Appraisal Unit Problem Taken To College Board

Western Texas College trustees Monday night dealt with only a routine agenda, and the board spent most of the session with representatives of the Scurry County Appraisal District.

Meeting with the board were John Reed, chairman of the appraisal district board, and chief appraiser Ray Pevler.

The college board was told that the appraisal district is in dire need of more office space. Because the college pays a portion of the budget, the representatives said input from the college was desired.

Presently, the district has just over 700 square feet of office space in the first floor of the courthouse, and there is no room for expansion.

Pevler said that the district had looked into the possibility of building a new office, or remodeling an existing building.

Estimates on a new building were said to be $185,000, of which approximately $35,000 would be paid by the college.

The problem is complicated by the appraisal district's ability to contract for only one year. Present regulations prohibit the district from making any agreements past the board members' current term of office.

Either a new building or remodeling would require that all governmental agencies would have to budget their pro rata share in one budget year.

Reed said the ideal solution would be for the office to remain in the courthouse. He said the second choice would be a new building rather than putting $100,000 in an old structure.

Following a lengthy discussion, the college board agreed that the appraisal district come up with a plan and make a recommendation to the board.

The WTC board also met with Dr. Harry Krenek, representing the Scurry County Historical Committee. The group requested that the Dodson House, built in 1883, be restored and that the group be allowed to locate the home somewhere on the WTC campus.

The home, presently located on College Avenue, must be moved by April 1 to make way for construction of a new building for First Federal Savings and Loan. The home has been donated to the historical society.

Dr. Krenek said the restoration and maintenance of the house would be done by the historical group, and that the home would be valuable for attracting visitors and for use in the instructional program.

No action was taken, and the board said it would consider the proposal and discuss it with the historical committee at another time.

The board also approved two faculty resignations. Frank Cannon, instructor in mid-management, has resigned to work for an oil company. Brenda Weaver, assistant director of student activities, has resigned to move from the city.

Melton Book Company was the successful bidder in the amount of $2,950 for the purchase of microscopes for the biology department. Three other bids were received.

Superior Coach Sales was awarded the bid for the purchase of a 14-passenger van with wheelchair ramp for use by the RSVP. The van will be paid 80 per cent by a federal grant with the balance being paid by the Snyder Kiwanis Club.

Trustees okayed a minor policy change raising the amount from $200 to $1,000 for checks requiring two signatures rather than three.

A small class report, those classes with fewer than 10 students enrolled, were approved. There were a total of 76 such classes.

In reports, the board was told that spring enrollment totaled 1,224, the second highest spring enrollment ever.

Board members also were told that the College Coordinating Board had approved WTC's request to build additional dorm space. Plans are being drawn at this time before the project can be put out for bids.

Following the regular meeting, the board went into an executive session on personnel, but announced that no action was taken.

Dr. Don Newbury, new college president, attended the meeting at which board president Edwin Parks presided. Other board members attending were Howard Sterling, R. C. Patton, Dr. Robert Hargrove, Wacil McNair and Bill Jones. Absent was Bill Wilson.

But Not Trade Unions...

Polish Farmers May Form An Association

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's Supreme Court ruled today that private farmers could not form the independent trade union they sought but could form an association. The decision came after a government shakeup in which Defense Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski, regarded as a moderate, was named Polish premier.

The court ruling, an apparent attempt to find a compromise between the farmers' demands and Communist Party leaders who oppose a union of farmers, followed Warsaw Radio announcement of the end of a general strike in Jelenia Gora and suspension of walkouts scheduled in the Silesian coal mines.

In the decision, the court said the case was out of its jurisdiction because farmers work on their own, privately-owned land and are therefore not employees of an organization. It sent the case back to a lower court.

Lech Walesa, head of the Solidarity independent trade union which backs the farmers' demand for a Rural Solidarity, called the decision a "draw." Asked by farmers if they should register as an association, Walesa replied, "of course."

The government shakeup came at a Central Committee meeting Monday. Jaruzelski replaces Premier Jozef Pinkowski who took over in August at the height of nationwide strikes.

At the meeting, Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania warned that Soviet patience was wearing thin. He appealed to the Polish army to "guard our independence" and workers to "stop the anarchy." Kania urged farmers to ignore the call to unionize and "frustrate the designs of those who want to break agricultural self-government."

It was not immediately clear what effect the court ruling would have on the farmers, who had appealed to the Supreme Court after a lower court denied them a union charter. They had spoken of boycotting food supply centers if their demand was not met.

About 5,000 farmers outside the court listened to Walesa explain the decision and then left for a rally planned before the court hearing.

Budget Cuts May Top $26 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration may target foreign aid, farm support and federal rent subsidies for billions of dollars in budget cuts beyond the $26 billion in proposed reductions now being circulated on Capitol Hill, congressional aides say.

In all, sources said budget director David Stockman is hoping to propose cuts of $40 billion to $50 billion in the federal budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1. Proposed cuts for the current fiscal year may be less than $15 billion, sources estimated.

The congressional aides, who asked not to be identified, said Monday the proposals discussed so far don't include cuts in several areas where they have been told to expect them, including foreign aid, farm support payments and Interior Department programs. Modest cuts in portions of the defense budget also are expected, these sources said.

Some more cuts may be forthcoming before President Reagan's scheduled Feb. 18 address to a joint session of Congress. But aides said full details of the cuts proposed for the current fiscal year and the following one may not be known until formal legislation is sent to Congress on March 10 or later.

While Stockman's notebook of more than $26 billion in proposed cuts circulated in Congress, White House press secretary James Brady said Reagan has made no final decisions. He said documents purporting to show proposed cuts are "working papers" subject to change.

He said the only instructions Reagan gave the budget-cutters is "reject the business-as-usual approach and don't be timid."

Brady said Reagan will preside over daily budget-cutting strategy sessions before going to Camp David with Stockman and Treasury Secretary Donald Regan next weekend to make final decisions.

Q.—Have all nightclubs here been checked the way Club Chamisal was some time ago by two secret ladies that tried buying beer over the counter to take out and then turn the man in and have the club shut down?

A.—All private clubs here are checked periodically by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, and all have had "undercover" personnel to make "buys" at one time or another, local law enforcement officials report. Those found in violation have the option of paying fines, or shutting down.

Tuition Protest Planned

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A student leader at Texas Tech says a plan to double tuition fees at state colleges and universities will place yet another burden on students already plagued by spiraling education costs.

"The cost of education has risen tremendously, and students cannot be expected to bear another overburdening increase in the cost of their education," said Jeff Williams, vice president of external affairs in the Texas Tech Students' Association.

Williams made his remarks Monday at a news conference called to announce a meeting this weekend in Austin with student representatives from at least four state schools who are protesting the tuition hike.

House OKs Benefit Hikes

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislators have finished work on bills adding 5.1 percent to the monthly checks of teachers and state employees who retired before Sept. 1, 1979.

The House passed the two bills unanimously on Monday, sending them to Gov. Bill Clements. Senators approved them last week.

Clements, who submitted the increases as emergency legislation, is expected to sign the bills quickly.

The state employee benefits will cost $17.5 million between now and Sept. 1, while the added expense of raising teacher retirement checks will be $93.7 million.

The SDN Column

Jimmy Carter, private citizen, who just returned from a vacation trip following his exit from the White House, still has an opportunity to render a great service to America.

He can get on back down to Plains, Ga., and get the peanut business to rolling again.

We have been told by agricultural and marketing authorities that the peanut crop was a flop in 1980. And we had it confirmed when we went to the grocery store the other day and discovered that a jar of peanut butter that it seems only yesterday cost 99 cents had suddenly spiraled to $2.59. And they say the end is not in sight.

