succeed Joe Gordon, who resigned under pressure last month. Perryton last year won 8 games and lost 3 in winning its district title in Class AA football. Assistant Coach C. H. Keaton of Sundown also will join the Perryton coaching staff.

Tiger 'B' In Stamford Meet

As an added attraction in the Stamford Ninth Grade Tourney of this weekend, in which Travis 9th of Snyder is entered, four "B" teams will also vie for honors in a supplementary "B" team tournament.

The Snyder Tiger "B" will take the trek to Stamford in order to compete, with hopes of adding still more luster to a current five-game winning streak.

The Snyder five will take on Brownwood at 12:30 Saturday afternoon in the initial action of the "B" team phase of the meet. The remaining pair of entrants—host Stamford and Haskell—are to clash at the conclusion of that game, with finals slated for that night.

Live News Conference Is Successful, Even For TV

BY INEZ ROBB
As a reporter who has attended Presidential press conferences off and on since the early days of Franklin D. Roosevelt, I was glued to the television for President Kennedy's first go-round with the press as Chief Executive.

To be honest, I turned the set on with a good bit of reservation, not for the President but for the working press. It has been the unhappy experience of many newspapermen in the past to be badgered to the point of murder by teevue crews and their tons of equipment.

Teevue has often tolerated competent newspapermen at news conferences only because it was dependent upon such men and women for the intelligent and penetrating questions that make a news conference news.

You don't find the teevue commentators and seers as Edward R. Murrow and my favorite Katzenjammer kids, Huntley and Brinkley, mucking it up in the pit with the working press? They sit majestically in their walk-to-walk booths, waiting to comment on what the working reporters have elicited from the Big Brass in the first place.

So in years past when noisy teevue crews have clanked into press conferences, set up their equipment in a way that made the factotums scarcely visible to the press, pushed everyone around and generally made the reporter's work difficult, I have felt it was sheer ingratitude on the part of the networks.

(I may sound especially bitter since a press conference with Chief Justice Earl Warren, then Governor of California and a Vice-Presidential candidate, when a teevue crewman dropped a heavy light on my head and ruined a new hat. Apologize? He never even offered me a Band Aid.)

Naturally, I was apprehensive that teevue would walk into the Presidential press conference, take over and make the work of reporters harassing, if not impossible. But not at all! On the contrary, the crews and cameras were unobtrusive. Washington's competent reporters remained in command of the medium throughout.

In fact, it was a technical triumph for television, and I want to admit it at once, to make up for all my nasty suspicions and apprehensions. The conference was a ten-strike for the President, for the public, press and teevue.

To bring Presidential news conferences live into the nation's homes and to bring it with such quiet and splendid efficiency may not entirely make up for all that Western claptrap and sadistic violence that teevue sponsors endlessly, but it helps.

The Presidential press conference is unique. There is no other great head of state who regularly submits himself to searching cross-examinations by the press as the Chief Executive of the U.S.A. It is a magnificent exercise in pure democracy. Citizens who take advantage of such telecasts are privileged to sit in on history in the making. It is a unique and proud experience.

News men on the spot, including The New York Times' Arthur Krock, have already paid tribute to President Kennedy's command of syntax and pear-shaped English, in contrast to the too-oft-strangled statements of his predecessor.

No facet of President Eisenhower's stewardship amazed me more than the mangled syntax of his White House press conference. It surprised me because his weekly press conference at Allied Force Headquarters in Algiers in the winter of 1943, when I was assigned there, were masterpieces of clarity and lucidity of language.

After the old soldier went to the White House, I could only guess that the military man was eternally baffled by civilian lingo and never quite got its hang.

But no one can say that the language does not come trippingly from the tongue of the new resident of 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue. Copyright, 1961, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Wright To Work Hard
BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.S. Rep. Jim Wright says he is going "to get up earlier, go to bed later, see more people, shake more hands and make more speeches than any other candidate" in the campaign for Vice President Lyndon Johnson's old Senate seat.

Wright, a Democrat, campaigned in Dallas Wednesday as the tempo of the race picked up. The special election will be held April 4.

John G. Tower, the only Republican in the race, charged in a speech at Corpus Christi that Wright had "joined (House Speaker) Sam Rayburn in the big frame-up to pack the rules committee of the Congress."

At Austin Sen. William A. Blakley's campaign headquarters announced that State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman J. Ed Connally has endorsed the interim senator's bid for Johnson's unexpired term.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson held conferences in Houston Wednesday and planned to open his state headquarters in Austin Thursday.

