Israel Attacks Guerrillas IN REPRISALS FOR SHELLING

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli warplanes thundered into Lebanon today in strikes against Arab guerrilla strongholds on the slopes of Mt. Hermon, the military command in Tel Aviv announced.

The air attacks were reprisals for guerrilla shelling across the Israeli-Lebanese frontier, the spokesman said.

It was the second Israeli combat mission since the Middle East cease-fire took effect at midnight Friday. The first, on Sunday, was against guerrilla targets in the same area.

The only two Palestinian guerrilla organizations that supported Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's acceptance of the Middle East cease-fire withdrew their support Monday night, and a spokesman said they would join the other commandos' campaign to sabotage the truce.

Dr. Issam Saratawi, head of the Action Organization for the Liberation of Palestine, said his group and the Arab Palestine Organization thought Nasser would use the cease-fire only as a tactic to advance the Arab war effort against Israel.

"But after the cease-fire went into effect," Saratawai said, "we realized that our conclusion was wrong."

Two small guerrilla groups fell into line behind the major commando outfits after fighting in Jordan during the past week between pro and anti-Nasser guerrillas in which three Arabs were killed and 19 wounded.

With guerrilla activity continuing unabated against Israel, the Palestine Armed Struggle Command said 12 commandos have been killed by Israeli troops since the Israeli-Jordanian-Egyptian cease-fire went into effect at midnight Friday.

A Jordanian officer said the cease-fire between Jordan and Israel was violated twice Sunday, but both exchanges of fire between Israeli and Jordanian troops stemmed from clashes between Israeli soldiers and commandos from Jordan. Jordan in agreeing to the cease-fire said it could not be held responsible for the guerrillas.

In a television address, Jordanian Foreign Minister Anton Atallah said commando raids from his country do not violate the cease-fire. Jordan is committed not to fight, he said, but the commandos are "Palestinians fighting for the liberation of their country."

In the Israeli occupied Gaza Strip, the body of a 19-year-old youth was found in an orchard north of Gaza today, apparently the 14th victim in a wave of unsolved murders believed by police to be the work of Arab terrorists.

Nerve Gas Shipment Moves Slowly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two trains carrying nerve gas described by an Army spokesman as "no more dangerous than a load of coal," passed slowly through Georgia and South Carolina today and headed toward the seacoast, drawing little attention in the trackside communities.

One train from Kentucky moved into South Carolina from the north, passed through Spartanburg and headed toward an expected linkup with the other train later today near Clinton, S.C.

Only a handful of spectators gathered in the rain at Spartanburg to watch as the train halted for 40 minutes. The Army gave no explanation for the stop.

The other train, from Anniston, Ala., was entering Calhoun Falls, S.C., after passing through the east Georgia cities of Athens and Elberton. It also attracted little attention as it moved through the morning mist.

The lack of interest was in sharp contrast to the controversy and threats of legal action after the Army announced it would dump the gas in the Atlantic 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla. The plan apparently still faced a court challenge from that state.

The SDN Column

You hear a lot about the play given by the press to crime and violence, and possibly more attention is given to it these days than ever before because the nation is frantically searching for causes of many of its moral ills.

So, during the past week, the Associated Press surveyed the newspapers it services and found that only 15 per cent of them carried stories about the Manson murder case on the front page. There was a day when such stories got more play than they do today, but, as the AP pointed out, this survey provides new evidence to confirm similar studies in other murder trials—that editors generally no longer rate crime and sensation as top news.

Last week, the Middle-East truce moves got nearly three times as much front page play (40 per cent) as the Manson trial.

A few years ago a local organization had a banquet speaker (a South Texas dentist) whose speech consisted mostly of humorous stories interspersed with pious barbs at the press for what he termed its overplay of crime and violence. We made our own survey, checking a major metropolitan paper for five days in a row, and to our surprise learned that it devoted less than five per cent of its total number of stories and less than five per cent of its total news space to stories and pictures about crime and violence. Papers outside the major metropolitan areas traditionally use less news about violence than those in the big cities, which is the reason we selected one of the big city papers rather than a regional paper for our "survey."

Apparently what had happened was that less than five per cent of the content of the newspapers this man read was influencing him more than the remaining 95 per cent plus.

If any two cities have more rivalry than Dallas and Fort Worth, it must be Dallas and Houston. In fact, Dallas and Fort Worth are setting some precedents in cooperation these days on such projects as airports, efforts to land a major league baseball team, etc. And it is the latter effort that has sparked some salty dialogue between Dallas and Houston interests. Dallas of course has the upper hand in professional football with its Cowboys, although Houston's Oilers are gaining prestige every day. And both regions have their amusement lures, with Six Flags Over Texas attracting hundreds of thousands to Dallas-Fort Worth and the Astro-world luring them into Houston. The Houston Astros of the National Baseball League may tip the balance slightly in favor of Houston, but the Dallas-Fort Worth people do not concede it.

"We still think we can be the first to bring major league baseball to Texas," said one Dallas operative gleefully looking at the current National League standings.

Brandt Delayed By Threat

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt flew off to Moscow today to sign a treaty with the Soviet Union after his plane was delayed for nearly two hours by a telephone call that a bomb was aboard. No bomb was found.

Ruediger Von Wechmar, government spokesman, said the plane was in takeoff position when "two security guards came from the cockpit and told us that we must disembark because there was a bomb scare."

Earlier an Interior Ministry spokesman had said the plane had begun rolling down the runway when it was stopped. This was later cleared up when it appeared he meant the plan had rolled to its takeoff position.

Brandt and his party were taken by bus to a lounge while the search was made.

Before boarding the plane the first time, Brandt had issued a departure statement saying the treaty initialed in Moscow last Friday preserves German national interests.

He reiterated that he expects an improvement in the situation in isolated Berlin before submitting the treaty for ratification.

"While this treaty does not come into force with this signature," Brandt said, "the federal government assumes that the signature will lead to a satisfactory solution for Berlin through the four powers."

Snyderite Not On Plane

Mrs. Eloise Morgan received confirmation last night that her son, Scott Morgan, was not on the airliner which crashed Sunday in Peru.

Many of the passengers on the plane were exchange students, and Scott is in Peru as an American Field Service exchange student this summer.

Mrs. Morgan said she had received a telegram Monday evening from Mariano A. Lint, in whose home Scott is living while in Peru, advising her that Scott was all right.

She said she had not yet been advised by the AFS when her son would return from Peru.

College Budget, Tuition Okayed

Scurry County Junior College Trustees last night approved a proposed budget to be presented Aug. 24 for final adoption for the 1970-71 fiscal year, established tuition and fees for Western Texas College and awarded a contract for structural steel to be used in the college building program.

The budget proposal shows $383,271 for maintenance and operation and $326,490 for debt service. Dr. Robert L. Clinton, president of the college, said the budget is sort of a shot in the dark in many respects because most of the expenditures proposed would not come until the second half of the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, and many of them would not be felt until the final three months of the year. However, the proposal will meet state requirements for the coming year and shoull enable the college to put itself in a position to open its doors to students in the fall of 1971.

Tuition for students living within the district (Scurry County) will be $5 per semester hour to a maximum of $50 per semester. Fees will include $1 per semester hour building use fee, laboratory fees ranging from $5 to $30 per semester, depending upon the course; a deposit of $5 per student and an activity fee of $10 per semester. Thus, a student living within Scurry County may register for a full academic load for $85 per semester, including all fees. Out of district students will be charged $6 per semester hour to a maximum of $60 per semester. Fees for out of district students will be the same as those for students living in the district. The tuition and fees will thus be lower than those assessed by most junior colleges in the region and will be substantially lower than all state senior colleges.

The proposal for tuition charges and other fees was approved on a split vote with Board Member George Patterson opposing the plan, noting that he favored the same tuition charge for all students, regardless of whether they resided inside or outside the district. Members voting for the proposal were Dr. Robert Hargrove, W. A. Jones, Bill Wilson and R. C. Patton.

U. S. Bombing Enemy Bunkers

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attempted today to scatter North Vietnamese troops reported massing for an attack on a South Vietnamese artillery and patrol base near the northwest frontier with Laos.

Twenty of the big bombers unloaded 500 tons of bombs on enemy bunkers, base camps and staging areas within three miles of Fire base O'Reilly, one of five allied bases set up in the area to block an enemy advance into the populous coastal lowlands 20 miles to the east. Tactical fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships flew through antiaircraft fire to pound North Vietnamese positions closer to the base.

Associated Press correspondent Willis Johnson reported from O'Reilly that despite the heavy air strikes, enemy gunners were still firing mortars into the base.

North Vietnamese infantrymen struck a few hours before dawn with machine guns, grenades and flame throwers, attacking government troops in night bivouac half a mile south of the base, Maj. Nguyen Van, commander of the base, said 15 North Vietnamese and one South Vietnamese were killed and four government troops were wounded.

Officers said at least seven South Vietnamese have been killed and 45 wounded in three days of fighting around O'Reilly. Most of them were in patrols operating from the base.

