Snyder sales tax swings upward for April sales

The latest state sales tax returns for Snyder indicate a whopping 15.7 percent jump over the same period last year — but the "good" news was again tempered by cautionary remarks that the comparison is not exactly "apples to apples."

Effective this year, a change in payment deadlines for Texas merchants has prompted more to pay on a monthly rather than quarterly basis.

In line with this, the true picture of state sales tax returns — generally considered an economic indicator — comes at the end of each three-month period.

Figures regarding the return at the end of March — the year's first quarter — showed Snyder approximately dead even with returns for 1983. The city ended last year approximately 14 percent behind 1982 in sales tax returns.

But the report for the fourth month of 1984 again shows Snyder running well ahead of 1983. The figures reflect sales made through April.

The cumulative total for the four month period indicates the city has received some $464,000 generated by the 1 percent sales tax return. The figure was at some $401,000 for the same period last year.

Exact figures are $464,658 and $401,437 respectively. The one month total for April is $103,726 this year as compared to $38,410 last year.

A sampling of area cities indicates a mixed report regarding sales tax returns. Snyder's plus 15.7 was the highest percentage noted of eight area cities within an 85 mile radius.

The following is a sampling of area sale tax returns.

—Lubbock: a 9 percent increase with returns of $6.2 million this year compared to $5.7 million for 1983.

—Abilene: a 12.6 percent increase with returns of $4.1 million this year compared to $3.6 million for 1983.

—San Angelo: a .04 percent increase with returns of $2,475,474 this year compared to $2,474,485 for 1983.

—Big Spring: a 10.1 percent decrease with returns of $711,631 this year compared to $791,697 for 1983.

—Snyder: a 15.7 percent increase with returns of $464,658 this year compared to $401,437 for 1983.

—Sweetwater: a 3.8 percent increase with returns of $316,902 this year compared to $305,250 for 1983.

—Colorado City: a 13.5 percent increase with returns of $125,625 this year compared to $110,602 for 1983.

—Post: a 9.1 percent decrease with returns of $72,657 this year compared to $79,932 for 1983.

Wholesale prices are holding steady

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharpest food price decline in almost two years held wholesale prices flat for the second straight month in May, the government said today.

The two-month showing was the best since last spring.

May's food costs, paced by cheaper prices for meat, vegetables and eggs, dropped 1.2 percent, the most since a 1.4 percent decline in July 1982, said today's Labor Department report on the Producer Price Index. Food costs had declined 0.6 percent in April.

Balancing the falling food prices was a 1.5 percent spurt in energy costs, including increases of 5.2 percent for fuel oil and 2.0 percent for gasoline.

So far this year, wholesale prices are rising at an annual rate of 3.5 percent, a bit better than economists' predictions of an increase from 4.5 to 5 percent for all of 1984. Last year's increase, the best in 20 years, was only 0.6 percent.

In May, today's report said, food price declines included 14.7 percent for vegetables, 14.3 percent for eggs, 7.8 percent for beef and veal, 4.9 percent for poultry and 2.0 percent for pork.

Fruit prices rose 10.6 percent; dairy prices edged up 0.2 percent, and fish costs gained 0.3 percent.

As for energy, the May increase followed a more moderate 0.7 percent rise in April and included a 0.7 percent rise in natural gas costs.

In other details, today's report said:

—New car prices fell 0.7 percent after declining 0.3 percent in April. Light truck prices held steady.

—Capital equipment costs rose 0.2 percent after gaining 0.3 percent in each of the previous two months.

—Clothing prices rose 0.7 percent and nonprescription drugs were up 0.9 percent while household appliances prices moved ahead 0.1 percent.

The two months of steady overall prices provided the best wholesale inflation performance since prices declined 0.1 percent and then were flat in March and April 1983.

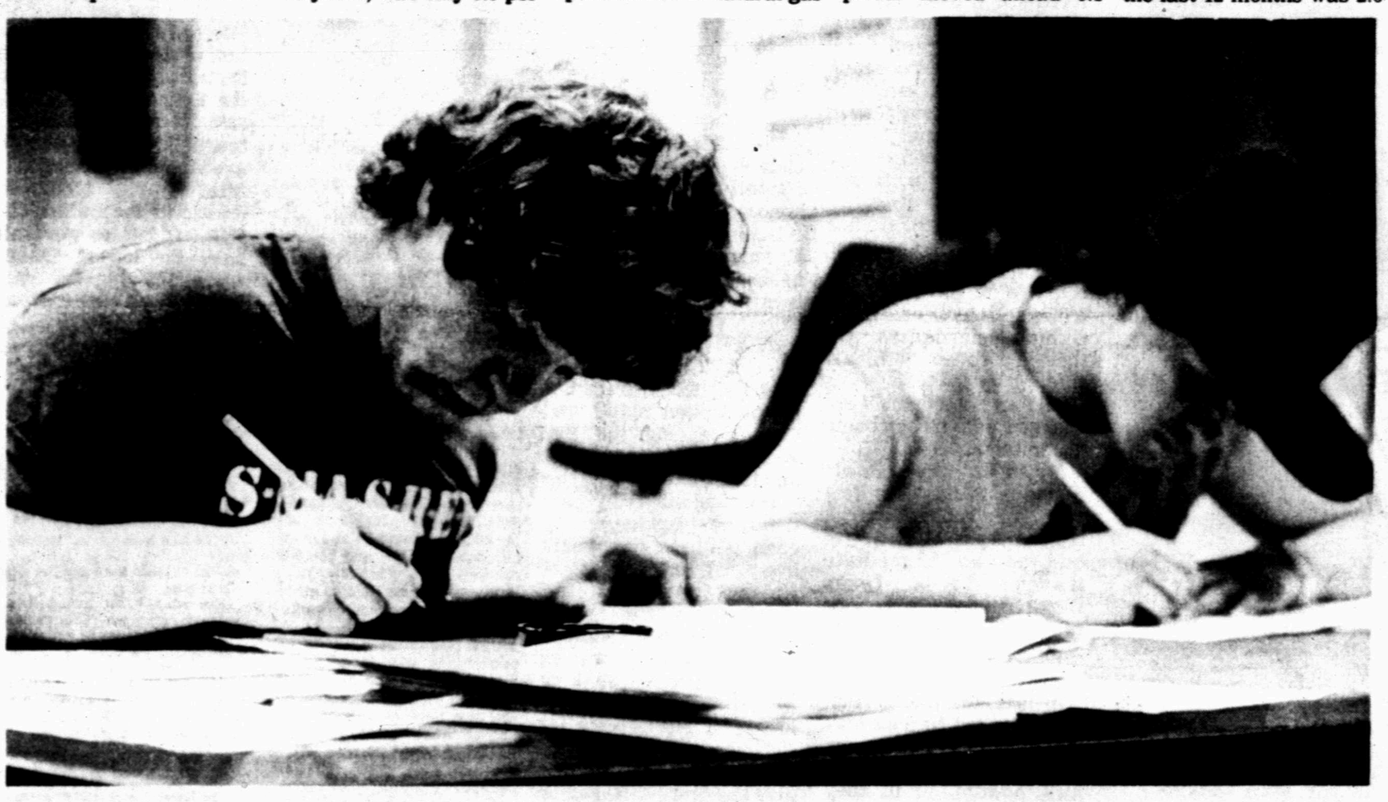

If May's rate were repeated for 12 straight months, it would result in a 0.4 percent decline for that year, a price decrease too small to be reflected in the rounded-off calculation for last month.

The actual increase for the last 12 months was 2.6 percent.

In May, the department's index stood at 291.5, meaning that goods costing $10 in 1967 would have cost $29.15 last month.

All of the figures were adjusted to discount for normal seasonal variations.

In advance of today's report, private analysts commented that continuing food price declines would hold down prices overall in coming months.

Iran, Iraq agree

By the Associated Press

Iran announced today it would not attack oil tankers in the Persian Gulf if Iraq did not attack them.

Foreign ministers of the six-nation Persian Gulf alliance said, meanwhile, that they would rely on diplomacy and peaceful coexistence rather than armed might to protect their oil tankers from Iranian attacks.

Iranian Speaker of ParliamentHashemi Rafsanjani made the statement during a prayer congregation at Tehran University, the Iranian news agency said. Rafsanjani was also quoted as saying Iran would welcome an appeal from U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar to end the hostilities in the gulf.

Earlier this week, Iran joined Iraq in accepting the U.N. leader's plea to stop bombing civilian targets.