'Uncommon' Cold Usually Hits Offices

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are better than even that if you live in a city and work in an office, you have had a cold this winter—and perhaps have one right now.

There are two types of cold: The common cold. This is the kind everyone else gets.

The uncommon cold. This is the kind you get.

Few hospitals, however, can match in pure human drama the antics of the creatures in the office zoo when the sneezing season gets under way. Here are a few familiar victims you can probably spot in your own firm:

The panic button pusher—At the first sign of a sniffle, he screams: "It's probably another flu epidemic like the one in 1918. I think the Russians are spreading it secretly!" He tries to get everyone to sign a petition demanding that the whole place be disinfectant.

Camille at the typewriter—The pretty secretary figures that if she can make her cough sound properly hollow and racking, the boss will give her the day off—which will give her a chance to see an afternoon movie, or catch up on her shopping.

The heart—"You got a little cold?" he says. "What are you complaining about? I've got sinus trouble, grippie, bronchitis and swollen tonsils—to say nothing about my ulcers. They're kicking up again, too."

The hypochondriac—Whenever any one in the office comes in with a new cold, he gets a new one, too.

The indignant moralist—"If half the money this country spends on tobacco was spent on scientific research, they could lick the problem of the common cold in a year," he yelps, then adds as an after thought, "By the way, could you lend me a cigarette? I'm fresh out."

The fatalist—"What's the use of buying medicine?" he growls. He makes out his will—and waits to see if he'll die or get better.

The glutton—"Feed a cold and starve a fever" is his motto.

The hairy-chested chirper—"It's all in the imagination," he growls. "I never had a cold in my life." Then word spreads that he must be a virus carrier, and behind his back everyone calls him "Typhoid Harry."

The boss—The thoughtful company physician taps him on the chest and says, "Chief, it might be just a simple cold, but it could turn into a case of walking pneumonia. I think you'd better take a month off in Florida—and maybe I'd better go along to check you. We wouldn't want to get any worse, would we?"

That's the kind of common cold to get—if you can afford it.

Two Win Acquittal In Traffic Court
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Police gave Andreas Gonzales a ticket for driving without a license and Andrew Giddens one for letting an unlicensed driver operate his car.

They appeared before City Judge Mike Machado Wednesday and both won acquittal. The two testified Gonzales was steering the auto while Giddens shoved it after the vehicle stalled at a driver's license check stop.

The first actual evidence of the use of spectacles is in a 1352 portrait of an Italian cardinal. He is holding two lenses attached to a forklike handle.

Junior Editors Quiz on HISTORY

QUESTION: Could anything known as the War of the Roses been a really serious conflict?

ANSWER: In the Fifteenth Century, England had a weak king, Henry VI. During his reign there was a struggle for the throne between two groups of nobles. It was called the War of the Roses because the House of Lancaster used a red rose as its emblem and the opposing House of York used a white rose, but it was fierce and bloody.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find an easy-to-read history of England and read about the War of the Roses and the Hundred Years' War which came before it.

Joseph Novak of Baltimore, Md., wins $10 for this question. Mail your question on a post card to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. If duplicate questions are received, Mrs. Higgins will select the winner. 2-2

Austin Has Prospect Of More Jobs

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin is the only major labor market in Texas with prospects of an immediate decline in joblessness, the Texas Employment Commission says.

This is "due to the impetus that the convening of the Legislature brings to payrolls in trade, services and government," the commission said in a special report Wednesday.

A continued increase in unemployment is expected over the state until spring, particularly in February and March in non-factory industries, the special report said.

The percentage of jobs reached 5.3 per cent of the total Texas labor force in December, compared with 4.5 per cent a year ago.

The total labor force reached 3,381,800 in December, an increase of 36,800 over a year ago. The net increase in jobs, however, was only 6,000.

Eight of the state's major labor markets showed unemployment larger than the statewide average, the TEC said. These are Abilene with 5.7 per cent of work.

The total labor force reached 3,381,800 in December, an increase of 36,800 over a year ago. The net increase in jobs, however, was only 6,000.

Minuteman Brings Grave Problems

(Editors Note: The following story was written by Ben Price of The Associated Press Washington bureau. Price frequently writes on military affairs.)

By BEN PRICE CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Warfare is now nearly at the point where one man by the simple movement of a finger can destroy nations.

