ONEAL PUSHES SEMI-ANNUAL TAX PAYING PLAN

Hoover's Tariff Board Complete As Senate Opposition To Brossard Fails

NOMINEE WINS CONFIRMATION BY NINE VOTES

Eight Democrats Vote With G. O. P. In Contest

DIXON UNOPPOSED

Reconsideration of Power Commission Left To Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The appointees of President Hoover to the new tariff commission were in office tonight with senate confirmation.

The sixth member — Edgar B. Brossard, Republican, Utah—survived a two-day attack to gain approval by 45-36.

Brossard was vigorously assailed by the Democratic leaders for his activities in connection with the sugar tariff as a member and employe of the old tariff commission. He was termed "too close to the sugar interest" and his "official integrity" was questioned.

Eight Demos for Brossard

Republicans stoutly defended the Utahan, and the roll call showed eight Democrats voting with the Republican regulars for the nominee while nine Republicans and the Farmer-Labor member lined up with 26 Democrats in opposition.

Lincoln Dixon, Democrat of Indiana, the other member of the commission who was still to acted upon, received approval without a record vote and without opposition.

The senate reached on its calendar the three members of the power commission it was voted to reconsider although President Hoover has declined to resubmit their names. These went over for future consideration, and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, indicated he would move later that the names be referred back to committee although he conceded the senate was without power to remove them in view of the position taken by the president.

Meyer Case Up

One more controversial nomination faces the senate — that of Eugene Meyer, of New York, to be governor of the Federal Reserve bank. Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, announced he would seek action upon it tomorrow.

With the tariff confirmations behind leaders were more optimistic over the prospect of getting to work on the vital legislative measures that must be passed before March 4 to avoid an extra session.

Russian Troops Reported Moving on Manchuria

TOKYO, Jan. 13. (AP)—Reports of the movement of Russian troops toward the western frontiers of Manchuria reached official circles here today.

The military movement was described as being due to Moscow's belief that China may not abide by the Khabarovsk agreement of 1929 giving Russia virtual control of the Chinese Eastern railway, which connects Vladivostok with the trans-Siberian railway by crossing Manchuria.

Manchurian troops also were reported concentrating near the Russian frontier. Neither of these reports could be confirmed.

Allred Keeps State Out Of Unnecessary Suits

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Jan. 13.—Attorney General James V. Allred announced that he is adopting a policy of refusing to make the state party to litigation except where actually concerned. This policy was put into efefct in his refusing Tuesday to enter a school consolidation suit in Willacy county and a highway condemnation suit in Hutchinson county.

'Glass Wool' Foreseen As Clothing Material

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Jan. 13. (AP)—Ask your haberdasher, 10 years from now, to show you something nice in a glass weskit. James Jones of Millville, retired glassblower, told a Toms River service club "glass wool" is coming into use for clothing and will take the place of silk some day in making cloth.

Classes and Creeds Lost In Last Simple Tribute To Nathan Straus

By JOSEPH MULVANEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (US)—When William Lyon Phelps, of Yale university, arrived in the city today and, boarding a cab, directed the driver to Temple Emanu-El, the chauffeur commented, as he shifted gear and pressed the accelerator:

"Nathan Straus was a great man; he was one of the best men on earth—yes, I think he was the best man throughout this whole world."

And Professor Phelps did not deny it. Indeed, an hour later, at Nathan Straus's funeral, after repeating the cab-driver's comment, he said for himself:

"In the years before us, Nathan Straus will become a legendary figure—a sort of saint of his people, burning with the fervor of his race."

'To Rise Again'

It was such a funeral as Temple Emanu-El never witnessed, such a funeral as this city has never before seen. It did not seem to be a funeral, at all. Professor Phelps expressed not grief at the going away of his friend, but thanksgiving that Nathan Straus had been permitted to live so long and labor so successfully in the world, and he added:

"This is heart-breaking only to members of his family. To the rest of us, it is a radiant departure like a glorious sunset at the end of a great day—and we know the sun is setting only to rise again."

And Dr. Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the free synagogue, gave thanks

C.-C. Enrolls 245 Members on First Day of Drive, Partial Report Shows

Pledges for Day Total $16,740; Teams to Give Results At Luncheon Today at Wichita Club

The first day's activities of the chamber of commerce membership "army" closed Tuesday with 245 new and renewed memberships secured and $16,740 pledged.

Only 45 of the 110 workers had reported their successes for the day and it is believed that when these remaining figures are compiled that a large number of additional memberships will be added to the total for the first day's subscription.

1,000 Sought

The 245 memberships reported are approximately one-fourth of the goal set for the drive which is proposed to bring the membership of the organization to 1,000 for 1931. The 1930 membership was about 850. The amount of money pledged the first day is approximately one-third of the $54,000 budget set up for the needs of the year.

The report made by the 45 workers who turned in results of their campaign were only partial.

Compilation of the returns Tuesday revealed that the division headed by "Colonel" Rhea Howard had secured 67 members and had gained 3,425 points toward the loving cup to be awarded the division turning in the largest number of points. "Colonel" C. E. McCutchen's division turned in the largest amount of money pledges with a sum of $11,280. The returns of the five divisions are as follows: No. 1, C. E. McCutchen, colonel, 1,950 points, 54 members, pledges $11,280; No. 2, John O'Donohoe, colonel, 1,875 points, 47 members, pledges $1,340; No. 3, Rhea Howard, colonel, 3,425 points, 67 members, pledges $1,750; No. 4, R. C. Fidler, colonel, 1,450 points, 33 members, pledges $1,370; No. 5, J. S. Hargett, colonel, 1,600 points, 39 members, pledges $1,000. Totals were: points 10,300; members 245, and pledges $16,740.

Reports Requested

Following the compilation of the first day's returns, Albert E. Kelly, "general" of the army, expressed satisfaction at the success of the campaign thus far, and predicted that at the end of the drive Thursday would show returns to be well over the set quotas.

The "army" set to work early Tuesday morning following a breakfast at the Wichita club. Addresses were made to the workers by J. L. Jackson Jr., newly elected president of the chamber of commerce, and J. S. Bridwell, retiring president. An attendance award of a box of cigars was presented to division No. 5, commanded by "Colonel" J. S. Hargett.

A luncheon will be held Wednesday noon at the Wichita club for the workers, and Mr. Kelly urged that all be present to make a noon report. It is also requested by Mr. Kelly that members of the drive report to the campaign headquarters.

CLARA'S 'SUGAR NOTES' BARED

Love Messages Read in Trial of Daisy Devoe

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13. (UP)—A package of letters and telegrams belonging to Clara Bow entered the trial of Daisy Devoe today, when the screen star testified the discharged secrtary attempted to obtain $125,000 for return of the papers.

Miss Bow was called as a prosecution witness at the trial of Miss Devoe on 37 counts of grand theft resulting from alleged misappropriation of the actress' bank funds.

"Miss Devoe wanted $125,000 for my letters and telegrams," Miss Bow said on the stand.

"Did she tell you that herself?" asked Nathan Freedman, attorney for Miss Devoe.

"She told that to my attorney, W. I. Gilbert," answered the red- haired actress.

Freedman attempted to have the answer stricken as hearsay, but before Judge William C. Doran could rule, Miss Bow cried out:

"Miss Devoe admitted it to me herself."

Letters Introduced

Without objection on the part of Freedman, the letters and telegrams were placed in evidence as exhibits. Some of them were signed Harry, Earl or Rex.

The telegrams, received by Miss Bow in various cities where she was visiting during 1929 and 1930, included the following:

October 21, 1929, Los Angeles.

"To Clara Bow, San Francisco.

"Dear darling. Sweet to hear word from you. Homestead not same. Steam room won't steam since you left. I love you. I love you. I love you.—Harry."

October 18, 1929, Hollywood.

"To Clara Bow, San Francisco.

"Be a good girl and don't stay out too late with the boys. All Frisco is not large enough for my love. —Harry."

September 8, 1930, Lake Tahoe, Calif.

"To Clara Bow, Hollywood.

"Dear sweetheart. Darling baby. I do miss you and this is

Court Decision Backs Segregation of Pupils

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Jan. 13. (AP)—A federal court decision here today upheld Oklahoma statutes which give county school superintendents power to form separate schools for negroes and whites at will, regardless of racial ratios in school districts.

The Oklahoma supreme court had held the law constitutional. It was attacked by the national negro organizations.

The suit was brought by school district No. 7 Muskogee county, protesting transfer by Clarence Hunnicut, county superintendent of a school from negro to white classification, leaving the negro school dependent on separte funds.

RELIEF NEEDS BRING PLEA

Red Cross Cites Present As Greatest Call

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The drouth relief problem faced by the American Red Cross was said tonight by John Barton Payne, the national chairman, to present "the greatest emergency in peace time that the organization has ever been called upon to meet."

His statement was made after President Hoover had issued a proclamation calling upon the public for $10,000,000 to be expended by the Red Cross in buying food and clothing for drouth sufferers.

Payne said the 1927 Mississippi valley flood, in which the Red Cross spent $16,994,868 for relief of approximately 600,000 persons, "bids fair to be overshadowed in the present drouth relief work."

States Listed

The chairman said in the Mississippi flood the Red Cross cared for persons in 170 counties but that it now was feeding drouth victims in 350 counties and had previously given seed to families in 238 counties.

Payne listed 17 states as now receiving aid—Alabama, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Arkansas, Illinois, Missouri, Montana, Oklahoma and Texas.

Four other states — Wyoming, New Mexico, Georgia and Pennsylvania—are in the drouth area, he said, and Red Cross chapters may require help.

ROGERS TO AID CAUSE

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (AP)—Contributing his gift of humor toward alleviation of suffering among his "home folks" in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, in financially straitened circumstances because of drouth, unemployment and other reverses, Will Rogers will begin a tour here Jan. 26.

Proceeds from his appearances, when he hopes to attract many dollars for the needy by his native wit and stock of wise-cracks, will go to the relief of those who need immediate assistance. Rogers will defray his expenses from his own pocket, independent of the receipts of his tour, and the money paid to see and hear him will be pure "velvet" for food, clothes and other necessities of life.

After he arrived here yesterday by plane from California, he announced the plan was his "own idea."

Yarbrough Named Head Of Fort Worth Bank

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (AP)—T. B. Yarbrough Tuesday at the annual meeting of the board of directors was elected president of the First National bank. He succeeds W. E. Connell who was chosen chairman of the board of directors, giving up the presidency of the bank after serving for 19 years.

Election of Connell to the chairmanship of the board does not mean his retirement, as he will continue active head of the board.

Frederick Gas Company To Distribute Interest

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Jan. 13.—Frederick and five of her neighbors are highly interested in the announcement Tuesday that the Community Natural Gas company will pay interest on deposits in Frederick, Davidson, Tipton, Mountain Park, Snyder, and Manitou on Feb. 10. About $2,000 will be split among domestic consumers on that date.

BERLIN, Jan. 13. (UP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening was confined to his home today, ill of grippe. This ailment has become so prevalent in Berlin that city authorities are alarmed lest it assume proportions of an epidemic.

Mother of Oil Head Dies in Houston Home

HOUSTON, Jan. 13. (AP) — Mrs. Kate Power Farish, 72, mother of W. S. Farish, president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, died here today as she slept.

She was born in Natchez, Miss., in 1859. Her husband, W. S. Farish Sr., died Nov. 4, 1899, and she came to Houston in 1919 to make her home. There will be no funeral services in this city, but instead burial will be in Natches tomorrow afternoon.

Rites Held for Former Heavyweight Champ

FAIRBURY, Neb., Jan. 13. (UP)—Funeral services were held here today for Wayne Munn, former holder of the world's heavyweight wrestling championship.

Munn died last week at San Antonio, where he was stricken with Bright's disease. The former Nebraska university football star won the wrestling title from Ed "Strangler" Lewis in Kansas City, six years ago and held it for only a short time.

Woman Solon to Fight Anti-Cigaret Ad Bill

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (UP)—Mrs. Sara T. Hughes, one of the four Texas women legislators, indicated today she would oppose a bill to bar advertising showing girls smoking cigarets.

Body of Wise County Rancher Sent To Bridgeport for Services Today

The body of J. L. Crawford, 79, pioneer Wise county ranchman and a resident of Wichita Falls for the past 10 years who died suddenly Tuesday morning at his home, 406 Austin street, was forwarded by the Hines mortuary Tuesday night to Bridgeport, Texas, where funeral services are to be held Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Crawford had been in ill health for some time. His death occurred while he was sitting in his chair.

Moving to Wise county in early manhood Mr. Crawford became active in the section first as a cowboy, later acquiring lands to become one of the county's prominent ranchmen. He engaged in local politics and was a former mayor of Bridgeport. For a number of years he also served as a justice of the peace.

In church work he was actively engaged in the affairs of the Baptist church of Bridgeport and for many years served as Sunday school superintendent and participated in the affairs of the Baptist conventions.

He and his family moved to Wichita Falls about 10 years ago. For the greater part of his residence here he had engaged in the real estate business.

Surviving are the widow; one daughter, Mrs. Ima Groves, of Memphis, Texas; five sons, Gordon, who is in the navy, stationed at San Diego, Calif.; Clifford Crawford, of Missouri; Charles Crawford of San Bernardino, Calif; Clyde Crawford of Harrold, Texas, and John Crawford of Wichita Falls, and four stepsons, Clyde Wofford of Valley View, Don Wofford of San Angelo, Texas, and J. L. and Dean Wofford of Wichita, Falls.

LINGLE CASE LAWYER SAYS HE SAW DEATH

Attorney for Brothers Denies His Client Was Killer

CRUELTY CHARGED

Suspect Claims Third Degree Tortures In Jail

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. (UP)—The strange case of Leo Brothers started to take on all the aspects tonight of a "cause celebre," almost as exciting as Jake Lingle's murder, of which he is accused.

Robert Cantwell Sr., one of the city's best known criminal lawyers, was retained as Brothers' attorney after the latter was indicted on charges of slaying Lingle, a Chicago Tribune reporter.

Cantwell announced thereupon he personally witnessed the slaying of Lingle in a crowded passageway under Michigan boulevard last June 9 and that Brothers was not the killer.

"I saw Brothers for the first time today," Cantwell, who is one of the leading attorneys practicing before the Chicago criminal bar. "I am positive he was not the man who held the gun to Lingle's head in the subway. The murderer had a cauliflower ear, a feature difficult to erase from memory. 'Brothers' features have no such mark."

'Third Degree Cruelty'

The white-haired attorney characterized the treatment accorded Brothers during the three weeks he was held incommunicado by the state's attorney's detectives as "the worst example of third degree cruelty I ever heard of.

"Brothers told me he had been forced to remain four days in a small bathroom and not permitted to sleep," said Cantwell. "Then he was taken to a larger bedroom and heavily manacled. At night he was chained hand and foot to the bed in 'spread-eagle' fashion.

"For several days he was forced to parade up and down in front of a screen to pose in various attitudes, to change his clothes constantly and to run up and down in the room until he was exhausted."

Alibi Claimed

Cantwell went on to say Brothers underwent an operation the night before Lingle was killed.

"We can prove Brothers was sick in bed at the hour of the murder," said the attorney. "He was swathed in bandages and could not move."

Pat Roche, star detective of the state's attorney's staff, announced he would stake his reputation on the prediction "Brothers will go to the electric chair for the murder of Lingle." Rouch denied, incidentally, Brothers had been subjected to any cruelty during his incarceration in a series of hotel rooms. The tall and handsome Brothers, immaculately dressed and looking very much as though he were a professional football player only a few years out of college, assured his mother who visited him in his cell today that he knew nothing about the killing.

"I didn't even know why they arrested me until they had held me for four days," he said. "I can't understand why they should accuse me of killing this Lingle. I'd never even heard of him until I read about the slaying in the newspapers."

Father Dares Flames To Rescue Daughter

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Jan. 13.—C. E. Mashburn, farmer living one-half mile east of Manitou, risked his life early Tuesday morning to snatch his baby girl from flames that wrecked his home. Mr. Mashburn had lighted a coal oil stove and was out of doors when he heard his wife scream and saw her run from the house with a baby in her arms. When he learned that the little girl was still inside, Mr. Mashburn battled the thick smoke and licking flames to bring the child, unharmed, from the building. The house itself was completely destroyed.

Faint Hope Felt For Long Overdue Tradewind

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—One shred of hope remained for the monoplane Tradewind today following receipt of a message reporting it had fallen into the sea 20 miles off San Miguel, one of the Azores group of islands.

The message, picked up third-hand by the Mackay Radio company, did not say when or by whom the plane was seen to fall, and George Witeen, manager of the flight, chose to hope it was either before or after the storm which raged over that part of the ocean Sunday morning.

Texas Youths to Take West Point Exams

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—Two Texans have been issued letters of conditional cadet appointment for the March 3 entrance examination, with a view to admission to the United States Military academy at West Point, the war department announced today. They were Thurman Beene of Allen, first alternate, and William John Wranosky of Victoria, second alternate.

Homely Philosophy Tempers Murray's Bristling Address to Legislature

New Oklahoma Governor Recommends Host of Reforms For State Government in First Message

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13. (AP)—A message bristling with recommendations for governmental reform and colored with homely philosophy, was given to the 13th Oklahoma legislature today by William Henry Murray, ninth governor.

Murray placed particular emphasis on reformation of tax laws, reorganization of the state highway department and abolishment or combination of 18 state boards, criticised lobbying and "corruption" in affairs of state and urged fewer frills in education and college athletics.

Standing part of the time, other times half sitting on the speaker's desk, the governor, clad in a new blue suit, deviated at times from the text of his prepared message.

Endorse Amendments

Speaking of the administration sponsored bill to create a tax commission, he agreed to its amendment to protect present functions of county tax officers. Again, in reading his recommendation to remove ice plants and cotton gins from authority of the state corporation commission, he charged gin ecmpanies were "surrounding the capitol" to prevent this.

The governor requested passage

Man Pawns Coat to Pay Parking Law Fine

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 13. (UP)—A well dressed man walked into the traffic bureau here today. As he opened the door, a gust of cold wind and snow blew into the room.

He presented a traffic violation ticket to the clerk.

"It'll cost you $3.50 for parking in the wrong zone," the clerk said.

"But I haven't the money."

"The fine will be doubled if not paid in 36 hours."

The man left and came back later with the money.

He had pawned his overcoat.

Recount Ordered In Pottawatomie Vote

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13. (UP) The Oklahoma supreme court late today granted a motion filed by the citizens of Tecumseh to recount ballots in the Pottawatomie county seat election contest with Shawnee.

The recount will start immediately, the court order said.

Tecumseh alleged that fraud and corruption existed in the election, which gave the county seat designation to Shawnee after a 40-year fight of the latter to obtain the county government.

ELECTRA MAN HURT IN CRASH

Police Investigate Truck Collision

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Jan. 13.—W. C. Splawn was critically injured, and three other men were slightly hurt Tuesday afternoon when a Magnolia Petroleum company truck was tossed over by the force of a collision with a second truck on the highway near Electra.

Gus Owens suffered severe bruises and cuts. C. N. Perry sustained a broken collar bone, and Lee Robinson was badly shaken up when the truck in which they were riding turned on its side as the passing machine whipped in front, catching one of the truck's wheels.

The driver of the second truck, E. L. Cox of Vernon, did not stop. He was reached two miles east of Electra some time later and told investigators that he did not know his car had struck the second machine.

Splawn, who is internally injured and may have a broken back, was rushed with his companions to the Parmley-Ogden hospital in Electra. Later Perry and Robinson were dismissed. Owen's condition is not regarded as serious.

Police officials in Electra are conducting an investigation of the circumstances of the accident.

Senate Confirms Court Of Appeals Appointments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr. of Texas and Samuel Sibley of Georgia to the first circuit court of appeals.

The senate also confirmed Randolph Bryant, United States district judge in the eastern Texas district, and Joseph J. McGuigan of Pennsylvania district attorney of the Canal Zone.

Reporter Jailed for Contempt Lauds Judge When Term Is Cut

SWEETWATER, Texas, Jan. 13. (UP)—George Parks, courthouse reporter for the Sweetwater Daily Reporter, was released from jail early tonight after serving one day of a three-day sentence for contempt of court.

