Cases of Men Charged in Sherman Riot are Transferred to Dallas

CHANGE MADE TODAY AFTER CONFERENCE

Thirteen Men Taken to New Jail at Once

COL. McGEE IS BEHIND MOVE

No Action Yet Upon Charges Against Fourteen

SHERMAN, May 23. (P)—Thirteen men indicted in connection with the mob riot here May 9 were transferred to the Dallas county jail today after a change of venue was ordered from the fifteenth district court here to criminal court No. 2 at Dallas. The change of venue was ordered following a conference of city and county officials with Col. L. E. McGee, in charge of National guardsmen sent here to restore order. No action had been taken by the grand jury in the cases of 14 other men arrested for questioning. The group taken to Dallas included: Jim May, Jess Roper, Jeff Jones, J. B. McCalland, Web Purdon, Cleo Wolfe, Jimmie Arnold, Leslie Cole, Leonard Ousel, Roy Allen, C. H. Briggs, Bill Soley and Alvin Morgan. Harold Reynolds, also indicted in connection with the rioting, was released on $1,500 bond. The indictments were based on evidence furnished by a military court of inquiry, which started its investigation a short time after martial law was declared. The rioting started when a crowd attempted to lynch George Hughes, negro, as he went on trial for attacking a white woman.

Women Extended Rights to Enter M. E. Ministry

DALLAS, May 23. (P)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today voted 174 to 150 to extend equal rights in the ministry to women. The question of whether a majority vote of the general conference was sufficient to establish the new practice was immediately raised. The college of bishops went into conference to consider the matter. If the bishops should decide the change was constitutional it would require a two-thirds vote of the general conference and a three-fourths vote in the annual conference. The bishops decided that the concession favored by a majority of the conference was a proposed constitutional change and would therefore require a two-thirds vote of the general conference and a three-fourths vote of the annual conference.

MONTREAL. (P)—Why do lady trousers break? Dr. John Tait and W. J. McNally have answered the question in papers read to the royal society of Canada. It is because they are in love. Mile. Frog's typical nose is equivalent to a sigh. She is honest and makes known her affection.

FRANK LAND, 27, FORMERLY OF FORT WORTH, INSTANTLY KILLED AT PHILLIPS LEASE NEAR CITY

Workman's Legs and Skull Fractured When He Slips and Falls 40 Feet While Working on Tank

Falling from the top of a steel tank he was helping build to the steel floor, 40 feet below, Frank Land, 27, of Fort Worth, was instantly killed just before noon today on the Phillips lease near Pampa. He was rushed to McKean and Connor hospital but physicians there immediately pronounced him dead. The body is being held at Stephen's Mortuary, pending funeral arrangements. Workmen on the tank said that Land slipped and hurtled downward. As he crashed against the floor both legs were broken and his skull was crushed. Land has a brother living here. He was an employee of the Kirk-Morrow Iron works, Oklahoma City, Okla. He had been working here several months constructing tanks. He is survived by his wife and a son, who live at Fort Worth.

Chicago Flier Dies in Crash

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind., May 23. (P)—Harold Mayer, 35, of Chicago, was killed instantly today when an airplane he was piloting crashed during an attempt to land at Waynetown, 10 miles west of here. Two passengers, Mrs. Louise McCusker and Dr. Frederick Harvey, both of Chicago, were injured but not seriously. Mrs. McCusker suffered severe bruises and shock and was brought to a hospital here. Mayer's skull was fractured. Dr. Harvey, who also was bruised, and Mrs. McCusker, chartered the plane at Chicago last night, and were flying to Valdosta, Ga., where the woman's mother, Mrs. R. Stothert, was injured in an accident yesterday.

WEALTHY FRUIT GROWER SLAYS 3 AND THEN SELF

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 23. (P)—A triple murder and a suicide were discovered today on the farm of Ernest L. Snyder, 60, wealthy fruit grower at Harding, near here. Snyder is declared to have shot his son-in-law, daughter and grandson before hanging himself in a garage on the farm. Heavy losses in the stock market were said to have caused him to commit the crime. Besides Snyder, the victims were: Charles Shepherd, 35; Mrs. Madge Shepherd, 32; and Ernest Shepherd, 6.

MAYFIELD SAYS HE IS SURE TO BE IN RUN-OFF

LUBBOCK, May 23. (P)—Earle B. Mayfield, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, today was on record as being certain of two things: that he would reach the "second primary," and that Governor Dan Moody would be in the first. He made those assertions in a formal statement here. He declared that Moody "knows the Democrats of Texas do not endorse his positions on the short ballot, the sale of penitentiary lands, and the $300,000,000 bond issue."

Good Response in Ticket Sale for "Joke" Dance

Scores of North Pampa residents bought tickets yesterday to the benefit ball for "joke-leg" victims which will be held at the Pla-Mor tonight. It was announced today by the Elks club and Jack C. Rogers who are sponsoring the dance. The entire membership of several bridge clubs and of one dancing club purchased tickets at one time yesterday. It was stated. That the affair will turn out to be a society event was indicated today. A fine response to the plea made yesterday to citizens that they buy more tickets was had, Mr. Rogers said. The entire proceeds of the ball will be used to provide medical attention and proper diet for a number of poverty-stricken "joke-leg" victims here. The Elks and Mr. Rogers decided to raise funds for the suffering cripples after local charity organizations announced that they could not possibly care for the stricken persons. Stephenson Funeral home will give a piece of furniture to the person selling the most tickets to the event. Corda Cox of Skellytown was among yesterday's visitors in Pampa.

