(Q) Why is Colorado City having a Clean Up Week?

(A) "Colorado City, like many other communities, has a campaign every year to give the town a neater, cleaner appearance," said Glenna Garrett, chairman of this year's activities.

"It is only with citizen involvement that a really successful cleaning up can be achieved and an intensive clean up campaign is the best way to make citizens aware of the things that need to be done," she added.

In conclusion, Mrs. Garrett stated, "After all, Colorado City is our home and we should want to have it as neat and clean as we do the inside of our individual residences."

Police Department investigating two separate incidents

The Colorado City Police Department is currently investigating two incidents that occurred last week, one at a local business and the other at a private residence.

On Thursday, May 26, Brenda Jane Holcomb reported that she had been visiting with a relative about 11 p.m. and left her purse on a car. According to the report, a man also came by to visit and when he left, the purse, containing a small amount of money and other items was missing. Officer Steve Collier is the investigating officer.

Sometime between noon on Friday, May 27 and 3:04 a.m. Saturday, May 28, Police Officer Pat Taylor noted that a door on the west side of the Truss King building had been forced open. Andrew Cook, owner of the building, was notified and he reported that nothing was missing. Taylor, Chief of Police Ed Wheat and Sheriff's Deputies Bobby Callaway and Edward Tersero are investigating.

A COLORADO CITY MAN escaped injury last Friday when the truck he was driving over-turned on I-20 near Loraine. Vernon Weldy (left) driver of the truck, talks with Texas Department of Public Safety Officer James Burson. The accident happened at 6:05 p.m. Weldy was hauling a load of shingles to Colorado City from Sweetwater. He is employed by Gulf Coast Construction Co.

McKinney - an avid jogger

Jogging is getting more and more popular every year in the U.S. Now thousands of Americans take time each day to go out and run a few miles for the betterment of their health.

Mrs. Patrice McKinney has been running for eight years, and is still going strong. In fact, Mrs. McKinney, the wife of attorney Pete McKinney first started out running one or two miles. Now she can run an amazing 26 miles.

Mrs. McKinney says that she started getting interested into running eight years ago when she was a high school teacher at Galveston Ball High School. "Everyone had started jogging at that time, so I got into it, besides it was so neat to run on the beach," explained Mrs. McKinney.

At the time Mrs. McKinney started running she was smoking two packs of cigarettes a day, now she does not smoke at all. "I would not advise people who are not in shape to start out by running one or two miles. They need to walk for about a month." She explained that this is because the muscles have time to adapt to the stress of running.

The more Mrs. McKinney ran, the more she liked it. After moving to Colorado City six years ago she was averaging about three-four miles daily.

In 1979 she had worked her way up to 10 miles daily. In fact she kept running up until she eight-and-a-half months pregnant. She said that her doctor did not object to her running while she was pregnant. "The doctor said if I had normally been doing this exercise, then I could keep on doing it. Although I did cut down to three to four miles," explained Mrs. McKinney.

Three months after her child was born Mrs. McKinney competed in a 10 mile race in Big Spring. Six months later she competed in her first marathon which is 26.2 miles. "The race was grueling, it was very humid and it rained on us the last part of the race. But I felt great, and paced myself well." Her time for the race was three hours and 44 minutes.

Since that time she has competed in four other marathons, including ones in Dallas, San Antonio and Abilene. She has also participated in half-marathons (13.1 miles), 10 kilometer runs and various fun runs around the area. In fact, she won the half marathon race last year in Snyder with a time of 1 hour and 40 seconds.

McKinney says her training for a marathon consists of starting about three months before the race. She will generally put in about 40-45 miles per week. She will do two long runs during the middle of the week. These runs are usually anywhere from 10-13 miles. Then she will spend a couple of "speed days" at the track.

This consists of running a couple of miles and running intervals of 220's and 440's as fast as she can. She will close out her week's work on the weekend by running a long run anywhere from 16-20 miles. McKinney says she never runs the marathon distance while training because "psychologically" it is bad for her, running the last few grueling miles.

The week before the marathon, McKinney cuts back on her workouts so she can get her legs rested. "I rest and ride my bike before the race," she commented.

