4-FOOT RATTLER KILLED
. . . This specimen had 10 rattles and button

Snakes Still Scare Webb Village Folk

Three more Webb Village "snake stories" prove that the rattler season is still on, and that caution is still in order. Here, T. Sgt. James C. Davis, technician at the hospital's altitude chamber, removes ten rattles-and-a-button from a four-foot diamondback which he killed—the second found in the new housing area in two days. This particular rattler was distinguished by having three fangs. Barbara Kemp, 15, daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Foster L. Kemp of the Village, was bitten by a rattlesnake Sunday evening while entering the pavilion on Scenic Mountain. Although the snake's fangs caught in Barbara's heavy socks and barely broke the skin, it was necessary to hospitalize her. She is reported doing fine and due for release shortly.

Supreme Court Balks At Speedup Of Appeal

Mother Collapses

Deputies aid Mrs. Elvera Ellis, 21, as she fainted outside a courtroom in Los Angeles, Calif., after testifying she was in a dream state when she beat her small daughter with a shoe. The child, Gloria, 3, died two days after the beating. Mrs. Ellis, mother of four other children, said she stopped striking the girl "as soon as I realized what I was doing." She was acquitted on a charge of murder.

Justices Now To Rate Speed Of Steel Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The speed with which the Supreme Court handles steel strike litigation from here out will be determined largely by the nine justices.

Having thrown out the Justice Department's speed - up plea Wednesday, there is now nothing before the court involving the steel case.

But Arthur J. Goldberg, United Steelworkers general counsel, says he will file Friday morning a petition for certiorari—in layman's language, an appeal. This will ask the high tribunal to overturn the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals decision upholding a Taft-Hartley injunction. That injunction ordered steel workers to go back to their jobs for an 80-day cooling off period.

If Goldberg meets the Friday schedule, the Justice Department says it will file Friday morning a brief opposing Supreme Court review of the case. A vote of at least four justices is usually required to grant a review. If the court votes in closed conference against granting the union a hearing, the effect would be to let the 3rd Circuit Court decision stand unchanged.

In that event the injunction would go into effect. Such a thing could happen Friday.

Union Wins Round In Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refuses to order the United Steelworkers to speed up their appeal of a Taft-Hartley back-to-work injunction that would halt the 107-day steel strike.

The government made a strong plea to the court Wednesday to tell the union to get going on the appeal by noon today. Without comment, the court denied the Justice Department request.

That leaves the union until Monday to appeal the ruling of a Philadelphia appeals court that upheld the injunction.

But union lawyer Arthur J. Goldberg said he expected to file the formal appeal notice with the Supreme Court Friday and present a complete brief for the union case by Monday.

This means the court probably won't be ready to rule until the middle of next week.

The strike will go on at least until then unless something comes of new full-scale negotiations that resume today at Pittsburgh between the union and the big steel companies.

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service said it was glad to hear that negotiations would resume. But it served notice on both sides that if nothing happened by Monday it would call them to Washington for a joint bargaining conference.

Furthermore, the mediation service said, if the talks break down before then, the service will move up its deadline for the Washington conference.

The involved court action began nine days ago when President Eisenhower asked his government lawyers to get a Taft-Hartley injunction in Pittsburgh. He said the strike was endangering the health and safety of the nation. The injunction was granted.

The court order would halt the strike for 80 days, but the union could resume it after that period if no settlement were reached.

The union, believing the big steel firms are beginning to feel the financial pinch, attacked the injunction as unconstitutional.

The Philadelphia court upheld the injunction, but gave the union six days to take the matter to the highest court.

Goldberg told the Supreme Court, "We do not wish to be understood as avoiding any reasonable method of properly expediting the disposition of this case."

But he said a delay of a few more days, or even weeks, "would not irreparably harm the national interest." The union disputes the President's view that the strike has caused a national emergency.

Half a million steelworkers are on strike against 96 companies and 250,000 more in related industries are out of work.

At issue are wage increases and the industry's demand for more control over local working conditions to effect economies. The industry contends any big wage increase would be inflationary and against the national interest because it would force a rise in steel prices. Prestrike wages averaged $3.11 an hour.

Kaiser Steel, ninth largest in the industry, signed a separate peace with the union last Monday and is getting back into production. Another small steel firm, Detroit Steel Corp., later fell in line with the Kaiser agreement. The Detroit firm was not being struck.

The big companies say the Kaiser terms would cost them too much. Kaiser estimated the two-year package would cost it 22½ cents an hour per man.

President Eisenhower was asked at his news conference Wednesday whether he thought the Kaiser settlement offered a basis for settling the whole strike.

"Well, I am not going to say that I consider it a . . . completely satisfactory basis for settlement of the strike," the President said. ". . . But I do say that I think this should be a signal for both labor and management to find a basis in which we can get back into full production."

Medics Sew Back Man's Severed Leg

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — A team of doctors has succeeded for the first time in grafting back the severed leg of a human.

Surgeons said they could find no parallel in medical history for the operation performed in Eden Hospital here, although such things as severed finger tips and ears have been grafted.

The operation, announced Wednesday, was kept secret for three months, until doctors decided it was successful.

The operating surgeons, whose names will remain secret until their work can be reported in medical journals, described the operation anonymously in the Hayward Review.

Surgeons gave the story in a series of interviews with Charles Peterson, a reporter for the daily newspaper. Then they rechecked the story after it was written.

The right leg of Billy L. Smith, 25, was crushed a few inches above the knee by a crane while he was rebricking a furnace in the nearby DeCoto plant of the U.S. Pipe and Foundry Co. Only a two-inch strip of skin connected the leg to the stump.

An orthopedic surgeon, who corrects deformities, telephoned a vascular surgeon, who specializes in mending torn vessels, and asked: "You want to try for a miracle?"

The vascular surgeon agreed.

After blood vessels in the lower leg were flushed with anticlotting fluids, the vascular surgeon said he "hooked up the severed main artery and started the blood flowing. The foot immediately turned pink."

But shortly after he stitched together the main veins, so arterial blood could return to the heart, the foot turned white again and there was no pulse in it.

The artery was reopened, a clot removed, blood vessels were flushed again and have functioned perfectly since.

The orthopedist cut away mangled tissue, leaving a two-inch gap between the flesh parts of the leg sections and then bridged the gap with two inches from the upper leg bone.

All that remains now are skin grafts and an operation within a few months to link the main hip nerve to the lower leg, where at present there is no sensation.

Accident Fatal

PAMPA (AP)—A car-truck collision killed Mrs. J. D. Smithee, 50, of Lefors, Tex., south of here Wednesday. Her husband died later from injuries.

Cadillac Shuts Down

DETROIT (AP) — Cadillac said today its auto production will end with the second shift tonight because of steel shortages. About 7,000 workers will be idled.

Cadillac is the second of the five General Motors car-making divisions to reach a complete shutdown. Pontiac quit Wednesday night.

General Motors layoffs because of the steel strike now approximate 200,000.

Oldsmobile is expected to end production Friday. Buick will be idle Friday but says it expects to build some cars next week. Chevrolet has closed nine of its 13 passenger car assembly plants. It probably will build some Corvairs next week, although its Oakland, Calif., plant—one of three assembling the new compact cars—will go down Wednesday.

Automotive News today estimated this week's industry production at 101,358 cars, down from 112,488 last week. A year ago, with production building up after new labor contracts were signed in the auto industry, 97,804 cars were built in the comparable week.

Fall Proves Fatal To Lamesa Resident

COLORADO CITY — George W. Hamrick died in a local hospital at 5:40 a.m. today of head injuries received in a fall at his home yesterday.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Kiker and Son Chapel, with W. E. Burkham, minister of the Fifth and Elm St. Church of Christ, officiating. Burial will be in Colorado City Cemetery.

Hamrick was born in Lamar County, and married there in 1894. His wife, the former Minnie Jane Thompson, died in April 1944.

Hamrick, a retired farmer who had lived here 35 years, was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include two sons, J. M. Hamrick, Colorado City; and J. O. Hamrick, Loraine; two daughters, Mrs. O. L. Hallmark and Mrs. George Cocreham, both of Houston; 10 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Civil War Vet In Oxygen Tent

HOUSTON (AP)— Walter Williams, last surviving veteran of the Civil War, was placed under an oxygen tent again today.

The Confederate veteran who will be 117 Nov. 14 is recovering from pneumonia.

Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, a daughter, said Williams still is taking nourishment.

Williams was under an oxygen tent from Friday until Monday, when he began to overcome his second siege of pneumonia in four months.

Juvenile Board For County And City Being Considered

A juvenile board run, jointly by the city, county and possibly the school board was considered last night as an answer to the city-county problem.

A nine-man committee coordinated by the Chamber of Commerce studied legislation passed by Nolan County which enables them to establish such a board.

The Nolan bill, shown to the committee by Bill Quimby, Chamber manager, permits organization of a board run by the three agencies, each sharing a third of the costs.

It provides that the board can then hire a professional staff of juvenile workers to handle juvenile matters.

The local committee, which agreed to meet again the week of Nov. 9, were undecided on whether Big Spring Independent School District should be included in such a set up for Big Spring-Howard County.

Members pointed out that the school district has set aside in its budget money for a visiting teacher program, and questioned whether that did not fulfill the school district's obligations toward juvenile problems.

The juvenile staff, which would not function as a court, would approach juvenile problems from a sociological and psychological viewpoint.

Members of the committee, all of whom were present, include R. R. McEwen Jr. and Hack Wright, Chamber of Commerce; Bobo Hardy, YMCA; Mrs. W. A. Hunt, and Ralph White, county; Paul Kasch and John Taylor, city; Mrs. Roscoe B. G. Cower and Wendal Parks, school board. The group is coordinated by Chamber president Clyde McMahon.

Also present at the session was Tom Porter, vocational rehabilitation director of Big Spring State Hospital, who formerly was on the juvenile probation staff at Lubbock.

Van Doren, Bloomgarden Reportedly Admit Charges

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Van Doren and Hank Bloomgarden reportedly have admitted to the district attorney that they received both questions and answers prior to their appearances on the NBC TV quiz show Twenty-One.

The New York Times today attributed its information to "an authoritative source in the Criminal Courts Building."

The New York Herald Tribune, in its edition today, quoted "a reliable source."

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan refused to confirm or deny the reports.

The Times quoted Van Doren as saying: "I think that Monday is only five days away. I'm not in a position to start talking about it now. It would put me in such a terrible light, not only with the Congress, but with the other newspapers to whom I have refuse to speak that I feel I must say, 'No comment.' "

Van Doren, who won $129,000 on Twenty-One, now dropped by NBC, is scheduled to testify next week in Washington before a House special subcommittee.

Bloomgarden, who won $98,500 on the quiz show, was quoted by the Times as saying: "You go ahead and print what you want. I don't intend to get into an argument about it. I have no comment as to whether I received any help."

Bloomgarden has not been invited to testify before the House committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Striptease artist Lili St. Cyr and her sixth husband, Joe Albert (Strong Boy) Zomar, 39, of Los Angeles will be married again here Friday. They were married in Tijuana, Mexico, Sept. 21, but, says Miss St. Cyr, "We thought it would be good to get married in California. I like California."

Sen. Phillips Quits Legislature

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton is resigning from the Legislature and joining the Dow Chemical Co.'s legal department in Freeport, Dow Vice President A. P. Beutel said today.

The resignation has been sent Gov. Price Daniel. It is effective Nov. 2.

Phillips, 46, was elected to the House in 1941.

He left the Legislature during his second term to enlist in the Army. In 1946, he was elected to the Senate, in which he has served since.

Canadians Build Saucer

TORONTO (AP) — Canadians had a look today at a picture of what appears to be the new wingless, vertical lift aircraft being developed by the A. V. Roe Co., aviation manufacturers, for the U. S. Army.

Pictures were taken by a photographer flying over the Roe plant here. The device appears to be 30 or 40 feet in diameter and resembles some conceptions of a flying saucer.

Roe officials declined to comment on the authenticity of the pictures.

Development of the aircraft was taken over by the U. S. Army in 1954, the Canadian Press says, after the Canadian government withdrew support.

In Washington, neither the Defense Department nor the Army would comment on the picture.

The Pentagon said last May the Army and Air Force were sponsoring AVRO's development on a vertical takeoff research vehicle designed to operate on the air cushion principle.

Several types of vertical takeoff and hovering air vehicles have been developed in recent years.

Rocky Mountain Region Gets Snow

DENVER (AP)—Snow fell over large areas of the Rocky Mountain region today after a steady rain Thursday night.

Date For Opening Of New FM 700 Is Still Indefinite

Actual date of the opening of FM 700 around the southeast quarter of Big Spring was still undecided today.

Joe Smoot, State Highway Department resident engineer at Colorado City, said Cage Bros. Construction Co. workers still had some painting and erection of guard posts to finish before the job is turned over to the state for inspection.

He said the 3.5 mile project probably will be opened to traffic either the latter part of this week, or the first part of the next.

The new project starts at U. S. Highway 87 at the Veterans Administration Hospital and continues to U. S. Highway 80 to the east of the city.

Levelland Farm Pact Is Reached

LEVELLAND, Tex. (AP) — An agreement to settle complaints of 200 Mexican contract laborers was worked out late Thursday, a U.S. Labor Department spokesman reported.

He said 150 braceros would stay to work out their contract and the rest would be paid off and sent home, as all the group originally demanded.

Texas Rangers and Highway Patrolmen stood by but there was no disturbance.

O. C. Heard, who contracts to provide the Mexican laborers for a number of farmers, said he had been unable to find out why the workers abruptly demanded transportation home.

Dec. 15 Pegged As Summit Date

PARIS (AP)—The Western summit meeting will be held in Paris about Dec. 15, Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, announced today.

The meeting of President Eisenhower, President Charles de Gaulle, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is designed as a preliminary to an East-West summit meeting.

Couve de Murville, in a report to a committee of the National Assembly, reiterated de Gaulle's stand that the East-West summit should take place next spring.

SODIUM CYANIDE FOUND

Death Of Young City Woman Investigated By Officials

Mrs. Edward Dean Howland, 17-year-old Big Spring woman, was pronounced dead on arrival at Cowper Hospital late Wednesday.

Police picked up a can of sodium cyanide at the apartment Mrs. Howland had shared with Billie Earline Denton, 20, at 608 Runnels. Walter Grice, justice of peace, delayed a coroner's verdict pending results of laboratory tests following an autopsy.

NOTE IS FOUND

Officers said that Mrs. Howland had written a note addressed to Miss Denton. It said, in part: "I'm tired of it all."

Statements were taken from Morris Wayne Howland, 22, of 311 NW 11th, her estranged husband, and from Thomas C. Mathews and Miss Denton, who were said to be witnesses.

Howland said he had met his estranged wife at the Hardesty Drug Store, where she worked, and drove her home. He said that he attempted to discuss a reconciliation. The couple had been married on June 4, 1957 and separated Sept. 28, 1959, and she had filed for divorce Oct. 22, 1959.

Previously, having returned to the drug store after work, records show that Mrs. Howland had checked out a quantity of sodium cyanide. Frank Hardesty, owner, said neither he nor his wife was aware of the purchase at the time.

Mathews and Miss Denton, whom he was visiting, said Mrs. Howland returned home, changed into her pajamas, inquired about writing paper and pencil, then retired. Soon she called to Miss Denton, and the couple found her on the floor in convulsions. Mathews summoned a River ambulance. Miss Denton gave officers the can of chemicals found in the bathroom.

BORN IN BIG SPRING

Mrs. Howland was born Nov. 19, 1941, in Big Spring, and had lived here all of her life. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include her husband, Morris Wayne Howland; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Atkinson; one brother, Horace Lee Atkinson; and two sisters, Della Frank and Doris Jewell Atkinson, all of Big Spring; maternal grandfather, Frank Fallis, of Carrizozo, N. M.; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Willie Atkinson, Big Spring.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at River Funeral Home chapel with Leonard Ware, Church of Christ minister, officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery.

Girl Runs Away To Help Her Father

BROOMHALL, Pa. (AP) — "Dear Mom:

"I am doing this because I love you and Daddy. I know how much all these things are going to cost and I know we don't have that much money that would pay for Daddy.

"So I'm going to get a job and give you every penny until Daddy is completely well.

"Please don't be mad. I prayed to God and thought it over real good and it seems the right thing to do. I'm not with any boys. I only used them as an excuse to get out and get a job somewhere.

"Please don't worry about me. I'll be all right. Judy is coming with me. I went to confession this afternoon and I'm going to communion tomorrow for Daddy. He'll be all right and well. I'll see to that.

"Love, Ann."

Ann Shields, 15, a pretty brown-haired high school freshman scratched out the note and left it on a living room couch the night of Oct. 10. She hasn't been heard from since.

Her mother, Mary, between visits to the Bryn Mawr Hospital to visit the ailing father, James, keeps a vigil at the telephone, hoping and praying Ann will call.

Mrs. Shields said that the Judy referred to in the note was Judy Treacy, also 15, a neighbor who vanished with Ann.

"Judy called her mother yesterday," Mrs. Shields added, "and said that she and Ann were living with friends and that Ann was working in New York."

Mrs. Shields explained that her husband, a school custodian, was operated on Oct. 7. She said that part of a lung was removed.

"He had been asking for Ann," Mrs. Shields related. "He'd wished that there was some way we could get a message to Ann to tell her to come home. That we'd forgiven her."

Union Lawyers At Court

Arthur Goldberg, left, general counsel for the United Steelworkers Union, and David Feller, associate counsel, pose on the Supreme Court steps in Washington, D. C. The Union lawyers asked the court to leave undisturbed a six-day stay of enforcement of a Taft-Hartley injunction ordering striking workers back on the job. The Third Circuit Court of Appeals granted the stay. The government sought to cut the time of the stay.

Rocky Wants More Support For Venture

WASHINGTON (AP)—New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller apparently wants more evidence of popular support before venturing into the 1960 Republican presidential nomination race.

Rockefeller said some political topics were discussed when he got President Eisenhower's approval at a 70-minute White House meeting Wednesday for a proposal by the nation's governors for a conference of executive, congressional and military leaders on civil defense.

