Joint Effort To Bring Golfers New Pleasure

Colorado City Country Club members have been literally working hard to save money for the past two weeks.

Ben Sparks of Sparks Construction Co., was employed to replace existing golf course greens at the Midland Country Club and he said he saw a golden opportunity for the local course.

The Seaside Bent Grass which he removed from the Midland Club greens was still in good condition. Sparks suggested the local club buy the used grass and recover local greens.

Changes Made At Station

Several changes have taken place within the Colorado City Police Department under the direction of newly appointed Chief of Police Jimmy Roundtree.

A fulltime secretary's position has been created to handle the increasing amount of paperwork and reports.

This slot is to be filled by dispatcher Gloria Erwin.

Her head dispatcher's position, from 6 a.m. until 2 p.m. is to be filled by Nellie Jordan, who most area residents are accustomed to hearing answer the telephone and questions from 2

Tax Dollars Hang In Balance As CISD Suit Nears Completion

A trial which will affect all property owners in Mitchell County is nearing completion in District Court.

Colorado Independent School District is suing Valero Energy Corporation (formerly Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.) for taxes owed since 1977 which amount to about $74,132.

The suit is a technical law suit over valuation methods, according to Edward S. Pritchard, Jr., general manager of Pritchard and Abbott Valuation Consultants, who appraise property for CISD.

P&A appraised two pipelines belonging to Valero which cross a section of Mitchell County.

The lines include a 36 inch gas transmission line extending about 15 miles and a 14 inch gas transmission line extending about 16.2 miles through Mitchell County, Pritchard noted.

In their answer to the CISD suit, Valero is disputing the P&A valuation and claiming fair market value should be about half of the amount assessed.

Valero also disputed the amount of taxes assessed by the County. Technicalities prevented the county from joining in the CISD suit against Valero.

Valuation is based on a combination of cost approach and income approach and Valero contends that they are in poor financial shape with little or no income, Pritchard said.

P&A contends that revenues from Valero extraction plant goes into stockholders' pockets and this is income and not taken into consideration by Valero, Pritchard said.

Lone Star Gas Co., has a similar pipeline of the same size in the same right-of-way and about the same age and that company is paying their taxes and not complaining, Pritchard noted.

Taxes should be equal and uniform according to state law, he said.

The law firm of McCreary and Huey is representing the CISD in the trial and two engineers employed by P&A, Ed Bledsoe and Don Turlington, are testifying as to methods used in appraising.

The trial, which began Jan. 26, ended Wednesday and both sides were given 15 days in which to present briefs.

This is not a jury trial and the presiding judge, Dick Starley, will decide the issue.

Judge Starley of Pecos was called in to hear this case due to District Judge Weldon Kirk's busy docket and the anticipated length of the trial.

In any event, an appeal of the decision is anticipated, causing any final decision to be delayed for several more months, Pritchard noted.

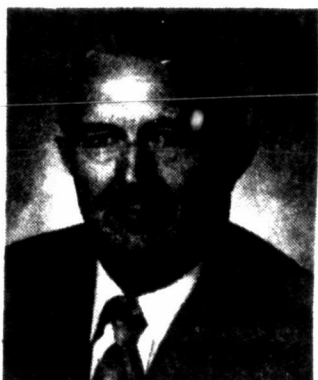

The CISD tax assessment on the pipelines in 1977 was $24,588.26; in 1978, $24,916.33 and in 1979, $24,628.28.

Each year, Valero sent a check for the amount of money they judged to be the proper tax amount. The checks, marked paid in full, were in the amount of $14,014.53; $13,775.64 and $10,866.71. In each case, the check was returned to the company, according to CISD Tax Assessor-Collector Jay Craddock.

The firm of P&A has acted as appraisers for the CISD for more than 30 years, Pritchard noted. They act as appraisers for 100 counties in Texas, as well as 400 other type entities and eight counties in Kansas.