In a message to the United Press, Judge Fritz Smith, who sentenced Parks after he had printed a story revealing a grand jury indictment, said the affair had been thoroughly, fully and mutually settled and everybody had shaken hands, spit on the slate and wiped it out."

The release was granted in open court shortly after 5 p. m. when Millard Cope, publisher of the Reporter, and attorneys appeared with a writ of habeas corpus, charging that Judge Smith had been outside his constitutional rights in sentencing Parks.

The writ was not served, however, but Parks' release was decided on at a friendly conference.

"Judge Smith is the best judge in Texas," Parks told the United Press tonight. "He treated me fine and said we could still be friends. I had a good time in jail but I don't care for a regular diet. I believe the judge would send me again if he promised he would."

Parks was jailed after he wrote a story revealing that a grand jury had indicted W. L. Rotan, former county commissioner, on a charge of forgery in connection with the handling of county funds. Judge Smith previously warned Parks that a jail sentence would follow the printing of the story before the warrant was served. Parks refused to reveal the source of his information but said it did not come from an official or a grand juror

HARMONY PREVAILS IN FIRST SESSION

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (AP)—The Texas legislature today began its first four months' session with absolute harmony prevailing in the selection of the major officers in both the house and the senate.

The two branches of the 42nd legislature convened at high noon for short sessions, and members of both houses were back for afternoon meetings. Before night 12 bills and one proposed constitutional amendment had been introduced in the senate.

Fred Minor of Denton, starting his third term, was elected speaker of the house unopposed. He was one of three or four persons who had been unanimously elected to that important post in the memory of present political observers.

Hardin Heads Senate

Carl Hardin of Stephenville likewise was elected president pro tempore of the senate by unanimous vote. Hardin began his service in the senate six years ago.

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller presided over the opening senate session. One week from today, former Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco will be inaugurated lieutenant governor to succeed Miller, who is ending his sixth year in that office. Tomorrow both houses will hear a message from Gov. Dan Moody. A week hence Texas will have a new governor, Ross S. Sterling of Houston. Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secre-

NATHAN STRAUS LAID TO REST

Simplicity Marks Last Ceremonies

to God for the privilege of living in a world with Nathan Straus.

A strange scene it was for a funeral. Thousands of men and women crowding Fifth avenue and the side streets. Every pew in the great building was filled and over all the hush of reverence.

Black Robes

In the nearest pews sat many of the city's most distinguished men, Mayor Walker, Chancellor Brown, of New York university, John D. Rockefeller Jr., and others, including Benny Leonard, the prize-fighter friend of Mr. Straus, of equal importance. On the altar were the rabbis and Professor Phelps in robes of black that made them resemble judges of a superior court.

All that was human of him lay before them, so starkly simple that it seemed incongruous in so curiously beautiful a place. The coffin was of unpainted pine, squared and without a suggestion of ornament, without a blossom to relieve its austerity. So he had wished it.

Eight policemen, preceded by officers, carried the coffin into the temple when the cortege came through Central Park from the San Remo where he lived.

Glowed in Race

It was not to be forgotten that Nathan Straus was a Jew and lattently glowed with pride in that birthright. The very breadth of his beneficence—the lodging houses of the panic days, the preventorium for sickly children at Lakewood, the pasteurized milk foundation, the campaign for Zion and the endless giving to all—emphasized it to those who followed him.

In less than an hour after the eight policemen had lowered the coffin from their shoulders, they swung it on high again and strode out with it, through the crowd now so dense that it was with difficulty that a path was cleared. As the hearse rolled away, 50 automobiles followed, carrying Nathan Straus's son; Nathan, who is junior no longer, and Nathan Straus's daughter, Mrs. Irving Lehman, and other relatives and close friends.

Placed in Vault

The honorary pallbearers included the mayor, Chancellor Brown, Arthur Brisbane, Jacob Billikoff, Adrain La Forge, the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Adolph S. Ochs, George Foster Peabody, Julian W. Mack, John D. Rockefeller Jr., Simon F. Rothschild, Julius Rosenwald, Felix M. Warburg, Max J. Kohler, Dr. Leopold Stieglitz, Dr. E. M. Bluestone, Benny Leonard, Samuel Strauss and Dr. David De Sola Pool.

Trustees of the temple followed. Supreme Court Justice Irving Lehman, former United States Senator James O'Gorman, Aldermanic President Joseph McKee, John F. Curry, leader of Tammany hall, Health Commissioner Shirley Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, George Gordon Battle—there were scores more of distinguished men and women.

From the temple, the cortege rolled south and east over the Queensborough bridge to Beth El cemetery where the pine box was placed in a vault beside the body of his wife—in death undivided—as the Kaddish was intoned. So passed into earth Nathan Straus, his work completed, his destiny fulfilled.

The total farm income for 1930 is expected by the department of agriculture to be about $9,950,000,000.

Court Asked to Issue Injunction Halting Work on Young Courthouse

An application for an injunction halting construction of the new Young county courthouse at Graham was filed Tuesday with Judge Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th district court on behalf of O. T. Anderson and J. W. Bullock. Date of hearing was set at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

The suit, the second of its kind filed within the last two months, attacks the "means and methods" of preparing the warrants with which the new structure is to be financed and claims that the outgoing members of the commissioners court were not qualified to let the contracts.

Contract for the building, to cost $297,772, was awarded several weeks ago after Judge Montgomery declined to enjoin the proceedings, ruling that the warrants were technically in order and the commissioners qualified.

The fight against the construction of the courthouse is linked with a county seat controversy in which a group of citizens are petitioning for an election to vote the seat from Graham to Newcastle.

Directors and Officers of Four Banks Named at Annual Meetings Tuesday

Wichita Falls Institutions in Good Shape With Large Reserves, Reports to Stockholders Reveal

The annual stockholders meetings of the four banks of Wichita Falls, were held Tuesday afternoon. At each of the meetings reports were read by the officers to the stockholders and other data given those interested as regards the banks.

The stockholders of the Wichita State Bank and Trust company elected the following directors, who have served the past year, John Hirschi, W. B. Hamilton, N. H. Martin, E. M. Mann, T. J. Waggoner, Pat H. Simmons and Lester Jones. Following the close of the stockholders meeting the directors met and elected all the old officers, as follows: John Hirschi, president; Pat H. Simmons, active vice president and cashier; J. T. Waggoner, vice president; Lester Jones, vice president and cashier; I. W. Karrenbrock, assistant cashier; R. V. Fite, assistant cashier; W. L. Stewart Gill, assistant cashier.

The stockholders of the First National bank made no change in the directorate, the following being re-elected: R. S. Allen, E. P. Bass, J. M. Bland, J. S. Bridwell, W. D. Cline, W. M. Coleman, W. P. Ferguson, Chas. I. Francis, Fred M. Gates, R. E. Huff, P. J. Lea, C. E. McCutchen, Carter McGregor, W. M. McGregor, A. M. Miller, J. T. Montgomery, J. F. O'Donohoe, T. W. Roberts and T. B. Wilson.

The directors, following the adjournment of the stockholders, elected the former officers of the institution, as follows: R. E. Huff, chairman of the board; W. M. McGregor, president; C. E. McCutchen, vice president; Carter McGregor, vice president; A. M. Miller, cashier; W. U. McCutchen, assistant cashier; Robert K. French, assistant cashier.

The City National bank stockholders added the name of J. Anderson Kemp as a member of the board of directors. Other members are A. H. Britain, C. E. Basham, Orville Bullington, C. H. Clark, L. H. Cullum, T. P. Duncan, J. T. Harrell, R. O. Harvey, Leslie Humphrey, Oral Jones, N. H. Martin, J. L. McMahon, J. J. Perkins, W. L. Robertson, C. W. Snider and F. P. Timberlake.

The directors meeting followed the stockholders meeting and elected all the old officers as follows: J. T. Harrell, president; W. L. Robertson, vice president; C. E. Basham, vice president; Oral Jones, vice president and cashier; W. S. Abbott, assistant cashier and trust officer; R. E. Basham, assistant cashier; J. L. Randel, assistant cashier; H. S. Davis, auditor.

The Security National bank made no changes in the personnel of its officers. Recently J. C. Mytinger was chosen president and assumed his duties Jan. 1. Other officers are: J. I. Staley, chairman of the board; N. M. Clifford, active vice president; J. A. Richolt, vice president; J. A. Staley, vice president; J. G. Hardin, vice president; Myron A. Ellis, cashier; R. L. Mathis, assistant cashier.

In the stockholders meetings reports were made of the past year activities and approval was given the officers for the splendid results attained. The banks of Wichita Falls are in an excellent condition and during the past year have built up large reserves in their resources.

Seymour Man Sentenced On Forgery Charge

Special to The Record News

SEYMOUR, Texas, Jan. 13.—Thomas Ribble, 30, was sentenced to two years in the state peitentiary when a jury in district court here Tuesday found him guilty on a forgery charge. Ribble was arrested in Big Spring on Dec. 20. He was specifically charged with signing the name of a fictitious company to a check.

Car Cantrell, 22, was convicted on a liquor transportation charge and sentenced to 15 months imprisonment.

STATE SOLONS BEGIN WORK

Moody's Message Slated In Legislature Today

tary of state, presided over the house until Minor was chosen as speaker.

New Constitution Urged

Senator John W. Hornsby of Austion introduced six bills and one joint resolution. The joint resolution calls for a constitutional convention to be held in Austin the second Tuesday in May, 1933, to frame a new state constitution. The referendum on the proposition will be held in the general election of 1932. Each senatorial district would choose three delegates to the convention.

One of Senator Hornsby's bills would allow quarterly payment of taxes, Nov. 1, Feb. 1, May 1, and Aug. 1.

One million dollars is asked for in Senator Hornsby's bill to erect a state office building to relieve overcrowded conditions in the state capitol. One-half of the amount would be taken from the funds of the state highway department, the other half from the general revenue fund.

Repair Measure

Senator Hornsby introduced another bill asking for $1,000,000 to be used in fireproofing and renovating the state capitol, the governor, the attorney general and the chairman of the board of control to direct the work.

Another bill introduced by Senator Hornsby would prevent county commissioners courts from paving more than 15 per cent for collection of delinquent taxes.

A trio of bills introduced by Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls proposed to validate irrigation district bonds in Wichita and adjoining counties, to hold an election on the creation of a junior college in Wichita Falls, and the institution of a system of paying taxes twice a year instead of annually. Governor Moody today agreed to submit the semi-annual payment of taxes as an emergency measure.

The senate rushed through the mileage and per diem bill, paying the traveling expenses and increased salaries of its members. The bill carried an appropriation of $200,000. Fifty thousand dollars more was appropriated in another bill passed, to pay the contingent expenses of the session.

All of the senate standing committees were named and most of the officers elected. "Senator" Bob Barker of Fort Worth was re-elected secretary of the senate.

Davis Brothers Lodged in Jail

A. L. Stubblefield, city plainclothes officer, and E. L. Kincaid, deputy sheriff, returned here Tuesday afternoon from Palestine with three of five persons arrested there several weeks ago and wanted here in connection with the burglary of the C. H. Parker grocery on Grant street and the theft of an automobile from the United Producers company last November.

Robert and Freddie Lee Davis, brothers of D. I. and Colquitt Davis, one of whom was killed and the other under a death penalty in Oklahoma for the slaying of a deputy sheriff near Ardmore recently, are two of the men returned here. Jesse B. Mays is the third.

Two women, Lois Russell and the wife of Freddie Lee Davis, also wanted in connection with the charges here, were to be returned Tuesday night or Wednesday by George Anderson, assistant district attorney, and Ben T. Smith, deputy sheriff, who stayed over in Palestine for an investigation there in connection with the arrest of the five persons.

The grand jury here last week returned indictments against the three men and Mrs. Davis. The other woman is returned on a warrant issued here Monday.

Bill Proposes Cut In Attorney General Staff

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13. (AP)—The Murray program of strict economy began in earnest after delivery of his message today when Senator Tom Anglin, Holdenville, Democrat, chairman of the senate appropriations committee, introduced a bill cutting the number of assistant attorneys general from 11 to 5.

TOWNSHIP VOTE CALLED JAN. 20

Cotton County to Settle Old Controversy

Special to The Record News

WALTERS, Okla., Jan. 13. —A special election called by the county commissioners for Tuesday, Jan. 20, will settle the question of whether or not township government shall be abolished in Cotton county. The official call was issued by the commissioners at their regular meeting Monday, Jan. 5.

Township government in Cotton county was abolished by a special bill passed by the state legislature in 1927. Since that time all duties which had been performed by township officers have been performed by the county commissioners and other county officers. This year, however, township tax levies were protested by the Rock Island railroad on the ground that abolishment of township government by legislative act was illegal inasmuch as the constitution of the state provides it shall be done by vote of the people.

The commissioners consented to call the election after petitions containing the request and bearing the names of 1,169 Cotton county voters had been filed with them. This method is believed to be the quickest way to settle the matter, as it would require several months at least to carry the matter through the courts to establish the legality of the legislative enactment.

Colorful Banquet Honors Iowa Park Volunteer Firemen

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Jan. 13.—Iowa Park Volunteer Firemen were entertained by appreciative citizens of the town with a two course banquet served at the First Methodist church Monday evening. The serving of this banquet has become an annual event sponsored by those who have had the benefit of free fire protection service, and is offered as tribute to the boys who have answered calls not for money or glory, but for the privilege of service.

Beautifully decorated tables carried a central fire truck with miniature firemen climbing a ladder and ranged as though in actual service. Closer inspection revealed that each miniature figure bore the name of one of the company. It was stated that this central truck was made to symbolize the new truck recently bought by the city and that the two smaller trucks placed at either end of the table represented the old truck and the one now under repair and expected daily.

Miniature truck place cards bearing the names of each member of the department found all firemen placed and ready for the treat. T. J. Pace, toastmaster, with humorous remarks, took charge of the program and invocation was offered by the Church of Christ pastor, Rev. Clarence B. Williams. Short talks of commendation were given by the four pastors of the town, Rev. Clark H. Russell, G. N. Neafus, Clarence B. Williams and W. S. Lowrance.

Feminine guests, present by special invitation, were Misses Nellie Cowart, city clerk, and Billie Rodgers, chief operator for the Southwestern Telephone company, Mrs. G. N. Neafus, Mrs. Helen Smith, Mrs. G. A. Hoge, and Misses Katherine Sue Ralston and Mary Anna Bevill who rendered the musical program of the evening.

L. C. Denny Jr., fire chief, made an interesting report of the work during 1930.

Those present were T. J. Pace, Curtis Sewell, L. C. Denny Jr., B. A. Moor, Rev. Clark H. Russell, Rev. C. B. Williams, A. H. Smith, R. A. Dahl, R. R. Bail Used as Fine

DULUTH, Minn.—A local Communist was put out today. He had been sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse. When he arrived at the jail next day to serve his tarm, he found the $100 bail he had posted had been taken up as a fine. He protested futilely.

Federated Mission Board Hears December Reports

Mrs. G. R. Ellis, who presided at the final meeting of her regime as president when the executive board of the Federated Missionary societies met at the day nursery Tuesday morning, has established a precedent in that office. She was never absent from an executive board meeting, nor from a quarterly meeting, attended all welfare council meetings and was never known to be tardy, it was announced. One thing that will be invaluable to children in the day nursery was stressed while she was president, the dignity of work. Children were constantly taught that it was no disgrace to work.

Reports were given by chairmen of various committees including one by Mrs. J. Lem Keevil who announced the First Baptist church would have charge of the services at the county farm, Sunday, Jan. 18. On Feb. 1, the "Singing Mothers" of Austin school will give the program.

Mrs. W. H. Downing reported that Floral Heights Methodist church will hold services at the jail Friday, Jan. 16.

There were 1,488 children cared for at the day nursery during the month of December, according to the report given by Mrs. Fred T. Datson, superintendent, making an average of 57 per day. The treat given the children of the nursery when Mrs. R. R. Clark took them to see Tom Sawyer, was spoken of and the cooperation of the Yellow Cab company who sent one of their trucks to take the children.

Announcement was made of the annual luncheon to be given Jan. 29 at the Forum clubhouse at 12 o'clock sharp. In keeping with the general trend, the price of the luncheon has been reduced to 50 cents. A program committee is working on the program to be given on that date.

Many new members were introduced and the following were registered present: Mesdames G. R. Ellis, O. T. Ailes, J. R. McKinney, Carrie Wilcox, J. G. Oakley, S. E. Trevathan, Charles Dent, D. B. Greene, J. Lem Keevil, L. R. Cowling, B. P. Williams, J. W. Ginsburg, M. L. Batey, J. E. H. Railey, M. T. Chamberlin, Harry Weeks, W. M. Mitchell, H. P. Ledford, Charles Harr, Patrick Henry, Harry Hines, Q. B. Lee, Homer Lee, R. R. Clark, Horrace Robbins, W. H. Downing, J. A. Kemp, A. B. Maples, Irvin J. Vogel, J. N. Sherrill, W. P. Ferguson, D. C. Copelin, T. L. Bridges, O. C. Dickson, Fritz, L. L. Boardman W. M. Huckabee, Webster and R. O. Harvey.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

There's one of the fads of late years that hasn't quite gone to sleep. Dismantled Tom Thumb golf grounds may be a tragic thing—but the cross word puzzle hound still works his little cross words.

It has been forcibly brought to our mind because in the quiet of an evening when we thought to do beneficial reading at home, we found we had no vocabulary whatever—that is none in answer to a cross word questioner.

We would suggest that some maker of cross words try one that is all adjectives. Adjectives are the words we need to develop. We have heard hard-hearted members of the press decry the use of these parts of speech. But we insist that events told descriptively mean more to most readers of a woman's page than events mentioned casually.

Imagine what it would mean if one could use the adjectives one wishes in every story. There would at least be excitement and telephone calls at times from one end of a city to another.

It would be like the old game of which everyone dreams once in a lifetime—the opportunity to tell the truth—the whole truth, in answer to every question for just one day.

We have known persons who pride themselves on this cruel habit. They say "Tell the truth and shame the devil." Personally we believe that malice substituted for truth and often passing for wit, delights the devil.

Malice isn't a thing to fill the heart now. We find that organ in our own being suffering constant catches. It aches when we see the crowd of men in overalls and jumpers crowding round an employment desk with anxious faces.

Idle people as a usual thing do not appeal to our sympathies. But idle people now are so different from the gang that used to crowd the corners for every excitement.

We remember them filling benches always in the little parks overlooking the Mississippi river in Memphis, Tenn. We have seen that always, where there is a place to sit, wanderers gather to watch the flotsam and jetsam going down the current of a river.

It has been going on since time began. And geological specimens indicate that the earth is millions of years old, though the date of creation has been set at something like 4,000 years B. C. Back in the days recorded when our Savior walked, there was always a crowd gathering when marvels came to pass.

Idleness, sad to say, is not like that sickness which "suspends our virtues and our vices." It strengthens one or the other of these qualities. We will be glad when people are not necessarily idle.

Greathouse Criticism Class in Archer City

Miss Dorothy Greathouse, director of the Greathouse conservatory, conducted the criticism section when the regular January criticism class was held in the home of Miss Charlene Kinder, teacher of piano and voice in the Archer City branch of the conservatory. Miss Greathouse gave a very favorable report from the Archer City school, stating the pupils show marked progress and quite a great deal of talent. A variety of selections and interesting interpretation was shown in the program.

Archer City pupils taking part on the program were Paula Jane Ikard, Nelda Rhea Roberts, Frances Mae Duren, Marjorie Cowan, Freddie Daniels, Juanita Smith, Juanita Prideaux and Peggy Maxse. Six pupils from Wichita Falls were also on the program, including Frankie Adams, Helen Gardner, Marjorie Cecil, Janet Tate, Evelyn Gardner and Dorothy Reeder.

Eczema Itched Terribly and Burned. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema broke out in little red pimples on my face, hands and arms. It itched terribly when I perspired, and used to burn. The irritation caused me to scratch the eruptions until they were so sore that I could not sleep at night. The trouble lasted three months.

"I tried different remedies but they did not help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after a few treatments there was an improvement. I continued using them and in about a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Henry Hill, 474 N. Fifth St., Memphis, Tenn.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. R, Malden, Mass."

Dorothy Dix Tells Some of Reasons Marriages Fail

It is obvious that when the average man marries he is head over heels in love with the girl he leads to the altar. Otherwise he would not burden himself with her support and cramp his style by being bound down by domesticity.