CITY AIRPORT IS DESCRIBED IN BULLETIN

Federal Bureau Will Distribute This Data

DRAWINGS OF FIELD SHOWN

Pampa Must Secure New Location Soon

Pampa's municipal airport is being given nationwide publicity thru issuance of a bulletin by the aeronautics branch of the federal department of commerce. The bulletin, No. 966, is sent to pilots, aircraft operators, and others interested in air navigation facilities. It is issued in loose-leaf form, punched for binding. The front page of the bulletin embodies two cuts, or illustrations. The first, or upper one, is a general map of the city and vicinity showing the location of the airport with reference to the city and all surrounding landmarks, particularly the railroad. The second, lower illustration, is a close-up sketch of the airport, showing the dimensions of the usable landing area, positions of hangars, nature of obstructions, markings, and other useful data. Location of high poles is shown along the south side. The data on the reverse side of the page includes the following: Position: Lat. 35-32-30, long. 100-57-12; alt. above sea level, 3,234; mag. var. 11-35 E, 1930; annual decrease 30. Adjoins city limits on northeast. Description: 120 acres, triangular shape, soil surface level, natural drainage, entire field available for landing. Obstructions: Hangars to west, telephone line on south boundary. Lighting, none. Marking and identifications: Standard 100-foot white circle in middle of field; other markings, none. Wind direction indicators, two cones, in field to southwest and west. Accommodations: Personnel for servicing, yes; landing fee, none; storage rates, none; hangar, 5 private; repair facilities, none; spares, none; specifications for oil and fuel, yes; guard, yes; fire apparatus, hand extinguishers; quarters, in city; meals, in city; transportation to city, none, first aid, none; mooring mast, none. Communication and signal equipment: Telephone, yes; telegraph, by phone; radio, none. Meteorological data: Prevailing winds, summer south and northeast; winter, southwest, annual south; heaviest winds usually from south or southwest. Winds of 40 p. m. h., or over are recorded 3 d. p. m., with greatest frequency during spring. Highest recorded velocity is 84 m. p. h. Dense fog occurs about 7 times per year, with greatest frequency in November to March, inclusive. Light fog occurs about 1 d. p. m. except during the summer months, when it is rather infrequent. Precipitation as heavy as 1 inch or more in 24 hours is recorded 4 or 5 times per year, chiefly during summer months. Average monthly snowfall from November to March, inclusive, is about 4 inches. Nearest weather bureau, Amarillo; nearest upper air observer, Oklahoma City. Remarks: "PAMPA" with arrow pointing N to field is on building in city. Since the present Pampa airport is likely to be made into a residential portion of the city at any time, it is regarded as essential that a new landing field be secured as soon as possible.

ATHLETICS AND POLITICS

A colorful ceremony in Mexico recently united in marriage the daughter of a Mexican political leader and a noted Olympic athlete. Hermino Ahumada, the groom, took part in the Paris Olympic games. His bride formerly was Senorita Maria del Carmen Vasconcelos, daughter of Jose Vasconcelos, defeated candidate for the Mexican presidency at the last election.

EXTENSIVE HAIL DAMAGE IS FOUND IN SURVEY—WHEAT MAY NOT REACH OVER HALF CROP

That the Pampa wheat territory which includes the plains section of Gray county, the plains or south part of Roberts county and the east part of Carson county will produce about "50 per cent of an average crop" this season was predicted this morning by J. T. Crawford, secretary-treasurer of the Planters Mutual Hail Insurance company. An average crop is estimated at from 14 to 17 bushels per acre. The hail damage in the county extends from the east side of Carson county for 22 miles in an easterly direction, covering a strip three and four miles wide. Mr. Crawford said. Not every field in this area was damaged, and the hail fell in spots. One field in the strip hail, according to Mr. Crawford who joined field surveyors touched by the hail, according to Mr. Crawford who has just completed a survey of the damaged area. He estimates that 6,000 acres in the Pampa territory were damaged on an average of 15 per cent worst. The survey covers 460 farms. Hail damage was in the northwest part of the county. The area hardest hit by drought lies south of Kingsmill north of Groom and east of White Deer. Mr. Crawford stated that the best wheat he has seen is on the Central Carson-Gray line and will make about 20 bushels per acre. As a whole the best wheat in the area lies north of the railroad in east and north parts of Gray county and the plains section of Roberts county. In all cases, land that was properly cultivated before sowing and then sowed in the most approved manner will produce the most wheat this year, Mr. Crawford said. Volunteer wheat is almost a total failure. Mr. Crawford visited a man south of Kingsmill yesterday who he said was plowing under 300 acres of wheat which had been damaged more by drought than hail. There are from five to ten thousand acres in that section that will hardly pay to harvest. Most rain fell this year in the northeast section of the territory, and least below the Santa Fe railroad.

