PPROA Leader Urges Continuing Depletion

Speaking before the House Ways and Means Committee Thursday in Washington, Donald C. Watson, Amarillo, supported the "Mineral Depletion provision of the Internal Revenue Code as it now applies to oil and gas production and urged its continuance. Watson is president of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association.

"Any reduction or loss of the mineral depletion provision would create a serious financial crisis for our (Panhandle) schools, as well as our state and local governmental agencies," Watson told the committee.

The speaker also noted that "increasing the independent cost of doing business by imposing additional taxes can only result in increasing costs to the consumer of our industry's products. We question whether the consumer will be benefited by such action."

Gray was cited as a typical oil and gas-producing county of the Panhandle. During the period 1957-1965, Watson noted, 60 per cent of all the county's industrial businesses were related to the petroleum industry, directly or otherwise.

"We hesitate to predict the serious impact that loss of the present mineral depletion provision would have on the area's economy," the Amarilloan continued. "And that of the nation's also," he added.

The natural gas picture in the Panhandle area is not good, Watson pointed out, considering the gas Reserve-Life-Index. The RLI is arrived at by dividing

News In Brief

TED URGES RECOGNITION

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has urged the United States to discard the "passions of the past" and take steps leading toward recognition of the Communist regime in Peking as the legitimate power in control of the Chinese mainland.

SEEKS REPLACEMENTS

AUSTIN (UPI)—Gov. Preston Smith may have to square off against all his old senate colleagues if he attempts to replace any of six of former Gov. John Connally's appointees with his own men, the head of the senate nominations committee said.

Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian said Smith "can't just walk in there and say someone's unconstitutional."

Smith Thursday won an opinion from Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin that at least one of Connally's last-minute appointments is illegal, and the new governor contends six others fall in the same category.

Judge Rules Durbin's Indictment As Valid

BURNET, Tex. (UPI)—The indictment returned in Burnet County, charging Clyde Durbin Jr. of Dallas with the drowning death of Keitha Morris, 19, of White Deer, Tex., is valid, a district judge ruled Thursday.

Defense attorney Frank Maloney, claiming "an unauthorized person was present when the grand jury was deliberating," challenged the validity of the indictment.

Durbin, a former student at the University of Texas at Austin, is also charged in neighboring Travis County with the death of Miss Morris' picnic date John Albert White, 21, of Corpus Christi.

Trial April 14
Judge Jack Miller also ruled Thursday the state did not have to specify which count of three mentioned in the indictment it intends to bring to trial, April 14.

Mrs. Annie Mae Glimp, the first woman ever to serve on the Burnet County grand jury, told Maloney in testimony given Thursday, that no one but the grand jury was present during its deliberations.

A three count murder indictment was returned by the grand jury Jan. 22 alleging Durbin killed Miss Morris by "drowning, striking and beating, and choking and strangling."

Miller also denied a new motion dictated by Maloney in the courtroom which would have ruled as unconstitutional the Texas law authorizing the death penalty.

Body in Lake

Miss Morris' nude body was discovered floating in Inks Lake in Burnet County the day after the body of White was found at the picnic grounds northwest of the Austin city limits in Travis County where the two, both University of Texas at Austin students, had gone on a date.

Miller also listened in private to some testimony Thursday which may eventually be ruled inadmissible.

The pretrial hearing began Saturday when Maloney sought rulings on the publicity surrounding the case and a change of venue to Travis County. Miller denied the venue switch.

DeMolay Week Activity to End Saturday Night

Activities of DeMolay Week, March 16 to 23, in Pampa will conclude Saturday night with the DeMolay Dance at the Pam Sell Hall, starting at 7:30, according to Frank Heare, DeMolay Dad. The dance is the annual Spring Formal.

At 6:30 p.m. today the DeMolay Week banquet is set at the Harvester Pit Bar-B-Q. This will complete activities of Government Day in which Top O' Texas Chapter, Order of DeMolay members, took over county and city offices.

The special week dramatizes the aspirations of the youth group, which include training for good citizenship and community helpfulness, Heare said.

COUNTY DEPUTIES — Sheriff R. H. (Rufe) Jordan explains duties to three Top O' Texas DeMolay members as they commence the duties of County Sheriff for the day. The DeMolay members took over county and city offices today in accordance with DeMolay Week, March 16 to 23. The three members are, from left, Butch Wilkerson, Jackie Swindell and Boyd Hutcherson.

DESTROY AMERICAN WARPLANES

Communists Push Offensive To Highest Pitch In A Week

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist gunners pushed their nationwide offensive to its highest pitch in a week today. One of their 65 overnight attacks destroyed or damaged 20 million-dollar American warplanes on the flight line at Chu Lai.

U.S. intelligence sources revealed interrogation reports from captured guerrillas that said the Reds plan an attack on Saigon this weekend. Senior American officials gave it a 50-50 chance of coming off.

Commanders on the battlefield northwest of Saigon said their Operation Atlas Wedge counteroffensive, aimed at blocking an attack on Saigon, had killed 472 guerrillas in the past four days. But the guerrillas launched three counterattacks, killing 10 GIs and wounding 28 in one.

Armadas of American B52 bombers splattered at least 630 tons of bombs into North Vietnamese soldiers reported to have fled the Allies' Atlas Wedge drive for their War Zone C hideouts 55 miles northwest of the capital.

Military spokesmen said the ferocity of the overnight attacks was unequaled in the past seven days. Communist rockets slammed into both military camps and South Vietnamese towns, they said, inflicting overall light losses.

The costliest salvo—one of the costliest of the 27-day-old offensive—slammed into the U.S. Air Force base at Chu Lai, headquarters for a major detachment of American fighters-bombers on the central coast. It left 20 warplanes smashed or unable to fly.

The guerrillas accompanied their shelling with three counterattacks on the ground against allied troops in the Atlas Wedge drive or troops supporting them, U.S. headquarters said.

Behind a 15-round mortar barrage, guerrillas smashed into the perimeter of Landing Zone White 51 miles northwest of Saigon and hurled satchels of explosives into American foxholes. Ten GIs died and 28 were wounded in turning back the drive. The battlefield yielded five Communist bodies at dawn today.

In Saigon, U.S. spokesmen announced the losses of two American helicopters and a Marine A4 Skyhawk warplane to groundfire in the northern five provinces. A total of two of the helicopter crewmen were killed but the Leatherneck Skyhawk pilot bailed out and was rescued.

Pentagon Fears Red Submarine Strength

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pentagon fears the Soviet Union's growing submarine fleet may develop the strength and ability to find, attack and destroy U.S. subs equipped with Polaris and Poseidon nuclear missiles, it was learned today.

The potential menace to the hidden U.S. subs—one of the most fierce weapons in the nation's nuclear arsenal—was first disclosed by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and his deputy, David Packard, during testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee Thursday.

They declined to elaborate except to say the Russian threat could develop by the mid-1970's. But a reliable source told UPI that the menace was much less mysterious than it sounded. He said it was based on estimates of Russia's future submarine strength and sophistication, not development of some new super weapon.

Laird and Packard used the threat to the Polaris and Poseidon subs to buttress their argument for approval of the "Safeguard" antiballistic missile system. The source who disclosed the nature of the threat is a legislator opposed to the ABM.

During the hearing, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said the Safeguard system, designed to protect U.S. Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles, was a "grave mistake."