The regimental commander, Col. Nguyen Van Diem, estimated more than 200 enemy killed by air and artillery in the three days of fighting, and said about 50 more had been killed by South Vietnamese infantrymen.

A sixth base, Ripcord, was abandoned by paratroopers of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division last July 23 after North Vietnamese troops killed 61 paratroopers and wounded 345 in a three-week siege.

House Approves Women's Rights

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Martha Griffiths is counting on woman power to propel through the Senate and the state legislatures a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights with men.

"A lot of things have changed," the Michigan Democrat grinned as she savored a 350-15 victory in the House Monday. She had pried the measure from the Judiciary Committee shelf where it had collected dust for 47 years and engineered the floor victory.

But that was only the beginning, she said, pointing to the Senate where possibly fatal delays await the proposal. And after that, the amendment must be approved by 38 of the 50 legislatures before becoming a part of the Constitution.

Other backers are not so optimistic about chances of the amendment. Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., who says she has felt more prejudice as a woman than as a Negro, is fearful that men who run the game of politics still may block the proposal.

She cited, for example, Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., 82 and a widower, who sought to have the amendment sent back to committee for more study.

"Let's face it, Mr. Celler has been one of the champions for the civil rights of minorities—but he is like other men in feeling women have a different place and there should be definite limitations on them," Mrs. Chisholm said.

And the galleries, packed with women, weren't buying Celler's argument that "there is as much difference between a male and a female as there is between a horse chestnut and a chestnut horse. Vive la difference."

A Senate Judiciary subcommittee headed by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., has approved a companion measure. Backers concede, however, there is enough opposition in the full committee at least to delay the amendment. Bayh is committed to pressing first for action on an amendment for direct election of the president, now ready for Senate action.

Until Monday, the House had never had a chance to vote on the women's amendment, which states that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

The Senate twice has approved similar amendments—but with a rider preserving legislation purportedly protecting women.

The outnumbered opposition to the current amendment, led by Celler, contended no one could tell what effect it would have on a wide variety of laws, such as those relating to paternity, rape, military service, family matters and protection for working women. He promised early hearings if the measure were sent back to his committee, but the House brushed the suggestion aside.

Magazine Account Blasted

NEW YORK (AP) — Three associates of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and his widow have taken issue with a Time magazine account of a 1964 meeting between King and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The three colleagues of the slain civil rights worker branded as "totally false" Time's report that Hoover confronted King with wiretaps revealing King's alleged extramarital activities.

Coretta S. King said in a statement Monday from Atlanta that the Time story "does not correspond" with what her husband told her.

Time, in discussing author John Williams' new book about King, "The King God Didn't Save," said that Hoover "lectured" King on his morals and suggested he tone down his criticism of the FBI.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, King's successor as head of the Southern Christian Leader ship Conference; the Rev. Andrew Young and the Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy said in a joint statement Monday:

"All three of us were present during the entire discussion and at no point did Mr. Hoover lecture Dr. King or even comment on his personal life ... Time magazine discredits itself in seeking to throw mud on a man admired and loved by millions, black and white. It discredits itself in stooping to sensationalism through fiction and irresponsibility."

A spokesman for Time, commenting on the statements, said:

"A careful reading of Time's article should make quite clear the magazine's admiration for Dr. King's work—for example, the observations that Dr. King's leadership brought conscience and cohesion to the cause of black equality and that he was the catalyst in the formation of a truly national civil rights movement.

"As for the facts in the article, Time stands by its reporting."

4 Escape From Sherman Jail

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — Four men described as extremely dangerous sawed their way out of a fourth-floor cell and escaped from the Grayson County jail today.

Sheriff Woody Blanton said two were awaiting trial on murder charges.

The men used a rope made from blankets and mattress covers to lower themselves from the fourth floor after sawing two bars out of a window, Blanton said.

The escapees are James Roger Farris, 22, of Louisville, Ky., charged with murder in the slaying of a grocer in nearby Denison; Carl W. Dennie Jr., 24, of Dallas, charged in the robbery of the Tom Bean bank earlier this year; Leonard Francis Sprague, 41, of Aransas Pass, charged with murder in a change of venue from Paris, Tex.; and Harry Blake Christian, 21, of Dallas, charged in the armed robbery of a Sherman drive-in grocery.

Blanton said jailer Tommy Turner also makes radio calls at night and did not hear the men. The sheriff said the escape occurred between midnight and 6 a.m.

Family Of 5 Hitchhikes For Treatment

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Odell Shirley of Lampasas is a determined man.

So determined that he and his family of five hitchhiked 280 miles from Lampasas to Galveston for a severely burned son to be treated at the Shriners Burn Institute.

Six-year-old Ronald Shirley suffered second and third degree burns over most of his upper body Dec. 21 when he accidentally donned a gasoline-soaked shirt which lay in a pile of clothes to be laundered.

He moved near a stove to warm his hands and his shirt burst into flames, the father said.

Ronald had come to the hospital in Galveston for surgery about six times prior to Monday's journey.

This time the operation was to loosen the skin about his neck so that he can move it freely again, the 43-year-old father said.

"All of us had to come," explained Shirley, an employes at the Lampasas golf course. "Both the wife and I have to sign the papers before they can go to cutting on his neck.

"We couldn't get anyone to take care of the other kids so we had to bring them too."

The other two children also are boys, ages 10 and 12.

Shirley's car was wrecked June 13 in an accident at La Marque while the family was returning home from Galveston after one of the operations.

The license plates were removed by state authorities after the accident and Shirley has been unable to replace them.

Doctors have said the operations to help the boy regain flexibility in his upper body would cost about $12,000, a fee Shirley cannot pay. The institute is providing the needed treatments free, he said.

The family made it to Houston with a salesman from Lampasas. From there two Houston policemen carried the family across the city.

Two other officers took the family to Galveston after they finished work Monday night.

Shirley said the family, probably without Ronald, would hitchhike back home today.

Counterfeiting Is On Rise

NEWDELHI(AP)—TheRese Bank of India received 6,000 counterfeited bills including one rupee—13 cents—note in 1967-68 as compared with 4,947, the year before, an official report showed. The report also showed that counterfeiting of Indian coins is on the rise. More than 18,000 counterfeited coins were destroyed in 1967-68 as opposed to 9,514 the year before.

Democratic Governors Are Talking Politics

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Democratic governors have been urged to launch a political talent hunt after the 1970 elections, looking for a new White House contender to challenge President Nixon in 1972.

Gov. Robert E. McNair of South Carolina made the proposal, saying no one now rated among potential Democratic presidential nominees gives evidence of the kind of support it would take to defeat Nixon.

"I think we have an opportunity in 1972, but in my judgment, we're defaulting," McNair said.

The Democrats talk politics today with Lawrence F. O'Brien, the party's national chairman. A prime concern: the effort to enlarge their ranks among governors. Currently only 18 states are governed by Democrats, and Republicans are in charge in all the major industrial states.

The 62nd National Governors Conference was at work on an agenda seeking vast new federal programs of aid to education, welfare financing and national health insurance.

Those proposals were in policy statements drafted by a committee led by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. He acknowledged that, if adopted, they would require a substantial increase in federal taxes.

The governors advanced those proposals before. In reaffirming them, the Rockefeller panel said there must be federal relief for a mounting financial crisis facing the states and cities.

Also due for a new prod from the governors: their five-year-old call upon Washington to send back to the states a share of federal tax revenues. The President has proposed a $500-million beginning on revenue sharing, but chances of congressional action this year are slim.

In their leadoff business session Monday, the governors sidetracked a proposal that they ask Congress for leeway to spend a portion of federal highway aid funds on other modes of transportation such as rapid transit and airports.

The vote was 23-12 to send it back to the conference Transportation Committee for rewriting. It may come up again Wednesday.

The governors voted to sue the federal government in a challenge to authority of the administration to withhold highway construction funds for economy.

CO Put On Draft Board

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — A 44-year-old Methodist minister who opposes the draft and says he is a pacifist is the newest member of this Northern California city's draft board.

But the Rev. John V. Albright says he will vote to send youths into uniform if they don't meet the legal standards for conscientious objectors.

"I plan to give the widest possible latitude to conscience," says the minister. "but I'm going to uphold the law to the best of my knowledge."

The Rev. Mr. Albright says he became a conscientious objector as a result of his Army experiences shortly after World War II with the American occupation troops in Japan. He has also been active in antipoverty and antiwar activities in recent years.

He says he has counseled young men in his church who are conscientious objectors, "but I have never counseled anyone to become a conscientious objector—that's something he has to work out for himself."

Asked how he would deal with a youth who objects to the Indochina war but doesn't fit the legal definition of a conscientous objector, the minister said: "I think his objection is valid, but I think as far as the law is concerned, we have no choice but to say he doesn't qualify as a conscientious objector."

The Rev. Mr. Albright was nominated to the five-man board by Shasta County Superior Court Judge Richard W. Abee.

"There's room on the board for all points of view," the judge said.

The Rev. Mr. Albright, father of five children, is pastor of the United Methodist church in Redding, a 12,000-resident mountain community about 150 miles north of San Francisco.