Engineer to Advise City Park Board

A consulting engineer from the firm of Montgomery and Ward of Wichita Falls will be in Pampa in the near future to consult with the City Park board on the engineering problems of creating a park at the site south of Cook-Adams addition, donated to the city for use as a park by C. P. Buckler, C. C. Cook, and Will Wilks, according to plans formulated by the park board in session yesterday afternoon with the city commissioners. Expert opinion upon the drainage and grading requirements and other engineering problems must be had before the Park board can proceed with the development of the "draw." M. K. Brown, chairman, said. Plans for planning and beautifying the site will follow the visit of the engineer. Serving with Mr. Brown on the park board are Mrs. H. M. Hicks, Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Joe M. Smith, and F. M. Culbertson. All, with the exception of Mr. Culbertson, attended the conference with City Manager F. M. Gwin and Commissioners Lynn Boyd and Clyde Fatheree.

Culver, Kalamazoo, Mich., was fatally injured, was reported to be slightly improved today at a local hospital. Her condition still was considered critical. Stars Not Blamed for Conviction in Court

R. J. Bland, 73, hesitates to blame the stars for the one-year sentence he drew in 31st district court yesterday on a charge of possessing intoxicating liquor. He chose to be his own attorney, and he selected only jurors who were born in June and in December, thereby quickly exhausting the regular jury list. About 10 o'clock it was necessary for the high sheriff of Gray county to go out and assemble a special venire. Mr. Bland contended this morning that he believes one of the jurors forgot what month he was born in, or they just played a joke on him and told him wrong. "For," said he, "the stars that control the months of June and December are always with me." Bland was arrested by county officers May 15. About 60 gallons of wine and a quantity of wine mash, containing maize, raisins, corn, prunes, peaches, etc., were seized at Bland's house. The defendant carefully explained to the jury that he was going to "reduce" the wine, remove the alcohol from it. He said he was going to use it for "sacramental purposes."

HIS WIFE TO BE CANDIDATE IN HIS PLACE

Supreme Court Holds Amnesty Bill Invalid

JIM WILL ASK FOR REHEARING

First Woman Chief of Texas to Seek New Term

AUSTIN, May 23. (P)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor who was defeated for re-election by Governor Moody, will take the place of her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, as a candidate for governor in the Democratic primaries. Ferguson was held ineligible by the Supreme Court today. Ferguson announced his wife's candidacy shortly after the Supreme Court held that his impeachment from the governor's office in 1917 barred him from holding office again in Texas. He said her platform would be issued after the Supreme Court had passed on a motion for a rehearing in his case. He requested members of the special court to remain in Austin until he could present his motion, which would be ready before Monday, he said.

AUSTIN, May 23. (P)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson is ineligible to hold office in Texas, the Supreme Court held today in denying his application for a mandamus to compel the state Democratic executive committee to put his name on the primary election ballots.

The court held invalid the amnesty law passed by the legislature in 1924 designed to restore to Ferguson his right to hold office after his impeachment by the senate in 1917. It was held that the constitution provided the judgment in the impeachment as removal from office and disqualification from again holding any office of honor, trust or profit.

The amnesty law was enacted by the 39th legislature under the administration of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, wife of James E. Ferguson, who was elected after the state Democratic executive committee ruled that his name could not be placed on the ballot. The law was repealed by the 40th legislature shortly after Governor Moody was inaugurated. The court held in its opinion, written by special Chief Justice A. H. Brittain of Wichita Falls, that "there is no doubt in our minds but that the amnesty bill violates the plain provisions of the constitution, and is therefore invalid." Sitting with Chief Justice Brittain were Special Associate Justices C. S. Bradley of Groesbeck, and Associate Justice William Plerson of the regular court, Chief Justice C. M. Cureton and Associate Justice Thomas B. Greenwood of the regular court having certified their disqualifications to Governor Moody, who appointed the special justices.

TROUBLES OF LARGE CHAMBERS

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is getting much criticism as the result of its recent caustic treatment of Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board. Quite a number of members have withdrawn as a protest.

The Farm Board set up machinery in an effort to stabilize prices of farm products, and in so doing duplicated under federal subsidy the work of private marketing institutions. The plan was and is to aid the farmer, but it strikes at the prosperity and life of the grain and other dealers, or middle men.

Apparently the national Chamber undertook to champion the cause of the middle men, and in so doing charged Legge with practices termed Socialistic and confiscatory. It is now history that Legge made a fiery reply in which he challenged the Chamber's members to join him in setting up privately what he was attempting to do through governmental channels. The outcome is problematical and controversial.

The conflict indicates the many differences of any body which serves a large area whose interests are not always in conformity with the various commercial, industrial, and agricultural elements.

The West Texas Chamber is about as large as any body with a big direct program dare be. It remains to be seen whether our own territorial body will survive in its present form. Some of the resolutions to be proposed at the annual convention in Abilene on May 29 and 30 are as follows:

1. For national tariff to protect West Texas' raw materials.
2. For the statewide road bond issue.
3. Against further taxes on producers of raw materials.
4. For a national oil tariff.
5. Approval of Federal Farm Board methods and program.
6. Two state parks for West Texas, to be financed by an automobile drivers' tax.
7. Conservation of water for civic purposes and domestic consumption, first, irrigation second, and power purposes third.

Some of these are controversial, at least potentially.

but it is almost impossible to launch any worthwhile program without opposition from some sources.

We paragraphers just cannot help remarking that Cannon appears still to be one of the big guns of Methodism.