The trial of a former Nazi concentration camp commander unveiled a map studded with pins today—each pin marking where they said one of his women prisoners died on a forced 150-mile march in 1945. The trial of Alois Doerr, 59, a former Nazi sergeant, entered its second day.

Doerr is charged with helping kill 217 of the 1,073 Russian, Polish, Hungarian and Romanian women—many of them Jews—he allegedly led on the 25-day death march. He said Thursday he was only following orders. More than 600 women died in the march.

Doerr, a farmer, was commander of the Helmrechts Concentration Camp, a subsection of the giant Flossenburg Prison cantonment, during World War II. From there, Prosecutor Oskar Rauch told the court, the death march began April 13, 1945.

It ended, Rauch said, May 8, one day after the Nazi surrender. The 24 SS guards, some women, fled and left the Gore Feels Decision Could Endanger U.S.

By WILLIAM B. MEAL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told the Nixon administration's Pentagon chiefs today that the Safeguard missile network was "a defense in search of a mission" which would endanger rather than enhance U.S. security.

Gore made the charge to the faces of Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and his deputies at the outset of a hearing by a Senate foreign relations subcommittee, headed by Gore, aimed at challenging President Nixon's plan to deploy a $3.6 billion antiballistic missile (ABM) system for defense of U.S. offensive missiles.

Gore said the decision to go ahead with the ABM system, even on a scaled-down basis as outlined by Nixon and Pentagon leaders, was a mistake.

The Tennessee senator noted that the ABM originally was advertised to defend against a possible Red-Chinese missile attack, but said the Chinese don't have any intercontinental ballistic missiles.

They "can't even hit the Pacific Ocean," much less U.S. missile sites in Montana and South Dakota, where the Safeguard is first to be deployed, Gore said.

Laird and his aides knew beforehand that when they faced the Gore group, they would be in for much tougher going, in their second consecutive day on nationwide radio and television, than when they appeared Thursday before the Senate Armed Services Committee. Most members of the latter group favor the ABM while many Foreign Relations Committee members have strongly opposed it.

Gore told Laird he listened to Thursday's hearings on the ABM before the Services Committee and was unanimous.

PHS Students Set For Talent Show

At least 15 groups and single acts have been planned for Saturday's annual Pampa High School Talent Show, at 8 p.m., according to Tim Doke, press chairman for the Student Council, sponsor of the show.

Proceeds of the show will be channeled to the American Field Service student exchange program.

Tickets are priced at $1 for adults; 75 cents for students. Children under six may attend free. The show will be presented in the Field House.

Carolyn McKinley, show chairman, notes that this year's theme is a surprise only to be divulged as the program gets under way.

There will be no rock combos this year, it was stated. "We hope to attract more adults that way," Doke noted.

Band numbers, group and solo singing, comedy routines and other acts are programmed.

Protest Leaders Are Indicted for Chicago Trouble

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eight persons, including the biggest names in the antiestablishment movement, are the first persons indicted under the antiriot provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act as a result of the disturbances at the Democratic National Convention.

Eight Chicago policemen and a television network director for the National Broadcasting Co. also were named in the indictments of 17 persons returned Thursday by a federal grand jury that hinted more indictments within 60 days.

Four of the policemen already were under suspension as the result of a Police Department investigation. The other four were suspended today. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was handed warrants to serve on the defendants but announced no immediate arrests.

Leaders Charged

David Dellinger, Rennard "Rennie" Davis, Tom Hayden, Abbot "Abbie" Hoffman, Jerry Rubin, Lee Weiner, John Froines and Bobby Seale, either leaders of protest organizations or sympathizers, were charged with traveling interstate "to incite, organize, promote, encourage in and carry on a riot."

Twelve persons named as co-conspirators were not indicted. Dellinger and Davis are leaders of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam; Hayden is a founder of Students for a Democratic Society; Hoffman and Rubin are leaders of the Youth International Party (Yippies); Seale is chairman of the Black Panthers; Froine is assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Oregon; and Weiner is a research assistant in sociology at Northwestern University.

Former Nazi On Trial For Forced March

HOF, Germany (UPI)—Prosecutors in the trial of a former Nazi concentration camp commander unveiled a map studded with pins today—each pin marking where they said one of his women prisoners died on a forced 150-mile march in 1945.

The trial of Alois Doerr, 59, a former Nazi sergeant, entered its second day. Doerr is charged with helping kill 217 of the 1,073 Russian, Polish, Hungarian and Romanian women—many of them Jews—he allegedly led on the 25-day death march. He said Thursday he was only following orders. More than 600 women died in the march.

Doerr, a farmer, was commander of the Helmrechts Concentration Camp, a subsection of the giant Flossenburg Prison cantonment, during World War II. From there, Prosecutor Oskar Rauch told the court, the death march began April 13, 1945.

It ended, Rauch said, May 8, one day after the Nazi surrender. The 24 SS guards, some women, fled and left the inhabitants of his home town, Hoesfingen, was read into a record describing Doerr as "a good Christian" and demanding an end to his "senseless persecution." More than 100 court spectators booed when he admitted slapping prisoners.

Doerr, a farmer, was commander of the Helmrechts Concentration Camp, a subsection of the giant Flossenburg Prison cantonment, during World War II. From there, Prosecutor Oskar Rauch told the court, the death march began April 13, 1945.

It ended, Rauch said, May 8, one day after the Nazi surrender. The 24 SS guards, some women, fled and left the 150 surviving captives in a forest at Prachatitz in Czechoslovakia; Bohemia after marching 25 days and 150 miles, he said. Not all the women in the march have been accounted for, the prosecutor said. According to Nazi records, Rauch said, 30 of them escaped. Others collapsed and died of exhaustion or starvation or were killed, he said.

Rauch also said Doerr had ignored a direct order from Heinrich Himmler, the chief of Nazi Germany's secret police, to abandon the march, set free the prisoners and burn all their documents. The order reached Doerr by courier on the march's first day, he said.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About three years ago my husband and I began a friendship with another young couple. Perhaps we saw too much of them, but talk of wife-swapping developed. Against my husband's strong veto, the other man and I began an affair which lasted almost a year.

About seven months ago, guilt-ridden and miserable, I told my husband all. He was wonderfully forgiving, but never wanted to see this other couple again. The other man's wife knew about us and she blamed herself, for she had pushed the idea in the first place. This woman and I were almost like sisters, and now the friendship has ended. We are all in our late twenties, and we did have a wonderful four-sided friendship. I can't seem to warm up to any other couple. It is definitely all over between this other man and me, but my husband says no, he doesn't want to see them again. Is he being fair? I think we've all grown up a lot. Am I wrong in wanting to resume our friendship? I give you my word, I am not interested in this man, but I do love his wife. Signed,

DEAR "BLUE GRASS": Better find another couple. I can't blame your husband. If you "love" his wife, see her in the daytime.

DEAR ABBY: My husband

new all weather track; music and band building; renovation of high school auditorium and installation of third floor classroom at high school.

rushed me to the hospital to have my baby as I started to get pains in the lower part of my back and since I never had a baby before I was told that is where the pains start.

Well, after I got to the hospital the pains tapered off and nothing happened so they finally sent me home saying it was "false labor."

I got a bill for $43.50. Since it was false labor and nothing happened, do I have to pay this bill?

NO BABY

DEAR NO: Yes. (And not in confederate money, either.)

DEAR ABBY: How does this grab you? The other day while visiting my mother-in-law, I noticed two hand-painted plates that were mine. I was shocked when I saw them and asked, "When did I give those plates to you?"

