300 EXPECTED FOR SUMMER SCHOOL START

Many Students Ready For Opening Monday At College

BIG CURRICULUM

Unusual Number of Courses Offered Students in Vacation Classes

Between 250 and 300 are expected to register Monday and Tuesday May 18 and 19, for the summer courses offered by the Wichita Falls Junior college and high school which closes June 17, according to A. K. Presson, director. Full credit will be given students for all work completed in both high school and college courses during the summer session. The requirements of the department of education are fully met in the courses, it is stated, which insures universal recognition of the summer school work. The summer courses are made use of each year by students who are irregular in their courses during the winter term and desire to get ahead; by students preparing for certificates to teach; by students who are behind and want to graduate with their classes, and by college students desiring credit work. The new building, with many facilities, and a large faculty with a full range of subjects offered speaks for a heavy attendance this summer at the session.

Classes Begin Tuesday.

Classes will begin Tuesday, May 19, lasting from 7:45 to 12:45 daily, in five one-hour periods, six days a week. College courses offered are: English, education, psychology, mathematics, history and others dependent on the demand. High school courses offered are: English literature, American literature, English composition, American history, modern history, plane geometry, algebra, Spanish and other courses where the demand is sufficient. The following faculty of seven teachers has been selected, but others will be utilized if large classes demand them: R. O. Jonas, psychology and education; C. P. Moseley, science and mathematics; B. T. Adame, mathematics; J. C. Mathis, history; Miss Nell Dashner, English; Miss Vera Jobe, library; Miss Jane McCulloch, Spanish.

Grown Since 1919.

The summer session has grown from a score of students in 1919, the first attempt, to more than 200 in 1924. Several out of town students were enrolled in the school last year from Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Electra, Archer City, Seymour, eVrnon, Olney and other towns in Oklahoma and Texas. In the college department, a student who has an average of B in his previous work may take three courses, others may take one or two but not more than two. One-half of one year's credit will be given for the successful completion of each course. In the high school, a student may take two subjects, upon the successful completion of which he will receive one-half credit in each. That is to say, a student may do one-fourth of one year's work in a summer session. High school students whose average is 90 or above and who are not absent more than three times (two tardies count as one absence) may be exempt from final examinations. A graduating class will be formed at the close of the session, June 17, the members of which will receive diplomas.

Gregory, Montgomery And Ward Get Contract For Work

BID IS FOR $1,000

Eight Engineering Firms Bid For Preliminary Work Contract

On a bid of $1,000 for the preliminary survey and five percent of the total cost of the entire project, Gregory Montgomery and Ward were awarded a contract by the city council Wednesday for a preliminary survey and cost estimate of a new sewage disposal plant here. The bid was accepted from a field of eight, which included proposals from some of the foremost sanitary engineers of the country. It was awarded shortly before 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon after the commissioners had put in the entire day listening to arguments and plans of the various bidders.

With Local Men

The action taken yesterday invests with Wichita Falls men the major responsibility of constructing a sewage plant that may cost above the $200,000 mark. Julian, Montgomery and Joe Ward, both residents of this city and partnership members of the local engineering firm of Montgomery and Ward will, in all probability, be in direct charge of the work.

Associated with these two men, however, is John H. Gregory, consulting sanitary engineer of Baltimore, Md., head of the sanitary engineering department of John Hopkins university, Baltimore; and consulting engineer for the sewage disposal boards of Baltimore, Columbus, O., and Detroit. Messrs. Montgomery and Ward have reached an agreement with Mr. Gregory, recognized as one of the formost sanitary engineering experts of the nation, whereby the latter will make personal inspection of the work here, lend active assistance in study of the problems presented, co-operate in drafting of the plans and give whatever aid may be necessary in the construction work.

May Complete Surveys

By the terms of the agreement now existing between the city and the engineering firm, the latter are to make complete surveys, take sewage flow measurements, conduct analysis; pre-

Main "U" Building Assured in Bequest

AUSTIN, May 13.—Finis in bequests to the University of Texas provided in the will of the late George W. Littlefield of Austin was written today when Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, on behalf of the trustees of the estate, turned $500,000 in bonds over to the university for erection of a main building.

$400,000 NEW BUILDING IS DEDICATED AT AUSTIN

AUSTIN, May 13.—An era of progress in the land of learning and letters was bespoken for the new $400,000 biology building of the University of Texas, which was formally dedicated today. The ceremonies marked the close of a three-day celebration conducted by university students and faculty members.

Abby Rockefeller Weds Today a Poor Man of Notable U. S. Ancestry

NEW YORK, May 13.—There won't be anything about the wedding ceremony that will make Abby Rockefeller the bride of David M. Milton, Jr., to suggest that she is "the richest heiress in the world", Thursday.

Thursday will not be a red-letter day in society, even if it is the date of the wedding of the only daughter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The wedding will be extremely simple. Only the close personal friends of the two families will be guests. There will be no bridesmaids.

Those who know the Rockefellers aren't surpised. They never go in for display, and they have brought up their children strictly and democratically. Abby is an heiress in name only. In all her life she has had less of her very own to spend than many thousands of other girls in this country.

And after the Miltons have their short honeymoon, they will not live in a palace or anything like it. It is stated that this "poor little rich girl" will start housekeeping with the man of her own choice in a very small flat and will do most of her own work. Milton, a struggling young attorney, is not wealthy. And Abby's dowry and wedding presents from her father and grandfather, the richest father and son in the world, are expected to consist largely of good advice.

$100 Monthly Allowance

While the Rockefellers have been giving away a total of approximately one billion dollars in the last decade, Miss Abbie Rockefeller has been limited to an allowance of $100 a month.

WICHITA FALLS CAPITAL POURS INTO CHILDRESS

Oil Mill, Produce House And Wholesale Grocery Houses Are Assured

CHILDRESS, May 13.—Idalou, on the Crosbyton branch of the Santa Fe railroad northeast of Lubbock, is endeavoring to secure the Lubbock branch of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad, which is to build from Childress to the South Plains.

In Rich Section

Idalou is a small town but surrounded by one of the richest farming sections on the Plains. The new railroad, as routed, would miss Idalou four or five miles.

It is also reported in local railroad circles that Floydada, county seat of Floyd county, will make a strong bid for the Lubbock branch. If this route is followed it will be necessary to start the Lubbock line. Floydada can be reached with only a few miles more rails, and this would assure Idalou of the new railroad. However, it would be necessary to run alongside of the Santa Fe from Idalou to Lubbock.

Clarity Is Expected

F. E. Clarity, vice president and general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company, is expected in Childress Thursday and will leave overland for Lubbock, where the contract for right-of-way and terminals will be signed. Lubbock citizens have subscribed for the amount necessary to pay for the terminals and right-of-way. No bonus is being asked of any town through which the new railroad will be constructed.

Wichita Falls business interests are centering on Childress as a distributing point for the South Plains. Wichita Falls capital is to build a big cottonseed oil mill here, also a produce house aind a two story wholesale grocery house.

Friendly to Wichita

Childress business men hold a very friendly feeling toward Wichita Falls and are pleased to see capital from that vity invested here. Conditions are good over the entire Panhandle-Plains sections and farmers are well advanced with work. Many fields of cotton are up to a splendid stand. The rainfall for May has averaged slightly above five inches, all of which soaked into the ground. No flood rains, except over limited areas, have fallen.