And much as we appreciate the church, we must remark that it sometimes looks as if conferences and conventions were held to vindicate and exonerate high officials who get into trouble.

Something is radically wrong with the weather man, whom not even two revivals at once seem to move; yes, we need a very, very general rain.

Better gasoline is fine, but what we need most are better roads.

MULTI-COLD REFRIGERATOR DEvised FOR KITCHEN USE

Four temperatures and two atmospheres in one refrigerator is a far cry from pans and crocks in the old springhouse, but science has made them available for the housewife in a new Frigidaire, according to the Southwestern Public Service company, dealers.

Normal refrigeration just below the 50 degree danger line; vegetable and milk storage just above freezing; ice cube storage well below the freezing mark; and ice cube and dessert making temperatures ranging all the way to zero, are provided in this latest achievement in kitchen equipment.

In addition to the usual dry atmosphere provided by electric refrigerators for the preservation of the bulk of perishable foods, this multi-cold model has twin dry-drawers for crisping and preserving of leafy vegetables.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Effective Relief for Constipation. Also Adds Iron to the Blood

Do you suffer from constipation? Are you one of those who have tried one "vest pocket cure" after another and still have no sense of permanent relief? If so, this is big news to you! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is natural, effective relief for both temporary and recurring constipation. It is the original—and today is included in the diets of millions of people who formerly suffered from constipation.

When roughage is missing from food, constipation is the consequence. The soft foods we eat today seldom include enough roughage. The simple necessity, then, is to see to it that sufficient roughage is included in our food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the bulk that your system requires.

In addition, it is rich in iron. Scientific research proves that nearly all this iron is absorbed by the system, building red blood and bringing the glorious color of health to the complexion.

EPISCOPAL MISSION Music Cottage, Central Campus Services for Sunday, May 25

Sunday school, 10 a. m. Evening prayer and sermon, 7:30 p. m.

The Rev. John Leacher will preach his last sermon as minister in charge of the Pampa group of Missions at the evening service.

Mr. Leacher came to Texas for the first time from Salt Lake City, where his family is now living, in January, after attending the convocation held in Amarillo. He came to Pampa, where he was cordially received by the Episcopal mission in Pampa.

Mr. Leacher wishes to express his appreciation for the many kindnesses shown him by members of his church at all three places—Pampa, Shamrock, and Borger, and for the spirit of mutual good fellowship with glad cooperation, which served to make his brief ministry under Bishop Seaman a happy one, and which also speaks so well for the future of the Episcopal church in Pampa.

Mr. Leacher expects to return to his family in Salt Lake City and to his own diocese in Utah some time next week.—Contributed.

PAIR OF VERY TIMELY HITS DECIDE TILTS

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A pair of timely blows, one by Manager Frank Snyder of the Port Worth Panthers and the other by Billy Mullen, Beaumont third sacker, featured yesterday's Texas league warfare. Each of the opportune knocks settled the issue in a hard-fought game, and Snyder's hoisted the Cats into fifth place in the league standing.

Wichita Falls was leading the Cats, 6 to 5, when Snyder came to bat in the ninth round. A runner was on base. Panchio promptly poled one over the wall to give the Kittens their second straight triumph over the league leaders, 7 to 6. A moment before, Bill Kelly, Cat first baseman, had clouted one out of the enclosure, his twelfth of the young season, and his second in as many days.

Mullen's money punch was equally dramatic. It was a sizzling double down the third base line that scored Oscar Eckhardt with the run to beat Houston, 3 to 2, and give the Exporters three out of four in their present series with the Buffs. George Washington Payne, starting his first game for the Bisons, had passed Eckhardt to get to Mullen.

The victory placed the Shippers only a half game behind the Buffaloes and two games behind the Spuds. Billings, relieving Burns in the ninth received credit for the victory. The new Beaumont flinger so far has worked two-thirds of an inning and is credited with two wins.

Continuing their fast clip on the road, the Shreveport Sports took their second straight from Dallas and closed in on the leaders. Bill Morrell, crafty righthander, had the Steers at his mercy, allowing only five hits and no runs. The score was 3 to 0, thanks to some concentrated stick work by the top of the Sport batting order in the first inning.

The loss dropped the Herd into the basement as the San Antonio Redskins were doing an about face to trim Waco, 7 to 4.

Miss Beulah Hall, a teacher of Baker school, has gone to her home at Tulsa, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Floyd McConnell, and the latter's little daughter, Alice Marie, who will visit relatives in Tulsa.

Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. J. E. Corson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Corson attended commencement exercises at Miami high school this week, and today are visiting in Canadian. Kenneth Mead, nephew of Mrs. Corson and Mrs. Ledrick, was among those graduated at Miami.

SHIMA AND HIS JIU JITSU DEFEAT CLINGMAN IN MATCH OF THRILLS AND COMEDY

Jiu Jitsu which, chiefly, consists in probing a hundred exposed nerves from the crown of the head to the end of the big toes, and in choking with the knuckles set like a steel vise against the Adam's apple, was a terrifying, nerve-racking, demoralizing, Nemesis to Otis Clingman last night at the Pampa-Mor where he lost two falls to Iota Shima, the foremost exponent of Japanese wrestling.