But today Rafsanjani warned that Iran will renew attacks on nonmilitary targets in Iraq "as soon as Iraq attacks Iranian non-military centers," according to the Islamic Republican news.

Iran has denied claims that its planes have attacked ships in the Persian Gulf, despite repeated accusations by Iraq and the Arab nations that support Iraq against Iran in their 3½-year-old war.

Scurry County appraisals at 99 percent

An overview of Scurry County appraisals regarding taxable property has been released by the State Property Tax Board.

The figures are part of a statewide study conducted by the board for 1983 property values.

In Scurry County, the state board estimates taxable property is overall listed at 99 percent of its true market value.

This figure places Scurry among the top counties in the state regarding appraisal figures.

The latest study by the tax board estimates an average of 84 percent market value for counties statewide. This compares to 65 percent in 1981 when Texas law initiated the formation of single appraisal tax districts.

The report points out this reflects a "significant improvement" in property tax appraisals statewide.

"The study indicates that appraisals are not only getting closer to market value across the state but are also becoming more equal and uniform," said Ron Patterson, executive director for the State Property Tax Board (SPTB).

The law requires that taxable property be appraised at market value until it qualifies for special-use valuation; that different types of property be valued at equal levels; and that properties within a category be valued in uniform manner.

In addition, the latest report also lists Scurry County's appraisal ratio according to categories of taxable property during the 1983 appraisal.

These include:

—Single family residences: 85 percent.

—Multi-family residences: 86 percent.

—Vacant lots: 79 percent.

—Acreage (market and agriculture): 96 percent.

—Farm-ranch improvements: 83 percent.

—Commercial-industrial real estate: 82 percent.

—Oil, gas and minerals: 102 percent.

—Utilities: 88 percent.

—Business (personal): 95 percent.

—Other personal: 86 percent.

'Rounds' policy ok'd at hospital

The board of managers for Cogdell Memorial Hospital accepted a recommendation Thursday from the medical staff regarding daily visitations by physicians at a wing of the facility reserved for "limited care" patients.

In effect, the new policy specifies that physicians will visit such patients "dependent on the individual case." Doctor's "rounds" for other hospital patients are conducted on at least a once-a-day basis.

The board also was informed that Dr. James Howell has been named by the medical staff as the new vice chief of staff. He replaces Dr. Carl Dillaha, who moved from vice chief to chief of staff after the move from the city of Dr. Shashi Rao.

Board members attending were A.Z. Glover, board president, and members Leon Autry, Rex Robinson, Sam Cross, Dan Cotton and ex-officio member Preston Wilson. John Jarrell was absent.

"I'm afraid not," she sobbed. "It's hay fever, but keep on trying anyway."

A. — Staffers with the county auditor's office say some $8,700 was raised. They noted that such auctions are traditionally conducted every four years.

In Brief

Reagan favors summit talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, softening his tone toward the Kremlin, says he's opening the door to a possible summit with Soviet leader Konstantin Chernenko, while acknowledging he's not quite ready to extend an invitation.

"The door is open," the president declared at a nationally broadcast news conference dominated by U.S.-Soviet relations. "And every once in a while, we're standing in the doorway, seeing if anyone's coming up the steps."

But when asked if his remarks could be taken as an invitation to his Soviet counterpart, the president replied: "We haven't reached that point yet."

Reagan also said he hasn't given "a flat no" to Chernenko's suggestion that the superpowers negotiate a ban on anti-satellite and other space weapons. "We're studying that whole situation," he said.

Several times, Reagan spoke positively about his willingness to talk with Chernenko. At one point, the president said, "If they're ready to talk, we are, too." At another: "I am willing to meet and talk any time." And, at still another, "We're ready, willing and able."

Allies okay declaration

MOSCOW (AP) — Nine allies agreed to meet the Soviet Union's import needs and create closer economic ties in order to ensure their supply of Soviet oil, according to a declaration issued today.

Members of the Council for Mutual Economic Assistance, meeting for the first time in 15 years, pledged to specialize and integrate their economies. Members include the Soviet Union, its six Eastern European allies and Cuba, Vietnam and Mongolia.

Communist leaders also issued a political declaration reiterating Warsaw Pact demands that NATO dismantle U.S. missiles in Western Europe before disarmament talks resume in Geneva.

The declaration said Western nations, particularly the United States, are trying "to achieve military superiority and whip up conflicts around the world. These are the chief causes of political and economic instability."

Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko closed the three-day Comecon summit Thursday by accusing the United States and its allies of locking the Kremlin into "a dangerous test of strength."

Alert issued at nuke plant

VERNON, Vt. (AP) — An alert was issued at the Vermont Yankee nuclear power plant today after a tiny device used to measure radiation levels was accidentally exposed inside the plant, officials said

There was no danger to people outside the plant, but authorities were trying to determine if any workers were exposed to the radioactive probe, said state Public Service Department Commissioner Richard Saudek.

"It's a danger to anybody who is right there, but it's not a danger to people away from the immediate area," said Saudek.

The alert, the second-lowest of the emergency action levels established by the federal government, was issued at 9:20 a.m., said a Vermont Yankee spokeswoman.

Utah woman found guilty

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)--A federal judge says a Utah woman convicted of smuggling infants into the United States broke the law out of a desire to help impoverished Mexican children and not for personal gain.

U. S. District Judge George Kazen on Thursday found Nelda Karen Colwell, 39, of Layton, Utah guilty on three counts of conspiracy and aiding and abetting in the falsifying of records.

Kazen deliberated for about an hour and explained his decision for 30 minutes before pronouncing the verdict.

"Our laws of immigration sometimes interfere without sense of what's human and what's right." Kazen told Mrs. Colwell, who trembled and wept.

The judge said he would set a date for sentencing later.

Mrs. Colwell faces up to 15 years in prison and a $14,000 fine, but Assistant U. S. Attorney David Almarez said he "really couldn't see her spending a day in jail."

State Senator Doggett certified as nominee

HOUSTON (AP)--State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, formally certified as the Democratic U. S. Senate nominee, has received a pledge of support from the man he defeated, U. S. Rep. Kent Hance.

"I congratulate Lloyd on his victory and I will support Lloyd and the entire Democratic ticket in November," Hance said Thursday, shortly after the State Democratic Executive Committee certified results of the June 2 runoff election.

The committee declared Doggett, the winner by 1,345 votes in a final tally that gave him a total of 491,251 votes to Hance's 489,906.

Hance had topped Doggett by 237 votes in the six-man May 5 primary.

In Washington, Hance said he had no regrets about the recount and said he plans to be a candidate for statewide office again.

"Although the results are not what I would have liked, I have no regrets about recounting the votes," he said. "They say it's not over until it's over--and it's over," Hance said.

Hance aides and party officials have estimated that final costs for the recount in all 254 counties will total between $50,000 and $70,000. Since he asked for it, Hance must pay.

In an interview, Texas Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle said the closeness of the race between Doggett, an Austin liberal, and Hance, a conservative congressman from Lubbock, had not irreparably divided the party.

Slagle said Hance likely would address the state Democratic convention on Saturday and predicted the party would quickly unify to defeat the Republican nominee, U. S. Rep. Phil Gramm.

The first show of unity is expected Saturday when Hance is scheduled to introduce Doggett to the convention.

"Kent Hance is a good Democrat. He's always supported the Democratic nominee," Slagle said. "On Saturday morning, you will see a demonstration of unity on the part of the people who had been adversaries.

"Conservatives who are Democrats are going to support the Democratic nominee," he said. "We are going to beat the thunder out of Gramm," he said.

Hance reflects on close race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kent Hance was preparing to head over to the House floor to battle amnesty for illegal aliens--the issue that propelled him into a surprising first-place finish in the May Democratic primary for the U. S. Senate.

But after the recount results were finalized Thursday, Hance had lost the runoff to state Sen. Lloyd Doggett by a mere 1,000 or so votes out of about a million cast.

"It hurts a little bit. I think my credibility as a statewide candidate certainly is very viable now, so we accomplished a lot.

"It's not a race where I consider myself a loser," he said. "I'm 41, and it's an investment that I've made."

Hance said his colleague, Republican nominee Phil Gramm, is undoubtedly happy with the outcome of the runoff. Most political observers--the ones who cast Hance a distant third before the May primary--believe Gramm will fare better in the general election against the liberal Doggett than he would have against Hance. Gramm switched parties last year. He and Hance had been fellow "boll weevils"--Democratic supporters in Congress of President Reagan's economic policies.