Mrs. McKinney says a lot of things goes through a marathoner's head during the course of a race. "At the beginning of the race you don't think about too much because everyone is caught up in the excitement of the race. The race is very competitive the first 10 miles. At the 14 or 15 mile mark you are strong and your body feels good. Around the 18, 19 and 20 mile mark that's when it hits you, you get so tired and you want to quit. The last six miles you have to push yourself, you tell yourself I've come this far. See JOGGER, Page 2

Walker was previously employed with the Rotan police department.

He and his wife, Barbara, have two daughters and since moving to Colorado City, Walker has joined the Lions Club and is an instructor with the 4-H rifle team.

McKinney's interest does not end at running, she is very active in aerobics exercise. She studied with Mary Mayta and they now give aerobic clinics all over Texas and the United States for Aerobics Fitness Inc. The two have presented clinics in states such as Florida, South Carolina and New York.

She says her future plans are to take it easy for a while since she is coming off of an injury to her gluteal muscles. But she plans on competing in the triathlon later on at Ft. Davis. There she will compete in three events, a 65 mile bike ride, a one mile swimming course and a 13.1 mile run.

Mrs. McKinney says she plans to keep active in running and aerobics, and hopefully she will keep "putting 'em down."

News from.....

By PAM JARNAGIN

Our nation observed Memorial Day this past week and we were no exception. Mayor Elmer Martin spoke to our residents in honor of our war dead.

In solemn respect, we bow our heads and pay tribute to the men who gave their lives for our country, not only on Memorial Day, but every day. May we always be able to sing, "Sweet land of liberty."

Our social hour discussion was turned toward the families of our servicemen and how they passed the time. Life went on as usual, but even the cooking reflected their thoughts.

I was given a recipe for a "World War I Cake" you may enjoy.

Put in pan: 1 c. sugar, 1 stick butter, 1 c. raisins, 2 c. hot water, 1 t. cinnamon, 1 t. nutmeg, 1 t. cloves. Let come to boil and cool. Stir in by hand: 1 1/4 c. flour, 1 t. soda, 1/2 t. salt, 1/2 c. chopped pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

We also talked of war-time heroes. The usual names were mentioned, but Mrs. Myrtle Womack had a definite favorite war-time hero.

He was decorated heavily for heroism in World War II, as well as

Fire casualties in 1982 total 72

At least 72 Texans died and 599 were injured in fires during the last six months of 1982, according to statistics reported by 198 fire departments participating in the Texas Fire Incident Reporting System (TEXFIRS).

Lyndon L. Olson, Jr., Chairman of the State Board of Insurance, released the second report of the new TEXFIRS system operated by the State Fire Marshal's Office.

Property damage from fires was estimated at $62,494,213.

Residential fire accounted for 62.5 percent of deaths, 55.9 percent of injuries and 47.6 percent of property loss.

Improper cooking techniques were blamed for most home fires and injuries, but careless smoking caused more deaths and incendiary-suspicious fires more property damage.

Of all building fires, 84.6 percent of deaths, 84 percent of injuries and 82.7 percent of dollar loss occurred in structures which had no fire detectors.

Twenty-one percent of all the 32,000 fires reported were of incendiary or suspicious origin, and 17.6 percent of the total dollar loss was attributed to these incidents.

Fires of unknown cause, plus the incendiary and suspicious category, accounted for 46 percent of the total number and 44 percent of the dollar loss.

The TEXFIRS report, based on a uniform, computerized reporting system, summarizes the causes and characteristics of fires and fire-related deaths and injuries. More than 200 fire departments protecting nearly 40 percent of the Texas population now report to the system.

Some of the largest cities were not able to provide data for the six-months report. Most major cities either have developed, or are in the process of developing, systems compatible with TEXFIRS, however, and their statistics are being included as the system is expanded and refined.

"The TEXFIRS represents the first effort by a state agency in Texas to collect fire data continually in a uniform manner," said Olson.

State Fire Marshal Ernest A. Emerson said TEXFIRS is a base of information which assists in detection of fire trends and development of solid information on the scope of the fire problem.

"This information will be categorized and correlated on a quarterly basis and returned to fire departments for local analysis," said Emerson. "The data provides an excellent fire department management tool as well as necessary facts for conducting fire protection and public safety programs."

Further information about fires that occurred during the final six months of 1982 is available on request to the State Board of Insurance,

State Fire Marshal's Office, 1110 San Jacinto, Austin, TX 78786.

Older American Month celebrated in Loraine

The Loraine Senior Citizens celebrated Older American Month, beginning with a "beans and cornbread" supper on April 29.