Otis won the first fall, which was wrestled in catch-as-catch-can manner under Police Gazette rules, with a front drop toe-hold in 12 minutes. In the next fall the wrestlers donned the pyjamas and pulled breaking his agreement with the Jap when he pulled off his jacket, because the Pampa favorite has proved himself to be clean and a sportsman. Every inch a sportsman, himself, Shima stripped off his jacket, which action, according to the Japanese rules of wrestling as explained by Shima after the match, meant that he would give Otis a reasonable length of time to throw him without the jackets. Four minutes of fast and fierce catch-as-catch-can wrestling with occasional thumbing of noses by Shima, took place and the Jap was still going pretty good, although he may have been slightly groggy because Otis had shaken him with a half-dozen head locks.

Then, Shima told the referee that he preferred to wrestle the rest of the match in the jackets. The crowd sent up a great hullabaloo. Some urged him not to put the jacket back on. Others begged him to wear it. Then it developed that some ardent Clingman fans had hid the jackets. Finally, they were produced, and the fall proceeded.

Otis' jiu jitsu tactics consisted in getting a big toe hold on Shima, pulling on the rope around Shima's middle and in kneeling the Jap at the rear as he pushed Shima across the ring. Sometimes Otis would get a good old American hold on the elusive Jap, but Shima would slip his finger to a nerve and as a button had been pressed and he had been a jack-in-the-box. Otis would frantically drop the hold, leaping feet into the air.

In the last fall, before Shima decided to do more choking, he picked up Otis, draped him over his shoulders and hurled him to the mat four times, just as he does in the picture. After each flail, he would secure Otis so he could not move and then tantalize him with the nerve thumbing. Clingman's nerves were well shot to pieces before the Jap applied the choke. Otis was very ineffective in choking, and when twice or thrice he did get a good choke, he soon felt Shima's ever-menacing thumb.

The first fall under Gazette rules was the fastest ever seen here. Otis rushed Shima all the time. A hold was gotten and broken almost every second. Just as Otis has no business wrestling a la jiu jitsu with such a master as Shima, it was plain that the Japanese has no business wrestling with Clingman because the American out-weighs the Jap 12 pounds.

Johannie Hilliard did not show up and Don Goffino and a rather corpulent boxer by the name of Kid Rich engaged for two minutes, and 55 seconds in a mixed bout before Dan clamped the Kid in a body scissors and an arm lock until the boxer gave up. Even at that Dan came out of the ring with a black eye. Rich, who wore the gloves, probably struck only one blow. A full house saw the matches.

TEXACO-ETHYL

THE "DRY" ETHYL GASOLINE

The Texas Company announces that now Texaco, the original "dry" gas, is available with the Ethyl compound. It means the linking of two famous names in motor fuels to produce one of the finest premium anti-knock gasolines ever offered the motoring public—Texaco-Ethyl!

The Ethyl compound in itself cannot perform miracles. It's the gasoline base that makes the difference in Ethyls. The better the fuel you begin with, the better the resulting Ethyl Gasoline.

The new and better Texaco, the original "dry" gas that vaporizes instantly, plus Ethyl, equals the last word in automobile fuels. Texaco, the driest of dry gases, permits complete and uniform diffusion of Ethyl through the manifold into the cylinders. It creates higher standards of pick-up, power, speed and mileage for any car, old or new. This new premium grade is now available at Texaco Service Stations to all motorists who desire a superior anti-knock gasoline. Try it today!

Postal Employee Enthusiastic About Konjola

Stomach and Bowel Troubles Soon Banished. "Should Have Taken New Medicine Long Ago," He Says.

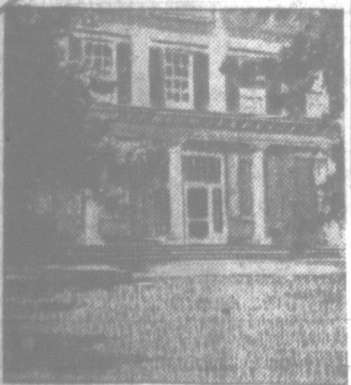

MR. FRANK B. NORMAN

"I suffered for a long time with stomach trouble," said Mr. Frank B. Norman, 428 Mississippi street, Amarillo. "I had a very poor appetite and after eating I was subject to painful accumulations of gas. I was becoming very nervous and did not sleep well at night. I was troubled with constipation and found it necessary to take cathartics constantly. I was losing strength and energy and no matter what I tried in the way of medicine nothing seemed to help me."

"I seemed to improve in health from the time I began taking Konjola. My appetite picked up and I was able to assimilate my food better. I did not have that tired out feeling in the morning and my work was easier and more pleasant. Constipation soon passed and cathartics were no longer necessary. After continuing the treatment for a time I realized that Konjola was the medicine I should have taken long ago. I am continuing to take Konjola and am recommending it to all my friends."

Given a real trial over a period of from six to eight weeks, Konjola has made a record without parallel in the history of medicines. Allments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness readily yield to its power.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Adv.

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse tries to overcome her jealousy over her handsome husband, Alan. But when he receives a call to the home of Bernadine Lamont, a popular night club hostess, she demands that he refuse to go. He explains that Bernadine is the widow of a war buddy who had saved his life, but Natalie is furious when he says he must go.