One defendant pleads guilty in 3 slayings

WACO, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old man was sentenced to life imprisonment after he pleaded guilty to murder charges in the deaths of three teenagers found bound, gagged and stabbed to death in a park near Lake Waco.

Anthony Melendez, one of four defendants in the case, was sentenced Thursday to two concurrent life terms by State District Judge George Allen.

Testimony in the trial of another defendant, David Wayne Spence, 25, is scheduled to begin Monday. A jury composed of eight women and four men was picked for Spence's trial Thursday afternoon.

Melendez pleaded guilty to the death of Jill Montgomery, 17, of Waxahachie, and Kenneth Franks, 18.

Court officials said Melendez still faces a capital murder charge in the death of Raylene Rice, 17, of Waxahachie.

McLennan County Justice of the Peace Joe Johnson said the girls' throats had been slashed. Franks had a slash wound to his chest and all three bodies had numerous stab wounds, Johnson said.

The trio disappeared during an outing to the lake and the bodies were discovered by a fisherman.

A Sept. 17 trial date has been set for Muneer Mohammed Deeb, 24, court officials said. No trial date has been set for Gilbert Melendez, 28, Anthony's brother, officials said.

All four defendants were charged with three counts of capital murder.

Melendez, who was arrested last Aug. 17 in Fort Worth on a robbery charge from Corpus Christi, requested an immediate transfer to a Texas Department of Corrections facility following his sentencing.

Some of the 130-plus nations participating in our summer Olympics "subsidize" their athletes. Is it fair for them to compete with us "amateurs?"

Before we throw stones at anybody else, let's recognize the "professionalism" of our own amateurs.

Most all of our nation's world class athletes are on scolarships. Those scholarships pay tuition, room and board — sometimes summer jobs and spending money and a new car thrown in.

Yet, we call them amateurs?

Our basketball players can go to Italy and play in the Italian League and make between $50,000 and $150,000 during a single summer — yet return home to be categorized as "amateurs."

Our track and field athletes will charge anywhere from $25,000 to $100,000 just to show up for a meet. They get that guarantee, win or lose. In addition, prize money may be set aside in a trust fund in their names. The trust fund may thereafter pay them "allowances" and "expenses" and the balance at the conclusion of their competitive careers.

These are amateurs?

Tennis will be back in this year's Olympics for the first time since 1924 and the International Olympic Committee, in its omnipotent wisdom, has decreed these rules for eligibility:

If you are 21 you are not eligible. If you are under 21 you are.

I can be captain of the Princeton Tennis Team — may never have played for pay — yet if I'm 21 I'm ineligible to compete.

But if I am under 21 I may have made half a million dollars playing tennis last year, yet I'm still eligible to compete in the Olympics.

Payments are made in varied forms in every spectator sport.

I specify "spectator sports" because people will rarely pay to see a swim meet or volleyball or field-hockey.

But where any sport will draw a paying crowd, one way or another top athletes will be paid.

And still call themselves "amateurs."

The president of this year's Olympics, Bill Simon, calls them "shamateurs."

He notes that 16 percent of our Olympic Team are members of the armed forces; in effect paid by our government while they train and compete ... as "amateurs?"

He says we should have "honest amateurism of open competition, one or the other."

"As is," Mr. Simon says, "we are teaching our athletes to cheat."

A survey of average daily semi-private hospital room charges by the Health Insurance Association of America shows the District of Columbia leads the nation, with a rate of $285. It says this rate is more than twice the average rate charged in Mississippi, $108, the lowest in the nation. The southern states generally have the lowest charges while the highest rates were found in the northeastern and western states. The national daily average for semi-private rooms was $203, up 3.9 percent since July 1983.

1st Christian earns honors

The First Christian Church in Snyder has recently received two honors.

During the National Evangelism Workshop held at Louisville, Kentucky last month, the church was recognized as one of 169 significantly growing Christian churches (Disciples of Christ) in the United States and Canada during the five year period between 1977 and 1982.

Their additions by baptism and transfer during each of these five years averaged 12.2 percent of their participating membership. This annual percentage addition allowed the church to grow from 123 to 153 persons, making a net membership increase of 24.4 percent for the five year period.

The congregation was also the first in the region to complete its pledge drive which went over its suggested goal.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

About two years ago, a neighbor decided to have the brick stoop at the rear of his house taken apart (before it fell apart) and replaced with a new one. A few weeks before making this decision, he had found in his mailbox a circular distributed by two ambitious young men telling of their willingness to do odd jobs at very reasonable prices.

My neighbor called and asked whether the two knew how to build a brick stoop. The youth who answered said emphatically that they did and was asked to come over and make an estimate on the job.

Two men, of neat appearance and well-spoken, showed up, said they lived in the neighborhood and gave an estimate of about half the one that previously had been obtained from a local contractor. They had a small truck with their names and the addresses of their company on it.

A deal was made. The two showed up a few days later and set to work. They were industrious and reliable. The only trouble was they had very little idea of what they were doing. The bottom step was a little higher than the others. Mortar was spilled over the faces of the bricks and on the walkway leading to the stoop. The joints had an amateurish look and did not match.

When my neighbor realized he had made a mistake, he told me about it and wondered whether anything could be done. I went over and, while talking with the young men, discovered they had never done any brickwork previously and this was their first job of that kind.

Eventually, the matter was straightened out. The workers fixed the job as best they could and the hard feelings that had ensued were dissipated. But the problem remained. And still does. The men were not out to cheat anybody in the strict meaning of the phrase, yet they had obtained the job under false pretenses.

They really couldn't do the kind of work they had promised, so the homeowner suffered. Should we then discourage amibition and enterprise by refusing to hire them? What would have happened if one of the young men had sustained an injury while doing the work? Neither had any insurance for an on-the-job accident.

The real culprit is the law — or lack of it. In many communities, you can become a remodeling contractor simply by announcing it. You don't need any special skill or experience. You need only the willingness to tackle the job and collect the money. True, many nonprofessional people can do a better job than one who makes a living at it, but it's your house and your money and should you have to engage in some kind of lottery in the hope that the one you hire is a skilled worker?

In some areas around the country, steps have been taken to prevent you from being shortchanged. Licenses are required before a worker can advertise or go into business as a remodeler or special type of repair person. The theory is that, if you fail to get satisfaction, it is easier to track down a licensed contractor than one who isn't. This, to some extent, helps defend against a flybynight person or company.

That's fine as far as it goes. But how do you know whether the contractor knows how to handle his job so that you won't be dissatisfied with the result? You don't — unless you are fortunate enough to live in an area where the authorities require a person to do more than answer a few routine questions in order to get a license.

Shouldn't there be some kind of test to determine the capability of the potential licensee rather than just his name, where he does business and his phone number? An electrician or a plumber must learn his trade before he can go out and practice it. Isn't it odd that, in many areas of the country, you don't have to prove anything to be able to work on somebody's house?

Want body without curl now that the new "bob" look is so popular?

Easy as one-two-three. Give yourself an underperm.

Pick a regular body perm and then follow the instructions, but only on the bottom half of your hair. Clip all the rest of your hair up, then roll hair on rods 1/2-inch to 1-inch diameter. Fine hair takes the smaller rod. Use two rods on each side and six down the back.

Your hair will be full of body, but not Little Orphan Annie curly.

Pouty look

The pouty look is definitely in. It's easy to get no matter what shape your lips are in.

Here's a simple shading effect for the pout.

Apply a bright shade of lip color in the middle of both upper and lower lips — maybe a vibrant melon? — then a lighter one at the edges, for instance a more subdued peach.

It makes for a pretty pucker!