But Rockefeller turned off with "no comment" efforts by reporters to pin him down as to whether he will contest Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the nomination. Nor would he say whether he and the President had discussed this matter.

The best he could offer, the governor said, was what he had told supporters trying to get him to enter the New Hampshire presidential primary next March—that he couldn't decide on that question until he had completed work on the New York state budget and legislative program.

The legislature meets in January and Rockefeller said it will remain in session for three months. But since he must decide in January whether he is going to file in New Hampshire, it was evident he was talking about the completion of only his own budget and legislative recommendations.

Although he deftly avoided questions on his availability, Rockefeller left the impression he would be happy to become a candidate for the nomination if he felt the signs were right.

In the few public appearances he has made outside of New York state the governor has run into evidences that Nixon was widespread backing for the nomination.

He will test out that situation further on a trip early next month to the West Coast where he has speeches scheduled at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Salem, Ore. He describes the speeches as nonpolitical.

227,000 Farm Workers In W. Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Employment Commission estimates 227,000 farm workers are busy with the cotton harvest in West Texas.

The total includes 185,090 seasonal workers of which 81,918 are braceros or Mexican contract workers.

The TEC expects 25,000 more migrant workers in early November to raise the total to 210,680.

Atlas With New-Type Nose Cone Crosses Ocean

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An Atlas missile crowned with a new tactical-type nose cone thundered over the Atlantic early today on an intercontinental range flight.

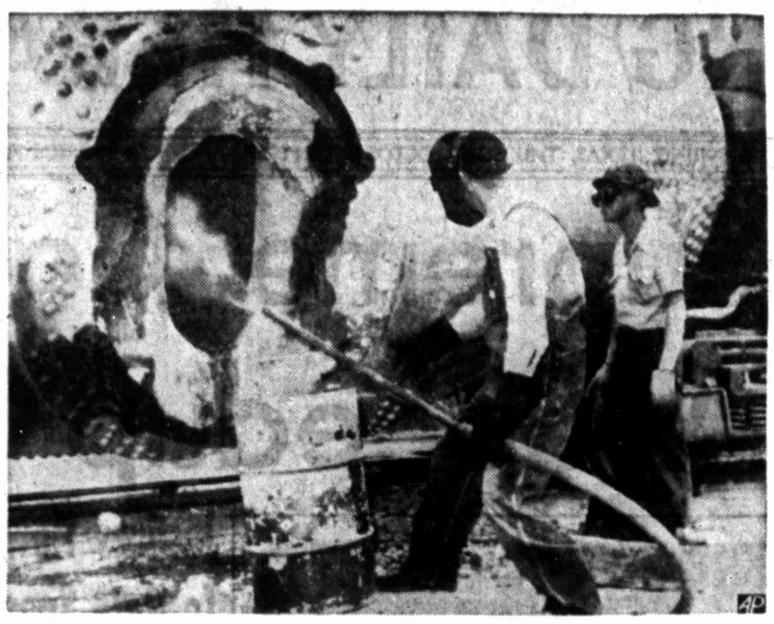

This was the second test for the new cone, which stood nearly 12 feet tall atop the 80-foot missile. The first test earlier this month was successful.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Air Force called today's test a success. He said all its objectives had been reached.

The Air Force calls this its second generation nose cone and plans eventually to use it in place of smaller cones which now top the Atlas, Thor and Titan missiles.

The cone is designed for faster re-entry, heavier payloads and greater accuracy.

Another of the nation's big war rockets, the intermediate range Thor, was fired successfully a few hours earlier on a 1,500-mile flight.

Work Resumes In Kaiser Plant

James R. Lamb, left, and M. G. Bratlein pre-heat a "torpedo" car to facilitate removal of slag in one of the first operations at the reopened Kaiser Steel Corp. plant at Fontana, Calif. The 150-ton cars are used to transport molten pig iron from the blast furnaces to the open hearths. Signing of a new contract with the United Steelworkers Union in Pittsburgh, Pa.—the first break in the 104-day old steel strike—enabled the Kaiser plant to repoen.

Preacher Charges Fellow Minister With Blackmail

YANCEYVILLE, N.C. (AP)—A 59-year-old Baptist minister has charged a fellow minister with blackmail.

The Rev. G. A. Hamby told authorities that Mrs. J. F. Swinson revealed herself to him in the nude while he was visiting in the Swinson home and that her husband took pictures of them.

The minister said Mrs. Swinson pulled him from the kitchen into a bedroom. Then, the minister said, the Rev. Mr. Swinson, also a Baptist minister, appeared and photographed them and beat him with a stick.

The Rev. Mr. Hamby said 60 stitches were needed to close the wounds.

Hamby said the incident occurred Oct. 15. He said he had been invited by the Swinsons to go deer hunting.

The Swinsons were named in five warrants charging blackmail, conspiracy and assault.

Hamby said that after the incident, he was forced to drive Swinson to Burlington and write a $650 check as a down payment on a new car for the Swinsons.

He said Swinson also kept his wrist watch and $20 of the $60 in his wallet.

Hamby's church is at Tuxedo, a few miles from the South Carolina line. Swinson, about 40, is pastor of Faith Baptist Church near Burlington. His wife is in her 30s. They have two children.

Hamby said he stopped payment on the $650 check.

He said he had known the Swinsons about 10 years.

Report Erroneous

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today a report of a hurricane off the mouth of the Mississippi River is erroneous.

The bureau said there is a weak low near the extreme southeast Louisiana coast that formed on an old front across the northern Gulf of Mexico.

Murphy Resignation Nearly Completes Unplanned Shakeup

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Robert D. Murphy as undersecretary of state has almost completed an unplanned shakeup in the State Department high command. It has been under way since Christian A. Herter took control last spring.

Two further developments are in prospect: a successor must be found to fill Murphy's key job. And Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, veteran expert on the Soviet Union next week will assume a new post as Herter's special adviser on Soviet affairs.

The changes involving five policy-making positions could have important impact on the development of U.S. foreign policy toward various parts of the world, but Herter's associates say they were not made with any policy purpose in view.

Murphy's resignation was announced by the White House Wednesday night. Murphy, 65, wrote President Eisenhower that he was resigning effective Dec. 3 for personal reasons. The President accepted the resignation "with deep regret, but with complete understanding."

He said that Murphy had well earned his unofficial title as this country's No. 1 diplomatic trouble shooter.

Later Murphy told reporters, "It was an awfully tough decision to make." He said he wanted greater financial security and more time with his family than his State Department duties had permitted. He will take a job in private industry.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said reports that policy differences had anything to do with Murphy's resignation were completely unfounded.

Murphy had turned down the job of ambassador to West Germany. The post will become vacant soon with the retirement of Ambassador David Bruce.

Herter became secretary last April 22, succeeding the late John Foster Dulles.

Since then he has had to deal not only with Murphy's resignation and the recall of Bohlen, but also with the selection of new assistant secretaries for European affairs, Far Eastern affairs and Middle Eastern affairs.

The European post was opened up by the promotion of Livingston T. Merchant to a new position as deputy undersecretary. There is speculation that Merchant may succeed Murphy as undersecretary for political affairs.

Foy D. Kohler was made acting assistant secretary to take over the duties formerly handled by Merchant but the job still has not been filled on a permanent basis.

Walter Robertson, Dulles' assistant secretary for the Far East, resigned because of ill health and his office was filled by the promotion of a deputy, J. Graham Parsons.

Middle Eastern expert William M. Rountree was named ambassador to Pakistan and was replaced by another career diplomat, G. Lewis Jones.

DEAR ABBY

YOU'LL BE SORRY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem has been getting me down. I have been dating a young man who means nothing to me. He says he loves me. I have told him honestly I like him only as a friend. I feel guilty letting him spend his money on me but he begs me to go out with him anyway. When I turn him down (I date others, too) he cries and it breaks my heart. He calls me every single day! He knows I go with him because I feel sorry for him, but he says he is living in hopes that one day I will love him like he loves me. I am 20 and he is 23. When I kiss him good night, I gag. SORRY FOR HIM

DEAR SORRY: No self-respecting, healthy-minded person behaves like this young man. Beware! He's the kind who waits patiently for the opportunity to move in with the heavy artillery should you weaken or find yourself on the rebound. Girls who go with men because they feel sorry for them usually wind up feeling sorrier for themselves. Send him on his way. He'll live.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a man who has done a hitch in the Navy and has been around quite a bit. I am 33 and have been going with a woman who is 29. I like a woman to be honest with me as we talked over our past lives out-in-the-open like. I told her about my past and then she commenced to tell me about hers. At first she said there were only three men in her life. This didn't bother me much because I figured it was average. Every time we get on the subject she brings up another one. The total is now up to 11. I am very upset about this and wonder if maybe she is not the girl for me. What do you advise? BENN AROUND

DEAR BEEN: If she gets to 12 —sell!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a Senior at college so you know I'm no moron. I've been dating this girl who is engaged to a man who goes to another college. I know for a fact that this girl thinks more of me than she does of her fiance. I can tell by the way she kisses me. My problem is she won't admit it. She won't do anything about it (like send her ring back). But I know she'd like to. How can I get her to break off with the other guy and be all mine? FLIPPED

DEAR FLIPPED: (and I think you have!): Do you realize that you are fighting for the love of a girl who is engaged to one man and romancing with another? If you think a wedding ring would stop her circulation, you'd better think again. Take a good look at her in daylight.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SECRET SIX": The girl says "Hi" first.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of The Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Chill Drizzle Cools Coast

By The Associated Press

Chill drizzle, touched off by a wave of cool air which surged into Texas late Wednesday, fell along the coast Thursday.

Skies were cloudy over much of the rest of the state. Forecasts called for scattered showers everywhere Thursday and Friday.

Warmer temperatures Thursday, followed by cooler readings Friday, also were forecast.

Wednesday's maximum temperatures varied from 65 at Sherman and Victoria to 83 at Presidio.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau kept an eye on a low pressure area in the Gulf of Mexico. Forecasters said the squally weather probably will dissipate in the Gulf.

Planes and ships reported heavy rain and gust wind 125 miles south-southwest of the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Army Names Missile Chief

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Maj. Gen. August Schomburg has been named to succeed Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris as head of the Army's Missile Command.

Medaris is retiring Jan. 31 as chief of the Army rocket team at Huntsville, Ala. With Dr. Wernher von Braun heading its scientific group, this team was responsible for launching the United States' first earth satellite, its first solar satellite, and developing the 1,500-mile range Jupiter ballistic missile.

Schomburg, 51, was named to the post Tuesday. He is now deputy chief of ordnance for the Army. Previously he was assistant chief for research and development.

Medaris has denied his resignation was prompted by dissatisfaction over the way the Army has handled rocket development at Huntsville, particularly the huge Saturn program.

But Medaris' action forced an administration review of the problem. As a result Saturn, a space rocket that will develop 1½ million pounds of thrust, has been taken from the Army and placed under the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Count Of Dead Nears 100 As Mexico Reels From Floods

MEXICAN CITY (AP) — The count of known dead neared 100 today in Mexico's flood-stricken states of Colima and Jalisco. Many more persons still were missing in one of the country's worst modern disasters.

Large sections of the two small western states bordering the Pacific still were isolated by floods in the wake of weekend torrential rains and a hurricane Monday.

Air rescue operations continued around the clock in an effort to reach hundreds of families driven from their homes by rain-swollen rivers that jumped their banks and poured through dozens of small villages.

The rivers knocked out communications and flooded roads in the stricken area, hindering the movement of military convoys carrying food, medicine and clothing.

President Adolfo Lopez Mateos took personal charge of relief operations.

The Pacific port of Manzanillo, which took the full force of the hurricane, reported 80 known fatalities. At least 100 residents were reported missing and 500 injured.

Full reports of casualties and damage could not be obtained because of the breakdown in communications. The President's office announced reports received by radio.

At least seven persons were dead and 15 missing in Cihautlan, 30 miles northwest of Manzanillo. Floods destroyed 40 per cent of the homes in the town of 5,000.

Three were dead and several missing in Coahuayana, near Manzanillo.

Four small Mexican freighters were reported sunk at Manzanillo. There also was a report indicating the 800-ton freighter Sinaloa, which left Manzanillo Monday for Acapulco, had gone down at sea. The report said 12 crewmen were rescued but 17 still were missing.

The government used all available planes and helicopters to drop food, blankets and medicines to isolated persons in outlying villages. Many homeless families had taken to rooftops and trees.

Spectacular Space Balloon Launched

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has a spectacular new entry in the space derby — a balloon as big as a 10-story building that inflates 250 miles above the earth.

The first space balloon launching Wednesday at Wallops Island, Va., was a smashing success. Not only did the balloon perform as planned, it startled the dickens out of hundreds of citizens all over the Eastern Seaboard.

The balloon, 100 feet in diameter, was the biggest object anyone has ever sent up into the fringes of space. But it weighed only 130 pounds.

It was not meant to go into orbit, and soon fell back into the sea. It was visible for 10 minutes. Later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes to put some of these giant space travelers into orbit around the earth.

The balloon, fired at 5:40 p.m., caught the rays of the sun at the top of its flight. As it unfolded up there, its aluminized surface caught the light at different angles and sent forth myriad flashes of reflected sunlight.

Many who saw it thought it was a flare, surrounded by sparks.

The project was not announced in advance and nobody knew what it was.

Prof. Robert Brown, director of the Moonwatch station at New Haven, Conn., said it looked like "the craziest thing in the world."

Civil Defense officials checked in with their headquarters within minutes. Newspaper, police and radio station telephone switchboards were glutted with calls.

David O. Tyson, of Mendham, N.J., an Associated Press reporter, gave this description: "I looked up and it appeared to me at first to be a blimp high in the sky. There was one bright central light in the middle and around this were dimly flickering smaller lights. They looked almost like sparks. The smaller lights seemed vaguely to form the outline of a blimp with its running lights blinking.

"The object began to float downward slowly, drifting off to the southeast. But as it drifted downward it looked more like a flare."

The balloon was sent up in a two-stage rocket with a thrust of 130,000 pounds.

The space agency said the whole huge balloon was folded into a container 26½ inches in diameter. The sphere was made of plastic and coated with silvery aluminum outside.

After the balloon was released 250 miles up, air trapped inside it began to expand it. Then four pounds of water in two plastic bags was released inside the balloon. At that altitude the water expanded into vapor and completed the blowing up of the balloon.

NASA said it couldn't tell how far it drifted before it fell into the sea, but it was believed to have come down more than 500 miles off Virginia.

NASA hopes to send these balloons into orbit 800 to 1,000 miles above the earth. They will be used as reflectors of radio signals.

Because of their great size and light weight, such satellites would only stay up one or two months.

Two City Men Attend Meet

Two Big Springers will attend the three-day water and sewage short course in Lubbock starting Monday. They are Lige Fox, senior sanitarian in the City-County Health Unit, and Roy Hester, superintendent of the Big Spring filter plant. The course is being held on the Texas Tech campus.

Fox will preside at the Tuesday afternoon session on water supply chlorination and equipment maintenance. Hester's subject will be problems of filter plant operation and will be presented Monday afternoon to the basic water supply session.

The short course is one of several held annually around the state as a means of qualifying water and sewage plant operators and managers for their jobs as required by Texas' sanitation law.

The Texas State Department of Health, the engineering extension service of Texas A&M and the Texas Water and Sewage Works Assn. sponsor the course. Operators attending the meetings will have opportunities to take examinations for Grades A, B, and C certificates of competency.

School Burns

BRECKENRIDGE (AP)— Fire destroyed the Walker Caldwell East Ward grade school here Wednesday night.

Firemen, helped by units from Ranger, Cisco, Eastland and Albany, were hampered by low water pressure.

The three-story brick building was built in 1925 and normally has 300 to 400 students.

Plastic Cement For Kicks? It Can Louse Up The Liver

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — As many as 4,000 of the 16,000 teenagers in this North Texas oil and cattle center are endangering their lives by sniffing plastic cement fumes, police say.

Sgt. John Cawyer, head of the police juvenile department, said Wednesday his agency has been investigating the practice since last June. Cawyer gave the estimate of the number of youths involved.

The cement produces a state similar to drunkenness, Cawyer said after he questioned teenagers who said they sniffed the fumes "for kicks" during school hours.

Dr. D. E. Fletcher, a pathologist, said the cement is a polystyrene plastic substance containing ether and carbon disulfide.

These ingredients damage the liver, may harm the brain and will kill if used repeatedly, Dr. Fletcher said.

Cawyer said no deaths have been reported among those inhaling the fumes.

"Apparently this is replacing drinking among the younger set," the sergeant said. "Some teenagers known as 'glue sniffers' have been handled previously for drinking."

Some youths questioned said they squeeze the cement into rags, place the cloth in their mouths and take 10 deep breaths.

The drunk-like state that follows lasts from 30 minutes to several hours, they said.

Cawyer said a report will be made to the Wichita County Juvenile Board, which will decide what action to take.

As far as investigators can learn, the officer said, the fad was introduced here last spring by a local youth who had served time in a reformaory in another state. Reports also were received of similar fads in New York City, Oklahoma City and Los Angeles.

Alcoa, Steel Union In Pact

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—The Aluminum Co. of America and the United Steelworkers have agreed to extend their contract indefinitely, it was learned by The Associated Press.

It was also learned Wednesday night that the USW is considering plans to extend contracts with the Kaiser Aluminum and Reynolds Metals companies similar to the agreement with Alcoa.

The USW reportedly has decided to extend the contract with Alcoa indefinitely with a provision that any contract signed will be retroactive to Aug. 1. Neither Alcoa nor USW officials would comment on the disclosure.

Alcoa's contract with the steelworkers expired last July 31. At that time, both sides agreed to extend the contract to Nov. 1 or 30 days after the end of the basic steel strike, whichever came first.

Former Big Spring Woman Home From Visit To Europe

LAMESA—Mrs. S. F. VanKirk, Lamesa, returned home Saturday night after more than a month in Europe, spending most of her time while abroad visiting her daughter and family, Capt. and Mrs. Donald E. Coyle and sons, Mickey, 4, and Stephen, 3.

The Coyles met Mrs. VanKirk at Frankfort, Germany, and from there it was a two hour drive to Wurzburg where Coyle is stationed as an Air Force liason officer at the Army base.