This possibility is no longer a dream. For purposes of practical consideration it became a reality at 11 a. m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

At that precise moment, the Air Force touched off a slender, three-stage missile, the Minuteman, which is designed to span 6,300 miles in less time than man can shave, shower and dress.

In its initial test of the missile range here, the Minuteman, trailing streamers of bright flame, traveled more than 4,000 miles. For a research vehicle, the launching was undoubtedly a success.

By its very success, however, Minuteman brought to the United States face to face with a question it is going to have difficulty ducking.

Does this nation want these things scattered all over the front lawn, thereby setting the United States up as a prime target for surprise attack?

By the same token this success leap toward the age of true push-button warfare bespeaks the beginning of a rapid shift in U.S. defense posture which may have worldwide political and economic repercussions.

Under present Air Force plans 450 of these easily manufactured Minutemen will be buried across the northern tier of the states and another 150 will be on special rail-road cars by 1964. Ultimately there will be 2,000 on trains and in underground sites.

In warfare the primary objective of any armed force is the destruction of the enemy's armed force. The so-called civilian targets are secondary.

By placing hundreds of these missile sites in the United States, the nation suddenly finds itself in a position whereby an enemy surprise attack could knock out both military and civilian targets at the same time.

The entire weight of any attack would thus be concentrated against the United States proper.

The same thing applies to the Soviet Union but with a difference. The United States has pledged its word that it will never attack first.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Movie and television actor Cameron Mitchell says he won't leave Orange County jail unless his ex-wife withdraws her charges that he is delinquent in alimony payments.

Filmaster Inc., a company producing a TV series "The Beachcomber" with Mitchell as the star, offered to back a $50,000 bond for his release Wednesday but Mitchell refused.

He told a reporter, "I will not remove myself from here with these charges hanging over me. The only way I would leave here now is if Johanna (his ex-wife) would withdraw the charges."

Robert Stabler, president of Filmaster, denied reports that the company planned to cancel Mitchell's contract.

What Others Say About Our Banquet Speaker

"Truly a man of infinite variety and well-nigh limitless versatility is Roe Bartle. Big of body, big of brain, big of vision, big of knowledge of world affairs, the distinguished visitor . . . played on the emotions of the audience like a master violinist and all that he said was replete with wholesome humor or wholesome philosophy."—Front page of the Jackson Mississippi Daily News.

"Dr Bartle is neither a professional do-gooder nor a dreamy idealist. He is an experienced businessman who has made a success as a banker, as a lawyer, as a cattleman and farmer. His audience accepted him as a sincere realist and gave weight to his words. Every American should hear his gospel. Those who heard him here should put his precepts into practice. Words are powerful only if they inspire action. In many respects Dallas is suffering from a lack of unity and needs a strong dose of Bartleism."—Editorial column of the Dallas Morning News.

"The thunderous ovation which your excellent presentation at our meeting last Thursday developed is still reverberating around this community. I have had numerous calls congratulating me on the splendid program . . . I can assure you that your message will influence many to renewed effort in community service . . . No other speaker appearing before our group has received so much press coverage." Robert W. Swain, President, Sales Executives' Club of Milwaukee.

"Our speaker, Dr. H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City, Missouri, is a dynamo of high quality . . . Without aid of the speaker's microphone, in a voice that could be heard throughout the Silver Glade, he emphatically presented to us a commentary on today's world events that will long be remembered. It is remarkable how anyone could so thoroughly cover Christianity, labor, politics, and war in thirty minutes—and he did just that! It was a great meeting."—Rotary Club Bulletin of Denver.

"You made us Virginians attending the American Vocational Association banquet very proud of you and our state when you made that masterful address last week. After you left many, many delegates told me it was the best speech ever made at any of our conventions and with that I am in full agreement. It had enough humor in it to entertain all listening and enough sound philosophy and inspiration to give us something to think about and remember for a long time."—Martha Croighton, President, American Vocational Association, Inc., re 1954 convention address in Chicago.

"At our convention you were magnificent. You rose to the heights. It was the high spot of our convlave. We are deeply grateful to you."—E. E. Woods, Secretary - Manager, Southwestern Lumbermen's Association.

"Your electric spell of speech is amazing. But it is not your facility in the use of words which impresses me as much as the deep goodness in your life."—Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, President, The American Brotherhood, New York.