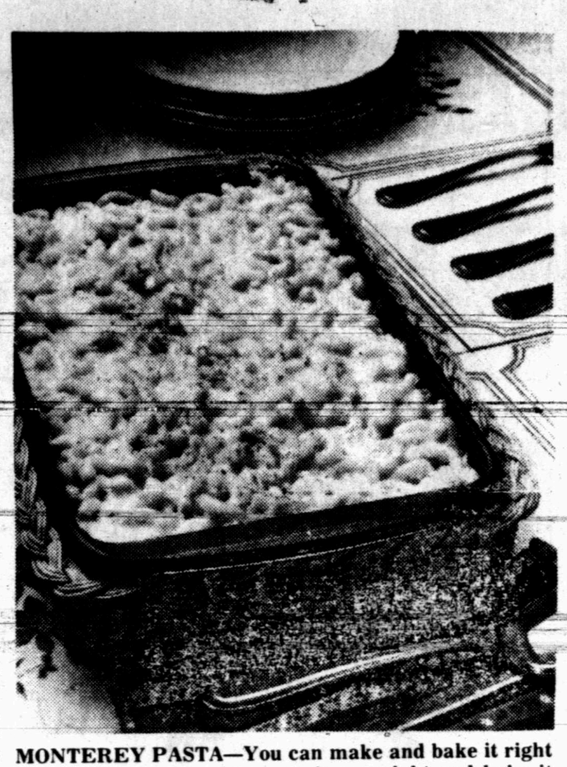

Mother knows best

Even celebrities have to listen to their mothers: here's what Kristy McNichol says her mom told her: "When I got old enough to wear makeup, my mother said I should use natural cosmetics."

English poet John Milton was born in 1608.

MONTEREY PASTA—You can make and bake it right away, or you can refrigerate it overnight and bake it just in time to serve it.

Cheese aids pasta

By Cecily Brownstone
AP Food Editor

DEAR CECILY: I used a recipe of yours for elbow macaroni baked with Monterey cheese and my luncheon guests and I thought the flavor and texture were just great. I followed your directions and made and baked it just before serving — which turned out to be a hassle for me. Can it be made ahead and baked just before serving? — GRATEFUL.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Interestingly enough it was at a luncheon given by a California friend that I was first introduced to pasta baked with Monterey Jack cheese. I agree with you that her combination is an extra-delicious one. Thanks to you, I tried a makeahead version and found it worked beautifully — although the texture is different from the freshly made and baked dish. — C.B.

RIGHT-AWAY MONTEREY PASTA

8-ounce package elbow macaroni (2 cups)
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons unbleached all-purpose flour
3 cups milk
12 ounces Monterey Jack cheese, grated medium-fine
Paprika

Cook the macaroni according to package directions using the time suggested for pasta that is to be used in a cooked dish. Drain in a colander; cover.

In a 2-quart saucepan, over low heat, melt the butter. Stir in the flour. Off heat, gradually stir in the milk, keeping smooth. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling.

Spread half the cooked macaroni (about 2 cups) over the bottom of a buttered shallow 2-quart baking dish (11¾ by 7½ by 1¾ inches). Sprinkle with half the cheese. Layer with the remaining macaroni. Sprinkle with the remaining cheese. Pour the still hot sauce as evenly as possible over the top. Sprinkle with the paprika.

Bake uncovered in a preheated 400-degree oven until bubbling around the edges and hot in the center (test with a fork — about 20 minutes). Let stand 5 minutes or so before serving. The cheese will be pully and chewy.

Makes 6 servings.

MAKE-AHEAD MONTEREY PASTA

Make up Right-Away Monterey Pasta according to the directions in that recipe, but do not bake. Instead tightly cover the top of the baking dish with saran and refrigerate for 12 to 18 hours. About 45 minutes or so before serving, preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Place the pasta dish, straight from the refrigerator and uncovered, in the preheated oven. Bake uncovered until bubbling around the edges and hot in the center (test with a fork) — about 35 minutes. Let stand about 5 minutes before serving. The cheese will not be as pully and chewy as in the Right-Away Monterey Pasta version.

BOOK REVIEW

Book is readable

WHY TIME BEGINS ON OPENING DAY. By Thomas Boswell. Doubleday. 300 Pages. $14.95.

What baseball writer would use words like "diffracted," "pixilated" and "clerestory" in essays about the National Pastime? Only the best, Tom Boswell.

For a dozen years, Boswell has covered major league baseball for the Washington Post, and has proven to be the most insightful and readable reporter on the sport. His first book, "How Life Imitates the World Series," prompted comparisons to legendary sports writers like Damon Runyan and Red Smith when it was published two years ago.

The new book is a collection of 20 pieces, 11 of which are reprinted. They range from a poetic examination of ballparks ("the place to go if you want to see people as they are") to the title piece, which is a somewhat philosophical essay that begins, "Why baseball?"

There are also profiles of athletes, but not in the hackneyed manner of lesser sports writers. Boswell manages to find the right anecdote to make the contradictory personalities of such players as Baltimore's star pitcher Jim Palmer more understandable.

Boswell is at his best when he examines what everyone else seems to take for granted. He notes how history has an unusual significance in baseball, and how the past is essentially tied to the present.

"In baseball, memories are a negotiable coin of the realm: we can deal in them like a legal tender that never devalues," Boswell writes.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

For as long as we have been playing bridge, artificial bids have been used when there was nothing better to do — for example, the two-spade bid by North at his second turn. But consider his problem. North does not want to bid no-trump without a spade stopper, and yet he has sufficient high-card values to allow his side to play a game contract. Three clubs would not be forcing, and four clubs would bypass a three no-trump contract. Hence North chose to bid two spades.

In tournament bridge this bid has acquired a new title — fourth suit forcing. The concept is that so many experienced partnerships use the bid as a matter of course that their opponents are entitled to know that this fourth suit bid is simply a matter of convenience and may not be an expression of either high-card strength or suit length.

Not to bore you with the vagaries of the tournament world, let's get to the meat of the deal, which has to do with declarer technique. Good declarers should always ask two questions. First, "How can I make my contract?" Second, and more important, "How can I fail to make my contract?"

In today's deal, the answer to question two is: If South wins the first trick, East will win a club trick and return a spade through declarer's remaining honor. What happens if South ducks the first spade trick, allowing the jack from East to win the trick? Success! A spade can be returned, but when defender East wins the club queen, he will have no more spades to lead. Even if East started with three spades and West with four, this play still makes the contract. West could then properly allow declarer to win the second trick, but the defenders would be able to take only three spades and the club queen.

Computer use

NEW YORK (AP) — The old adage of "a car in every garage" is being replaced by a new saying — "a personal computer in every living room" — according to a management information systems journal.

MIS Week says that with the public purchasing more than 100,000 personal computers a month, the nation is witnessing perhaps the most dramatic phenomenon of the entire computer revolution.

The personal computers are used for a widening range of applications, including education, family budgets, tax planning, word processing and electronic games.

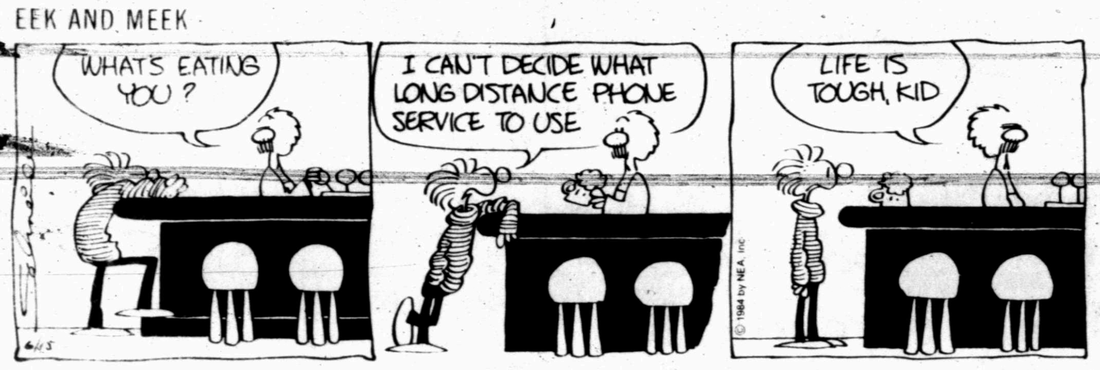

Sandford Fleming, later Sir Sandford, was born in 1827. He originated the concept of standard time. It was largely through his efforts that international standard time was adopted in 1884.

SCOOP announces walk-a-thon winners

SCOOP (Scurry County Options and Opportunities for People) recently sponsored a five mile walk-a-thon. All proceeds will go toward the establishment of Friendship House, a home for abused and neglected teenage girls.

Winners in the walk-a-thon and the prizes they received are as follows.

In the 12 and under division Rachael Wilson took first place. She earned a Walkman radio. Dean Shreve came in second and earned a pair of tennis shoes for his trouble. Calley Casselman finished third and received a baseball glove from Perry's.

In the over 12 category Vera Casey finished first and received a Walkman radio. James Lyons was in second place and won a dinner for two at the Shack. Larry Lane was in third place and received a gift certificate from the Athletic Center.

"A Christmas Carol," by Charles Dickens, was published in England for the first time in 1843.