Despite this sudden surge in the price of goober products, we have heard some addicts say they will continue to devour peanut butter so long as there is any on the shelves, no matter what the price. They did not say what they would do if the supply should be completely shut off.

And that brings us to one of the biggest 1981 problems reported so far. There will be no peanuts for sale in Arlington Stadium, home of the Texas Rangers Major League Baseball team, this summer.

We repeat, there will be no peanuts for Ranger fans the coming season.

The announcement was made the other day that, due to the critical peanut shortage, the Ranger concessionaires are giving up peanuts this year in favor of 100 percent Crackerjacks.

Now, the old song, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," mentions Crackerjacks, but it also refers to peanuts and they come first in the lyrics, if our memory is on target.

Can you imagine such a thing! A major league baseball season without peanuts. Next thing you know, they'll eliminate hotdogs.

But there is a reason for the switch from peanuts. The management of the concessions at Arlington Stadium said that, due to the crop failure last year, the best deal they could get from a supplier would require them to charge $1 for an ounce-and-a-half bag of peanuts, and they just felt that was too much.

It is true, of course. But it won't be baseball in traditional surroundings.

So, we plead, "Get on back to the farm, Jimmy, and get those peanuts to rolling again."

enough crudeness

Mankind should pause and benefit from the advice passed along in a recent column written by Russell Baker.

Baker was lamenting over the general lack of civilized social behavior. One judged that by reading after Baker that we could well afford to be a little more courteous to one another without shedding any of our macho image, if we are men. The sad part about it all is that some of the women, if only for defensive reasons, are beginning to talk like men.

"Stuffy though it sounds," Baker wrote of good manners, (it) is the grease that makes it possible for all of us to rub together without necessary overheating."

Baker added that in some parts of New York City, voilent shouting between disputants has come to be accepted and words elsewhere considered OK only in a Marine barracks, though not precisely OK, are accepted by the populace — "more or less the way a fancy hostess might accept the ignorance of a guest who drinks from the finger bowl."

Somewhere along the way — with some of us anyway — the art of communicating with good manners went out the door. Perhaps television contributed to the crudeness some people have developed. Listening to people who talk like old-time carney workers on the screen and hearing such diatribes in real life are two entirely different things, however.

Children hear the adults speak disparagingly of another person, either to his face or in absentisia, and decide that to communicate otherwise is a sign of weakness — so they develop a snarling, insulting style of communication on their own. Those who do not go along with the street language are often branded as sissies, not worthy of the tougher kids' company.

Baker says that public displays of coarse manners became a popular activity in the 1960s, justifiable as political action. The habit of swinish behavior, he adds, has become addictive, and the addiction has become epidemic.

The incidence of bad manners seems to increase when the economy begins to ravel. People get testy over personal problems and, knowingly or not, look for someone else to blame. If someone gets caught in the crossfire, it's too bad. The 'other people' in turn, often get defensive and telegraph their resentment with a vengeful message of their own.

When people start using gutteral language to communicate with each other, they plant the seeds of more discord and, more often than not, violence.

Baker says that if people want to behave like louts, so be it. "But let them do it down in the warehouse district after midnight, the way louts used to do," he concludes.

robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Never before had the nation witnessed such an awsome dislay of power of the news media, especially the television networks, to influence — and manipulate — the emotions of millions people.

The occasion, of course, was the release of the 52 Americans held captive in Iran for 14½ months — an event that brought to fruition all of Marshall McLuhan's fondest hopes and worst fears.

The "global village" that McLuhan predicted television would create became reality on the night the hostages were freed, as satellites relayed live coverage of events occurring halfway around the world.

As a result, viewers sitting in living rooms in Duluth, Des Moines and Detroit could watch as former hostages changed planes in Algiers, disembarked in Frankfurt and checked into a hospital in Wiesbaden.

The cameras followed their flight to liberation from West Point to Washington, inspiring a tumultous nationwide celebration whose cathartic effect can only be compared with V-J Day at the close of World War II.

But it bacame impossible to distinguish between television's stimulation of an artificial sense of ecstasy and its reporting of that joyous mood. "The medium," said the prescient McLuhan "is the message."

The exaggerated news coverage of the recent events becomes obvious when compared with the more appropriate reporting of two similar earlier instances — the release of the crew of the U.S.S. Pueblo and the freeing of the prisoners of war following the Vietnam conflict.

Another perspective: On 43 occasions since 1970, militants have seized various countries' embassies throughout the world, frequently taking hostages. On none of those occasions did the coverage even approach that focused on the Tehran events.

No less an authority than CBS correspondent Dan Rather has suggested there are "serious questions that all of us journalists have to ask ourselves about how we covered this story.... particularly in the early stages."

In those early days, the networks allowed themselves — and their audiences — to be manipulated by the Iranian militants, whose street demonstrations were to a great extent staged for television consumption in this country.

In the months that followed, the story received more intensive and sustained television coverage — some of it irrelevant, tasteless and even irresponsible — than any event since the birth of that medium.

"America Held Hostage" blared an ABC news program created specifically for the occasion and broadcast every evening. Some families of the hostages were subjected to harassment and invasions of privacy by overzealous reporters determined to interview and befriend them.

News organizations that purport to maintain policies prohibiting "checkbook journalism" offered members of those families free corss-country and trans-Atlantic plane trips and other amenities in return for their cooperation.

When one major newspaper discovered that its leading competitor had lined up the first interview of a former hostage during the recuperation period in West Germany, an editor told reporters assigned to the story that they were authorized to offer a free trip to Europe to any family willing to aid in beating the competition by pressuring a hostage to talk.

There were, of course, exceptional achievements — notably the ABC documentary narrated by Pierre Salinger on the secret diplomatic negotiations to gain the hostages' freedom, possibly the most compelling television news presentation since the days of Edward R. Murrow.

But there remain troublesome questions about both the power and the performance of the television networks and other news-gathering organizations. Their influence this time was benovolent — but it may be quite harmful next time.

Your Birthday

February 11, 1981

Don't be afraid to become involved in projects this coming year that are a bit grander and larger in scope than those which you've tackled in the past. You're lucky with big ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be cognizant of the wishes of others today, but don't let them pressure you into doing anything against your better judgment. Think for yourself. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keeping secrets may not be one of your strong points today. You could talk about things which are best kept to yourself. Listen more, speak less.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Persons who have no real reasons for being there could disrupt things today which affect your self-interests. Don't let them butt-in.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is one of those days when you could be a trifle out of step with your associates and create opposition, when you should be pulling together.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Tasks left to the last minute today could cause you unnecessary complications. Instead of putting things off, push them forward.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unfortunately, today you could put yourself in a position where you are dependent upon persons who are poor producers. Fend for yourself instead of relying on others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In competitive situations today you may not have the edge which you think you do. Underestimating adversaries is a mistake.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In your haste to get projects finished today, you may be tempted to experiment with unproven methods. Rather than lessening the time involved, you'll add to it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be careful in joint ventures today where money is involved. Unless matters are handled wisely, the enterprise could prove costly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're the type who likes to call his own shots, but today others may have more control over your time and efforts than you do. Be cooperative, not combative.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are working with unfamiliar tools or materials, take plenty of time with each step today. Heed the directions carefully.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is still a possibility today that you could take unwise risks with your resources or those of others. This is not a time to gamble.

japan an example

Japan picked itself up from the ashes of World War II and, imitating us, accomplished an historic comeback.

Japan cought up with and passed us.

Now it's our turn to imitate them.