CLAY COUNTY PIONEER DIES AT HENRIETTA

C. W. Easley is Second Of Old Timers to Die This Week

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 13.—(AP)—Voicing a warning to scientists to "keep hands off our theology and Bible," Dr. Len G. Broughton, Jacksonville, Fla., noted Baptist divine, formally opened the 70th annual Southern Baptist convention at the city auditorium here today.

Dr. Broughton classed as "humbuggery" science which attempts to force the church to "lay aside the Adam of Genesis and accept the built-down man of the Metropolitan museum, a skeleton ingeniously constructed by so-called scientists of bones of monkeys."

Departments Are Separate.

The two departments of science and religion are separate and distinct, Dr. Broughton declared, "and it is up to us as Christian men and women to see to it that we remain so. If we fall at this point it will not be long before the world will be without a savior and the savior will be without a church."

Prior to Dr. Broughton's sermon, the convention assembled to hear a welcoming address by Mayor Paine and to elect its officers for the ensuing year.

Dr. George A. McDaniel of Richmond, Ct., was unanimously elected president, as were the other officers of the convention. Four Vice presidents, elected annually were named as follows:

Big Dam Proposed For Buffalo Creek By Iowa Park C.-C.

IOWA PARK, May 13. — The chamber of commerce is fostering plans for a large dam across Buffalo creek, four miles west of the city. A bond issue will be necessary but it is believed property values will show sufficient increase this year to permit an issue of at least $125,000.

Buffalo creek has two tributaries just above where the dam will be located. The creek has a drainage area of over 30 sections and runs to the northwest for nearly 20 miles. It is estimated that sufficient water can be impounded to supply a city of 15,000 population. Tests show the water can be treated for a few cents per thousand gallons and that it will be soft.

The water supply now comes from wells, which flow hard water. The supply is also limited. Insurance rates will be considerably lowered in event the dam is constructed and water secured from a visible supply.

Where Buyer and Seller Meet

Violin, 209 Years Old, Is Rescued By Firemen From Blaze in Thomason Home

John A. Thomason, 2010 Eighth, whose home was practically destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, called the Record News last night to thank the unknown fireman who broke into a closet of the home and saved a violin 209 years old, of inestimable value.

Thomason said his father brought the instrument from Germany when he came to this country years ago, and that it was made in 1716.

"I wouldn't think of selling it," he added.

The fire was of undetermined origin, the family being away at the time, and had made considerable headway before discovered by neighbors.

WELL ONE DAY IN BED THREE

That Was the Life of Mrs. Hollister Until she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Wyandotte, Michigan.—"After my baby was born I did not do my own work for six months and could hardly take care of my own baby. I always had a pain in my right side and it was so bad I was getting round shoulders. I would feel well one day and then feel so bad for three or four days that I would be in bed. One Sunday my mother came to see how I was, and she said a friend told her to tell me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So the next day I got a bottle and before it was half taken I got relief. After I was well again I went to the doctor and he asked me how I was getting along. I told him I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and he said it did not hurt any one to take it. I am always recommending the Vegetable Compound to others and I always have a bottle of it on hand."—Mrs. HENRY HOLLISTER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 7, Wyandotte, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Kentucky-Burns-Maxson Have Oil Well of Some Sort in Wilson Wildcat

Kentucky Oil corporation and Burns and Maxson's No. 1, Wilson, in the northwest corner of the east forty-nine acres of the lot 1, section 75, ATNCL, was standing partially full of oil with a little water late yesterday afternoon from three or four feet of sand topped at about 1,480 feet, north of Archer City, Archer county.

The well will be standardized and the rig skidded 300 feet for the next hole, it was said yesterday, with indications pointing to a possible 50-75 barrel producer. The well, while not exactly what was expected will undoubtedly cause other drilling in the locality and will involve offsetting. It is a rank wildcat, about six miles from any production whatsoever, and may be taken as an opener for some sort of a pool in this locality.

A little more comes from some property of her own, but the total is not very much for clothes and pin money. All her wealthy girl friends had automobiles and Abby wanted one. Her father made no objection, but she must buy it out of that allowance, he is said to have told her. And she didn't get a car until she appealed to old John D. himself, the fountain head of all the wisdom and strictness of the family—and got it. The arguments upon which this piece of financing was done are not known, but you know girls "work on" grandpa.

Though none of the vast Rockefeller wealth reaches Abby, there is a ray of hope from another direction. She is the granddaughter on her mother's side of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, who was not entirely poor and left several million to her mother, Abby Greene Aldrich Rockefeller. Under the expert nursing of the Rockefeller interests this little piece of change has probably grown certainly not shrunk, and this Aldrich money, if left to Abby, even though it is only four or five million, would help some.

Rockefellers Pleased

Although Abby is not marrying money, she seems to be getting most everything else in the young man of her choice. He is a handsome, tall, well-built youth, with a fine family history. His father is a lawyer and a descendant of Merriweather Lewis, of the famous Lewis and Clark exploring expedition. His mother Allen Hunt Fink Milton, was the daughter of Albert Fink, who introduced into railroading the first workable scientific system of accounting and rate making for competing railroads.

During the war young Milton, though only 17, served in the Yale unit of the naval reserve force, preparing for the air service. He has serious, dark brown eyes, in contrast to Miss Rockefeller's blue eyes, and his dark hair is slightly gray about the temples, adding to his natural good looks.

The Miltons and the Rockefellers have long been neighbors at Pocantico Hills, and they know all about him and his family history. It is understood that the older Rockefellers are as well pleased with the selection as if they had made it themselves.

NEW YORK, May 13.—(AP)—Bullish operations in today's stock market centered in a select list of rails, oils, motors and industrial specialties, the general list disclosing considerable irregularity on a renewal of extensive profit taking and bear selling. Trading slowed up perceptibly today's sales falling below one and a half million shares for the first full session since May 4.

Trade news was largely constructive in character, two of the most significant developments of the day being an advance in gasoline prices along the Atlantic seaboard and a stiffening in refined sugar prices on reports of heavily increased consumption. Operators on the long side also derived encouragement from the publication of the government's foreign trade report showing that exports last month were the largest of any April during the last five years. Imports also increased nearly $25,000,000 above those of April last year but were about $15,000,000 below those of April 1923.

Steel shares developed a temporary burst of activity and strength on the announcement of higher prices for the scrap metal in Chicago, but they sagged later on publication of the weekly trade reviews setting forth that while the advance of spring has brought increased consumption in some directions as for automobiles and for building the scale of new buying and of specifying on contracts has not been sufficient to support the April rate of output. U. S. Steel common closed fractionally lower at 115 after selling as high as 116⅛.

Further accumulation of the St. Paul issues sent the common to 8 and the preferred to 15⅝, but the higher prices invited a renewal of profit taking and short selling with the result that they fell back to 7⅛ and 12¼, respecively, where they were up about a point each on the day. St. Louis and San Francisco common and preferred established new peak prices at 81⅞ and 84½, respectively.

Several of the dividend paying rails notably Atchison and New York Central, also displayed a better tone.

Call money held steady at 3½ per cent all day. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

European currency rates held firm in quiet trading, demand sterling ruled around 4.84⅝ and francs around 3.20 cents. Argentine exchange advanced about half a cent on the announcement that the Argentine government would permit exemption of corn exports on June 10.