It is equally obvious that when a woman marries she desires to retain her husband's affections because her whole well being, both physical and spiritual, depends upon her doing so. To lose her husband is a blow at once to her heart, her pride and her pocketbook. No suffering can come to a woman greater than loving a husband who has ceased to care for her. No humiliation can be more than knowing that she has not had the power to hold the man she has won.

For a wife to lose her husband is an open confession of her failure as a woman. Also, when a wife loses her husband's love she generally loses her home and her meal ticket. For the grudgingly given alimony of a divorcee seldom enables her to live in the style to which she has been accustomed.

It being true, then, that when men marry they are in love, and that it is the most important thing in the world to their wives to keep them in that state, why is it that so many men so soon fall out of love with their wives and so few women seem able to keep their husbands enamoured of them beyond the honeymoon?

Everywhere you go you see disillusioned husbands for whom their wives have ceased to have any vestige of charm and who are either chasing after other women or else have settled down to a grim, grouchy martyrdom of domestic boredom. And everywhere you go you see deserted wives beating upon their breasts and rending the air with their wails over their husbands having wearied of them and no longer showing them any affection.

Of course, when a wife loses her husband's love it is not always her fault. There are men who are born philanderers whom no one woman could keep enchanted, not even if she practiced all of her arts of a supervamp upon them and was as beautiful as all the cinema stars rolled into one. Also there are men with dried up, withered hearts, emotional paupers, who exhaust their whole supply of sentiment during courtship and are thereafter bankrupts with no more to give.

But, generally speaking, when a woman marries a man who is in love with her and loses that love it is her own fault, and it is usually because she is too lazy or too stupid or too overconfident.

Most wives lose out through sheer laziness. They look upon marriage as a graft instead of a job. They refuse to recognize the fact that to make a comfortable home and keep a man feeling that it is worth while to support that home is a life sentence at hard labor. So they never even bother to learn how to cook. They don't trouble to have the house looking bright and cheerful and attractive when a tired man comes home of an evening. They don't make the effort to keep themselves looking pretty and tidy nor do they attempt to be interesting and amusing and entertaining companions.

So the poor man's dream of a home goes crashing down like a house of cards. He ceases to look at his wife, because she is no treat to the eyes, and he wanders away from his own fireside because it is uncomfortable and because there is nobody there to talk to him who has anything to say that is worth listening to.

Then there are the stupid wives who lose out simply because they have not sense enough to play the game. A stupid woman can be married to a man for 40 years without ever finding out anything more important about him than that he likes two lumps of sugar in his coffee and hates boiled mutton and bread puddings. She never finds out what subjects are taboo to him. Nor does she ever learn how to rub his fur the right way.

She is the kind of woman who, when her husband tries to tell her of his hopes and plans and ambitious, interrupts him in the very midst of his revelation of the thing that is nearest to his heart to tell him that she saw the cutest hat downtown and it was only $10.35, marked down from $20. And the result is that he turns to his secretary for understanding and sympathy.

She is the kind of woman who never sees that her husband is simply starving for flattery and that he wants to be told how handsome and young he looks and how clever he is and how well he dances. She calls his attention to his faults and shortcomings and she is heartbroken when she finds out that he has left her and gone to eat out of the hands of some woman who feeds him angel's food instead of administering bitter pills.

And there are the overconfident women who lose out because they believe that the days of miracles have not yet passed and that there is some magic in the marriage ceremony that keeps a man loving his wife, no matter how sloppy and slovenly she is, nor how tiresome, nor how she nags him.

She feels that marriage gives her a death clutch on her husband, and she never realizes that all that the wedding ceremony does is to give a wife the inside track on other women, but that if she wins out against them she has to do it by showing speed and class and technique.

For catching a man is easy, but keeping him requires industry and brains and staying powers.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
Smock Cleverly Pocketed
Pattern 2085
By ANNE ADAMS

New fashion trends find their way to that most useful of all garments—the somck. No longer does it hang in clumsy unbecoming manner, yet its comfort and ease are still maintained. Slightly shaped and belted, with flattering collar and cleverly designed pockets, the model sketched is the last word in the world of smocks. Isn't it attractive?

Pattern 2085 may be made of linen, cotton broadcloth, rep, sateen, cretonne, rayon, etc. A colorful print is always charming, yet solid colors are quite popular, too. Of course, the smock may be worn without a belt, if desired.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 34 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Send for our winter fashion book, containing exquisite models for adults and children and an excellent assortment of transfer patterns and stamped novelties. Price fifteen cents. Little Theater Star to Appear As Forum Artist

Eloise Stirling Hirt, formerly of Pasadena, Calif., and one of the outstanding stars of the Little Theater movement in the Southwest, will be the special attraction of the January artist program at the Forum clubhouse, Jan. 22, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Hirt will give a lecture and interpretation of "Death Takes a Holiday," arranged by Walter Ferris, from the Italian of Alberta Casels. This play was one of the Broadway successes last season and is chosen by Mrs. Hirt for presentation as an important example of poetic drama. She has just given it at Waco at the 39th anniversary of the Woman's club of that city and on presentation in Dallas, so much of sheer mystery and poetry was in the reading that men were held equally spell bound with women in the audience.

Mrs. Hirt was associate director and founder of the Pasadena Community Playhouse, which has been in the forefront of the Little Theater movement since the beginning. She was also director of Santa Anna Little Theater and has been on the faculty of the Columbia College of Expression, Chicago.

Mrs. G. L. Shapard will introduce the speaker at the forum and Mrs. R. S. Peterson will be chairman of arrangements for the occasion. Hostesses will include Mesdames Ralph DeShong, John Hampton, Carter McGregor, S. S. McKenney, H. T. Wood, John B. Rhea, S. H. Rider, A. R. Prothro, J. S. Riggs, Carl Worsham and Miss Mary McIlheran.

Imaginary Town 'Podunk' Thriving Village In New York

PODUNK, N. Y., Jan. 13. (AP)—Yes, there is such a place.

You writers who think it nonexistent and use it slightingly merely as an imaginary appelation must think up another one.

Podunk will have you know it is a real, up and coming Hamlet, whose population of eight families has its Main street (paved), electricity in every home and mail delivery to every door. It's not far from Ithaca and about the same distance from Watkins Glen.

How did it get that name? Tradition has it that an old mill wheel was responsible. During the summer when the water was low, the wheel turned slowly and noisily, and seemed to cry protestingly under the weight of the failing water: "Po-dunk, Po-dunk, Po-dunk."

Duncan Merchants Choose Frederick Man as Manager

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., Jan. 13.—C. M. Powell, a resident of Frederick for the last 20 years and a well-known Southwest Oklahoma business man, became manager of the Duncan Retail Merchants' association Monday as the result of a transaction closed late Saturday.

J. R. Grant, who came here from Frederick three years ago to assume the management of the association, retires as manager but will remain with the organization in the collection department.

Powell was manager of an ice plant at Marlow last year and was formerly in business at Altus but has made his home in Frederick for the last two decades.

How Weak Nervous Women Grow Stronger

Feel Better, Look Younger and Have Steadier Nerves

If you only knew—you rundown, anemic women—who are dragging yourself around on your "nerve"—what a wonderful increase in strength and health Tanlac will give you, you wouldn't hesitate a moment about going to your druggist and getting a big bottle of this splendid medicine.

Mrs. Dora Robillard, of Bellingham, Mass., R.F.D. 1, Box 77, says: "I had no digestion nor appetite. Sick headaches laid me up in bed three days at a time. I couldn't even do light housework. Now I do all our cooking and washing in addition to the other work."

Tanlac is as free from harmful drugs as the water you drink—only Nature's own medicinal tonic herbs. Druggists know this and for the past 10 years have recommended it to men and women who need a quick "pick up" that will put them on their feet and give them a new interest in life.

So confident are the makers of Tanlac that if you are not helped by it, you get your money back on request.

HOURS at the opera, hours in business, hours out-of-doors—always the feeling of perfect freedom when Kotex is your sanitary protection. Kotex is shaped to fit under any sort of gown. It is highly absorbent (5 times more by test than surgical cotton). It is guaranteed to give more protection, longer protection than any other sanitary pad.

Kotex deodorizes. It is soft—not merely a surface softness but a delicate, lasting softness. It is adjustable, because of the layer construction of its absorbent filler, so that you can change its size to suit your changing needs. It may (and this is important) be worn on either side with equal efficiency.

It is disposable, easily, quickly—one very important reason for preferring this modern sanitary protection.

Parent Education Club Has Unusual Morning Program

Unusually interesting papers that were of real instruction to parents in their study of child life, featured the meeting of the Austin school Parent Education club when they met at the school Tuesday morning. "Home Recreation" given by Mrs. J. B. King, inaugurated a program that was of vital aid in the intangible touch between parent and child.

Mrs. King suggested that games be played at home by the entire family as an ideal way of developing good sportsmanship in children. Tools for creative work were an interesting way, she said to teach a child self amusement and she urged an occasional evening's outing for the entire family.

"Children's reading" was discussed by Mrs. C. R. Neal who urged that mothers use the public library and encourage children to do the same. Good literature, both in book and magazine should be at hand for the child who will read at home, Mrs. Neal said.

A paper "When the Report Card Comes Home," prepared by Dr. Garry Cleveland Myers and read by Mesdames H. B. Cloughley and Reese Carter proved of much interest. A word of praise for good grades was stressed as more effective than an hour of punishment for poor ones. The author made a sympathetic plea for the naturally slow child who is constantly compared with his quicker relatives or comrades until he develops a sad inferiority complex.

A discussion of children's reactions to Christmas in the home, the school and the church, which was planned before Christmas and was to be based on individual experience proved very interesting. Each member present related entirely different experiences, all tending to show that a child's instincts lean toward kindness and generosity.

Mrs. J. B. King was chosen leader of the circle to fill the place of Mrs. Felicie Downs who resigned on account of ill health. Mesdames J. T. Watson, E. J. Fisher and Will Roushe were assigned special papers for the lesson of Jan. 27.

Members present were Mesdames C. R. Neal, H. R. Cloughley, O. D. Scott, J. B. King, Reese Carter, W. Roushe, O. F. Bagwell, E. J. Fisher, Z. W. Heath, J. T. Watson, R. C. Honea and H. C. Hammond.

Ten Churches Join In Quanah Service

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Jan. 13.—Song leaders from the Churches of Christ of Childress, Vernon, Goodlett, Forestburg, North Groesbeck, Acme, Kirkland, Lazare, Eldorado, Okla., and Quanah were in attendance at a special song service held here at the Church of Christ when several hundred persons filled the church to overflowing and took part in the singing.

Rev. Ben M. Taylor, Vernon, spoke on the subject "Developing Song Leaders," and T. G. McCord of Chillicothe spoke upon "Correlation of Songs to the Message of the Service." Reverend Pittman of the Childress church also made a brief talk in behalf of establishment of "Singing Schools" where leaders might be taught.

The third Sunday in February was selected as the time, and Childress Church of Christ the place for the next special song service, which it was decided should be held monthly hereafter.

Rule Club Names Officers for Year

Special to The Record News

RULE, Texas, Jan. 13.—The Philadelphian Federated Study club held an annual business meeting in the home of Mrs. C. O. Davis and elected the following officers for the coming year: president, Mrs. J. A. Cassle; first vice president, Mrs. Willie Geer; second vice president, Mrs. Winfred Cole; recording secretary, Mrs. Jas. E. Lindsey; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marlin Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Andrew A. Bradford; parliamentarian, Mrs. T. P. Hornback; critic, Mrs. J. D. Westbrook; reporter, Mrs. Server Leon; custodian, Mrs. W. D. Payne; state delegate, Mrs. E. B. Harris; district delegate, Mrs. M. W. Rogers.

The Philadelphian club is entering its ninth year's work with 30 members. Lots have been purchased by the club where a clubhouse and public library building will be erected at some future date.

One and three-fourths acres planted in watermelons netted M. M. Kerr, Oklahoma farmer, $350 last year.

High School P.-T.A. Hears Interesting Thrift Progaam

Horace Thornton and Imogene Waggoner were winners in an essay contest on "Thrift" sponsored by Miss Eva Weber at the High school and Junior college and their papers formed an interesting portion of the program at the regular monthly meeting of the P.-T. A. Tuesday afternoon. Dr. J. W. Cantwell awarded the blue ribbons with appropriate remarks congratulatory to the winners.

C. I. Francis made the main address, speaking on "Thrift in Business." Reared, he stated by old fashioned views that taught one should save something from all that was earned, he could not enter altogether into the "spend" campaign of the day. He urged economical spending, stating that no one should spend what he did not have and stressing his belief that installment buying was as much a drawback to business as a help.

The Girls Glee club, under the leadership of Mrs. Hermione Vaughn, opened the meeting with a group of lovely songs and the president, Mrs. Paul Barnett, presided in the short business meeting preceding the program. Mrs. Walter Cline introduced the speakers after the program was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Homer Lee.

Hostesses were Mesdames R. D. Bone, Fred Sehmann, T. R. Boone, Ed Peterson, W. L. Underwood, N. A. Ferguson and W. H. Costley.

The FACULTY
Dr. Pierce's Clinic

Dr. R. V. PIERCE met with such unusual success in his private practice that he gathered around him a number of eminent specialists and surgeons and established a Clinic and Hospital. Today this Clinic is of the same high caliber as ever. The physicians still find Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a most dependable tonic for patients who are rundown and need their digestion improved and their blood enriched.

A strong, healthy body depends upon the right number of rich, red blood cells. Thousands of people have a low blood count. To this may be attributed skin troubles, rundown systems, and even more serious ailments. Rich, red blood is the body's protector against infection and disease. It is dangerous to let the blood count remain below normal.

If you tire easily, lack pep, if your skin is not clear, if your appetite is gone, you owe it to yourself to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When you take this vegetable tonic your appetite picks up, your whole body feels invigorated. You regain your vim, vigor and vitality.

It can be had at any drug store. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., if you want free medical advice, using the symptom blank wrapped with each bottle of "GMD." On receipt of 10c Dr. Pierce will send you an acquaintance package of

FOR ANY CHILD

CHILDREN are happy and carefree by nature, so when they cry for no apparent reason any careful mother worries. No one can always guess just what is wrong but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as baby has a fretful spell, is feverish and cross and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes it is constipation. Just keep Castoria handy and give freely for any of the above conditions; relief will follow promptly.

All through babyhood, Castoria is a mother's standby, and wise mothers do not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Just increase the dose of Castoria and keep the youngster's stomach sweet and the bowels in good order.

VOCATIONAL CLASS PLANNED

Prospective Students To Meet Here Jan. 19

Organization of vocational classes in the public schools of Wichita Falls will be made Monday afternoon, Jan. 19, from 2:30 to 6 o'clock at the Young Women's Christian associations rooms, when Wenonah Roach Ware will meet young men and women of this city who may be interested in the training.

William S. Rosamond, supervisor of vocational education of the Wichita Falls public schools, and director of guidance and placement, the United States Department of Labor, has mailed letters to one thousand citizens giving them full information concerning the federal and state plan of vocational training.

Federal and State Aid

The work, so stated by Mr. Rosamond, is supported by funds received from the federal, state and Wichita Falls public schools. In the division of funds, which goes to employ teachers, the state pays 50 per cent while the federal and local support is 25 per cent from each source.

The plan is to take young men and women who are employed, age 15 years and older, and give them any kind of vocational training desired. The employer must consent and aid by permitting the employe to attend school at least one hour each day without disturbing the employe's salary.

In the meeting to be held Monday the purpose is to have all interested come and report which line of endeavor they are most interested in. By this means the various classes can be formed and actual training soon be under way.

The work is supported by the department of labor for the reason that men and women or boys and girls can be given better and more wholesome training, thereby making them of more value to the employer, also enabling the student to perfect himself for a high position in the business world.

According to those interested in the work it is said to be of great importance and of real merit, and in the larger cities where the work has been carried on for the past few years, excellent results have been attained. In some cities special quarters have been provided for the classes and even expensive equipment purchased.

Employers Asked to Aid

If the plan is given sufficient support in Wichita Falls it is believed that the vocational classes will grow until a building separate from the public school structures will be necessary.

Firms and individuals who have young men and women in their employ are requested to cooperate with the movement as far as possible. Many of the larger public service concerns throughout the nation are giving loyal support to vocational training, some even insisting that employes attend, more especially boys and girls within their teens.

For the work in Wichita Falls during the present year the sum of $4,000 is available for training and teaching those who desire to attend the classes.

Another feature of the work is the placing of students in jobs after their courses have been completed.

REPEAL MOVE

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 13. (AP)—A resolution to place the New Jersey legislature on record as favoring repeal of the 18th amendment was prepared for introduction in the senate today by Senator A. Croser Reeves, acting for the Republican joint conference committee.

Capudine Stops "Achy" Pains ...from Colds

Two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water—that's the thing to remember when those dull, aching pains start in your head and body from colds. Its power to bring almost immediate relief to "grippy" pains and to headaches of all kinds will amaze you—just try it once. Thousands of users are also finding Capudine supremely good to relieve stabbing pains of neuralgia and neuritis.

Being liquid, Capudine acts immediately, often in one-third the time required by other forms. It contains no narcotics, does not disturb digestion and is approved by druggists. Even with the most severe headache, relief comes very quickly.

Sold at Drug Stores, 10c, 30c, and 60c bottles and by the dose at soda fountains. Be sure to say Capudine.

State Expert Tells Ad Club Of Need for Better Water System Here

Convincing arguments for the issuance of bonds for improvement of the water system here were expounded before members of the Ad club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel by Dr. N. F. Williams, chief veterinarian for the state livestock sanitary commission, who declared in effect that the survival of any civilization depends upon successful sanitation.

livestock sanitary commission, who declared in effect that the survival of any civilization depends upon successful sanitation.

Population of the earth has upset nature's plan of existence, the speaker said. Man, the youngest of the animals, he continued, has no chance against parasites and micro-organisms unless he compensates nature in some way. The fall of Egypt, Greece and Rome was due to neglect of sanitary and protective measures, he said.

Referring specifically to the water situation here, Dr. Williams declared that the city was fortunate to avoid a serious epidemic in 1918 and 1919, and that such an experience should serve as a warning. Further contamination of the local water supply can not be viewed except with alarm, and should be prevented by extensive safeguards, according to his analysis of the problems.

"This is the age of a battle between 'bugs' and humanity, and the tide of battle favors the bugs," Dr. Williams said. "Any sanitary proposition that needs attention should be taken care of immediately. You can't compromise with infection."

The open ditch running from Lake Wichita to the present filtration plant, presenting 10 miles of shore line, is one of the worst possible menaces to health in this community, according to Herbert Voelcker, chairman of the water improvements committee, who spoke briefly of the proposed improvements.

C. A. Spragins Jr., president, appointed T. A. Bradley and Mrs. R. E. Davis as a program committee for the next five months.

Potentate

W. B. Hamilton was elected potentate of Maskat Shrine temple Tuesday night at the annual election of officers. Mr. Hamilton is to serve for one year.

SHRINE NAMES W. B. HAMILTON

New Officers Elected At Annual Meet

W. B. Hamilton, Wichita Falls oil man and civic leader, was named potentate of Maskat Shrine temple Tuesday at the annual meeting and election of officers. Mr. Hamilton succeeds Ed Peterson who has served during the past year as potentate.

Other officers elected were Syd A. Gaines, chief rabban; C. A. Rogers, assistant rabban; Dr. J. H. Fletcher, high priest and prophet; and J. M. Spoonts, oriental guide. Mr. Hamilton probably will name 11 appointive offices Wednesday, it was said.

Albert Ellis was retained as recorder and Lester S. Jones was elected treasurer.

Representatives to the imperial council were elected as follows: W. B. Hamilton, Ed Peterson, Albert Ellis, Guy Rogers and Walter D. Cline. The latter is a representative at large. These representatives are to attend the national meeting of the imperial council to be held in Cleveland July 14, 15 and 16.

Representatives to the Texas Shrine council were elected as follows: W. D. Cline, W. B. Hamilton, Ed Peterson, Albert Ellis and Guy Rogers.

During the annual meeting Tuesday night the reports of activities during 1930 were read and discussion held of plans and arrangements for the new year.

The officers elected Tuesday are to serve for one year. The holders of the four offices below potentate ascend from year to year to the next highest office until the first position is reached.