She replied, "You didn't. I saw them down in your cellar during those three weeks you and Tom were separated. I figured they'd just got broken, so I took them."

What would you have done?

MAD REDHEAD

DEAR MAD: I'd have told her that now that the danger of "breakage" had subsided, I'd like to have my plates.

DEAR ABBY: In a few words in a recent column you refuted my outlook on a problem concerning my 73-year-old parents, and relieved me of a responsibility which I now see was not mine.

In their retirement years, my parents have fought and bickered almost continually until it has become a way of life. Our children no longer enjoy their grandparents' company, and I must admit that my patience has worn thin listening to them argue, one against the other.

Veterans' Auxiliary Studies Bond Issue

V.F.W. Auxiliary Post 1657 was hostess to a joint meeting of the auxiliary and the post at a social meeting in the V.F.W. Hall recently.

Mrs. Jess Hatcher, auxiliary president, introduced the guest speaker Dr. James F. Malone, superintendent of Pampa public schools.

He explained the need of the Pampa Community for the $900,000 bond issue for the school system, which is to be voted on March 25.

The school system is the third largest payroll in the community. The need for improvements as outlined in this bond issue is apparent, he said. The public is invited to tour Pampa Senior High from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

At the social hour, Mrs. Tony Smith and J.W. Dart served refreshments to members and guests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Keep your own counsel even about matters which are generally well-known about you. Somebody who doesn't understand may take what is heard out of context and relate a distorted story you can't correct.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Self-indulgence, particularly with irresponsible friends, only brings undue trouble. The remedy is simple: Get hold of yourself from the beginning of the day and live up to your highest self-respect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Let your own people know precisely what to expect so they will not fret and do anything out of panic. Secrets can best be kept in the midst of a full stream of communication on non-secret matters anyway.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Take no chances with misunderstandings; get it all written down or taped so no argument erupts later. Joint ventures tend to be uneasy. The others involved will eventually see things your way (if you are patient.)

Woman Reveals Where to Send Heart Memorials

Where to send memorials is a question that arises often when friends or neighbors have been bereaved, Mrs. Dorothy Francis, 1112 Duncan, notes.

"Since a memorial is a tribute of respect in memory of a friend or loved one," Mrs. Francis comments, "its selection should emphasize continuing good."

Since the Heart Association is constantly working toward a diminution of cardiovascular disease and its eventual conquest, the chairman says, a gift for that purpose is always apropos.

"The process of making a memorial is simple," Mrs. Francis points out. "The only information needed is the name of the person honored, the name and address of the person to be notified and the name and address of the donor."

Memorials should be sent to: Dorothy Francis, 1112 Duncan, Pampa, Tex., 79065.

San Francisco Boycott Ends, Settlement Termed A Model

By United Press International

The long, violent student boycott at San Francisco State College has ended with student leaders saying they won all their demands and mediators terming the settlement a "model for colleges around the country."

The dispute began last Nov. 6 when the school's Black Students Union issued 10 "non-negotiable" demands and stopped attending classes. The Third World Liberation Front joined the boycott a few days later and issued five demands of its own.

About 250 of San Francisco State's 1,300 faculty members walked out Jan. 6, demanding better working conditions. They returned to work March 4 after gaining minor concessions.

The campus was closed for eight days before S. I. Hayakawa was named acting president late in November. He reopened the school Dec. 2, stationed hundreds of police on the campus and vowed to keep the college open.

Names Committee
Hayakawa last month named a six-man committee to negotiate with the striking students and himself met secretly with leaders of the BSU and TWLF. Thursday an agreement was reached.

Attorney Frank Brann, a member of a citizens' mediating team, said the settlement would "provide a model for colleges around the country."

Chicago had four separate student protests Thursday—two in high schools, two in colleges. Scores of city police were called to Chicago State College when fighting broke out in the cafeteria between Negro and white students. All day classes were canceled today.

At the Central YMCA High School, students took a set of master keys from an elevator, "completely shutting down the school for 30 minutes," according to a school spokesman. He said the students locked all doors to the school. Classes were canceled for the remainder of the day.

About 150 students walked out of Chicago Hirsch High School in protest of officiating at a high school tournament basketball game the school lost 47-46. No violence was reported.

At other campuses:
Colorado—Denver Mayor William McNichols planned to meet today with leaders of Spanish-American demonstrators who battled police Thursday during a protest of alleged racial slurs by a high school teacher. A television newsman and a student were injured and 26 persons were arrested in the clashes after the students walked out of West High School.

Arkansas—Shots were fired at a state police car Thursday in Forest City, shortly after some 200 students stormed through Lincoln Junior High School knocking out windows and breaking furniture. Mayor Robert L. Cope placed a curfew on the city and Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller ordered about 25 state police units into the area.

Court Order
New York—About 200 students left the Administration Building of the State University at Buffalo Thursday after an all-night sit-in when police exhibited a court order directing their eviction. About 75 returned later, but left a second time when bystanders jeered at their pleas for support.

Texas—Officials at the University of Houston Thursday said they would file trespassing charges against Mark Rudd, a leader in the Columbia University protests for speaking on the Texas campus without permission. Rudd spoke to about 1,000 persons on the steps of the Student Center after the administration cancelled his appearance in an auditorium.

New Jersey—About 400 students seized the office of the dean of student affairs at Essex County Community College in Newark Thursday and vowed to remain until the official is fired. They charged he has a "biased attitude" toward Negroes.

Tennessee—Fire destroyed the Science Building at Lane College in Jackson Thursday night—less than a week after the college had resumed classes. The 1,100-student school was closed March 2 after violence and arson punctuated a student boycott. Police were summoned when firemen reported students were throwing rocks at them, but no arrests were made.

LENDING YOUR CAR
It is common courtesy, when you lend your car to a friend, to fill it up first with gas. But what about checking the brakes or inspecting the tires? If the car is defective and there is an accident, are you legally liable for the consequences?

You may be indeed. Take this case:

A man allowed the woman next door — an inexperienced driver — to borrow his car. Although he knew it had a "grabby" clutch, he didn't tell her so. During the ride she lost control of the car, crashed into a tree, and suffered painful injuries.

She later sued him for damages, and the court decided he must pay for his negligence. The judge said that, under the circumstances, this was the kind of accident he could reasonably have foreseen and prevented.

What if there is an injury not to the borrower but to some third party whom you don't even know? Even then, you might incur liability.

Thus, a man who loaned a car with faulty brakes, without giving fair warning to the borrower, was held responsible for the resulting death of a schoolboy. The fatal accident occurred when, at a crucial moment, the brakes gave way. That does not mean you have to make a thorough examination of your car before lending it, to discover defects you would not ordinarily know about. Accordingly, a car owner was held not to blame when the steering gear — seemingly all right until then — suddenly jammed while a friend was using the car.

Nor must you warn a borrower about things he can and should see for himself. A man who loaned a car with a dirty windshield was held not responsible for a later collision.

The court said he had a right to assume that the borrower would have enough sense to clean the windshield on his own.

All the law demands is that you show, along with your generosity in lending the car,

BAD DAY
EULESS, Tex. (UPI) — It wasn't one of police Dispatch Darrell Skaggs' better days. First the police teletype began to garble. Woman Reports Man in House

A 19-year-old Pampa woman told police early Thursday that she awoke about 12:30 a.m. to find a man in her house. The woman said the man asked her if she was alone. She told him her roommate was in the house and he left. The woman said the man appeared to be intoxicated.