Many German customs were interesting to the Texas woman, who moved to Lamesa with her family nearly six years ago from Big Spring. She noted that the people seem to enjoy what they have to the fullest and are an easy-going race.

WOMEN DO WORK

As in other nations on the continent, women do much of the work, including the work on the farms. It is common to see a woman driving a milk cow hitched to a two-wheel cart in the field where she gathers sugar beets or some other farm crop. Their manufacturing and farming methods seem to be at least 30 years behind the United States, she said.

German homes have some modern conveniences. In most instances, homes in the rural areas are attached to the barns where the livestock are bedded each night. In the better homes, coal is used in furances for heating, but in other homes wood furnishes heat, and it is the woman of the house who gets out and chops the wood and carries it to the house.

Although she has little connection with the German people, Mrs. VanKirk said her daughter's maid is German and can speak English well. When a German youth finishes high school, he has the equivalent of two years' college work in America, and has studied three languages.

Mrs. VanKirk and the Coyles made an enjoyable trip into Holland. Since VanKirk is of Dutch ancestry, this portion of the journey was most interesting to the group. Mrs. VanKirk had seen the Netherlands from the air in mid-afternoon as she winged her way to Germany and described it as a "fairy-land" with shining houses immaculately clean with colorful flower gardens separating them.

One of the highlights of Mrs. VanKirk's visit was attending a wine fest in Germany. Wine fests are held in communities as the harvest ends, she said. In a tent large enough to house a circus, tables and benches are arranged, and the populace spends many hours during the gala week drinking the fruits of the harvest.

NO COFFEE BREAKS

A coffee-break is unheard of on the German scene today. With coffee selling at an equivalent of $3 per pound, American currency, the citizenry takes to wine and beer for refreshment. It is a simple thing to get a dinner wine with one's meals, but obtaining a glass of water is most difficult.

There seems to be an excellent relationship between the American armed forces and the German people in the West sector, Mrs. VanKirk said. Their desire to please is evident. She cited this instance:

When dining out, the Americans are first brought the food they ordered on a tray. At this time they look at their meal, may either approve or disapprove, and if they chose, may taste the foods to see if they are satisfactory. When they are accepted, the waiter then places their meal on the table before them.

Military Academy Man Convicted On Cruelty Charges

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) —The 60-year-old operator of a small military academy here, accused of mistreating cadets, has been convicted of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Thomas H. Hopkins was found guilty Tuesday night by a six-man justice Court jury, which fined him $500 and costs. Mrs. Hopkins, 52, was acquitted of the same charge.

A Devotional For Today

Herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward men. (Acts 24:16.)

PRAYER: O God, grant, we beseech Thee, that the blood of Jesus Christ may purge us of our sins. Through the quickening power of the eternal Spirit, help us to become new creatures in Christ and serve Thee, our living God. In the name of Jesus Christ, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who are in heaven . . . . Amen."

(From The 'Upper Room')

Creature Of Heejus Mien

How deep, how strong, how durable, how resistant to temptation is the moral fiber of the American people?

High shenanigans have always gone on in our body politic, and always will. Sharp practices and double-dealing in all walks of life are not unfamiliar. Every barrel contains at least one rotten apple in the very nature of things— meaning human nature.

A lot of people were scandalized when the "fix" in TV quiz shows burst upon the public—after the subject had been rumbling around for at least two years without attracting any general attention.

What appalls us is not the fact that there were fixes, but the rather widespread acceptance of the practice as just a part of something called "'show business."

One magazine interviewed a number of people from various walks of life to get their reaction to the unsavory affair—which after all is said and done, all excuses made, was a fraud on the public and a downright cheating of contestants who were given "the long count," because they weren't attractive contestants, or failed to put on a "good show" though coached beforehand.

Well, sir, an astonishingly large percentage of those interviewed took the attitude that it was "nice work if you can get it" —referring to the complaisant contestants who won a pile by submitting to coaching and performing their thespian duties by putting on a good show. About as many of the small group interviewed at random took that attitude as condemned the practice as dishonest and reprehensible.

This to us was more discouraging and shocking than the "fix" itself, for it showed a decay in the moral fiber of far too many Americans.

Anything is all right if you can get away with it, this laisses-faire attitude says as plain as day. This tolerance of crookedness, unfair dealing, and in all too many cases downright criminality is really something to worry about. It was Peter Finley Dunne (Mr. Dooley) who put it thus: "Vice . . . is a creature of such heejus mien . . . that the more ye see it the better ye like it."

How far has the moral fiber of the American people degenerated? Is it becoming atrophied? Are we asking for the fate that befell Rome and many a civilization before and after it?

Looking For A Way To Get Off

Preliminary steps were taken here this week toward arranging the third annual Business - Agriculture Day — or Agribusiness Day, as some are wont to call it.

There appears to be a consciousness on the part of all that some changes in agriculture are coming, and they aren't technical or mechanical. There is a growing feeling that somehow the stilts are going to have to be lowered if not discarded in order for the basic industry to regain a healthy, vigorous position.

Agriculture is in the unfortunate position of having its subsidies show. Many of our businesses and industries have done thriving business on the strength of making products which were paid for in toto out of our foreign aid beneficience. Yet they would protest in righteous indignation that they never received a subsidy. Air carriers exist largely because of direct and indirect subsidies. Many waterways would find their competitive position considerably dulled if the government did not subsidize with ports, dredging, etc. The list is almost endless.

So agriculture is not alone in this business of being supported artificially; it's just more apparent. But it is encouraging that leaders in and out of agriculture are thinking seriously, and we trust creatively and constructively, to discovering some way to disembark in an orderly manner from the merry-go-round.

If Past The 'Lock-In,' Then Hold On

MIAMI BEACH—During and after the Great Depression of the '30s, the Federal Reserve Board discovered the elixir of cheap money.

Bankers had more reserves than they knew what to do with. They searched for borrowers and all but pushed depositors away. In Philadelphia, the First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. stopped paying interest on time deposits.

Today, as old-timers here at the 85th annual convention of the American Bankers Assn. point out, the pressure's the other way 'round. Bankers want deposits. They're offering customers the highest interest rates in 30 years.

So great is the accent on new deposits that inadvertantly a banker could lead astray a customer who asks: "Should I redeem my E-bonds to raise cash to buy an auto or make a down-payment on a house?"

COSTLY ERROR

If the customer has to choose between drawing money out of the bank or cashing his bonds, the banker in complete honesty might say, "Cash the E-bonds." This could be a costly error.

Bankers not steeped in their intricacies may not always realize that advertised rates on E-bonds—originally 2.9 per cent, then 3 per cent, then 3¼ per cent, and now 3¾ per cent—often understate the actual current return on bonds which have been held for several years.

This is because of the "lock-in." The Treasury first issued E-bonds to raise long-term money. It didn't want hot money—money which would be withdrawn as soon as interest rates advanced elsewhere.

Therefore, an interest-rate scale was developed which penalized persons who cashed bonds in one, two, or three years, but rewarded those who held their bonds to maturity.

Money left in E-bonds becomes higher-powered, interest-wise, as the bond nears maturity.

RATE GROWS

A banker who pays 3¼ per cent on deposits could properly argue that a customer is better off having money in the bank—on demand—than in E-bonds that pay 3.5 per cent. But if the banker realized that funds tucked away in long-standing E-bonds often earn more than 4 per cent to maturity, his response would be different.

Let's take an example. We'll assume a bond was purchased in December, 1954. The original rate to maturity was 3 per cent. Then, effective as of June of this year, the rate was revised upward by one-half per cent. During the first two years, from December, 1954 to December, 1956, the bond earned only 1.9 per cent. By the end of the fifth year, that is by December, 1959, it will have earned 2.43 per cent.

Yet, during the remaining four years and eight months to maturity, the return would be 4 per cent. It would be foolish to cash in such a bond in order to keep money in a savings bank at a lesser rate.

The following table shows the range of interest rates obtainable from now to maturity on E-bonds now outstanding (based on the date of original purchase):

Date Bought	Interest from now To Maturity Per cent
May '41—April '42	4.77 to 4.86
May '42—May '49	3.50 to 3.5
June '49—Nov. '49	4.08
Dec. '49-April '52	4.73 to 4.86
May '52-Nov. '52	4.24 to 4.39
Dec. '52-May '56	3.91 to 4.14
June '56-May '59	3.78 So 3.89
June 1959	3.75

BANKS CAN TELL

To use the table, check in the left-hand column the dates on which you purchased E-bonds. Then the right-hand column will give the range of interest to maturity on each bond.

But if you want the exact amount of interest, go to a bank. The Treasury has sent circulars to banks describing in detail what E- and H-bonds earn from now to maturity.

It is important to remember that a matured bond that's left uncashed—and now goes into the extension period—earns 3.75 per cent.

Another point to remember is that when you cash a bond, you're supposed to pay income taxes on the accumulated interest (unless you reported each year's accrued interest on previous tax returns). This cuts down the money you'd have to reinvest.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

On this day in 1939 more than 10,000 persons laboriously climbed the 4,576-crest of Sierra de Cristo Rey, beyond El Paso, to participate in the dedication of a large cross and a figure of Christ the King.

The statue was the inspiration of Father Lourdes F. Costa, priest of a small smelter parish on the outskirts of El Paso. Members of his parish launched the project with volunteer labor. Donations poured in. The statue was carved by Senior Urbici Soler, and represents the Christ Triumphant standing before the Cross, arms outstretched in eternal benediction.

The road and parkway now making the ascent easier were completed by Father Costa's volunteer workers.

The shrine is now one of the city's showplaces. It may be seen from downtown hotel windows, along with the American Smelting and Refining Co., the only lead plant in the Southwest.

The shrine is a 20th century complement to the early missions erected at El Paso del Norte. These included the missions of Apostol Santiago, La Navidad en las Cruces, San Clemente and San Francisco de los Julimes.

Modern El Paso grew out of four early settlements. The oldest was made by Juan Maria Ponce de Leon in 1827. Franklin Coons was the first important Anglo settler, buying the De Leon ranch area and establishing the settlement of "Franklin." He left the area without paying for the land and the De Leon heirs sold the property to William T. Smith in 1854.

Castro Would Make Hitler Happy

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Fidel Castro is earnest about wanting a democratic Cuba, then why all the blood?

Prime Minister Castro has been in effect dictator since his rebel army last New Year's Day threw out Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship and took over.

He has called for land reforms, probably badly needed, and other social changes. But Cuba is in growing turmoil. Criticism of his regime is rising.

He was an inspired rebel military leader but now gives the impression of a man too emotional, chaotic and disorganized to run a government.

As the heat increases, he thinks of vengeance. He calls for death for his enemies by firing squads and depends not on ballots but on mobs for support.

His government suspended Congress Jan. 6, put off new elections for 18 to 24 months, suspended criminal courts, and, through military courts, rolled up 555 executions by firing squads.

Yet he said Cuba will remain a democracy. "We are men of the law."

The firing squads worked for months, were finally stopped. But his troubles continued. This week he summoned 250,000 Cubans to a rally in Havana.

He outdid Hollywood by arriving in a helicopter, gun in hand, denounced the United States and asked the mob for approval for new firing squads. He got it.

This was reminiscent of last January when the firing squad execution of so-called war criminals was being severely criticized abroad and he called together a rally of a million Cubans to approve what he was doing to his enemies.

His idea of justice was to try a foe in a sports stadium, with not a single witness appearing in his defense, before 18,000 people. The crowd included American newspapermen his government invited down to see the spectacle.

This was what happened in the case of Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, who had directed Batista's army operations against Castro. There was never any doubt of the outcome: the major was sentenced to death before a firing squad.

When Castro addresses a mob he harangues, he screams, he appeals to hate in a way Hitler or Mussolini might have found refreshing.

He denies he is a Communist but turns with fury on any who say he is or complain that Communists are infiltrating his government.

He has done this three times to men once close to him.

On Oct. 19 Maj. Hubert Matos, one of Castro's most respected revolutionary leaders, resigned as commander of Camaguey province, charging the Castro regime was being penetrated by Communists.

Castro had him arrested and before Monday night's mob virtually signed the major's death warrant by asking approval for Matos' execution by a firing squad. The mob responded: "Firing squads! Firing squads!"

On July 13 Manuel Urrutia, Castro's handpicked president, blasted Cuban Communists although declaring Castro's government "has absolutely nothing to do with Communists." Why this threw Castro into an emotional spin is not clear. But it did. He accused Urrutia of "near treason."

On July 17 Castro denounced Urrutia on television and, in a play for mob support against the President, resigned as prime minister. A few hours later Urrutia resigned. Then Castro went back as prime minister.

The most sensational case was that of Maj. Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, who resigned June 30 as Cuban air force chief, fled to the United States, and told a Senate committee Castro was a Communist. Cuban officials called him a liar.

On Oct. 19 — the same day Matos resigned — Havana was plastered with leaflets from a plane flying over Havana. This was the latest of several similar leaflet air drops.

The former air force chief several days ago told U.S. authorities he had piloted an unarmed aircraft over Havana last Wednesday. Later he publicly denied this statement. He is in the United States.

These various episodes so inflamed Castro that at Monday's rally he denounced the United States. The U. S. State Department protested in a stiff reply. The episode of the plane put this country in an embarrassing fix.

But Castro didn't gain anything, except mob approval, for his performance. The net result: tattered relations between Cuba and the United States.

Show Biz Is For Nite Owls

NEW YORK (AP)—"Some people don't like to get up in the morning," said Eddie Jackson. "So they go into show business."

"That's how it was with me. I couldn't get up early enough to look for any other kind of work," he said.

Dixieland music is back, bigger than ever, and "Struttin' Eddie," who has been singing it for 45 years, is cashing in on the boom.

"I don't know any other kind of music. I like the beat of rock 'n' roll, but I can't catch the lyrics," he said.

"If you put a gun to my head and asked me to name three words in any rock 'n' roll tune, I couldn't do it—not even to save my life."

The banjo-eyed veteran, slowed up a bit by a double hernia operation a few years ago, is still one of the most active survivors of the heyday of vaudeville. Eddie, now 63, started as a singing waiter in Brooklyn. He teamed in his salad past with Jimmy Durante and the late Lou Clayton, and played at the old Palace here, the mecca of vaudeville, no less than 29 times.

Jackson loves to recall the Prohibition Era of the flaming 1920s.

"There was a lot of money around then, and it was being spent," he said. "Anything they couldn't get is what poeple wanted —so they all seemed to want to drink.

"But I don't miss the night clubs. Those were closed-door days. They had some rough college boys around then who aren't around now—if you get what I mean.

"People don't go for the night clubs so much now. They all stay home and keep their television sets warm. I do myself."

As he talked of the old days, Eddie cocked his head sideways as if he were listening to the faint echo of a distant song.

"The greatest entertainer that ever lived was Al Jolson," he said. "No man ever thrilled me like that man."

Eddie came from a poor family —his father was a pushcart peddler—and knew lean years of struggle himself.

"I believe in doing the other fellow good; I never hurt anybody in my life," he said. "I don't mind how big the other fellow's yacht is, or how green his yard is—just so there's a little green in my own yard."

MR. BREGER

"The farmers around here sure are SLOPPY—they haven't even cleaned up our mess from LAST week!"

WHAT OTHERS SAY

It has come to our attention that one Robert McCormick of Ballston, N. Y., incensed at the size of his school taxes, has given the shirt off his back to pay the bill. McCormick made out a perfectly negotiable check for $163.39 in the back of a white shirt and presented it to the tax collector. This method presents even more fascinating possibilities than paying bills all in pennies. We had heard of one check made of a thick slab of metal and canceled with a machine gun. Pardon us while some folks reach for a chisel. Those garage mechanics, who must be made to regret imprudently large repair bills, will have to use tow trucks to take their checks to the bank.

Long Wait

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—Warrants issued by a court clerk 24 years ago have finally been returned to the court house here for payment.

Treasurer Bernard McKnight says about $80 worth of warrants drawn up in 1935 to pay jurors and witnesses were cashed at a local grocery. But the grocer never turned them in to be reimbursed and they were rediscovered only recently.

Annexation Is A Two-Way Street

Growth is expensive.

Tuesday, the Big Spring City Commission was told that the annexation of seven areas, relatively small, would cost a capital outlay of $316,500 and an increase in the annual operating costs of about $169,000.

These costs are approximate, but they point out that annexation is a two-way street. Sure enough, the city gains more folks to help pay the tax bill, but it is all of us who pay the additional cost. Among the extra expenses are 10 additional policemen and three police cars. This will allow three extra men to each shift and enough cars to keep a patrol unit in service.

The department currently has six cars and four districts to patrol. With the additional area, Chief C. L. Rogers plans six patrol districts. These cost figures do not include a re-evaluation of the pay scale within the department.

Two extra fire stations will also be necessary. Each station will need at least one fire truck and 13 additional men. Additional pay for firemen is not included in this cost increase.

The city should grow to keep pace with the rest of West Texas. At the same time, it is necessary to realize that growth costs money. And, it is the taxpayer who picks up the tab.

• • •

Last Saturday night, when the police department had all hands working to haul in more than 50 persons charged with drunkenness, two patrolmen were working in a private car. Due to breakdowns and a shortage of vehicles, there were not enough patrol cars in service to meet the needs of the department.

• • •

It's little wonder that so many dogs are poisoned. It probably comes about because so many folks let their dogs run loose.

Owning a dog should carry with it the responsibility of seeing that the dog is properly cared for and does not become a burden to others. During the past few weeks, loose dogs have been reported in practically all parts of the city.

They are usually reported by residents who resent having stray animals pestering their own dogs or tumbling over trash cans. A rigidly enforced ordinance, with heavy fines, might be the answer.

• • •

We visited a friend recently who purchased a new home with all new furnishings. They have a youngster who was driving nails in the beautiful new dining room table. "It's none of my business," I acknowledged, "but don't you find that a little expensive?"

"No," he replied, "I get the nails wholesale."

Inez Robb

Inez Libels The Humble Eggplant

It was during World War II that I became convinced that any people, meaning the British, who reject central heating and insist upon regarding Brussels sprouts as an edible vegetable are invincible. They, the British, have seen no reason to change their attitude since, nor have I.