TRADE LEADER STUDIES TEXAS

Resources Here Only 'Scratched,' Says Stone

A vast empire with almost immeasurable natural resources offering a limitless field for industrial and commercial expansion is the picture of Texas drawn by Judge V. H. Stone, pioneer lawyer, miner, rancher, oil man and farmer of Wyoming, who is now in this city in connection with an economic survey of this state.

Visiting Texas for the first time in his life—he is now almost 70—Judge Stone began his survey of the state about five months ago in cooperation with Leslie Orear, who for several years was connected with the Associated Press. The mission on which he is engaged grew out of wide recognition accorded him by business men throughout the country as a "gatherer of facts."

Known as Speaker

His experience has been such as to sharpen his perception of elements in economic development. He entered Wyoming perched on the seat of a high wagon behind eight pairs of horses, which was the customary means of travel at that time. Always maintaining a law office and a law practice, he has figured extensively throughout his past 40 years in practically every kind of industry in the West.

Since the world war, Judge Stone has been in considerable demand as a speaker. By chance, he filled in as a speaker in Denver in the early days of the war, and called his talk, "The Man Behind the Man Behind the Gun." The speech attracted immediate attention, and was the direct occasion of his being drafted for public work.

During recent years, he has spoken before hundreds of civic clubs and the conventions of such organizations, before manufacturers' associations, and has written extensively for commercial publications.

Judge Stone declared that his survey of Texas is being made in response to a nation-wide demand for authentic information relative to Texas. The reports which are demanded daily, he said, are those which have in them no local partialities or prejudices. He is compiling data relative to the topography, soil, climate, water, population, railroads, and mineral deposits to be found in all sections of the state.

"Headache" Period Over

"My purpose is to make the facts about Texas available to business men of the country," he said. "They may draw their own analyses: I gather facts which make their conclusions possible. But my opinion is that this state's maximum development will be occasioned by a further influx of financial and industrial genius. Its resources have not yet been scratched."

Questioned relative to his opinion of national business conditions, the pioneer Wyoming visitor said:

"When a big, healthy, raw-boned country boy with a good roll of money hits the big city, his excitement carries him rapidly into a bunch of 'good fellows,' thence to the bar, and on through the gamut of such adventures. At the end, he is flat broke, but sober. Then his good blood asserts itself, he gets down to brass tacks, recovers his sense, and goes to work. If sadder, he also is wiser. Now I think our country is just emerging from such a drunken stupor. Our head is clearing. We shall soon be sober, and the wild orgy soon will be forgotten."

Judge Stone is not the only member of his family who has attained some national prominence, however. Mrs. Stone, who accompanies him on all his speaking tours, has been exceedingly active in her own right.

With an extensive oil field experience behind her in Wyoming, she came to Wichita Falls in 1918 and entered into the development of fields in this section. Soon, however, word came that her eldest son was about to land in New York, returning in a shell-shocked condition from the battle fields of France. Oil wells lost interest, and Mrs. Stone quickly disposed of her interests here to hasten to New York. Impressions of war gained through years of nursing that son back to the best possible health probably account for the fervor with which Mrs. Stone has engaged in the work of the war mothers of America. This organization is the first of the post-war organizations for women to be chartered by congress, and is rapidly increasing in influence.

Mrs. Stone is national historian for this group, and formerly was state president of Wyoming. The association devotes its major interest to the alleviation of suffering and need among world war soldiers and their families, she said. It is also engaged actively in a campaign to offset the spread of communistic, socialistic and atheistic principles in the United States, allegedly by representatives of the Soviet regime in Russia.

Mrs. Stone also was Wyoming state president for the American Legion auxiliary.

"Business was vitally interesting in former years," she said, "but since the war, it has seemed much more important to do everything we can to make the conditions of life better for everybody."

Judge Stone spoke at Burkburnett Tuesday night.

Whisky Purchases

Miss Bow was questioned on the subject of whisky purchases for her home. It was shown checks against her account for $143.80 had been used to purchase liquor.

"Miss Devoe bought everything that was needed in the home," Miss Bow replied.

Clad in a light tan ensemble and wearing a large patch on her face as the result of an operation, Miss Bow at times spoke firmly and at others was apparently nervous. She was accompanied by Rex Bell, actor and current boy-friend.

Miss Devoe was calm. She sat smiling at the counsel table. At one point, the actress leaned forward and cried out:

"All right, go ahead and sneer at me, Daisy."

Miss Devoe did not reply.

Clara Weeps

Miss Bow shed a few tears when asked if she authorized her former secretary to buy a silver dresser set initialed "C. B."

"I did not," she sobbed. "She gave it to me for my birthday and I thought she was being sweet and kind."

Lawmakers Hear Murray's Wishes

of a corrupt practices bill and revision of the constitution through a code commission.

He recommended that salaries of presidents of state schools be reduced and asked elimination of duplication in subjects taught at the Uuniversity of Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. & M. college.

Assails Lobbyists

He urged that members of faculties be required to work eight hours each day and said that would "eliminate 30 per cent of the professors" and save money.

The governor assailed "vicious lobbyists" and said "one of the worst, if not the worst of these, is the use of women, particularly those of the careless and loose character."

He charged opponents of his tax measure who have benefited by special exemptions in the past are lobbying about the capitol, holding "secret conclaves in Oklahoma City and Tulsa." He attacked the Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce as a leader in "the fraternity of Good Fellows," and said corporations had found him "proof against their pretended friendship."

Preponderance of college athletics, Murray said, was "the most deplorable thing of all our educational errors."

"It is but giving reward and applause for physical strength."

". . . the university," he says "has a department of physical education which is little more than ball-playing, or teaching the pupil how to play; 'domestic arts' such as how to keep house; 'military science,' 'mechanical training' and the like all of which properly belong to the mechanical college and should not be duplicated by expensive departments with 10 to 20 teachers each, having a salary ranging from $4,500 down to $1,800 for the teachers."

Murray urged entrance examinations for entrance to the university and said this would mean "fewer graduates and those who do graduate will have something besides a mere 'scrap of paper.' . . . We all know that the average university graduate acquires a taste far beyond his ability to satisfy by his earnings and presently . . . he becomes a 'high toned' bum."

Lobby Revealed

In extemporaneously elaborating on the message, Governor Murray said he had intereepted letters from the head of a cotton gin organization to members. He said the letters urged members to "surround the capitol" to prevent passage of a Murray sponsored measure to repeal the law placing cotton gins under corporation commission supervision.

The letters, according to Murray, said the senate sergeant-at-arms is "one of us."

Among Governor Murray's other recommendations were:

1. Audits of state departments.
2. Free seed for destitute farmers.
3. Numerous tax recommendations to reduce ad valorem taxes, 50 per cent by next June.

These included:

Net income tax on those paying federal tax at one-half the federal rate.

Increasing of corporation license tax from 50 cents to $1.50 per $1,000 capital stock.

Gross income tax on persons drawing salaries from state or subdivisions, with expenditure of funds by counties for day labor or road work in the next 12 months.

Taxation of fraternal organizations.

Taxation of dividends from public utility stocks and bonds.

Ad valorem taxation of moneys, mortgages. Credits and banks or providing payment of 3½ per cent gross income in lieu of capital and surplus.

Murray urged that congressional redistricting of the state be deferred at this session of the legislature.

He said he would not touch on oil proration, saying "as yet selfishness dominates and beclouds the issue."

Roads Oppose Two-Cent Fare

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—Three important Southwestern carriers today told the Interstate Commerce commission railroads could not compete with airplanes and that lowered coach passenger rates would not wean riders away from buses and private automobiles.

Making known their intention to fight the plan of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway company to cut coach fares to two cents a mile, the Missouri Pacific, St. Louis Southwestern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the Texas subsidiaries of the latter two filed with the commission a protest and a request that the rates be suspended and investigated.

The Frisco several weeks ago received permisison to cut day coach fares from 3.6 cents to 2 cents a mile effective Feb. 1. The plan was proposed, it was said, to meet bus and airplane competition. Today's action by the three railroads was the first indication the plan would be opposed.

The protesting roads said the only result would be to reduce their income from local traffic and eventually they believe higher freight rates would be necessary to meet the deficit.

FEEL MEAN?

Don't be helpless when you suddenly get a headache. Reach in your pocket for immediate relief. If you haven't any Bayer Aspirin with you, get some at the first drugstore you come to. Take a tablet or two and be rid of the pain. Take promptly. Nothing is gained by waiting to see if the pain will leave of its own accord. It may grow worse! Why postpone relief?

There are many times when Bayer Aspirin will "save the day." It will always ease a throbbing head. Quiet a grumbling tooth. Relieve nagging pains of neuralgia or neuritis.

Check a sudden cold. Even rheumatism has lost its terrors for those who have learned to depend on these tablets.

Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at the first suspicion of sore throat, and reduce the infection. Look for Bayer on the box—and the word Genuine in red. Genuine Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart.

Doctors find way

Who knows better than doctors what is the best way to take care of the hands? In order to avoid contracting disease themselves, doctors must wash hands frequently each day—and a surprising number of them are now using Noxzema Healing Cream after washing to soothe, heal and protect their hands.

Thousands of housewives also are most enthusiastic over Noxzema—They say after using it, redness, roughness and smarting quickly disappear and they are able to keep hands soft and beautifully white in spite of dishwashing and other household tasks.

Noxzema Skin Cream is a dainty, snow-white healing cream—instantly absorbed by the skin—not sticky or messy. 8,000,000 jars were used last year. See for yourself how wonderful it is—notice how it instantly soothes and softens the skin. Get a jar today at any drug or dept. store.

Over 8,000,000 jars of Noxzema will be used this year, thousands of them by doctors, nurses and beauty specialists.

To Everybody That Hath
A Crook's Legacy
An Expert on Love
His Wife Sues Him

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Oil producers pay out $22,000,000 to two individuals—the inventor and majority owner of a process for "cracking" oil. The inventor is Carbon Petroleum Dubbs (this is actually his name), of Pennsylvania, whose father was likewise an inventor. The owner is Mrs. Lolita Sheldon Armour, widow of J. Ogden Armour, who once had an estimated fortune of $150,000,000, most of which was dissipated at the time of his death.

Curiously enough, both the inventor and the majority owner of the stock of the oil patent were only mildly affected by the millions that came to them. Mr. Dubbs said that he was glad the matter was over with because now he "could go back to work." Mrs. Armour, accustomed to wealth, took her millions with as little enthusiasm: "So far as my personal wants and desires are concerned, the possession of money, whether large or small, means little to me."

There are thousands of poor investors to whom much less than a million dollars would change the whole meaning and aspect of life. But they are generally the ones to whom fortune never comes. Wealth seems to radiate an atmosphere of wealth and attract it like a magnet. St. Matthew knew this when he said: "Unto everyone that hath, shall be given . . . but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that he hath."

Always, after a calamity, there is a plethora of "cures." Banks have failed before and there have been recommendations before, but each new bust-up shows how lax the laws still are, how futile previous safeguards have proven to be.

Superintendent of Banks Broderick, of New York, recommends several improvements to the banking laws. It is curious that he should have waited for a bank closing to list these numerous improvements. The business, it seems, of a superintendent of banks is not simply to hold a job or take possession of a bank which cannot meet demands made upon it, but constantly to plan and improve safeguards for the interest of depositors.

Most of our public officials never look beyond their noses, until they are forced to do so. But doubtless an official who became active in recommending "cures" prior to a calamity would be looked upon as agitator with socialistic tendencies. A public official who tries to render public service has become an anomaly. Broderick, an honest, hard-working official, is burdened with the heritage of Superintendent Warder's mistakes. Warder was a crook. That explains much.

H. L. Mencken, sternest critic of the institution of marriage, is married, Dr. Arthur Frank Payne, love authority and exponent of economic security in marriage, is being sued by his wife for separation on the ground that he knows nothing about retaining the love of a true helpmate, and less about economics in the home.

Perhaps critics and authorities are best when they fail in their own philosophies. A true lover makes a poor commentator on the passions. A successful man in business is often the worst adviser to the novice.

Success, as a matter of fact, is not a good teacher. Experience is generally the fruit of disaster and failure. The man who has no reverses is stimulated rarely to thinking about them, or the cause of them.

Let us not laugh at the incompetent playwright who fails and sets up as a critic, or the $35 a week pedagog who gives a course of lectures on "Success." They may be admirably suited for their jobs.

When a gang leader has an erratic employe on the pay roll it is customary to lay him out rather than off.

A man touring the world to prove the earth is flat has been sued for back taxes. At least he now knows how it feels to be flat.

"There's a catch here somewhere," as the wrestler confidently said.

A writer wants to know what has become of all the dime novels. They're probably running as serial stories in some of the 25-cent monthlies.

From the Death House

CHARLES FITHIAN wrote a letter home the other day.

Sitting in the death house at Trenton, N. J., realizing that he is condemned to die although he has only lived 22 years, he decided that he would warn his nine brothers, back home, to walk in straighter, better way than he had chosen.

Charles Fithian hadn't written any letters back home before. Somehow he had been pretty ashamed. He didn't want to write.

But with the shadows of the death house deepening he realized that he remains his brothers' keeper. So he wrote his letter.

It came through the mail, packed into a bag with other envelopes which contained insurance policies and contracts and letters in which people talked about their parties and illnesses and jobs and all the rest. But it was different. It kept to itself in its corner of the bag.

It was going to nine boys who would pass it around from hand to hand, clear their throats, maybe wipe their eyes when no one was looking, or walk down to the corner store for a paper just to have something to do. They would keep thinking that this was their brother who must die. The tousled-haired youngster with whom they used to play marbles and leap-frog and lie-low-sheepie.

Brothers never grow up to each other. They think of themselves always as belonging to an enchanted world known as boyhood with the things that they are going to do "when they grow up" lurking some place down the trail.

No boy ever believes that his brother will sit alone in a death house somewhere, some day. He can't realize that such tragedy may enter his own life.

There is something exceedingly pathetic about the boy who has written to the other nine. Something reminiscent of the parable of the ninety-and-nine who lay safe in the sheepfold while the Master searched for the one that was lost. The mother of the boys will probably put that letter away with her sons' first shoes and a lock of hair. It is doubtful, though, if she or her other boys will look at it very often. They will try to let the wound close quietly.

Life is so full of tragedies. It isn't the one who sins who bears all the burden. There will be a tenderer spot in nine hearts because the brother who had erred looked out of his suffering and sent them a warning.

Tragedy comes often. It drops its buskin on the stage. Or puts a letter in a mail box.

Good From Nazareth?

STICKING one's head up above the parapet in France a few years ago for a momentary survey of no man's land proved to be a hazardous and costly gesture. To raise one's voice today in even moderate approval of anything H. L. Mencken has said may draw as prompt and abrupt fire. Be that as it may, Mencken recently delivered himself of a statement worthy of attention, and one for which we may justly wish fulfillment.

Driven to speech by certain remarks made by his colleague, Sinclair Lewis, before the Swedish academy a few nights ago, Mr. Mencken sounds off in the New York Sun to say that times were never better for the young American artist than they are today. He refers specifically to the field of letters, and sees in the immediate future the rainbow's end for budding genius of the pen.

Not only is the public in the United States more inclined than ever before to patronize the artistic endeavors of its own sons, but our publishers know that fact and are alertly ready to produce any new work of quality which may be turned out, says the Baltimore critic. It is also implied that aspirants in other lines of artistic expression may rightly expect more favoring winds of public interest behind them henceforth.

All of which coincides with encouraging statements made Sunday afternoon by Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, open forum lecturer. America is on the verge, he said, of a great awakening to the beauty of ideas in preference to the bigness of things or the speed of a machine. He predicted that the near future will discover mankind learning how to live in the elaborate house which he has built.

A sincere interest in the supremacy of ideas and ideals over mere things will arouse at least one moment of commendatory thought anent the oft-lambasted Mencken.

The Essence of Democracy

LIBERALITY of spirit in the American people and a thoroughly humble democracy in the heart of a great man from Germany combined in a reciprocal exchange of tribute recently when Dr. Albert Einstein visited the Riverside church in New York City.

Acclaimed in every quarter of the globe for his revolutionizing scientific research, the famed creator of "the theory" could be persuaded only by his wife to view the statue of himself which has been placed in the arch of scientists over the west portal of the church. His suggestion was that she "go see it, and bring me a postcard picture of it." According to those present, his meeting with his own statue was marked by an embarrassed diffidence, but he turned quickly with consuming interest to acquaint himself thoroughly with the other 13 figures within the arch.

While viewing the sculptured and painted likenesses of leaders of many races and many religions which are assembled within the Riverside church, Dr. Einstein made a significant comment. Remarking with appreciation the charity of outlook which permits a church to give unstinted recognition to so widely varied men and women, he declared that such a thing could not possibly be done in Europe. His compliment to our democracy is genuine; but we should remember particularly that it implies a responsibility for further perfection of that comprehensive liberality which he praised.

The renowned visitor's innate modesty predominated during his visit to the church, despite the fact that of the more than 400 famous persons pictured in stone and stained glass, he was the only living one.

The Best Similes of 1930

Constant and inconstant followers of this pillar probably have observed the numerous similes chronicled herein from column to column. All were suggested for inclusion in Frank J. Wilstach's Dictionary of Similes, one of the most diverting tomes published annually.

Playwrights, columnists, critics, scenarists, authors, writers and column contributors have contributed liberally to the column, and several of the clever lines which first appeared here are now bound between covers to be inspected in the public libraries or at your nearest bookshop. Perhaps yours is among the following which we hastily selected from Mr. Wilstach's dictionary.

Unassertive as the twilight—J. Brooks Atkinson...Plain statement of facts, like a yell from a dentist's office—Bugs Baer...As foolish as a hairless Mexican dog lathering himself for a quick shave—Bugs Baer ...As foolish as sneezing into a pound of pepper—Baer.

Life, like a cheese, tastes best a trifle sour to those who style themselves sophisticate—Harvey Carson Crumbine.

As false as the manners of a gigolo—De Witt Benjamin...As talkative as the dummy at bridge—Walter Buckley...Has all the grace of a man caught in quicksand—Heywood Broun...Her shoes left muddy marks, toe and heel, like fat exclamation points on the parquet—Katharine Brush...Dropped like a bribery charge—Ted Cook.

About as popular as sand in spinach—Harry Beresford...As harmless as war in the dictionary—Harry Beresford...Tight as a wet knot... Harry Beresford...Riding on her speedboat was like being a jocket to a comet—Irving S. Cobb...My teeth look like a hobo's pocket comb—Bugs Baer...Brief as snow —Conrad Aiken.

Revolvers going off all day like ginger beer bottles at a teetotal party — Louis Golding...Shadeless as the sea—Stuart Henry.

LITTLE MISS NOBODY

By VIDA HURST

"Get your things and come home."

CHAPTER XLIII

But this time Dale made no apologies.

"Get your things and come on home," he commanded Celeste.

"Why?"

"Because you're my wife and I won't have you working for a man who's in love with you."

"Careful Dale," Celeste cried, but R. R. C. interrupted her.

"It's true. I am in love with her, but you may be sure I'd never have mentioned it if I had known she was your wife."

Dale's face was livid.

"I'm not so sure about that."

"You'd better be," thundered Mr. Clayton. "And see here, you young idiot if you expect to keep a wife like Celeste you'd better not mistreat her.

Dale sneered. "Confiding in you was she? Pretty, young secretary weeping on the w. k. employer's shoulder."

"I wasn't," Celeste insisted. "Please tell him I wasn't, Mr. Clayton."

"It shouldn't be necessary," Mr. Clayton growled.

Never since she had come to work in his office had Celeste seen him so angry. Tiny veins had sprung into prominence on his forehead. The muscles of his thin, rather cynical, features had tightened until all the bored, indifferent look had disappeared. He seemed grim, determined, powerful. In comparison, Dale was impotent and crassly young. He was like an infuriated child stamping its feet and screaming.

"I came to apologize to you, Celeste. I didn't know what I was doing last night."

"It's all right," Celeste said, ashamed.

"It's not all right until you stop working for R. R. C. You're walking out of this office now with me if you expect me to live with you."

Celeste looked pleadingly at her employer, but he was staring impassively from the window above her head.

"I don't suppose Mr. Clayton will want me any more after a scene like this," she cried.