Play Wigs For Little Girls

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The lollipop and soda pop set now have their very own play wigs, but don't be surprised if the little girls wear the fun wigs to parties.

Playing in mon's clothes is an age-old pastime, but the image has changed rapidly in recent years, with false eyelashes, wigs and glossy makeups part of mom's beauty since.

Stumbling about in mom's shoes, wigs and evening dress, her face heavily rouged, a little girl couldn't be happier—but there have been times when the family has rebelled at the trail of broken lipsticks or runs in panty hose. And when mom's expensive perfume emanates from the family's little actress, the lid is likely to be closed on the play scene.

In recent years, play kits of makeup and perfume have been available for small fry, but they have continued to raid mother's dressing table.

The new wigs may turn the tide. At least they will fit little heads. The originators designed the educational play wigs so little girls could shampoo and set the play hair without harming their own tresses.

In curly or long styles, blonde, black, brunette, the wigs of synthetic fibers are washable and restylable with stretch foundations. One wig comes on a wig block in a see-through case. Another one, a curly version, comes with its own built-in black bow.

There are small-fry styles for girls 4 to 9, and curly and flip styles for the 11 to 5 age group.

Sun Worshipping Thru The Ages

By AP NEWSFEATURES

NEW YORK (AP) — The sun today is a symbol of golden beauty and a deep tan. And at no time in history have people been so devoted to sun worshipping in such a personal way. Women have sacrificed their complexions, men have suffered the pain of sunburn and small children have succumbed to burns and sunstroke.

But in a recent study, human preoccupation with the sun was traced throughout history and analyzed, with some results that appear to be changing our attitudes about the sun and how we should live with it.

The sun is composed of hydrogen, the simplest of all elements. Always raging with temperatures from 4,000 degrees Centigrade on the surface to 13,000,000 degrees Centigrade in the center, the sun is possessed of a past, a future and a definite life expectancy. It rose in the universe four-thousand-million years ago, and the last sunset will occur five-thousand-million years from now.

If the earth survived the last gasp of the sun, it would change beyond all recognition. The tropics would be snowbound within one week, the winds would stop and the oceans would freeze to their depths.

In ancient times sun worship was strongest in lands where the sun was a scorching tyrant. In early Egypt, the sun became the one and only true god of mankind, deposing all other Egyptian deities under Akhenaten, the pharaoh and religious reformer.

Most often the sun has been seen as a handsome young man. The Greeks attributed to him Apollo, the best-loved god in their pantheon. As the god of solar light and learning, Apollo caused the fruits of the earth to ripen, protected the crops from mice and locusts, struck as the god of sudden death (because of the sun's murderous rays) and was revered as a healer-god who drove away illness (because of the sun's prophylactive powers).

One of the seven wonders of the ancient world on the island of Rhodes was dedicated to the sun. There, the sculptor, Chares, created a colossal statue of Helios, god of the sun, which rose 100 feet in the air. Set to straddle the harbor of the island, it was big enough for ships in full sail to pass between the god's legs.

Aztecs created artifacts honoring the sun in its many phases, and ancient Incans believed that the son was father of their king. Royal lineage was preserved through the king's taking a full sister as his wife. But the king also accumulated many concubines and all offspring officially were titled, "Children of the Sun."

Although most people regarded the sun as masculine, the Eskimos, Iroquois, Cherokees, Australians and Japanese called the sun woman.

For 15th century Europeans and 16th century American Indians, the sun also had strong religious connotations, but in the 1800's the sun took on fashionable overtones. Women abandoned their parasols and actually went bathing in modest suits which resembled dresses. In the 1920's sun worshipping prevailed, revealing more and more of the emancipated woman.

Today, at the high noon of the sun's existence, discoveries have been made of its potentially harmful effects on the skin. But thanks to modern science, new products to screen out the sun's burning rays have been invented.

Soleri Designes Entire City For Whitney Museum

By MILES A. SMITH
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The city of the future resembles something out of science fiction in the exhibit currently at the Whitney Museum of American Art, "The Architectural Vision of Paolo Soleri."

The show consists of large models constructed of luminous plastic and a collection of huge drawings, some of them on scrolls 50 to 100 feet long. The exhibit will continue through Sept. 20.

Soleri has designed entire cities in the form of a single structure that in some cases would thrust a mile into the sky. They would contain up to a million people.

All the elements of living would be incorporated in the structure–factories, residences, schools, stores, hospitals, churches, offices, civic centers and recreational facilities.

There would be no automobiles. All transportation would be by elevator or moving walk.

Soleri calls such an integrated city an "arcology," meaning a combination of architecture and ecology.

The most ambitious of these designs was created by Soleri in the past two years in conjunction with Rutgers University, Ford Motor Co. and the state of New Jersey.

Called 3-D Jersey, this arcology is circular in form and would have an airport around it. The main structure would be about half-a-mile high, would cover a square mile, and contain a million people. Radiating from the main structure would be industrial and warehouse spaces, along with jet hangars, all to be covered with parks and gardens. Including the park areas, the entire site would cover about 14 square miles.

Another arcology, named Arc Cube, would be a mile-high cube supported by 12 vertical shafts, the latter containing transportation, housing and commercial areas.

Hexahedron, an arcology designed for about 170,000 people, is in the shape of a star, with a pyramid thrusting upward from the center and another pyramid thrusting downward.

None of these city structures has been intended for actual construction. They were designed as theoretical studies in the solution of urban problems.

Now, however, Soleri and his Cosanti Foundation of Scottsdale, Ariz., are going forward with plans to build a miniature version of an arcology, to be known as Arcosanti.

The Foundation has purchased a site 75 miles north of Phoenix, Ariz., has established a camp there and is engaged this summer in bringing in power and water.

Arcosanti is being designed for about 1,500 to 2,000 people. It will serve as a research center for urban studies and as an arts and crafts complex.

The 50-year-old, Italian-born Soleri studied under Frank Lloyd Wright in 1947-49 but rejected Wright's ideas, calling them "anti-city."

Soleri says "the arcology, so large in the interior, functions as an intermediary environment between raw nature and the individual living-working unit: a system of air snorkels, light tunnels and overhead louvres can be adjusted mechanically in order to achieve the desired wind, temperature and sun conditions in the interior.

"This will demand new concepts in heat and air conditioning with consequent changes in constructional appearance of the living-working units, not to mention the social usages of a new kind of city climate."

As a result, he adds, "a greater part of the city can be treated in terms of decorative esthetics, the potential of which staggers the imagination."

Stamps In The News

AP Newsfeatures
By SYD KRONISH

Dwight D. Eisenhower will again be honored on a U. S. stamp.

A new 6-center bearing a photograph of the former president and World War II hero will be issued with first day ceremonies in Washington, D.C., in August. The exact date has not as yet been set, but the stamp will be printed in sheet, coil and booklet form.

This will be a regular 6-cent stamp and not a commemorative. The difference is that the regular stamp will be printed by the billions rather than in limited quantities reserved for commemorative adhesives. An Eisenhower commemorative was issued last October.

The Eisenhower stamp was designed by Robert Geissman of New York City and is based on a Defense Department photograph. It is a vertical stamp in blue with Ike attired in civilian garb. Across the bottom of a white panel in blue sans serif capitals is "Eisenhower USA."

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C. 20013. The endorsement should read "First Day Covers Eisenhower Stamp."

Four options are available for the type of stamps to be affixed to the envelopes.

Unless specified, sheet stamps will be placed on the envelopes. Coil stamps, however, may be requested.

Another version is over-the-counter booklet panes, which comprise eight stamps. The full pane at 48 cents must be purchased.

The fourth version is vending machine stamps in a pane of five which sosts 30 cents. Again, the entire pane must be purchased.

Collectors desiring service on the last two items are advised to place their address on the first day cover envelope to the far left end as low as possible to provide space for the multiple stamps.

Although no date has been set, you may send your requests early to be sure you will get what you want.

It isn't often that a stamp and coin shop will have an exhibit of items which are not strictly related to the hobby. But Gimbel's Stamp and Coin Department recently carried a display dedicated to the 25th anniversary of the Liberation of the Concentration Camps as compiled by John D. Langwell. Shown were armbands, ration cards, jewelery made by prisoners, and other articles as a moving reminder of the persecution during the holocaust. There were samples of concentration camp money and stamps to complete the showing.

The Cook Islands have announced the issuance of a new set of stamps honoring a double occasion—the visit of the royal family to New Zealand and the celebration of Captain Cook's discovery. The 5-cents portrays Queen Elizabeth, the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and Queen Anne. The 30-cents depicts a Wedgewood bust of Capt. James Cook and a view of his ship, HMS Endeavour. The highest value stamp shows the $1 coin issued for the royal visit.

Novel Is Being Filmed

John Irving is writing the screenplay based on his wryly humorous novel of two young revolutionaries—an American and an Austrian—who avenge the grotesqueries of European history and the absurdity of modern existence by freeing all the animals in the Vienna zoo.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I am putting up the framework for a fiber glass roof over our concrete patio at the back of the house. But now my wife is worried because, she says, it will keep out the rays of the sun and she likes to sit in the sun a couple of hours each day. Later on I intend to put screens around the patio. Could I also use screening for the roof instead of the fiber glass?