Just 15 years ago, Japan's production of automobiles was 10 percent of ours. By the second half of 1979 Japan was producing more cars than we. By the first half of 1980, Japan had become the No. 1 car maker in the world!

All this increase in 15 years!

Also, in the manufacture and fabrication of steel, Japan outproduces all of Europe and has pulled even with us.

Four Japanese motorcycle firms outsell all others on our market.

Japan now makes more cameras than Germany — though Germany "invented" precision cameras.

Japan has become dominant also in bicycles, calculators, robots, semiconductors; even pianos.

President M. G. O'Neil of General Tire says "this new Japanese invasion must be confronted with comparable effort, imagination, innovation and investment."

What he means by "investment" is that, while we have been investing in new plants and equipment at a rate of less than 4 percent of our GNP, Japan is investing 20 percent.

By "effort" he means that Japanese workers are simply outproducing American workers. They excel at efficiency.

Compare an American engine plant with a Toyota plant, each producing 1,800 engines per day, and you will discover that the Japanese plant accomplishes that production in a third less space with one-fifth the number of employees.

Does this suggest that American workers are goofing off? Not intentionally. What's happened is that we've become careless caretakers of our economic machine.

Labor contracts, weighted down with frills and disincentives, have created too many "professional light bulb changers."

Strict limits on how a job can be done and by whom frequently require three or four workers to do a job which two could do.

Also, time lost to strikes by Japanese workers is one-eighth of what ours is.

Now when Mr. O'Neil mentions "innovation" he indicts both the American manufacturers who have neglected to anticipate trends, and irresponsible government regulations which tend to overtax, over-regulate and suffocate.

We're not doing nothing about effecting a comeback. General Motors, anticipating contract time, is seeking concessions from the Auto Workers Union.

It will be difficult for some workers to accept this reversal of longtime procedure, but we have Chrysler as a frightening example of what can happen if we don't.

Throttling imports from Japan is an unworthy stopgap.

With a new American spirit of interdependence, our government, labor and management can match them, catch them and pass them again.

my turn

by john dunnam

I remember one razor-cold day in the oilfield when nothing was going right. We had just bucked about 210 joints of tubing onto the back of a truck, when the bottom row shifted and the whole load came rattling off. In near panic I looked around for my friend and fellow swamper, Herman Malone. I was relieved to see him crawl out from under the float, where he had jumped for safety when the load fell.

After yanking his hopelessly battered hardhat free from the tangled mess, he looked off into space and announced to no one in particular: "You know, if things keep going this way, I'm going to seriously consider a life of crime."

Of course he didn't. I only repeat the story to remind that every now and then everybody, no matter what they do for a living, throw up their hands in disgust and wonder if there isn't some easier way to support themselves through these frustrating times.

To make matters worse, the news is always full of stories about bums who commit all sorts of atrocities (some of them legal) and get away with it.

— In the Sunday paper there is a story about a man who killed a baby because he thought its mother, his girlfriend, was playing around. He confessed and was convicted, but it was overturned because of some technicality as to when the confession was taken.

—In Detroit there are legions of auto workers not working. I'm sorry fellas. However, forgive us if we tire of hearing about your woes. Even not working, many of you are making considerably more money than many of us in the form of unemployment, union benefits etc. And when you do work, you look at your super paycheck and compare your "worth" to ours and gloat. Now that the bottom has fallen out, as was evident to anybody who could read the writing on the wall, you're doing what you do everytime the going gets rough. You cry to Uncle Sam for money. Some of that money's mine, dang it.

Let us not lose faith brethen. Consider the following:

—A man spotted his car, that had been stolen earlier, parked beside a bank. He got in and drove off. The thief, who had intended to use it as his get-a-way vehicle after robbing the bank, came running outside, and as the saying goes, was left holding the bag.

—In North Carolina, one of three holdup men at the First Citizens Bank shot himself in the hand while twirling a pistol on his finger like a cowboy. Following a high speed chase and shootout, police took the trio into custody. A deputy was shot during the gun fight, but didn't realize it at the time because the bullet failed to penetrate his thick leather gunbelt. The officer was unharmed and the money retrieved.

—Locally, two of the problems that confront the city are what to do with the old jailhouse and where to house the county-wide appraisal office, that is currently in cramped quarters in the courthouse. It was only a matter of time before someone suggested the obvious and the feasibility of such a move is being studied. Now that appeals to me, putting the tax people in the old jail. Who says there is no justice in this world.

FASHION FORECAST— Rhylene Stoker and Roxanne Stoker discussed Spring and Summer fashion ideas with Margaret Drum following Mrs. Drum's program on fashion forecasts at the brown bag luncheon in the Scurry County Museum on Monday. "Finish a look," Mrs. Drum told her audience, stressing the addition of a jacket, a belt or some other accessory to create that new look for the approaching season.

New Lifestyles Cause Childbirth Rate Drop

WASHINGTON (AP)— American childbearing rates have declined markedly over the last decade, and the number of women who live out their fertile years without having a baby may exceed levels last experienced a century ago, the Census Bureau reported Saturday.

But there is debate among experts about the future fertility levels of American women, notes the new report by Martin O'Connell and Carolyn C. Rogers.

Some speculate that if current low rates continue, the proportion of women completing their childbearing years without having a baby could be as high as 25 percent to 30 percent — well over 1979's 14.2 percent and topping the record 22 percent of women born in the 1880's who went childless.

Other experts though "believe that the recent increase in childlessness merely reflects a temporary postponement of births that will be made up in the next few years, and that younger cohorts of women..." will reverse the downward trend in future years.

Colonial Daughters Plan Purchase, Discuss "Stratford And The Lee's"

The Tejas Chapter of Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century recently met in Rotan. Chapter president Delila Baird called the group together and Kathleen Hale gave the opening prayer.

Preceding the business meeting, a buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. L.A. Sparks.

During the business meeting, delegates were elected for the General Assembly of the National Society which will be in April. It was voted to purchase a chapter president's pin to be the property of the chapter and worn by each succeeding president, and an ex-chapter president's pin to be presented as a gift to outgoing presidents.

Mrs. McCrea introduced Vera Morrow who presented the program. She chose as her topic, "Stratford and the Lee's."

She stated that Richard Lee of England was founder of a family which helped make American history through two centuries and who brought a name destined to splendid immortality.

Some highlights and intimate stories of the lives of the people of Stratford House were noted by Mrs. Morrow. It was stated that the history of the house is the history of the family and the history of the family is interwoven with the history of the United States.

On display at the meeting was the Tejas chapter scrapbook, assembled by Lore Harris, historian. It includes copies of news articles on chapter activities since organization of the chapter in Washington D.C. in April 1977.

BRIDGE

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Tobias Stone of New York has practically quit bridge as of now, but in 1966 he was right there in the finals of the Olympiad pairs.

He played low from dummy at trick one and won East's heart king with his ace. Then he ran off his five diamond tricks.

As you can see he needed some help to find his ninth trick, but he worked it out with a little bit of luck in the form of help from his opponents.

West had been under considerable pressure on discarding and had let go of three spades and the six of clubs. Dummy had thrown two spades and East had dropped the seven spot of that suit.

Now Stone led a spade to dummy's ace, noted the fall of West's queen and East's deuce and decided that East held the king. So Stone led a club from dummy.

The play had been fast. Tobias is a fast player and East had not been thinking. He could beat the contract by playing either the jack or king of clubs, but he played the seven. Stone played low and West was helpless. If he played his ace of clubs and led back the 10, Stone's queen would become a winner. So he played his 10 first, took his ace, then had to lead a heart. Dummy's 10 spot now became the ninth trick.