The actress surprises Alan by telling him that her doctor has given her only a short time to live and requesting that he take care of her son, Bobby. He promises and tries to tell Natalie but she rebuffs him. He confides in his secretary, Phillipa West, who has been waiting for an opportunity to further her own schemes.

When Natalie next comes to the office, Phillipa engages her in conversation and talks about helping pick out toys for "darling Bobby" and shows a letter from Bernadine in which Alan's visits to Bobby are mentioned. Natalie leaves in a rage without explaining and Alan follows her home, hoping for a reconciliation, but her accusations drive him back to the office.

He is surprised to find Phillipa there. After working several hours Alan takes her to dinner and then home—where she manages to convey the impression of being the generous Lady Bountiful to the poor neighbor family.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Over Phillipa's desk, and over Phillipa, a young man was bent in an attitude that struck Alan disagreeably. He seemed to be paying her a flattering attention.

As a matter of fact, Phillipa had been openly encouraging him. And Geoffrey Norman was a young man of highly chivalrous character. It made him vastly uncomfortable when a girl encouraged him—if he happened not to care for her. And Phillipa was far from being the type of girl he cared for. Neither did he like her as an individual.

His ideal was Natalie Converse. He was fiercely, but at all times silently, envious of Alan. Natalie might have guessed he was devoted to her, but he was very young. She called it puppy love—was understanding and sympathetic. Natalie smiled over it at odd moments, and was glad that Geoffrey didn't write notes to her.

There had been a brief period when Phillipa had dreamed of being the right girl in Geoffrey's life. It was shortly after she'd come to work for Alan, at a time when she'd lost faith in her power to attract her employer. Alan and Natalie had made up after a quarrel, and Phillipa began to think that this time it might "take."

She'd turned to Geoffrey. He was a good-looking boy, slender, black hair and blue eyes. Heir to a fortune. Phillipa's attention embarrassed him. He was glad when it subsided. Aside from Alan being his broker, they were friends. Geoffrey liked to drop in occasionally. Phillipa saw where she might some day use him, and didn't quite give up her pursuit. While it was passive, Geoffrey tolerated it.

He looked up now, saw Alan, and turned away from Phillipa with relief.

Alan came over and rather coolly took him into the private office. "What's on your mind?" he said snappishly.

Geoffrey regarded him with interest. He was sorry for Alan. He knew he often had a quarrel with Natalie. But he did not know the cause. Natalie's obsession had never come directly under his observation. He supposed the trouble was Alan's fault. Nevertheless, he was sorry for him. To quarrel with Natalie must be blasting, he thought.

Once his mother had observed, after a musing study of him, that she thought it possible he was seeing too much of older women.

"Older women?" Geoffrey's surprise was genuine.

"Yes," his mother had said very soberly, "the wives of your friends, Geoffrey. They all seem to be older than you." She sighed there. "I suppose that's because you were precocious and got on too fast at school. But I wish you would pay more attention to boys and girls of your own age."

"Nonsense, Mother. My friends aren't old."

"Well... I don't like to think that you might possibly be disturbing another man's peace of mind, Geoffrey. I think you have too little to do. Perhaps you had better come to France with me this year."

"Meaning?"

"Some of your friends, one in particular, are much too charming, my son. Yes, I think you should come to France with me."

Geoffrey had no difficulty in guessing the friend she referred to was Natalie. Thereafter he buried his attachment even deeper, and tried to hide it from his mother's eyes. She grew more concerned about it, and decided to see them together, if it could be arranged.

It was she who had sent Geoffrey to Alan's office this morning. He lost no time in carrying out her instructions.

"What's the matter, rehearsing for a part in a bear market?" he chaffed. "Smoke."

Alan refused the proffered cigarette. "Beg your pardon," he apologized for his lack of courtesy; "didn't sleep well."

"You need a rest," Geoffrey advanced, "or a change. And that's what I'm here for. We're going up to Lake Placid over the week-end. Mother and I. We want you and Natalie to join us. How about it?"

Alan took a second glance at his nice young countenance, before answering. Maybe, he told himself, it wouldn't be a bad idea to spend a few days in the boy's company. It might be good for Natalie too. The Norman's mother and son, were charmingly regular; being with them would help to put you straight.

And it had come to him in a flash that he needed to be put straight. That moment when he came in—he knew he'd been annoyed at finding Geoffrey with Phillipa. He was still annoyed. Well, it wouldn't do. He wasn't going to get mixed up in any affair of the heart.

"Call Natalie up and ask her," he said to Geoffrey at last. "It's all right with me. I need something like that."

There was nothing languid in the way Geoffrey followed his suggestion. At the other end of the connection a maid went to call Natalie to the telephone. But when she answered, Geoffrey asked: "Is that you, Natalie? What? Oh, your voice sounds strange."

Small wonder. It was almost the first time Natalie had spoken since Alan left the house. Her throat was still tight with pain.

"Does Alan want to go?" she asked, when Geoffrey had delivered his mother's invitation.

"He's tickled a violet crimson," Geoffrey declared.

"Really Geoffrey? Are you telling the truth?"

"Shame on you, Natalie. But I would lie if I had to. Well, what do you say, lady?"

"I'd love it!"