A.—Yes, but there's a way to satisfy your wife as well as those who prefer to sit in the shade. Why not cover half the roof framework with the fiber glass panels and half with screening? It not only gives the family a choice of sun or shade; it also keeps one area of the patio dry during rain.

Before deciding which half of the roof to cover and which to leave uncovered except for the screening, take into account the location of the door leading from the house to the patio, as there may be a preference whether it should be in the sun or shade.

Q.—I cut out some directions about refinishing a floor several months ago and finally have decided to go ahead with the job. I intend to rent a floor sander. The article says to use the three-pass system, but doesn't say what it is. What is it?

A.—The so-called three-pass system is used only when the floor to be refinished is in bad shape, with visible warping and cupping of the boards. It involves sanding the first time with a heavy grit paper at a 45-degree angle to the floor boards; with a slightly less heavy grit paper the second time at right angles to the first, and with a finer grained paper the third time in the direction of the boards. Most floors requires only two passes with the sanding machine, both in the direction of the grain.

Q.—I painted a house some years ago. A few months later, resin came through the paint at several points where there were knots in the wood. In our present house, which I intend to paint soon, there also are some knots. How can this resin bleeding be prevented?

A.—First coat the knots or any pitch streaks with a special knot sealer or shellac. When the sealer is thoroughly dry, go ahead with the painting.

Economy Figures Don't Always Tell True Story

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The present state of the economy may be described in the conventional way, through statistics, or it can be shown by contrasting our ambitious goals with our inability to achieve them, our dollar wealth with our environmental poverty.

To put it in question form: Have the increases in incomes really permitted Americans to buy a better life? Has the quality of life improved to the same extent as the Gross National Product?

These are the statistics:

—Gross National Product, the market value of the output of goods and services produced by the economy, rose to $931 billion in 1969 from $629 billion five years earlier.

—National income, the total earnings of labor and property from the production of goods and services, rose to $770 billion in 1969 from $514 billion in 1964.

—Personal income, which is the total income received by persons from all sources, rose to $749 billion in 1969 from $495 billion in 1964.

—Disposable personal income, or the income remaining to persons after payment of personal taxes, jumped to $632 billion from $436 billion in 1964.

Those are the four major measures of production and income. Do they tell an accurate story? Or should the statistics be forgotten for the moment and the economy evaluated in more personal ways.

Hundreds of thousands of families, for example, have so benefitted by steady jobs and rising wages that they have saved an amount that once would have served as the down payment on a house. Now they can't buy that house.

Interest rates and prices have soared, and larger down payments are required, forcing these families to remain where they are. To many people, good housing is unavailable at any price because the country is producing homes at a rate that satisfies only half the need.

Americans also have surrounded themselves with an incredible array of gadgets that allegedly simplify life, but often the owners learn that these devices complicate life instead, especially when they break down and cannot be serviced.

Dollar affluence has permitted hundreds of thousands of Americans to own two cars, but they have learned to their chagrin that in some areas government officials have permitted more registrations than there are legal parking spaces.

A feature of the economic expansion has been easy credit—consumer credit rose from $77 billion in 1964 to $122 billion in 1969—but that credit burden now harasses many of the people who acaccepted it.

Economic expansion has permitted millions of Americans to afford a college education denied to their parents, but many of the educational institutions now cannot afford students and are in financial distress.

The statistics and the dollar signs look impressive, even when the economy is badly inflated and battling a recession at the same time. But do the figures tell the story the way it should be told?

Junior Editors Quiz on NEW STARS

QUESTION: What causes the appearance of a nova?

* * *

ANSWER: In (A), we see how our galaxy of stars, the Milky Way, would look from the outside. It is a huge, whirling spiral of stars. Our solar system is at the end of Billy's pointer. In (B), Billy looks toward a bright star in our own Milky Way galaxy which has suddenly appeared where there was only a pinpoint of light before. Such flareups are called "novae", or new stars, and occur perhaps 30 times in a year. In (C) Billy takes us back to the year 1572 to see the thrilling spectacle of a supernova, an exploding star in distant space beyond the Milky Way. These happen only about every 300 years or so. Recent studies on supernovaes suggest that when most of the material is burned up, a star may burst toward its center. This pulls in the outer part, which then suddenly explodes outward, causing the brilliance we see. Such an explosion destroys the star. In the case of the nova (B), we do not know the exact reason for such flareups. Some experts believe these are stars which have become electrically unstable and have released part of their material in a limited explosion, causing the light. Later they may release more and flare up again.

Boyle Opens Mail And Learns

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

How fat are Americans? Well, the body of a very lean man or woman contain 10 to 25 per cent fat, but most Americans are 25 per cent fat and some 50 per cent or more. About 80 per cent of U.S. men are above the weight which statistically, for their height, leads to the greatest longevity.

On the other hand, the heaviest baby of modern times was born to a woman in Southern Turkey. It weighed 24 pounds at birth, more than three times the weight U.S. doctors suggest now as ideal.

Turning streets in the business districts of cities into pedestrian malls isn't a 20th century idea. One of the first things Julius Caesar reportedly did when he became the boss of ancient Rome was to ban the daytime use of carts and chariots in the crowded center of the empire's capital.

Stealing, robbing and embezzling have become among America's most profitable industries. Property valued at more than $3.5 billion is now stolen each year—more than $9.5 million every day. Only about 50 per cent is recovered or, in the case of stolen automobiles, about 85 per cent.

Quotable notables: "If you feel that you have both feet planted on level ground, then the university has failed you." —Robert Goheen, president of Princeton.

Quip: Comedian Flip Wilson says he knows a teen-age girl who has the most frustrating allergy he's ever heard of. She's allergic to telephones.

Troubled waters: You're not safe on the highways and, if you're not careful, you aren't safe on the nation's busy waterways either. In lakes, rivers and coastal waters last year, 4,687 boating accidents took 1,350 lives, caused 1,004 injuries and property losses of $6.37 million.

Hot enough for you? Well, last year in 140-mile-long Death Valley, Calif., which has a population of about 50, the air temperature rose above 100 degrees for 126 consecutive days. If you're the thirsty sort, some days there you can measure your consumption of water by the gallon.

It was Samuel Butler who observed, "The public buys its opinions as it buys its meat, or takes in its milk, on the principle that it is cheaper to do this than to keep a cow. So it is, but the milk is more likely to be watered."

3 Killed In Car Accident

GEORGETOWN, Tex. (AP)—Three men died and a fourth was injured as two cars collided Monday evening near the north edge of Williamson County in Central Texas.

State patrolmen identified the dead as Elton Hallmark, 26, of Florence, Tex., along in his car, and James G. Biggs, 17, of Killeen and John Saris, 21, a Ft. Hood soldier.

The injured man is Pfc. William R. Earl, also from Ft. Hood. He was reported in Satisfactory condition at a Ft. Hood hospital.

Officers said the two cars sideswiped three miles north of Florence on FM 440, Hallmark's car flipped over and skidded 150 feet on its top, and the light sports car carrying the other three men fell apart.

The appointment was made by Ethel Bent Walsh, director of the Office of Advisory Councils of the SBA in Washington and announced through the office of U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Phonics Geared To AV Lessons

CHICAGO(AP)-Aneducational program designed to teach phonics, identifying the sounds of initial consonants and consonant blends, has been geared to audio-visual lessons.

Dr. William A. LaPlante, director of curriculum and materials development of Borg-Warner Educational Systems, said the phonics program is organized according to learning difficulty. The tasks that are easiest are presented first.

He said the new series brings to 238 the number of individual lessons that have been made available in its system 80, which is basically an audo-visual approach to teaching.

System 80 covers areas of the alphabet, spelling, reading vocabulary and comprehension, elementary mathematics and, now phonics.

Vegetable oils such as corn, cottonseed, peanut and soybean may all be used for deep-fat frying.

Crampton Is Ready

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Bruce Crampton was waiting for his luggage at an airport, watching a series of conveyor belts snaking through, under and around walls and corridors.

"Do you think it will work?" a companion asked, looking skeptically at the arrangement designed to deliver the bags.

"I've got to believe in it," replied Crampton. "I'm at their mercy now."

Then he smiled and added:

"If it's in this country, I'll believe in it. If you people can't make it work, it won't work. This is the greatest country in the world. If you can't believe in this country, everyone is in trouble."

Crampton, a 34-year-old native of Australia, had just arrived for the $200,000 PGA National Championship that starts Thursday on the 6,962-yard, par-70 Southern Hills Country Club course.

The soft-spoken veteran of 14 years on the tough American tour and one of the game's most consistent performers will be one of the top candidates for the $40,000 first prize in this, the last of the four major championships offered annually.

His credentials are impressive. He won the rich Winchester Classic two weeks ago, finished second in the American Golf Classic last week and teamed with Orville Moody for second in the National Four-Ball three weeks ago.

That's a victory and two seconds in three starts, second only in recent showings to Jack Nicklaus. His $50,000 first prize at Westchester boosted him to his third consecutive $100,000 season and made him, with Gary Player, the only foreigners to reach $500,000 in a career on the American tour.