One hundred and eighty four people were served that day, including guests from the community.

Special programs were held on May 4 and 6 in honor of Mothers Day. The special program was brought by Roberta Jackson who presented corsages to the oldest mother, the mother with the most children and the youngest mother present. The program ended with the mothers from the group telling what they remembered most about their mothers.

On May 25, the Sun Village Jug Band entertained the group. All the members in the band are residents of the Senior Citizens Housing Complex in Sweetwater.

A drawing for gifts donated by Colorado City and Loraine merchants was held each day the Senior Citizens met and the following prizes were won:

ing iron from Lemons Sales - Montgomery Wards;

'Agricultural Development Bond' sent to governor

Among the flood of bills passed by the Legislature and sent to the Governor during the final hectic week of the session was a landmark measure authorizing the issuance of tax-exempt "Agricultural Development Bonds" to fund low-interest loans to farmers wishing to build facilities to process and market their own agricultural products.

The proposal was developed and drafted by Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower and introduced by Sen. Ted Lyon (D-Rockwell).

Rep. Bruce Gibson (D-Godley) sponsored the legislation in the House. Hightower made it clear during the session that he considered the proposal a top priority.

"A decade ago, farmers were getting 37 cents out of every dollar consumers spent for food," he said. "Today, our farmers are getting just 28 cents out of that dollar. Between the time an agricultural product leaves the farm and when it arrives on our dinner table, the middlemen take that over 72 cents for processing, packaging, marketing and transportation. If our farmers can start moving into those areas of the food chain, they can start pocketing some of that 'value added' money and recapture a bigger share of the consumer food dollar. And we're hopeful that this legislation will help farmers all over Texas do just that."

As examples of the type of projects that might be funded by the bonds, Hightower pointed to two producer-owned companies already in operation: a West Texas fabric mill that processes cotton grown by its owners into denim for blue jeans, and a farmer-owned chili pepper processing plant that makes chili powder and parika. Additional possibilities include plants to turn grain into fuel alcohol for use in gasoline, a plant to turn the farmer's 8 cents lb. onions into $1.39 lb packages of onion rings, rancher-owned slaughter facilities and meat markets, and grape grower-owned wineries.

"Right now, there is very little food processing done here in Texas," Hightower said. "Processing facilities like these will generate a profit for our hard-ed farmers and keep those value-added dollars here in Texas."

The Lyon-Gibson bill allows county authorities to issue the bonds. They would not be backed or guaranteed by the state, but the tax-exempt status will make development loans available at below-market interest rates, Hightower said.

UGSA Softball Action

In UGSA softball action last week, the Red Devils got the best of the Panthers 20-3.

Dalia Franco was the winning pitcher for the Red Devils. She got relief help from Tracy Hoover. Melanie Gilstrap started out for the Panthers, and pitched one and a half innings. Nat Gabba came on in relief of Gilstrap.

Mikki Findley, Cindy Aguilar, Hoover and Franco all led the Red Devils with good hits.

The Red Devils' record stands at 1-0 for the season, while the Panthers record falls to 0-1-1 for the year.

In Division II action, the Cougars downed the Chargers 15-11 in a hard fought contest.

Pricilla Mays pitched the entire seven innings for the winning team. She was aided by good hits by Kim Wulfjen and Darla Gregory. Losing pitcher for the Chargers was Gina Gilstrap, Sylvia Alvarez came on and pitched two innings for the Chargers.

The loss drops the Chargers' record to 1-1 for the season, while the Cougars' record stands at 1-0.

Last Thursday, the Division I Champions lost a close contest to Sweetwater 5-4, after only two innings of play.

The contest was stopped after two innings because of the one hour time limit set on the games.

The Champions led going into the second inning 2-0, but the host team rallied to take the victory. Cynthia Martinez pitched the entire game for the Champions.

The loss drops the Champions' record to 0-1-1 for the season.

Average Billing can help smooth out high summer electric bills.

In the summer, intense Texas heat can make your air conditioner work longer and drive your electric bill up in a hurry.

Our Average Billing Plan can help by "averaging out" your payments. You still pay for all the electricity you use, and your payments will still vary from month to month. However, in high-use months you pay for less electricity than you use, and in low-use months you pay for more.

Average Billing can help smooth out high summer electric bills. It's available to both residential customers and churches.

If you'd like to know more, give us a call at Texas Electric.