Now it occurs to me that there may be the same type of rugged grandeur imbedded in the American people, dedicated as we are to the grim proposition that the eggplant is a comestible. No, scratch that "we." In no way can I be associated with this lamentable gustatory error.

It is my earnest conviction that Providence devised solanum melongena for man's visual delight, not for his taste buds. It crept onto the menu, I warrant, when some venturesome and determined woman tossed it into the pot, found it inedible per se, and started adding things to it to make it palatable.

IT'S STILL EGGPLANT

Womankind has been adding other ingredients to the eggplant ever since to make it edible, conceal the fact that what little taste it has is repellent and, frankly, to prove that, no matter how forbidding the material is, a competent cook can manage by hook, crook, herbs and mushrooms to make it dietetic.

If the first woman who ever cooked an eggplant had had the iron strength of character to admit her mistake and toss out the mess, the world would have been spared its annual autumnal attempt to deal with this growth. Word of mouth would have done it in.

At this season of the year, it is impossible to pick up a newspaper or periodical, with the exception of the Yale Review, without running into yet another involved recipe to cope with the eggplant menace.

"Take an eggplant," they all begin, and then, instead of having the honesty to add "and heave it as far as you can," they one and all quickly advise the addition of tomatoes and-or onions, green peppers, mushrooms, eggs, bread crumbs, okra (golly if there is a more incredible parlay than eggplant and okra, DON'T write me!), olive oil, parsley, cheese, celery and any left-overs in the icebox.

Inevitably, at this time of year, there is reprinted ad nauseam a recipe for an infernal concoction called "Eggplant Caviar." (If the Russians ever catch wind of this, we had best be prepared to fight.)

ATTEMPT TO CONCEAL

Nor do the above recipes touch upon the diabolic suggestions for "Stuffed Eggplant." In these, it is ordered that the eggplant is disembowled (the only sensible idea so far) and then stuffed with — to their eternal ruination — such delicacies as ham, ground top round steak, diced chicken, shrimp, veal, crab meat, oysters, et al. There ought to be a law.

This whole attempt to conceal the taste of eggplant and its inedible status reminds me of Papa and his comments on Mama's carrot pudding. Papa always said that Mama grated 10 cents' worth of carrots and then sent him uptown to buy $5 worth of raisins, candied fruits and allied delicacies to hide the taste of the basic ingredient. And those were the days when $5 was money. And Papa was right, too.

I am autumn's child, loving this season of Indian summer passionately, except for eggplant. It is my conviction that when William Cullen Bryant wrote "The melancholy days are come; the saddest of the year," he was not influenced by weather but by his annual autumnal encounter with eggplant.

It is enough to embitter even the poet.

Heck Of A Way To Ease Tensions

WASHINGTON — In the upper strata they talk of summit meetings and "the spirit of Camp Davis" but in the lower strata—where the battles of the cold war continue to be fought every day—there is no let-up in the fierce struggle by the Soviet spy apparatus inside the free countries of the world to subvert governments and secure victories for Communist imperialism.

The latest revelation of the plot by the Soviet government to spy on the American embassy in Moscow and to kidnap and force into espionage a United States officer is no surprise to those in our government here familiar with the Communist spy system.

Does Nikita Khrushchev really think the American people will ever trust a government which perpetrates such a crude plot as that just uncovered against Russell Langelle, the U. S. security officer who was ousted from Moscow last week after refusing to become a Communist spy?

LANGELLE STORY

Mr. Langelle now has told his story to American newsmen here with the permission of the State Department. He said that the Soviets have tried to subvert other embassy personnel and that he was picked on because he had been successful in frustrating and obstructing Soviet attempts to spy on the American embassy. He was constantly at odds with Soviet officials because it was his task to protect embassy documents and communications and to keep the personnel from being compromised.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Langelle says he managed to thwart espionage attempts directed at Vice President Nixon's party. There are hints that the Soviets tried to put listening devices in the rooms occupied by the vice president.

But apart from what the Soviets do in Moscow to elicit information from Americans, or to line up persons who will become their informants on returning to the United States, there is a well-organized and well-financed campaign throughout the world to carry on subversive activities.

There is, for instance, in this week's issue of "U. S. News & World Report," a dispatch from Montevideo, Uruguay, which reads in part as follows:

BUSY IN URUGUAY

"Working quietly in the free-and-easy atmosphere of Uruguay, the Russians are speeding the build-up of Communist subversion and sabotage throughout the whole of South America.

"At least 70 Russian officials are busy in seven different buildings in Montevideo. This city is capital of a little country with half as many people as there are in greater Chicago.

"These Russians, officially concerned with Soviet relations with Uruguay, are in fact out for bigger game—the South American continent itself. Subversion in Central America and the Caribbean is primarily the business of the big Soviet embassy in Mexico. The Soviet legation in Montevideo directs Communist activities in the 10 countries of South America.

"The Red build-up in Montevideo has reached such proportions that even Uruguay's tolerant government is getting ready to crack down. A proposal put before the government would require the Russians to cut their mission down to the size of Uruguay's mission to Moscow. That would trim the Soviet staff from 70 to 6.

"What finally has alarmed the Uruguayans is the overwhelming evidence of the size and strength of the web which the Russians are spinning out from Montevideo. This web stretches all over South America. Within this web, the Communists are spending upward of 100 million dollars a year."

HIGH SPOTS

Here are some of the highspots of Communist encroachments in South America as outlined in the Montevideo dispatch:

1. Venezuela—in 18 months Reds have tripled their strength and are infiltrating the Venezuelan press.

2. Ecuador—local Communists are plotting to sabotage the coming inter-American conference.

3. Peru — Reds are gaining ground among students, bank workers and among farmers.

4. Brazil—Communists are trying to make a comeback and are stirring up revolutionary mobs.

5. Chile—Reds almost elected a president recently and, using various left wing parties, have won strength in the parliament.

6. Argentina—Riots and strikes have been led by Communists. The government now has outlawed the Communist party.

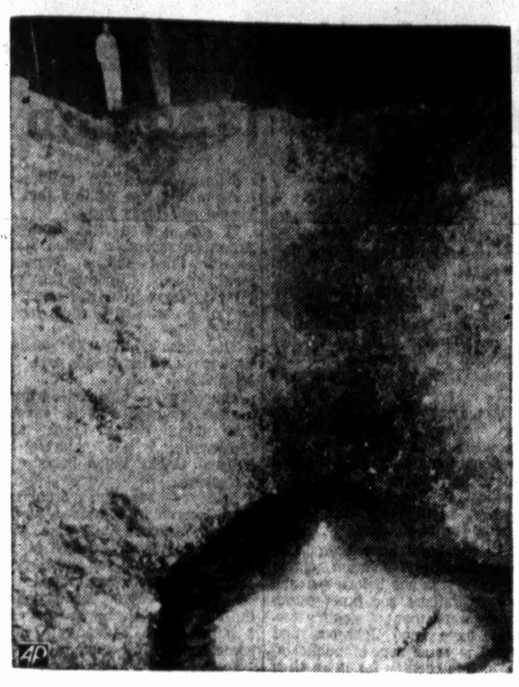

7. Bolivia—Communists are trying by strikes and other subversive activities to frustrate the government's recovery plan.

COLD WAR GOES ON

As for Cuba and the Caribbean, Communist operations in recent months have been uncovered and there is more turmoil than ever in the region. Cuba's Castro claims he isn't a Communist, but he manages somehow to do some of the things the influential Communists want done, particularly creating friction with the United States.

This is but a small part of the cold war waged in North and South America and on other continents by Communist gold. Yet Mr. Khrushchev says he wants credits and increased trade and an easing of tensions.

Memories Are Long Of Black Tuesday

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK, (AP)—Like the survivors of the blizzard of 1888 the survivors of Black Tuesday on the stock market have long memorise. It was 30 years ago today—Oct. 29, 1929—that the bottom dropped out of the stock market.

Today's stock market has been booming. But most brokers stress all the measures taken since 1929 to keep the debacle from happening again. And they think the majority of Americans are more sensible now.

Stock prices had been riding high in 1929—ridiculously high, whether measured by earnings, assets or prospects. Many of the stocks were new and untried, and some were phony or close to it.

The little fellow was in the market up to his neck — and often over it. He had taken his life savings to gamble. Often he had only a 10 per cent equity in his holdings. The rest was borrowed money.

So, many were wiped out overnight. Banks tottered. The depression — not prosperity — was just around the corner.

A lot of big boys were in there, too, and on shaky ground. Many of them also were wiped out and some committed suicide or died of heart failure.

On Black Tuesday a record 16,410,030 shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange in the frantic effort to unload. In a series of lesser falls prices kept on going down until mid-1932.

But in the wake of Black Tuesday came a long series of measures by the government and by private business and financial institutions to tidy up stock market practices and guard against a repetition of the disaster.

True, stock prices have recovered and pulled well ahead of 1929, hitting a new record high this August. Trading is often fairly heavy but not at the rate of the four and five million share days of the late 1920s.

This year daily trading averaged 3,800,000 in the first three months, 3,200,000 in the second quarter, and 2,800,000 in the third.

This year you must have a 90 per cent cash down payment when you buy a share, not 10 per cent.

The Securities and Exchange Commission (born in the 1930s) takes a close look at any new stock offered for sale. It and the stock exchanges police the activities of corporations whose stocks are listed. And they demand detailed financial information from the companies. This is available to the buyer. They also police the activities of brokers and dealers.

Federal insurance agencies back bank deposits and guarantee home mortgages. To get wiped out overnight you really must have everything in one basket.

You can get badly hurt in the stock market today. That's for sure.

But there can't be another Black Tuesday unless an awful lot of us start acting plumb foolish.

Actor's Ex-Wife Charges Cruise Periled Children

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden's former wife charges that he endangered the lives of his four children for the sake of money when he took them on a South Seas voyage in his yacht.

Mrs. Betty Ann Hayden, 36, is trying to get custody of the children.

Wednesday she charged in Superior Court the 42-year-old actor flouted court orders when he sailed away on his schooner Wanderer nine months ago with their children, Christian, 10, Thor, 9, Gretchen, 8, and Matthew, 6.

She said a court ordered Hayden not to remove the children from California without her consent when it gave him custody in 1955. She charged further that Hayden put the children in peril for monetary gain to be realized from films made on the voyage.

A hearing on her petition was set for next Monday.

Hayden and the children have not returned from Tahiti.

Baptists Approve Segregation Slap

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Missouri Baptist Convention approved a report Wednesday stating that "racial segregation cannot be maintained in a truly Christian society."

The report said public places "designed to serve all the people cannot be regarded as private institutions from which a group may be excluded because of color. That is a denial of basic human rights in a democracy; it is a rejection of Christian ethics.

"White people in America must learn to separate their private lives from their public instutions to reach a solution of the problem."

Bethlehem Report Winds Up Parade

NEW YORK, (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. today will just about wind up the parade of big steel firms reporting on how badly they have been hit by the steel strike.

The nation's second largest steel company will issue its third quarter earnings statement shortly after close of the New York Stock Exchange at 3:30 p.m.

For all but two of the weeks covered by the report, the gates were closed on Bethlehem's plants and pickets stood guard outside those gates.

As with other major companies completely shut down by the strike, Bethlehem is expected to report a loss for the third quarter. Overhead costs continue even when the open hearths are down.

Among such costs are taxes, salaries of employees not on strike, interest on bonds and other debt, deductions for pensions and insurance and depreciation of plant and machinery.

Until the strike, Bethlehem was doing very well. For the first half of this year it earned $73,591,528. That set an all-time record for any six months. Partly this reflected prestrike inventory buildup by customers.

Thus it is quite possible that, despite a poor third quarter, earnings for the first nine months this year will exceed those of the recession-plauged first nine months of 1958.

The following are net third-quarter losses reported by other companies so far, compared with 1958 net income for the corresponding quarter: U.S. Steel, $31,135,136 compared with $74,922,924; Republic Steel, $24,861,406 compared with $15,184,641; Youngstown Sheet, $7,149,660 compared with $3,641,906.

National Steel, whose Weirton Division is not on strike, reported net income in the quarter at $2,821,600 compared with $10,892,433 for 1958.

Oklahomans Win Custody

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Oklahoma City couple has won another round in its fight to keep a 6-year-old Texas boy. Judge A. P. Van Meter upheld Wednesday an earlier court decision giving Mr. and Mrs. Duanne McKinnon custody of Steven Lee Hake.

The judge said the youngster's welfare would be better served if he stayed with the McKinnons, his third set of parents.

Attorneys for Mrs. Laverna L. Gewe of Nashville, Ill., said they will appeal the decision to the Oklahoma Supreme Court.

The youngster was critically injured and his foster parents—Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hake, of Midland—were killed in a traffic accident near Purcell, Okla., last Dec. 30. The lad's real parents were not identified at the hearing.

Mrs. McKinnon was a close friend of the late Mrs. Stanley Hake.

Mrs. Gewe is the sister of Stanley Hake.

George Gay, attorney for the McKinnons, said Mrs. McKinnon nursed the boy back to health, adding, "Mrs. McKinnon did not adopt the boy, he adopted her."

The McKinnons have no other children.

Castro Lashes U. S.

Cuban bearded Premier Fidel Castro angrily attacked again the United States for "impotence" to stop intruder planes from "bombing" Cuba before giant crowd which assembled before Presidential Palace in Havana, Cuba, to support the revoluntonary government.

Castro Cabinet Ratifies Revival Of Firing Squads

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's Cabinet early today ratified the revival of military tribunals which sent 555 of his enemies to execution before firing squads.

Fears of a new blood-bath grew with an estimated 200 persons already in jail awaiting investigation or trial as counterrevolutionaries, and unconfirmed reports circulating of more and more arrests daily.

Prime Minister Castro abolished the controversial military tribunals in July in favor of civilian courts. Though the latter had power to impose death for activities against the revolutionary regime, the heaviest sentences meted out were 30 years.

A power failure plunged most of the capital into darkness and fresh anxiety after the six-hour Cabinet session ended just before 2 a.m. The blackout was traced to an equipment failure, the American-owned Cuban Electric Co. said, adding there was no immediate indication of sabotage. The power went on again over most of the city after about two hours.

Foreign Minister Raul Roa told newsmen that the government would deliver its reply later today to the stiff U.S. protest against the rising anti-American campaign in Cuba and Castro's charges that the U.S. government had connived at flights over Cuba by anti-Castro exiles in the United States.

Negroes Barred At Miami Pools

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Negroes were barred from six city swimming pools and other recreation areas today after quick reversal of City Manager Ira F. Willard by the Miami City Commission.

Willard had issued an order Tuesday opening the previously all-white pools and parks to Negroes and six Negroes used two pools Wednesday before the commission acted.

"I had no legal basis on which I could refuse them entry," Willard told the commissioners.

Mayor Robert King High said he had "grave fears about what might happen if Mr. Willard's order was put into effect."

Willard issued an order returning the pools and parks "to the status they were before."

The NAACP has said if the commission did not open the recreation areas it would go into court again.

Court action already has brought integration to the city's golf course and public transportation.

Soviet Pig Iron Awaits Shipment To U.S. Firm

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A shipment of 370 tons of Soviet-made pig iron has been in the Black River yards of the Canadian National Railway here since Sunday, a railroad spokesman says.

The eight carloads of material was shipped here by rail from Montreal, the spokesman said Wednesday. According to customs records, the consignee is Primary Industries Corp., New York City.

The first of the shipment will be delivered to the Bond plant of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp., the railroad official said.

An officer of American Standard said he was aware that the plant was to receive a shipment of foreign pig iron, "but I certainly didn't know where it was coming from."

He said raw material purchases were handled by the New York City office.

In Washington, Sen Vance Hartke (D-Ind) said he was shocked to learn that 2,400 ton of pig iron made in the Soviet Union had been shipped to the United States during the steel strike. He said the Commerce Department reported some of it was delivered for $49.25 a ton in Buffalo, compared with $66 a ton for domestic pig iron.

City Woman Injured In 2-Car Collision

Mrs. E. J. Smith, of 706 Nolan St., was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital following an accident shortly after noon today at 5th and Nolan Sts. Nalley-Pickle Ambulance was called to the scene.

Mrs. Smith's condition at Malone-Hogan could not be learned by deadline time.

Patrolman J. D. Campbell said Miss Smith was driving south and Mrs. McClary north when the accident occurred.

Mrs. McClary's car knocked down a street sign and stopped in a yard on the corner after the impact occurred. The Smith vehicle stopped alongside it.

Witnesses Claim Eidenoff Seemed Normal To Them

LUBBOCK (AP) — Two witnesses at a sanity hearing for Dr. Harold Eidinoff testified Wednesday the former El Paso doctor appeared normal in their association with him.

One said, however, that Eidinoff, 50, seemed to be obsessed over an old dispute with Ted Andress, an El Paso lawyer, and said they were "going to shoot it out."

If Eidinoff is adjudged sane, he faces a murder charge in the shooting of Andress, also 50, at the El Paso airport last January.

J. O. Hoffman of Grants, N.M., said Eidinoff spoke of gun play with Andress last November while Hoffman and Eidinoff shared an apartment at Grants.

Hoffman testified the physician "always seemed normal . . . when he wasn't talking about" Andress.

A former law partner of Andress, William C. Peticolas of El Paso, said he considered Eidinoff "perfectly sane" during the doctor's self-conducted defense against a 1957 libel suit by Andress.

Andress won a $100,000 libel judgment against Eidinoff over statements by the physician after Andress represented other lawyers suing Eidinoff for their fees as counsels in his divorce suit against his first wife.

Lyndon's Politics A Family Tradition

By The Associated Press

Sen. Lyndon Johnson told a Paris crowd Thursday that 1960 is no time for him to change his aim of being the country's best politician.

Johnson spoke to a combined service club luncheon after an earlier breakfast appearance in Sulphur Springs. He had talks scheduled in Clarksville and Texarkana Thursday afternoon and night.

Throughout a Central Texas tour Wednesday and his swing into deep East Texas Thursday the Senate majority leader heard himself introduced as "the next president of the United States." He kept saying only that he is running for re-election.