Alan saw success all over Geoffrey's face when he put down the

SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. Joe M. Smith
Hostess Thursday at
Two Bridge Parties

Mrs. Joe M. Smith gave two delightful bridge parties yesterday at the Pampa Tea room. She had a guest list of 32 for the afternoon party. Entertaining in the evening with Mr. Smith, she arranged six tables for the game.

A floral motif and a color theme of yellow and pink were employed with pleasing effect in appointments for both affairs. Roses in the two shades decorated the room, and when refreshments were served, a small basket of buds centered each quartet table, later to be awarded as cut favor. The bridge accessories and score favors repeated the pink and yellow scheme. Refreshments on each occasion included colored ices in flower moulds.

Mrs. H. W. Johns played high at the party yesterday afternoon. She received a basket of wild roses. Mrs. C. G. Atteberry was consoled for loss with a basket of pink and yellow blossoms.

Other players were: Mrs. J. M. Dodson, Mrs. Paul Kasishke, Mrs. Robert Hickey, Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mrs. A. F. Clark, Mrs. R. S. McConnell, Mrs. Guy Farrington, Mrs. Charles Todd, Mrs. C. W. Mr. and Mrs. Siler Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Vicens, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Fraser.

High scores were made by Mr. and Mrs. Sanders. Mrs. Doucette and Mr. Craven made low. Again the favors were in harmony with the favored color combination.

"Truthfulness" Is Topic of Missionary Voice Programs

"Truthfulness" was the subject of a devotional lesson from The Missionary Voice which all circles of the Methodist Missionary society studied at their meetings Wednesday afternoon. Social half-hours followed the programs.

Mrs. J. E. Ward was in charge of the program at the meeting of Circle 1 in Mrs. George Wallace's home. A round table discussion followed the outline of the subject. Roll call was answered with Scripture quotations pertaining to truthfulness.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar spoke on his happiness over the week-end then. As it was... well, at least he could hope for the best, and get to work.

Natalie, at home, was flying about the innumerable things she had to do before train time. Her bear—she'd give it an egg and lemon shampoo herself, no time to go to Pierre for it. And her skating things; where were they? She hadn't used them this year. Alan's too?
Grace Norman should have given her more time... no, it was a nice thought, even at the last minute... it was a wonderful thought, really. She was sure Mrs. Norman didn't know she and Alan were at the breaking point, but she felt like kneeling to her in gratitude just the same.

Phillipa did not feel the same toward Grace. When Alan told her he would be away for the week-end, where he was going, and who he would be with, she was furious. But she told Alan it would do him a world of good.
"They're just trying to patch up things between Alan and Natalie," she thought of the Normans.
The week-end was delightful for everyone but her. Mrs. Norman saw nothing between Natalie and Geoffrey to worry over. Natalie let herself go, and was delightfully happy. Alan was more restrained. He'd seen Natalie's mood change too often to bank upon its endurance. The ever-present fear of future eruptions took the edge off their reconciliation for him.

He loved Natalie, wanted to be happy with her, but he knew that she could no longer blind him completely even for a moment. The habit of taking joy with her with his fingers crossed had become too fixed to be broken at her will.
Geoffrey was happy in Natalie's happiness. It was right that such a woman should be gloriously ecstatic, he told himself, when they arrived back at the "hut," breathless and flushed with their exercise.

Geoffrey decided, settling himself before the roaring fire, that no man's life counted against Natalie's. He'd rather love her, and die of it, than give a thought to another woman, he believed.

She was a lovely creature, seated there, with the firelight flickering over her. Wind-painted cheeks and glinting hair; a foreign, childish abandon in the way her eyes danced with elfin delight, in her manner of snuggling down to sip the pale, fragrant china tea up from her cup with laughingly pursed lips.

Her exotic, patrician beauty made her ageless. She was young, but Alan had forgotten that she could be like this—almost a youngster, frankly enjoying her wrong mannered way of drinking tea.

"You'll have your nose in it next," he teased.
Phillipa seemed very far away at that moment, but Monday was sure to come.

(To Be Continued)

Church of World Will Be Sermon Subject Tonight

"The Church of the World" is the lesson for the evening at the Church of Christ revival.

A goodly number was present for the last evening study. "What Must I Do To Be Saved" was the subject of the lesson, and it was a very interesting study. The speaker said that one should love his father, mother, and even his enemies if he has such, but that is not enough to make a Christian out of a sinner. One must hear the gospel, believe the gospel, understand the gospel, and obey the same.

The evangelist gave scriptures to show that it is necessary for a sinner to hear, believe, repent, confess Christ, be baptized, and then live faithful ever after, in order to go to heaven.

Saul of Tarsus was used by way of illustration, to show that there is something that a sinner must do to be saved. It is not what I can do nor what I want to do; what I could do, or what I should do; but is what must I do? You have something to do to become a Christian. Then learn your duty and do it.

In an actress it's Personality in a cigarette it's Taste

It TAKES SOMETHING MORE than good looks to hold the center of the stage—and something more than mere mildness in a cigarette to win the popularity that Chesterfield enjoys.

IT'S THE TASTE, of course—and there's a lot of difference between mildness alone and mildness with taste... between ordinary tobaccos and quality tobaccos... between ordinary blending and the Chesterfield blend.

TASTE A CHESTERFIELD!—Mildness is there, of course, but much more... delicate richness, fragrant aroma, and—"TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—Jesus Describes the Future of the Kingdom.
Scripture Lesson—Matt. 25:1-13.