Judge Grants Summary Motion To Deny Probate

CLEBURNE (UPI)—Johnson County Judge Tom Ball granted a second continuance Thursday on a motion for a summary judgment which would deny probate to a reported will of the late oil and cattleman J. E. Sexton.

The handwritten will was offered for probate Jan. 22 by Mrs. Agnes Kirk, a justice of the peace and a corporation court judge at Mansfield, Tex. The original will allegedly is possessed by a Charlie Williams of Fort Worth. In the second will Sexton is purportedly worth more than $1 million. East Texas nieces asked for

USED TO BIRD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—British Ambassador John Freeman says he would be sorry to see the huge eagle removed from the face of the American Embassy Building in London. The new U.S. ambassador to Britain had announced his intention to scrap the once controversial eagle but Freeman said Thursday he has become used to the bird.

The summary judgment now set for March 28. The hearing would not be on the merits of the will Judge Ball said.

Mrs. Kirk and Sexton knew one another when he stayed for a time at a nursing home she operated in Cleburne.

Sexton died at a nursing home in Jacksonville, Tex., March 1, 1958.

Changes Made In Guard Heads

AUSTIN (UPI)—Maj. Gen. Seldon Simpson of Amarillo and Brig. Gen. Kelley Arnold of Atlanta have been appointed to head the Texas National Guard's state headquarters command augmentation, the adjutant general of Texas announced Thursday.

Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers said the appointments resulted from vacancies occurring when he assumed the adjutant general post Tuesday.

In other appointments: —Col. James L. Moreland of Wichita Falls will succeed Simpson as commander of Arrowhead Emergency Operations Headquarters (EOH) in Odessa; —Col. Louis N. Neumeyer of Liberty will succeed Arnold as commander of Star EOH in Fort Worth;

—Col. Odie P. Lance of El Paso will serve as chief of staff, state headquarters; —Col. John Waldrup of Fort Worth will serve as deputy commander of Star EOH;

Lennon, 28, and Miss Ono, 34, have been going together for several months.

Senator Says Rangers Not Used to Handling Children

AUSTIN (UPI)—Sen. Criss Cole of Houston said Thursday the Texas Rangers are trained to go after hardened criminals, not to deal with children.

Cole told the Senate Committee on Youth Affairs he is considering asking some other agency to take over the investigation but hasn't decided who should do it yet.

The committee approved a resolution by Cole today authorizing the National Council on Crime and Delinquency to study the state's youth institutions. But Cole said he does not intend for this group to take over the investigations of allegations of brutality.

A House committee earlier this year toured the Gatesville State School for Boys and interviewed inmates about charges of brutality. But the investigation later was turned over to Rangers.

Cole said today the Rangers "agreed very readily that they should not make these investigations."

Cole announced the Senate committee will hold a hearing in San Antonio Friday morning.

WHAT LENT MEANS TO ME

By W. S. DIXON

First Presbyterian Church

Lent should be a time of renewal of spirit, a preparation for that great Christian celebration, Easter. Just as in nature there is an awakening from the winter's hibernation, a stirring in preparation for spring, so a Christian needs an awakening from the "going through the motions" of being a follower of Christ—the name Christian does mean a follower of Christ.

Some denominations seriously discipline themselves during Lent, restrict their physical pleasures. My own church does not go so far. It does designate Lent as a period for special study and of dedication to the needs and suffering of the world.

"One Great Hour of Sharing" is an example of special offerings, to do that little extra for the hungry of the world. Special study classes usually are set up for us to better inform ourselves about these things.

But what does Lent mean to me personally? I hope it means more than world welfare — badly as that is needed. There does seem to be a growing emphasis in the church on what is frequently called the humanities — concern about the human side — the physical welfare of our neighbor.

Might we say there is a trend toward giving priority to Jesus' second commandment, "Love thy neighbor..." over his first commandment, "Thou shalt love thy God..."? There is an increasing involvement in political matters on the part of the church.

Many justify by saying, "Jesus healed the sick and fed the multitude." So he did, but I firmly believe (at the risk of my neck, figuratively) that the healing and feeding were secondary. These were done out of Jesus' great compassion and love for mankind.

His mission on earth was to save men's souls. His ministry was first of all, to teach and to train disciples to carry on.

For me, Lent is a time for meditation and renewal of faith; an attempt to deepen my understanding of those last weeks of Jesus. With full knowledge of what awaited him; with doubt and fear among his "twelve", his only friends left; and with the hate of the Jewish leaders closing in on him; he continued steadfastly on his course, still teaching, still healing, marching toward his death.

If Lent can once a year turn us toward the divine side of Christ — for he was man AND God—and awaken in us the new life, even as the flower prepares to burst into life just before opening; perhaps Easter, with no less joy, can have a meaning other than the "parade."

I believe it will for me.

Scientists Slate 'Matter' Study

"Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth."

This is the Golden Text of the Bible lesson-sermon to be heard at First Church of Christ, Scientist, this Sunday. The subject is "Matter."

Passages from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include:

"To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. If divine Love is becoming nearer, dearer, and more real to us, matter is then submitting to Spirit. The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning."

Dr. Bayless to Be Guest Preacher

Dr. C. Gordon Bayless, former pastor of the Pampa First Baptist Church, will be the guest preacher for both services of worship Sunday. The pastor, Dan B. Cameron, is in Mobile, Ala., in revival with the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Hager to Discuss Clean Conscience

Rev. Martin Hager, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, will use "Cleansing the Conscience" as his sermon topic for this Sunday. Seminary intern Daniel Snider will serve as the pulpit assistant. Rev. Hager will take his text from Deuteronomy 8:1-10 and Hebrews 9:11-28.

Worship services are at 8:30 and 11 a.m. each Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. J. E. Gunn will be the guest organist this Sunday and will present "Song of Morning" by Crowder as the Offertory. At the 11 a.m. worship service, the Chancel Choir will present "Send Down Thy Truth, O God" by Young.

The Junior High Fellowship will go skating from 2-4 p.m. and the Communicant's Class will meet at 4 p.m. in Calvin Hall. The Senior Highs will meet at their regular time.

Revival Meeting Set

A Revival meeting will begin at Revival Center Church, 1101 S. Wells, Sunday. Rev. Dale Yerton from Arkansas will be the evangelist, according to Ruby M. Burrow, pastor.

Services begin each night at 7:30 with the exception of Sunday, when services begin at 7 p.m.

The public is invited to the revival.

Baptist Mission Tour

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Baptists who want to take a real practical approach to supporting missionary activity can have a chance to do so on a tour to mission stations in the Republic of the Congo.

The tour, limited to 25 persons, will depart New York via Sabena Belgian Air Lines April 9 and return April 30. It is open to any able bodied person willing to render some practical service in needy areas, in medicine, engineering, construction, office work, education and other fields.

Doke to Deliver Sunday Sermon

The Rev. J.W. Doke will deliver the morning message at First Christian Church for Sunday, beginning at 10:30. He will be joined at the Lecture by the Rev. Carlton S. Downing.

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. J. Stanley Hill and accompanied by Mrs. John Gill, will present the Anthem. Christian baptism will be observed during the morning worship hour.

Snack Supper will begin at 5:30 p.m. with youth groups meeting at 6 p.m.

The Christian Life Curriculum Sessions will be taught at 7 p.m. by Rev. Downing.

The education committee, with J. Stanley Hill as chairman, will meet at the church at 8 p.m. on Wednesday.