"All my life I have been in or close to politics," Johnson said in Paris. "My father before me and my grandfathers and great-grandfathers were men of politics too. There have been Johnsons and Baines in some sort of public office in this country for more than 125 years—and let me say that I sure don't think 1960 is the time to break the line.

"I like politics and public service. I am proud to be a politician. My mother once told me long ago 'Lyndon, if you must be a politician, at least be the best.' I'm doing what mamma told me."

Johnson said "the politics of freedom" is the politics that he knows and loves most.

"I am a free man first, an American second, a United States senator third and a Democrat last," he said. "By this standard, I try to serve you—and serve always the cause of freedom for all mankind."

The Senate majority leader's headquarters in Austin gave this schedule:

Thursday — Sulphur Springs, breakfast; noon, Paris speech; 3:30 p.m., coffee break talk, Clarksville; 7 p.m. address the Federal Credit Union banquet at Texarkana.

Friday — Texarkana breakfast; noon, speech to combined service clubs in Marshall; 3:30 p.m., Cass County community coffee at Atlanta; 7 p.m., federal civil service employes dinner, Texarkana.

Saturday — Noon, dedication of the Jim Hogg shrine at Quitman; 7 p.m., Texas Lutheran College homecoming at Seguin.

Sunday—Leadership seminar in Austin, co-sponsored with Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the 22 defendants on trial in federal court for alleged conspiracy concerning the Apalachin underworld convention has suffered a heart attack, it was reported at the opening of today's session.

DeMarco was the second of the original 23 defendants to suffer a heart ailment. Joseph (Joe Bananas) Bonanno, 54, of Tucson, Ariz., won a severance of trial last Monday because of a heart condition.

A jury of eight men and four women was completed Wednesday to try the defendants on charges of conspiring to withhold information as to the purpose of the Apalachin gathering and what transpired.

DALLAS (AP)—A woman who was refused admittance into a private club, where she was looking for her husband, tried to crash her way in early today in her car.

The woman, 29, was jailed for destruction of private property at the Spindletop Club.

24 Whoopers Reach Refuge

AUSTWELL, Tex. (AP)—Twenty-four of the world's 38 whooping cranes have reached the Aransas Wildlife Refuge near here, H. J. Johnson, refuge manager, said today.

"We completed an aerial census of the refuge last night during which we counted 22 adults and 2 young birds," Johnson said.

Thirty-two whoopers left the refuge last spring for the hazardous, 2,000-mile flight to summer nesting grounds near Great Slave Lake in northern Canada.

Johnson said he does not know how many whoopers were counted in Canada before the migration began.

The 32 birds at Aransas last year, plus 6 in zoos, were the largest whooper population since records were started 20 years ago. At one time the number dwindled to 15 birds.

Lt. Col. Leonard R. Einstein, president, laid out the objective of becoming the outstanding club in the district for the Tumbleweed Toastmasters Club at Webb AFB on Wednesday evening.

Composed as it is primarily of Air Force officers, whose educational background and intelligence rating is at least the equal if not higher than for the average club. Hence the Tumbleweed Club has the potential for being the top club in the district if the membership will work toward that end, the president said.

Three of the speakers for the evening were making their third talk, which emphasizes speech organization. Capt. Glen E. Hartwell spoke on "Trick or Treat"; Lt. Edward E. Harrison on "Evaluation"; Capt. James E. Light, "A Unified Armed Service for the United States." Lt. Sewer Connections Slated For Coahoma Water Patrons

COAHOMA (SC) — All water patrons within the corporate limits of the City of Coahoma will be required to connect with the city sewer system or pay the $2.50 monthly sewer fee.

An ordinance requiring this was passed at the Oct. 24 meeting of the city commission.

The commission pointed out that the ordinance was directed at making the city more sanitary and cleaner place. No more water from cesspools, washers, or stale water from any source will be allowed to drain into city streets or alleys.

Another reason for the sewer connection ordinance is that the city has an obligation to retire sewer system bonds. Having a total compliance is the only way to meet these debt amortization requirements, the council said.

Others in the finals are Sharon Tucker of Rule, Sue Rhodes of Haskell, Phyllis Jeffries of Littlefield, and Barbara Brown of Fort Worth.

SUE GARRETT

Miss Garrett was the "most typical cowgirl" in Hardin-Simmons last year. She also served as secretary-treasurer for the H-SU Rodeo Club and held the same office in the PE Club. She has been one of the riders of the university's six white horses for the past two years, and last year was sweetheart of the Circle K Club. She is a member of Cowgirls, and serves on her dormitory council.

A senior majoring in secondary education and secretarial science, Sue is a member of the Student Education Assn. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Garrett of Coahoma.

Homecoming highlights at H-SU this weekend will include the queen coronation at an All-University Talent Show, presentation of the John J. Keeter Alumni Award to the outstanding alumnus of the year, election of officers and directors for the alumni association, numerous class reunions and other social events, and the Border Conference football game Saturday night between Hardin-Simmons and Texas Western College.

Former Residents On Pastor Program

Two former Big Springers will be on the program for the 39th annual Panhandle Plains Pastor's and Laymen's Conference at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview next Jan. 25-26. The Rev. Chester O'Brien, who was reared in Big Spring and who is now pastor of the Paramount Baptist Church in Amarillo, will speak on the "Doctrine of the Holy Spirit." The Rev. Earnest Stewart, Mineral Wells, former East Fourth Baptist pastor, will speak on "Assurance."

BORGER (AP) — Lee Asberry Baker, 68, of Borger died Thursday night of injuries received Monday in a tank truck-car collision.

He suffered a head injury in the collision in east Borger.

Art Show In C-City Sunday

COLORADO CITY — Mayor Trevor Crawford of Colorado City Tuesday proclaimed the first week in November as Art Week in Colorado City.

The proclamation followed the announcement by Harry Ratliff, president of Colorado City's Brush and Palette Club, of an art show to be held Sunday afternoon in the Baker Hotel.

Twenty local artists will be represented in the showing, with paintings to be judged by Miss Mary Eula Sears, Abilene teacher.

A special group of 12 paintings will present persons and scenes from Mitchell County's Pioneer Days.

There will be no charge for the show, Ratliff said, and the public is invited.

Farmers Apply For Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (AP) — Applications have been filed by 103,000 farmers to retire 9,614,000 acres of cropland next year under rental payments of the Agriculture Department's soil bank program.

This is nearly twice as much as can be retired under funds authorized for the program.

Already under long-term retirement under the program are 22,422,000 acres. Rental payments this year average around $13.50 an acre. The program is designed to help take out of production land not needed for production for available markets.

The department said 1960 contracts will be awarded to those farmers offering to take the lowest rental, taking into account the productivity of their land and other factors. In other words, the department will take what it calls the "best buys" among the applications.

Applicants who were not offered 1959 contracts because of a lack of funds have a special priority for 1960.

New York Opens Big Jet Terminal

NEW YORK (AP) — A 20-million-dollar jet terminal, reputedly the largest ever built for a single airline, was opened today by Eastern Air Lines at Idlewild Airport. The first two planes to take off did so simultaneously, on parallel runways, one bound for Montreal and the other for Washington and St. Louis, Mo. The first arrival was a plane from San Antonio, Tex.

Nickle Tip Pays Off

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) — Waynesburg College president's nickle tip to his newsboy each week was returned with dividends Wednesday.

The newsboy, Rickey Stafford, 13, gave a $5 donation to President Paul R. Stewart for the school's new science building.

Said the newsboy: "Five dollars isn't much toward the $800,000 needed but at least it will buy a few bricks and someday I hope to be studying science there myself."

Bracero House Hit By Thief

Another bracero quarters burglary, almost identical with that earlier in the week on the Ralph White farm, was staged some time Wednesday afternoon at the E. G. Bond place. Bond is also a resident of the Coahoma community as is White.

As in the White burglary, the thief took two new pistols which had been bought by the braceros quartered in the house. The break-in occurred while the occupants were in town. A door was forced open as in the earlier burglary to gain entrance. Two new pistols were also stolen from the White farm on Monday.

Bond said he could not talk Spanish and was a little vague on what had been stolen other than the two new pistols. Deputy Sheriff E. W. York was investigating the burglary on Thursday morning. Bond said the break-in occurred sometime between 2 and 4 p.m.

Square Dance Classes Today

The square dance instruction class will begin at 8 p.m. today at the YMCA. Designed to cover 10 sessions of two hours each, it will be for beginners, but after the first four sessions, other square dancers will be invited in for refresher and more advance folk routines. There will be a 50 cents per couple fee for members of the YMCA, where the classes will be held, and $1 per session for nonmembers. It is open only to married couples.

Gay Hill Plans Halloween Event

GAY HILL — The Halloween carnival sponsored by the Gay Hill P-TA will be held at the school house here starting at 5:30 p.m. Friday. Food will be served in addition to the operation of the various concessions.

Actress Claims Tax Not So High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ann Sothern, television star, says she only owes $7,120.94 in back taxes, not $722,322.44 as the government claims.

She filed an appeal from the big tax bill Wednesday in U.S. Tax Court.

The dispute involves proceeds from Miss Sothern's sale of her part ownership of a TV series.

Pledged

Dennis H. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Jones, has been named as a pledge to the Gamma Nu chapter of Eta Kappa Nu Association at Texas Tech. This is a national electrical engineering honorary society and is open only to those who have an outstanding scholastic record.

Police Dog Nabs Suspect

Champ, St. Paul, Minn., police department dog, clamps a firm hold on the shoulder of Stanley McFarlin, 20, of St. Paul, while his handler stands by, gun drawn, waiting for other officers to arrive. Champ sniffed out McFarlin when squads of police answered burglar alarms in a business building. Police said McFarlin, a college student, told them he needed money for tuition. He was being held on suspicion of burglary.

Sen. Connally Still Familiar In Capitol

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every other morning, almost without fail, a tall and elderly man comes through the big brass revolving doors into the Senate wing of the Capitol. Then he slowly makes his way to the Senate barbershop, that very private institution which only senators, present or past, are privileged to use.

The man is Tom Connally, 82 last Aug. 19, and from Texas.

Retired since Jan. 3, 1953, after serving in the Senate 24 years and for 10 years before that in the House of Representatives, he lives here with his wife in a lovely brick home not far from the fashionable Shoreham Hotel.

THE STEREOTYPE

As he enters the Capitol tourists turn to look at the man often described as "the senator who looks most like a senator should look." Most of today's sightseers probably don't recognize him. But, in his usual black suit and black string tie and a broad brim hat over a silvery mane, he still draws attention.

There, however, ends the similarity between the Connally who once held the Senate galleries spellbound with his oratory and the old gentleman who now plods his way down the corridor toward the Senate barbershop.

"It's a shame, it's a shame," commented one of the Negro barbers who has tended the senator for more than a score of years.

"I reckon old age is going to catch up with us all. But it's a shame to happen to him."

HAS AN ESCORT

Not too long ago the senator fell in the corridor, the barber added, so now the barber holds his arm and escorts him back through the revolving door entrance where Connally's private chauffeur is waiting for him. The big black Cadillac—with a Texas license plate, is parked conveniently just outside.

He could take one of the four elevators conveniently near the entrance way—including that designated for exclusive use of senators, and look in on the august Chamber where he served so long. Or he could drop in to the beautifully impressive suite of fellow Texan, Senator Lyndon Johnson, Senate Democratic leader. Habitually, however, he makes his way directly to the barbershop and back to his car. Sometimes he stops momentarily by the cigar stand in the public side of the Senate restaurant. The barber stands attentively by as the lady counts out 10 cigars and accepts the Senator's dollar. Then he's on his way again, moving along with short, shuffle-like steps.

Few living persons could recall such personal participation in world events over the past half century as the man who was christened Thomas Terry Connally.

He reached the zenith of his influence when he served as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee prior to and during the World War II and then in the postwar period as one of the guiding forces in the creation of the United Nations.

CORNSTALK TALE

An example of the humor he injected into Senate debates was the response made to those who would have prohibited shipments of poison gas, flame throwers and similar equipment to the British before the U. S. got into the war. He told the story of a Southern senator in the pre-Civil War period who boasted "we can whip the Yankees with cornstalks."

After the war, the joke ran, the senator again was a candidate and during a campaign speech he was interrupted by someone in the audience who reminded him "You told us before this war that the South could whip the North with cornstalks. What about it?"

"Well, my friend, I did say that," the candidate replied, "but the trouble was the damyankees wouldn't fight with cornstalks."

The senator's great interest these days, he lets you know, is watching the career of his federal jurist son and hearing about his grandchildren. The son is U. S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally of Houston.

"I expect I'll go down and visit them this fall," he said.

With that he got into the blue upholstered sedan and headed across town toward home. Later in the day he took his usual daily drive through Rock Creek Park with Mrs. Connally, the widow of Texas Sen. Morris Sheppard, whom he married in 1942. Connally's first wife died in 1935.

Lyndon Touches On Many Subjects During Speeches

By The Associated Press

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, officially running for re-election but making noises like a presidential candidate, touched on youth, education, national defense and space in speeches Wednesday.

The Senate Majority Leader appeared in four East Texas cities, dedicating a National Guard armory at Cameron, speaking to a civic club in Bryan, dedicating a youth center in Gladewater and addressing a Sulphur Springs Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Johnson told the Sulphur Springs businessmen the scientists say they learn from the mistakes every time a missile explodes on the launching pad.

"I agree that we hould learn from our failures, but I believe we should learn how to walk on the road to success," Johnson said. "Failure that merely teaches us to fail further is not the kind that inspires confidence in the future."

The Senator said at Gladewater "We have neglected our young people not by being indifferent to their comfort but by failing to set standards sufficiently high to prepare them for the difficult days that lie ahead."

Johnson said at Cameron there are many situations in war in which new and intricate weapons could not be used. "This is the reason why we should not permit our reserve program to lag," he said.

"We will not defeat Communism merely by going on the defensive," Johnson said in his speech at Bryan.

3-Year Term In Bomb Case

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A Pulaski Circuit Court jury gave a three-year prison term to Jesse Raymond Perry, 24, for his part in Little Rock's Labor Day bombings.

Perry, convicted Wednesday, was the second of five accused bombers to receive a prison term. Trials of the other three are scheduled later.

J. D. Sims, 35, who drew a five-year sentence on a guilty plea to bombing Little Rock School Board offices, was the state's key witness in Perry's trial for the same offense.

Sims, dressed in prison khakis and speaking in a low, tense voice, testified that he and Perry volunteered for a "confidential squad" organized to harass Little Rock for accepting public high school integration.

Sims said he and Perry were assigned separate bombing targets, but that Perry backed out on the night the blasts were scheduled and Sims set off crude dynamite bombs at both targets.

The state made no effort to prove Perry actually set off a bomb. But Sims testified Perry knew he was going to bomb the School Board building and that Perry held the dynamite to be used there while Sims carried out Perry's assignment — blowing up Fire Chief Gann Nalley's station wagon.

Perry was convicted under a state law dealing with bombings. The jury set the sentence.

Judge William J. Kirby delayed formal sentencing to give Perry's attorneys time to file a motion for a new trial. Perry remains free on $15,000 bond.

Steel Strike At A Glance

By The Associated Press

COURT ACTION—U.S. Supreme Court allows United Steelworkers until Monday to appeal injunction ordering them back to work. The court's decision rejects government plea for faster action on appeal, but union indicates it will file appeal Friday.

NEGOTIATIONS — Committee representing 11 big producers to resume top-level talks with the union in Pittsburgh today. Separate meetings between union and companies continue. Union accuses Wheeling Steel of failing to bargain.

MEDIATION—Chief federal mediator Joseph Finnegan says negotiations will move to Washington Monday if Pittsburgh talks prove nonproductive.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS — President Eisenhower says settlement of Kaiser Steel Corp., first struck firm to sign, should be signal for general agreement. Board Chairman Edgar F. Kaiser says firm plans no price increase.

IDLE—About 500,000 workers in the basic steel industry and some 280,000 employes in industries dependent on steel. Strike 107 days old.

LOSSES — Steelworkers losing about 70 million dollars a week in wages; industry losing about 300 million a week in production.

ISSUES—Union wants wage hike and improved fringe benefits. Industry says the cost would be inflationary unless it can change work rules to effect economies in the mills. Union balks at work rule changes.

DeGaulle Defied Ike In Germany, Memoirs Reveal

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle ordered his Free French forces in World War II to go against the wishes of the supreme Allied commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and quickly occupy a substantial section of Germany.

De Gaulle said in the third and final volume of his memoirs that otherwise France would be left with "only a few shreds" of German territory.

The volume, titled "Le Salut" —The Salvation — was published today in France. covers the years 1944-46, from the liberation of Paris to De Gaulle's resignation as premier of the provisional government.

De Gaulle said he wrote to Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny on March 29, 1945: "You must cross the Rhine, even if the Americans won't help you and you must use barges. Karlsruhe and Stuttgart are awaiting you, even if they don't want you."

American forces had crossed the Rhine on March 7.

Beginning April 4, some 130,000 French soldiers with 20,000 vehicles started across the Rhine. On the same day Karlsruhe was taken and on April 20 Stuttgart.

Marshall Plan Pays Off Big In Restoration Of Austrians

By HOUSTON HARTE

VIENNA — Austria has not received any Marshall Plan or any other U.S.A. aid since the calendar year of 1955. This will be a surprise to a number of Americans, for Austria was given up as a total loss after its dismemberment following the first world war.

Five countries were cut out of the old Austro-Hungarian Empire at the Paris Peace Conference where "self determination" was the key to the territorial disposition of the countries of the defeated powers. Austria was cut down to seven million people and stripped of all its markets. It was given up as a certain economic failure by all students of international affairs. No one believed it could survive as a self-sustaining nation.

Through the years between the two great wars, Austria went from bad to worse. Finally a sort of oligarchy dictatorship was established. There were riots in Vienna and finally Hitler moved in during 1937 and took over. After the Germans were defeated the Russians held most of Austria and Vienna was a divided city as Berlin is today.

MARSHALL PLAN

Then the Marshall Plan came into being. In the years from its inception until 1955 the U.S.A. gave Austria a billion dollars in aid. We provided the money to rebuild its demolished industrial plants. We replaced the machinery of production the Russians hauled off to Russia as "reparations." We provided the money to rebuild the Imperial Hotel and many others like it, which have played such an important part in attracting to Austria worldwide conventions which are the basis of its tourist trade.