NEW ORLEANS, May 13.—The cotton market today was quite active during almost the entire session and the course of prices was more two-sided than of late, although professional sentiment was still rather bearish. Starting 24 points down in sympathy with poor cables, October traded at 21.40 and after a brief rally eased off until around the middle of the morning it traded at 21.20 or 44 points under yesterday's close. A good noon rally brought October back to 21.43 or within a single point of the previous close but there was a fresh reaction of about 20 points net down for the day. The general list closed 20 to 29 points net lower.

The potent influence at the opening was the Carolina rains which influenced Liverpool to lower levels and affected the local market similiarly. During the morning break after the map confirmed good rains in the Carolinas but no rain elsewhere in the belt July dropped to 21.38 or 52 points below the close of yesterday. The decline which was aided by a bearish interpretation of the weekly government weather and crop report attracted more or less trade buying and profit taking by satisfied shorts. This started the rally which gathered considerable momentum after mid-session on reports that it was raining again in northern Texas where fair and warm weather is wanted.

The British board of trade reported that 17,000,000,000 pounds of yarns were exported during April against 16,000,000 last year and exports of cloths totaled 333,000,000 yards against 278,000,000 in April last year.

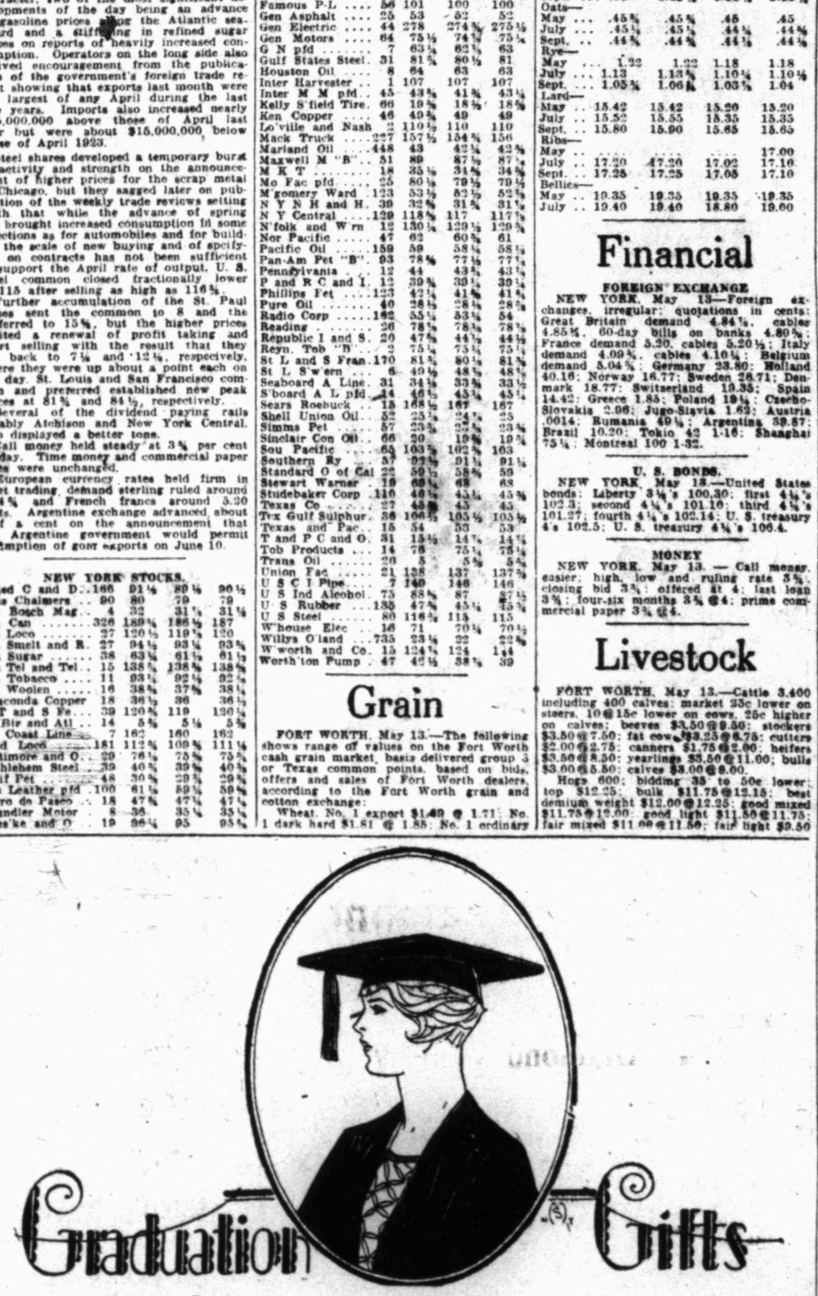

Exports today 11,803 bales.

DeMolays Install 19 Officers at Meeting

Nineteen DeMolay officers were installed at the ceremonial held in the club rooms last night. The installation was well attended, practically all the members being present.

Under the customary advancement of officers, Fred Smith was installed as master councillor, Ben Howle as senior councillor and James Calvert as junior councillor.

Announcement was made that all DeMolays desiring work this summer driving western tourists to Colorado and other states, turn in their names to the scribe, Jerry Vinson. Several requests have already been made by passing tourists and it is thought that many youths will obtain occupation this summer in this manner.

The following officers were installed last night: Harold Carter, senior deacon; Albert Miller, junior deacon; T. J. Duboise, sentinel; Emmett Bauknight, marshall; Ralf Walker, almoner; J. H. Fraught, standard-bearer; Leland Miller, chaplain; and the seven preceptors, Louie Barrett, Joe Tom Warren, Isadore Cohen, Theo Allen, Gordon Brown, R. J. Brown, and Leslie Nolan.

SENIOR NIGHT TONIGHT

Class Program of Graduates to Be Highly Entertaining

High school seniors will present a highly entertaining evening Thursday at the college auditorium when a program of musical numbers and readings will precede the high school play, "In the Spring a Young Man's Fancy", a brilliant comedy built around the love affairs of a young man who goes to Paris and there meets five of his old "flames".

The scene is laid in May at the Ritz in Paris. The five beauties are chums, and have gone for a summer in France with a gay young widow for their chaperone. Dicky Trent, the young bachelor dashes his way through scene after scene of laughs as he "plays around" the five girls. A sparkling climax comes as the girls get their heads together in a clever plot.

Preceding the play Miss Dorothy Reid will appear in a charming reading "The Rose Act". John Warmuth will give a marimba solo, and Emmett Bauknight will read, "A Social Parlah".

The cast of characters follows:

Dicky Trent, young bachelor—Clifton Clay.

Mrs. Jack Hilliard, the chaperone—Doris Brown.

Her five little "J's":

Jean—Vera Cain.

Jacqueline—Lucylle Collier.

Jo—Hazel Champion.

Janet—Virginia Creath.

Julia—Viva Riley.

TALBERT CONTEST TODAY

Annual Extreme Speaking Contest to Be Held At Junior College.

The winner of the fifth J. W. Talbert extempore speaking medal will be determined this afternoon at the Junior college at 2:30 o'clock when over twenty high school boy students compete for the annual gold medal offered by Mr. Talbert for the best extempore speaker in the school.

Much interest has been shown over the contest this year, due to the keen competition among the students as to who is really the best speaker, several of them meriting the honor.