The C.W.F. will have its executive board meeting on Wednesday, according to the president, Mrs. Glen Maxey.

The Sanctuary Choir of the church meets each Wednesday at 7 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Laura Hill. New Choir members are invited.

Mormons Prepare For General Conference

SALT LAKE CITY — General Conference of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) to be held here next month will be in the nature of a "dual" observance.

Sunday, April 6, the final day of the three-day conference, will be Easter, and will also mark the 139th anniversary of the organization of the Mormon Church. The organization took place on April 6, 1830, in Fayette, New York, under the leadership of Joseph Smith, the Mormon prophet.

The Easter theme will be carried into Sunday sessions, which will feature addresses by members of the First Presidency and others of the General Authorities of the Church, and music by the famed much-traveled Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

It will be in a nature of a world conference and people throughout this country and in many lands will join with the Saints in the acoustically famous, 102-year-old Tabernacle in Salt Lake City for the proceedings of the conference.

Leaders and representatives from 478 stakes and 86 missions in most of the free world will journey to the Church headquarters to be in attendance at the seven two-hour sessions, all but one of which is open to the general public.

Some 200 U.S. and Canadian television stations will carry the services in color from the Tabernacle. In addition, 50 radio stations across the country will broadcast the programs, with all-night rebroadcasts scheduled by some stations.

A corps of linguists will translate for short-wave broadcast, film and closed-circuit dissemination.

PRESIDENT David O. McKay, 95, prophet-leader of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon), will be attending his 121st semi-annual conference of the Church, which convenes in Salt Lake City April 4, 5, and 6.

The closed-circuit priesthood session on Saturday night, April 5, will be carried by telephone hookup to more than 500 locations in the United States and Canada with about 150,000 men and boys holding the priesthood listening in to general instructions from Church leaders.

The conference dates are Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 4, 5 and 6, with sessions at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. on each of the three days and the Priesthood session Saturday at 7 p.m.

The 139th Annual Conference will be under the direction of President David O. McKay, who at 95 years of age is the oldest leader the Church has had. When the conference opens the Mormon leader will be on the brink of his 64th year as a General Authority of the Church. This conference will be his 121st, all in the famed Tabernacle.

President McKay was named to the Council of the Twelve Apostles on April 8, 1906. He has participated in all but six of the semi-annual world conferences since that time. A year-long world mission tour in 1921 and a two-year assignment as European Mission President, 1922-24, account for the absences. He has been president of the Church since April, 1951, and last Sept. 8, observed his 95th birthday.

The Church leader is directing preparations for the conference and will attend as many of the sessions as his health will permit. His specially prepared message generally is given at the opening session scheduled for Friday morning and sets a keynote for the remainder of the conference.

In conducting the conference, President McKay will be assisted by four of his five counselors, Presidents Hugh B. Brown, N. Eldon Tanner, Joseph Fielding Smith and Alvin R. Dyer. President Thorpe B. Isaacson will likely be present at some of the sessions.

A feature of the conference will be the reading of the annual statistical report. This is expected to show a world-wide membership of nearly 2.3 million.

Music of the 375-voice Tabernacle Choir will be heard at three of the general public sessions. Saturday afternoon and both sessions on Sunday. This famed singing organization will be making its first large audience appearance since Jan. 20, when it participated in President Richard M. Nixon's inauguration and the program was carried world-wide via satellite. The Choir is directed by Richard P. Condie.

Special music will be provided for the other sessions of the conference.

Every Man Can Make His Own Choice

GENESIS 2: 15, 16, 17

"And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it."

"And the Lord God commanded the man, saying, Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat:"

"But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it. For in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die."

If you will notice, God did not say to Adam, you cannot eat of this tree, but if you do eat thereof you shall die. You see, Adam was to make his own choice whether to live or die. Now the serpent, which represents Satan, beguiled (Eve) the woman, and she did eat of the fruit and gave to Adam and he did eat. Since that time, it has been appointed unto man once to die, then after death the judgement.

JOSHUA 24: 15

Joshua told Israel, choose you this day whom you will serve. Our own generation, in the day which we live, has a choice to make. We must serve The Lord Jesus Christ, or we will become a victim of Satan himself.

Jesus said no man can serve two masters. You cannot serve God and mammon.

An infidel can choose to believe that there is no God, but that will not excuse that person from the judgements of God. We have the right to choose the church of our choice. It may be one that would even deny Jesus as God's own son, But, my friend, that will still be our choice.

It was God's plan and his own choice to send Jesus, His son, into this world to make an atonement for man's sins. He was willing to lay down his life that you might be able to choose Salvation, to be saved, and enjoy God's blessings through eternity.

Will you make that choice today? I pray that you will make the right choice today.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—If star power is still the name of the ratings game in television—and it generally is—then you have to wonder how ABC-TV, smallest of the networks, is ever going to catch up.

For some time now, ABC-TV has had a rather fascinating case of split personality. Part of the time it tries to match up against its two bigger competitors, CBS-TV and NBC-TV, in creating stars on standard shows. But part of the time it also seems to realize it just cannot match up financially—and so tries to be the offbeat network.

If ABC-TV truly wants to be the offbeat network, it seems to me, the best financial and artistic approach might well be to just take itself out of head-on competition with CBS-TV and NBC-TV in the present construction of series, and offer a complete alternative. Junk the standard nightly form in its entirety.

Nothing to Lose
There are those in key positions who say ABC-TV really has nothing to lose. And there are specific plans about how the complete alternative can be done.

This, of course, is radical, and would probably give much pause to top executives at ABC-TV, although one brilliant broadcasting figure is utterly positive that CBS-TV—which he claims has numerous soft spots in its schedule—can be overtaken in the ratings by ABC-TV by such radicalism.

If, however, ABC-TV were to continue trying to match up against CBS-TV and NBC-TV, it might well be best for the smaller network to just stop worrying about prestige for a while — stop worrying about what everyone else, including competitor one way or the making itself truly solvent.

Wise to Invest
Thus it might be wise to invest some very large sums in several major star s who can have large effect on the ratings, and frankly save the culture for later.

Again, this might not be best for art, but surely the most important thing for ABC-TV currently is to remain a true competitor one way or the other. And in order to do this it has to divest itself of its split personality, because only half of it has a chance to succeed, and that is why there is already trade talk referring to ABC-TV as half a network.

Hearing on Alleged Plagerized Thesis Postponed

AUSTIN (UPI) — A hearing concerning a doctor's thesis written by the President of Southwest Texas State College has been postponed until May.