Our first contribution under the Marshall Plan was plant rehabilitation. We set out to help cure Austria's habitual unemployment. We provided the money for building the power plants which have produced the hydroelectric power to electrify Austria's railroads, to give Austria a surplus of waterpower in the "European grid" which the Marshall Plan nations perfected for exchanging power between themselves as needed.

HELP REBUILD

We helped rebuild the bombed-out apartment houses in Vienna and other Austrian cities. We provided money for rebuilding bridges and devastated highways and helped rebuild schools and colleges. Austria's seven million people got a free gift from the U.S.A. of all the money it needed and could spend for rehabilitation until the end of 1955. Texas has 9½ million people and its yearly budget is about a billion dollars. We gave Austria about the same amount per year up until four years ago.

What did we get out of it? When you look at the difference between Vienna today and 1955 you feel better about Marshall Plan aid than you did in 1955. In 1955 you had the feeling "we can't afford to keep on doing this forever." Today you see a prosperous country that is a buffer against communism, that has a balanced budget and does not have a single member of the Communist party in Parliament. Where once the Communists were the balance of power in any coalition government, today they are scarcely considered.

NOT IN NATO

Austria is not a NATO country. It is just 35 miles from Vienna to the Czechoslovakian border. Russia has panzer divisions along the Austrian border, and Austria knows she has no chance against Russia. She could be invaded in a few hours notice. But her people know that without Marshall Plan aid she did not have a chance to survive as a free nation.

Last week when the Russians put their Lunik around the moon, a local newspaper had a smart piece needling the U.S.A. about being so far behind the Russians in space rockets. Another newspaper (there are 17 in Vienna) said the reason the U.S.A. is behind was because it had been giving money around the world as it had to Austria, while Russia had been consuming all its wealth in the development of missiles and rockets. This does not help us to catch up with the Soviets in propellants, but it is some satisfaction that other people realize one of the reasons we are behind.

Austria only has developed a fourth of her potential hydroelectric power, but despite this it is four times what it was in 1937. Austria now exports almost as much power as she produced in the years before the second world war. It is doubtful if Austria would have been able even partially to supply her own power needs except for the Marshall Plan.

Petroleum is another source of wealth for Austria. Her production, like oil production everywhere, is down from 1957. Still Austria is producing 10 times her output in 1955. New fields have been found and Marshall Plan dollars have given the country modern refineries particularly adapted to getting the diversified oil products needed for the country.

SOVIET SQUEEZE

While the U.S.A. has been giving Austria Marshall Plan dollars to get her refining industry in modern shape, our one-time ally, the Soviet Union, has been exacting a tremendous war debt payment from Austria. Under the Soviet theory, the Austrian oilfields belonged to Germany, because Austria and Germany were united under Hitler. In the 1955 peace treaty between Austria and Russia, Austria agreed to give Russia one million tons of oil free of charge at the Austrian border.

In 1958 Austria succeeded in getting the Soviets to reduce this by one-half and end the reparations payments in oil in 1961. A further revision of the treaty was agreed to last year by which Austria delivers the original million tons to Russia, but Russia returns to Austria 500,000 tons of its oil. Both countries apparently gain by this change as the Austrian and Soviet oil supplement each other. Austria does not distribute oil products. Esso, Shell, Col-Tex and Petrofina have all the distribution.

Natural gas has been discovered in considerable quantities in upper Austria and has been piped to Vienna. It is not used for domestic heating to any great extent on account of the cost of a distributing system, but a number of industries have changed over to gas. This is an added asset to the country as it provides cheap energy to a number of large manufacturing plants.

SELF SUSTAINING

Austria's industrial employment has doubled since 1937. Its industrial products have been going into countries which were once a part of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. This means Austria must maintain its neutrality or it would have no hope of doing business with the satellite countries who provide it with its natural market.

Austria has a considerable coal industry. Its hard coal production is small but it is producing nearly seven million tons of lignite, which besides being used for fuel, provides some of the basic materials for its growing chemical industry. The use of gas has cut down the production of coal during the last half of 1958 and the first half of 1959, but it also contributes to the chemical industry.

In the five years since the Russians left Austria this country with the completion of the rehabilitation of Austria's plants through the Marshall Plan has developed a self-sustaining economy, a balanced budget and a nation that wants no part of Mr. Khrushchev's prosperity. It had the that wants no part of Mr. Khrushchev's propaganda makes no impression here. This is what the Marshall Plan was for. Greece and Austria are real exhibits of its fruit.

Dr. Roger J. Williams, professor of chemistry at the University of Texas, is to be presented Thursday evening in Midland in a special lecture on "Alcoholism: The Nutritional Approach."

His appearance is being sponsored by the Midland Council on Alcoholism, and the program will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets ($1) may be obtained at the door at the Midland High School Auditorium, and proceeds go to further the objective of the information center in education, research and community service.

Court Authorizes Burial Of Child After 30 Years

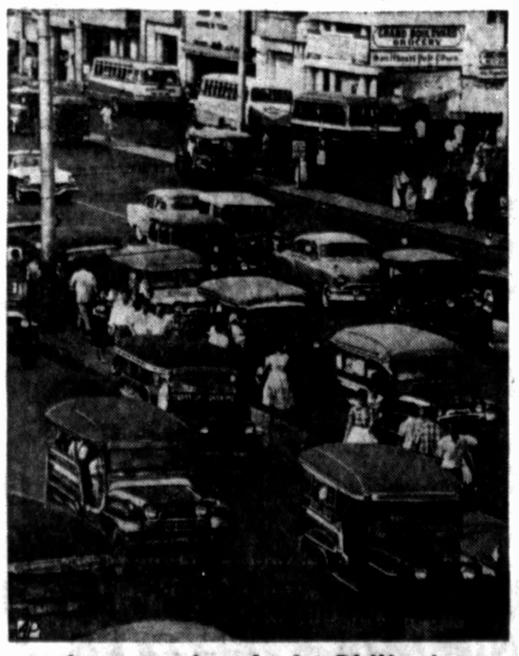

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A court order authorized Wednesday burial of the remains of a child which have lain in various funeral homes here for 30 years.

Name, age, sex, cause of death and most of the other entries were marked "unknown" on the death certificate signed by County Judge Charles Anderson.

Anderson acted on the petition of Homer T. McClaughterty, who discovered a sealed casket containing the remains after he purchased an interest in a funeral home here.

McClaughterty said he was told someone—apparently the infant's mother—walked in a mortuary 30 years ago, handed the body to an attendant and said, "Here, I'll be back in a few minutes." She never returned.

McClaugherty said the body apparently was sealed in the casket, then forgotten until he discovered it.

Cause Of Chronic Bloat In Cattle Is Hereditary

COLLEGE STATION — One of the causes of chronic bloat in cattle is believed to have been found by researchers at Oregon State College, reports Dr. C. M. Patterson, extension veterinarian. According to their research, he adds, bloat runs in the family.

The researchers kept records on 250 beef calves in the course of the study. Chronic bloat showed up in 7 out of 13 offspring of "bloater" bulls mated to "bloater" cows or to cows closely related to the bulls. Of the regular breeding herd, less than four per cent bloated occasionally.

Bloat is caused by a buildup of gas during feed digestion in the large storage reservoir in a network of four stomachs in cattle. Chronic bloating stunts growth and is a major cause of death losses in both beef and dairy cattle.

Patterson also reports that bloat occurs most often when animals are on high-quality feed such as good alfalfa hay supplemented with barley. Test animals received a pelleted ration of two parts half-inch cut alfalfa hay to one part grain mix.

Since the tendency to bloat was increased in the tests through selective breeding, Patterson believes that it may be possible to pinpoint chronic bloating families and thus help cattle breeders select against this abnormality.

Midland Hosts Pioneers Day

MIDLAND (AP)—Men from all over the nation gathered Wednesday to relive one of the liveliest periods in the West Texas oil industry.

Hundreds turned up for the celebration of Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneers Day, scheduled to become an annual evennt.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, recognized as an authority on oil conservation, told the old-timers current over-supply problems of the industry "can be cured only by limiting production to market demand."

The one-day observance commemorated the start on Permian Basin oil development July 5, 1923, when the Big Lake Field blew in.

Odessa Chief Is Police President

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—Odessa Police Chief Jess Cariker is the new president of the Texas South Plains and Eastern New Mexico Peace Officers' Assn.

He was elevated automatically Wednesday from first vice president.

Pat Speir of Midland was named second vice president and Jack Tomlin of Odessa secretary-treasurer.

Rubber Imports

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Industry sources said Mexico imported eight million dollars worth of artificial and natural crude rubber from the United States the first six months this year.

Decorators Do Table Setting

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The cupboards of America are the best dressed in the world. The little niches are stocked with fine china that no one ever sees except the cleaning woman, who dusts them carefully and returns them to gather more dust.

Put these to use, and one has a fine table—a tribute to ancestors or one's own good taste. Imaginative table settings serve as prototypes for gracious entertaining in the home, and with that in mind Interior Design Magazine corraled 12 table settings designed by members of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Decorators and put them on display at the National Design Center to illustrate what could happen if one embarked on a festive table setting.

Olive and Eugene Stephenson showed an informal buffet supper served on a French Previncial wine chest lit by pewter candelabra with a centerpiece of white daisies, poppies and bachelor buttons in a lavabo cachepot arrangement.

Ellen Lehman McCluskey's birthday party in candy stripes—reds and pinks would thrill any little girl, and John Wisner's "April in Paris" table setting illustrated a festive mood for a supper table. The chairs were gilt with mauve upholstered seats. Old French glass plates and coupes in a romantic iridescent blue is flattered by elegant modern gold flatware, crystal and old salts.

Halloween Supplies On Bargain List

By The Associated Press

It's Halloween time again and the goblins and witches will find many apples available at stores and roadside food stands.

All types of apples are in plentiful supply, the quality is excellent and prices are low.

The other trappings of Halloween and the harvest season also are available in adequate numbers. This includes pumpkins, gourds and Indian corn.

Along more substantial lines, best buys appear mainly in veal and pork. Several chains are running weekend specials in leg of veal, pork loin, hams and rib ends of pork. The low pork prices reflect large runs of hogs at livestock markets.

On the other hand, a tendency for prices of sirloin steak to strengthen is apparent in some sections. More uniform are gains of 2 to 6 cents a dozen in egg prices in virtually all areas.

Other items in which stores are running specials include fish sticks, ground beef, ducks, sirloin, chuck roast, steaks and chicken legs.

For the second straight week iceberg lettuce is cheap and is listed as among the best buys in the vetetable section. Potatoes and onions, although slightly higher priced than last week, are still excellent buys.

Most of the popular vegetables —cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, Idaho potatoes, Brussels sprouts— are in the good buy list. On the expensive side are snap beans and egg plants.

The good buy list in fruits is quite colorful — oranges, lemons and limes.

Grapefruit, pears and emperor grapes also come cheap.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Model Learns Styling As She Wears Frocks

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Before Abby Dalton became an actress, she modeled clothes at a large department store in Pasadena, Calif. "This was a great experience," she declared, "because I was allowed to choose my own costume and accessorize it. But the store fashion coordinator approved or disapproved my choices, and I learned so much from my mistakes.

"I had a tea show every day after school and it made me realize how my personality conditioned to what I was wearing. I just naturally feel different when I know that what I have on is in good taste, fits the occasion and is becoming to me.

"I studied costume designing at school," Abby told me, as we chatted on the "Hennesey" set at CBS, "and I learned about colors. Colors affect your personality. Some, such as pastels or muted tones, have a tranquilizing effect, while others, such as vibrant reds, are exciting. All people don't react to the same colors in the same way, but if you know your favorites, you can wear them for pick-me-ups when you're feeling low."

I asked Abby what she did to keep her figure so perfect.

"I love to ride and I have my own horse," she replied. "When I get plenty of exercise, I never have any trouble with my weight. But if I do gain and need to reduce, I drink gelatin in grape-fruit juice three times a day. This adds up to 450 calories and gives me a lot of energy.

"The rest of the day I eat cottage cheese and fruit. On this diet I lose four pounds in two days. I'm very much against those reducing pills that kill your appetite altogether. I've seen too many models ruin their health with them."

Abby was born near Las Vegas where her family had a sheep ranch.

"I met Miss Dietrich there once. I think she's wonderful. She told me that one of her beauty secrets is to pack her face with ice and to put cold compresses over her eyes. She says that she just leaves the ice on long enough to bring the blood to the surface to promote circulation," Abby said as we parted.

It's Done Like This

Such a good use for a discarded hula hoop—and who doesn't have at least one around the house! Mrs. W. H. Bain, 1013 Nolan, ties twine at four places on the hoop to balance it and then brings the strings together. This makes a support for the skirt of the wide petticoat, leaving the flounce to dry with a flare. When she hangs the skirt on the clothesline, drying is accomplished in a jiffy and the material never clings together.

Mrs. Bain's Short Cuts Are Shared With Readers

Short cuts mean a lot to a busy homemaker, and Mrs. W. H. Bain, 1013 Nolan, can qualify for that category, with a lively son and daughter and a husband who works for the T&P Railroad.

Howard is in the seventh grade and is a football player; busy Mary Ella is a senior in high school.

Through the years, Mrs. Bain has used her ingenuity in making tasty dishes and in shortening the time required for household tasks. She has learned that onions cut into the batter for cornbread destined for dressing, will save time and will give a good flavor to the finished product. Such cornbread is also delicious with vegetables.

She uses buttermilk for a richer, lighter batter for waffles, pancakes, cornbread and similar foods, and she serves her family scrambled eggs which she has cooked with broken pieces of sausage — thereby saving separate cooking and pans.

If you've been wondering what to do with that hula hoop which Sister has discarded, take a tip from Mrs. Bain. Tie strings at four places on the hoop so that it is balanced. Bring the ends together and tie them so that the hoop may be hung up with a clothespin.

The next time you launder the full petticoat, which is your daughter's pride and joy, place it over the hoop, with the strings held up to support the waist. It will dry in a jiffy when it's hung on a line and will not stick together in spots.

Not only does Mrs. Bain like short cuts in household tasks, she likes to have recipes that can be prepared ahead of time and served when the family can find time to enjoy them.

Here's a recipe for Cottage Cheese Custard Pie that will fill the bill nicely. Try the easy method:

PASTRY

1 cup sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening
2½ tbsps. ice water

Sift flour and salt into bowl. With pastry blender or two knives, cut in shortening till particles are size of small lima beans. Sprinkle water over mixture and mix lightly with fork. Press into balls. (If time permits, wrap in waxed paper and chill.)

Roll out on lightly floured board, rolling from center to outside. Fold in half, making a semi-circle; then fold again from left to right. Now lightly pat into round shape and roll out to fit 9-inch pie pan. Place loosely in pan and make deep crimp on edge. Chill while making the filling.

FILLING

¾ cup sugar
1 tbsp. flour
¼ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. salt
1 cup table cream
1½ cups large-curd cottage cheese
2 tsps. grated lemon peel
2 tbsps. lemon juice
3 eggs, unbeaten

In bowl mix ¾ cup sugar, flour, cinnamon and salt. Add cream. Press cheese through sieve into egg mixture. Stir in peel and juice.

In another bowl, beat eggs until foamy, add remaining sugar, a tablespoon at a time, continuing to beat. Stir into cheese mixture.

Pour into pastry-lined pan; bake at 400 degrees (hot) 10 minutes; lower heat to 350 degrees (moderate) and bake about 40 minutes, or till a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Garnish with whipped cream, walnuts.

You'll like another of her delicious, nutritious time-savers. Here's the way she makes it:

GROUND BEEF SURPRISE

1 large onion, chopped
2 tbsps. fat
1 qt. canned ground meat
1 cup canned whole-grain corn
1 pint tomato soup
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
3 tsps. chili powder

Brown onion in hot fat, add meat and let simmer 10 minutes; add remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into 8x12x2 pan, bake in slow oven 30 minuets (325 degrees F.). Now spread corn batter over top and bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 25 minutes.

Make corn batter as follows:

½ cup corn meal
½ cup sifted flour
2 tbsps. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
2 tsps. baking powder
1 egg
¼ cup sweet milk
2 tbsps. melted shortening

Sift together dry ingredients, add milk, egg and shortening. Beat until smooth.

Here's a treat Mrs. Bain might serve her family after she has spent the afternoon playing bridge in a foursome. She will shape the rolls ahead of time, place them in the refrigerator, and by the time she has prepared the remainder of the meal, the rolls will be ready to pop into the oven.

This is her method for making rolls:

YEAST ROLLS

2 cups warm water
1 cake yeast
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup sugar
6 cups flour
6 tbsps. nhortening, melted

Sift flour with sugar and salt; add yeast to water and stir in the egg and half the shortening. Mix thoroughly with the dry ingredients.

Place in a greased bown and set aside to rise for about an hour after brushing with the remaining three tablespoons of shortening. Store in refrigerator until needed after you have worked it down for about five minutes.

Make into about 24 rolls and let them rise until they are doubled in size. Cook in 350 degree oven.

Puree Peas

Puree a couple of packages of cooked frozen peas and season with butter, salt and pepper. Spoon the puree down the center of a platter; arrange breaded veal cutlet (cut in serving-size pieces) and broiled tomatoes around the peas. Nice for company.

Hot Mustard

Here's how to make hot mustard to accompany Chinese egg rolls. (The egg rolls come frozen.) Mix a half cup of dry mustard with three tablespoons of water until smooth. Any of the mustard left over may be put in a small tightly covered jar and refrigerated.

Broil Frankfurters

Ever pan-broil frankfurters? To do so melt a tablespoon of butter or margarine in a medium-sized skillet until very hot but not brown; add the frankfurters and cook over low heat. Turn the franks gently so all sides will brown.

Cheese Dips Are Now A Popular Concoction

One of the most popular concoctions of recent times in the field of food has been the cheese dip. These dips are versatile in use, and hostesses use them as an appetizer, hors de' oeuvre, party refreshment, or family snack.