They are the appraisers for the State of Alaska and are responsible for the appraisal of the Alaskan pipeline.

Troopers Plan Crackdown On Speeders To Slash Death Rate

A special Selective Traffic Enforcement Program (STEP) is being put into effect to reduce speeding incidents from 30 miles west of Colorado City to 10 miles east of Ranger by the Department of Public Safety.

Captain Joe Mladenka of the DPS in Abilene stated that they will add 25 eight-hour shifts at an expense of $109,982 for six months.

This is a federally funded program which extends throughout the state, local DPS Trooper Tom Johnson noted.

The main purpose of "STEP" is to reduce traffic fatalities by bringing motorists in compliance with existing speed limits, Mladenka said.

"We take dying in traffic accidents as a normal part of life," Mladenka said. "By all rights, increased traffic law enforcement will reduce speed, which will reduce the severity of accidents, which will reduce fatalities," he said.

Sixteen people were killed in traffic accidents along I-20 in this district from January to November of 1980, according to DPS reports.

Mladenka stated that 75 per cent of motorists along this stretch of road violate the speed limits.

According to Mladenka, 22 DPS Troopers man the 170 mile stretch of the interstate in the district, but the 23 troopers are not working the same shifts, so from three to seven units patrol the area at any given time.

Mladenka expects that with the increased enforcement of speeding limits, there will be a 15 to 20 per cent increase in traffic citations.

This will then increase the load on the justices of the peace that handle traffic fines, stated Mladenka.

"If he (the justice of the peace) is loaded now, he will be overloaded after implementation of STEP," stated Mladenka.

A professor from Western Texas College Golf Course will advise local club members on the care and maintenance of the greens once the construction is complete.

Carl Beery Moore, chairman of the Centennial Committee, will meet with the board to explain an idea for a July 4th concert at Wolf Stadium.

Kirschbaum said Jay Boy Adams is being considered as a possibility to present the concert.

to request assistance in the form of a donation to support the youth basketball program.

Board members will name chairmen for the fifteen committees which function under the direction of the board.

"We are going to have a course to really enjoy and to be proud of when this project is completed," Steakley said. "We hope to finish this week."

Police Roundup

Vandals cost Mitchell County residents an estimated $680 Saturday morning, Deputy David Ginkinger reported.

Ginkinger said he was on patrol Saturday at 8 a.m. when he discovered 10 mercury guard lights, located at the intersection of West Highway 80 and Interstate 20, had been shot out.

Ginkinger said he had passed by the lights at about 2 a.m., Saturday and they had been in operation at that time.

The lights are the property of the Texas Departments of Highways.

Vandals also struck within the city limits when a rock was apparently thrown through the front plate glass window at Stereo Corral, located at 241 East Second St., Sunday.

Officer Thomas Heck reported he had checked the store at about 3 a.m. and the window was not broken.

He checked the location again at about 4:30 a.m. and discovered the broken window. Estimated damages amount to $200.

Mitchell County received $424.91 as its fourth quarter 15 per cent rebate from the 10 per cent gross receipts of $2,832.72.

This will be the 50th year that weatherization assistance has been provided to low income Texans under DOE Weatherization Program which has resulted in the weatherization of more than 11,800 homes.

Logo Contest Is Slated For State

The Texas Sesquicentennial Commission recently released its interim report on preparations for Texas' 150th birthday celebration in 1986, a party to which all Texans are invited. Created by the 66th legislature in 1979, the Commission is charged with coordinating celebrations of the 150th anniversary of Texas' independence as a Republic and progress as a state. These celebrations will highlight the "historic, economic, cultural, environmental and social aspects of Texas."

Meeting Is Planned In San Angelo

Land application of municipal wastewater and sludge will be discussed at two forthcoming workshops scheduled by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The first will be Feb. 9 in the Rudder Tower at Texas A&M University.