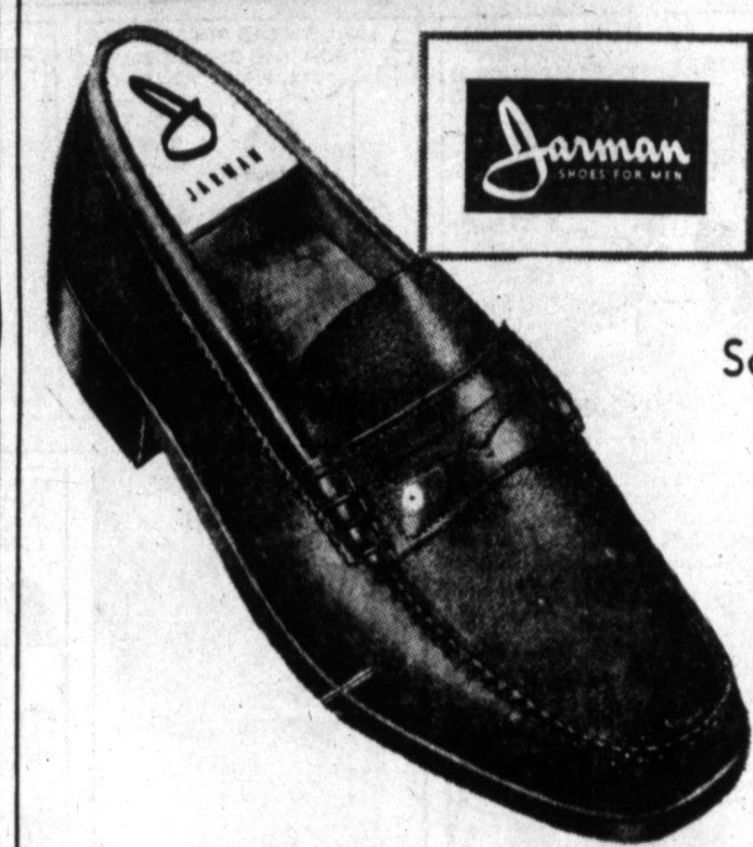

Dr. W. Gordon Whaley, dean of the graduate school at the University of Texas at Austin, said the delay was granted at the request of SWT president Dr. James H. McCrocklin.

A committee composed of members of the UT's graduate school was established to investigate reports McCrocklin's paper was plagiarized from early military reports on the same subject — U.S. Marine intervention in Haiti.

Whaley said Thursday McCrocklin was invited to appear before the committee but was not able to make an appearance this month when the committee originally hoped to begin its investigation.

Improvements Asked for High School Athletics

By RON CROSS

There are several athletic items included in the $900,000 school bond issue Pampa taxpayers will be asked to vote on March 25.

In the Phase I building program over $173,622 will be spent to build new and update present athletic facilities at the high school.

Harvester Athletic Director and head football coach Swede Lee deems all the items up for vote as "immediate, necessary improvements."

Included in the bond issue for athletics is a new all-weather, resolute track costing $34,000, new lights for the football field costing $35,000; fences around the playing field and practice fields costing $12,000 adequate dressing room facilities included in a proposed indoor workout area with the total cost of both at $92,622, and remodeling of Harvester stadium.

Lee discussed with newsmen Wednesday the reasons he felt the items were a must.

"Take the track for instance," Lee said. "We are the only AAAA school in the state without a track of any kind."

"It goes without saying that a track improves your athletic program as a whole. It helps develop youngsters for other sports."

Lee pointed out that the new track would be an all-weather track that would need no maintenance.

"We have talked with people who have had this type track for 10 years. The only work they've had to do on it is paint the white lane stripes about every three years," Lee said.

"We had 40 youngsters start out for track this season. Now we're down to 16. They got bored waiting around to go to a meet. We've had two meets snowed out and the place where our boys practice has been under water for almost three straight weeks and they've had to run in the school halls to practice."

The installation of the new lights for the football stadium will quadruple the current output and the lights will be moved behind the stadium. There will be three light poles behind each stadium.

"At present our lighting system for the football field is the poorest I've seen anywhere," Lee said.

Lee said that the proposed new fences are those prescribed by the Interscholastic League Rules.

"The rules state you have to have the playing field fenced off from the fans. We currently do not do this and must comply with the rules," Lee said.

The fences would be the cyclone type. The fences for the practice areas, according to Lee, are for the purpose of protecting the areas where the Harvesters will be practicing.

"We also are trying to do something for the fans in the way of comfort," Lee said.

The Pampa AD pointed out that in the plans for stadium remodeling new restrooms will be built on the east side and that new plastic seat covers, alternating green and gold sections would be installed, giving fans a more comfortable and colorful place to sit.

New concession stands and a new entrance on the east side also are included in the remodeling.

The largest single item included in the athletic projects is construction of an indoor working area with dressing area for 200 youngsters.

In this 160 by 80 foot steel building will be four dressing rooms, coaches office and a classroom for athletes.

The building will have a dirt floor where football players, baseball and track athletes will be able to practice in foul weather.

"We will also be able to hold off-season workouts here and hold football and baseball practice inside if need be. Trackmen will be able to pole vault, throw the shot, broad jump and high jump and our runners won't have to use the school halls anymore," Lee said.