OEA Week Observance Underway At College

The Office Education Association chapter at Western Texas College is joining OEA members across the nation in activities to make the community aware of the importance of vocational student organizations during OEA Week, Feb. 8-14.

There are more than 75,000 members of OEA in chapters across the nation. The Association is designed to develop leadership abilities in the American business world and competency in office occupations.

Gina Willman is president of the WTC chapter. Lydia Mendoza is vice president, Donna Layne is secretary-treasurer, and Johnnie Lou McCright is historian. Other members of the chapter are Jana Caffey, Betty Collins, Kendra Griffith, Jill Linam, Geneva Martinez, Alessandra Quiroz, Christi Windham, Diane Young, Jeri Bavousett and Kayla Truesdell.

Charlene Light and Linda Wright are sponsors of the WTC chapter. Membership is open to all office occupation students.

Many of the activities planned by the WTC chapter evolve around this year's national theme, "OEA -- Developing Leadership for the '80s."

The WTC group is making plans to attend the state conference in Waco on the first weekend in March. To help raise funds for the trip, the students will be selling valentine ribbons in the WTC Student Center on Friday. A cookie sale was scheduled this morning.

OEA members will host a coffee for faculty members from 11 a.m. to 12 noon on Thursday.

Mailorder Minister Kills Self, Family, Burns Home

TERRELL, Texas (AP) — Money problems and an impending prison sentence apparently drove a "mail-order" minister to sign a suicide note with his wife and daughters, kill the three of them, torch their house then lie beside their bodies and shoot himself to death, investigators said.

Ralph A. Simpson Sr., 57, a Southern Baptist minister; his partially paralyzed wife, Mildred, 50, and their two daughters — Pattie, 12, and Rebecca, 17 — were found dead in Simpson's bedroom Monday when firemen arrived at the one-story frame house.

All four were lying side-by-side on Simpson's bed, all shot in the head with a .22-caliber rifle, said Police Chief Joseph Patterson. The weapon was found near the bodies and the suicide note, which all four family members had signed, was found in the family car.

The one-page typed note read, in part: "We choose to die by our own hand."

"The note said the money was gone," said Justice of the Peace L.T. Smith. "It said there was no other reason than things had not gone well (financially) with the father."

"Obviously the man was overcome by paranoia," said Patton. "This seemed like a planned thing — they all signed the note. I guess they gave up on the world."

Simpson was convicted of aggravated assault in August 1979 on charges he threatened a man with a deer rifle and was free on a $10,000 appeal bond at the time of his death, Van Zandt County court records show.

His son, Jim, 27, a car salesman in Terrell, said he had just moved out of the house three days before the killings — rebelling, he said, against a domineering father who would not permit his invalid wife to have visitors and kept his daughters out of public schools and away from neighbor children.

He said the prospect of a prison term may have been the compelling motive behind the killings.

" ... I think prison, to him, was just like death and he didn't want his family to face it without him," the son said. Another son, Ralph Jr., also lived away from home.

Smith ordered autopsies after concluding that the mother and daughters were homicide victims, but the father had taken his own life. He said the four signatures on the suicide pact appeared to have been written in different hands, with the two girls signing just their first names and the wife signing as "Mrs. Ralph A. Simpson Sr."

Smith estimated the time of death as between 5:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. Monday. "We have a witness who heard some shots about that time," he said.

Real estate agent Hardy Jones rented the house to the Simpsons and said Monday's events were the first indication that the family was having trouble.

"He was quite a talker," Jones said of Simpson. "He seemed a little fanatical ... a religious fanatic. He quoted a lot of scripture and verse.

"He quoted the Bible and he believed it. In a small town like this, something like this is quite a shock. It's a puzzle to all of us."

Jones said Simpson left the Southern Baptists because of religious differences and had started a "mail-order ministry," as well as a mail-order shoe business.

Jones said he last spoke with Simpson about 10 days ago when Simpson paid the rent, and "nothing seemed wrong then."

"He was always cordial," Jones said. "They would always invite me in to eat or talk when I saw them. They were all playing a family game when I stopped by last month and stopped to talk with them."

Mrs. Simpson was a "quiet, meek" woman who had suffered a stroke, he said.

"I never heard any cross words between them (the family). His word was the law around the house, but he wasn't mean."

Christopher Columbus left Spain on his last voyage in 1502.

If I were a king and knew a queen whose love was not quite mine, I'd send her flowers from Hinshaw's and ask her to be my Valentine.

Range of body temperature

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 62-year-old male and retired. I do not get a lot of exercise. My temperature varies from 96 to 98 F. I would like to know what makes it vary that much and if there is any danger from the variation. What can be done for it?

DEAR READER — That does sound a little low. The body temperature varies a great deal more than most people realize. It may vary three degrees in a 24-hour period. The low level is in the early morning hours when very few people take their temperature and the high point is in the late afternoon or early evening. This cyclical change is the diurnal cycle and is related to our sleep cycle and hormone secretion.

We usually say that body temperature may vary from 96.6 to 100 F and still be normal. But it depends a lot on the individual and also on how the temperature is taken. Even the thermometer may not be entirely accurate. Skin temperature is lower than mouth temperature and that may be why you have given me a relatively low reading. You could have a bad thermometer, or, if you're taking your temperature by mouth, you may not be leaving it in long enough.

I have discussed the various things that affect taking body temperature in The Health Letter number 7-6, Body Temperature and Fever, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addresssed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. These factors include whether you have just taken a hot bath and even what you have eaten.

The body temperature is a good indicator of general health. But it is important to know that it can be above the magical 98.6 F and still be entirely normal, particularly in active young children in the evening. The low temperatures are more often associated with low metabolism. Check out your method with the information I am sending you and if your temperature persists on the low side, see your doctor. A low thyroid condition or being totally inactive may be the reason. But it could be just normal for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am an 18-year-old girl who has never been in the hospital and am what you might call sort of a hypochondriac. Every once in a while I get a slight pain where my appendix is. What do you think I should do? When I get the pain I don't double over or anything, although sometimes it almost gets to that point. I am deathly afraid of my appendix bursting or having to be taken out.

DEAR READER — It probably is not your appendix but the next time you have such a pain you may want to see your doctor. The typical pain of appendicitis is preceded by fullness or loss of appetite and discomfort in the middle of the abdomen. The pain moves to the right lower side later. But all cases are not typical.

Your discomfort could be from gas. Gas pains can be so severe that they cause people to double up, and the cecum, the blind pouch at the end of the colon, is one place where gas is trapped.

If the pain occurs midway between your periods, it could be the pain associated with ovulation. Since it occurs midway in the cycle, it is often called mittelschmerz, meaning middle pain. But no one can tell you what your pain is without a more detailed history and examination.

Banditos Told Welcome Has Worn Out

NEW CANEY, Texas (AP) — A gang of motorcycle riders that calls itself the Bandidos will have to find "somewhere else to party" outside of Montgomery County, new Sheriff Joe Corley has told them.

Corley said he and officers from several other agencies had to arrest about 32 Bandidos early Sunday on offenses ranging from driving while intoxicated to carrying prohibited weapons, as well as various drug charges.

Daniel Lawyer Says He Will Defy Court Order

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Vickie Daniel's attorney said he will defy any civil court order directing him to surrender personal correspondence between the woman and her slain husband, especially since the items might become evidence in a trial.

Mrs. Daniel, 33, has been indicted for murder in the Jan. 19 shooting death of her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

"It's personal correspondence between the parties prior to the time of the homicide, and I have no plans to turn it over, inasmuch as it is relevant to the defense," Lannie said.