The second is set for Feb. 11 at the Holiday Inn in San Angelo. Purpose of each workshop is to inform municipal officials, farmers and ranchers of the opportunities for land treatment of wastewater, says Dr. Ed Colburn, agronomist in soil management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Dr. Colburn, Soil and Crop Sciences Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843, phone (713) 845-2935.

state and local levels during the planning stages of the Sesquicentennial celebration and will also work to encourage state, national and international participation. In addition, the commission is seeking to develop standards for sanctioning local groups and to plan for the creation of commemorative products, such as stamps and medallions.

During the early days of the republic at Washington-on-the-Brazos, a newspaper was published titled "The Texas National Dispatch." The Commission is publishing a special newsletter of the Sesquicentennial which is a revival of the original document and will be available free of charge.

One of the first activities of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission is a state wide contest to devise an official logo—a simple and readily identifiable symbol of the Texas Sesquicentennial.

The contest to develop a visual symbol, trademark or logo of the Sesquicentennial is open to all Texans. Contest rules are as follows: (1) Only one entry per person; (2) All are eligible except Commission members, staff and their immediate families; (3) Designs must be submitted on one side of a plain, white 8½ x 11 paper; (4) Entrants' names, addresses, phone numbers and school affiliations (if any) are to be printed on the back and (5) All entries must be postmarked no later than San Jacinto Day, April 21, and the winner and runners-up will be announced on May 5 in Austin.

For further information about the logo contest "The Texas National Dispatch" and the Texas Sesquicentennial in general, Texans may write: Texas Sesquicentennial Commission, P.O. Box 19860, South-east Station, Austin, Texas 78760.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

It may seem a bit strange for this time of year but one of the biggest consumer frauds sweeping the nation now involves vacations. Some promoters are offering "vacation certificates." Some of these certificates are genuine, some are not. But the most popular form of vacation fraud purports to offer "Las Vegas Vacation Certificates." Just this past week, we obtained a temporary injunction restraining the activities of a company offering this kind of promotion and so it seems appropriate that we spend a few moments recalling why some of these promotions are frauds.

The Las Vegas vacation schemes are normally run in a "boiler room" full of telephones and fast talking salespersons. A well run boiler room can contact literally tens of thousands of potential victims in a matter of days. If only a small percentage "bites" then the boiler room makes money.

The vacation scheme normally offers a three-day, two night trip to Las Vegas. Area merchants are pressured to purchase the certificates at $15 to $25 each for advertising purposes. The merchants then offer the certificates to unsuspecting customers.

Supposedly, the customer who receives the certificate "wins" a free Las Vegas vacation, including hotel, with the customer only having to pay transportation. The customer also receives "gaming packages" amounting to several hundred dollars of free slot machine play, free gaming on tables, free meals and so on.

Some customers who have tried to use their certificates find that the glamorous hotel at which they are to stay is in reality a third class motel located far off the beaten track. Other customers found that they had to sit through an extended high-pressure sales pitch for real estate, products or services before they were given their room keys.

Still others have complained that the "lavish, full-course buffets and meals" and "complete package of gaming materials" were only available at 3 a.m. or other outlandish hours.

Others found that when they attempted to make reservations for their vacations, there were severe restrictions on what days and months they could be accommodated.

All of these difficulties mean that instead of generating goodwill by offering the Las Vegas certificates, unsuspecting local merchants instead found themselves confronted with a group of angry customers looking for a nearby target on which to vent their rage.

Some of the Las Vegas vacation promoters attempt to sell directly to consumers, again over the telephone. One ploy used is to request a customer's credit card number under the guise of determining whether the consumer is "qualified." The cost of the Las Vegas packet is then billed to the consumer's account whether or not the consumer agreed to buy.

There are a number of ways to protect yourself against vacation frauds of this type.

1. Demand to see a brochure on the hotel or motel being offered.
2. Ask for references from the company selling you the packet.
3. Ask questions before you buy, such as: "Will you be required to listen to a sales pitch; is a deposit required; how much notice do you have to give if you decide to cancel; when are the meals and other services available and is there a restriction on when you can use the vacation certificates?"