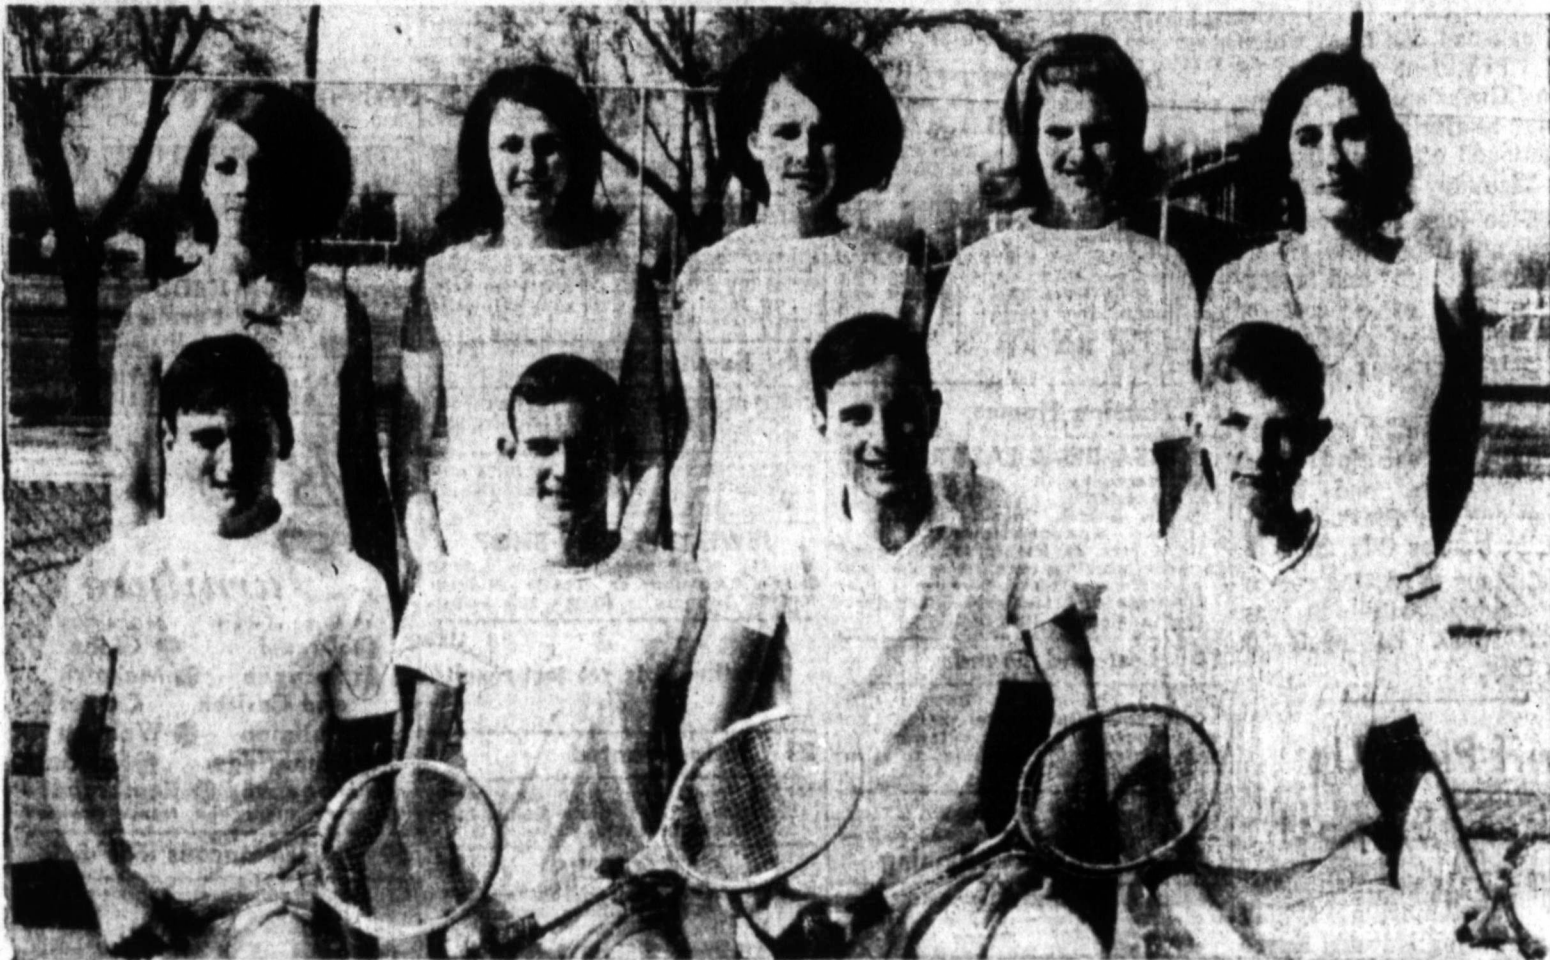

Lee said that at present Pampa High has 48 lockers and 26 open racks for athletes to dress in.

"We have 156 athletes in the high school alone plus the visiting team has to dress wherever we can find the space," Lee stated.

Lee said that Pampa was the only school in District 4-4A that doesn't provide adequate dressing facilities for visiting teams.

"Another thing," Lee said, "is the fact that the long-range plans see the ninth grades becoming a part of the high school. With the new dressing facilities we will be able to accommodate them."

And, Lee added: "These things have been needed here for a long, long time and now the people are being given a chance to have their say. We are far behind the other schools in our district," Lee said.

league team isn't fulfilled by opening day.

Allen has become disenchanted with playing in front of the hometown Philadelphia fans and openly admits he would like to be wearing a new uniform by April 8, the day the Phillies open against Chicago.

However, the Phils' asking price for Allen may have risen a little higher Thursday. The high-priced slugger hit a grand slam homer to lift Philadelphia past the St. Louis Cardinals 9-7. The homer highlighted a six-run fourth inning which enabled the Phils to overcome an early 4-0 Cardinal lead. Rookie Ron Stone also homered for Philadelphia and got two other hits to boost his spring average to .464.

Dave Giusti, the victim of Stone's blast, was the loser for the Cards while Bill Wilson, who worked the last four innings, was the winner.

The New York Yankees ran their winning streak to six games by defeating Minnesota 4-2 and in the process snapped the Twins' five-game victory string.

An error by centerfielder Pat Kelly, allowing one run to score, and a steal of home by Mike Lum enabled the Atlanta Braves to defeat the Kansas City Royals 5-3 in 10 innings. Bob Oliver hit a two-run homer for the Royals in the losing effort.

Curt Blefary drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Gary Geiger, Denis Menke and Doug Rader drove in two runs each as the Houston Astros outslug the Montreal Expos 10-7.

Carl Yastrzemski had three hits, including a two-run triple in the first inning, as the Boston Red Sox edged the Detroit Tigers 5-4.

Tommie Sisk, Luke Walker and Dennis Riddleberger combined for an eight-hit shutout in Pittsburgh's 5-0 defeat of the Cincinnati Reds. Fred Patek drove in one run and scored another to lead the Pirates.

UCLA, Purdue Hit Finals In NCAA Meet

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The end of UCLA's reign as kingpin of college basketball may be no farther away than a Rick Mount jump shot.

Coach John Wooden of UCLA knows it too.

The mighty Bruins, who have dominated the game since giant Lew Alcindor set foot on the campus four years ago, came close to having their dynasty crumble beneath them Thursday night. A highly underrated Drake squad succumbed 85-82 after a gallant fight in the semifinals of the NCAA major college basketball tournament.

That puts the Bruins into the finals for the third straight year, but this time they may not walk away with all the marbles. UCLA, gunning for an unprecedented third consecutive crown, will go against Purdue for the title Saturday in what promises to be a dandy.

The Boilermakers were devastating in their semifinal encounter as they overwhelmed North Carolina 92-65, and it was their guards, Mount and Bill Keller, who did most of the damage.

Mount connected on 14-of 28 shots, most of them from 20 feet or more, to score 36 points and Keller added 20 in addition to playing a fine floor game.

It was UCLA's inability to handle Drake's quickness, especially in the backcourt, that caused the Bruins trouble Thursday night. Purdue may be even quicker, and their guards certainly shoot better.

In the NIT the nation's No. 1 and 2 rated defensive teams were beaten.

Coston College chalked up its 19th in a row and beat Army, 73-61 and Temple hit the finals with Army by downing Tennessee, 63-58.

New Team, Life For Maury Wills

By IRA BERKOW

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—(NEA)—Maury Wills is 36 years old and starting his 19th year as a professional baseball player. He spent nine years in the minor leagues, then 10 with winning clubs, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates. Now, he is with the Montreal Expos, a team that is starting from scratch.

It is another challenge. Wills has become accustomed to challenges, adjusted to them, and whipped them. But now he must bite the bullet just a bit harder.

In baseball terms, he is a castoff. He was made part of the fiasco and jetsam that went into baseball's expansion draft last winter and subsequently lapped onto the rosters of the San Diego Padres, Kansas City Royals, Seattle Pilots and Montreal Expos.

Two years ago, after eight fine seasons with Dodgers (including four as a shortstop on pennant winners), he was traded to the Pirates.

"At the time of the trade," he said, "I told people that it didn't bother me, that the Dodgers let me go. Looking back on it, I know that wasn't true. It hurt me mentally." He meant his pride.

In his first season with the Pirates, Wills battled .302, tying his major-league high. His fame, however, rests with his spectacular ability to steal bases. He holds the major league record of 102 stolen bases in 1962 (breaking Ty Cobb's record of 96) and also the National League record of most consecutive seasons leading the league in stolen bases (six, 1960-65). Last season, at age 35, he stole 52 bases.

"Near the end of last season," he said, "I went to the Pirates and asked if I were going on the expansion list. I have business interests in Pittsburgh and I wanted to know what plans I would have to make. Well, they wouldn't tell me. I thought that was lousy of them. I had been fair with them and had played as hard as I could. They thought that if I had known I was going to leave, that I wouldn't put out. That's ridiculous. I might have played even harder, just to show them they were making a mistake."

It wasn't until the trade to Pittsburgh that some of the fun of baseball left him. "Before that," he said, "I couldn't wait to get to spring training. Now, I really don't think about it much during the winter. That's why I like to negotiate my contract from home and not come down to camp. Because even now, once I arrive in Florida, I want to jump in that batting cage."

Few people, reasonably enough, expect the Expos to win many games. Wills is not so pessimistic; it is not his nature.