The biggest number of contestants will try for the prize this year than have ever before, according to Miss Juanita Kinsey, public speaking instructor at the school. The contest is open only to boys.

All students who wish to enter the contest are asked to register with Miss Kinsey this morning. The speeches will be delivered in the small auditorium at the college. The judges have not yet been announced.

Under the rules of the contest the students are given a sealed envelope eight minutes before time for them to speak, placed in a room, and left to themselves for that time. At the end of the eight minutes the student is called into the auditorium and graded upon the five minute talk he makes on the subject.

Sam Bashara, winner of the medal last year, will not be allowed to try for the medal again this year.

ecutive committee on the ground that the report was too comprehensive and revolutionary in character to permit adoption before detailed consideration.

Under a motion of Dr. J. J. Hurt, Jackson, Tenn., adopted unanimously, copies of the report will be distributed tomorrow and the convention will make final dispoeition at the afternoon session.

Objection to part of the report pertaining to participation in the International J. M. C. A. movement is said by leaders to presage a fight.

The committee recommends that the convention affiliate with the thirteen other denominations upporting the Y. M. C. A. by appointing a committee of three to confer with the movement's directors, it being pointed out that such affiliation would supply the convention with reports of the organization's activities and at the same time foster a more intimate association with the work.

The convention, however, would reserve the right to withdraw from the work "should any serious differences arise that prove unsolvable."

Report On Campaign.

The convention heard a final report on the seventy-five million campaign which was concluded last December and a report on the 1925 and future program. It was pointed out that while the amount of money raised by the church last year compares favorably with that of any previous year, the amount contributed by the individual member is less.

Messages of greetings from Baptists of other sections and countries were heard by the convention.

Leaders today estimated an attendance of 8,000 with 6,100 messengers being registered.

The convention will continue through Sunday. Sunday the services will be in the hands of the local committee, except in the evening, when the convention will close with addresses by missionaries of the home and foreign boards.

pare plans and specifications and furnish cost estimates for a plant calculated to dispose in a sanitary and economical manner of the city's sewage output. Work on the preliminary work is to start at once.

With this step out of the way, the city now faces the task of financing the proposition. This will be done through a bond issue, probably in the neighborhood of $200,000, which will be submitted to the voters in a short time. An estimate may first be obtained from the engineers as to the probable outlay necessary

Big Engineers Bid.

That the new sewage disposal plant to be erected here by the city is of sufficient size and importance to challenge the attention of the best engineering skill the nation affords was evidenced Wednesday in the bids presented either in person or by letter for the work. Two nationally known sanitary engineering firms of Chicago, two of Kansas City and one each from St. Louis, Dallas and Fort Worth submitted proposals for the preliminary work that finally was awarded to Julian Montgomery and Joe Ward of Wichita Falls, associated with John H. Gregory of Baltimore, Md.

The bids were received in response to a letter sent out by City Engineer F. M. Rugley asking for estimates and designs on a type of plant to effect an 85 per cent reduction in suspended matter, an 85 per cent reduction in bacteria count and one that would produce an effluent with a six-stability. It was also specified the plant should be odorless.

Comparatively short notice was given, but in that time no less than seven out-of-town and one local bid were received.

Two From Chicago.

From Chicago, two engineering firms sent proposals. H. L. Thackwell, reresenting Alvord, Burdick and Hooson has been in the city some time. M. R. Alvord, senior member of the firm, was on the Chicago sanitary board, a bureau composed of 28 of the most able engineers of the United States formed to solve Chicago's sewer problems; is a director of the American Society of Civil Engineers and has built more than 50 large disposal plants in various sections of the country.

The other Chicago firm bid was Pearce, Greely and Hansen, also represented on the Chicago sanitary board and designers and constructors of a large number of plants in the north and east.

From Kansas City came two bids, one from C. A. Haskins, who was for ten years state sanitary engineer of Kansas and who has designed and built many plants. Theo ther was from Burns and McDonald, nationally known engineers who have put in 125 sewer systems and disposal plants through the nation.

Texas bidders included Major John B. Hawley of Fort Worth, who was here in his own interests. Major Hawley is a member of the Chicago sanitary board and has just completed the new disposal plant recently installed at Fort Worth. He is consulting engineer of Fort Worth and a former director of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

One From Dallas.

Fred A. Jones of Dallas, a member of the Texas state board of water engineers and a well known consulting engineer of the state, also submitted a bid.

The only other out-of-town bid was one from Fred Wilcox of St. Louis, a prominent civil and consulting engineer of the middle west and Missouri valley.

THE MILLS OF WICHITA FALLS.

One of the most prominent of Texas' manufacturers was in Wichita Falls just a few days ago. His company is doing a business close to $2,000,000 annually in the manufacture of garments. The finished cloth comes from the Carolinas and New England states. In speaking of garment factories to a representative fo the chamber of commerce this man manufacturer said:

"Wichita Falls is the ideal location to centralize the garment manufacturing business of Texas. There should be a dozen plants in your city making garments, both outer and under. Wichita Falls should also centralize the knitting industry. Your city has more and cheaper water than any city in Texas. In bleaching an enormous quantity of water is used and few of the smaller, or for that matter, the larger cities, have sufficient supply of cheap water.

"Wichita Falls has excellent railroad transportation and is situated nearest to the fastest growing sections of America—the Panhandle-Plains, West Texas, Southwestern Oklahoma and New Mexico. The very highest quality of American labor is available, which means a minimum amount of labor trouble. It is doubtful if the foreign labor element will ever reach this far inland, at least not for many years.

"Another factor in favor of Wichita Falls is the per capital consumption of quality garments. Nowhere in America are to be found such a class of buyers of good merchandise as in the southwestern area. These people buy good merchandise and lots of it. Manufacturers are beginning to give much consideration to that fact, and it has much to do in the location of an industry, especially those that manufacture garments."

And this from Senator Morris Sheppard only recently:

"Every pound of Texas cotton manufactured into cloth in the New England and southeast Atlantic states is a reflection on the intelligence and economic efficiency of the people of the great state of Texas," to a group of Wichita Falls and West Texas friends while in Mineral Wells attending the West Texas chamber of commerce convention.

"There will be a greater cotton production in Texas within the next few years, but I believe that Texas first should manufacture most of its present annual crop into cloth before we go after more staple," Senator Sheppard said. "After we attain the point where we manufacture a fair proportion for our home-grown cotton into cloth for use by the 5,000,000 Texans, we should then look for increase cotton production.

"Every community should have a cotton mill, owned and controlled by the farmers and merchants of the community. The community mills should necessarily be small. All of the stock should be owned by these farmers and merchants and by the workers in the mills.

"History for generations prove to us that it is the small institution employing not five hundred or a thousand men and women, that is an asset to a community, but the small mill or factory, working on a safe and sane basis. In France the finest silverware and the most exquisite cloth are manufactured in small factories. We should profit by the experience of generations and 'crawl before we try to walk'." By this the senior senator from Texas meant that community manufacturing of any sort should be launched on a small basis, with a limited investment and permitted to expand as the success of the business permits.

"The Texas Techological college is the greatest institution that has been established in Texas in years," said Senator Sheppard. "It is the training ground for the thousands of Texans who desire a technical education. As industrial progress is made in this great saate, the greater will be the need for highly trained men along technical lines. The movement for cotton goods manufacturing in Texas offers a big held for students of the Texas Tech."