His comment came after Daniel's sister was granted access by court order to the former legislator's property, including items contained in a small storage warehouse Daniel shared with his wife.

The correspondence Lannie holds was taken from the warehouse after the killing.

"We're willing to give them access to any property under our control except for the personal correspondence that I'm holding," Lannie added.

"The personal correspondence I have was never in her possession. At the time it was taken from the warehouse it was given to me."

Daniel, 39, was killed in his home north of Liberty. His father was long prominent in Texas politics as a former governor, U.S. senator, attorney general and Texas Supreme Court justice.

Mrs. Daniel, indicted Jan. 28 for his murder, said last week at her arraignment, "I did not intentionally shoot my husband," and claimed she acted in self-defense. She had filed for divorce earlier in the month.

The order blocking removal of items from the mini-warehouse was issued last Thursday, at the request of Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, who was named executor of his estate. At that time, Lannie and Mrs. Daniel returned several items to Liberty County officials, including personal papers and cosmetics.

A hearing is set for Friday on a temporary restraining order to prevent Vickie Daniel from removing anything from the warehouse.

Another hearing is set for Feb. 26 on Mrs. Murph's suit that she be granted custody of Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1.

Seeking Solutions For Prison Overcrowding

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The work release program the Texas Department of Corrections will adopt in April is one of several plans mentioned in a staff report listing ways to ease the overcrowded conditions in state prisons.

TDC Director W.J. Estelle said Monday the work release program would allow 2,500 inmates to work and live outside prison walls. Prison officials will ask the Legislature for $1 million to run the program for two years.

The work release program was one of several plans mentioned in a TDC staff report listing ways to relieve overcrowding in a prison system with a population of 29,000 — the nation's largest. U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler has said crowded conditions cause many prison problems.

The staff report mentioned plans which could reduce the prison population by 3,000 to 6,000 inmates. However, the writers of the report said the programs could cost more than keeping the inmates in prison. Board member Harry Whittington of Austin said the board would hear more about the programs at its March meeting here.

The report includes a plan to transfer 2,900 mentally retarded inmates to Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation facilities.

"That number is just about how many inmates are sleeping on the floor," said Whittington. "But I'm sure Mental Health and Mental Retardation is overcrowded too."

TDC suggestions include two types: "diversion methods" which would require legislation; and "population reduction methods" which TDC or the executive branch could adopt.

Diversion methods include transferring about 600 inmates to MHMR for treatment for drug abuse.

The transfer of mentally retarded inmates (prisoners with an IQ under 69) to MHMR is listed as a diversion measure.

Whittington anticipates opposition from parents of residents of MHMR state schools. However, he said it is unrealistic to make retarded prisoners work under the prison rules.

"They are taken advantage of. I'm sure it happens. It happens in the free world," said Whittington.

Another diversion method would allow 200 to 300 inmates convicted of non-violent sex crimes to be switched to a psychological treatment program. Inmates convicted of DWI also could be transferred to special programs, the report said. That would include up to 125 prisoners, according to the report.

As many as 1,000 prisoners could be released if legislators approved a "subsidized shock probation" system, said the report prepared by TDC staff members Harold Williamson and Charles Smith.

Other possible inmate reduction programs mentioned in the report include sentence commutation, "maximizing" good time awarded prisoners, and increased use of work furloughs.

Abilene Mayor Candidate Arrested On Theft Charge

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — This West Texas city may not have a mayor when June rolls around.

Incumbent Oliver Howard is leaving the job voluntarily and the only candidate who had announced for the position was arrested and jailed over the weekend on theft charges.

"This is all very ironical," said songwriter and would-be mayor Eric White, who had composed a song in honor of his candidacy titled "Liberty."

Shortly after singing the song on the steps of City Hall, however, White lost his own liberty.

"If my songs sound a little sad, it's because I'm more than a little disappointed."

He was released from Taylor County Jail on $1,000 bond and says he will plead innocent to the charges filed by Paul Lenker, a former high school classmate who claims White stole materials from the site where Lenker is building a home.

White admits he stopped at the site in November and was picking up scraps of wood when Lenker approached and asked him to stop.

"I returned the scraps immediately when I was asked to do so, and I have no earthly idea why he filed the charges against me," White said.

Lenker said he filed the complaint only after talking with his building contractor and a home builders' association about the seriousness of construction site thefts. He contends White was not taking scraps, but a part of a partition that was to be used in the house.

"I'm getting a lot of personal publicity, but I wish it were for my ideas rather than myself," White said. "As a matter of fact, I didn't even get to see myself on television because I was in jail when the story broke."

White describes himself as a well-traveled man who is "somewhat of a mellow fellow, and kind of a homespun philosopher."

Abilene has a city manager form of government, and even though the office of mayor pays $1 a year, White said the job "would be a great honor."

He says his goal is to make Abilene a center for regional and world activities.

"I've been in and out of the city for a long while, and in my travels I've come to recognize that while Abilene has much to offer, the city needs more energetic and far-sighted leadership," White said.

If I were a king and had a queen who had a son and heir—I'd buy up every flower in Hinshaw's to grace the Royal Pair.

Assault Charge Filed Here Today

A 27-year-old man was arrested shortly after midnight this morning on charges of assault and carrying a prohibited weapon.

Officers said the subject is alleged to have pulled a sawed off shotgun on Ricky Mason and threatened him at Camp Springs Community Center.

The arrest was made a short time later in Snyder. Making the arrest were Sgt. Wade Norris, Robert Harbin, and deputy sheriffs.

Utility Cut Off Rule Examined

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Public Utility Commission examiner says utility companies should not be allowed to cut off electricity when it might threaten a customer's health.

Mark Zeppa recommended a rule Monday that would give a consumer the right to block an electricity cut-off for 60 days because of illness or the likelihood of sickness.

The Consumers Union and the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now, better-known by its acronym of "ACORN," proposed similar rules and planned a news conference today.

Zeppa forwarded his report to the three-man PUC, which will make a decision on the rules after a Feb. 25 hearing.

Zeppa's proposal would give consumers the right to prevent termination of service during disputes over their bills.

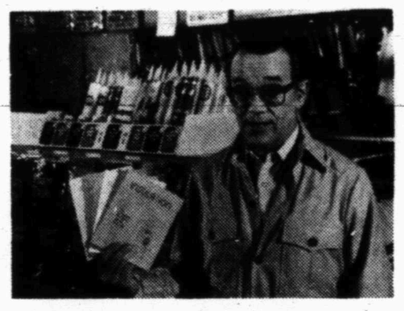

He also recommended a "deferred payment plan" under which a customer with an especially large bill could pay it out over several months.

Keep your home up and help keep electric bills down.

A large part of saving energy — and money — is simply a matter of cutting waste. In these days of "scarce" energy and inflation it's important to all of us to conserve. You can start by maintaining your own home.

Seal cracks around doors and windows with caulking and weatherstripping to stop heating and cooling leaks.

Check to ensure that ductwork is well insulated and sealed. If this is not done right, much of the heating and cooling escapes into your attic.

For the full story on saving energy — and energy dollars — get our Unhandy Person's Guides. Just call Texas Electric or ask for them on the comments section of your next electric bill. They'll help even the most unhandy person tighten up his home.

At Texas Electric, we want to help you keep your electric bill down.

Dear Abby

Marriage 'In God's Eye' Good Enough for Her

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: If you did nothing more in 1980 than what you did for me, you will have earned your place in heaven.

I wrote to you saying I was the widow of a retired railroad man and that four years ago I had fallen in love with a fine gentleman who had a limited income. We wanted very much to marry, but if we did, I would lose my widow's pension, which I needed to survive. Because both of us were too old-fashioned to "shack up" as some younger couples do, we just went together, each maintaining a separate apartment, although living together would have made more sense.