The flavor of the dip should whet the appetite. Its consistency should be perfect for dipping without dripping. It should not be so thick that it must be scooped. A dip is too thick when a chip or cracker will break in the mixture.

Flavor combinations are endless. Serve dips with potato chips, corn chips, crisp cracker varieties, pretzels, and the many cocktail accompaniments available at food stores everywhere.

Crisp, cold, fresh raw vegetables such as carrot sticks, celery, cauliflower, and cucumber sticks are delicious when dipped into a cheese dip.

If a cheese dip thickens on standing, additional sour cream, sweet cream or milk beaten into the mixture will bring it back to its proper consistency.

Don't throw away left-over dip, but save it for use in sandwiches, or as a dressing for a green salad, or a topping for vegetables. Many dips, depending upon the cheese base, will also make sauces for use with cold cuts or left-over cooked meats.

Here are several cheese dip recipes that your dipping family will enjoy:

PARTY DIP

¾ cup cream cheese (6 oz.)
½ cup mashed ripe bananas
½ tsp. pepper
1 tsp. chopped chives

Popular Creations

Appetizers like these always win favor because they are low in calories and add color to your table. With a knife, an assortment of vegetables, cheese and hardly any trouble, you can prepare an attractive dish like this.

Cheese, Appetizers Are Tasty, Colorful

Associated Press Food Editor

Something worthwhile: Prepare an attractive assortment of vegetable appetizers. They're popular these days because most of these tidbits are low in calories and their crisp texture, flavor, and color add zest.

You don't feel like taking the time to carve radish roses? We think radish accordions are just as attractive and so quick to fix. Leave some of the pretty short green tops on the radishes but cut off the root ends; wash in cold water and drain. Then just slice each radish crosswise into strips, but not all the way through. Chill in icy cold water in the refrigerator and the slits will open like an accordion.

Some of the most attractive fresh vegetable appetizers are made with carrots. One we've been fixing for years, yet there are always some guests to whom the trick is new, and old friends continue to be charmed by these bright trifles. Scoop out the center of a large carrot, or use the top part of a medium-sized one. If you use the point of a swivel-blade vegetable parer for the scooping, the carrot center comes out easily. Then slice the hollowed-out carrot into rings and draw a few short sprigs of water cress through each; chill until serving time. The touch of green against the orange is beguiling, and the combination tastes refreshing.

Or after you have scooped out the carrot, stuff the center with plain or seasoned cream cheese. Chill and slice just before serving.

Try inserting some tidbits in pitted ripe olives. Slice the olives and poke a strip of carrot through each olive ring. If you like, you can use thin strips of mild white turnip for black-and-white nibbles.

Green peppers make attractive holders for cheese dunks. Cut cucumbers into long strips so eaters can dip them into the cheese dunk. Or fill the green pepper with a cheese spread and have plenty of small cocktail knives on hand so the cucumber strips may be covered with the cheese mixture. (Inexpensive short knives of this sort with ceramic handles and gay fruit and vegetable modeling are widely available.) You might like to fill one green pepper with a cottage-cheese mixture and another with a sophisticated Camembert and cream-cheese combination. Camembert, you'll find, adds piquancy to the other bland cheese.

Potato Mounds

Potato mounds are always popular. To make them beat an egg into two cups of seasoned mashed potatoes. Drop a couple of heaping tablespoons of the potato mixture onto a buttered baking sheet to form a mound, swirling top; repeat with rest of potatoes. Bake in a hot oven about 10 minutes, remove with a wide spatula and serve at once.

Almond Appetizer

Dump almonds into the basket of your deep-fat fryer, having the fat heated to 365 degrees. Fry for a couple of minutes, then drain and sprinkle lightly with a seasoning salt. Serve as a first course with tomato juice for a buffet party.

DATE CHEESE PIE

2 cups creamed cottage cheese

Add chopped dates and stir just enough to blend. Pour into pastry-lined pie plate and bake in slow oven (300) degrees F. 1 hour. Chill and top with whipped cream and a few chopped dates that have been rinsed in cold water to remove the "whitish" appearance. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PONIES, STEERS FRET OVER FOE'S ATTACKS

By WHITEY SAWYER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas and Southern Methodist, which collide in a showdown Southwest Conference game Saturday, worried about each other's offense Wednesday.

The Texas Longhorns went through another long session preparing for the Mustangs' passing game and variations of the split T and spread formations.

Fullback Don Allen is a doubtful starter, but Bobby Gurwitz and Don Kristynik are reported ready for full duty.

SMU worked against the deceptive Texas offense. The Mustangs' first unit had trouble with the Longhorn pass patterns, but Billy Polk intercepted two straight tosses to highlight the work of the No. 2 unit.

All hands except Frank Jackson, halfback, are expected to play.

Texas Christian zipped through a rugged two and a half hour drill against Baylor's multiple offense.

Halfback Jack Reding probably will not be able to play.

Baylor worked hard on its passing game with Bobby Ply and Ron Stanley doing most of the throwing. The remainder of the workout was spent defending against TCU's offenses.

Gayle Watkins, left guard, is on the doubtful list because of a gashed leg.

Arkansas meets Texas A&M Saturday and the Razorbacks were hampered by high winds, cold weather and injuries. Starters Billy Luplow, a guard, and end Steve Butler are expected to miss the game.

Powell Berry quarterbacked the No. 1 A&M unit in place of Charley Milstead, who has an injured knee.

Rice, trying to dodge more injuries, ran recognition drills in a dummy scrimmage. Quarterback Jon Schnable, halfback Max Webb, guard Rufus King and fullback Frank Smith were slowed by injuries.

Scouts Say Gibson Top Odessa Hand

Stop David Gibson and you've gone a long way toward stopping Odessa, scouts for the Big Spring Steers have advised local coaches.

Odessa High and Big Spring tangle Friday night in the local stadium. Odessa is 1-0 in conference play and 4-2 overall. Big Spring has yet to win in six starts this season.

Belmont Westbrook is the leading scorer for Odessa and James Ingram is the club's leading ground gainer. However, Gibson is obviously the boy who makes the Bronchos go, both on defense and offense.

Westbrook has scored four touchdowns for the Broncs, James Ingram 19 points, Gibson and Sterling Jeter two touchdowns each.

Ingram has gained 209 yards in 60 rushes, Gibson 189 yards in 60 carries and Westbrook 183 yards in 46 attempts.

Gibson has also thrown 15 passes, completing seven of them for 126 yards. He's also caught two passes for gains totaling four yards and has averaged 33.4 yards on 33 punts.

On defense, he plays the corner linebacker and is supposed to be as good a boy at the job as there is in the state.

Odessa has beaten Tom S. Lubbock, 26-6; Port Arthur, 7-6; El Paso Austin, 32-14; and San Angelo, 7-0, this year. They have lost only to the best—to Amarillo High, 16-7; and Wichita Falls, 27-0.

A report from Odessa says all the Bronchos will be whole for the Steer encounter. Larry Jernigan and Jeter of the Red Hosses, who had been ailing, will both be ready to play against Big Spring.

Steer coaches are pleased over the three workouts the locals have had this week. They say the Longhorns have looked better than they have all year and the boys themselves seem confident that they can give Odessa all the fight they want.

Quail Hunters Start Dec. 1

Quail season in Howard and surrounding counties opens Dec. 1 and extends through Jan. 16, William H. Pratt, game warden for Howard, Martin, Dawson and Borden, reminded local hunters today.

The bag limit has not been increased in the four-county area, Pratt stated. It remains at 12 birds a day or 36 in possession.

Pratt added he had received glowing reports on the abundance of quail in the area and all over the state, for that matter. He thinks this will be one of the best hunting seasons in history.

Borden and Scurry counties have been closed to quail hunters through 1963, Pratt stated.

Duck season in the area opens Nov. 13 and extends through Jan. 1. Goose season is now under way, having opened Oct. 26, and will extend through Jan. 1. Possession limit is five a day.

The bag limit on ducks has been reduced to four per day, with eight in possession. Hunting will start at sunrise and continue until sunset. In former years, hunters have been able to start a half hour before sunrise.

Price of duck stamps has been increased from $2 to $3 and all persons over 16 years of age are required to have duck stamps, Pratt stated.

Pan-Am To Field Tall Cage Team

EDINBURG (AP) — Pan American College has height this year to go with speed and fans are hoping the basketball team can be a top contender in the Big State Conference.

Walter Sampson, 6-8, Howard Montgomery, 6-5, and Ellis Apling, 6-4, are the additions.

Gail Coyotes End Regular Season On Thursday Night

GAIL (SC)—The Gail Coyotes keep right on rolling, despite the fact that injuries have struck down key players.

Raymond Walton, a regular back, was lost in last week's game with Sands, due to a re-injured knee. Harold Steadman, an outstanding end, was lost for the season when he suffered a broken collar bone.

The Coyotes, unbeaten now since 1956, wind up their regular season Thursday night, at which time they meet the Flower Grove Dragons in the annual Homecoming Game here.

To date, the Coyotes—coached by Eddie James—have scored 312 points in eight games to 62 for the opposition. That averages out to 39 points a game, compared to only eight for the foe.

Probable starters in tomorrow's night's game include Steve Dennis, 145 pounds, left end; Don Franklin, 140, left guard; Bill Buchanan, 170, center; Sonny Anderson, 175, right guard; Ralph Williams, 150, right end; Steve Stephens, 138, quarterback; Larry Doyle, 165, left halfback; and Carroll Ramsey, 145, right halfback.

Wayne Cooley and Dennis Decker are two boys sure to see a lot of action for Gail.

The Coyotes winning streak now extends through 32 games.

Their 1959 record:

Gail	30	Union 0
Gail	56	Snyder 16
Gail	70	Petlit 0
Gail	22	Forsan 13
Gail	30	Loop 14

NCAA May Study Flow Of Athletes

BOSTON (AP) — The NCAA, govering body for collegiate athletics, will be presented with a recommended amendment aimed at regulating play of alien athletes when the group meets in its annual convention in New York Jan. 6-8.

The amendment was approved Wednesday by the NCAA Council, the group's policy-directing body, in a move that Executive Director Walter Byers said was "designed to regulate the older boys coming over here to compete against younger boys."

The amendment would limit the number of semesters alien athletes could compete, place age limits on such players, and impose residency requirements before such athletes would be eligible to participate in national championship competition.

Alien students would be limited to 10 semesters or 15 quarters eligibility for all competition, and would be limited to three years after reaching the age of 20, two years after 21 and one year after 22.

Flake Will Start For SMU Frosh

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Yearlings and the SMU Colts battle Friday in a freshman game between two undefeated teams.

The Texas frosh have won eight in a row and haven't lost in Memorial Stadium since 1955.

Texas will start a backfield of quarterback, Johnny Genung, Wichita Falls; fullback Pat Culpepper, Cleburne; and halfbacks Jerry Cook, Galena Park, and Ray Paoge, Houston Lamar.

SMU will start Arlen Flake, Lubbock Monterey, quarerback; Ray Schoenke, Weatherford, fullback, and halfbacks Gene Joffre, Grand Prairie, and Tommy Brennan, Rye, N. Y.

Polo Grounds A Housing Site?

NEW YORK (AP) — The Polo Grounds, former home of the New York Giants baseball team, is sought for a low-rent public housing site.

George Weiss Says Mantle Will Stay

NEW YORK (AP)— Memo to Mickey Mantle, the off-season Dallas bowling alley proprietor:

Keep well and you'll be in center field for the New York Yankees next season.

"It has been my experience that just because a player had an off year it doesn't mean he can't come back with a good one," said General Manager George Weiss of the Yanks when informed Mantle thought he might be traded.

Mantle, who skidded to .285 last season, had said in Dallas he wouldn't be surprised if the Yanks traded him after what he called his poorest season.

Baylor Cubs Nip TCU Frosh, 14-12

FORT WORTH (AP) — End Carl Choate kicked two extra points that provided the difference as the Baylor Cubs beat the TCU Wogs 14-12, in a freshman football game Wednesday.

TCU scored the first with fullback Roy Bruce blasting the final yard of a 39-yard move. The try for extra point failed.

Baylor went ahead in the third period with Bob Abney passing yards and the touchdown.

The Wogs took the lead again a minute and a half later, Gray Mills passed into the end zone to Pat Fraley for the score. Mills' pass for extra points was batted away by Sutton.

Don Trull passed to Carl Randolph for the winning touchdown.

Cepeda Yearns To Be Known As A Fielder

SAN JUAN, P.A. (AP)—Orlando Cepeda, National League Rookie of the Year in 1958 and its Sophomore of the Year in 1959, has already set one goal for 1960.

"I want to become a first class outfielder," he said today. "If I am going to play that position, I am going to try to make good. I do not want to become a player carried by a ball club just for his hitting."

The San Francisco Giants' slugger Wednesday was named the leading sophomore in the annual Associated Press poll. He drew 86 of the 172 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America. Vada Pinson of Cincinnati was next with 66 votes.

Cepeda was shifted from first base to the outfield last August when Willie McCovey was brought up from the Pacific Coast Leauge.

"Making the change bothered me at first," he said. "But we needed McCovey's hitting. Anyway I soon got used to the outfield. It was no cinch, but playing at first base is harder because you have to be on top of every play all the time."

Cepeda is playing first base for Santurce of the Puerto Rican Winter League.

He batted .317 with 27 homers and 105 runs batted in with the Giants the past season. This was an improvement over his rookie campaign when he hit .312 and had 25 homers and 96 RBIs.

Runnels Elevens To Host S'water

Runnels Ninth Grade football team of Big Spring visits San Angelo today for a 4 p.m. engagement with Lee Junior High.

The Runnels Eighth Graders play host to the Sweetwater Eighth Graders at 8 p.m. while Runnels Seventh also plays Sweetwater here, with game time scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Goliad's Ninth Graders visit Abilene for a 5 o'clock engagement with Abilene North. The other two Goliad teams are idle.

Shorthorns Idle Until Nov. 7

The Big Spring High School B football team, beaten last week by Abilene, 70-0, will be idle this week.

The Shorthorns return to play Nov. 7, at which time they visit Snyder.

Anderson Is Ready For Falcon Test

By JACK CLARY

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army halfback Bob Anderson, who drew raves during his first two seasons but hardly a whisper this year, may turn out to be the big difference Saturday against the Air Force—and the Air Force may have itself to blame.

The reason? A cartoon earlier this year in an Air Force publication depicted the Army foot soldier as a bedraggled figure in comparison with the sleek space cadet in the Air Force of the future.

Anderson, whose brother is an Air Force jet pilot in Germany, saw the cartoon and fired a salvo at the Air Force football team.

"We're going to clean their clocks," he said. "They made us mad and we want to beat them almost more than we want to beat Navy."

Anderson is the lad that could do it. As a soph in 1957, he was a sensation. Last year, playing alongside All America Pete Dawkins, he helped the Cadets to an 8-0-1 record and the Lambert Trophy. Everyone figured this was his year.

But in the second game, against Illinois, he severely injured a knee cartilage early in the game, which Army lost 20-14. He missed the Penn State game, also lost by Army 17-11, and saw limited service in the Cadets' 21-6 victory over Duke. He saw more action last week in Army's 25-6 win over Colorado State.

Coach Dale Hall sees Anderson in a two-pronged role against the Air Force. Since his running is hampered by his inability to cut and slant sharply, he has proved his worth as a passer on the pass-run option play.

Last week he completed four, and has five of eight for the season for 64 yards. This is a perfect complement to quarterback Joe Caldwell, who has gained 789 yards passing, completing 64 of 102 attempts.

Anderson's running will not be forgotten, either, now that Roger Zailskas, the No. 1 right halfback, is out with a broken nose. Andy, a Cocoa, Fla., native, has run 30 times for 149 yards and a 4.97 average. He has yet to be thrown for a loss.

The argument continues Saturday before 72,000 in New York's Yankee Stadium.

O'Malley Frowns On Second Entry

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An organization including several big Hollywood names wants to bring Continental League baseball to Los Angeles in 1961.

And it says it has five million dollars to do it with.

One of the things it does not yet have—in addition to players and a ballpark in which to put them—is permission from the Los Angeles Dodgers to move into the territory. And Dodger President Walter O'Malley, while not committing himself either way, did not appear to have fallen in love with the idea.

The group seeking the franchise is headed by Stanley Brown, a former distillery president now associated with a mortgage company. The vice presidents are movie and TV producer Jack Webb, singer Dean Martin, TV actor Chuck Connors (a former Dodger player), TV commentator Tom Duggan, radio and TV announcer Mark Scott and Frank Moreland of Hollywood.

At a news conference yesterday, Brown said the group has an option on a franchise in the new league, which is headed by Branch Rickey. He and Scott will continue negotiations with Rickey in New York Saturday.

Brown said the organization has at least five million dollars to work with.

But Scott said help is needed from O'Malley.

"Under baseball law," he said, "the Dodgers own exclusive rights to the Los Angeles territory. We met with Mr. O'Malley Friday and will see him again next week."

Grid Campaign Hits Stretch

By The Associated Press

The football campaign hits the stretch with only one of the 15 junior colleges in Texas with an unbeaten record.

Del Mar of Corpus Christi is the last without defeat and this team has played only half the schedule.

Del Mar rolled on last week with a 21-6 victory over San Angelo. Kilgore, which had been unbeaten and untied and rated tops in the country, took a 21-7 trimming from twice-defeated Texarkana.

Victoria and Kilgore have the best records next to Del Mar. Each is 5-1.

Del Mar tops the Pioneer Conference, with Victoria second; Kilgore leads the Texas Eastern. Henderson County and Ranger are tied for the top in the Texas Junior College Conference with 5-2 marks. This is for season play.

SCHOOLBOY ELEVENS IN DISTRICT TIFFS

By The Associated Press

Intersectional strife will be forgotten this week as the Texas schoolboy football race knuckles down to deciding district champions. The state playoffs are a month away.

Amarillo Tascosa, one of three undefeated, untied teams left in Class AAAA, makes its bid for the championship of District 3 in a battle with Amarillo, an unbeaten, once-tied outfit. It's the state's feature game.

The other two teams with perfect records are Abilene and Corpus Christi Ray. Abilene meets Odessa Permian in a District 2 conference game that matches two of the three teams unbeaten in championship play. The other is Odessa, which meets Big Spring.