"What do you think of the future of West Texas?" Senator Sheppard was asked.

"The possibilities of West Texas are unlimited, both from the standpoint of agricultural and industrial development. West Texas is developing into a great cotton growing section and inevitably the cotton mill will spring up as this crop advances in popularity with West Texas farmers.

"West Texas is great country and has a wonderful future in wool-growing and manufacturing.'

The senator paused and reminded me that West Texas today is one of the greatest wool-producing sections in the country.

"But," he continued, "the wool is sent in freight cars to the far away industrial centers to be made into high grade clothing for you.

There are other profitable industries which could be developed within the four corners of the Lone star state. For instance, the manufacture of corn into sugar has apparently been given little or no thought. There is a great potential market for this product. Another ripe field is the manufacture of shoes, which industry is centered in New England and in one town in Missouri." The senator had only a few moments ago carefully examined a fine specimen of shoes made in a Texas penitentiary.

Take the cotton oil mills which now operate only a few months of the year. The senator suggested that there are other agricultural products which the oil mills could make use of and permit operation of the mills on a twelve-month basis.

"So you see Texas has an industrial as well as an agricultural future."

IS IT TRUE?

The claim is advanced that 3,000 farmers from the older states invade West Texas every month as land buyers and home makers. Another claim is advanced that there are 80,000 square miles of tillable land not yet in cultivation ready for the plow and the hoe of home makers from other states or countries. West Texas has the greatest boomers and advertisers to be found under southwestern skies. They are organized and organization always counts.

By Dr. Frank Crane

RELIGION.

When a man has arrived at the age of ninety years with faculties undimmed, his ideas about religion are apt to be interesting.

Usually they are not very theoretical, but have been modified by his experience.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, one of the foremost minds of the United States, recently gave some interesting opinions on this subject. He said that while boys and girls, according to his observation, are extremely reticent on religious subjects with their own kindred, when they go to college they talk a great deal with their intimates about them. He says that almost all educated youth acquire and cherish motives that may fairly be called religious.

The motive which is the most practical is the desire to be serviceable in the world, serviceable to comrades and friends, to families, to the town or city, and to the nation.

Toward the creeds of the past he thinks that their use is frankly suspicious. He rejects almost all of them, and comes to the question of religion with a free mind.

The two sentiments that most inspire men to good deeds are love and hope, and religion gives more rational play to these two sentiments than anything else.

The new religion affords indefinite scope for progress and development. It rejects all limitations of family, tribal and national religion. Its fundamental precept of serviceableness admits of infinite variety both in time and space. It is very simple, and therefore possesses an important element of durability.

Most religions condemn the majority of the human race to hell and reserve salvation to a comparatively small portion. This has been due to the effort of the church to reserve the saving business for itself. But Dr. Eliot believes the ancient systems of reward and punishment of the future world will have to be abandoned.

To his mind, the desire to be serviceable to one's fellows leads directly to a belief in God, and he does not believe that the religion of the future will be devoid of worship. The new religion will magnify and laud God's love and compassion, but will not venture to state what the justice of God may or may not require of any of His creatures.

From an old man who has passed the ordinary term of life and who has spent his days in intellectual activity, the above views are interesting.

ON TO THE VALLEY.

Now it is said that the Missouri Pacific people have captured the Sausage railway. This railway was controlled by the three men. Colonel Eldridge of Sugarland owns 48 per cent of the stock; Colonel Frank Kell of Wichita Falls owns 48 per cent; Colonel Ponder, the general manager, owns 4 per cent of the stock.

Colonels Kell and Ponder transferred their stock to the Missouri Pacific people, leaving Colonel Eldridge with the minority holding.

Now the slogan in the Alamo city is "on to Brownsville." There is a rich trade territory but the trade getters of Houston have been getting the cream. Now the trade getters of San Antonio hope to get it some day.

Colonel Kell is a citizen of West Texas. He has been in a railroad building game for years. He joined hands with Jake Hamon in a construction of a railroad. Hamon did not get the best of the colonel.

He joined hands with the South Texas colonel to obtain control of the Sausage. Now the Sausage is off again.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE,
The Indicator.

It is right that ignorance of the law should be no excuse for its violation.

In the main, law is right, and law violation is wrong.

There are, it is true, exceptional laws, made to cover particular cases, about the justice of which there can be a difference of opinion.

But the great body of laws are founded on what the experience of many generations of people have found to be the right course.

And somewhere hidden in every consciousness is an indicator which can discern the difference between right and wrong as accurately as a compass can discern the difference between north and south.

We are prone to speak of certain sorts of people as unmoral, and to say they have not the power of telling good from evil.

It was recently urged in behalf of some youthful bandits condemned to death for a robbery and murder that their upbringing was such that they were unable to understand the enormity of their crime.

But there is not a murderer in the world who does not know that it is evil to take the life of another. There is not a burglar who does not know that he is doing a crooked thing when he robs a house.

There is not a trusted clerk who borrows money from his employer's till—meaning of course to pay it back when he has won a fortune gambling, who has any doubts as to the right or wrong of his conduct.

The skinflint who takes advantage of some debtor's distress—and forecloses a piece of property worth far more than the debt, knows that he is a thief, though he tries to convince himself that he isn't by talking to others of the necessity of protecting his own interests.

Even the child who in a fit of temper strikes his brother or sister knows he is misbehaving, and it is not altogether the fear of punishment that makes him sorry for his act afterward.

There are many temptations to go wrong in life.

But people do not yield to them without knowing down inside of them that they are going wrong.

There is no more valuable explainer than the person who has done some injury to another and is trying to justify it to his friends.

Every word he says convicts him of a guilty knowledge that he has done a mean and a despicable thing, and the more he tries to maintain that it was a right thing the more confused he becomes.

Life is not so complicated as the novelists would make it.

It is true that many people are driven to crime by hunger and persecution, but such people know that it is crime they are being driven to. They have no illusions about it.

It is the self-condoning person who constantly insists that he didn't know any better when he turned thief or murderer, who wears out human patience.

Everybody knows that stealing is stealing and murder is murder.

And no one convicted of capital crime, or of minor crimes does anything for himself when he says that circumstances were against him, and he didn't know he was doing wrong.

What Today Means To You

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU
By MARY BLAKE
Taurus.

Today's planetary aspects, although benign, are not sufficiently favorable to develop optimism, but, on the other hand, are by no means adverse. In all probability, you will experience a feeling of self-satisfaction and serenity, without any incentive to overcome obstacles, or to attempt things that will count. The only wise thing to do, under these conditions, is to put as much of your heart and soul, as you can, into the inexorable and sometimes monotonous, demands of daily life, and defer the effort to realize other dreams and ambitions to some more exhilirating occasion.

A child born today will be weakly at birth, but this need not cause either discouragement or anxiety as it will possess a latent strength that its appearance will belie. Careful nourishmen and proper care will do more for this child than doctors' remedies. In disposition, it will be quick to anger, but possess a charm and grace that will attract and invite. It will be very popular, and will learn with great ease—not an unmixed blessing—as that which is gained with facility is rarely appreciated at its true value. It promises to have very artistic tastes, and will always seek comfortable, and possibly, luxurious surroundings. It will be more considerate of itself and of its own comfort than of others' and their convenience; its slightly selfish tendencies will be so nicely tinged with affability and grace, that they will lack the sting which they, otherwise, would leave in their wake.