If you need more information or have a complaint about vacation certificates, contact the Consumer Protection Division Office nearest you.

Children Asked To Send In Replies

Children will explore the problems facing children and their families for Save the Children's fourth annual letter-writing campaign sponsored in honor of Save the Children Day.

Save the Children, the international child-assistance agency, is inviting children from across the country to voice their opinions in letters to the President of the United States. The letters will be presented, along with oral testimony from children, at a special hearing with government leaders in Washington, D.C., on Save the Children Day, May 1st.

Children participating in this national campaign are being asked to write on the theme: "Dear President Reagan: 'This is the biggest problem facing families today and here's what should be done about it.'" The letters are to be mailed to Save the Children Day '81, Westport, Ct., so that the leading concerns can be tallied and summarized into the 1981 Children's Agenda for Action.

For an activities booklet describing this national letter-writing campaign and other Save the Children Day activities, write National Coordinator for Save the Children, Dept. P, Westport, Ct., 06880.

Homestate Savings Shows Record For 1980 Interest

Savers at Homestate Savings Association were paid a record amount of interest last year, according to Don R. Whitehead, president of the association.

But, Whitehead said, the record high savings interest rates forced Homestate Savings Association to charge higher rates to mortgage customers and that dampened local housing activity.

Whitehead reported Homestate Savings Association paid out a record high of $6,009,379 in interest to savers during 1980.

Homestate Savings Association's savings balance now total $71,121,536, a gain of $10,331,926 during 1980. Whitehead said the savings balance total is an all-time high.

Mortgage lending, however, was off somewhat from 1979. Even so, Homestate Savings Association loaned $15,616,601 to mortgage customers. The association now has a total of $72,153,385 in total loans outstanding and $83,298,280 in total assets, Whitehead stated.

In a year-end report to Homestate Savings Association's customers, Whitehead commented "the 1980's hold great promise for home lending institutions such as Homestate Savings, in spite of a slow beginning. Changes in the financial industry, such as interest-bearing checking accounts, will offer opportunity for growth through expanding services to customers."

Whitehead said population trends indicate a record housing demand nationally and he said, local housing demand should be strong, too.

"The strength of our local economy and of our housing market depends in great part on the Reagan Administration's success in dealing with inflation," Whitehead said.

"Although we expect no miracle cures, we do believe that the new administration is determined to bring the economy's inflationary excesses under control," he said.

Classes will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. on Mondays.

Students interested in the course are to pre-register by phoning the Continuing Education Office at 573-8511, extension 240. Registration will be held from 6:15-6:30 p.m. Monday in the lobby of the Learning Resource Center, with the first class to follow. The class will be limited to 12 students.

Texas Shows To Have A Lower Rate Of Welfare Fraud

Investigators from the Texas Department of Human Resources found 4,022 cases of welfare fraud in the state in 1980, it was announced recently by Marilyn W. Johnston, acting commissioner of DHR.

Johnston said the cases represented $2,689,329 in welfare assistance fraudulently taken from DHR programs.

"While that is a large sum of money," Johnston said, "it represents only .18 per cent of the agency budget and I think this reflects tight control of welfare programs and substantial assurance that only those who qualify for assistance are getting it."

In addition to the low fraud figure, Johnston said, that welfare cheaters made payments of $703,804 in restitution to the state during 1980.

The fraud figures were contained in an annual report to Johnston from Ed Richards, head of DHR's Investigation Division.

Richards said fraud is attempted most often in the food stamp program, which investigators found fraud in 2,594 cases in 1980, involving a total of $970,598. More than 1,200,000 Texans participate in the food stamp program.

The next program where fraud is most often attempted is in the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program. Richards said 1,331 attempts to defraud the AFDC program were made in 1980, involving $1,286,837.

Attempts at fraud usually involve giving false information about income or the number of people in a household, both criteria for assistance eligibility.