Corpus Christi Ray, rated No. 2 in the state, rests this week.

Wichita Falls, defending champion of AAAA and rated No. 1, opens the district race against Irving.

Class AAA has four unbeaten, untied teams but none of them appears in any danger this week, Littlefield, Bay City and San Marcos play conference games but the fourth, Nederland, has an open date.

Class AA's feature game sends Benavides against Freer in the fight for the District 30 leadership. Each is unbeaten and untied in seven games.

Stamford, defending AA champion, continues its District 6 foray against Haskell but the feature of this district is the Hamlin-Seymour clash. The teams are tied with Stamford for the lead.

Mighty Bowie, a team that has rolled up 322 points in seven victories, takes on Burkburnett in a District 9 game. It is tied with Olney for the lead.

Class A has many games of importance, several deciding district championships. Gaston can sew up District 17 if it beats Troup. Gaston is one of 11 undefeated, untied teams left in the division. Stinnett, the championship favorite, plays Sunray in a conference go.

Texas City, about "in" for the District 12-AAAA title, plays Galveston.

In AAA Snyder clashes with Sweetwater in a game likely to decide the District 3 champion. Breckenridge, the division's defending champion, tries to remove one of two teams tied with it for the lead in District 4—Graham.

The only team that has clinched an appearance in the state playoffs is Liberty-Eylau in District 14 of Class A.

Merry Bo, Chick Polly May Go In Texas Derby

EL PASO (SC)—Reviving a famous Southwest tradition of a quarter century ago, Sunland Park presents its inaugural running of the $10,000 Texas Derby Sunday.

A full field of the finest three-year-olds in the Southwest are expected to contest the Derby at a flat mile which is the first of five impressive stake offerings at the new turf center.

The powerful Glenn Bamford trained entry of Roman History, winner of $26,133 this year, and Creole, loom the probable favorites. Harris and Colcord's stable, second only to Bamford in winners at Sunland, will probably start their two big guns, Sonie Blast and Theba Kid, both of whom have displayed a keen liking for the strip.

Winged Away, a winner from California owned by Walter Cluor of Phoenix, Ariz., is retaining his good form and appears to be a certain starter.

Coming off a smashing win in the Springer Purse, Winsham Lad, owned by 14 prominent El Paso sportswomen, gained a starting berth in the Derby and again figures dangerous.

The classy filly, Chick Polly, who set a track record of 57.4 for five furlongs in the New Mexico Handicap, will receive plenty of backing from her supporters. Another filly with intense speed is the J. T. Dillard hope, Merry-Bo who sizzled over the six furlongs in 1:09 4-5 in taking the Albuquerque Handicap Saturday. Dillard hails from Big Spring, Tex.

Others asking weight assignments in the mile classic are Ginos Dream, Vic Mon, Prince Ivan, De-Anza's Baby, Blue Frank, Southern Knight, Soda Card, and Diamond Plow.

The Alamo Handicap on Saturday marks the first major attraction for quarter horses as the young meet rolls into its fourth weekend of racing. The Alamo will be run at 440 yards and will bring out such consistant performers as Lena's Bar, Easter Rose, Kaystrom, Lady Gates, Li Chilla, Jayhawker Bar, and Do It For Me.

Derby week begins Friday as racing resumes for the 10th day featuring the Disk Jockeys Handicap a fixture for $2,000. The race honors popular disk jockeys from the Southwest who will be out with their ladies for their "day at the races."

Willie Shoemaker, the nations leading rider, informed track officials that an appearance in Canada over the weekend will prevent him from riding in the Texas Derby. However, the four-time national riding champion announced that he will ride at the new track probably in late November, stating that several pending stake engagements in the East prevented him from naming the exact date he would arrive. Plans are being made for a Willie Shoemaker Day at the new three million dollar track.

* * *

Clipping off the fastest work ever recorded at Sunland, Jimmy Dugan's fleet two-year-old filly, Queen's Fancy sizzled 5-8 of a mile in 58:3-5 last weekend.

* * *

Col. R. C. Nauman's highly regarded juvenile ace, El Zag, made his first public appearance in the Southwest Sunday by working a half mile in 47 2-5. Trainer Randy McMakin expressed his pleasure by the colts move.

* * *

Public favorites again delighted chalk players and handicappers as a 40 per cent winning average was maintained over the weekend. Approximately 20,000 racing fans were on hand who wagered just over a half million dollars.

Jockey Jack Brown pushed over one more winner than his nearest rival, Felix Chavez, to lead the jockey standings with nine victories. Apprentice rider, Larry Spraker paced the "Bug Boys" with seven wins and moved into third spot in the standings.

Wyoming Is Due To Appeal NCAA's Probation Verdict

By BOB GREEN

BOSTON (AP)—The University of Wyoming is expected to appeal a decision by the NCAA council which placed the school on probation for a year and ruled the cowboy football team ineligible for post-season bowl games.

"We don't think we violated the NCAA code and we've been trying to play it real straight," Wyoming head football coach Bob Devaney said in Laramie, Wyo., Wednesday after the policy-directing body of the powerful NCAA handed down its decision.

Devaney said he plans to appeal the ruling, which would knock his team out of a trip to the Sun Bowl game.

And in Bozeman, Mont., the Council of Deans at Montana State College unanimously agreed to appeal for a review of another NCAA ruling placing that school on a two-year probation. The restriction makes Montana State ineligible for NCAA national championships, participation in invitational events held in cooperation with the NCA and NCAA controlled television programs.

The college is host to the NCAA-sponsored ski meet in March. The action means that it cannot participate. The deans said they would appeal particularly the severity of the penalty.

Both schools were penalized for violations of the NCAA rules on recruiting and financial aid to athletes.

Wyoming currently leads the Skyline Conference football race, and was considered a prime candidate for a spot in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Tex., if it won the title. The NCAA action spoiled that.

The council, which concluded its regular fall meeting Wednesday, earlier had handed out probation sentences to Arizona State University at Temple and the University of Mississippi. They also were punished for recruiting and financial aid violations.

Syracuse Excites Its Football Fans

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) —Syracuse is madly in love with its football team, currently ranked No. 5 among the nation's powers.

Here is a typical observation: "Louisiana State (No. 1) and Mississippi (No. 3) play Saturday. One of them has got to lose. Maybe Texas (No. 4) will get knocked off, too. There might be two places open for us."

A visitor from outer space hardly dares to suggest that Syracuse, too, might lose Saturday's game at Pittsburgh.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder still spins such homilies as "we'll play them one at a time" and "we're just country folks."

Knowing it would do no good to ask about future opponents ("they're all tough"), a fellow asked which was the best club Syracuse had met.

"Navy (32-6), I guess," Ben started. "Maybe Kansas (35-21). They scored the most on us. Holy Cross (42-6) gave us a scare. They scored first. But Navy moved the ball against us on the ground (59 yards). I guess you'd have to say Navy."

Syracuse has been playing intercollegiate football since 1889. In all those years, it never had an unbeaten club. Many able critics think this one will go all the way.

"Our line has been coming along pretty good," commended Ben.

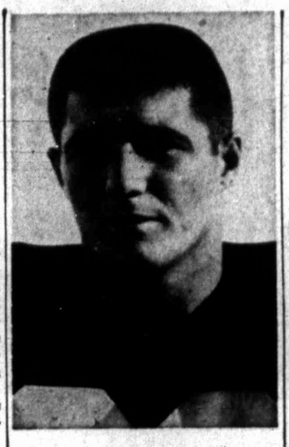

The first line — nicknamed the "sizable Seven" by publicist Val Pinchbeck in a moment of inspiration — has yielded a grand total of 140 yards in five games. The enemy ground game has averaged 28 yards a game.

Asked to name the key linemen, Schwartzwalder listed Roger Davis (6-3, 228 pounds), his short-side guard, and his tackles, Maury Youmans (6-6, 226 pounds) and Bob Yates (6-1, 250).

"Everybody asks me to compare halfback Ernie Davis with Jimmy Brown. Everybody else does but I don't. Davis is coming along fine, improving every game (he averages 7.6 yards a carry)."

Schwartzwalder came to town in 1949 when football was at low ebb at Syracuse. A concerted drive toward "big time" status has paid off. Ben couldn't be more pleased about this turn of events.

"If you're going to play," he said, "you might as well mingle with the folks."

BUDDIE COSBY

Cosby Named Top 'Hound

PORTALES, N. M. (SC)—Buddie Cosby, Eastern New Mexico University's Little All-American guard candidate, is "Greyhound of the Week."

Cosby, a 190-pound junior from Big Spring, Tex., was a stalwart for the Pack in the 19-0 loss to New Mexico Western last Saturday. Time and time again Cosby moved in from his defensive linebacker slot to make crucial tackles, stopping Western drives.

He made nine unassisted tackles and eight assists in the bruising game played in Silver City.

Cosby is married and is the father of two children, the latest addition last week—an eight-pound boy.

Official Frowns On Harris Bout

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—J. Louis Quintanilla, deputy boxing and wrestling commissioner, said Wednesday he has recommended the proposed heavyweight bout between Roy Harris and Alejandro Lavorante not be approved.

Lavorante is former Argentina amateur champion now living in San Antonio. Roy Harris, of Cut and Shoot, is a ranked heavy.

He said Lavorante has had only four professional fights.

Gridder Plays On Wooden Leg

SUMTER, S.C., (AP- — Artis Rucker is a hard-running 205-pound guard on the Lincoln High School football team, but 18 pounds of his heft is wood.

Rucker, 19, a keystone in Coach Robert Jenkins' defensive line, plays football with a wooden leg.

"He's definitely college material as he's a fine player, good student, and behaves himself," Jenking says.

The husky Negro has been clocked running the 100-yard dash in full football regalia in 13 seconds. He says he could do better if he had two good legs and didn't have to haul that 18-pound chunk of wood around.

But Rucker prefers wood to the newer, lighter plastics.

"The Crippled Children's Society gave me a new plastic leg one time that was supposed to be much better than my wooden one," said the cheerful youngster. "Turned out it wouldn't hold up though."

Because of the wear and tear on the wooden leg, Coach Jenkins vows he's getting to be "one of the best wooden leg repairmen around."

On several occasions, play has been halted while Jekins made adjustments or minor repairs on his guard's leg. Once he tried to patch a break with tape, "but it wouldn't hold." Neither would Lincoln's line without Rucker, who left the game, and Lincoln lost.

In the hard contact of football, Rucker says his leg is occasionally an advantage. One bruised opponent demanded that the referee search Rucker to see if he had "a piece of steel or something under his stocking."

Frequently, says the coach, curious players come to the bench after the game to ask "which one has the wooden leg."

Rucker is a four-time class president, associated editor of the school newspaper, co-captain of the team and leader of a five-man vocal troup known as the Five Letters.

Rucker lost his leg at the age of 7. He was out searching for coal and failed to hear a train on the tracks behind him.

LANE A THREAT IN 3 WEIGHTS

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kenny Lane's gory and rumpus-raising decision over former welterweight champion Virgil Akins made him a threat in three divisions today.

With blood streaming over both fighters at the finish, Lane won a split decision in a nationally televised 10-rounder at Capitol Arena Wednesday in his welterweight debut.

The triumph before a yelling, whistling crowd stamped Lane, the Muskegon, Mich., southpaw, as a creditable prospect in the 147-pound division. He is still ranked second behind Carlos Ortiz among contenders for Joe Brown's lightweight crown and is as good a bidder as any for the junior welter title held by Ortiz.

For a moment Lane appeared doomed to a third round technical knockout after Akins jabbed open a cut over Kenny's right eye.

As blood gushed from the wound, referee Ray Bowen called in ring physician David Gordon to check Lane's eye. With Gordon came Kearns and his aides, who patched the injury as the doctor examined it.

Rival manager Bernie Glickman and his contingent then stormed the ring for an arm-waving ruckus with Kearns, Gordon and Bowen. They howled that Gordon had stopped the fight but changed his mind.

Lane said the physician had indicated the match was over but finally concluded it should continue for a while, at least. That saved Lane, who in the sixth slashed a gory cut near Akins' left eye.

Both fighters nearly toppled in the ningth, and in the 10th Akins stunned Lane with a straight right. It was all over by then. Bowen scored the slambang battle an 89-89 draw but judges Charley Buck (98-91) and Joe Bunsa (94-93) gave Lane the verdict.

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex. (AP)—"I've been a star for 30 years. I ought to be able to make a movie better than somebody's relative."

This was John Wayne's explanation of why he assumed full command of one of the most expensive movies of all time, "The Alamo." He is producer, director and star of the Texas epic, being filmed on the prairie 130 miles west of where the real battle took place.

Wayne was in good, confident form as he played field marshal to the huge cast and crew working in a permanent re-creation of the Alamo and 1836 San Antonio.

"We've got it made," he grinned, "I was never so sure of anything in my life."

His assurance has taken a concrete form: investment of his own money for the first time in his film career. It's reported he plunked two million into the enterprise. Texas moneybags O. J. McCullough and Clint Murchison are in for a million or so apiece, and United Artists is putting up the rest.

"We'll spend 5½ million on shooting the picture," Wayne remarked. "When you add my salary and the various deferments, it will come to over seven. Overhead and other costs will bring it up to 11 million."

There was only one chink in his confident manner his concern over Wayne directing Wayne.

"I can watch the other actors in rehearsal and tell them what to do," he said. "But when I'm in the scene myself, I can't see what's going on."

So earnest is Wayne the producer that he gave Wayne the star the third best role in the picture. He plays Davy Crockett to Richard Widmark's Jim Bowie and Laurence Harvey's Col. William Travis.

"I have some important scenes early in the picture and I act as a sort of commentator throughout," he said. "But the real drama of the picture is the conflict between Bowie and Travis. They get the big scenes."

Pro-Americans Lose Ground In Iceland Elections

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Iceland's pro-American Conservatives — the Independence party — lost ground in Sunday's general elections but a pro-Western coalition government appears likely.

The Conservatives' probable choice of a partner for the next four years are the Social Democrats (moderate Socialists), whose party chairman, Emil Jonsson, has headed a caretaker government for the past 10 months.

The Conservatives, with 20 seats in the old Parliament, had hoped to win most of the eight additional seats in the expanded 60-member body. They got only 4, giving them a total of 24.

The Communists picked up 3 seats, boosting their total to 10, while the Social Democrats also gained 3 for a total of 9.

The isolationist Progressive Farmers lost 2 seats, leaving them with 17.

The election campaign virtually ignored the presence of the 6,000-man American radar base at Keflavik—a controversial issue in the past.

Desi Arnaz Now Independent, Can Take To Serious Acting

NEW YORK (AP)—Desi Arnaz now is famous enough, popular enough and rich enough to do what he wants to do: act, and act seriously. ...

Viewers can catch Desi, late of I Love Lucy, playing his first dramatic role in 17 years Friday night on CBS' Desilu Theater.

And that's just the beginning for the Cuba-born multimillionaire head of a big busy television show producing company. After an overnight stay here, Desi is off for England, Rome and North Africa to star in some more television shows — and without wife Lucille Ball.

That doesn't mean there's anything wrong in the Arnaz menage, he says, dismissing rumors of a split with the red-haired actress. She's now in New York, looking for a play.

"In the first place," says Desi, "I went into television producing so that I could do what I liked to do. "And I like the creative side. Now I can take time off to find good material, and to act in stories I like."

Desi will be gone three or four weeks, making a thriller along the lines of "Casablanca," to be directed by Sheldon Reynolds, the old Foreign Intrigue producer, backgrounds.

Arnaz, now 42 and his hair powdered by gray, expects to have a sort of acting vacation — away from the executive cares of an organization which last season produced some 750 hours to TV entertainment and this year expects to do even better.

"I can go away and feel comfortable" he says. "I've got a good staff. But this is a funny television season — there's no pattern of viewing developing; a lot of shows are working against each other and it isn't doing anybody any good."

Arnaz, however, is not worried about being a producer of bread and butter shows in a season full of dessert offerings, the specials.

Friday night, for instance, his "So Tender, So Profane" on CBS overlaps with the final 30 minutes of NBC's highly touted "Moon and Sixpence" with Laurence Olivier.

"I love to do these hour shows, and I love to act in them," he continues. "I'm in the business of entertaining Americans. I'm not in the business of preaching to them. I don't want to insult them, and I don't want to tell them about their problems. And I'm not trying to get the crowd from '21' and Romanoffs. And I'm not worried about how we'll come out of this fight for audiences."

Bomb Hoax Interrupts Maria Callas Performance

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A bomb hoax interrupted a Maria Callas concert for 40 minutes Wednesday night but the tempestuous soprano brushed it off as "ridiculous."

Former President and Mrs. Harry S. Truman were among the 3,573 persons in Midland Theater when Missouri's Gov. James T. Blair stepped on stage after Miss Cassas' first number and announced: "Ladies and gentlemen, the management has received a call which indicates danger for this audience, so we are asking you to leave this building for a half hour."

The audience calmly walked out, taking 10 minutes to clear the building, while police swarmed through the downtown theater.

Miss Callas remained in her dressing room during the search and joked about the scare. The concert was finished without incident after the audience returned.

At a reception afterward, a reporter asked Miss Callas what she thought about the incident.

"Please," she said, smiling radiantly and crossing her hands under her chin. "Let's not discuss it.

"It's ridiculous that things like that can happen, but they do. Please, let's not talk about it."

The orchestra was playing an overture when a man called the theater box office and police headquarters. He told the police dispatcher: "There's a bomb planted in the orchestra pit at the Midland Theater that's set to go off at 9:30."

Larry Kelly of Dallas, concert producer, hurried backstage and told Miss Callas a few minutes before 9 o'clock.

"What time is it supposed to go off?" she asked. Told that it was 9:30, she replied: "Then I will go out and sing and let the people know I am here. If I don't they will say, 'Well, that Maria Callas.' I'll take the risk."

She sang one aria, then Gov. Blair made his announcement at 9:13.

Miss Callas, who had ignored a reception in her honor Tuesday night and a Wednesday afternoon rehearsal, went to the River Club for a party after the concert.

These are a bunch of nice people, who gave their time and efforts to help host a Halloween party for patients at the State Hospital.