"A big man physically and mentally and a humble man, the Honorable H. Roe Bartle, whom we had the pleasure of hearing by the cordial invitation of the Wilshire Serfoma Club, in both his humorous and serious way talked to the group on 'I Believe.' He could have talked for hours, we could have listened for hours, time permitting . . . To his large audience, which he held spellbound, he revealed himself as a great American whose message will live long in the memories of those with whom he comes into contact."—From the Hollywood Celebrity, publication of Hollywood, California.

"The speaker, H. Roe Bartle . . . gave one of the most dynamic speeches ever heard by any man. His speech was one that will be long remembered—and the comments from everyone after the meeting were to the effect that 'I have heard many speeches, but never one like that.' It was the opinion of all that hearing Mr. Bartle's speech was well worth the trip to the convention, notwithstanding the other activities."—From the minutes of the Metro National Convention.

"I want to tell you how much I personally enjoyed your address given at the National Independent Students Association convention at Purdue, and also to tell you about the reaction of students to your address. Without exception they expressed the opinion that it was the most outstanding experience of their lives . . . So far as my personal reaction is concerned, I want to thank you for talking about a positive approach and a constructive program . . . and the elimination of the negative 'anti' attitude. I have been praying that someone would say this effectively. I am grateful to you for having done so."—Dean Hoyt Williams, University of Texas.

"We were so impressed with your observation to the effect that no man became president of a corporation on forty hours a week that it has been placed on the agenda for discussion at the monthly staff meeting of our personnel August 1 . . . Pat Casey, Vice President, Frisco Railway, Fort Worth.

"District 197 will always be indebted to you for your magnificent address. It has been my privilege to hear you on several occasions, but I believe you rose to new heights of eloquence and you certainly made believers of us all. Your address was easily 'the high spot of our Rotary Conference, as attested by the many, many enthusiastic comments which we received about it . . . Please accept our sincere gratitude for your splendid contribution which made the entire conference worthwhile. We are all better Rotarians for it."—Orson L. Curtis, Conference Secretary of Rotary District Conference in St. Louis.

"Your speech of February 3 before the Bendix Management Club has precisely the effect we anticipated and wanted . . . You will be interested to know that you are the first speaker to receive a standing ovation at the conclusion of a speech."—S. R. Wolf, Program Director, Bendix Management Club of Bendix Aviation Corporation.

"You certainly lived up to your reputation as being one of the top speakers of the nation, and we surely appreciate your fine contribution to the success of our convention."—David P. Wheelchel, Tennessee Automotive Association.

"You left some 450 people hanging on the ropes last Friday noon, but they were hanging there fully inspired and ready to absorb more. I wish we had had another hour to listen to you. It was a great, inspiring message you gave to a group which is not easily inspired. I'm sure you sensed their reaction to it by the rising ovation they gave you when you finished your address."—Robert E. Corburn, Community Fund of Chicago, Inc.

"The speaker, H. Roe Bartle, lived up to his advance notices . . . "The first of the year we sent postals to everyone we knew was in attendance at the Forum last year, asking if there was any one on the program they would like to hear again . . . Witherpoon, Director of Community Forum, McPherson, Kans.

"I have attended conventions in most of the New England States during the last ten or twelve years, and I cannot resist the urge to tell you that your speech at the Massachusetts Bankers was most enlightening, enjoyable, and you have the best delivery I have ever heard. You did a tremendous job, and I heard an awful lot of comments from my friends whose reaction was the same as mine."—B. C. Romefelt, Vice-President, Chase National Bank of New York.

"While the memory is so freshly with me, may I tell you again how much I appreciated hearing you speak at the Midwest Conference of Community Chests and Councils. You certainly rang the bell in handsome fashion and I can't tell you how much we appreciate the opportunity to hear your fine message . . . Your address was the big thrill of the conference and brought it to a real climax . . . It was what everybody was waiting to hear and you gave it to them in a clear and unmistakable way."—Ralph H. Blanchard, Executive Director, Community Chests and Councils of America.

"You could not have caused a greater stir in this community if you had dropped a bomb in the center of the city than you did with that address you unloaded on nearly twelve hundred real citizens of Austin on Thursday, January 9 . . . It is remarkable how few men can put across a message. Perhaps a good many of them have a message and can't deliver it. The one you put over here so reached the hearts of our people that you might have read their innermost feelings . . . What I say is put down in words after long association with these Austin folks. Nobody has ever pumped the fire into them that you did."—Walter E. Long, Manager, Austin Chamber of Commerce.