You advised me to get in touch with Chaplain R.A. Masse in Lawrence, Mass., saying he would perform an "In God's Eye" marriage to accommodate people in our circumstances.

Well, I did. My gentleman friend and I went to see him, and, Abby, the ceremony he performed for us was every bit as spiritual and beautiful as my very first!

Now I feel that God has truly blessed this union, and I can't thank you enough.

HAPPY IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR HAPPY: I have heard from couples in Rhode Island, Florida, New York and Maine telling me that they, too, went to Lawrence, Mass., to be married by Chaplain Masse. He has recently enlisted the help of chaplains in every state of the union (and Canada) who will perform the same service. Interested parties may write to: Associated Chaplains, P.O. Box 1077-C, Lawrence, Mass. 01842, for information. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to say a few words about the "May-I-Borrow-Your-Husband-for-This-Dance"-type woman.

There's a lady we know who never waits to be asked to dance. She asks other husbands to dance with her. And as if that's not bad enough, she keeps them on the dance floor for at least three dances! And when the gentleman returns her to her own husband, she says, "Oh no, not yet!"

This lady is at least 60 years old, which is old enough to know better. I might add, there is nothing wrong with her own husband or his dancing, so there's no excuse for her actions.

I can only say, "Enough already," and hope she reads this, as she has borrowed my husband too often for too long. Sign me...

BURNED UP IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR BURNED: If the shoe fits the lady you had in mind, let's hope she wears it — to dance with her own husband.

DEAR ABBY: About the guy who made love with his socks on: I'm reminded of the minister in a small Iowa church who became enamored of the new, voluptuous, Parton-bosomed choir director. After three weeks of lusting after her, he could no longer stand it, so he gave in to his baser feelings, confessed his yearnings to her, and invited her to sneak off with him to the basement. To his delight, she confessed to similar desires and readily accompanied him. But lo, it was too narrow and cramped to recline, so both, entangled in their respective choir robes, stood upright locked in loving embrace. Then he expressed the worry, "I hope none of the congregation catches us doing this. They might think we were dancing."

Dusters Rally To Triumph, 83-81

ODESSA—Last-minute heroics are becoming routine for the Western Texas College Dusters.

Once again, a game-ending spurt produced victory in a crucial conference game, as the WTC girls Monday night snatched an 83-81 decision on the road from Odessa College.

This time, it was Stella Bickley who pulled the trigger. With Odessa leading, 81-77, with 2:21 remaining on the clock, Shari Teal dropped in two free throws to cut the margin in half. Then came Bickley's big moment. She came up with a steal with only 37 seconds remaining and bucketed a lay-up to tie the score. And then, with only 13 seconds left, she drew a foul and calmly meshed two free shots to give the Dusters their two-point edge.

It was a fitting climax to a game that had been tight as the proverbial drum from the opening whistle. The score was tied no less than 17 times.

However, as the second half progressed, it appeared that the homestanding Odessans were on the road to victory when they seized the lead and held it for more than nine minutes, at one time by as much as eight points. The Dusters knotted the count at 68 and again at 70 and 72, but Odessa went ahead again with 4:43 remaining. The Dusters were playing catch-up then for the next 4:06.

Odessa held a 41-39 lead at half-time, but the Dusters tied it at 44. It remained nip and tuck for nearly four minutes and then Odessa took the lead for the nine-minute span.

Shari Teal paced the Dusters' scoring attack with 25 points, hitting six field goals and 13 free throws. Bickley, who was playing with four fouls from 10:48 on, had 16 points, While Cindy Maddox also was in double figures with 13.

The victory hiked the Dusters' conference record to 7-2, whole Odessa sank to 6-3. The Dusters are now 21-5 on the season.

Teal also had 15 rebounds and five blocked shots, while Bickley had six steals and six assists. Lori Watson contributed five steals, and despite the fact that she was in foul trouble early, Valorie Wells came up with nine big points.

"It was a tremendous comeback," said Coach Joe Cushing. "We had to press and get the turnovers in the second half, and they just went out and did it."

Their next action is scheduled for Thursday when they go to Clarendon for another conference game, beginning at 6 p. m.

Jackie Skinner and Tanya Wells paced the Odessans with 15 points each.

Wranglers Edge WTC By 75-69

ODESSA—The Odessa College Wranglers held on for a 75-69 victory over the Western Texas College Westerners in a hard-fought Western Junior College athletic Conference game here Monday night.

The Odessans led at halftime by 36-32, and that was as close as the Westerners could come, although the Wranglers were never able to blow the game open. The gap varied from four to six points throughout the second half.

WTC's Chuck North led all scorers in the game with 29 points, which included 10 field goals and nine free throws. Also in double figures for the Westerners was Brett Smith with 10 points. However, Smith fouled out, as did Darren Lee.

Kevin Maddox paced the Wranglers in scoring with 21 points.

Steve Sula fouled out for the Wranglers.

The Westerners saw their season record fall to 14-10 and their conference mark drop to 5-8.

Next action for the Westerns is scheduled for Thursday night when they go to Clarendon.

In District Action...

Snyder High Cagers Take On Sweetwater

Coach George Byerly's Snyder Tigers will be looking to keep their stranglehold on the rest of District 2-AAAA as they play the visitor's role at Sweetwater tonight. At home, Ken Housden's girls hope to make it three straight as they entertain the Mustangs in the local gymnasium.

Junior varsity games will open both doubleheaders at 6:15. Varsity tilts tip off at 8. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Byerly's Tigers, winners of 12 straight contests including 10 district games, currently lead the boy's 2-AAAA race with a 3-0 Round Two record. Snyder and Odessa Ector locked for the Round One title with equal 7-1 marks, but the Eagles would appear to be out of the second round running after a 1-2 start.

Andrews is a half-game behind Snyder at 2-0. Tonight's opponent, Sweetwater, is 2-1.

To remain at the summit, Snyder will have to shake off any overconfidence gained at the teams' last meeting, when the Tigers easily handled the Mustangs at Scurry County Coliseum, 72-51. The 'Stangs opened Round One with a 4-0 start, but lost its final four games for a 4-4 ending. Sweetwater boys are 14-14 on the season. Snyder is 15-12.

Snyder's girls, mathmatically out of the 2-AAAA race, can play something of a spoiler's role tonight against hopeful Sweetwater. Monahans rules the girls standings with a 6-0 mark and needs only a win in either of its two remaining games to clinch the overall title. The Loboettes won Round One with an 8-0 ledger.

Meanwhile, Sweetwater's girls are 5-1 in the second half, and hopeful that Monahans will lose both games. If so, the Mustangs could bag a trip to the 2-AAAA playoffs, provided they also won their two remaining games - including tonight's encounter here.

In an earlier meeting, Snyder girls defeated the Mustangs 69-57 in Sweetwater. Sweetwater's girls are 16-8 for the season.

Leading players for Sweetwater are John Van Dever, Danny Williams, Marvin Green and Gilbert Gerst for the boys, and Regina Dorman and Theresa West for the girls.

In other District 2-4A boys' play tonight, 21-4, 2-0 Andrews travels to 17-8, 1-2 Lamesa; 16-10, 1-2 Odessa Ector is at 4-17, 1-1 Monahans, and 8-17, 1-2 Fort Stockton is at 13-10. 0-3 Pecos.

Other girls' games pit 1-23, 0-6 Lamesa at 11-16, 0-6 Andrews; 25-1, 6-0 Monahans at 10-14, 3-3 Ector; and 6-13, 2-3 Pecos at 16-10, 3-3 Fort Stockton.