R. R. C. spoke in his customary impersonal tone.

"That's for you to decide. As I told you yesterday the position is yours as long as you want it."

He was utterly ignoring Dale.

"So you discussed it yesterday did you? I might have known."

"Celeste may be your wife but she happens to also be my secretary," R. R. C. said politely. "Whether or not she continues to act in that capacity is, I think, up to her."

Celeste was sorry for Dale. Like a whipped child again, he was hanging his head. Sulking! She was about to decide in his favor and reluctantly admit that perhaps it would be better, after all that had happened, for her not to stay, when Dale cried furiously, "My family is right. What can I expect? You'll be just like your mother."

Celeste's voice was like ice.

"That settles it. I will not go."

Dale cried brokenly, "You'll pay for this, R. R. C. Of course, you know I won't work for you any longer."

"That goes without saying," agreed R. R. C.

Celeste permitted Dale to leave the office without another word, but after he had gone she sank weakly into a chair.

"I oughtn't to treat him like this. He's been hounded to the verge of collapse by that family of his. He's not to blame."

Her employer was watching her sorrowfully.

"You love him, don't you?"

"Of course I do. It's only because I can't bear for anyone to say anything against my mother that I didn't go with him."

R. R. C. was still staring from the window, but now he looked old and sad.

"Perhaps it would be better for me to go, after all," she faltered. "Oh, you must despise me for not being able to make up my mind but, after all, he is my husband."

"Yes, he's your husband," agreed R. R. C. "And if you feel it will help matters any for you to stop working for me I shan't hold it against you."

She was at the desk now, collecting notebook and pencil.

"Dear Mr. Clayton, you've been so good to me. Please don't think I don't appreciate all you've done for me. I'm sorry I've caused so much trouble."

"No trouble, Celeste. If you feel differently about it later I shall always be happy to let you come back."

"That's perfectly wonderful of you," she babbled. She was so anxious to follow her husband she was scarcely conscious of what she said.

She took her powder puff, purse and other small possessions from a drawer in her desk and said goodbye to the girls, whose eyes expressed wild curiosity in the scene which they suspected had been staged in the inner office.

"Bye, Celeste. Don't be too highhat to have lunch with us some day."

She promised to do so very soon, and asked Mr. Smith to remind Blondie to telephone her. On the street she did not wait for a street car but hailed a taxicab.

Dale would go to the apartment first. If only she could reach him before he had started to pack. What a discouraging beginning their marriage was having. But it wasn't the beginning which mattered. Perhaps in the end they would be even happier for the difficulties they had overcome. It was true that he hadn't "been himself" the night before. He had come to the office to apologize; feeling sensitive and ashamed to find her presumably confiding in R. R. C. his command was not as unreasonable as it had sounded. What husband would wish a wife to work for a man who was professedly in love with her? R. R. C. was too proud to lie, but one could scarcely blame Dale for objecting. It was his manner of doing so which had antagonized Celeste. After all it would really be wiser for her to stay at home and permit him to be the wage earner.

The trouble was, neither of them had a position now. Oh, but Dale would find something. With his acquaintance and his father's influence it would be easy for him to find something to do. It wasn't that which worried her as she paid the driver and hurried up the apartment steps.

She took the elevator and let herself in with the key. The morning paper was strewn across the davenport. An empty coffee cup was on the floor. But everything Celeste had so carefully put away the night before was gone, including Dale's suitcase.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

What is your question? Whatever it may be, unless it be a request for legal, medical, or financial advice, it will be answered without cost to you, and you will receive the reply in a personal letter. Write your question clearly and briefly, enclose two-cent stamp for return postage, and address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What is an ergatokrat?
—R. M.

A.—An ergatokrat is one who believes in ergatocracy. This is a new term recently coined to describe the new political philosophy of the left wing Socialists. It is derived from the Greek word "ergates," meaning a worker, plus "kratia," meaning rule or government. Briefly, it means administration of the workers, for the workers, and by the workers.

Q.—On what date was the Maine blown up in Havana harbor?—J. G.

A.—Feb. 15, 1898.

Q.—Are Sea Scouts a part of the Boy Scouts organization?—W. M. G.

A.—They are. These boys wear the blue uniform. For the most part they are associated with the regular Boy Scout troops.

Q.—What is considered the most characteristic historical American dish?—S. K.

A.—The choice seems to lie among pie, baked beans, spoonbread made of cornmeal, and gingerbread or molasses cake. At the national food show a form of pie was chosen. It was New England apple pie dowdy. This is made in a deep dish. Tart apples are sliced into the dish, sprinkled with maple sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg, and a pinch of salt. Pieces of butter are dotted over it, perhaps a little water sprinkled on, and a rich pie crust added. It should be baked slowly, to be sure apples are thoroughly cooked.

Q.—Did President Wilson make the statement that modern war is purely commercial?—L. E.

A.—President Wilson said: "The seed of war in the modern war is industrial and commercial rivalry. This war was a commercial and industrial war. It was not a political war." It was part of a speech made at St. Louis, Sept. 5, 1919, and conveyed Mr. Wilson's idea that the desire for commercial and industrial advantage bred jealousies and strife which culminated in war.

Q.—How many ships have been built at Hog Island?—W. C.

A.—There have been 122 ships built at Hog Island, with a gross tonnage of 651,968 tons.

Q.—When were the boundaries of the United States first defined?—B. N.

A.—The original limits of the United States were first definitely described in the provisional treaty concluded with Great Britain, Nov. 30, 1782.

Q.—What country had the first black slaves?—M. B.

A.—The Bedarian civilization of ancient Egypt, dating about 10,000 B. C., is believed to have included the first black slaves.

Q.—Please describe an archery target.—J. E. R.

A.—The standard target used in archery is four feet in diameter colored gold, red, blue, black, and white. The counts are respectively 9, 7, 5, 3, and 1. The center color is gold.

Q.—Is the bite of a boa constrictor poisonous?—A. D.

A.—It is not. The danger of this snake lies, as his name suggests, in his power to wrap himself around his victim and strangle him to death.

Q.—Is Admiral Lord Beatty Irish or Scotch?—N. N.

A.—Admiral Lord Beatty is the second son of Capt. David Longfield Beatty of County Wexford, Ireland. Earl Beatty owns many places in Ireland, Scotland, and England. He married a daughter of Marshall Field of Chicago.

Q.—Who were the men who came to this country with Lafayette?—M. G. M. B.

A.—The following names appear in the Biography of Lafayette by Brand Whitlock. They are the names of men whom Lafayette arranged to bring with him to fight in the revolutionary war: Baron de Kalb, Delesser, De Valfort, De Fayols, De Tranval, Dubois Martin, De Gimat, De Vrigny, De Bedaulx, Capitaine, De la Colombe, and Cardon.

Q.—What became of Ambrose Bierce?—J. S.

A.—He disappeared in 1913 when he entered Mexico. His fate is not known.

Q.—About what per cent of the territory of Alaska is visited by tourists?—G. D.

A.—Greeley's Handbook of Alaska says that the Alaska known to the tourist is a strip of coast and fringe of islands of about 425 miles by 100 miles, extending from Ketchikan north to Mount St. Elias—in fact, about one-twelfth of Alaska.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Thrift

This booklet is not a sermon on what you should do with your money. It is merely a collection of helpful figures and facts to show you how you can save money if you so desire. It does not even suggest that you should not squander your money; nothing is said about giving up smoking or not buying a car. But it does point the way to intelligent handling of your money to the end that you will know where every dollar goes, and the logical result of this is that you will get better values and that you will save.

Vernon Members Rally to Support Cotton Co-Op Association Work

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Jan. 13.—The members of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association of the Vernon district adopted the following resolution at the close of a mass meeting held in Vernon:

"Whereas, the establishment of a branch classing office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association at Vernon has been the means of improving the price paid the growers for cotton sold at Vernon and receiving points in nearby areas by increasing competition among the buyers of cotton on basis of quality, and

Prices Boosted

"Whereas, the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, working with the federal farm board, did adopt a policy of withholding from an already seriously depressed market the large volume of cotton delivered to it by its members, thereby causing the market quotations to maintain higher levels than would have otherwise prevailed, and

"Whereas, the chamber of commerce of Vernon was instrumental in making the preliminary arrangements for the establishment of this very beneficial influence in this area, now therefor

Fight Condemned

"Be it resolved that we, the members and friends of the cooperative cotton movement, in conference assembled, do hereby express our gratitude to the public press, the business men and bankers of Vernon and surrounding area, for their interest and cooperation in the success of this enterprise, and we do further

"Endorse and commend the policy of the federal farm board, the American Cotton Cooperative association and the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, and also do we

"Condemn the action of those who are attacking the principles of the cooperative cotton marketing and the policies of the federal farm board, and deplore the action of those who are waging a campaign seeking to destroy the effectiveness of the agricultural marketing act."

OF THE EARTH

Metropolis Still Has Some Aspects Of Rural Life

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—The nation's largest city has not entirely lost its rural vestiges.

The 1930 report of the health commissioner which Dr. Shirley W. Wynne has just presented to Mayor Walker shows permits were issued last year for such things as smoke houses, horse-shoeing, goats and well water.

One of the important functions of the health commissioner as demonstrated by the report is the censorship of food brought into the city. Commissioner Wynne estimated that $7,000,000,000 worth of food is prepared annually in New York City, much of it for consumption in other parts of the United States.

TURKEY ROAD WORK STARTS

$800,000 Program to Get Under Construction

Special to The Record News

TURKEY, Texas, Jan. 13.—The McClellan Construction company began the grade work this week on federal highway No. 18, from Turkey south to the Motley county line, using some 60 men. Three camps have been established. It will probably require 90 or more working days for the grade and bridge work.

The grade work on highway No. 86 from Turkey, west to the Briscoe county line has been completed. The McClung Construction company is now completing the laying of a 12-inch caliche base, which will set until spring and crushed rock and asphalting will be applied as the finishing course.

Contract for the grade and bridge work on federal highway 18, from Turkey, east to the Estelline precinct, a distance of some 16 miles, is expected to be let at the February hearing of the state highway commission.

Turkey's $800,000 hard surfaced road program should be in full swing by spring and should mean from 100 to 150 men here. When this program is completed it will give Turkey hard surfaced roads three ways out. In addition to the highway program, Turkey has several lateral roads to improve and build during the year, which will add greatly to Turkey's present large trade area.

PLANTER HELD FOR PEONAGE

Shreveport Landowner Under Charges

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 13. (AP)—Complaint was filed today by W. C. Robinson of the department of justice acting upon authority of United States Attorney Philip H. Mercom's office, against J. M. McLemore, planter of Coushatta, Red River parish, charging him with holding in peonage five negro laborers and share croppers for payment alleged indebtedness due McLemore. The negroes are: John M. Batcher, John Garry, Joe Davis, Robert Jenkins and Lucky Hall.

Investigation, according to J. Fair Hardin, assistant United States attorney, disclosed the negroes were indebted to McLemore on this year's crop and that he has forbidden them to leave his place unless they pay, or have secured amounts of their indebtedness ranging from $125 to $700.

"It also disclosed," Hardin said, "that McLemore customarily carries a pistol with which he threatens the negroes if they dare leave his place and on one occasion he went to Wimfield and brought back a young negro who had run away from his place.

Army planes flew approximately 32,500,000 miles during the last fiscal year.

$30,000,000 IN SPECIAL TAXES: YOU SHARE IN THIS BILL

Buyers of fire insurance indirectly but actually contribute a vast sum—approximately $30,000,000 annually—through taxes, most of which are of a special nature, additional to the regular taxes borne by insurance companies in common with other lines of industry.

The original purpose of special taxes upon insurance was to maintain state supervision, but such supervision uses but four cents of each dollar. The balance goes into the general funds of the states.

These special taxes and the taxes upon property which insurance companies pay in common with all other owners of property are factors in the cost of fire insurance.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States says:

". . . Special State Taxes now levied on Policyholders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision . . ."

Memphis C-C Alters Date for Banquet

MEMPHIS, Texas, Jan. 13.—The annual banquet of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday night, Jan. 22, instead of Tuesday night, Jan. 20, as formerly announced. This change in date was decided upon Monday by the officials due to the fact that some of the out-of-town men on the program had other engagements on the night of the program.

This outstanding event of the year for the organization, according to Secretary J. H. Read, promising to be held up to par this year, and it is expected that some two or three hundred citizens of Memphis and Hall county will participate in the affair. Some of the most prominent men in this part of West Texas will have places on the program.

Kansas Legislator Asks Hotel Room for Solons

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 13. (AP)—Representative John W. Blood, Sedgwick county, Republican, announced today he would ask the legislature to engage a Capital hotel room for each of the 165 members of the legislature at the state's expense.

The Wichita house member said the plan would enable lawmakers to meet their expenses incident to attending the 1931 biennial session without "committing perjury" in swearing to expenditures of the $150 allowed each representative for postage, telegraph and telephone during each session.

In addition to this expense money members receive $5 a day.

Insurance Agent Given Sentence for Assault

ABILENE, Texas, Jan. 13. (AP)—After deliberating six hours, a jury in 42nd district court here today found S. A. Stover, 42-year-old crippled insurance agent, guilty of aggravated assault and set his punishment at six months in the county jail.

Stover was charged with assault to murder. The prosecution charged he was attempting to shoot his wife when he fired three shots from a small caliber pistol in their apartment Jan. 4. Stover testified he was trying to commit suicide.

wet feet breed SORE THROAT

gargle with Listerine— reduces mouth germs 98%

WET feet, sudden changes of temperature, over-exposure, fatigue, all are predisposing causes of colds, grippe, sore throat and kindred infections.

They weaken body resistance so that germs in the mouth get the upper hand.

Reduces mouth germs 98%

As an aid in guarding against these troubles, medical authorities recommend the morning and night gargle with full strength Listerine, the safe, healing antiseptic and germicide.*

Listerine actually reduces germs in the mouth 98%. Kills them by millions, outright! Repeated tests following the methods used at famous universities and laboratories of international repute prove its amazing germicidal power.

Gargle every 2 hours

Under ordinary conditions of health, the night and morning gargle is sufficient. But when you feel a cold or sore throat coming, or are already in the grip of either, increase the frequency of the gargle. Every two hours, authorities urge. Hold the liquid in the mouth as long as possible so that it reaches germ-ridden surfaces.

Gargle every 2 hours

Such frequent gargling aids your body, weakened by the cold or sore throat, to overcome millions of disease-producing organisms in the oral cavity.

Intelligent men and women everywhere use Listerine as both a precaution against and a treatment for colds, sore throat and allied infections. Keep a bottle handy in home and office and use it at the first symptom of trouble. Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

*Listerine, though safe and healing in action, is one of the most active germicides known. It kills even Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds (fastest killing time accurately recorded).

JACKSON ROAD OPENS FEB. 1

Completion Near for Nine-Mile Strip

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Jan. 13.—Construction work on federal highway No. 62 west of Altus will be completed within a short time if the weather permits. The nine-mile strip which has been under construction for the past several months will probably be completed by Feb. 1.

The detour through Victory, west three miles, and then south to the highway, is expected to be eliminated next week on the completion of the bridge over Horse Branch. All of the nine miles will be opened on completion of the bridge over Bitter creek two miles west of Altus.

One of the major projects of the work was the removing of the old steel span west of Altus and grading the low place which was once the Salt Fork of Red river bed, up to the required height.

More than 75 per cent of the labor used in constructing this highway has been local. About 70 men have been employed on grading, building of culverts and on the bridge crews.

A total of $7,500 was paid farmers for land necessary to widen the road to 100 feet and make a road bed of 30 feet.

E. E. Stubblefield, location engineer, of the state highway department, is engaged at this time making a relocation of highway 62 from point nine miles west of Altus to the Harmon county line including the underpass to be made just east of Duke. A contract for the remainder of the work on this highway in Jackson county will probably be let as soon as the location work has been completed.

Legislative Service Opened by W.T.C.C.

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Jan. 13.—Informational service on legislative and administrative matters at the state capitol will be available from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to all local affiliated chambers of commerce through the regional organization's Austin bureau which begins operation Jan. 15.

In advising officials of the chambers of the towns in the territory with memberships in W. T. C. C. of the new service, President Chas E. Coombes and General Manager D. A. Bandeen pointed out that the Austin office will not be operated to express the desires of any local organization or individual for or against any proposal before the state departments, nor will it undertake any lobbying for or against any measure, they say.

Its functions of service will include providing information on the status of legislative or administrative matters; arranging for hearings before committees, departments and officials of the state government; along with furnishing special information on items of particular interest to unit members being handled in the capitol.

RULE, Texas, Jan. 13.—The Rule Alumni association held their annual banquet at the Rule high school recently. After a six-course dinner was served a business session was held. C. A. Murray, teacher in the Northwest Teachers college at Canyon, was toastmaster for the evening. The invocation was given by Superintendent A. F. McMinn of the Rule school. Music was furnished throughout the evening by an orchestra. Several quartets and readings were rendered by members of the association. Rev. Elmer Crabtree, pastor of the Rule Methodist church, gave a very interesting address on "Friendship."

During the business session the following officers were elected for the year 1931: president, Mrs. J. E. Geer; first vice president, Mrs. Elgin Carothers; second vice president, Mrs. W. E. Penick; third vice president, Mrs. C. O. Davis; secretary-treasurer, Ed Cloud.

Victor M. Locke Weds Sudie McAlester Burns

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13. (UP)—Maj. Victor M. Locke Jr., former superintendent of the five civilized tribes, was establishing a home here today with his bride, the former Mrs. Sudie McAlester Burns.

The couple was married yesterday.

Locke recently was granted a full pardon from a 10-year penitentiary sentence on a manslaughter charge. Mrs. Locke is the daughter of the late J. J. McAlester, lieutenant governor during the administration of Lee Cruce.

Century of Colorful Life Brings Oklahoma Woman to 100th Birthday

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Jan. 13.—The first 100 years are not so hard if you know how to live life, is the opinion of Mrs. Martha Hill, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Ida Coombs, two miles northeast of Duke.

Mrs. Hill celebrated her 100th birthday Thursday, Jan. 8.

The aged woman, now confined to her bed except during occasional periods when she can sit in a rocking chair, has been feeble for only a few years.

Less than a decade ago when she was past 90 years of age she walked a distance of one and one-half miles to church from her farm home in Texas.

Even at that time, according to neighbors, she was noted for her punctuality at all religious gatherings, and was able to do her own housework.

Colorful Career

About seven years ago she suffered a severe illness, the first in her life, and has since been an invalid.

For the past three years she has resided with her daughter near the Oklahoma town.

Mrs. Hill's life story reads like a pioneer novel. She was left an orphan when a very small child and lived with her grandparents in Georgia at the time the southern state was filled with Indians. She was married in Georgia but moved to Alabama where she lived during the time her husband was a soldier in the Confederate army.

Fifty-nine years ago while the West was but little more than a wilderness she moved with her family to Texas where she resided for 56 years.

Mother of Six

The mother of six children, she has been a widow for 19 years. Only two of her children, a son and daughter, are living.

Although snuff-dipping and pipe smoking were popular feminine pastimes in her youth, Mrs. Hill has never used tobacco in any form. She drinks coffee only once a day.

During the past week several interested persons from various parts of Southwestern Oklahoma visited the centenarian and wished her happiness.

HEIRLOOM

Glasses Owned by Nocona Man Believed To Be 230 Years Old

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, Jan. 13.—J. O. Cobb retired business man of Nocona, is possessor of an antique which he prizes very highly. It is a pair of glasses which he has on display in a local optical shop. These glasses are an heirloom brought down from generation to generation, and according to information which Mr. Cobb is assured is correct, they are 230 years old—and they look it.

The lenses are very small, in a rectangular shape, in a brass frame. Bridge of frame is simply a round heavy wire with a small crook to fit the nose. The temples are flat and strangely shaped. Each temple is made of two pieces of metal looped together so temple can be adjusted to different lengths.

As far as can be learned this pair of spectacles is the oldest in Texas or most any other state.

STEPHENS GETS $2,000 RELIEF

Red Cross Fund Split Among Needy

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., Jan. 13.—Distribution of $2,000 in National Red Cross funds for the relief of needy Stephens county tenant farmers without credit started here Monday under the direction of Rev. J. W. Moseley, county Red Cross chairman.