"If I'd won $50,000 when I'd first come over here, I think I'd have just turned around and gone home," said Crampton, who now lives with his wife and son in Dallas, "At that time you could just about retire on $50,000.

Crampton, a native of Sydney, came to the United States in 1957 as a 20-year-old, a two-year professional and the recent winner of the Australian Open.

"I'd been invited over to play in the Masters," Crampton recalled, "and I came over early to play in some tournaments. The first one was Houston and I won about $700. Arnold Palmer won the tournament. The first prize was about $6,000. They came out with a big silver cup to present him and it was full of money.

"I looked at it and my eyes bugged out to here. I didn't know there was that much money in the world. I decided then that this is the place for me."

Arnie Draws In Teenagers

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —"I want to win the PGA, no doubt about it, but I wouldn't be here if I didn't consider this tournament just as important."

Arnold Palmer had that word Monday for some 450 teen-agers who gathered for a clinic put on by the golfing great who flew from Tulsa, Okla., site of the PGA. It's the only major tournament Palmer has never won.

"I'm concerned with the disenchanted youth in our land, and I consider one of the most important things in life is to get kids on the golf course," he said. "I never found a kid on a golf course dipping in a dope bottle."

Palmer played seven holes with Texans Bobby Harwell and Ben Crenshaw, who tied for the low amateur in the U.S. Open, and Oklahomans Mark Debolt and Bruce Scott.

A crowd of 5,000 followed them over the Weeks Park Memorial Golf Course.

To Palmer's amazement, Harwell eagled the first hole and birdied the second.

Palmer jokingly gave him a long stare before teeing off on the next hole and Harwell proceeded to bogey two in a row.

"That kid is great ... but I had to slow him down," laughed Palmer, who was even par over the holes played.

Gridders To Get Shoes

Snyder High School football players will be issued shoes and socks Wednesday afternoon.

The first equipment which coaches may issue under University Interscholastic League rules will be passed out between the hours of 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. at the SHS field house, said Wayne Tyrone, athletic director and head football coach.

The shoes and socks are issued a few days ahead of workouts each season to enable players to "break them in" and cut down on foot ailments during training.

All high school athletes have been getting physical examinations Monday and today. Junior high athletes will get the physical examinations and football equipment after the school term begins.

Flames, Hamby Meet Tonight

There will be a game tonight at 8 in Winston Field between Snyder Flames and Hamby Angels. Nell Henry will be pitching for Snyder and Jan Kruse will catch. Brenda Jackson will be pitching for Hamby.

Ali Looks Like Ali

MIAMI (AP) — Shave the natty mustache and he's a double for older brother Cassius. Check the hotel register and he's Rahaman Ali. Boxing placards at Miami Beach Auditorium tell you the man is Rudolph Valentino Clay.

Rudy Clay returns to the ring Tuesday night after a five-year layoff. He's a strapping 192-pounder, his handsome ebony features a matched set of the man now known as Muhammad Ali.

Rudy acted as Cassius' sparring partner through the championship years that ended with the older brother's last fight against Zora Folley in 1967. His untested ring record is 3-0.

Rudy, like Cassius, is a Black Muslim. He lives in Chicago with his wife, Sandra, and their two girls, Alecia, 3, and Satina, 18 months.

"I've made a good living lately selling appliances," said Rudy. "My job is with Polk Brothers, one of Chicago's largest chains. That's the reason my return to boxing isn't for the money."

Rudy claims Cassius "would love to box again, but he's frustrated by all the proposals that fell through for one reason or another."

Seaver Puts Out Pirates' Lights

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the blackout finally was lifted at Pittsburgh, the lights went out for the Pirates.

New York's resilient Mets parlayed 10 hits, 11 walks and three Pittsburgh errors with the crisp pitching of Tom Seaver for a 10-2 victory Monday night in a game delayed 27 minutes at the start by a power shutdown at the Pirates' new Three Rivers Stadium.

Seaver bounced back after a wobbly start to scatter six hits, pocket his 17th victory of the season and propel the Mets within 2½ lengths of first place Pittsburgh in the National League East.

In the only other activity in the majors, Oakland trimmed Minnesota 7-3 and Boston outlasted Detroit 11-10.

After a fire broke out in the vicinity of the stadium, power lines controlling the lights were shut off as a precautionary measure as the Pirates trotted onto the field for the start of the game.

When the lights came back on, the Pirates quickly set Seaver back, scoring twice with the help of three walks and Al Oliver's double.

Then the Pirates' eclipse began.

Two walks and a throwing error by first baseman Oliver on Seaver's potential inning-ending double play tap contributed to a five-run New York binge in the second.

Ellis went out for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the inning and Tommie Agee socked a two-run triple off reliever Dick Colpaert in the third. Colpaert and Jim Nelson then walked five more in the fourth as the Mets scored another pair without a hit for a 9-2 bulge.

Ex-Pirate Donn Clendenon, listily jeered by the big crowd each time he came to bat, climaxed a 3-for-3 night in the seventh with his 16th homer of the season.

Seaver, meanwhile, settled down to blank the Pirates on five harmless singles over the final eight innings, bringing his season mark to 17-6 and earning the Mets a split of the four-game set.

Gentile Asks For Change

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Kicking specialist Carl Gentile has asked to be freed from the Houston Oilers.

Gentile, who has played professional soccer and baseball, was the No. 2 place kicker behind Roy Gerela.

"I think I'm as good as Roy Gerela," Gentile said Monday. "But there's no use kidding myself, I can't make it here so I asked coach (Wally) Lemm to put me on waivers so I might get a change with another club."

"No hard feelings," he said. "Coach Lemm and the guys have been great to me. What the heck, I was given a chance to come here and that's something."

He kicked one field goal and three extra points during preseason games last year, but lost the place-kicking job to Gerela, who made good on 8 of 11 field goals in pre-season play.

Lemm also announced that five players have been put on waivers.

They are:

Ben Mayes, a defensive end and tackle acquired as a free agent when the Buffalo Bills dropped him last year.

Bobby Holley, a free agent from Texas Southern.

Bob Morris, a center from Duke, drafted by Houston in the 11th round and who is not fully rehabilitated from leg injuries.

Claire Rasmussen, a guard from Wisconsin State drafted 14th. A defensive lineman in col3 lege, the Oilers wanted him to play offense.

Finis Taylor, a sprinter from Prairie View A&M the club acquiared during the player's strike. He was obtained from Oakland, which drafted him fifth in 1969.

Ted Williams of the Washington Senators says he has never chewed tobacco.

Golf Courses 'Over-Use' Water, Sarazen Asserts

By PAT THOMPSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHASKA, Minn. (AP) — Gene Sarazen, one of four men who have won the Big Four titles in golf, finds it difficult to compare today's game with that of 30 and 40 years ago.

"They're overusing water on today's golf courses," Sarazen said in an interview. "They keep watering the courses just to make them green.

"They're not aware that nature can come in and knock them out. That's why so many of our courses turn into swamps when it rains.

"It's almost impossible to compare golf today with that of yesteryear," Sarazen said in a break during his visit to the Twin Cities and Hazeltine National Golf Club, site of the 1970 U.S. Open in June.

"When they say they have a course 7,000 yards long, they're lying. It's more like 8,500 yards. Because when you overwater a course, you're losing 30 to 40 yards a shot."

Sarazen, 68, figures that today's professionals are better players.

"No doubt about it," he said. "They are great players. Terrific power players. Jack Nicklaus is the most powerful hitter in the history of golf. he's the first guy I've seen win the British Open without putting well. He didn't need to worry about his two putts.

"If I had a game, though, between Nicklaus and Ben Hogan," Sarazen said, "I probably would take Hogan. He couldn't hit it as far as Nicklaus, but he always kept the ball in play."

"I wouldn't stand a chance."

Sarazen said he has played Hazeltine three times and doesn't score well because of its length.

Tony Jacklin won the Open June 21 by seven strokes over Dave Hill, who criticized the many doglegs on the course and said all it needed was 80 acres of corn and some cows. The comments resulted in a $150 fine.

"He might have gone a little too far with what he said," Sarazen observed, "but you can see why some of these fellows got off on the track. There's no excuse for a sharp dogleg on that first hole. That put a bad taste in their mouths."

Sarazen himself serves as a consultant to an English course designer.

"I've been playing golf for 50 years and I am the most critical man in the world when it comes to architecture of a golf course," Sarazen said. "I'm not capable of designing a golf course. But I can sure put the lipstick on it.

"Hazeltine is one of the great courses of our time," Sarazen said. "It has some great holes. There are some holes I don't approve of but I've yet to see any golf course in the world with 18 perfect holes. Even St. Andrews in Scotland doesn't have 18 perfect holes."

Jim Bouton Has Called His Own Third Strike

By JOHN HOTARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitcher Jim Bouton, author of the controversial book, "Ball Four," has called his own third strike.

He said he just didn't have it anymore and announced his retirement Monday from baseball.