Attack prompts shots

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An Arlington woman has agreed to undergo rabies treatments in order to spare the live of a Himalayan sun bear that bit her.

Charles Airehart, the husband of bite victim Dorothy Sue Airehart, said Thursday that his wife "has decided to spare the (bear's) life. My wife has agreed to undergo (rabies shots) and will start treatment immediately."

The decision followed a series of reprieves for the bear — named Puppy — which the Fort Worth health department ordered destroyed so an examination for rabies could be performed.

The procedure is required by state law when a wild animal bites a person, said Public Health Director Brooks Taylor.

Puppy's owner, Johnny Morrow of Haltom City, said Mrs. Airehart was injured after she and her husband trespassed on the property where the bear is kept, fed him a six-pack of beer and taunted him through his cage.

Morrow contends the law concerning wild animals should not apply to Puppy, who was raised in a cage.

After the death order, Morrow took his case to state district court and won a 24-hour delay just 30 minutes before the bear was to be killed. On Wednesday, a judge granted Morrow a temporary restraining order and scheduled a hearing for today.

Mrs. Airehart, who underwent surgery for hand injuries Wednesday, remained in Arlington Memorial Hospital. Hospital spokeswoman Charlene Mess said a medical decision on whether Mrs. Airehart may take the shots would come today after an examination by her doctor.

The treatment involves a series of six shots over 28 days.

Mark Sullivan, a health department attorney, said Thursday that an agreement by Mrs. Airehart to take the shots would weigh heavily in Friday's hearing and could save the bear.

French composer Cesar Franck was born in 1822.

Enzyme deficiency

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor has diagnosed me as having alpha-1-antitrypsin enzyme deficiency. He has put me on Theo-Dur and Ventolin for the rest of my life. I'm 51.

What is this disease? Can it be cured? Do you think I'll eventually be able to stop the medication? I live at an elevation of 4,600 feet. Does that have any effect? Can the disease be caused by allergy or stress?

DEAR READER — This is an important enzyme that helps to protect the elastic fibers in the air sacs in your lungs. The elastic fibers are essential to provide the normal recoil of the tiny air sacs and provide proper breathing functions.

When you lose this elasticity you develop emphysema. About 15 percent of adults with emphysema have this enzyme deficiency. It causes emphysema in people who don't smoke. Of course, smoking makes it worse.

People inherit this enzyme deficiency and there is no way at present to correct the condition. The best course of action is to take all the known measures to protect your lungs. That includes not smoking, avoiding pollution and protecting yourself against respiratory infections.

Evidently your doctor thinks you need some help now in relieving some respiratory symptoms. That's why he is giving you medicines. Your future treatment will depend entirely upon progress.

We usually think of 5,000 feet as being the altitude that first starts affecting people. But if you already have some problems with lung function then lower altitudes can be a significant factor in causing symptoms. If your lung disease progresses then you might want to avoid altitude. However, altitude doesn't and won't cause you to develop emphysema.

To give you more information about emphysema I'm sending you the Health Letter 17-8, Chronic Bronchitis and Emphysema. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Neither allergy nor stress will cause the enzyme deficiency that affects your lungs. But if you have allergies that affect your lungs in addition to your inherited problem, then the problem is compounded.

DEAR DR. LAMB — For some time I've been getting pains in my chest that bring tears to my eyes. The pain lasts a few moments and can be repeated several times during the course of the day. Some days I won't be bothered at all. The EKGs don't show the reason for this.

I read something about this in your column and it seemed to apply to me. What is the condition? What can be done for it?

DEAR READER — I would need to know more about your condition to know what you have. It would help your doctors a lot if the electrocardiogram were recorded while you were having the pain. You might be able to do this with a Holter monitor that you could wear for several days to monitor your heartbeat continuously. You note when you have the pain and your doctor compares your notes to your EKG.

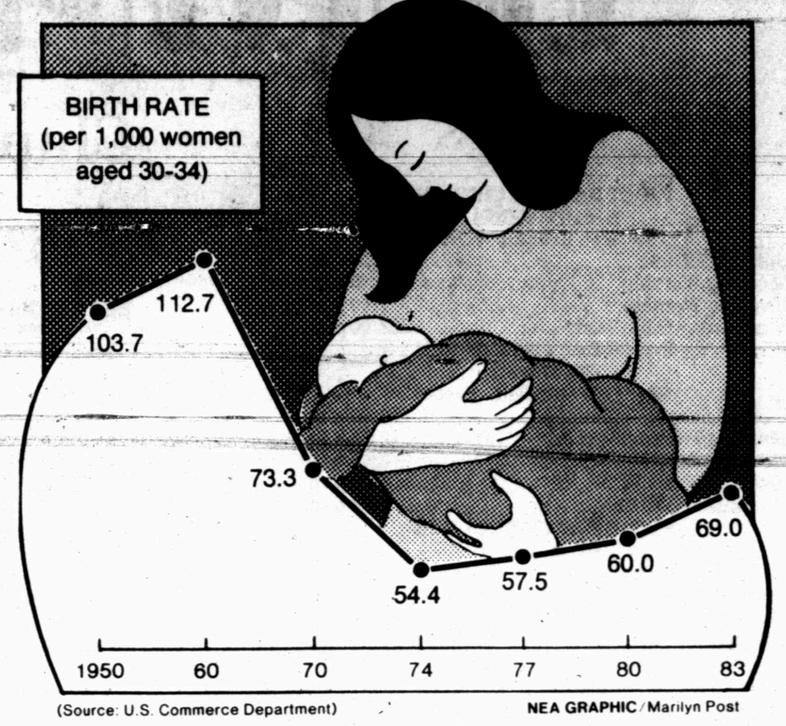

You may have esophageal spasm. The esophagus is a long, muscular tube between the throat and the stomach. When these muscles cramp, they may cause severe pain. These may be momentary or prolonged. If a patient happens to be having an X-ray examination using barium during a spasm, it can actually be seen by the doctor. Avoid coffee, tea, colas or anything that causes indigestion, and avoid cigarettes.

English inventor Robert William Thompson patented the pneumatic tire in 1845, although rubber at that time was too expensive for the invention to be practical. Thompson, a selfeducated man, also designed an electrical detonator for blasting powder, a fountain pen, the first portable steam crane, the first prefabricated hydraulic dock, and a steam-powered engine on soft rubber wheels which was the first workable tractor.

Births rise among women in their 30s

The birthrate among "older mothers" — women aged 30 to 34 — fell sharply after the baby-boom years. However, it's rising again as more women postpone motherhood to pursue a career.

Barton certified winner in race

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Ennis engineer Joe Barton has been certified the winner of the Republican primary runoff in the Sixth Congressional District by a 10-vote margin over Max Hoyt, who held an 18-vote margin before a recount.

The State Republican Executive Committee on Thursday certified that Barton won 4,632 votes to 4,622 votes.

The far-flung district stretches from south Montgomery County, just north of Houston, through the Bryan-College Station area to the southern suburbs of Fort Worth.

Hoyt, a retired Army officer and former oil company lobbyist, picked up two votes in a second recount of one Montgomery County precinct Thursday but that recount was not presented to the state panel at its meeting in Fort Worth.

After the meeting, Barton said, "I am looking forward to carrying the Republican banner."

Barton will face Democrat Dan Kubiak for the post now held by Phil Gramm, the GOP nominee for the U.S. Senate.

Hoyt and his campaign aides could not be reached for comment Thursday, but they have said they plan to challenge the election in court if Barton is certified.

Hoyt's attorneys had sought the second recount in Precinct 43, located in Panorama Village. After the polls closed June 2, Hoyt led Barton 87-81 in the precinct, but the margin narrowed to 83-81 in the first recount last week.

State District Judge Olen Underwood, advised by county elections administrator Linda Garner that the second recount was not authorized by the state election code, went ahead with the second recount over the objections of Barton's attorneys.

Like Father, Like Son, And Maybe Like Daughter, Too

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I'm engaged to be married soon. My girlfriend is dumb, but that's OK with me because she knows she's dumb, so she keeps her mouth shut.

I have heard that girls usually take after their mothers, and boys take after their fathers, so if we have children, the girls will take after her (dumb), and the boys will take after me (smart).

What if something goes wrong and I end up with smart daughters and dumb sons?

Please answer soon, as the wedding is in August and I don't want to spend any more money on the plans if I'm going to break the engagement.