1. Then shall the kingdom of heaven be likened unto ten virgins, who took their lamps, and went forth to meet the bridegroom.
2. And five of them were foolish, and five were wise.

3. For the foolish, when they took their lamps, took no oil with them:
4. But the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.

5. Now while the bridegroom tarried, they all slumbered and slept.
6. But at midnight there is a cry, Behold, the bridegroom! Come ye forth to meet him.

7. Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lamps.
8. And the foolish said unto the wise, Give us of your oil; for our lamps are going out.

9. But the wise answered, saying, Peradventure there will not be enough for us and you; go ye rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves.
10. And while they went away to buy, the bridegroom came; and they that were ready went in with him to the marriage feast: and the door was shut.

11. Afterward came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us.
12. But he answered and said, Verily I say unto you, I know you not.

13. Watch therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour.
Golden Text—Take ye heed, watch and pray: for ye know not when the time is.—Mark 13:33.

Time—This discourse was spoken on Tuesday, April 4, A. D. 30.
Place—The Mount of Olives.

Introduction

Like all our Lord's parables this one of the Ten Virgins is taken from scenes with which His hearers were familiar. Weddings usually took place at night. The bridegroom went to the house of his bride and took formal possession of her, after which they went, accompanied by relatives and friends, in a joyous procession to his home, where the wedding feast was held. Other invited guests, who had not gone to the bride's home, could join the procession at any point, and enter with it into the bridegroom's residence, to share in the festivities. But without a burning lamp or torch they could not march in the procession, and so could not enter the house. In order to join the procession conveniently, such persons might assemble beforehand at different points along the proposed route, and wait for the bridegroom's approach."—Broadus.

At Midnight A Cry

It was midnight before the bridal party arrived. "Those who were waiting to see the procession pass raised the peculiar Oriental cry of marriage festivity, and thus, as the cry was taken up, the fact of his approach was known all along the path in front of him—Owing to the stillness of the air, and the slow pace of the illuminated procession, the cry might be heard half an hour before the arrival of the bridegroom."—Hastings.

When the ten waiting virgins heard the cry, they at once began to brighten up their lamps and get ready to join the procession. These lamps held only a small supply of oil, and so they would not burn many hours without being refilled. The foolish virgins found to their dismay that their lamps were going out, and they begged their companions to share oil with them. The latter, however, had only enough for their own use; therefore they could not divide it without the risk of disqualifying themselves for a place in the procession and admittance to the feast.

Christ's Second Coming

Notice that the coming of our Lord is represented under the figure of a joyous event; a wedding not a funeral. Joyous for whom? A festival there was: brightness, merriment, feasting—but only for those in the bridegroom's house. For the foolish ones without: regret, darkness, and the chill of the night! You may represent Christ's coming as you will, but the fact remains, the great, awful, glad, inevitable, crucial, supremely important fact, He comes! Whether dazzling our world with the glory of His returning presence, or whether in your meeting with Him in that place beyond the river of death where faith tells us He is, He comes!

And unexpectedly, suddenly; like the thief in the night. Not even the angels which are in heaven the thief in the night. Not even He Himself. Long delayed, perhaps; with no delay at all, perhaps. Before my watch beats five seconds more, He may be here; or it may happen in a tomorrow measured by ten thousand sunsets. "The one day has been hidden that every day may be regarded."—Augustine.

Be Ye Also Ready

Thackeray's Colonel Newcomb, when dying, kept repeating the Latin word Adsum, "present," with which as a schoolboy he had been in the habit of responding to his name at the roll-call, and which as a sort of motto had influenced his character through the years. How many of us have that word, "present!" "here!" "ready!" ever on our lips in the face of the inevitable, sudden meeting with our Lord? Common sense should teach the Christian that it isn't safe to give the battle over, or think the victory won, or lay down his armor, until he feels the touch of the crown upon his forehead. "Not what death finds us doing, but how death finds us furnished, is the important question."—Lyman Abbott.

Ye Know Not the Day

"Watch therefore, for ye know not the day nor the hour." The time of Christ's second coming, the time of the final judgment. "The gates will not be forever open, the invitation will not be forever offered; some, in the full glory of that glorious festival, shall lay aside their flickering lamps in the place where no sun is needed, for the Lord is the light of it; while others shall hear the distant echoes of the joy and catch faint glimmerings of the light as they wander like wandering stars in the blackness and darkness reserved for them forever."—Alexander Stewart.

Special Lessons

"The fisherman's wife who spends her time on the pier-head watching for the boats cannot be so well prepared to give her husband a comfortable reception as the woman who is busy about her household work, and only now and again turns a long look seaward. None of the virgins were on the watch for the bridegroom, but some of them were nevertheless prepared for his coming. It is impossible, for us to be always looking out for the coming of Christ, but it is quite possible to be prepared for His coming. Our life is to bear evidence that one of the things we take into account is the approach of our Lord."—Marcus Dods.

"The sum of it all is this: The coming of the Son of man is delayed; therefore, be busy with the responsibilities He has committed to your charge. The coming of the Son of man is to judgment; therefore, be ready to give an account of your stewardship."

G. C. Malone returned last night from Dallas where he attended the annual convention of the state undertakers this week.