Virginia Maintains Its Grip On No. 1 Position

By TOM CANAVAN
Associated Press Writer

Virginia, which rallied from a 16-point deficit en route to an 80-79 overtime victory over then-No.11 North Carolina, retained the No.1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday, increasing its lead over runnerup Oregon State from 10 to 28 points.

The Cavaliers collected 43 of 62 first-place votes and 1,221 of a possible 1,240 points in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Beavers, who defeated both California and Stanford last week, received 18 first-place votes and 1,193 points.

Last week, Virginia, 20-0, collected 35 first-place votes, while Oregon State, 19-0, was tabbed No.1 on 26 ballots. All 62-members of the poll voted this week.

DePaul, Louisiana State, which got the final first-place vote, and Arizona State retained the numbers three through five positions.

The Blue Demons, who posted victories over Detroit and Alabama-Birmingham, picked up 1,096 points — 25 more than LSU, which is riding a 20-game winning streak. The Sun Devils, who edged California 84-81 in overtime and whipped Washington State 77-63 last week, collected 945 points.

Utah, 20-1, nipped Wake Forest, 19-2, for the No.6 slot by a single point. The Utes, who squeaked by Air Force 48-46 and downed Nevada Las Vegas, received 882 points. The Deacons posted victories over Maryland and Georgia last week.

UCLA, which got 692 points, jumped four places and took over the No.8 position in the poll following its nationally televised victory over Notre Dame on Sunday.

Tennessee and North Carolina both moved up a notch in the poll despite losses and rounded out the Top 10. The Volunteers, who were upset by Mississippi early in the week but thrashed preseason favorite Kentucky 87-71 last Saturday, garnered 634 points. The Tar Heels, who beat Furman and St.Joseph's following the loss to Virginia, were six points farther back.

Kentucky slipped five slots and headed the Second 10. Notre Dame, which dropped three positions, was 12th, followed by Michigan, Iowa, Brigham Young, Wichita State, Illinois, South Alabama, Maryland and Indiana.

Last week the Second 10 was North Carolina, UCLA, Maryland, Michigan, Iowa, Brigham Young, Indiana, Illinois, Wichita State and South Alabama.

All 20 members of the poll, which was conducted before Monday night's games, are holdovers from last week.

Sooners, OSU Battle For Stars In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Four more of Oklahoma's hottest football prospects — and one of California's best high school backs — have pledged themselves to the Oklahoma Sooners.

Oklahoma State, though, apparently will pick up the state's two best-known ball carriers — Eddie Goodlow of Altus and Kelly Cook of Midwest City.

Goodlow, the state's only Parade magazine prep All-America selection, said he has scheduled a signing ceremony for Wednesday afternoon. He said an OSU coach would be there.

The 5-11, 200-pounder was not specific about intentions to actually sign with the Cowboys, but other reports said he will do so.

Goodlow, who rushed for 1,829 yards in two seasons for Altus, had been heavily recruited by OSU, OU, Texas and Nebraska. A riff with Sooner recruiters two weeks ago apparently caused Goodlow and OU to break off communication. Goodlow visited OSU over the weekend.

Cook rushed for 3,207 yards and scored 41 touchdowns his junior and senior seasons, helping lead Midwest City to the Class 4A finals each year. He chose the Cowboys after weighing a scholarship offer from Tulsa.

The Sooners received commitments from Lawton quarterback Rodney Douglas, Altus split end David Carter, Millwood split end Paul Clewis and Sperry tackle Paul Smith — all named to the 10-man Sunday Oklahoman Blue Chip list.

OU already has received pledges from blue chip selections Darin Berryhill, a tight end from Jenks, and Tony Casillas, a defensive lineman from Tulsa East Central. Goodlow is the only other blue-chipper to indicate a college choice.

Wednesday is the first day high school prospects may sign a Big Eight letter of intent. National letters, binding among NCAA schools, may be signed beginning Feb. 18.

Steve Sewell, a 6-3, 195-pound 76 running back with 4.5 speed from San Francisco Riordan, said Monday he will be signing with OU on Feb. 18. He is believed to be the Sooners' first payoff from outside the Oklahoma-Texas area this recruiting season.

Sewell rushed for 1,041 yards last fall, averaging 7.5 yards per carry, after picking up 1,007 yards as a junior. He turned down recruiting overtures from Southern Cal, UCLA, Nebraska, Washington, Oregon and Oregon State.

Almost Too Much Too Early...

Sun Devils Ride Early Start

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

It was almost a case of too-much-too-soon for Arizona State but too much turned out to be just enough for the fifth-ranked Sun Devils Monday night.

Leading by as many as 18 points in the first half on its home court, Arizona State had to hang on for a 78-76 Pacific-10 victory over Washington, its 18th triumph in 20 games overall and 10th straight conference success after an opening-game setback.

"Our mistake was to grab the momentum so early," said Coach Ned Wulk. "We just got complacent. We lost our concentration. They got going and played some good basketball in the second half. We didn't shoot well at all. If we did, we would have blown them out."

In the only other contests involving members of The Associated Press' new Top Twenty, third-ranked DePaul got 24 points from Mark Aguirre and buried Creighton 83-57 while Cliff Levingston's 16 points and a like number of rebounds helped No. 16 Wichita State demolish Southern Illinois 81-61 in a Missouri Valley Conference game.

Meanwhile, Louisville continued its recovery from the worst start ever by a defending national champion, downing Virginia Tech 71-66 in Metro Conference action for its seventh victory in a row and 11th in its last 12 games. The Cardinals are 13-8 over-all.

Arizona State let Washington battle from 18 points behind to within 49-46 with four minutes gone in the second half. Senior center Alton Lister took control at that juncture, scoring 13 of his game-high 23 points as the Sun Devils opened a 72-62 bulge with just under three minutes left.

And they needed every bit of it, including Byron Scott's two clinching free throws with seven seconds to go, as Washington (10-10) rallied again with a 14-6 spurt.

"They got so far ahead that it hurt them," Washington Coach Marv Harshman agreed. "I don't know why, but we played like it was our first game of the season. We made about five or six unforced mistakes in the first half. It was a lot of carelessness on our part.

"We weren't shooting well at all. Things started going our way in the second half. We stuck with our offensive pattern and made our defense go."

Aguirre got DePaul (21-1) off to a fast start against Creighton. He drilled a 12-foot shot after grabbing the opening tipoff and went on to score 22 points in the first half as the Blue Demons opened 46-31 spread at the intermission.

DePaul did plenty of long-distance gunning, finishing with a 58.2 percent shooting average, including Aguirre's 11-of-16 in the first half.

"Some of those would have been 3-point plays," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer, referring to the National Basketball Association's long-range bonus shot. "And then Mark adjusted beautifully in the second half. When they played a box-and-one, he played unselfishly, dishing off the ball where he wanted to."

Wichita State's Tony Martin broke an 18-18 deadlock with two consecutive baskets midway through the first half as the Shockers opened a 36-25 lead at the intermission and went on to improve their record to 18-2 overall, 9-1 in MVC play.

Like Levingston, Martin and Randy Smithson also scored 16 points apiece. Rod Camp had 30 for Southern Illinois.

Louisville, which beat Virginia Tech by 22 points nine days earlier, bolted to a 19-point lead over the Hokies in the first half, only to blow it all and find itself in a 41-41 standoff with 13:19 left to play.

VPI forged the deadlock on what amounted to a 6-point play by Dale Solomon. He scored a basket and two free throws —one a technical on Louisville for protesting a foul call — and then tallied from the corner off the inbounds pass.