It is planned to award $10 to each of 200 suffering families throughout the county for the month of January. Additional relief will be needed throughout the winter, Mr. Moseley said.

Federal seed and feed loans of $100,000 were suggested as adequate to care for farmers in this county by State Senator Knox L. Garvin in a telegram to U. S. Senator Elmer Thomas.

"It is imperative that some relief be obtained immediately as there is at this very time a minimum of 100 families who are needing food and being fed by neighbors or friends and the number will increase through the winter," Garvin added.

Need Immediate

The $100,000 figure was arrived at by estimating that 800 of the approximately 3,600 farm families in the county would need an average of $125 this winter to buy food, seed and feed for livestock.

"Several hundred head of livestock are needing feed at this time," Garvin wired Thomas, "and whatever relief is obtainable must be immediate."

Representatives of 18 of the 23 school districts in the southern commission district of the county, who met with County Agent J. A. Killough to discuss the federal loan proposal, listed 205 families in their district who they declared would need aid through the winter. "At least one-fourth of these 205 families are in destitute circumstances right now," Killough declared.

Storms Take Toll

Representatives from the central commission district met here Tuesday night to discuss the federal loan program and to report on conditions in their school districts.

The Red Cross fund is for the relief of tenant farmers only, but the drouth relief committee reports many landowners who have exhausted credit are in need.

The drouth situation was aggravated in this county by two disastrous storms last year. A tornado swept through a wide area west of Duncan in the spring, leaving more than 20 families homeless. Later a devastating hail storm destroyed crops on approximately 45 sections of land along the Stephens, Comanche, Cotton county lines west of Duncan, bringing privation to many tenants.

CHILDRESS TO EMPLOY AGENT

Court Votes to Provide Farm Expert

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, Jan. 13.—At its regular meeting, members of the commissioners court of Childress county decided to give employment to a county agent. This action was taken when the business interests of the city and county made the request, the representative of the business interests saying that it was necessary for the county to have a county farm agent if assistance could be had from the federal government.

The court has not selected a man for the position, but will request the extension department of the Agricultural and Mechanical college to recommend one for the position. The college trains such men and is in a position to give the county a good man.

Childress county has had county agents for many years until last summer when the agent resigned. In the past the farmers of the county have been well pleased with the work of the agent.

The court was asked by the farm women to appoint another farm demonstration agent for the present year, the agent having resigned a few months ago. The women let it be known they considered that an agent was needed now more than ever before, as the farm women must learn how to garden and to take care of the truck when grown. The court took the petition under advisement, stating the finances of the county were low and it may not be possible to raise the money for that purpose. The court agreed to give an answer at the February meeting.

Mail Fraud Charge Dismissed by Court

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (AP)—Defense motion to quash a mail fraud indictment against Herbert V. Wales, scheduled to go to trial on the charge Wednesday, was granted by Federal Judge Ritter Tuesday.

Judge Ritter held that the indictment was based on allegations of the same offense for which Wales was tried and acquitted last year. He was named in the indictment in connection with operation of a brokerage house here, the government alleging he solicited orders for stocks and bonds which he never delivered.

Joe Schoonberger was named in the same indictment.

COTTON SALES DRIVE PLANNED

Southern Organization To Promote Product

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 13. (AP)—An organization to promote the consumption of cotton products was decided upon here today by the Southern Association of Commissioners of Agriculture as a means of improving conditions among growers and in the industry generally.

The association authorized its president, Harry D. Wilson, Louisiana commissioner, to select two men from each cotton-growing state to perfect plans for such a body, intended to stimulate the use of cotton goods and to suggest new uses for cotton. His selections will be announced later.

The association also adopted resolutions urging tobacco farmers to diversify and get away from the "one crop" idea. Commissioners from tobacco producing states said tobacco farmers, like cotton farmers, are confronted with surplus stocks and over-production.

Public land surveys were extended in 22 states and Alaska the last fiscal year by the federal government.

Cotton Farm Board To Meet Thursday

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Jan. 13.—The Cotton county farm advisory committee, headed by J. L. Rhoads, of the Hulen community, will hold its first quarterly meeting of the year in the district court room at Walters Thursday afternoon, Jan. 15. The committee organized about 18 months ago, has been instrumental in the direction of agricultural extension work in the county and has accomplished some outstanding results. Farm problems of local interest will be discussed at this meeting and plans mapped for the successful operation of definite programs. The principal problem to be discussed at this meeting will be better seeds for the next crop year.

While this committee has a rather definite membership, all citizens of the county who are interested in the betterment of agriculture are urged to attend and take part in the program.

New Stephens Gas Inspectors Named

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., Jan. 13.—Appointment of two gasoline inspectors for Stephens county to replace Harry A. Baker, Duncan insurance broker, on Jan. 15, has been announced by the state corporation commission.

William C. Murray of Marlow, brother of Gov. William H. Murray, and unsuccessful candidate for county clerk in the July primary, will be inspector for the north half of the county.

E. W. Moore of Comanche, former county commissioner will be inspector for the south half of the county.

TILLMAN CALLS RELIEF MEET

School Board Members To Meet Today

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Jan. 13.—Letters have been sent to all the school board members in the county urging their attendance at a meeting to be held at the courthouse at 2 p. m. Wednesday, following a conference of drouth relief workers, when plans will be perfected to better handle the giving of assistance to the more than 5,000 people who are now in want. There are 37 rural school districts and 17 consolidated districts and towns, a total of 54.

Dr. J. D. Osborne Jr., chairman of the Tillman County Red Cross, says all families or individuals needing aid should make application to one of the school board members. These school officials in turn should investigate each case and if they approve the request aid will be given.

In addition to Dr. Osborne, Mayor J. J. Rogers and Luther Wagnon, secretary of the Frederick Chamber of Commerce, in charge of the Good Fellows fund, members of the board of county commissioners are expected to be in attendance at this meeting.

Sneed Brands Tax Board as 'Crude'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 13. (AP)—R. A. Sneed, secretary of state, today branded Oklahoma's tax system as "current in the nation."

Addressing a meeting of county assessors at the capitol, he said the state equalization board was a "guessing board."

Sneed answered John Rogers, state examiner and inspector, who attacked the Murray tax commission proposal as unconstitutional and a "trouble maker."

The secretary of state has been a member of the board of equalization for eight years.

"It is a guessing board," he said, "as far as the quality is concerned we are sitting there like a lot of stool pigeons.

"I want a change. Nothing could be worse than what we have now."

Doctors Know Best How to Treat Colds

Medical writers agree that the important point in the treatment of a cold, or cough due to a cold, is to relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thereby preventing serious complications which may follow a neglected cold. To stop this congestion calomel was the accepted and standard remedy until Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablet was introduced.

Now that science has robbed calomel of its nausea and danger, making it pleasant to take and perfectly safe for general use, over forty million Calotabs are consumed in the U. S. yearly with only the most pleasant and satisfactory results. In millions of homes Calotabs have proven their superiority in the prompt relief of colds and coughs due to colds.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a glass of sweet milk or water. No salts necessary. No nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning the congestion has subsided, your cold or cough is relieved, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish—no danger.

Get a family package of Calomel, containing full directions, only thirty-five cents. Trial size, ten cents. At any drug store.—Adv.

Repeated Old Visit

MOORHEAD, Minn.—E. D. Lum, president of the News Publishing company, recently visited his old home town, Northwood, Iowa. The next day the paper of the town carried a story of Lum's visit. In the 25 years ago column, a similar item told of the visit of Lum to Northwood.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

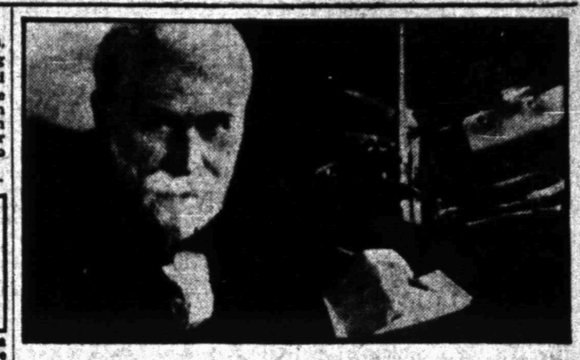

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

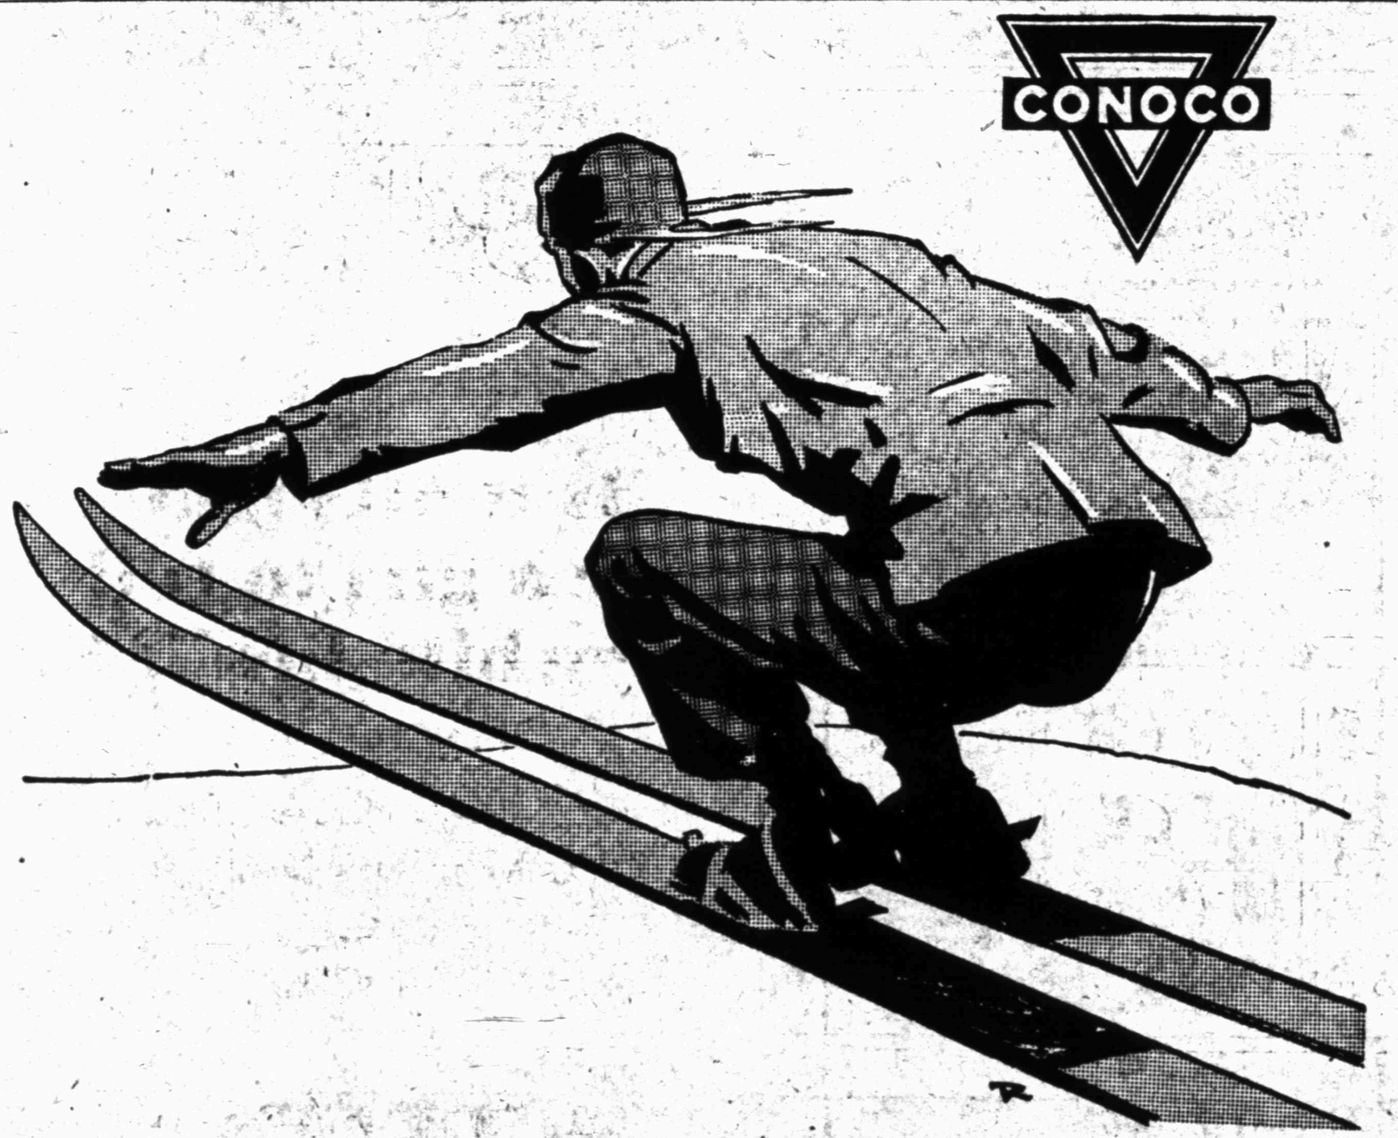

A Harmless Prescription, but How it Moves the bowels!

DON'T you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better all over! Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin doesn't turn everything to water, but cleans out all that hard waste clogging your system. It cleans you out without any shock, for it's only fresh laxative herbs a famous doctor found so good for the bowels combined with pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients.

A doctor should know what is best for the bowels. Let Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin show you how soon you can train the bowels to move freely, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice) and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

Some Rules in the Cure of Tuberculosis

In the treatment of tuberculosis it is well to remember that the lungs act as eliminative organs to throw out poisonous gases. The other three channels of elimination for bodily toxins are the skin, kidneys and bowels. In order to rest the lungs from their burden of acting as an eliminative organ it is well to increase the throwing out of toxins through all of the other excretory channels.

Sunbathing and sponge baths help in aiding skin elimination. A patient should drink plenty of water to supply the kidneys with plenty of fluid for their work. The bowels must be kept open with enemas if the patient does not have at least two bowel movements daily. Energy should not be wasted spending too many hours at brainwork or study and thus using too much energy through the mental processes, which energy is needed in the physical body to digest and assimilate food or to be used in taking the necessary physical exercise. Vital energy should not be wasted through outbursts of temper or through any of the other destructive emotions.

I have found it advisable to exclude milk, starches and sugars from the diet of the tubercular. Daily sunbaths are especially beneficial when the bones are affected by tuberculosis. Every avenue for the waste of nervous energy must be conserved and the patient must practice various means for increasing his strength. A certain amount of rest, especially during the afternoon or when there is any rise of temperature is essential at the beginning of the cure.

The sleeping quarters should be where the air is fresh but not cold enough to be irritating to the delicate lung tissue, for the virtue of the fresh air lies in its abundance of oxygen and not in its temperature. The patient should not become overheated. And it is not good to lie in the sun for too long so that the body becomes unduly warm.

The patient should not be discouraged because of the loss of weight necessary at the beginning of the treatment, as a vigorous elimination of toxins is essential at the start and the weight will come only when the disease is overcome and the building up process begins.

The calisthenic exercises should consist mostly of the "setting up" exercises. All exercises of the arms and chest should be avoided. When the fever is not high a short walk should be taken and this should be increased gradually each day as the strength permits. No other exercise is as fruitful of good results as walking for gaining the stamina which is necessary for overcoming tuberculosis. Complete daily regimen tomorrow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mental Poisoning

Question—W. L. J. asks: "Is there such a thing as 'mental poison'? If so, will you explain the process from the brain to the nervous system?"

Answer—There is no doubt that destructive emotions, such as worry, anger, fear and anxiety will produce poisonous substances within the blood. I have written numerous articles dealing with the value of a mental calmness for maintaining health. It is believed that the ductless glands are active in the formation of some of these toxic substances. There is yet room for much scientific investigation about "mental poisons."

Eggs

Question—B. M. writes: "I wish you would write something about eggs—whether they should be used only when strictly fresh, or not at all. This subject is a continued bone of contention in our home. Dad seems to think that store eggs are all right, while I emphatically do not."

Answer—Eggs should be as fresh as possible, although in cold storage eggs may be preserved in good condition for a long time. During the cold weather store eggs may remain in a wholesome condition much longer than in summer. Any bad odor or unusual appearance of the egg should cause it to be discarded.

Plants in Sick Room

Question—Reader asks: "Will you please tell me if house plants are in any way injurious to a sick person?"

Answer—Most green leaf plants are not injurious to a sick person; in fact, during the day they throw off oxygen and are really beneficial. However, the odor from some flowering plants may be oppressive to the patient. At night a small amount of carbon dioxide is thrown from the leaves of plants, but not enough to be injurious.

Members of Pardon Board Defended

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 13. (AP)—H. L. Mudrow, member of former Governor Holloway's pardon and parole board, declared today in a statement issued here that the board members were not parties to the larger number of clemencies recently issued by the then chief executive.

He pointed out that Holloway independently of recommendations by the board reserved the right to act on clemencies.

The board member stated that records of the pardon and parole body show that Holloway issued 19 paroles an done pardon recently which previously had been turned down by the unofficial advisory group.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

In a month or so these big, husky ball players will be here to start training. We mean to start training immediately, next Monday, in fact. Yes, indeed, sports editors must train for the strenuous baseball season as well as the players. Only the objects in the training period are different. The player trains his muscles and regulates his eating and sleeping so that perfect health will be inevitable. The sports editor's training consists in getting used to the worst possible manner of living.

The first item in our training will be to desist from regular sleeping. In the normal months of the football and basket ball season, a sports writer can snooze peacefully for a period of his own choosing. He may retire shortly before midnight and arise any time between 10 and noon. This has been our habit during the relatively dull season in sports. Now it must change. The program calls for me to retire around, say, 2 or 3 a. m., and arise about noon the next day, in order to clean up the desk, edit early copy, and be on hand when the afternoon ball game starts.

But irregular sleeping is the least rigorous requirement of a sports editor in the baseball season. Eating—ah there you are. The perfectly trained scribe in the baseball period eats breakfast around 11 a. m. and then goes without food until 9 or 9:30 o'clock that night. This is the rule, and I can testify that it has few exceptions. The ball game over, one must dash in and start writing and editing, and to stop for even a hamburger invites the possibility that you will miss the first edition—and should this happen one thereafter might miss the delightful regularity of pay days. That first edition, the thing that makes editors gray and grizzled, must be made, though your innards yearn and yearn. It usually is "in," as we say, by 9 or 9:30. And then the ed is so worn and nervous he can't eat much anyway.

Other items in the training period consist of wearing a wornout, tired expression, an unpressed suit, and a shirt the sleeves of which, from much contact with the rough boards of the press box table, are completely ragged. Also, a pair of shoes with a hole in the sole of the right foot must be worn on rainy days. Just as well get used to it now; it's coming. Also, we must forget to wear an overcoat when the temperature's down, and omit to drag out the raincoat on rainy days. The rough weather in the early days of the season must never catch a baseball writer prepared.

An item on the training program that is highly important is the polishing of the profane element of our vocabulary. This element is subdivided into several divisions. The first is the almost indistinct verbal growlings for use previous to the opening of the season. A good one to practice on is this: "Well—gr-r-r—I wish the confounded season would wiggle on down the calendar—g-r-r—and get started—g-r-r-r—might as well get the gol-blamed thing started now so's we can get it over quicker . . . ."

But this growling is, as stated, almost indistinct. Though baseball thrills their very hearts, there are few veteran sports writers who actually want to get to work.

Baseball scribblers usually get by the opening game without profanity of any sort, unless one happens to break the point off his only pencil in the very middle of the game. It is the day after, and every other day thereafter, that he is hard pressed to express his hurt feelings, hence the necessity of early training in this art.

The second division of the profane element deals with the expression of the writer's passionate desire that the confounded game come to an end. The vocabulary is especially strained when the ninth inning finds the two teams tied. Up to this point, the writers in the press box are secretly pulling for their team. But when the teams tie up, the representatives of the newspapers of the combatting towns join in exploding their sentiments, and hoping that just anybody smacks out a home run to give one or the other team the decision. Pre-season training for this sort of profanity can be dispensed with by repeating the following sentence: "Blah! . . . $&—!:: $$&‡ :::: . . . . ."