PITTSBURGH PETE

DEAR PETE: It's not true that girls "take after" their mothers and boys "take after" their fathers. But if it were, take comfort in this oft-quoted ditty:

"A son is a son 'til he takes a wife,

"But a daughter is yours for the rest of her life."

So stop worrying. If "something goes wrong," you'll end up with smart daughters looking after you in your old age.

DEAR ABBY: For many years, you have been one of the strong advocates of the Living Will. My wife and I agree with you—should we ever become terminally ill, we do not want our lives prolonged by artificial means.

I've heard that life insurance companies are refusing payment of death benefits when artificial means of prolonging life are available, but not used by the insured.

Last week at a senior citizens' group meeting, someone said that refusing to prolong life by artificial means constitutes suicide, and most life insurance companies refuse to pay if the insured commits suicide.

Please check into this, Abby, and let the millions of us who have signed the Living Will know where we stand.

R.W.B., COCOA, FLA.

DEAR R.W.B.: The Society for the Right to Die, which dispenses the Living Will, has assured me that life insurance companies do pay death benefits irrespective of the use of Living Wills.

Please set your senior citizens' group straight. And thank you for inquiring.

DEAR ABBY: We recently had some cousins visit us from Italy. They were two sisters, and the gentleman friend of one of the sisters. The sisters were school teachers and the gentleman was a psychiatrist. He spoke some English, but the sisters spoke none.

They said they wanted to see Chicago, so we offered to show them around. They declined, saying they preferred to see it by themselves. Then they asked if they could use our car. We said no, but we offered to help them rent one. They declined.

Two days later they packed up and went back to Italy. Before they left they said we didn't treat them very well!

Abby, were we wrong to refuse them the use of our car?

CAR TROUBLE

DEAR CAR TROUBLE: No. There was more than "car trouble." There was a four-door, seven-cylinder communication gap. Capisce?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I heard that you don't write your column all yourself—that you have ghostwriters. Is that true?

CURIOUS IN BOISE, IDAHO

DEAR CURIOUS: It's not true. I have no ghostwriters and never have had, but sometimes I wish I had a few, so I could blame somebody else when I goof.

Republicans start voter drive

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Republicans have launched a voter registration drive designed to produce up to 200,000 new GOP voters in the November presidential election, party officials say.

The party also hopes to raise $2 million on behalf of Republican candidates for positions ranging from U.S. senator to county commissioner, GOP officials said.

Houston oilman Rob Mosbacher will play a key role in both efforts, officials said.

State Republican Chairman George Strake, presiding over the GOP state convention in Fort Worth which officially opened today, announced Thursday that Mosbacher will be the party's new finance chairman.

Mosbacher also will play a major role in the Republican voter registration drive, said Linden Kettlewell, executive director for the Reagan-Bush campaign in Texas.

Mosbacher, 32, finished a distant third in the May 5 Republican primary election for U.S. Senate, in which U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm of College Station received 73 percent of the vote.

Ms. Kettlewell, in announcing the statewide voter registraton effort, said Mosbacher will head a June 23 "blitz day" in which Republicans will walk door to door in 37 counties, attempting to register new GOP voters.

The campaign eventually will include all 254 Texas counties, with a goal of registering 200,000 voters by Aug. 1, Ms. Kettlewell said.

"We need to be registering only Republicans. I don't care about Democratic voters," she said.

"The most critical task we need to accomplish is registration," she said. "It is a crusade. Make no mistake about that."

Ms. Kettlewell said the GOP will register voters in about 2,000 targeted precincts with histories of voting predominantly Republican. The targeted precincts represent slightly less than one-third of the state's 6,000-plus voting precincts.

"We won't be registering people in (surplus) cheese lines," she said. "We are not standing in food lines to register voters."

After the voter registration effort is completed, phone banks and direct mail appeals will be used as follow-up efforts to get new Republican recruits to the polls, Ms. Kettlewell said.

Ms. Kettlewell said the GOP voter registration effort already has been launched in some areas, with about 6,700 people registered.

Strake, in announcing Mosbacher's selection as finance chairman, also praised a new GOP system in which the party is raising money by soliciting contributions of $10 to $15 through a bank of 30 phones at the state Republican headquarters in Austin.

The effort already has produced $65,000, as well as a large new list of potential contributors to the party, Strake said.

Two wrecks simultaneous

Five minor traffic mishaps — including two which occurred at the same time in different locations — were reported in Snyder Wednesday.

The two simultaneous mishaps were reported at 4:31 p.m. in the 1900 Block of 23rd St. and in the 2400 Block of College Ave.

Involved in the 23rd St. accident were a 1984 Chevrolet driven by David Alfredo Arizmendi of 1700 28th St. and a 1973 Ford driven by Quinta Mitchell Haymond of 4400 Ave. U.

The College Ave. wreck involved a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Caleb Sewell Bonner of Rt. 2 and a 1977 AMC driven by Marion Elvy, Jr. of Rt. 3, Snyder.

The day's first accident was at 10:08 a.m. in the 2500 Block of Ave. U. It involved a 1980 Ford driven by Charlie Posey of Hugo, Oklahoma, who struck a parked 1968 Chevrolet owned by Bob Dennis of 3209 40th St.

The 2500 Block of Ave. R was the scene of the day's second mishap at 1:21 p.m.

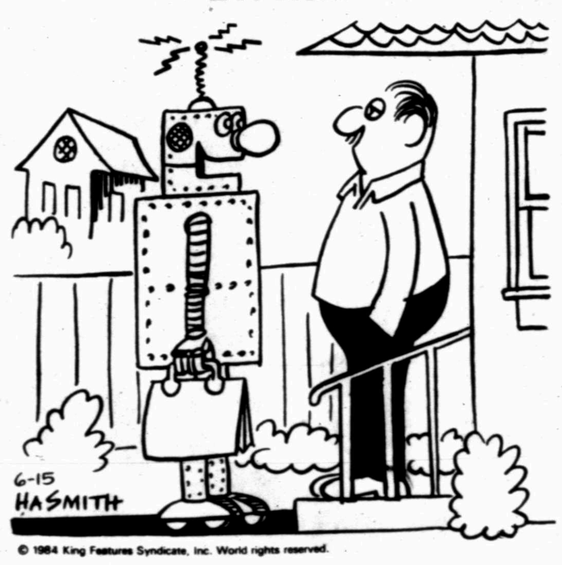

Involved in it were a 1977 Chrysler driven by Addene Melton Conway of 2401 Ave. N and a 1972 Chevrolet driven by Timothy P. Metger of 3005 33rd St.

The day's final accident was recorded in the 1900 Block of 30th St. at 4:37 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1984 Oldsmobile driven by Ceci D'Lynn McHaney of Fort Worth and a 1984 Chrysler driven by Ottis Loyd Webb of 3014 El Paso Ave.

No injuries were reported in any of the five mishaps.

Group reaches terms

DALLAS (AP) — City officials and a group planning to protest the Republican National Convention have agreed to a campsite in the Trinity River bottoms for the demonstrators.

Under the agreement, approved Wednesday night during a closed meeting of the Dallas City Council, the city will set up toilets, water outlets and showers to be paid for by private donations.

The campsite will place the protesters within a few blocks of the Hyatt Regency Hotel, headquarters for the Republican National Committee during the convention, and within a mile of the Dallas Convention Center, where the convention will take place.

Spokesmen for the city and the protest group, the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now, praised the proposal and said it would result in ACORN dropping a federal court suit against the city.

Neil Cogan, an attorney for ACORN, said Dallas officials had a "legal obligation" to provide accommodations to protesters that matched what the city was spending on services for the Republicans.

City officials have said no public money is being used to accommodate the Republicans.

The ACORN suit sought $225,000 in damages and use of Fair Park as a tent city during the convention, scheduled for Aug. 20-23. Cogan said the agreement will be submitted to U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders for his approval.

The city also agreed to pay $2,700 in litigation expenses, Cogan said.

"It's a satisfactory settlement," Cogan said.

City Manager Charles Anderson said the settlement avoids an "expensive court battle" and will use no taxpayer money. Private fund-raising for the group has not been worked out, Anderson said.

But City Councilman Max Goldblatt said Thursday that he objects to the proposal and fears it will set a "bad precedent" by lifting the city's camping ban in parks. He said he did not hear any other council members vote against the settlement.

"Where does this end?" Goldblatt said. "If you let this group come in, what about the Communists? What about the Ku Klux Klan? I say, let's go to court and tell them (ACORN) to go to hell."