If today is your birthday, you are very extreme; compromise is, in your makeup, a sign of weakness; toleration has no place in your vocabulary. You are quixotically loyal to your friends, of whom you have quite a few. Very foolishly you often waste your time in attempting to "even up" for some fancied wrong, whereas the same time could be employed to much greater advantage in advancing your own personal interests.

Your personality is very strong—more dominating than attractive; you possess an alert and a subtle mind, and have the ability to think quickly, and to act with decision. With your many outstanding characteristics, you could attain almost any position on which your ambitions were centered, if it were not for a supersensitiveness, that compels you to magnify trifles, and to sense offense or enmity, when neither the one nor the other were intended.

POEMS THAT LIVE

On His Blindness.

When I consider how my life is spent
Ere half my days, in this dark world and wide,
And that one talent which is death to hide
Lodged in me useless, though my soul more bent
To serve my Maker, and present,
My true account, lest He returning chide,
Doth God exact day-labor, light denied?
I fondly ask: But Patience, to prevent
That murmur, soon replies, God doth not need
Either man's work, or His own gifts; who best
Bear His mild yoke, they serve Him best; His state
Is kingly, thousands at his bidding speed
And post o'er land and ocean without rest:—
They also serve who only stand and wait.
—Milton.

TRUCK FALLS IN RIVER.

FORT WORTH, May 13.—Orville Battonfield, 28; George Lamb, 26, and Jeff Brown, 21, all employed by the Magnolia Petroleum company, narrowly escaped being drowned when the three-quarter ton truck in which they were riding was upset at the Leon river on the Gorman and Desdemona highway, three miles from Desdemona yesterday.

MATTERS OF HEALTH

And we drank of the water
From the well by the road,
Then sent many sheckles
To the doctors we owed.

A clean back yard and a clean bill of health.

Few have even been able to preserve their dignity in alcohol.

Too many athletic young gentlemen became pathetic old men.

So we pinned on his medals—
He had answered the call;
Just over the heart
That had paid for them all.

So many of us think so little about health matters until the insurance company turns us down.

And another good way to obtain board and lodging is to spend seven years and seven thousand dollars studying medicine.

Speaking of birth registration, the baby of the house is becoming almost as important as his pedigreed playmate—the pup.

They shake with the ague
Who never do drain
The uncovered cistern
That catches the rain.

When it comes to moderate exercise—and all exercise should be taken in moderation—there is none that can equal nine holes of golf.

What has become of the old fashioned preacher who was the beneficiary at the pound party?

I've heard it said often,
By people who know;
That where there's no drainage
The skeeters'll grow.

Prompt attention to insignificant wounds prevents significant infections.

That Texas solon who proposes a bill to abolish the sale of patent medicines is wiser than his constituents will admit.

When time abolishes opposition to vaccination then vaccination will abolish smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever.

Disregarding the mercury, with plenty of blankets outdoors, there is neither occasion nor excuse for sleeping indoors.

Guessing at what's the matter with a man or a motor isn't the proper way to find out.

Oh, watch the cough that lingers
In the lap of winter "flu;"
It's oft' tuberculosis
And needs attending to.

For "that tired feeling," there's more rest in a fifteen cent fishing pole than there is in a dollar bottle of sarsaparilla.

I see the robin's back again—
And the jays are all a cackle;
And that reminds me; where and when
Did I leave my fishing tackle?

Police in England Take Strong Steps Against Bolsheviks

LONDON, May 13.—The Daily Chronicle says the police are taking stern measures against the bolsheviks in London. The permits of numerous persons to remain in England have been canceled and the renewal of others refused—the number thus dealt with mounting into the hundreds.

Quantities of literature have also been seised. In consequence of these measures, the paper declares, the bolshevik book shop here where the newspapers Pravda, Izcestia and other publications were sold have been closed and the official bolshevik paper in England, the Soviet Union Review, has ceased publication.

The staffs of the Russian commercial establishments are being greatly reduced, the Chronicle adds, but it is unaware whether this is due to the police campaign or merely to economy.

Irrigation

A DIFFERNET ANGLE ON IRRIGATION.

Not long since talking with a group of real estate men we were asked to take up another phase of irrigation than any we have so far discussed.

These real estate men contended, while instruction and advice to irrigation farmers, land owners and others already interested in irrigation wa sall very well and useful to this particular class, that there was a far larger group of people who might be benefitted by articles on irrigation along different lines.

They held that there was a large class of men here who were unable to see what benefit irrigation would be to this city. These men many of them heavy taxpayers rather resented the fact that they were paying taxes to irrigate a large acreage of land belonging to private individuals.

Still others, it was felt, did not understand the connection that exists between the two districts and how it was legally possible for them to be compelled to pay taxes to put water on lan doutside and away from Wichita Falls.

Our real estate friends also called our attention to the frequent warnings and admonitions that we have given in regard to water logging. They claimed while these warnings might be all right they would not get the results they should until the taxpayers here could be aroused to take an interest in irrigation and made to understand that their investment was in danger.

Water logging of our lands is a most important and vital matter. But so is a better understanding of what an asset we have in our irrigation project. Therefore if we can make people realize what a wonderful irrigation project we have here and that its proper development is of the greatest importance to this city then perhaps they will take more interest in it.

HOW IT STARTED

"Pell-Mell."

To do something pell-mell is to do it in indiscriminate haste and confusion. The expression is commonly used in every day speech, but the person is rare who understands the allusion with the knowledge of how it started.

The expression comes to us from the old English game of pall mall or pall mall which was introduced during the reign of Charles First and subsequently became very popular in England. A game in which a ball was driven with a mallet, and taking its name from the Italian "palla maglio," palla meaning ball and "maglio" hammer. In quick pronunciation pall mall became "pell mell' and it was from the fact that under certain circumstances in the game the players would rush headon at the ball that such heedless, hasty activity came to be described as "pell mell." And though the game which brought it into existence has served its time and passed out of the picture, the expression "pell mell" has survived in modern speech.

CITY NEEDS Y. M. C. A—CHELEY

Denver Boy Worker Visits Wichita Falls on Tour

"Wichita Falls needs a Y. M. C. A." stated Frank Cheley, boy scout commissioner of Denver, who arrived in the city Wednesday morning. "It is only through such institutions that all classes of youth can be reached. Scouts help, Hi-Y organizations reach a few more, churches reach still another class, but inside the Y. M. C. A. are grouped every class of boyhood fro mthe ages of 10 to 21. This city is far behing others in this respect and conspicuous by the absence of such an institution."

Mr. Cheley is completing ak tour of Texas in the interest of boys' work. He came to Wichita Falls from Houston. This city, the commissioner stated, is one of the most advanced in the south in boys work.

Today at noon he will speak to the Rotary club at the Kemp, to urge the necessity of boy organizations. In his talk it is certain from his previously expressed sentiments that he will add another voice to those in the city already calling for a Y. M. C. A.

Directly after the noon meeting Mr. Cheley will leave for Denver.

American Refiners Stop Security National Crew, Winning 11 to 7

ERRORS LEAD TO DOWNFALL OF G. HARRIS

Glidewell Takes Mount In Time to Stave Off Defeat

By BLONDY CROSS

Security Nationals had a tough time of it a-field Wednesday, breaking out with errors at inopportune stages of the game. What with eight miscues and abetted by 11 wallops, Medford's American Refiners slipped off with the contest, 11 to 7. The game was a play-off of a postponed affair. The victory sends the Refiners into second position hot on the trail of the Texhomas and shoves the Bankers into a tie for third place with Monroe's Travelers.