Then there is the division which includes snarls to express the wish that the entire season close with a definite bang. Strange as it may seem, this type of profanity is not as explosive as that used in a tie game, or a long-drawn-out game, because the profane desire for the season to end generally is not expressed until the latter is, actually, on its last legs. To waste profanity on such a subject in mid-season is simply in contempt of the traditions of the profession. Besides, there are other things that need swearing at.

The fourth division is characterized by a general, all-embracing growl, and a bilious expression. This requires no training whatever, for the reason that most sports scribes are in perfect training in this respect at all times. If any prodding is required to achieve the result in the baseball season, it is furnished by things going wrong during the football and basket ball seasons. In the former, we have to cover games in blizzards and worse; in the basket ball season we get the scores wrong because the game is so fast; hence the growl and the bilious expressions are more or less permanent in the writers make-up.

And then there is the last division of profanity indispensable to an ambitious baseball writer. Probably it is the most difficult profanity of all to master. It embraces words tinted with no less than T.N.T. Arsenic may be detected in its ingredients. Spirals of blue smoke filter from the lips as the heated scribe pours out his complaint. The complaint being that the baseball season is over!

LAMESA CARDS FAIR

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, Jan. 13.—The Lamesa Golden Tornado basketeers will meet the Brownfield quintet at Brownfield Wednesday evening of this week, and will engage the Brownfield club in the local gym Friday evening, according to coaches of the Tornadoes. Fast games are expected.

Site and Date of Fight Are Undecided

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—Contracts for a heavyweight title fight between Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling of Macon, Ga., were signed today.

The contracts did not specify either the site of the battle nor the date. Under the agreement reached after a long conference betwen promoters and managers, the winner of the Schmeling-Stribling bout will meet Primo Carnera, from Venice, in September, with the title at stake.

Agreement of the heavyweight schedule was reached at a conference between representatives of Stribling, Schmeling and Carnera and promoters for the Hearst milk fund.

Although no site for the first match was announced, the choice generally was understood to lie among Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland. The bout almost certainly will be held in June. Weather conditions would prevent its being held any earlier and if staged later than that would give the winners scarcely time enough to get in shape for the match with Carnera.

The agreement leaves Jack Sharkey, of Boston, New York Athletic commission nominee as outstanding contender, out in the cold.

Need Large Stadium

Selection of Jersey City as the place for the battle depended, it was said, upon whether a new stadium to seat something like 100,000 persons could be constructed in time. In the event that it is, the second match of the series, Carnera against Stribling or Schmeling, also might be held there.

If it is found that Jersey City can not be selected, Detroit was understood to be the second choice. Some clung to the belief that before the selection was finally made, Chicago would be suggested as the logical place for the bout. Soldier field in that city will accommodate a crowd of about 125,000 and was the scene of the greatest promotional triumph of the late Tex Rickard's career—the second Dempsey-Tunney fight.

One odd quirk in the contract was insisted upon by Carnera's representatives, Leon See and Billy Duffy. They had inserted in the agreement a provision granting Carnera the right, should he win the championship, to fight at intervals of 30 days should he so desire. See and Duffy asserted the big Venetian would want to fight often even should he capture the title.

Neither Stribling nor Schmeling will engage in any bouts until they clash for the title.

The entrance of the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois into the negotiations may bring down upon the New York garden the official wrath of the New York State Athletic commission. Both Schmeling and Carnera are under suspension in this state, and a commission rule provides for the suspension of any promoter or organization which deals with a boxer on the ineligible list.

Organized by Rickard

The Illinois corporation was organized by Tex Rickard to handle the second Dempsey-Tunney match as a gesture of friendliness to the Illinois Boxing commission.

Another of the interesting angles to the heavyweight situation was the complete exclusion of Jack Sharkey, Boston sailor man, from the picture. The New York commission, when it recently relieved Schmeling of his title in this state, designated Sharkey as the outstanding contender and announced it would recognize as champion the winner of a match between Sharkey and Stribling.

Southern Presbyterians Beat Juniors, 28 to 14

The First Southern Presbyterians, The First Methodist, and the First Christians came out victorious in Tuesday night's Sunday school league matches played at the Floral Heights Presbyterian church gymnasium. The Southern Presbyterians defeated the First Presbyterian juniors, 28 to 14 in what probably was the feature game of the evening. The First Methodists defeated the Grant Street Methodists, 36 to 12; and the First Christians defeated the Highland Heights Christians, 39 to 7. Scores:

Independents Crush Jewish Temple, 46-23

The Wichita Falls Independents, local cage team organized recently, played their first game of the season Tuesday night and got off on the right foot with a victory. The victims were the dribblers of the Jewish temple. The score was 46 to 23. The game was played on the Grace Methodist church court. The Independents were rushed in the early stages and held only a three-point lead at the half, but towards the last a great offensive salted the game away. O. Wall, forward, led the Independents' scoring attack with 20 points, and Sepkovitch was the leading scorer of the Temple with 16 points. The Independents plan a game with the Iowa Park Hawks next week, and are anxious to meet any other team in this vicinity, according to B. O. Cooper, captain and manager.

18 Zundelowitz Gridders Awarded Letters at Annual Football Banquet

By JACK ALLEN

Joy reigned supreme in the hearts of 18 Zundelowitz Junior High gridders last night when the football team that carried Zundy colors through a successful season were awarded letters at the annual football banquet at the Zundelowitz cafeteria. Of this total only four will return to play on the team of 1931. Approximately 250 students and parents attended the gala occasion.

The "kick-off" which represented the opening of the program was the toast given to Coach Roy Golden by Burns McKinney, president of the junior high Boys club and star back on the Zundy eleven. Coach Golden returned the kick-off in the form of a toast to the team. "The boy who loves football and plays the game is the boy who holds a place in my heart" the Zundy mentor said.

Following the kick-off and return, Lois Fisk praised the team for their work during the successful season and lauded the pep squad and supporters for their wholehearted support. The speech by Miss Fisk was given as a forward pass and it was received by P. B. Cox who rendered an inspiring talk in which he praised the student body, the team and the coach. He especially praised the second team's part in the successful season for the Polk street school. He heaped more laurels on the entire team and praised them for their working as a unit and their sportsmanship.

Juicy Opposition

The forward pass catching by Mr. Cox ended the first half and the assembly attacked the opposition which was a three-course dinner with fruit cocktail, turkey and all the trimmings and apple pie alamode. The opposition was weak and the crowd swept through their plates for score after score.

Opening the second half, Charles Hurd, flashy end on the 1930 Zundy team, spoke as a representative of the Zundy squad in offering his appreciation to the pep squad for their inspiration and help to the team during the season. The program ploughed on down the field and finally the touchdown was scored when H. A. Glass, principal of Zundelowitz, awarded the dozen and half emblems to the youths who carried the Red and Gray to fame and victory against all opponents. The letters were grey chenille on a white background with a crimson football and the numerals "30" interwoven in the letter.

After the touchdown Farris Johnson, fighting guard and captain of the Zundy aggregation, kicked the extra point by expressing the team's appreciation to the coach for his tireless and undivided work. The kick was good and the leader presented Coach Golden with a small grey chenille emblem as a reward for his patience and work during the season. The touchdown and extra point brought victory, and Wade Costley, pep squad leader, led the entire group in yells and closed the banquet, singing the Zundy war song. Theodore Bratten, quarterback on the Zundy team, served as toastmaster and conducted the program which was based on a real game of football.

The Lettermen

The lettermen who were awarded emblems included Capt. Farris Johnson, Dick Merchant, Charles Hurd, P. B. Cox, Woody McFayden, Bob Kelly, Ben Kelly, Burns McKinney, Woodrow McCracken, Raymond Tarkenton, Theodore Bratten, Frank Rusk, Corbett Hunn, Charles Rice, Monroe Horton, manager; W. D. Tollett, Phillip Williams, and Ralph Hines. Cox, Rusk, Hunn, and Tollett will return for this year's team. The Zundyites had an unusually successful season, losing only one conference game and winning the city classic by defeating Reagan Junior high 7-0 in the annual grudge battle for the championship of the city.

Razorbacks Beat Owls Again, 31-25

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Jan. 13. (AP)—After trailing during the entire first half, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks cagers staged a brilliant last half rally tonight to crush the Rice Institute Owls by a score of 31-25. Thus making a clean sweep of the series.

Arkansas trailed 16-11 at the half but with Kenny Holt, six-foot center, and "Doc" Sexton, guard, leading the Porkers' attack with 10 points each, the Owls were swamped under an avalanche of field goals.

Hart, main forward cog in the Rice offense last night, was held in check by the effective guarding of Creighton. Every man in the starting lineup contributed baskets and the Owls, with a scattered attack, could not cope with the concentrated Arkansas onslaught.

Bowlers Resume Scrap For Tournament Trip

Matches to determine the personnel of bowling teams to represent this city in the Wichita, Kan. tournament next month were resumed Tuesday night at the Spudder Bowling alley, the management of which is giving half the proceeds of each Tuesday night's games to a fund to defray the expenses of the local bowlers on the trip. The Kruger Jewelers defeated Malsacord and Sons, 2742 to 2535; the Huff Insurance bowlers defeated First National bank, 2448 to 2285; and Texas Electric defeated the Groves Shoe Repairers, 2232 to 2190.

REAGAN ELECTS CO-CAPTAINS

Stingel and Fletcher Are Honored by Cagers

The Reagan Junior High school basket ball team Tuesday afternoon elected Kenneth Stingel, guard, and A. G. Fletcher, forward, co-captains of the Reagan basketeers for the 1931 season. The decision of Coach A. D. Beck to try the co-captain system marked the first departure from the custom of electing only one captain since the team has been in his charge. Coach Beck explained that he thought the two-captain plan would produce better team work.

The two youths named as leaders by their mates have never lettered in the sport, and are in their first year of serious play. Both have been outstanding stars in Reagan games this season.

The election was held just before the practice session Tuesday afternoon. The team is brushing up on offensive tactics this week in anticipation of a return game with the Vernon Junior High school at Vernon Friday evening.

ALLENDALE WINS

The Allendale quintet defeated the City View team on the latter's court Monday afternoon, 20 to 5. Though outplayed in every department, the City View lads put up a determined fight and made the game interesting for the victors.

PLANS DRAWN FOR ARCS HERE

$10,000 Night Plant Proposed to Spudder Prexy

Spudder President William E. Huff Tuesday was in conference with Ben C. Ray, representative of the Giant Manufacturing company of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Trenton, N. J., manufacturers of arc lights for use in night baseball plants.

The baseball president said the company had offered to install a night plant here at an approximate cost of $10,000, and had drawn up a blue print, but that the club had not entered into a contract for the installation of the lights.

The company which Mr. Ray represents installed the lighting fixtures at the Waco and San Antonio ball parks, and is submitting bids on night plants for Fort Worth and Dallas, in addition to Wichita Falls, it was said.

The blue print of the proposed arc-adorned Spudder park showed the lights would be erected at six strategic points in the park, two poles being located on either side of the grandstand, and two on either flank of the center field.

President Huff said it had not been decided whether Wichita Falls will install a night plant, but that the matter was being given consideration.

Mangum Opens Season With Snyder Thursday

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., Jan. 13.—The Tigers, high school basket ball team will swing into real action Thursday night when the Snyder boys come here for the conference opener.

The local lassies will engage the Sayre team in the curtain-raiser. A wrestling match also will be staged with Hobart at that time.

Despite Grid Losses, Dixie Schools Plan No Curtailment in Sports

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 13.—Despite the failure of football to draw the customary number of customers through the gates of Southern football stadia last fall, athletic programs in Dixie schools will be carried through practically without curtailment.

Even with receipts running five, ten and twenty per cent below 1930 there was no disposition among athletic directors to curtail other sports activities, which in the main must be supported from the football fund.

Ready to Borrow

Director Miles, of Virginia Poly, said his school was prepared to "borrow money if necessary" to keep intramural and minor sports operating on the same plane as in previous years. Dan McCugin, athletic director at Vanderbilt, said the decrease in football revenues there meant merely that there would be less money to apply on reduction of debts on the athletic plant and that no curtailment was planned in minor sports.

Only Mississippi college, Alabama Poly (better known as Auburn) and Tennessee reported a curtailment in minor sports. At Tennessee baseball is being curtailed only "because of lack of interest."

Centenary college, of Louisiana, and Ogelthorpe, of Georgia, instead of curtailing minor sports are planning to extend them.

The smaller schools as a group were the hardest hit by the depression.

Ogelthorpe, Alabama Poly and Kentucky reported increased football revenues. Tulane, which had a good year in football competitively, reported its revenues as about the same as in 1929, exact figures not being available.

Classifying the schools responding to The Associated Press questionnaire as to football receipts and curtailment of athletic programs, the lineup is as follows:

Increased receipts: Kentucky (no estimate of increase), Ogelthorpe (10 per cent), Alabama Poly (no estimate), Tulane (about the same).

Decreased receipts: Georgia Tech (10 per cent), Virginia Military institute (slightly off), Mississippi college (20 per cent), Vanderbilt (10 per cent), Tennessee (slightly off), Centenary (20 per cent), Mercer (slightly off), South Carolina (33 per cent), University of Maryland (10 per cent), Washington and Lee (five per cent), Virginia Poly (no estimate).

Penick Denies Other Sports Are Subordinated

AUSTIN, Jan. 13. (AP)—Dr. Daniel A. Penick, president of the Southwest conference, issued a statement today denying the conference was subordinating other sports to football.

The University of Texas board of regents had passed a resolution "regretting" that the conference "has seen fit to reduce the importance of baseball, track and other athletic activities.

"The board of regents must have been misinformed," Doctor Penick stated. He said the baseball schedule was made lighter because some schools wanted to drop it altogether, as an intercollegiate sport.

"Certainly there was no thought of favoring intercollege football as compared with other intercollegiate sports," Doctor Penick said.

Captaining the Texas Aggies basket ball quintet this season is C. T. Hoke, pivot man who won all-conference honors last season and was voted the most valuable player to the squad. Although only a six-footer, Hoke was not outjumped by a single foe all last season.

TUNNEY FREE OF LAW SUITS

Last of Court Actions Is Dropped

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—For the first time since he earned it, Gene Tunney was free today to enjoy whatever remains of the $1,715,863.54 he collected as world heavyweight champion, without having to worry about some of it being taken away from him.

The last of the law suits against him—law suits which began almost as soon as he won the championship and which, had he lost them, would have taken practically all of his earnings—was dropped today by Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, Philadelphia promoter, who was suing for 20 per cent of Gene's bank roll.

Hoff's suit, based on a contract which he said Tunney signed with him the night of the Dempsey fight in Philadelphia, whereby in return for undefined assistance in connection with the fight he was to pay Hoff 20 per cent of his earnings as champion, was for approximately $350,000.

The suit had been pending for nearly four years. At one time in addition to Hoff's suit, Tunney was defendant against Timothy J. Mara, racing man and owner of the New York Giants, professional football club, who demanded more than $400,000 and against John S. Fogarty and Katherine King Fogarty, who asked $500,000 each in alienation and breach of promise suits.

Indians Purchase Beaumont Infielder

DR. A. F. ADAMS

City Health Officer, Reno, Nevada

CITY BOARD OF HEALTH
CITY HALL
RENO, NEVADA

September 23, 1930.

The American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, New York.

Gentlemen:

Your very effective campaign in the newspapers against "spit-tipping" by some cigar manufacturers is decidely in the interest of the public health and in my opinion you are to be commended for this public service.

The use of the word "spit" forcibly calls attention to the evils of the "spit-tipping" methods and no other word could as effectively get over your message to the public.

Our health department is interested in those campaigns which tend to improve general health conditions and in our opinion your present campaign comes within this classification.

Therefore since I consider your campaign to be in the interest of public health since it directs attention to a bad sanitary condition in some cigar manufacturing plants, you have my permission to use this letter if my statement is of value to you.

Sincerely yours,
A. F. Adams
City Health Officer.

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Adams' letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Adams writes: "The use of the word 'spit' forcibly calls attention to the evils of the 'spit-tipping' methods."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (AP)—An opening decline attributed to some near month liquidation and selling of later deliveries on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool was followed by rallies in the cotton market today. Offerings were light after the early selling had run its course, and a very moderate demand was sufficient to send prices up from 10.06 from March to 10.15 or 2 points net higher. March closed at 10.13 with the general market closing steady, net unchanged to 4 points higher.

Business was quiet during the greater part of the day, and except for the continued liquidation of near months and the switching from old to new crop positions, no particular trading feature was reported. Steadiness of the market recently in the face of the labor disputes in Lancashire and easiness in Liverpool has come in for some comment, however, and there were reports today that trade buying orders were beginning to reach the market for execution in the event of further declines.

There were reports this afternoon that the British government was preparing to intervene in the Lancashire mill disputes and would attempt to bring about conferences in a hope of settling the differences. Exports today 7,059, making 4,245,379 so far this season. Port receipts 23,076. U. S. port stocks 4,079,086.

Futures closed steady unchanged to 4 points higher; spot steady; middling 10.05.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 13. (AP)—There was a better feeling in the cotton market here today, but trading was not particularly active in early business. The market soon rallied, however, 9 to 12 points from the lows to levels 1 to 2 points above the previous close. The market continued to rule quiet all afternoon keeping within the previous range but near the highs and closed within 1 to 2 points of the best of the day, the general market closing steady net unchanged to 4 points up.

The census bureau's report on domestic mill consumption during December will be released at the opening tomorrow.

Port receipts 22,896, for week 50,243, for season 7,220,073; last season 7,210,911. Exports 7,059; for week 47,666, for season 4,129,355; last season 4,456,056. Market Suffers Further Losses In Light Volume Session

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 13. (US)—In another light-volume session on the stock exchange prices today moved lower, although the net recessions were not as abrupt as on the previous day.

Among the Utilities and Railroad shares the loss amounted to less than half a point on the average among the leading issues, although this was sufficient to carry the Utilities to a new low for the current year.

The Railroad shares actually demonstrated some resistance to selling, as evidenced by their recovery from the lowest levels of the day, with the rally still in progress when the market closed.

Whether this signifies possibly that they will be utilized to stem any spread of the selling during today's market remains to be proven, but their relative strength was a matter of some cheer to constructionists.

The industrials, particularly the highest-grade issues and the natural leaders of the market, were under pressure, quiet but persistent. The market obviously was taking into account the greater recognition of the readjustments yet to be accomplished in the general situation. The weight of disappointing reports yet to come was also exerting influence on the price structure. Bond prices moved somewhat lower.

News of the day was of little direct effect on the market, so that the same irregular tendencies prevailed as on Monday. The bears, emboldened by their successful raids on other issues, extended their activities and in Vanadium achieved signal success.

This stock, whose fundamentals in any sense are hardly susceptible to bullish activities, was forced down almost five points net to a price close to its lowest level of the last few years.

It is becoming more evident that the $3 dividend rate is endangered by the low rate of earnings. The bull crowd which had been so aggressive and for a time dominated the issue found itself unable to stem the selling.

The chief support for the stock now comes from the short interest, which is rather large for the outstanding capital. Westinghouse sank to a new low but reflected some relief from the concentrated pressure of previous days, even though little of the buying was of investment character.

The big, standard issues were virtually all lower. American Can, for example, sold off over a point and Steel Common a point. Can has been freely offered on all bulges and the question has been raised whether it will prove the same bull leader that it was over the past decade.

The Oil shares were still under the influence of the Texas Corporation official disclosure of poor earnings and to this was added renewed concern over probable early price-cutting in crude oil. The Texas report makes it plain that most other units in the industry will have unfavorable profit statements and the market is taking this into account prior to their release.

It is this widespread recognition of the disappointing character of annual statements yet to be issued which gives the greatest promise that the market may have fully discounted their publication by the time of their public disclosures.

Chicago & Northwestern's president stated that 1930 earnings were just barely over the $4 dividend, thereby placing this rate in the doubtful column. But the stock, yielding 10 per cent, obviously is discounting possible curtailment of the dividend and it rallied somewhat following the president's forecast.

Industrial stocks joined the Utilities in descending to a new 1931 low. Auburn was heavily sold and suffered the sharpest decline of the day. This stock, however, is speculative and has been subjected for months to alternate excessive sponsorship and attack.

It is hardly likely that, with the wave of unfavorable earnings reports due over the next few weeks, the bears will retire from activity. For example, it was stated that a strong speculative bear clique was concentrating again on Eastman Kodak.