Softball winners announced

SCOOP (Scurry County Options and Opportunities for People) sponsored a men's slowpitch softball tournament last week.

Winners are Mal Donalson, first place; Bill Burns Texico of Sweetwater, second place; McLeod's Jewelers, third place and Blanekship Packers, fourth place.

A SCOOP spokesman says the organization thanks everyone involved with the tournament, especially Jessie and Diane Price, tournament organizers.

Parnell

SLATON--Services for the Rev. Vernon D. Parnell, 70, of Slaton, former Snyder resident and pastor, are set for 11 a.m. Saturday at the Twenty-First Street Baptist Church in Slaton with the Rev. Robert Isaacs and the Rev. Marvin Hale officiating. Burial will be in Crestlawn Cemetery in Conway, Ark. Rix Funeral Directors in Lubbock is in charge of arrangements.

Parnell died early Friday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after a brief illness.

He was born Aug. 25, 1914 in Morrilton, Ark.

He married Willie Faye Moody on Oct. 23, 1938 in Morrilton. She survives.

Parnell pastored the Morningside Baptist Church in Snyder during the latter part of the 1970s. He helped organize the Snyder chapter of American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) and served as the its first president. He was very active in that organization, the Ministerial Alliance, and he taught defensive driving classes.

He is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lloyd (Jean) Hatchett of Fresno, Calif.; two sons, Hansel T. of Bryan and Philip W. of The Dalles, Ore.; seven grandchildren; a foster mother, a sister, two foster sisters, and a brother.

The family suggests memorials to the Casa Bautista Missionary de Publicaciones, 206 Ave. T, in Lubbock.

Minor mishaps worked Friday

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Thursday.

Involved in the day's first accident at 11:23 a.m. in the 3500 Block of Ave. V were a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Janice Lynn Beard of 2801 Ave. U and a 1983 Chevrolet driven by Carolyn Clark Hood of 3001 34th St.

The second two-vehicle collision was reported in the 1900 Block of College Ave. at 4:44 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1978 Ford driven by Alton Walton Sutter of 2309 Sunset Dr. and a 1982 Mercury driven by Frances Stevenson of 2707 34th St.

No injuries were reported in either mishap.

Arrests noted

Snyder police investigated a variety of routine complaints Thursday, none resulting in criminal charges.

In addition, four persons were jailed for public intoxication Thursday night.

Britain's coal mines were nationalized in 1947 by the Labor government. The railways were nationalized in 1948.

Booster club notes winners, extends thanks

Ross Preston, Stephanie Weaver, Weldon Beck and Eddie Eicke were winners in the Western Texas College Rodeo Booster Club Roping, held recently.

Preston won the calf roping event, though runnerup Charlie Henderson took the buckle because Preston was a previous winner.

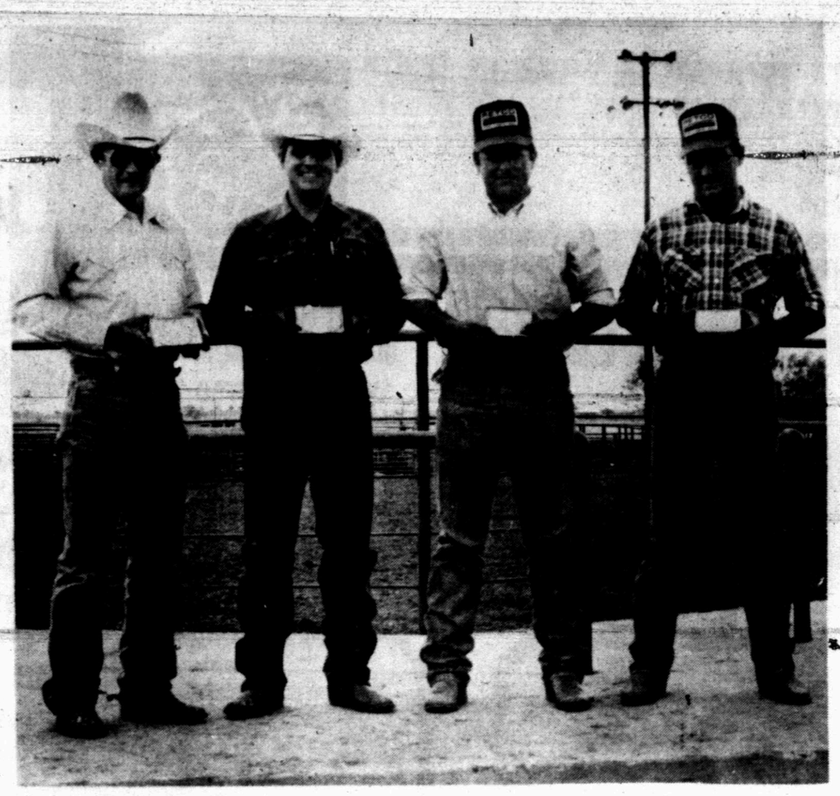

Weaver won the barrel race and Beck and Eicke were winners in team roping.

Buckles were donated by American State Bank, West Texas State Bank, Fentons Gallery, Max Preston Family, Bar-H-Bar Western Wear, Colorado Livestock Auction and Ezell-Key.

A barbecue was also held, with Everybody's Thriftway, Anthony's, Tim Riggin of Edward D. Jones and Company, Haney's Jewelry and Dr. Charles Church, D.V.M., contributing.

Jerry Springer and George Gann prepared the barbecue.

The booster club received $1,500 for scholarships from the two days of activities. The club would like to thank those who helped with donations, with special thanks going to Larry and Steve York, Melvin Lewis and Eddie Eicke for furnishing cattle.

Atlanta defeats Reds; Phillies slug Cubbies

by The Associated Press

Although Len Barker was pitching a one-hit shutout through seven innings, Atlanta Manager Joe Torre knew that he'd had enough.

"He just ran out of gas tonight," Torre said Thursday night after Donnie Moore completed the last two innings of a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. "I think he's got to get used to the heat. He was getting away with some high breaking pitches late."

Barker, 5-6, said he was breathing heavily in the seventh inning, then stumbled going to the dugout. Torre said that when pitching coach Bob Gibson asked Barker how he was feeling, "he said he was about on empty."

Moore retired all six batters he faced for his third save of the year. He extended his scoreless innings string to 17, including the last five without a baserunner.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco beat San Diego 5-2, Philadelphia bombed Chicago 11-2, Pittsburgh edged Montreal 3-2, New York blanked St. Louis 6-0 and Houston tripped Los Angeles 3-1.

Barker retired the first eight Reds before walking opposing pitcher Jeff Russell, 2-8. Then Eddie Milner got Cincinnati's only hit, a two-hopper up the middle, to open the fourth.

Atlanta, which ended a five-game losing streak, lifted its record to 9-1 this season against Cincinnati with its seventh straight triumph over the Reds.

Phillies 11, Cubs 2

Juan Samuel keyed a four-run second inning with a three-run homer and Tim Corcoran added a two-run shot in the sixth as Philadelphia won with a 15-hit attack at Chicago.

Steve Carlton, 4-3, was the beneficiary of the lusty hitting support. He allowed two runs on five hits for eight innings, and struck out six to increase his all-time leading total to 3,785.

Giants 5, Padres 2

Jeff Leonard drove in three runs with a homer and a single and Johnnie LeMaster added a solo homer to help visiting San Francisco snap San Diego's five-game winning streak.

Mets 6, Cardinals 0

Rookie Ron Darling pitched the first shutout of his career with a four-hitter and New York got all its runs at St. Louis on one-out, two-run doubles by Keith Hernandez, Hubie Brooks and Jose Oquendo.

Darling, 6-3, registered his second complete game of the season for the Mets, who have won nine of their next 11 outings.

Astros 3, Dodgers 1

Mike Scott and Dave Smith combined on a five-hitter to lead Houston to a home victory over Los Angeles.

GIRLS SOFTBALL

Division II tourney begins here Friday

A United Girls Softball Association Division II tournament will be held at the UGSA fields in Towle Park this weekend.

The tournaments, for girls ages 11-13, will feature all six teams from Snyder.

The tourney begins Friday evening as the West Texas Wildcats take on the Crazy Cats on Field I at 6:30. That will be followed at 8:30 by the Blasters versus the Rebels on Field I and the Cardinals versus the Snyder Snipers on Field 2.

Action then resumes at Saturday morning with two games at 9 o'clock and two at 11. There will be one game at 5:30, another at 7:30 and the championship game at 9:30 p.m. Since the tournament is double-elimination, another championship game has been scheduled for 11:30 p.m., if necessary.