Gabe Harris pitched a fairly creditable game for the Bankers but erratic fielding kept him in the hole the greater part of the way. On several occasions it was after the side should have been retired that the Refiners got to the Security flinger for base knocks.

Bankers Take Lead

The bank crew had the better of the encounter through four innings, but Gregory, starting hurler for the Refiners, gave way to Ronie Glidewell at the end of the fourth. The latter held the opposition in check the remainder of the way while his mates broke out for counters in clusters in the fifth and sixth and tabulated another in the seventh for good measure. The contest was a seven-stanza affair.

A walk, infield out, stolen base by Montgomery and a sacrifice by Guy Taylor gave the Bankers one run in the first. Taylor was given a life on fielder's choice. He moved up on another infield out, and scored when Andree in center dropped Fritz Taylor's high fly.

Medford's aggregation bludgeoned Gabe to a tie score in the second. A walk and base bingles by Francis and Medford brought home the tallies. Errors, single to center by Andree combined with a sacrifice hoist by Skeen, which was muffed, and another sacrifice aviation by Francis sent in two more for the Oilers in the third.

Andree Leads Hitters

The Bankers combined errors, a walk, and a quartet of safeties for five runs in the fifth Horton, Virgil Brown, Martin, and Harris each hit safely. Flatt came through with a perfect sacrifice bunt.

The greater portion of the refinery outfit connected for safe swats in the late rounds. These blows came with runners on base not only by virtue of clean punches but also walks and errors.

Andree led the going with three bingles out of four. One of the hits was in the form of a squeeze bunt, but the play was not made for home. Harris fielded the ball and started to throw to first but Brown had been pulled in, and Martin failed to cover the bag in time.

Skeen poled a three-bagger and Rounsaville came through with a double.

BRUINS BRUISE WILLIAMS FOR 6 TO 1 VICTORY

Spudders Still in Slumps, So Hitzman Gives Up Five Hits

R. Hunter Coleman's merry madmen, the turbulent San Antonio horde, continued to bubble over with base knocks Wednesday on invasion of Spudder park. The veteran Carl Williams, Skipper Tanner's most effective hurler, flailed a mighty game for six stanzas, keeping the platter inviolate, but the bruising Bruins got away to a rousing send-off in the seventh when Mule Washburn led away with a vicious clout over the score board. Carlos pulled through the remainder of the couplet without any casualty, but the Alamo city crew broke loose again in the eighth for a pair of counters, and then tabulated a trio in the ninth round.

Lefty Heintzman gave up five safe blows, and but for a hefty wallop in the fourth by Howard Fitzgerald who slammed the sphere over the double tiered starboard parapet, would have blanked our noble Spudders. The Bears lumbered away with the contest. 6 to 1.

'Twas the initial tilt Willard Carl had lost out of seven ventures to the hurling eminence this season. The veteran has six games in succession credited in the win column. However, Williams would have had to pitch almost a perfect brand of ball to have won that one yesterday, for the Spudders continue in the throes of a deathly hitting slump.

Three safe smacks, a sacrifice and an infield out gave the South Texas entry their two runs in the eighth. Brovold opened up with a one-baser to port. He was advanced to second on sacrifice by Gonzales. Rosenthal bounded out to Golvin. Washburn busted the center boards for a brace of pillows, and Brovold checked in. Clark followed with a single to the same sector, sending Mule across the pan. Clark was caught off first, Williams to Golvin to Distel.

The final three tallies came when Carlos issued passes to Booe and Warwick and Brovold followed with a non-stopper to the left field home run territory.

Eczema

"At last a good night's sleep!"
OH! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.
Oh! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.
S.S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do it that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.
S.S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the million! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S.S. today and watch it rout that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.
S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

Who's Who in the Story.

Rosilyn Ridgeway learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an overworked little drudge in her father's inn.

Landis Ridgeway, her husband, is a brillian, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother.

Florence Ridgeway, an aristocratic old lady, who saw poverty staring her in the face, and chcose the easiest way out. Rosilyn loving her husband, knows that he is still in love with

Lydia Harbrook, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying Stevie Van Vorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is really fond of Landis in her selfish way. She is in Paris when she hears of Landis' marriage, and immediately returns to the United States. With her goes

Rupert Briscoe, a dissipated man of the world, who has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and when the two reach New York, she suggests that they ask the young Ridgeways to join them for dinner. She and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby through an apparent misunderstanding Rosilyn and Briscoe will be left alone together all evening, while she will be with her beloved Landis. Thus happens that Landis is amazed to find her waiting for him in the lobby of Claridge's.

Landis phones to find out why his wife has not joined them, and learns that she left the hotel with Briscoe —leaving word that they will join Lydia and Landis in a few minutes. Left alone with Lydia, Landis finds himself swept off his feet by her beauty.

Meanwhile Rosilyn is being escorted to the Clarendon by Briscoe, who tells her that he is doing his best to get in touch with Landis and Lydia.

Had he caught at tonight's opportunity to slip away from her?

If he wanted her, he would have waited for her in their suite—

Landis and Lydia do not appear, so Briscoe and Rosilyn go into a cabaret, where the poor little bride sees her husband dancing with the lovely Miss Harbrook.

CHAPTER XXIX

Will He Speak to Her?

"I—I think—if you don't mind, I'll go straight —home!" stammered young Mrs. Ridgeway through lips that had gone strangely gray, as she and Rupert Briscoe stood together on the balcony of the cabaret, knowing that down below, amid the throng of dancers, the defaulting husband, Landis, held his former sweetheart, Lydia Harbrook, in his arms. "I think—oh, I can't—cant—".

She swayed uncertainly, a strange, almost vacant look in those wide-set eyes of hers.

Rupert Briscoe slipped his arm about her, with quick concern. The poor child was on the point of fainting—".

"Here! Sit down!" He thrust her into a chair, and hastily filled a glass with bubbling liquid. "Drink this!"

"No! I—I'm going home—please—please—!".

"You'll do exactly as I say". The words were peremptory, but the tones were very kind. "Come now—" and he held the glass of champagne to her lips.

She tried to push it off, but her movement—weak and dazed as it was—was ineffectual.

The music of the fox-trot sounded very far away. A surging panorama of this pleasure-haunt swayed dizzily before her. Why was she here? And Landis——?

Briscoe was holding the champagne to her lips. Maybe, if she took just a little, it would give her strength?

"There, now, that's better!" He nodded encouragement. "A little more? That's right. It was just the heat of the room, I think——."

She gulped the liquid down. It had a sweetish taste.

"Keep still. Don't talk." Her escort poured out another libation forcing it upon her. "This is the very thing you need. I insist. I know what's good for you."

She did not refuse. Perhaps—who knows?—the unaccustomed liquid would remove this agonizing feeling that the bottom of her universe had toppled out?

Landis had deceived her. Landis had stolen off at the first opportunity to be with his former sweetheart. It was Lydia he loved—it was Lydia he would always love—never herself, his legal wife.

She had seen the look of rapture on his face tonight, down on the ballroom floor, with Lydia held close against him.

That glance of triumph that the other girl had flung at her, exactly like a challenge!