Bouton said he didn't want to spend the next couple of years in the minor leagues trying to get his once-famed knuckleball back. He made the announcement at a news conference at the apartment complex where he lives.

Bouton had pitched and lost two games for Oklahoma City, where the Houston Astros sent him July 31.

"I've been having trouble with the knuckleball this year and it looks like it might take me another two or three years bouncing around in the minor leagues to perfect it," he said.

"I'll have two kids in school this fall and three next year. The minors are a very rough life for a family."

He said he'd rather make the break now instead of next spring because of job opportunities which might not be available then.

Meanwhile, the 31-year-old pitcher plans to see if he can make it in the semipros, indicating he will play for the Ridgewood Paramus Barons near his home in Wyckoff, N.J.

"Maybe they'll let me play if I can come up with a pitch," he laughed.

He isn't eligible to play for the Barons until next year.

He also will write a sequel to his best-seller.

Bouton said he decided to quit Saturday and tried to contact Astro General Manager Spec Richardson Sunday night.

The right-hander flew to Houston from Oklahoma City late Sunday night and told the club Monday morning he wanted to be put on the voluntary retirement list.

He is technically under suspension until the retirement is official.

Houston Manager Harry Walker said when the book came out this year that Bouton's pitching might suffer because he would be having interviews while on the road.

Bouton acknowledged Monday that it had.

He has drawn no fines from the Astros, although some consider the book critical of Richardson and Walker. He was called in for a conference with Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Bouton, who entered the majors with the New York Yankees in 1962 and stayed with them until 1968, has been severely criticized by his peers for the book, which includes his diary on locker room conversations and opinions of his Yankee teammates and other ball players.

Bouton was sent to Oklahoma City after all other major league clubs passed up a chance to pick him up on waivers for $20,000.

He had a 4-6 Houston record and a 5.42 ERA. His major league career record stands at 59-60.

Cokes Begins His Comeback

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie middleweight Curtis Cokes, former world welterweight champion, began his comeback Monday night by whipping tough Danny Perez of New York City in a seventh round technical knockout.

The 33-year-old Cokes, who said before the fight that he was going to quit trying to outsmart people and "mix it up more," did just that in the sixth round of the scheduled 10-rounder.

Cokes, 161, connected with a solid right hand and followed with a barrage of punches that left Perez, 157, reeling.

Perez, a transplanted Puerto Rican with a 28-6-2 record, suffered cuts inside his mouth and failed to answer the seventh round bell.

Cokes, the welterweight king from 1966 through 1969, had been criticized in the past for lacking a killer instinct. He said he has a new style now—"You can hit me, but I'm going to hit you two or three times."

The only unhappy part of the night for Cokes was that the Internal Revenue Service attached his purse, which was 25 per cent of the gate — some $3,000 to $4,000. Cokes has been having business problems, one reason he got back into the fight game.

Two HS Stars Are Sidelined

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Injuries will prevent Delvin Williams of Houston Kashmere and tight end Steve Cumley of Houston Lee from playing in the Texas-Oklahoma high school all-star football game Friday night in Coyote Stadium.

Williams suffered rib injuries in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game in Houston last Thursday night and will be replaced by speedster Charles Davis of West Columbia —the most valuable back in the Texas all-star game.

Larry Miller of Lubbock Estacado will sub for Cumley, who has an injured leg.

Jimmy Carmichael of Brownwood and Tim Trimmier of San Antonio Lee will quarterback the Texas squad seeking revenge for last year's defeat by the Oklahomans.

The two teams are undergoing two-a-day drills.

Boxers' Pensions Being Considered

MONTREAL (AP) — A proposal to establish a pension plan for professional boxers is under study by the World Boxing Association.

The organization is holding its annual meeting here.

The WBA was asked Monday by Van Nixon, secretary of the Washington, D.C., Boxing Commission to establish a pension fund and make it available for any veteran of 25 pro fights once he becomes 55.

"We are the only sport that doesn't take care of its own," Nixon said.

He was supported by David Ott of Cleveland, chairman of the Ohio Boxing Commission, who presented the results of a three month study which he said demonstrated such a move was feasible.

WBA President Emile Bruneau of New Orleans also backed the proposal, saying a pension "would be the greatest thing we could give boxing."

A committe was appointed to draft a format for a pension plan and will make its report Wednesday, last day of the meeting.

Delegates from at least 10 countries, including Canada and the United States, are attending the three-day conference to discuss ratings, organizational problems and ways to put boxing back on its feet, especially in North America.

Nixon said a pension plan was a necessity, considering the number of "scrambled fighters" who were left physically and financially ruined after their careers in the ring.

A plan has been proposed at WBA meetings before, Ott said, but "if we really care about any of these guys we must do something now."

Earlier Monday, the association amended its membership restrictions to allow state and provincial boxing commissions outside the United States to join the WBA.

Bruneau, in his presidential report, told the meeting that while the sport is suffering in North America, "it is doing better than it ever did in the rest of the world."

Hijacker Escapes

SAIGON (AP) — An American soldier who tried to hijack a Vietnamese airliner from Saigon to Hong Kong went to the bathroom Sunday and didn't come back, U.S. authorities reported today.

Army spokesmen said Pvt. George M. Hardin, 20, of St. Louis, Mo., escaped from a Saigon hospital where he was taken to see a Korean flight engineer injured during his attempt July 22 to hijack an Air Vietnam plane at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport.

Hardin was accompanied by his military defense counsel and some U.S. military police. He asked to use the bathroom, was given permission and disappeared. Police cordoned off a six-block area and searched for two hours but were unable to find the soldier.

Hardin was being held in the Army stockade at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, during an investigation into charges against him of assault with a deadly weapon, attempted hijacking and attempted kidnaping.

Hardin tried to hijack the plane on the ground by threatening the crew with knives. He surrendered after airport guards let the air out of the plane's tires. The flight engineer, the only person injured, was cut about the throat when he tried to escape.

Buses Are Answer To Metropolitan Congestion

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite their noise, smelly exhaust and crowded conditions, buses remain the quickest solution to metropolitan congestion, says the head of the Urban Mass Transit Administration.

But the way buses now are operated, UMTA Administrator Carlos C. Villarreal told a Senate subcommittee Monday, the losers are those who can't drive cars—the poor, handicapped and elderly.

The consensus of Villarreal and other UMTA officials is that even more public ownership and government subsidies are the only answer to keep the buses running.

"Someone is going to have to subsidize this form of public transportation," Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., told the officials. "Someone is going to have to pay for it. That's what we should be talking about."

The federal government, through UNTA, is spending $100 million a year on bus research, equipment replacement and demonstration programs, such as high-speed bus lanes on freeways.

The UMTA granted federal money last year to help ease private bus companies into city ownership in Baltimore, Trenton, N.J., Wilmington, Del., Fort Wayne, Ind., Salt Lake City, and Santa Cruz, Calif.

Already the bus systems dealing with the bulk of the nation's passengers are publicly owned and still operating at a loss.

Of 1,094 bus companies in the nation, 121 are in public, subsidized hands. These 121 systems account for two-thirds of the total national revenue and passengers and half of all the buses and miles traveled.

The remaining 973 bus companies are usually small operations trying to squeeze out a profit.

Villarreal said the problem are due to increased reliance on the car. It has cut the number of riders, resulting in less revenue and money for new equipment, he said.

There is a net gain of 10,000 new cars on the road every 24 hours, Villarreal said.

"Public transportation should not compete with this, it should complement it," he said. Mass transit should be clean, efficient, reliable, convenient to give the car owner a choice.

Villarreal said what is needed and what is being worked on to fill the long gaps before subway systems is "a new type of bus, lower to the ground so older people can get on easier, with gas turbines for propulsion, which means less pollution, better air conditioning.

Attention is being given also to the bleak transit fact of life that most riders only go to and from work on buses.

Houston Residents Win Long Battle

HOUSTON (AP)—A group of residents in one of Houston's more affluent sections have apparently won an eight-year battle to keep the residential quality of their neighborhood.

Former Texas Secretary of State John L. Hill, head of the Memorial Drive Protective Association, said the controversial tract of land involved has been sold to a townhouse developer.

The homeowners have opposed projects by both the Mobil Oil Co. and Safeway Stores to develop the property in the neighborhood.

Wool Prices Are Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shorn wool prices paid to growers this year probably will average "moderately below" the 1969 average of 41.8 cents per pound, say Agriculture Department economists.

"The weaker prices reflect relatively large world wool supplies and reduced world prices for wool and manmade fibers," they said Monday in a summary of the wool situation.

Shorn wool output in the United States this year was forecast at 162 million pounds, two per cent less than in 1969.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public wervice to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — I'm hoping to get a part-time job after school this fall. Is it true there's a form I can fill out to stop taxes from being taken out of my pay?

A — Yes, A — Yes, you may avoid having Federal income tax withheld from your pay if certain conditions are met and you give your employer a Form W-4E. Social Security taxes will continue to be withheld, however.

To avoid Federal income tax withholding you must have had no tax liability last year and expect none this year. Under the new tax law, you can earn up to $1,725 before you will owe any tax.