"We aren't going out to go through the motions," he said. "We aren't going out there to lose. I can't play that way and Gene Mauch (Expo manager) wouldn't stand for that kind of team attitude."

Wherever Wills goes during the baseball season, Ty Cobb's autobiography, "My Life in Baseball," goes with him.

A sportswriter gave him the book in 1962. "I still read it for inspiration," said Wills. "Cobb and I were alike in many ways. Funny thing, his theories on stealing are exactly like mine. And I arrived at them independently, before having read the book. Another funny thing, it was the first book I think I ever read through."

"Once the Tigers were playing an important series in Boston. The night before, Boston fans stood under Cobb's hotel window and beat tin pots so he couldn't sleep. The next morning he walked through the mob and shouted, 'Now I'm going to show you how to play this game.'"

"Another time in Philadelphia, fans stood behind a rope in the outfield. Cobb went back for a fly ball, slapped some guy who was hanging in him, then caught the ball."

"I like his guts and I like his drive to win. He did all he could to be the best."

White Deer Sets 'McAdams Day' Program

WHITE DEER — Saturday will be "Carl McAdams Day" in White Deer. Mayor Joel Sewell will make the day official with a proclamation designating this special day in honor of White Deer's All American (1965-1966) from Oklahoma University.

The White Deer Lions Club and White Deer Development Commission are co-sponsors of the event. Residents of the communities of Skellytown and White Deer are invited to turn out for "Carl McAdams Day."

There will be a western style noon meal to honor the two communities' football hero in the White Deer School Cafeteria. Tickets will be available at the door.

Former high school coaches of McAdams have been invited as special guests. They are Coaches Coleman Huffman, Shamrock, Bob Moore, Phillips and Wayne Tipton, Cisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McAdams are both 1962 graduates of White Deer High School. They are the parents of two sons Carl Mack and Joe Dan. Mrs. McAdams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Grange of Skellytown. Mr. and Mrs. Carl "Butch" McAdams reside in White Deer.

The younger Carl McAdams family live on a ranch near Farris, Oklahoma, during the off season of professional football. McAdams has been with the New York Jets since leaving the University of Oklahoma.

Snow Storm Strands Travelers

By United Press International
A low pressure system spun across the Great Lakes toward the Northeast early today, leaving up to 10 inches of new snow across the upper Midwest.

The combination of heavy, wet snow and strong, gusty winds piled up five-foot drifts which stranded travelers, closed schools and blocked roads in Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The new precipitation added to the threat of severe flooding, but major inundations were postponed by a cold snap which halted an early spring thaw. But much of East and Central Nebraska was hit by lowland flooding, with 200 persons evacuated from Columbus, Neb., and a seven-year-old boy missing and presumed drowned after he fell into a flood-swollen drainage ditch near Waco.

Several other Nebraska streams were at or near the flood stage, but authorities said serious flooding would probably not begin until late in the week.

Washington Window

By STEVE GERSTEL
WASHINGTON (UPI)—With-out fanfare, Barry Goldwater has returned to the Senate, the quiet haven from which he was lured five years ago by dreams of the White House.

The 1964 Republican presidential candidate and spokesman for GOP conservatism has come back as the junior senator from Arizona—no more, no less.

As a result, Goldwater has had no re-entry problem and he has assumed an unobtrusive niche in the Senate almost as though he had never left long enough to get trounced by Lyndon Johnson.

Favorite Story
Goldwater jokes about it now. One of his favorite stories is about the little old lady who spotted him on his return to the nation's capital and inquired, "Weren't you Barry Goldwater?"

Goldwater could easily claim leadership of the more conservative Senate Republicans but so far has made no moves in that direction. The competition is so weak, however, that he would assert himself any time without much trouble.

But in the first months of his brand new six-year term,

Goldwater has avoided the limelight. He declines to grant interviews, partly because he does not want to pose as a former presidential candidate but as a senator.

The more overriding reason, probably is he knows he would be asked for his assessment of the Nixon administration and feels it is too early to make any judgment.

Goldwater campaigned for the president, especially in the Southern and border areas which are more in accord with his brand of Republicanism than Nixon's.

But on the first major issue to come before the Senate, Nixon and Goldwater quickly parted company.

The President urged Congress to approve the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and Goldwater went to the floor of the Senate to argue that the international pact would make the United States the policeman for the free world.

The treaty has been Goldwater's main legislative topic in the first weeks of the session. In addition to arguing against it in the Senate he has used the treaty as the subject of speeches around the country.

Pat Misses California

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House may represent the Nixon's dream come true, but Pat Nixon admitted Thursday she misses California.

"I love California," Mrs. Nixon said during a luncheon with the wives of the Senate leadership at the Capitol. "It's my home and it will be good to be home."

Mrs. Nixon said she and her husband have "no plans" to establish a home there, but admitted, "anything can happen. Maybe there's a surprise."

It may be a surprise to White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, who has said on several occasions this week Nixon has been "hunting for a house" in California for some time.

Missouri Banker Buys Truman Car

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The private railroad car from which former President Harry S. Truman "Gave 'em hell" during his 1948 re-election campaign was auctioned off to a Missouri banker Thursday for $77,000.

The 82-foot-long car, complete with crystal, dishes and silver, was built in 1940 and refurbished in 1959 at a cost of $125,000. It has an observation parlor, four bedrooms and four baths.

The car was bought by Robert F. Koste, representing Alex Barker, president and board chairman of Civic Plaza National Bank in Kansas City, Mo.

Barker plans to put the car on display temporarily in an industrial park he owns in Kansas City.

Sheriff Picks Up Robbery Suspect

Sheriff Rufe Jordan was enroute to Amarillo Friday morning to bring Edward Kayro Lewis, 29, of Sayre, Okla., back to Pampa for arraignment on charges of robbery by firearms.

Lewis has been charged with Frank Leroy White, 28, also of Sayre, in the December, 1968 armed robbery of Ward's Mini Mart.

White had bond of $10,000 set in Oklahoma Thursday on the charge.

Seventy-eight per cent of U.S. families own cars, according to the National Automobile Club.

Wall Street
Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Goodbody & Co. says it sees "little basis" for a major turnaround in the stock market in view of continuing international, political and monetary uncertainties.
The company, however, says the groups it thinks "best suited for current purchase" are the utilities, banks, insurance companies, and savings and loan associations.

The Federal Reserve Board
"just has to let the money supply expand" in the coming months in order to achieve the agency's projected 3 to 6 per cent growth in this area, according to Walston & Co. But, the company adds, "even before that happens, the stock market could take off on the upbeat" because "stocks often look six months ahead of time."

Abraham & Co. voices the belief the market will hold above recent lows on the short term which will see "greater selectivity" by traders. At the same time, the investment firm says it has "considerable doubt" the market will hold through the entire spring period. Thus, its advice to investors is "maintain a cautious stance and try to make new commitments during periods of market weakness."

and automatically — on every channel, every time!

You'll also enjoy many more superb features that truly make Magnavox today's most advanced color TV — and your best buy! Huge 29 1/2 sq.
in. screen. Chromatone — adds thrilling depth to color, eye-pleasing warmth to black-white pictures. Quick-on permits "instant" viewing without annoying warm-up delay. Two High Fidelity Speakers and Tone Control provide better listening. Best of all, the exclusive Magnavox Bonded Circuitry chassis assures you of lasting reliability. You have no idea how truly spectacular color viewing can be, until you've seen your favorite shows on one of these deluxe Magnavox consoles!