Had Landis seen her—Rosilyn—his wife?

Oh yes! He must have!

He would come up and claim her, then.

Or—at the conclusion of the music —would he steal away—with the other?

Ah! that would simply break her heart——

She forced herself to sip the champagne. It would give her courage.

"Feeling better? Would like to go now?" (The thing to do, since colour had returned to the poor child's cheeks, was to get her off before the unavoidable meeting with the other pair)!

To Briscoe's astonishment she replied, with quiet dignity:

"I'd rather wait and see the performance through, if you don't mind."

Here was a quandary!

"What about Landis?" he asked lamely.

The girl gave a small, quavering laugh intended to sound careless.

"Didn't you tell me earlier in the evening, that if he wants to join us, he will do so? It's for him to make an explanation, isn't it?—not for us!"

"Sensble young woman!" Then venturesomely:

"You saw he companon?"

Rosilyn nodded, her heart contracting with an agonising pain of jealousy. She forced herself to say:

"Miss Harbrook? She's quite beautiful."

("Bravo!" thought the man beside her. "The child's true blue, all right —and a million times too good for Ridgeway!")

Aloud he answered, nonchalantly:

"Oh, I dare say if one admires the type, Lydia's attractive. She used to be a great pal of Landis' as no doubt you know."

He watched her like a lynx, to see if that shot told, and if she flinched. How much, exactly, did she know of her husband's past?

She sat there, silent, sipping the 1924. Dolbee with all the outward seeming of a cognoisseur.

"She'd soon fit in, all right, if I but showed the ropes", thought the blase man, with a little thrill of anticipation stirring his jaded pulses.

The music of the fox-trot ended on a long-drawn note

"Landis will come now. He will offer me an explanation", thought Rosilyn.

They waited, on the balcony, Briscoe making conveasation—all the while.

The band struck up the 'the Blues'.

"Shall we watch it?" Rosilyn moved her chair around so that, through the balustrades, she could observe the throng below. She must catch another glimpse of 'him'—even though that glimpse were agony!

"Very well, I'll sit by you," Briscoe joined her. "Look! There they are again! Odd, isn't it, if Landis hasn't seen us? I could have sworn that Lydia had!"

Her breath catching in her throat in suffocating fashion, Rosilyn watched her husband dancing with the loveliest woman in the room. The hair, so smartly shingled—dazzling skin — bewitching gown! And Lydia's svelte figure, undulating gracefully in a dance that made all the others seem awkard in comparison!

But what hurt most was the look—the burning look—in Landis' eyes! It was a look that she had never seen before, that she had never aroused in him. It was a look so wholly primitive, so fierce, so yearning—so brimful of desire—that Rosilyn drew back from the balustrade, feeling somewhere in her hurt consciousness that even she, his wife, had not the right to gaze upon the revelation of such passion.

"Stupid dance the Blues!" commented Rupert Briscoe, as though to cover her humiliation. "And that rapt air is too preposterous!"

Spring Fever

What is Spring Fever?

It is simply low Vitality, a lack of Energy caused by impurities in the blood. You feel tired and lazy in the Spring because the Blood is not prepared for the sudden change.

At this season of the year, Nature is trying to throw off the impurities and adjust itself to the warmer temperature.

A Good Blood Tonic just at this time is a great help to Nature, it Strengthens and Invigorates the the whole system.

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is made for that purpose; it contains just what the Blood needs, IRON and QUININE, in a form acceptable to the most delicate stomach. It destroys the malarial germs, Purifies and Enriches the Blood and prepares the Blood to withstand the heat of Summer. You can soon feel its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c per bottle.

Creighton, local Scout executive to the boys selling the most tickets, and many Scouts report big sales.

A criticism of statutes and an interesting talk on the judiciary was made Wednesday noon at the Lions club by Judge P. A. Martin, district judge. The speaker explained that the judicial department had become bound hand and foot by laws established by the legislative branches of government and consequently has been hindered in its proper functioning. He compared the modern statutes to the common laws of England, showing where in his opinion both were unsatisfactory and should be corrected. W. E. Young sang several vocal solos. He was accompanied at the piano by Mr. F. R. Collard.

A judgment for $512 was rendered Wednesday morning in the county court at law in the case of Joseph Jackson, who sought to collect from the National Surety company for insurance on some goods stolen from a display window of the Kimberlin-Smith company here.

One day last week Lester Jones of the Wichita Falls Bank and Trust company, his brother, Oral, of the City National bank and R. V. Fite of the first named bank made it the scene of a weiner roast, and returned to the bank hale and hearty, so they say. 'Suppressed Desires' Pleases Good Crowd At J.C.Wed. Evening

"Suppressed Desires", a clever comedy was presented with a program of musical numbers and readings by the Blue Curtain club of the Junior college in the college auditorium Wednesday evening as an interesting part of class work. Proceeds will go toward the Waikun, the college annual. The play dealt in a laughable manner with the psycho-analysis question, and the damatic ability of the cast of three characters was noteworthy.

Miss Vaughn Buchanan, as Henrietta Brewster was an ardent devotee of psecho-analysis and did her best to persuade her pretty and attractive young sister Mabel, (played by Miss Thelma Cain), and her husband, (Lemuel Peters) to be psycho-analyzed. They were bored to death with her enthusiastic insistence but at her continued urging both consented to visit an analyst. Stephen returned first with the verdict that he was harboring a suppressed desire to be free from married life, and when Mable came home with the psycho-analyst's diagnosis that she possessed a suppressed desire for Stephen, Henrietta decided in a sparkling and humorous climax that psycho-analysis was a terrible mistake.

The players interpreted the fine comedy of the play with an artistic undersanding of heir roles. Their work as a college dramatic club is of high standard and speaks well for the institution they represent.

Miss Leota Tucker sang a solo accompanied by Lee Erwin, Miss Gladys Faye Johnson gave a reading, Eddie Kadane gave a dialect reading and Misses Loreign Russell and Elizabeth Peters sang a duet accompanied by Lee Erwin, before the play.

RAILROADS LOSE SUIT

Katy and Denver Roads Sued for Alleged Humiliation

Judgement for the defendant was returned Wednesday in the 78th district court in the case of Mrs. Nellie O'Neal vs. the M-K-T, F. W. & D. C. railroads and the American Express company, in which damages were sought for alleged humiliation and embarrassment for alleged humiliation of action of the defendant's agents while the plaintiff was making a journey from Kansas City to Electra. Her petition recited that she was caused considerable trouble when detectives of the defendants interrogated her and searched a trunk she had checked through, accusing it of being stolen property.

Right-of-Way For New Road Through City Park Granted

Another step toward securing a paved road through the city's new south side park and golf grounds, linking the town by a new route with Lake Wichita, was taken in Austin Wednesday when County Judge B. D. Sartin obtained from the board of control an easment for a right-of-way through state-owned property near the Northwest Texas Insane Asylum grounds. Procuring of the easment was more or less of a formality, since Judge Sartin had received assurance some time ago that it would be available.

Plans now under consideration call for building a paved highway through the park, starting it as a branch from the Holliday street improvement near its crossing of the city limits, swinging through the park property and connecting with the present lake road near the pavillion. The new road will be approximately four miles in length.

Its construction is necessary under the terms of a contract between the city and W. F. and H. C. Weeks, who presented the park land to the city on consideration only that a roadway be built through it.