DHR investigators make the cases against welfare cheaters and then turn the evidence over to local district or county attorneys for disposition.

Richards cited phenomenal success in cases that were prosecuted. Of the 619 cases prosecuted in 1980, 614 ended in convictions.

Other cases are disposed of through agreements between the prosecutor and the offender to make restitution or in some cases the court may order restitution.

The number of fraud attempts generally is highest in the urban areas of Texas, with Dallas having the most incidents of attempted fraud, followed by Houston, the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Beaumont, Austin, Fort Worth, El Paso, the east Texas area surrounding Tyler, San Antonio, Abilene and Lubbock.

Record Fish Need To Be Documented

Fishermen from Mitchell County who think they may have bagged that "Record Fish" should take note because their fish just may be a record fish.

If you think you have caught a record fish, your fish must be submitted on a state record and documented on a standard "Form For Submitting Record Fish," which is available at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and mailed to 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas, 78744.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has recently released the new records set for 1980 in both saltwater and freshwater and they are as follows:

Marque, 871 lb., hammerhead shark.

chard Goldgar of Missouri City, 166 lb., black tip shark.

New records for 1980 also included: L.J. Schaper of Hitchcock, 357 lbs., lemon shark; James Farley of Houston, 32 lb., red snapper; Laurie Londrigan of Galveston, 200 lb., Southern stingray; J.P. Bryan of Houston, 317 swordfish.

Steps To Control Rats In Home Discussed By Donald Hawthorne

Donald Hawthorne, state supervisor, cooperative animal damage control program has released the following information on rat control:

When a small number of rats are present:

1. Buy plenty of traps (at least two for every rat you think you have).
2. Enlarge bait pan with a two inch square of cardboard.

3. Use a bait the rat likes best like peanut butter, fresh fruit, sweets, nuts and meat.
4. Place the traps where rats are active.
5. Nail traps to floor or wall if possible.
6. Check traps regularly and keep bait fresh.

When large numbers of rats (five or more) are to be killed:

1. Buy plenty of bait

(at least three to four pounds for homes and 10 to 15 pounds for farms).

2. Put bait in small paper sacks, roll up the sack and punch a hole in it.
3. Place bait along rat runways, attics, storage sheds, behind furniture and appliances and if possible against the walls.
4. Check each bait station daily for at least 10 days.

Most important of all, do not touch rats with hands in any case.

Loraine Leisure Lodge News

By Marsha McAdams

Between a new presidential making news and our hostages returning home, the news has been full of things to talk about.

We have been busy preparing for our participation in the "Rock and Roll Jamboree." Leisure Lodges have joined hands with the American Heart Association to raise money for the heart fund. This participation has been called the "Rock and Roll Jamboree" for the past three years. Many homes have different ways to raise money.

Our part will be done by accepting donations on a hand painted tablecloth trimmed with lace. We have a beautiful golden rod tablecloth with off-setting lace or the winner can pick the size and color of his or her choice. If you wish to participate in our efforts, please come by or mail in one dollar with your name and it will be put in our drawing which will be held on Feb. 25 at our monthly birthday party.

Speaking of birthday parties, we had our January party last Wednesday and Doris Graham made our cake. The cake had roses and the name of each person having a birthday in January. Seven people were honored with refreshments and gifts.

They were Eva Curry, Oma Sheffield, Wimberly Butler, Eula Goodnature, Alma Sheffield, Edwin Hallmark and showing them every first and third Thursday of each month. They are enjoyed by everyone.

We are having a family night dinner on Thursday, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m. We all look forward to these gatherings where we can all see friends and relatives we don't see often.

Our craft department is really making some lovely things. Table cloths, quilts from baby to king size, pillow slips, cup towels and purses.

Many crochet or embroidery while others hand paint. It's all lovely and we are glad for anyone who wants to come see these things.