If you meet these conditions, ask your employer for a Form W-4E. It will authorize him to stop Federal income tax withholding on your wages.

Q — Are you allowed any credit or deduction for foreign income taxes paid while working overseas?

A — Yes, you may either list the foreign income taxes paid with your other tax deductions or take a credit for such taxes paid. For details, obtain a free copy of Publication 514, Foreign Tax Credit for U. S. Citizens and Resident Aliens, by sending a postcard to your IRS district office.

Q — I just got a letter from the local IRS office asking me to bring in my records on deductions. Can the fellow I got to prepare my return come with me?

A — Yes, you may have the person who prepared your return come with you for the audit interview. Remember, however, that you are responsible for the accuracy of all items on the return.

Cancelled checks, receipts and similar records are most helpful in establishing the nature, date and amount of the expense claimed. Taxpayers who keep adequate records have little trouble when their return is examined.

Q — After my father died, my sister and I began supporting our mother. Can we both claim her as our dependent?

A — No, the dependency exemption for your mother cannot be claimed by both you and your sister. However, if either of you provided more than one-half your mother's total support and the other dependency tests are met, then that person can claim the exemption. Also, when two or more persons contribute more than half of the total support of a dependent, one of them who individually contributes more than 10 percent of it may claim the exemption if the other dependency tests are met. However, each of the other persons must file a written statement that he will not claim the exemption for that year.

Q — I sold some trees on property I own to a lumber company. How do I handle this on my tax return?

A — Such a sale is usually reported as a capital gain or loss. For details on how to handle this on your tax return, send a post card to your IRS district director and ask for a free copy of Publication 544, Sales and Exchanges of Assets.

The Department of Agriculture also has a publication on this subject. It is Handbook No. 274, "The Timber Owner and his Federal Income Tax."

Judge Refuses To Order Suppression

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Rozzel C. Thomsen refused Monday to order suppression of some prosecution evidence in the forthcoming trial of Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex.

Dowdy is charged with bribery, conspiracy and perjury. He is a veteran congressman from Athens, Tex.

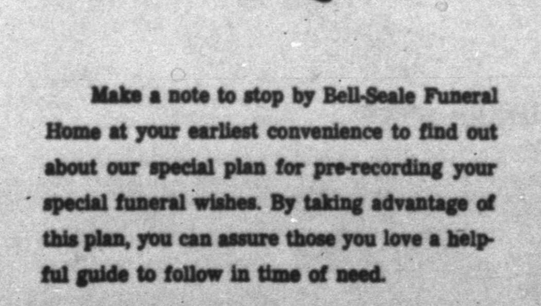

Judge Thomsen announced his decision after hearing arguments in secret from Dowdy's lawyer, Leon H.A. Pierson, and Steven H. Sachs, special assistant U.S. Attorney.

Thomsen said specific nature of the evidence should not be made public until the trial, set for Sept. 14.

Dowdy, 58, was named in an eight-count federal indictment charging, among other things, that he arranged to have a $25,000 bribe transported across state lines to aid a Baltimore resident, Nathan H. Cohen evade a Justice Department probe.

Myrvin C. Clark, 50, of Long Beach, Calif., also was named in the indictment. Clark is a former sales manager for Monarch Construction Co. of Baltimore.

Thomsen also denied a motion by the defense that Dowdy be tried separately on certain of the charges. The specifics of this action also were not immediately revealed.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR30)
General Election Nov. 3, 1970

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Subsections (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), (11), (12), and (13), Section 1-a, Article V, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"(5) The Commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet at Austin at least once each year. It shall annually select one of its members as Chairman. A quorum shall consist of five (5) members. Proceedings shall be by majority vote of those present, except that recommendations for retirement, censure, or removal of any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall be by affirmative vote of at least five (5) members.

"(6) A. Any Justice or Judge of the Appellate Courts and District and Criminal District Courts, any County Judge, and any Judge of a County Court at Law, a Court of Domestic Relations, a Juvenile Court, a Probate Court, or a Corporation or Municipal Court, and any Justice of the Peace, and any Judge or presiding officer of any special court created by the Legislature as provided in Section 1, Article V, of this Constitution, may, subject to the other provisions hereof, be removed from office for willful or persistent conduct, which is clearly inconsistent with the proper performance of his said duties or casts public discredit upon the judiciary or administration of justice; or any person holding such office may be censured, in lieu of removal from office, under procedures provided for by the Legislature.

"B. Any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of this subsection who is eligible for retirement benefits under the laws of this state providing for judicial retirement may be involuntarily retired, and any person holding an office named in that paragraph who is not eligible for retirement benefits under such laws may be removed from office, for disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties, which is, or is likely to become, permanent in nature.

"(7) The Commission shall keep itself informed as fully as may be of circumstances relating to the misconduct or disability of particular persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, receive complaints or reports, formal or informal, from any source in this behalf and make such preliminary investigations as it may determine. Its orders for the attendance or testimony of witnesses or for the production of documents at any hearing or investigation shall be enforceable by contempt proceedings in the District Court.

"(8) After such investigation as it deems necessary, the Commission may in its discretion issue a private reprimand, or if the Commission determines that the situation merits such action, it may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal, or retirement of a person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, or it may in its discretion request the Supreme Court to appoint an active or retired District Judge or Justice of a Court of Civil Appeals as a Master to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report thereon to the Commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of a Master, the Commission finds good cause therefor, it shall issue an order of public censure or it shall recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, or retirement, as the case may be, of the person in question holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section and shall thereupon file with the Clerk of the Supreme Court the entire record before the Commission.

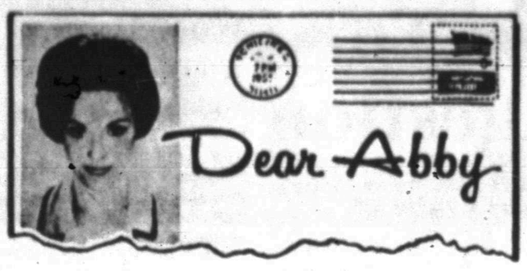

"(9) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings on the law and facts and in its discretion may, for good cause shown, permit the introduction of additional evidence and shall order public censure, retirement or removal, as it finds just and proper, or wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for involuntary retirement for disability or an order for removal, the office in question shall become vacant. The rights of an incumbent so retired to retirement benefits shall be the same as if his retirement had been voluntary."

"(11) The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court. Such rule shall afford to any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, against whom a proceeding is instituted to cause his retirement or removal, due process of law for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court in the same manner that any person whose property rights are in jeopardy in an adjudicatory proceeding is entitled to due process of law, regardless of whether or not the interest of the person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section in remaining in active status is considered to be a right or a privilege. Due process shall include the right to notice, counsel, hearing, confrontation of his accusers, and all such other incidents of due process as are ordinarily available in proceedings whether or not misfeasance is charged, upon proof of which a penalty may be imposed.

"(12) No person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall sit as a member of the Commission or Supreme Court in any proceeding involving his own retirement or removal.

"(13) This Section 1-a is alternative to and cumulative of, the methods of removal of persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section provided elsewhere in this Constitution."

His kisses aren't up to standards

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I can't solve myself and I don't want to ask anyone else for fear of appearing foolish. I don't know how to kiss. I am a 28-year-old normal male. I'm fairly good looking, clean, have a good job, a late model car, sharp clothes, and I have no trouble getting dates. But when it comes to kissing, I must be doing something wrong because all I get is complaints.

It's gotten to the point where I just skip the kissing and go on to the next step, but I find most girls don't like this.

Can you help me? They say, "practice makes perfect," but I don't get a chance to practice because after I kiss a girl once she doesn't want to kiss me again.

WANTS TO LEARN

DEAR WANTS: Most people learn how to kiss without lessons, but you may need a few. You can't learn to kiss alone—you'll need a girl, so find one you'd like to kiss, and kiss her at the appropriate time. If she complains, ask her what was wrong with the kiss. [There are a variety of "bum" kisses. Too "wet," too dry, too hard, not hard enough, too passionate, not passionate enough, too prolonged, too brief.] If the girl likes you, she won't mind giving you a few pointers to improve your technique. If she doesn't like you that much—find another girl.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is constantly asking whomever he happens to be with to "lend" him a couple of dollars, or a "five." His excuse is that he has to cash a check, and he hasn't anything less than a twenty or a fifty on him. No one doubts him, either, as this man is very well-to-do. [He also never picks up a check when he is by far the one in the crowd who is best able to treat everybody, but that's another problem.]

Abby, this man never makes an effort to repay any of these "emergency" loans, and I for one am fed up with it.

Now why would a man who is worth a fortune want to chisel in this manner? And if you can think of a good way to get my money back, I'd appreciate it. FED UP

DEAR FED: Don't look for any deep psychological reasons for your friend's behavior. He's just cheap. And the best way I know to get something one has coming to him is to ask for it.