However, Lousiville went ahead to stay 47-45 on a layup by Rodney McCray. Jerry Eaves led the way with 26 points and Lancaster Gordon added 17.

"No doubt their ability to hit from the outside was the key to our win, just as it has been since we've been on our hot streak," said Coach Denny Crum.

"Louisville is a team with super talent," said VPI's Charlie Moir. "If they win the Metro Conference tourney and get an NCAA bid and go in with eight or nine losses, they will be a real threat to win it."

Elsewhere:

—Elvis Rolle scored 18 points and James Bozeman added 17 to lead Florida State past St. Louis 70-57 in another Metro game.

—Ricky Frazier scored 22 points and Steve Stipanovich contributed 20 as Missouri trounced Kansas 79-65 and remained on the heels of the Big Eight leaders.

—Jimmy Wright scored 17 points as St. Bonaventure ended Eastern Eight leader Rhode Island's 10-game winning streak 63-58. In another Eastern Eight clash, Ronnie Dixon's 27 points paced Duquesne over West Virginia 69-64.

—Lewis Lloyd was held to a career low 16 points but Drake got career highs of 24 points from Ricky Watley and 22 from Donnie Earl and defeated West Texas State 93-86 in Missouri Valley play.

Tulsa Quintet Nipped Again

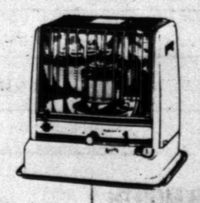

Coach Nolan Richardson's Tulsa Hurricanes took it one the chin again Monday night in Missouri Valley conference basketball action, dropping a 98-85 decision to New Mexico State at Las Cruces.

24 Hour Laundromat...

Washday More Pleasant At Adams

The folks at Don Adams Laundry are continuously trying to make washday a more efficient and pleasant time for you.

For example, the laundry is open 7 days a week, 24 hours a day. This enables you to do your laundry at your convenience, not someone else's. Whenever you're ready, the laundry is too.

An attendant is on duty from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and an attendant checks in at the laundry several times during the day on Sunday.

Don Adams Laundry has all the conveniences a laundry needs and then some. A dollar bill changer, a soap dispenser with choice of detergent, soil remover, bleach or fabric softener, and a pay telephone are all provided.

After the wash is done, an adjoining room is provided for folding and hanging clothes. This room is complete with tables and rolling clothes hampers.

The laundry has 68 washers; 60 commercial—duty, Maytag top—load washers and for larger loads, 8 front—load washers are available.

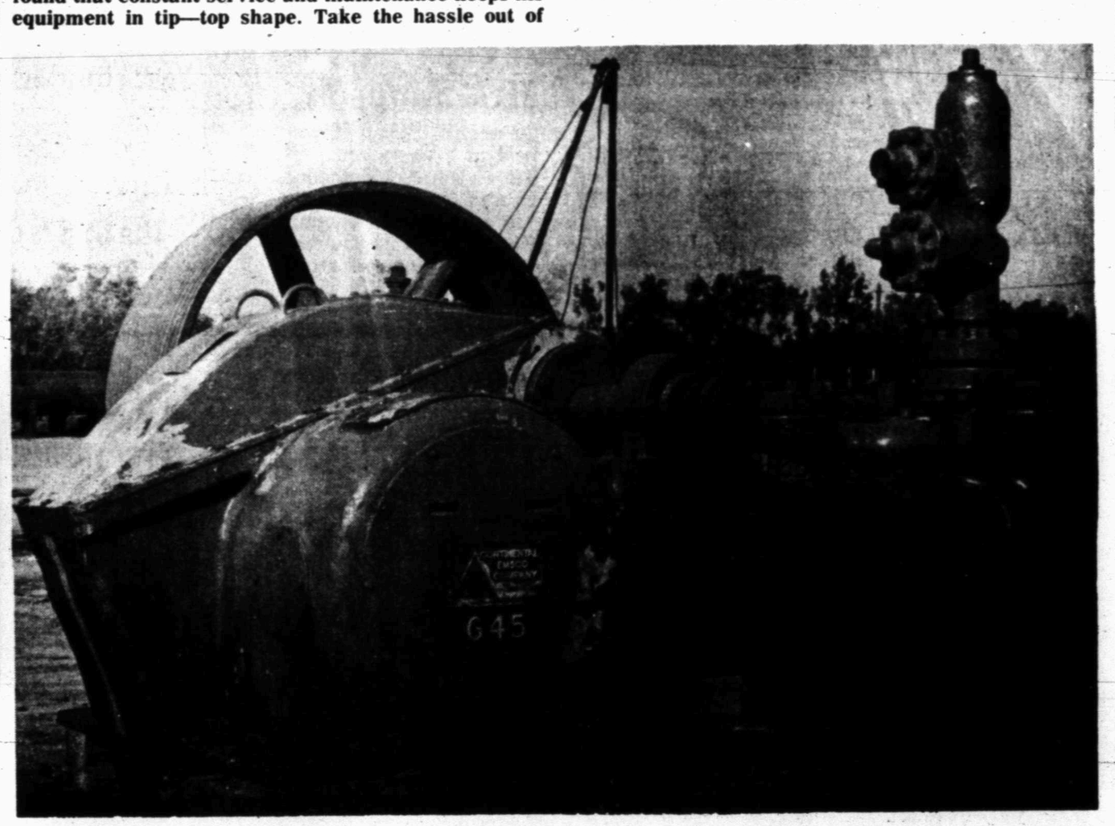

The firm also has 28 dryers (including 4 special dryers for delicate and permanent press fabric) making for more efficient washdays.

Don also sells and services Electrolux vacuum cleaners. He keeps several models and parts on hand to cut down your waiting time.

Whether your needs are for laundry or house cleaning, Don Adams can help. Go by 2400 26th Street (corner of 26th and Avenue X) and see for your self.

PUMP REPAIR - Shown above is a drilling rig mud pump the I & R Industries, Inc. has rebuilt. The company specializes in products and services geared to the oilfield industry. (SDN Staff Photo)

Change Reflect Growth...

I&R Meter Service Changes Name To I&R Industries Inc.

I & R Meter Service has changed it's name. The new name is I & R Industries, Inc. The name change will more fully reflect the growth and changes that have taken place over the years.

The company began in 1967 as a meter repair facility. Over the years, they have expanded beyond meter repair to a widely deversified manufacturing, service and supply facility.

I & R Industries builds ASME Code Pressure Vessels in it's shop. Vessels such as oil-water coalescers, oil-water-gas treaters, separators, etc. are all constructed.

The firm has a complete repair shop and can repair pumps, engines, valves, compressors, mud pumps and meters. They also have electrical installation and service, a complete machine shop, engineering, shop and field service.

I & R is a distributor for many supplies in constant need in the oil industry. For example, they offer the Toshiba D.C. drilling rig motor. These motors are rated at 900 horsepower for continuous service. They are designed for S.C.R. controllers or D.C. generators. They feature easy access to brushes and permanently lubricated bearings.

The company also carries the Wood's line of belts and sheaves. They are stocking both the Ultra V-belt drive, which can transmit higher loads in less space than conventional belts, and the conventional belts.

The company also specializes in motor and control sales, offering the Siemens-Allis line of electric motors, industrial controls, switchgear and oilfield pumping motors.

Behind all of I & R Industries products and services stands a well equipped and staffed machine shop, fabrication shop, and electrical shop, with related engineering, accounting and sales personnel to guarantee satisfaction for their valued customers.

I & R Industries, located at 2507 25th St. in Snyder, still offers the same parts and service with the same skillful and friendly people. Just the name will be different.