Many thanks to Juanice Butler for helping with bingo donations and Inez Thomas for a donation to the activity department.

Seen visiting around with patients in the home were Mary Coffee, Vida Alsobrook, Syble Walker, Glen Coon, Michelle McAdams, Lloyd Hair, Earl Phillips, Ellis Phillips, Dorothy Finley, Faye Smith, Melba Hackfeld, J.C. Swafford from Houston and we appreciate all others who dropped by that I miss seeing.

Thanks to Virginia Whitley for the donation of clothes.

Gordie Munoy Dies

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee have announced the birth of their baby daughter born on Jan. 29 in the Methodist Memorial Hospital in Lubbock.

They have named the 6 lb., 1 oz., baby, Janessa D'Lynn. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Loraine and Mrs. Lorain Crowson of Wilson. Great-grandmothers are Mrs. Clara Phillips of Wilson and Mrs. Maudie Crowson of Sulphur Springs.

Linda & Henry Ring Present Program On Poetry History

The V.I.P. (Very Important Poets) held their monthly meeting amidst an Indian Summer setting in Loraine as was taken note of by those attending.

Marsha McAdams, lead cantor, recited "Chanson de Geste," the club poem.

Linda and Henry Ring were the guest speakers and they gave their program on the history of poetry, noting it had been around since it was used in the Old Testament in the Bible.

B.N. Gross read some "Hudibrositic" verses, as they were used in Hudibras as a mock heroic satire on the Puritans.

Ricki Harmon read some light and witty "Vers de Societe."

T.R. Rowell, associate member, contributed her part in the program as she pointed out that the "Muse" is the particular genius inspiring a poem and "Polyhymnid" held sway over sacred poetry.

She added that Milton meditated on the themes of "Paradise Lost," invoked the aid of "Polyhymnia."

Ann Rowell Gregory gave an illustrative reading in the "Chorambics Method."

Mrs. Harmon, organist, played an appropriate closing selection on the organ and she dedicated it to the poets attending.

Members and officers for the club are Ricki Harmon of Loraine, B.D. Miles of Snyder, Marsha McAdams of Loraine, Henry Ring of Tallahassee, T.K. Rowell of Tallahassee, Ann R. Gregory of Loraine, Linda Ring of Loraine, B.N. Gross of Colorado City and R. Preston of Snyder.

Associal members not attending were Joy Culwell and E.D. Bond of Colorado City.

$500 Is Goal Set By Baptist Women

Baptist Women of Loraine met at the church for their regular monthly mission program and business meeting Monday afternoon.

Mrs. T.L. Holman presided over the meeting which opened with the group singing "Take My Life and Let It Be." Mrs. Hal Bennett brought the calendar of prayer.

Mrs. Clara Butler read minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Charlie Harris gave the treasurer's report.

The group made plans to take Valentines to patients in the nursing home and announced the Week of Prayer for Home Missions would be held in March. They voted to set $500 as their goal from our church for Home Missions.

After the business, a mission program entitled "A Buddhist Becomes A Baptist" was discussed. The question "How do Buddhist become Christians?" was asked and the answer was given as "only through the miracle power of Christ."

They must have a witness and the first part of the program told of one Baptist woman and a Buddhist friend and how the Baptist friend helped her to adjust to the American way of life, shopping, cooking, etc.

The Buddhist sees her friend is different and in their talks, she accepts Christ as her Savior after attending worship services and confesses Him and joins a Baptist church. Those discussing this subject were Mrs. Pauline Smiley, Frances Porter, Charlie Harris, Holman and David McNary.

Mrs. Woodrow Pratt discussed "Things To Know About Buddhism," saying it is of Asian origin beginning in India 500 years before Christ was born. Its founder was Gautama, whose reform movement from within Hinduism became a new world religion. His followers call him Buddha which means "The Enlightened One."

Others present were Mrs. Hal Bennett, Clifton Henderson, Bernice Hallmark, Butler and Lynne Compton.