DEAR ABBY: When a girl asks a boy to a "girl-ask-boy" party, is the girl supposed to provide the transportation? We are not old enough to drive, any of us kids, so one of our parents will have to take us and call for us. But whose parents? UNDER AGE IN WATERLOO

DEAR UNDER AGE: When a girl asks a boy to a party, she's asking him to "escort" her only. The "escort" should provide the transportation. If for some reason, he can't manage it, the girl's parents are next in line.

DEAR ABBY: May I air my gripe in your column? The offenders probably don't even know they are guilty, and it might wake them up.

Whenever I drop a note to someone, asking for a recipe, an address, or some other bit of information which I want, I always enclose a stamped, addressed envelope as a convenience to that person. Also, since I'm the one who is asking for the favor, why should the person of whom I'm asking it take his time and effort to accommodate me and provide the stamp besides? MARGE

DEAR MARGE: You are a woman after my own heart!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Oil Allowable Boosted In Special Meeting

By JACK [illegible]
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission raised the state's August oil production by 88,750 barrels a day Monday despite the warning of a former commissioner who said the agency could be "scraping the bottom of the barrel" of Texas' oil reserves.

The commission boosted the August allowable from 62.9 per cent to 70 per cent and made it retroactive to Aug. 1. The new percentage is the highest in 17 years.

It was the first time since the 1967 Arab-Israeli crisis that the commission had held a special "emergency" meeting and shifted the allowable upward.

In a short statement announcing the allowable, Chairman Ben Ramsey said the need for additional Texas crude oil in August "was brought about by the unusually high tanker rates" in shipping overseas oil.

William J. Murray Jr., a commissioner for 16 years until he resigned in June 1963, said the regulatory agency "should cut back and put something in a sayings account so you will have something to spare.

"If you grant this increase, you will be scraping the bottom of the barrel. I believe it is time to face up to reality and find out how much spare, attainable, efficient capacity is left in the state."

To grant the 124,000 additional barrels of oil a day that six big buyers sought "would use it (reserves) all up," Murray said.

Murray, now president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association (TIPRO), said he was appearing on his own behalf.

He said it was the first time in 25 years that he had spoken from the floor on the allowable.

The new August allowable will permit maximum production of 3,798,513 barrels a day this month, but actual production is estimated at 3,310,000, or 35,-250 less than was sought in the requests for additional oil.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. asked for 50,000 more barrels a day in August, Texas Inc. sought 25,000 additional barrels daily, Mobil Oil Corp. 20,000, Shell Oil Co. and Texas City Refining, Inc., 10,000 extra barrels each and Chevron Oil Co. 9,000 additional barrels a day in August.

The high tanker rates Ramsey referred to reportedly have been caused by Libyan government orders for foreign companies in that African nation to reduce production, forcing oil-short European nations to seek oil from the Persian Gulf. This has shifted oil tankers from the short Libya-Europe haul to the longer trip around Africa.

Ramsey also said Tapline, a major oil pipeline from the Middle East to Mediterranean ports had been closed, resulting in "substantailly large increases in the need for Texas crude oil."

Police Chief's Sentencing Postponed

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Sentencing of a former Texas police chief who pleaded guilty to burglary was postponed Monday until next Wednesday.

Wayman Dial, 35, former police chief of San Marcos, Tex., was arrested after a silent alarm was tripped in a Beverly Hills mansion.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Joseph Kimble said, after Dial and 11 others were arrested, that Dial planned to lead gang of burglars on a raid in San Marcos.

"One of the suspects opened up after he was arrested," Kimble testified. "He told us those people (in San Marcos) would have felt like Attila the Hun had been through there."

He was referring to the 5th century Barbarian raider of Europe.)

The police chief said a fashionable matron near Beverly Hills "put the finger on the homes of her rich friends" for the gang.

Dial, who was dismissed by City Manager Richard Bean of San Marcos after being arrested, was later charged on six counts of burglaries in San Marcos. He had been police chief there for six years.

Officers said Dial carried a .38-caliber pistol, a set of handcuffs and a can of crowd control spray when arrested.

Limousine Drivers Strike Averted

HOUSTON (AP) — Negotiators in a threatened Houston Intercontinental Airport limousine strike said they reached a tentative contract agreement early Tuesday, averting a walkout.

Union members must now ratify it.

The settlement was reached between the Dobbs House, Inc., operators of the service, and Transportation Workers Local 260.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed at once.

Limousine drivers had sought $1.25 an hour more pay. They have been drawing $2.25 an hour.

The drivers voted last week to strike at midnight Monday when the contract expired.

Negotiations were held with federal mediator Gayle Wineriter.

Guide Set On Newsmen Subpoenas

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has announced new guidelines for the subpoena of newsmen by the Justice Department, but he says the government is "not in any way conceding our constitutional and statutory power to request a court to subpoena the press or anyone else."

Mitchell told the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association Monday that the controversy over free press-fair trial was "one of the most difficult problems I have faced as attorney general." He asked the ABA to consider an immediate study of the issue.

He said the new federal guidelines stress negotiations between prosecutors and newsmen. If that fails, subpoenas will be issued only with express authorization of the attorney general.

"A newspaperman," he said, "may have information which may convict a criminal or which may exonerate an innocent man."

Mitchell said the guidelines were to take effect immediately, but he said they were only interim.

In a later news conference, the attorney general said the guidelines probably would have avoided issuance of subpoenas in recent cases, but he did not cite this.

Mitchell also said he would not oppose legislation to grant newsmen the right to keep their sources of information confidential — similar to the privileged relationship between lawyers and clients.

"Serious journalists from all the media have told me privately they would rather go to prison than comply with subpoenas," Mitchell said. "The press views subpoenas as an effort by the government to use them as quasigovernmental investigators."

The guidelines require Justice Department investigators to first try to obtain information needed for prosecutors from nonpress sources. Also, Mitchell said, caution should be observed in requesting unpublished information where a serious claim of confidentiality is alleged.

End Seen To Quickie Divorces

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Time is running out apparently for those who come south of the border seeking "quickie divorces."

A presidential initiative to congress aimed at ending such divorces sought by foreigners will be sent to the permanent commission of the Chamber of Deputues, the Interior Ministry said Monday.

"These divorces are handled with a speed that is incompatible with the gravity of dissolving marital unions and also infringe on the individual liberties guaranteed by our constitution," said a spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Relations.

Uncontested divorces for indigents and legal residents are not difficult to obtain, although there is a three-month waiting period. However, for sometime foreigners have been able to obtain annulments and divorces throughout Mexico in a single day.

"The opinion of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz on this matter is that immediate and radical steps be taken towards this end which contradicts the respect that the people of Mexico have for the family as an institution," the government spokesman added.

In the future, legal residents will be accredited only through certificates extended by the Ministry of Interior which will have the legal status of foreigners who wish to terminate or annul a marriage.

When the initiative becomes law, as it is expected to, no judicial or administrative authority will admit any petition for divorce or annulment unless accompanied by the necessary migratory documents, officials explained.

President Diaz Ordaz' initiative is based on Section XVI of Article 73 of the constitution which authorizes congress to legislate at any time the legal status of foreigners.

Oilmen Request Rate Hike

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Oilmen have asked the Federal Power Commission to ease the natural gas shortage by allowing higher prices and bigger profits to encourage new drilling.

Industry spokesmen who appeared at an FPC rate hearing here Monday said a 1965 wellhead price ceiling imposed on southern Louisiana gas wells was so low it crippled the incentive to find new fields.

"The government has become the chief impediment to incentive," said J.P. Owen of Lafayette, a wildcatter who said he was $2 million in debt due to a squeeze between the price ceiling and rising drilling costs.

Owen said the price ceiling had made it tough for wildcatters to borrow money for drilling ventures and that bankers who used to be happy to come up with cash now "give you that fishy look with a glass eye" and advise retirement.

Alden S. Laborde of Baton Rouge, president of the Arkansas - Louisiana dicision of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, said the best answer would be to "let gas seek its own competitive price levels." But he added that he didn't expect the FPC to go that far.

Gas producers pressing for higher prices contend that the risk involved in drilling for new fields is too high for the profit involved.

Opponents of the proposed price hike contend the slowdown in drilling was part of a squeeze play aimed at forcing higher prices by allowing increasing consumption to put a strain on known gas reserves.

Military Personnel Aid In Search

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP)—More than 150 military personnel from Holloman Air Force Base went into the Ruidoso area Monday to join the search for Leslie Hamrick, 16, Odessa, Tex., missing in the area since Friday.

Young Hamrick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamrick, was last seen about 2 p.m. Friday near the South Fork Camp at Bonito Lake. Bonito Lake is northwest of Ruidoso in a rugged area of the Lincoln National Forest.

Young Hamrick was with a group from Odessa's West Park Baptist Church.

Forest Service spokesmen said two other campers had been hiking with Hamrick but became tired, and stopped to wait as he went on ahead to the top of a ridge.

A Forest Service ranger said it was possible the youth could have walked completely out of the area before a search got fully under way.

Hamrick was wearing a red shirt and blue jeans. He has blond, curly hair.

The Forest Service said searchers had covered every road by jeep and every trail in the area on horseback, without finding a sign of the missing youth, "not even a track."

The military personnel were brought in to carry out an extensive search on foot.