No all-tournament awards will be given, but a Most Valuable Player trophy will be presented.

June 14 Results

GIANTS 11, YANKEES 2

Chad Jacobi slammed a triple, a double and a single and Mike Hess added three triples as the Giants zipped past the Yankees on Thursday. Terry Halkowitz, Jeremy Alarcon, Bradley Hart, Wyatt Webster and Kevin Shifflett also knocked two singles each while Andy Garza, Sal Castillo, Houston Cromwell and Adam Scott hit one apiece.

Freddie Hernandez got the only extra base hit for the Yankees, a double, while Chad Walker punched two singles and Aaron Taylor, Jason Warren, James Matthews and Jimmy Henry added one each.

The Giants are 2-0 in second-half play while the Yankees are 1-1.

FARM LEAGUE

ATHLETICS 13, WHITE SOX 12

Jody Iglehart cracked four singles and scored four times to help pace the Athletics past the White Sox on Thursday. The A's trailed 12-11 going into the bottom half of the fifth, but put together a couple of runs to take the win.

Also hitting for the Athletics, 3-1, were pitcher James Stinnett, a triple; Steven Sullenger and Chris Marlow, two singles each; and Gary Halkowitz, Brad Lynch, Damon Cato and Barron Wesley, one single apiece.

The Sox, 0-4, got a triple and a double from Wesley Ray, two doubles from Brad Blair, one double from Matthew Byrom and two singles from Damon Kennedy. Lance Wilson was the Sox' pitcher.

INDIANS 11, GIANTS 3

Paul Anderson and Jim Bob Cline smacked a double and a single apiece and Eddie Bolin, Chip Collier, John Harrison and David Gonzales each powered a single as the Indians remained undefeated in second-round play. Ken Reaves pitched the win, giving the Indians a 4-0 mark.

The Giants, 1-3, got one single each from pitcher Ray Turner, Anthony Alvarez and Leonard Tovar.

LITTLE LEAGUE

ATHLETICS 7, WHITE SOX 5

Though the White Sox tied this game up in the top of the fourth, the Athletics came back to take the lead for good, winning their fourth straight second-round game.

The A's, 4-0, were led by pitcher Jason West's double and single. Terry Snyder also looped a double while Jason Rios had two singles and Jason Ditmore notched one.

Bart Morton slugged two doubles for the White Sox, now 2-2, while Scott Trevey hit two singles and Jeff Polk, Alan Powell and Carlton Sanders contributed one single apiece. Shelby Bufkin was the losing pitcher.

INDIANS 15, GIANTS 9

Trailing 7-3 heading into the bottom of the fourth inning, the Indians came up with 12 big runs to shoot past the Giants on Thursday.

Tommy Lane drilled a homer and two doubles for the hard-hitting Indians, now 2-2, while Chris Welch knocked a triple and a single and John Wright got a double and two singles.

Also hitting for the winners were Toby Goodwin, three singles; Lee Hamilton and Abel Garza, two singles each; and Terry White and winning pitcher Terry Stephens, one single apiece.

Chad Phillips scattered three singles for the Giants, 1-3. Michael Torrez added a double and one single and Joe Martinez had two singles. Getting one single each for the Giants were Blair Williams, Marc Byerly, Scott Rodgers and pitcher Gilbert Hernandez.

Randolph's homer lifts New York past Boston

by The Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox died by the sword they live by in Fenway Park - the late-inning home run.

Willie Randolph drilled Bob Stanley's first pitch to him in the 10th inning Thursday night for a home run and a 12-11 New York Yankee victory. The 10th inning was necessitated after Don Mattingly tied the game with a three-run homer with two outs in the ninth.

After two late-inning losses to the Red Sox earlier in the four-game series, the Yankees took it all in stride.

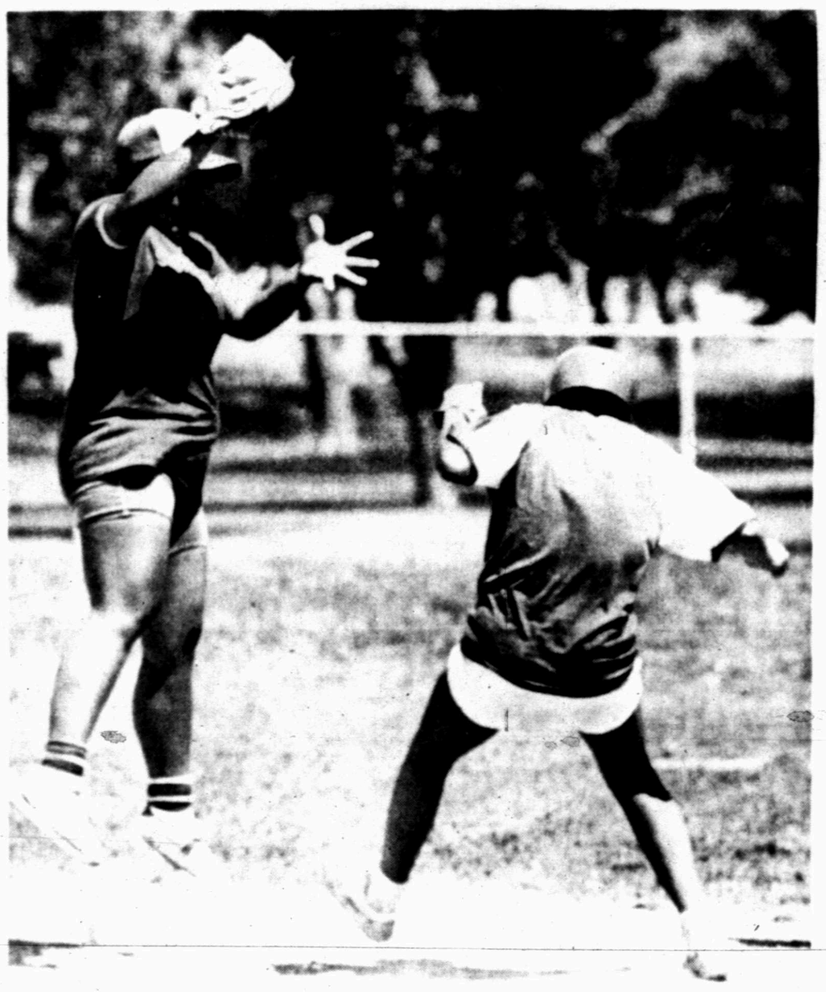

"Strange things have been happening this season," Randolph said.

"Runs disappear in a hurry in this park," New York Manager Yogi Berra said. "We can come back, too."

In other American League action, the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-2, the Oakland A's edged the Cleveland Indians 7-6, the Seattle Mariners bested the Kansas City Royals 4-1, the Minnesota Twins outscored the Texas Rangers 3-2 and the California Angels downed the Chicago White Sox 9-3.

Randolph's blast atoned for his two fielding errors, the second a costly miscue in the eighth when the Red Sox rallied for six runs and an 11-7 lead.

The Yankees unloaded on Stanley, 1-5, in the four-run ninth. Three singles and an infield out narrowed the Boston lead to 11-8. One out later, Mattingly knocked Stanley's offering over the Boston bullpen, giving him five RBI on the night.

Thorpe leads Open

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) - Jim Thorpe, who shared the first-round lead, shot an eagle-3 on the fifth hole to take command early in the second round of the U.S. Open Golf Championship today.

Thorpe, who started the day at 2-under-par 68, parred the first three holes, bogeyed No. 4, then holed a 70-foot bunker shot on the par-5 fifth to move to 3-under.

Thorpe began the day tied with two-time U.S. Open winner Hale Irwin, Hubert Green and Mike Donald, who were one stroke ahead of a group of seven at 69.

Net tourney slated here

A Snyder Highway 80 Tennis Tournament will be held on the local courts, July 3, 4 and 5, Charlie Chrane has announced.

Entry fee will be $7 per person, per event. Deadline to enter is June 30.

Events include 14 and 18 boys and girls singles and doubles, mens and womens singles and doubles, mens 35 singles and doubles, womens 35 singles and doubles, and mixed doubles.

Contestants may enter two events and mixed doubles. The tourney will begin at 8:30 each morning and will be headquartered at the junior high courts.

Checks should be made payable to the Snyder Tennis Association and mailed to Charlie Chrane, 4106 Jacksboro, Snyder, Texas, 79549.