Nevertheless, it is evident that quiet but substantial shortcovering is proceeding in the market. This in itself is sufficient to stabilize prices even if only temporary, until a persistent buying demand of better professional, specuative character can be attracted.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Jan. 13. (AP)—Wheat was reported in good demand on the cash grain market here today with the Farm Board agencies taking offerings on trade here at the higher prices, while mills were getting wheat from elevators at the lower levels. No. 1 hard wheat of any protein was selling at 80@81½c, basis delivered Texas common points.

Other grains found fair demand for the light offerings, and trade was reported showing marked improvement since the holidays.

Quotations on coarse grains ranged nominally as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 77@78c; No. 2 white 80½@81c; No. 2 95 per cent white 79½@80c; No. 2 yellow 80@81c.
Oats—No. 2 red 45@46c.
Barley—No. 2 60@61c.
Sorghums—No. 2 milo, per 100 lbs. $1.30@1.32; No. 2 kaffir $1.28@1.30.
No. 3 white oats, delivered Texas group one points, quoted at 43¾@44½c, to which add 1c for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. (AP)—India suddenly became a grain price factor today, and all cereals scored an advance, especially wheat. Owing to drouth reports, India has been transformed from an exporter into a large importer of wheat. Simultaneously, United States government sponsored agencies lifted their price at Minneapolis and Kansas City. World stocks of wheat exhibited 4,667,000 bushels decrease, bringing total down to almost the same as a year ago.

Wheat closed firm, ⅜@¾c higher, corn unchanged to ⅜c up, oats ⅛@¼c advanced and provisions unchanged to 17c better.

A statement credited to Chairman Legge of the federal farm board that the Grain Stabilization corporation had taken so much wheat that there was not much left to buy was coupled with reports that government-sponsored bodies were actively acquiring wheat both at Minneapolis and Kansas City.

Profit-taking for recent buyers acted as a drag on corn, which unlike wheat was without support from farm board allies. Zero temperature prevailing in part of the corn belt, however, was regarded as likely to increase feeding demand. Primary arrivals were 634,000 bushels, against 1,054,000 a year ago. Oats were firm but dull.

Provisions rose with grains and hogs.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. (US)—The fact that July wheat is virtually free from old crop hedges, because of absorption of surplus by the government agencies, shorts are becoming somewhat apprehensive. At present the open interest is approximately 27,000,000 bushels.

Prospects in corn are for heavier feeding throughout the belt with the return of colder weather. However, this has little direct influence on the market, making its reflection even with short supplies, at a later date.

Foreign crop reports show favorable conditions in most of the continental countries, except France, where the crop is slightly below normal.

Farm board agencies were reported buying cash wheat in Minneapolis as well as in the Southwest terminals.

Broomhall says snow protection for winter crop is abundant in Russa. He says that supplies of grain on hand are increasing and expects pressure from further shipments in the spring.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 13. (AP) (U.S.D.A.) —Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by active business in hogs. All interests purchased freely at 20@25c higher prices. Medium weight and heavy butchers generally showed more advantage than weight averages under 200 lbs. The day's extreme top of $8.40 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings were around 121,800 as compared with 120,293 a week ago and 81,538 the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs found a slow outlet at values steady to unevenly lower with some of the River markets reporting declines of 25c or more. Matured killing classes of sheep were unchanged. Shippers in Chicago bought most of the good to choice lambs at $8.40@8.50. The supply approximately 49,000, a decrease of 7,000 from last Tuesday, but 6,000 more than a year ago.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 32,700 against 37,136 a week ago and 38,813 a year ago. Well conditioned matured fed steers were on a firm to 25c higher basis, but otherwise prices on killing classes were little changed. Long yearling steers at Omaha and Chicago cleared at $13.00 while at Kansas City 823-lb. fed steer and heifer calves realized $12.00. There was a fair demand for stocker and feeder classes at steady figures. Bulk of stocker and feeder steers are selling from $6.50@8.75.

BOWIE CALLS TRUCK MEET

Farmers to Study Marketing Thursday

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Jan. 13.—Officials of the Bowie Chamber of Commerce have requested all truck farmers of Montague county to meet in Bowie at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Jan. 15, for the purpose of discussing plans relative to producing and marketing the truck and vegetable crops of this county.

The agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad and county agent of Montague county will be present and will lead in the discussions of plans and problems of producing and marketing the truck-farm products of the county. Other leaders and speakers will be present and will take an active part in the meeting.

About the middle of December a meeting was held and was attended by 75 men who had already decided to plant 80 acres to tomatoes, 85 acres to watermelons and 100 acres to cantaloupes. Quite a number of these men will also cultivate other varieties, such as okra, peas, beans, cabbage and many other vegetable products. At the next meeting a number of other farmers will report the acreage which they have decided to plant.

The greatest truck-growing venture ever undertaken in Montague county is being started now. Many farmers here are giving more attention than ever to agricultural education. They are studying the best varieties of products, most economical methods of production and most profitable methods marketing the products.

ALVORD FARMERS PLAN CROPS

Special to The Record News.

ALVORD, Texas, Jan. 13.—At a special meeting the truckers and farmers of this vicinity pledged themselves to plant 300 acres in cantaloupes, 500 acres in melons, 30 acres in potatoes and 100 acres in tomatoes. These farmers in the past have made a success in these commodities.

Bill Would Liberalize Laws Against Lottery

BOSTON, Jan. 13. (AP)—The village church sewing circle may again be permitted to legally raffle off a patchwork quilt—if the legislature passes a bill introduced today by Representative Thomas S. Kennedy of Roxbury.

Kennedy's measure, intended to liberalize the lottery laws, would permit whist parties and other games of chance for prizes not to exceed in value $25, providing proceeds were donated solely to charitable, civic, educational, fraternal or religious organizations.

Insects are reported causing heavy damage to soy bean crops in parts of Oklahoma.

Machinery With a Future

Because of changes in manufacturing plans, it is often necessary for factories to dispose of some of their machinery.

Thus it is that the drill press, lathe, dynamo and other standard units are put on the market for whatever they will bring. Buyers lucky enough to get them give due credit to the Want-Ad which supplied the information. No wonder purchasing agents watch these Classified Want Ad Columns.

BANKS ELECT AT STAMFORD

Veteran Financier Retires From Business

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, Jan. 13.—The First National bank stockholders held an election today for directors with the following men named: A. J. Swenson, T. A. Upshaw, B. P. Davenport, J. C. Bryant, W. W. Scott, R. E. McDonald, Dimmit Hughes, Dr. F. E. Hudson, J. D. Shackelford, P. R. Robertson and E. G. Keese.

In turn the directors named T. A. Upshaw president; A. J. Swenson, vice president; J. C. Bryant, vice president; R. R. Robertson, vice president; E. G. Keese, cashier; Charles F. Markham, assistant cashier; Wiley W. Cox, assistant cashier; and B. P. Davenport Jr., assistant cashier.

An executive board consisting of the following was elected by the directors: A. J. Swenson, chairman; T. A. Upshaw, B. P. Davenport, R. R. Robertson and E. G. Keese.

R. V. Colbert for 30 years or more president of the bank retires from the business. No man is known over this country better and more favorably and his friends regret to see him leave the banking business.

He started as boy in this country about the year 1884 as a sheep herder and rose rapidly in business circles, at one time being in the newspaper business at Anson and later county clerk of Jones county. The name of R. V. Colbert is known all over Texas banking circles and to him largely is due the credit of the success of the bank.

At a meeting of the shareholders of the Stamford State bank, recently merged with the First State bank, the following directors were elected Tuesday: P. R. Bettis, Dr. Dallas Southard, W. P. Lyles, J. R. Pratt, F. E. Morrow, W. L. Harrison, A. L. Baster, C. M. Francis and E. P. Bunkley.

The directors elected the following officers: President, F. E. Morrow; vice president, E. P. Bunkley; cashier, J. R. Pratt; assistant cashier, C. B. Gray; second assistant cashier, Clay Markham.

WICHITA CLUB ELECTS TODAY

Two Tickets Await Decision Of Members

From two slates of 10 names each, 10 new directors for the Wichita club will be elected by the stockholders at a luncheon program to be held at the club Thursday at noon.

The first ticket includes Bert King, J. L. McMahon, C. E. McCutchen, George A. Mobley, L. T. Burns, Albert Crenshaw, B. D. Donnell, E. P. Bass, O. C. Brown and Jouette Bonner. The other ticket is made up of J. S. Bridwell, Harry Weeks, C. P. McGaha, Lester Jones, Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, J. M. Bradshaw, Joe L. Art, T. H. Lawson, D. G. Gray and Anderson Kemp.

Five of the directors who will be held over from the present board include Arthur Clark, J. M. Williams, George Golden, Dr. H. D. Prichard and T. J. Waggoner Jr.

Telegraph Company Victor in Suit Here

For the third time during recent months, an instructed verdict for the defendant was returned here Tuesday in the damage suit of Mrs. J. C. Thomas against the Postal Telegraph company and others, the action growing out of the death of the plaintiff's son, Elmer Thomas, formerly in the employ of the defendant company.

Tuesday's verdict was rendered before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court. The case formerly had been tried in both the 78th and 30th district courts, it was said, with the result that a nonsuit was taken by the plaintiff in each instance. It was indicated Tuesday that an appeal from the 89th district court will be attempted by the plaintiff.

The original petition based a claim for damages upon alleged insufficient care and improper medical attention for the deceased boy during an illness said to have resulted from excessive exposure while on duty.

Six Draw Fines In County Court Trials

Pleas of guilty to various charges were followed by six convictions in the county court at law before Judge Irvin J. Vogel Tuesday, according to Louis V. Abernathy, county attorney.

Admitting his guilt on a charge of stealing a hose from a local store, a negro man received a sentence of 90 days in jail. It was his fourth offense of like nature, and his fourth conviction in this court, according to Judge Vogel.

A fine of $20 and costs was imposed upon another man charged with shoplifting, while another was fined $25 and costs for drunkenness.

A middle-aged woman was fined $1 plus costs on a charge of affray. She was alleged to have struck another white woman with a brick.

A man was given 15 days in jail in which to contemplate the dangers of joy-riding in another's car, while another was fined $1 plus costs and given one day in jail for swindling by check.

FREIGHT HEARING DELAYED

The hearing of the Interstate Commerce commission of the Texas differential case and the Consolidated Southwestern cases to have been held at Galveston on Jan. 14, have been postponed to Friday, Jan. 16, according to information received here by Dudley B. Foy, traffic manager of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Foy will leave here Thursday to attend the hearing in Galveston Friday.

Because of low wages offered, it was difficult to find enough cotton pickers to supply the demand this year in Oklahoma.

MAJESTIC: Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Anita Page in "The Little Accident." Kiddie revue, screen novelty and sound news.

STRAND: Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "The Man Who Came Back." Slim Summerville comedy, novelty act and sound news.

STATE: "Outside the Law," with Mary Nolan and Owen Moore. Comedy, pictorial and sound news.

GEM: Buddy Rogers and Nancy Carroll in "Follow Thru." Comedy.

An entirely new type of role is being taken by Richard Barthelmess in "The Lash," coming to the Strand theater Friday. It is more of the Gary Cooper sort of thing, all about young cowboys and Spanish senoritas and such.

Rosita Moreno and Mary Astor play the leading feminine roles, and Fred Kohler is the villain. James Rennie and a number of other notables are on the cast.

"Little Accident," featuring Anita Page and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., opens at the Majestic Wednesday. Judging by the picture of the infant on the title and by Anita Page's usual movie performance, the "little accident" should prove of great interest to the average moviegoer.

Those who saw "All Quiet on the Western Front," "Journey's End," "The Dawn Patrol" or "Hell's Angels" should be interested in the opportunity afforded them to compare the present-day war picture with that of more than a decade ago, when the State theater brings back "The Birth of a Nation"—synchronized with sound this time.

There will be no aerial photography or hand grenading or bursting of huge bombs, but there will probably be just as exciting drama and just as true a picturization of the horrors of war. Sherman has been paraphrased in pictures too many times since then.

33 Gamesters Jailed In Raids by Officers

Indulgence in quiet little gambling parties promises to develop material inconvenience in this community due to the demonstrated penchant of local constable's and sheriff's deputies for happening along at the right—or wrong—time.

Thirty-three complaints have been filed for alleged gambling during the past three days, 23 in justice courts and 10 in the county court at law, it was learned Tuesday. Thirteen negroes were arrested at one place Sunday afternoon. Many of them were released on bond Monday. On Monday night, a number of the same group were arrested a second time at the same alley cabin, and for the same reason, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. Raub On Optimist Program

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Raub, local musicians, will be the principal entertainers for members of the Optimist club when they meet Wednesday at 12:10 o'clock at the Kemp hotel for their regular weekly luncheon.

Bert King will give a short talk. The club will go to Vernon Thursday to have charge of the program for that group. Joe Bailey, Joe Richker and Ira D. Brown will have charge of the entertainment for the day.

FIRST VOTER

Engineer Casts Absentee Ballot in City Water Election

D. B. Sewell, locomotive engineer, was the first to cast an absentee ballot in the water bond issue which will be held Jan. 20, according to City Clerk W. E. McEroom. Mr. Sewell will be out of the city on the date of the election.

Original Cast In Geo. White's Show

The Memorial auditorium will be open Tuesday night, Jan. 27, for George White's own production of "Flying High," which will play a one-night engagement. The show is the first Broadway musical show to come west of Mississippi this season.

For the first time in many years a major Broadway producer is sending an attraction under his own direction and management to the West. According to White's announcement his previous arrangements with road show producers whereby his attractions were leased has proven unsatisfactory to himself and to the theatergoing public.

The production that will be seen here is a precise replica of that which recently terminated a 45-week run at the White Apollo theater, New York City.

The advance courier of the show lays much stress on the first-time-off-Broadway chorus. By dint of luxuries in the way of drawing room on special trains, the lure of individual publicity and last, but not least, a wage messurably higher than the already liberal Broadway scale, White has managed to enlist the services of 24 personable young women who have never before set their dainty tootsies west of Hoboken.

Reservations are now being accepted, according to H. C. Cheshire, local representative.

Wichitan Cleared In Homicide Case

Gene Somerly tried Monday before Judge Irvin J. Vogel in the county court at law on a charge of negligent homicide growing out of the death of T. Davenport on Christmas eve, was acquitted by a jury Tuesday morning.

Only 15 minutes' deliberation was required by the jury to find its verdict.

Mr. Davenport, father of John Davenport, was fatally injured in a traffic accident on Holliday street.

NOCONA NAMES ROAD GROUP

Committee to Confer With Highway Board

Special to The Record News

NOCONA, Texas, Jan. 13.—Three leading Nocona business men were appointed Tuesday to accompany members of the Montague county commissioners court to Austin for a hearing on highway 5 plans on Jan. 21. The committee, appointed by the executive board of the highway association includes: C. McCall, of the Farmers-Merchants National bank; T. B. Wilkers and G. W. Humphreys.

The hearing, granted by the state highway commission, is expected to finally settle every point in the routing and work on highway 5 through Montague county. The state's route has been accepted, with provisions, and leaders of the road organization are eager to get the actual construction work started.

The committeemen will bring back with them maps and field notes outlining the proposed route so that work of securing right of way options can begin at once.

Beginning of the work is expected to afford employment to Montague county men and the whole county is behind the movement to get tentative details made permanent.

Burner Company To Open Branch House in Wichita

The Southern Burner company, said to be the largest dealer in gas furnace and heating apparatus in the United States, with general headquarters at Chickasha, Okla., has signed a long term contract with Mytinger & Walker for a location at 911 Eighth street.

Officials of the company were in Wichita Falls recently and after a survey of the city and the trade area, decided to open a branch house in this city. The building is now being prepared for occupancy and the new firm expects to be ready for business Feb. 1.

Margaret Bone and Patrick Henry Jr. Win High School Popularity Vote

Margaret Bone and Patrick Henry Jr., high school seniors, were chosen as the most popular girl and boy in Wichita Falls High school at an election held during the 30-minute period Monday. The contest was held without previous announcements or campaigning, each student being given two slips of paper and five minutes' time to select the two most popular high school students. The winners were announced Tuesday.

Miss Bone is president of the high school Girl Reserves and an officer in the senior class; and young Henry is president of the spring graduating class, and is prominent in the Hi-Y organizations of Texas.

Pictures of these students will be placed in the favorites section of the high school yearbook, the Coyote, according to Miss Louise Kelly, faculty sponsor.

More than 22,000 square miles were topographically surveyed the last fiscal year by the geological survey.

Chest Asks Payment Of Quarterly Pledges

Subscriptions on the group solicitations for the community chest for the first quarter are not being sent in, according to Mrs. Orr Bentley, executive-secretary of the organization.

There is enough funds on hand to pay the February bills but collections will have to increase if the March obligations are met, Mrs. Bentley said.

VETERINARIANS END MEETING

Resolutions Thank Wichita For Program

Veterinarians who attended the State Veterinary Medical associations semi-annual convention held here were returning to their respective homes Tuesday night following the adjournment of the meet Tuesday afternoon.

Tour Poultry Ranch

During the morning session of the last day of the meeting Tuesday professional subjects were discussed by a number of veterinary medical authorities in attendance, and during the afternoon the gathering visited the Johnson poultry ranch here and took a sight-seeing tour of the city, after which they convened for a small animals clinic held later in the afternoon at the veterinary hospital of Dr. Fred Gross, 113 Indiana avenue, local veterinarian.

Ladies of the auxiliary were entertained at a luncheon Tuesday noon at the Woman's Forum. Hostesses were members of the local auxiliary.

Speakers during the session Tuesday were Dr. P. W. Burns, associate professor of veterinary physiology and pharmacology at Texas A. & M. college; Dr. C. D. False of the Cutrs-False laboratories at Kansas City; Dr. J. V. Lacroix of Evanston, Ill.; Dr. A. K. Kuttler of Fort Worth; Dr. H. Schmidt of the experiment station at Texas A. & M. college; Dr. W. F. Hayes of Farmersville, Dr. T. O. Booth of Temple; F. B. Green of the state department of health at Austin; A. E. Wharton, professor of veterinary pathology at Texas A. & M. college; Ashe Lockhart, president of the Ashe Lockhart laboratories at Kansas City; and Dr. C. E. Salsberry of the Jensen-Salsberry laboratories at Kansas City.

Before adjournment of the two-day convention held here the association passed the following resolution:

Resolutions Adopted

"Whereas the eighth semi-annual meeting of the State Veterinary Medical association of Texas now drawing to its close was held under unusually auspicious circumstances,

"Be it resolved that this association express its sincere appreciation and heartfelt thanks to the following organizations and persons to whose kindness and hospitality this successful meeting and most pleasant visit are attributed: West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, Knickerbocker Studio of Fine Arts, Donelly Floral company, Wichita Daily Times and Record News, Lesley Bros. Auto Service station, Chas. I. Francis, and the local association's committee of veterinarians.

"(Signed) Resolutions committee.

ONLY BIG MUSICAL SHOW BOOKED THIS SEASON
To the Theatergoers of Wichita Falls and Environs:
Theatrical attractions have been so scarce in the Southwest this season that it affords me great pleasure in being enabled to announce the advent not only of "just a show," but a large musical comedy success, George White's OWN production of his Apollo Theater (New York) success, "FLYING HIGH."
I feel considerable pride in securing this attraction inasmuch as it will visit less than a dozen cities in the entire country where less than a week-stand will be played. The date here will be Tuesday, January 27 at Memorial Auditorium.
The "FLYING HIGH" that will appear here is NOT a NUMBER TWO, or leased company, using GEORGE WHITE'S name for commercial purposes. The show is a precise replica of that which ran forty-five weeks on Broadway, and is under MR. WHITE'S own supervision and management. It carries HIS PERSONAL GUARANTEE, to which I add mine.
Prices will range from $1.00 to $3.00.
Mail orders, accompanied by remittance in full and self-addressed, stamped envelope, will be filed in rotation.

Gentlemen:

We wish to correct the impression left in Sunday's edition of the Wichita Daily Times that you are making ice from water of questionable sanitary quality.

Our investigation discloses that you are making all your ice from pure distilled water and we are sorry any impression to the contrary was made, for such was certainly not intended.

Very truly yours,
Walter Nelson Jr.
Mayor.
GFaustrace
City Manager.
